Firemen's Emergency Ambulance Fund Will Benefit

Country Music Extravaganza Unfolds Tonight In Tahoka Football Stadium

Firemen's Vehicle Fund Is Well Above $3,000 Mark

Chief J. T. Miller said that contributions to the Fire Department's Emergency Ambulance Fund have reached $3,822.10, approximately half of what the fund needs to purchase a new ambulance and equipment will be needed.

Donors whose names have been published heretofore are as follows: J. M. Gandy, $25.00; Anonymous, $25.00; J. W. Fenton, $25.00; Robert Smith, $50.00; Grogan, $10; Tahoka, $25; Mrs. Patty GUY WITT and his son, Monty, are "on top" of their efforts to make Tahoka a cleaner town.

The history of country music in Texas will be vividly portrayed tonight, July 21st, at 8:45 in the football stadium at Tahoka when South Plains College presents "Texas-Cradle of Giants."

A two-dollar donation will cover the cost of a box supper, to be served at 7:45 on the football field prior to the program, all proceeds of which go to the Emergency Ambulance Fund of the Volunteer Fire Department.

Receipts for donations must be presented at the band concession stand on the west side of the stadium (enter at the north gate) and persons are invited to bring lawn chairs, picnic quilts, etc. to use while eating. Soft drinks and home-made ice cream will be served for twenty-five cents each, at the Lions Club booth, also on the west side of the stadium.

Women of the Chamber of Commerce and volunteer firemen insist that persons should clean up all litter following the meal, before they retire to the stands for the musical entertainment.

The college road show may be able to match the mileage traveled by a professional troupe; since their opening performance in May on the Levelland campus, the cast and crew of the show have logged well over 2,000 miles to perform for concerts from Lake Meredith, near Borger, to Odessa's Wynwood Mall.

The twelve-member cast, cream of the country music crop at South Plains College, perform more than 40 country music hits in their two-hour show--hits by Willie Nelson, Waylon Jennings, Bob Wills, Mac Davis, and many others.

Audiences have been heard to cheer when Eddie Hill, guitarist and vocalist, plunges into his rendition of Whiskey River or when Carl Sims, guitarist and vocalist, does the Jennings medley, Good-Hearted Woman, Amanda, and Lukenbach.

A professional musician in his own right, John Hartin, director of the country music program at the college, sings Ernest Tubb's The Soldier's Last Letter.

Buddy Faulks doubles on saxophone and harmonica for numbers like Hello, Walls, and Keith Brashear, Texas Tech fiddler, is featured in Arkansas Traveler. Vocalists Kristy Brock and Carrie Vaughn take the spotlight, respectively, for Funny How Time Slips Away and Wayward Wind. Danny Crunk, guitarist, performs Roger Miller's 1960 hit, King of the Road, and Baxter Vaughan, on pedal steel guitar, rouses audiences with Steel Guitar Rag, He'll Have To Go, and the number with which the show is closed, The Proudest Fiddle in the World, honoring the late Bob Wills.

The Spectator...

By Mary Baechen

Eight years ago yesterday, July 20, 1969, man "conquered" outer space and set foot on the moon.

Four hundred eighty-four years, nine months, and six days ago yesterday, the New World was discovered.

At the past eight years, when the subject has been brought to mind, I have had to resort to the encyclopedia for the exact year, month, and day of moon landing. Neil Armstrong was the man, and it would take more research to know the name of the space ship, etc. I can recite readily the name of Christopher Columbus, and his three ships were the Nina, the Pinta, and the Santa Maria. I even know that he borrowed the money from King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain to finance his voyage. An educated guess tells from whence Columbus came for the moon trip.

It is that to ask the question--was the discovery of America more important than setting foot on the moon? Why do I remember the details of something that happened nearly 500 years ago and not something that happened eight short years ago?

On June 4 (I'm back to 1977 now), a few hearty folks gave a day and lots of sweat, (proper folks call it) to a cleanup of city streets, the city park, and the cemetery.

Certainly no one expected the weeds to stay forever, but it was a start and, hopefully, an incentive to others to make it a perpetual thing.

Right now, the cemetery is a blight and the town streets, in places, have the appearance of a dump ground.

Every writer feels compelled to express his fears and cures for the world's ailments.

My philosophy is that the greatest malady plaguing us is the failure to realize that a clean town is a personal responsibility. We do a lot of talking about what the city does or does not do, but what the guy down the block does, but when it comes to what "self" needs to do, we're miserably quiet and inactive.

Tahoka has some eyesores and they will stay there until we're cured of the disease "let somebody else do it."

County Schools Get 'New' Money; Teachers Get A Raise; Students Get Fewer Instruction Days As Result Of Special Legislative Session

School boards and superintendents throughout the state waited anxiously last week to hear the results of Governor Briscoe's special session of the legislature, called for July 11, primarily to adopt a plan for financing public education in the state.

A bill was passed and, bearing in mind that the state education agency will "trim it up", Lynn County's share of new funding for education is as follows:

Tahoka will get approximately $98,000; O'Donnell, $56,000; Wilson, $44,000; and New Home, $24,400.

Beginning teachers, with a bachelor's degree, will receive a $460 per year increase in salary, making their state base pay $8,460. A local district can use tax money to increase the amount, if it so desires.

A teacher with one year's experience will be paid $8,740 by the state, and a teacher with seventeen years' experience, pay grade eleven and a bachelor's degree, will be earning $13,250, with the new raise.

students and ten days of inservice for teachers, in comparison to 180 days of instruction previously. Teachers will have eight inservice days beginning in 1978.

Dale Read, superintendent at O'Donnell, says his school will begin on August 29 for students and the 22nd for teachers. Jim Coulston, at Tahoka, told The News Tuesday of this week that Tahoka would likely be on the same schedule; however, a definite announcement would be made later.

New Home and Wilson superintendents could not be reached for comment.

Music

Randy Henderson is drummer, and dancers Toni Dixon and Scott Yarbrough perform a hoedown.

Buddy Moore, dean of men at South Plains, narrates a script researched and written by Helen Roberts, assistant professor of speech and drama at the college. Mrs. Roberts interviewed dozens of country musicians and pored through what books and magazines she could find on the subject to get material for her "Cradle of Giants" script. It tells, through story as well as song, a capsule history of country music in Texas, from the early cowboy herding songs like Home on the Range to Blue Eyes Cryin' in the Rain, typical of the current hits now revolutionizing country music.

Show technicians are Monte Roberts and Chuck Evans.

Mobile Stage Used
A mobile stage called the Shomobile has replaced a U-Haul truck originally used to haul the show equipment and in addition to hauling musical sound and lighting equipment and screens for a slide presentation, also serves as an extended stage for each performance. Slides of both SPC performers and the legendary Texans they portray are flashed on screens throughout the show. With its ability to serve a variety of purposes, the Shomobile eliminates much of the tedium involved in setting up the show.

The mobile stage has carried the show to the Wayland Bowl in Plainview, to city parks in Denver City and Post, the town square in Seminole, the football stadium in Hereford, the Littlefield High School tennis courts, and to its latest engagement, July 13, at Slaton.
The road still stretches ahead for the show--July 22 at Ralls, July 25 at Bovina, July 26 at Amarillo, July 28 at Lovington, and the wind-up performance on July 30 on the SPC campus.
"Texas Gold," a band formed from the Giants cast, serves as the warm-up band before each performance and also has performed at dances in Pep and Henrietta.

Farmers Co-op Wins Game With Rim Rock

Chamber Members Meet For Breakfast

Twenty-five members of Tahoka Chamber of Commerce attended a 7 o'clock breakfast meeting on Tuesday of this week and saw slides of unsightly lots in downtown Tahoka, the slides having been taken by Gerald Moore, Chamber president, about ten days after a city-wide effort at cleaning up weedy and trash-infested lots.

Those present also heard reports from Winston Wharton, Mayor Mel Leslie, and Jim Solomon regarding a recent critique of urban problems given by Tech Professor Dudley Thompson after his architectural engineering students' semester-long project in Tahoka, during the past spring semester.

Chamber directors are agreed that work and planning sessions are necessary, with the professor, in order to zero in on some of the more pressing needs, number one of which is an effort to impress upon individuals the need to keep property free of weeds and litter.

T-Bar Ranch's name was drawn for the cash award and because a representative was not present to claim the money, the drawing at the August 16th breakfast will be thirty dollars.

Adults seem to be resisting the child-resistant medicine containers with their assortment of push-twist-pull-up-down-left-right instructions.

One of the negative results of the hard-to-open containers is many patients accidentally spill their medication while struggling with the tops, leading to less dosage taken than prescribed. Many adults handle the containers in ways which reduce its child resistance. Others leave the lids off the bottles allowing the medication to evaporate or dry up, plus being dangerously accessible to tots. Many solve their frustrations by simply transferring their medicine to other, easier-to-open containers.

Since it has been proven the child-resistant containers do reduce the incidence of accidental poisoning, it is to the advantage of all of us to learn how to easily and properly handle the closures. When your prescription is filled, just ask and we will be glad to instruct you.

MRS. MARK TEKELL
...nee Charlie Clark

Clark, Tekell Say Vows In First Baptist Church

Miss Charlie Dell Clark became the bride of Mark Wayne Tekell in a 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony on Saturday, July 16, in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka with Reverend Jim Turner officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Clark of Odessa, formerly of Tahoka, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tekell of Tahoka.

At the church, the crest of the bride's altar was centered with an arch of cathedral-length tapers entwined with fresh lemon leaf and smilax greenery. At the apex of the arch was a fresh arrangement of gladiolus, snapdragons, daisy poms, carnations, alstroemeria, and roses, in hues of pink and burgundy. A pair of nine-branch candelabra with cathedral tapers and entwined with the lemon leaf and smilax foliage flanked the altar.

White pedestals supported four gold-leafed urns containing daisy poms, gladiolus, snapdragons, carnations, alstroemeria and roses, in hues of pink and burgundy.

The bridal aisle was marked with pink satin bows and tufts of gypsophylla and smilax greenery.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess silhouette of silk sheer knit crepe and Venice lace. The floral lace appliques traced the V-neckline, the cuffs of the full bishop sleeves, and outlined the deep oval yoke. Bridal pearls traced the lace design of the neckline and scallops along the edge of the yoke. Lace appliques marked the waist of the side panels and were sprinkled on the sleeves. The contoured princess-line panels fell into a bouffant fullness sweeping to the back in a graceful chapel-length train. The deep scalloped lace traced the entire hemline and train. Her lace-edged three-tiered chapel-length veil of French illusion was gathered to a matching lace and pearl Camelot.

Her bouquet was a cascading free style with white agapanthus, stephanotis, sweetheart roses, pink carnations, and burgundy roses with tufts of fresh morning gypsophylla. A removable corsage of pink carnations and burgundy roses was used as her going-away corsage.

Mrs. Clifford McMillian of Odessa, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Karen Meeks, LouAnn McAuley, both of Tahoka, and Melanie Tekell, the groom's sister, also of Tahoka. Bridal attendants carried cascading bouquets of feathered pink carnations, burgundy roses, gypsophylla, and leather leaf.

Lane Tekell was his brother's best man and groomsmen were Tony Botkin, Reggie House, and Denny Johnston.

Candi McMillian and Lana Tekell were flower girls and Jason Grogan, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer.

Clifford McMillian of Odessa, Randy Clark of Monahans, both cousins of the bride, Math Bartley, and Trent Leverett, both of Tahoka, seated guests.

Pete Hegi President

The First National Bank of Tahoka has come a long way. And Pete Hegi has had no small part in this progress.
Because he started with us in 1929
and he's still here. Forty-seven years later. He's helped us grow from $774,- 000 to over $30,000,000. That takes some doing. And, staying open during the Depression takes some doing too.
But we did. That's what people remember most about us. Security.
And confidence in what we do daily,
is something Pete Hegi has seen to.
Because he's helped us come a long way. So that now, we're ready to go a lot further.

One Accident Reported On Rural Roads

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated one accident on rural highways in Lynn County during the month of June, according to Sergeant H. E. Pirtle, high patrol supervisor of this area.

The one crash resulted in no persons killed and one person injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1977 shows a total of 26 accidents resulting in no persons killed and 13 persons injured.

The Board of Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. July 13 adopted a $207,500 budget for organization's 1977-78 fiscal year.

In other action the Board elected one new member to Executive Committee and re-elected five others, voted to participate in the making and publication of monthly estimates during the 1977 growing season, and agreed to sponsor a textile mill tour early this fall.

The Board also resolved to express its "unanimous regret" at the announced retirement of Congressman George Mahon at the of the current term "and to convey its great appreciation for innumerable times he has befriended the High Plains cotton industry and made possible its continued growth and prosperity."

The budget covers the cost of such items as agricultural research, advertising and promotion, fiber research services, market development and legislative activities aimed at providing benefits to approximately 20,000 High Plains cotton producers. The 1976-77 budget came to $196,500. Board members were told that prudent use of funds during the year had saved about $20,000 of that amount.

PCG has one elected member on its Executive Committee each of six districts. The new member, Jimmie Holder, Lubbock, was elected to represent Lubbock, Crosby and Deaf Smith Counties, District 4. He replaces Gary Ivey of Ralls who was elected PCG Secretary-Treasurer last April.

Re-elected from District 1 (Deaf Smith, Farmer, Garza and Swisher and Briscoe Counties) was W.L. Edelman of Fritch. Returned to the committee from District 2 (Bailey, Cochran, Hockley) was Lloyd Miller of Morton. District 3 (Lamb, Floyd and Motley) will continue to have Paul Benner of Littlefield on the committee.

District 5 (Yoakum, Terry, Lynn and Garza) will again be represented by Truett Jones of Brownfield, and Marion Bowers of Seymour. District 6 (Gaines, Borden, Martin, Howard and Midland).

Serving on the Executive Committee with these representatives will be current PCG officers and past presidents.

Since the 1970 crop PCG has had a four-man professional committee which worked with a four-man merchant committee of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange to compile and publish crop projections from July through December each year. The PCG Board on a split vote decided not to continue in this the remainder of the current year. Lubbock Cotton Exchange officials have not yet made known whether that organization alone will continue the estimates.

Details of the planned textile tour have not been worked out but tentative plans call for a three-day trip to the Greenville area of North Carolina the latter part of September.

Texas Food and Fiber

by Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner
Texas Department of Agriculture

Texas, No. 1! Let me hasten to point out that I am not predicting the Fall football rankings. I am stating what I believe will be the national ranking of the State's No. 1 industry -- agriculture -- if we accept our challenge and take advantage of our opportunities.

Our goal -- the challenge -- is to improve Texas agriculture's income and profit, to make Texas No. 1 in the nation. We now are third in farm income, outranked only by California and Iowa.

Texas farmers and ranchers have made substantial gains in income during the past eight or 10 years. But their profits continue to be tragically low when you consider the investments required, the risks taken and the crucial importance of agriculture to the state and to the nation.

What good is it to be first in production and income if we are not first in profit? Our farmers and ranchers must have a reasonable profit if they are to continue to help produce the food and fiber necessary to feed and clothe the world's growing population. After all, a broke farmer benefits no one.

It is important that a long-range agricultural policy be established with clear-cut goals if there is to be any profitability for farmers. There must be a national food policy that recognizes the importance of agriculture and its unique characteristics. The farmer must have a better return than the 3 percent average on his investment if he is to stay in business.

There must be less regulation of agriculture -- the alphabet agencies -- Washington, D.C. -- the OSHA, CEQ, USCE, etc. -- mention just a few -- farmers and ranchers have a reasonable profit in their work. The frustration and the drop in common sense permeates the Washington bureaucracy must cease.

Furthermore, programs must have adequate water, credit and market. We are to attain our No. 1 and maintain an enviable position.

Positive steps are taken in Texas to be No. 1 in agricultural production and profit. Governor Brown is forming a blue-ribbon committee of agricultural leaders, educators, researchers, representatives of farm organizations, other interested citizens to achieve this vital goal.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has been appointed by the Governor to chair the committee as chairman of the committee I can tell you every avenue will be explored, every stone turned and every hill climbed to seek the common goal.

We have met with agricultural groups in state to seek a united front for agriculture. These organizations, with programs and philosophies have pledged to join together to improve agricultural profits.

To make Texas No. 1 in agricultural income profit is not a job alone. It is a team effort. It is one which all Texans can do. And by so doing, today and Texans tomorrow will benefit.
