WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—The taking of testimony in the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair was concluded today after the defense suddenly rested its case after placing on the stand character witnesses who said that the oil man's reputation for honesty and fair dealing was good.

Walking directly to the spot where he was to stand, Birger halted, smartly executed a "left face," learned as a cavalryman in the army, glanced cooly around and remarked "beautiful world." He nodded to several friends among the spectators, while a deputy strapped his legs together.

Phil Hanna, volunteer hangman, stepped forward and asked Birger to forgive him for what he was about to do. "I've forgiven everybody," Birger said. They shook hands Sheriff Pritchard offered his hand but Birger refused it.

Their homes are in ruins, their possessions gone, their highways broken. Bridges have been destroyed and railway tracks twisted awry on rights of way that have sunk six feet in spots.

The changing face of nature shows whole hills moved and their contours altered. In places underground reservoirs have broken and are spouting water and sand like miniature geysers.

Dead Are Uncounted.

The dead are uncounted because of the interruptions to communication and the disorganization of local governments. But in Philippopolis there are serious conditions. In five villages near that city 27 persons were killed and scores injur-

(By Associated Press.)

AUSTIN, April 19.—Trial of F. A. Ferguson seeking a pardon and denouncing the Ku Klux Klan as having secured the unnamed prisoner's conviction.

Lawyers said the letter was written by H. H. Moore, Cooper farmer who was expelled from the legislature and indicted with Dale. Special prosecutor Will Hart wanted to show the letter to the jury to compare the handwriting in it with a note alleged to have been written by Moore, and which Moore, as a witness in Dale's case, denied writing. —THE— WOMAN'S DAY By Allene Sumner

If you like stories of women who have succeeded, someone is bound to tell you to read Alice Foote Macdougall's "Autobiography of a Business Woman." I hope you don't. I did, and it's almost made me "agin" all business women. This w. k. lady restaurant keeper who has told the world for the past 15 years all about her terrible plight left with three children and a few coffee beans "to face life," says things like this in her book—

"It is all very well to have principles, rules of behavior concerning right and wrong. But it is quite as essential to know when to forget as when to use them."

She goes on to tell her cardinal rule to stand on her own feet in business, asking help from no one. Then proceeds to enumerate the way she used old friends of the family, borrowing from this one, having desk space in this one's office, and beseeching her friends for coffee orders.

One can only hope that all business women won't be judged by the evidence against one of them as expounded in her own words.

STRANGE FOODS

Speaking of cooking, or weren't we, when the life of a housewife grows too monotonous but when there is little chance of escape from its routine, why not try cooking in foreign tongues? A friend writes me from New York—"Life has become more endurable since I began collecting my foreign recipes by roaming about the waterfront and buying leeks, lentils, garlic, olive oil and all the ingredients not so used in our American dishes. The Italian green-grocers have given me all sorts of cooking ideas, and my hobby for the prsent is about as consoling as china collecting.

Another Junkers Carries Repair Parts to Bremen

(By Associated Press.)

The Irish member of the crew of the Transatlantic monoplane Bremen was back in civilization today awaiting repair parts with which to return to the crippled ship and his ice-locked German companions at Greenly Island.

When the repairs are completed, the reconditioned ship with its three-man crew reunited, will resume its flight from the tiny Quebec Island, to Mitchel field, N. Y.

These developments, announced yesterday by Major James Fitzmaurice, cleared up the uncertainty and conjectures which have attended the projected completion of the hop ever since the Bremen made a forced landing at Greenly Island last Friday.

Irish Minister Called.

T. A. Smiddy, minister of the Irish Free State, received a telephone call in New York from Fitzmaurice stating the major would wait at Murray Bay, Que., for repair parts for the Bremen, take them to Greenly Island and fly out with Baron von Huenfeld and Captain Koehl.

Grover Whalen, chairman of Mayor James J. Walker's committee for the reception of distinguished visitors to New York, also received a telegram sent from Clarke City, Que., by Fitzmaurice, in which the Irish flier asked that the impression that he was enroute to New York alone be corrected. He said he was on his way to Murray Bay, Que., to arrange for parts to repair the Bremen and conduct business on behalf of von Huenefeld and Koehl. He added that he would return to Greenly Island today.

Meanwhile the Junkers plane F-13 sister ship of the Bremen, returned to Curtiss field, N. Y., last night, and orders immediately were given for the removal of its propeller, which Pilot Fred Melchoir said would be shipped by train to Murray Bay. He said a new propeller, now being made, would be fitted to the F-13 and the ship flown back to Montreal.

NEW YORK—Elizabeth Marbury is returning to stage production with a musical comedy in which, she says, there will be novelties—no chorus but 12 lovely girls, blondes, brunettes, titan reds, each with something to say and something to do, dressed individually, and eight well groomed boys, fresh from the college ranks, if possible. Then she is going to the Houston convention.

NEW YORK—Steamship Ecuador is in port from South America after one of the roughest trips ever. The roughness was not due to the weather. There was a lot of monkey business aloft. Some of the cargo of 1,000 parrots, 300 monkeys, 500 lovebirds, 25 flamingos and 24 sloths escaped. The most elusive monk was christened Sandino. He kept the crew in the air six days.

AIRPLANE HECKLER

Sang About Cigarettes As Connally Talked

AUSTIN, April 19. (AP)—A "voice from the air" made the cohorts of Congressman Tom Connally literally "go up in the air" when through the radio waves reaching from an airplane to a grandstand in Belton, where the congressman was "telling the world why" he should be elected United States Senator, a singer told the merits of a popular brand cigarette and thereby, according to the cohorts, heckled the political meeting.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediat, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.—adv.

ROTARY'S PRESIDENT SLAPS BACK AT LEWIS AND MENCKIN

When They Poke Fun At Us We're Proud Of It,' Sapp says

NEW ORLEANS, April 19.—Arthur Sapp, president of Rotary International, and spokesman for the 140,000 business men who make up that organization, feels that shafts leveled at Rotary by Sinclair Lewis and H. L. Mencken are really high compliments.

"When those two poke fun at Rotary, we Rotarians can feel proud that we are in good company," said Mr. Sapp when interviewed for NEA Service as he paused for a few days here on the way to his home in Huntington, Ind., from a trip to Panama.

"From the last I heard of these fellows they were poking quite a lot of fun at Almighty God."

Then he went on to give an interview that might be called an answer to the criticisms of Messrs. Mencken and Lewis.

"Just what does Rotary stand for?" he asked. "It stands for a lot of things—and all of them decent. No man, no community, no nation, ever got very far by just standing back and ridiculing what the rest are trying to do. Give any fool tools and dynamite and he can wreck and tear down. It takes something more than a fool to build. Rotary is trying to build.

"Fellows like Mencken and Lewis have discovered that there is always an audience when a small boy throws a rock through a plate glass window. An audience is what they want more than they want anything else in this world. They'd starve, probably, without one."

Then, dropping his levity, Mr. Sapp recounted the history and aims of Rotary.

"Roughly speaking, the main objects, we call them—are three," he said. "The membership of a Rotary club in every community includes one representative from each classification of business and profession.

"Vocational service is the first of the aims and objects of Rotary. Creating and maintaining a higher standard of ethics in business and the professions. Complete elimination of unfair practices that may have become disguised under the label of keen business methods.

"The second of the aims and objects of Rotary doesn't try to render all that service itself. We Rotarians know that the world isn't going to be made over by any formula overnight. And we know no one organization can do it. We urge every Rotarian to join every worthwhile organization in his community and work with it. We want our members to be members also of the local association of commerce; of the various charitable and civic organizations in his home town. We want him to work with them and for them.

"Third of the aims and objects is club service. We plan and strive constantly to make all the Rotary clubs more efficient in their service to members of the club itself.

Most Men Decent

"Rotarians meet at least once a week for luncheon together. We try to implant a feeling of friendliness. We believe that the time when every man looked at the rest of the world as his enemy belongs to ancient history and should remain ancient history. We have discovered that fundamentally most men want to do the decent thing and want to live in peace and amity and mutual constructive effort with their neighbors.

"The way Rotary International has spread is the best evidence to my mind of the eternal truths that we have tried to make the foundations of Rotary. It was only 23 years ago that Paul Harris of Chicago founded the first Rotary club. Today there are more than 140,000 members in 44 nations.

Royalty in Membership

"The spread of Rotary outside of the United States has been simply marvelous. Royalty has taken to Rotary just as the average business and professional man in America has taken to it. The Prince of Wales is an honorary member of the Rotary club. King Albert of Belgium is a Rotarian. Leopold, crown prince of Belgium, is a member of the Rotary club of Brussels. Umberto, crown prince of Italy, is a member of the Rotary club of Turino. Four members of Mussolini's cabinet are Rotarians. Count Volpi, the Italian minister of finance, is a member of the Rotary club of Venice. William Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State, is a member of the Rotary club of Dublin. Over in Japan Baron Mitsui, the great shipping and industrial magnate, was a member of the Rotary club of Yokohama. A score of other Japanese noblemen are Rotarians.

"One of the strongest planks in the platform of Rotary today is internation acquaintanceship. We are working out a message of international peace and good will, based on international racial study and recognizing the different points of view of the different races. We are discovering common ground on which all may meet. You don't need the same language or the same youthful training to recognise what the broad limitations of what is good and what is bad for a community.

"It looks to us Rotarians as if Rotary had come to stay."

Here are Arthur Sapp (1), international president of Rotary; Paul P. Harris (2), who founded the first Rotary club 23 years ago, and some of the organization's most prominent members: King Albert of Belgium (3); William Cosgrave, president of Irish Free State (4); Wilhelm Cuno, former chancellor of Germany (5), and Crown Prince Umberto of Italy.

vention is scheduled for this afternoon also with an unknown list applying for it. Ranger seems to be the only town on the lot making a bid for the convention while it was reported prior to the convention that Memphis is bidding for it. They only had a small delegation registered late yesterday, however.

Today's activities open with a secretaries' breakfast at the Lubbock hotel at 7 o'clock at which time Governor Ellis Boyd will preside. The morning session of the conference is called for 9:15 at the First Methodist church at which time the various committees of the convention will make their reports to be followed by the short addresses, "In His Club," by John Kilgore, of Wichita Falls; "In His Job-His Vocation," by Lamont Thompson, of Cleburne; and "As a Citizen," by Babrye Wolverton, Olney.

At 11:30 nomination of the candidates for District Governor nominee will be made while from 11:45 until 2 o'clock the balloting for the nominee will be made.

Noon will find the group again at the gymnasium for a luncheon while farewells and adjournment are in order for the afternoon. An auto ride over the city will start from the hotel at 4 o'clock while a buffet supper, dance and general "Get-together" closes the convention tonight. However the special train for the Carlsbad Cavern leaves late in the afternoon.

Ellis Boyd, of Fort Worth, district governor, presided over the dinner last night, with Rev. Walter P. Jennings, president of the Host club directing the events.

Chicken Barbecue

Under a canopy of blue with myriad-colored hats and balloons dotting the tables, the guests filed into the hall shortly after 7:30 and the merry-making of the evening began. A dinner, prepared and served by the ladies of the First Christain church was placed before them, with old fashioned chicken barbecue prepared by the hands of the "past master" Rotarian Gus Shaw topping the feast.

Opening the program following the dinner, Rev. Jennings introduced the workers who made the affair a success. They included: Dr. Fred W. Standefer, president of the Kiwanis club; Gus Shaw, the chicken barbecurer; Mrs. Charles F. O'Neal and Mrs. J. E. Hartley, in charke of the dinner arrangements; Mayor Harley D. Woods; B. Sherrod, president of the B. C. D.; Judge Clark M. Mullican; Senator W. H. Bledsoe; J. A. Rix, general convention chairman; Mrs. Ellis Boyd, Ellis, Jr., and Mrs. Jennings.

Tells of Convention

Following these introductions, Raymond J. Knoeppel, of New York, international director, told of the International Convention which convenes in Indianapolis, June 18-22, explaining the various benefits to be arrived from attending a convention.

"No man really gets in touch with Rotary until he attends an International convention," Mr. Knoeppel declared. "There, you get the individual realization of understanding and good will, a leavening experience which paves the way for world fellowship. How are you to get this fellowship unless you meet the fellows you are supposed to be friends with."

He then told of the special Texas train and made a plea for a good representation from the district.

Rotary "Glorifies."

"Rotary glorifies folks," Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Tech, declared in his address on "Glory of Rotary." "It is the glory of Ratary which believes that the average man is worthwhile and which takes him and helps him to do the best of his ability."

"The man who considers himself above the rest of his fellowmen can never be a true Rotarian," Dr. Horn said. "He must see that he is to serve for the benefit of his fellowmen which is to bring eventual benefit to himself. Rotary does not develop the stars but develops the entire group."

Following his talk, the pageant, "The Making of America and America Through Rotary, Remaking the Nations," was presented, the visitors retiring after its close to their rooms or to the Lubbock hotel for a few hours of dancing.

An address on Rotary International, in which the world-wide scope of Rotary work was emphasized, featured the morning session of the forty-first district Rotary convention here yesterday. The address was from Louis J. Knoeppel, international director of Rotary.

A photograph of the conference was taken by Brown Studios, and delegates went to luncheons, prepared at the Lubbock hotel, Mercrill hotel, Presbyterian church, Methodist church and Baptist church.

The progra mtopics, in order of meeting places, were club service at both hotels; vocational service, community service and boys' work and club presidents. Rotary-Annes were entertained at luncheon at the Tech cafeteria, with Mrs. Charles Wagner presiding.

With Governor Ellis H. Boyd of Fort Worth presiding, Rev. Walter P. Jennings, president of the Lubbock clubs made the welcoming address, followed by a response by Walter Amsler of McGregor. Club singing of Rotary songs was led by W. H. Matthews of Amarillo.

Rev. Luther G. H. Williams, rector of St. Paul's on the Plains, Episcopal church, pronounced the invocation following which Governor Boyd made his first address.

Local Men Introduced

Governor Boyd introduced local committee chairmen, including Jed A. Rix, executive committee; Wallace W. Rix, pageant; J. A. Raley, registration; Mrs. Chas. J. Wagner, Rotary-Annes; Chas. A. Guy, publicity and invitation; Lindsey Harkey, boys work; Herbert L. Allen, halls and meeting places; Jack Parsons, hotels and lodging places; Neil H. Wright, reception; E. L. Robertson, decorations; Spencer A. Wells, entertainment, and Homer Grant, transportation.

Hubbers' Ragged Play Costs Game; New Town In Loop

Eighteen Counties Sending Athletes For District Interscholastic Meet

Knight Lets Down Lubbock With But 5 Hits for Game

Crowd of 500 Sees Local Team Lose First Encounter by Score of 5 to 1; Play Again Today.

A ragged seventh inning exhibition of baseball performance cost the Lubbock Hubbers the opening game of a two-ply series with the Hamlin combination yesterday afternoon before a crowd estimated at 500. The final score of the encounter was 5 to 1.

Willis Knight, rangy right hander of the visitors' hurling staff, went the entire route on the mound and let the local hitters down with five well scattered bingles. Knight was a running mate to Vernon Underhill Hubber favorite during the 1925 season of semi-professional baseball, and is classed as a rookie with the Hamlin nine.

"Lefty" Maxwel, new-comer in the Hubber training quarters, who has been in the Amarillo Texan camp since early training season, opened the game for the homelings and worked six frames, allowing one run and five base knocks during his turn in the box. Maxwell was relieved by "Red" Dillard, local tryout for mound duty on the Brownlow machine.

Dillard Little Wild.

Dillard, a raw rookie in the game, took to the mound in the seventh session. He was wild and W. White, lead off hitter for the visitors, drew a base on balls with four pitched balls; Gene Alford, a former letter man of Texas Tech, beat out an infield hit down the third base line; Kyle came up and on the first pitched ball was hit to load the bases; "Chick" Bond, Abilene tryout with Hamlin around the initial hassock, drove out a two-base blow to clean the bases. After the stage fright passed Dillard settled down and began chunking a good contest. Claud Shipman of Abernathy, worked the final frame for the locals.

Louis (Hog-Eye) Sloan, a former Hubber, but now working with the Hamlin nine, copped the hitting honors for the afternoon with two hits in three accredited trips.

One Double Play.

One double play was executed in the field play of yesterday's game and it was pulled via the Mays to Mr. Ratliff to Bean route.

The two lineups will meet again this afternoon in the closing exhibition game. Bert Hunter, veteran pitcher of the Panhande Pecos Valley loop and who has hurled numerous game in West Texas, will probably work the game for the visitors while Skipper Brownlow will likely use Daniels and Smith, a pair of rookie recruits in the local quarters.

Slaton Favorite To Win First In Competition Here

1500 Expected to Participate In Events of Meet Today; Preliminaries To Start At 1:30.

The fourteenth annual South Plains Interscholastic League meet opens today with more than 1,500 high school athletes from eighteen surrounding counties expected here for participation in the various events of the league program. Counties included in the South Plains district are: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Andrews and Martin.

Coach Ewing Y. Freeland, director of Texas Technological College athletics, is general conductor of the meet states that everything is in readiness for the biggest and best meet the district has ever had. From all records of the county meets over the league it is anticipated that keener competition will be had than ever before and several district records will likely be smashed.

Slaton Team Favored

The favorite for this year's meet will be the Slaton Tigers, winners of the Lubbock county meet. Coach Odus Mitchell, mentor of the Tigers, has several outstanding contestants listed in the entries of the various contests. Floydada, Lockney, Plainview, Littlefield, Post, Dickens, and other cities of the district are expected to be here with well organized teams for league contention.

E. J. (Pinky) Lowery, diminutive coach of the Westerners of Lubbock high school, placed more than twenty contestants in district competition through qualifying in the county meet and hopes to accumulate sufficient points in second, third, and fourth places to retain the district title. Lubbock for the past thirteen seasons has won the league track and field laurels.

Preliminaries at 1:30

Preliminaries in several track events, 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes, 120 high hurdles and 220 low hurdles; and all field preliminaries will be held. The first event will start at 1:30 at the Texas Tech athletic field.

Registration of all contestants will be held from 8 until 10 in the lobby of the Tech Administration building this morning.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

Yale beat Michigan for the swimming supremacy by an inch. Just how they measured that inch is O'Goofty's question.

A few of the British spotrs writers actually doubt that Heenly will be able to beat Tunney. There ought to be some way to punish such disloyalty.

British sports writer is a man who starts out to write about boxers and in the second paragraph takes up "gowf."

That isn't so illogical as it sounds. British fighters are very often better golfers than they are fighters. In fact they couldn't be much worse.

One of the New York boxing managers, Walter Friedman, has gone to Europe to "scour the country for a new heavyweight champion." We just hope he took along plenty of soap.

A young Philipino boxer coming to the front is called Silvio Silvino Jahito. That las name is pronounced HAM-EET-O. He wouldn't have to eat very hard to chew up all the hams exhibited recently.

A Delaney-Sharkey match seems certain. Every possible way to stave it off failed, and it realy is going to happen.

MURRAY BAY, Que., April 19. Dale Trial

Dale to see about the tax bill, which would have levied $50 a year on stationary optometrists. The letter recommended a pardon by Mrs. Ferguson for some one whose name was not divulged.

Defense counsel strenuously objected to having the letter shown to the jury and District Judge J. R. Hamilton took the question under advisement as he went out to prepare his charge.

Arguments in the case probably will begin Friday morning.

Dale took the stand Thursday and denied that he ever had offered to take $1,000 from Chamberlin, as the latter testified, to get an unfavorable house committee report on the tax bill. Dale also denied that he told Chamberlin that parties supporting the bill had offered $750 for favorable action.

"Rotary Song" Given.

In closing the pageant, a "Rotary Song," using words contributed by Mrs. R. D. Erwin, was sung by men in the chorus.

Adding a spirit of levity to the impressive show, was the entry of three men, representing darkies, demanding the reason why they were not eligible to Rotary membership. Then in darky style, H. W. Richardson sang "Every Race Has a Flag But a Coon," while R. L. McKnight displayed a proposed negro pennant. Bob Stephenson was at the piano.

Orchestra Accompanies.

Accompany the chorus of singers in the pageant was an orchestra composed of Miss Beulah Dunn, Miss Frances Larmer, Miss Margaret Halsell, Dr. H. H. Latson of Amarillo, Howard Hunt, Harmon Jenkins and Mrs. R. A. Trussell.

Mrs. McKnight was in charge of costumes for the pageant and arrangement of scenery. As representatives of each nation appeared, a Boy Scout attended her, carrying the flag of the country depicted.

This pageant was adapted from one written by Charles Haddon Nabors, D. D., president of the Pensacola, Fla., Rotary club.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—Operators for the advance were in control of the stock market at the opening today. Buying of eastern railroad shares carried Delaware & Hudson up 4 points and New York Central more than 1 point. Radio jumped 1 1-2 at the outset and quickly extended its gain to 3 points. Initial strength was displayed by Bethlehem Steel, Lima Locomotive, General Electric, American Telephone and St. Paul preferred. St. Paul common opened practically higher at a new peak.

A sudden spurt of Radio featured the first half hour of trading when the price ran up to 183, an overnight jump of 14, and comparing with a low of 159 on Tuesday. Confidence of the bulls seemed to have been restored by the fact that none of the federal reserve banks meeting yesterday increased rediscount rates. It is generally believed that the New York bank is unlikely to be the first to make such a move.

General Motors advanced about a point and gains of 2 to 3 1-2 were registered by American Smelting, American Woolen preferred, Lambert and Greene Cananea Copper. When Radio reached 183 it met heavy offerings and the price dropped by stages to 174, or 5 points above yesterday's final price. A good demand was noticeable for various oil, food, motor accessory and railroad shares, with advances running from 1 to 1 1-2 before the first half hour was over.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, sterling cables ruling unchanged around $4.88 3-8.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—Rallies from an opening decline in the cotton market today met increased offerings and there were reactions later. July contracts, after selling up from 19.80 to 20.00 declined to 19.82 and closed at 19.86, the general market closing steady, at net declines of 1 to 4 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 5 to 8 points, active months soon showing net losses of 9 to 10 points under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers, influenced by a favorable view of the early weather news and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

These early offerings were absorbed by trade buying, combined with some broadening of commission house demand and covering, and the miday market firmed up on the uncertainty of the weather outlook and numerous reports concerning the unfavorable effect of recent weather conditions on the new crop start.

May advanced from 19.92 to 20.13, while October sold up from 19.59 to 19.78, but offerings increased at these figures, while demand tapered off and the afternoon market eased. Active months sold back within 4 or 5 points of the early low level, or about 4 to 8 points below yesterday's closing quotations, reflecting a favorable interpretation of the detailed weather reports and a disposition to take profits on long cotton before the end of the week.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK.

FORT WORTH, April 19 (AP)—The cattle trade here today was irregular. Steers were slow and other classes about steady.

Steers sold 9.25 to 11.50, bulls 6.00 to 8.00, cows 7.00 to 9.25, yearlings and heifers 8.00 to 12.50 and calves up to 11.00.

The sheep trade was steady. Aged salughter wethers sold for 9.00 and lambs and yarling 12.00.

The hog market was from 20c to 35c higher, the highest it has been in several months. The top price was 9.40.

Senator Quizzed

The jury in the trial of Harry Sinclair was told by Senator J. B Kendrick of Wyoming how he had asked former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall for information concerning the lease of Teapot Dome. Fall said the lease had not been signed—but did sign it the next day, declared the senator who is shown here leaving the court room after testifying.

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "SAINT AND SINNER"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

The summer she is 16, Sally Ford, ward of the state orphanage from the time she is four, is "farmed out" to Clem Carson. She meets David Nash, athlete and student who is working on the farm for the summer. Carson makes remarks about David's innocent friendship with Sally and the student strikes him a crushing blow.

Sally and David flee and join a carnival, David as cook's helper and Sally in a sideshow disguised as "Princess Lalla," a crystal gazer. Nita, Hula dancer, who knows the police are after David and Sally and who is infatuated with David, threatens to expose Sally if she doesn't keep "hands off" the young student.

In Capital City, Sally successfully escapes detection under the disguise of Lalla until one afternoon when the orphanage wards troop in with a beautiful woman who is playing "Lady Bountiful" to them. One little girl recognizes Sally and shouts her name. Gus the barker, comes to Sally's rescue and diverts attention from her and gets the children out of the tent. Sally is surprised to see the beautiful "Lady Bountiful" stop and talk with a dark-eyed, well-dressed Easterner who earlier in the afternoon has teasingly read Sally's fortune in the crystal and asked her to go to supper with him. Sally dislikes him and refuses. She hears these two speak of New York and call each other Enid and Van. A terrible storm comes up, and the tent blows down. Sally finds herself in the strong arm of the Easterner, who tells her he knows who she is. When they are rescued, Sally looks about and finds David and Nita missing. That night Bybee's safe is robbed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIX

"Everybody tumble out! Pop Bybee wants us all in the privilege car," a carnival employe shouted, running down the sleeping car and pausing only to thrust a hand into each berth, likt a Pullman porter, awakening his passengers.

But Sally was already dressing getting her dress on backward and sobbing with futile rage at the time lost in reversing it. When she was scrambling out of her upper berth, a tiny hand reached out of the lower and tugged at her foot.

"Don't forget me, Sally," the midget commanded sharply. "And for heaven's sake, don't take on so! You'll make yourself sick, crying like that. Of course your David didn't rob the safe. I'm all dressed."

Sally parted the green curtains and stretched out her arms for the midget, who was so short that she could stand upright upon her bed without her head touching the rounded support of the upper berth. Little Miss Tanner ran into Sally's arms and clambered to her shoulder.

"It's that Nita." She nodded her minature head emphatically. "I always did have my suspicions about her... Always turning white as a sheet when a policeman hove into sight."

"But David's missing, too," Sally sobbed, as she hurried down the aisle which was becoming choked with frowsy-headed women in all stages of dress and undress. "Of course he didn't do it."

"Hurry up, everybody! Don't take time to primp, girls!" a man bawled at them from the door.

They found most of the men employes and performers of the carnival already assembled with the Bybees in the privilege car. Pop Bybee's usually lobster-colored face was as white as putty, but his arm was gallantly about his wife's shoulder. Mrs. Bybee still wore the black sateen petticoat and red sweater in which she had hurried from the show train to the carnival immediately after the storm. Her reddened eyes showed that she had been crying bitterly, but as the carnival family crowded into the privilege car she searched each face with fury and suspicion.

"Come here to me, Sally Ford!" she shrilled, when Sally entered the car with "Pitty Sing" riding on her shoulder.

"Now, honey, go easy!" Pop Bybee cautioned her futilely. "Better let me do the talking—"

"You shut up!" his wife commanded angrily. "Sally, you knew where I kept the money! You saw the safe! Oh, I was a fool, all right, but I wanted to show that I trusted you! Huh! Thought I'd wronged you by accusing you of taking presents from my husband! Tell him you saw the safe! Tell him!" And she seized Sally's wrist and shook her so that the midget had to cling tightly to the girl's neck to keep from being catapulted to the floor.

"Yes, Mrs. Bybee," Sally answered, her voice almost dying in her throat with fright. "I saw the safe. But I didn't tell anybody—"

"You're a liar!" Mrs. Bybee screamed. "You told that David boy that very night. Sneaked off and went walking with him and cooked up this robbery so you two could make your getaway. Thought it was a grand way to get out of the state so the cops couldn't pinch you, didn't you? Didn't you?" she repeated, beside herself with anger, her fingers clamped like a vise on Sally's wrist.

"Oh, please," Sally moaned, writhing with a pain of which she was scarcely conscious, so great was her fear and bewilderment at this unexpected charge.

"Sally certainly didn't go with him," Pop Bybee interposed reasonably.

"Shure, she didn't!" his wife chrilled with angry triumph. "She couldn't. She was buried under the tent! If it hadn't been for the storm she wouldn't be here now, working on your sympathies with them dying-calf eyes of hers—"

"Better let me handle this, honey," Pop Bybee interrupted again, this time more firmly. "Turn the child loose. Ain't a bit of use breaking her arm. Now, folks, I might as well tell you all just what happened, and then try to get to the bottom of this matter. When the worst of the storm was over Mrs. Bybee left the show train to look for me, to see if I was hurt or if she could do anything for anyone who was. She hadn't been out of the stateroom all evening till then—not since she'd put some money into the safe right after supper. She found the boy Dave starting out to look for Sally, and she ordered him to stay on the train to keep an eye on it, in case tramps or crooks tried to board it. There wasn't anybody else on the train. That right, Mother?"

He turned to Mrs. Bybee, who nodded angrily.

"She told him she'd look after Sally, but he'd have to stand guard on the train. She didn't say anything to him about the safe—just told him to patrol the train while she was gone. The safe is under a seat in our stateroom, and far as we knew, nobody knew where it was, except Sally here, who happened to come into the stateroom when my wife was counting a day's receipts."

"Please, Mr. Bybee," Sally interrupted, memory struggling with the panic in her brain. "Someone else did know! Nita knew! When I left the stateroom that last day in Stanton I saw Nita disappearing into the women's dressing room, and I thought she'd been listening. She—"

"Hold on a minute," Bybee cut in sternly. "How do you know she'd been listening? Any proof?"

"Yes, sir!" Sally cried eagerly. "Mrs. Bybee had been telling me that she'd found out that Ford isn't my real name, that the woman I always thought was my mother wasn't really my mother at all. She said she guessed I—that my mother was ashamed I'd ever been born. And that same day Nita called me a—a—bad name that means—" She could not go on. Sobs began to shake her small body again and her face was scarlet with shame.

"That's right!" Gus, the barker edged toward Bybee through the crowd. "I found Sally lighting into Nita for calling her that name. And Nita didn't deny she'd done it. Reckon that proves she was eavesdropping, all right. And if she was listening in, she was probably peeping in, too or heard Mrs. Bybee talking about the safe. Was the door open, ma'am?"

"I don't know!" Mrs. Bybee snapped. "Yes, it may have been. It was awful hot. And I didn't know anybody was on the train."

"It was open a little way," Sally cried. "I remember distinctly. Because I worried about whether Nita had overheard what Mrs. Bybee had been telling me. And there's something else — something that happened that night, when David and I were walking." Memory of that blessed hour in the moonlight brought tears to her eyes, but she dashed them away with the wrist which bore the marks of Mrs. Bybee's rage.

"What was it, Sally?" Pop Bybee asked gently. "All we want is to get at the truth of this thing. Don't be afraid to speak up."

"I hate being a tattle-tale," Sally whimpered. "I never told on anyone before in all my life! But David and I were sitting under a tree, not talking, when we suddenly heard Nita's voice. She couldn't see us for the tree, but we peeped around the trunk of it and we saw Nita and a man walking awfully close together, and Nita was talking. We just heard a few words. She said: 'No monkey business now, Steve. If you double-cross me I'll cut your heart out! Fifty-fifty or nothing—'."

Unconsciously her voice had mimicked Nita's, so that to the startled carnival family it seemed that Nita, the Hula dancer, had appeared suddenly in the car.

"Sounds like Nita, all right," Gus, the barker, nodded with satisfaction. "'Steve,' huh? Who the devil is this Steve?"

"What did he look like, Sally?" Bybee asked.

"I don't know," she answered, her big blue eyes imploring him to believe her. "We couldn't see their faces. We just recognized Nita's voice and her yellow hair that looked almost white in the moonlight. He wasn't tall, not any taller than Nita, and I guess he wasn't very big either, because they were so close together that they looked almost like one person. We didn't hear the man say a word. Nita was doing all the talking."

"Nita would!" a voice from the crowd growled. "Reckon I can tell you something about this. Pop, I was just ready to ballyhoo the last performance of the 'girlie' show when Nita come slouching up to me, pulling a long face and a song-and-dance about being knocked out with the heat. Bessie had fainted at the last show and I thought Nita might really be all in, so I told her she could cut the last performance and go to the dress tent. I never seen hair nor hide of her again, and—" he paused significantly. "I don't reckon I ever will."

"No, I reckon you won't, no' unless the cops nab her," Mrs. Bybee cut in bitterly. "I always said she was a snake in the grass! And that David, too! Them goody-goody kind ain't ever worth the powder and lead it'd take to blow out their brains. I told you, Winfield Bybee, that there was something phony about that hussy and Dave! 'Tain't like a star performer like Nita thought she was to trail around after a cook's helper, like she done with Dave. They didn't pull the wool over my eyes, even if they did double-cross the kid here—if they did double-cross her! Mind you, Bybee, I ain't saying I believe a word she's been saying! She knew where the safe was, and she tipped off the boy."

"I ain't forgot they was both wanted by the police when they joined up with us! As I said before, if it hadn't been that she was buried under the freak tent, she'd have skipped with Nita and Dave. You roped Nita in on your little scheme, didn't you because she'd had more experience cracking safes than you or the boy? That's right ain't it?" the old lady demanded fiercely of Sally.

Sally shrank from her in horror, but the midget, still perched on her shoulder, patted her cheeks reassuringly. "No, no! I didn't even tell David where the safe was! I didn't! David didn't do it! He couldn't! David's good! He's the best man in the world!"

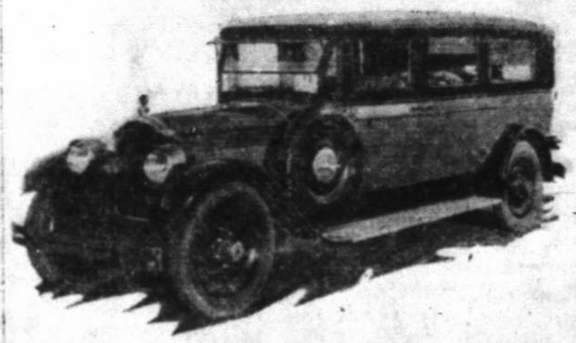

"Then where is he?" Mrs. Bybee screamed. "Why did he blow? I left him to guard the train, didn't I? And he ain't here, is he? He wasn't here when we got back from the carnival lot after the tents was raised. If he's so damned good, why did he blow with Nita and this Steve you've made up out of your head?"

"Now, now, Mother," Pop Bybee soothed her, but his eyes were troubled and suspicious. "Reckon we'd better notify the police, folks. I hate to call in the law. I've always said I was the law of this outfit, but I suppose if I've been harboring thieves I'll have to get the help of the law to track 'em down. Ben, you and Chuck beat it down the tracks to the police station and give 'em a description of Nita and Dave and this Steve person, as much as Sally's been able to tell us anyway—"

"Please, Mr. Bybee!" Sally ran to the showman and seized both his hands in hers. "Please don't set the police on David! I know he's innocent! There's some reason why he isn't here—a good reason! But he didn't have anything to do with the robbry. I know that. But if you tell the police he's been with the carnival they'll find him somehow and put him in jail on those other charges—and me, too. It doesn't matter about me, but I couldn't live if David was put in jail on my account! Oh, please. You've been so good to us!" And she went suddenly on her knees to him, her face upraised in an agony of appeal.

OUR LIFE: Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go; keep her, for she is thy life.—Prov. 4:13.

PRAYER: O Lord, may that mind be in us which was also in Christ Jesus.

IDLE HANDS

Though the busy person tires of job at times and regards his strenuous routine as monochrome and monotonous as well as a strain on his mental and physical powers, he is much better off than the individual with too much leisure. Idleness, though craved ardently by many of us, is a trouble brewer. Where one's time is employed in the pursuit of betterment, he is creating happiness for himself even though he may not realize it. Since he has no time to waste, he makes each moment pay dividends: nor is he likely to be disturbed by petty worries which afflice him because of too much time on his hands.

The hard worker always accomplishes a great deal. First comes the serving of the apprenticeship, then the developing of fundamentals until they produce a comprehensive knowledge of the subject at hand and power to apply this learning. And this can be done only by conscientious, earnest application, by steady devotion to a worthy objective. When persons grow lethargic and neglect their duties, they deteriorate. Distinction can not be gained without alertness and enthusiasm.

A northern health commissioner once remarked: "City folk have a new disease to fear in the prevalent malady, 'spectatoris.'" This disease, the health officer says is an affliction in which the victim is a chronic looker-on or spectator, and its cure is participation instead of observation. Striking its prey at almost any adult age, "spectatoritis" produces mental dullness, double chans, large waist measures and helplessness. "A fat man," he states, "finds viewing a baseball game very entertaining, but it is better for his health, his appearance and his condition of mind that he indulge in it."

In other words the commissioner recommends action. Well does he know that activity is an antidote for grouches, excess tissue, mental slumps, many varieties of physical trouble, and failure. If one has varied interests his time is all taken up and he is not tempted to fall into error or despondency. Well does the wise man realize the penalty of the one-track mind; and the importance of leading a well-balanced and eventful life, neither slighting nor overdoing the serious and the lighter sides.

Play is rest of a sort—a diversion that obscures consideration of toil and problems. When the business man or woman dances, plays golf or bridge or goes to the theatre, he or she is mentally and physicaly refreshed because duties for the time, are forgotten and this sort of oblivion is inspiration and power. Hence, it is not any more fitting to omit recreation from your program than to eliminate work. The proper commingling of the two means satisfaction.

AMERICAN FOREST WEEK

American Forest Week, which this year will be observed the week of April 22-28, has become one of the most widely observed of al the various "weeks" which overlap on the calendar. The observance has behind it the United States Department of Agriculture and the Forestry Service of that department. But it has more than official support. The American Tree association, under the leadership of Charles Lathrop Pack, distinguished and indefatigable advocate of improved forestry, makes of the annual observance a live and vital thing.

President Coolidge's proclamation fixing the observance this year emphasizes the chief objects which it is sought to further by public education and reminder. Fire is the chief enemy of the forests, and prevention of fire will be stressed during American Forest Week this year. On this point, Mr. Coolidge says:

"The rehabilitation of our forests demands first of all that the forest fire evil be suppressed. Many of the forested states, with the co-operation of timbered owners, have undertaken organized protection against forest fires; and in recent years, under the Clarke-McNary law, the Federal Government has given its support to the movement. This great co-operative enterprise must be extended and strengthened until every forested county in the United States is safeguarded against forest fires.

"But we are still far from the goal of complete protection. Every year, on the average 80,000 fires scourge our woodlands, steadily undermining their vitality. For this bad situation, the blame falls equally on us all. Public agencies rarely provide adequate protection against fire, the timberland owner is too often indifferent to his property, the forest worker is too often neglectful of the future forest, the average citizen is too often careess with fire in the woods. We must all gain such respect for the forest that its destruction through indifference or carelessness shall be unthinkable."

In the observance of American Forest Week this year, public spirited citizens in all parts of the country are taking an active part. The American Forest Week Committee, of Which Theodore Roosevelt of New York is chairman, has been organized to co-ordinate the many activities. The committee is composed of representatives of more than 100 organizations of every conceivable form of interest. The list includes the Federal Government, tate governments, outdoor, wild life and recreational interests, forests and forestry associations, the lumber industry, large consumers of forest products, labor, groups nterested in water resources, scientific and civic organizations, women's organizations, newspaper publishers, boys' and girls' organizations and a host of others.

It is highly proper that the principal idea for emphasis in the public observance should be the protection of forests from fire and other causes of devastation. Reforestation is a problem for the government and the large owners of forest lands. But the work for fire prevention must be done with the public. Great forest fires frequently start from the careless fire of the tourist camper. Countless smaller fires, small in their damage to timber but reducing to unsightliness what formerly was an area of forest beauty, start from camp fires, from the carelessly flipped match or cigaret butt. No state is without its forest fires of such origin.

The forest problem touches practically all citizens of the country. Each of us may contribute to conservation and forest development by care with fire when we frequent the woods, as well as by lending intelligent and understanding support to the furtherance of better forestry conditions locally and nationally. It is for the creation of this intelligent and understanding support that American Forest Week is designated.

VALIANT SPIRTS

Pluck is a great asset. One can not fight the battles of life without it. Therefore, whatever our failures may be we should be philosophical about them and begin anew. The average person doesn't possess the necessary pertinacity to deal with the problems of living. We are all too infantile; ready to weep at the slightest provocation; too weak for heavy responsibility; ignorant of what is good or bad for us.

There are time, and there always will be, when the weight of suffering will threaten our strength and cause us to falter in an effort to be happy. Such conditions are inevitable and when they exist, one can only depend upon time and courage to adjust matters, but the spectacle of persons grieving over imaginary woes, failing to appreciate the actual benefits that surround them is a hapless matter.

It is but natural that the daily routine impresses us at times as monotonous; that we manifest occasionally an aversion for work and a strong inclination for relaxation and pleasure. But we should be deterred from irresponsibility by consideration of the fact that the inert mind, the lethargic body—the individual surfeited with pleasure and luxury reaches stagnation, and in that state he becomes a stranger to happiness and to progress.

One might well implore the world's deliverance from stagnation; from lifelessness and lack of ambition among its inabitants; from absence of that fine pride which is an impetus to higher civilization. Without self-respect, joy in accomplishment, the willingness to make sacrifices for love and lawful gain, society would disintegrate, and it would take a mighty force to restore it to its former beauty and stability.

You may think you crave freedom; you may yearn to rid yourself of incumbrances —to think and act as you choose — to know liberty in its unadulterated sense. You may regard duty as a restriction and your possessions as impediments which keep you chained to your post, jealously guarding these things which brain and brawn purchased for you. You think you want to be free, but do you? Would you want to be like the tramp who is a carefree wanderer eking out a precarious existence? He has no obligations that he will acknowledge. He is free from possessions of any material value and he glories in his freedom from impediments. But a social anathema hangs over his head. He is a nobody. His irresponsibility, his independability, his nomadic tendencies have caused him to spurn duty and effort. His so-called freedom is decadence and what is worse, he is a victim of stagnation.

Fluck in his earlier days would have saved him, for it generates betterment; the sheer strength of it wrests success from life. That is why it is a valuable possession which we all should work diligently in acquiring.

Not every man who makes money is a business success.

OUT OUR WAY— By Williams

SO THINK WE

We think the boom that is starting for the nomination of Jesse H. Jones of Houston as a probable nominee for president might develop into something that will have to be figured with at the convention this summer. We doubt if the Democrats could center upon a man that would be better qualified and equipped for the position than he, and Texas might just as well have the nominee as any other state.

—o—

We think many of the Rotarians will appreciate Lubbock, and the great South Plains much more since attending the Rotary Convention here yesterday and today, and after they travel over many hundreds of miles of rough and untillable soil, they will be able to realize the wonderful possibilities of this great 100 per cent tillable section on the South Plains.

—o—

We think with the large number of new homes in Lubbock, and the great amount of shrubbery and other things that are being used to brighten up the premises that Lubbock will be a much prettier town this summer than it ever has been, and last year it was greatly improved over former years. Its a mighty sorry town however that does not improve in appearance every year especially with the rapid increase in population.

—o—

We think that our honorable visitors will find that the Lubbock people are not all running after the dollar as some of the humorists on the radio would have the people believe. They will find that Lubbock people are spending many thousands of dollars, on school buildings and on churches. They will note that all denominations have nice places of worship, and some are building larger church buildings and others are tearing down and building new ones.

—o—

We think it is pretty tough to strap a fellow in an electric chair and shoot the electricity to him till he is dead, but after all is it worse than for him to shoot some fellow full of bullet holes just because he was performing his official duty, or just because the murderer took a notion he would like to get a lot of sensational headlines in the newspapers. We think it is the proper thing to do to know that you are right, then go ahead, but be sure you know you are right fellows, and then there can be no question about the punishment being just.

OPINIONS

NOTHING HAS HAPPENED

Just a year has elapsed since the so-called Nanking incident. As may be remembered, this incident consisted in the firing by United States gunboats on a section of the Chinese city where Americans were being attacked by Chinese soldiery. A few days before, Chinese Nationalists had taken the native city of Shanghai. The whole country was in feverish turmoil. It was being freely predicted that all foreigners would be driven out in short order, and the Washington Government was petitioned to order Americans to leave before they were driven out. The Nationalists, it was said, would soon be in possession of the entire country, and there was no more hope for foreigners there. How, it was asked could a few thousand foreign troops be expected to stem this new yellow peril. That was a year ago. Not one of the dire predictions panned out. Foreigners are still in China. The Chinese are still fighting. China is still China, and nothing really happened, after all—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

NOW AREN'T WE SORRY

Perfect, if unconscious, sense of world values is shown in the use of the word "pretend" by the Journal de Geneve when, seeking to rebuke the United States for its refusal to join the League of Nations, this newspaper of the League seat notices Spain's membership thus: "Spain today understands one nation cannot pretend to be a great power and at the same time hold aloof from international collaboration'." The Geneva paper is just as amusing, however, when it sticks out its tongue at America. "Smarty!" it exclaims in effect when it declares: "The United States once thought that the League would be unable to live without them, but it has lived, and while it awaits them, it is in no hurry." Apparently the Geneva organ of the League has not yet discovered that it is the United States that is doing the waiting.—Minneapolis Journal.

Mrs. Black was an ardent worker in the temperance society, which was to meet that afternoon. She dressed hurriedly and came downstairs panting.

"Lizzie," she called to her maid, "run upstairs and get my temperance badge. It has a blue ribbon with gold lettering."

"Yes, ma'am, I know it well," said Lizzie.

Lizzie could not read, but she knew a blue ribbon with gold letters when she saw it, and had no trouble in locating it and fastening it on the dress of her mistress.

Mrs. Black was too busy greeting her friends to note that they smiled broadly when they looked at her.

When the family had assembled at ten, Mrs. Black entered, and was received with laughter by her children, who made her look at her badge for the first time. The gold lettering on the ribbon read: "Redfield Poultry Show. First prize, bantam."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Every time the heart beats its muscle contracts. When the heart contracts the blood is forced out of the heart into the large blood vessels and this beat is felt to the very limits of the blood vessels.

The pulse rate is a measure of the rate of the heart beat. People vary as to the speed at which the heart contracts. Sometimes the beat is as slow as 55 or 60 per minute, sometimes as fast as 80 or 85 a minute and still normal.

It is possible for a disordered heart to beat slower than 55 or 60 a minute. Slow heart beats are associated, strangely enough, with thick skull and also with skull fracture. It is also possible for the heart to beat even more than 200 times per minute. A very rapid heart beat is sometimes associated with serious disturbances, particularly of the thyroid gland.

Rapid Hearts.

The hearts of children and young people usually beat faster than those of old people. Rather rapid hearts are frequently seen in young women without having any definite significance in relationship to their state of health.

At each exit or entrance into the heart of a blood vessel there are valves. These valves prevent the blood from passing back into the veins when it comes into the heart or prevent it from flowing back into the heart when the heart relaxes after pushing it out into the arteries.

When a mass of blood is pushed into a narrow vessel, the wall swells slightly. This is what is called the pulse beat.

Power for Blood Stream.

When the heart beats it forces blood through the lungs and to the rest of the body. In the lungs the blood is given a new supply of oxygen. It is carried by the arteries to the most remote portions of the body, supplying them with the food and particularly the oxygen that they need if life is to be sustained.

The heart pumps about four quarts of blood a minute when the heart is at rest; with moderate exercise nine quarts are needed, and during severe exercise the heart may pump as much as 16 quarts per minute.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported now that the railroad commission may soon be asked to take over control of the gins of Texas. We are of the opinion that the railroad commission has too many irons in the fire now for the general good of the country.

—o—

It is reported that one of Sweetwater's familiar old characters and honorable citizens was run down by a train at a street crossing last week and killed. His body was horribly mangled. It is just another one of these accidents that will surely happen in the course of years when men and trains are crossing paths. The man invariably loses in the contact and this story will be date-lined from Lubbock one of these days if our underpasses are not made soon.

—o—

It is reported that America will celebrate Forest week beginning April 22 and continuing through the 28th. We do not have any forests out in this country, but there is one thing pretty certain we would appreciate the few trees we have and we would like to see many more planted in Lubbock even that late in the season.

—o—

It is reported that some of the people who live up near the high schools are talking of asking the school board to plant the grounds in grass. It would be a great improvement over the blowing sand and dust that the yards around the school grounds get when the winds strike down.

—o—

It is reported that the scholastic census in Lubbock shows that there are more than 500 more school children here this year than last year, and by the time the schools open again there will be half that many more. Lubbock is growing as fast as any town on the South Plains, and it is not an oil boom nor potash, nor anything that is not substantial.

—o—

It is reported that Lubbock's hotel needs are going to soon be about as great as they were before the big hotel was completed. It is reported that it is necessary to wire ahead if rooms can be supplied.

—o—

It is reported that the McLean News has discovered that even the advertisements are read in that newspaper. Last week that newspaper accepted and printed a large cigarette ad, and many of the readers came down with a storm of protest against running the ads. We presume, as usual, those who stormed were not spending any money to maintain a newspaper without selling the space to cigarette companies.

Farmer Gillespie: "I crossed all my chickens with parrots."

Farmer Hilton: "What was your idea?"

Farmer Gillespie: "Well, when one of my hens lays an egg now, instead of cackling she comes to me and says: 'Charlie, I laid an egg—go get it.'"

A New Creation, Too.

"What's the matter with your wife? She's all broken up lately."

"She's got a terrible jar."

"What happened?"

"Why, she was assisting at a rummage sale, took off her new hat and somebody sold it for 35 cents."—Missouri Outlaw.

Rightly Named.

"What's that you call your mule?"

"Ah calls 'im Corporation," answered the old colored man.

"Why did you give him such an odd name?"

"Frum studyin' the animal an' reading the papers. Dat mule gets more blame an' abuse dan anything else in des here township an' he goes ahead doin' his best jest de same."

South Plains Press

The Lynn County News is getting after the business men of Tahoka for letting the trade that rightfully belongs to that town other places. The News gives the following as one of the main reasons:

"Our Chamber of Commerce and some of our business men have long been concerned about getting the trade for Tahoka that rightfully belongs within her trade territory. If they would read regularly the papers published in our neighboring towns they would understand why these towns are invading Tahoka's trade territory. The business men of these towns advertise. They carry frequently half-page and full-page and double-page ads, telling about their goods, wares, and merchandise. Just last week one of our near neighbors issued a fourteen-page paper, well-filled with advertisements of the business concerns of the town, and it regularly issues ten and twelve pages. This town is little if any larger than Tahoka. Other neighboring towns are advertising fully as freely. We are not complaining at the home folks, but we are just putting our finger on the reason for our losing trade that belongs in our territory.

The laying of gas mains in Tahoka has been delayed several days on account of the failure of necessary material for doing the work to arrive. The main is being laid about ten miles out from Tahoka now.

Littlefield is going right ahead with the college proposition according to the Littlefield Leader. The new school will be a great thing for that city, and Littlefield and the people of this section of the country are to be congratulated on having secured its location there.

Concerning the school the Leader has this to say:

With the last of the $75,000 pledged locally for the erection of Littlefield College raised at a mass meeting here today, announcement was made that construction of buildings valued at $482,000 would begin within thirty days.

Announcement was also made that contract for the building had been let to a Dallas firm, that a radio broadcasting station would be installed, and that the school would open in September with John R. Freeman heading a faculty of fifteen.

MIDLAND PARK NEARS COMPLETION

Construction of the new ball park of the Midland club of the West Texas League will be completed next week. The grand stand will seat 1,500 people and the bleachers an additional 1,000. The park is within 11 blocks of the downtown district. Dick Cowden, who is credited with being the main figure in putting the team over, is building the park on his own land. He is grounds manager. Skipper J. J. Maloney of the Midland club has a big aggregation of old-timers and rookies working out for positions. He thinks his team will be doing fine work by April 25, when the opener will be played here with Lubbock.—Midland Telegram.

Funny Sayings

Commissioner Charles Bowton recently told some interesting stories concerning persons who have presided at his meetings—in other lands! For example, the mayor of a country town, was expatiating on the beginnings of the Army in "City Road, London!" (It was, of course, Whitechapel Road). In order evidently to try out his knowledge a bit, he went on to explain to his audience that "In City Road is the cemetery in which was buried that famous man, John Bunyan, whom you know wrote that famous book 'Robinson Crusoe'." Shades of De Foe!

Often people sing words in our songs without realizing their actual meaning. Children in such matters often accommodate themselves with wonderful agility of thought. For example: "An officer's little son is singing the well-known chorus, "I know a fount," etc., always say "blind mice made to see," instead of "blind eyes made to see." Another child, in the chorus, "Launch out into the deep" invariably sang "Lord, shout into the deep!" Still another child imagined the words "Jesus, Savior, pilot me," to be "Jesus, save a pie for me."

"Brigadier Hendy, speaking on one occasion at a welcome meeting to delegates to a Methodist Conference, created great merriment by remarking: "I have a corn warmer in my heart for the Methodist church." He meant, of course, "a warm corner."

A veteran officer endeavoring to make a company of cadets feel the importance of opportunities before them, went on, "Ah, cadets, your future is before you; mine's behind me!"

Here's another Irishism. "I'm saved and I'm never going back any more. I've got half way up the golden stairs and there I mean to stick till I get to the top."

"Did they give you the keys of the city?"

"Yes, but they wouldn't fit any of the padlocks."—Missouri Outlaw.

Gains From Development And Use of Aircraft

Had he not been forced down by a blinding snowstorm at St. Paul, Eugene G. Shank of that city doubtless would have achieved a still better duration record for a light airplane.

Shank lately remained aloft 14 hours and 28 minutes, in a biplane equipped with a 90-horsepower motor. That exceeded the best previous effort by 1 hour and 44 minutes. Until this feat the world record for those little planes was that set by Harry J. Brooks, who piloted a so-called flivver plane from Detroit to Titusville (Florida) without a stop. He was killed soon afterward while flying to Havana. The ship with which he achieved that record —and in which he afterward fell into the sea—was a monoplane, that carried a 36-horsepower engine.

Even more attention is being given light planes abroad than in this country, largely because of economical fuel-consumption. A monoplane recently designed and constructed in Soviet Russia—the Bourevestnik, C-4—weighs only 295 pounds when empty. It is fitted with a 20-horsepower Blackburn motor and carries 220 pounds of useful load. The span is 29 1-2 feet, the wing-area 103.3 feet, and it can make 38 to 78 miles an hour. It is claimed this ship can ascend to 13,000 feet at 546 feet a minute.

Airplanes are becoming indispensable to exploring parties, whether in the tropics, the temperate zones or the polar regions. Commander Richard E. Byrd, plans to use two planes in maping much of the Anartic continent, which was discovered by Lieut. Charles Wilkes, also an American naval officer.

One of the most inhospitable areas is Death Valley in Southern California, near the Arizona line. The Funeral Mountains loom above Furnace Creek and Poison Spring, where many persons died in the early days of transcontinental travel. A flight over that region, which is almost waterless and devoid of vegetation, now offers little difficulty.

Lieut. Daniel W. Tomlinson, a Navy officer on duty at San Diego, lately flew from the naval air station there to Death Valley in 6 hours and 35 minutes. The course carried him over Riverside, Victorville and Mount Fremont. After spending five days on the edge of the Valley, during which he took several hops over the region, he returned to his station. The flight revealed some errors in the best available map, but Death Valley no longer holds any terror for the aviator.

The blank spaces now common on charts of Northwest Brazil, which largely is covered with heavy forest, may be filled out—thanks to flyers and the airplane. American explorers have aided in mapping considerable area between the Middle Amazon and the frontier of the Guianas and Venezula, and they will do more work in the valley of the world's greatest river before long; but without the airplane the Brazilian jungles never could be forced to give up their secrets.

LITTLE THINGS

It's the little things we do
That win love for me and you.
Life's rush of many deeds
Fame has endless hills to climb,
Even faith has varied creeds,
There are many forms of rhyme,
But the need for kindness stays
To the end of all our days.

Love is in the thought we take
For the ones the great forsake,
In the summer flowers we pick
And the minutes that we spend
In remembering the sick;
In the little sums we lend.
Love is in the simple goals
Which are reached by gentle souls.

There's a fame of wit and skill
Of enduring strength of will,
There's a cleverness of brain
And a glory of the strong,
And all these in time attain
Admiration from the throng.
But the courage to be kind
Leaves a greater love behind.

Not the man who rules the state
In the fullest sense is great
For the best-loved man is he
Who, within his neighborhood
Plays the friend and tries to be
Thoughtful, generous and good
And, despite life's urge and press
Still finds time for kindliness.

Rotating With The Rotarians

"Rotary is a great thing when a man from New York can stand up before you and speak without you calling him a big stiff or without him thinking in his own mind that you are a bunch of hicks," Ray Knoeppel declared in his speech at the church yesterday morning.

"Another thing," Mr. Knoeppel said, "since I've been in Texas I have learned how to say Mrs. instead of Missus."

The Lubbock boy scouts were "sticking to" the officials assigned to them yesterday and at all times throughout the day they were ready to do any errand or answer any call asked by the visitors.

J. B. Davis, secretary manager of the Southwestern Fat Stock Show and Exposition of Fort Worth and E. P. Van Zandt, with the Fort Worth National bank came along with the Rotary delegates to the convention. While not Rotarians, Davis and Van Zandt were both mixing with delegates and meeting with other Lubbock people.

Among the Post Rotarians here are Mr. and Mrs. John Herd, and Mr. and Mrs. Ollio Weakley. Post citizens are always glad to visit in Lubbock, Herd says.

Fred Phillips of the Big Spring club is up with three other Big Spring Rotarians getting acquainted with Rotary ideals and practices. The Rotary club at Big Spring has only recently been organized.

"You've got more delegates than we had at Waco last year," E. E. McAdams, city manager of Waco, said Thursday in commenting on the attendance here. "West Texas towns are like that, however, and they all made a special effort to bring big delegations to Lubbock to show what they would do if the convention was held in this part of the state."

Colonel Ernest O. Thompson, Amarillo hotel operator and widely known over Texas, is a booster for his fellow clubman, Dr. Rue Parrells, candidate for the post of district governor, he said upon his arrival today. Mrs. Thopson, in public life the opera star, May Peterson Thompson, did not accompany her husband, as was hoped here. Colonel Thompson is a member of the Tech board of regents.

J. A. Pipkin, the Santa Fe's attorney at Amarillo, the "big daddy" of the Lubbock club when it was organized, is on the job Rotarily as usual.

The boys from Ranger, decked out in new white caps and everything, boomed their home town as the meeting place of the district convention next year by offering an impromptu concert in the lobby of the Hotel Lubbock yesterday afternoon about 6 o'clock.

Their song leader was Raymond Teal, city commissioner of the Eastland county city, while Frank Edwards rendered an accompaniment on a miniature portable organ which sounded like a combination of a pipe organ and an accordian. F. G. Yonkers, president of the club, lent his vocal talent; and Mrs. G. G. Henry, wife of the club secretary, added feminity to the occasion.

The musical efforts of the Ranger delegation aroused the jealousy of the Amarillo group, and they decided to show the world in general and the attending Rotarians in particular just what elements are contained in real harmony. An orchestra from the Panhandle metropolis, composed of Irving Tolseth, Bill Matthews, "Doc" Latson, Bill Smith, John Cunningham, "Slew" Davis, Jimmy Farwell and Jesse Rogers, took up where the Ranger harmony makers left off, and entertained the "lobbyists" in the hotel with a group of popular numbers.

Rotarians from Levelland were much in evidence at the convention yesterday. Among them were Frank B. Potter, candidate for county attorney, Sam Combs, George Smith, Guy King, Creed Rhea and John Doyle.

From Waco, down in the far south east corner of the district, came nine delegates, including two Rotary Anns. The delegation was headed by "Smoky" Joe Wood. Bob Scruggs, City Manager E. E. McAdams, F. A. Winchel, Frank and Rotary Ann Trau, and J. F. "Dad" and Rotary Ann Barnett.

Color flannied about in hats, arm bands and hat bands is very much in evidence all over the streets of Lubbock as each delegation distinguishes itself from the others.

The bright white caps of Ranger, the yellow hat bands of Fort Worth, the blue and gold of Pampa, the purple of Dalhart, and the dark blue of Amarillo, somewhat similar to the Lubbock caps, give a motley appearance as the crowds swarm about hotel lobbies and convention halls.

E. A. Bills, Littlefield attorney, got in late and registered for the convention Thursday afternoon. "Yes, we've got a good delegation down already," he says. Billie just couldn't miss out on that barbecued chicken that Rotarian Gus Shaw of Littlefield was fixing.

Speaking of Rotarian Gus Shaw —Well weren't those chickens just right? That's the way he always fixes them. We'll all agree that Rotarian Gus really deserves that title of "Barbecue King of the South Plains" which he has had for several years. Some say that Gus owes all his reputation to Dick Arnett and his other helpers. There may be something to this.

It's getting to where Gus can't have a barbecue, it looks like, without the help of L. C. Ellis.

"I'm shore glad I stayed for that," some six hundred Rotarians declared as Wallie Rix's pageant drew to a close.

Think Homer D. Grant didn't have his transportation committee all working. After the evening program had been out fifteen minutes last night, all the Rotarians were back to town and Homer had cars enough back out at the Assembly Hall sufficient to bring in 100 more Rotarians.

Homer's heading the delegation to the Carlsbad Caverns.

Dr. H. F. Schwab, secretary of the Ralls club, the youngest on the South Plains proudly declares: "We've got them all here. One hundred per cent." Percy Ralls, is just as happy and says: "We're mighty proud of it. They're all here."

Headed by their president, Dave D. Bowman, the Plainview delegation were all around the convention yesterday. Frank Day, Attorney, R. A. Lemmond, Southwestern Bell Telephone manager, C. D. Wofford, dentist and a big bunch of others were taking in the convention.

STUTZ CAR BEATEN

French Hispano-Suiza Auto Wins Race

INDIANAPOLIS, April 19 (AP).—A French Hispano-Suiza stock car today was declared the winner over a Stutz Blackhawk in the 18th hour of a proposed 24 hour automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway, when the American machine was withdrawn because of broken connecting rods.

The winner, private property of C. T. Weymann of Paris, France, had traveled 1,357 1-2 miles at the time, for an average of 70.14 miles per hour. The Stutz had gone 7.12 1-2 miles, having been in the pits more than one half of the elapsed time for viarous mechanical repairs. The Stutz was the property of F. E. Moskovics, president of the Stutz Motor Car company. Weymann and Moskovics were said to have wagered $25,000 on the outcome.

Borah Says Lack Of Troops Would Create Turmoil

Defends Policy of Seeing Fair Election In Nicaragua In Address At Washington Thursday.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—A declaration that withdrawal of American marines from Nicaragua now would leave that country to strife turmoil and bloodshed, was made today in the senate by Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee.

Moreover, he said, it would endanger the liberals, whom senate critics of the administration's policy would protect, and likewise would forfeit whatever faith the liberals of Central America have in the justice of the course of the American government.

Reminding his audience—and an unusually large number of senators followed his address very closely—that the United States had entered into an agreement with both the liberals and conservatives to see to it that a fair election for president is held this summer, Senator Borah said the Nicaraguans had lived up to their part of the agreement by surrendering their arms and implements of war.

For the United States now to violate its part of the agreement, would be a betrayal of the people, he added, and probably would perpetuate the control of the conservatives bringing on another civil war with ultimate American intervention again.

DEMAND FOR LABOR

Surplus In Texas May Be Absorbed

AUSTIN, April 19 (AP).—An influx of labor from other states to Texas has increased the surplus of principally unskilled workers apparent for the past few weeks in this state, but the increased demand for farm labor expected during April will absorb much of the unskilled surplus, says a report received here Thursday from the federal department of labor.

RAISE REDISCOUNT

Boston and Chicago Banks Go to 4 1-2

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP).—Two federal reserve banks—Boston and Chicago—today increased their rediscount rates from 4 percent to 4 1-2 percent.

This represents two rediscount rate increases by these two banks since the first of the year. Chicago having raised its rate from 3 1-2 percent to 4 percent on January 25, with the other eleven reserve banks following its lead until a uniform rate of 4 percent was established on March 27.

Two separate reasons were given for the Chicago and Boston increases in Boston, the reserve bank officials deemed an increase advisable because of evidence of borrowings in Boston for use in New York.

The Chicago increase, officials said, was made to meet the local rate as over-the-counter rates have been 4 1-2 percent for some time.

Unselfish Motives

"Service Above Self—totally unselfish in the spirit it proclaims—a motive that has done much and is doing much in promoting higher standards in commerce and professional life, and in so doing achieving happiness for others as well as self.

Tom Connally Out For Senate, Tells His Views Here

Sees Great Progress In Lubbock and Plains; Will Make Speaking Tour Over South Plains Region.

Congressman Tom Connally, of Marlin, who dropped into Lubbock yesterday to attend the Rotary convention, mix with old friends of the section, and incidentally to work in the interest of his campaign for the seat in the United States Senate, now held by Earle B. Mayfield, wants it known that he in out to wage an aggressive campaign.

With an impressive record of constructive legislation marking the twelve years he has served at Washington, Congressman Connally has announced a greater program of activities for the office of which he is seeking. He has been a member of some of the most important house committees and has earned much recognition through his statesmanship.

South Plains Tour

Mr. Connally said that he was gratified at the support shown him in this section of the state and stated that he was going to appear personally in as many towns as possible.

His speaking tour through the South Plains will be as follows: Lockney, May 1, 9:00; Floydada, May 1, 2:30 and Lubbock, May 1, 8:30 p. m.; Tahoka, May 2, 9:30; Lamesa, May 2, 2:00, and Snyder, May 2, 8:00.

Raps Political Secrecy

"I am opposed to secrecy in politics," Mr. Connally advanced as his first plank of his platform, letting it be known that he has never been a member of the Ku Klux Klan and looks with disfavor upon the activities of secret organizations in political circles.

"I will support the nominee of the Democratic party of the convention at Houston," he said, giving assurance that he was for party harmony to the last degree.

West Texas "Revelation"

"Lubbock and West Texas is a complete revelation to me," he said. "It has been several years since I have visited here except just passing through and I see evidences of unbelievable progress." He spoke of the Tech in complimentary terms stating that it was a great tribute to the section, and that it along with other institutions would receive his support. "All legitimate demands of this section will be assured of my support," he added, stating that public improvements for the section would receive the first attention.

"I am for federal aid for highways, you need them and there is no reason why you should not have the aid in building them," he declared in speaking of the federal highways.

Mr. Connally will also fight for his bill which advocates the regulation, not to destroy the cotton exchanges. He is for farm relief on a sound and workable basis and believes that the corporation idea which provides for an export debenture is a feasable plan. The debenture would allow 3c a pound for cotton and 21c a bushel in the place of customs import duties.

Fights for Life

Aged Confederate General Dying

WACO, April 19 (AP).—General Felix Robertson, veteran of the civil war, is fighting for his life "as the confederacy fought for its life," according to his physician, Dr. W. L. Crossthwaite of Waco.

General Robertson is unable to take food, and no hope is held for his recovery. Except that he was a little weaker, little change was seen in his condition today.

FROGS DETERMINED

The Frogs meet the Rice Owls here Friday and Saturday, only two days of workouts separating them from the hard trip to Austin and Waco. So far the Frogs have played four conference games, dividing a four-game series with Baylor and dropping three of four to Texas University.

Coolidge Studies Flood Bill Change

Alterations Would Place Cost for Levies On The States Instead of Federal Government.

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—President Coolidge late today took under advisement the proposed revisions of the senate $325,000,000 flood control bill which had been drafted after a series of conferences between house republican leaders and flood control proponents in an effort to meet the chief executive's objections to the bill.

Meanwhile on the house floor the measure was brought to the verge of the amendment stage with only 20 minutes of the lengthy debate program remaining before the amendments are considered. The house leaders hope to proceed through the amending of the measure by tomorrow and reach a final vote on Saturday.

Mr. Coolidge was presented the proposed revisions at a conference at the White House, by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the republican leader, Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee and Chairman Snell of the rules committee. Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, also attended the White House meeting.

The proposed changes of the bill outlined by Mr. Tilson, include the placing of the cost of the right of way of levees on the main Mississippi river upon the states instead of the federal government and the diminishing of the proposed planning board of the flood project from five members to three members, the chief of engineers, president of the Mississippi river commission and one civilian.

HEFLIN GETS ANGRY

Threatens To Call Vote On Al Smith

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—A threat to call the roll of Senate Democrats on the cancidacy of Alfred E. Smith, for the democratic presidential nomination, was made today in the senate by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, during another attack on the New York governor.

His threat was made after Senator Caraway, or Arkansas, a member of the Arkansas delegation to the House convention, had failed to respond to an invitation to arise and deny published reports that the Arkansas delegation will vote for Smith at the first opportunity.

ACOUSTICS SPLENDID

Houston Convention Possesses Unusual Qualities

HOUSTON, April 19. (AP) — Although it is but a roofed skeleton, the democratic national convention auditorium has been found to have unusual accoustic properties.

A test showed that an ordinary speaking tone at the speaker's stand could be heard at the other end of the structure, more than 300 feet away. When the edifice is floored and the walls enclosed, the accoustic properties would be better, the builders say.

AGGIES FACE TEST

Texas Longhorns to Visit Kyle Field Today

COLLEGE STATION, April 19.—Two of the hardest diamond battles of the season are expected at Kyle Field Friday and Saturday, April 20-21, when Coach Bob Countryman's Texas Aggies meet the Texas Longhorn charges of Coach Billy Disch in what many believe may be the deciding games of the conference race.

The Aggies are handicapped in the title race in that their schedule calls for four games less than that of the Longhorns and it likely that their pennant hop hang on their ability to do m than split with the Longhorns the four games between the t teams. This factor coupled with t ancient rivalry between the tea promises games that will be more than usual interest.

Easy HOUSEKEEPING

By Mrs. Mig MacGregor, Director of Household Science

Washing made easy

—Clothes sterilized too

I am sure many a woman will smile as she reads my headline. And it does seem a pretty big claim. But I made my own washing much easier just by adding Clorox. Now my laundry not only gets done more quickly, but it has a professional whiteness of which I am immensely proud.

Clorox is white magic in a bottle! A magic that makes boiling or soaking unnecessary; a magic that disinfects and deodorizes too, just by being present in the water!

For washing machine or tubs

Don't imagine that if you use Clorox you must change your own careful washing ways, or give up your pet soap. Wash in either a machine or tub and add Clorox—a tablespoonful to a gallon of water—to the first rinse. Your clothes will hang out on the line the whitest in the neighborhood.

Removing stains

Nearly every hamper of soiled clothes holds a piece or two so badly stained you dread tackling them. But if the fabric is white cotton or linen you need not worry. Every kind of a stain from tea to dyes—including mildew and scorched spots—will disappear under the renewing powers of Clorox.

It's good for your hands

Many women tell me that they are afraid that Clorox will hurt their hands. On the contrary it disinfects outs; removes dye, fruit and vegetable stains; whitens the skin and softens callouses. To dispel any remaining odor just wash your hands in hot water and soap, and dust with talcum.

Your special needs

Perhaps I have not touched on your special needs and I do so want to help you. So write to me. I shall be glad to answer your letters.

Women Reach To Semi-Finals In Golf Tournament

Two Former Champions Are Favored to Clash In Finals Saturday; Thursday Rounds Interesting.

HOUSTON, April 19.—Mrs Whit Stafford of Waco, Mrs. Jack Lapham of San Antonio, Mrs. I. J. Morris of Dallas, and Mrs. L. W. Magruder of Waco, will meet in the semi finals of the 12th annual championship of the women's Texas golf association at the Houston Country club course Friday.

Mrs. Stafford will meet Mrs. Lapham in the upper bracket while Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Magruder will do battle in the lower group.

Although Mrs. Lapham and Mrs. Magruder are favored to meet in the finals, the rounds played by Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Morris in today's event makes it far from a cinch that the two former champions will compete in the 36 hole title contest Saturday.

Mrs. Stafford eliminated Mrs. Mae Whittley of Fort Worth, 2 up, after Mrs. Whittley's victory over the defending champion, Mrs. E. R. Ledrer, in the first round led many to believe that Mrs. Whittley would get into the semi-finals.

Mrs. Morris, the "dark horse" of the meet, eliminated the last Houston contender when she scored a 2 and 1 triumph over Mrs. Katherine Standish.

After Mrs. Standish's sensational comeback against Mrs. Clyde Maddox in the first round, the dope had her lined up for a match against Mrs. Magruder in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Morris lost no time in getting "up." She took the first three holes from Mrs. Standish and after that the Houston municipal course champion was forced to do some battling.

HENKE WILL

Widow and Daughter Get Huge Estate

HOUSTON, April 19.—(AP)—Will of the late Henry Henke, business leader here, who died in San Antonio February 18, provides that the bulk of the estate estimated at more than $1,000,000 go to his widow, Mrs. Catherine Henke, and a daughter, Mrs. Leona Bethea of San Antonio.

W. J. Platte, oldest employe of Mr. Henke's Houston grocery store in point of service, was given $4,000 a year during his life and at his death his widow is to receive $1,000 a year for life. Seventeen other store employees were remembered with bequests of $1,000 each.

Revenue of the estate, which includes valuable downtown property holdings, estimated at $100,000 a year, is to be shared by the widow, and Mrs. Bethea for whom the estate is to be left in trust until final distribution, eight years after the death of Mrs. Henke.

ABOLITION OF CHARITY

Prevention Is Most Intelligent Means

BATON ROUGE, La., April 19. (AP)—The most intelligent form of charity is the abolition of charity through the principle of prevention, said Dr. Max S. Handman, professor of economics at the University of Texas, in an address today at the opening session of the Louisiana state conference for social betterment.

The conference will be augmented today with the arrival of several hundreds of visitors for the annual convention of the Southwestern Political and Social Science association and later in the week by the convening of additional notables and other visitors for the International Relations clubs' convention.

HOME-GROWN LUNCH

Floyd County Woman Has 100 for Dinner

FLOYDADA, April 19.—One Floyd county farmer's wife recently served a four course luncheon to more than one hundred Floydada people from meats, vegetables and fruits raised, cooked and canned on her small garden plot on a farm nine miles west of Floydada. Mrs. W. E. Miller, president of the Sandhill Home Demoonstration club, was the hostess when the 1922 study club of Floydada arranged and served a banquet composed of products produced on the Miller farm in an effort to better advertise the work of this farm woman who has been rapidly gaining recognition in West Texas for the value of canned products raised and prepared by her.

Recognition of the value of Mrs. Miller's product was recently received when a request to furnish the meat for two banquets to be served visitors to the biennial convention at San Antonio was made.

Dempsey Answers Gong In Legal Bout

Dress Rehearsal Precedes Opening Round Of Courtroom Battle for Ex-Champion

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 19.—The legal extravaganza of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, featuring an argument over $701,026.86, opened with a dress rehearsal today before Judge John C. Knox in United States district court. Adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning after a half hour session during which the jury was chosen.

Fistic luminaries thronged the courtroom. Kearns, who piloted Jack to the championship, charges breach of his contract with Dempsey and seeks to recover one third of the former titleholder's earnings from 1923 through Dempsey's losing title fray with Gene Tunney in 1926.

The judge, busy on another case, kept the contestants fidgeting in their corners almost three hours. During the wait Dempsey autographed countless cards, talked with reporters, chatted with Tex Rickard, and swapped surreptitious glares with Kearns, once his inseparable pal. The Madison Square garden promoter members, James A. Farley, William Muldoon and Brower of the New York state athletic commission, Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, and many others prominent in fight circles, are called as witnesses.

The jury was chosen within 30 minutes.

Only one member of the jury finally chosen has ever seen a prize fight.

Kearns' first attempt to share in Dempsey's recent earnings resulted in a voluntary nonsuit in Newark, N. J., last fall. Recently Dempsey's former manager was given permission to file an amended petition to his original demand for $333,333 damages.

Wayland Clear Of Debt, Optimistic Over The Future

McDonald Re-elected As President; Nunn Announces $25,000 Gift If Endowment Is Raised.

Wayland college has a bright future in store for it, according to the general sentiment voiced at the annual meeting of the board of trustees held at Plainview yesterday, acording to Rev. Marcellus Watkins of Lubbock, who returned last evening from the meeting.

Rev. Watkins acted as temporary chairman of the session.

The trustees re-elected George A. McDonald as president of the college, re-elected practically all the teachers, including Frank Kimbrough as athletic coach, and decided to enter upon an active program to stimulate interest in athletics.

Dr. J. E. Nunn of Amarillo was ~~chief speaker at a~~ luncheon given to the trustees, and announced his offer of a gift of $25,000 to be presented when an endowment of $200,000 has been raised.

Enthusaism over the fact that the college has been freed of debt was manifest by all members. J. Pat Horton presided at the meeting in the absence of Chairman Frank L. Day, who was re-elected to the chairmanship of the board.

Prominent bankers of Plainview were in attendance, as was J. B. Collier of Adrain, who donated the college a section of land. Mrs. Lon Smith, the only woman member of the board, and G. L. Yates, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lubbock.

TEXAS LARGEST TIRE HOUSE

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, W. T. Benda selects Old Gold

W. T. Benda, in his studio...while test was being made. In background may be seen some of the famous Benda masks.

W. T. BENDA
Eminent illustrator and creator of the Benda masks.

Only the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant are good enough for OLD GOLD. That's why you can pick them in the dark.

"I have been an inveterate cigarette smoker for years and my interest in cigarettes not only induced me to make this blindfold test, but to make it three times in succession.

"Each time I selected the same cigarette—OLD GOLD.

"However, there was no other choice that I could honestly make. OLD GOLD was so superior and its delicacy of aroma, its rich, full flavor so entirely free from any hint of sting or burn that it immediately appealed to my taste.

"Since the test I have been smoking OLD GOLDS steadily and I find that they are the most satisfying cigarettes I have ever smoked."

W. T. Benda

How Test Was Made

Mr. Benda was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke. To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette. Mr. Benda was unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test. After smoking the four cigarettes, he was asked to designate by number his choice. He replied, "Number 4," which was OLD GOLD

Other Oil Fields Promised a Probe

Senate Committee Plans To Broaden Sphere Of Investigation; Turn To Salt Creek Area.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 19. Another senate inquiry into government oil leases was broached today when Senator Norris, republican, of Nebraska, laid before the senate a resolution calling for an investigation into the Salt Creek fields of Wyoming.

The resolution, which was referred under senate rules to the committee on audit for preliminary study, asks that the senate lands committee determine the validity of the leases on this field, made during the closing days of the democratic administration and early in the Harding republican regime, and determine also whether the leases "could or should be cancelled."

While little or no opposition to the resolution is in sight the leaders of the lands committee looked dubiously today on the prospect for an early start on its prospective new assignment.

Both Chairman Nye and Senator Walsh, democrat of Montana, prosecutor of the Teapot Dome leases inquiry, expressed the view that the committee might well turn the inquiry over at first to a special investigator who could make a report when congress reconvenes next fall.

This committee now is piled high in its efforts to find the end of the trail in the Teapot Dome lease which Secretary Fall made to Harry F. Sinclair and Senator Nye today could see no end to this search before congress adjournes.

He (as they started to dance): I beg your pardon but I didn't get your name. (Laughingly) It sounded like Guggenschlocker.

She: "It is."—Virginia Reel.

Over The Coffee Cups

Small Items Of Real Interest

In the city on routine business yesterday were two representatives of the state comptroller's office, L. G. Yarbo and Fred Ligarde.

W. A. Billie Smith, one of the representatives to the Rotary convention, is a candidate for the office of lieutenant governor. Mr. Smith is editor of the San Saba News.

Congressman Tom Connally, who practices law in Marlin when not busied with legislative duties at Washington, was, to use the words of one of his friends, "as busy as a Philadelphia lawyer," yesterday. Mr. Connally, one of the most popular of Texas' congressmen and likewise one of the most outstanding insofar as activity in the nation's capital is concerned, is a candidate for the United States Senate.

The name "Rotarians" came from the practice of the original Rotary club in rotating from week to week its meeting place. The first club had only a handful of members and meetings were hel din their offices the place being different each week.

The district court room on the third floor of the court house will be re-papered along the south wall, according to work now being carried out. The old paper was torn off yesterday.

Building permits for the year reached $709,685 yesterday when a permit was issued to W. R. Perry, contractor for W. A. Todd, to erect a $4,000 brick veneer residence at 1904 Eighteenth street.

A marriage license was issued from the office of the county clerk yesterday to E. M. Morrison and Mrs. Nettie Morgan.

WOODMAN MEETING

National Officers To Be At Snyder

SNYDER, April 19.—National officers of the Woodman Circle will come to Snyder next Sunday where a district meeting will be held at Wolf park.

LaRocca, national president of Omaha, Neb., Dora Alexander Talley, national secretary also of Omaha with Etta Davidson, national director with Texas state officers, Mrs. Olena White, captain of Houston, Tressie Goldsticker, district manager of Stamford will be included in the party that will come here. They are stopping off here for the day, and they are enroute to Amarillo for a like meeting there.

Mrs. Jewel Garner of Snyder, will join the party here and will go to Estes park, Colorado, where other national officers will be gathered.

GIVE GOLD FOOTBALLS

Students At Canyon Honor Team

CANYON, April 19.—Members of the 1927 football squad of the West Texas State Teachers college were presented gold football trophies yesterday by students of the college.

These trophies were at once an appreciation of work already done and a pledge of fealty for the 1928 football season.

Those receiving the footballs were: Captain Elect, Elvis Ward, Tulia; R. F. Newman, Hedley; Elmer Cleavenger, Spring Lake; William Huckaby and Otis Slawn, Slaton; Weldon Logan, Lockney; Cleatie Crump and Clifford Keith, Ralls; Raymond Wilson, Tulia; Alex Hale, Lipscomb; Terrell Christian, Claude; Farris Bass, Post; Clifford Henry, Corpus Christi; Ward Golden, Snyder; Kenneth Cone, Dimmitt; Emmett Hazelwood, Cleveland Jones, Jim Strain and Milton Sanders of Canyon.

SLATON SCHOLASTICS

1425 Enrolled, Says Report From Superintendent

SLATON, April 19.—There are 1,425 scholastics in Slaton independent school district this year, says J. W. Buchanan, census taker. This is 150 higher than last year and 215 higher than two years ago. Of the total, 145 are colored.

SEEK MEMBERSHIPS

Increase Is Expected At Lamesa

LAMESA, April 19.—B. M. Whitcrker of the agricultural department of the West Texas chamber of commerce, is in Lamesa this week for the purpose of renewing membership in the West Texas chamber of commerce. The membership department of the local chamber of commerce is working with Mr. Whitcrker in this matter. A substantial increase in the membership is anticipated.

Problems Coming To Club Official Are Threshed Out

Ellis H. Boyd Addresses Rotary Presidents; Four Other Luncheons Held Here Yesterday Noon.

Problems which beset a club president and the responsibility which rests upon him engaged the attention of those attending the club presidents' luncheon held at the First Baptist church.

Ellis H. Boyd, district governor, presided at this meeting, and opened the discussion. He urged the presidents to not shirk their responsibility by referring everything to the club secretary. He pointed out the demarcation line between the duties of the president and the secretary, and stressed the importance of each. The leadership of the club rests with the president, Mr. Boyd asserted.

He urged among other things the necessity for being well grounded in the aims and objects of Rotary, the importance of the work of committees, the value of Rotary education, and the necessity for regular meetings of the directorship.

Wright of Sweetwater Presides Over Luncheon

With Rufus Wright, of Sweetwater, candidate for District Governor, presiding, a club service luncheon for delegates to the 41st District conference, was held at Hotel Lubbock at noon today.

Following a solo by Mrs. R. L. McKnight, "Sweetheart of the 41st District", Chairman Wright made the opening address and Guy C. Sanders, of Amarillo, talked on "Rotary's Principle Membership, Limited by Classification."

Louis Fox, secretary of the Fort Worth club, talked on "Establishing a Roster of Filled Unfilled Classifications" and Herbert Jones, of Post City, spoke on "Adopting a Definite Classification and Membership Plan."

Boazman Discusses Service of Rotary

Those present at club service luncheon number two at the Merrill hotel sat down to tables prepared by the Posey Home Demonstration club with members of the 4-H clubs serving the luncheon.

Marion Boazman, of Denton, presided while W. P. Clement, Tech professor, led the songs.

Organizing the club service committee, Relation of Club Service to the Aims and Objects committee, Membership committee and various other topics were touched by Chairman Boazman in his opening address which was followed by short talks and discussions on Rotary Education, Rotary Programs Public Relations and Club Relations.

One hundred visiting and local men were present. Arthur A. Keys, of Quanah, was introduced as one of the candidates for the district governorship.

"Dad" Barnett Tells Of Experiences at "Home"

With William P. "Dad" Barnett, of the Methodist Orphanage, Waco, presiding, seventy-five men gathered at the First Methodist church for informal discussion and talks on "Community Service and Boys Work" at club service luncheon today.

Drawing on his experience in being "father" to children at orphanage and from work with boys in Waco, Mr. Barnett's address, which opened the program, was an outstanding feature.

Familiar tunes, to which new words were sung, were led by Tom Reid, Cisco, in a snappy sing-song that followed the luncheon. The program followed with Rev. Sam Morris, pastor of the Weatherford First Baptist church, speaking on "Encouraging and Assisting Existing Agencies for Crippled Children's Work."

Garland Shell, Childress, spoke on methods of awakening the interest of the individual Rotarian in boys and Leroy Johnson, of the Stamford club, discussed "Boys' Life Survey", speaking particularly of the necessity of ascertaining actual local conditions.

J. Henry Read, Memphis, talked on "Achievement Clubs and Hobby Fairs, Boys Clubs, Camps, Bands and other such Agencies"; W. H. Slay, of the Fort Worth club, discussed "Boy's Wee" with an exchange of experiences from clubs that have had successful observances of this occasion; J. W. Birdwell, of Mineral Wells, talked on "Encouraging and Assisting Existing Boys Work Agencies"; Grady Shipp, Vernon, talked on "Back to School Campaign", and C. D. Wofford, Plainview, told of things being done to promote rural urban acquaintances. Discussion followed the talks.

Mrs. Carl Scoggin, accompanied by Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, sang two selections during the meal. Reverend Morris pronounced the benediction and piano music was furnished during the meal by Perry Holder.

Rotary Ideal of Service Told to Delegates

Ed B. Gilliam, Brownwood, was chairman of the vocational service luncheon asembly at the First Presbyterian church. Reverend Jack M. Lewis pronounced the invocation.

After the singing of one stanza of America lead by Bill Matthews of Amarillo and lunch served by the Presbyterian ladies, the Home-Brew quartet of Amarillo sang several selections that brought hearty encores. Members of the quartet are: Bill Matthews, Slew Davis, Jess Rogers and Bill Smith.

"The Ideal of Service—What Is It?" was discussed by James Todd of the Pampa club who answered the question by defining the ideal of service as "uplifting advancement."

"In direct proportion as we serve others are we worthy" Bruce C. Boney, Cisco declared in speaking on "Your Vocation."

Claude C. Wild, San Angelo, declared that friendship should be expressed in business.

Jack in Gotham

Jack Dempsey, the old man mauler, found that he still had plenty of friends in New York City when he arrived there fro mthe west the other day. Here he is shown as he alighted from his train to be greeted by hundreds of admiring fans.
