Move Made By Sheriff

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge rejected today a motion by Sheriff James G. Clark of Dallas County that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of a massive Negro voter drive, be held in contempt for leading a street march at Selma.

"Any contempt or order to show cause is a matter between this court and the alleged contemptor," said U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The motion for a contempt proceeding against King was based on his leading a Tuesday march of about 2,500 Negroes and white clergymen from a Selma church to a meeting with state troopers. King turned back when halted by the troopers.

Johnson had ordered civil rights leaders to suspend their planned march from Selma to Montgomery. He gave no indication today whether he considered the attempted march a violation of his order.

The meeting of King and the troopers and the peaceful ending of the march were prearranged with the aid of federal officials. A similar march Sunday was broken up when troopers clubbed and tear-gassed the marchers.

While the hearing went on, about 100 demonstrators continued a prayer vigil in a Selma street for a white minister lying near death after a beating by a white ga..g.

King was called as a witness. So were Clark and Col. Abert J. Lingo, commander of state troopers. Other witnesses included the mother and grandfather of Jimmie Lee Jackson, a Negro laborer shot to death Feb. 18 in racial violence.

The motion by Clark's attorneys came at the outset of a hearing on a move by civil rights leaders and the Justice Department for an order barring interference with peaceful demonstrations.

Voice Vote Passes State Spending Bill

By ERNEST STROMBERGER

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate passed on voice vote today a 1966-67 state spending bill which will satisfy money demands of almost everyone but school teachers.

Passage came with no debate and less than two hours after it was approved by the Senate Finance Committee. Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo sponsored the bill.

The big spending measure calls for the spending of $3.65 billion, including a record $617 million from the general revenue fund.

Since the general revenue fund will have only about $631 million for 1966-67 use, the bill sets the scene for increased taxes or sizeable budget-cutting to get the $30 million to $68 million needed for a teacher pay raise.

The bill goes to the House, and if House members follow the practice of rejecting the Senate version, a conference committee then will begin a six-week study to settle differences in the two bills.

A five-man subcommittee reported the bill to the Finance Committee Tuesday, but immediate consideration was delayed by a request by Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, who asked for today's hearing.

The Senate version of 1966-67 state spending was reported to the Finance Committee Tuesday and set for a hearing today.

The Senate appropriations bill calls for healthy increases for welfare, hospitals and education, but leaves only about $14 million to help finance a teacher pay raise.

The Senate bill, however, follows the governor's recommendations more closely than the House bill passed Feb. 24, which leaves a $25 million general fund balance.

Although the spending bill spreads the $151 million increase above present state spending of $466 million among most facets of state government, key improvements include:

Hospitals and special schools —current state spending of $119 million is hiked to $146 million in the Senate bill, much of the increase going to new institutions in Dallas, Lubbock and Corpus Christi and extensive renovations to Lufkin and Austin institutions.

Education—present state spending of $237 million is increased to $341 million in the Senate version, giving the governor almost all of his important higher education requests.

Connally Reports; Presses For Redistricting Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)— Gov. John Connally has told members of the Texas Congressional delegation that he expects a "fair and equitable" redistricting plan to be worked out before the Texas Legislature adjourns June 1.

Connally, returning to Texas today, was in Washington to be the principal witness at an Interior Department hearing on oil imports.

He visited briefly with President Johnson at the White House and then had a private luncheon Wednesday in the Capitol with members of the Texas delegation.

The governor told reporters afterward that he expected legislative action by June 1, and added:

"I assured them that, to the best of my knowledge, there would be no alignment to favor one over another or to gerrymander a district."

A federal court have ruled that the Legislature must redistrict the state before the next general election or else all 23 Texas seats in the U. S. House might have to be filled on an at-large basis.

Several proposals are under study in Austin for re-drawing district lines. Some would merge districts in rural areas to the benefit of urban centers.

In his testimony at the Interior Department, Connally called for a freeze at present levels on shipments of foreign oil into the United States.

Connally also told reporters he would approve federal - aid programs calling for $1.25-an-hour pay for school students working in cafeterias and libraries and similar projects if local school boards fully understood they had to help finance the programs with local funds.

Speaking as chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Connally said at the hearing that the Interior Department should undertake action that would result in greater incentives to the domestic industry.

AFTER BEATING

White Minister Is Near Death

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A white minister was near death today in a hospital, his anxious wife near his side, while in Selma three white men faced state and federal charges in the beating given him and two other Unitarian clergymen.

The Rev. James J. Reeb, 38, of Boston, still was unconscious from a clubbing he received Tuesday night in Selma as the aftermath of a civil rights march there.

His wife, Marie, was with him at the hospital, pale and shaken by what had happened.

The mother of four children told newsmen Wednesday after her arrival from Boston that both she and her husband had been aware of the potential danger when he took the trip South.

"I said I would prefer that he didn't go," she said, her lips quivering slightly. "But he felt he had to go."

Mrs. Reeb said her husband considered the civil right cause [illegible] and that the wife found him, [illegible] beatings be received at the hands of white men outside a Selma cafe.

Reeb was with the Rev. Orloff F. Miller, 25, of Boston, and the Rev. Clark Olson, 32, of Berkeley, Calif., at the time. Miller and Olson escaped serious injury.

Three men were arrested in connection with the incident and pickup orders were issued for a fourth man still at-large.

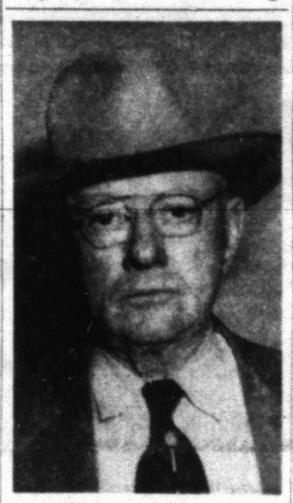

Two of the men were released from Selma city jail early today on bond of $7,500 each on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Then the two Selma men, William Stanley Hoggle, 36, and Elmer Cook, 41, were taken into custody by FBI agents on federal warrants charging conspiracy to violate the ministers' civil rights. Shortly afterward a U.S. commissioner released them on bonds of $5,000.

A third Selma man, R. B. Kelley, 30, remained in city jail. Should he make bond there he would then be arraigned on the federal charge.

Reeb was taken by ambulance the 90 miles to Birmingham for an operation at the University of Alabama Medical Center. It [illegible] still unconscious.

She received yellow roses and a special telegram from President Johnson, another message from Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and dozens of telegrams from all over the nation.

He served as representative from this district from 1953 to 1955.

Shortly after coming to Snyder, Mr. Sentell was appointed to serve the remainder of an unexpired term as county attorney, and succeeded himself in the office for the next two terms.

Mr. Sentell completed his public schooling at Weatherford, where he later attended Roberts Business College and also the Methodist College. White House Sit-In Is Staged

WASHINGTON (AP) — About a dozen civil rights advocates staged a sit-in demonstration in the White House today.

The demonstrators, whites and Negroes, entered the executive mansion with the regular flow of tourists and, once they got into the ground-floor hallway, sat on the floor and began chanting, "We shall not be moved."

Maj. Ralph Stover, chief of the White House police force, went to the scene and asked the demonstrators to leave. They made no move.

The demonstration — nothing like it ever happened before at the White House — began sometime before noon.

Camp David Site Of Viet Policy Confab

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential policy conference at Camp David indicates new decisions on the U.S. role in the Vietnamese war may be in the making.

One question believed to be under top-level consideration is whether U.S. air attacks on military bases in North Viet Nam should be carried deeper into that country. So far they have been restricted to the southern regions, well away from the capital, Hanoi.

Wednesday night's conference at the presidential retreat in the mountains of western Maryland brought together President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and McGeorge Bundy and Bill D. Movers, White House aides.

The topic for the meeting was not announced but it was understood that the major subject, at least, was Viet Nam and that Camp David was chosen by the President because it afforded a relaxed atmosphere in which he and his chief advisers could talk out the whole complex of problems associated with the Southeast Asian conflict.

These include the efforts by many other countries, including Britain, France and the Soviet Union, to initiate peace talks; political and military conditions inside South Viet Nam, which U.S. officials are said to consider difficult and disappointing but not hopeless, and the Johnson administration's desire for support from other countries in the struggle in Viet Nam.

The central problem constantly before Johnson and his chief diplomatic and military advisers, however, is how to bring enough pressure on Communist North Viet Nam to persuade the leaders in Hanoi to halt the infiltration of troops and arms into the South to reinforce the Viet Cong guerrilla fighters trying to take over the country.

U.S. combat planes began attacking the North Feb. 7. The raids were described initially as retaliation for Communist guerrilla attacks on U.S. installations in the South and on South Vietnamese troops.

The strategy behind the air strikes, however, was to make North Viet Nam feel the destructive force of U.S. military power in Southeast Asia. Implicit in the operations from the beginning was the possibility that if the North Vietnamese leaders did not abandon what the United States has called their aggression against the south they faced increasing destruction in their own country.

PSYCHOLOGIST TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Members of the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association and their guests will hear Dr. Murray R. Kovnar, Professor of Psychology at Texas Tech, tonight at 7:30 in the Lamar Junior High School Auditorium.

In addition to the sponsoring organization, all local members of the Texas State Teachers Association and any other interested persons have been invited to attend. Dr. Kovnar's topic will be "Children vs. Psychology, Religion and Parents."

Heart Fund Exceeds Goal

Scurry County Heart Association members learned Wednesday that their recently concluded Heart Fund campaign here has exceeded $2,800.

This means that for the fourth straight year Scurry County has exceeded its "fair share" in the association's drive for funds. With about 3½ months left in its fiscal year, the Scurry County Heart Association is well ahead of its quota of $2,784.

In other business at the regular meeting of the local heart unit, the members discussed the desirability of holding a nurses' heart seminar in the next few months. It was noted that local nurses have been advised that the association has funds budgeted to present such a program this year.

The group also discussed plans for its annual meeting in May, as well as recommendations to the nominating committee for officers and directors of the Scurry County Heart Association for the coming year.

Queen Will Break Boycott; To Visit Duke And Duchess

LONDON (AP) — After 29 years, Queen Elizabeth II is ending the British royal boycott of the Duchess of Windsor.

As the duke — her uncle — lay ill in London with the sight of one eye in danger, the queen let it be known she intends to visit him and meet the American-born divorcee for whom he gave up the British throne in 1936.

No previous meeting between the queen and the duchess is on record. The general belief in London is that they have never met.

The queen intended the meeting to take place today. But the duke, lying immobile and with his eyes bandaged after his fourth major operation in three months, was said by his physicians to be too ill to receive visitors.

The queen is expected to visit her uncle when his doctors decide he is well enough.

"This is not a casual meeting," said a spokesman for Buckingham Palace. "It has been arranged that when the queen goes to visit the duke, the duchess will be with him."

Wednesday the duke underwent a third operation to correct a detached retina of the left eye. His physicians said his condition was "technically satisfactory." The eye surgery followed a major operation in the United States last December to repair an abdominal artery.

Medical sources said the operation Wednesday would be the last attempt to correct the duke's eye trouble, indicating that his age and his recent circulatory trouble would make further surgery hazardous.

The duke — the former King Edward VIII—is 70. The duchess is 68. The queen was a 10-year-old girl when he sailed from Britain in December 1936, to marry Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Over the years the duke and duchess have lived mostly in France and the United States but customarily have visited Britain before Christmas each year.

On these visits the duke usually called on members of his family, but the duchess never was received by them. Some newspapers, notably the Daily Express, frequently urged that their exile should end and their last years be spent in Britain.

The queen's intention to meet the duchess made the main headlines in most London newspapers.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is this: Our teenage son has been receiving filthy literature in the mail. We were very much disturbed about this and talked to him about it. He says he has no idea who is sending it to him. And we believe him. This is the first time this junk has ever been in our home and we don't want it. Can you tell us how to keep this stuff out of our mailbox?

NO NAME

DEAR NO: Take it to your local postmaster. Be sure you have the original envelope in which the "literature" was mailed. The postmark is an important clue.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can help me with a problem which is rather unusual. I was born without that part of an arm just below the elbow. Having been born that way, I find it awkward to explain to people why I have only one arm. Try as I do, it always ends up with the same question, "but why?" My little nephew is now at the stage where he asks a lot of questions, and he is so perplexed about this. Believe it or not, I have had many hurts from playmates whose mothers used me as an "example" to make their children behave. Mothers will tell their children that I have only one arm because I was a bad boy and God "punished" me like that — and if they are not good, it could happen to them.

There must be others who have a similar problem, and I shall be watching your column for some kind of answer that will satisfy the curious small fry.

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Explain that from the mysteries of human reproduction, unexplainable things happen now and then, and that your incomplete arm is one of them; that you do not feel handicapped and have learned to live with the loss.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: One day last week a very good friend of ours invited my husband and me to join her and her husband for a drive to a nearby resort to spend the day and have dinner in the evening. We accepted. Later she called back and said they owed another couple a dinner and asked what I thought about asking them to join us?

It so happens that I do not like the other couple. Being around them leaves me low in spirits, so I told her that I didn't think much of the idea. Well, she didn't invite them. Now my husband is ashamed of me. He said I should have agreed to let the other couple join us and suffered through the day and evening. If he is right, tell me why.

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: I think your husband is wrong. Since you were ASKED by your hostess whether you wanted the other couple to join you, there was no reason for you to have been hypocritical.

Pearl Harbor Marines Board Ships

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — A 6,000-man Marine brigade boarded ships Wednesday night, reportedly bound for Okinawa to replace 3,500 Marines sent to South Viet Nam early this week.

"The Marines are moving," said a spokesman for Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific military commander. There was no other official comment in Hawaii on the troop movement.

The 1st Marine Brigade members were moved from Hawaii's Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station to Pearl Harbor by truck convoy last month.

Original plans were for the Marines to take part in Operation Silver Lance, the military training maneuver off the California Coast.

But the first units of the brigade boarded ships Wednesday night for Okinawa, not California. About 1,000 brigade members are staying behind in Hawaii.

A report from Washington said the brigade includes helicopter units also bound for Okinawa, the main American military staging area in the Far Pacific.

Ex-Governor To Calm Race Woes

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — LeRoy Collins, director of the federal Community Relations Service, says he will attempt to meet with a few Selma business leaders today in an effort to establish "common rapport" in this racially troubled town.

The former Florida governor, who canceled a speech at the University of Florida to fly here Wednesday night, said he would also like to talk with John Lewis, national director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Wilson Baker, Selma public safety director.

Collins said he might attempt to confer with Negro integrationist leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The decision to return here was made by Collins following two attempted marches in Selma by Negroes and whites in protest of voter registration difficulties.

Collins said the decision was his own and was made following telephone conversations with Washington and his field representatives here.

'We are anxious to be of any help we can in bringing about peaceful compliance with the civil rights law," Collins said. "We can't do it ourselves, but we may help some of the people here do it."

The CRS director said he would like to see permanent plans worked out which would result in sound race relations.

An Alabama Citizens Committee, established several months ago to promote peaceful race relations, met Wednesday in Birmingham. The meeting was attended by one of Collins' field workers. However, Collins said, Selma has no representative on the committee.

Bank Calculates Wife's Worth

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — I have just learned from my friendly neighborhood banker that I, along with 29,999,999 of my coworkers, earn $8,285.68 a year at the going rates for all the jobs we hold under the general title of "housewife."

The Chase Manhattan Bank's Economic Research Department has conducted a survey which reveals what tasks the average housewife performs daily, the number of hours she spends on each, and the rate of pay for these jobs on the labor market.

Their statistics show that America's 30 million homemakers are worth $159.34 a week on the hoof, which is usually where they are during the 99.6 hours they're on the job. As one of that number, I take issue with some of their figures.

In the role of food buyer I may indeed spend 3.3 hours a week at the rate of $1.50 an hour, for a total of $4.95. But shouldn't I get overtime pay for the extra minutes I spend licking the trading stamps?

For the job of nursemaid — 44.5 hours at $1.25 per — I'm entitled to $55.63. I no longer have any little ones around, but we wives who play nursemaid to boys over 40 surely deserve a bonus.

That total of $9.30 for 6.2 hours of dishwashing must be for those who have an army of little kilowatts helping out. I'm a strictly nonautomatic dishwasher myself, and I spend much longer than that acquiring my rose-colored detergent hands.

In all honesty, I'll have to return the check for $3.25 I'm allowed as seamstress at $2.50 an hour. Even if I could sew, I'd find some way to keep from spending 1.3 hours a week at it.

Being a cook for 13.1 hours a week at $2.50 an hour sounds about right. But why don't we just take that $32.75 it adds up to and eat out?

Also on the list are dietitian, housekeeper, laundress, practical nurse, maintenance man, gardener and chauffeur, but in our household I have numerous other positions the bank economists never even thought of.

I'm not sure how much certified public accountants are getting these days, but I spend quite a few potentially golden moments making the bank balance come out even, keeping records and figuring out how to rob Peter to pay Paul.

My part-time job as a psychiatrist should bring in additional revenue. Every night my husband comes home, lies down on the couch and starts telling me his problems.

I spend more than half an hour every morning in a very specialized job, trying to get my husband out of bed. I don't know what the pay scale is for human alarm clocks, but my task is getting harder and more time-consuming every day.

Meanwhile, Chase Manhattan, get that $8,285.68 check ready for me. I'll stop in on my coffee break to pick it up.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

CARE OF BABY'S FEET — By DR. BENJAMIN C. MULLENS, President American Podiatry Association

Surveys made by the American Podiatry Association in public and private schools reveal that one out of every two children has a foot disability.

Not all of these children have serious disabilities. Enough, however, have foot problems which, if not treated, will lead to chronic foot disorders in adulthood.

A baby's feet are soft and malleable. The 52 bones in his feet are chiefly soft and rubbery cartilage. His feet can be twisted, turned, and bent gradually without difficulty. Yet, lack of intelligent attention now may pave the way for a lifetime of the common American complaint, "my feet are killing me."

It's the wise mother who, despite all temptation, lets her child take his own good time about standing or walking. Generally, children pull themselves upright and take their first steps between nine and 15 months of age. Don't use outside aids such as baby walkers or mother's hands to force him to his feet before he is ready.

A child doesn't need shoes until he begins to stand. At that time they provide him with a stable base, as well as protection. Then, in a completely natural way, they encourage him to walk. His first shoes should be as carefully constructed and fitted as any he will ever wear. A baby's feet grow at a surprising rate and outgrown shoes should be promptly replaced.

To insure healthy feet for your child, a few simple precautions should suffice.

Examine your baby's feet regularly. When you give him his daily bath, run your hand gently over the soles and upper part of his feet. If you feel or see rough, hardened skin or red, rubbed spots, have his shoes checked. If they're not at fault, take him to a podiatrist, who is a professional foot doctor. It is also advisable to have your child examined if he drags one foot, is clumsy and falls more often than other children of his age, or, if he seems to be knock-kneed or bow-legged.

Napkins Tell Story

You can tell a lot about your hostess by the way she sets the table. Take a look at the napkins.

Bold color scheme? She's apt to be the adventurous type who dresses with a flair and makes stimulating conversation.

Different - colored napkins at each place? Your hostess probably likes diversity, is thoughtful, and a good listener.

Napkins intriguingly folded? She's imaginative, pays attention to details, and keeps up with the latest trends.

Express your own personality through attractive and varied table settings. Choose vat-dyed cotton cloths and napkins in a variety of bright new colors. They'll stay fresh and bright through many washings.

Development Of Texas Is Altrurian Theme

Eighteen members of the Altrurian Club met March 5 at Martha Ann Woman's Club for their regular meeting with Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin hostess.

Mrs. Alvie Dolen was director of the program on the theme "In Beloved Texas." Mrs. Dolen brought a Texas flag and it was prominently displayed on a table upon which were arranged brochures, pictures and books pertaining to progress leading up to modern Texas.

Mrs. Dolen's paper touched upon many phases of development of industry, with statistics to support phenomenal claims. Perhaps two of the best-known products of this large and versatile land are oil and cattle, but farming, manufacturing, tourist attractions and education have prominent roles.

Mrs. Art Blanchard's review of the establishment and purpose, and the ultimate use of the Alamo, took the minds of the listeners into a different Texas, the primitive beginning of the project for teaching Indians in the early 1800's. The Alamo was built for that purpose and to provide safety for the peaceful Indians who availed themselves of the opportunity offered by the Spanish missionaries.

The author of the book, Adian de Zavala, became zealous near the turn of the century for the cause of preserving the Alamo as a memorial to the men who were martyred there for the cause of freedom. It is largely through her efforts and the society which she founded that events of history have been marked and landmarks have been preserved.

Roll call on landmarks of Texas brought an inexhaustible source of interesting comments.

Texans Seek Return Of Alamo's Flag

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Times may be right to seek return to the Alamo of a faded blue battle flag seized in 1836 by Santa Ana's soldiers, a House committee heard Wednesday night.

The flag, banner of the New Orleans Grays, is now in Mexico City's fabled Chapultepec Castle, the national archives. An Austin newsman who saw it in November said the flag is being restored because of deterioration of its silk fibers.

"In view of the friendly relations we have with the Republic of Mexico, it is the feeling of many people that the Mexican government would return the flag to a place of honor in the Alamo," Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston told the House State Affairs Committee.

Miller is author of a resolution (HCR15) authorizing negotiation with the Mexican government for the flag's return. The measure was referred to a subcommittee for further consideration.

William Gardner of Austin, political affairs editor of the Houston Post, said he saw the flag being restored in the workroom of the Mexicar archives in November. He was told, he said, the restoration would be completed this month.

"Nobody knows whether this particular flag was the flag that was flying over the Alamo when it fell. But there is evidence that it was in the Alamo," Gardner said.

As described in Miller's resolution, the flag was inscribed "God and Liberty." The resolution provides for a seven-member committee, appointed by the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker to negotiate for the flag's return.

"I think . . . that since relations are friendly and since we have a Texan for President and President Johnson had President (Gustavo) Diaz Ordaz here, there is a good chance of getting back the flag," Gardner said.

San Antonio Rep. Jake Johnson said the Miler resolution is "laudable, but I don't think it is incumbent on the State of Texas to enter into something that could end in a diplomatic disaster. I think it would be better for the State Department to do it."

Miller said that would be fine with him if the committee wanted to amend the resolution.

Under questioning by Johnson, Miller said he believes Texas has some Mexican battle flags from the 1845 Mexican War that might be brought into the negotiations.

The resolution went to a subcommittee for further study.

Border Meet Golf Play Is Underway

LAREDO (AP) — Fifteen colleges and universities got the Border Olympics under way today as they hooked up in the first 36 holes of the 14th annual golf tournament.

University of Houston, winner of eight of the 13 tournaments, puts its championship on the line against Texas, North Texas, Texas A&I, Texas A&M, Sul Ross, Lamar Tech, Baylor, Texas Christian, Texas Tech, Texas Wesleyan, Stephen F. Austin, Rice, Monterrey Tech and Odessa Junior College.

Friday there will be 18 holes and the final 18 will be played Saturday. Also, Friday the high school division, boasting 17 teams, plays the first 18 holes of a 36-hole tournament.

And tomorrow signals the start of track and field with 1114 athletes from 85 schools participating.

Junior college preliminaries are scheduled tomorrow morning, along with finals in the pole vault, javelin, high jump and two-mile run. There are 12 teams entered with Howard County defending its championship.

Fifty-three high schools hold preliminaries Friday afternoon.

The university and college classes hold preliminaries and a smattering of finals Saturday morning with 10 teams in each class and with Houston defending champion of the university division and Texas Southern the college division.

Finals in high school and junior college events will be Saturday afternoon with finals in the university and college classes at night.

Rice is favored to win the university title and Texas Southern is picked to repeat in the college class, although Lamar Tech threatens to make it a tough fight.

A couple of dozen records are anticipated, the major one being in the shot put as Randy Matson, Texas A&M star weightman, tries for the world's mark.

Most everybody is running in the Border Olympics except the Texas Track Club of Abilene. The girls ran into the AAU-NCAA squabble on control of amateur athletics and were forced to withdraw from the meet in which they had planned to appear in exhibition 100 and 220-yard dashes.

The Border Olympics are sanctioned by the United States Track and Field Federation, which is sponsored by the NCAA. The AAU would have to sanction the Texas Track Club if it ran in the Border Olympics but both organizations oppose dual sanctions. So the Texas Track Club is out of action.

Tiger Team Off Today For Laredo

Coach Jim Stehley loaded up his Snyder High School Track Team this morning and headed for Laredo to participate in the Border Olympics.

Snyder's participation in the Border meet had been uncertain as late as Tuesday, but Stehley decided to go ahead and enter his team yesterday.

The indecision stemmed from a heel injury suffered by ace sprinter Paul Tidwell last Saturday in the Canyon Reef Relays here. Tidwell ran in both the 880 yard and 440 yard relays here Saturday, but finished the 440 relay in pain. He was then withdrawn from the 440 yard dash, his specialty.

Stehley said Tidwell appeared to be ready for competition again. However, if he has more trouble with his heel he will be withdrawn. The Snyder coach had hesitated in the decision to go to Laredo until it was decided that Tidwell probably could compete because Snyder's strength is concentrated heavily in the sprints.

High school division preliminaries at Laredo are scheduled Friday, with finals in that division booked for Saturday afternoon.

Southern Methodist lost its sixth straight game in the Southwest Conference baseball campaign Wednesday, then squared away for the opening of the championship race.

University of Dallas beat the Methodists 6-4 with Smitty Duke's two-run homer in the ninth the payoff.

Today Texas A&M plays Houston at College Station while Rice hosts St. Mary's.

Friday Texas Christian and Austin College play at Fort Worth to wind up practice games for the week.

Saturday the conference race starts with Rice and Baylor playing at Waco, Texas and Texas A&M at Austin and Texas Christian and Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Kasko Is Named Astros Captain

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Astros have observed the appointment of their first captain while the San Francisco Giants are celebrating the return of their first baseman.

Manager Luman Harris said Wednesday that veteran infielder Eddie Kasko would be Houston's first field captain since its entry into the National League in 1962.

"I'm going to tell the team that when Eddie says something, it is the same as me saying it," Harris said. "I need somebody on the field to take charge. This guy is a real leader, and I think the team will benefit by his being the captain."

Kasko, 32, played seven seasons with St. Louis and Cincinnati before moving to Houston early last year. He batted .243 and drove in 22 runs in 133 games for the ninth-place Astros.

Over in the San Francisco camp, the Giants were talking about the return of Orlando Cepeda to fullscale workouts.

The slugging first baseman had not been working too hard the first 10 days of spring training while testing his right knee. Damaged cartilage was removed from the knee last Dec. 7.

"I feel good, real good," Cepeda said after clouting a 400-foot smash out of the park in his first full turn in the batting cage. He also worked out at first base.

"He's almost ready now, but I still don't want to rush him," Manager Herman Franks said.

Cepeda, entering his eighth major league season, batted .304 last year with 31 homers and 97 runs batted in.

Another pleased manager, besides Franks, was Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers who watched Johnny Podres pitch three scoreless innings in an intra-squad game.

An elbow injury sidelined Podres for all but three innings of the 1964 season, and the southpaw is trying to show he can win back a place on the Dodgers' pitching staff. His one-hit performance in his team's 3-1 triumph was a good sign to Alston.

Sun Due For Doral Open

MIAMI (AP) — The touring golf pros have been playing in an ice box this year, but the weather man predicted they will have warm sun during Miami's Doral Invitational which started today.

PGA champion Bobby Nichols was one of the many wanting relief after the coldest tour in five years.

"I played in the pro-am at Pensacola with four sweaters, a windbreaker jacket and pants, and I was still cold," Nichols said. "I lost all the feeling in my hands. It was miserable."

Palm Springs and Tucson were the only sites where heavy clothing was not required for at least a round or two, said Jerry Steelsmith.

In Miami, a temperature of 78 was forecast for the first round and maybe an 80 for the second day.

Billy Casper, winner of the Doral two of its three years, was a strong favorite to do it again.

Many New Faces Are Due Among College Cage Pilots

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There'll be a lot of new faces among the coaching fraternity in college basketball next season. No fewer than 10 resignations have been announced the last several weeks.

Ray Eddy, coach at Purdue University for 15 years, and Presley Askew, coach at New Mexico State for 12 years, were the latest to join the list. They announced their resignations Wednesday.

Other coaches who will not be back next season are Branch McCracken of Indiana University, Ed Jucker of the University of Cincinnati, Eddie Melvin of Toledo, Jim Williams of American University, Babe McCarthy of Mississippi State, Harbin Lawson of Georgia, Jim Nau of Idaho State and Chuck Orsborn of Bradley. Orsborn moves up to the post of director of athletics.

They join Taps Gallagher of Niagara and Joe Lapchick of St. John's University of New York, who will retire.

That means that Lapchick's career may end tonight when his St. John's Redmen encounter Bob Cousy's Boston College Eagles in the feature of a first-round doubleheader that opens the National Invitation Tournament in New York. Texas Western and Manhattan meet in the first game of the twinbill.

With the big boys idle awaiting the opening of the NIT and Friday's NCAA competition at four regional sites, the 27th straight victory this season for the Evansville Aces, the nation's No. 1 small-college team, highlighted Wednesday's play.

With Little All-Americas Larry Humes, 30 points, and Jerry Sloan, 27, combining for 57 points, Evansville whipped Philadelphia Textile 92-76 in the quarter-finals of the NCAA small - college championship tourney at Evansville, Ind.

It was the 33rd in a row for the Aces who have won 53 of 56 games over a two-year span.

St. Michael's of Vermont upset Akron 101-87 in another quarter-final and goes against Evansville tonight in the semifinals. North Dakota and Southern Illinois meet in the other semi. The Sioux advanced by defeating Seattle Pacific 97-83 for their 19th straight and SIU trimmed Washington of St. Louis 76-67.

No successors to Eddy and Askew have been announced. Jim Maloney replaces Gallagher, Ken Rosemond succeeds Lawson, Joe Dan Gold replaces McCarthy, Tay Baker succeeds Jucker, Bob Nichols succeeds Melvin and Lou Carnesecca steps into Lapchick's shoes.

Schollander Presented Top Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Schollander, 18-year-old winner of four Olympic gold medals in swimming, was selected Thursday night for the first annual "Grand Award of Sports."

The presentation of a 15-inch bronze and gold figure to the lad from Lake Oswego, Ore., was made by Col. John Glenn, the former astronaut, in a national television show by ABC.

Schollander, who was selected in January as the "Male Athlete of the Year" for 1964, in The Associated Press' 34th annual poll, was chosen in the final Grand Award voting over Jimmy Brown, of the Cleveland Browns, who had 66 points; Olympic running champion Peter Snell of New Zealand, 20; Bill Bradley, Princeton's All America basketballer, 14, and Notre Dame quarterback John Huarte, 7.

A computer was supposed to digest the judges' selections and write out the name of the winner of the over-all "Grand Award of Sports." It slowly came up with the points of the runners-up but Schollander's winning total never was announced on the program.

Later ABC said Schollander received 104 points.

The selections were based on 1964 performances. Winners in 20 categories of sports were presented with miniature replicas of the major award.

The Aggies will work four days a week, skipping Monday and Friday.

Astros Set For Opener

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—Houston Astro regulars were to get more than three hours batting practice today in their last preparation for the opening spring exhibition game against the Minnesota Twins Friday.

Rusty Staub slammed a home run and Eddie Kasko hit a double and a single Wednesday as the Astros won their second successive 4-1 victory over the young Rockets in an intra-squad spring training game.

Staub got hit just above his right elbow by one of Joe Hoerner's pitches his next time at bat. The injury was painful but not serious. He could miss a couple of days.

Kasko celebrated his appointment as team captain with his hits.

Johnson Now Faces Two Potentially Explosive Issues

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is feeling the heat. The two big puzzles the nation faces, oceans apart and unrelated, burst on him after a long period of comparatively cool tranquility.

Events in Viet Nam and Selma, Ala., at this moment beyond prediction by Johnson or anyone else, may deeply affect his presidency and his future.

In Viet Nam he has taken strong action against the North Vietnamese to try to smash their will to war. They show no signs of buckling. And if Johnson further intensifies the war, he can't tell what Russia and Red China will do.

But there is divided opinion here at home on what his policy should be.

Yet, if the Southeast Asian problem looks baffling, it is no more so than what is happening in Alabama where civil rights forces are demonstrating for Negroes' voting rights. Here he is reluctant to intervene directly.

He has taken some indirect steps, through aides and a call for reason, to cool off both sides, the civil rights people and the Alabama authorities. But pressure is piling up on him for far more direct action.

At Selma the heat was turned on him Sunday when 40 Negroes in a civil rights march were clubbed by State Police who had been instructed by Gov. George C. Wallace to prevent them from continuing their journey.

They had wanted to march 50 miles from Selma to the Capitol at Montgomery to present him with a petition to let more Negroes vote.

Then three white ministers from the North, in Selma to help in the civil rights struggle, were beaten on the city streets. One was gravely injured. A second march, planned for Tuesday, was forbidden by a federal judge.

He planned a hearing on the whole business today. But Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. defied the court order and started another march. This was abandoned when state troopers stood in the way.

Wednesday night there was another demonstration in Selma. Police blocked this one.

All these events brought roars of protest from across much of the nation by many political leaders, church groups, union officials, governors, mayors, legislators, students, and civil rights workers.

Republicans in Congress called for presidential action. In Los Angeles 85 civil rights workers were arrested in front of the federal building as they protested the treatment of Negroes in Selma.

In San Francisco the longshoremen's president, Harry Bridges, proposed that his union refuse to handle goods from Alabama. Demonstrators picketed the White House, one with a sign saying "shame."

Other demonstrators picketed the Justice Department and, for two days in a row, were hauled out of it when they refused to leave at closing time.

The President is preparing a bill to submit to Congress to protect Negro voting rights. As he works on it, Negroes are threatening a march on Washington unless it is a truly strong bill.

But the most unpredictable element in this uproar was the future action of the civil rights leaders in Alabama, particularly Dr. King.

There seemed no particular purpose in the Tuesday march, which troopers turned back without violence, and the demonstration Wednesday night except to dramatize for the nation their boiling discontent.

It seems unlikely this can go on indefinitely without violent explosions. But Johnson, contrary to his previous tactics on major problems before the nation, has been extraordinarily quiet on Viet Nam and Selma.

Life Isn't All Bright For Olivia

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — In the heart of every star there is a dark place where it doesn't twinkle.

You wouldn't think that is true of Olivia de Havilland, but it is, according to her own testimony.

Throughout her life whatever Livvy wanted, Livvy got. She was a standout student in school; she was still in her teens when she first won stage acclaim in Max Reinhardt's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Through a 30-year screen career she has been signally honored. She is one of the few actresses who have won two Oscars, and three other times she has been nominated for Academy Awards.

What could bother her now after such long success?

"I have a fear of being unloved," she said, "or of believing I'm loved and finding out that I'm not. Isn't that odd?"

Miss de Havilland attributes the feeling to the breakup of her parents' marriage — her father was an international patent attorney in Tokyo — during her childhood.

"I never knew my father after the age of 3," she remarked, "and I never even saw him for 10 years. I felt abandoned.

"It has profoundly affected both my life and that of my sister, Joan Fontaine. A thing like that leaves you jittery inside ever after."

She is determined that her own two children, Benjamin, 15, and Gisele, 10, won't grow up with that neeling.

"I think the biggest duty of a parent is to have comprehension," she said. "To love them is not enough. Love without comprehension has no value.

"In adolescence children need this help most. They have strong feelings, then they don't understand themselves."

At 48 Livvy, married to a French magazine editor, retains the same haunting beauty she had when she played Melanie in "Gone With the Wind" in 1939. Her hair is a color she describes as pale mink. Her reddish brown eyes glow when she talks.

She is vivacious, keenly intelligent, bubbling over with many interests.

"The world is full of infinite possibility," she said. "That's a thing so hard for many of us to remember, so easy to forget.

"Self-discouragement defeats too many people. By that I don't mean merely lack of energy. I mean negative attitudes.

"In every negative experience there is the seed of some immediately positive experience — if you can just find and develop it.

Junior Editors Quiz on ABACUS

QUESTION: How does an abacus work?

• • •

ANSWER: An abacus is a device for adding and subtracting numbers. It was used in the old days of Greece and Rome and still is the companion of the Chinese bookkeeper. There are several kinds; the one we show is composed of buttons strung on wires. Each button below the bar at the extreme right represents 1. The button above the bar stands for 5. The values of the other buttons are shown. Notice, in (1), that the 5 button has been pushed down and a single 1 button has been pushed up below the bar, so the abacus is giving the total number 6. Suppose you wish to add 6 and 2. You push two more 1 buttons up as shown in (2). Now look at (3) and see what number the abacus gives as an answer. The 5 button is toward the bar and so are the 1 buttons, making 8, which is the answer. To subtract 1 from 4, you would move four of the 1 buttons up to the crossbar to represent the first part of the problem. Then push one of these down. This leaves the abacus giving the answer, 3. Other wires give higher numbers. To put 127 on the abacus, push one of the 100 buttons up, two of the 10's, push down the 5 and push up two of the 1 buttons.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: There may be an abacus at your school. If one of your friends may have one. Try to locate one and work it as I have shown. You might make one of wires and buttons.

Arrests Made In Huge Theft Ring

NACOGDOCHES (AP)—Some 41 youths have been charged in what police here called a large auto parts theft ring. Officers say more arrests are expected.

Police Chief M. C. Roebuck said Wednesday, "They stole hubcaps, tires, carburetors, motor blocks — anything you want to name."

Five of those arrested are juveniles. Only seven of the 41 have been charged with felony theft.

Solons Continue To Probe Failure Of Texas Bank

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)— Senate investigators pursued today testimony that front men for crooked operators seized control and milked the assets of two now defunct national banks in Marlin, Tex., and Brighton, Colo.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee called for testimony from Joseph Barr, president of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which insured the deposits. The subcommittee chairman, Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., said the senators want Barr's views on what caused these and some other banks to fail and whether new federal laws are needed to provide better protection.

The subcommittee heard testimony Wednesday from Comptroller of the Currency James Saxon and two of his top aides that:

—Mobsters from the Chicago underworld, acting through a front man, may have been the ones they said milked assets of the Brighton National Bank until it failed in Colorado last year. They said counterfeit securities and forged notes figured in the deals.

—Alleged "fast buck operators" similarly bought through a false front a controlling interest in the long-established family owned First National Bank of Marlin, Tex., and brought it to failure through a long-planned mortgage deal on which they made $189,186.

—Don Silverthorne, president of the San Francisco National Bank, squandered its assets, gambling some in Las Vegas, and splitting some with a business associate, William Bennett, until the bank failed last January.

Saxon gave few details of the alleged role of underworld figures in the Brighton bank, saying a Justice Department investigation was on.

James Watson, one of Saxon's deputies, named James Egan, who bought purported control of the Brighton bank shortly after it opened in 1963, as an apparent front man.

He said there was "some indication Egan was acting as a front man for gangster elements" including Phil (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio, alleged enforcer for the Giancana mob in Chicago.

McClellan described Alderisio as a reputed member of the old "Murder, Inc.," gang.

Watson said Egan used about $400,000 borrowed from the 17th Street National Bank of Denver to buy control at Brighton.

William Camp, another Saxon deputy, named a Mathew Steiner as the front man through whom, he said, Bernard Garrett and Joseph Morris bought control of the Marlin bank.

Camp said the bank was warned the new owners must not involve it in their business deals, but within a month they had unloaded nearly $1 million worth of mortgages on it, on which they reaped a $189,186 profit, split evenly between Garrett and Morris. He said the deal caused its failure.

Board Takes Issue With New Bill

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas School Board Wednesday night unanimously passed a resolution endorsing the teacher pay raise program proposed by the Texas State Teachers Association.

In doing so, the board rejected the plan proposed by Gov. John Connally.

The board said Connally's bill would require an increase in local taxes and provide fewer benefits for teachers. It also said it would cause a general breakdown of the foundation program in the Gilmer-Aikin Law.

Supt. W. T. White said that Connally's plan would cause the Dallas School District to lose $240,062 in current state funds. He added that the TSTA bill would provide a $1,569,167 gain in state funds.

White said the Connaly bill penalized the local school districts by asking them to contribute to the teacher retirement fund and for textbooks, which have always been financed entirely by the state.

He said the Dallas School District would have to raise $2,687,313 to finance Connally's bill as compared to the $1,058,084 called for in the TSTA plan. One school board member said the Connally plan would increase the tax rate from $1.30 to $1.37 or $1.38 per $100 valuation.

Big Spring Awards Post Office Contract

Texas Tests Used For Private Gain

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP)— A five-man house committee found evidence that in a few cases school children are used as Guinea pigs for privat profit by psychological testers, Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston said last night.

Miller told the house state affairs committee the special committee lacked resources to probe very far into the problem and recommended a full - scale study by the legislative council.

"We were happy to find that there was no concerted action by any group to foist anything on the public," Miller, a member of the study group said. "But there was evidence that certain individuals, in cooperation with unknowing or knowing school officials, were using school children as guinea pigs for private profit."

Miller's resolution (HCR19) authorizing a legislative council study, using volunteer consultants from the Texas Psychological Association, was referred to a subcommittee.

Dr. Ira Iscoe, University of Texas psychology professor, said "certain untrained individuals may circulate questionnaires not scientific in content or designed to advance knowledge."

"I don't think any psychologist is interested in finding out minute details of family life. . . or in alienation of a child from his family. That is reprehensible," he commented.

Panel Votes On Health-Care Bill

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee begins voting today on the language of a comprehensive health care bill for the aged. House passage in about two weeks is predicted.

The forecast of passage was made Wednesday by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who said he hopes the committee can make its essential decisions by Friday.

This would permit House action during the week of March 22, Mills told members of the Senior Citizens Golden Ring Council.

Mills withheld details of the draft legislation but confirmed in general terms reports of a multifaceted bill on which a majority of the committee had agreed informally.

"I am thoroughly convinced that what the committee will report in the next few days and the House will pass a few days thereafter will provide a more complete solution of the problems people face — not exclusively those over 65 — than any other program suggested to us," he said.

Mills said the draft bill includes the basic administration proposal, a hospitalization plan financed by a pay-roll tax, also an additional plan for further health expenses, an increase in the Social Security old-age payments, and a broadening of the existing state-federal programs for health care of indigent and low-income persons.

The reference to benefits for some under 65 apparently referred to this part of the package, which could include health care of dependent children.

President Johnson sent Wednesday's meeting a message that "the long debate is drawing to a close. There is going to be a program of health insurance for older people in this country."

Negro Loses Bid For New Hearing

AUSTIN (AP) — James Lee Marion, young Negro sentenced to death in the 1963 slaying of wealthy Mrs. Fred L. Turner of Midland, has lost another bid to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

The court refused Wednesday to grant Marion another hearing on his murder conviction. If attorneys don't ask the court to stay its mandate in the case, the Lubbock District Court in which Marion was convicted will be ordered Friday to transfer Marion to Huntsville State Prison for execution, a court clerk said.

No opinion was written by the court in refusing to reconsider its decision affirming the conviction.

Marion, 22, was convicted of pistol whipping Mrs. Turner to death in her Midland home. Her husband, who has since died, was a prominent oil man and owner of the 1959 Kentucky Derby winner, Tomy Lee.

Trial was in Lubbock because of high feeling over the case in Midland.

LBJ Both Folksy, Serious On Job Corps Camp Tour

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — Probably no commanding officer has inspected an enlisted men's barracks the way President Johnson swept through the nation's Job Corps camp.

He wandered in and out of buildings, observed some physical training routines, poked into the mess hall to drink coffee with the boys, and bounced up and down on a dormitory bed.

Hand out-thrust, his tone chit-chatty, the President asked for names, for hometowns, inquired into progress and often played it for laughs.

'Any of you-all takin' photography? Plenty of jobs should be open," he remarked to riotous laughter as cameras recorded eagerly his coffee-drinking session.

But the chief executive also struck a serious stance Wednesday, telling one youth after another: "A lot depends on how you fellows make out. If you make a good job of it, the Congress will go along and make a lot of training available to other fellows."

The Job Corps camp, six miles up the Catoctin Mountains from here, is the first of 77 proposed conservation centers in 33 states. It is not far from Camp David, a rustic retreat used by every president since Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Johnson drew on his own experienees — drifting from job to job until he decided to enroll in college — when he grabbed one young man by the arm, marched him along by his side, and proferred some paternal advice.

"Write home because when I was in California as a boy, my mother was always after me to write," he said.

To James Blackman, 19, a New Haven, Conn., youth who is learning how to drive heavy equipment, the President said: "If you get onto that good, you'll have to come down home and help me do some bulldozin'."

Blackmon, a big fellow who sports a pearl in the pierced lobe of his right ear, beamed and replied: "Don't worry, I'll take care of you."
