It was inflation and transportation problems that swung the issue in the Civil War, and a new book coming out soon points this up.

"Kirby Smith's Confederacy: The Trans-Mississippi South, 1863-65" is the title of the book by Robert Kerby. He says Confederate soldiers and citizens dressed in rags were starving at a time when there was an abundance of cotton and wool around warehouses and vegetables in the fields. They simply did not have the resources to distribute these items to the troops and the citizens.

As for inflation, Kerby notes that " a cheap hotel room in Shreveport, which a guest might have to share with two or three strangers" brought $20 a night; ersatz tea sold for $4 per pound and one woman in Texas paid $90 for a yard and a half of blue denim.

However, the military and citizenry were able to continue in the face of this but the loss of faith, the weakening of morale which an insensitive and ill-managed government was too much.

The National Audubon Society says there are more bird watchers in Texas than any other state and a Texas area holds the record for a bird count tally.

Results of the society's 72nd annual Christmas Bird Count, were released recently and it drew more participants than ever before.

The highest total ever tallied in a count area was 226 species listed on Dec. 19 by a group near Freeport, and Texas led all states and provinces with 56 different groups counting.

The dedicated bird watchers must be a hardy lot. With some braving temperatures 25 degrees below zero in Alaska.

This is the season for graduation exercises and they are now scattered from early May well into June, not only at the college level, but in the high schools as well. People who operate the schools have adopted the idea in recent years that there really is no reason to lock their schedules into the long-time basic early September to early June dates. Now, many of them start their fall terms in mid August and end in early or mid-May. This has resulted in the fall term ending as the Christmas holidays begin. That will no longer be an issue, however, when the public schools go on the quarter system.

But another advance has been made, especially from the standpoint of the students (and many parents) in commencement programs. Many have long since abandoned the long speeches and more and more are limiting their graduation activities to a single event, rather than having separate Baccalaureate and commencement programs.

This makes us feel that we qualify for top billing in that cartoon labeled "Born 30 Years Too Soon," or is it 35?

WITH WORLD PEACE AS GOAL

Nixon Heads To Moscow Summit

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon headed for his Moscow summit session today voicing hope for "some progress" in laying foundations for "a world of peace."

"We are not going to make headlines today and solve all U.S.-Soviet differences," Nixon told well wishers at a brief departure ceremony as he took off on the first leg of his journey.

But, he said, "we do expect to make some progress" in improving relations between the United States and the Soviet Union and in establishing a "better chance for peace tomorrow and in all the years ahead."

He voiced a goal of "a world of peace, a world of progress for all."

The President's first stop will be Salzburg, Austria, where he was due to arrive tonight. He flies on to Moscow Monday morning.

The President reported Friday night at a White House reception an agreement with Communist Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev that the talks should produce genuine results.

The chief executive said that if remaining bottlenecks can be broken in face-to-face talks with Brezhnev, he foresees summit agreements in three major areas: U.S.-Soviet trade relations, cooperation in the exploration of space and, most important, putting a lid on the East-West race to acquire more and bigger strategic arms.

Nixon, entertaining the 182 members of the press corps making the trip with him, said still further avenues for accord might be uncovered.

Nixon said that when Henry A. Kissinger, his assistant for national security affairs, made a then-secret trip to Moscow last month, Brezhnev also spoke of hopes for summit accomplishments.

Both nations have contributed to the summit agenda, Nixon reported, saying the items include "Vietnam and other areas of the world where the United States and the Soviet Union do sometimes have conflicting interests."

The President's first overseas destination, following an eight-hour flight from nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., was Salzburg, Austria—home of the world renowned summer music festival. There, he and Mrs. Nixon planned to relax and be entertained at lunch Sunday by Austrian Chancellor Bruno Kreiski.

Moscow will be Monday's destination. The Nixons will return to the White House June 1, following post-Soviet stops in Iran and Poland.

Nixon disclosed that he looks forward to delivering "two very substantive speeches" while in Moscow as the only U.S. President ever to visit the Soviet capital.

First, he said, Brezhnev will say something of importance Monday night at an official dinner honoring the American visitors. Nixon said he expected to have something important to say in response. He did not elaborate.

Then, on May 28, Nixon said he will talk "on the Soviet television and radio network to the Soviet people."

Although he said his remarks will be directed primarily at Soviet citizens, he added, "I think the people will approve."

The President described the Moscow summit as having been in preparation for about three years.

Citing summits held with Soviet leaders by Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, Nixon declared:

"What they all added up to was cosmetics—all froth and very little substance."

Nixon said his talks with Brezhnev will be "primarily directed toward substance rather than cosmetics."

INTERRUPT S-VIET DRIVE

N-Viets Counterattack

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Several hundred North Vietnamese troops, led by tanks, launched a dawn counterattack today that briefly interrupted a South Vietnamese drive to break the 44-day siege of An Loc.

Field reports said 81 North Vietnamese troops were killed and eight tanks were destroyed, seven on the ground by government troops firing light anti-tank weapons and one by an air strike. Three other tanks were crewmen fled.

The Saigon command reported 15 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 38 wounded in beating back the counterattack.

A senior U.S. adviser, Col. J. Ross Franklin, said the counterattack failed because the South Vietnamese knew of it in advance from intelligence sources. He declared: "The South Vietnamese are within grasp of a great victory."

Franklin said the counterattack was, in all probability, North Vietnam's last major offensive thrust in the battle for An Loc, the ruined provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon. President Nguyen Van Thieu had ordered An Loc held at all costs.

On the central front, North Vietnamese forces for the third time this week attacked the outer defense of the provincial capital of Kontum, said to be a major objective of the enemy offensive. At least four different attacks were launched in continuing probing actions. At last report, sporadic fighting was reported continuing about a mile north of the city.

Informed sources said more than 600 North Vietnamese troops have been killed in fighting on the outskirts of Kontum since last Sunday, while government losses are about 80 troops killed and 230 wounded. But Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from the central front that there is some feeling government casualties are probably higher than those being reported.

Two Killed In Irish Violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Two persons were killed and five injured in shootings across Northern Ireland during the night and early today, authorities reported.

Snipers ambushed an Ulster Defense Regiment patrol near Dungannon and shot and killed one of the reservists. He was the 12th to be cut down since the force was formed two years ago and 332nd person to die in violence in the province since 1969.

In Belfast, a youth from a Protestant district was hit in the chest by gunfire from a speeding car early today. One of three men on a street corner in another Protestant district was seriously wounded by gunfire, also from a speeding car. Military sources said the three were believed members of a Protestant vigilante squad standing guard on the corner.

Meanwhile, guerrillas [illegible] demolished a bar and a department store in Londonderry, and planted 11 incendiary devices in Protestant taverns in Newton Abbey, near Belfast. Only one of the firebombs went off. It caused little damage. Security forces dismantled the others.

The Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army claimed responsibiltiy for setting off the 40-pound bomb in Londonderry Friday that wounded two soldiers and 10 civilians, including a baby.

In Dublin, 30 members of the IRA's Provisional wing who led a six-hour riot in Mountjoy Prison Friday night were placed in an army cellblock at Curragh Camp, 30 miles outside the capital, the Justice Department said.

McGovern Seeking Big Oregon Vote

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

Sen. George McGovern, the only major Democratic presidential candidate campaigning for next Tuesday's Oregon primary, is seeking a big vote "to give us the kind of momentum we need" for the crucial California showdown two weeks later.

He sought an additional boost today by scheduling a flight to Phoenix, Ariz., to get the endorsement of United Farm Workers leader Cesar Chavez, a key figure among the Chicanos who make up 15 per cent of the California Democratic vote.

McGovern counts heavily on the Chavez endorsement, plus the support received Thursday from Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to win votes from California's Chicanos and blacks in the [illegible].

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, has decided against campaigning in Oregon, where 11 Democrats, including Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, are on Tuesday's ballot. But McGovern is taking nothing for granted in his bid to win the state's 34 delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

He drove south from Portland on Friday, visiting lumber, paper and electronics factories in the lush Willamette Valley, then crossed the coastal mountains to speak to longshoremen in North Bend before flying to the southern Oregon city of Medford for the night.

After swinging through California to Phoenix and back to Los Angeles tonight, McGovern returns to Oregon on Sunday for a day and a half of heavy campaigning up to the primary.

As the campaign rolled on, McGovern and Humphrey announced that they have agreed to debate the issues on national television two Sundays before the California primary.

Hijack Meet Set In Cairo

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A conference on preventing airliner hijackings will be held in Cairo in July, Sabet al Sifry, secretary-general of the Union of Arab Transport Workers announced today.

Sifry said hijackings were becoming so common "they are endangering civil aviation." Experts and authorities from all Arab countries will be invited to the meeting, he added.

His statement was reported by Egypt's official Middle East News Agency.

Black Lung Bill Signed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Arch Moore said today that President Nixon has signed the Black Lung Benefits Act of 1972.

"I am deeply appreciative of the President's action and his recognition of this very human problem," Moore said in a brief statement issued from his office.

The bill, worked out by House-Senate conferees, broadens black lung benefits coverage to coal miners, widows and families.

Wallace Thanks Supporters

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — George C. Wallace has given his supporters a thank-you message with a political flavor, and his press secretary says that means the wounded candidate is continuing his presidential campaign.

"I want to thank the people of Alabama for staying with us," Wallace said in a message relayed to newsmen Friday by his press secretary, Billy Joe Camp.

"They are responsible for the new direction in this country because most of the politicians are now sounding like us," the Alabama governor said.

Responding to questions, Camp said the statement could be interpreted as Wallace's first step toward resuming his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

As his third and strongest presidential bid gained momentum, Wallace was struck down by a would-be assassin at a shopping center rally near here Monday. He has yet to learn whether the bullet still lodged in his spinal canal will leave him a permanent cripple.

Camp said there have been no staff strategy sessions with the governor since the shooting.

IRS To Probe Big Companies

SEA ISLAND, Ga., (AP) — The head of the Internal Revenue Service said today that the agency will begin "in-depth probes" of large corporations to determine if they are avoiding taxes or engaging in fraud.

Johnnie M. Walters, the IRS commissioner, said guidelines are now being issued to field offices to begin the probes, which will focus on a more complete investigation of tax audits of large U.S. corporations.

"We intend to recommend prosecution—where warranted—of officers or employes responsible for corporate evasion," Walters said in remarks prepared for the South Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association.

"For example, we might suspect that a certain company is making political campaign contributions disguised as business expenses—or that an officer is expected of receiving kickbacks from suppliers," he said.

The audit plan will contain procedures "designed to detect and uncover such schemes," he said.

He cited as examples a company that claimed millions of dollars in deductions and another that purchased insurance from a foreign firm with rebates of $1 million-$2 million a year being paid to a Swiss subsidiary without being reported.

Walters called it "astounding" that large companies engage in such schemes, and said the initial findings led him to emphasize uncovering tax frauds by large companies. Normal audit procedures seldom discover such schemes, he said.

Security Tightened On Fed Buildings

WASHINGTON (AP) — While FBI experts continued to search debris from an explosion in a Pentagon restroom, the government stiffened security for all federal buildings because of the bombing.

The General Services Administration announced tighter precautions Friday as experts looked for clues to who and what caused the blast earlier in the day.

GSA said security steps taken include continued restricted entrances to buildings, searching of all packages brought into buildings by persons without employe identification, and searching of all suspicious packages.

Field officials were given authority to increase precautions in any way they believed warranted.

The explosion at 12:59 a.m. EDT Friday ruined the women's rest room on the fourth floor of the Defense Department headquarters—the world's largest office building. There were no injuries.

A hole was blown through the floor, the ceiling caved in and huge sections of walls were blown into a corridor.

About 18 persons who normally worked near the restroom were not able to use their offices, but for most of the building's 27,500 military and civilian workers, it was business as usual.

Bomb experts sifted through the debris left by the blast, looking for parts of the explosive device to determine what type it was or any other clues.

The FBI said it did not know the nature of the explosive. But Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said, "It appears to have been some sort of a bomb."

Antiwar activists identifying themselves with the Weatherman organization said "We attacked the Pentagon, the center of the American military command." They claimed credit for the blast through a letter and phone calls to news media.

Although the Pentagon has been the object of dozens of antiwar demonstrations over the past eight years, this was the first time that any explosive had been used against it.

Officials said the fire was reported shortly after 6 a.m.

The children belonged to Mr. and Mrs. John Wright, who escaped with another child.

Shower sympathy on 'stormaphobics'

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: As a television "weatherman," I occasionally receive mail from viewers. Today I received a letter from a woman who has been terrified of thunderstorms since she was a small child. Worse yet, she says her husband makes fun of her for her childish fears.

Abby, I have a feeling that there are many people who suffer from not only such fears, but lack of understanding on the part of their families.

Will you please appeal to your readers to be more sympathetic to those who are terrified of storms? Urge them to comfort, reassure and calm the frightened ones, instead of saying, "Dummy, there's nothing to be afraid of!"

Those who fear storms react like frightened children, regardless of their ages. Also, if they are calmed and reassured they will not be on the phone, calling us when we are busiest. BILL IN TORNADO ALLEY

DEAR BILL: You're all heart. But your plea for compassion to "stormaphobics" [a word of my own creation] is worth passing on.

DEAR ABBY: I am really disturbed about my husband's attitude. Recently we had some work done on our car. When my husband got the car back from the garage he found a pocketknife on the floor.

I told him to call the garage and return the knife. He said he had no intention of returning it because he liked the knife. I told him that since he knew the knife belonged to one of the mechanics at the garage, if he didn't return it it was just like stealing. He said garage mechanics were always stealing stuff out of cars, and he was just getting even.

I tried to reason with him, but it did no good.

What is your opinion, Abby? Isn't it as bad as stealing to find something and keep it, when you could easily return it to the owner? MARRIED TO A THIEF

DEAR MARRIED: Yes. Your husband is going off the deep end in an attempt to justify his dishonesty.

DEAR ABBY: A written note of thanks, after a verbal thank you has been given is not, in my view, a "gracious gesture" as you recently stated. It is a superfluous redundancy and I HATE getting them. There are, of course, occasions when a written thank you is mandatory, but must we make a fetish of it?

We all enjoy receiving personal letters, but when I get an interesting looking, handwritten envelope containing only a sterile one or two line thank you after I've already been verbally thanked, I am disappointed and annoyed by the person who sent it. I refuse to do that to my friends—let them criticize me and keep the gift for which they need two thank yous.

When I recently gave a lady a recipe, she thanked me graciously. The following day I received a written thank you note from her. I told her I would never give her another recipe unless she promised not to send a written thank you note! NO THANK YOU

DEAR NO: Thank you for another classic example for the "You-Can't-Win" department.

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor [I'll call her "Mrs. G."] told me this, and it's too good to keep.

She said she invited her married children and their spouses to her home for a family dinner on Mother's Day. There were 14 in all, and Mrs. G. prepared all the things her children liked to eat. She did everything herself, which was quite a chore.

After dinner, the guests started to play cards and Mrs. G. went into the kitchen to do the dishes. About an hour later, one of the daughters came into the kitchen and saw her mother working over the pots and pans. The daughter put her arm around her and said, "Mother, I hate to see you standing doing dishes on Mother's Day."

So the mother smiled and started to remove her apron, when the daughter continued, "Wait until after midnight!" STILL LAUGHING

Haircuts Part Of Sharing

Frankie Sings For Agnew

BALTIMORE AP —Maryland Republicans paid $100 or more a seat to fete Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and bankroll their party, but they got something far vaster sums have been unable to purchase for a year—a song from Frank Sinatra.

Jokes from Bob Hope as master of ceremonies were expected by the 2,500 persons who packed the Lyric Theater for a tribute to the vice president Friday night.

So were songs and dances from Ray Bolger, a few remarks from Agnew and the normal stand-up-and-bows by visiting celebrities sprinkled throughout the black-tie audience.

But the most anyone expected from Sinatra was a walk-on appearance by the singer who left multi-thousand-dollar-a-week Las Vegas contracts to retire from show business a year ago.

"This is ridiculous," he said after walking to the microphone as the last man on the bill. "I haven't worked in a year."

Then, reading from a typed sheet, he began singing about Agnew to the tune of "The Lady is a Tramp."

"Shyness of speech sure is no quirk of his," Sinatra sang. "He likes to tell it like it is. That's why the gentleman is a champ."

The reworked lyrics recounted Agnew's political life and recalled the vice president's "effete snobs" comment.

Sinatra appeared nervous at first, his voice was soft, but as he warmed up, his notes began to take on the distinctive Sinatra lilt. By the final chorus he was belting it out.

Backstage, Sinatra said the performance was his first in a year and his last.

Ralph Fails On Recount

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who missed a majority in the May 6 Democratic primary for nomination as U.S. senator by 536 votes out of the more than two million cast, failed Friday in his attempt to have Dallas County votes recounted.

A majority would have enabled Yarborough to avoid a runoff with Barefoot Sanders, who polled 787,504 votes to Yarborough's 1,032,806, according to final Texas Election Bureau tabulations.

Ed Wendler, state campaign chairman for Yarborough, tried to pay Dallas County Democratic Chairman Earl Luna $3 per precinct for a recount by Luna refused.

Wendler also sought from Luna, as counsel for the state Democratic Executive Committee, a recount of the vote in Borden, Kimble and Delta counties, claiming Yarborough would pick up a majority by 239 votes. In each instance Luna said the requests were too late.

Luna said Yarborough's only recourse is to obtain a district court order to halt the clearing of voting machines and then protest the vote in court.

Yarborough said later, however, that he will not file suit to stop the clearing of the machines.

Traffic Jammed In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Massive traffic jams formed along the Berlin Wall and on roads leading out of the city today as a flood of West Berliners sought to visit East Berlin and surrounding East Germany.

One line of waiting cars stretched more than six miles.

"The East German officials are processing quickly and without harassment," a western official said, "but they cannot keep up with the storm of people trying to pass."

It was the fourth day of a special Pentecost visiting period for West Berliners and of eased controls on transit routes leading to West Germany from the Communist-surrounded city.

Officials expected the tide of visitors to reach 700,000 by next Wednesday when the period ends, compared to 450,000 at Easter.

Despite heavy rain, thousands of East Berliners stood waiting on the eastern side of the wall to greet their kin.

West Berliners this spring are visiting East Berlin for the first time since 1966, and East Germany for the first time since 1952.

Man Arrested On Fugitive Warrants

Emanuel Barrera, 21, is being held by local authorities on fugitive warrants that were issued in California and Kansas. The Kansas warrant is on a charge of murder, and the California warrant is for violation of the narcotic act. He is also charged in Olton, Texas for passing a forged instrument.

Barrera was taken into custody by the Snyder Police Department. He waived extradition and has been transferred to the county jail and into the custody of sheriff's department. Detective Paul Alexander, who made the arrest, said that Barrera will be picked up by Grover Craig of Garden City, Kansas, Tuesday.

Approximately 150 candidates received bachelor's degrees from the College of Fine Arts.

Officers Slain Near Paducah

PADUCAH, Tex. (AP) — A burst of rifle fire cut down two peace officers, killing both, as they were making arrests late Friday night to end what was described as a family row.

Sheriff Paul Vinson, 48, from neighboring King County and State Patrolman Gayle Holmes, 26, stationed at Spur, died in the hail of bullets at a point midway between Paducah and Guthrie, the King County seat.

Officers later arrested two men and held them without immediate charge.

Investigators gave this account:

Vinson and Holmes went with State Patrolman Leon Littlefield, also from Spur, went to the combination grocery store and home of Henry Northcutt in response to a call that several men had been drinking and were creating a disturbance.

Gunfire broke out after the slain officers escorted a man from a house and were putting him in a squad car.

Littlefield escaped harm as his two companions were gunned down and he drove them to a hospital.

Northcutt, who was standing beside Vinson, ducked behind a car and also was unhurt.

State police Sgt. J. W. Garner of Seymour, Sheriff Elmer Clark of Cottle County (Paducah) and state patrolmen Tommy Beal and Glenn Smith later took two brothers into custody at a farm house one mile west of the Northcutt place.

Vinson's wife was manning the radio at her husband's office in Guthrie when word was relayed about the shootings.

"They radioed us," sheriff's deputy Price Sandlin said in Paducah, "and I could hear Mrs. Vinson screaming in the background."

Vinson was serving his second term as sheriff in King County. Holmes had been a state patrolman since 1969.

Both the slain officers were married.

Besides his wife, Vinson leaves two daughters. Mrs. Belinda Searcy who lives on the Pitchfork Ranch and Debbie Vinson of Paducah, and two sons, Billy Paul and David Vinson of Paducah.

Kristen Hibbs, Garry Lake United In Marriage May 20

Kristen Gayle Hibbs and Garry Patrick Lake were united in marriage May 20, 1972 at 3 p.m. in Our Lady Queen of Peace Catholic Church, Wichita Falls. Rev. Joseph Thomas officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hibbs of Snyder and Mrs. Joseph P. Lake and the late Mr. Lake of Dallas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of imported organza overlaid with dotted Swiss. The gown featured an empire bodice, long sheer bishop sleeves with wide cuffs and a high Victorian neckline, all accented with chantilly lace. A matching chapel length train completed the gown. A fingertip veil of illusion extended from a headpiece of Swiss organza trimmed with chantilly lace. The bride carried a bouquet of daisies with gypsephilia and baby mums.

Miss Rebecca Brooks of Quannah was maid of honor and Misses Beverly Adams of Midland and Jane Neale of Wichita Falls were bridesmaids. They wore full length empire gowns of yellow dotted Swiss, white wide brim hats with hatbands matching the gowns, and carried daisy nosegays.

Miss Kristen Claer, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a costume fashioned after that of the attendants and carried a basket of daisies.

Rodney Claer was ringbearer. He wore a white tuxedo to match the groom's attendants.

Frosty Leos of Dallas served as best man, and groomsmen were Steve Peebles and Jimmy Lake, brother of the groom, both of Dallas. Ushers were Bobby Bruce and Louis Kohler of Dallas.

The church was decorated with urns of daisies and greenery and white tapered candles. Daisies and ivy entwined the kneeling bench.

Organist Kathy Bridger and soloist Gay Massey presented traditional wedding music along with "We've Only Just Begun," "More," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. Mrs. William R. Hibbs II, sister-in-law of the bride and Miss Gerrie Lake, sister of the groom presided over the bride's table, which was covered by a white stain cloth topped with silver candlebra and nosegays of daisies. The yellow tiered cake was decorated with white and yellow daisies. Champagne punch was served from a silver punch bowl.

Misses Patricia and Mary Lake, sisters of the groom, served at the groom's table, which was decorated with a white cloth, a pewter tankard of daisies and candles in two pewter holders. The groom's cake was double ring German chocolate.

For her wedding trip, the bride chose a lavendar and white ensemble and white wide brimmed hat and white accessories.

The bride, a 1970 graduate of Snyder High School, attended Texas Tech. The bridegroom is a pre-med student at Texas Tech and is employed by the University and Sears.

Out-of-town guests came from Dallas, Ft. Worth, Killeen, Snyder, Midland, Quannah, San Antonio, Lawton, Okla., and Oklahoma City.

Irvings File Suit On IRS

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Clifford Irving, his wife Edith and his researcher, Richard Suskind—principals in the Howard Hughes autobiography hoax-have filed suit in U.S. District Court demanding more than $91,000 which they said was taken as "jeopardy assessments" by the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS applied tax liens against the Irvings and Suskind last February, more than a month before they pleaded guilty to constructing a hoax in which McGraw-Hill Inc. paid out $750,000 for a bogus autobiography of Hughes, the billionaire industrialist.

Each could receive 13 years in prison and $11,000 fines.

The three asked the court to dissolve the assessments on grounds that the government had failed to take "certain technical steps required by law" in collecting the money against 1971 income taxes.

Junior Troop 227 (Mrs. Larry Bills, Mrs. Alvin Wimmer, Mrs. Macca Findley) met May 13th at 5 a.m. at the St. Elizabeth Church and started on our way to Six Flags over Texas.

We arrived at the Girl Scout Hut in Arlington about 10 a.m. We unloaded our things and ate lunch in the back yard of the Hut. We then divided into four groups and went to Six Flags, arriving there about twelve noon. We rode all the rides we came to and some we rode several times. We ate supper in Six Flags and bought souvenirs. We got back to the Hut about midnight and we hit the beds for everyone was very tired. We got up about 7 a.m. Sunday and after breakfast we had a special religious service. Later we took group pictures and did our last minute cleaning. We loaded and left about 11 a.m. We ate lunch in Weatherford and with a few rest stops got home around 6 p.m. Sunday evening.

We want to thank Troop 327 from Snyder for letting us share the hut with them. Special thanks also to Mrs. Parolari for the loan of her station wagon and to Mr. Wilson for the van—we really appreciated it.

We want to thank our leaders and helpers for making this a great trip. Our "Special People" are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wimmer, Mrs. Larry Bills, Mrs. Macca Findley, Mrs. Clarence Wright, Mrs. H.D. Strickland, Mrs. Alfonse Wimmer, Mrs. W.D. Stewart—they may be old but they did a great job following us around those ten hours!

Ann Klein Fashions Are Sporty

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "We are doing this entire line without the wrap jacket," was the word at the Anne Klein and Company fall fashion showing on Thursday.

However, Miss Klein, who went a long way toward bringing the sportswear look superstar status, showed most of the trendy ideas for this fall—as well as salable ones from last year.

From last year, she shows:

—The gaucho pants: in leather with matching jackets.

—Slacks with waist lines at the hip: in heather herringbone and leather.

—The layered look: shirts, sweater vest, scarf, jacket. The long wool skirt and shirt look.

Ideas which are strong for fall 1972 are:

—The wrap coat: in gray wool or bright red.

—The monotone theme: important in this collection, in red-brown pants outfits, and done best for evening in whites. The whites included white leather pants, sweater and fluffy coat, or white sweater dresses and cardigans.

—Plaids: skirts and larger blanket plaid coats.

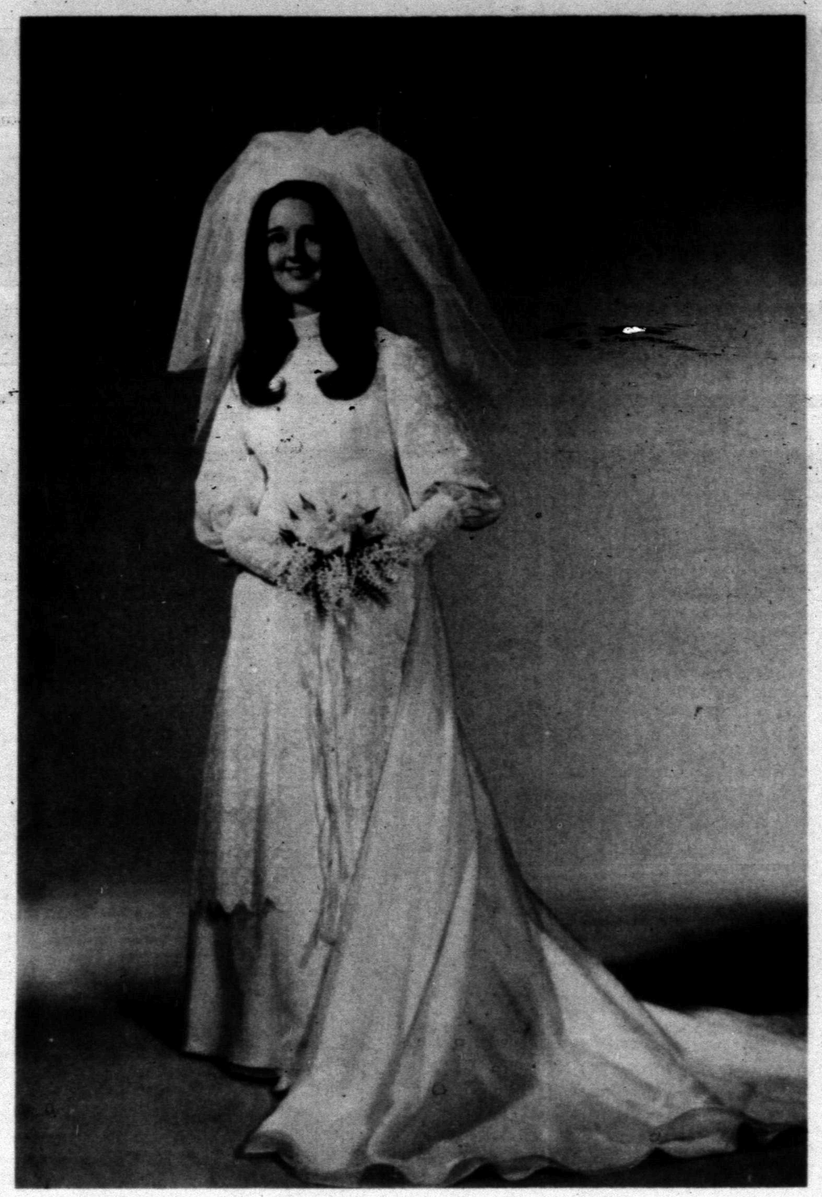

—Raglan sleeved jackets.

—The topper: smooth-looking in caramel wool, with flap pockets.

—Dolman sleeved dress, in white ribbed wool.

MRS. RONNIE ALLEN GOEBEL

McKinney, Goebel Exchange Vows In Ceremony At C-City

Donna Lynn McKinney and Ronnie Allen Goebel were united in marriage May 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church, Colorado City. Rev. Lynward Harrison officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Pat McKinney, Jr., of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Goebel of Hermleigh.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white beauganza and cameo lace with empire waist and a high bias roll collar. Cameo lace overlay in the bodice extended over the skirt of the gown forming an apron effect. The sheer bishop sleeves of cameo lace were accented with wide cuffs and a lace overlay at the shoulder. Tiny buttons accented the chapel train. Her shoulder length veil of three-tiered illusion tulle was caught in a cap of cameo lace and beauganza. She carried a cascade of white flowers centered with cattleya orchid with shower of tiny white ribbons tied in love knots.

Mrs. Robert Henderson of Midland was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of blue and white organza with bishop sleeves and carried a nosegay of miniature blue carnations and white star flowers and wore a matching headpiece. Mrs. Jimmy Dupree of Lubbock and Miss Brenda Connard of Colorado City served as bridesmaids and their costumes were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Larry Goebel, twin brother of the groom, served as best man. Jimmy Dupree of Lubbock and Steve Pierce of Snyder were groomsmen. Ushers were Calvin Goebel, brother of the groom and Richard McKinney, brother of the bride.

A white prayer bench centered the altar which was arched over with emerald greenery and blue votive candles. Staggered seven-branched cathedral style candlelabras holding votive candles flanked this setting. The altar rail was decorated with emerald arrangements and votive candles. Pews were marked with blue satin streamers.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Miss Jan Gooney and Miss Carla Waters presided at the bride's table. The three-tiered bride's cake was topped with two slender wedding rings edged with tiny silver beading. The table was laid with a white pleated organza cloth centered with an arrangement of white roses and gypsophila and tall blue tapers.

Mrs. Danny Tartt registered guests.

For a short trip after the wedding the bride wore a blue outfit and white accessories with orchid corsage taken from the bridal bouquet. The couple will live in Abilene.

The bride graduated from Colorado City High School in 1970, attended Howard County Jr. College, Angelo State University, and is currently attending Mary Meek School of Nursing in Abilene. The bridegroom, a graduate of Snyder High School, attended the University of Houston and Howard County Junior College and will receive an associate degree in drafting this month.

"Bilingual Education" Program Is Underway

Editor's Note: There has been widespread talk about "bilingual education" in the Southwest, where hundreds of thousands of Mexican-American children speak no English. Trying to learn school assignments in English is too much. Most drop out. A new federal bilingual program is under way. Eloy A. Aguilar, a member of the Texas Associated press staff who speaks both Spanish and English beautifully, set out to discover what it's all about. It isn't what it sounds like. And the English-speaking may be in for some surprises.

By ELOY O. AGUILAR
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Jose is a 7-year-old who until recently called himself "Joe" and was forbidden to speak Spanish in school.

Statistics proved that Joe or Jose was on his way to becoming a school dropout at the age of 10.

Trying to learn school work in what to him was a foreign language was just too much.

That's the way it was until recently for almost all the Spanish-speaking in the United States—700,000 children alone in Texas and thousands of others throughout the Southwest, in California, and in many other states.

Then Mexican-American leaders and others forced the English speaking to face up to the problem. Thus arrived "bilingual education."

"Bilingual" would seem to mean that the youngsters learn in both English and Spanish. It isn't that at all.

Now Jose, unlike his father years ago, will go through school without the threat of punishment for speaking his mother tongue.

He should develop scholastically in Spanish on a par with his peers whose dominant language is English until he, too, becomes proficient in English.

He will learn in Spanish about Mexican culture, Mexican-American contributions to his country—the United States-and hopefully acquire a self-confidence that will enable him to compete as an adult-citizen with people from other culture while retaining his own.

At the same time his peers from other cultures will be learning more about Jose, his heritage and his language.

He is part of a three-year-old federal program for children who previously were thrust into a school system that made them feel alien from the first day. It eventually forced them to withdraw or drop out.

"The ultimate specific goal of the bilingual program is not to create bilingual children," said Juan de Dios Solis, of Mission, state director of the program. "Bilingualism will be a by-product. The ultimate goal is education of the child and development of a positive self-concept and socio-cultural identification."

"No child is going to do well in school if he does not feel good about himself," said Pablo Perez, also of Mission, director of the program in Dallas where bilingual education began last year.

In La Joya, near the banks of the Rio Grande where the majority of the students are Mexican-Americans and the program has been in effect for three years, director Mrs. Irene Garcia said:

"Back in the old days we were not allowed to speak Spanish. Now, the kids have pride in their language and culture and this makes it easier for them to learn English."

The bilingual program has been established in 49 school districts in Texas with the participation of 18,377 Spanish-speaking children and nearly 4,000 children whose mother tongue is English.

The cost of the program in the past three years was approximately $70 million.

But of the estimated 700,000 Spanish-speaking children in Texas, nearly 50 per cent still enter "an English classroom without knowing what the hell is going on," education officials say.

Eventually, they are classified as slow learners, or even mentally retarded on the basis of intelligence tests given in English, and weeded out of the system.

"The child, in effect, is blamed for not learning when what really happened was that the system failed to understand the needs of a child that could have turned into a productive citizen," Perez said.

"The child was placed into an environment in which he was reminded constantly that his language was forbidden and at the same time forced to pursue a curriculum in a strange language," he added.

"It was a system which, along with his language, rejected his culture as bad or inferior and ignored his history and that of his ancestors," he stated.

A recent report of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission gave Texas low grades on the way the state deals with education of Mexican-American children.

The report said that Texas uses textbooks that contain what it called "an inexcusable Anglo-American bias."

"The suppression of the Spanish language is perhaps the most overt area of exclusion," the report added.

Bilingual education programs are being established in other Southwestern states and in some northern cities.

California has a program that covers only 1.7 per cent of its Mexican-American students and Arizona recently decided to give intelligence tests in Spanish to Mexican-American children. The state also has a pilot program for bilingual education in Phoenix.

In New Mexico there are bilingual education programs in 82 schools with 7,500 children participating in 30 of the state's 89 school districts.

Texas officials hope to increase the program to cover more than the first three grades in which it is now applied.

"It is easy to criticize how things were in the past," said principal James Hughey whose Dallas school has a bilingual program. "But we should look at the future. What was done in the past was not all bad, but what we are doing now is better."

While he spoke, down the hall in a second grade classroom, Mexican-American children were listening to a teacher tell them in Spanish about Mexican hero Benito Juarez prior to a class in which they were told about George Washington in English.

On the walls of the classrooms there were pictures of Mexican heroes, prominenet Mexican-American leaders and American heroes.

In another class American children, too, were being told about Benito Juarez and a bit of Mexican history that would make them understand their Mexican-American fellow students better.

Critics of the program argue that a crash English course would be better, but bilingual program advocates answer that a purely linguistic program would not help the child develop intellectually and socially.

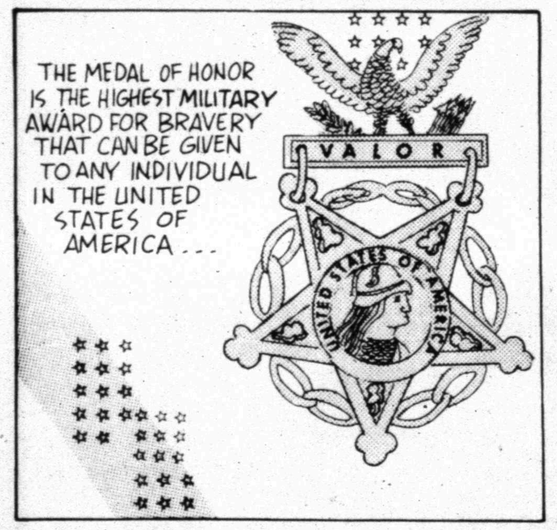

"With the bilingual program we are not proposing a language switch from English to Spanish," Solis stressed. "the child learns English as a second lanaüge at first, but at the same time he is developing his own self in his mother tongue until he becomes proficient in two languages without losing ground scholastically."

Mexican-American leaders emphasize the development of the "positive self-concept" or plain "good feeling about himself" as an essential factor in the educational process.

The purpose is to make the child feel that because his traditions, language and culture are different, he and they are not inferior.

Junior Editors' Quiz on THE MEDAL OF HONOR

QUESTION: Who was the first to receive the Medal of Honor?

* * *

ANSWER: The Army was first to present Medals of Honor. On March 25, 1863, Secretary of War Stanton decorated six survivors of the "Mitchell Raiders" for carrying out a "cloak and dagger" mission in April 1862.

The first Medal of Honor incident in the Civil War took place on May 24, 1861, just after the war began. Private Francis Brownell killed the murderer of Colonel Ellsworth at the Marshall House, Alexandria, Va. But he did not receive his award until Jan. 26, 1877.

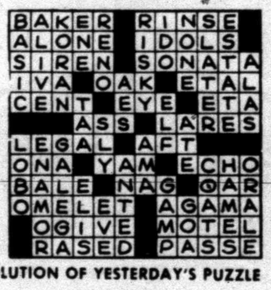

The first incident for which a Medal of Honor was subsequently awarded took place on Feb. 14, 1861, a date prior to the outbreak of the Civil War and the existence of the Medal of Honor. Assistant Surgeon Bernard J. Irwin led a rescue party against Cochise and his Apache band who had surrounded troops of the 7th Infantry. However, he did not get his award until 33 years later.

The Medal of Honor is awarded by the President of the United States in the name of Congress. Since the creation of the Medal of Honor in 1861, more than 3,000 medals have been awarded. There are at the present time about 275 living recipients of the Medal of Honor. It is the highest military award for bravery that can be given to any individual in the United States.

Mrs. Nixon Has Own Heavy Moscow Schedule

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — While her husband confers with Soviet leaders, first lady Pat Nixon will strike out on her own with a heavy Moscow schedule carrying her to a school, circus, watch factory and department store.

According to a tentative schedule made available by White House sources, Mrs. Nixon will also ride a Moscow subway, visit a university, watch aspiring young ballet dancers practice, attend a fashion show and tour a museum next week.

The presidential jet, The Spirit of '76, today wings toward Salzburg, Austria on the first leg of a two-week journey that will carry the Nixons to Iran and Poland as well as the Soviet Union.

Just as she did during the President's trip to China earlier this year, Mrs. Nixon has arranged a busy schedule which will place her in contact with the "man in the street" as well as with the wives of high-ranking Soviet officials.

Soon after arriving in Moscow on Monday, according to the tentative schedule, Mrs. Nixon will join the President at a tea with Soviet leaders, then attend an official dinner hosted by the Communist government.

Her first stop on Tuesday will be at Secondary School Number 42, where she will visit several classes, watch a basketball game and hear a choir practice.

On Tuesday afternoon, she will ride the Moscow Metro to the newly completed Turgenevskaya Station.

At tea-time Tuesday, she will visit private apartments to be greeted by the wives of such high-ranking officials as Communist Party Chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Nikolai Podgorny.

Her Wednesday schedule calls for a morning visit to Moscow State University and afternoon shopping at the state-operated Gum Department Store. Then, on Wednesday night, she'll spend 2½ hours at the circus.

Thursday's schedule calls for Mrs. Nixon to visit during the morning the Bolshoi School of Choreography, where she will watch small children practicing. An afternoon stop is set for the All Union Fashion House for a 30-minute showing of costumes and furs.

The Second Moscow Watch Factory is on the agenda for Friday.

Mrs. Nixon will travel with the President to Leningrad on Saturday. On Sunday she will visit the Armory and Museum to see exhibits of carriages, costumes, precious stones, diamonds and gold.

On Monday she travels to Kiev with the President, then on Tuesday flies with him to Iran.

Court Rules For Inmate

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Texas prison inmate who claimed he was forced to do field labor despite having heart problems should have been allowed to file suit for damages, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The federal appeals court said the district court erred in dismissing the complaint without giving the inmate, Coy Ray Campbell, "an opportunity to present evidence to substantiate his very serious allegations."

In his original petition, Campbell, an inmate of the Wynn Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections, alleged that he was forced to do heavy manual labor although he was classified in the fourth class medical category, which he said was the same as 4-F in the military.

Campbell said he had to dig pipeline ditches and carry 100-pound sacks of dairy feed. He also alleged he was refused medication.

The petition was brought against Dr. George Beto, director of the Texas Department of Corrections. Campbell asked for $15,000 dollars compensatory damages, an order barring him from being forced to do any other hard work and an injunction ordering proper medical attention for all inmates.

Although sending the case back to the lower court, the appellate court said it has "no more prediction as to the ultimate outcome of the merits than any case."

In another case, the appeals court confirmed a district court case which had been brought by Douglas Ware, a minor, and his father Marshal Ware, and then appealed. They brought suit against Dallas Schools Supt. Nolan Estes, attacking the system's corporal punishment policy.

Increased Oil Imports Seen

BY MAX B. SHELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The new increase in authorized oil import levels probably will amount to just a drop in the bucket by the end of the decade.

The 230,000 barrels a day increase for the balance of 1972 will push the total daily level beyond 4.5 million barrels for crude oil and petroleum products.

There is widespread speculation President Nixon will authorize an even sharper increase for 1973.

Long range forecasts indicate a combination of spiraling U.S. demand and depressed domestic explorations for new reserves will push the import level to 12 million barrels a day by 1980.

Harry Bridges, president of Shell Oil Co., says this long range forecast carries special significance to both consumers and industry because of the transportation and refining facilities that will be required for handling such huge volumes of foreign oil.

Bridges says such a volume of oil imports will require 325 supertankers that would have a combined capacity comparable to that of the total world tanker fleet of 1967.

"We will need the arrival daily of six of these 1½-million barrel supertankers but as of today not one of our ports can handle these ships and none is under construction," he says.

"So there seems to be no alternative in the early years but to offload this oil in smaller vessels at transhipment ports in the Bahamas and elsewhere."

Then comes the problem of refining capacity.

"Today in the United States there are 262 refineries with an average daily capacity of 49,000 barrels," Bridges says.

"To meet the 1980 demand will require the equivalent of 58 new refineries with an average capacity of 160,000 barrels daily."

Bridges says this situation underscores his concern that United States is not preparing properly to meet future energy demands.

"Only one new refinery will come on stream this year, and none is scheduled for completion in 1973," Bridges said. "The total lead time for construction of a refinery is about six years.

Bridges said current trends indicate the cost of oil is bound to increase but that delay in preparing for future demand can mean only extra costs.

"With proper lead time, we estimate the cost of a medium sized refinery at about $230 million," he explained. "However, if construction work has to be done on a rush basis the cost is estimated to increase by about 20 per cent, not counting higher labor costs arising out of overtime."

He said delay also means higher costs for marine terminals.

"If these are not ready in time to receive supertankers and the oil they bring has to be trans-shipped to smaller vessels, the economy of scale we can achieve is reduced by one-third," he said.

Factors combining to spell out higher prices, Bridges said, also include the ability of oil exporting countries to command higher prices, higher costs for domestic drilling both onshore and offshore, and the impact of environmental expenditures.

"In these generally adverse circumstances it is surely our responsibility to use every management resource to avoid the high expenditures that typically accompany crash programs," he said.

Warrants Issued In Slayings

HEARNE, Tex. (AP) — Authorities have issued warrants for the arrest of four persons in the stabbing death of Hearne banker Jack Kelly.

Bodies of Kelly, 53, his wife Reola, about 50, and a married daughter, Nancy Stovall, 20, were found in Kelly's brick home Thursday.

Robertson County Atty. Bryan Russ said Friday the four named in the warrants were charged only in the death of Kelly. He said additional charges probably would be filed.

Russ declined to disclose the names of those charged "to give time to proceed with further investigation."

However, the Houston Post said it learned the warrants named Lee Murray Jurode, 29, John Edward Swift, 31, Mary Brown, 29, and Robert Duron, 29. No home towns were learned.

Russ said the warrants were not issued on the basis of physical information found at the scene but "on the basis of information we sought and found." He would not elaborate.

The three victims were found in separate bedrooms. The two women had been bound and the house evidently searched, authorities said. Telephones had been ripped from the wall.

Texas Ranger Capt. E.G. Albers Jr. of Waco said robbery apparently was the motive.

Albers said he believed the three had been dead about 36 hours when the bodies were found. The bodies were taken to Houston for autopsies.

Mrs. Stovall's husband, Jim Stovall, was an employe of the bank. He was in San Antonio for a two-week summer military camp at the time of the slayings. Mrs. Stovall was staying with her parents during her husband's absence.

Electronic Safe Put On Market

IRVING, Tex. AP —Two Irving businessmen are putting on the market an electronic safe which they think can foil holdups at grocery stores and service stations.

Charles Williams and Joe Arrington say the new device is time controlled and designed to serve as a safe place for a day's receipts. It doles out change periodically and only in small amounts. It gives the clerks adequate funds for making change but not enough to make them a target for holdup men.

Humble Is Sued

HOUSTON (AP) — An $18 million damage suit has been filed against Humble Oil & Refining Co. by a woman whose son was injured in a May 14 oil field fire in Robertson County.

U.S. District Court Judge Carl O. Bue will hear the suit brought by Billie Lois Pace in behalf of her son, Billy Frank. She alleges negligency by the firm.

Humble had no comment, a spokesman said, because the firm had not been served with a copy of the petition.

Engraver Is Also Baker

MATTOON, Ill. (AP) — Orville Richardson is an engraver by day and a baker on weekends.

His baking began with his wife's appetite for Italian foods.

His first effort was Italian sausage. Next came Italian meat pie. Then he moved on to Italian bread and rolls.

"I made about 40 loaves of bread before I got the kind I wanted, but you have to have failures to learn," Richardson said.

Hand-Picked Committee Is Criticized

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Eight members of the State Democratic Executive Committee who do not like chairman Roy Orr's "hand-picked" credentials committee claim it violates state and national party rules.

They said Friday, for example, Alabama Gov. George Wallace and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., appear to have the largest number of delegates to the state convention next month, but each of them has only one representative on the 13-member credentials committee.

Also, they said, the committee is not balanced on age, sex or ethnic background. "Violations like these cast a legal shadow across the (national) Texas delegation a month before it is chosen," the group said.

They said delegates to the state convention "should be prepared" to elect someone other than Orr as convention chairman, although he has nominated himself.

Protesting the Orr committee were M. M. Vicars of Brownsville, Marion McIntire of Orange, Velah Daniels of Sugarland, James Simpson of Texas City, Jackie Kennard of Fort Worth, Abbie Evans and Mary Lou Evans, both of Houston, and Audrey Tatum of Lufkin.

Fans Pick Stars For Third Year

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

When baseball fans receive All-Star ballots late next month a number of them figure to be surprised at some of the names and some of the batting averages among the 128 nominees.

For instance, the ballot will contain a .208-hitting second baseman, a catcher who hit .214, a shortstop with .222 and a third baseman with a .223 mark.

This is the third time that baseball is putting the vote right in the laps of the fans. Baseball has tried to cover the field by using a panel of 14 men to pick 24 outfielders in each league and eight players at the other positions with the exception of pitchers. It appears that expansion has thinned the talent.

At best, the ballot is like a guessing game for the selection committee must figure Dick Mc[illegible]e of the Detroit Tigers will hit better than his .208 of last season. Catcher Ed Herrmann of the Chicago White Sox batted .214, Enzo Hernandez hit .222 as San Diego's rookie shortstop, and third baseman Don Money of Philadelphia batted .223. Yet they are on the ballot, along with Houston's Jim Wynn, who hit only .203.

There probably will be controversy over the names on the ballots long before the fans start voting during a six-week period beginning May 27.

The ballots contain the names of Rico Carty of Atlanta and Bobby Tolan of Cincinnati despite the fact that injuries prevented both of them from playing one game last season. Also on the suggestion list are catcher Randy Hundley of the Chicago Cubs and Alex Johnson of the Cleveland Indians. Hundley was ailing and played only nine games and Johnson of the California Angels hit only .260 in 65 games. Then Jim Fregosi, an All-Star shortstop with the Angels, is listed as a third baseman with the Mets, a position at which he still must prove himself, especially after hitting .233. In other words, comebacks are predicted for these former stars.

You could say the same thing about catcher Johnny Bench of Cincinnati and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston. They hit .238 and .254, respectively a year ago when both were 43 points below their career averages.

One error on the ballots seems to be that Deron Johnson's name is missing. The Philadelphia slugger hit 34 home runs and drove in 95 runs last year. Also missing are three rookies who carry "can't miss" tags—Bobby Grich and Don Baylor of the Baltimore Orioles and slugger Greg Luzinski of the Phillies who last season hit 36 homers for Eugene, Ore.

The All-Star game will be played in Atlanta July 25 and the chances are Hank Aaron will be on the National League team. When the season opened he needed only 75 home runs to reach Babe Ruth's record of 714 and if there's anything Atlanta fans relish it is a home run by Hammering Henry. He hit his high of 47 last season and 31 of them were before the home folks. However, any he hits in the All-Star game will not count toward his goal to pass Ruth.

Preston Is Named To All-Star Squad

Dub Preston, Snyder High School basketball star, has been selected to play on the North team in the Texas High School Coaches Association all-star game this summer.

DUB PRESTON

The game will be played on the night of Aug. 2 in Hofheinz Pavilion in Houston. It will be one of the feature attractions at the 40th annual Texas High School Coaches Association School, which is scheduled for July 30-Aug. 3 in Houston.

Preston, who was a standout on Coach Bob Moore's Snyder High School bi-district championship team, is one of two players from Class AAA schools selected for the North squad.

He was named to the all-state second team and recently signed a scholarship agreement with Hardin-Simmons University. So far as could be learned, he is the first Snyder High School basketball player to be selected for the Coaches Association all-star game.

Preston is the fifth player coached by Moore to gain such an honor. He previously had two players at White Deer and two at Phillips to make the all-star teams.

Royal Says Texas Will Be Average

(Editors: The Texas Longhorns, rich with talented players good enough to be drafted by pro teams, have won a record four straight Southwest Conference football titles. But the talent appears to be thinning out, and the Longhorns will be playing the "world's best"—Oklahoma and Arkansas—on successive weekends in October. What can Texas fans expect? Here's a report, following completion of spring training.)

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Barring bad weather, labor strikes and more construction mishaps, the Texas Longhorns should open the 1972 football season in a reshaped stadium seating 80,000, the third largest in the South.

The question is: will fans fill up the extra seats?

"We're just as average as every day's wash and I don't see much hope for us jumping out and being anything else," said Darrell Royal, starting his 16th season as Texas coach.

Royal hoped during spring training to rebuild his Wishbone-T backfield around converted all-Southwest Conference defensive back Alan Lowry at quarterback and to develop a few more first-class offensive linemen.

Lowry was held back by an arm injury but broke loose in the final spring game for 118 yards and two touchdowns rushing and connected on an 85-yard touchdown pass play to split receiver Pat Kelly.

Royal said Lowry's performance would make him rest easier this summer. The Irving senior also will punt for Texas.

One tackle position in the offensive line never was settled.

The most spring injuries since 1964 riddles Texas' backfield, and repeated muscle pulls forced Royal to abandon his plan to shift 220-pound linebacker Glenn Gaspard to fullback.

The best fullback prospects appear to be Dennis Ladd, 200, who started the closing games last season, and Roosevelt Leaks, 205, a former high school all-American who was hurt most of his freshman year and spring practice.

Injuries also depleted the halfback corps, but Don Burrisk, a starter last year, returns in September.

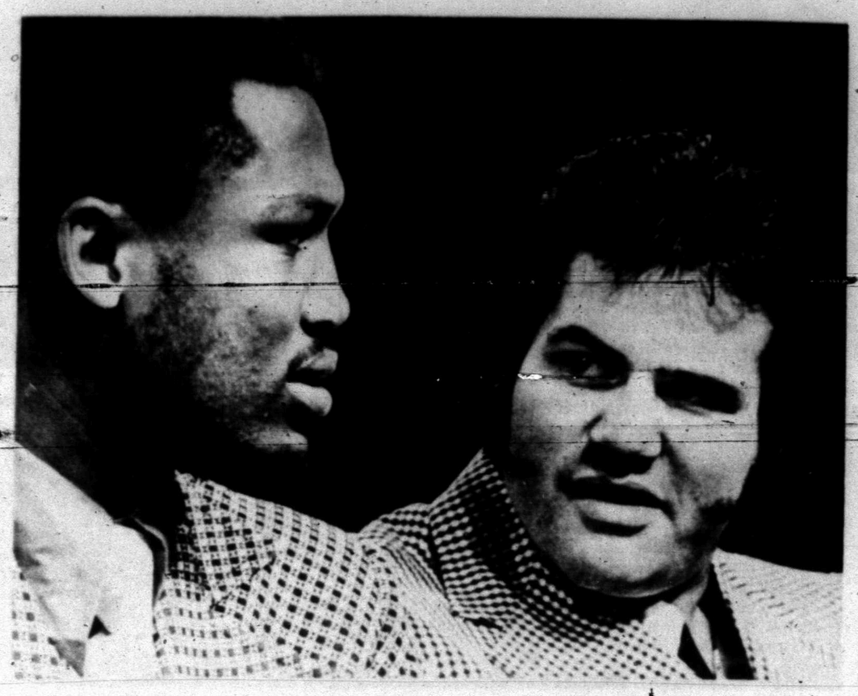

The rest of the offensive line is big and experienced. Assistant coach Willie Zapalac said a pro scout told him "there isn't a better guard and tackle combinaton in the country" than guard Travis Roach, 251, and tackle Jerry Sisemore, 260, an all-American as a junior.

Defensively, Texas must replace its all-SWC tackles of last year—Ray Dowdy and Greg Ploetz. All-SWC linebacker Randy Braband may get one of the jobs. The other could go to Doug English, a 6-foot 5-inch 237-pound rookie.

"For a freshman he's done exceptionally well and he's been whittled on by some pretty good players like Jerry Sisemore and Travis Roach," said assistant coach R. M. Patterson. "But we're talking about jumping out and playing the world's best (Oklahoma and Arkansas)."

Royal said if Gaspard gets in shape the Longhorns will have good linebackers in Gaspard, senior Tommy Lee and two first-year players Fred Currin and Sherman Lee, heavyweight runnerup in the state Golden Gloves last winter.

Lowry's departure to offense should allow squadman Ronnie Workman or freshman Terry Melancon to move into the secondary with veterans Mike Bayer and Mike Rowan.

Longhorns Dominate Team

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Longhorns, as is their custom, landed the most players on The Associated Press All-Southwest Conference baseball team but the 1972 honor roll of five was sparse compared to other seasons.

Second baseman Mike Markl, third baseman David Chalk, catcher Bill Berryhill, utility outfielder Terry Pyka and Frosh of the Year, pitcher Martin Flores, were the honored Longhorns.

Texas Christian, the SWC co-champion, was represented by outfielder Jimmy Torres and pitcher Frank Johnstone. Frank Windegger of the Horned Frogs shared Coach of the Year honors with Rice mentor Doug Osborn.

Doug Ault, who led the SWC in batting with a .464 mark, was selected as the first baseman on the dream team. Tech also had shortstop Barry Hoffpauir on the first unit.

Other players on the team included slugging outfielder R.J. Englert of Texas A&M, John Astorth of SMU, pitcher Mike Pettit of Rice, and utility infielder Sheldon Kaufman of Rice.

Ault and Johnstone tied for Player of the Year honors.

Pettit had the best earned run average in the league with a sterling 0.51 record. Pettit compiled an 8-6 overall record and was 5-2 in SWC play. Johnstone was 8-5 overall and 6-1 in the league games.

Ault, Chalk, Englert, and Astroth were unanimous choices to the team.

Chalk hit .435—his second consecutive year over .400.

While Windegger almost piloted the Horned Frogs to an undisputed title, Osborn took a lightly regarded Owl team and guided them to a third place finish.

Ladies Golf Meet Completes Round

LOUISVILLE, Ky. AP— Betty Burfeindt shot a four-under-par 68 Friday for the first-round lead in the Ladies Professional Golf Association Bluegrass Invitational Tournament.

She had a two-shot lead over Gloria Ehret and Canadian amateur Marilyn Palmer.

Marbo Sasaki of Japan and Kathy Cornelius shot 71s, while Mary Lou Daniel Crocker, Beth Stone and DeDe Owens had even-par 72s.

Defending champion Jo Anne Carner shot a 74.

Racer Simon Not Ordinary

By MIKE HARRIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dick Simon is not your everyday, run-of-the-mill race car driver. He's just not very glamorous. But he is interesting.

Most of the year, the 38-year-old insurance executive from Salt Lake City, Utah, sits in an office, worries about rearing his seven children and paying taxes, and gets roped into household chores like most every husband.

There is a difference, though. Simon is one of that breed of race car drivers who roar around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway each May in quest of the elusive Indy 500 victory.

Simon has qualified and finished twice in the gruelling Indy 500, the last two years. He's confident he can do it again, although speeds keep climbing and equipment takes more punishment.

"In practice, you work like the devil to gain a little extra speed," Simon said. "You pay for every second you shave off your lap times with busted knuckles and lack of sleep."

The balding driver first came to the Speedway two years ago with a second-hand car-engine combination that couldn't qualify here when it was new.

He said, "The experts said we were crazy. We couldn't even afford spare parts."

But Simon made the race and finished 14th in a 33-car field. He went on to finish 10th in the United States Auto Club championship standings.

Things are different now. Simon has two national sponsors who have helped him finance a new Lola-Ford. Thursday, he pushed the car above the 180-miles-per-hour barrier in a lap around the 2½-mile oval, almost assuring himself of a spot in the race.

Most observers are figuring a 10-mile qualifying average of 175 to 178 m.p.h. will be needed to make the race. Simon will have to qualify either Saturday or Sunday. His car wasn't ready during last weekend's rain-marred qualifying sessions.

Simon admits the Indy 500 is the one he's been shooting at since he got into racing.

"Indy's No. 1 and that's where I wanted to be. I wouldn't want to settle for second best," he said.

Girls' Softball Registration Set

The organizational meeting for Miss Softball America was held Thursday night, May 18, with approximately 150 interested girls and mothers in attendance, according to Mrs. Rudy Minor, publicity director for the organization. Tentative officers were elected and registration for the summer league was diseussed.

Miss Softball America is a national organization for the benefit of young girls age 9-15. The purposes of the program are to help each girl achieve maturity and to prepare her for success through the vehicle of softball. Because emphasis is placed on the individual, every girl who registers will be placed on a team and will participate in every game in which her team is represented. Teams are managed by women, and for safety purposes, proper uniforms and equipment are used and sliding and collisions are not allowed.

City leagues are divided into two divisions, Minor Division, ages 9-12, and Major Division, ages 13-15. State champions are determined and the state champs in the Major Division may go to the national tournament in Anaheim, California.

Officers for the new Snyder league are Terry Tyson, president; Sandra Fletcher, vice president; Miriam Sullivan, secretary, and Betty Blackwell, treasurer. Area commissioner of Miss Softball America is Jane Upton of Big Spring.

The officers announced, that registration for this summer's program will be Thursday, May 25th, 2:30-3:30 p.m. at all elementary and junior high schools. Additional registration times will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, and from 10-12 a.m. Saturday at Lamar Junior High. There will be a $6.00 registration fee to help purchase equipment, insurances for the participants, and to cover organizational costs.

The officers also expressed a need for team sponsors or contributions. For further information or contributions contact Johnnie Bounds, 573-7181 or Terry Tyson, 573-6262.

Pirates Rally Past Redlegs

The Snyder Pirates and Snyder Redlegs clashed Friday night in independent baseball league action with the Pirates squeezing out a 3-0 victory.

Jackie Murray was the winning pitcher, tossing a five-hit shutout to boost the Pirates' record to 7-1 for the season. Raymond Valdez was the losing hurler, giving up six hits. Pirates opened up for a three run seventh inning rally. Cat Braziel started the action with a single and Valdez then issued a base on balls to Pirates' Ronnie Lewis. Murray aided his won cause with a single to score Braziel. L.C. Thompson followed with a single, scoring both Valdez and Murray for the winning margin.

Robert Alderedi had two hits to lead the Redlegs. Thompson and Hulen Malone each had two hits for the Pirates.

The Pirates, coached by Jack Newsom, will travel to Lamesa this afternoon for a doubleheader.

Mahovlich Brothers Sign With Canada

MONTREAL (AP) — Brothers Frank and Pete Mahovlich obviously believe the family that plays together, stays together.

At least that's the way it would appear today after 25-year-old Pete resisted attempts by the new World Hockey Association to woo him away from the Montreal Canadiens. Instead, Pete joined his 34-yer-old brother Frank in the Canadiens' fold by signing a 1972-73 National Hockey League contract.

Sam Pollock, general manager of the Canadiens, announced both signings Friday, but refused to disclose the length of the contracts.

Texas Favored In SWC Meet

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Give the edge in the Southwest Conference track meet to quantity, Texas style.

The two-day meet begins here Monday and some observers believe Texas could score as high as 150 points under the new system of 10 points for a first, eight for a second, six for a third, four for a fourth, two for fifth and one for sixth.

Rice, given a good chance of winning five events, should top 100 points. How close the Owls come to the Longhorns depends on what inroads Rice and the other SWC teams can make into Texas' depth. The Owls won the title with 60½ points in 1971.

Texas A&M appears to be a solid third followed by SMU and Baylor, not necessarily in that order. TCU should be sixth, comfortably ahead of Texas Tech and Arkansas.

The Longhorns could get points from more than one performer in 10 of the 14 individual events.

Texas' Ricky Yarbrough and Bill Gamble are among the top five milers in the conference and Gordon Hodges and Randy Lightfoot could finish one-two in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Ed Wright of Texas and Doug Brodhead of Texas A&M share the best time of 47.0 in the 440-yard dash and Wright's teammate, Craig Brooks, is third at 47.6. Robert Primeaux and Hodges rank second and third in the conference in the 440-yard hurdles. Yarbrough and Jack Colovin are among the top six in the three-mile run. Bishop Dolegiewicz and Don Ausmus of Texas ranked third and fourth in the shot put. Alan Thomas and Dolegiewicz are two-three in the discuss. Texas has three of the top six pole vaulters in Bill Smalley, Don Lee and Greg Hackney and three of the top five performers in the high jump—Wyatt Tompkins, William Oates and Silverio Bosch.

In the long jump, John Berry of Texas is third and teammate Larry Thornhill sixth.

Texas appears weakest in the sprints, the javelin and the 880-yard run.

Rice has league leaders in Mike Cronholm, 440-yard hurdles; Paul Geis, three-mile; Jim Pearce, javelin; Ken Stadel, discus and Dave Roberts, pole vault.

Roberts and Geis are among the competitors given the best chance of setting conference records.

Roberts has been over 17-0 four times this year with a best of 17-5. The record of 16-8 was set by Dickie Phillips of Rice in 1970.

Gies, slowed recently by illness, has a best time of 13:34.5 and has been under 14 minutes six times. The record, set by Tom Gardner of Texas last year, is 14:08.5.

The oldest record in the book—a long jump of 25-1 by Emmett Smallwood of Texas A&M in 1957, also appears to be in danger. Baylor's Danny Brabham, winner of five firsts in seven tries this year, has leaped 25-7. Darryl Hughes of Rice jumped 25-7½ earlier in the year but has not bettered 22-10 since an injury in late March.

Texas' Tompkins has high jumped 7-1, 1¾ inches above the record set last year by Ben Greathouse of A&M. Baylor's Gary Kafer has jumped 7-0 twice this year.

Another record possibility exists in the 120-yard high hurdles. Hodges has beaten Lightfoot five times and Lightfoot has turned the tables on Hodges four times. Both have been under 14.0 numerous times and both have a best of 13.6. The record of 13.7 was set last year by Rockie Woods of A&M.

The finals in the shot put, discus and javelin will be held Monday along with the preliminaries in the pole vault, high jump and several running events. The remaining finals will be Tuesday.

Program Planned For Young Golfers

A six week summer golf program for boys and girls will be held from June 14 through July 26 at Snyder Country Club and will be sponsored by the Snyder Junior Golf Association.

Boys and girls from the age of ten through high school age will be eligible to participate. A participant must have reached his tenth birthday by June 14, 1972 to qualify for the free instructional program.

Registration will be conducted at the pro shop of Snyder Country Club Tuesday, May 23, through Friday, May 26, between the hours of 4:15 and 6 p.m.

A parent or guardian must accompany the participant when registering. There is no registration fee required.

The program will be under the instruction of Bob O'Day, golf coach for Western Texas College, and will attempt to teach the rules and etiquette of golf, the basic knowledge, skills and fundamentals of the game, guides for purchase and care of equipment, and the game's terminology. In addition, the instruction will be designed to give the students some golf course experience, and to motivate in them a desire to play golf in their leisure time, and to recognize the usefulness of golf in physical fitness.

Instruction will be Monday through Friday mornings, and the daily schedule is as follows:

8-9 High School boys
9-10 Junior high boys
10-11 Elementary school boys
11-12 Girls of all ages.

Participants should furnish their own golf clubs. Balls will be furnished for the driving range, but not for playing the course.

For additional information, interested persons should contact Bob O'Day at 573-2814 or Lonnie Crosby, golf pro at the country club, 573-9202.

Fink Will Honor Fink

FINK, Tex. (AP) — When the Texas A&M football team meets Army in football Sept. 30, the mayor of Fink will make the Army quarterback an honorary citizen.

And it is obvious why. The quarterback is J. Kingsley Fink.

The game will be at College Station, and a spokesman for West Point suggested that the citizenship presentation be made just preceding the contest.

Fink's mayor, Mrs. Patricia Albright, decided on the presentation as soon as she became aware of the quarterback's name.

Fink consists of a few residences and a general store, operated by Mrs. Fink and her husband, Willard.

The store owner always is the mayor. But Willard bowed out and turned the crown over to his wife when they bought the store.

Mrs. Fink annually proclaims National Fink Day and Finks, Funks, Phinques and simple wovers of the word gather around the store by the hundreds from over the nation to eat cake and drink soda pop.

"We call our quarterback 'King Fink,'" said Lt. Peter J. Wevurski of the West Point staff. "As a freshman he picked up eight touchdowns on 71 completions out of 165 passes. Then as a sophomore he again passed for eight touchdowns, with 68 completions in 157 attempts."

Added Wevurski, "He's a cocky quarterback. But with a handle like Fink, what else can you expect."

The West Point lieutenant was so delighted with the plans for the pre-game presentation idea that he invited the entire population of Fink to the game at College Station, Tex., several hundred miles south of this North Central Texas village.

The population of Fink at this moment is eight. Sometimes it drops to only—the Albrights—and during one population explosion had 12 residents.

All women who are interested in playing for the Flames are invited to attend the practice.

Romania Wins In Davis Cup Action

Favored Romania, with a double victory by Ilis Nastase and Ion Tiriac, led the parade Friday into the semifinals of the European Zone A Davis Cup tennis competition.

Spain and Russia, two of the seeded teams, and darkhorse Poland stepped off to imposing 2-0 leads over their rivals as the international eliminations moved through the second round in both the A and B sections of the European Zone.

The flashy Nastase and the bullish Tiriac, who twice in the last three years have carried Romania into the Challenge Round against the United States, clinched the series against Iran by beating Shirzad Akhbari and Issa Khodai 6-1, 6-4, 7-5 at Bucharest.

This gave the Romanians a 3-0 lead and made Saturday's final two singles matches merely exhibitions. The Romanians next will play the winner of the match between Italy and the Netherlands, postponed Friday because of rain.

The European Zone A winner will meet Australia, which already has won the Eastern Zone title, in the Inter-Zone semifinals. The European Zone B victor will play the winner of the American Zone, which is expected to be the United States.

Capt. Joe Robinson, Air Force Academy baseball coach, is a member of the 10-man rules committee of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Stars Shine In Meet

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Sterling's Allen Misher and Galveston Ball's Whitney Paul are a couple of high school seniors who won't find the switch to college competition difficult—it will be the other way around.

Misher, the state Class AAAA 120-yard hurdles champion, ran the second fastest times in schoolboy history in the 100-yard dash and 12; hurdles and Paul won the open division discus Friday night to highlight the 16th annual Meet of Champions.

Olympic prospects Tommy Fulton of Texas Southern and Southwestern Louisiana's Harold Porter each won two events to headline the collegians in the field.

Paul, who recently won the state high school discus with a 195 feet 11 inch toss with a high school discus, heaved the heavier college discus 170 feet seven inches against the college field.

Paul's effort was the third best schoolboy toss with a college discus in history.

In winning the 120-hurdles, Misher avenged his only loss of the year by blazing to a 13.5 clocking, only one-tenth second off his own national schoolboy record.

In an even more exciting century race, Misher and Houston Smiley's Mike Ross, the only two entrants after all other runners scratched, each hit the tape in 9.4 with Misher getting the victory by a shadow.

Only Willie McGee and Bill Gaines, both with 9.3s ran faster as schoolboys.

Fulton became the first runner to win both the 880 and mile since Ron Delany did it in 1957. Fulton set a meet record 4:01.7 in the mile and won the 880 in 1:49.2.

Porter, the Southland Conference 100 yard dash champ at 9.2, won the 100-yard dash in 9.3, the 220 in 20.9 and ran the first leg on Southwestern Louisiana's winning sprint relay team.

USL got the jump on defending champ Texas Southern in the sprint relay when TSU got a bad second baton handoff. TSU finished second.

Dallas Baptists' Marvin Brown won the triple jump in 51 feet one and ¾ inches to establish the only other meet record in the college men's open division. The old record was 50-4½ by John Leedy of Houston in 1970.

Bennett Launches Drive Against Sound Pollution

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

LONDON (AP)—That finger-snapping, foot-tapping ecologist, Tony Bennett, is launching an all-out campaign against "sound pollution."

Now that he owns control of his own TV series, being filmed at various London locations without network backing, he is determined to bring back a more melodic line in popular music and do away with the "over-rehearsed, phony format" of the TV variety show.

"I've waited 15 years to do it my way," said Bennett relaxing through a rehearsal with Sarah Vaughan in a vacant Mayfair theater. "I'm just going to go out and entertain the people: no cue cards, no idiotic dialogue with the guest stars dished up by a dozen writers, none of this corny dubbed and re-taped perfection. If we blow it unless it's absolutely treacherous, it stays in."

Almost by way of illustration, Bennett and Miss Vaughn blew the last stanza of "The Trolley Song." It stayed in.

They went on to the next number, Jerome Kern's "My Heart Stood Still," backed by a 40-piece orchestra conducted by pianist-composer Robert Farnon. The choice of the song and the people playing it were basic to the Bennett formula for ridding the airways of noise pollutants. "Musical tastes are changing for the better," lectured the professor, his husky voice caressing the words in the inimitable Bennett phrasing. "People are turning against acid rock and the angry type music. The kids are rejecting the advertisers' insistence that hard rock is their kind of music. Composers like Bert Bacharach, Jimmy Webb, and here in England, Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse are bringing back the well constructed lyric and making it big with the kids."

In returning to "better orchestrations" and "all pros on the band stand," Bennett sees himself leading a revolt against "the budget monsters who ruled TV in this age of conformity. There was a feeling that the pro was no longer needed. You know, get four kids, any group; what difference did it make as long as they made a lot of noise?"

For his sellout performance at the Royal Albert Hall, which twice won top weekly ratings in replays over BBC-TV, Bennett was backed by a group of groovy kids called the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

Bennett's breakthrough against network taboos and restraints may produce a sonic boom heard round the entertainment world, or at least from Picadilly to Madison Avenue.

His series of half-hour shows, owned jointly by himself and Thames Television, have taken dead aim on the prime time now available to local TV stations in the United States and seem a natural for the TV cassette market, which he thinks is no further away than next Christmas' shopping season.

Born Antonio Benedetto in the same Astoria, Long Island, neighborhood that produced Jackie Gleason, Ethel Merman Eddie Bracken and Nancy Kelly, Tony entered the business world at 16 as a parttime copy boy for The Associated Press. Then an art student at Manhattan's High School of Industrial Arts, Tony spent most of his time as a runner "running up to the art department trying to get the cartoonists to admire my drawings."

Finding little enthusiasm for a drawing hobby he now pursues with considerable talent, he turned to music and made his debut as a boy soprano singing "Marching Along Together" under the auspices of the local Democratic Club when Mayor LaGuardia opened New York's Triborough Bridge.

After his voice changed, he was discovered by Bob Hope singing a duet with Pearl Bailey in a Greenwich Village nightclub. Hope took him along on tour and changed his name to Tony Bennett to fit the marquee.

Trim and paunch-free now at 46, Tony Bennett moves on stage with the shuffling, agile gait of a boxer, one shoulder down and slightly forward, even some fancy footwork among the tangle of microphone cord. The resemblance is heighted by his aquiline nose, broad shoulders and the turtle neck sweaters he invariably wears to rehearsals and often on camera.

Gabor Favors New Society

By BRIAN JEFFRIES
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Nobel Prize Winner Dennis Gabor says the highly industrialized free nations of the world should create a completely new form of society.

He says in a book published this weekend that unless the prosperous nations of the West radically alter their ways they face ultimate collapse.

Gabor, a Hungarian-born physicist who took British nationality, won the 1971 Nobel Prize for physics for his invention of true three-dimensional photography.

He spends much of his time in America working at the Columbia Broadcasting System laboratories in Stamford, Conn., helping to develop his invention. He is a "futurist" best known for his book of prophecy "Inventing the Future."

In his latest book, "The Mature Society," he says:

"More and more thinking people have realized that our free industrial civilization, which with all its faults is far superior to most systems of the past not only in material success but in humanity, is not likely to survive another generation without fundamental institutional change.

"They are anxious lest social inertia might prevent gradual adaptation until a critical point is reached at which the fear of collapse by inner or outer pressure might drive the free countries into totalitarianism."

He says he believes the West faces dangers not only from the outside but also from within its own society.

The first source of fear, he says, is of a Soviet expansionist policy, suggested by the priority given power politics and increased armaments and by such developments as the invasion of Czechoslovakia and increased influence in the Middle East.

But he believes the West faces an equal danger from increasing signs of general dissatisfaction within its own society. He points to the "more than negligible fraction of our young people who do not consider the consumer society interesting enough to live for," and the growing number of workers who are unwilling to work more just to consume more.

He points to spiralling crime rates, widespread drug addition and continuing difficulties in managing the economic systems of free industrial societies as further evidence of decay.

He maintains that the end of the dynamically growing consumer society is in sight and the "age of leisure" about to erupt, but "the transition period will be neither stable nor happy."

His answer is a "mature society" which has "given up growth in numbers and in material consumption but not growth in the quality of life." Such a society, he says, must maintain the maximum amount of individual freedom compatible with social stability.

For a long time work will remain the principal occupation of mankind, but will mean less and less production and more and more service-oriented occupations, he says.

Judge Rules For FDIC

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district judge has ruled that Frank Sharp and the Sharpstown Realty Co. owed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. more than $1 million each on past due notes with the Sharpstown State Bank.

The suits were filed Friday by the FDIC and were settled almost immediately when lawyers for both sides decided to waive trial by jury and agree on the amounts of the settlements.

Sharp, who headed the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank and also is president of Sharpstown Realty, was found to be owing the bank $1,329,497 plus interest on six past due notes.

Judge Regan Cartwright found that Sharpstown Realty owed the bank $1,066,539 on two notes made with the bank in mid 1970.

Sissy Can't Afford 'Copter

HOUSTON (AP) — Dudley Tarleton is president of Mac Helicopters here and his firm has flown most of the major candidates for statewide offices around the state in his copters.

That is, he has flown just about everyone but his sister, State Rep. Frances Farenthold, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

"She hasn't asked," a spokesman for the firm said. "We'll fly anybody who charters a flight."

In Austin, Mrs. Farenthold's headquarters said they believe Mac Helicopters is a good outfit. "We just can't afford them."

Fiery Crash Kills One

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — One person was killed and two injured in the fiery collision of car and a pickup truck Friday night near the south edge of Fort Worth.

Gail Jordan, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie V. Jordan, died before reaching a hospital.

The injured are Lisa Sharp, 16, and Kim Sharp, 18, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sharp.

Kim was reported in good condition at Peter Smith Hospital here with head cuts. Lisa was transferred to Parkland Hospital in Dallas with burns on the hands, arms, legs and back.

Witnesses told police both cars were southbound on the South Freeway when one of the drivers apparently lost control of his vehicle and served into another lane.

The truck containing the Jordan girl and the Sharps glanced off a railing, began skidding and wrapped around a bridge abutment, police said.

The truck then split and the cab burst into flames.

All three persons riding in the pickup were thrown out.

85 Missions In Seven Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force C5 super cargo planes have flown more than 85 missions to Vietnam in seven weeks, hauling "several hundred tons" of battlefield equipment, the Pentagon says.

The equipment, including jeeps, tanks, trailers, artillery pieces, ammunition and helicopters, replaced losses incurred by the South Vietnamese, the Defense Department said Thursday.

UT Regent's Trial Moved

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The trial of University of Texas regent Frank Erwin Jr. on a charge of driving while intoxicated will be moved to a nearby county.

The trial site will be determined at a 2 p.m. hearing Monday by County Court at Law No. 1 Judge Jerry Dellana, who granted Erwin's change of venue motion Friday.

Attached to Erwin's motion were 123 pages of excerpts from The Daily Texan, student newspaper at the university, critical of Erwin.

The motion also was supported by affidavits from 49 prominent persons saying Erwin would not receive a fair trial here.

And KVUE-TV newsman Richard Goodman has included numerous critical items about Erwin in his broadcasts, the motion said.

The state filed no controverting affidavits.

Erwin was arrested last Dec. 19 near the campus. If he is convicted and not granted probation, Erwin would be sentenced to a minimum of three days in jail and a $50 fine, plus revocation of his driver's license for a year.

Job Application Form Tips

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I will be graduating from high school and would like your advice on how to fill out employment applications. I applied at a bank and didn't know what to write in some of the blank spaces. I haven't been called back. — P.D., Chicago

Here are 4 key points to bear in mind concerning employment applications:

(1) BE NEAT. Sloppy, soiled, misspelled, illegibly written applications go to the bottom of the heap. Type, print or write clearly and neatly. Erase with care. Try not to dog-ear or tear the paper, and the same goes for mustard, soft drinks and coffee stains if you use the kitchen table for a desk. It's better to ask for a second application form than submit a first try which gives a bad impression of you.

(2) BE COMPLETE. Don't skip blanks, even if you must ask the employer to explain the meaning of a question. To avoid incompleteness, never go to an employment office without your social security number . . . names-occupations-addresses-phone numbers of references (persons other than family, such as teachers, clergymen, and businessmen and women) . . . a self-prepared record of your education, which includes courses taken, grades received, dates and school addresses; include school activities and honors, hobbies and skills, any other accomplishments. The reason for writing this kind of data in advance is to minimize fumbling if you're asked to fill out an application on the spot. (If you have prepared a resume, you can use this as your educational background reminder sheet. Speaking of resumes, attaching yours to a formal application form is a good idea because it permits you greater leeway in stressing your assets. An application form is apt to be cut-and-dried with limited space for answers.

(3) BE TRUTHFUL. Assume you're under oath when filling out an application form, because, in a way, you are. At the bottom of most applications you are asked to certify by signing and dating that your answers are truthful, and you are warned that false information can lead to dismissal. "Cover stories" are usually blown by reference checks.

(4) BE POSITIVE. Within the framework of truth, play up your strengths and play down your weaknesses. Always try to present yourself in the most positive, most favorable light. To illustrate, suppose the application asks if you have an arrest record and you do. Don't merely put down "yes" and let it go at that — go on to explain any circumstances which might soften the blow. Use a second sheet of paper and attach it to the application, if necessary. If there's nothing much to say to excuse you, at least you can indicate that you've learned from your past mistakes and won't repeat them.

Or, if your class standing is low, don't let your answer end with "in lowest one-third of class," or another inadequate response. Look for something to stress that's good, such as that your grades improved during the last year of school . . . or you did well in typing and English, or other subjects. The employment application is a main factor in determining which applicants will be called for job interviews. To fail to emphasize your best side in an application is like saying "You don't want to hire me, do you?"

IT IS TO YOUR ADVANTAGE to take an employment application form home to fill out. First, you can work out your answers on scrap paper before transferring the information onto a tidy application. Second, you can return it in person and use the occasion to remind the employer that you're hirable. Offer to wait until he reads through should he have any additional questions. You may wind up with a job interview then and there, or the employer may set a future time.

The employer determines whether you fill out the application in the employment office, or take it home, but you can try to do it at home by asking politely, "Would you prefer that I fill out the application here, or that I take it home to complete and return?"

* * *

For a free sheet of tips on answering specific questions on employment applications, such as type of work desired, and salary expected, send a stamped, self-addressed return envelope to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper, asking for "Job Application Form Tips."

Indian Drought Is Devastating

NABAGHARA, India (AP)— "I worry more about the cows than about myself," Haripada Bhandari said as he led a skinny animal slowly across a baked West Bengal jute field.

The field was gray and bare, parched by weeks of drought. The sun overhead was blistering.

Scarcely a patch of green could be seen along the 22-mile stretch from Calcutta to Nabaghara, although it is the season when young rice and jute plants should be sprouting everywhere.

Since mid-April, temperatures have ranged between 110 and 120 degrees, drying up canals, rivers and wells and converting cultivated fields into gray wastelands.

Such conditions exist throughout eastern and northern India. Nearly 200 persons have died from drought-related causes, according to figures compiled Friday.

Nabaghara and other communities near Calcutta are among the hardest hit.

Even in an area accustomed to natural disasters, this drought is devastating.

Wells serving half of West Bengal's 44 million people have dried up. Large sections of Calcutta, the teeming state capital, face water crises that will end only with the coming of the monsoons in the next few days or weeks.

Brake Panel Appointed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Speaker Rayford Price appointed a special committee Satuday to make proposals to the special summer legislative session on brake laws for small trailers.

He said Gov. Preston Smith had agreed to include the subject in the session.

Rep. Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth will be chairman of the 10-member committee, which includes representatives of seven associations.

Price said he favors an amendment to the 1971 law to exempt trailers having a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or less from the requirement that there be a brake on all wheels.

Now, the law requires a brake on each wheel of trailers weighing more than 3,000 pounds and also on trailers weighing less under some circumstances.

"The stringent braking specifications set forth under the act as now written would be virtually impossible for most operators to meet," said Price.

Lady Mayor Ignores Critics

COTATI, Calif. (AP) — Since 25-year-old Annette Lombardi became mayor of this small town, she's been threatened with recall and accused of trying to put police officers on bicycles.

"We have a definite problem with the older folks in this town," she says. "They're afraid of us and what we're going to do." Their fears are groundless, she added.

"We" are Miss Lombardi and two other former Sonoma State College students, Stephen Laughlin, 24, and Geoffrey Dunham, 29, who ousted incumbents last April and won three of five City Council seats.

Miss Lombardi became mayor by virtue of being top vote getter —with 360—in this town of 1,650 residents.

Cotati is an agricultural town 50 miles north of San Francisco where about a third of the residents attend nearby Sonoma State College. Miss Lombardi says she believes the three new council members won because of these younger voters.

Campaigning door to door, they had problems with voters aged 30 to 50, she said, but "with people over 50 we had a great reception."

The young mayor takes her critics in stride and laughs about the mechanics of small town politics.

She notes there have been rumors of a recall election, but the earliest it could be held would be next September "so the students would have returned and the results would probably be the same as in April."

"We used the established political and accepted process to get elected and we'll continue to use accepted means," she said.

Annette got heavy criticism from younger supporters when she tried to control an antiwar crowd during a recent protest. She said she was accused of "selling out," but "I went into it as the mayor because I didn't want the town to get smashed up."

Annette said the young council's relations with the police department have been good despite untrue cracks about disarming officers and making them ride bicycles instead of patrol cars.

Six of Wake Forest's 11 football games will be played at home in Winston-Salem, N.C., next season.

Tunnell To Receive Award

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Railroad Commission chairman Byron Tunnell will receive a special award from independent oilmen for his efforts to alert federal officials to the nation's "energy crisis."

Tunnell will get the "Hat's Off" award from the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association at its annual meeting, June 4-6, in Fort Worth.

TIPRO also will honor Jay Hall, who retires as oil editor of the Dallas Morning News at the end of the year. Hall, an oil writer with the News since 1938, is the dean of the nation's oilwriters, TIPRO said.

Tunnell's tribute is for having provided "outstanding leadership... during a crucial era when the very survival of our nation may depend upon achieving a more meaningful federal energy policy." He is credited with having "sounded the energy-crisis alarm in ringing messages to official Washington and to the public."

TRYING TO CONTROL USE OF DRUG

Panel Reports Texas Wasting Money, Energy

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas is wasting money and manpower trying control the use of marijuana, a special Senate committee reported Saturday.

The five-member committee's report said Texas and Rhode Island are the only states which still classify use and possession of marijuana as a felony, or prison, offense under all circumstances.

"Texas marijuana laws," the report added, "Are the harshest in the world."

More than 40 states have sentences of a year or less for marijuana, including Alabama whre Gov. George Wallace, a Democratic presidential contender, signed a misdeameanor penalty into law last year.

Under Texas law, a person can be sentenced to life in prison for first offense possession.

The committee's report estimated that at least 800,000 to 1 million Texans have used marijuana, which means nearly one-tenth of the entire state population could be put in prison.

Marijuana cases account for 53 per cent of all drug arrests by state police, 60 per cent by Dallas police and 70 per cent by the Austin police," leading to an astonishing waste of manpower and resources in a losing effort to combat marijuana useage, while criminal control of heroin and other insidious drugs has consistently been less effective than it might otherwise have been."

In addition, the report noted, marijuana cases accounted for 84 per cent of all drug convictions in Lubbock last year— "a major diversion of law enforcement time and energy away from cases involving hard drugs."

The report said Texas is spending $39,030 a month to imprison persons for possessing marijuana, and it added that "generally speaking, a marijuana user in north Texas stands a much greater chance of going to prison than one in south Texas."

"In view of the present state of knowledge about marijuana's medical and social effects, should a person go to jail merely for using it? The consensus of medical and legal authority in the English-speaking world answers this question overwhemingly in the negative," the report said.

Committee chairman, Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, indicated Wednesday the committee hopes to change the felony penalty to a misdemeanor during the summer special session of the legislature.

Other members of the committee are Sens. Oscar Mauzy and Ike Harris of Dallas, Joe Christie of El Paso and Barbara Jordan of Houston.

Panel Tightens Law On Fathers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has moved to tighten the laws pertaining to deserting fathers in an effort to curb steadily rising welfare costs paid to their dependents.

Among measures agreed to Thursday are:

—Instructing the Health, Education and Welfare Department to establish sophisticated blood-type laboratories to make it easier to establish paternity.

—Attaching the pay of runaway fathers working for the federal government.

Mystery Has Dyess Buzzing

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Officer circles at Dyess Air Force Base here were buzzing Friday about this scandalous mystery:

Did a high-ranking officer or very important civilian nip an eight-piece silverware setting from the VIP quarters 10 years ago?

Anyway, it apparently was stolen, only no one knew about the disappearance until this week.

Then came a package with an envelope pasted to it.

Inside the package was the silverware.

The envelope was addressed only to "VIP Quarters, Dyess Air Force Base." The note in side read, "A guilty conscience of 10 years for taking these. God forgive."

The return address on the package—no one was sure, of course, whether it was accurate or a decoy—read, "Officers Open Mess, Norton Air Force Base, Calif."

Picking up such things must have been a habit of the person who took them, for they were wrapped in a pillowcase bearing the name of a Fort Worth, Tex., hotel now defunct.
