

Water Forces Are Marshalled

Ask Aid Of Shivers

A direct appeal to Governor Allen Shivers for help in the protection of the "land, livelihood, and communities" of the High Plains from the "calculated greed" of the City of Lubbock is being launched this week by the Bi-State Water Commission.

The commission, recently organized for the purpose of protecting the underground water supplies of this area, has drafted a petition to Governor Shivers setting out the danger to this area, in the plans of Lubbock to tap 53,000 acres of Bailey County land as a municipal water source for that city.

Copies of the petition are available at the city offices in Farwell, The Blade office in Bovina, and Friona State Bank, if residents are interested in inspecting or signing them.

The project, under discussion by Lubbock for several years and originally planned to be started about 1970, has been put on "the immediate action list" by the city, which plans to spend an estimated six million dollars to lay a pipe.

Charles Daniels Dies in Friona

Charles Edward Daniels, 71, died in the Parmer County Community Hospital at Friona Monday afternoon at 4:01. He had been ill for several weeks.

Daniels, a resident of Altus, Okla., is the father of Mrs. Bud Peyton of Texico, and A. D. Daniels of Farwell. He was brought here by his children after becoming ill.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Altus, and interment was there also.

Besides his wife and children, Daniels is survived by two brothers, Eary of Louisiana and Everett of California; three sisters, Mrs. Ben Cason, Van Buren, Ark.; Mrs. Lloyd Southall, Altus; Mrs. Harry Hines, Oceanside, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Cousins include Roy Daniel, Friona; Fessie Hill, Portales, and H. H. Daniel, Portales.

"No Farm Surplus" Declares Alexander

Richard Alexander of Denton, state legislative director for Farmers Union, told 25 farmers in Farwell Monday night, among other things, that no farm surplus exists.

The occasion was an organizational meeting for the Farwell Farmers Union local, which, according to Glenn Phillips, will probably be activated this week.

Alexander, who has just returned from a national meeting of the Union in Denver, reported to the group on the convention, and spent over an hour explaining Union policies to the farmers present.

One of the speakers at the Farmers Union meeting in Denver was Walter Reuther, head of the combined CIO-AF of L—representing over 16,000,000 organized workers. "Labor is not against farmers," said Alexander.

As usual, a big crowd was up with the sun at the farm home of J. W. Crim of Lazbuddie Thursday morning, to see what this year's weather will bring. In the above photo are Mr. and Mrs. Winn Henley, Clovis; Mrs. L. H. Johnson, Sharon and Terry, Garland; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis and Robert Farwell; and Mr. and Mrs. John N. Crim and Doyle, Weldon Crim, J. W. Crim, Luther Ham, Bert Gordon, Elvin Peck, and June Hensley. Mr. and Mrs. Max Crim of Canyon could not attend.

No Comfort Taken In Crim's Forecast

Farmers of the High Plains can take little if any comfort from the annual weather forecast of J. W. Crim of Lazbuddie, which was made at sunrise last Thursday morning.

Reading Indian signs, the long-time resident of Parmer County observed that the 1956 growing season won't be much improvement over the one we had last year—so far as moisture is concerned.

"We'll have lots and lots of big heavy clouds build up day after day that will sure look like rain," he predicted, "but not very many farmers will get much benefit from these."

The wind at the moment of sunrise—which is what determines the yearly forecast—was coming from a south-southwest direction, which indicated at best, only a "fair" year. "Fair to poor" would be more accurate, declares Crim.

Not since 1949 has Crim had a favorable breeze (out of the north or northeast) on March 22, and that year it rained an average of about 24 inches on the Plains, and abundant crops were the result.

So, this makes seven consecutive years that the Lazbuddie prognosticator has foreseen deficient rainfall, and figures for the preceding six substantiate his crystal gazing.

Crim says the custom of taking this annual weather reading has been in his family for many years. He learned the practice from his father. The ritual originated with Indians, says Crim, who each March 22 built a fire in order to accurately observe the direction of the wind by watching which way the smoke is carried.

Neighbors declare their interest and apparent faith in "Indian" Crim by showing up at his ceremony, or coming around the first thing in the morning to find out what is in store.

But it is evident that some are getting a little disgusted with dry weather forecasts. So is Crim, but he says that he is sticking by his Indian sign for accuracy.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Ford and son of Clovis were Sunday guests of his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams.

Revival Starts Tomorrow At Texico Baptist

Revival services will begin at the Texico Baptist Church tomorrow (Friday) evening at 7:30. Prayer groups will meet each evening at 7:30 and will be followed by preaching services at 8 p. m. The revival will continue through Sunday, April 8.

Morning services will be at 10:30. Guest evangelist for the services will be Rev. Charles Polston of Albuquerque, N. M. Rev. Polston is the state training union director and is quite well known in this area.

Choir director of the Texico church, R. L. Douglas, will lead the singing for the meeting.

Rev. C. C. Morgan, pastor of the local church, extends to everyone an invitation to attend these revival services.

OPENING IS SUCCESS

About 1500 people attended the opening day of 3-D Drive-In in Farwell last Saturday, according to Mrs. Clytie Dial, owner.

Free coffee, doughnuts, and soft ice cream were passed out to visitors. The 30-dozen supply of doughnuts was exhausted, and 30 gallons of ice cream were served.

Farm Bureau Head Addresses Lions Club

Gilbert Kaltwasser, president of the Parmer County Farm Bureau, addressed a meeting of the Texico-Farwell Lions Club Monday evening at the City Cafe.

He outlined current problems facing the farmer, and explained the position of the organization which he represents, on these problems.

"Farm income is down 30 percent since 1947, but everybody else's income is going up," said the president. He then explained some of the factors which have resulted in this condition.

With an obvious reference to critics of the Bureau, Kaltwasser said, "I don't know what most of you think now, but I'd rather be kicked around a little and know I'm right, than try to be 'popular' and lead you down the drain."

The farm leader brought the Lions up to date on the history of Farm Bureau, and went into detail on the basic concepts of the organization. He explained the representative-type framework of Farm Bureau, and said, "If there was ever a grass roots organization, Farm Bureau is it."

Pointing out that farmers now comprise only 13 percent of the nation's population, Kaltwasser said, "There are forces at work which seek to break up farmers." He emphasized the need for unity in agriculture.

Phipps Announces For Commissioner

To the people of Precinct No. 1: After much consideration, I am announcing that I am a candidate for county commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Parmer County.

I am a veteran of World War II, a married man with a family, a property owner and a taxpayer and have lived in Precinct 1 for over five years, and am engaged in farming at the present time.

In the past I have had experience in the insurance business and have kept books for one of the local cotton gins. I believe this background of business and public experience will enable me, if elected, to make you a good county commissioner.

I understand the duties connected with this important office and believe that I am qualified to execute those duties in a way that will meet with your approval.

If elected, I will do my best to render you efficient, courteous and unselfish service. I will try to see each of you personally before the election but until then I hope you will accept this as my invitation for your support and cooperation.

Sincerely,
E. G. Phipps

Farwell Sextet Wins First Place

Farwell School Music Department's brass sextet captured the first place award at the Region II solo and ensemble band contests held Saturday in Canyon.

Farwell won this honor while competing with 14 ensembles from schools all over the Panhandle. Farwell competes with all schools in this area, regardless of size or classification.

Mrs. Erma Jobs, director of the local music department, says she was delighted with the outcome of the meet as Farwell is one of the smallest high schools in the competition each year.

The group from Farwell brought home seven medals and eight certificates, winning one first place, eight seconds, and two third place awards.

Rating for the competition is graded as follows: third place, good; second place, excellent; and first place, superior.

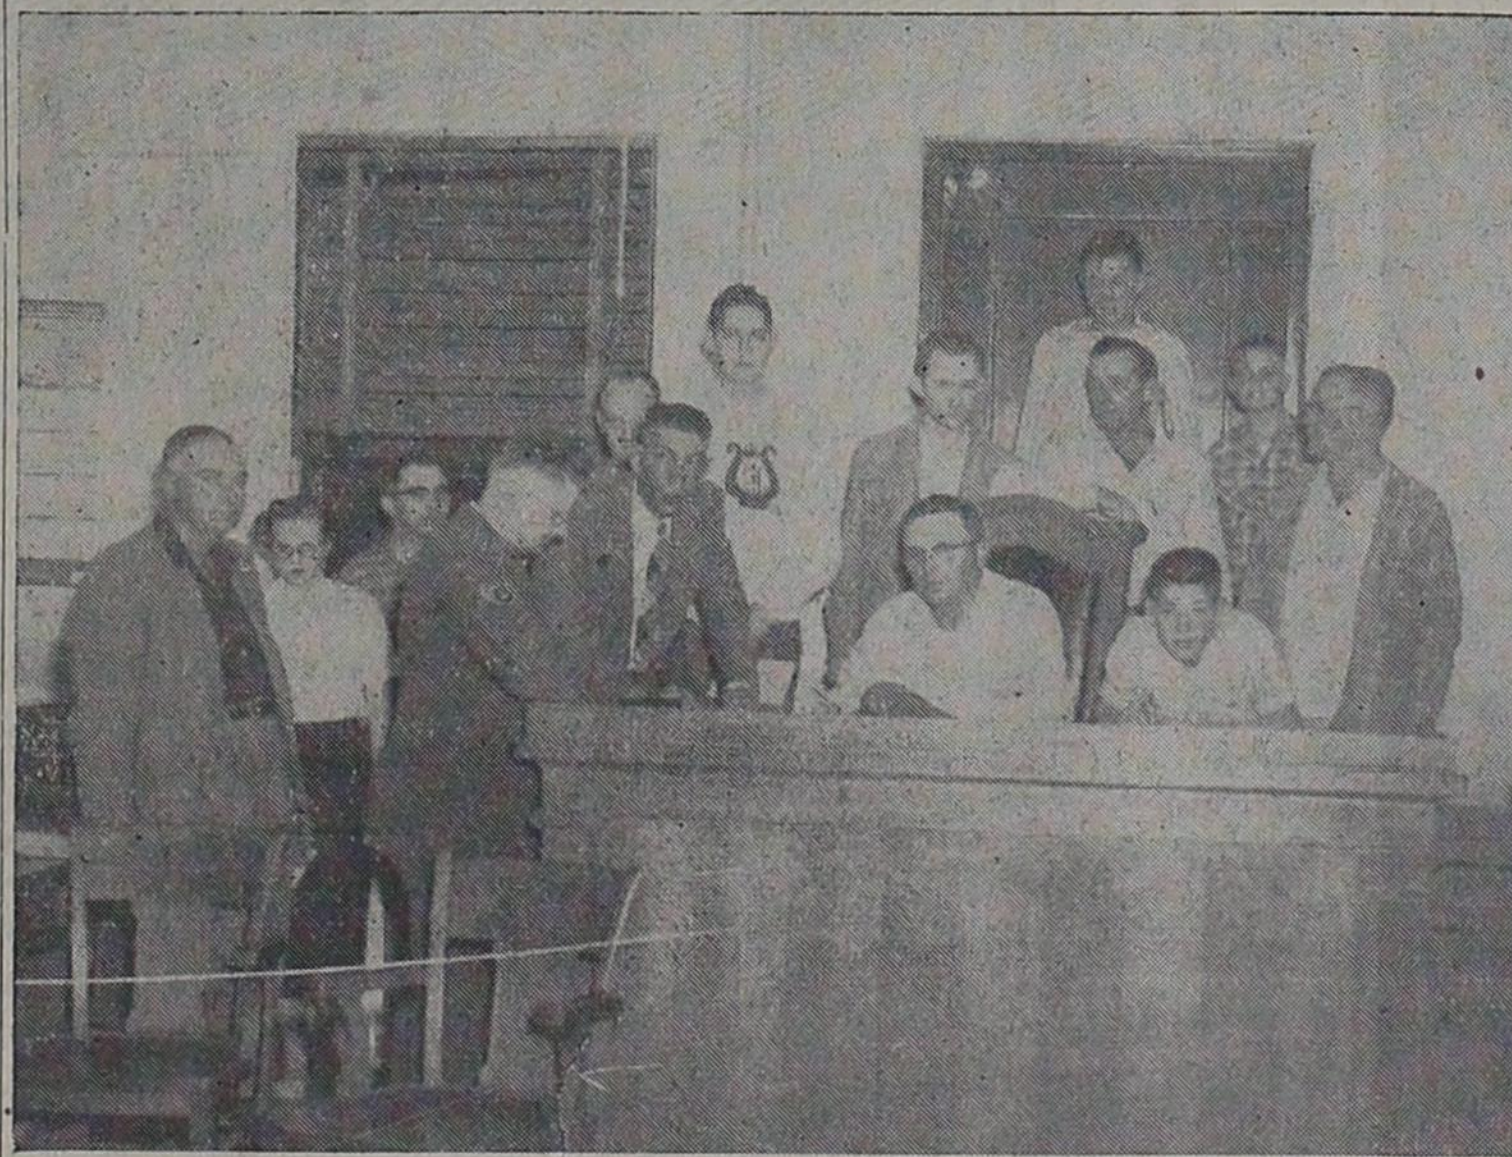

Members of the sextet are Glena Davis, Glyn McDorman, Freddy Magness, Jeanette Hughes, Johnny Lovelace and Dickie Williams.

Farwell's high school clarinet quartet, composed of Elaine Magness, Naomi Hubbell, Wilma Norton and Jesse Range, won second place.

Winning second place honors in the solo division were Doris Pond, Judy Garrett, Johnny Armstrong, Jesse Range, Johnny Lovelace, Donald Crume and Sharon Coffman.

Junior high clarinet quartet won third place as did Johnny McCuan who entered the solo section.

A Texico-Farwell unit of the Ground Observers Corps was organized at the courthouse last Thursday night. Sgt. Bill Swope of Oklahoma City conducted the first training class. Present were Wilma Liner, Hugh Moseley, Sgt. Swope, Bob Brooks, John Armstrong, Johnny Armstrong, Bob Anderson, Otis Huggins, Lex Huggins, Jimmie Armstrong, Rip Snodgrass, Wilfred Quickel, Carrol Huggins, John Adams.

Where do you stand on the Farm Bureau-Farmers Union issue? All we have to say is that you'd better watch out who you stand in front of, lest you get set down—hard.

The intermingled issues of politics and economics are wrapped tightly in this lethal argument, and if there is any place on the High Plains where the topic is more explosive than Parmer County, we don't know where that would be.

Our regular readers will need no reminding that by nature the writer is an optimist, and amid all the squabbling among area farmers, he is able to see some good.

Of course we do not say that division among our farm folk is good—certainly the opposite. But who can deny that because of the current controversy, farmers are reading more, talking more, and THINKING more, about the nation's agricultural problems than ever before? Storm clouds do have silver linings.

Since the beginning of the Farmers Union movement in Parmer County one year ago this week, we have realized the two extremes in philosophy of our two farm organizations, and diligently have tried to "walk the line" in news stories for each group.

Especially in rural areas, the ethics of publishing are seldom fully understood, and from time to time we have been subjected to rather severe criticism for presenting this or that viewpoint in our newspaper.

Once again, let us explain to you our policies. The Tribune makes every effort to seek out and publish legitimate news happenings from both the Farm Bureau and Farmers Union.

Mostly, this is confined to what is said and done in meetings over the county. But from time to time an event takes place on the state or national scene that can be "localized" in a newspaper of limited circulation, and whenever we can apply the local angle in such reporting, we gladly do so.

Especially in cases where leaders of one or the other group would call such an event to our attention, we will publish a story concerning it. You have noticed that we always use local references in this fashion: "says Mr. So-and-so of the Farm Bureau."

That is the LOCAL angle that we need as a reason for such reporting.

Now, the matter of "columns" in The Tribune has arisen. The column, "News from the Farm Bureau," written by Raymond Euler, Bureau service representative, appears regularly in our newspaper.

This space was provided the Farm Bureau by The Tribune as a service to that group, which has no county publication or vehicle of information of its own. Its content is supposed to concern events and activities that may be of interest to Farm Bureau members.

The same service has been offered the Farmers Union, although they have availed themselves of it only once or twice in a column headed, "The Farmers Union Speaks."

Naturally, we reserve the right to edit, shorten, or completely omit any of this "news" matter, since it is something for which the organizations are not paying.

However, in actual practice, our censorship has been mild indeed, and we have pretty well let the writers say whatever they pleased. Of late, we have seen the necessity of closer surveillance of such matter, especially in controversial areas involving subjective expressions of thought.

This has not been because we have been "afraid" to publish what this or that person gives as an opinion, but because we have seen the need to more clearly define the line between news and advertising in our newspaper.

When the Farm Bureau or the Farmers Union plugs its accomplishments or its insurance services, or offers arguments why farmers should belong to the one organization and not the other, then, we have decided, this is where news leaves off and advertising begins.

And as a matter of policy, we will accept anything for publication in The Tribune as paid-for advertising that is (1) within the bounds of common decency insofar as its language is concerned, and (2) free from statements which might result in a costly libel suit to this newspaper. Advertising is the property of the advertiser, and as such, he is the one who decides how big the type shall be, how much prominence will be given certain passages, and so on.

There is another part of our paper which we like to think of as a sounding board for public opinion, and that is our "letters to the editor" department.

Under such a heading, we will print about anything addressed to us or to the general public that represents the viewpoints of a

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

These Candidates: They Look 'Afore They Leap

This year's Texas governor's race will be a screwball affair if the warm-up phases are any indication of things to come.

Pap O'Daniel will soon be strumming around the circuit, which is enough to make any campaign unique, but some other funnies are easy to spot, too.

Price Daniel wouldn't announce until he heard from 26,000 Texan letter-writers who asked him to get moving; J. Evetts Haley of Canyon sprang up from nowhere with his announcement (saying, "I didn't have to ask if I should run"); and Ralph Yarborough, who is getting to be a familiar scene, has been running around lambasting everybody for months and only today admitted he's even interested in the office.

Governor Shivers startled everyone until only a few weeks ago with casual remarks from time to time that hinted that he might try for an unprecedented fourth time, and one candidate who started like a house afire has already run out of wind (and money) and dropped out of the race.

Sounds like fun's ahead, mates.

Two Hundred Out For 4-H Club Party

Approximately 200 4-H Club members, adult sponsors and parents attended the county-wide 4-H party held Saturday night at the Bovina Legion Hall.

The group enjoyed playing games, which were sponsored and directed by the county clubs.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by each club presenting some member in a talent show. Farwell presented Delvin Langford, who played guitar selections; and the seventh grade clarinet quartet who played "Berceuse." This quartet is composed of Judy Billingsley, Emalee Tucker, Darlene Hormas and LaCretia Milford.

A square dance team from Friona, "The Eight Squares" performed and a Friona club member gave a short reading. Bovina presented Julius Bradshaw who sang a vocal selection. He was accompanied by Delvin Langford.

Talent show performers were not judged as the show was for entertainment rather than competition. Pat Cranfill of Friona was party chairman and was assisted by groups from other county clubs. Other members of the Friona committee were Joy Crow and Margaret Mabry.

Assisting from Farwell were Truman McKillip, Delvin Langford, Frankie Coffman and Johnny McCuan.

Sharon Thorn, Donna and Clydie Redwine and Shorty Ivy were members of the Lazbuddie committee, and Julius Bradshaw and Gladys Dean composed the Bovina party workers.

Refreshments of sandwiches and pops were served.

Here's a ticklish job. Charlie Horton and Carl Neal, employees of Mountain States Telephone Company, are splicing 808 pairs of phone cable in the Texico plant. The work is part of a Company expansion move.

Cable Splicing Now
In Phone Expansion

Work on Texico-Farwell's new telephone facilities moved inside this past week as Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company's cable splicers began readying new distribution cable at the company's building at Garwood and Hereford, in Texico.

In process, during this phase of expansion, is the termination of 808 pairs of the distribution cable on the main frame. When completed, Texico and Farwell will be served with additional facilities to take care of fifty new telephone subscribers. C. H. Forester, manager of the Clovis exchange, said that, in addition to service for new phones, it will be possible to furnish better grades of service to approximately thirty more subscribers.

Forester said that this will hold true except perhaps in a very few isolated cases. Along with the present installation, ample spare cables are being installed which will take care of future installations for roughly the next five years, Forester said. The present phase of the Texico-Farwell expansion is scheduled for operation on April 14th, with units in operation by April 21.

The pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock December 21, 1620.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

The appearance of green vegetation on the trees and other early vegetation reminds us that unwanted weeds, too, will be making their appearance in many places. Your weed committee, preparing for leadership in the third year of active efforts of eradicating and preventing growth of particularly noxious weeds, like bindweed, met last week and organized for this season's activity.

Bruce Parr, who was instrumental in the first work of this kind in Farmer County, was elected chairman. Members of the committee, who are named in another article in some of these papers, wish to express their deep appreciation to members of the commission's court, ASC committee, Soil Conservation committee, County Agent Joe Jones, Texas Highway Department, state seed inspectors, and others who have been cooperative in this rather difficult task of arousing interest in a problem, the solution of which, in its early stages probably has already meant the saving of much money to farmers of the county.

The newspapers of Parmer and Bailey Counties have been extremely cooperative in giving needed publicity to this project, and we are sure they will continue to help.

We believe young farmers like Gilbert Kaltwasser, Farm Bureau President, are due a great deal of credit and expression of appreciation for their alert and positive attention to the functioning of the weed and other committees that make up the visible value of organization toward solution to multiplied individual problems of neighbors.

Consider this—Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. Ecclesiastes 12:13.

Anita Tharp, a senior at Texico, gave us this recipe for strawberry cake. Anita got the recipe in home ec class, took it home and tried it for her family. Their reaction to the delicacy was such that she reports they made four of the cakes since that time.

STRAWBERRY CAKE

1 pkg. white cake mix
3 tablespoons flour
4 eggs
1 cup Wesson oil
½ cup cold water
1 box strawberry Jello
½ box frozen strawberries

Place all ingredients in mixing bowl and mix for 4 minutes at medium speed in electric mixer. Place in pans (2 or 3 according to size). Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Bake for 30 minutes.

STRAWBERRY ICING

¼ lb. (or less) butter or margarine
1 cup powdered sugar
½ box frozen strawberries
Let butter get soft, then mix in powdered sugar and add the strawberries. Mix well.

We were reminiscing some two weeks ago, and while going through some of our treasured things, we picked up a birthday card which had been sent us from Edith Johnson of Friona. Reading the card again after a few months, we experienced the same feeling of enjoyment we had on our birthday.

It shows how such a thoughtful gesture as a card, can lift ones mental outlook.

And she was kind enough to tell us that she enjoys our remarks in the paper, and told us to "keep writing about Ronny and Hal."

We certainly have carried out that request. In our capacity as manager of the Graham household, we find that the children bring on the biggest crises, help us solve them, and generate the most merriment for the grown-ups.

But what happened recently shouldn't happen to any parent (or any thinking parent, that is)!

Ronny (he's nearly 3 now) loves the lock on the door. He locks us in and locks us out, and his biggest delight is when he catches mamma outside with an armload of empty wastebaskets and a howling sandstorm whipping around the house. Then he flips the lock. After many threats, he permits us to enter the house, and rocks with glee. His father rarely ever comes home to a house with an open door. He has to stand and knock. We have so far treated this problem with parental indulgence. But not after Thursday.

We realize, that for a young man who took a ride around the block in gram'ma's car, alone, at the age of one, Ronny's escapades have been rather tame—so what could we expect?

With the society editor ill, we went to work that fateful day. We explained to Ronny that he was to visit MeMe (grandmother) and as we exited with Hal, baby bottles, clean diapers, milk, and other necessities, Ronny was the last one out the door and slammed it so it would close "good." It did!

We arrived home in the afternoon, started in the house—it wouldn't budge. After a few minutes, the truth saturated our brain and we realized that Ronny had flipped the night lock before shutting the door.

There was no key, we found that all window screens and all windows were locked. No admittance. Clay Henson informed us he couldn't make us a key without a duplicate, we didn't know the number of the lock. Helpful friends informed us that we could take the door off the hinges, were we inside—we could see the number on the lock if we could just get inside and other such "useful" information. And one key man, when we asked if he could make a wax impression or something of our lock, informed us that we had been reading too many novels, that didn't happen in real life. (Our husband was delighted with this answer).

When we finally decided to break the window, the boss Graham said no—he thought this was a challenge to his ingenuity. And believe it or not, we are back in our house. We had no christening of the front window, and father is the hero in the household. We'd never be able to explain how he did it.

But the moral of this story: The Grahams will now carry a House key.

person or group of persons, whether we agree with them or not. In fact, the more they disagree with us, the more we enjoy publishing such letters. That's newspapering!

However, we make reservations in this department, also. For instance, we do not publish anonymous communications. People who haven't the guts to sign their names to an opinion certainly have no ground for demanding they be availed of the privilege of expressing their ideas in a free press.

We do withhold names from articles at the request of the authors, however, and here much misunderstanding arises. We require the writer only to be known to US, not all our readers. Frankly, we wouldn't write anything we wouldn't sign, and it surprises us that many people don't want to see their names under their opinions.

Lastly, there is that cornerstone of America's freedom of expression, the editorial comment of the newspaper. In the case of The Tribune, editorial thinking appears only in two places: the column of this writer, and the regular editorial department on page 2. No where else should the reader ever find the paper expressing an opinion or conveying an impression.

You might say that this is our own private "letters" department. That is, we offer to the public our columns for their thoughts in one or more ways, and we reserve for ourselves the right to say what we please in our editorials. Can you think of anything more fair?

We expect the Farm Bureau and Farmers Union to demand that they be treated alike in our news columns, but as for editorial expressions, that's our province, and no other's.

Dissenting opinions will always be welcome in the "letters to the editor" column or elsewhere.

Farm Bureau Head Addresses Lions

On policy—a subject for which Farm Bureau has recently been criticized—Kaltwasser explained to the Lions that "When national policy is adopted, then the county and state components of Farm Bureau are obligated to support it until it is changed."

He compared this system with elective officials, which can be changed whenever a vote comes up. "The American Farm Bureau can't work effectively if the minority groups won't go along," he said.

Then illustrating what he meant by minority group, he gave Texas as an illustration. There are 65,000 Farm Bureau members in Texas. Illinois, the strongest Bureau state, has 200,000 members (practically every farmer.)

Therefore, Texas is a definite minority voice compared with Illinois. However, there are 300,000 farmers in Texas, and if Farm Bureau's organization was as strong here as in the Midwest, then Texas could have the strongest state group in the nation, Kaltwasser says.

The Bureau president concluded his remarks by listing accomplishments of the Farm Bureau on state and national matters.

Kaltwasser says that the Farm Bureau has a program of self-help through research, marketing, and education.

He said that price is just "one factor" in determining how much money a farmer makes. To illustrate what acreage controls have done to himself, he said, "I used to plant 200 acres of cotton. In three years, I was cut to 70. What will I have in three more years?"

The national cotton allotment is around 18,000,000 acres. If acreage controls were used to bring supplies in line with demand, that could be reduced to as little as 6,000,000 in 1957, he predicted.

"We have found that the government is a good collector—but a poor salesman—of farm products," declared the president.

Seventeen members were present at the Lions meeting. They discussed the coming pancake breakfasts which finance youth recreation, and set ladies' night on April 23.

Call on Governor To Assist Resistance

line from Lubbock to the Bailey County sandhill area to utilize the underground water.

"We are being asked, expected, and forced without recourse" the petition states, "to sacrifice our land, our communities, our homes, our future and the future of our families for what will at best be temporary relief to a city which will find, after it has destroyed itself, that it has also destroyed itself."

"If Lubbock is permitted to carry out its plans for the underground water of Bailey County, it will not only make a complete desert out of the 53,000 acres already under its control, but will destroy a major portion of the underground water supplies not only of Bailey County, but of the surrounding counties, and will actually drain much of the water now eventually finding its way to present wells on the outskirts of Lubbock," Dr. L. T. Green, president of the commission, commented.

"From a strictly legal standpoint, on the basis of cases already decided in the state, present laws don't offer us much chance of protection from its destruction of our property," Jack Young, Muleshoe attorney and manager of the commission, pointed out. "This exact situation has never been brought to our courts before, and there is no adequate legislation to cover a situation of this kind. We have some additional legal actions under consideration, but right now we want the whole state to know the dire prospect we face, and we feel that the governor's office is a good place to start calling attention to it."

Copies of the petition were being placed in convenient locations throughout Bailey County this week, and Dr. Green urged all citizens who wish to protest the proposed drainage of underground water from the plains area to sign them.

Additional petitions are being supplied to water conservation leaders in Lamb, Farmer, Castro, and Deaf Smith, Hale, and even Lubbock County itself.

"We are finding," Dr. Green said, "that many citizens of Lubbock realize that the proposed efforts to recklessly use up the underground water of all the Plains area is a violation of the basic rights of the counties and the individuals who apparently are helpless to take positive action. They agree with us that Lubbock's proposal is a tragic stop-gap action providing merely a few years help for Lubbock and permanently destroying the future of the area. They want to see Lubbock take action and lay plans which will be a permanent relief for that city."

That highway, which is scheduled to go north 9.1 miles to Pleasant Hill, will serve as the western paved boundary of the city's street system. Texico's planned paving would be six blocks north on Griffin Street, and three east on Hutson from Highway 108.

Auto Registration Deadline Saturday

With the deadline for 1956 auto registration only two days away, officials in the Farmer County tax office are just about "snowed under" as the last minute rush to get auto tags is on.

Chas. Lovelace, tax assessor and collector, said Wednesday that the office will remain open until 3 p. m. Saturday as the final date for registering comes on Sunday this year.

To date (Wednesday night) 1900 auto tags have been sold. This does not include trucks, pickups and commercial vehicles. A total of 2400 auto plates were estimated for Farmer County this year.

Last year 2281 tags were sold in Farmer County up to April 1.

Easter Cantata Set At Baptist Church

The choir of the First Baptist Church of Friona will present the Easter cantata, "The Thorn-Crowned King," by Fred B. Holton, on Easter Sunday night, April 1, at 8 p. m.

The cantata will be under the direction of Ernest C. Hock, the educational and musical director, and will be assisted at the organ by Mrs. Eva Miller and at the piano by Miss Sandra Brock.

Soloists will be Mrs. Curtis Murphy, alto; Mrs. Bell Maynard, soprano; Charles Allen, bass; and Mrs. Ernest C. Hock will sing the tenor score.

The music opens with the chorus, "Let the Righteous be Glad," followed with an alto solo, "He Chose the Cross of Shame." "There was no Other Way" is sung by the men's chorus, stating that there is no other way for Christ than to die on the cross that we might be saved. This is followed in the fourth part by the tenor solo, "Betrayed" which gives a good picture of the betrayal scene and the events following.

The fifth part, a soprano solo, gives us the picture of Christ as the "Thorn-Crowned King." A bass solo portraying a picture of Christ before Pilate, when he asked the question, "What Shall I do with Jesus Which is Called Christ?" and then the answer by an angry mob.

A girls' sextet comes singing a special arrangement of the old familiar hymn, "Alas! and Did my Saviour Bleed?" Part eight is a soprano solo, bringing the scene at the tomb and the grief in the hearts of every believer, which is sung as an obligato to the choir.

Number nine is "Have Faith in God" a duet by the tenor and bass. "He is Risen," part 10, gives a story of the resurrection, and part 11 is a continuation of this story in the garden scene.

Part 12, "Jesus Lives" is sung by eight people as an obligato to the choir, which gives a story of how the good news is sent abroad. The final chorus is "Praise Ye The Lord."

The public is cordially invited to hear this score of music which will take about 45 minutes to sing.

Friendship Tea Given By Club

The Tuesday evening meeting of the Progressive Study Club featured a friendship tea. A pageant of flowers was presented by Juanda Jarrell. Six flowers and their meaning in friendship were discussed. Several friendship poems were given by Patsy Talley. Eight FHA girls modeled Easter dresses which they had made. Each girl stepped out of a huge hat box which was beside the door. The Easter theme was carried out in the decorations. Waxed peach blossoms and bear grass with spring flowers and Easter eggs were used.

Background music was played by Miss Vera Ann Jones as the dresses were being modeled. Hostesses were Lunell Horton, Reba Buske, Betty Baxter and LaVon Hughes. Refreshments of frozen salad, finger sandwiches and coffee were served.

Guests were Jo Aikens, Thelma Ruth Shelton, Lorene Wright, Vera Ann Jones, Gay Ann Jordan, Irene McFarland, Estelle Caffey, Ethel Ruth Spring, Joyelene Costen, Jo Phillips, Georgia Fields, Letha Howard, Jo Mims, Elsie Lloyd, Dixie West, and the following FHA girls: Phila Mae Buske, Lila Gay Buske, Sue Cranfill, Doris McFarland, Betty Agee, Margaret Mabry, Ruby Grubbs and Mary Tom Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis went to Crowell Friday night to hear the Midwestern University choir sing. Their son, Don, is a member of the choir. From there they went to Dallas on business.

Scene two occurs at Lucinde's home. The "doctor" "cures" Lucinde and during a course of hilarious events, nearly gets hanged.

Means Director of Recreation Program

Coach Joe Means has been employed by the Chamber of Commerce as director of the summer recreation program for all school age children.

The recreation committee met at Bill Woodley's office Tuesday evening to discuss plans for the program. The program will be designed for both boys and girls.

Complete plans will be worked out and presented to the recreation committee by Coach Means before school closes in May.

Present for the meeting were Wright Williams, Dillie Kelley, John Renner, Truitt Johnson, Ralph Roden, Bill Woodley and Weldon Dickson.

According to Bill Woodley, uniforms for the high school baseball team have been ordered and should arrive in time for the first game. This action was taken after announcement had been made by school officials that no funds were available for this purpose.

J. B. McFarland, long-time resident of Friona, observed his 78th birthday Sunday. This picture was made by family members, and shows the pioneer resident at home.

J. B. McFarland Has 78th Birthday

J. B. (Granddad) McFarland observed his 78th birthday Tuesday, March 20, at his home in Friona. Dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Granville McFarland and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clements.

McFarland moved to a farm west of town in 1925 from Bell County. He has been an active church and civic worker since that time. He farmed for a number of years, but upon his retirement, due to failing health, moved into town.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Yancey and children of Amarillo were Sunday visitors in the Loyd Shackelford home.

in & around FRIONA

With June

The trees are turning green and some fruit trees are blooming. These are sure signs that spring isn't very far away and we always approach this season hoping that the fruit trees will not be killed. We have seen several patches of color in flower beds. The prettiest thing around our house are currant bushes. The leaves are very pretty and the blooms are a lovely shade of yellow. Since they are in a protected place, we are looking forward to a few glasses of currant jelly or maybe a currant pie.

Lauretta Brookfield had planned a hike for the cubs of Den III Monday afternoon, but when the time came, the wind was blowing so that planned hike turned into a tour. One little boy was heard to remark, "This is the first time I ever knew anyone could take a hike in a car."

If we are not confused, we have waited too long to buy auto tags in Friona. Just wonder how many other people did the same thing. Too many of us holler our heads off about having to drive so far to the county seat for various things that we have to have. Then, when those things are available in Friona over a period of time, we neglect to take advantage of the opportunity. The guy who came up with "people are funny" didn't half express the idea.

One day last week we were reminded that parents can't win for losing. Frieda and Susan accompanied us to town. Each of them had a dime and had quite a time deciding what to spend them for. Susan had been wanting some colored glasses for a long time and persuaded Frieda to buy colored glasses rather than ice cream—that is, until they got inside the City Drug. (A parental edict had been issued that they could not have both.) After they got inside the drug store, Susan relented and ice cream was ordered. About the same time, Sam Williams came in and paid for the ice cream. The next time we saw them, they had eaten the ice cream, and bought the glasses, too. Susan said, "Sam paid for our ice cream, so we spent our money for glasses."

We were in a small western Oklahoma town Saturday night and Sunday. We went down for the funeral of an uncle, and relatives and friends from several different places were there. The aunt, whose husband had died, asked that we write a report for the local paper. One former resident of the town said that he subscribed to the paper for a number of years, but that in recent years all the paper contained was news of the editor, employees and their relatives. Of course, that particular criticism of the Tribune would appear unjust. However, any reporter can only report the news he knows about. If anyone who reads this has out of town friends or relatives who subscribe to The Tribune, we would appreciate it very much if you would call us any time you have news that would make the paper more interesting to those subscribers. Several persons have said, "What happens to me isn't very interesting." That may be true from your viewpoint since you already know about it. Isn't it the things about everything and everybody in the community that make you enjoy reading a paper? Please keep this in mind and call us as often as you have any news item or items to report.

The first long journey we have memories of was made in a Model T Ford in 1920. The first lap of the journey was from a farm house west of Erick, Okla., to Amarillo. The distance is about 120 miles and it took us an entire day at that time. Saturday afternoon we drove the same distance in less than two hours. A cousin we had not seen for more than 20 years, but with whom we grew up, said, "Hasn't this country changed since we lived here?" We agreed with him that it had, but after thinking about it, it isn't really the country that has changed so much. The people, the method of transportation and a lot of other things have changed, but the country is just about the same. As we drove by the hospital Sunday afternoon, it looked just about as it did when it was completed about 30 years ago. Our thinking has changed considerably since that time. We used to drive by and look at it as a terrible place because so many people who were taken there died. At that time almost no one went to the hospital except those who were dangerously ill.

Our parents live within a mile of the place where we were born and as we drove the 12 or 14 miles from town to their home, the countryside looked very familiar. One hill that used to look like a mountain to us doesn't seem nearly so large and the creeks seem to have moved closer together.

We always enjoy walking down the creek and over the pasture down there. Things are exactly as we remember them when we use the same mode of travel we used then. The cave hasn't changed at all. You still have to crawl through the same tight places and over the same boulders.

Someone asked Sunday afternoon why our parents moved away, stayed 20 years, then returned. Our other half explains that by saying, "Mr. and Mrs. Mc didn't want their children to marry Okies, so they moved to Texas and stayed until all the children were married, then moved back." That may be true, but as someone else has said, "We are Texans by choice and not victims of circumstance." We enjoy visiting in other places, but always return to the Panhandle to appreciate it more.

Honors Awarded At Scout Meet

Cub Scout Pack meeting held at the Methodist Church Friday night was well attended. Den IV presented the opening ceremony, Den VII sang several songs, Den VI presented a "bottom of the sea" stunt and the closing prayer was led by Den III.

Several awards were presented by Truitt Johnson and Deon Awtry, who are the new cub master and assistant.

Leslie Weis was presented with his bear badge with gold arrow point under the bear. This was an unusual occurrence since Leslie has only been a cub since September. In a talk by W. L. Edelman, he suggested that if the boys would work to accomplish what Leslie has accomplished, they will be treated to a weiner roast the first cool evening next fall.

Northside HD Meets In Shelton Home

Ten members of the Northside Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Thelma Ruth Shelton Thursday afternoon. The program was "Your Accessories And You."

The Easter theme was carried out in the decorations, and refreshments of nests of Easter eggs and ice cream were served with punch to the following: Nellie Ray, Ruby Robards, Zonah Bass, Faye McMahon, Gladys Wright, Olive Massie, Dorothy Hough, Johnnie Stokes and Lorene Johnson. The next meeting will be at the home of Dorothy Hough on Wednesday, April 4. Lorene Johnson will present a program on re-making hats.

Wilburn Carlton was admitted to the Deaf Smith County Hospital Sunday afternoon. His illness has been diagnosed as meningitis and he is confined to the isolation ward.

Miss Sheri Woodley Honored On Birthday

Sheri Woodley was honored with a hobo party on her tenth birthday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woodley, entertained with a party in their home Wednesday afternoon.

The guests, who came dressed as hobos, were greeted at the door by a mechanized hobo. Several games were played, then after a hike, supper was served. The meal was tied on sticks in red bandanas.

The birthday cake was decorated with ten candles and a miniature hobo. While dessert was being served, Sheri opened the gifts and displayed them on a bandana-covered table.

Those who attended were John Lemay, Larry Hollis Squires, Darrell Collier, Joey Taylor, Darrell Gene Anthony, Charles Fields, Teddy Osborn, Sheryl Long, Shirley Phipps, Jan Wells;

Also, Betty Ann Bass, Lynn Wilson, Jeane Massey, Linda Davis, Barbara Fallwell, Jeanine Wiley, Nan Lillard, Jeanne Taylor, Joyce Houlette, David May, Richard Neeley, Tinker Dunn, David Neeley, Chuck McKinney, Donna Kay Dunn and Bobby Glenn Perkins.

Those who sent gifts were Mr.

and Mrs. F. W. Skeels, Mrs. Alice Horn, Mrs. John Bengert, Mrs. O. F. Lange, Mrs. Bert Shackelford and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Elmore. Mrs. Bert Neeley assisted the hostess.

Scouts Tour City In Quest for Spring

Cub Scout Den III met with Mrs. Floyd Brookfield Monday afternoon. A tour of the city was made in search of some of the first signs of spring. The tour ended at Mrs. Leslie Weis' home and was followed by an Easter egg hunt. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served by Mrs. Brookfield and Mrs. Weis to Gary Crabbe, Leslie Weis, Roscoe Parr, George Rushing, Eric Rushing and David May.

Mrs. Bertha Kappel of Sayre, Okla., is visiting in the home of her son, Bill Kappel.

Mrs. J. M. Watson and Mrs. Harold Lillard were Sunday afternoon callers in the Eugene Boggess home.

Leon and Marie Hartman of Santa Fe are guests in the Orville Houser home.

Mrs. M. B. McKinney, who underwent surgery at the Deaf Smith County hospital Monday, returned to her home in Friona Saturday.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE BOVINA BLADE

Band Students Win Nine Firsts Saturday

Members of the Bovina High School Band, under the direction of W. Wayne Stevens, participated in the Texas Interscholastic League Region II Instrumental Solo and Ensemble Contest that was held in Canyon Saturday. Nine first place ratings were won by the 23 students who were entered.

"Region 11 includes the majority of schools in the Panhandle, Stevens said, "and Bovina got more first place rating than any other small school at the contest."

Judging wasn't on a competitive basis. Students were placed in one of five divisions.

The nine first division medal winners included Roger Ezell, baritone solo; Gladys Dean, clarinet solo; Charlotte Hromas, bassoon solo; Nancy Cumpton, bass clarinet solo; Nickie Woelfel, alto saxophone solo; and a clarinet quartet composed of Joan Kay Ezell, Nancy Cumpton, Nita Beth Estes, and Donna Jean Hobdy.

Virginia Embree, clarinet solo; Nita Beth Estes, alto clarinet solo; Phil Caldwell, baritone saxophone solo; Verna Marie Estes, oboe solo; and Irene Drager, flute solo; won second divisions certificates.

Third division ratings were taken by Julia Lloyd and Don Caldwell for alto saxophone solos; Jerry Wright and Duane Rae, for cornet solos; Denny Queen, French horn solo; a trombone quartet consisting of Lexie Stevenson, Harriet Charles, Joy Redden, and Claudia O'Hare; and a clarinet trio made up of Gladys Dean, Alberta Marruffo, and Marilyn Turner.

A clarinet quartet, Kay Leake, Janice Richards, Barbara Taylor, and Virginia Embree, received a fourth division rating.

Mrs. Margaret Caldwell, Stevens, Celia Berry, Joy Redden, Joan Kay Ezell, and Verna Marie Estes accompanied the soloist on the piano.

Lodge Honors Past Masters

The local Masonic Lodge, Farwell Lodge No. 977, honored its Past Masters with a banquet at the Annual Past Masters Night Tuesday, March 20.

Ninety-three Masons attended the ceremonies and 17 lodges were represented. Twenty Past Masters of the local lodge were in attendance. District Deputy Grand Master Bill Phipps of Hereford was also present.

A Masters Degree was conferred on Bob Kelly, a former resident of Bovina and now a professional football player with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Members of the lodge prepared the dinner.

with the provision that as soon as permanent installations justify it this cost of laying sewer and water lines be refunded to builder. We recommend a reasonable and workable agreement as we think any development of this nature should be encouraged."

E. B. (Bedford) Caldwell was elected chairman of the group and C. R. Elliott was named secretary.

Fire Destroys Battles' Granary

A boxcar granary on the E. O. Battles place five miles north of Bovina was completely destroyed by fire at noon Tuesday. Some ground feed and planting seed in the building was also destroyed.

The Bovina Volunteer Fire Department answered the call and kept the fire from spreading to other buildings.

Fanned by a high wind, the granary fire was out of control when the fire department arrived on the scene.

Bovina Will Elect Mayor On Tuesday

Bovina citizens will go to the polls Tuesday, April 3, to vote for one of two men to be mayor and guide the growing city for the next two years.

The election will be held in the American Legion Hall.

Two of four city commission-appointed candidates remain in the race. These men are Alvin Glasscock and J. E. Sherrill, Jr.

The polls will be open from 7:00 a. m. until 7:00 p. m. A. B. Wilkinson will serve as election judge. He will be assisted by Will Parker and Hodge Rigdon.

City Secretary, Henry Minter, says the ballot will have a blank space on it so that voters who are not satisfied with either of the appointed candidates may write in their own candidate.

The man who is elected to the office at the Tuesday election will serve a two year term. The terms of the two present commissioners—Paul Jones and Emmett Tabor—will expire next April.

Allen Cumpton and J. P. Macon were also appointed as candidates but withdrew from the race. Cumpton dropped out because "I feel my new business venture will take all of my time." Macon gave no official reason for taking his name from the ballot.

Glasscock, whose name will appear first on the ballot, is a farmer and a partner of Dean Bingham in the real estate business. Sherrill is manager of Cicero Smith Lumber Company in Bovina.

The election became necessary when O. W. Rhinehart, who was elected to the mayor's post last year, resigned so that the terms of the mayor and the city commissioners would always be staggered. With this arrangement, there will always be experience in the commission. In the past, the mayor and the commissioners were elected at the same time. "Too much time was wasted in getting acquainted with the duties," Rhinehart says.

The place of the election has erroneously been reported in The Blade as being at the city hall.

Trustee Election Saturday, April 6

Three Bovina Independent School District trustees will be elected or re-elected Saturday, April 6, at an election that will be held in the American Legion Hall.

Harry J. Charles, present secretary of the board of trustees, Troy Fuller, and Wendol Christian are the men who have served their terms on the board.

W. H. Willoughby, superintendent, says, however, that there is a possibility that all three men will allow their names to be put back on the ballot.

Also to be decided on is the county trustee-at-large. Bill Sherley of Lazbuddie is the present holder of this position and Willoughby says that Sherley will probably be a candidate for re-election.

The trustees are elected for a three year term.

Other members of the board are Earl Stevenson, president, Elmo Dean, Amos Steelman, and Boye Taylor.

The board will be reorganized and new officers will be elected at the first regular meeting following the election.

Firemen Eat, Hear Speakers

Otis Huggins, fire captain in the Texico-Farwell Fire Department, and Charles Bainum, fire chief of the Friona Fire Department, talked to members of the newly-organized Bovina Volunteer Fire Department at a meeting Monday night in the American Legion Hall.

The meeting was highlighted by a steak supper that was prepared by Mrs. F. S. Pounds. Fire Chief Otho Hammond says the meal was served to help create interest in the department.

Huggins talk was about "Basic Principles of Fire Fighting." Bainum spoke on fire department leadership.

Thirty-four men attended.

Den Three Scouts Met Wednesday

Den Three of the Bovina Cub Scouts met Wednesday afternoon in the home of leader, Mrs. W. H. Downing, and continued studies on life under the sea, with emphasis on the plants which grow underwater.

Refreshments of ice cream bars were provided by Billy Lynn Marshall. Others attending the meeting were Billy Jay Charles, Kenneth Connelly, Richard Carson, Dale Whitesides, Larry Downing, Billy Lynn Marshall, and E. L. McCutchan. David Anderson was absent, due to illness.

"My big interest in owning a clothes dryer is the time that I can save. I make all the pies for our cafe, and spend several hours a day there, and I have four children, and must wash every day. Now that I have my dryer it takes fewer clothes for my children, and less time to launder them."

"I choose many of the materials that need no ironing for our clothes, especially the dresses for my little girl. I haven't time to iron the many ruffled dresses she wears every week. With the no-iron materials, her dresses are ready to wear when they come out of the clothes dryer. MY YOUNGEST SON WILL SOON BE TWO, AND I HAVE NEVER HAD TO IRON ANY OF HIS CLOTHES."

"Sandy says our towels are as soft as her kitten. And she is so right, because my towels are so fluffy, soft and clean smelling after being dried in my electric clothes dryer."
