Up-To The-Minute Frock Has Width; Coats Slim

How to Achieve Beauty

THE WOOD CHOPPER
In today's graphic exercise we are stepping right out the back door. If you've ever seen the fine, upright carriage, the easy, graceful walk of the Canadian lumberman, you can quite understand the value of the exercise that may be obtained at the wood pile. When the wood chopping exercise is performed in free and easy movements, it calls into play almost every vital muscle in virtually every part of your body. In the first position, your hands are brought together slightly to one side in the front of your body. Next, you take a full, wide swing upward until both hands are raised over the right shoulder. Now, in a long swing downward, bending freely from the waist bring your arms down in a forceful motion. Use plenty of effort in that downward swing. A variation of this exercise is the golfer's swing. Balance an imaginary club directly in front of you, feet well apart. Now raise your hands as though holding your club so that the club is raised pretty well above the right shoulder. (I know it isn't good golf, but it is good exercise.) Now, in an easy, loose-jointed movement, bring your arms or your "club" down in full, sweeping movement, finishing the gesture well up toward the left side. If you know golf, you won't take kindly to this exercise, for the shades of the martyred golfers would rise to haunt you. If you don't, however, and you cultivate that easy, supply swing from side to side, you will find yourself gradually loosening up tensed muscles in your waist, back and upper arms. Also, you can cultivate a pretty fair sense of balance through regular and constant repetitions. While we're on the subject of golf, I might add that even though good exercises may not be good golf; nevertheless, good golf is good exercise, so why don't you plan to take a few lessons in playing now, so that when the spring comes you can join the joyous crew of golfers and play your nine holes with the best of us. It's marvelous exercise, and lots of fun. And what is even more important, it will keep you out in the open, renewing your youth and enthusiasm every time you make a hole in anything less than 75 strokes!

ON TIPPING

This tipping question breaks out afresh. Many of us have time and again expressed a preference for the automatic adding of the tip to the bill, thereby canceling any bother and uncertainty as to just what is expected of us. But French law is protesting this very thing. Waiters and porters and elevator operators and maids claim that in many cases they see no glimmer of their share of this ten per cent. They point to

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Being the wife of even so famous a man as a "millionaire hobo" seems not to have been all sunshine and roses, according to Mrs. James Eads How who was just granted a divorce from her famous hobo husband. She claimed that he often brought "hobo" home to dinner, that on their wedding trip he embarrassed her by eating bread crusts which he took from a bandanna in the diner, and other sins were enumerated. It would seem that having a congenial flair for hoboes is as necessary when one marries a man with such a flare as sharing similar tastes is rather necessary in other marriages in which the flare is not so eccentric. The moral seems to be that if one marries a "millionaire hobo" one must accept such things.

Boundary Change Moves 1,000 Oklahomans Into Texas

By NEA Service
HIGGINS, Tex., Jan. 9.—Because a corps of surveyors have finally located the 100th meridian, that forms the boundary line separating the Texas Panhandle from Oklahoma, a thousand homesteaders who thought they owned farms have discovered that they don't own anything.

These people settled in what they thought was Oklahoma. They improved their land with houses, had their land titles checked and supposed that everything was all fixed. Now, however, they have been notified that their titles to their lands aren't worth the paper they're written on. Some have moved away, abandoning their homes entirely; others are going to stay and fight.

State Boundary Moves
The Oklahoma-Texas boundary line, which runs north and south along the eastern side of Texas, famous "Panhandle," has moved east. Not very far—you can't see the difference on an ordinary map. At the southern end of the strip the boundary moved east only about half a mile; at the northern end the movement was only about a quarter of a mile. But the strip is 132 miles long, and contains more than 40,000 acres of land—room enough for lots of trouble.

Oklahoma and Texas have had many squabbles over their boundaries, and a brief outline of these difficulties is necessary to an understanding of the present situation, which will deprive a thousand settlers of their homes unless Congress and the Texas legislature take remedial action.

The first rumour came several decades ago. For many years the north fork of the Red river had been accepted as the Texas-Oklahoma boundary. Between the north fork and the river itself was Greer county—always considered a part of Texas. Residents of that county considered themselves residents of Texas. They had Texas titles to their land, voted in Texas elections and paid taxes to the Texas treasury.

Had to Buy Land Again
But in 1894 the question got into the courts, and after long litigation the courts ruled that Greer county was a part of Oklahoma. The people who lived in it found their land titles worthless, and efforts to get remedial action from Congress and the state legislature failed. Those who wanted to keep their homes had to buy them all over again. Some of them did so, and some of them gave up in disgust and went away.

In 1919 a second fight arose. Rich oil discoveries were made in Wichita county, and again the Red river, which court decisions in the former case had fixed as the official boundary, came into prominence. The oil fields extended into the bed of that rather dusty stream, and since it is living there, the boundary line ran through the center of the river. Texas acquired title to river-bed lands in the state of Texas. But Oklahoma contended that the boundary line was really the south bank of the river. The courts sustained this view, and many Texans who had bought rich oil lands found that their titles were invalid, since the lands were really in Oklahoma.

Now this third case has arisen. The statutes fix Panhandle boundary as the 100th meridian of longitude. For a long time it has been known that this had been surveyed rather sketchily. Markers erected by the original surveyors, in 1890, could not be found, and a subsequent survey carried the line farther west than it should have been. So Texas, when the Red river case went against it, brought suit in the supreme court of the United States for a re-determination of the 100th meridian.

The court ordered a new survey made, and for months the work in progress. It was carried on under difficulties. It was necessary to place concrete markers along each mile of the line, and the lines had to run straight over creeks, swamps, mountains and the wide Panhandle plains.

Homesteaders along the way showed many questions on the surveyors, asking them what the effect of the changed boundary would be, and the surveyors told them that the only difference would be that they would have to pay taxes to Texas instead of Oklahoma hereafter. But new legislation would be needed to make it as simple as that—and Texas legislators, remembering that Oklahoma failed to compensate the dispossessed settlers in the other two cases, may not be disposed to meet it.

Settlers Are Organizing
The leader in the fight to relieve the new residents whose Texas acquired so suddenly was C. E. Gray, of Higgins, a 71-year-old pioneer who settled here 42 years ago and began buying up the new land. Gray holds a considerable acreage, much of which lies in the territory which, after being part of Oklahoma, has now become part of Texas, and he is organizing the other settlers to plead for relief.

Texas, incidentally, doesn't know just what to do with the new land. The strip runs along the ends of half a dozen Texas counties, but existing laws will not allow it to be split up and added to these counties in pieces. It may be necessary to make a whole new county out of it—and if this is done, Texas will have the oddest county in the United States—132 miles long and half a mile wide!

Texas and other publicity work has been done, the report showed. Plans are already under way for the entertainment of the South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is being held at Lubbock. Taylor White was elected president for the new year. Other officers and directors elected are: Emory Nance, vice president; W. R. Neyland, D. W. Gagnon, J. E. Applewhite, C. Connolly, J. C. Wells, W. L. Burleson, Truett Smith, G. H. Nelson, E. E. King, O. C. Roberts, E. I. Hill and M. L. H. Baze, directors.

Above is one of the homesteads in Oklahoma—no, in Texas—that has been abandoned by its owner since he found that his title was invalid. The map shows how the boundary line has been shifted, the arrows indicating the narrow strip that was moved from Oklahoma to Texas. At the right is C. E. Gray, leading the fight for the settlers, and one of the markers on the new state line.

Progress Of Lynn County Celebrated In Annual Banquet

Dr. Horn Addresses Group Of Tahoka On "How Good Is Your Town?"; Taylor White Is President

TAHOKA, Jan. 9.—(Special)—Celebrating an unprecedented era in the development of the section and planning for greater work during the year 1929, 100 or more people gathered around the banquet table here Tuesday night, in the annual Tahoka Chamber of Commerce banquet which was held in the Central ward school. Attendance was hampered somewhat by the rainy weather, Lubbock having the only out-of-town people present.

Featuring the meeting's program was the address of Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, on "How Good Is Your Town?"

Taylor White, vocational agricultural teacher in the Tahoka schools, was elected as president of the organization for the year.

In introducing Dr. Horn, M. L. H. Baze, superintendent of the Tahoka public schools referred to the Tech as a typically West Texas institution—young, growing, energetic and progressive. He praised the homes of the schools of the college and Dr. Horn for the work that is being done at the Tech.

In offering the ten questions to determine "how good is your town?" Dr. Horn stated that these questions are the questions he would ask should he be moving to Tahoka or to any other town.

The questions follow:
Can I make a living there?
Can I and my family be healthy there?
Can my family be comfortable there?
Can we have the conveniences of life there?
What about the public schools?
What about the esthetic side of life?
What about our churches?
What about its accessibility? Can you get to and from it easily?
If your town going up hill or down hill?
What is the type of people who live there?
County is Healthy
"When I read of the thousands of cases of influenza in other cities and read of only a few cities on the South Plains section, I am led to believe that we have a healthy country," Dr. Horn said.

"I have lived in three or four sections of Texas and I say to you that I do not think there is a section in Texas where people can live more comfortable than out here. You have no asset to your town that is greater than your public school system," Dr. Horn declared.

In commenting on the eighth question, the accessibility of the city, Dr. Horn pointed to the fact that railroads, connections, bus connections, highway connections and others were to be considered. Speaking of the highway connections, Dr. Horn said:
"I am certain that a good system of roads is a great asset. Good roads attract good people."

Weathers is Toastmaster
R. P. Weathers, Tahoka banker, was toastmaster at the banquet. M. L. H. Baze led the gathering in a series of songs. Mrs. Jack Jackson played a piano solo. A quartet composed of M. L. H. Baze, Nat Williams, G. H. Nelson and Dr. C. E. Towns, sang several selections. Songs were rendered by E. I. Hill, editor of the Tahoka News, Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, and G. H. Nelson, Lynn county attorney.

Taylor White, secretary of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce made a report on activities of the organization during 1928 that included agricultural development, highway improvement, labor and publicity work.

Delegates were sent to all highway meetings and efforts to increase the traffic over highways leading in and out of Tahoka were made.

The Chamber of Commerce assisted Farmers in securing cotton pickers and praised the work of the U. S. employment service, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and other agencies that co-operated to this end.

Many Inquiries Asked
Hundreds of inquiries have been answered in 1928 from people wanting to move to Tahoka and Lynn county. Tahoka's band and delegation made a big showing at the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Fort Worth. The 1929 annual district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was secured for Tahoka during 1928 and will be held here in April. The Chamber of Commerce has co-operated with the South Plains, Inc., at Lubbock in advertising the South Plains of

Tex Rickard Laid To Rest As 10,000 Pay Last Tribute

Ninety Golfers Scale Qualifying Barrier In Los Angeles Open Tourney

Simple Services Mark Finis to A Spectacular Life

Men From All Walks of Life Throng Madison Square Garden to Honor Rickard

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Tex Rickard was buried today after funeral services in a draped Madison Square Garden, which he leaves behind as a monument to his vision. After brief and simple services, in marked contrast to the spectacular things in which the sports promoter dealt in life, his body was interred in a cemetery where a wife and child rest.

A crowd of 10,000 sat silently in seats whose occupants in other days have cheered and jeered referees and athletes.

The hush was profound as an organ played, a quartet sang and two clergymen and two laymen paid tribute to Rickard, "a man without meanness in his heart."

All Sports Represented
Every sport was represented and many who had no connection joined. The man for whom the last rites were being said had aided scores of charities and representatives of these bodies were there. Available seats in the Garden were filled when the doors were closed at 1:30 p. m. after thousands had passed in double lines past the tier.

Many, after passing the palm-covered and flower-banked aisle, went to the lower floor, to seats on the mezzanine and awaited the funeral hour—2 o'clock.

In black and purple mourning, the Garden awaited the final passage of its leader. There was no exchange of whispers as an organ boomed forth "Lead Kindly Light."

Boxers Mourn Loss
One thousand seats were set aside on the main floor for "friends." This space was dotted with boxers—friends indeed of the man they honored. From obscure fighters to men who reached fame that sat solemnly, one here with a discolored eye and another with a cut lip. All were thinking, perhaps, as a promoter who came 1,000 miles to attend the funeral said: "Those boys have lost their best friend."

As the organ continued a requiem, honorary pall bearers, two in all, entered. This group included Madison Square Garden Incorporated directors, men whom loom in business, well known figures in boxing, hockey, the stage, and sports writers.

Lord's Prayer Read
The Rev. George Cates Moor, pastor of Madison Avenue Baptist church, started the service.

"The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want," he read from the twenty-third Psalm, and:

"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Turning to the fourteenth chapter of St. John, he read:

"Let not your hearts be troubled, ye believe in God, believe also in Me. In My Father's house are many mansions."

Dr. Moor then recited "Thanatopsis," with its "as one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

A prayer followed in which the minister, a friend of Rickard's asked "comfort for his best of friends until the day shall break and the shadows clear away."

Religion Close to Sports
A quartet sang "Nearer My God to Thee," and the Rev. Dr. Grantston Brenton, of the Cathedral of St. John, was introduced. Dr. Brenton was representing Bishop Wil-

Coach S. D. Burton's Canyon Buffaloes are being heralded to the top of the greatest basketball combinations in the state this season, and from all indications the nice things that have been said about the Thundering Herd are just about right. The Buffs have already proven their superiority over Southwestern Conference basketball by trouncing the Baylor Bears on two successive nights, and undoubtedly could do the same with any other member of the major conference with the possible exception of Arkansas. And we believe the Teachers could give the Razorbacks a whole of a good game.

Tech will meet the Canyon quintet at the Tech gym in the first game between the two schools on February 6 and will return the Buff's visit on Feb. 20 and 21 when the Matadors invade Canyon. Last season Coach Payne's basketballers managed to win one out of three contests with the stampeding Buffaloes who in turn carried off high honors in the T. I. A. A. against a strong field of competition. A repetition of this performance will be just about all the locals can expect this season. The 1929 Buffalo five is one of the strongest ever to represent the Normal.

The news of the defeat of the Canyon five by the East Texas Teachers at Commerce came as a distinct surprise to those who had predicted an undefeated season for the Burton crew. Maybe the Bison superiority over Texas members of the Southwest Conference by their recent sweeping victories in their recent four-game series with S. M. U. and T. C. U. The best the Forkers could do in their last game was to hold T. C. U. was a mere 66 to 26 victory. In the first encounter the Ozark basketballers weren't quite so merciless with the Frogs, winning 74 to 24. The four wins registered by the out-of-state team were against the supposedly strongest teams in Texas. The Hemed Frogs will meet the Ponies in Fort Worth Saturday night.

Invitations to more than 300 colleges and universities have been sent out from Dallas relative to the Southern Methodist University relay carnival which is to be held March 30. Authorities of that school have heralded the event as the greatest track and field event of the Southwest. A special feature race of 3000 meters has been added to the program. Efforts are being made to bring Frank Wyroff, 19-year old Glendale, Calif., high school boy to the relay. He is the lad who twice beat Charley Paddock in the 100 yard dash in the Olympic trials last spring.

Athletes from all sections of the country are expected to take part in this carnival which follows on the heels of the Texas Relays in Austin. Tech cindermen will compete in both of these invitation meets. The meet sponsored by Mustang authorities is to be held for the first time this year. Those in charge expect the event to excel both the Texas and Rice relays in point of intersection interest and competition.

The Lubbock entry in the West Texas Baseball League drew a home game for the opening day of the season. In case this city remains in the loop, Sweetwater will be seen here on that date. Other cities in the league which will be hosts on the opening day are: Abilene, Big Spring and Coleman. Lubbock and Coleman were the only members of the eight-club circuit who were not represented at the meeting of the league officials last week.

Baseball fans in Lubbock will be given an opportunity at an early date to say whether or not this city will be represented again this season in the West Texas League. The baseball in Lubbock was a failure from the financial standpoint last season is no secret. A hustling organization would undoubtedly draw a gate large enough to pay expenses here, but fans were far from pleased with the class of baseball exhibited at Merrill Park in 1928.

If Lubbock baseball interests are sufficiently interested, this city can be assured baseball for next summer, if not the franchise will likely go to another city much smaller than Lubbock. Announcement of the meeting of local fans to determine this question will come within the next few days.

LONGHORNS DOWN SOONERS
AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Texas University basketball five defeated the Southwest Oklahoma Teachers here tonight, 42 to 30.

The Bulldogs outplayed the Steers during the first half and led, 17-13 at the end of the half, a feat no other five has accomplished here since the season started.

Westerners Come From Behind To Down Crosbyton

Lubbock High School Five Overcomes Lead of Court Performers In Crosbyton County Capital

Coming from behind in the final period of a nip and tuck basketball game, the Lubbock High school basketballers staged a scoring spree in the last quarter to down the Crosbyton High school quintet 26 to 20 on the Crosbyton court last night to register the first victory of the season for the Gold and Black five. The locals had previously lost to Ralls and Monroe in practice tilts.

Crosbyton assumed the lead in the early minutes of the tussle and was leading 13 to 12 at the close of the first half. The neighboring basketballers were still leading at the beginning of the final period but a determined Westerner comeback demolished their lead and carried off the contest. Powers, Peel and Tarnery figured in the fourth quarter rally.

Peel with 8 points to his credit and Dowell with 7 were the leading scorers for the Lubbock aggregation while the defensive play of Castiberry and McGeehee was outstanding from the local standpoint.

Monroe High Five Looks Impressive In Practice Tilt

Class B Quintet Forces Tech Cagers to Step Fast To Emerge With 35 to 23 Decision Last Night

A class B basketball aggregation of this district which made its first appearance on a local court last week by downing Lubbock High stepped into higher company last night in the Tech gymnasium and forced the Matadors to hustle to carry off a 35 to 23 decision in a practice encounter.

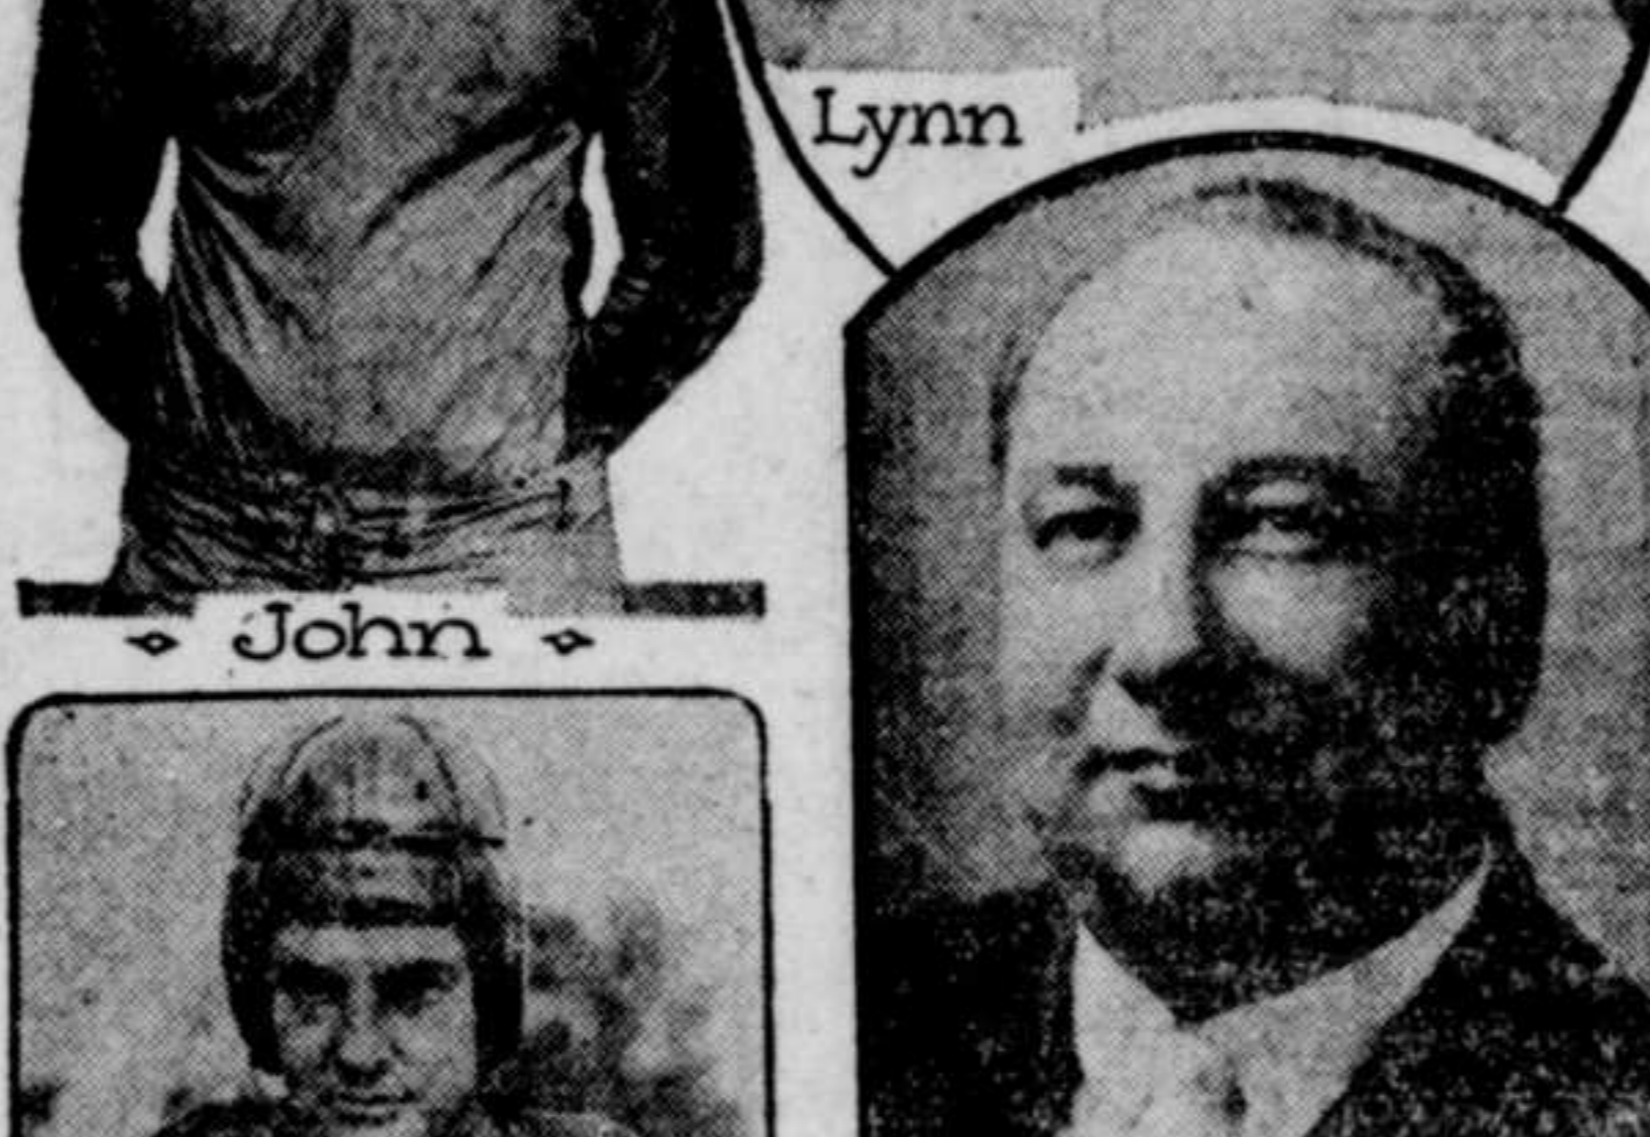

By their recent showing in games played here, the Monroe basketballers appear certain contenders for district honors. Coach Floyd Blankenship's aggregation has won 11 out of 14 games played thus far this season and believes he has a chance to carry off the district title. Comparative scores give the Monroe five a slight edge over Lubbock and Ralls, the erstwhile leaders.

Lettsinger led the country lads in scoring against the college five with ten points. He was given excellent support by Exum whose passing was unusually good for a high school player. Prentiss with his floor work, and Phillips, using follow-up shots to advantage were important cogs in the visitor's machine. Defensive play of Allen, center, who drops back to stationary guard after the tip-off held the college team's scoring down considerably.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Syracuse, Missouri and Baker universities acclaim the football prowess of the three Waldorf brothers.

Their father is Bishop E. L. Waldorf of Kansas City, who was a star pitcher on the Syracuse baseball team before he entered the Methodist ministry. He also played football.

Lynn, 20, the eldest son, now on the coaching staff at the University of Kansas, followed in his father's steps and went to Syracuse, where for two years he was an all-American tackle. He is studying for a master's degree at Kansas, but still is undecided as to his life work.

John, 20, is captain-elect of the 1929 team at the University of Missouri. He played guard, center and end in his sophomore year. In the of the line when a fullback was needed and he made good. He placed on the second all-Big Six eleven selected by The Associated Press. He also plays basketball, and he is studying engineering.

Paul, 21, the only boy in the bishop's family to choose a Methodist school, enrolled at Baker university, Baldwin, Kans., where he recently ended the gridiron part of his collegiate career. Having learned Spanish fluently, he plans to take up some work in South America after graduation next spring.

Naturally athletic, the Waldorf boys possess stout hearts and strong bodies. They were given the privilege of choosing their colleges without any parental pressure whatever.

Lynn, who played high school football in Cleveland, never was injured severely on the gridiron. During three years of varsity com-

Basketball Title For South Plains Will Be Awarded

More Than Twenty-Five Are Expected to Compete In Tournament to Be Held At Floydada Feb. 8-9

(Special To The Avalanche)
FLOYDADA, Jan. 9.—Between twenty-five and thirty-five South Plains basketball teams will meet at Floydada on February 8 and 9 for the annual South Plains basketball tournament. If the invitation being broadcasted to these towns by Coach Troy Jones of Floydada are accepted, the invitations to take part in the contest for the championship of the Plains were mailed out this week by the coach and already several neighboring towns have accepted.

Both Class A and B teams are being asked to the meet and the strongest teams in this section of the state will likely take part in the event. In previous years this contest has produced either a first or second team in the district contest held each year at Lubbock.

To Award Trophy
To further create interest in the tournament this season, a large trophy will be presented to the winning team by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. The trophy will be a beautiful silver design and will be given to the school producing the winning team. This trophy will be in addition to gold basketballs presented to the individuals of the winning team. Winners of second place will receive silver basketballs.

One scribe attributes Georgia Tech's victory over California to the superiority of corn pone and biscuits to mush and cream (what California had) as breakfast food. Yes, Georgia Tech eight.

Dietitian O'Goofy plans a big check-up on the superiority of corn pone and biscuits to bread if any, before the Sharkey-Stribling thing.

It might be a good idea for young athletes, especially runners, to make a study of sherry as used by Ray Barbuti at Amsterdam this summer before they start training.

Our Pacific coast operative wires that all teams east of the Rockies want to play California in 1929. We wonder why.

New York university is one of them. Apparently they didn't get enough of Pacific coast football from Oregon State.

O'Goofy, though he hates to bring it up, knows how Riggle's feels. He remembers several crap games where he went the wrong way.

Bob Zuppke, says girls will play football when they want to have broken noses, dislocated shoulders, and so forth. That might be a thought for the beauty parlors to promote.

Athletic authorities at Nebraska say that the athletic treasury was benefited $158,208 by receipts from the 1928 football season.

Dan Williams Is Leader of 36-Hole Drive Wednesday

Finals of $10,000 Annual Tournament Scheduled to Start Today; Westerners Follow Easterer

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9.—Ninety amateur and professional golfers, survivors of more than 300 who swarmed over six courses in this section until dark today scaled the 36 hole qualifying barrier of the $10,000 Los Angeles open.

Few outstanding candidates failed to pass this test. Those successful will join Friday morning, with 40 players exempt from qualification, at the Riviera Country club course, near Santa Monica, Cal., in the 72-hole drive of a tournament proper.

At the head of successful players was Dan Williams, professional Shuckamaxon, N. J., who bested par by one stroke in his two tries over the Fox Hills country club course.

One stroke behind the easterner, came two western players, Johnny Rodgers of Denver, Colo., and John Junior of Portland, Ore., both of whom played over the Sunset Fields course for a total of 142.

"Pass me a Lucky-I pass up the sweets."

Johnny Farrell

Johnny Farrell, National Open Golf Champion, 1928

WHEN fattening sweets tempt and you dread extra weight, light a Lucky instead. No discomfort, no trouble—just a common sense method of retaining a slender figure.

The finest tobaccos are skillfully blended to make Lucky Strike. Then, "It's Toasted." This secret process brings out every essence in the tobaccos and produces a flavor which makes Lucky Strike a delightful alternative when you crave fattening sweets—there is no interference with a natural appetite for healthful foods. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

At the same time toasting removes impurities. That's why 20,679 physicians are on record that Lucky Strike is less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why prominent athletes have testified that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition. No wonder that this was discovered long ago by many men, who pride themselves on keeping trim and fit, who love the "pep" that comes with health and vigor.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

Tax On Gas Should Pay For Highways, Terrell Declares

State Commissioner of Agriculture Says Fees Are Too High; Doesn't Believe In State Bond Issue

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—State highways should be financed by a gasoline tax and not by registration fee or bond issues; the prison problem should be solved by concentration of a wide-spread farm system from which escape have been frequent, and homes, farms and business property should be relieved from an inequality of taxes, George B. Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture, said today in outlining his views of needed legislation in Texas.

Terrell lists as the chief problems confronting the First-first legislature those of highways, the state prison system, education, taxation and conservation.

Fees are Too High

"Present vehicle registration fees are too high and should be reduced," he said. "Funds from gasoline tax should go to highways and not be diverted to schools. I do not believe school should suffer but they can be supported by funds from the general revenue and other sources. If one-fourth of these funds continue to go to the school system, it will be necessary to levy a four-cent tax on gasoline, but if all funds are devoted to roads, three cents will be sufficient."

State highways, Terrell believed, should be built and maintained by state and federal funds. He would support a state bond issue sufficient to reimburse counties for funds expended on state highways spent in order to receive state and federal aid, but would oppose a bond issue to build and maintain highways.

"I believe in paying as you go," Terrell stated. "It is a crime against taxpayers to compel them to pay millions of dollars in interest to bond holders when highways can be financed by a gasoline tax without paying interest on bonds for thirty or forty years. The constitution should be amended to permit the counties to levy sufficient road taxes to build and maintain county roads without resorting to bond issues which divert half of the funds to bond holders instead of putting them into bonds."

Political Victors Won't Get Spoils, New Speaker Says

AUSTIN, Jan. 9. (AP)—To the political victor may belong the spoils, but under no circumstances will any punitive measures figure in the appointment of house committees to be announced tomorrow, Speaker W. S. Barron declared today.

Barron's statement was in connection with gossip that few posts would fall to the lot of legislators who opposed him in his fight with W. R. Montgomery of Edinburg for house speakership.

"I asked members yesterday to cast whatever malice they had against me out of their hearts," Barron said, "and I am going to treat representatives who opposed me with fairness."

John F. Wallace of Teague was known to be receiving consideration for chairman of the appropriations committee and Ray Holder of Lancaster, as the possible head of the house education committee. The important group which will hear two house seating contests was likely to be led by Fred Minor of Denton.

Taxpaying Line Is Still In Evidence

Tax payers continue to stand in line at the windows of the county tax collector's office, but not as many as several days ago and the line does not become near so lengthy, it was observed Wednesday. Altogether there have been approximately 5,000 licenses for passenger automobiles issued for this year, with $31 licenses for motor trucks. Several hundred poll taxes have also been issued.

A. J. Clark, county tax collector announced Wednesday that the Slaton office, opened in the city hall at that city last Monday, has been witnessing long lines of citizens clamoring to pay their taxes. These are being taken care of with as much rapidity as possible, E. C. Priest being located at Slaton as deputy tax collector in charge of the office. The sub-station will be maintained at Slaton for all of January.

Beginners' Work Offered In City

M. H. Duncan, superintendent of the Lubbock schools, announced Wednesday that opportunity will be given children of this city who have never been to school before, next Monday morning, January 14, when classes for these beginners will be organized in the K. Carter, the George M. Hunt, and the Dupre schools. If there is sufficient demand for it, classes will also be organized in the Sanders school.

"Pupils who will be seven years of age on or before February 1," said Mr. Duncan, "may enter school next Monday in the district in which they reside. These beginning pupils will be accepted only for the first two weeks of the term, or until January 25. No beginners will be accepted after January 25."

In this column Wednesday attention was called to the fact that the College through the Department of Extension is offering courses of college ranking on evenings and Saturdays, which may be taken for credit of purely for their intrinsic worth by those who do not find it possible to enroll for the daily schedule of courses.

A description was given of the course in Biology (Hereditry) which will be given in room 318, Administration Building each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock; of the course in Landscape Architecture and Appreciation to be given in room 109, Agricultural building each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock; of the course in Business English which will be given in room 209 Administration building each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock and of the course in Geology which will be given each Friday evening at 6 o'clock in room 318 of the Administration building. The fee for each course is $10, and if a laboratory course is included an additional fee is charged.

Each of these classes will meet this week for the first time, with the exception of the class in Geology which was begun in the Fall term and those interested in the Fall term should report to the first class according to J. F. McDonald, who has charge of the Extension department. Description of three other courses follows:

The care of food meal planning, menu making, food in the home, purchasing of and food budgeting are considered. The class will be under the instruction of Miss Dorothy McFarlane, of the Department of Home Economics and will meet in Room 210 Home Economics Building, Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Government 330: Business Law. This course in business or commercial law aims to familiarize the student with the rules concerning legal instruments, contracts, etc., as they relate to the ordinary business transactions. Dr. W. A. Jackson, Head of the Department of Government, will have charge of the class which will meet each Friday evening at 7 o'clock in Room 219, Administration Building.

Economics 334: Business communication. This course deals with business letter writing, office management and practices, and includes laboratory work in secretarial sciences (shorthand and typewriting). Not only does this course include the psychology of the business letter but will be studied. The class will be under the instruction of Prof. H. R. Nissley, of the Department of Economics and Business Administration, and will meet in Room 221, Administration Building, each Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

Upon request further information will be furnished by Mr. J. F. McDonald, Room 309 Administration Building, who may be reached by phone 1280.

MOTION PICTURES ARE SHOWN

Army Basketeers Whip Wholesalers

Hale and Adkinson Lead Scoring for Winners in City League Contest; Brown Is Star for Losers

Curtis Allen and his goal-shooting National Guard five advanced a notch in City Basketball competition last night by overwhelming the Wholesalers 28 to 17 in one of the hardest fought contests seen in the local loop this season. Grabbing the lead in the first period, the Army five displayed superior team-work throughout the game with Adkinson and Hale doing most of the scoring damage.

Trailing by five points at the half, the Wholesalers revamped their lineup at the beginning of the third quarter and came close to knotting the count, but a sensational finish by the Soldiers dispelled all fear in the barracks. Captain Allen played a leading part in the victory for the Army quintet with his brilliant defensive play. Brown and Studeman, forwards with the losers, played consistent basketball throughout the contest.

Hale led in scoring with 11 points and his team-mate, Adkinson came next with 10.

Illness among the ranks of the Myrick Building girls prevented their game with the Business College sextette.

Tex Rickard

Ham T. Manning, III, Bishop Manning was assisted by Rickard in raising funds for the Sports Bay in the Cathedral. The speaker referred to Bishop Manning's regret that he could not add his tribute in person and declared that the ideal of religion is closely akin to the ideal of sportsmanship.

"Indeed," he said, "a well played game is comparable to a well ordered sermon." Closing his brief eulogy, he said, of Rickard, "He fought a good fight and gave happiness and pleasure to thousands."

A Lover of Humanity

The quartet sang Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" and Gustav Hartman, city court judge, spoke in behalf of the municipality. "He Loved Humanity" was Judge Hartman's text. "Thousands were beneficiaries of his bounty and will mourn his passing."

Dudley Field Malone paid tribute to the man he called "Tex" throughout his brief address. "A day of gloom can not be a memorial to Tex," he said.

The lawyer spoke of the promoter's two great assets, imagination and courage.

Dr. Moor closed with a brief eulogy in which he spoke of Rickard as a man without meanness, "a counselor without conceit," who had "sympathy without selfishness and religion without restraint." His final tribute was: "he had one of the world's greatest hearts."

Sound Final "Taps"

"Taps" sounded and a band played Chopin's Funeral March as the great crowd stood with bowed heads.

Those inside the Garden remained until the body was removed, but another great crowd lined 50th street all the way to Fifth Avenue as automobiles in the funeral procession moved up the avenue the streets were lined with other crowds.

At the cemetery the casket was opened again and members of the Garden staff looked at their former chief for the last time. Mrs. Rickard was escorted by Jack Dempsey and Walter Field to give a final caress and the casket was lowered into the earth.

Dr. Moor asked the pall-bearers and others grouped about the grave er and the last service for Tex er an dthe last service for Tex Rickard was said.

All Ranks Present

At the cemetery, as at the Garden were men from all walks of life to pay respectful tribute to the memory of Tex Rickard. The "big business men" Rickard had interred in his boxing shows, whose names mean much in money and prestige, rubbed elbows with men who call each other, "Kid" and "Buddy" and in many cases do not know if they have any other names.

The used different language to express their appreciation of the sports promoter but perhaps the "Kids" and "Buddies" were most expressive.

"He was a good guy," they said.

It quickly banishes the chilly sensations, allays the aches and pains and gives a feeling of comfort to the patient.

Say Nurmi Status Unfair To Yanks

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Describing as "unfair to our American athletes" the plan of Paavo Nurmi to remain indefinitely in this country, training for the 1932 Olympics, Charles L. Ornstein of Washington, member of the board of governors of the Amateur Athletic Union, today challenged the right of the Metropolitan A. A. U. to register the famous Finnish runner without authority from the national body.

Ornstein, in a telegram to Daniel J. Ferris, national secretary, questioned the policy as well as the authority to local officials in registering Nurmi under the same conditions as an American athlete. Ferris said he thought the action fair.

May Keep Tennis Stars Off Papers

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Members of future American Davis Cup or Wightman Cup teams would be prohibited from writing tennis articles for newspapers or magazines or giving interviews, if the recommendation of the executive committee is approved at the annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association in Hoboken February 8-9, it declared today.

The recommendation grew out of the experience with Big Bill Tilden prior to the Davis Cup challenge round last summer.

Atz Will Feature Quality In Cats

FORT WORTH, Jan. 9. (AP)—Quality may be the trade mark of the Fort Worth baseball training camp this spring.

The squad will number only 24 men.

Last year 40 athletes, men and boys, reported to Jake Atz when the railbirds began to twitter. The squad was too large.

This season it will be different, officials declare.

With 24 men scheduled to report and 18 men to be carried by the club all season, competition for berths will be keen.

Spring Training Starts At Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 9. (AP)—If "getting an early start means anything" the San Angelo High school eleven should make a big noise in the Oil Belt race next fall. A big squad, including fourteen of the sixteen athletes who lettered the past season, answered the first call for 1929 practice today.

Brookline Golfer Leads Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 9. (AP)—Parker Whitmore, Brookline, Mass., advanced to the semi-finals today when he downed Fred Wolstenholme, Philadelphia, 8 and 7. Whitmore won the qualifying round yesterday.

E. E. Herditt Swope, Philadelphia, had a stiff battle with J. B. Blackburn, Pittsburgh. Swope won 5 and 4.

SHAWNEE FAVORED Likely To Succeed Muskego In Western

JOPLIN, Mo., Jan. 9. (AP)—Shawnee, Okla., appeared tonight as the likely successor to Muskogee, Okla., in the Western Association, officials and club owners of which will meet here tomorrow to select a new franchise holder and to discuss the possibility of increasing the circuit to eight members.

WAR IN PROSPECT Fight Between Amateur Organization and Colleges

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—A "war" between the National Amateur Athletic Union and colleges and universities over control of amateur sports is in prospect.

Today Northwestern University announced it henceforth would schedule athletic meets with teams not subject to A. A. U. control.

SCRIPTURE: Behold, this is the joy of his way, and out of the earth shall others grow.

WHY COMPLAIN? We presume there will ever be complaining people. It seems to be constitutional with some people to be anything but of a cheerful disposition.

Many of these imaginary troubles never come. There are sad accidents every day in the year, but there are also good news floating around every day.

And the ills, worries and trials which beset men have ever been with us. The first man had wild animals, hunger and disease to combat—and worry.

And the Christ himself was the first example—and victim—of man's ungratefulness. Our greatest man have their day of sorrow and worry.

There is a beyond. After all have had their say, there is a beyond. Nothing lures like immensity of space, says the Big Spring Herald.

Under our feet is evidence of life and time that goes back countless ages; on surface where now all is flowery splendor are signs left by passing glacial periods; not far below we find sands and fossils of ancient seas.

Standing at the shore of the sea, we are amazed by its power, its glory and its boundless sweep. Spray and sound give voice to oceans far away.

Time, earth and space baffle all understanding—but the little speck of life which burns in every heart is the most wonderful of all.

A Washington Bystander

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Administrations and congresses come and go on the political tides. Each brings to Washington new faces and personalities.

Adopted Washingtonians. The thought is prompted by casual inspection of the city's newest telephone directory. Between its covers, no doubt, still linger the names of men who stalked boldly on the national political stage in days too far back for the Bystander's memory to reach.

Names Stay After Death. Among the C's, too, is ruddy faced and now white haired Charlie Carlin of Virginia, long a figure in the house, Oscar Underwood's campaign manager in the nightmare length New York nominating convention in '24.

SO THINK WE We think the people of Lubbock will make a very great mistake if they fail to give their endorsement to the road bond issues that are being submitted Saturday.

REPUTATION In the old days—perhaps even yet—Sunday school teachers used to be careful to tell their pupils that "reputation is what people think you are; character is what you are."

RESOLUTIONS Many people have been going through a period of new resolutions. They are always in the forefront of our thinking in the early days of a new year.

THIS HAS HAPPENED ASHORETH ASHE Boston stenographer is taking a cruise to the West Indies.

Her roommate, MONA DE MUSSET, is a rather incredible creature, about whom everybody on the shipboard is conjecturing. She dresses extravagantly and in exceedingly daring fashion.

She is traveling alone, because there was not enough money for her mother—MAIZIE—a woman with a heart of gold, has made sufficient sacrifice to send Ashoreth, who has been ill.

Ashoreth meets JACK SMYTHE on shipboard. Smythe, an Englishman, is actually rather naive and conventional. She is traveling alone, because there was not enough money for her mother—MAIZIE—a woman with a heart of gold, has made sufficient sacrifice to send Ashoreth, who has been ill.

When she goes to her cabin, Mademoiselle de Musset tells her that Smythe is "a bad man," and she is very sweet and assists upon presenting her with some exquisite lingerie.

OW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI In the morning Mademoiselle had orange juice and coffee served in the stateroom. At 10 the stewardess drew her bath, and at noon she appeared on deck.

It took Mademoiselle exactly an hour to make up. Her perfume rites were as elaborate as though she prepared each day for marriage. Fascinated, Ashoreth watched her.

Mademoiselle insisted upon sharing her luscious cremes and scented poudres. And not only her cosmetics, but the services of the stewardess, who had been a lady's maid and could give a facial like an expert.

"I never thought of it before," she confessed, "I do believe I'm generous to my very finger tips."

Mademoiselle buffed her shingling nails indolently. "Beautiful woman," she observed, "are made for luxury, ma chérie."

"But I can't afford it," she lamented. "This is a regular orgy for me."

Mademoiselle shrugged eloquently and raised her penciled brows. "Mon Dieu!" she exclaimed. "I mean," explained Ashoreth considerably embarrassed, "I have to work for a living."

"Oh!" The French woman surveyed her humorously. Her eyebrows had pretty little mannerisms all their own. Now the left one assumed a speculative arch.

"So I do," Mademoiselle said. "I had not exchanged confidences. Ashoreth was consumed with curiosity about Jack Smythe, but Mademoiselle had volunteered no further information."

He was always on deck when the girls made their appearance, and he and Mademoiselle exchanged formal courtesies. It seemed to Ashoreth that she observed the nation's organic law?

Nothing could possibly be more illuminating. Let yourself ponder just for a moment, on the extent of the sham which the pending issuance of such a request implies.

We have a "dry" government. Neither the present congress nor the one that will succeed it will modify the prohibition law to the slightest extent. In addition there are hundreds upon hundreds of appointive officials, each sworn to uphold and protect the law.

AT NIGHT Home, home from the horizon far and clear. Either the soft wings sweep; Flocks of the memories of the day draw near. The dovecot doors of sleep. Oh which are they that come through sweetest light Of all those homing birds? Which with the straightest and the swiftest flight? Your words to me, your words! —Alice Meynell (1850-1922)

THIS DATE IN AMERICAN HISTORY JANUARY 10 1737—Birthday of Ethan Allen, American Revolutionary patriot. 1765—Stamp act passed by British parliament. 1791—Vermont ratified the Constitution, although not yet admitted to the Union. 1811—Kentucky authorized a lottery to improve navigability of Kentucky river. 1861—Florida passed an ordinance of secession.

wearing also, a little green hat that matched the jade. Mademoiselle's hat. And bracelets, that jangled with small jade elephants with ruby eyes. Mademoiselle's bracelets.

Mademoiselle had given her any number of gifts. Several of them were valuable. The scarlet evening wrap, for instance, embroidered with threads of gold. And all the little French night gowns.

She faced Smythe indignantly. "Mona has been very kind to me," she told him. "And every other woman on the boat has been simply wretched."

"That's because you seem to prefer Mademoiselle's society to theirs," he interrupted. "And obviously you cannot have both. They'd have been decent enough if you hadn't been intimate with her from the beginning. Naturally, they outlaw De Musset."

"Why?" demanded Ashforth. "Because she's beautiful, of course—and they're absolutely consumed with jealousy. They're simply perturbed to have their husbands as much as look at me?"

Ashforth tossed her head angrily. "She was good enough," she pointed out, "for you to make love to."

"Well, naturally. Mademoiselle is a delightful person to love. But that hardly alters her social status. In fact," Smythe smiled—"you might almost say that accounts for her social status."

Suddenly he became very serious. "There is something," he said, "greatly pathetic about Mona de Musset. For desire is a sad thing and love is all we know to lighten it. Mademoiselle obsessed with desire, turns, for gratification, to love. . . . And love, strangely, is said to be a wicked thing."

At heart Ashforth was something of a Puritan. Theoretically, she was extremely broadminded. Actually, she was as provincial as Maine.

"Yes, mean," she gasped, "that Mademoiselle is notoriously immoral?"

He inclined his head gravely. "And that's why everybody has been so horrid to me?"

"Exactly." The Englishman was solemn now. "All the ladies on board," he said, "the fat ones and the lean ones—and all the stupid, ugly ones —have been tearing you and Mademoiselle apart ever since you appeared the first evening at dinner together. They say—He mimicked the acid tones of the Simpson sisters—they say, Miss Ashe, that birds of a feather flock together. And you can tell a woman by the company she keeps."

They walked for a minute in silence. Ashforth was completely bewildered. She had realized, of course, that Mademoiselle's morals might have been more or less dubious. But to learn that the girl was actually notorious. That so-called decent women had drawn their virtuous skirts aside, lest she—who roomed with Mademoiselle—should pollute the sanctity of their presence.

The che—Ashforth Ashe—had accepted the benevolence of a woman beyond the pale.

Mademoiselle's Jade ornament clicked against the buttons on her sweater. Mona's jewelry. . . . What should she do? (To Be Continued.)

Smythe accuses Ashforth of being a gold-digger. The next chapter will tell you, also, about Mona.

Orgatone, Sensational Medicine, On Sale at Bowen's Drug Store

Initial Express Shipment of Sensational New Medicine Arrives In Lubbock Late Wednesday; Sale Starts At Bowen's Drug Store Early Thursday Morning

Has Had Phenominal Success
Marvelous Results Accomplished By Remarkable Preparation In Other Section of Country Almost Incredible

Orgatone, the remarkable new medicine that has created such a sensation by its amazing powers to restore health, strength and energy, is on sale in Lubbock at Bowen's Drug Store.

TEXAS DOCTOR USING ORGATONE GETS RELIEF
Says It is Most Wonderful Remedy Ever Given to Suffering Humanity.

It is not what the Orgatone company says about this meritorious preparation that counts, but what countless thousands are saying including even doctors and professional men of all walks of life.

Thousands Quickly Restored to Health
In those cities men and women by the thousands, of all ages, in all walks of life, received the most astonishing and gratifying results.

News of the astonishing success of Orgatone in the above cities quickly spread over Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and scores of cities, towns and villages in these states were wiring and writing for Orgatone and being supplied as quickly as was humanly possible.

Briefly, this is the history of the truly great medicine, Orgatone, that is being placed within reach of the people of Lubbock and vicinity.—Adv.

Claims for Orgatone too Mild, Says Amarillo Policeman

"I knew what I'm talking about when I say this medicine is Best in the World," Declares Bush.

HIS RECOVERY HAS BEEN REMARKABLE
Going Down Hill Every Day After Twelve Years of Suffering—Feels Fine Now.

Everybody continues to pour praise upon Orgatone.

It seems the amazing health building powers of this medicine become more and more sensational as new testimonies are made and Orgatone dealers report an ever increasing demand for this medicine that has smashed all former records in the history of proprietary medicine.

Nobody seems to be able to find words strong enough to express their gratitude for what Orgatone has done for them, but with one accord they all declare that the claims made for Orgatone are too mild.

"Judging by what this wonderful medicine has done for me there is no way of saying too much for Orgatone," declared Thomas Bush, 230 N. E. Eleventh street, Amarillo, Texas, well known city policeman.

"Yes sir, you can bet your life I know what I'm talking about when I say Orgatone is the greatest medicine on earth," continues Mr. Bush.

"For over twelve years I have been a constant sufferer from stomach disorder as I was poisoned with mustard gas during the war, and although I consulted doctors in Germany while with the army of occupation they invariably told me that this was the most poisonous of all gases and that it usually settled to man's very weakest organ, sometimes it settled in their lungs, others their stomach and I guess in my case it was my stomach. Why for the past few years I was in such a terrible condition that nothing I would eat would lay on my stomach."

"I tell you, I had about made up my mind I was doomed to suffer the rest of my life. Constipation had me, also the lightest kind of food caused me to suffer every kind of stomach agony that could be thought of."

Famed Tobacco Is Claimed By Death

NEW YORK, Jan. 8. (P)—Benjamin N. Duke, who rose from a boy peddler of tobacco to help place his family among the pioneers of big business, died today in his upper Fifth Avenue mansion after a long illness. He was in his 74th year.

PROSPERITY
WASHINGTON—An official survey recently completed shows that out of 14,815 persons over 65 interviewed as to their dependency, less than 25 per cent were kept by relatives and of this total charitable institutions were credited with less than two per cent.

Abilene Capitalist Praises Orgatone
Mr. Jake Zablouill Feels That He Has Taken a New Lease on Life—Suffered Six Months

Mr. Jake Zablouill, a prominent capitalist, oil man and banker who resides at 802 Orange street, Abilene, Texas, comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Orgatone.

"Not in years," said Mr. Zablouill, while in Harvey Hays Drug Store at Abilene, recently, "have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since I began taking Orgatone. One bottle of this medicine has done me more good than all the other treatment and medicines I have taken in the last six months combined."

"At the time I began taking Orgatone my stomach had been in bad shape for at least six months. My food would invariably sour and I would suffer from a dull ache or a burning sensation in my stomach. Occasionally gas would bother me after eating and I would have cramping pains. I was also in a run-down condition and know that I wasn't up to par."

"Well, I tried a good many things but nothing helped me until I got Orgatone and now I am just like a new man. Before I took Orgatone myself I did not believe half they were saying about it, but I had not been taking it but a few days until I was convinced of its value. I do not have that soreness or dull pain in my stomach any more and I can eat just anything I want without the slightest trouble from it. In fact, I just feel like I had been given a new lease on life, and I feel that I owe it to the public to tell my experience with this meritorious remedy.—Adv.

tion and by local bond issues retarded by ad valorem tax; a state-wide bond issue, with revenues received by the highway department from an occupation tax on gasoline and license on motor vehicles pledged to pay interest and principal, and a combination of the two plans, which contemplates a small bond issue and use of a larger part of the current revenues for construction than the second plan contemplates. Gov. Moody advocated construction of hard surfaced roads instead of gravel highways, saying that about $10,000,000 could be saved annually building the former.

The message detailed the report of the governor's highway committee of 31, recommending a $225,000,000 bond issue for road construction and contained also the minority report of the group.

Invites Lease Probe
The governor invited consideration of the statute which regulates disposal of public lands and land and mineral leases on them, a factor responsible for the controversy between the university regents and state land office.

"The present statute providing for the sale of mineral leases on university lands was passed with a view of stimulating development," he said. "Present conditions are different from those which give rise to this statute. The board of regents is advocating that the leases be withdrawn from the market, and I believe the statute should be amended to give regents power to negotiate leases on this land and sell them to the highest bidder after advertisement."

In urging enlargement of the supreme court from three to nine members, Mr. Moody departed from the prepared script to say that the three months vacation which judges have annually should be eliminated in order that the public might have access to the court at all times.

After renewing his suggestion to the 40th legislature that the civil service system should be adopted for subordinate state employees, the governor devoted much of his time to the prison system. He said prison farms were being operated at increased expense each year due to scattered plans and advocated a centralized system where convicts might be engaged in the manufacture of materials for their own use or in eleemosynary institutions.

Bryan Funeral

is said to have miraculously escaped death in some unknown manner, as the truck passed completely over him when it rolled over, pinning Bryan under the steering wheel and injuring him internally. Smith was carried to the Lubbock sanitarium, where his injuries were treated and, at a late hour Wednesday, was reported as resting well, although he was thought to have been injured more than at first had been stated. He traveled yesterday that truck was travelling out Main street at a rapid rate of speed. Near the burning house, automobiles were parked double on the north side of the street and a double on the south side, leaving space for only one car to pass. As the truck approached the intersection of Main and Avenue V, a car darted in from a side street and passed immediately in their path.

"Bryan slammed out the brakes, but when he saw the wheels were skidding," Smith is quoted as saying, "he loosened them some to avoid turning around and running into the car behind him. He guided the truck into the curb, evidently planning to drive onto the yard and break the speed on the soft ground and guide us past danger of hitting the folks in the other car. When the wheels of the truck struck the curb, it seems the car immediately started rolling."

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Bryan were announced late Wednesday night as to be at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, services to be held from the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the church, officiating. Active pallbearers will be members of the Lubbock fire department, who were actively engaged in that work with him during the past several years, and are: Roy Spence, Cecil Casey, Maurice Scott, Mark Long, Alfred Parreck, Mose Hood, Guy Casey and Everett Price.

Honorary pallbearers are to be: Spencer Wells, Sid Ogleby, O. L. Slaton, B. Stubblefield, France Baker, John Denman, Temple Ellis, Oscar Short, Topais Alford, E. W. Provance, Roche Newton, E. M. Smith, R. I. McKnight, and DeWitt Fears.

In addition to his widow, survivors are, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bryan, of 1904 Main street, a brother, Bruce Bryan of this city, who has been attending Montezuma college, in New Mexico; two aunts, Mrs. W. E. Twitty and Mrs. N. P. Minor, and his grandmother, Mrs. Hattie N. Moore, of Lubbock.

Farm Bureau Here Is State Leader

South Plains District Is Ahead in Every Phase of Activities; Good Outlook For 1929 Evident

This district of the Texas Farm Bureau association was the leader over all of the state in the number of members, first in the number of gins operated by the organization and first in the number of bales of cotton delivered to the association, it was announced here Wednesday by N. H. Payne, field representative of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau.

"On top of this fine record, made by this district," said Mr. Payne, "the Lubbock County Bureau is starting off the new year with a determination to have the best county organization in the state of Texas this year."

The county organization will hold its regular meeting in the Lubbock county courthouse here next Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, James Burroughs, being in charge of a specially prepared program.

The feature of Saturday's meeting will be an address by Lynn Stoker, of Dallas, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, on the subject of "Cotton Marketing Outlook for 1929." Others on the program will include Prof. Carroll Thompson, former county agent of Lubbock county, subject, "Boys and Girls' Clubs"; Newell Taylor, musical reading, accompanied by Jeraldine Wicker.

clared, "Russia alone producing 26,000,000 bushels and having 500 mills that work the seed for oil and by-products. Germany raises a large quantity, also. The United States produces home growers with a 640 per ton duty on imported seed, and we are working now on acreage enough to secure milling facilities for this section."

Following is a history, with the uses, cultivation, harvesting and marketing of sunflowers.

The commercial sunflower is a native of Russia and Manchuria, both cold countries. The Russian Mammoth has long been the standard for commercial purposes but Manchuria took the Russian sunflower and improved on it, making it earlier in development by two to three weeks and bringing out of it a higher oil content.

The Manchurian is now the popular seed for market. Last year I was only able to secure 400 pounds of planting seed.

In Europe it is greatly valued for its oil (cooking and salad oils, the residue going into paints and varnishes), the by-products meal and hulls are used for feeding sheep, hogs, horses or cattle. In America the chief and main uses are for the seed to go into chicken feeds, as yet they are too high for milling; only a small per cent being used for oils as a substitute for Olive oil and for the packing of sardines. Sunflower is superior in all respects to cotton seed oil as an edible or cooking oil.

Cultivation
To secure a good and early market plant them anytime in March and April. Frost does not hurt them and it takes 25 degrees to kill them. In eastern and central Texas February is desirable time to plant. Prepare ground good—preferably first-breaking or double plowings at least. They have a ball of fine hair roots and a tap root like cotton. They increase the fertility and humus of the soil being rich in potash and phosphorus, two elements badly needed in Texas soils. You have heard that sunflowers grow on rich land—they make it rich.

Harvesting
When the sunflower heads are a rich golden color begin gathering them into a wagon, taking them straight to a thresher which has had the cylinder speed reduced by one third and all but last row of combine teeth removed.

Mill at Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio or any Texas mills will gladly buy them. Price varies from $20.00 to $150.00 per ton. Average ten year price $30.00.

Plants eighteen inches in drill—3 pounds per acre. Yield 800 to 1200 pounds per acre.

movement in the senate and Representative A. P. C. Petch will introduce the resolution in the house. Robison Criticizes Opponents
The controversy probably was brought to a head by a statement issued by Robinson yesterday in which he criticized those who brought action against him.

"The public interest imperatively demands a thorough investigation against agencies controlling or managing the affairs of the State of Texas, in whole or in part, for the purpose and to the end that guilt, if any there be, may be established, mistakes corrected, and reforms made which will advance and protect the public welfare of this state," the resolution will say, adding that the "legislature is the only body with power to investigate and by law remedy conditions which may be found to be wrong and to bring to justice any who may be guilty of any wrong."

It purposes appointment of a committee of nine members of the house and four of the senate. The land lease law repeal bill was a committee substitute for one introduced yesterday by Senator John W. Homburg of Austin. Lloyd Price of Fort Worth, former senator, and Commissioner Robison appeared before the committee and were heard on the bill.

tor and anti-administration demagogue, to the chair, by a coalition of republican and democratic insurgents.

The governor's message was lengthy and carried a legislative program, including the governor's recommendation that provision be made for the immediate completion of the state highway system. The legislature was asked to submit a proposal for the issuance of between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000 in road bonds to a state election, and an increase of the gasoline tax from three to five cents a gallon was proposed. The two houses reconvened in separate sessions on Wednesday, separate sessions when delivery of the message was concluded.

Texas Youth Owns Vast Fortune In Irrigation Land

DEL RIO, Jan. 9. (AP)—One of the most valuable pieces of property owned by G. Redell Moore, 21, of San Antonio now a student in Dartmouth college. The property is known by the name of the Val Verde Irrigation company.

This is a strip of land from Del Rio to a point near Eagle Pass, about 60 miles extending fronting the Rio Grande. It is from three to seven miles wide. The land was taken up by the senior G. Redell Moore years ago when it cost but a few cents an acre. Today the property is worth millions of dollars. It extends through Val Verde Kinney and Maverick counties.

About five thousand acres of the land is under irrigation, the water coming from three natural springs near Del Rio that flow enough water to supply several cities. The springs are on a hill and the land is irrigated by gravity. Thousands of acres are under cultivation, mostly in alfalfa and small grain and a little cotton on the eastern end. The company also owns 5,000 head of pure blood Hereford cattle with a small sprinkling of Brahms.

Bill Is Presented Asking for Oyster Industry Aid

GALVESTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—State aid in the development of the oyster industry is seen in a bill being prepared by the attorney general's department on behalf of the game, fish and oyster commission, for presentation to the Forty-first legislature.

The proposed law would allow leasing of oyster reefs in the Gulf coast by the state not to exceed one-half of the reefs in each bay. It is believed that under this plan the leasing parties would undertake to develop the beds.
