Ike Urges Action On Program Without Political Interference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called on Congress today to enact his legislative program without allowing politics to interfere. He gave top rating to foreign aid and farm legislation.

Eisenhower also told Congress there is need of restraint in new authorizations for federal spending.

"Federal accounts should be balanced with enough left over for a reasonable payment on the public debt, on which we are already paying for interest alone more than nine billion dollars per year," he said.

"Proposals now before congressional committees would, if approved, raise our annual spending by tens of billions of dollars in 1961 and would disrupt federal budgets over the next five years by many scores of billions."

"We must resist the temptation, this or any year, to overspend the taxpayer's hard-earned dollars and overcentralize responsibilities in the federal government," for America's sake, he said.

Eisenhower said the one major accomplishment of Congress thus far is enactment of civil rights legislation.

Eisenhower said much legislation remains to be acted upon.

"Too great a preoccupation with events of an election year could seriously impede constructive effort. With Congress controlled by one party and the executive branch by the other, these difficulties could become severe," he said.

"We should jointly resolve that the shortness of time and political rivalries will not be allowed to prevent us from serving the American people effectively."

Urging Congress to approve his $4,175,000,000 foreign aid program, Eisenhower said this program serves the nation at large rather than any particular locality, section or group.

"The security of our country obviously demands that our mutual security program be carried forward at an adequate level," he said.

Turning to agriculture, Eisenhower said that in no domestic area is there a more obvious need for corrective legislation.

He recalled that he recently advised Congress that within broad guidelines he would approve any constructive farm bill Congress might enact.

He said he regrets "the continuing tendency to rely in agriculture upon federal controls, which inevitably create interference with lives of our farm people."

"I still believe America's farmers prefer, as certainly I do, the development of legislation which will promote progress for them toward economic equality and permit them the maximum freedom," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower also asked Congress to expand the sugar law, which expires this year. He said a four-year extension of the present sugar program, modified to give a president authority to adjust quotas in order to assure America an adequate supply, is needed to give farmers and processors the time to plan.

Turning to other recommendations for legislation, Eisenhower remarked that "some of the measures are of a kind that, at the expense of responsible government, tends to be shunted aside in an election year."

He mentioned:

1. An urgent need for enough additional federal judges to hear the greatly increased number of cases being filed each year.

2. His request of last June for removal of the 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on long-term government bonds.

3. Adequate new revenues for the highway trust fund "so that we may keep this very important highway program on schedule."

Eisenhower said his proposal for an increase in the federal gasoline tax to 4½ cents from 4 cents a gallon would meet the need.

4. His repeated request to liberalize immigration laws.

5. Money for modern office facilities for the White House and renewal of presidential powers to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

6. Federal aid for school construction.

7. Legislation to help areas afflicted with long-term unemployment resulting from technological changes.

8. Health aid for the aged. Eisenhower said the program to be presented by Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming will recognize federal-state relations and private relationships. In effect that was a sketch of the reported administration plan to base the program on federal-state sharing of costs and on private enterprise insurance.

5 Primaries Are Underway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters ballot in five primaries today. Three touch the fortunes of presidential candidates. One focuses on civil rights. The fifth is a local affair.

The primaries in Indiana, Ohio, and the District of Columbia affect the candidates for the Democratic and Republican presidential nominations.

The primary in Alabama sends some signs to Democrats on whether to expect a Southern bolt over civil rights at the national convention in July.

The primary in Florida nominates candidates for governor, Congress, and the Legislature.

The day's major interest will center on the showings of Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts in Indiana and Ohio. The Republican totals for Nixon and delegate candidates pledged to him will be compared with the Democratic totals for Kennedy and those pledged to him.

Supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson hope the day will show a burst of popularity for him in the District of Columbia even though his name is not on the Democratic ballot there.

The only candidates on the ballot are Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Wayne Morse of Oregon.

In Indiana, more than 700,000 persons are expected to vote. Kennedy and Nixon have only minor opposition on the presidential preference ballots.

Victories would bind Indiana's 34 Democratic convention votes to Kennedy and its 32 Republican convention votes to Nixon on the first ballots.

In Ohio, intramural fighting within both parties has perked up interest.

Despite these battles, Kennedy is sure to pick up 64 Democratic convention votes and Nixon at least 55 of the 56 Republican convention votes.

The other Republican vote could go to former Sen. George H. Bender. He is running as a delegate candidate pledged to himself.

On the Democratic side, one full slate supports Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as a favorite-son presidential candidate. DiSalle, however, is pledged to turn over these votes to Kennedy.

A dissident Democratic group opposes the DiSalle candidates in almost half the contests. The dissidents, however, also are pledged to Kennedy.

In Alabama, the selection of Democratic presidential electors overshadows all other political races.

There are 35 candidates for the 11 spots. One slate of 11 is pledged to bolt the Democratic party rather than support a presidential nominee hostile to Southern racial traditions.

Industrial Arts Assn. Dinner Session Here

The West Texas Industrial Arts Teachers Association meets here tonight in the High School Cafeteria for their annual "Ladies Night" event.

Dr. L. V. Hawkins, will be the main speaker of the evening. He will show a collection of old tools, many of which are several hundred years old. The tool exhibits will be open to the public in conjunction with the local Industrial Arts Students open house exhibit. The exhibit will be in the high school shop building from 6 to 10 p.m.

Dr. Hawkins, who received his doctors degree at Penn State University, is now a professor at A&M College of Texas.

Candidates Bidding For Voter Interest

Associated Press Staff Writer

If there isn't a big turnout at the Texas Democratic primary Saturday, don't blame the candidates because they are doing everything possible to stir up voter interest—from beating the drums and shaking the bushes to drubbing each other.

Drubbing each other was the principal occupation Monday.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson charged that his opponent, Waggoner Carr, was backed by loan sharks and medical quacks and that open gambling will return to Galveston if Carr should be elected.

Carr blasted back by saying that hundreds of veterans land fraud cases had been dropped because the attorney general wouldn't cooperate with local officers. The House speaker said if he is elected, he will call a statewide meeting of district attorneys to get the land fraud cases reinstated.

Gov. Price Daniel said that gas pipeline company lobbyists are conducting "a campaign of vengeance" in which they are spending half a million dollars this week in an effort to defeat him.

"They are trying to punish me to make gas pipeline companies pay a fair share of the tax burden in this state," Daniel said.

Jack Cox, who is trying to unseat Daniel, renewed his demand Monday that the governor reveal his five secret tax plans," say when he will call a special session for teachers' pay raises and say whether he still favors a penny a gallon boost in the gasoline tax.

"Texans must decide to get rid of Price Daniel in Saturday's election or be prepared to put up with him indefinitely," Cox said, adding that if Daniel wins a third term, he will probably seek a fourth.

Jerry Sadler, candidate for land commissioner, told newsmen Monday his life had been threatened by persons who told him to "lay off" his investigation of the administration of the land office. He said he had not told police of the threats.

Land Commissioner Bill Allcorn, who was at his desk in Austin, was scheduled to campaign in San Antonio Tuesday. Sadler earlier said he would concentrate on Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and the coastal cities.

Daniel was due to address the Knights of Columbus in Austin Tuesday while Cox was campaigning in San Antonio, Seguin and New Braunfels with a TV talk and rally in San Antonio at night.

Wilson was to speak at noon to the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce, then campaign in Tyler and Texarkana, while Carr had scheduled a breakfast in Yoakum and a TV appearance in Corpus Christi.

Testimony Underway In Hot Oil Case

LUBBOCK (AP)—The prosecution produced testimony and records today seeking to show a deal between agents of two companies in a non-jury trial in U.S. District Court in alleged cases of violation of the Connally Hot Oil Act.

Defendants in the trial before Judge Joseph Dooley are Standard Oil Co. of Texas, Pasotex Pipeline Co., a Standard Subsidiary, and A. T. Purcell of Snyder.

Other defendants named in the criminal case include Thompson-Powell Drilling Co., Thompson-Powell Derrick Drilling Co., their successor, Claude J. Thompson, Inc.; Palmer G. Powell of Abilene; Leslie P. Morgan and R. R. Ware, both of Snyder; and Claude J. Thompson, now deceased.

Most of the morning session was taken up by the testimony by Don T. Easton, a bookkeeper for the Thompson interests in Abilene from 1955 to 1958 when the firm went into bankruptcy.

The prosecution contends that the Thompson records identified by Easton showed supporting evidence of a conspiracy between agents of the Thompson firm and those of Pasotex. The record showed that about $2,600 was paid to Morgan, a Pasotex gauger and other Pasotex employes for such items noted as entertainment, clothing and engineering services between February and June of 1956.

Morgan, supposedly working for Pasotex, received of this amount $725 in one lump and $450 in the first two days of June, the testimony showed.

The trial testimony was expected to end by Wednesday.

CITY NOW 'WIDE OPEN'

Peddler Ordinance Stirs Debate At Council Meet

Snyder's new mayor last night held sway over a violent verbal battle concerning the second reading of the new ordinance regulating peddlers in the city limits. A less violent but none the less heated discussion followed, concerning a rate increase asked by the Lone Star Gas Co. at the first regular session of the city council since the election in April.

Words flew hot and heavy as a roomful of Snyder residents and representatives of out of town and out of state sales firms, mainly books, contested the new ordinance which would require all door-to-door salespeople to register, be fingerprinted, supply the city with three identifying photographs, and pay a $10 a year fee.

"I've never been mugged and fingerprinted in my life and I'm not going to be in Snyder," and I intend to go on selling my insurance in Snyder," shouted one irate Snyder insurance salesman who kept referring to his business "as highclassed" as any of the men on the council, despite the efforts of Mayor John Hamblen, and members of the council, backed by City Attorney W. W. Park, to explain that the ordinance was not aimed at any one personally, but at salespeople in general particularly those who rush into a town, collect money and leave no intention of giving people a fair return for their money.

Tempers flared and seemed at times about to erupt into physical violence, with only sporadic laughter at remarks of Dr. Hamblen in an effort to keep the discussion on an impersonal basis giving the gathering relief.

Hamblen stated that the ordinance is designed to protect the local people and salespeople from hucksters, adding that it may not completely curb swindling by "door to door canvasing" but (in the words of the mayor) "at least it will make a start; it gives us a club to beat him with".

The council continually asked contestants of the plan for their suggestions for a better ordinance, since everyone in the room agreed that "makers of the quick dollar" should be controlled. The district representative of one firm from Midland drew a hearty handshake from the Mayor, barrahs from the council, and applause from the assembly when she summed up the feeling of the crowd by asking if the council could figure out some way to curb the "door to door" swindlers and "leave us out".

When it was suggested that all outsiders be required to register with the police before he could solicit business, leaving the local men free of obstruction, Dr. Hamblen stated that "that old dog won't hunt very long" because without a fingerprint or a photo the swindlers could fleece the town and be gone before they were discovered.

The council explained that any local salesman would in actuality have a greater degree of freedom around town with the new ordinance because they would have a card from the city stating that they were licensed by the city to solicit business.

With the meeting getting nowhere with the council split as to the type of control needed, the second reading of the ordinance was postponed until June 13.

The council then revoked the existing ordinance which had been found to be unconstitutional. Discussion among the council, following the revoking of the ordinance, and the exodus of those concerned, centered upon the mass of complaints the town officials expect to receive as a result of Snyder being completly wide open to any and all types of door to door campign without having any ordinace on the books to curb it in any way.

Councilmen agreed that this period of "anything goes" would give the people of Snyder a chance to see what a town with no regulation of peddlers was like.

"I want some housewives" opinions at our next meeting why there must have been 300 housewives at the meeting when the first ordinance was passed demanding that we control peddlers, all we had tonight was just the sales end of it," one councilman declared.

Immediately following the peddler's ordinance discussion, Lone Star Gas Co. filed with the city council a request for an increase of 5 cents per MCF in each step of its rates for residential and commercial gas service.

This increase to the average residential user would amount to only slightly more than one cent per day, it was pointed out by Lone

Found Dead At Hermleigh

Jack Milton Adams, 38, was found dead this morning in his car parked in an alley behind his mother's home in Hermleigh. A hose led from the exhaust of the car in a window, officers said.

Justice of the Peace W. C. Davidson of Snyder rendered a verdict of suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning, stating that Adams apparantly had driven into the alley between two and four o'clock this morning, attached the hose, and sealed the car windows.

Adams had been working out of Slaton for a trucking firm but had lived in and around Hermleigh all his life having been born there April 8, 1922.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Ethel Adams of Hermleigh; one sister, Mrs. Faye Madewell of Waco; and one niece, Mrs. Harry Edmonds of Fayetteville, N.C.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Bolger Funeral Home.

Network Chief Denies Clark Got Preferential Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the American Broadcasting Co. denied today that Dick Clark was given preferential treatment over another disc jockey who was fired for refusing to say whether he had taken payola.

At the same time ABC president Leonard H. Goldenson disputed a charge that his network was guilty of a double standard of ethics.

Godenson said the fired disc jockey, Alan Freed, was the only ABC employe who refused to sign an affidavit that he had not received payola.

Freed, once known as king of rock 'n' roll, was fired last November by ABC's New York radio station WABC.

The station's manager, Ben Hoberman was due to follow Goldenson in testimony before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) told reporters he hopes today's testimony will conclude the group's investigation of undercover payments to disc jockeys to plug records.

Both Goldenson and Hoberman faced questioning as to whether other ABC disc jockeys and employes were treated as nicely as Clark, the country's only deejay with a nationally televised show.

The subcommittee has been told the answer is no. One witness said Clark benefited by a double standard of ethics by ABC.

Clark wound up two days of testimony late Monday, still debonair and composed and still insisting payola had never crossed his palms.

However, there were unmistakable signs of relief on the face of the 30-year-old TV star when Harris dismissed him from the witness stand.

"You have, from your own point of view, been a good witness," Harris said, adding an admonition to cooperate with Congress in attempts to rid the broadcasting industry of irregularities and questionable practices.

Harris, his voice deliberate and tinged with irritation made the latter point after Clark defended his taking $7,000 to plug American Airlines on his afternoon "American Bandstand" show.

Clark brushed it off as a common and accepted practice in his business. "I never gave it a thought," he said.

Breaking in, Harris suggested that the airplane plug conflicted, in spirit at least, with a provision in the Federal Communications Act. This requires that all paid advertising matter that is broadcast be announced as having been a paid ad, along with the identification of the party paying for it.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) went further. He accused Clark of making illegal plugs on his program.

"You're not a licensee," Moss declared. "What right have you to sell an ad on a program?" Moss termed the whole thing "Clarkola."

Under questioning Clark said it was his recollection that ABC had given him permission to make the plugs.

DURWARD A. PORTER

Fire Chief Resigns Here

Durward A. Porter, Snyder Fire Chief for the past four years, has submitted his resignation to become effective May 1.

Porter was appointed to head the fire department here on Jan. 24, 1956.

In his resignation submitted to City Manager Roy Dunlap, Porter said he was resigning because of health reasons.

Dunlap said the city would begin looking for a replacement immediately.

Before coming to Snyder, Porter had been employed by the Abilene Fire Dept. for over six years, and was serving as assistant fire marshal in that city at the time of his appointment to the Snyder post. During his tenure here he has served as both fire chief and fire marshal.

McDonnell Service Set

Thomas Joseph McDonnell, Arah Route, died Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at 2601 Avenue F. He was 76.

Born Feb. 22, 1884, in Providence, R. I., he had lived in Scurry County since 1905. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Judy Hays of Snyder.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the First Methodist Church with Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the church, officiating.

Burial will be in the Snyder cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

TIPRO Urges Strengthened System Of Import Controls

By MAX B. SKELTON

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Independent oil producers of Texas commended the Federal Mandatory Controls Program on oil imports today but said there is great need for the program to be strengthened.

The imports committee of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (TIPRO) said imports, in actual quantity, continue to gain although at a slower rate than before the program was established 14 months ago.

A committee report submitted to TIPRO's 14th annual convention said deterioration of the domestic industry within the past year requires that the mandatory controls be bolstered in order to achieve its objectives.

The report submitted by E. Bruce Street, committee chairman from Graham, cited four basic reasons for further curtailment of imports. They were:

1. Domestic production levels are depressed and unsteady.

2. United States total petroleum stock levels remain high despite slightly increased demand and depressed production in major producing areas.

3. Domestic crude and product prices continue to sag.

4. Exploration and development activity in the United States continues to move at a reduced rate.

Street said Texas had its lowest crude production allowable patterns in history in 1958 and 1959, scheduling 122 production days in 1958 and 123 in 1959. There were 40 days the first four months of 1958, 46 the first four months in 1959.

"In ominous contrast in 1960 the first four months total was only 39 days," Street said.

TIPRO and other independent groups plan to confer in Washington May 10 with representatives of the Departments of Interior, Treasury and Commerce on their requests for lower imports quotas.

The convention Monday adopted another resolution asking Congress to approve legislation as soon as possible exempting the small producer from utility-type controls and regulation.

The resolution did not ask that Congress act this year and did not endorse a specific bill. Indicated, however, most TIPRO members would support a bill drafted by a sub-committee of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA). IPAA's mid-year meeting last week at Denver also renewed its request for congressional action but indicated there is little hope a bill would be passed during a presidential election year.

John G. Hurd, Laredo oilman and lawyer, was elected TIPRO president, succeeding Harry C. Jones, Kilgore. J. F. West, the secretary from Graham, and Vance Foster, the treasurer from Dallas, were reelected.

Hurd, 46, is a partner in the Laredo producing firm of Killiam & Hurd and vice president of Texpata Pipe Line Co.

Ferry Suit Is Dismissed

GALVESTON (AP)—A suit that threatened to halt operation of the Galveston-Port Bolivar ferryboats has been dismissed by the Court of Civil Appeals because permission to sue the state was not obtained.

The suit was filed against the Highway Commission and officers of the three state-owned ferries by T. W. Lain and others of Galveston who claimed ownership of several acres of submerged land over which the ferries operate.

Judge Donald Markle of Galveston granted an injunction prohibiting the state from operating the ferryboats over the disputed land, but the ferries continued to operate after local citizens posted an appeals bond.

Appeals Court Justice Frank Wilson's opinion reversed Markle and dissolved the injunction, ruling Markle's court had no jurisdiction.

Bus Is In Minor Mishap

Within sight and sound of home, a bus load of about 50 Snyder high school students returning from a victorious trip to a choir and band festival in Corpus Christi were delayed nearly an hour by a minor traffic mishap about 7:30 last night on Avenue S near the intersection with Thirtieth Street.

Students stated that the bus had been trying to pull over into the right hand lane so it could turn off to the school building when it bumped the right fender of a 1956 Ford driven by Robbie Herrington of 2905 Avenue Y.

Auther Ray Dotson Jr., driver of the 1954 Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma bus, was very upset stating that he had been driving buses for 12 years without an accident of any kind.

All students questioned were high in their praise of the driver's care of them through all the heavy big city traffic between here and Corpus Christi, stating that they would like to have hime take them the next time, too.

Caudle, Connelly Set To Surrender

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle and Matthew J. Connelly are to surrender in their home towns Wednesday to begin serving 2-year terms in a federal prison.

Judge Harvey M. Johnson of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals issued an order Monday permitting Caudle to surrender to the U.S. marshal at Charlotte, N.C., and Connelly to surrender in New York.

The two men were sentenced for attempting to block the income tax evasion prosecution of a St. Louis shoe manufacturer. They have delayed imprisonment nearly four years by legal maneuvers.

Connelly was White House appointments secretary under President Harry S. Truman. Caudle headed the Justice Department's tax division.

The Gulf of Mexico measures about 1,000 by 800 miles.

Star's District Manager C. L. Calloway.

On Feb 15, the Railroad Commission of Texas issued an order authorizing an increase in the city gate charge of 5.4 cents per MCF. The rate revision requested by Lone Star is the exact amount of the increase in the charge at the city gate ordered by the Railroad Commission, Calloway emphasized that the requested increase will only offset the increased cost of gas to Distribution Divison at the city gate.

"The rate now in effect in Snyder," Calloway pointed out," was based on our 1951 cost of service, yet the cost of serving our customers had increased continually since that year. In addition to the increase of 5.4 cents in the city gate charge, pipe costing $100 in 1951 now costs $159.30, meters are up from $100 to $126.70, vehicles, $100 to $140.24, and payroll cost per employee $100 to $151.60.

"The increased cost of purchasing gas in the field is the primary cause for the increased expense in delivery gas to the city gates," Calloway said. "In recent years, numerous large gas pipe lines have been constructed from gas producing areas of Texas, Louisianna, and Oklahoma to virtually every section of the United States, and these new lines have vigorously competed for all available supplies of gas," he said.

"Progressively higher wellhead prices have been offered by these new buyers, and Lone Star has, of necessity, had to meet these higher competitive prices for both existing gas supplies and for the new reserves required to protect the present and future requirements of our customers," Calloway said.

Calloway asked the Council to give prompt approval to this application, since the requested increase is the very minimum amount necessary to allow the company to continue providing a dependable and adequate supply.

The council tabled any action on the gas rate until such a time as the gas company furnishes it with facts and figures upon which they based their claim.

In other business, hurried by the mayor's insistence that "it's getting on into the shank of the evening, let's get on with it," the council appointed Bill Vestal to fill a position on the Board of Adjustment left vacant by the resignation of Gene Dulaney; accepted the first reading of the annexation of the Wade Addition, located west of Lamar Junior High; extended Edgar Taylor's contract as special tax agent for collection on delinquent taxes; authorized the city engineer to draw plans and specification for paving of Thirty-seventh Street from Dalton to Avenue V; approved the opening of a street through a block in the Parkway Addition; authorized the city manager, Roy Dunlap, to advertise for bids on the used desks from the old city hall; and set the next meeting date at June 13 so the city manager could attend the Annual Spring Meeting of the Texas City Managers Assn.

A committee composed of Jim Mixon, D. D. Shelburne, and Bill Eiland was appointed to appoint a three-member equalization board to serve July 26, at the hearing on oil and other properties.

South Carolina has an area of 30,989 square miles.

Pair Hurt In Mishap Near Big Spring

Glenn Henry Koonce and Tommy Royce Davidson of Snyder are in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring for treatment of injuries received in a traffic mishap over the weekend.

The were injured when they were thrown from a car driven by Davidson after a rear tire blew out on the vehicle. The mishap occurred about one mile north of Big Spring on State Highway 350.

Woman Charged In Death Of Stepson

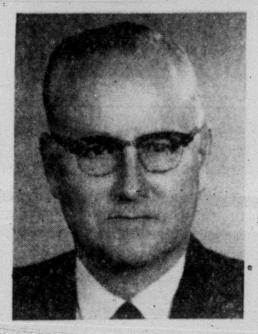

HILLSBORO (AP)—Ruthie Stephenson, 42, a Negro from nearby Itasca, was charged with murder with malice today in the death of her stepson, Charlie Williams, 7.

The boy was removed from the woman's burning house Saturday night. Officers said the boy appeared to have been dead for some time and ordered an autopsy.

The woman was accused of beating the boy to death with a strap and setting the house afire. She told authorities the lad took food from the refrigerator while she was away.

Chessman Arguments Still Seething

By LEIF ERICKSON

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — The bitter conflict Caryl Chessman created in life seethed on today after his execution finally carried out after 12 suspense-filled years in death row.

A federal judge telephone to order delay got through to the gas chamber Monday just moments too late. He sharply said one of Chessman's lawyers should have reached him sooner.

Before the cyanide pellets dropped Gov. Edmund G. Brown debated Chessman's fate with protesting pickets on his mansion lawn and later was called "the hangman of California" by the picket leader.

Throughout Europe protests were raised against the "monstrous deed" and "appalling penalty."

Stanley Mosk, California attorney general whose official duty had been to resist Chessman's persistent court appeals, said justice had been done under existing law. But he declared Chessman's death should give impetus to demands that the law be changed."

Chessman, 38, convict-author condemned for kidnaping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women in January 1948, died with dignity, as he had said he would. He insisted to the end he was innocent of the crimes that cost his life.

Just before taking the last 13 steps into the death chamber, Chessman told Warden Fred Dickson he was not the red light bandit who took two women from parked cars in lovers' lanes and forced them at gunpoint to perform acts of sex perversion.

Strapped in the straight-backed death chair, the dark-haired Chessman smiled reassuringly at a red-haired woman reporter he personally had invited to witness his execution.

Ignoring others of 60 witnesses pressed against the chamber's heavy glass windows, Chessman talked to Eleanor Garner Black, trying to have her understand a final message she could not hear through the sound-proof glass.

Mrs. Black, Los Angeles Examiner reporter, read his lips as saying "Tell Rosalie goodby." Whatever else he said could not be grasped.

The farewell was for Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney. In Chessman's last night in the waiting room outside the gas chamber he named Miss Asher as the executrix of his estate in a hand-written codicil to his will. He directed that future royalties from his books be used to campaign for abolition of capital punishment.

The ritual of death was over in 10 minutes for Chessman, after 12 years of court battling which won postponement of eight previous execution date and attracted worldwide attention. His body was to be cremated today without ceremony and the ashes sent to Glendale, Calif., his one-time home.

He was strapped in the chair at 10:02 a.m. The potassium cyanide pellets were dropped into a pan of sulphuric acide at 10:03.5.

As the first fumes rose, Chessman took a deep breath. His head snapped back. Saliva drooled from his gaping mouth. Finally his shoulders trembled, his fingers tensed.

At 10:12 a.m. two prison medical officers officially pronounced him dead.

12-Year Fight Is Viewed As Legalized Torture In Europe

LONDON (AP)—Europeans today bitterly denounced the execution of Caryl Chessman. Two small youth demonstrations were reported from Latin America and Africa, the Middle East and Asia paid almost no attention to the California sex criminal whose legal maneuvers kept him out of the gas chamber for 12 years.

The European continent heard the news of Chessman's death with horror and incredulity. Until the end, many had believed the convict-author would be granted another stay of execution.

Few saw his protracted fight for life as a tribute to American justice. They viewed it as legalized torture. Some said it would harm the prestige of the United States.

The execution dominated European front pages. Headlines screamed of the telephone dial mixup that robbed the condemned man of an extra hour of life.

There was little attempt to trace the history of the case or to describe Chessman's crimes in much detail.

Not since Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were electrocuted in the United States for treason had an execution aroused such controversy in Europe.

Rocks were hurled through the windows of the U.S. Embassy in Lisbon. Paris police stood guard over the U.S. Embassy there.

Lord Birkett, one of England's foremost lawyers, termed the execution repugnant and said "Chessman must have suffered a thousand deaths before the end came."

The Italian Communists and Roman Catholics were joined in rare unanimity. L'Unita, organ of Italy's Reds, wrote of the "atrocious crime by so-called American justice." Rome's Il Messagero said: "The law killed a man on his way to redemption. Justice which resorts to torture is no longer justice."

Opponents of capital punishment seized on Chessman's ordeal as a dramatic argument for abolishing the death penalty.

Raimondo Manzini, director of the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, which had appealed for mercy for Chessman, wrote that "the execution of criminals is repugnant to modern conscience."

Britain's press complained mainly because the execution had been so long delayed.

"The onus of legitimate criticism lies against a system which permits so protracted a game of cat and mouse with the life of a citizen," said the Daily Telegraph.

In the Scandinavian nations, which have no death penalty, the papers called for an end to capital punishment everywhere.

"A pardoy of justice" said the Paris Combat, left-wing but non-Communist.

Communist East Germany's official ADN news agency called the execution an example of American inhumanity.

An Austrian voice dissented. "The Chessman case revealed the true greatness of the legal system which is the most democratic in the world," said the influential Die Presse of Vienna.

In Australia, both of Sydney's afternoon papers devoted their entire front pages to stories of the execution. Both blasted it editorially.

The Sydney Sun cited the reprieve given Chessman two months ago S because the State Department feared demonstrations during President Eisenhower's tour of South America. "Hardly anything can equal the cynicism which could reprieve Chessman two months ago for political reasons but allow him to die when those reasons no longer exist," the paper commented.

In South America, about 200 Ecuadorean high school students massed for an hour in front of the U.S. Embassy in Quito, shouting "Down with the Yankees" "Assassins," and "Criminals" as 50 police kept order.

Another 100 students marched around the U.S. Embassy in Montevideo, Uruguay, shouting "Yankee murderers."

Venezuelan police armed themselves with tear gas to protect the U.S. Embassy in Caracas after anonymous telephone calls threatened a demonstration, but none materialized.

In Mexico lawyers and reform groups spoke of unfairness but the newspaper Excelsior said U.S. justice had acted in accordance "with conscience, not with sentimentality."

About 20 high school students demonstrated before the American consulate in Montreal and police arrested three.

Zakharov For Sokolovsky

MOSCOW (AP)—Marshal M. V. Zakharov, former commander of Soviet troops in East Germany, apparently has replaced Marshal V. D. Sokolovsky as chief of the general staff for the Soviet army and navy.

Sokolovsky, 63, has been reported in ill health.

Zakharov greeted foreign military attaches at the May Day ceremonies Sunday in Red Square.

A veteran of the Bolshevik revolution, Zakharov took part in the storming of the Winter Palace in 1917.

During World War II he commanded the army in the Ukraine and led major operations in Romania, Hungary, Austria and Czechoslovakia in the winter of 1944-45. He is now 62.

Sokolovsky, one of the Soviet Union's top soldiers, led Soviet troops into Berlin in World War II and in April, 1946 succeeded marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as commander of all Soviet forces in Germany. He held this command through the Berlin blockade then returned to Moscow as a deputy defense minister.

Delay Is Won By Beverly's Mother

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Beverly Aadland's mother, Florence, has won a delay in juvenile proceedings which could put the girl in a youth institution the next four years.

A county probation report alleged Monday that the 17-year-old girlfriend of the late Errol Flynn is a sex delinquent and has dated men since she was 12.

Mrs. Aadland, 53, who is accused of not properly supervising her daughter, told reporters she would not object to the girl going into a foster home if it were that of "good Christian people I know."

The hearing was continued until today to consider a score of motions but action was expected to be held up until May 12.

Dayton University has been runnerup in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament five times in the last nine years.

Chloresterol Is Curbed By Chemical

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Chloresterol, a fatty substance believed to be a factor in heart disease, has been permanently curbed in test rabbits by a chemical.

Dr. J. Philip Savitsky, a research associate at Montefiore Hospital, in the Bronx, N.Y., said he had treated the rabbits with injections of desoxynucleic acid.

It may be dangerous to treat humans with the acid until further information is known, Savitsky reported to the annual meeting of the American Society for Clinical Investigation.

Marriage Or Jail Offered Woman

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Marry the boy friend she stabbed or go to jail. That was the choice for a 39-year-old Tampa woman.

Patricia Lee Kopenhaver pleaded guilty Monday before Judge L.A. Grayson of stabbing Eugene Barry, 49, during a lover's quarrel. The victim told Judge Grayson he was not seriously hurt and would like to marry the woman.

The judge gave Miss Kopenhaver a choice: either get a marriage license by Monday or show up for sentencing.

The defendant and Barry immediately applied for a license.

Charged With Slaying Tot

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston man was charged with murder Monday in the death of a baby, 2.

Alfred Galloway, 26, is accused of beating the little boy to death. He told police he has whipped the infant, Samuel Taylor Jr., but not recently.

Galloway allegedly beat the youngster Saturday while the longshoreman was staying with the three children of Mrs. Geneva Taylor.

Jesse Taylor, 13, the dead boy's brother, told police he and Galloway were playing cards when Galloway left the room and started scolding Samuel and his sister.

An autopsy showed the boy died of internal injuries, caused by a blow or blows to the stomach.

The eight teams in the National Basketball Assn. averaged 115.3 points per game during the 1959-60 season.

Nuclear Carrier Proves Too Costly

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Navy's top airman says the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier has proved to be too costly despite some attractive features.

Vice Adm. Robert B. Pirie, deputy chief of naval operations for air, said the atomic carrier "has a lot of glamor but really doesn't make much sense."

The Enterprise, a nuclear-powered carrier being built now, is an experiment which the Navy did not realize would be so expensive, Pirie told the Aviation Writer's Assn. Monday. The nuclear carrier costs five times as much as oil-powered carriers.

Defense Controversy Grips Canada

By MAX HARRELSON

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada is in the midst of a sizzling controversy over defense policy. It all started with the Arrow—and in Canada that's no joke.

The Arrow is the jet interceptor plane that the Canadian government developed at the cost of 500 million dollars and then suddenly canceled.

That was 14 months ago. Since then the controversy has broadened to include the U.S.-built Bomarc-B missile and has become entangled in U.S. policy as well as domestic politics.

At least one seat held by the governing Conservative party in Parliament has fallen to the Liberals as a result of the issue. Its a good bet it will play a major role in future elections.

The decision to cancel production of the Arrow has far reaching significance apart from the loss of dollars.

It means that Canada left it-reachin significance apart from It means that Canada left itself only this choice: Either continue to rely on American weapons or get out of the air defense business altogether.

That's where the Bomarc missile enters the picture. The government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has committed itself to build two multimillion-dollar launching bases for this antiaircraft missile.

Construction of one of the Bomarc sites at North Bay, Ont., is expected to be completed in 1961. Land has been purchased for the other site in Quebec province.

In the midst of all this, the government faces the possibility that the Bomarc may be abandoned by the United States, leaving Canada with two costly but useless installations.

The latest word from Washington is that the Bomarc program is being cut sharply after it failed in eight of its first nine tests.

While the Canadian government has not yet given up on the Bomarc, there already is discussion of alternate plans.

If the Bomarc finally proves successful, Canada will dismantle its nine squadrons of CF100 jet interceptors. There is some concern however, about relying entirely upon the Bomarc since it is designed solely for defense against manned planes and would be useless against enemy missiles.

The U.S. Air Force has proposed that Canada acquire three supersonic F101 squadrons to replace the CF100 units. But no decision on this is likely until the Bomarc proves out, failures or is cancelled by the U.S. government.

Although many Canadians find the dependence on the United States hard to take, not a single voice was heard when the prime minister challenged the House of Commons:

"Is there anyone in this House who will say that Canada, in order to assert itself in the matter of defense, should enter into a field of expenditure which will run into billions and tens of billions of dollars before it is achieved?"

Students In Korea Defy Martial Law

By GENE KRAMER

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Thousands of rebellious students defied martial law today to surge through four South Korean cities today demanding new National Assembly elections at once. Troops broke up one demonstration in Seoul with tear gas.

About 20,000 students marched in Pusan for the third straight day, 700 paraded in Taegu and 1,500 in Kimhae, all demanding the Assembly's dissolution.

No clashes were reported in those three cities.

About 150 students squatted for 40 minutes in front of the National Assembly building in Seoul.

The demonstrators charged the Assembly's election in 1958 "through use of violence, money and illegal tactics"—was as fraudulent as the March 15 election that gave ex-President Syngman Rhee a fourth term and elected Assembly Speaker Lee Ki-Poong vice president.

Acting President Huh Chung's caretaker government wants the Assembly, before new elections, to adopt constitutional amendments changing the existing American-style presidential system to a premier-cabinet form of government. The changes are expected to transfer much of the president's power to a prime minister elected by the Assembly.

The new pressure on Huh's regime came as the Assembly finally accepted Rhee's resignation submitted six days ago to end his 12 years of autocratic rule over the republic he founded.

Truman Is Named Missouri Delegate

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Missouri Democrats named Harry S. Truman a delegate to the Democratic National Convention and instructed the Missouri delegation to cast its 39 votes as a unit for Sen. Stuart Symington as the presidential nominee.

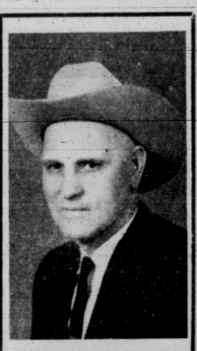

The former president has declined persistently to name his choice for the nomination. He was quoted as saying in Washington, before Monday's state convention, that he would not be bound by the unit rule.

Man Is Chosen For Too Many Offices

MARICOPA, Calif. (AP) — A man who protested he already had all the public offices he could take care of and refused to permit his name to be on the ballot has become the new mayor of Maricopa, in central California.

Arnold Williams thanked friends but said that inasmuch as he was president of the Chamber of Commerce and held two lodge offices he wouldn't run.

Cards were printed with his name and handed out at the polls. He beat out Mayor William Devine by four votes.

Nixon To Ask For Moderate Platform On Civil Rights

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has passed the word to Republicans he wants a moderate civil rights plank written into the party's platform.

It would be based largely on the civil rights program President Eisenhower submitted to Congress. Parts of this were included and parts omitted from the bill now awaiting Eisenhower's signature.

Although Nixon is prepared to take advantage of an expected Democratic split, he has told friends he doesn't expect civil rights to be a paramount issue in the fall campaign.

This will be particularly true, he is quoted as saying, if the Democrats nominate Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass.—as Nixon now thinks they are, likely to do.

Although Kennedy voted for most of the more stringent amendments that were offered to the civil rights bill Congress passed this year, he sided in 1957 with Southern opponents on a couple of important tests.

He voted against Nixon's position then that the Senate could take up a House-passed bill without sending it to the Judiciary Committee, where it might have been buried. He supported the Southern-sponsored amendment to require jury trials for persons charged with contempt of court under provisions of the act.

In 1957 both Nixon and Kennedy backed a proposal under which the attorney general could have initiated civil rights injunction suits in other than voting rights cases.

Nixon has retreated from that position, largely because of advice from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who omitted it from this year's administration proposals. When Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) tried to write the injunction provision into this year's bill, Kennedy was away campaigning and was not recorded as voting.

Nixon obviously hopes as the Republican presidential nominee to collect the electoral votes of some Southern states. He thinks he might be able to do this if he holds a moderate position on civil rights.

The vice president does not agree that the Republicans need to take an extreme position on enforcement of civil rights in order to attract what could be the deciding votes of Negroes in the Northern big cities.

Nixon expects to make it clear in the campaign that if he is elected, he would use the office of president to preach the moral right of equality. His friends say he would go far beyond what President Eisenhower has done in this field because he feels persuasion will accomplish more than the enactment of new laws.

One of the things Nixon wants the GOP platform to support is statutory authority for a committee to eliminate racial discrimination in carrying out government contracts. Nixon now heads such a committee set up by presidential order.

Nixon also favors a provision, omitted from this year's bill, for federal help to states and communities in integrating their schools.

Big CD Test Is Slated By Cities Today

AUSTIN (AP)—Numerous Texas cities will participate in a nation-wide Civil Defense test today.

School children will take readings on radioactive fallout; police and fire units will hold drills and one city, Killeen, plans to air drop a rescue team into a downtown area "hit" by an explosion.

Between 12 and 12:30 p.m., all radio and television programs will be off the air. Stations on the AM band operating at 640 and 1240 kilocycles will test their capability for getting information to the public over the emergency system. Combined

The division of defense and disaster relief said Monday the warning of the approach of enemy craft will come at 12 noon and less than three hours later Civil Defense officials will learn their cities have been "hit."

Dallas planned to sound sirens and activate its control center. Grand Prairie will hold school drills, first aid exercises and a siren test.

Some 160 schools equipped with radiation detection kits will make readings of the radioactive fallout and report through Civil Defense communication channels.

The state control center here, Texas' underground emergency site of state government, will be activated from 12 noon until 10 p.m. the state civil defense council, made up of representatives of major state agencies, will be in the center to work out the problems they would be confronting if the attack were real.

Texas' 27 district disaster offices will be activated. The office here said each district station has received a sealed envelope containing a civil defense problem that district will be asked to work out during the alert.

Plane Crash Kills Three

YORK, Pa. (AP) — A C123B Air Force twin-engine transport lost its stabilizer in flight Monday and crashed in a farm field near this south-central Pennsylvania community, killing two officers and a civilian.

Killed were Capt. John H. Wrisberg, Elizabethtown, Pa., aircraft commander; Capt. Kenneth L. Church, Middletown, Pa., and Walter Young, Lancaster, Pa., a civilian flight engineer.

An Air Force spokesman said the plane was on a routine test flight after undergoing repairs at Olmstead Air Force Base in Middletown. Spokesmen added there had been no radio contact with the craft and no indication it was in trouble.

Cause of the crash is under investigation.

Daily Crude Flow Rises

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A sharp increase in Oklahoma was the main cause of a 44,300-barrel boost to 7,045,135 barrels in national daily average production of oil for the week ended April 30, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma production increased 29,500 barrels per day to 544,400. The increase is about equal to decreases in two previous weeks.

The Journal estimated 1960 production at 866,648,000 compared with 865,895,000 in the same period a year ago.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,551,475 and in New Mexico, 312,000.

13 Pulitzer Awards Are Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — Pulitzer Prizes have been awarded to Allen Drury's best-selling novel "Advise and Consent," the Broadway musical "Fiorello!" and the Los Angeles Times.

A. M. Rosenthal of the New York Times has also been honored with the highest accolade of his profession for the reporting that resulted in his expulsion from Poland last year.

The 1960 prizes were among 13 awards and one citation in the fields of letters, music and journalism announced by the trustees of Columbia University Monday.

Awards in newspaper cartooning and art were not made this year.

The Los Angeles Times won the gold medal for meritorious public service for its campaign against narcotics smuggling across the Mexican border. The newspaper was cited for the far-reaching effects produced by a series on the problem written by its reporter, Gene Sherman. The Times won the medal in 1942 for a battle to uphold freedom of the press.

In its narcotics fight, Sherman spent seven months traveling to Mexico, Washington, New York, Texas and San Francisco, poring over records, interviewing officials, addicts and even peddlers.

Reporters for the Atlanta Constitution, the Washington Evening Star, an editor of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance, the editor of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot and a United Press International photographer won other prizes in journalism.

Individual journalism awards carry a $1,000 prize. Prizes for arts and letters are $500 each.

"Advise and Consent," a massive novel on Washington politics, has been a best-seller since its publication last year. It has been serialized, sold to the movies and is being prepared for the New York stage.

It was the first novel that Drury, a Washington newspaper correspondent for 17 years, ever wrote. Drury, a 41-year-old bachelor born in Houston, Tex., was a member of the New Rock Times staff when he finished it. He has since become capitol correspondent for the Reader's Digest.

The award to "Fiorello!" a musical based on the life of New York's late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, caught Broadway by surprise. It was only the third time in the 44-year history of the awards endowed by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer that a musical had won such an award. The first went to "Of Thee I Sing" in 1932 and the second to "South Pacific" in 1950.

Shaping the "Fiorello!" honor are authors Jerome Weidman and George Abbott, Jerry Bock, who composed the score, and Sheldon Harnick, who did the lyrics. The show stars Tom Bosley and Patricia Wilson.

New York Times reporter Rosenthal, known to friends and colleagues as Abe, won his award for international correspondence. It was both the highest honor in his field and—by coincidence—a birthday present. He turned 32 Monday.

The award was the 27th Pulitzer won by the New York Times or a member of its staff.

Rosenthal, a native of Ste. Marie, Ont., became an American citizen in 1951.

He was evicted from Poland for what the Communist government called digging too deeply. It wasn't a question of truth, he was told, but of the government's inability to "tolerate such probing reporting."

Jack Nelson of the Atlanta Constitution won the prize for local reporting where edition time was a factor. Nelson, 30, a native of Talladega, Ala., won for a series of articles on mental institutions in Georgia. He joined the Atlanta paper in 1952.

In the category of local reporting without deadline pressure the winner was Miriam Ottenberg of the Washington Evening Star for her series exposing a Washington used car racket. Born in Washington in 1914 she joined the Star in 1937.

Her award marked the third year in a row that a Star staff member had shared in the local reporting honor and the second consecutive year that a woman reporter for the Star won.

Vance Trimble of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance won the national affairs reporting award for a series of stories exposing nepotism in congressional payrolls. A 46-year-old native of Harrison, Ark., Trimble joined Scripps-Howard in 1939 as a copy editor on the Houston Press.

Lenoir Chambers brought the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot its second Pulitzer for editorial writing. The newspaper won its first in 1929. Chambers, 68, a native of Charlotte, N.C., has been editor of the paper since 1950. He was honored for editorials on school segregation.

United Press International's Andrew Lopez won the news photography award for pictures on the Cuban executions. Lopez, who will be 50 next Tuesday, was born in Burgos, Spain.

Historian Margaret Leech won her second Pulitzer prize with her book "In the Days of McKinley." Born in Newburgh, N.Y., in 1893, she has written for newspapers and magazines as well as writing novels and history. Her first Pulitzer was in 1942 for "Reveille in Washington."

A special citation in history went to Garrett Mattingly, a Columbia University professor, for his book "The Armada." Mattingly, who will be 60 on Friday, was born in Washington. He joined the Columbia faculty in 1948.

Another two-time winner was Samuel Eliot Morison for his biography "John Paul Jones." The 72-year-old historian, an old-line Bostonian, is both a retired rear admiral and an emeritus professor at Harvard.

For his first book of poems, "Heart's Needle," 34-year-old William Dewitt Snodgrass won the prize for poetry. Born in Wilkinsburg, Pa., he teaches at Wayne State University in Detroit. He has also taught at Cornell University and the University of Rochester in New York.

The prize in music was given to Elliott Carter, a youthful-looking 51-year-old native New Yorker, for his second string quartet.

Pleads Guilty To Embezzlement Count

DALLAS (AP)—A tearful woman, a former bank teller, told Federal Court Monday she embezzled $1,500 to pay debts her ex-husband left behind.

The former spouse, she explained, went to Cuba to help Fidel Castro.

Judge Whitfield Davidson listened to Mrs. Ima Wilson's story and sentenced the woman, 44, to six months in jail and fined her $200.

The sentence was probated when Mrs. Wilson paid her fine.

Mrs. Wilson pleaded guilty to taking the cash, which has been repaid.

Parley Clouded By Racial Strife

By DENNIS NEELD

LONDON (AP) — Prime ministers of the British Commonwealth met today under a cloud of bitterness generated in their family of nations by South Africa's racial policies.

Eight prime ministers, one president and two senior ministers gathered in the paneled cabinet room at No. 10 Downing St. for a two-week conference on problems facing their 11 nations.

The meetings are confidential, held behind locked doors. It is the ninth meeting of the government chiefs since World War II and the most crucial in the history of the Commonwealth.

Six of the 11 leaders are white, four are Asians and one is an African Negro. They represented Australia, Britain, Canada, Ceylon, the Central African Federation of the Rhodesias and Nyasaland, Ghana, India, Malaya, New Zealand, Pakistan and the Union of South Africa—some 700 million people, one-fourth of the world's population.

The South African government's stern crackdown on African nationalism overshadowed all other issues to be discussed.

Condemnation of South Africa's apartheid policy of strict racial segregation spreads throughout the Commonwealth, and not just in the Asian and African nations. The alliegiance of the latter members appeared certain to be seriously weakened if strong pressure were not brought to bear on the South African government to modify its policy.

On the other hand, South Africa's National party government already is showing signs of pulling out of the Commonwealth, and British leaders fear any formal condemnation by the conference would be the last straw.

Cheryl Ends Flight From Authority

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "You can't run away forever."

With these words, 16-year-old Cheryl Crane—actress Lana Turner's daughter—ended her latest flight from authority.

She and two other girls escaped Friday from the El Retiro Home, a county-operated girl's school in suburban Sylmar.

Monday, after subsisting three days "mostly on beans," Cheryl called her father and said they wanted to go back to the school.

Steve Crane, Beverly Hills restaurateur, picked them up near a supermarket a mile from the El Retiro Home.

He turned Cheryl, Donna Wilson, 16, and Cheryl Zumbrum, 15, over to juvenile authorities. They said probation officers will decide if the girls will go back to El Retiro, a minimum security facility, or to some more heavily guarded home.

Cheryl became a ward of the court two years ago after she fatally stabbed John Stompanato, her mother's lover, in Miss Turner's Beverly Hills home.

At 13 she had run away from a girls' school and was found wandering alone on skid row in Los Angeles.

The girls said they spent the weekend at the home of a friend whom they wouldn't identify.

Section Of Renewal Law Is Ruled Out

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A section of the state urban renewal law was ruled unconstitutional Monday by the 4th Court of Civil Appeals. The ruling is expected to have sweeping effect.

The opinion was written by Justice Jack Pope on a suit contesting an urban renewal election June 27, 1959, in Laredo. The urban renewal proposal was defeated 2,072 to 1,885.

The state law allows cities to participate in federal urban renewal programs under which property designated for redevelopment may be condemned and resold, with the federal and local governments absorbing any loss if the sale price is less than that paid the former owner.

Pope's opinion said the section of the law under which the city allowed only property owners to vote is unconstitutional. The rest of the law will stand, however, he said.

The ruling came on an appeal filed by a group headed by J. J. Richter after a district court turned down their suit seeking to have the election voided.

"An election to determine a matter of policy is open to all qualified voters within the voting district," Pope wrote.

"The fact that a policy, once adopted, will cost money is not the controlling test," the opinion said.

"The Laredo resolution on which voters were expressing their wishes does not contain anything which could be called a vote for a direct expenditure of money.

"An election which does not concern the expenditures of money is open to all qualified voters," it added.

Crash Stills Radio Voice

CHICAGO (AP) — A fiery helicopter crash has stilled the familiar radio voice that had guided thousands of Chicago's rush-hour motorists around traffic tie-ups for 17 months.

Police flying officer Leonard Baldy, 33, who took to the skies in a helicopter and relayed traffic information over radio station WGN, died in the crash shortly before one of his scheduled broadcasts late Monday. Killed with Baldy was his pilot, Horace G. Ferry, 40.

The familiar white helicopter crashed in flames into a concrete sidewall of a 20-foot railroad embankment at a busy West Side intersection. No one at the intersection was hurt.

Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn speculated that the helicopter had engine trouble and Ferry tried to land it on a railroad track.

Report Nixon Wants Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune reported today that "it can be said on high authority" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon definitely wants Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as his running mate.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said: "On the assumption that he himself will be nominated for president, Mr. Nixon is prepared to wait until the last minute at the Republican National Convention in July to give the New York governor a chance to make a final judgment on accepting the vice presidential nomination."

The story noted that Rockefeller has said unequivocally that he would not "entertain any thought of accepting nomination to the vice presidency."

Rockefeller took himself out of the running for the presidential nomination last December.

Hoffa Wins Delay In Ouster Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa has won an indefinite postponement of a trial aimed at having him ousted as president of the Teamsters Union. It had been scheduled to start today.

Charges of misusing $600,000 of union funds were brought against Hoffa by the court-appointed monitors of the union. Hoffa was denied any wrong-doing.

The U.S. Court of Appeals granted the indefinite stay Monday by a 2-1 decision.

The court agreed it said it wanted to hear a number of union appeals in connection with the case next week before allowing the trial to start. It also said the status of the union monitors was in question and the union was attacking the validity of the trial itself. In addition, it said, attorneys representing large numbers of Teamsters members are seeking to intervene in the case.

All these things must be decided, the court majority said before the district court can proceed with Hoffa's trial. Judge Wilbur K. Miller dissented, saying he favored allowing the trial to start today.

Judges Henry Edgerton and Charles Fahy granted the stay pending arguments May 9-10 and pending "further orders of this court."

Hoffa has brought all his legal guns to bear in the tangled case. He was allowed to take office as president of the union under a majority of the monitors' board that provided for monitors to be named by a court to oversee the union and clean up alleged corruption in the big organization.

The monitors now contend that Hoffa has failed to obey their cleanup orders and should be ousted. Hoffa has charged the compromise is out to get him by any means.

State Land Leasing Bill Is In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to provide for leasing of oil and gas rights in certain government-owned lands in Texas was in the Senate today.

The bill, which would permit the Interior Department to act as leasing agent for the state, passed the House Monday.

It would provide for the leasing of oil and gas products reserved to the state in land owned by the federal government and subject to certain state laws.

These state laws relate to the reservation by the state for public schools and asylum funds a part of the proceedings from oil and gas sales.

offers you what no motor oil ever could before

New Trop-Artic* brings to the aid of your motor a new lubricating formula that cleans, protects, and preserves smooth performance under the most severe engine tests for automobile oil.

The secret of Trop-Artic's exceptional performance is a revolutionary super-cleaning element called FDA, made only by Phillips Petroleum Company. In hundreds of thousands of miles of testing, typical car owners reported these important benefits from new Trop-Artic with FDA:

- Less oil consumption
- Less engine knocking
- Less mis-firing
- More miles per gallon of gasoline
- Cleaner oil filters

Change to new Trop-Artic Motor Oil and see if you don't notice these improvements in the performance of your car!

DOWN THE MIDDLE, JOE—Golf trick shot artist Joe Kirkwood demonstrates his slightly unorthodox approach to the game as he is caught in a top-heavy backswing prior to taking a healthy cut at the snow-white spere. He has scheduled an appearance at the Snyder Country Club tomorrow at 5 o'clock, with admission prices being $1.50 for adults while children accompanied by grown-ups will be admitted free.

SPORTS

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

"Stop a while and smell the flowers. Why take out all your working frustrations on a golf ball at the club and then go home and take out your golfing frustrations on the family?"

Sound philosophy coming from what sounds like a sound philosopher. The fellow on the speaking end of that particular word grouping was Joe Kirkwood, a trick shot artist who will be here tomorrow for an exhibition at the Snyder Country Club. It looks like a reelly beeg show, folks, and one well worth the buck and a half admission fee.

To be a clown, you first have to become a master of whatever endeavor you have chosen. Take an ice skater, for instance. In order to perform ridiculous acts on skates he must first have all the "ins and outs" of the pastime at his disposal in order to be a top-flighter...and, most important of all, to remain a LIVE top-flighter.

Another example can be seen in the field of music, or an offshoot of same, when you take a look at Homer and Jethro. Where did they get their start? In a bona fide symphony orchestra, no less.

And Spike Jones is still another example, music lovers. Catch him out of his plaid suit and he is possessor of a grade-A type dance band.

The same is true of Kirkwood. He is fundamentally capable of shooting sub-par golf and demonstrates same on occasion. But he'd rather make people laugh than gasp, and for that reason, has become know as the most accomplished trick shot artist of possibly his or any other time.

At Least They're All "Joes"

NOW THIS INDIVIDUAL in question is Joe Kirkwood, Sr. rather than junior, and he is definitely not the movie version of Joe Palooka as I scatter-brainedly reported in Sunday's paper. Nope. In fact, he is reported to be in his sixty-sixth year, but has just enough Jack Benny and Satchel Paige in him to claim 58.

He is a wizard of the fairways, however, regardless of his longevity. He seemingly has an endless line of jargon and shots which amaze and baffle his audiences. As an example, he can hit two balls with one club, making one hook and the other slice with the result that they pass each other in mid air. Also, he is able to tee off on eight balls in such rapid succession that each and every one is in the air at the same time. Or consistently pound the little white pellet down the middle of the fairway using any excuse for a club, such as a bed post, rubber-handled club, etc. His golf bag of tricks also reportedly claims a plumbers friend, supposedly for easing the ball out of water traps.

Which has only scratched the surface. To see is to believe.

He takes a dim view of some of the old and established ideas as have been built up concerning golf, treading the trail of non-conformity instead. On playing the game, he has this to say: "Don't try and imitate someone else. Be yourself and play in your own way. A good grip or stance for me would never work for you just as yours would never work for me."

And further, that, "There is nothing complex about this business. Stand natural. Don't crowd. Forget all the mumbo-jumbo about keeping this in and that out and eye here and eye there. Remember but one thing: you must relax."

And for a relaxing, enjoyable time, the stage will be set at 5 tomorrow afternoon at the Country Club when he'll be here to put on his slapstick golf stick exhibition.

HANGIN' TREE DEALT BLOW

Indians Edge Washington To Knot Pennant Chase

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whoops! Somebody better cut Frank Lane down from that telephone pole. Cleveland's Injuns ain't dead after all.

Lane's trades, which had fans so wild they hanged the Cleveland general manager in effigy, now have the Indians in a first-place tie with the Chicago White Sox. The Tribe made it with a 3-2 victory at Washington, their fifth in a row, Monday night while the White Sox were losing 11-6 at Baltimore in the only American League games.

It was Johnny Temple, the second baseman Lane got from Cincinnati, whose two-out single scored the clincher against the Senators. And it was Herb Score and Don Ferrarese, two southpaws Lane swapped to the White Sox, who were tagged with seven runs as the third-place Orioles (just .012 points behind) cut Chicago's streak at five games.

In the National League, a bases-loaded walk by Elroy Face gave the St. Louis Cardinals a ninth-inning run and a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh, ending the Pirates' streak at nine games. Second-place San Francisco trimmed the Bucs' lead to one game with a 5-0 job on Milwaukee behind Mike McCormick's four-hitter. Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 6-5, with five unearned runs, and the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 8-7.

The Indians, who jumped from eighth to second in a Sunday doubleheader against Kansas City, scrambled to the top in a three-run seventh inning at Washington after being shut out on five hits by loser Pete Ramos (0-2) for six. Singles by Russ Nixon (the catcher Lane couldn't get rid of) and pinch-hitter Bob Hale, plus a walk, loaded the bases in the seventh. Vic Power brought in two with a two-out single. Then, Temple put it away.

Right-hander Gary Bell (2-1) had the Senators blanked on one hit until the seventh, when singles by Bob Allison and Jim Lemon and Julio Bequer's pinch double got their two.

The Orioles made it seven out of eight although out-hit 11-6. One of those half-dozen hits off six Sox pitchers was a three-run homer by Jim Gentile. It came in the sixth off Dick Donovan and upped Gentile's AL-leading RBI count to 17.

Baltimore scored three in the first off Score on four walks and a two-run single by Gus Triandos —then hustled from behind for an 8-5 lead by pairing four of their hits with three walks in a five-run fourth against Ferrarese (0-1). A two-run double by rookie Marv Breeding was the big hit.

Palmer Finishes Strong For Tie

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's greatest winner, sought his sixth tournament triumph in four months today as he met Big Bill Collins in a play-off for first money in the $35,000 Houston Classic.

The two tied at 280 for 72 holes in a drama-packed finish Monday when Palmer, the Masters champion, closed with birdies on two of the last four holes for a 1-over-par 73 while Collins had a 75 and barely failed on a 15-foot putt on the final green that would have given him first money of $5,300.

Jack Fleck of Los Angeles missed the playoff when his putt for a birdie on the eighteenth hole was six inches wide. He had a close 72 for 281 and $2,200 third money.

Regardless of whether Palmer takes the playoff he still will have piled up the most money he ever won in a year. Back in 1958 Palmer drew down $45,607.93 by playing in 33 tournaments. This year he has participated in only 14 and will have won $47,657.57 even if he takes only second money of $3,400 here. With first money he will have $49,557.57.

Palmer could attribute a putting lapse on the third hole for his failure to win the tournament Monday. He overshot the green, chipped short and 3-putted for a double bogey. His second putt was only 18 inches.

Collins said the shot he figured kept him from winning the tournament outright came on the first hole of the final round. He had a muddy lie for his third shot, tried to pitch to the green and skulled the ball. It went over the green and he wound up with a bogey.

A crowd of 22,000 turned out for the final round, which was less than half the number on hand Sunday when Texas' biggest golf throng in history—over 30,000—flooded the 7,122-yard Memorial Park course.

Farm League Forum Scheduled Tonight

All those individuals interested in formation of a Farm League (baseball) for this summer are reminded of the meeting being held tonight at Central Elementary and are especially urged and encouraged to be present for the session.

The organizational meeting will begin at 7:30, with emphasis being placed on the attendance of fathers of prospective league participants.

AA Front Runners Suffer Setbacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisville and Indianapolis snapped losing streaks by beating the current Nos. 1 and 2 teams in the American Assn. Monday night.

The Kentucky Colonels broke a four-game loss string by rocking Denver's league leaders 7-3. Indianapolis ended a three-game decline by overturning Houston's runnerup 4-2.

Right hander Don Bessent blanked Dallas-Fort Worth with four-hit pitching that gave St. Paul a 3-0 triumph. Minneapolis' tail-enders conquered Charleston 4-3.

Bears Sign Fullback

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Baylor University Monday signed Tom Davies, San Antonio Alamo Heights fullback, to a letter of intent.

The 6-foot, 190-pounder was all-district and honorable mention all-state last year.

HCJC Leaps Into Early Track Lead

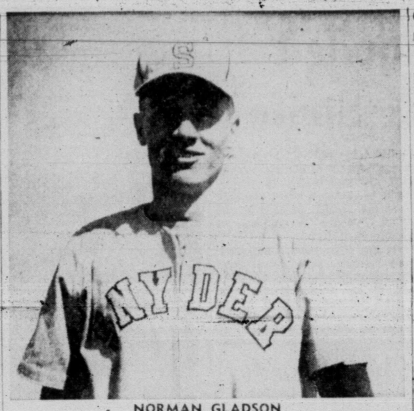

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Howard County Junior College rolled up over twice as many points as its nearest competitor to take a substantial lead in the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference Track and Field Meet Monday.

The Howard County team, winning two first places and tying for another, compiled 23 points in the field events. Second-place San Antonio College had 12, Amarillo and Blinn seven each and Lubbock Christian five.

Howard County also qualified four in five preliminary events Monday.

The leaders' Tiffen Stone threw the discus 149 feet, 1 inch, to eclipse the old record of 146-3½.

Two Odessa College teams nailed the top berths in golf, firing aggregate totals of 308 and 309. Amarillo trails the leaders by nine shots and Ranger is fourth with 321.

Tigers Test Tors

With their work cut out for them the Snyder Tiger diamond nine goes up against Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes here today at the Towle park field, with a Snyder win representing at least a tie for the bunting.

Game time is 4:15 with Norm Gladson (7-3) slated for Tiger mound duty. Probable pitching choice for the Tors is Melvin Keithley (3-2), who the Bengals downed by 6-5 in a previous meeting. Both hurlers are right-handers.

In the three-team race for the title, Snyder stands 2-0 with a win of 12-3 over Colorado City to go along with the 6-5 decisioning of the Tornadoes. Colorado City is 1-1, while the Tors occupy the cellar with 0-2.

Over the season Snyder is 14-10-1.

Wylie Backstopping

Completing the battery for the local delegation will be Ronnie Wylie behind the plate. The remainder of the lineup will see Barry Walker on first; either Steve Free or Bubba Fleming on second; Jerry Guthrie, third; Spencer Dyer, shortstop; Weldon Ware, left field; Mike Moffett, center field; and Ronnie Jones, right field.

Frank Moore, a season-long mainstay in right field, has been temporarily sidelined by a hip injury.

The batting order will read as follows: Dyer, Free or Fleming, Ware, Jones, Walker, Guthrie, Moffett, Wylie, and Gladson.

The positions and probable batting sequence of the Tors will find David Harris, second; Ken Crouch, short; Ken Flippin, first; Nat Self, center; Harvey Everheart, catcher; Fred Crouch, third; James Wood, right; Larry Rosson, left; and Keithley, pitcher.

Following today's game the Tigers will be idle for a week prior to seeing their final action of the regular season at Colorado City on May 10.

Game Night At Dunn Changed To Thursday

DUNN— The monthly Dunn Community Game Night (Dunn Community Center) has been changed to Thursday, May 5, at 7:30 p. m.

At that time a business meeting will be held to discuss organizations of the Dunn boys baseball team.

The session was changed from Friday to Thursday due to a conflict with a revival which is being held at the Dunn Baptist Church.

All ladies are asked to bring cookies and punch to the meeting.

Congress May Soon Boast A Senator Who Can Dance Hula

By INEZ ROBB

Maurine Neuberger, who is running for the U.S. Senate seat made vacant by the untimely death of her husband, Senator Richard Neuberger of Oregon, was in town the other day with a hole in her sole as large as any ever acheived by Adlai Stevenson.

"And I haven't even begun to campaign yet!" she said, a bit ruefully, over luncheon at the Overseas Press Club. "The very first thing I have to do is buy a pair of black pumps she did, too. I can't go around like this. Adlai or no!"

At the end of the luncheon, as Mrs. Neuberger put away a piece of chocolate pie topped with whipped cream her problem is to GAIN weight, she polished off one of the world's most-treasured fictions: that women slay each other, instinctively.

The fact this attractive woman with the big, dark eyes is running for the United States Senate on the Democratic ticket is largely because the only woman member of the Senate, Republican Margaret Chase Smith, called Mrs. Neuberger after her husband's sudden death and insisted that she seek the office.

"Then in Margaret's eulogy of Dick in the Senate, she said that I was the one who should take his place. And another woman Doris Fleeson, the political columnist, called and insisted I run, too. She and Margaret wouldn't take 'no' for an answer.

"Next, Senator Hubert Humphrey wrote me and said he could not imagine the U.S. Senate without a Neuberger and that it was up to me. Other Senate friends of Dick in both parties said the same thing. So here I am, about to go home to Oregon to begin campaigning in the primaries. The election is May 20, and I have to find some money...and get some teevee time and begin to travel about the state."

None of this will be new or strange to Maurine Neuberger.

For six years before going to Washington, both Mr. and Mrs. Neuberger were members of the Oregon state legislature, the only husband-and-wife team then serving simultaneously in a state legislature. Many Oregonians and subsequently many residents of Washington's Foggy Botom regarded Her at least as astute a politican as her husband.

"I think one of the big issues in the national campaign this year, certainly in Oregon, will be the Forand bill for medical aid for the old. I'm for it. I'm also for more Federal money for cancer and other medical research.

"Dick was always a dedicated conservationist, and so am I. And I believe we must have Federal aid for education. American children in a poor state deserve as good an education as those in a rich one."

In the weeks since Senator Neuberger's death, Mrs. Neuberger has been trying to empty his office, and sort the tremendous accumulation of papers the Senator was a gifted writer wanted by the Oregon State Library, the University of Oregon, the State Archives and the Oregon Historical Society.

"At a time like this, there are so many things to say 'farwell' to, even around a home." Mrs Neuberger went on. "The other day I took all my hula skirts and leis to the little girl who lives next door.

"Of course, I can dance the hula!" she laughed, in reply to my lifted eyebrows. I learned to dance it in Hawaii years ago, and there is a group of us in Portland who dance it all the time.

"But I think that life is over for me now. I was amused and amazed when the child's father said, 'Ah, so the hula isn't dignified enough for a potential U.S. Senator.'"

O'Hara Goes Full Blast At Writing

By HAL BOLYE

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Because of high taxes and a fear of wearing out their welcome with the public, some major novelists now feel it pays to produce a book only every five years.

But author John O'Hara, with one novel now high on the best-seller list, has already completed another—and is planning a third which he feels will be the best of his life.

"I'm working harder than I ever did, and producing more," he said. "I'm 55, and I want to write what's in me."

"I want to get it done, even though financially it's better to put one out every five years. The dough isn't the main consideration with me, and never has been," he said.

Although he once was one of the greatest literary playboys of his day, he always also was recognized as one of its most earnest craftsmen.

"I've been dry now for nearly seven years," remarked O'Hara, a big fellow who earlier was a quart-a-day athlete. He now fuels his creative effort with 20 demitasses of coffee daily.

Despite a painful back ailment, he hammers four or five hours nightly at his typewriter. He is philosophical about the pain which writing helps him forget.

"What the hell—I am 55," he said. "And all things considered, I'm pretty lucky as far as health is concerned. I've never had an operation."

Of his heyday as a playboy, O'Hara commented briefly: "The party was over when Bob Benchley died."

O'Hara and his second wife live quietly in a 10-room white brick home on a 2½-acre plot about three miles from the Princeton University campus.

"I like my home, and I like my life now," he said.

Annual Argument On Foreign Aid

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's routine now.

Every year about this time Congress goes through a kind of self-torture examining the mutual security program, which used to be called foreign aid. Should it be continued? How much to give? How much to cut?

Then, regularly as a clock, it votes to continue the aid. Each year, too, just as regularly, Congress votes less money than President Eisenhower asked.

Congress is going through such a period now.

There is never any real danger that Congress might suddenly decide to abandon altogether the mutual security program which includes arms for allied nations plus other kinds of aid for them and backward peoples.

This foreign aid program is now an accepted fact of American life. It was started 14 years ago when President Truman sent help to Greece and Turkey which felt themselves threatened by communism.

There is no end to it in sight. The problem for Eisenhower and the most earnest supports of the program among Democrats and Republicans in Congress is to keep its critics there from chopping it to pieces by giving Eisenhower far less money than he asked.

There still is in this country, in and out of Congress, some strenuous but ineffective opposition to the size of the program which Eisenhower says is necessary.

Still, as the record shows, the majority opinion is for continuing the aid.

The amount Eisenhower requested this year—$4,175,000,000—is far from a record request. Nevertheless, Congress will whittle it down a bit.

This is the picture for the past four years:

1956—Congress voted $3,766,570,000, or one billion dollars less than the President asked; 1957—he asked $4,400,000,000 but got $3,435,810,000; 1958—he asked $3,950,000,000, got $3,298,092,000; and in 1959 Congress gave him $3,225,815,000 of the $3,929,997,000 he requested.

One of the main complaints of the critics this year is that the program is being badly handled.

Eisenhower tried to answer them—while attempting to stiffen the congressional backbone enough to give him close to what he asked—in a talk Monday night. He made a similar pitch last year.

Presbyterians End Assembly A Day Early

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians closed their general assembly a day sooner than expected.

Before adjourning Monday night, commissioners refused to take a stand against a Roman Catholic for president but reaffirmed the historical American position of separation of church and state.

Seven major reports were approved. The commissioners:

Rejected almost unanimously a resolution which proposed a study of the legality of the church's membership in the National Council of Churches.

Referred to its representatives on the National Church Council board a resolution calling for investigation of charges that Communists have infiltrated American churches.

Reaffirmed the pro-integration stand first adopted by the general assembly in 1954.

Affirmed the freedom of conscience in matters of planned parenthood or birth control.

Refused to ask the 87 presbyteries for a vote on action of previous assemblies concerning segregation.

Reaffirmed the hope and prayer for unity in the Presbyterian family but at the same time declined to set up committees to reopen negotiations for union with the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Northern.

The assembly also declined to take part financially in the development of a 20-million-dollar national Presbyterian cathedral in Washington.

Search For Lost Yacht

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Coast Guard cutters searched heavy seas off Charleston today for signs of the missing yacht Killdeer with six persons aboard.

Earlier, five men were rescued from an accompanying sister vessel, the ketch Dutch Treat, as it radioed distress signals. It rescued the five men. They are Arnold R. Moyer Jr., a retired Easton, Md., yachtsman, Jack Shanahan, Easton hardware store operator; Charles (Chuck) Owens and his son, both of Dundalk, Md., and Jack Cranigan of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The Dutch Treat was abandoned.

Actor's Marriage Is On The Rocks

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The marriage of actor Efrem Zimbalist Jr. apparently is heading for the divorce court.

Mrs. Zimbalist said her husband moved out a week ago.

"I don't know who will get the divorce, but I suppose he will," she said. "This was his idea."

Zimbalist is the star of TV's "77 Sunset Strip." He and his wife married in 1956, have a 3-year-old daughter.

THESE VALUES GOOD IN SNYDER TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

America Not Using Energy, Teachers Told

Amerida has gone soft at a crucial hour in its history.

That was the substance of an address by Dr. James Jauncey, well-known minister and former missile scientist, at the annual banquet of the Snyder Classroom Teachers Assn. and the Scurry County Unit of the Texas State Teachers Assn.

The banquet was held last night in the Stanfield Elementary School cafeteria.

Dr. Jauncey, who holds 10 academic degrees ranging in fields from psychology and mathematics to religion, said Americans are not using their energy to the utmost and the result is frustration.

Psychologists have changed their thinking vastly in the past quarter-century, Dr. Jauncey declared. At one time he said, psychologists believed that many "drives" were important factors in human behavior. Now, he said, all are regarded as secondary to one force, which he described as self-expression through release of energy. When this is accomplished in a manner that its satisfactory to the individual and to those around him, the result is happiness and a feeling of well-being, Dr. Jauncey declared.

Americans today are using only part of their energy, which is in conflict with their heritage, he declared.

"Today in America someone will provide you with a place to sleep and something to eat," he explained, "But 100 years ago Americans worked from dawn till dark simply to exist."

Dr. Jauncey, who is now pastor of the First Christian Church in El Paso, said that America is not working on its missile program with all of its energy, and its people are not working at their daily tasks with all of their energy.

"I am appalled by the dependence upon the government for things which people should be providing for themselves," he declared.

As for teachers, Dr. Jauncey said they project themselves to their pupils. If a teacher is content to remain apathetic, or in a groove, pupils will have the same tendency, he asserted.

He said that teachers have the greatest opportunity to curb the present trend, and to help America martial its energy to win the battle with communism.

Roger Gee, retiring president of the Snyder CTA, presided at the meeting. Gee was succeeded in office by Ollie Peek, while Mrs. Barbara Bigham was succeeded as Scurry County TSTA president by Bob Womack, principal of the North Elementary School.

Other new CTA officers are Jim Tragott, first vice president; Elwanda Culvahouse, second vice president; Carolyn Reon, secretary, and James Littlepage, treasurer.

Other TSTA officers are J. C. Jackson of Snyder, first vice president; George Vickery of Hermleigh, second vice president; Roy Sallee of Ira, third vice president; Dorothy Miller of Snyder, secretary, and Barbara Sojourner of Snyder, Treasurer.

Service pins to school personnel were presented by J. W. Phillips, vice president of the Snyder School Board. Mrs. Thelma Leslie received a 20-year service pin. Other teachers who received pins for 10 years of service in the system were Mary Faver, high school; Lillian Jones, high school; Margaret Miller, high school; Savola Waller, high school; Christine Bradley, East Elementary; Eupha Shield, Central Elementary; Lois Stevens, Stanfield Elementary; Margaret Weaver, West Elementary; Winnie Smith, West Elementary; H. C. Lowry, junior high; Jim Lynch, junior high; Dillard Teal, junior high; Pat Falls, Stanfield Elementary; C. D. Henry, administration.

School maintenance workers receiving 10-year pins were J. C. Dyess, R. J. Griffith and Alvis Lockhart.

Cafeteria Workers receiving 10-year pins were Mrs. Pluma Jones, Mrs. Joyce Smith, Mrs. Pearl Blanchard, Mrs. Ora Ussery.

Special entertainment was provided by "The Continentals," a male quartet from Abilene Christian College.

Helium Bill Sent Before Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to provide a long-range program for production distribution and storage of helium is now before the Senate. The House passed the bill by voice vote Monday.

The legislation provides for construction of up to 12 new plants to extract helium from fuel gas before the latter is marketed. It would be stored in the government-owned Cliffside Gas Field near Amarillo.

Private industry would be invited to participate in the program by financing, building and operating the plants to produce helium for sale to the government. Should private interests decline, the government would build and operate the plants.

Man Injured While Working On Ranch

Bill True of the Snyder Courts suffered a broken leg Monday afternoon when a truck backed over him as he was working on the Bill Long Ranch 29 miles west of Snyder on the Lamesa Highway. He is employed by the Empire Drilling Co. of Snyder.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by a Bell Funeral Home ambulance, True was given emergency treatment and admitted to the hospital.

Point Plan For Buyers Is Debated

DETROIT (AP)—Is a point system used to rate prospective home buyers in the suburban Grosse Pointes "fair, conscientious and sincere" or is it "morally bankrupt?"

Both points of view were aired Monday at the opening of an investigation by the state into a home buyers' screening process system used in the fashionable cities.

Michigan Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams ordered the investigation after denouncing the system as "morally corrupt."

Solicitor General Samuel J. Torina was booed by several women spectators when he began questioning witnesses at the hearing called by the State Corporation and Securities Commission.

The women applauded when Paul Maxon of Grosse Pointe Shores, secretary of the Grosse Pointe Brokers Assn., testified.

Maxon defended the system as a "fair, conscientious and sincere" effort to meet the problems of prejudice.

Under the system, prospective buyers are graded by brokers and property owner groups on such items as nationality and social background. Points are tabulated for each. The standard passing grade is 50 points. However, a Jew, for example, must score 85 points to pass. A home owner uses results of the point system before deciding on sale of his property.

Methodists End Struggle

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Amity took the place of argument Monday night as the Methodist General Conference ended a drawn-out struggle over racial policy and tightening church organization.

Most of the delegates, North and South alike, seemed happy with the outcome.

By a 723-57 vote, they approved a constitutional amendment linking regional jurisdictions more closely with the national church, and leaving steps for racial integration on a voluntary, regional basis.

The result was a professed compromise, with Southerners skittish about a more cohesive church government, although optional regional alternatives are allowed; and Northerners generally wishing stronger measures for racial integration.

But after the vote representatives of both sides praised the outcome as preserving Methodist unity, and forestalling a possible split.

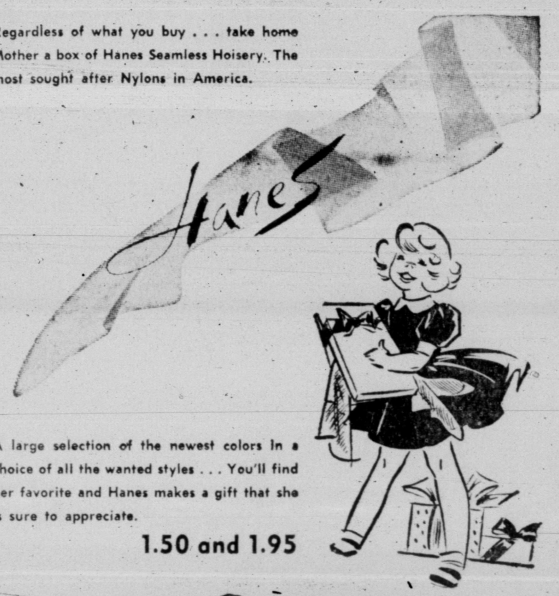

Green Rites Pending

Funeral services are pending at Bell Funeral Home for Jefferson Green, former resident of Snyder, who died Monday morning in Amarillo.
