Woman Shot To Death As Dragnet Spreads

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—A woman was shot to death at a roadblock near here today as officers spread a new dragnet for an escaped gunman after his companion attempted suicide, and a kidnaped Missouri State Police trooper was freed, unharmed.

Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri officers joined in the new search for escaped gunman Carl W. Burton, 24, of Redwood City, Calif., after a tense 30-hour search for abducted Trooper William Little, ended with his voice coming over the radio for his stolen police cruiser.

The roadblock shooting victim was Miss Jewell English, 24, of Paducah. Missouri Trooper Vernon Hopkins reported she was shot by a civilian, Forest McAllister of Fulton, who was sitting in Hopkins' police cruiser. Hopkins said a car driven by the victim's b other, Claudie English, 27, ran through the roadblock, then stopped.

Hopkins said when he approached the car, the driver started to sped away. Then, the officer said, McAllister picked up a rifle and fired, the charge hitting Miss English in the side.

Officers said they could learn of no connection between the occupants of the car and Burton, who fled on foot last night.

Little radioed for help after Burton had left a house in a remote part of McCracken County near here where he and Harold Davis, 33, held Little and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Shelton for 24 hours.

Davis, an ex-convict and Burton's brother-in-law, shot himself in the chest and was in critical condition in a Paducah hospital. He had apparently become frightened by a television broadcast concerning the search in which stiff penalties for kidnaping were mentioned.

Little and the Sheltons were unharmed.

Burton left the house armed with Little's service revolver and his own .32-caliber pistol.

According to Little, Burton said he had used the pistol to kill a policeman in San Francisco about three weeks ago.

Little, a calm, six-footer with four years on the Missouri highway patrol, was taken as a hostage Saturday after he stopped Davis and Burton in their California-licensed auto for a routine check.

"There was just something about it that made me do it," he said.

He said he checked the men out and was about to let them go when he noticed the barrel of a gun sticking out of the back seat under a sack. He pulled off the sack and saw a sawed-off shotgun. At this point Burton pulled a pistol.

The men forced Little and Sheriff Snowden Dell, who was with him, to accompany them to a service station next door where they took $45 from the cash register and were about to take a 19-year-old girl, Mrs. Evelyn Foster, as hostage.

Little said, "If you have to take someone, take me." They did, and left the girl behind.

Defense Bill Due Senate Okay Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Knowland (R-Calif) and Mansfield (D-Mont) predicted today that the Senate will pass a $1,410,000,000 emergency defense money bill before the day ends.

Earlier demands by some senators that another one or two billion dollars be added to the money bill were cooled both by satisfaction at the successful orbiting of the U.S. Explorer satellite and by the insistence of Senate leaders that the present urgent requests should not be delayed by additions.

"I think the bill will go through now just as it cleared the Appropriations Committee," Mansfield, assistant Democratic floor leader, said in an interview.

"These funds are needed and should move ahead as rapidly as possible," Knowland, the Republican leader, said.

The measure now carries $1,260,000,000 of new funds to step up programs for ballistic missiles, nuclear submarines that can launch some kinds of missiles, detection systems for both enemy aircraft and missiles, and additional air bases.

It also provides authority to transfer 150 millions Congress previously voted for other purposes to many of these same programs.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo), former secretary of the Air Force, renewed his contention that the pending money bill "is totally inadequate to carry out unanimous recommendations of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee."

Even so, Symington and other Democrats apparently have agreed to let Secretary of Defense McElroy submit increased estimates later in order to rush approval of the present bill.

The Air Force would get the bulk of the new funds, some 910 million dollars for its missiles and dispersal of Strategic Air Command jet bombers.

The Navy would receive 350 millions, most of it for Polaris intermediate missiles and a start on three special nuclear submarines to launch them, either under water or on the surface.

The Army would receive 40 million dollars of transfer funds to step up its own missile program.

SPOT MUSE

SHADOWS could easily have been seen by groundhogs here yesterday — if there were any groundhogs around yesterday. This means according to superstitions of long standing, that this area is probably in for six weeks more winter weather, and may be a good omen for farmers and ranchers who always welcome more moisture either in the form of rain or snow.

AF May Quit Search For Missing Plane

PRINCE FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—The Air Force may soon abandon as hopeless a search for a missing Air Force plane which apparently went down in Chesapeake Bay with two aboard Jan. 25.

Andrews Air Force Base officials said a decision may be reached in a day or two.

Aboard the twin-jet plane were Brig. Gen. Charles Jones, 46, deputy director of legislative liaison for the Air Force, and Maj. Jess Gifford, Jr., 35, a pilot instructor at Andrews. The plane was enroute to Andrews from Jackson, Miss., where Jones had visited his critically ill mother.

The search has turned up only a flight report folder and bits of wreckage. These were recovered last week seven miles southeast of Cove Points by a crash boat from the Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

Andrews officials said the plane did not carry life rafts and they did not believe the two officers had life jackets.

Italy To Get Atomic Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission said today $350,000 in foreign aid funds will be given to Italy to help pay for a nuclear research reactor project.

The reactor, a small one, will be installed at a research center being built at Ispra, in northern Italy, by the Italian National Committee for Nuclear Research. The Italian government estimates the total cost of the project to be 3½ million dollars.

'Hot Minds' Over 'Hot Rods'

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—President Eisenhower's science adviser today called on Americans "to de-emphasize the hot rodders among our youth and to encourage the hot minds."

But also, Dr. James R. Killian Jr. said, we mustn't try to engage in a numbers race with the Soviet Union for scientists and engineers. Emphasis should be on specialists who also have general education to fulfill democratic needs and goals.

Making his first major public address since being appointed Eisenhower's special assistant for science and technology shortly after Sputnik I was launched, Dr. Killian said this nation must give more priority to its "hot minds" or high-level talent "which has the capacity to lead, to innovate, and to imagine—and thus to advance our society."

He offered a five-point program in an opening speech prepared for an unusual conference on "America's Resources to Meet the Scientific Challenge."

Sponsored by the President's Committee on Scientists and Engineers, and the William Benton Foundation, and two-day conference at Yale University brings together leaders in science, education, industry, labor, government and news media.

In a message to the conference, Eisenhower said the nation's security and world peace "require all the ingenuity and energy the American people can muster."

"To meet the Soviet challenge and to take full advantage of the promises of this scientific age, we need also a broader understanding and knowledge of the natural forces which man seeks to bring under benevolent control."

Killian said adequate pay for teachers, shortage of student aid and buildings had already been stressed as central and critical needs.

Then he outlined five less-recognized educational deficiencies which he said must be overcome to keep this country strong:

1. More stress on discovering and educating talented youngsters, especially in aptitude for mathematics.

2. "More rigor and more emphasis on excellence" in high schools. Science should be strengthened. College entrance requirements should be raised.

3. Advantage should be taken of resources of liberal arts colleges to encourage scientific talent and postgraduate science study.

4. More graduate schools and graduate courses in engineering are needed.

5. All Americans should gain "a high degree of scientific literacy."

Reds Would Talk Space Control In Package Deal

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has notified President Eisenhower officially that it will discuss fully the control of outer space as part of a package deal including the abolition of nuclear weapons and the reduction of armed forces.

Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, in a communication delivered yesterday in Washington, said the Soviet Union accepted the idea of preparing for a summit conference through normal diplomatic channels but ruled out any prior foreign ministers' conference because of Soviet opposition to Secretary of State Dulles.

Bulganin, replying to President Eisenhower's Jan. 12 letter, proposed a nine-point agenda for a summit meeting of East and West leaders.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Leonid F. Ilyichev told a news conference today the Soviet government is ready to participate in a summit meeting based on either broad or restricted representation.

(Moscow radio began broadcasting the text of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's letter to President Eisenhower just after the Moscow news conference).

Here are the nine points Bulganin proposed for a conference:

Immediate suspension of atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

Renunciation by the Soviet Union, the United States and Britain of the use of nuclear weapons.

Establishment of an atom-free zone in Central Europe.

Conclusion of a nonaggression pact between the signatories of the Warsaw and NATO pacts.

Reduction of foreign troops in Germany and other European countries.

An agreement on the prevention of a sudden attack.

Discussion of measures to broaden international trade ties.

End the propaganda war.

Consider the problems of easing tension in the Near and Middle East.

Bulganin and his government rejected strongly President Eisenhower's proposal for abolition of the veto power in the U.N. Security Council.

"It is precisely the rule of unanimity," said the Soviet Premier, which makes the U.N. "an effective strument of international measures for preserving peace."

The elimination of the veto, Bulganin said, would lead "to abusive infringement of the rights of minorities, and would wreck the U.N. organization and finally result in its disintegration."

Bulganin wrote that the Soviet government recognizes the importance of discussing future control of outer space.

But he asked Eisenhower to agree "that it is possible to consider this only as a part of general problem of banning nuclear and rocket weapons." The President had suggested the question of outer space could be studied separately.

The Kremlin, Bulganin added, is ready to discuss such problems as the control of intercontinental missiles "if the Western Powers show a willingness to come to an agreement on prohibiting atomic and nuclear weapons and the banning of their tests and the dismantling of military bases on foreign territory."

"There is no doubt that in such a situation an agreement on the use of outer space only for peaceful purposes would meet no obstacles," Bulganin wrote.

Regarding preparations for a summit conference, he said: "We are convinced that if we agree on calling such a conference, procedural and other problems relating to the practical implementation of such an agreement could be worked out in our opinion without any great difficulties. The agreement could be reached on this question through normal diplomatic channels."

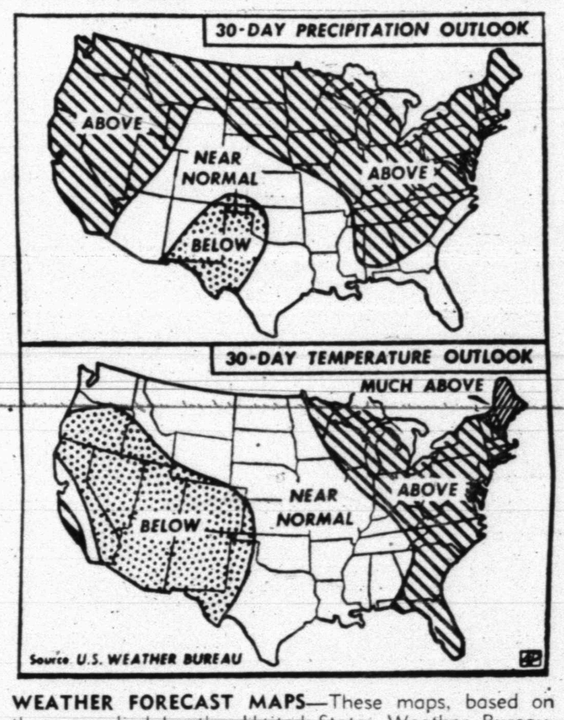

On the question of a foreign ministers' conference Bulganin said "there is hardly any necessity to repeat why we want to avoid this. I would like to note however that if one takes into account the preconceived position of certain possible participants of a foreign ministers' conference, then there would be no certainty that negotiations at such a level would not create additional obstacles to the calling of a summit conference and would not nip such an urgent and undelayable matter in the bud."

Bulganin's lengthy communication—largely a reiteration of the Soviet Union's position—said the people of the world would "rightfully protest if we took up the problem of outer space without first eliminating the threat of war and strengthening world peace."

Replying to questions raised by President Eisenhower, Bulganin wrote:

"As clearly seen in my letter of Jan. 8, the German question, taking into account the actual situation in Germany now, cannot be solved without the rapproachment and understanding of the two sovereign Germanies. The proposal of the East German government for a German confederation was formulated precisely in this spirit and we fully espouse it."

Regarding Eastern Europe, the Soviet Premier said the attitude of the Soviet government requires no explanation.

Court Probe Of Collision Urged

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Collision of two military planes over suburban Norwalk, killing 48 persons, brought a demand today for immediately action on the part of the secretary of defense.

County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn noted that the Norwalk disaster was one of three aerial collisions over southern California in as many days.

"I am sending a telegram to the secretary of defense, asking that he appoint a special investigating court not merely to fix the blame for the crash but to study the increasing problems of air traffic in metropolitan areas," he said.

"The court should be empowered to make new rules, if necessary, to protect the lives and property of our residents. . . ."

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight earlier called for a full-scale congressional investigation of airway traffic controls.

The tragic series—which took a total of 55 lives — began Friday. Two Air Force B26 medium bombers smashed together over the desert east of Daggett, killing the two-man crew on one of them.

Saturday night over Norwalk a C118 Military Air Transport Service plane and a Navy Neptune patrol bomber rammed together.

And yesterday, while investigators still were poking through charred wreckage at Norwalk, two civilian planes collided 30 miles east of here. All five occupants of the two craft died.

The Norwalk collision came on a cloudless night at 2,500 feet with a fiery explosion witnessed by hundreds.

The four-engine MATS transport, carrying service personnel and reservists, had taken off from nearby Long Beach Municipal Airport for McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., five minutes earlier. All 41 aboard were killed.

The twin-engine Navy Neptune had departed from the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, a few miles away, about 15 minutes before the crash. Aboard the bomber were eight reservists on a routine training flight. Two survived.

The two aircraft fell some 2½ miles apart.

The Navy bomber crashed in an abandoned clay pit, missing blocks of homes by a few hundred feet.

The transport, disintegrating as it fell, hit in one of the busiest sections of Norwalk. Its tail section crushed a service station and its fuselage ripped into the parking lot and garage of the sheriff's office substation across the street.

A 23-year-old housewife, Mrs. Edith Hernandez, was decapitated by a flying piece of wreckage.

Knife Wins Over Gun

DALLAS (AP)—A knife proved mightier than the gun in an argument between two Negro women yesterday at a church.

Police said a woman, 43, armed with a pistol, and a woman, 39, who had a knife, got into an argument in the church office over who would take a church record player to a car.

The older woman, reported in fair condition today, said the other woman cut her on the neck, face and arms in the office and that she chased her attacker outside in front of the church.

She fired several shots but missed, a witness told police.

Questioned, the younger woman claimed the older woman had shot at her first and that she "cut her" in self defense.

Record Rainfall Is Recorded In India

MADRAS, India (AP) — A world record rainfall of 651.47 inches was recorded at Mawsynram, Assam, in 1957, a report from Assam to the daily newspaper The Hindu said today.

The world's previous wettest place was also in Assam, at Cherranpunji. It had a rainfall of 375.09 inches for 1957, the report said. This is well below its average of 450 inches.

Early Launching Of Larger 'Moon' By Vanguard Expected

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — It was widely and reliably reported today that an early launching of a basketball-size "moon" will be tried with the Vanguard missile.

One Vanguard test vehicle is being prepared for launching with a 6.4-inch, 3½-pound grapefruit size satellite in its nose.

The Navy had planned to launch at least two more experimental miniature moons before moving up to the larger, fully instrumented sphere.

But recently the impression has solidified among persons in touch with Vanguard personnel that the forthcoming launching will be the last with the small-size satellites.

These reports say that particularly if the small-moon launching is successful, the next Vanguard try—probably sometime in March — will carry a 21½-pound, 20-inch satellite.

Such an effort is against the better judgement of some of the most experienced men involved in missile work here. Opponents of a "crash" Vanguard effort hold that this is a sophisticated, difficult scientific program that cannot be rushed to a conclusion.

They argue that the only purpose in hurrying the Navy's program is for propaganda purposes.

To observers here it is evident that the Vanguard workers, many of them young scientists only a few years out of college, are under heavy strain both because of large work loads and because of worry.

They will not discuss their problems publicly. They have been told that the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington will do the talking.

But from their casual observations one learns that they sometimes feel that:

1. The public is expecting too much.

2. The brass in Washington may be pushing too hard.

The Vanguard crews bowed to mechanical difficulties and adverse weather.

They dismantled the 31-foot second stage for repairs. Meanwhile, the Army moved in with its Jupiter-C and, last Friday, launched the first U. S. satellite.

Although the Navy men were glad to see the Army succeed, this could not be called a boost for Vanguard crew morale.

Talk Of Sending Rocket To Moon At Early Date Revived

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, beaten into space by the Army's Explorer satellite, was pushing preparations today for another try at getting its Vanguard vehicle aloft.

The 72-foot Vanguard rocket was visible at its launching tower at Cape Canaveral, Fla., pointing to a possible early firing attempt. But the Navy kept mum on its plans.

There was renewed talk of sending a rocket to the moon as the Explorer whirred through space on its mission of collecting and radioing back scientific information. The Explorer went into orbit Friday night.

Meanwhile, free world statesmen welcomed America's breakthrough, which some of them said should have a favorable influence on finding a formula for East-West peace.

Vice President Nixon said the American achievement "should have the effect of developing unusual support in world opinion" for President Eisenhower's proposal to dedicate outer space to peaceful uses.

Eisenhower made that proposal in a Jan. 12 letter to Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin. A reply to that letter was delivered here yesterday, but its contents have not been made public.

Although there have been some congratulatory comments from Russian sources, one Soviet scientist noted that the 30.8-pound Explorer is much smaller than either of the Russian satellites.

However, the scientist, Kiril Stanyukovich, voiced the hope in a Moscow broadcast that "peaceful competition of satellites in the two countries will lead to enrichment of the world's scientific knowledge."

Eisenhower has said that all data collected by the Explorer will be shared freely with other nations, including Russia.

The Explorer, six feet long and shaped like a pointed tube, is sending back coded radio signals reporting on temperatures, cosmic rays and meteorites it is meeting in its 18,000-mile-an-hour journey.

Dr. Ernst Stuhlinger, chief of research projects for the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., said it had been determined tentatively that the Explorer's egg-shaped orbit carries it to within 212 miles of the earth and to 1,800 miles at its outermost point.

Stuhlinger also said the American satellite is completing a trip around the earth once every 115.1 minutes.

The Army said a team of observers at Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N.M., had sighted the Explorer Saturday night. Word of this was relayed to Stuhlinger. Apparently referring to this same sighting, officials at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., said the New Mexico Moonwatch team probably is the first to have spotted the Army satellite.

The Navy's Vanguard project, which had sole responsibility in the U. S. earth satellite program until November, failed in its first launching effort Dec. 6. Its rocket exploded on the launching pad.

A number of technical difficulties prevented another launching try last month. But informed sources at the Cape Canaveral test center said those troubles have been fixed.

Members Of FCC Called On Carpet

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five of the seven members of the Federal Communications Commission were summoned today before a House subcommittee to reply to allegations of misconduct.

A subcommittee "staff report charged that some commissioners improperly accepted favors from the broadcasting industry they are charged with regulating.

After contents of this supposedly confidential memorandum were leaked to newspapers, Commission Chairman John Doerfer termed it misleading and inaccurate.

All seven FCC members were called but Subcommittee Chairman Moulder (D-Mo) has said there were allegations of personal misconduct against only Doerfer and Commissioners Robert E. Lee, Richard A. Mack, Rosel H. Hyde and Robert T. Bartley.

Bartley has said that "when the committee considers my record as a commissioner, I expect to be commended, not criticized." The remaining commissioners had no comment.

The staff memorandum, prepared by subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz, said one commissioner was fully reimbursed by broadcasting interests for expenses for himself and his wife at an industry convention where he delivered a speech. The report said this commissioner also claimed and received government travel pay in addition to $12 a day expense allowance.

It said some commissioners have permitted the industry to pay for certain expenses—including such things as cafe and golf fees—while attending industry conventions.

Doerfer has contended that a commissioner, when his expenses exceed the government allowance, may "validly and with perfect propriety" accept the difference from industry groups whose meetings he attends. Doerfer also said the law specifically permits FCC members to receive what he termed "a reasonable honorarium or compensation" for presentation of papers at industry meetings.

Charge Filed In Beating

An assault charge was filed here this morning against Henry Lopez of Snyder in connection with a Saturday night incident.

Lopez and two other men were assrested Saturday night, and a fourth man was arrested after his release from Cogdell Memorial Hospital today, in connection with the incident.

The sheriff's department received a call Saturday night at about 9:30 that a "dead man" was lying beside Thirty-seventh Street about two blocks east of the East Elementary School.

Officers at the department found the man, but he had only been unconscious and had cuts and bruises. He was hospitalized.

A witness who had seen a fight underway gave officers the description of the car which was parked nearby, and the department radioed other law enforcement agencies. The three men wre picked up by officers at Colorado City at about 1 a.m. Sunday.

Alberto Pezina of Snyder was the injured man. Pezina, Abel Barrientez, and Manuel Barrientez were all being held by the sheriff's office pending the filing of charges in justice court.

Would-Be Robber Winds Up With Loss

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A would-be robber who tried to hold up taxicab driver Ross G. Graham with a cap pistol took a net loss of $4.85 on the deal.

Graham said the man gave him a $10 bill for the $1.15 fare and drew the gun as Graham took out his money to make change.

"I'll take that," the rider told Graham. But Graham, looking at the toy gun, said, "Not with that." The man left his $10, grabbed four $1 bills and fled.

Dream Comes True. He's 'Shook Up'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Donald Johnson, 22, Tinker AFB airman, said he dreamed several nights ago he and his wife lost a race with the stork and he had to deliver the new arrival.

Johnson's wife gave birth yesterday to a 7 pound, 9 ounce boy—in the couple's car about two miles from the hospital.

Johnson delivered the child singlehanded.

"I was all shook up," he said.

Warmer For Dog Touches Off Fire

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Gordon R. Callihan and family feared Amber would get cold.

Amber is the family dachschund, accustomed to sleeping in the garage in a cardboard box. The Callihans rigged an electric light bulb in the box for warmth and took off for a weekend visit in St. Joseph, Mo.

Fire Chief C. G. Lipps said the bulb probably touched off the fire which did damage estimated at $10,000 to the Callihan house.

Eight Perish As Fire Races Over Home

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Fire raced through a small cardboard-lined frame house near Guy yesterday, killing eight persons trapped inside.

The dead included three children. Three adults escaped.

Sheriff Joe Castleberry identified the dead as Fred Wiedower, 57; his son, Fred Mack, 10; Dan Henderson and his wife, Cora, each 64; their son-in-law and daughter, C. B. Marsh Jr., 37, and Albadeen Marsh, 21; and the two Marsh daughters, Deborah Dianne, 4, and Martha Jane, 2.

Those who escaped were Mrs. Bronnie Wiedower, 44, who was hospitalized here with serious burns; her son, Dallas, 21; and John C. Glover, about 50, who lived with the Wiedowers. The Hendersons and Marshes, residents of Pangburn, were visiting.

The Wiedowers and Glover had converted a small smoke house and garage into temporary quarters while building a new house, the sheriff said. The old house had been torn down.

Castleberry said the fire apparently was touched off by a wood stove.

Forty-two billion cans were opened in the United States in 1956. That is 259 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Ex-Convict Slays Willie 'The Fox'

FORT WORTH (AP)—A former convict shot and killed Willie "The Fox" Hooser, 49, early today on the Jacksboro Highway, then sat up with the corpse five hours before authorities were contacted.

Johnny Williams, 48, in whose kitchen the shooting occurred, told Sheriff Harlan Wright he just didn't know what to do with Hooser after killing him.

He fired six shots from a revolver into Hooser as a climax to an argument about 3:30 a.m.

Williams would not say what the argument was about except that it was not over a woman. Williams, released in May from the penitentiary after a burglary term, is married but his wife was away.

While Hooser lay face up on the kitchen floor, which was strewn with broken chairs, Williams said he pondered what to do with the body.

He said he considered dumping it but finally decided to call a friend and ask that Wright be informed.

While the friend called Wright, Williams picked up his chihuahua dog, Prissy, and took her to relatives.

"Once before when I was arrested," he said, "the officers took her to jail with me and she had to stay there. I didn't want that to happen to Prissy again."

After taking the dog away, Williams, dressed in cowboy boots and waring a hearing aid, returned to the four-room house, one block south of where a dynamite blast blew up gambler Frank Cates' house in 1956.

Williams said Hooser came over to his place yesterday afternoon and that they talked "all night." He said they did some drinking but not an excessive amount.

Hooser was found with a paring knife in hand. Williams said Hooser jumped at him and tore his coat, which he displayed to Wright.

Hooser served a term for burglary and was released in 1929.

Williams has been a used car salesman. His mother, Mrs. Pearl Bissett, said her son suffered from cirrhosis of the liver and was unable to do hard work.

Red China Slates Building Program

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China will plunge this year into the biggest capital construction program in its history, Vice Premier Po I-po told Parliament in Peiping today.

He said the Chinese regime will continue to receive from the Soviet Union and its satellites "generous help in many spheres to enable us to advance more speedily to the great goal of socialism," Peiping radio reported.

Po said the Communist regime plans tentatively to pour 14,577,000,000 yuan—about 6½ billion dollars at the artificial exchange rate of 2.3 yuan to 1—into major industry and public service facilities. This would be 17.8 per cent more than last year.

Heaviest emphasis, he said, will be placed on agriculture with the hope it will prime the pump for industrialization. Farm products are sold abroad to provide foreign exchange for buying industrial machinery and equipment.

By the end of the year, Po added, Red China's industrial output is expected to reach more than 28 billion dollars. In 1957, he said, industrial output was about $27,322,350,000.

Po did not say how much the Russians and their satellites would help in the 1958 program, but his statement appeared to be a reply to reports the Russians were finding it difficult pushing backward China up the hill to modern industrialization.

Since 1950 the Russians have doled out two billion dollars in loans and have donated more than 100 industrial plants.

This year is the first of Red China's second five-year plan. As part of the 1958 industrial program, Po said these targets have been set:

Steel—6,248,000 tons, an increase of 19.2 per cent over 1957; electricity—22,450,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 9.4 per cent, and cement—an increase of 14.5 per cent.

Po estimated agricultural output at almost 30 billion dollars. Last year's output was slightly over 26 billions, he said.

Po said the government will put 372 new major products into trial production. They include power generating equipment, rolling mills, caterpillar tractors, ocean-going cargo ships, electronic computers, television transmitters and receivers and synthetic fibers.

Police said Mrs. Green accused Small of attacking her husband, Robert Green, 37, with a meat cleaver.

Mrs. Green said in a statement that an argument started when Small threw Green's coat from a table onto a cafe floor. She said Small grabbed a meat cleaver and began hitting Green about the head and neck. It was then, she said, she shot Small.

Green's wounds required several stitches, police said.

Marijuana Cache Found

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP)— A ramshackle house was raided yesterday, yielding 702 pounds of marijuana, worth an estimated $700,000 in the underworld.

Customs collector Bernhard Gettleman of Milwaukee said the find was the largest haul of marijuana ever made by U.S. Customs. It would have been worth $700,000 to processors of cigarets.

Gettelman described the house as a Midwestern distribution center for the weed.

The lone occupant of the house, Isuaro Garza, 34, was taken to jail at Milwaukee. J. H. Page, supervising customs agent of the Chicago District, said Garza has a home in Laredo, Tex., where his wife and four children live.

Six agents, four from Chicago and two from Laredo, found 23 sacks, each containing 30 one-pound sealed parcels, and 12 loose packages.

The first life insurance company in the United States was established in Philadelphia in 1759. It was called "The Corporation for Relief of Poor and Distressed Presbyterian Ministers and of the Poor and Distressed Widows and Children of Presbyterian Ministrs."

Kansans Keep Sharp Vigil For Escapees

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP)—Police in a broad area of Kansas kept a sharp vigil today for three desperadoes who slugged a jailer Sunday to escape the Hutchinson County, Tex., jail.

Citizens of the Garden City-Liberal-Dodge City area, one-time home of old Western badmen, slept fitfully during the night after radio stations in the area warned them to guard their homes, automobiles and gasoline supplies.

Sheriff Hugh Anderson of Stinnett, Tex., said the men were heavily armed and dangerous. He identified the trio as Charles Screws, 34, Vernon, Tex.; W. C. Brown, 30, Amarillo, Tex.; and Jack Trebbe, 26, Topeka, Kan.

Anderson said the men, who had vowed not to be taken alive, overpowered jailer Earl Cooper, 43, and then forced Mrs. Cooper to give them the jail keys. They also took two revolvers from the Cooper apartment and automobile. They left in Cooper's car.

Mrs. Cooper sounded the alarm as the car drove away.

The search centered in this area after there were reports that a car answering the description of Cooper's and containing three men were received by police.

Screws is a veteran convict, police said, having spent 14 of the last 17 years in various Texas and Oklahoma prisons. Trebbe was being held for Kansas as a parole violator, and Brown was sentenced last week to three years in prison for forgery.

Guy Laroche And Jean Desses Fashions Feature Sacks-Puff

PARIS (AP) — Sacks with a puff of drapery on the skirt front ran away with the Guy Laroche and Jean Desses collections this morning.

Generous gathers above and behind the knee solved the problem of how to get around in the sack. Instead of hobble-hopping, you can stride if you feel like it.

Laroche's second favorite is a long, loose-bodiced dress with a very frilly or puffy skirt gathered on at mid-hip. Now that the designers are playing around with the plain old sack, it's often in danger of being submerged in drapes, frills or frou-frou.

Desses declared: "The sack had to be made attractive. It was despised by every man."

It was also, some suspect, too easy to copy. The new versions would drive a home dressmaker to despair.

There is one sort of penguin-fronted sack, shown by both Desses and Laroche. It has a wide "V" or horseshoe shaped cutout to just below the waist, and the bodice is filled up with what the French call a "modesty," or elongated bib, often in white.

Others might be called sacks on the half-shell. A false coat is loose behind and reveals a fitted sheath in front. Laroche does another version with a false jacket.

The "baby doll" dresses that have been turning up all over, full from neck to knee, are not missing at Laroche, but he fits them in front.

Low back drapery is sometimes supported by what might be described as flying buttresses from the shoulder blades. Other full backs are tied into a tube, just behind the knees.

The collection of relative newcomer Laroche — he opened with the spring season a year ago — was not as warmly applauded as his first two collections. Fashion writers looking for originality are not finding too much of it anywhere. So far, Pierre Cardin has had the top reviews. His sacks are the sackiest of all.

Hemlines have hit high-water mark at Heim and Cardin, where they only half cover the knee. Desses gives you a peek at the bottom of the kneecap, and Laroche is a little more concealing.

Meetings For LWV Groups Is Scheduled

Recently-appointed department chairmen of the Snyder provisional League of Women Voters will meet with Mrs. George S. Lemon of Lubbock, state board member, in an orientation session Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. B. Lee, Jr., 2611 Thirty-seventh Street.

The session will precede the regular monthly board meeting at four o'clock in the Lee home with all board members participating.

Scheduled to meet with Mrs. Lemon are Mrs. N. S. Spencer, units chairman; Mrs. Jack Starr, bulletin chairman; Mrs. Robert Wilson, finance; Mrs. A. J. Shaw, second vice-president; and Mrs. E. G. Weyel, national items.

Formation of a national items department, which creates a new position on the board, is necessitated by the local eague's study of way. The problem of water conservation is regarded by the League as national in character and its study is a required item on all League agendas throughout the nation.

A portion of Tuesday's meeting will be devoted to the planning of the February general membership meeting, at which a local speaker will discuss area water problems.

Browning Meats

The advantages of low temperature meat cookery appeal to efficiency minded homemakers. Turning the heat low during roasting or broiling insures juicier meat and less shrinkage. To achieve the brown crust that's so popular with meat connoisseurs, brush the meat with a sauce like Kitchen Bouquet, or a glaze or barbecue sauce. Dark, pungent sauces help produce an attractive, crisp, deep-brown crusty exterior for your meat dishes.

Uses For Old Frames

Old picture frames have many uses. They can be made into wall shadow boxes, for example. And if the frame is large enough, it can be converted into a coffee table with the addition of a leg at each corner, a base and a glass top.

THE WEEDERS GUIDE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.M. — In thinking about making a garden — which is really quite a complicated operation —most of us start with the flowers we like. This is not only natural, but it is as good a starting point as any. There are, however, any number of other good starting points: color (some people like gardens in which white, or blue, or shades of red predominate); maintaining a succession of colorful bloom from spring through the fall; easy maintenance with plenty of color; cut flowers for the house; a supply of vegetables and a number of others.

But in planning for a flower garden, the items to be considered — if possible, in this order — are the width of the border, the height of the various plants, the time of the year in which the plants bloom and the massing of colors.

An experienced gardener knows that there must be some consideration given to the convenienc of the person who must work in the beds and among the plants. Thus, a border wider than six feet will be awkward, because the center of the bed will be out of reach unless the gardener walks in among the plants — and often tramples some down. If six feet or less in width, it is possible to work among the plants from either side. In the case of a wider growing area, do make provision for a narrow path.

Roughly speaking, all garden plants are divided into three classes: edging plants, growing from four to 12 inches high; bedding plants, 12 to 30 inches, and background plants, more than 30 inches.

Among the edging plants are ageratus, alyssum, dwarf marigold dwarf phlox; pansies, portulaca, linaria, dwarf verbena. Bedding plants, for the center area, include snapdragons, zinnias, petunias, California poppies, dahlias, asters and many, many other popular and easy-to-grow plants. Background plants include big zinnias, delphiniums, hollyhocks, sunflowers, cleome, salvia and many more.

More difficult than planning for the height of plants is planning to have a succession of blooms keeping the garden colorful from early to late in the season.

In addition to the early spring beauty of the daffodils, tulips and other bulbs, one many plan on early blooms from many of the perennials and biennials: columbine, forget-me-not, Oriental poppies, pansies, English daisy, foxglove and coreopsis, to mention a few.

Midsummer bloom is easiest to achieve particularly for those who start their seeds themselves indoors during March: marigold, zinnias, cleome, nasturiums, cosmos, calendula — there are hundreds of possibilities.

And for late bloom there are chrysanthemums and asters, of course, as well as salvias, dahlias and those dependable zinnias and marigolds plus a few more. (Wise gardeners make a "succession sowing of some mid-summer bloomers to fill in tired borders and thus achieve a fresh late bloom with some of the good old reliables.)

The business of color is highly individual. Fortunately, nature can mix her colors d matically and still avoid a garish look. More dramatic effects are obtained by massing colors. But somehow in an old-fashioned, informal garden, all sorts of colors can be put together and the effect remains charming and nice.

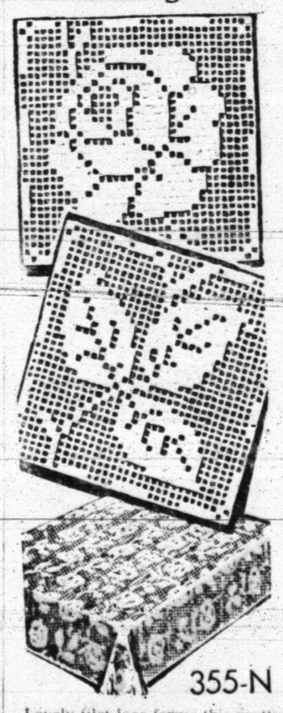

Zesty Appetizer

Here's an idea from South America for your next cocktail party: serve crisp Brazil nut slices which have been toasted in Spanish olive oil, flavored with parsley and garlic. First cover shelled Brazil nuts, 10 to 12 of them, with boiling water, let stand 3 minutes. Slice with vegetable parer or sharp knife. Toss with 1 tablespoon of Spanish olive oil, sprinkle with garlic powder and salt and about a tablespoon of minced parsley. Toast in the oven (or in a heavy skillet, with cover over low heat) until crisp and brown, for 7 to 10 minutes. Caution: the South Americans say it's important to use top quality olive oil; they always use olive oil from Spain.

Adds Moisture

When the floor of a kitchen, 8 feet by 10 feet, is washed with soapy water and rinsed with clear water, 2.4 pounds of water vapor are released in the home. The amount of moisture given off by house plants is nearly equal in volume to the amount of water required to water the plants.

Putting Theory Into Use

Gov. Price Daniel dropped a mild bombshell into the hopper at the State Democratic Executive Committee meeting Saturday in Austin when he proposed that the ballot box take the place of precinct conventions.

Apparently the governor caught everyone else by surprise, because little argument, as political arguments go, developed over the proposal. Gov. Daniel's proposal, along with one from the DOT (Democrats of Texas) went to a committee for study. The DOT proposal involved a "code of ethics" which had become far more controversial before the session than it did when the committee actually met.

Gov. Daniel and a majority of the state committee, of course, are still in a running battle with what is known as a "liberal" faction for control of the Democratic Party machinery in Texas. The liberals, who function under the leadership of Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston, who is a member of the committee, now call themselves the DOT. The latter organization caused a stir several weeks ago by adopting what it called a code of ethics. Its avowed purpose was to insure that the will of the majority controls party conventions.

Gov. Daniel met the challenge in forthright fashion. He did not oppose the code of ethics and call it a day. Instead he made a counter-proposal which he said he believed would do the job better.

It will be interesting to observe the ultimate action on both proposals. Theoretically, a good Democrat welcomes, rather than fears, decisions at the ballot box. Sometimes putting theory into practice is a horse of a different color.

A Negro teen-ager raped a 13-year-old white girl in a Brooklyn junior high school. There is so much violence in the school a grand jury is investigating. Police patrol the school. Three Negro boys assaulted a policeman. The principal jumped off the roof and killed himself. It's a "perfectly" integrated school, 45 per cent Negro, 10 per cent Puerto Rican, the rest white.

As of this writing, the President has not ordered any troops to enforce order. New York, you see, "follows" the Constitution. There is no segregation. New York bends so far backward to enforce racial justice the grand jury has to stay in session to see that justice is done.

Puetro Ricans still fly into New York by the hundreds every month. Immediately they are pounced on by Democratic Party organizers in New York. The Negro-Puerto Rican combine gave New York's Democratic Mayor a 600,000 majority over his opponent.

It is not known what repressive measures will be taken to stop the violence. Politicians created it. Politicians hesitate to anger the voting combine.

It's a fine educational system in New York. Everything is integrated according to Gunnar Myrdal and the Supreme Court. Instruction will continue if there are enough grand juries and police to supervise it. In the meantime, New York advice to the South is letting up. New York is busy at home.

Clergy Eyes Space Flight

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Man-made flight through the heavens today touches a sensitive chord in the churches.

"Handwriting in the sky," some ministers say.

The spiritual consequences, as many see it, can be either helpful or harmful—either open people's eyes to fuller truth, or blind them to anything but dazzling technology.

He who lives by the Sputnik (science) shall perish by the Sputnik," a Roman Catholic churchman said, recasting Jesus' maxim about the sword.

Few subjects have provoked such wide religious comment lately as the furor over nuclear-space engineering, triggered by Russia's earth satellites.

In Chicago, a group of pastors and Midwestern business leaders pondered how spiritual resources in the nation "must be mobilized to save us." The conference is sponsored by the University of Chicago.

"Victory and survival," the sponsors say, "will come only through deeper understanding of the laws which govern the hearts and minds of men and the practical applications of these laws to national life and our international relations."

In church circles, two opposite tendencies have been stressed as the possible effects of the new technological developments on faith:

1. A heightened sense of reverence and humility before the grandness of the universe, with a more vivid realization of God's infinite supremacy over it.

2. A rash of intensified materialism, stressing sheer mechanical prowess to the neglect of spiritual values.

Such an "exaltation of science above all other forms of power," said the Rev. Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, a noted Lutheran theologian of Philadelphia, would mean "falling into the trap" of professed atheistic materialists.

It would be vain indeed, he added, to try to outdo a system by becoming like it.

As noted by the Rev. Handel Brown, a Presbyterian pastor of St. Cloud, Fla., the Bible tells of man's first effort to reach into the stratosphere.

That was when people, duplicating Adam's effort to become equal to God, started building the Tower of Babel. "Let us build a tower," they said, "whose top reaches into the very heavens." The result: confusion and dismay.

"There is nothing wrong with outer space exploration," the Rev. Mr. Brown said, "but let us never get the idea that spiritual satisfaction depends upon scientific achievement.

"The objective of the final search will not be found in the hazy distances of outer space. It will be found in christ."

Unlike olden times, when some clergymen fought new scientific feats as devilish tampering with God's order, religious leaders today welcome such achievements as gifts—to be used for good or ill, by man's choice.

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheill, Catholic auxiliary bishop of Chicago, says that men, "the alleged master of his destiny" now "stands in terror before his own creation. . . .

"Nothing now intervenes between himself and annihilation except his own moral sense. But . . . he is no longer sure that it will sustain him in this, his hour of truth . . ."

Commented evangelist Billy Graham: "The Bible says put on the whole armor of God, and we need spiritual armor at a time like this."

The Rev. Dr. Maurice Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, said: "We should at least be as concerned with the mission to mankind as we are with a missile to the moon."

Stassen Politician Without A Home

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is he jumping or is he being pushed?

That's the question being asked about the ambitious Harold Stassen — President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament — now reported on his way out.

Administration officials said during the weekend it is almost certain that Stassen will resign to run for the Republican nomination for governor in Pennsylvania.

Two newspapers went further. The New York Herald Tribune quoted a "high source" as saying Stassen is definitely leaving. The New York Times said Eisenhower has decided to accept Stassen's resignation and, if he doesn't get it, to ask for it.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew nothing about the stories, "so how can I comment?"

Stassen, three-time governor of Minnesota and three-time loser as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has no broad national following.

In fact, he's almost a politician without a home. After losing out on his presidential hopes in 1948, he moved his residence from Minnesota to Pennsylvania.

But he came to Washington with Eisenhower in 1953, first as director of mutual security and then as a specialist on disarmament, and has been here ever since.

In that time he has butted heads with two very important men, Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles. In this case two heads seem to have been better than one.

At least Stassen's light began to dim after his attempt in 1956 to keep Nixon from being renominated.

Inflation Troubled George Washington

ONLY BAYLOR IS COUNTED OUT

7 Teams Still In SWC Title Scrap

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference basketball race was in a fair way toward a huge jumble Monday with six teams within a range of two games and the leader, Arkansas, facing its second straight highly menacing road foe.

The Razorbacks ran afoul of the toughest "home court" team in the league last week as they fell before Southern Methodist 49-46 in their first conference defeat of the season. Monday night they tangle with a do-or-die Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

The Arkansas loss to SMU brought a sudden tightening of the race because the Razorback lead was shaved to only one game and there's no more than 2½ games difference clear down to seventh place.

Arkansas still leads the race, but only by one game, and Southern Methodist and Texas Tech have pulled into a tie for second with 4-2 records. Rice, which had no conference action but walloped Trinity 77-51 in a tune-up, rests at 3-2 and Texas Christian, which can't afford to lose another one, is 3-3.

Arkansas was cold as a cucumber on the firing line, getting plenty of chances to score but unable to cash in on only a fourth of them, whereas Southern Methodist landed on almost 50 per cent.

It was SMU's 42nd straight regular season victory on the home court and the 25th consecutive conference triumph there. A record SMU crowd of 9,100 watched Bobby James lead the way with 15 points.

Texas Tech was edging Texas A&M 57-55 and Texas Christian was staying in the race with a 57-53 decision over fighting but lowly Baylor.

The schedule is dotted with important games this week, the TCU-Arkansas melee shoving it off Monday, and with two telling battles Saturday as Southern Methodist and Texas Christian get together at Dallas and Arkansas hosts pre-season favorite Rice at Fayetteville.

Coach Glen Rose of Arkansas was glum after the SMU defeat but he said it was still too early in the slam-bang race to pick a favorite. "I wouldn't be surprised if the team winning the championship lost as many as four games," Rose observed.

This means that seven of the eight teams could still retain title chances. Only Baylor, which has dropped seven, can be considered out of contention.

Decision Due On New Loop

MIDLAND (AP) — The budding West Texas-New Mexico League will know today whether it can operate this season.

It has the franchises, the major league tieups and six willing operators. All that's needed is for George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, to give the go-ahead.

Plainview, San Angelo and Midland, Tex., and Artesia, Carlsbad and Hobbs, N.M., are lined up to form what W. G. Terry of Midland, who will be president of the circuit, calls a "sophomore" league. Under the proposal the clubs would have no player or salary limits, each would pay $4,000 to its major league operator which would furnish the players and field manager and each would have its own business manager.

A 120-game schedule with a 6-day week are proposed. Its players would be those with less than two years experience.

Trautman is questioning the no-player-salary limit plan and also thinks the league might interfere with five other leagues of the same type that are planning to operate this year.

Terry said, however, that the Sooner State League, which is in this category, might not operate this season and if it does not then that should remove the obstacle.

Campy's Paralysis Slightly Improved

The latest report from the hospital said the popular catcher was much better and is enjoying the eating of strained foods.

Dallas University To Join Conference

DALLAS (AP)—The University of Dallas will become a member of the Church College Amateur Athletic Assn.

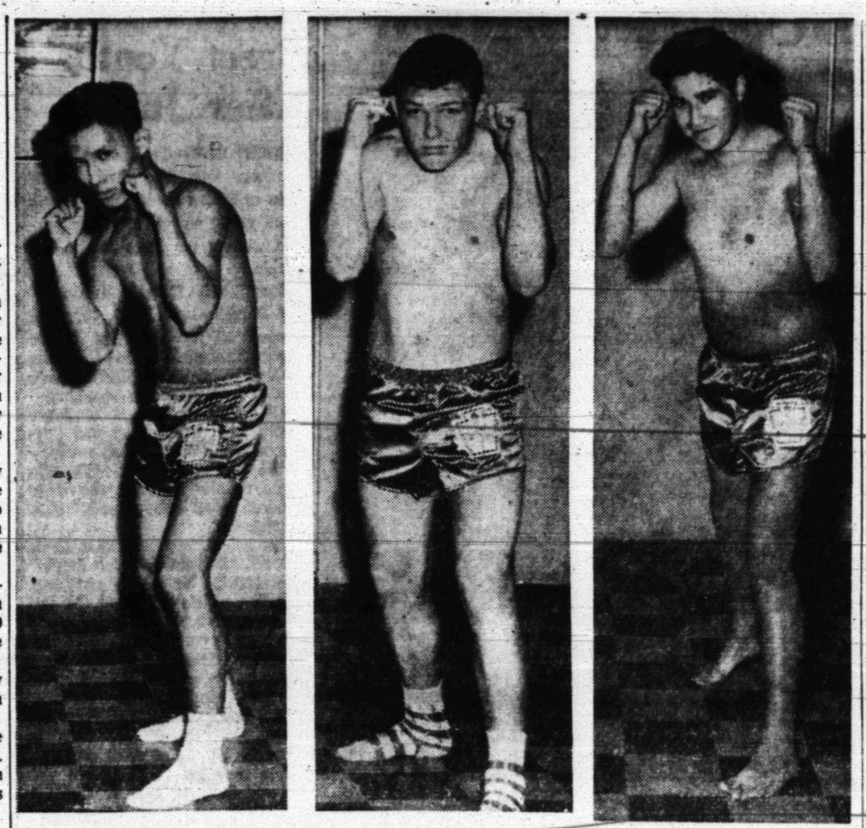

The university is a Catholic institution.

President F. Kenneth Braasted said yesterday the school would join the association which is now in its formative stage. Conference play in sports will begin in 1960, he said, with Austin College, Corpus Christi, Texas Lutheran and St. Thomas of Houston as other Texas members.

The Church College Conference was formed first in 1956 and allows no athletic scholarships. Membership is restricted to church-related accredited four-year colleges.

PLAY RESUMES TONIGHT

Boys Club Hands Reefers 1st Loss

The Boys Club handed Canyon Reef Sports Center its first loss in City League play Saturday night with a 52-42 upset victory at Junior High Gym.

The win pulled the Boys Clubbers into a two-way tie for the league leadership with Canyon Reef. The two teams are deadlocked with 3-1 records. The only loss on the Boys Club record was administered by Canyon Reef in the first round of play.

Activity resumes tonight with two more games on tap. The Boys Club will meet Brooks Oil in the first game at 7 to be followed by Canyon Reef and D & H at 8:30.

Four Boys Club players hit in double figures Saturday night to spark the surprise win over Canyon Reef. Mickey Brous led the way with 14 points, followed by James Cantwell and Royce Burrews with 13 apiece and Bill Hartsfield with 10.

Howard Jones led Canyon Reef with 10 points.

Canyon Reef pulled into a one point lead, 37-36, at the three-quarter mark but the Boys Club caught fire in the final period to win going away.

Brooks Oil stayed in contention by winning the second game of Saturday's doubleheader, 56-41, over D&H Grocery.

Grady Gafford with 21 and Dwayne Prince with 20 led the Oilers to victory. High point honors of the game, however, went to Carroll Hatter who bucketed 28 points. Hatter hit 14 of 17 free throw attempts.

Brooks is only one game behind Canyon Reef and Boys Club with a 2-2 record.

Billikens In Crucial Tests

By The Associated Press

The front-running Cincinnati Bearcats and Bradley Braves mark time again this week in the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race while the defending champion St. Louis Billikens try to get into contention.

St. Louis, which took a spanking from Oklahoma State, 65-34, in a non-conference game Saturday, will play weak North Texas State in Denton, Tex., Monday night and the Wichita Shockers in St. Louis Saturday. The Billikens' conference record is 3-2 and they need two victories this week to get into the race.

Cincinnati, setting the pace at 8-1, will meet St. Joseph's in Philadelphia Saturday. Bradley, 7-1 in the conference, plays Arizona at Tucson Wednesday and Oklahoma State at Stillwater Saturday.

Drake will play Houston at Houston Monday night and Tulsa in Des Moines Saturday.

Houston plays at Texas A&M Tuesday, Tulsa goes to Oklahoma State Wednesday and North Texas will meet Hardin-Simmons in Denton Friday.

Oscar Robertson was held to 27 points by Duquesne Saturday but the Bearcats managed a 72-61 victory, 15th of the season against two losses.

Bradley breezed by Notre Dame 81-70 for its 12th victory against three defeats. Red Murrell's 31 victory over North Texas State.

Houston was beaten in a conference game by Tulsa, 757. Wichita lost one to Western Kentucky, 96-85.

East Texas Leading LSC

By The Associated Press

The Lone Star Conference basketball race enters its second half this week with East Texas State in the driver's seat.

The Lions took over the undisputed lead last week when they tumbled Stephen F. Austin 47-36 and Sul Ross 58-52.

East Texas launches the stretch drive Monday night against Howard Payne at Brownwood with a 6-1 conference record. Stephen F. Austin, in second place with 5-2, clashes with Sul Ross at Alpine.

Third place Southwest Texas State, with a 4-3 record, clashes with Lamar Tech at San Marcos.

Stephen F. Austin broke even in its games last week, downing Howard Payne 71-38 while losing to East Texas.

In other conference games Howard Payne whipped Texas A&I 59-56, Texas A&I laced Lamar Tech 65-55 and Southwest Texas downed Sam Houston 74-65.

Stephen F. Austin leads in the season standings with a 14-5 record.

Unknowns 'Check' Scoring Leaders

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Two kids who might as well be named Joe as far as national recognition is concerned have really scrambled the individual scoring race in major college basketball.

Because of John Powell, who plays for Miami of Ohio, and Jack Sauer of Duquesne, Elgin Baylor of Seattle is No. 1 with Wilt Chamberlain, the Kansas All-America, second and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati third.

Actually, less than a 10th of a point separates the trio now that Powell and Sauer have limited Robertson to 57 points in his last two games. Baylor scored 103 in his last two.

Baylor has a 32.43-point average. Chamberlain has a 32.42 mark. Robertson is 32.35.

Baylor is idle until a Friday-Saturday date against Gonzaga.

Robertson, who had a top-ranked 32.7 average until Powell held him to 30 points Thursday, scored only 27 against Duquesne Saturday in a 72-61 Cincinnati victory. He didn't get rolling until Sauer fouled out with 9.10 left.

Cincinnati ranked third behind West Virginia and Kansas in the Associated Press poll plays next at Philadelphia Saturday against St. Joseph's.

Chamberlain, the early pacesetter, could regain the lead with 34 points tonight as Kansas and Kansas State meet in the second match of their three-game showdown for Big Eight honors.

Wilt counted 37 when Kansas beat K-State 72-61 for the Big Eight Tournament title at Christmastime.

That's the only game fourth-ranked Kansas State has lost. The Wildcats won No. 14 Saturday with an 83-54 warmup against Colorado for a 4-0 conference record. Kansas is 2-1 in conference play.

With the exception of idle Kentucky, the rest of the top 10 were busy winning Saturday.

San Francisco (15-1), an easy leader in the West Coast Athletic Assn., defeated Pepperdine 105-59. Oklahoma State (13-2) whipped St. Louis 65-34. North Carolina (13-3) tied its record high with an 115-88 job on South Carolina.

Maryland (11-3) defeated Navy 64-51. North Carolina State (12-3), keeping pace with North Carolina atop the Atlantic Coast Conference race, avenged an earlier defeat by beating Clemson 56-54.

West Virginia (15-1) gets back to business Thursday at Madison Square Garden against St. John's of Brooklyn, a recent unbeaten, now twice beaten.

Ken Venturi Captures Phoenix Title

By BOB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Ken Venturi of San Francisco sank a three foot putt on the 18th green to win the $15,000 Phoenix Open.

"I've never been as nervous," he said.

After dropping that putt worth $2,000 in first money, he sailed his white cap into the madly screaming gallery of 7,000—the largest in the history of the Phoenix tournament.

Venturi, a 26-year-old with little more than a year of pro experience, won this 72-hole tournament the hard way. He started the final round with a 1-stroke lead over Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla.

He saw that lead melt after the first nine under the heat of a sub-par round by Walter Burkemo, Franklin Hills, Mich., and the pressure of Hebert.

Burkemo climaxed the finest round of the tournament as he dropped a birdie putt on No. 18 for a day's total of 65 — 6 under par for the 6,585-yard Phoenix Country Club course.

That gave him a total of 275—9 under par. He had started the round six strokes behind the leading Venturi.

Hebert missed a seven-foot putt on the final hole and finished in a tie with Burkemo.

Venturi was teeing off on 17. He said he knew what he needed to tie — one birdie — and what he needed to win — two birdies.

He sank a four-foot putt to go one under on the par-4 17th; and then the short one on the 18th.

Tied for fourth at 279 were young John McMullin, Alameda, Calif., and Bill Collins, Grossinger, N.Y. Each pocketed $950.

At 280, with $800, was Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass.

Myers Hires Two More Assistants

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Jim Myers added two assistants today to his Texas A&M football coaching staff.

They are John Michaels, who will work with the guards, and Elmer Smith, former A&M staff member who will coach centers and linebackers. The additions complete the coaching staff of seven.

Smith went to Alabama when Coach Bear Bryant left Texas A&M Jan. 1, but now has returned to his former job.

Michaels, a nationally known guard for Tennessee, has been playing Canadian pro ball.

Virginia University Seeks Grid Coach

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — The University of Virginia formally launched its search for a football coach to succeed Ben Martin today with indications the first stone to be turned is in Bethlehem, Pa.

It was a wide open secret that university athletic officials would like to persuade Bill Leckonby, head coach at Lehigh University in Bethlehem, to become Martin's successor.

Sooner Loop Faces Trouble

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—It was highly problematical today whether the Class D Sooner State League can operate this season.

Lawton turned back its franchise yesterday because of inadequate playing facilities, leaving only Ardmore, Shawnee and Paris, Tex., definitely set to play. Seminole needing a working agreement with a major league club, Ponca City having to raise money to continue and Muskogee undecided.

League directors voted Ada, Okla., and Vernon, Tex., into the league since both those cities have said they would like to field teams. Neither has a working agreement with a major league club.

J. J. Mogoto of Muskogee, vice president of the league who presided at the meeting, said a final decision on whether the league would operate or suspend operations would be made Friday.

Petition Circulated In Dallas For AAA

DALLAS (AP)—A petition signed by some Dallas baseball fans says they want Class AAA ball instead of the Texas League's Class AA variety.

The petition, circulated by postal clerk Herman Kurz, says the signers will not support AA baseball.

The Dallas baseball franchise was returned to the league recently because the owners were not allowed the privilege of seeking a lague of higher classification.

TO WEALTHY CONTRACTOR

Buyers Found For Dallas Franchise

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—A wealthy contractor hoped today to complete arrangements that will make him the sole owner of the Dallas club of the Texas Baseball League.

J. W. Bateson, a soft-spoken newcomer to professional baseball, obtained the Dallas franchise yesterday, only 48 hours after he decided it was interested in trying to solve a problem that had bothered league directors several weeks.

Dick Butler, league president, said award of the franchise was contingent only upon Bateson's signing a lease for use of the Dallas ball park, Burnett Field.

"That is the way Mr. Bateson wanted it," Butler said.

Bateson flew to Houston to meet with the league directors after completing Dallas negotiations with representatives of the Burnett interests.

"We do not have a signed document but verbally we are in agreement," Bateson said.

The 49-year-old Bateson said he made his first telephone call to Warner Lewis, general manager of the Burnett interests, last Friday.

Bateson said the Burnett contract agreed upon verbally "has many ramifications, including the classification of baseball to be played at Burnett Field."

He declined to elaborate, saying only that he was obtaining a five-year lease.

Bateson emphasized that he is not interested in operating the Dallas club without Burnett Field. He said he will hire a general manager and will not operate the club personally.

Bateson said Mrs. Burnett and a daughter plan to be in Dallas tomorrow to check the lease agreement.

The Dallas situation prevented adoption of a 154-game playing schedule during the two-day Houston meeting, normally the major business for the January-February meeting. A special meeting was scheduled for this purpose next Sunday in Dallas.

The opening day schedule for April 18 was adopted. Victoria will open at Houston, Dallas will be at Austin, Tulsa at Fort Worth and San Antonio at Corpus Christi.

By BOB WOOD

Arizona State College at Tempe suddenly has become the main factor in the Border Conference basketball race.

The Sun Devils have won three consecutive conference games and in the past two weeks have moved from last to a second place tie with Hardin-Simmons.

While Arizona State was making its swing toward the top, the league-leading New Mexico A&M Aggies were on the downgrade.

A&M, stunned by the loss of its three top scorers, dropped its last two conference games and is hanging on the ropes.

Just how things really stand will be decided Monday night when the Aggies and Arizona State meet in a game in Tempe. On the same night, defending champion Texas Western, now in fourth place, will meet University of Arizona.

Arizona State won two league games last week, stopping cellar-dwelling West Texas State 88-80 and Western 65-62.

That gave the Sun Devils a 3-2 league record, the same as Hardin-Simmons, idle last week.

The Aggies fell before Arizona 68-66 in an overtime clash, leaving the Aggies 4-2 and Arizona 2-3.

Other games this week have Bradley of the Missouri Valley Conference at Arizona Wednesday night; Hardin-Simmons at Midwestern of Wichita Falls, Tex., Thursday night; Hardin-Simmons visiting North Texas State on Friday, and Arizona State of Tempe at Arizona State of Flatstaff on Saturday.

The other game that will figure in the league standings is a Saturday night meeting between Arizona and West Texas.

TCU, Rice Open Drills

By The Associated Press

Football returns after only a month's absence Monday as spring training opens at two Southwest Conference schools—Texas Christian and Rice.

Tuesday Southern Methodist takes up the cudgel.

No more schools swing into football until next month when Texas gets going while Baylor, Arkansas and Texas A&M aren't due to begin until April.

Rice, the defending conference champion, will have some 75 candidates of which 20 will be lettermen. Two more lettermen won't be available until fall because of injuries.

Virtually the entire backfield corps will depart, including All-America quarterback King Hill, and there will be huge line losses.

Texas Christian expects 80 to be out for the start of spring drills, 21 of them lettermen. Coach Abe Martin has announced that he will concentrate on building an aerial game.

Southern Methodist looks for 76 candidates to report Tuesday, these including 21 letterman, one of them from 1956.

Coach Bill Meek will get most of his top men back and will have a fine sophomore crop. All-Staters Glenn Gregory and Frank Jackson, two highly prized backs, are among the sophs.

FACES DECOLA TONIGHT

Ryff In Another Comeback Try

By The Associated Press

The strange story of the career of Frankie Ryff, lightweight boxer, continues tonight when he faces Tony DeCola, another New Yorker, at St. Nicholas Arena in New York.

Ryff, always susceptible to cuts around the eyes, won 20 of his first 21 fights and was high ranked in the division before he was knocked out by Larry Boardman. When eye cuts contributed to later technical knockouts by Kenney Lane and Gene Butler, Ryff appeared to be finished.

The 10-round match will be carried on TV (DUMONT) in some sections.

Ralph Dupas invades the welterweight ranks for a Wednesday bout at Norfolk, Va. with Gaspar Ortega, the Mexican who recently was eliminated from the welter title tournament by Isaac Logart.

Although Dupas still has his eye on a lightweight match with Champion Joe Brown, the New Orleans boxer also is staking out a claim among the welters. He holds a decision over Vince Martinez, one of the three survivors in the tournament to crown a successor to Carmen Basilio.

This is the fourth year the Wednesday night fights (ABC-TV) have participated in the March of Dimes drive in Norfolk.

Paolo Rosi of New York and Italy and Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., both ranked among the top 10 lightweights, meet Friday at Syracuse, N.Y. Originally set for Madison Square Garden, the match was transferred to the upstate city to help Promoter Norm Rothschild of Syracuse in his arena problem according to the International Boxing Club.

Rosi probably will be a solid favorite in the bout to be carried on NBC radio and TV.

Floyd Patterson boxes a three-round exhibition Tuesday at Houston where promoters hope to arrange for the world heavyweight champion to make a 1958 defense against Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex.

SNYDER BUSINESS NEWS

Usual Errors Being Made In Tax Returns

Many common errors are being made by taxpayers of the Snyder area in making their tax returns, according to A. E. Fogle, Jr., of the Internal Revenue Service.

The most common errors Fogle said, are failure to print or write legibly, forgetting to sign the returns, not reporting all their income, and making errors in arithmetic.

"Three out of 10 taxpayers who made major arithmetic errors pay too much tax or select the wrong tax from the tax table," Fogle said, adding. "Unreported income often stems from bank bearing interest; taxpayers with time deposits frequently overlook the bank credits to their account. Also, we find taxpayers forgetting that some of the money received when they cash E bonds is interest income, if the bond has reached interest-bearing life."

Dependency errors, especially those involving working wives, are all-too-common on 1957 returns. Some working wives earning less than 600 file separate returns to get a refund on their withholding tax. This separate filing actually costs the couple money, because the husband cannot claim the wife's exemption if she files separately.

"These couples should file joint returns," Fogle said. "And when joint returns are filed both parties must sign the joint return."

Map Theft Trial Opens

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Three men charged under federal indictment with transporting stolen Gulf Oil Corp. maps across a state line were called to trial today.

They are Emanuel Lieberman, 32, and his brother, Edward, 30, both of New York, and Odie Seagraves, 60, of New York and Houston.

The government charges the maps were stolen by a ring interested in locating potential oil reserves under consideration by Gulf. The government contends the maps were worth thousands of dollars.

Snyder Student Has Role In ACC Play

Doug Smith, sophomore student at Abilene Christian College from Snyder, will play a supporting role in "The Rivals," a Richard Brinsley Sheridan comedy to be staged at ACC's Sewell Auditorium Feb. 6-8.

Performances will be at 8 o'clock each night. Admission is 75 cents for reserved seats.

Smith is a 1956 graduate of Snyder High School, where he was an outstanding drama-music student.

B&B Steakhouse Extending Its Hours Of Service Here

One of West Texas finest restaurants has just started opening at 8 o'clock each morning and now serves breakfasts, instead of opening shortly before noon each day.

It is the B&B Steakhouse located on the East Highway in east Snyder, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Helms, experienced restauranterus. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thompson are assistant managers.

Mr. and Mrs. Helms recently purchased the B&B Steakhouse, and have just completed complete remodeling of the kitchen facilities in the restaurant.

Except for the management, the B&B Steakhouse has the same staff which has made it a popular eating place for several years here.

The cook is Leon Johnson, who Helms says is the best steak cook in West Texas.

Helms, who has operated restaurants for several years in West Texas, says that the secret of Leon Johnson's success in cooking steaks is that he begins with the best steak possible to buy, and cooks each steak individually, although he may cook as many as 50 steaks at one time.

"Each steak is cut from the beef just before it is cooked, so that it retains all the natural flavor and juices without losing any of its tastiness by having been cut and left for a long period before cooking," Helms said.

Although the B&B Steakhouse specializes in fine steaks, all foods desired by anyone are also prepared and served with just as much skill and care as the fine steaks.

One of the outstanding features of the B&B Steakhouse is the luncheon served for only 85 cents which includes a small T-bone or luncheon steak or other meat as the customer desires, two vegetables, individual soup and salad, and desert.

"We believe that it is almost impossible to prepare such a meal even in your home for such a low cost," Helms said.

Parties of all sizes up to about 50 persons are catered to by the B&B Steakhouse. As many as three different parties can be accomodated at one time, because the B&B has three dining rooms.

"We can serve a large party or banquet in one dining room without them being disturbed by regular customers who can be served in another," Helms said.

Sears Announces Addition To Service Department's Staff

Sears, Roebuck & Co. has announced the addition of another person to the staff of its home service department.

He is O. K. Yantis, sales representative for the firm, who recently transferred here from Littlefield.

Yantis and staff members at the Sears Service Center on east Twenty-fifth Street are all members of Sears' home service department.

As sales representative, Yantis works with Sears customers on anything in Sears stock in which they are interested. All the customer need do is call the Sears catalog sales office here if he needs assistance in planning improvements or for demonstrations, and Yantis will contact him.

Yantis offers assistance in planning improvements for home, office or farm in any line of Sears merchandise, including heating, plumbing, water systems, building materials, kitchens, carpeting, linoleum, draperies, furniture, farm equipment, television, tools and many others.

The other home service men, those at the Sears Service Center, are Wilbur Eaton, appliance service specialist, and Shelby Graham, television and radio service specialist.

The service center offers its services on all type of appliances, and the center stocks a complete line of parts for almost all types of appliances for rapid service. The center also offers a pickup and delivery service for customers.

Televisions, radios, record players, ranges, refrigerators, washers, dryers, power lawn mowers, and all small appliances are serviced by the center, which also handles installation of appliances purchased from Sears here.

Information about either of these two segments of the Sears home service department can be secured from the Sears catalog sales store on the East Highway.

FFA Judgers Place Third

A livestock judging team from the Snyder Future Farmers of America chapter placed third during the weekend in a contest held in Fort Worth in connection with the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

This is the third contest this year the team has entered and the third time it has placed in the top 10. The Snyder team took fourth at the State Fair of Texas contest and sixth at a Waco contest.

There were 51 teams in the Fort Worth contest. Snyder placed third behind Tioga and Gatesville. Whitewright was fourth, and a second Gatesville team was fifth.

Members of the Snyder third place team were Steve Nail, who scored 380 points; Skeet Dunn, 379; Jerry Springer, 370; and Richard Robinson, alternate. There was a possible 400 points for each team member.

A second Snyder team participated in the contest, but did not place in the top five. Only five places were announced. Members of that team were Jimmy Mosley, Dick Hayes, Alex Cross, and Devana Jones.

The next contest in which the Snyder teams will participate will be that at the San Antonio Livestock Exposition Feb. 15, according to Billy Bob McMullan, agriculture instructor and judging team coach.

Two Snyderites In Musicale At Tech

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Devenport of Snyder have been selected to appear in the Texas Tech choir for its winter musicale, "Like You Like It."

The musical will be presented Feb. 16-17 in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Devenport are graduates of Snyder High School. Mrs. Davenport is the former Louise Crook.

The Tech orchestra and Modern Dance Club will join the choir in presenting the show.

Profits from the vetire will be used to help send the choir to New York City this spring to appear on the Ed Sullivan television show.

Snyder Student Named To Wayland Court

Shirley Rosser of Snyder has been elected to the Wayland Baptist College student government court system.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rosser, Route 2.

The Wayland student government constitution provides for student courts to handle infractions of campus rules. Members of these courts, some elected and some appointed, are given the major responsibility for the Wayland honor system.

Miss Rosser, a senior education major, is a member of the Matador Hall court. A student assistant in the Wayland nursery, she plans to enter the teaching profession.

Stern Parents Greet Youths After Junket

HOUSTON (AP)—Two young Houston boys who hopped a freight train to Dallas Friday night came home yesterday to find stern parents waiting for them at the bus station.

Both Louis Ronald Martin, 9, and Darrell Gene Jones, 10, were hustled off to bed. But before Louis climbed into his bed his mother, Mrs. John Martin, gave him a lecture and a spanking.

All Darrell's father, J. E. Jones would say was that he was "aggravated" about his son's trip.

"He really enjoyed the trip home on the bus and the other children think he's a hero," Mrs. Martin said.

She added, however, that Louis did not "like the belt too much." She used the belt in her spanking.

Dallas policemen found the two sleepy-eyed boys wandering along the railroad tracks Saturday morning. They said they were looking for another freight train to take them back to Houston.

The boys told officers they had meant to hop off the train at Teague, 170 miles from Houston. When they got to Teague it was so cold they got back in the boxcar and rode on to Dallas, they said.

When they got to Dallas they were hungry, cold and tired and wanted to go home.

Darrell said, "We didn't mean to run away. We just wanted to go up to Teague and play." He said he had been to Teague and thought it was a nice town.

Trailways Bos Co. volunteered to take the boys home free of charge.

Business Firms In Dallas Are Damaged

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The second major fire within a week in the Southern Methodist University neighborhood heavily damaged four business firms early yesterday.

Fire Department officials said they had not entirely discounted arson. They estimated each fire's loss at about $100,000.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE

QUESTION: Are there any flying saucers?

ANSWER: For the past few years now reports of flying saucers have cropped up in various parts of the country. The Air Force has kept track of these various accounts and so far has been able to identify almost every one as some recognizable object, such as a piece of a meteor, a weather balloon, even a wing light from an airplane. Until science proves otherwise, we must assume that flying saucers are compounded of heavy bits of imagination and day dreaming with a touch of science fiction.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is your own flying saucer ready to launch. Cut out the saucer and the pie-shaped section. Push the paste-under flap to the back and paste the other edge over it firmly. Fold up the outer edge at the dotted line to make object saucer shaped as shown in the inset pictures. Attach a weight about the size of a dime to the center top and hold in place with gummed tape. Your saucer is now ready for take off. Scale it into the air with a long swinging motion, but first be sure to give yourself plenty of outdoor room for a target range. Happy flying.

Gasoline Prices In Dallas Drop Again

DALLAS (AP)—Prices on gasoline dropped 2 to 4 cents per gallon here yesterday and service stations feared a new price war.

Both major and independent stations were involved. R. G. Herring, president of Dallas Service Stations Assn., predicted the price slashing would spread today.

The cut prices included 24.9 cents a gallon for regular and 27.9 fo ethyl, down about 4 cents for each grade.

In last year's war, the price for regular dropped as low as 18.9 cents per gallon.

Prince Yemen Due To Join Arab Combo

By TOM MASTERSON

CAIRO (AP)—The crown prince of Yemen was expected here today to associate his little medieval kingdom on the Red Sea with the new United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria.

Student celebrations in the oil-rich sheikhdom of Kuwait, which is under British protection, called for that tiny area on the Persian Gulf to join the disconnected union also. The extent of Kuwait government support for the demonstration was not immediately apparent.

An Egyptian spokesman said Crown Prince Seif el Islam el Badr "will announce that Yemen will adhere to the republic." Whether that meant full membership or merely federation with the union proclaimed Saturday was not clear.

The Yemen legation said it knew nothing of the reports. Cairo radio said the Crown Prince would arrive today.

Egyptian President Nasser of Egypt and Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly said in their proclamation "any Arab state desirous of joining them in the union" or in a federation would be welcome. The offer of federation was interpreted as a bid to the monarchs of Yemen, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Iraq, Libya and Morocco to join without giving up their thrones.

HOW EXPLORER'S ORBIT COMPARES WITH SPUTNIKS — Space drawing by AP Artist John A. Carlton indicates orbital plane of U. S. satellite Explorer in comparison with Sputnik I and Sputnik II. Sputnik I has disintegrated, and the radio batteries of Sputnik II have long been dead. (AP Wirephoto)

Britons Think Satellite Has Improved Chance For Talks

LONDON (AP)—Many newspapers in Britain and Western Europe assumed today that the launching of the American satellite has improved the prospects for summit talks between the West and the Soviet Union.

They took the line that President Eisenhower now can go into such talks with a stronger diplomatic hand than he possessed before Explorer began orbiting around the earth.

President Eisenhower, said the conservative London Daily Telegraph, will be able to "face the unseen of the summit talks with a cheer. His hand will have been greatly strengthened in negotiating both the preliminaries to the conference and its final agenda."

The Daily Herald, voice of the Labor party, said its editor had sent the following cable to Eisenhower: "This is a great day for America and for all her allies. So now let's hurry up and say yes to Bulganin. Your friends want it and we suspect that you do—so how about it, Mr. President?"

Paris' Socialist Populaire said the launching of Explorer "should now allow the United States, which we felt was reticent at times, to approach the negotiations with the East in better spirits."

One Vienna newspaper, the independent Die Presse, suggested that Explorer may cool the Soviet Union's professed desire for summit talks "because Soviet aspirations for a propaganda success will perhaps shrink now."

A spokesman for the West German Foreign Ministry suggested in Bonn that the launching will give the West a better basis for negotiation. Rome newspapers also carried headlines suggesting Explorer had increased the chance of talks with Moscow.

Starkweather Is Arraigned

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Wheels of justice which could roll cross-country killer Charles Starkweather into Nebraska's electric chair were turning today.

Armed with a 213-page statement in which the bespectacled young red-head tells all about his infamous murder rampage last week, County Atty. Elmer Scheele arraigned Starkweather today.

Also up for arraignment on first degree murder charges was Caril Fugate, 14, the girl friend of the little "5-9" outlaw.

Relatives who visited the teenagers quoted Caril as saying she didn't know, until she and her bow-legged chum were apprehended in Wyoming last week, that her own mother had been killed in the week of blood-letting that shocked the nation.

Starkweather claimed a scuffle with Caril's mother, Mrs. Marion Bartlett, touched off the series of shootings and stabbings that claimed nine lives in Nebraska and one in Wyoming.

HST Denies Offer Ever Made To Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says he never actually offered to back President Eisenhower for the presidency.

In fact, he said in a televised interview aired yesterday, he had warned Eisenhower against seeking the office.

In his book "Crusade in Europe," Eisenhower wrote that at the time of the Potsdam conference in 1945 Truman, then president, told him: "General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948."

Eisenhower said that at the time he treated the remark as "a very splendid joke" and replied: "Mr. President, I don't know who will be your opponent for the presidency, but it will not be I."

Truman made his comment in a See It Now report televised last evening over the CBS network. The interview, moderatd by Edward R. Murrow, was filmed a year ago in the Florida Keys.

Truman maintained that he told Eisenhower at Potsdam that "it was my opinion that man at the top with a military reputation could only have that reputation smeared if he went into politics."

Asked if what he said he told the general could be taken as almost an offer and warning at the same time, Truman declared: "It could be taken as that."

The former President said a military career does not give a man the varied experience he needs to understand the whole national picture, as a president must.

He cited Presidents Zachary Taylor, Ulysses S. Grant and Eisenhower as examples.

"They're honorable men," he said. "They want to do the right thing, but they've been educated in a manner that's like a horse with blinders on—he only sees one direction right down the road."

On other subjects, Truman said he decided when he was about 15 or 16 "that it was a sissy thing to be a piano player and I quit," and that he really doesn't like the song "Missouri Waltz," his musical trademark.

Controls On Cotton Hurt, Group Told

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the world's largest cotton mills said today the future for the cotton industry looks bleak if government controls continue.

Harmon Whittington, president of Anderson, Clayton & Co., spoke at a meeting sponsored by the American Cotton Congress and the American Society for Testing Materials.

Whittington said cotton is losing its domestic export market and that business is booming for foreign cotton producers who are not subject to government intervention.

The present government program helps the inefficient cotton farmer, Whittington said.

The government program is not in the best interests of the entire cotton industry, he charged, because the U.S. program is based on an earlier period when the cotton yield per acre was smaller.

Cotton farmers today, he said, have grownaccustomed to getting an artificial price set by the government rather than the actual value of their product.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth and movie producer James Hill will honeymoon in Europe when the bride finishes work on a picture. They were married Sunday in a quiet ceremony in her home.

It was the first marriage for Hill, a partner in Hecht-Hill-Lancaster Productions. For Miss Hayworth it was the fifth marriage. She is 39, Hill 41.

West Germans Still Refuse To Aid In Support Of Troops

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany stood adamant today in her refusal to pay in the future for support of Allied troops in this country.

Bonn officials turned a cold shoulder to an appeal by NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, who flew here to try to mediate the bitter dispute with Britain, the United States and France.

After conferring with Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano, Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss and other German leaders, Spaak tersely told newsmen it had been a frank discussion on "a very difficult theme."

A German official was more explicit. "Nobody changed his position," he said. "We are as far apart as we were before the meeting. It was an unpleasant discussion."

The main bone of contention is Britain's demand for 588 million marks (140 million dollars) to help support British troops in Germany in the next fiscal year.

The Germans contend further payments to the Allies will endanger the buildup of the new West German defense establishment. The Allies claim West Germany should help pay for the foreign troops helping to protect Germany since the Bonn regime has failed to bring its armed forces to anywhere near the strength promised NATO.

West Germany pledged a 500,000-man force to the alliance but so far has less than 150,000 men under arms. Bonn's 1957-58 defense budget totaled nine billion marks ($2,200,000,000) as opposed to 1,420,000,000 pounds ($3,976,000,00) for Britain. And West German government opposition leaders now are busy pushing through Parliament a bill cutting income taxes 45 million dollars a year.

In the fiscal year ending March 31, Bonn is paying 588 million marks (140 million dollars) for the British troops and 278 million marks (66 million dollars) to France.

She has paid the United States 325 million marks (77 million dollars). The Americans have demanded a second installment amounting to the same figure.

Nation's Traffic Toll Dips In 1957

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic death toll in 1957 was 38,500, a 3 per cent drop from 1956, and marked the lowest mileage death rate in history.

"The 1957 record is, of course, definitely encouraging," said the National Safety Council, which announced the figures today. "It reflects an unmistakable improvement in traffic behavior and enforcement."

Deaths on the highways last year compared with 39,628 in 1956, which was one of the highest on record. The 1,100 fewer deaths in 1957 was the second largest reported in any year since the end of World War II and was surpassed only by a decrease of approximately 2,400 deaths in 1954, the council said.

The 1957 mileage death rate (deaths per 100 million vehicle miles) was 5.9, compared with the previous all-time low of 6.3 in 1956 and 1954.

The council said every month of 1957 except August showed a drop or no change in traffic fatalities from the same month in 1956.

"One year does not make an era of safer traffic," the council said. "But 1957 could well be the turning point in the war on traffic accidents. It is significant that the improvement was attained in the face of a 4 per cent rise in motor vehicle travel."

Traffic deaths in December totaled 3,710, a 4 per cent drop from the toll of 3,858 lives "in a month that traditionally brings peak danger on the highway."

The all-time high traffic death toll was 39,969 in 1941.

The council commended governors, mayors and traffic enforcement agencies for the 1957 record, and added: "The drivers and pedestrians deserve a big pat on the back too. They, of course, actually made the improvement possible."

The leading cities for the year in each population size group, ranked according to deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles, included:

100,000-200,000 — Montgomery, Ala., 0.4; Hartford, Conn., 0.7; Lubbock, Tex., 0.8.

In 1794 the Insurance Company of North America was the first general company to sell life insurance on these shores. In their first five years they sold only six policies.

No Course In Poker Playing

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana University wants it known that it is not offering a course in how to play poker.

Chairman Earl Hoff of the Annual Indiana Authors Day observance wrote to a New York book publisher asking for a review copy of "The Education of a Poker Player," written by Herbert O. Yardley. The book is being reviewed along with others by Indiana authors published in 1957.

The publishers sent the book, then followed it with a letter asking whether a decision has been made on its adoption as a textbook and how many courses and students would be affected.

Bill Would Bring In More Carpet Wool

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House may consider this week a bill to let into this country more duty free coarse wool for carpet making.

Rep. Harrison (D-Va), who offered the measure, said the coarse, wiry wools demanded by the carpet industry are not produced in the United States in any significant quantities.

Virginia's carpet industry and other American carpet manufacturers contend the legislation is needed to meet foreign competition.

Under present law, some coarser fibered wools, up to Grade 40, are admitted duty free when bonded for release only to carpet manufacturers. The Harrison bill would extend such duty free treatment to wools of somewhat greater fineness—wools up to Grade 46.

Harrison said American carpet manufacturers are buying all the wool of Grade 40 and coarser that they can get, but there just isn't enough on the world market.

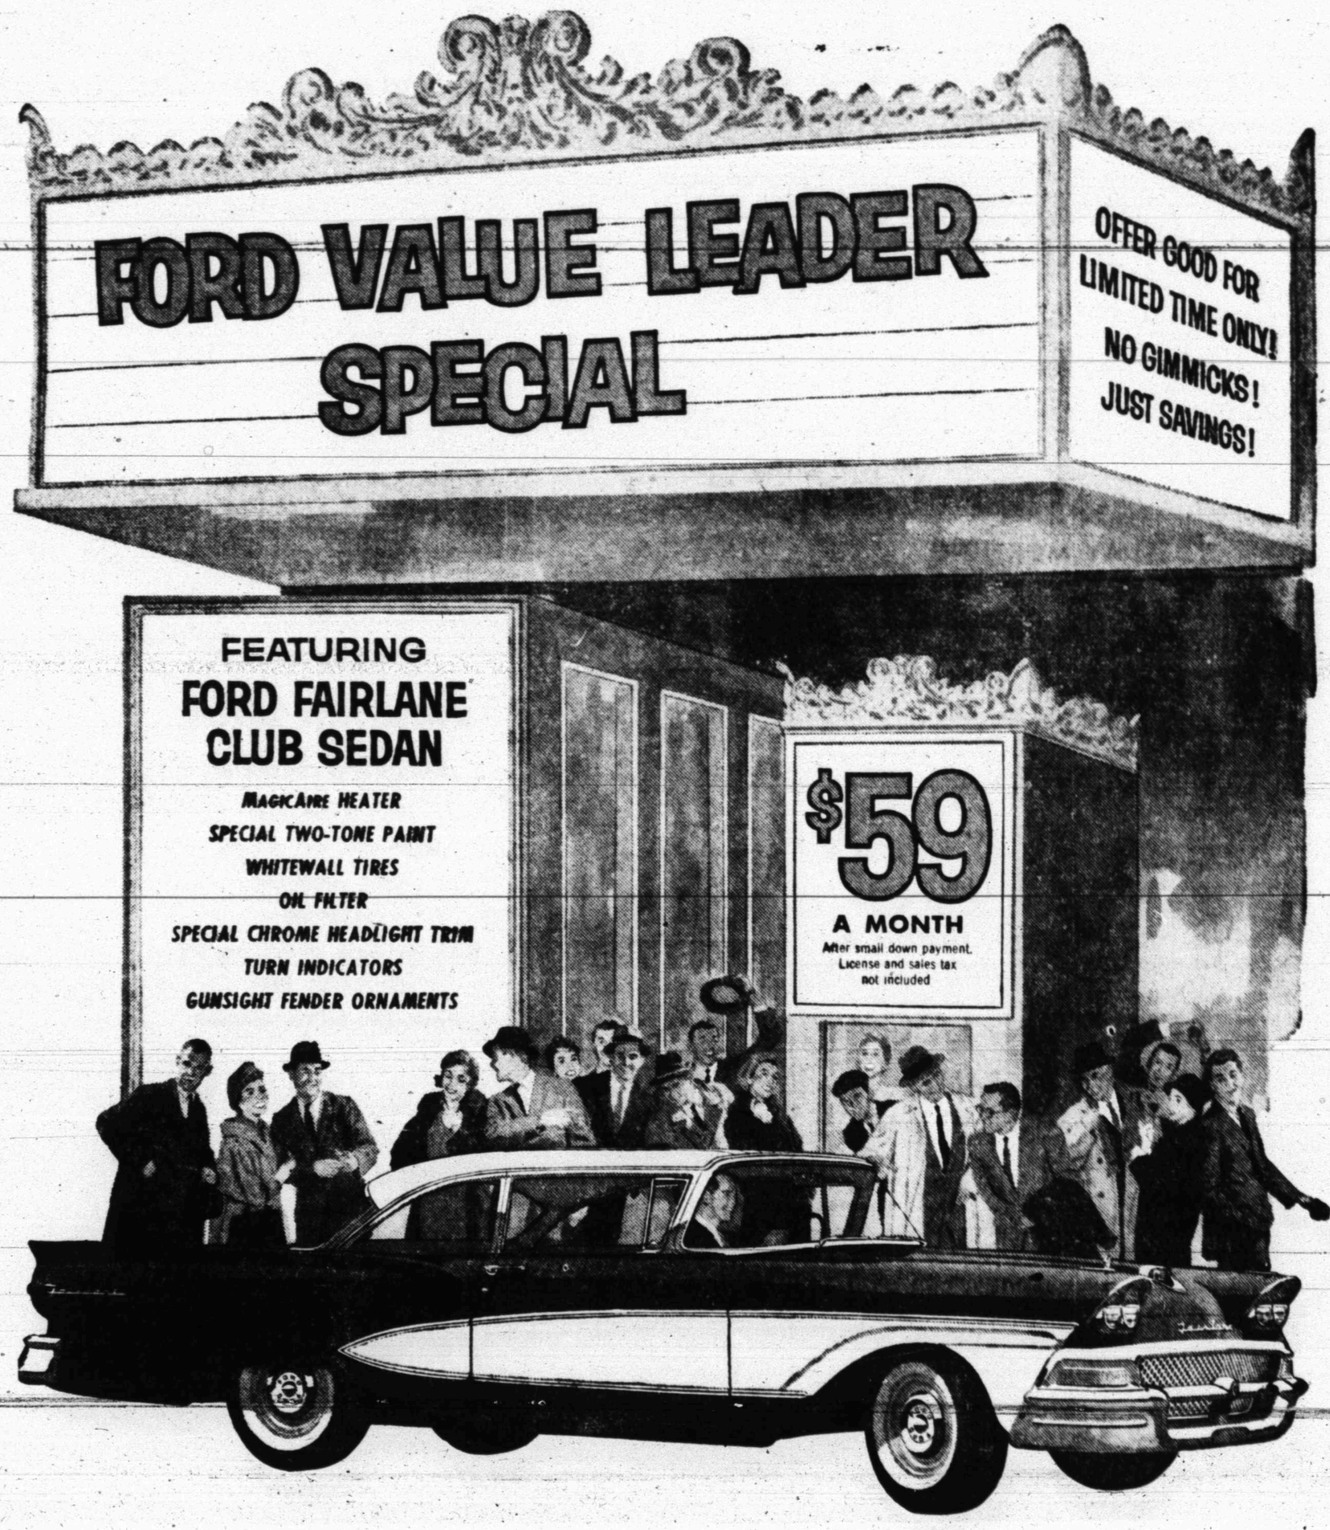

Meanwhile, he said, foreign competitors import wool duty free. With cheap labor and duty-free wool, he said, they are able to export carpets for sale in the United States at prices the domestic industry says it cannot meet.
