Twinkles

Mary Rogers, daughter of the humorist, is a very pretty girl. Which confirms our old observation that you can't judge an unseen girl by her homely father.

Papa Dionne, sued for a million, must feel that life is a cruel thing. His tormenter could at least have made it many millions with just a few more pen strokes.

Slang is that clever way the younger generation and the playboys and girls have of talking about what is still commonly known as raising hell.

Horses require care. They consume constantly. They add to employment of humans. Automobiles, however, are not so kind. They try to reduce unemployment by wiping out thousands of workers' lives every year.

Take care of yourself and, when you're old, you may have a pension to start life all over with. That is, if you don't get so old and weak that you'll permit the worthless relatives to get all of it.

Musing of the moment: We favor an old age pension, a reasonable one. But not one large enough to destroy the need for personal ambition and planning. Reasons? We note our friends, the Shaws, of the Higgins News: In the process of living the average man wastes enough money to keep him in his old age. When checking up the accounts, comparatively few rich men, but Lincoln said that God must love the poor, because there were so many of them. Young people should be taught to spend wisely and also to save wisely. However, most people do not realize the necessity of saving until they are old and have precious little to save.

Brevitorials

HERE'S A disarmament plan which didn't fail. Hear ye, hunters of ducks and other migratory birds. President Roosevelt has approved an amendment to federal hunting regulations which places a 3-shell limit on auto-loading and other repeating shotguns. The plan was already in a number of states. The regulations take effect immediately. Users of repeating and automatic shotguns must have the magazines cut down or stopped with plugs that cannot be removed in the field.

REPAIRS NECESSARY

To reduce lethal capacity of the guns will not cost much. The ruling is called by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace an "incalculable advantage in the preservation of our migratory waterfowl, but will deprive no one of the privilege of hunting such birds. It will meet an exceedingly widespread demand throughout the country. In recent exceedingly widespread demand throughout the country. In recent years, the tolls taken among waterfowl by the ever-growing army of hunters. Natural causes, moreover, have been devastating. Breeding places have been destroyed by the drought. Many varieties of ducks and geese have almost disappeared. The danger point has been reached.

REDUCTION OF THE

capacity of destruction will not solve the problem, but it will prevent the disaster which was imminent and will draw attention to the problem. Hunting, after all, is a game of skill and is not measured by wanton destruction. Mass killing is not proof of skill, but more often of opportunity. Unless a halt is called, it may be necessary to go back to single and double-barreled shotguns, as are used in some provinces of Canada exclusively. Many American gun clubs have outlawed the fast shooting weapons.

VERDICT BARS CUTTEN FROM GRAIN TRADING

IS FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATING GRAIN FUTURES ACT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago trader, today was prohibited by the Grain Futures commission from trading on any grain market for a period of two years.

The commission found Cutten guilty of violating the grain futures act "by attempting to manipulate prices by concealing his transactions on the Chicago board of trade."

The decision was reached February 12 but was not announced by the commission—composed of Secretaries Wallace and Roper and Attorney General Cummings—until Cutten had been advised of the findings.

The commission found that Cutten had transacted his business through eight commission firms, split his tradings into 35 accounts and carried some of them in the names of relatives and associates for the purpose of concealment.

It also found that during 1930 he made no reports of his transactions, as required under the grain futures act although he controlled in excess of 500,000 bushels of wheat on 130 days during the year.

"During the year 1931," the commission said, "respondent (Cutten) made reports irregularly to the grain futures administration, none of which was true or correct as a statement of his net position on the market on the day covered by such report."

Lindbergh Has Nothing to Say About Verdict

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 14. (AP)—The Hauptmann murder trial has written its closing chapter in the tragedy of their first born son, and Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have no intention of adding a postscript, he it ever so short.

Colonel Lindbergh had "no comment nor statement on the case whatsoever," it was stated at the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, where the Colonel had gone hours before the verdict was announced at Flemington.

As long as the prosecution thought he could be of any help as long as there were servants of the Lindberghs and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow to be defended, the aviator attended the trial. As soon as the judge had charged the jury he left.

Colonel Lindbergh is to make a China-blasting airplane flight to China and Mrs. Morrow plans a trip to Mexico.

Colonel Lindbergh's flight is to further the recently announced intention of an American air line to inaugurate a commercial trans-Pacific route.

Tickets On Sale For Banquet At LeFors On Monday

Pampans are buying tickets for the LeFors banquet of next Monday evening.

The event, a steak dinner, will be held at the high school gymnasium. Tickets are 50 cents each. The banquet will begin at 7:30 p. m. A proposed park plan will be a principal subject.

Locally, tickets are on sale at the B. C. D. office and by Fred C. Cullum and J. M. Hatfield. Intercommunity relations committees of the B. C. D. and Junior chamber of commerce are sponsoring the trip to LeFors.

LATE NEWS

PARIS, Feb. 14. (AP)—Germany's reply to the Anglo-French plan for a western European security accord was reported here today to be favorable to the opening of diplomatic discussions. A reliable source said the communiques would be along the following lines: Germany would demand absolute arms equality and would talk about an aviation pact only if her relations with Soviet Russia were taken into consideration; Germany would request a plebiscite in Austria to determine whether that nation wishes to join Germany.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Testimony that his company had made $5,601,851 or 35 per cent profit in 1927 on two cruisers when it expected only $1,800,000 was given the senate munitions committee today by Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 14. (AP)—One man was shot to death and another was seriously wounded at nearby Larksville today as a miners' strike in Luzerne county entered its eleventh day.

Father and Son Banquets Being Held in Council

Father-son banquets in Pampa and other cities and towns of the Adobe Walls council are being held this week as the Boy Scout movement observes its 25th birthday.

Yesterday Scout Executive Clark went to Berger and was told of the many activities in that community, including banquets and courts of honor. An adult leader training course will be started soon.

Attention of Scouts and Scouters will be directed now to the annual Scout Circus which will be held in Pampa about the middle of May. This is the outstanding event of every Scout year.

County Teachers Will Hear Talks

Curriculum revision will be considered by rural teachers of Gray county Saturday morning at a session called by County Supt. W. B. Weathered.

The meeting will be held from 9:30 a. m. until noon.

Supt. R. B. Fisher of Pampa school and Principal R. A. Selby of Junior high school here will be the main speakers.

Mrs. E. A. Hampton, teacher at the Woodrow Wilson school, will tell of some of her experimental work with children.

Spearman Asked To Help Obtain North Highway

George Briggs, B. C. D. manager, yesterday solicited the aid of Spearman citizens in the move for a highway north across the Canadian river.

He talked to leading citizens and was assured of their keen interest. Spearman has long desired an outlet south across the impassable river.

The state highway department will be asked to send an engineer to choose a route for the road and a site for a much needed bridge. State designation will be sought.

40 AND 8 TO MEET

The regular meeting of Voiture 953, 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux will be held at the Legion hut at 7:30 tonight. All members are urged to be present. Following this meeting the Veterans of Foreign Wars will offer the fourth annual program of "Hello America." All ex-service men are cordially invited to be present. Refreshments will be served.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Fair tonight and Friday; colder in north portion tonight.

LET'S TALK PAMPA!

Pampans—let's talk Pampa! Reserve next Tuesday night for Pampa. Attend the quarterly B. C. D. banquet at the Schneider hotel. Tickets are on sale at the B. C. D. at 75 cents. Give this night to Pampa! Get your ticket now.

Scenes at Opening of Phil Kennamer's Trial

Upper left—Dr. J. F. Gorrell, father of Kennamer's victim, arrives at the Pawnee county courthouse for the trial of Phil Kennamer.

Upper center—Judge Franklin E. Kennamer, father of Phil Kennamer, who is on trial for the murder of John F. Gorrell Jr., leaves the Pawnee county courthouse at the noon recess of the trial's first day.

Upper right—Mrs. Russell Hayes, sister of Philip Kennamer, who is on trial for the murder of John F. Gorrell Jr., leaves the Pawnee county courthouse at the noon recess of the trial's first day.

Lower right—Three important witnesses to be called in the murder trial of Phil Kennamer, leave the Pawnee county courthouse at the noon recess of the opening day of trial. Left to right are: Richard Oliver, roommate of Gorrell at a Kansas City dental college; Charles Bard, student of Oklahoma A. & M. college; and Phil Harris, who lent Gorrell the gun with which he was killed.

HAUPTMANN'S MOTHER WRITES LETTER TO FDR

Appeals to President To Save Her Son From Chair

BY RUDOLF JOSTEN
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
KAMENZ, Germany, Feb. 14.—Frau Pauline Hauptmann, heartbroken and sobbing, appealed today to President Roosevelt to save her son Bruno from the electric chair.

"He will help an old mother," she said and sat down at once to write the president a letter.

In it she said the president's failure to pardon Hauptmann would mean her own death.

ALLRED WINS RIGHT TO NAME MEMBERS ON PLANNING BOARD

Gas Strippers Have Say in Hearings; Centennial Bill Reported by Committee.

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred stood victor today in a skirmish with a senate bloc over the right of the executive to name a majority of a proposed board to plan public works projects for construction with federal funds.

A group opposed to the bill sought to split the appointments between the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the house, but a compromise amendment giving Allred the power to appoint six of nine members was adopted. The secretary of state, an Allred appointee, the highway engineer and chairman of the board of water engineers would serve as ex-officio members.

Administration leaders hoped for a final vote on the proposal today. It was received from the house more than two weeks ago which voted to permit the governor to appoint six members with the secretary of state as the seventh.

A heavy majority blocked a move to recommit the bill for further committee action.

On Chain Store Tax

Also on the senate calendar was a matter involving the sacredness of executive sessions on governor's nominations. The senate yesterday requested Dick Vaughan, Houston press correspondent, to divulge the source from which he received a purported roll call on the confirmation of former Representative Sarah Hughes as Dallas district court judge. The vote was taken in secret and a senator divulging the vote is liable to suspension.

A sub-group of the house committee on revenue and taxation started work on a bill to levy heavy license taxes on chain stores. The committee was instructed to combine four bills into a composite proposal. Three of the bills would levy a tax of from $1 on individual store while the fourth would tax gross receipts of all mercantile enterprises.

Former Senator Joe Moore of Greenville told the committee the "big chains are slowly but surely moving the independent merchant out of the picture" while former Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman said the tax would "cut the throats of Texas concerns in trying to reach national chains and does not consider the consuming public."

COMMITTEE TO ACT ON TRUCK LOAD DEMANDS

Relaxation of Limit Is Asked Before Senators

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (AP)—Demands of Texas trucking interests for relaxation of statutory load limits was before a senate committee today.

After an extended hearing on a bill to increase from 7,000 to 14,000 pounds the maximum load weight on certain types of vehicles, the highways and motor traffic committee deferred action. Trucks with semi-trailers on which all wheels had brakes would be allowed the

REILLY WILL APPEAL CASE IMMEDIATELY

STATE IS EXPECTED TO PAY COSTS OF APPEAL

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 14. (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann will be taken to the death house state prison, Trenton, Saturday, Sheriff John H. Curtis said at noon today.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 14. (AP)—Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel, today attacked the verdict sentencing Bruno Richard Hauptmann as "one of the greatest miscarriages of justice." Reilly, after having taken breakfast in the Union hotel stated to the press: "The fight to save Bruno Richard Hauptmann has just begun!"

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 14.—Death has been decreed for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted of killing the Lindbergh baby, but his counsel drafted today a fight through high courts which may last months.

Prison precedent combined with judge and jury to fix the night of March 22 as the tentative date for Hauptmann's electrocution.

He was sentenced to "suffer death" the week of March 18, and Friday is doomsday in the death house at Trenton.

While Hauptmann wept in his cell, Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense staff, said an appeal would be carried to the United States supreme court if necessary.

The first tribunal expected to hear the plea, the state court of errors and appeals, meets for its next term late in May. The court of pardons will not hear it before October.

Jurors Show Emotion

The jurors who sentenced him showed more emotion than did Hauptmann as he stood before them at 10:45 p. m. yesterday.

With a look of affection, the 36-year-old prisoner turned to his faithful wife and said: "It's all right, Annie."

Back in his cell, out of the gaze

CCC Director, Not Women, Held Out for Mercy

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 14. (AP)—A source close to jurors who found Bruno Richard Hauptmann guilty of the murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., today said six ballots were cast before the jury could agree that Hauptmann should go to the electric chair.

The same source reported that Robert Cravatt, educational director of a CCC camp, held for five ballots to a verdict of guilty with recommendation of mercy, which would have automatically sentenced Hauptmann to life imprisonment.

On the first ballot, the source said, two women, Mrs. Rosie Hill and Mrs. Verna Snyder, voted with Cravatt for mercy. They swung over on the second, and thereafter until the sixth ballot the jury stood 11 to 1 for the verdict that was finally delivered.

The eight men and four women did not retire until an early hour this morning although they returned to the hotel across the street from the courthouse shortly before eleven o'clock. They "celebrated" the eve of the end of their forty-two days of living together while they heard the testimony in the case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Here's a Frilly Sweeter-Smelling Valentine for You

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—Valentines, say the experts, were lazier and frillier this year than last.

And sweeter-smelling, too, with lots of people asking for the new sachet numbers.

Maybe that accounts for a valentine boom reported by the capitalists' stores. They said more people than for many years were sending them, running the whole gamut from Grandma down. Instead of sticking strictly to sweeties, Mrs. Roosevelt sent valentines to her grandchildren.

STATE UNABLE TO QUALIFY A KEY WITNESS

ALLEGED LOVE AFFAIR IS DENIED IN TESTIMONY

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 14. (AP)—The mysterious extortion note sent to wealthy Homer F. Wilcox, threatening harm to a member of his family unless he paid $20,000, was introduced in the Phil Kennamer murder trial today.

Jack Snedden of Tulsa, placed on the stand by the state, identified the hand writing of the note and on the envelope as being Kennamer's, when the note was given to him by A. Flint Moss, defense counsel chief.

"I believe that is the same letter I saw the night Kennamer got back from Kansas City," Snedden said, examining the piece of paper.

"Is the letter in Kennamer's handwriting?" asked Moss.

"No, I don't know whose handwriting it is, but I can tell Phil's anywhere I see it."

Moss queried Snedden about the handwriting on the envelope and the first time he said he believed it was Phil's but later changed his statement, declaring it was not Kennamer's handwriting.

The note was not made a part of the evidence immediately. Moss still retaining it and keeping it from the prosecution for identification purposes.

Through Snedden the state tried to strike a blow at the defense, which has contended that Kennamer was deeply in love with Virginia Wilcox and that it was because of fear that John Gorrell was going to harm her that he killed him.

A letter from young Kennamer to Miss Wilcox, in which he affirmed he was no longer in love with her, was identified by Snedden.

"The old feeling is dead, Virginia,"

'Hello America' Program Will Be Heard This Eve

The fourth annual "Hello America" program of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be heard tonight with a nationwide radio broadcast over the facilities of the NBC.

James F. Van Zandt of Washington, national commander, will speak during an hour's program beginning at 10:30 o'clock, Pampa time.

The local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will present a program in the American Legion hut on West Foster avenue before the radio broadcast. All ex-service men in Pampa and surrounding territory are invited to attend. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Commander Hamp Waddell of the local post will preside. He will present Judge Newton P. Willis, Judge C. E. Cary, Sherman White, and Commander Scott Green of the American Legion. The program will make short talks to the members and guests. A musical program will also be presented.

Between the close of the local program and the radio broadcast, refreshments will be served by the V. F. W. members.

One of the high lights of the radio program will be the giving of the V. F. W. obligation by the national commander to new members throughout the nation. Several well known orchestras will furnish music during the hour program.

COOPERATION, COORDINATION NEEDED

Pampa in many respects is an ever-organized city. Its hundreds of organizations require an astonishing amount of time from a relatively small body of citizens. Yet there is ample evidence that along some lines it is under-organized.

It has strong city and county departments, whose duties and responsibilities overlap, but a minimum of co-ordination in their efforts. It has half a dozen relief bodies, but no closely-knit relief program covering all phases of the problem.

County responsibility is restricted by legal interpretations and self-imposed ruling of the commissioners. City responsibility is limited both by policy and lack of funds. Church and civic club responsibility is restricted by lack of funds and a certain overlapping of efforts. Federal obligations are limited by regulations from which there is no appeal. Such obligations are imposed by strict regulations from which there is no local appeal.

Hospitalization of the indigent sick is the No. 1 problem. Here is the federally imposed limitation:

"These funds may not be used for the payment of hospital bills or for providing general institutional care. THESE NECESSARY SERVICES TO THE DESTITUTE SHOULD BE MADE AVAILABLE THROUGH STATE OR LOCAL FUNDS."

And here is the state limitation: "You may not exceed 2 1/2 per cent of state funds for hospitalization, and no federal funds may be used for hospitalization." The 2 1/2 per cent is wholly inadequate.

When, the community may well ask, are those in authority in various relief-dispensing groups going to co-ordinate their programs, as should be done, through a community relief council?

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Senator Jim Couzens of Michigan aroused an enthusiastic curiosity here when he asserted that whoever wrote the five billion dollar work-relief bill ought to be hanged. "Not in effigy, but physically," Couzens explained.

Diligent snooping produces evidence that if the idea is to be carried out, the populace will be treated to a spectacle akin to a Nazi or Russian purge.

Couzens said he understood the real authors were Ben Cohen, chief counsel for the National Power Policy Committee and probable successor to Ferdinand Pecora on the SEC, and Donald Richberg, whom you all know.

But Cohen had nothing to do with the bill and Richberg merely gave assent at a conference which considered it.

This astonishing measure, which in effect gives the president five billion dollars to spend at his discretion, was born somewhere between the Treasury and the Budget Bureau—which are like ham and eggs since Director Lew Douglas quit the latter—and was then passed with great secrecy around the town. Quite a few changes were made.

Harry Hopkins had an early crack at it. He called in a celebrated New Deal legal wizard, who helped him make a couple of rather minor alterations.

You can be sure that when the bill left Hopkins' it had no reference to "security" payments, the bill's term for the controversial low wages to be paid on work relief jobs. That part was inserted later, at Roosevelt's insistence.

The bill was passed on to Attorney General Cummings, Secretary Ickes, and a few other fellows. Even the celebrated Dr. Tugwell mulled it over.

Finally it got back to the Treasury building. There Secretary Morgenthau, Admiral Peoples, and Budget Director Bell had a semi-final say on the measure as it then stood, with the White House itself giving the last okay.

Criticism from among those helpers is directed not so much at the bill as at the apparently hazy White House idea that the relief problem can be solved or eliminated by a four-billion dollar work relief scheme in 1935-36. On the basis of explanations from the White House, few believe it can.

As for the furore on Capitol Hill, except as it relates to wages and grudges against Ickes, one of the New Dealers who worked on the bill says:

"Of course it's a bad bill, if you think it grants far more power for spending and jiggering than any one man should have.

"But we have to choose between the president and pork and who will say, except in Congress, that we should choose pork? Tossing that four billions to Congress to spend was a thought too awful to contemplate.

This idea gains strength from the simple fact that in the Senate, where the bill has gone after passage by the House, the opposition is unco-ordinated and no one has yet thought of a plausible alternative.

Even the Senate progressives, who would like to liberalize the thing, haven't yet been able to think of any improvement on Senator LaFollette's idea of increasing the fund to something like 10 billions.

The scientist who drank heavy water and lived has nothing on many Americans who have survived bootleg liquor.

This movement for single house state legislatures is promising as a step toward no legislatures at all.

TAVERN OWNER KILLED
FORT WORTH, Feb. 14 (AP)—A. P. (Bright Eyes) McCorstin, 40, part owner of a beer tavern here, was shot six times and killed early today in an argument with the night-herald of the place. William H. Gates, the bartender, said he fired as he lay prone on the floor after McCorstin had struck him with a bottle and jumped on his chest with both knees.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—George P. Manley doesn't feel the time is right for him to purchase a new automobile, so he has decided to seek a divorce instead.

In a divorce petition here he said his wife kept him awake nights trying to persuade him to buy a new automobile until he was required to leave home to avoid a nervous breakdown.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

No more hospitable suppers were held at the various homes in the Texas communities. The roads leading to and from the larger cities were marked by the tramping feet, and occasionally closely-cropped grass showed that nervous hands holding swords were not keeping the right formation. The enemy Mexicans had brought disaster with them. Fathers, husbands, and young friends had been killed at the Alamo in a merciless assault. It was reported that Goliad would be the next place of attack, and fear-stricken families were trying to move to places of safety. Refugee leaders implored Gen. Sam Houston to send soldiers to their aid, and on the evening of March 10, Captain King was sent with about 30 men from Goliad to Refugio. On the way, he was captured by Mexicans. Nevertheless, some of his men slipped through the lines that night and reported their misfortune.

Col. Fannin at once dispatched Col. Ward with 150 men when he heard of King's fate. Historians believe that if Fannin had not allowed his men to be divided, the retreat could have been effected sooner, and they might have been successful in preventing the Goliad tragedy. It is not certain just exactly what happened to King Ward reached him March 14, but King either refused to serve under Ward, or thought he could serve better elsewhere, for he took his men and left Ward.

On the morning of the 14th, Col. Urrea of Santa Anna's forces attacked Ward, but having taken refuge in the mission, the Americans withstood the attack. King attacked Urrea from the rear, but his men were captured, and some were killed when they were hastily pursued by the cavalry.

A fresh norther, bringing with it a piercing coldness for March, and the limitless blackness of the night was a God-send to Ward. He and his men took advantage of the elements, and crept away in the night from the mission, which was surrounded by the Mexican guard. They were captured the next day, however, and 30 were shot; the others, Mexicans, were freed.

Although Ward's men finally reached Victoria on March 22, 100 of them surrendered to Urrea. They were sent back to Goliad and shot five days later.

The echo of bullets was sounding throughout the entire southern part of the territory. Goliad was to be next. Then, with renewed courage and vengeance burning in their souls, the Texans were to fight for liberty—and get it.

Their achievement will be commemorated by the Texas Centennial celebrations of 1936.

Two death cases presented were denied.

Governor Allred has definite recommendations pending before the legislature on crime control. He believes one of the most effective ways to make convicts realize their offenses against society is to make them serve a suitable time on their sentences but at the same time keep alive a hope of release if they conduct themselves properly and show a disposition to again become useful citizens.

To that end he recommended changes in the law regulating the pardon board. Control over release of convicts would be from the governor and that responsibility placed with the board.

There is considerable sentiment in the legislature for enactment of a law that would insure fair and impartial treatment of all convicts. Under the proposal definite conditions would be set up under which convicts could be paroled, such as good behavior, general demeanor and willingness to work. The law would provide that after a convict had served the minimum on his sentence his case automatically would be presented to the pardon board. It would come up regardless of whether he petitioned for a pardon or parole.

Instances have been reported where prisoners without friends to take up their cause have remained in prison for years. Under an equitable system they would have been entitled to release.

Another bill pending would require the pardon board to advertise applications for pardons in the county of conviction with motive of the application sent to the prosecuting attorney and sheriff and, where possible, to the injured parties. This would insure that no convict would be released without a full hearing.

In some instances folks back home have learned of the release of a convict only after he returned and had been seen on the streets.

The bill also would limit fees that could be collected by an attorney representing a convict before the board.

HARVESTER CAGERS TO PLAY EITHER PANHANDLE OR HEDLEY FRIDAY NIGHT

BOTH QUINTETS WILL PROVIDE STIFF BATTLE

PLAY-OFF BEING HELD FOR TWO-COUNTY TITLE

The Harvester basketball team's schedule for Friday night is all twisted up again.

This morning, Coach Odus Mitchell was certain that his harvesters would meet a worthy foe Friday night, but he was not certain whether the opponents would be the Hedley Owls or Coach Pat Gerald's Panhandle Panthers.

He was informed by telephone this morning that the Harvesters are playing off a three-game series for the championship of Donley county. This situation came about after Clarendon had inadvertently dropped a game to the Goodnight team, champions of Armstrong county, who didn't have a chance at the two-county title anyway because of previous games lost. That left Clarendon and Hedley tied.

The Owls and Bronchos then decided it would take the best two out of three games to produce a champ. Last night the two teams played the first game with Clarendon winning 43 to 34. They will play again tonight and if Clarendon wins again, Pampa's foe will be Hedley.

If the Owls emerge victors, Panhandle will play the Harvesters. Now Panhandle, champion of Carson and Gray counties, excluding Pampa, class A school, will play the winner of the Owl-Broncho series for the right to represent the four counties in the district tournament here Feb. 22. This final play-off game will be played either Friday or Saturday, depending upon whether Clarendon wins tonight.

Regardless of which team the Harvesters play, they will clash against a strong club. Both Panhandle and Hedley have been playing up big scores all season, and it is a fact that the Harvesters have failed to score over 30 points in any single game against a first class foe. Teams that amass the big scores chalked up by Panhandle and Hedley are bound to be good, Mitchell believes.

The Harvesters scored more than a point a minute yesterday against the Gorillas. J. R. Green, as he did the day before, went like a house a-fire. Scott showed much improvement. He broke faster and didn't dribble so long. Stokes Green is now developing quickly. Hassell and Ayer showed up well among the subs.

Former Pampan To Meet Lewis In Mat Classic

Bill Parr, now a resident of Fort Worth but a former Pampa boy, will meet Verne Lewis of Eau Claire, Wis. in an added attraction on the South Side arena wrestling card in Fort Worth Tuesday night, his mother, Mrs. Guy Dunwoody of 600 Roberts street, learned yesterday.

The former Pampa boy will be making his debut as a professional wrestler. He made a name for himself in amateur wrestling circles as a pupil of Bill Christian.

The bouts will be held in the Recreation building where some of the best matches in the southwest have been staged.

MANAGER NAMED

LONGVIEW, Feb. 14 (AP)—Tex Jeanes, veteran major and minor league outfielder, was under contract today to manage the Longview Cannibals of the West Dixie baseball league during the 1935 season. Harry A. Faulkner, business manager who announced the signing of Jeanes, said he would be a playing manager.

Poodle With A Foreign Title Wins Dog Show

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—The "top" in American dogdom is, of all things, a poodle with this string title—Champion Nonsee Duc de la Terrace of Blaeken.

Nonsee Duc de la Terrace was chosen best dog last night in the Westminister Kennel club show. The selection was greeted by ruffled handclapping by the expert ringers.

But from the gallery, where sit those uneducated in the finer points of the fancy, but who think they know a dog when they see one, came a chorus of boos and exclamations of astonishment.

A specialized sense of appreciation was necessary to recognize the virtues of Nonsee Duc de la Terrace. He was shaggy in spots, clipped here and there. He resembled somewhat an undersized lion that had fallen into a tub of whitewash.

In winning the coveted title of "best in show" the poodle, owned by the Blaeken kennels of New York, downed five other dogs, survivors of group competition.

Nonsee Duc de la Terrace made history by his victory. Only once before in the history of the Westminister Kennel club show, has a non-sporting dog been adjudged best of all breeds.

CONDITIONING OF GRIDDERS IS STRESSED

Setting Up Exercises Used To Start Off Spring's Grid Training Program.

Harvester football prospects are fast learning that there is more to going out to football than kicking a ball around, loafing, and wearing a uniform. Line Coach Harry Phillips, new assistant to Odus Mitchell, is doing the teaching.

Coach Phillips is a firm believer in conditioning of football players. Yesterday afternoon he hopped from his car to see 45 boys passing, punting, tackling, and loafing. He immediately called them into a circle and for 15 minutes put them thru setting up exercises that had them putting for breath when the call was given to break up into groups according to positions.

More boys were expected to report for spring training this afternoon. Only a few Gerillas were in uniform yesterday. Most of the boys out have had little or no experience. There are midgets and there are some big fellows. One little fellow couldn't find a suit small enough, so had one cut down. The giant of the outfit is "Moose" Hartman, 214 pounds of he-man.

The prospects will remain out for two weeks, when a scrimmage will be called. The most promising boys will be kept out to practice with the Harvester lettermen and Corillas who are now out for basketball and track.

The youngsters are showing a willingness to learn. They pay strict attention to Coach Phillips and do their best to follow his instructions.

Borger Rotary Club Presents Program Here

An interesting program was provided at the meeting of the Rotary club Wednesday when members of the Borger club presented the program. Paul Potter, president of the Borger club, presided and presented the program.

A talk on the great characters born in February was given by John Loftin with special emphasis given the lives of Washington, Edison and Lincoln.

Greetings were given by the Rev. J. N. Hunt and music was furnished by Mitt Vaden in vocal solos with Mrs. L. M. Draper accompanying.

Fred Cullum and Clyde Fatheree were visitors.

Henry Gerhard was introduced as a new member of the club.

CHEERS CINCINNATI

PANHANDLE PROFS BEAT MCLEAN BY 18 POINTS

OLD MAN Coach Odus Mitchell, the father of three children, said young Frank Monroe who won a beauty contest when a baby, led the Pampa pedagogues in a scoring parade last night to annihilate the McLean faculty 40 to 22 here. Each scored 16 points, eight field goals a-piece.

They might have been the stars of the game but Coach Harry Phillips, new Harvester line coach, stole the show, for that's what the game became—a highly enjoyable show—after it became apparent that the Pampans had the visitors ridiculed, out-classed. The stocky line coach performed like a wrestler. On the court he's as funny as Dutch Mantel is on the mat. What with Phillips' buffoonery and Harry Kelley's clowning, the spectators had plenty to laugh at—and much to bring tears to.

It's well-nigh inconceivable that Coach Mitchell still possesses much of the basketball cunning for which he was famous years ago at West Texas State Teachers college, but he does, and when he chooses to strain a point, or to give the old legs a good working out, he's a cager deluxe. He can still stand flat-footed and jump three or four feet.

McLean's best player was Loter who scored 12 points. He was a foot taller than Mitchell but the latter out-jumped him at center when he chose to. McCarty, McLean forward, scored five points. Harry Kelley sank one basket. Dick Dennard two, Bennett two. Anderson, manager of the team, played at intervals and gave the boys a convincing pep talk at the half, using a few hard words, stranger, despite the fact that the score was 30 to 12.

The crowd was small but larger than expected, and it's a prediction that the next time the pros play, which will be next week against a strong team, a big crowd will be out. Many in the crowd were young partisans of Monroe, his 12-year old hero-worshipping pupils who think that what he does not know and can't do about basketball could be put in a spider's eye and still have enough room to hide a truck, and they are about right.

Others in the McLean lineup were Tolliver, forward; McHaney, Murdock and Hunt, guards.

MITCHELL AND MONROE LEAD SCORING ATTACK

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Lou Gehrig isn't a holdout—yet.

Back from a world tour, the New York Yankees' iron-man first baseman declined to admit anything except that he was aiming to get "a lot more" money than last year. His two-year contract, at $23,000 a year, has expired.

"Of course I'm no holdout," Gehrig said. "I haven't even seen my contract. I don't know what the club is offering me."

He will know sometime today if he goes down to the New Rochelle postoffice and picks up his mail. It has been held there awaiting his return.

Several baseball writers suggested to Lou that the Yankees' new offer might not call for much more than the salary for which he has worked the last two years.

Lou and his wife looked serious. "You know I've got a new manager now," he said, and smiled at his wife. "We feel that I've earned something in the record that's behind me and the one that's yet to be made. I had a big year in 1934—batting title, most runs driven in and most home runs, 49."

"I won't be 32 until June and I figure I've still my best years ahead of me. Babe Ruth was 33 when he set his home-run record of 60 in 1927. I'm going after that record."

Officials in the Yankees' office apparently are not worrying over Gehrig. Business Manager Ed Barrow declined to comment on reports that Gehrig would ask for $35,000, nor would he indicate what the club had offered.

"Wait till I talk with him," Barrow said.

COURT RECORD

CARNERA AND 'THE IMP' TO FIGHT FEB. 23

GOLIATHS OF RING TO BOX IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—A barker from a circus side show is all the Madison Square Garden will need to complete the picture when Primo Carnera and Ray Impellittere climb through the ropes Feb. 23 for a ten-round bout.

A circus barker could do a good job with it!

"Ladies and gentlemen! Feast your eyes on 'em. A quarter of a ton or human flesh and blood! They're human—they feel, they talk but boy they are big."

"In this corner we have Primo Carnera, the former world's heavyweight champion, weighing 265 pounds and, in this corner, Ray Impellittere, who tips the scales at 260. Draw up, close, folks, one and all, and see the show."

You almost have to go back to the days when the Greeks fought bare-listed to find a match between two men as large as Da Preem and "The Imp."

The bout was sanctioned yesterday by the New York state athletic commission, although Commissioner Bill Brown refused to be a party to it. Jack Dempsey probably will referee.

When Carnera first came to this country the late boxing commissioner William Muldoon wanted to create a dreadnaught class for the

EQUIPOISE IS FAVORITE AT SANTA ANITA

BAD SNAKING UP LOST MILE RACE FOR HIM

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (AP)—In defeat, Equipoise had proved his right to the position of favorite for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap a week from Saturday.

The king of the turf finished second to Sweeping Light in a mile feature at Santa Anita park yesterday and except for a bad snaking up the 7-year-old chestnut son of Penitentiary might have won the test easily.

As it was, this veteran thoroughbred of the C. V. Whitney stable, was only a length back of Sweeping Light as the winner finished in track record of 1 minute, 38 3-5 seconds. Ted Clark was third and Frank Ormont fourth.

Ekky encountered his trouble swinging into the first turn when he was bumped first by World Series and then by Frank Ormont. He was knocked off stride so badly that the leader, speedy Ted Clark, was five lengths in front before Jockey Raymond (Sonny) Workman had the big chestnut settled down again.

The Whitney star raced out to contention on the back stretch going into fourth and then made his move on the second turn. Under mild urging he swept wide into the stretch and challenged Sweeping Light and Ted Clark.

To the wire they came, almost neck and neck. Ted Clark couldn't stand the pace, dropping back.

THE BELL SYSTEM AT A GLANCE

How a nation-wide telephone network is organized

The Bell System is big... but its organization is not complex.

The A. T. & T. is parent company, service and research organization, and financial headquarters of the System. It owns Western Electric and jointly with Western, owns Bell Laboratories. Also, it owns more than 90 per cent of the voting stock of the 24 associated companies (of which the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is one.) It operates the long distance trunk lines linking the territories of these companies.

Its staff carries on for these 24 associated companies an intensive study to find better, more economical methods of giving good telephone service.

Western Electric buys supplies for the System, and turns out for it the 100,000 different parts that go into the telephone plant.

Associated companies are not required to buy from Western... but experience has led all to do so, for two reasons: (1) Because Western Electric parts have the advantage of uniformity. They fit equally well into the telephone system anywhere. (2) Western prices are about a fourth below the prices for similar equipment in the competitive market.

Bell Laboratories is a non-profit corporation, whose 4,000 workers constantly carry on a great program of scientific research to find better and cheaper ways to give your telephone service.

Each part of the Bell System exists because the function it performs is essential to the job of giving good telephone service at fair cost to you.

Pampa, Lefors Men To Attend Baseball Meet

Pampa and Lefors will be represented at a baseball meet in Amarillo tomorrow night when an attempt will be made to organize a semi-pro league. The meeting will be at 7 o'clock in the Herring hotel.

Tentative plans are to organize a four, five, or six-team league to play a full schedule of games. There are already five strong teams in this section but it is not known whether all of them favor such a league.

Pampa will be represented at the meeting by Earl Roff, Dan Williams, and Harold Miller of the Pampa Road Runners and Harry E. Hoare of the Pampa Daily News, originator of the league plan to stimulate baseball in the Panhandle.

The Coxtex baseball team of Lefors will be represented at the meeting by J. P. Cox and L. P. Ward.

Two other strong teams in this section which will be represented at the meeting are the Phillips 66 Oilers and the Huber Carbon teams of Borger. The Shamrock Oil & Gas company and a group of Amarillo citizens have decided that Amarillo should again become a baseball center and are in the midst of organizing a strong team.

Those favoring the formation of the league hope that a sixth team will appear to round out the league. Pampa Road Runner officials have made no public statement about their plans for the 1935 season, but it is a known fact that the Road Runners have added strength and that more new faces will be in time for spring training.

The Road Runner pitching staff is complete with George Bulla, Bill Hardin, Lee Daney, and Charlie Stewart, all from last year's club, and Joe Berry, newcomer from the Western league.

The Road Runners lost a catcher, shortstop and two outfielders from last season. These vacancies will be filled and with good players, the management has announced.

Coxtex's team has been strengthened since last year. There are 30 players on the Coxtex roster but that number will be reduced by the opening of the season.

STUDY AND ENTERTAINMENT ARE MIXED FOR H. R. REPORTERS

STATE EDITOR IS DIRECTING SCHOOL HERE

LUNCHEONS TENDERED BY CLUB WOMEN OF CITY

Habits that give accuracy in reporting meetings were listed by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, state extension editor, for home demonstration club reporters at a four-county conference here yesterday.

These habits are coming prepared with paper and pencil, sitting at the front of the meeting, checking facts and the spelling of proper names, and speed in sending the report to the paper.

The conference will close this afternoon. In addition to Mrs. Cunningham, speakers yesterday were Olin E. Hinkle, who stressed the value of a striking lead, or opening paragraph, in making an interesting report, and J. B. Miller, who spoke of the importance of publicity to a club.

Holiday Luncheons Given. Miss Annie Mae Donaghey, Collinsworth county agent, talked of Personality Expressed in Bedroom Accessories.

Between study sessions, the visiting reporters are being entertained by Pampa club women.

Two federated study clubs of Pampa which have home demonstration club members as presidents are acting as hostesses at luncheons. Civic Culture club entertained with a Washington luncheon yesterday and Child Study club with a Valentine luncheon today, both at city club rooms.

Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, president, Mmes. Katie Vincent, G. P. Bradbury, H. H. Lebell, Paul Jensen, and Irving Cole of Civic Culture club, assisted by Misses Willie Isbell and Roberta Montgomery of Junior Civic Culture club, were hostesses yesterday.

Guests From Four Counties. Tables were centered with hand-made cherry trees, and places were marked with cards sketched with cherries and hatched. The delicious lunch, featuring Gray county products, was followed by a comedy skit, "Clothesline Reporters," by the hostesses. Mrs. Cole played piano solos.

Places were laid for the following guests: Mrs. Cunningham, Miss Ruby Mashburn, district home demonstration agent, Miss Sue Vinson.

Miss Sadie Lee Oliver, county agent, Valiska Newell, Myrtle M. Jameson, Agnes V. Johnson, and May Morehead, all of Hemphill county.

Miss Viola Jones, county agent, Mrs. R. J. Tyson, Mrs. C. H. Chandler, Mrs. Jim Risner, Mrs. C. Bryan White, Mrs. Zura Bullock, all of Wheeler county.

Miss Donaghey, county agent; Mrs. J. G. Gardner, Mrs. J. W. Carraker, Mrs. C. H. Simpson, all of Collinsworth county.

Miss Ruby Adams, county agent; Miss Lill Dalton, agent's office assistant, and Mmes. Clyde King, Edgar Gray, Claude Robinson, Robert Brown, Joe H. Lewis, Marvin Daugherty, Roy Cosner, John Rickard, Ed Rallsback, and Leo Paris, and Miss Faye Davis, all of Gray county.

Mrs. Roy Tinsley heads the Child Study club, hostess at today's luncheon.

Dinner Party Is Birthday Event For R. McConnell

Honoring her husband on his birthday, Mrs. Russell McConnell entertained with an 8 o'clock dinner at their home west of Pampa Tuesday evening.

After an informal half hour the guests were invited into the dining room. A floral piece of sweet peas decorated the center of the table, with tall pink tapers in silver holders at either side. During the dinner hour, a telegram of greetings was received from two of the honor guests' friends, who were his classmates at T. C. U. in Fort Worth last year.

A large white birthday cake, decorated with pink candies, was served with brick ice cream which was frozen with a heart in the center. Bridge was enjoyed after dinner. During the bridge hour, Mr. McConnell entertained with several selections on the piano.

The table was spread for Miss Madeline Murray of Abilene, Miss Lola Wise, Howard Lane, Earl McConnell, Mrs. Githa McConnell, Messrs. and Mmes. Elmer Fite, and Russell McConnell.

Colored Church's Choir to Sing at First M. E. Service

The choir from the Colored Methodist church, of which Rev. E. L. Spencer is pastor, will sing Sunday night at the First Methodist church and Rev. Gaston Foote will speak from the subject, "Heart-Songs of a Race."

Six familiar songs of the negro race will be given by this choir at this service.

An invitation is extended to everyone to hear this program.

FRIENDSHIP CLASS PARTY. First Methodist Friendship class will entertain with a party at the church Friday at 3 p. m. Class members and their friends are invited.

Wife on High Seas to Meet Byrd

The "stay-at-home" member of the Admiral Richard E. Byrd family, as she describes herself, here is shown as she left Los Angeles to sail for Dunedin, N. Z., to greet her husband, whom she has not seen for more than a year.

The Antarctic explorer now is on his way to the New Zealand city, after a long stay in the South Polar wastes, and the pair will return to their Virginia home together.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL PREACH, SING, AND DIRECT REVIVAL IN CHRISTIAN CHURCH NEXT WEEK

The Social CALENDAR

FRIDAY. Priscilla H. D. club will meet with Mrs. Norman Walberg.

Mrs. Roy Sullivan will entertain Laif-a-Lot club.

Altar Society of Holy Souls church will sponsor a pie supper at the city club rooms.

Order of Eastern Star will have a Valentine party with its regular meeting at Masonic hall, 8 p. m. Each member is to bring a comic Valentine.

Annual banquet of First Baptist young people's department will be given in the church dining room, 7:30.

SATURDAY. County Parent-Teacher council will meet at high school cafeteria, executive board at 11:30 a. m. and general meeting at 12.

H. D. Club Hears Program Tuesday

"Select your dresser scarfs just large enough to cover the particular piece of furniture with no allowance for overlapping; the scarf is for protection as well as attractiveness," said Miss Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, Tuesday afternoon at a meeting with the Hopkins club at the home of Mrs. Cap Byars.

The business session featured the appointment of Mrs. J. O. Campbell as home industry demonstrator and discussion of the meat show to be held in Amarillo March 4. About 20 entries were planned.

Those present were Mmes. C. P. Couts, G. Pinnell, Ralph Manley, Mary Mackie, Robert Brown, Fleming, Pingear, Bernard Hermesmier, Campbell, Byars; Misses Faye Davis and Adams.

Altar Society to Sponsor Benefit

A shadow pie auction will be preceded by games of bingo when the Altar Society of Holy Souls church sponsors a benefit party at the city club rooms tomorrow evening.

Refreshments were served by Mmes. W. D. Champion, V. H. Hall, Ed Rallsback, John Rickard, W. T. Coe, Grady Sheperd, Floyd Boyd, Butrum, W. L. Cosner.

Young People Will Attend Heald Meet

A group of ten young people from the First Methodist church will go Heald tonight to attend a meeting of the Young People's union for this district.

They will be accompanied by Mrs. Gaston Foote, superintendent of the department, Everett Westbrook, one of the teachers and H. D. Tucker, director of religious education. The group from Pampa will present a special song on the program tonight.

The young people here will leave the church at 6 p. m.

INTERMEDIATE PARTY. The Valentine party for intermediate department of First Methodist church will be from 5:30 to 7 o'clock tomorrow, instead of the hour first mentioned. All members are invited to be present at the church basement. Helen Frances Draper is in charge of the entertainment, assisted by teachers of the department.

Have your shoes fitted at Kees & Thomas. (Adv.)

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McConnell returned Tuesday from Long Beach.

PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATION NAMES ELDERS

ELECTION FOLLOWS A DINNER AT THE CHURCH

Elders were elected by the congregation of Presbyterian church at a meeting following a fellowship dinner in the church annex last evening. They are to be ordained and installed to office at the Sunday evening service.

Plans were also made for a dinner honoring Boy Scouts at the next Men's Brotherhood meeting on Feb. 26. Scouts of the Presbyterian church, of which Harvey Todd is Scoutmaster, and those of the troop headed by Walter F. G. Stein will be special guests.

T. D. Hobart, who has served the church as a member and official for many years, was honored with election as elder emeritus.

Other elders were elected for one, two, or three-year terms, starting a rotary system in which a third of the board will be named each year. Tom Clayton, P. G. Ledrick, Geo. W. Briggs, F. E. Leech, C. H. Walker, F. M. Foster, Brent Blankfish, Harry Lyman, J. C. Ritchie, L. L. McCool, Dick Walker, and Harvey Todd were the elders chosen.

HISTORY SHOWS WELFARE WORK DONE BY P-TA

B. M. Baker Unit Has Aided Children Past 7 Years

Work of seven years for the welfare of B. M. Baker pupils and other children of the city was summarized when B. M. Baker Parent-Teacher association observed founders day Tuesday. A brief history of the association was a program feature.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Holt, the past two years have been largely devoted to support of the school cafeteria and thrift room to aid needy students. School supplies have been furnished pupils unable to buy their own.

Library books, phonograph records, auditorium chairs, and other school needs have been purchased. The association has also assisted in organizing and equipping a school band and sponsoring a music department of which it is proud.

Trees Planted First. Organized Dec. 9, 1927, the association had Mrs. Joe Smith as temporary chairman and Mrs. W. A. Gray as first president. The first project was setting trees on the campus. Mrs. J. H. Blythe was elected president in the spring of 1929 and served two years. During her administration the association joined the City Council of Parents and Teachers.

Early in its history the association started the custom of student participation in P-TA programs to improve relations between parent, teacher, and pupil. Welfare work first received serious consideration in the fall of 1930 and has continued since.

A health round-up was sponsored in the spring of 1931 and has become an annual activity. That year the group became a standard Parent-Teacher association, and for the last two years has achieved a superior rating.

President Honored. Mrs. Claude Lard was elected president in May, 1931, and served a second term after the resignation of Mrs. J. W. Crowder, elected in

Guest Speaker

Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude, one of the most prominent workers in eighth district Parent-Teacher association, will be a principal speaker when Pampa associations entertain the county Parent-Teacher council here Saturday. Her subject will be, The Abundant Life. Mrs. Crain is fourth vice president of the state congress, and former district president.

April of 1932, who moved from Pampa before she took office. A life membership certificate was presented to Mrs. Lard in May, 1932, in appreciation of her effective leadership. Mrs. Holt succeeded her in the presidency.

Room mothers clubs, band mother clubs, and study clubs have been formed through the association to cooperate with teachers in the best interests of Baker pupils.

Carnivals and other benefit entertainments have served the double purpose of bringing school patrons acquainted through the association to carry on work of the association. Playground equipment, school furnishings, and aid to underprivileged pupils have been given by the organization, with cooperation of Principal J. A. Meek and the teaching staff, merchants and other friends in Pampa.

Fourth Man Is Under Charge in Slaying at Post

FORT WORTH, Feb. 14. (AP)—Tom Morgan, 44-year-old Garza county farmer, fourth man charged in the slaying of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotic agent at Post, Texas, Thursday, told his story of the slaying here last night.

Morgan, deputized by Sheriff W. F. Cato, accused slayer of Stafford, shortly before the killing, said "It seems to me that it was a misunderstanding."

He said he drove with Sheriff Cato to a parked car. The sheriff, carrying a machine gun, got out of the car and approached another machine in which a man and woman were seated. He ordered the man to alight from the car and started to search him.

In answer to the man's calls, Stafford, inside the office of L. W. Kitchin, veterinarian, also charged in the case, came to the door. Morgan said Stafford began to draw a pistol and grapple with Sheriff Cato, Morgan continued.

"Shoot him, Tom," Morgan said the sheriff told him. He said the man and woman seized his arm. Stafford ran and turned as he reached an automobile. The shooting started, Morgan said.

The farmer said at no time prior to the shooting did he hear the words "federal officers."

Priest Must Quit Parish or Family

Confronted with the choice of giving up his church or his family, the Rev. Fr. Andrew Sarmatiuk, pastor of Oskwa, Okla., Ukrainian Greek Catholic church, is shown here with his wife and children. Andrew and Myra, as his parishioners fight for his retention, declaring that their priests have been privileged for centuries to wed. The pastor had been married 15 years when his bishop at Winnipeg issued the edict.

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

Same has a monopoly on mail delivery and will permit no competition. No letters may be privately delivered by regular trips or at stated periods. By federal definition, a letter is any written or printed communication which conveys live, individual current information between the sender and the addressee upon which the latter may act, rely, or refrain from acting. Moreover, it is unlawful to carry any such letter to a house and place it in the receptacle ordinarily used for U. S. mail.

OUR POLITICAL PRIMER:

The president may call the congress to meet in extraordinary session at any time he thinks the interests of the country justify it. When he does call an extra session, congress may transact any business it desires and remain in session as long as it wishes. There have been only about two dozen extra sessions in the 143 years since the constitution was adopted. Five of those have occurred in the past nine years.

Whatever I said was due to my delirium," the letter continued, referring to a drunken spree mentioned previously in the letter.

"Toward you I now have a feeling of admiration, respect and friendship. All I ask is your friendship. You will be free of any annoyance by me."

When we meet in the future it will be casual," the letter read. The letter, written sometime in the summer previous to Gorrell's death in Tulsa Thanksgiving night, told in detail of a "binge" which Kennamer wrote had cured him of drinking.

In the letter he attempted to restore Snedden to the good graces of the girl by telling her that the reason Snedden had written to her asking her to write to him (Kennamer) was because of their friendship.

He asked her to deal kindly with Snedden, whom Kennamer said had been taking care of him during the time he was drunk and later ill. However, the defense immediately drew from Snedden that Phil Kennamer had told him of his love for Miss Wilcox "two or three times a week" both before and after the letter was written.

Defense strategy blocked the state's effort to qualify one of its key witnesses as an expert in the trial of Phil Kennamer for murder. As a result the state was never able to ask Henry Maddux, Tulsa detective sergeant, at what distance the pistol was from the head of the slain John Gorrell when the fatal bullet was fired. Nor was the state permitted to ask Maddux which of the two shots, in his opinion, was fired first.

Traffic Arrests Numerous Here

Several Pampa motorists have learned to their sorrow, that Chief of Police Art Hurst was not "bluffing" when he announced that speeding, reckless driving, and driving with improper lights, would be frowned upon in the future.

Officers have arrested several persons in the last few days and they have been fined by Judge W. M. Craven, who warned them that any second offense would see the fine doubled.

There have been many recent accidents caused by careless driving and improper lights. Chief Hurst earlier in the week announced that it was going to be "war to the finish" with the traffic violators of Pampa.

Amarillo has started a clean-up campaign of the traffic situation with the constable's department taking the lead. The smallest fine assessed in traffic cases in justice court is $14. Many Amarillo motorists have paid that amount.

A number of Pampans were yesterday reported sight of a meteor about dawn.

The blaze of light required an unusual effort to pass the left speaker. P. L. Allister will sing, and Boy Scout stunts will be presented. Ernest Cabe is Scoutmaster of troop four.

PERSONALS

Will Ward of Wellington was a Pampa visitor yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. G. Stroup and children, Jerry and Joan, are slowly improving from a serious attack of influenza. They are at their home on the Phillips lease.

G. P. Beator of Columbus, Ohio, is visiting friends and transacting business here this week.

Mrs. R. J. Tyson of Mobeetie spent yesterday shopping in Pampa. R. L. Seize of Canadian was a business visitor here this morning.

Mrs. B. F. Black of White Deer was a Pampa shopper this morning. Joe Dudy of LeFors was a Pampa visitor yesterday.

Chas. I. Hughes is ill at his home here. Ray Carter of LeFors was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Henry Berry left Tuesday on a business trip to Detroit, Mich. Allen Byville of Amarillo transacted business in Pampa today.

2 Tires Stolen; Prowler Is Seen

Two tires were stolen last night, city police officers were notified this morning. The police also received a call from South Summer street last night when a prowler was reported seen. The police found no one in the neighborhood.

A Goodrich tire was stolen from a car in the Lyons used car lot. The other tire was removed from a Shell Petroleum corporation car, parked in front of the Houck apartments. Police made no arrests yesterday.

ALLRED

Representatives of Texas owned chain stores expressed their opposition. They will submit a plan which, they said, would exclude Texas chains but tax foreign chains.

Gas Hearing Continues

Joe Weingarten of Houston and A. L. Becker of San Antonio, representing local grocery chains, protested the tax. Weingarten said the NRA had eliminated most of the unfair competition in the grocery business and that if the independent would "get down to work and tend to business he has a better opportunity now than ever before."

Becker said the tax would place a premium on inefficiency and that "if the independents would clean their stores and go after the business they would get their share of it."

The house oil and gas committee continued hearings on bills to curb gas wastage in the Panhandle. Stanley Marsh of Amarillo, representing the gas strippers, advocated divorcement of pipe lines from producing and distributing companies and rateable taking as the only practical solution.

Marsh attributed the Panhandle condition to the major pipe line companies.

"They had the power to stop wastage by granting a rateable taking of production," he said.

The state pardon board would be moved to Huntsville, site of the central prison under a bill recommended by the house penitentiary committee.

Centennial Bill Okayed A bill to appropriate $3,000,000 in state funds to aid the observance of a centennial of Texas independence was sent to the house with a favorable report by the appropriations committee, 11 to 6.

There was virtually no argument. This bill would appropriate $1,250,000 for the central exposition at Dallas; $300,000 for a memorial at San Jacinto battlefield; $300,000 for observances at the Alamo; $400,000 to commemorate deeds at other historic spots and $750,000 for administration expense and advertising.

The house criminal jurisprudence committee rejected a bill to provide a penitentiary instead of jail sentence for criminal libel, opponents arguing present penalties were adequate if enforced. The bill, by Representative Pat Dwyer of San Antonio, was directed at "irresponsible scandal sheets."

A bill to prohibit utilities from selling appliances was reported orally by the house municipal and private corporations committee.

MOTHER OF

"I beg you to be merciful to him," she said. "Is there no God in heaven?" she sobbed, covering her face with her hands, as she earned the verdict.

"I've hoped in vain all these months and now this terrible end." For a moment the 69-year-old mother stood erect, her face chalk-like, her body quivering. Then with an air of one in a frenzy, tears streaming down her cheeks and her head leaning against a wall, she murmured:

"I am dying with him. Has the world forgotten a lonesome old mother?"

The period of confusion passed. Frau Hauptmann wiped her eyes and said:

"President Roosevelt — he will help an old mother."

"I shall write him immediately and beg him to pardon my son." With an effort to shake off her first bewilderment, Frau Hauptmann sat at a table to write, when a cablegram was delivered from Flemington.

"Don't worry," it read, "decision only temporary. Arrive!"

The message, written in English, was translated for Frau Hauptmann by the Associated Press correspondent.

KILLED BY TRACTOR CLEBURNE, Feb. 14. (AP)—Raymond Cogdill, 20, was killed today when a pulley on a tractor broke and a piece of it struck him on the neck. He was working at the time on the Henry Zweifel ranch 30 miles west of Cleburne. His neck was deeply gashed and broken, causing his death twenty minutes after the piece of iron hit him. The body was brought to Cleburne.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Enlarged selling on wheat price advances led to late reactions in all grains today.

A let up in rural demand for corn was also reported, and had a late bearish influence. There were reports too that a bumper crop of new corn was expected in Argentina.

Wheat closed easy, 1/4 cent under yesterday's finish, May 96 1/2 cent, corn 1/4 cent off to 6 up, May 85 1/2 cent, oats at 1/2 cent decline, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to a rise of 5 cents.

P. O. Clerks Are Back at Places

For the first time in nearly three weeks, all members of the local postoffice staff were back at their places this morning. Influenza swept the postoffice with as many as nine employees being absent at one time.

Other places of business in the city are reporting their staffs being nearly back to normal again. It is believed the recent damp weather has caused the epidemic to abate.

There have been few fatalities considering the number of cases of influenza. Most of the deaths that have resulted were caused by patients getting up too soon, with pneumonia developing.

Near noon prices eased off one to two points with March at 12.35, July at 12.43, and July at 12.45, or net unchanged to one point up compared to yesterday's close.

5 Tires Stolen; Prowler Is Seen

Five tires were stolen last night, city police officers were notified this morning. The police also received a call from South Summer street last night when a prowler was reported seen. The police found no one in the neighborhood.

A Goodrich tire was stolen from a car in the Lyons used car lot. The other tire was removed from a Shell Petroleum corporation car, parked in front of the Houck apartments. Police made no arrests yesterday.

NRA ACT ALTERED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP)—The jail penalties of the national industrial recovery act would go into the discard under the terms of a bill reported to have been drawn by President Roosevelt's advisers.

of the curious, Hauptmann burst into tears.

The jurors required more than 11 hours to reach their verdict. They were closely guarded after the case ended, but a courthouse report was that two of the four women had held out for a recommendation of mercy. That would have meant a life sentence.

There was no mention of mercy when the jury was polled.

With stammering words Foreman Charles Walton announced the verdict. He who had listened to the evidence for more than six weeks even twisted the defendant's name in his light to remain calm.

"Guilty," he announced. "We find the defendant, Bruno Hauptmann, guilty of murder in the first degree."

An insignificant piece of paper rustled in his trembling hands. He glanced at the paper with unseeing eyes in pretense of consulting it.

A few strides away stood Hauptmann, law set, face so pale and haggard it was ghastly in the electric light. Sharply erect, he tottered slightly as he heard the foreman's words.

A few minutes later Justice Thoms Trenchard quietly imposed sentence.

Jurors Polled So ended the long Lindbergh kidnap trial. It began in Featherbed Lane, Hopewell, the night of March 1, 1932, when the wind was howling and the leaves of Scouting were blowing on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made his home. It ended in a presale, rural courtroom littered with papers and cigarette stubs.

Thirteen times the death-dealing verdict was recited, the thirteen-day trial of the month.

After Walton had made known the decision, the court clerk asked: "Members of the jury, you have heard the verdict, that you find the defendant, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, guilty of murder in the first degree, and so say you all?"

"We do."

"Shadows from photographers' flares outside danced weirdly on the windows. The shouts of the crowd intruded on the courtroom rush."

The clerk polled the jurors, asked each by name: "What is your verdict?" "One after the other fell the answers."

"I find him guilty of murder in the first degree," he found him guilty of murder in the first degree. "I find him guilty."

Hauptmann seemed not to hear it once.

Justice Trenchard was the personification of judicial decorum. He bent a look on Hauptmann and directed:

"The defendant may be seated."

"Turning to Attorney General David T. Wilentz, he continued: "It seems to the court that there is nothing remaining except to impose the sentences provided by the statute and I am now asking the attorney general if he moves the sentence."

Wilentz, pale, moistened his lips. "If your honor please, the state moves for the sentence of the defendant at this time."

Judge Is Kind Justice Trenchard asked for the indictment and it was handed to him.

"The statute requires apparently that the verdict shall give a time within which the sentence is to be executed and within a certain week, which must begin not less than four weeks and not more than eight weeks after the issue of the (death) warrant," he observed.

"The court will therefore now proceed to impose the sentence."

"The defendant may stand."

Again Hauptmann got to his feet and faced the bench. The handcuffs on his wrists—first time since the trial started January 2—glinted in the light.

Richard Hauptmann: You have been convicted of murder in the first degree."

His voice was kindly, fatherly.

"The sentence of the court is that you, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, suffer the death penalty by hanging in the manner provided by law. And the court will hand to the sheriff a warrant appointing the week beginning Monday, the 18th day of March, 1935, as the week within which sentence may be executed in the manner provided by law."

"You are now remanded to the custody of the sheriff."

State Expected To Pay Egbert Rosecrans pointed out that, since it was a matter of life or death to the 36-year-old defendant, the state was expected to pay the cost of the appeal. Had Hauptmann received a prison term, the state would be under no obligation to aid him.

Despite the late hour, the defense battery was after the verdict in her office to plan their next move.

HOUSE APPROVES Bill to Permit Car Plate Use

AUSTIN, Feb. 14. (AP)—The Texas house today passed the senate a bill to permit use of 1935 motor vehicle registration plates immediately.

The house suspended every rule in the book to speed it to final passage. It was introduced shortly before noon, reported from committee in a few minutes and dispatched to the senate, 132 to 0.

Under the present law 1935 plates cannot be attached before midnight April 1, time limit for annual registration. The ruling has caused complaints from all parts of the state.

The bill would permit re-registration and use of 1935 plates during the remainder of the 1934 registration year.

Herbert L. Smith of Austin, representing Texas rail carriers, directed presentation of opposition. He predicted removal of the 7,000 pound limit would permit return of large cotton trucks on highways, defended railroads as the most economical method of transportation in inland areas, and detailed railroads' contributions to the state in taxes.

Other proponents urged enactment of the bill in behalf of sheep, goat, live stock, oil and flour mill industries.

increased amount.

Erbert Hooper, Austin attorney, who directed arguments of proponents, said the "only issue is purely an economic one." He said trucks hauling to or from common carrier terminals were now allowed the extra weight, causing discrimination between classes. The arbitrary load limitation, he said, caused an increase in certain types of transportation costs, providing "more or less a subsidy" for rail carriers.

Other proponents urged enactment of the bill in behalf of sheep, goat, live stock, oil and flour mill industries.

HAUPTMANN'S WIFE BREAKS DOWN; WEEPS 'Life Holds Nothing For Me,' She Declares

LEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann found consolation today in Attorney Lloyd Fisher's words, "We'll see this thing through."

Fisher, a member of her husband's legal staff, spoke to her after the jury's verdict finding Bruno Hauptmann guilty of killing the Landbergh baby.

Tears rolled down her cheeks for the first time since the trial began Jan. 2.

Fisher, who has been her husband's chief confidante, came to her side and said:

"Now you be brave. Don't show any emotion here. Don't show anything. We'll see this thing through."

Mrs. Hauptmann's chin was quivering, but she tightened her pale lips and left the courtroom sobbing.

"I still hope and I'm not afraid."

After six weeks, it was all over in 21 minutes. During the first part of the grim proceeding, Mrs. Hauptmann seemed not to grasp what had happened. She heard gray-haired Charles Walton Sr., the jury foreman, report the verdict and heard the jury polled without moving.

Her expression did not change until Hauptmann looked at her, closed his eyes and slowly shook her head.

Tears came then in her dull blue eyes, but did not fall until Justice Trencard began the sentence.

When the crowd began to leave and the jury filed out, she looked at the farmers, laborers and housewives who had voted, "guilty of murder in the first degree," and began to weep anew.

Earlier in the trial the plain-looking former waitress said, "Few women know what it is to love their husbands."

On the eve of the verdict she said: "I keep thinking we'll be back together. I've done everything I could. I can't think of anything else I could have done."

"He told me he did wrong in the old country, but I forgave him and we started all over again. When this is through, we'll start over again."

After the verdict she said, "Life holds nothing for me."

Mrs. Hauptmann "did everything she could" for her husband by attending the trial every day and sitting motionless when she said she wanted to scream.

Once she lost her composure and told a witness, Mrs. Ella Achenbach, her former employer, "You are lying!" when Mrs. Achenbach said she saw Hauptmann limping a day or two after the kidnaping.

After that she kept a statueque position, sitting with her hands folded, her light hair straggling under the hat pulled down over her eyes.

The PEOPLES COLUMN

A FADED VALENTINE
In a package of old letters, Stained with all the yellowed years, Breathing perfume of glad mornings, Ere the laughter turned to tears, From the days of happy childhood And the raptures that were mine, Speaks the tender lacy missive, "Will you be my Valentine?"

Through the years that have vanished In the darkness of tears And my vagrant feet have wandered Down through life's entangled years, What shall matter lost illusions And lost dreams of rare design? Comes again that tender message: "Will you be my Valentine?"

What if days of youth have perished? There's a joyousness that lives; What if dreams in ashes vanish? Every dream a glory gives— Yet above that yellow missive, With its memories of mine, Still echoes Heaven's music: "Will you be my Valentine?"
