J's Jottin's

By J.E.

The following article appeared in a Calgary, Canada, newspaper recently. The story was written by Alison Mayes and concerned a concert presented by Seals and Crofts in Calgary. Our thanks to Mary Crofts for sharing the article, entitled "Seals, Crofts, Weave A Magical Evening," with us.

It is reprinted as follows:

"Maybe you thought a Seals and Crofts reunion concert would consist of two greying past-their-primers perched on stools.

"Or maybe you were turned off by the show's billing as a concert for peace.

"But those who took a chance on Tuesday night's concert were treated to a magical evening's entertainment, as sweetly refreshing as a summer breeze.

"Backed up by a band of first-rate Toronto players, Seals and Crofts showed that age and absence from performing haven't diminished their talents. They didn't let their dedication to peace override the cause of entertainment, but struck a balance between message and music.

"The two men were a study in contrasts. Dash Crofts looked the part of a mature rocker, decked out in a striped shirt, silky polka-dot jacket and bright blue shoes, and sporting a large earring. He danced around while strumming the mandolin.

"The more introverted Jim Seals appeared slightly eccentric in a raspberry-colored beret and a headset to help him hear his guitar.

"But if the pair's outward appearances didn't mesh, their voices did so to perfection. When they sing in unison they achieve a blend that can only come from years of togetherness. And their harmonies remain as sweet and true as when Summer Breeze hit the charts 17 years ago.

"As they sang that hit and others including Diamond Girl, Hummingbird, Get Closer and We May Never Pass This Way Again, it was clear they never deserved to be categorized as soft rockers. When you hear a full band treatment of Diamond Girl over a good sound system, you catch the musical complexity that gets lost over AM radio.

"In fact, Seals and Crofts always did fuse, jazz, rock, gospel, folk and other styles, and those influences were clear in their varied approaches to different songs. They showed that two Texans pushing 50 can still rock.

"Their special guest Doug Cameron was a fitting choice to open the show. The Canadian singer-songwriter is a thinking-person's rocker, offering anti-war and save-the-planet sentiments.

"He earned a particularly warm response for Mona and the Children, which enjoyed some chart success.

A pair of glasses was turned into The Press office Thursday. They were left at a garage sale last weekend.

During last Tuesday night's meeting of the Cisco Volunteer Fire Department, Fireman Bill Webb received his "Master Firefighter" certification. This is the highest rating awarded to paid firemen. To quality, Bill had 12 years of service and an Associate of Arts degree. Cisco currently has one master firefighter, one advanced firefighter, and one basic firefighter.

Fall has finally arrived in Cisco. Temperatures dropped to the low 30s a couple of mornings. Forecasts called for a warming trend the next few days.

Petition Filed Thursday Against County Purchase Of Prison Land

By Viola Payne

At 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 19, Carol Bullock presented County Clerk Joann Johnson a petition with 976 signatures protesting the issuance of certificates of obligation to buy prison land.

She said 538 signatures were required to force an election on whether the County Commissioners could issue bonds for the site.

Mrs. Bullock is the Chairman of a recently formed group called Citizens For Responsible Economic Development. She was accompanied to the Tax Office by her husband, Earl, and a group of friends.

No members of a group promoting the prison — the Eastland County Economic Development Council — were apparently present.

In answering questions from members of the Press, Mrs. Bullock said that she felt the cost of a prison would far outweigh any gain. She remarked that persons promoting the prison had spent a lot of money advertising, but she hadn't seen anyone put private funds in the project.

When asked by a Television newsman if she thought the advertising from the County Economic Development Council had been fair, she replied that from her point of view it had not been.

'They have tried to tell the voters that loss of a prison here would mean economic doom,' she stated.

Mrs. Bullock also gave the following press release to the news media:

'Today, the Citizens For Responsible Economic Development submitted petitions signed by 976 qualified voters to County Clerk, Mrs. Joann Johnson. These petitions protest the issuance of Certificates of Obligation by the Commissioners to purchase land to be given to the Texas Department of Corrections at no cost.

'We feel the taxpayer was circumvented by the Commmissioners Court when they adopted a resolution in agreement with the Eastland County Economic Development Council to provide a means of financing without prior notice to the taxpayer. The resolution was not on the agenda.

'The signers of these petitions represent may others, who will voice their opinion in the voters booth. We know that this has drawn lines of differences in our communities and this is a terrible thing to do. Keep in mind that if they don't want a prison or higher taxes caused by a prison, you have that right. The E.C.E.D.C. instigated this with the commissioners, they drew the lines not the taxpayer. An Economic Council should represent the needs of all, not a few business men.

'This is largely a retirement area with many on fixed income. They will not work for the prison, they don't have anything to sell to the prison or the prison employees. How can the prison help them? Higher taxes? We know that the costs are going to be paid by the taxpayers of Eastland County. Lets never in the name of Economic Development hurt anyone.

'The media has presented this as a Carbon issue. This is not true, the signers of these petitions represent all areas of Eastland County. An election will allow the people of Eastland County to decide if they want the financial burden of locating a prison in Eastland County.'

NOTICE

The petition is now in the office of Nancy Trout, County Tax Collector. She has stated she will do everything possible to see that the names are checked by Monday, the day the County Commissioners meet. It is not known when an election can legally be called, but indications are that it would be in the first week in December at the earliest.

THE FLYING FAIRY will be one of many special effects theatregoers will see during the Cisco Junior College production of A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM. A special harness made by Debbie Ingram of OK Shoe Shop hooks to a cable in the Hilton Auditorium. The fairy will be hooked to the cable and will appear to "fly." Reservations to the play may be made by calling 442-2589.

Audience members coming to see Cisco Junior College's fall productions of A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM will be treated to much more than the usual playgoer. Several members of the CJC production crew have combined talents to provide several exciting visual effects.

Shai Reynolds, sophomore from Breckenridge, acts as choreographer for the production. Using popular musical selections from Madonna and Milli Vanelli, Miss Reynolds helps set the mood. Miss Reynolds, a member of the Wrangler Belles at CJC, will be seen dancing onstage with Anna Odom, Teresa Pevey and Angela Doak, all of Cisco.

Since the director, Tom Brown, has decided to use the "dream" motif as the basis for the play, and since his 13-year-old son, Beau, appears as the boy who has the dream, Brown has devised a unique opening sequence to set the mood. Combining film footage, contemporary music and a fog machine, actors will appear to be part of a television program that inspires the dream.

Additionally, Brown has created a way to fly the fairies in the play. With the help of Debbie Ingram of OK Shoe Shop, a special harness has been made which hooks to a cable in the Hilton Auditorium. The fairy will be hooked to the cable and appear to "fly."

Reservations for this comedy classic are now being taken. Call 442-2589 for more information.

1990 Lobo Yearbook To Go On Sale October 26-27

The 1990 Lobo Yearbook will go on sale Thursday and Friday, Oct. 26-27. The Lobo Staff will take orders for yearbooks at Cisco High School and Cisco Junior High on Oct. 26. On Oct. 27, the staff will be at Cisco Elementary School between 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. to take orders for the book.

The 1990 Yearbook will begin a new, exciting trend. Instead of publishing a yearbook that covers only six months of the school year as the yearbook has previously, the 1990 Yearbook will cover events and activities from the beginning of the school year through the Elementary and High School graduation exercises at the close of school. The book will actually be a true yearbook, not a partial yearbook as in the past. In past years, the cut-off deadline for copy and pictures in the Lobo Yearbook has been March 1st. Due to this procedure, such events as UIL, all banquets, honors, spring sports, and graduation have not been represented in the book. The deadline for copy on the 1990 book will be June 2, 1990.

The 1990 Yearbook will arrive for distribution shortly after the middle of July. The date of distribution will be scheduled and publicized. Those classes wishing to plan annual-signing parties will have the opportunity to do so.

The cost for the 208-page book will be $24. If you wish to have your name printed on the book, the cost will be an extra $2.

On Oct. 26 and 27 you may pay the total amount for your yearbook, or you may order a yearbook by making a downpayment of $12. If you make a downpayment of $12 on these dates, the balance owed will be payable on or before Feb. 28, 1990.

Don't miss purchasing your 1990 Lobo Yearbook. The book will definitely depict that the students of the Cisco Independent School District are "Loboes with Class."

Lobo JV Defeated By De Leon Thurs.

The Bearcats scored on a 80 yard run the first time they had the ball, and the Loboes were never able to recover during the first half. The half ended with De Leon ahead 30-to-0. De Leon was able to execute their plays well, Coach Charles Parnell said. "We just weren't able to sustain a drive," he added.

Coach Parnell said he was pleased with the way the Loboes adjusted and played hard the second half. They held De Leon to six points during that period.

The team was disappointed that they were unable to score against the Bearcats, the coach said. They had several opportunities for touchdowns but were unable to cross the goal line. Terrance Fletcher was the leading rusher for the Loboes. He ended the game with 62 yards. The Loboes had their longest pass play for the year, a 26-yard-completion.

Defensively, Eddie Garza, Brent Shepard, Bradlee Rains and Jr. Stroebel were outstanding during the second half, the coach said.

"We must play the entire game. During the first half, we couldn't execute. I am proud of the way the team played defensively in the second half. I feel that this was our 'down game' and our boys will bounce back next week against Eastland. This will be a hard-fought game."

The JV will play archrivals Eastland Mavericks next Thursday at Chesley Field.

Regional Garbage Solution Under Study

By Richard Kurklin

We are living in a time of change; whether we like it or not, there are going to be changes. Many of the changes are being forced upon us by national and state government, and the courts.

While some change appears unneeded, our lifestyles have made some changes necessary. The changes imposed upon us are often so expensive that with our present way of doing things, we can't pay the bills.

Unless we want to become criminals to be prosecuted by our own government, we must become more efficient, and indeed it seems that we must become more efficient just to survive.

While our incomes may be declining, hospital, ambulance, school, water, sewer, fuel, transportation, building, clothing, food, insurance, and many other expenses are rising. And that doesn't include the increasing costs to fight drugs and crime, and to imprison them rather than to allow them to continue their ways in our community.

Another problem which we are facing is that of garbage disposal. We may soon drown in a sea of garbage unless there are changes. The problem is a serious one in some parts of our nation and the federal Environmental Protection Agency is passing new regulations which affect all of us.

Texas will soon implement new regulations as required by EPA, and the cost can be expected to force cities of less than fifty thousand people out of the landfill business, their present system of garbage disposal.

The cities may contract with a private waste management firm, which may also become expensive, or they may form more efficient garbage operations.

Test wells to monitor any pollution seepage into ground water are expected to be required and sometimes the landfills may have to be lined. Much of the cost is fixed and will remain the same for both a small and a large landfill. So large heavily used landfills are necessary to keep costs in an acceptable range. That means a number of smaller cities could go together to form one more efficient large operation similar to what a large city has.

Eastland has taken the lead to see if there is enough interest to organize a regional garbage collection and landfill system.

A luncheon held in Eastland to discuss the subject was attended by representative of Breckenridge, Carbon, Cisco, Dublin, Ranger, Stephenville, and Eastland. DeLeon, Rising Star, and Comanche were also thought to be interested, but their representatives didn't arrive for the meeting.

A West Texas Council of Governments representative was also present to inform the group of that agency's willingness to help.

The opinion seemed to be that a regional operation could operate more than one landfill, and Eastland personnel suggested that the Eastland landfill might be one which could be used.

Though expressing interest, Breckenridge has already contracted with a private firm for six years and could not participate at present.

Representatives from the other cities all expressed a strong interest and agreed to be on a steering committee to develop a proposal.

There is also to be an effort to find and study the contracts used by some regional garbage operations.

The representatives of so many cities working together for the best solution must be in itself a good sign.

We, on the other hand, may have to reduce the amount of garbage and throw -a-way we generate.

Rollback Petition Presented To E.L. Graham Hospital Board

A rollback petition by opponents of a hospital tax hike was presented to E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital board Wednesday.

The group's spokesman, Pete Larkin, told the board that the tax hike could have been prevented with a "little give and take."

Larkin said a majority of Cisco residents have told officials through a referendum and two polls that they didn't want their hospital taxes to increase.

The hospital board has until Nov. 7 to verify the more than 700 signatures on the petition. About 360 verified signatures are required to call an election, according to Don Henry, hospital administrator.

Once the signatures have been verified, an election must be called between Dec. 7 and Feb. 5, according to Mr. Larkin.

If an election is set and voters approve a rollback, the hospital's tax rate of 28 cents per $100 valuation would be rolled back to 14.1 cents, Hospital Administrator Henry said.

At their September meeting, the hospital board voted to increase the rate from 12.7 cents per $100 valuation to 28 cents. At their meeting Wednesday, board members approved of setting aside in a special account the tax money that would have to be returned by the approval of a rollback, Mr. Henry said. Only the funds representing the difference between a 28-cent and 14.1-cent rate per $100 valuation will be set aside, he added.

Junior High Loser To De Leon

By participating in a very strange situation, the combined junior teams were losers to the De Leon Bearcubs by a combined score of 22-to-8 Thursday night in De Leon. Due to a strange situation the De Leon teams in junior high were forced to combine into only one team. Their total player count is only 16. In order to provide playing experience for all of our junior high players this past week, the Cisco teams were forced to split playing time by each team playing one half of the game.

The eighth grade team played the first half and the score was tied 8-to-8 at the end of play. The Little Loboes had scored on a long 60-yard run by Shane Thompson. The extra points were scored on a perfect pass play from Jeff McCoy, quarterback, to tight end Mike Harrison.

The seventh grade then took over to play the second half and although they were undersized and under aged to most of the De Leon players, they performed very well, Oscar Weeks led the offense and Jason Harris headed up a stubborn defense.

The next games for the junior high will be Thurdsay, Oct. 26, when we play the Eastland Doggies here. Game time will be 5 p.m.

Blood Drive Set For Oct. 30 At CJC

The chance to restore health to a neighbor or even save a life is being offered to Ciscoans during the E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital blood drive scheduled for Monday, Oct. 30.

The drive will be at the Cisco Junior College SUB from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Robert L. Beck, the hospital's laboratory technician, said the blood donations make it possible for the hospital not to charge its patients for blood they receive while confined there.

Blood donated by Ciscoans is used to replace blood from the blood bank so Graham's patients do not pay for blood they receive.

The total donation time should not exceed 45 minutes, he said. Donors need not fear transmission of diseases such as AIDS because these are not passed on to donors. A donor's blood is screened, however, to rule out the possibility of transmitting disease to those who require transfusions.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR,

The two pages of signatures in your newspaper was very interesting. I, for one, was glad to see it. It will help me in making future decisions. Though I wonder if our group could get two full pages in the paper for the same price. Oh well, we have long since learned that there is nothing fair about this.

I wonder if some of the people who have been bombarded with all of the so-called good qualities of a T.D.C. unit being built in Eastland County, have thought about talking with people who have been through this ordeal? Well, I did, and here are some things I have learned, thoug I already suspected.

First of all, the people in this particular county were allowed a vote. They were allowed to exercise their American right. What happened to ours? The vote carried, as it might here. At least this is the fair way to handle something of this nature. It shouldn't be left up to a few individuals. I resent it!

The construction company was a large firm from out of town. It wasn't local. The contractors did hire some local people for labor at minimum wage. They were never paid.

The people who moved into their community to work at the prison will not buy homes. They rent. So they do not pay property taxes. Whoever owns the property is still left to pay the taxes. Whoeveer owns the property it still left to pay the taxes. The people with seniority in the penal system will be given jobs first. Where does that leave people around here? You odn't just trot our to the prison and acquire a job as a guard. You must attend school and then there, is a training period, which may be at a facility as far away as California. Then you aren't guaranteed a job at the facility of your choice. The people attending college in this particular town are not being promised a job anywhere.

The people there have higher taxes because of the prison. Their water rates have gone up. They are now pushing for an election to have a tax roll back. I wonder what their chances are? Granted, there are a few people who would benefit from this. The banks, from the payroll at the prison. I didn't say the people who are employed by the bank. The utility companies for oobvious reasons. Again, not the employees. And in our case, the individual selling the land.

The average person who goes to work every day at a hob, people who farm, or people who are simply retired, will not realize a benefit. Not one blessed thing!

If you own a small business, you can hope you will do enough extra business to offset your higher taxes. i ask, what's the difference?

The facility has only been in operation since August. As of yet, they haven't had the prisoners families (most of which will be on welfare) move in on them. They have been told that is to come. That is an added burden on the citizens of any community.

The point is, things are not going to be like you are being told. "It isn't what they are telling "you", is the way some citizens of Snyder put it.

Certainly, I have a personal reason for opposing this prison. There are many more. We have some valid information. These are not things that we assume. They are facts.

Please, people, wake up before it's too late! Once we get this thing, we can't change our minds.

By the time this is printed, we will have turned in our petitions. We got well over the required number of signatures. To those of you who felt you couldn't sign this petition, we appreciate your moral support.

Melody Norris

EDITOR NOTE: Pages are available at standard rates, which were paid for the two pages referred to in this letter.

Dear Editor:

I have noted with interest the recent whirlwind of controversy surround ing the proposal to situate a prison in Eastland County. Frankly, I find the somewhat jingoistic position that has been taken by the prison opponents to be very regrettable.

Let's not delude ourselves; Eastland County needs the prison . despite all of the Chamber of Commerce cliches, Eastland County is dying. The evidence is everywhere. Just stroll down Main Street of any city in this county and you are confronted by the empty, dilapidated storefronts that stand as mute reminders of our economic decline. The obvious conclusions are reinforced by the dearth of young people who choose to remain in this area, as well as the shrinking tax base.

Eastland County hasn't captured a major industry in many years. The Morgan Buildings complex north of Eastland has stood vacant for over five years, in spite of Industrial Development Corporation efforts to entice a qualified occupant for the facility. In light of the continued decline in the oil and gas industry it is foolish to expect a major employer to suddenly locate in Eastland County. Not even a peanut butter factory.

We've all heard the arguments propounded by the "contras". Yet, it is noteworthy that every single city that presently hosts a prison is crying for another. Furthermore, I feel sure that you would be hard-pressed to find a prison opponent who likewise opposes the concept of building additional prisons or, in the alternative, supports the carte blanche release of violent felons because of prison overcrowding.

The picture isn't as black and white as the opponents wish to paint it. We're talking jobs and business. In short, we're talking continued economic survival. With that in mind, the people of Eastland County must join as one to support the prison.

Editor:

Concerning the Prison Issue.

Would it not be more productive and less devisive if this issue could be addressed with reason rather than emotion? Reason accepts the realities of a situation and works through it while emotion shuns reality and runs away from the problem.

Fact: Due to our State's high crime rate and a mandate from Federal Judge William Wayne Justice, more prisons will be built. No matter where these new prisons are located, tax monies from Eastland County residents will pay for construction costs, operational and maintenance costs, and the salaries of personnel. Only the residents of counties in which prisons are located will receive any monetary returns from their mandated investment. Residents of other counties have only the satisfaction of having contributed to more room for the criminal element.

Fact: The town of Gatesville has been spared the economic decline experienced by other towns and counties of comparable size and population, due to the income from their prison system. They are seeking to obtain one of the new prisons in addition to the one which has been there for many years.

Fact: The initial cost of obtaining a prison will call for financial sacrifice and inconvenience for a goodly number of taxpayers and residents of our county, but every venture is accompanied by risks. Our nation and state were founded, developed, defended and grew to greatness on the backs of those willing to make sacrifice for the good of all. Have we, their descendants, lost this stature of character?

Fact: To those who by calling for an election, may nullify our county's chance of being selected for a prison site, I would quote an old saying, 'Wait is what broke the bridge down.' Our county is in dire economic straits. Manufacturing and production companies are not exactly breaking our door down to locate here. By delaying the chances for obtaining a prison, you may well have broken down the only bridge to a chance for economic recovery for our county. Certainly, this is no your intent, but your fear of risk has clouded your view of reality. Please re-think your position in the interest of all and not just a few. By so doing, you will have made a contribution to progress and your sacrifice will not go unnoticed nor unrewarded.

Sincerely,
Bernice Prescott

Editor:

Thank God for Prisons.

Time to think of one's past sins, how life went wrong, and how one's opportunties might improve with a change attitude. The Texas Criminal Justice system is now insisting that all prisoners have the opportunity for extensive counseling, attendance at religious service, and reuniting with their families. It is an axiom that one of the reasons people find themselves in trouble is that they have removed themselves from bonding with their immediate relatives and the traditional values established in most family units such as school, church and God.

Many people express thanks to God for the prison that held the Apostle Paul. He was held in jail during that time he authored many of the books of the New Testament such as Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians and Philemon. Without the prison, perhaps he would not had the time to write those precious books of our Bible or to reflect on the foibles of mankind that he observed during his ministry and so ably expressed in his writings!

Paul Bunyon wrote 'Pilgrims Progress' during the time he was imprisoned. What a wonderful religious/philosophical treatise.

Alex Solzhenitzen, a Russian author has contributed a vast output of outstanding literature during the time he was in prison.

Many of us in Eastland County have been praying that if we are permitted to have a large prison here in our area that we can contribute to the rehabilitative thinkings of inmates therein. A plan is underway for our two Junior Colleges to participate actively in the training and reindoctrination of such persons. This will include, first of all, obtaining a high school diploma if they do not have one. Additionally college level classes will be available as well as vocational courses which may offer practical training in industrial skills. A major emphasis will be placed in psychological and religious counseling as well as drug rehabilitation if that is a problem with specific prisoners.

Prison chaplains do their best to integrate local people into counseling treatment for those who desire it. Volunteers may visit frequently 'inside the walls' to express hope and love we have as Christians in our society. Reformation often results from these visitation sessions. Instead of having a door slammed in your face while visiting in our outside communities, the reverse is often true in a prison ministry — there is eagerness to hear because there is precious commodity — time — available to allow one to listen and think and pray.

Dr. Charles M. Barnes
Rising Star, Texas

Dear Editor,

Fact is fact, but TRUTH IS TRUTH. Your recent pro-prison editorial seemed to tell more about the prison scam than you intended. It tried to explain Dr. Barnes' past, but failed to justify why he became involved with the prison scam. The most significant falsehood remains the land selected which you overlooked in your editorial. There is an abuandance of county owned land in Eastland County, but it has been conveniently forgotten. Why were there no plans to use county land on Highway Six by the Center Dispatch Office or the many acres of seized lands for delinquent taxes by the Sheriff's office?

I understand there was a proposal by some people of Ranger for a smaller 100 bed prison there that was not sent to the Texas Department of Corrections with the County's proposal for the 2,250 bed prison. There is such confusion over the prison deception that many people are willing to believe anything, regardless of the truth, even when it is written in black and white. Recently I heard of some Carbon residents discussing the improvements in their school system as they anticipate an increase in their population if the prison is located in their backyards. The TRUTH is the seven percent unemployment in the Big Country will bring workers from the surrounding counties into a prison site without relocating. The few persons wanting to see the increased salaries are not concerned about the negative impact on the elderly. The truth is that a nurse's aide at a nursing home making $3.50 an hour will be enticed to work at a prison as a guard for $6.00 an hour. This could mean fewer spaces in nursing home as the elderly would be unable to compete with the state wages. The retirees living on fixed incomes will have to pay higher property taxes to pay for the land, water, sewage, utilities service hookups, etc. to a prison. It is the elderly who will suffer the most.

Another letter to the editor from a Cisco woman wanting to see a prison here to keep her high school kids from using drugs as she fantasized more police officers would end the drug problem is very unrealistic. If she wants to live where there are more police, move to Dallas or New York City. If she wants to live in a Police State, move to East Germany. Otherwise, I would suggest to this woman to be a parent, set a good example, use love and discipline to help encourage your children to make good decisions. Prison guards will not raise your children for you.

"But I can vote on the prison issue on Nov. 7th...." In a statewide election Proposition 8 will decide if $400 million dollars will be authorized to purchase general obligation bonds to renovate mental hospitals, juvenile centers and build prisons. This Proposition effects the state and has nothing to do with paying for the Eastland County prison site. If you want to exercise your constitutional rights on the Eastland County prison issue, SIGN THE PETITION AND VOTE!

Sincerely yours,
John M. Roe

Volume 1989-Forty Three: Sunday, 22 October 1989

•••1989 Publication of the University of Oklahoma Press, Historical Atlas of Arkansas, authors: Gerald T. Hanson and Carl H. Moneyhon.

For serious students of the history of Arkansas, as well as the family historian, this atlas is one which will end up being a much used reference tool. Not only does it present an in-depth look at the physical enviroment of Arkansas through maps and charts, this book takes the reader from the first settlement in Arkansas to modern day.

The atlas is broken down into eight chapters, the first of which is the physical description of the land area in Arkansas. The authors show the various differences in the soil and temperature patterns as well as the varied agricultural regions which make up the state. The next chapter deals with early settlement in Arkansas from the Paleo-Indian period through Indian Settlements in the Seventeenth Century. Maps showing the various Indian Migration and Land Cessions from the 1700's through 1835 are included in this chapter.

The third chapter includes the first exploration of Arkansas by Europeans and takes the reader through American and European areas of settlement. Maps of various ethnic groups which can prove invaluable to a genealogist, are included in this section.

Land subdivision, boundary changes,early trails and migration into Arkansas are covered in the fourth and fifth chapters. The Civil War, from a geographical standpoint, is the topic of the sixth chapter which contains many maps which locate the various battles of the Civil War which were fought in the Arkansas territory. The seventh chapter indicates how Arkansas adapted itself to the new South by means of railroads, new agricultural patterns and changes of the general population trends. The final chapter presents a picture of Arkansas since 1950 to the present.

Those genealogists who are searching for ancestors with ties to Arkansas will find this a helpful guide for the search, as well as an informative reference tool for historians and geographers. (Review by S. Wms)

Employees Of The State

Department of Highways and Public Transportation will be seeing red for one week in October.

They will be taking part in the Texas Red Ribbon Campaign October 22-29, a celebration of progress in the War on Drugs. The observance is part of a nationwide effort sponsored by the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth.

Highlighting the week will be a special observance of Red Ribbon Day on October 25. On this day all highway department employees statewide have been requested by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission to wear read ribbons and display red banners on the exterior of all district office buildings, the main office in Austin, and travel information centers. Department vehicles will sport red streamers from the antenna or door handle.

Clyde Braddock, SDHPT roadway maintenance supervisor of Eastland County, says that if you see a highway department vehicle with a red ribbon, just wave to show your support.

All this display of red ribbons is to emphasize the Highway Department's commitment to a safe work environment for employees and a safe transportation system for the citizens of Texas.

Fall Production To Begin October 30th at CJC

When Tom Brown's wife, Caroll, director of theatre at Cisco Junior College, asked him to accompany her to England this summer to study at Oxford University, little did he know that he would come back to Cisco and DIRECT a Shakespearean play. "I probably would not have gone if I would have known what Caroll had up her sleeve but after a summer of studying Shakespeare, I realized what the British have always known— that Shakespeare was popular writer who wrote to please the man on the street. And once you get the hang of it, he's very easy to understand.

Brown is currently involved in directing a MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM for the fall production at Cisco Junior College. It will open October 30 and run through November 5 at the Hilton Community Center.

"Don't let Shakespeare shake you!" says Brown. According to Brown, Shakespeare took old myths and folk tales and pieces of history and turned them into modern material for the people of his time. He was an actor and a producer in addition to being a writer and so was very award of the need to make the audience and the actor understand what he was saying.

"Too many people say Shakespeare is to hard to understand. I agree that it is difficult if all you do is read it but SEEING Shakespeare makes all the difference. His plays were written to be seen. And if you come into the theatre with just a hint about the plot then there is no trouble following the story line" says Brown.

In addition, Brown says, that his decision to really emphasize the "dream" aspect of the play has helped the actors with their understanding of the material. "When my son, Beau, said 'Hey, that's really neat' as I was talking about how to present the material, I knew that we'd come up with a way to help everyone enjoy Shakespeare."

"Because a MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM is a fantasy then anything goes. We've put the whole play into the mind of a 13 year old boy who has to read Shakespeare for school. And what do kids and adults alike most readily identify with? Television. It not only was the perfect format for the play but the perfect way to help the young people acting in the play to understand the characters."

To those people who say Shakespeare is too "lofty", Brown says "Don't be like me. If Caroll hadn't dragged me to these plays in London I never would have given them a chance. Don't let the word Shakespeare scare you off."

To those people who say they want to see a comedy, something with lots of laughs and lots of surprises, Brown says "Believe me, this show and these talented kids are funny and good. They live up to Shakespeare's expectations and really 'speak the speech'. I guarantee that you will enjoy yourself."

Reservations are now taken for Cisco Junior College's production o a MID-SUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM to be presented October 30, 31 and November 1 at 7:30 p.m. for $1.00. Dinner performances are November 2, 3, and 4 at 7:00 p.m. Tickets are $10.00. A special Homecoming weekend matinee performance will be Sunday, November 5 at 2:30 p.m. Dessert will be served and tickets will be $5.00.

Winter Feeding

CUBES $137.50?

LET US SHOW YOU HOW!!

Eastland County is very fortunate this year to have an abundant supply of hay and grass. So you can SAVE MONEY and utilize the dry forage. We can sell you Cottonseed Cake Cubes (old process & double protein to grain cubes) for only $275.00. If you normally feed 5# per day per animal - you need only 2 1/2# CSC to get the same protein. Therefore: $275.00 ÷ 2 = $137.50. You must have ample grass or hay to do this.

Eastland Farm & Ranch Center also offers a 32% liquid feed for only $159.00 delivered to your location. This also requires a good supply of hay or grass and we believe we have the forage supply this year.

We have a good supply of grain cubes, CSC cubes & liquid feed. All contracted to help you save dollars.
Analyze your particular situation.
(Grain cubes may be your cheapest feed if you do not have the forage available).
$190.00 grain cubes @ 5# per day=47.5¢
$275.00 CSC cubes @ 2 1/2# per day=33.2¢
$159.00 liquid feed @ 1 3/4# per day=13.9¢
(1 ton feeder=$150.00 ea)

Hay Show Scheduled For October 26th

Quality hay production and Winter beef herd nutrition will be topics discussed at the Eastland County Hay Show, Thursday night, October 26th.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be at the Eastland County Livestock Show Barn, announces County Agent DeMarquis Gordon.

Thirty-three entries of hay were entered in the show. Prior to the program the hay will be judged by Dr. George Alston, Extension Agronomist, based on protein score and physical score. Physical score is determined by stage of maturity, texture, leafiness, absence of foreign material, and color. Protein score is being determined by the Texas A&M Forage Testing Laboratory.

Alston will discuss factors contributing to good quality forage and what producers can do to produce high quality forage. Dr. Steve Hammack, Extension Beef Specialist, will discuss feed requirements of beef cattle. This should help cattlemen plan for their winter feed stock needs, says Gordon.

Champion plaques and ribbons will be awarded to those with entries in the hay show.

Gordon urges all cattlemen and forage producers to attend the program, even if they do not have hay in the hay show. Refreshments will be served.

The program and hay show was planned by the Forage and Livestock Committee and is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Eastland Farm and Ranch Center, H&R Feed Store in Ranger, Bond Fertilizer at Lake Leon, Johnson Feed & Fertilizer at Desdemona, Brown's Feed Store at Gorman, Carbon Agri-Center, Inc., and Pioneer Farmers Cooperative.

Capitol Update

On November 14the The Texas Legislature will be called back into session to consider Workers' Compensation once again. If the third time truly is the charm maybe the Legislature can get it right this time.

I have received some significant criticism for voting against both the House version of workers' compensation "reform" package and the Senate version of the "reform" package. The truth is I didn't see a great deal in either one to warm my heart and brighten my outlook. Unfortunately, special interests have become so entrenched in and dependent upon the existing system that it truly has come to be something vastly different and more complicated than a way to compensate injured workers and limit employers' liability.

You see, workers' compensation was originally intended to benefit the employer at least as much, if not more, than the employee. It limits employer liability to 401 weeks at the then current compensation rate. That rate is now $238 per week. In other words, if an employee were seriously injured on the job " excluding actual medical expenses or being totally or permanently disabled), the maximum benefit would be approximately $95,000. So much for astronomical workers' compensation settlements.

The system was truly designed to create a stable work place for both employers and employees. The employers benefit from limited liability, the employees benefit from the security of a standard that he does not, in theory, have to sue to get.

You say it sounds like a pretty good system? You get a gold star. It was pretty good system until all the various interest groups became addicted to the ancillary benefits they receive from the system. They know who they are and they are not just maligned trial lawyers. They include, but are not limited to, plaintiff's defense attorneys, insurance adjustors and those who sue in bad faith or encourage other suits. I am convinced from my most recent experience that an injured worker does not get an attorney, until the Industrial Accident Board can be beefed up to provide an increased number of case reviewers, some very unpleasant things are almost certain to happen to him or her. The system was never intended to be like this.

There is blame aplenty to go around and like all addicts, these interest groups just can't kick the habit. They have "farmed" the workers' compensation system for so long that the system has ceased to be a means to an end and has become an end in and of itself.

There can be no reform to any meaningful degree unless and until we return to the basic goal of providing stability and security for employers and employees, without regard to third parties, with premiums charged based upon claims made. Simply stated, the safer you are the less you pay.

I am desperately eager to vote for a good workers' compensation reform package. My attitude about the issue is not unlike the old saying about art. I don't know much about it but I do know what I like.

1. Premiums should be tied to claims for individual employer with a reasonable time in which to establish a safety record. Premiums may be high for the first year but after a safety record is established, premiums must be reduced substantially for those providing a safe work place, both as a reward and incentive to maintain it.

2. Fees for attorneys should be tied to services rendered. The Industrial Accident Board should use the authority they presently have to determine what percentage of the reward should be paid in attorney's fees. It should be based on the amount of work the attorney was required to do on the case and should not be automatically be set at the maximum of 25%.

3. There should be a schedule provided for specific injuries.

4. There should be a provision for deductibles to be paid by employers.

I may not see all of these provisions but when I see a workers' compensation bill that I like and one I can come home to defend, I will be the first to vote for it. As of yet, I haven't seen one.

Medicare

People who are covered by both Medicare and private medical insurance should submit their bills to the private insurance carrier first under some circumstances, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene said today.

The law specifies Medicare as the secondary payer for people who are carried by an employer health plan in addition to their Medicare. The bills should be sent first to the employer health plan, and then sent to Medicare if the employer does not pay in full.

Medicare also pays second if a person is injured in an automobile accident and the expenses are paid by personal automobile medical insurance, State no-fault automobile insurance, or liability insurance. In the case of liability insurance, the person may file a claim with Medicare first which will get its payment back when the liability insurance pays.

Questions about Medicare coverage or about submitting bills to Medicare should be directed to the Medicare carrier for this area, Hamons said. The telephone numbeer for the Medicare carrier of the Big Country area is 1-800-442-2620 and is listed in the back of the Medicare Handbook.

To apply for Medicare, call Social Security. The Abilene Social Security office is located at 142 Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360 or 1-800-234-5772 for those living outside of Abilene.

Music Club Hears Review, Recital

The Eastland Music Study Club and guests enjoyed a Book Review by Alla Ray Morris and a piano recital by Dr. Robert Matthews at the Women's Clubhouse Wednesday afternoon.

Both parts of the program were based on the life and work of Franz Joseph Schubert, classical composer. This was the first in a series of studies from the book Schubert: His Life and Times.

Mrs. Morris began her review by giving some details of Schbuert's background. The composer was born in Vienna, Austria in 1797, one of a family of 14 children. His home was a small apartment and the family had little money.

Surprising was the information that Schubert's father, a school teacher, objected to his son spending much time on music. Another sad fact was that Schubert's compositions were almost unknown during his brief lifetime.

It was interesting to note that Schubert was a singer, as well as a performer on the piano, organ and violin. This may help explain why his pieces are melodious, and adapt well to solo performances.

Dr. Robert Matthews chose several piano classics to illustrate Schubert's work. He played 'Impromptu In A-Flat Major,' 'Duetrche Tanfe,' "Scherze,' 'Landler', and 'Klavier Stucke'. One of these numbers was played as an encore.

Before giving the program Dr. Matthews said he was grateful to his parents, Charles and Marie Matthews of Houston for encouraging him in music. He said the main part of his training came from Mary Frances Deatherage of Wichita Falls, Texas, and he was very appreciative of her wwork. This teacher encouraged him to become involved in Piano Guild and Sonata Festivals.

The Doctor played the Schubert music with ease and obvious enjoyment. The graceful runs and trills of 'Impromptu' alternated with dramatic passages in many of the numbers. But it was all fresh, lyrical music — compositionns which appeal to people of all ages and cultures.

After the recital Virginia Inzer, program leader, thanked Mrs. Morris for her special review and Dr. Matthews for his playing. Frances Bishop, Chairman of the 'Friends of Music' group, presented Mrs. Morris and the Doctor with honorary memberships in the 'Friends' organization.

Refreshments of coffee and assorted cookies were served from a table decorated in a fall motif. The centerpiece was a Jack-O-Lantern ceramic bowl holding orange pyrocantha and assorted greenery. It was circled by Indian corn, colorful gourds, and other ornamental plants.

Hostesses for the event were Virginia Inzer, Lucille Sims, Marjorie Young and Mildred Turner.

Homemaking Hints

From Janet Thomas, County Agent—

WHAT IS A STRONG FAMILY?

Strong families don't necessarily fit the conventional picture of the "good family", or one that embodies stability, respectability, and acheivement. Family strengths do not develop solely as a result of "trouble free" successes. Most families, if you look closely, are getting stronger as a result of learning to deal with challenges, crises, and conflicts.

The "super" family, which is always "on the go" upbeat and cheerful, presents another image of family life. This family, like the old-fashioned "good family", may be hollow on the inside. Overscheduled and overcommitted, they may little time for genuine communication or affirmation.

Media also furnishes us with unrealistic expectations about family life. Some shows present family models with strengths that border on perfection. They never loose their cool, and they handle all situations with humor and wisdom, making us feel terribly guilty.

In a recent survey, family health professionals identified characteristics of strong families which fit into three broad categoreis: communication, respect, and values.

A strong family has strong communication skills: its members know how to talk and listen to each other. In a strong family, members may not always agree, but there is deep respect for each other. A strong family has deeply held values, which shape both their internal structure and their relationships with the outside world.

It is significant to note that these three core traits have little to do with wealth, prestige, or success — all the traditional measures of a "good family".

RECIPE FOR THE WEEK:

PUMPKIN PIE SQUARES

1 Cup sifted flour
1/2 cup quick cooking oats (1 minute)
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter, melted
3/4 cup sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 ginger
1/4 tsp. cloves

Filling

1 lb. can pumpkin
13 oz. can evaporated milk
2 eggs

Topping

2 Tbsp. butter, melted
3/4 cup chopped pecans
1/2 cup brown sugar

Combine crust ingredients and, using low speed on electric mixer, mix until crumbly. Press into ungreased 13X9 inch pan. Bake at 350 F. for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, combine filling ingredients and beat well. Pour into baked crust and return to 350 F. oven for 20 minutes. Finally, mix topping ingredients and sprinkle over pumpkin filling. Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer, or until filling is set.

Gordon Spot

By DeMarquis Gordon, County Agent—

The annual Eastland County Pecan Show has been scheduled for November 30th, and December 1st, in the Eastland County Courthouse Lobby. Now that pecans are beginning to fall, growers should start selecting pecans for the show. This will be the 37th consecutive pecan show in Eastland County. It is sponsored by the Eastland County Pecan Grower's Association and the Eastland Chamber of Commerce.

Any pecan grower in the area may submit entries to the show. Sometimes the best entries are submitted by a homeowner with one or two trees. There is no limit to the number of entries that an exhibitor may submit, but participants are limited to one entry of each named variety they grow. A grower may enter as many seedlings, known hybrids, or natives as he wishes. The exhibitor must be the grower of the pecans. A minimum of 43 pecans are necessary for each entry. This sample of 43 should represent the variety or individual seedling tree and be uniform in size and shell color. Mixed samples — more than one variety in an entry — are disqualified.

The growers may wish to select the heaviest pecans by weighing invididual nuts. This will eliminate poorly filled pecans, but certainly isn't an entry requirement.

A varietal entry may be composed of nuts from more than one tree. For example, if the grower has 10 Choctaw trees, each tree could contribute nuts to the grower's one Choctaw entry.

Nuts should be without insect and disease damage. The pecans should be free of dust, dirt and shuck remnants. They should not be rubbed to the extent that shape or color is altered.

Avoid discolored shells and kernels. This problem may result from peeling pecans from shucks too early. Pecan exhibited must be from the 1989 crop.

There are some significant changes in this year's show. There will no longer be in-shell and shelling divisions. There will be a commercial division which includes 24 varieties normally produced comerically. The other division will be the classic division. This includes varieties that are not grown commercially in Texas.

The second change is the grading of the kernels. Kernels from the ten pecans shelled will be separated into three groups — fancy, inedible, and other grades. The percentage of fancy kernels will be calculated.

The concept was added to teach growers how to grade their pecans for sale. Percent 'Fancy' was added to the sample processing, because it is the standard by which buyers set the price on marketable pecans.

In time, grading should make a major contribution to the pecan marketing process. Growers should receive higher prices for their fancy pecans. Consumers in Texas and around the world should come to realize the quality of 'fancy' pecans produced in Texas.

Food Stamp Program

Five southwest states are pooling resources and exchanging information to bring about improved quality of service in the Food Stamp Program. State administrators from five states – Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas – have formed a task force to work on improving client services while increasing accuracy in the delivery of benefits.

"By improving accuracy in the certification and issuance of food stamps and by striving for excellence in all areas of administration, we're helping to ensure that food stamp dollars are directed only to those who truly need them," said task force member Ernest Schmid, assistant commissioner of Income Assistance Services, Texas Department of Human Resources, about the program which in fiscal year 1988 provided more than $984 million in benefits to Texas participants.

"The idea is that, under this endeavor, an environment will be created for state leaders to come together and share ideas, then carry those ideas home and successfully develop them" said Gene Dickey, southwest regional administrator, U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service, which administers the program nationally.

The task force will rotate its meetings among the five states with the intent of focusing on successful initiatives and procedures that can be adapted from one state to another.

In addition to improving the quality of service, state administrators also want to ensure that their states are not sanctioned for errors in the program. A quality control system monitors the accuracy of the food stamp eligibility and benefit determinations made by the states. A weighted sum of all states' error rates is then used to establish a payment error tolerance level. If an individual state agency's error rate exceeds the tolerance level, that state agency is assessed a sanction.

Food stamps are used to supplement the food buying power of eligible low-income households with the intent of improving their level of nutrition.

Kokomo News

By Zelda Jordan

There is a cold north wind blowing this Tuesday morning as I write the news. Quite different from the warm day we had yesterday.

Helen and Woodrow Browning, Jimmy Little and J.L. Morrow rendered the special music at the Kokomo Baptist Church on Sunday morning. Visitors were Jacob and Kaci Webb of Comanche. They were visiting with their grandparents, Oren and Norma Webb.

Other recent visitors with the Clearmans were Gary, Nanetta and Jo Beth Thompson of Plainview; Blanton and Ella Clearman of Lamesa; Karley Clearmanof Bedford and a cousin, Luke Clearman of Atlanta, Georgia.

Also visiting with J.C. and Anna Laura Clearman this past week were Bro. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, Bro. Joe O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Griffith.

Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Morrow went to Plains on Tuesday for a visit with Larry, Paula, Lance, Layne and Lenny Morrow. They attended the Jr. High football game between Plains and Meadows at Meadows on Thursday night to see Lenny play. Plains won the game 34-8.

A cousin, Mrs. Reda (Hogan) Cannistraci and her granddaughter of Cisco visited with Bro. Joe O'Neal on Sunday afternoon.

Bro. Joe O'Neal attended the Brotherhood breadfast at the Gorman First Baptist Church on Saturday morning.

Edith Smith of Taft, Calif., and Herman and Estelle Jordan of Flatwood were visiting with a cousin, Dora Garrett on Saturday evening. Jimmy and Verna Lee Little were visitors on Saturday. Mrs. Dora Garrett and Glenn Jordan attended the funeral of a cousin, Letha Robertson, in eastland last Tuesday.

Quite a few of the Kokomo folks enjoyed the benefit barbecue supper at Gorman on Saturday night. I really want to thank the ladies of Kokomo as well as all the other ladies of Gorman and surrounding area who prepared food for the benefit. So much good can be accomplished when we all work together, and we can really be proud of the Gorman Volunteer Fire Department and their new truck.

Nancy Hendricks visited in Clyde on Saturday with Sylvia and Yancy Buchanan and Kelly Buchanan of Fort Hood.

We extend sincere sympathy to Darlene Hampton and her family on the death of her father, Mr. McGinn of Rising Star.

CHS Student Council Observing Red Ribbon Week October 22-29

The Cisco High School Student Council would like everyone in the community to join them in supporting Red Ribbon Week, Oct. 22-29. This national campaign seeks to present a unified and visible commitment toward the creation of a Drug-Free America. The Red Ribbon symbolizes a commitment to a drug-free health lifestyle – no use of any illegal drug and no abuse of any legal drug.

Many times, the world of the high school student is removed and separated from the world of adults. But in the national war on drugs, high school students are front line troops.

And while not all battles in that war are resulting in victory for our nation, on the high school front the news is encouraging. The latest annual survey of high school seniors by the US Department of Health and Human Services shows that drug use among seniors is at its lowest level since the survey begin in 1975.

There is still much to do, because we all know by now the terrible toll that drugs take. They destory lives, and the tragedy is compounded when the victims are young people who are just reaching adulthood.

The student council has been urged by the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and the National High School Athletic Coaches Association to observe the period from Oct. 22-29 as Red Ribbon Week. The National Red Ribbon Campaign has President and Mrs. Bush as honorary chairpersons. They join in asking that during this week we think hard about drug abuse and resolve once more to fight it at every turn. When you see red ribbons in various places this week, let it be a reminder that Cisco High School students are please and proud to join in this campaign.

A Thought For The Day...

DeAlva Chambers

Every wall, every barrier, every bridge has at least two purposes. A wall may be to you a thing of confinement, of limitation, or of handicap; and yet to someone else it may be a means of protection, of privacy, or of seclusion. A barrier may be to you an assurance of shelter or possession and to another a frustration or even a challenge. To one a bridge is a blessing; to another a curse.

The wall can either keep some out or keep some in. It is just there; it does nothing but one's approach, one's outlook, one's desire determines the usefulness or the futileness to be endured. Couldn't it be said that most things in life can be broken down in such a way?... An hour in waiting can be a stressful or grueling experience to the impatient and the nervous, but that same hour can be a pleasant hour of repose, learning, or meditation. To one an endurance; to another a delight...

If things that beset you seem to be insurmountable obstacles, take another look, realize that which is good and go on. Remember an obstacle is often an unrecognized opportunity.

Robert Steed Speaks At Training Seminar

Investment Representative Robert L. Steed of Edward D. Jones & Co. recently served as a "Visiting Veteran" for training classes at the firm's St. Louis headquarters. He was one of five veteran representatives chosen to attend the week-long seminar.

As a visiting veteran, Steed's job was to share with new representatives his experiences as an Edward D. Jones & Co. investment representative. Before opening an office, each trainee must attend two educational classes at the home office. Experienced representatives such as Steed are invited to reinforce theoretical discussions with their real-life experiences.

During the seminar, Steed sat in on various classes, supplementing discussions with his expertise on working in the field. He also gave a presentation on "Knowing Your Client". Additionally, he had the opportunity to meet informally with new representatives, answering questions about Edward D. Jones & Co. and about his approaches to implementing the firm's philosophy.

Founded in 1871, the firm specializes in conservative investments and currently has more than 1,476 office in 42 states.

CJC Wrangler Belles & Band Accomplishments

Texas junior colleges and precision drill teams have been synonymous for years. Since 1960, the rural northwest Texas town of Cisco has paired Cisco Junior College and the internationally famous Wrangler Belles.

In 1987, the outstanding performing team served as "Goodwill Ambassadors" of Texas on an international tour to Villahermosa, Mexico. The Belles were joined by the CJC marching band as guests of the state of Tabasco.

But the Belles' association with the nationally televised Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City is their greatest claim to fame.

The Belles, along with the band, have appeared in the annual Macy's event an unprecedented five times. Their next scheduled appearance is Thanksgiving 1990.

"I guess some of the famous cartoon balloons have been in more parades, but we're proud of all our invitations," says current Wrangler Belle Director Debbie Baker. Baker is a former Belle herself.

This year, 1989, marked the third trip by the Belles and band to the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia. Almost 100 area supporters joined the CJC performing groups on their latest trip to the Washington, DC, area.

The Wrangler Belles perform year-round at football and basketball game half times, parades, special events, and exhibitors at high school competitions. "The Belles love to perform and have numerous opportunities," states Baker.

The CJC Belles are a close-knit organization with an emphasis placed on positive attitude and individual growth. "The drill team is a perfect way for a young woman to begin her career and pursue her studies for a wonderful future," concludes Baker.

QUESTION: Mr. Cartee, my mother needs help financially. Her social security check is so small – her medicine bills are high – and we are finding that we are having trouble in helping to support her. Do you know how we can get help?

ANSWER: Your mother's problems fit the pattern of so many. I would siggest you contact the Social Security Administration and see if your mother would quality for Supplemental Security Income (SSI). You will need a lot of documentations such as: her social security income number; a current bank statement; a statement of savings accounts; listings and amounts of all other incomes; a statement of all properties; insurance: life, health, burial policies; stocks and bonds; burial plots, royalties; contracts, if any, of any nature that might be a source of income. I am sure additional information will be requested by the SSA.

QUESTION: Mr. Cartee, how long do you think it will take before Congress tells us of our medicare benefits?

ANSWER: Congress moves slowly until it becomes time to adjourn and go home! Then bills become laws overnight! However, so much depends upon their actions I suspect we will have an answer by November 1, 1989. The reasons are many but among them are (1) the insurance companies selling the suplemental policies must have to re-write the present policies; (2) the caregivers must be able to know in advance how to bill medicare; (3) the medicare receiver must know how to plan and (4) medicare (HCFA) must have time to write the regulations and procedures. Hopefully all of this will come together January 1, 1990. However, again Congress can bring certain segments in under the law step by step (certain benefits occuring or being withdrawn by a certain date). You may rest assured you will be notified through this column as soon as we obtain the information.

Our access to health care is becoming more difficult each day. Perhaps you would like to write Roy V. Cartee, 900 Avenue H, Cisco, Texas 76437, explaining your problem.

Nutrition Program

We keep thinking about those people involved in the earthquake in California. We see on TV scenes of collapsed bridges and buildings. But we know the elderly and those with small children are having a very difficult time.

We should be very thankful for our homes and security. Why not come to the Senior Center for fellowship, and a nutritious luncheon, and to be able to talk about our mutual problems and successes. Be so thankful for being safe and secure.

The programs for the past week included: at Cisco– the dinner music was provided by Lois Holder, Ima Thompson and the Senior Center Choir and Band. Blood pressure screenings were taken by Mable Thetford. At Eastland– a nutrition program was presented by Janet Thomas. The dinner music was provided by La Rue Broussard and Ruth Kendrick and the Senior Center Choir sang.

The menus for the coming week will be:

Monday– Barbecue beef on roll, pinto beans with relish, carrot, raisin and cabbage salad, apricot cobbler and milk.

Wednesday– Chicken fried steak and gravy, potatoes, vegetable medley, pineapple tidbits, bread, butter and milk.

Friday-- Turkey roast, cheese rice broccoli, beets, refrigerated cookies, fruit cup, bread, butter and milk.
