Chrysler wins backing for $400 million loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chrysler Corp. won final federal backing today for $400 million in new loans to stave off bankruptcy. The approval came as the company reported the largest annual loss in American corporate history, $1.71 billion for last year.

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, chairman of the three-man Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board, said the panel agreed today that Chrysler has met conditions set out in an agreement tentatively approved by the board last month, when it was headed by former Secretary G. William Miller.

Chrysler lost $235 million in the fourth quarter, to top the 8-day-old record loss of $1.54 billion reported by Ford Motor Co.

Chrysler, the No. 3 automaker, said its loss for the year included "unusual charges" of $250 million, mainly the writing-off of obsolete plant and equipment. Those write-offs totaled $78 million the the fourth quarter.

Sales for the year fell 23 percent from $12 billion to $9.23 billion. Sales of cars and trucks worldwide fell 32 percent, from 1.8 million to 1.23 million last year.

Congress has authorized another $300 million in guarantees, but Regan said the Reagan administration would look at any Chrysler request for that money "a lot more closely" than it had the current agreement.

Calling Chrysler's prospects for survival "reasonably good," Regan said it is now "clearly the sole responsibility of Chrysler's senior management" to put the company back on its feet. He also renewed the government's urging that it find a merger partner.

Final approval follows six weeks of tough negotiations in which the struggling No. 3 automaker gained financial concessions from the company's workers, suppliers and creditors. The bankers, who held out the longest, agreed only this week to write off millions of dollars in loans.

Company officials have said the last major problem in winning the guarantees was overcome when board members unofficially approved a revised agreement between Chrysler and more than 100 creditors to which the company owes more than $1.1 billion.

Published reports indicated a key part of the agreement called for payment of about $68 million of that debt within 30 days. Several New York banks reportedly demanded quick payment of at least that much out of fear the company would soon go under — even with the new cash infusion — and the banks would end up with nothing.

Meanwhile, Chrysler officials were expected to announce later today that the company lost $1.77 billion last year, a record for any U.S. corporation. Losses totaled $299 million in the fourth quarter, but company officials said the loan guarantees and improving sales will make 1981 a much better year.

Chrysler already has received $800 million of the $1.5 billion in loan guarantees authorized by Congress in December 1979. Company officials have said they will not seek the other $300 million.

An earlier version of the latest agreement, tentatively approved by the loan board last month, called for Chrysler to pay off $500 million of its debt at 30 cents on the dollar over a year's time, beginning later this spring. The quick $68 million payment called for in the new version will count against that payment.

The rest of the debt is to be converted to Chrysler preferred stock.

Construction begins Monday on $2,990,408 local mall

Construction will begin Monday on a 155,000-square-foot mall to be situated on the 1700 block of East FM 700, said Dewey Byers, city building inspector.

Building permits were signed Thursday for the giant structure, which will cost $2,990,408 to erect. J.C. Penney's and Beal's Department Stores will occupy two large buildings on either end of the mall, and 35 to 40 smaller shops will dot the perimeter, said Byers.

"There have been commitments for some of the other shops, but the builders don't want to go public with the names yet," he added, this morning.

Ainbinder-Bramalea Shopping Centers, Inc. is listed as the owner of the mall, while C. Ralph Cheek and Associates did the architectural work. Completion of the mall should take over a year, estimated Byers.

Recommendations for stiff illegal alien crackdown comes under attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top-level commission's report calling for a crackdown on illegal immigration has come under immediate attack from Hispanic activists and civil libertarians.

The study, to be delivered today to President Reagan and to Congress, says the United States has definite limits on its ability to absorb large numbers of immigrants and refugees.

A coalition of public interest groups held a news conference before the report's release to offer alternatives to the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy's proposals for tighter enforcement.

Rick Swartz, with the Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights Under Law, said the group wanted to emphasize that the select commission's report should not be regarded as the gospel.

He said the coalition, calling itself the Public Forum on Immigration and Refugee Policy, planned to gather as much information as possible while Congress starts to consider the select commission's recommendations.

David Carliner of the American Civil Liberties Union said too little is known about illegal immigration to justify sweeping changes in the immigration laws that could affect everyone in the United States.

One Mexican-American leader accused the commission of coming up with a border enforcement plan that resembles militarization.

"After two years of hearings, research and analysis, the commission has failed to produce a sound strategy for the humane and realistic enforcement of immigration policy," Vilma Martinez, president of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund, said in a statement.

She rejected as costly, ineffective and possibly discriminatory the commission's key recommendations for employer sanctions and some form of worker identification as ways to control illegal immigration.

Under the plan, employer sanctions would be imposed on those who knowingly hired undocumented workers.

The commission also voted to recommend that a more secure form of identification for workers be required — a counterfeit-proof social security card was one suggestion — but it was not more specific.

A third cornerstone of the commission's plan is better enforcement, including hefty budget increases for the Border Patrol.

Laurence Fuchs, the commission's executive director, told reporters Thursday that it would take about a 10 percent increase in the patrol's budget to put the recommendations into effect, even without an employer sanction program.

"Enforcement is not inexpensive," he said.

The report recommends that a general amnesty program for undocumented workers already in the country should go into effect once the enforcement programs are operating.

How sweet it is for smart squirrel living in store

By CAROL HART

A squirrel who has been making his home inside Prager's Men's and Boy's Wear has been stealing the food set in traps inside the store and living the good life since late last summer.

The squirrel was first noted out on the street in front of Prager's, said J.W. Parmley, manager. He came running into the store and scurried into hiding. The employees didn't see him for quite awhile, and they assumed he had either escaped from the store or died.

But, "six or eight weeks ago, he came out around the cash register," said Parmley. "He's surviving very well." He reasoned the squirrel had been feasting on pieces of candy that the Prager employees had left in a store room.

"The squirrel loves pecans, cookies and Reese's Peanut Butter Cups," said Parmley. Those items are placed inside two traps set inside the store room at the back of the store. But, so far, the traps have been no obstacle for the crafty squirrel, who gets his food without getting caught.

The traps are designed to capture the squirrel but not to harm him. One is a large wooden contraption set on a block. The other is a wire trap used by the city to catch cats, said A.J. Prager, owner of the store.

Prager explained that the squirrel is too small to trip the trap designed for cats. "He can go over it" without it snapping shut.

"I don't know what we're going to do," added Parmley.

In the meantime, the squirrel has made himself at home in the store. He has built a den under the foundation of the store.

But, added Parmley, "he's no trouble. We never know he's around."

Trucker killed in fiery crash

Raymond Earl Watson, 51, of Cisco, was killed in a one-vehicle accident at 3 a.m. this morning in Martin County.

Watson's 1971 truck-tractor was eastbound on state highway 176 one mile east of Lenorah when it went off a hill on the right side of the road and overturned one and a half times, according to Midland Department of Public Safety officials.

The cab of the truck-tractor caught fire when it hit the bottom of the hill. Watson was the only one in the vehicle. Officials say he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Justice of the Peace F.E. Kennedy of Martin County ruled Watson dead at the scene.

DPS troopers Fred Guitierrez and Wade Turner were called to the scene.

Daniel Sr. blasts Haynes

Vickie Daniel shows up at child custody hearing

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Vickie Daniel, accused of murdering her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., appeared in court today as a custody battle over her two children got under way.

Mrs. Daniel's surprise appearance was followed by an announcement from attorneys for Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, that Vickie Daniel's first husband will be called to the stand in the hearing.

Larry Moore of Dayton is the father of Vickie Daniels's 12-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son.

Mrs. Murph is seeking custody of Vickie Daniel's two young sons by Price Daniel Jr.

Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, Mrs. Daniel's attorney, declined to say if his client would take the stand during the hearing.

The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday rejected a plea by Haynes that the custody hearing be moved from Liberty because Mrs. Daniel no longer lived there.

Mrs. Murph, executor of her brother's estate, claims Mrs. Daniel is an unfit mother because of psychiatric problems and an uncertain future.

Meanwhile, Daniel's father, former Gov. Price Daniel Sr., lashed out at Haynes' implications — made in a Monday court hearing — that his son used marijuana, preferred the company of young boys and had "compelled" Mrs. Daniel to have an abortion.

Mrs. Murph denied any knowledge of such information and the elder Daniel accused Haynes of "smear tactics and repeating untruths."

"As the father of a son who was killed by his wife and the grandfather of two boys, I think this custody case should be tried in court instead of the newspapers," said the former Texas governor.

"However, since 'Racehorse' Haynes resorted to the media, in an attempt to smear the character of my deceased son, I think this is one time evidence in court will show that 'Racehorse' Haynes will be exposed," the elder Daniel said.

"'Racehorse' Haynes will not get away with such smear tactics forever," he said.

Haynes was not immediately available for comment.

The flamboyant defense attorney had failed Thursday to convince the Texas Supreme Court to remove custody battle from Liberty, the Daniel family hometown.

Action / reaction: Laws for the birds

Q. Is it against the law to use eagle or hawk feathers for crafts.

A. State law protects the hawk, and the eagle is protected by federal law, according to Steve Medford, game warden. Therefore, said Medford, it would be against the law to use eagle or hawk feathers for crafts. He added that only the European starling and English sparrows are not protected by any laws.

Lennon leaves $5.5 million

LONDON (AP) — John Lennon, the ex-Beatle shot dead outside his New York apartment Dec.8, left an estate in England and Wales valued at $5.5 million, according to his will published today.

In the will, dated Nov.12, 1979, Lennon left half his estate to his wife, Yoko Ono, and the remainder to be held in a trust fund. Details of the trust fund were not disclosed, but Lennon's 18-year-old son Julian by his first wife, Cynthia, was believed to be the main beneficiary of the rock star's British estate.

Probate has been granted to Yoko Ono, 47, who still lives in Lennon's home in Manhattan.

The will stipulated that if any beneficiary petitioned to increase their portions of the estate they "shall receive nothing whatsoever."

Lennon's British estate is only a small fraction of the fortune. Estimates have put it at $275 million, most of it abroad.

However, Lennon's U.S. will, published last December, valued his American estate at $30 million.

The Lennon fortune is believed to swell by $220,000 a day from record royalties amid a boom in Lennon's solo records and old Beatles' albums following his murder.

These sales were expected to mushroom when Lennon's last album, which he was recording at the time he was slain, is released in the spring.

Missionaries released

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Three British missionaries, imprisoned for five months in Iran on spy charges, flew to freedom today and will stay the night in Athens before leaving for London.

The three, accompanied by Terry Waite, the Church of England official who negotiated their release, fly to London early Saturday, the British Embassy said.

The missionaries, Dr. John Coleman, his wife, Audrey, and Jean Waddel — all 58 — as well as Waite, were whisked away in two British Embassy cars taking them to the residence of British Ambassador Iain Sutherland in central Athens.

Without explanation, Iranian authorities delayed the departure of the Britons at the last minute on Tuesday and again on Wednesday.

According to Waite, they were released after Iranian officials said "the evidence against them was found to be forged and there is no case to answer."

The Colemans are medical missionaries and Miss Wadell was the secretary of the Anglican bishop of Iran. All three had been working in Iran for many years before the 1979 revolution that overthrew the Shah of Iran and established an Islamic republic.

A fourth Briton, businessman Andrew Pyke, 37, remained in custody. There was no indication when the executive of a Dutch-Iranian helicopter company might be released.

Also in custody on spy charges was Afghanistan-born naturalized American Zia Nassry, the last American captive in Iran since the release of the 52 hostages who were held there for 444 days. There was no new information about his case.

Texas man in plane crash

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Two Texans were listed among 17 military personnel missing in the crash of a U.S. Air Force plane in the South China Sea, a Navy spokesman said.

They were Capt. Gregory S. Peppers, 29, of Fort Worth, and Airman 1st Class Kyle B. Wells, 20, of Pasadena.

The spokesman said military authorities will decide Saturday whether to continue the search. Ten U.S. Navy and helicopter sorties were flown around the crash scene Thursday.

Senators want crackdown on drug-pushing doctors

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate has approved a "war on drugs" bill calling for swift punishment of doctors and other medical professionals who push pills illegally.

The bill would automatically suspend a health professional's license upon conviction of a drug-related felony and would automatically revoke the professional's license when all appeals have been exhausted.

"This strikes at the heart of the illegal dispensing of drugs in Texas," said Sen. Bill Meier, the bill sponsor.

Currently, a professional licensing board must act to suspend or revoke a license, and these proceedings may be delayed for long periods, which gives the professional continued access to drugs.

Senators sent the bill to the House on voice vote after rejecting an amendment that would have eliminated automatic suspension when a drug-related conviction arose from a social situation outside the scope of the professional's employment.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, said the amendment would protect a doctor who is charged with possessing drugs if drugs were found in a car in which he was riding, even if the drugs did not belong to the doctor.

"He would have to suffer not only possible prosecution but a higher degree of sanction of having his license automatically revoked," said Brooks.

Sen. Bob Glasgow, a former district attorney, and Sen. Tati Santiesteban, a defense lawyer, disagreed over whether the amendment was needed.

Glasgow, D-Stephenville, said a person must "knowingly and intentionally possess" drugs to be convicted, and the hypothetical doctor in Brooks' example would not be in danger of conviction.

Santiesteban, D-El Paso, said Glasgow's arguments reminded him of the story of someone visiting a friend in jail, asking him why he was serving time and exclaiming, "They can't put you in jail for that."

Glasgow said the amendment would permit a medical professional "to fill the street up with drugs" while appealing a conviction, which often takes five years in Texas.

Meier said the amendment "flies right at the heart of the intent of the bill," and the Senate defeated it 22-8.

Meier described the proposal "as one of the most important of five" proposed by the Texans' War on Drugs Committee, which was appointed by Gov. Bill Clements.

Committee members watched from the balcony as senators debated the proposal.

Democrats on economic committee urge smaller one-year tax cut plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the Joint Economic Committee, offering the party's first alternative to President Reagan's program, are urging a one-year tax cut just large enough to offset higher Social Security taxes and immediate reductions in interest rates.

The Democrats maintain that a big, three-year, across-the-board tax cut like Reagan wants probably would spark another round of inflation.

Republicans on the congressional study panel accused Democrats of turning their backs on new ideas and advocating shopworn policies that got the nation's economy into its present state.

The positions were spelled out Thursday when the committee issued its annual report on the economy. In contrast to 1979 and 1980, when the panel unanimously agreed on a report built around stimulating investment and saving, the committee was so split that the 10 Republicans issued one report and the 10 Democrats another.

The GOP members' prescription for curing inflation and economic stagnation was essentially Reagan's: a reduction in the growth of federal spending, a 30 percent across-the-board cut in individual tax rates, faster tax write-offs for business, less government regulation, and tighter monetary controls for the time being.

As they had last year, the Democrats agreed on business tax cuts, regulatory reform and the principle of holding down spending.

The Democrats also urged:

—A smaller tax cut until inflation is controlled. This year's installment would be aimed at offsetting the higher Social Security taxes that went into effect Jan. 1. This would allow a worker to subtract from his or her income taxes 8 percent of the Social Security tax paid this year. Any further tax cut would be delayed.

Reagan's proposal would yield $114 of tax relief this year for a typical $20,000 family of four with $4,600 of itemized deductions.

Mitchell County jurors return seven indictments

COLORADO CITY — Seven persons have been indicted by the Mitchell County grand jury, one of them for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and two others for aggravated robbery. One of the indictments returned was sealed.

Ramiro Lara, Colorado City, was indicted on aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. Charges stemmed from an incident which occurred Jan. 18, when Helen Espinoza was wounded with a blast from a shotgun.

Charles Christopher Thornton, Rt. 2, Lincolntown, Ga., and Jeffery Jack Morris, Star Rte., Appling, Ga., were charged with aggravated robbery. They allegedly robbed a service station here at gunpoint.

Allen Ramstad, Colorado City, was charged with theft exceeding $200.

Ramstad was arrested in October for passing worthless checks.

Claude Wilburn, Colorado City, was indicted on charges of criminal mischief. He allegedly damaged two tires on a car belonging to a local resident.

Bobby Joe McDowell, Colorado City, was charged with driving while intoxicated, consequent offense.

Police Beat

Grudge call jails suspected robber

What police believe to have been a grudge call resulted in the arrest of a suspected robber, here Thursday.

On Thursday afternoon, local officers received an anonymous telephone call alerting them that a man wanted on a traffic warrant for speeding was living at a residence on Cherokee. Furthermore, the caller said, the man was wanted for aggravated robbery and battery in Illinois.

Detectives ran the suspect's name through a National Criminal Information Center computer, and learned that, indeed, a warrant for his arrest had been issued by the Metropolis, Ill. Sheriff's Office. Patrolmen Bob Lester and Mike Dawson and Sgt. Jerry Edwards arrested Walter Johnson, 20, in his front yard at 2912 Cherokee, 8:19 p.m. Thursday.

Donald Armstrong, 2401 Marshall, told police that a boy he knows drove off with Armstrong's 1975 Honda motorcycle, Wednesday morning. The male juvenile was tracked down, arrested, and the bike returned to its owner.

Two men drove into the Seven-Eleven Store at 18th and Gregg, 12:30 a.m. today, smashed the glass on the unleaded gasoline pump, and drove off. Damage was estimated at $30.

Delbert Parrish, 201 Jefferson, is listed in stable condition at Hall-Bennett Hospital, following a two-car collision at FM 700 and Goliad, 3:23 p.m. Thursday. The auto driven by Parrish collided with another driven by Irene Cook, 2002 Runnels.

Ms. Cook was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital where she was treated and released.

An unattended pickup belonging to the John Hendrix Corporation of Midland, rolled across Lamesa Drive, struck a sign and came to rest against a building at 501 Lamesa, 3:47 p.m. Thursday. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

Lemons to head centennial unit

COLORADO CITY — Bobby Lemons, who is employed by City National Bank here, has succeeded Carl Beery Moore as president of the Mitchell County Centennial Committee.

Moore resigned Monday, citing conflicts with his business interests.

Moore said he would continue to work with the committee.

Findley seeks third term

COLORADO CITY — Incumbent Macca Findley has announced he will run for a place on the Colorado City city council. Findley is serving his second term on the council.

He is a district foreman for Mitchell and Scurry counties for the Mabee Petroleum Corp. Findley is a native of Hillsboro.

Mann residence is burglarized

Eddy Mann, who lives two and a half miles west of the Vincent store on the north side of the road, reported at 5:25 p.m. Thursday that his residence was burglarized.

Sheriff A.N. Standard Jr. said a complete list of missing items had not been reported, but that there were guns and household items gone.

Resolution opposing MX split basing approved

BEAVER, Utah (AP) — A resolution opposing split basing of the MX missile system has been approved by the Four-County MX Policy Board, which said the proposed plan would give Utah nuclear missiles, but without compensating economic benefits.

In passing the resolution Wednesday night, the regional group made clear its desire to have all 200 missiles in the proposed MX system based in Utah and Nevada, not spread to other states.

The policy board consists of elected officials from Iron, Beaver, Millard and Juab counties, areas the Air Force has said it favors placing some of the missiles.

One of the options being considered by the Air Force is to split basing of the missiles, placing part of them in Utah and Nevada and the others in western Texas or eastern New Mexico.

Tower urges delay on neutron warhead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee today urged President Reagan to postpone any plan for deploying the neutron warhead in Europe because of the political problems with U.S. allies that could result.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, said he told Reagan that a more important goal now is modernization of tactical nuclear weapons already deployed in Europe.

During his administration, ex-president Jimmy Carter laid the groundwork for deploying the neutron warhead — sometimes called the neutron bomb — in Europe but then abruptly changed his mind. Instead, he ordered that the weapon's components be produced in the United States but not assembled.

Tower, speaking with reporters outside the White House, said he suggested to Reagan "perhaps we shouldn't press right now on the enhanced radiation weapon because of political problems.

"The point is that Mr. Carter's handling of that issue has made it politically very difficult for us in Western Europe, and the priority is the modernization of tactical nuclear forces in that area," Tower said.

"I think we've overloaded our political circuits," he added. "The first thing we have to get on with is tactical nuclear force modernization and that's a big enough political problem."

Tower said the biggest political obstacle for the neutron warhead is in West Germany with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt.

"Schmidt is still smarting from the treatment he got from Carter on that," said Tower.

"Once he (Schmidt) had finally sold the (neutron warhead) to his parliament, the idea of deployment, got them to accept it, then Carter subsequently pulled the rug out from under him and declared it an inhumane weapon. Obviously this was an enormous political embarrassment to Schmidt."

Tower reported to Reagan on a recent trip to 10 countries in the Middle East and North Africa.

Oil discovered off Gulf coast

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A group of oil companies has announced what they call "the first significant discovery of oil" from an offshore well along the central Gulf coast of Texas.

"Until we drill some more wells out there, we really won't know what we've got," said Nancy Davis, regional public relations manager for InterNorth Inc. in Houston.

The well was drilled in water 100 feet deep and 30 miles off Matagorda Island on property leased from the federal government. Oil was discovered at a depth of 10,190 feet.

The site is about 50 miles northeast of Corpus Christi.

In tests conducted last week, the well flowed 1,030 barrels of oil and 3 million cubic feet of gas per day, she said Thursday. A well flowing 100 to 200 barrels of oil a day in that location would be considered commercially productive, she added.

"As far as production is concerned, we're probably looking to late 1982," Mrs. Davis said.

Other companies involved are McMoRan Oil & Gas Co. of Metairie, La., Transco Exploration Co., Natomas Offshore Exploration Inc. and Getty Oil Co.

Poll shows many would spend cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — A majority of Americans say they would spend the cash from Ronald Reagan's proposed tax cut, but a substantial number, particularly wealthier people, would save the money or invest it, the latest Associated Press-NBC News poll says.

That's good news for President Reagan, whose proposals for "economic renewal" depend in part on a substantial portion of any tax cut monies going into savings or investments to spur the economy.

Americans do favor the president's proposals, but they are pessimistic about whether the plan will succeed in slowing inflation or in turning the nation's economy around. And they have substantial doubts as to whether the complex proposals will make it through Congress.

Reagan has proposed cutting federal income tax rates by 10 percent a year over the next three years. The Reagan administration estimates that by the end of 1982 a family of four making $20,000 a year would find its taxes reduced $300 overall or about $25 a month.

Fifty-four percent of those interviewed Monday and Tuesday said they would spend the money from a tax cut like the one Reagan has proposed. That figure broke down to 27 percent saying they would pay off bills, 20 percent using the money to pay day-to-day expenses and 7 percent buying something with the cash.

Morse faces murder count

MIDLAND — Stephen Morse, 19, of Vacaville, Calif., has been indicted by the Midland County grand jury for the murder of Karen Rickey, 17.

The girl's body was found Feb. 18 in a field along County Road South, seven miles east of Midland. Investigators said she had been beaten with a rock and run over by her car.

Participants in Cannibal Draw Reunion will be spotlighted

Participants in the fourth annual Cannibal Draw Reunion this year will be spotlighted in the Big Spring Railroad Centennial during the week of May 17.

Persons eligible to attend the reunion lived in a section of town roughly touching on Austin and East Fifth Streets half a century or longer ago and H.M. (Mack) Underwood, who conceived the idea for the reunion after moving back here several years ago, said that over 100 persons are eligible to attend the assemblage. Well over half of that number have attended at least one of the meetings in the past.

The participants will gather for a dutch treat dinner at 5 p.m., Saturday, May 23, at the Brandin' Iron Restaurant. At 8:30 p.m., they will reassemble at Memorial Stadium where they will be recognized as a group by the Centennial Committee.

Four persons who answered the roll call in last year's reunion will not be in attendance this year. They have died since the last meeting.

This year's banquet will again be a stag event. There was some talk wives and women friends would be invited to this year's get-together but those plans have not crystalized. Underwood has not ruled out the possibility that the women will be included in future planning.

Underwood also said that some of the men eligible to attend the reunion will be attending for the first time.

Scattered showers in southeast Texas

By the Associated Press

Widely scattered showers were forecast today for eastern and southern sections of Texas.

Most of the state was to have cloudy skies and continued unseasonably warm temperatures. Highs were to be mostly in the 70s with readings along the Rio Grande reaching into the lower 80s.

Light rain was reported during the night and early today in East Central Texas, the Austin area and in far West Texas between El Paso and Guadalupe Peak. Rainfall amounts were light, mostly around a trace.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Saturday predicts rain and showers in a band from Texas to New Hampshire and in a portion of the West.

Board closes welfare, nursing home loophole

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The game ends Sunday for Texans who planned to join thousands of other elderly people who sold or gave away their property in order to become paupers and qualify for Medicaid-covered nursing homes.

The Board of Human Resources closed the loophole Thursday, complying with a federal law aimed at saving tax dollars.

In other action Thursday the board approved an 18-month extension on H. Ross Perot's contract to operate Medicaid and OK'd a lawsuit settlement which would cut welfare payments.

The nursing home benefits game was played this way: When mama headed to a nursing home, she sold her house or other property to her children at a greatly reduced price. In some cases she gave it away.

The object was to eliminate assets and become "poor" enough to qualify for Medicaid, which pays medical and nursing home bills for the needy.

"Numerous instances have been documented of individuals divesting themselves of substantial assets for little or no consideration one day in order to qualify for public assistance the next," said a board report.

A board survey showed elderly Texans sold at a loss or gave away $79 million worth of property in 1980 in order to "pauperize" themselves.

Chairman Hilmar Moore said, "I'm sure each of us know of instances in which this has been done."

The loophole was plugged with a board policy that works this way: If mama sold her house for less than its fair market value, the difference would be "considered available (to mama) for 24 months after the sale or transfer took place," according to a staff report.

"This has been a major problem within this state," said Merle Springer, deputy commissioner.

Statistics showed 48 percent of the 4,278 items sold in 1980 were valued at over $10,000 each.

Coahoma schools plan Open House Thursday

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Independent School District will hold an Open House Thursday, March 5, in conjunction with American Education Week.

Classes in all buildings will be open to the public. Teachers will be displaying crafts, projects, and sample lessons so that parents can be made aware of what their children are being taught.

In addition, there will be displays of shop projects and examples of student art in the high school. The junior high school Stage Band will be performing in the junior high gymnasium.

A science fair will be staged in the elementary school P.E. gym. In addition, an art show will be on view in the elementary school cafeteria.

A chili supper sponsored by the Lion's Club will be held from 5-9 p.m.

Area conservationists mull new legislation

Area conservationists were in Lamesa on Tuesday, attending the South Plains Association of Soil and Water Conservation District directors meeting.

Burl Belew, Walter Stirl, and Leon Sterling, directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District and Erwin A. Pavlik, district conservationist for the Snyder Field Office, Soil Conservation Service attended from Borden and Scurry counties.

C. L. Gayle, a Yoakum County farmer and association president presided over the meeting. Reports on new legislation and other items affecting soil and water conservation district activities were given by Frank Gray, Lubbock, member of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board; W. Q. Richards, Paducah, Secretary, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts; and Carl Spencer, executive director, State soil and Water Conservation Board, Temple.

During the business session L. G. Thuett of Post, secretary of the Garza SWCD was elected president. Dean Elms of Littlefield, chairman of the Lamb County SWCD was elected vice-president. Sam Ellis of Southland, chairman of the Garza SWCD continues to serve the association as its secretary-treasurer.

Following the noon luncheon, the conservationists were taken on a very interesting tour of the Lamesa Cotton Classing Office. This office employs a new concept in cotton classing and is the only one of its kind in operation in Texas.

The summer meeting will be hosted by the Terry Soil and Water Conservation District at Brownfield, Aug. 25.

Court of Appeals makes right decision

That was a refreshing breeze that came by way of Montgomery, Ala., recently.

The federal courts, which have been acting of late as if they were trying to give society a guilt complex, finally struck a blow for decency.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled, in effect, that a federal parole board can be sued for negligence in turning a homicidal maniac loose on society.

The case heard in Montgomery involved a one-time federal prisoner named Thomas Whisenhant, who confessed to slaying three women in Mobile, Ala., in 1975 and 1976.

THE KILLINGS OCCURRED after Whisenhunt had been released, on an order of the U.S. Parole Board, from a sentence he was serving for a brutal assault on yet another woman 15 years ago.

While doing time on the previous charge, Whisenhunt was repeatedly diagnosed as a homicidal psychotic. That is a label for a very dangerous person, one that cannot be trusted to associate with ordinary human beings but the parole board, for reasons not quite clear, saw fit to reduce his sentence from 20 years to 10. In November, 1973, he walked out of prison a free man.

To repay the board for its kindness, Whisenhunt set about to kidnap, mutilate and murder three more victims before the law closed in again.

When the husband of one of the Mobile women initiated suit against the parole board, a federal district court turned down the plea on the grounds of 'sovereign immunity.'

The 5th Circuit Court came along, however, to rule that such a suit is proper under the Federal Tort Claims Act.

FOR A LONG time now, the administration of our law has been tilted to favor the offenders, rather than the victims. In case after case, convicted felons have been set free on the basis of wistful hopes that they have been rehabilitated. The incidence of violent crimes committed by hardened criminals went up accordingly.

The tendancy has been so pronounced that when the rate of crime was rapidly expanding in the 1960s the population in the jails was going down. In fact, the number of crimes in the decade ending in 1970 jumped 139 percent. The number of people incarcerated decreased from 220,000 to 196,000 during that time.

It didn't take a genius to figure out that repeat offenders were committing a lot of the outrages against society.

Parole boards have been notoriously willing to 'take a chance' on convicted hoodlums if there was the slightest hope that they had reformed.

As the case in Mobile suggests, this fixation on the mental health of felons is, in fact, a reckless gamble with the lives and the fortunes of those abiding by the law.

Holding parole boards accountable for the consequences of such negligence may make it harder to find people who will serve on such panels but it will make them think a long time before turning the criminals loose. Everyone who shudders at the thought of becoming a victim of crime some day should therefore hope this ruling is sustained.

Lunch was special

Around the rim

James Werrell

A boyhood breakfast: Fill a large bowl three-quarters of the way up with Wheaties; shovel on four heaping tablespoons of sugar; top to overflowing with milk.

As the boy eats this matrimony of milk, sucrose and pulverized toasted-wheat flakes, he stares at the picture of Bob Richards throwing a javelin on the cover of the cereal box. The Breakfast of Champions!

In the winter, the boy would get a steaming bowlful of a gluey, tan substance that resulted every time his mother mixed oats with boiling water. When his mother told him oatmeal would stick to his ribs, the boy believed her.

THE WORD NUTRITION, of course, had not entered the boy's vocabulary, and wouldn't until about the sixth grade when he learned about meat, vegetable and dairy groups, and a balanced diet with plenty of whole milk. For now, if it tasted good, he would eat it.

Even oatmeal could be made edible with plenty of sugar and milk, and maybe a hunk of butter.

There was the one weird family in the neighborhood whose children were not allowed to put sugar on their cereal. This same family, however, ate gobs of liver, and things like boiled fruit for dessert, destroying any credibility they might have had about what was good to eat.

Dinners at their home, if the boy was spending the night, were to be gotten through quickly so that he could get on with the business of staying up too late. Toast and jelly (jelly was allowed) would get him through breakfast the next morning.

If the boy had had a crystal ball, he would have realized that the sugarless breakfasts over at the weird family's house had been a sampling of what the future held in store. His intimate mornings with the spear-chunking Bob Richards were numbered.

Even now, his mother was beginning to resist his efforts to bring home the chocolate-flavored cereal one week, and the cereal shaped like animals the next. She was even beginning to comment on his immoderate use of sugar, or worse, making him drink the milk left in his bowl when the cereal was gone.

He should have seen the writing on the wall when he and the rest of his classmates were herded into an assembly to listen to the school nurse talk about the importance of three square meals a day. After flashing pictures of cows, broccoli and quarts of milk on the auditorium's viewing screen, the lecture began.

"BREAKFAST SHOULD INCLUDE a bowl of cereal ... eggs, bacon, toast, fruit juice and milk," she decreed. "Foods from each of the groups are essential for the (and here it came) nutrition of every growing girl and boy."

The boy realized immediately that a breakfast like that would take about four hours to eat; valuable time that would be better spent riding bikes, playing soldiers or having dirt-clod fights with his friends. Life would never be the same.

But the boy had been taught to try to look on the bright side of things.

Maybe breakfast would be interminable, and maybe supper would be ruined with liver, vegetables and fresh fruit, but they hadn't said a thing about peanut-butter sandwiches, potato chips and alphabet soup for lunch.

Reagan shock

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON— The economic program presented by President Reagan yesterday (Wednesday) is truly staggering in its scope. Only rash ideologues can seriously charge that Mr. Reagan failed to deliver on his promise of a "new beginning." If the Administration is right in claiming that the root of inflation is psychological, then the sheer impact of the President's program could set in motion a major advance toward solution of basic economic troubles.

The Congress, however, has a positive genius for slowing and diluting what Presidents propose. Even if the Reagan program goes through relatively unscathed, moreover, there is room for doubt as to whether it will have a significant effect in rapidly reducing the inflation that is central to the country's distress.

THE MAGNITUDE OF what Reagan suggests finds one measure in comparison with past administrations. He wants a tax cut a third again as big as the huge cut achieved by the combined efforts of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. He wants a decline in federal spending twice that accomplished by the Nixon Administration in its best days. He favors a spree of deregulation that makes the efforts of Jerry Ford and Jimmy Carter look like mere trifling. He calls for constraint in the money supply significantly greater than now applied by the Federal Reserve Board.

In all some $60 billion in resources would be transferred from the public to the private sector of the economy in the next few years. That is two percent of the gross national product of $3 trillion. It exceeds in wallop the interruption of oil supplies and the tripling in price that occurred back in 1973. It can fairly be called a Reagan shock.

The theory behind the shock is the theory of inflationary expectations. The premise is that the chief force behind ever-rising prices is the expectation by workers and businessmen, and consumers that prices will keep on rising. The Reagan program is designed to break that expectation. Start saving; funds will become available for investment; long-term interest rates will fall; and the economy will regenerate itself in a burst of new activity, new growth and higher productivity.

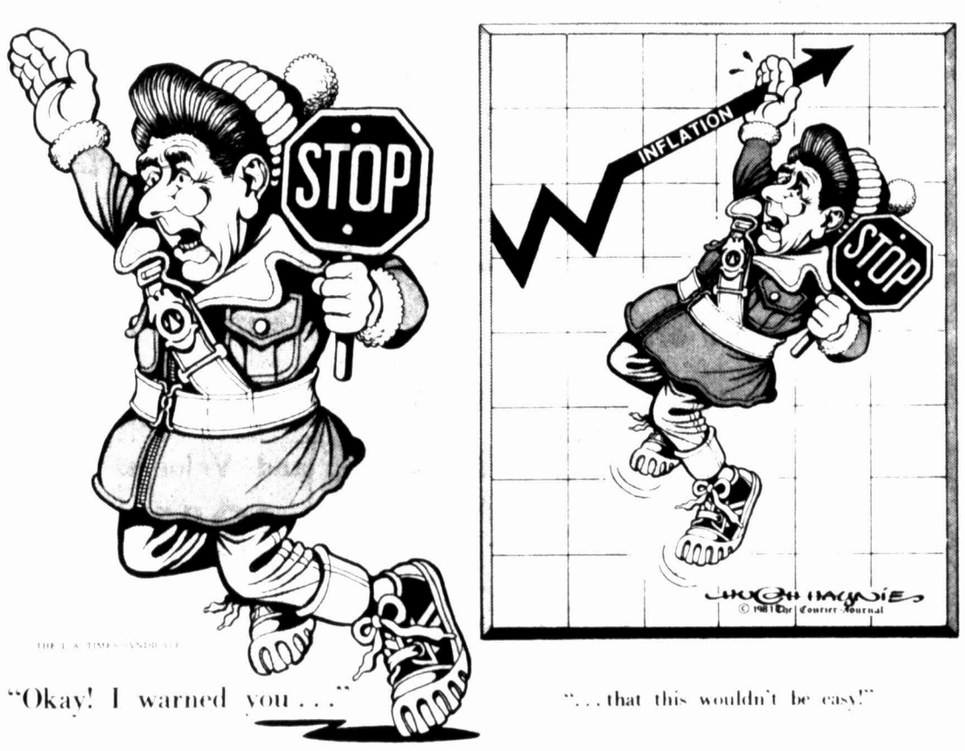

By its very nature, the theory requires crisp translation of recommendations into action. So an inevitable question is the disposition of the Congress.

The Congress, by its very nature as a collective body, has a deep, inner impulse to hang loose. Delay is one action for which no one gets faulted, and a wealth of procedure favors going slow. That bias is particularly pronounced in the committees, and nowhere more so than in the Finance Committee of the Senate.

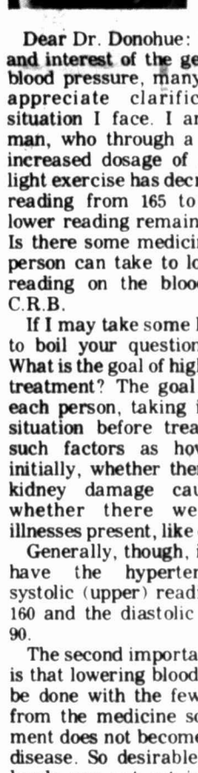

The Senate Finance Committee is thrust by the Reagan program into the middle of a traffic jam. It has to pass major tax legislation full of opportunities for doing special favors. It has to approve cuts in Social Security. And in food stamps. And in Medicaid.

THE CONGESTION INEVITABLY created by that huge volume of business entrenches diehard supporters of particular agencies and programs. These will inevitably draw support from the Democratic opposition. Thus it seems likely the Congress will make significant changes in the Reagan program.

The more so as the basic theory behind the administration approach does not command universal enthusiasm.

"Okay! I warned you..." "...that this wouldn't be easy!"

Blood pressure treatment often compromise

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: With the accent and interest of the general public on blood pressure, many readers might appreciate clarification of the situation I face. I am a 69-year-old man, who through a combination of increased dosage of medication and light exercise has decreased his upper reading from 165 to 130, while the lower reading remains at around 100. Is there some medicine or action the person can take to lower the second reading on the blood pressure? — C.R.B.

If I may take some liberties, I'd like to boil your question down to this: What is the goal of high blood pressure treatment? The goal is different for each person, taking into account his situation before treatment. I mean such factors as how high it was initially, whether there was heart or kidney damage caused by it or whether there were any other illnesses present, like diabetes.

Generally, though, it is desirable to have the hypertensive patient's systolic (upper) reading down to 150-160 and the diastolic (lower) around 90.

The second important point to make is that lowering blood pressure has to be done with the fewest side effects from the medicine so that the treatment does not become worse than the disease. So desirable blood pressure levels are not set in cement. Your systolic of 130 is perfect. You diastolic of 100 is a trifle high, but not seriously so. There is no medicine to lower only the diastolic pressure.

So this brings us to the third important point: how the patient himself helps the medicine have its maximum effect. Keeping the body weight normal, reducing salt intake and exercising with moderation help do this, as does avoiding smoking and the foods that can add to high cholesterol and artery problems.

Your doctor may feel that under your set of circumstances the blood pressure you now have is perfectly fine for you and that further lowering by medicine would not be beneficial. If he does feel that further lowering is safe, there are strong medicines to be given. The problem is that they may have more side effects.

With no obvious damage being done at your present diastolic level, the decision may be to forego the more powerful medicines for the time being. That's perfectly acceptable.

In the meantime, keep up the exercise, watch your salt intake and get your weight to ideal levels if it is not there — and stop smoking.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 44-year-old professional pianist. For about six weeks my hands have been hurting, mostly the palms and back of the fingers. The pain doesn't seem to be in the joints. At night my finger tips go numb and sometimes I can't open or close my fist. I have not seen a doctor because I don't want to spend a lot of money on tests and X-rays if there is nothing that can be done. Can you suggest anything? — Mrs. G.

Spend the money for an examination. Please, believe me, it will be money well spent. There are many illnesses that can produce your symptoms. Numbness and the inability to make a fist are complaints sufficiently important to prompt a search for cause. Nerve problems, circulation disturbance or muscle ailments are all possibilities, and only a few. Certainly your piano career should be worth the price of an examination. Yours is one of those situations where many causes can be ruled out during a simple firsthand examination.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 27-year-old woman who had an ectopic pregnancy three years ago. My right tube and ovary were surgically removed. Will I ever be able to have chilren again? — P.R.

Women who have had a tubal (ectopic) preganacy have a lesser chance of bearing children than women who have not. Your fertility now depends on the health of the remaining ovary and fallopian tube. Tests determine that.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My daughter-in-law has a new juicer and has taken to drinking lots of carrot juice. Could this cause a yellowing of her skin, which I have noticed, or is this my imagination? — B.SIW.

Yes it could. Excessive amounts of carrots will cause yellow skin from the pigment (carontene). The condition is carotenemia.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)." Write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a Christian, but sometimes I feel like I'm not a very good one. How can I be a better Christian?—S.T.

DEAR S. T.: Remember above all else that God wants you to be a better Christian. He loves you, and he sent his Son to die on the cross for you. In other words, your salvation was purchased at great cost, and God's will is for you to be a strong disciple of Jesus.

Let me answer your question by pointing to two things we need to know. First, we need to know what God's goal is for us, and second, we need to know how to get there.

What does God want to accomplish in your life? In other words, what — in God's eyes — does it mean to be a better Christian. God's will for you is to be more and more like Christ. Each day, he wants your life to be under his control and Lordship, so that you will be like him. We are "to be conformed to the likeness of his Son" (Romans 8:29). Is this your goal? Are you asking him each day to take away sin in your life and replace it with the character of Christ?

But God not only gives you the goal — he also has given you the means to get there. For example, he has given you the Bible, which is his Word. It is absolutely essential for your spiritual growth, and nothing can replace it. Set aside time each day to read a portion of the Bible, asking God to help you understand it and apply it to your life. Listen to others who teach the Bible faithfully. Memorize parts of it so that its truth becomes part of you. Read it — study it — obey it. "The law of the Lord is perfect, reviving the souls. The statutes of the Lord are trustworthy, making wise the simple. In keeping them there is great reward" (Psalm 19:7,11).

Also remember that you need the fellowship of other Christians. Get in a church where Christ is preached, and also where you can get to know other believers personally. Their example and experience can be of great benefit to you.

Connections

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The television hit "60 Minutes" fully deserves its reputation as a bold investigative show that specializes in the butchery of sacred cows. It has championed the abused against institutionalized greed and violence.

Yet one of the program's superstars, Mike Wallace, killed an expose of conditions in the poverty-stricken dictatorship of Haiti because he has in-laws living there. His wife, Lorraine, owns a home in the hills above Port-au-Prince. Her first cousin, Nancy Chenet, lives on the island with her Haitian husband and their three children. The family also owns a small Haitian arts and crafts store, called "Ambiance."

OVER HIS WIFE'S objections, Wallace did a tough, no-punches-pulled report on Haiti several years ago. But when he learned that his co-star, Morley Safer, was planning an update a few weeks ago, Wallace protested to his colleague and the story was dropped.

In a 1972 edition of "60 Minutes" Wallace treaded fearlessly on the toes of the late Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier, and his son Jean-Claude "Baby Doc" Duvalier, who became his successor. There were some "unlovely facts" that needed reporting, Wallace said. And he went on to report them. He used words like "savagery" and "bloody" to describe life under the Duvaliers.

Then, a few weeks ago, Safer prepared a prospectus for a new report on Haiti. He planned to go to Haiti himself to film the show. Wallace learned of his colleague's proposal and implored Safer not to do the show.

As Wallace remembers the incident, his wife had told him: "I beg you, don't do one on Haiti. Because of my family. You have the rest of the world. Lay off Haiti." He said his wife's relatives were subjected to "pressure" from the Haitian government after his 1972 show.

I can't ask you not to," Wallace said he told Safer, "but the family asked me not to." He said Safer replied, "No contest. Forget it." Wallace told my associate Les Whitten that the family problem was "the sole reason" for his appeal to Safer.

SAFER WOULD NOT comment, but it is understood he felt he had been "leaned on very hard" and had been "put in a difficult position" by Wallace. Safer also told friends that Wallace seemed concerned about his wife's family's business interests and his own liking for Haiti vacations, saying "I would never be able to go back" if the show were done.

There the matter stands. The proposed expose of Baby Doc's Haiti is in limbo. CBS network officials are keeping hands off, but would be willing to run such a report if "60 Minutes" schedules it. Safer is reportedly pondering whether to let the sleeping Doc story lie, or revive it despite Wallace's objections.

WORTHY TARGET: In his economic message last week, President Reagan specifically earmarked the Economic Development Administration for extinction. The agency, part of the Commerce Department, provides a good example of the cavalier way the taxpayers' money is treated by some federal bureaucrats.

Take the case of a proposed $3.1 million loan guarantee to Upsco, for Upper Peninsula Shipbuilding Co., plus another $1,165,000 outright grant to Ontonogan County, Mich., to build an industrial park that will house the Upsco shipyard. The EDA is all set to OK both the loan guarantee and the grant.

What EDA officials shrug off is that the FBI and a grand jury are looking into the award of a $33.5 million contract to the same Upsco by the State of Michigan. Sources told my reporter Allen Myerson the FBI is examining a contract that was awarded without public bids. The contract also contained provisions that restrict the state's audit oversight—and could leave the state holding the bag for possible millions in increased costs.

In addition to the FBI, officials in the Maritime Administration and the Coast Guard have raised objections.

And Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., learned that EDA had been less than diligent in determining whether the work could be done by existing shipyards in the area. If so, then the government-backed shipyard would simply be taking jobs away from the other firms.

DRESS RIGHT!: "Reagan Chic" was first evidenced at the new president's inauguration, when formal attire replaced the Carter inaugural's business-suited swearin-in. Now, apparently, the dress code has spread to the Pentagon. In a confidential memo to Navy personnel, the chief of naval operations, Admiral Thomas Hayward, suggested that full uniforms be worn as often as possible during the week. Previously, the swabbies were expected to dress up only one day a week. Though the memo was not an "order," some of the Navy's desk commanders fear it's only a matter of time before civvies are officially outlawed.

WATCH ON WASTE: A freeze on federal hiring doesn't always save the taxpayers money. The General Services Administration's inspector general discovered that understaffing at the agency's motor pool in Indianapolis had led to costly expedients. Because the motor pool lacked enough unskilled workers, its skilled mechanics—earning up to $20,000 a year—were put to work pumping gas and washing cars. And because the mechanics were so busy taking care of menial chores, the repair work they should have been doing was farmed out to private contractors.

'Old Time Medicine Show' tickets on sale

Only those people who have made a few laps in life will recall the old-time medicine shows. The young don't know what they missed.

For some small towns, the medicine show was about the only live entertainment they got a chance to see all year. A huckster who professed to be knowledgeable in medicine sold his elixer from the back of a trailer. At $1 a bottle, the magic water was supposed to cure everything from the gout to infected tonsils. To attract attention to the sales arena, the promoter would hire himself a banjo picker, a singer or a dancer who could execute a fast jig — maybe all three.

After the entertainment and the sales pitch, the entertainers would circulate through the crowd with bottles of the wonder medicine, spurred on by the stentorian sales pitches emanating from the stage. The liquid in the bottle might have been branch water colored with prickly pear buds but intrepeneur in his accustomed life style, with enough left over to pay the entertainers.

What has been described as the "last real medicine show," this one a well-organized road attraction put together by Tommy Scott, has been booked into the Municipal Auditorium here for a 7:30 p.m., appearance Monday, April 20, by the Big Spring Sports Booster Club. Tickets for the show will sell for $3 each. Proceeds above expenses will go to underwrite expenses for the annual all-sports banquet staged for local athletes by the booster club.

The Old Time Medicine Show was seen as a special on Walter Cronkite's CBS Evening News program, on Charles Kuralt's 'On The Road' series, also featured on CBS; and wound up as a one-hour special on the PBS network, a show that went nation-wide.

Featured among the acts on the show are Clyde Moody, a 20-year legend of the Grand Ole Opry; Scotty Lee and the Georgia Peanut Band, Hondunie The Magician, Gong The Gorilla, The Masked Rider and others.

Tickets for the event are on sale at the YMCA, Big Spring Athletics, the school business office and the United Way office.

RICHARD SCOTT

Elks elect new officers

Big Spring Elks Lodge 1386 elected new officers and initiated seven new members at their meeting Tuesday night.

Richard Scott was elected exalted ruler. Bill Bodin was named leading knight, Gary Kistler, loyal knight; and Mike Davidson, lecturing knight.

Others chosen were Oliver Cofer, secretary; John Fort, treasurer; Q.T. Coats Sr., tiler; and Odys Woodall, 5-year trustee and alternative representative to Grand Lodge.

New members welcomed were Mike Eifert, Don Nimmick, Bill Spinks, George Boyer, Peter Pegan, Bob Keys and Lyndon Priest.

The lodge will host a mortgage-burning ceremony here April 25. Representatives of the lodges from El Paso, Pecos, Odessa and Midland will attend along with several Grand Lodge officers.

NEW PRESIDENT — A.F. (Squirrel) Williams, general manager of Gandy's Dairies in San Angelo, has been elected president of the Dairy Products Institute of Texas at the annual convention held recently in Houston. The institute is composed of virtually all of the state's dairy processors and manufacturers. He succeeds Howard Kruse of Brenham.

Actor to be named

DALLAS (AP) — Actor John Gavin will be appointed as U.S. ambassador to Mexico by President Reagan, according to a report in a Dallas newspaper.

The move, if carried out, would mean the president is rejecting the idea of appointing a career diplomat for the assignment in Mexico City.

Gavin is a personal friend of the president and served as an adviser to the Organization of American States in Washington from 1961 to 1965. The 48-year-old actor has had a longtime interest in Latin American affairs.

The Dallas Times Herald says Gavin's expected nomination could add "an unpredictable element to already delicate relations between the United States and its southern neighbor."

Madam given five years probation

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Theresa Brown, the convicted brothel madam who kept a list of 3,000 customers beneath her bed, has been sentenced to five years probation and her attorney promises an appeal will be filed.

District Judge James Barlow pronounced sentence Thursday after Ms. Brown's attorney, Pat Maloney Sr., called 12 character witnesses — including a Catholic priest and several people who live near the alleged brothel — who described the 46-year-old woman as an ideal mother and good citizen.

Ms. Brown showed no emotion when the sentence was announced.

In granting probation, Barlow noted that Ms. Brown had been arrested only three times and that one case was dismissed, she was found innocent in another and had only one assault conviction on her record.

Maloney said he would appeal the conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, claiming his client had not operated the brothel for three years prior to her arrest on Oct. 2, 1980.

"She's not guilty on the date and time in question. For three years, she didn't do that kind of thing."

Sinatra's Reagan reference was arranged months before election

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his confirmation proceedings, Attorney General William French Smith told a senator he could not say how he would advise President Reagan about being a reference for Frank Sinatra's application for a gaming license. Now it has been disclosed that Smith handled the matter months before Reagan was elected.

Smith did not tell the senator that.

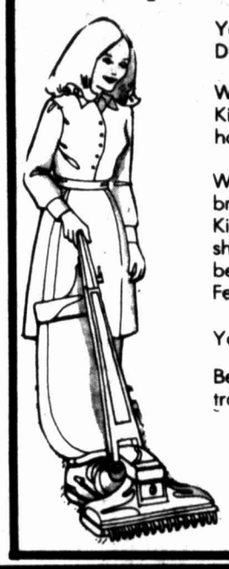

Smith's spokesman, Tom DeCair, disclosed Thursday evening that Smith — Reagan's personal attorney at the time — telephoned the Nevada Gaming Commission last summer to say the Republican presidential candidate could not be a reference for Sinatra because their relationship was purely social.

"Mr. Smith advised the commission that Governor Reagan could not act in that capacity because he had had no business relationships with Sinatra; that the relationship was entirely social and a pleasant one; and that Governor Reagan was aware of the fact that Sinatra had been generous in charitable activities," DeCair said.

The entertainer had listed Reagan as a reference on his application for a Nevada state gaming license so he could participate in the management of a Las Vegas hotel and gambling casino. DeCair said the commission had written to Reagan, who asked Smith to deliver his response.

Prior to Smith's confirmation hearing last month — before disclosure of Smith's call to the commission — New York Times columnist William Safire questioned how Smith would advise Reagan to respond to the reference request.

FLAG CEREMONY — Legionnaires stand at attention as the United States Flag is raised in front of the View Manor Nursing Home in Stanton Feb. 8.

Stanton nursing home presented U.S. flag

Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented an American flag to View Manor Nursing Home in Stanton, Feb. 8. Mrs. C. G. Barnett, chapter regant, presented the flag to Mrs. Johnny Britton, administrator of the home.

Mrs. Stanley Reid, a Stanton DAR member, was chairman of the program which opened with an invocation by Rick Laing, minister of the Church of Christ.

Mrs. Reid stated that the presentation of at least one United States flag to an organization or institution a year is just one of many things that DAR groups do to promote patriotism.

W.S. Decker Sr., Stanton, furnished the pole. The Stanton Jaycees erected and set the pole. The American Legion Post was in charge of the program for the raising of the flag. Les Brown, Stanton View Manor, a World War I veteran, is in charge of raising and lowering the flag each day. Another veteran living in the home is Alphonso Balsach.

Following the benediction by Brother Laing, cub scouts from Grady, Coby McMorries and Timmy Stone, escorted Mrs. Britton and Mrs. Barnett to the waiting American Legionnaires standing at attention nearby.

The ladies presented the flag to Jimmy Mathis of the guard. Melton McCorries, Stoeger-Estes American Legion Post Commander, directed the posting of the colors. The flag was raised, the pledge of allegiance recited and a volley of shots was fired by the guard to salute the flag. The color guard retreated and dismissed.

Refreshments were served following the posting of the flag. Those attending from Big Spring were; Mrs. Mattie Wren, Mrs. John Damron, Miss Helen Ewing and Mrs. C.G. Barnett.

The chapter met recently in the home of Mrs. Curtis Driver to celebrate the birthday of George Washington.

Mrs. John Damron gave a program entitled, "Memories are made of Bravery". She said, "From the time George Washington was a twenty one year old, inexperienced military major until he was the fifty-one-year-old commander-in-chief of a National Army, Washington was under fire many times and displayed exceptional bravery each and every time." This made him a hero in the eyes of his men and the population in general, but it was his seeming invulnerability that made him a legend in his time.

In his thirty years of intermittant military duty, Washington was not as much as scratched by a bullet or a sword. This certainly made him more suited to mythology than to factual history.

Having been notified that her papers had been accepted by the National organization, Beth Kay was welcomed as a new member.

Out of town members and visitors were Mrs. Bessye Cowden Ward, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Denham, Midland; Mrs. Stanley Reid, Stanton; Mrs. Vivian Crutcher and Mrs. Ann Overhusler, Snyder.

Hostesses were Mrs. Curtis Driver, Mrs. Jack Alexander and Mrs. John Key.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. March 2 at the Canterbury House, with Mrs. Bob Wren and Mrs. Bill Early, hostesses.

Offering to be given to educational group

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 met Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in regular session. Lillian Rhyne, Noble Grand, presided over the 14 members present, 11 of whom were past Noble Grands.

Twenty-one visits to the sick were reported by members.

February has been proclaimed Educational Month, so the lodge voted to donate the love offering taken during each meeting in March to the Educational Foundation.

Marion Savelle and an installing team went to Stanton Monday evening to install new officers along with about 15 members. A pot luck supper followed the installation ceremony.

Past Noble Grands will meet March 2 in the home of Mrs. Rhyne at 7 p.m. for a pot luck supper.

'The Salt Syndrome' discussed during meeting

Mrs. Clayton Bettle hosted the 1948 Hyperion Club Feb. 19 in her home with Mrs. Roy Lamb assisting. Eighteen members were present for the program, presented by Mrs. Jack Alexander, Let Us Learn — For Our Protection.

Mrs. Alexander was able to show, by using the film entitled "The SALT Syndrome," produced by the American Security Council Foundation, United States-Soviet military trends and to assess how SALT II will affect America's future.

The purpose of the documentary is to reach as many Americans as possible with facts concerning how the U.S. has been unilaterally disarming, and how SALT II would lock the U.S. into its present position of military inferiority relative to that of the Soviet Union.

In a brief business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Merle Stewart, president, plans were made for clubs participation in the Texas and Pacific Railroad Centennial observance in May.

The next meeting will be held March 19 with Mrs. Ross Boykin and Mrs. Don Williams serving as hostesses.

Rook Club meets in Smith Home

The Rook Club met Feb. 20 in the home of Mrs. Woody Smith, 2504 Rebecca. A guest, Mrs. Layla Evans, joined the club members for the games. Mrs. T.G. Adams won high score.

Plans were made for the club to be represented at the March 2 meeting of the Big Spring Centennial in the Garrett Hall of First Methodist Church.

The March 20 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. T.G. Adams, 507 Johnson.

Sew, chatter club tours greenhouse

The Sew and Chatter Club met Feb. 11 in the home of Mrs. Allie Moore with 11 members present.

Birthdays of Mrs. Moore and Charlsie Robinson were celebrated. Members completed a quilt which was sold and funds added to the charity fund. Members also toured the African violet greenhouse.

The club also met Feb. 25 in the home of Norma Murdock with 11 members present. An invitation was read inviting members to the Railroad Centenial Celebration meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. March 21 at Garrett Hall of First United Methodist Church. Illnesses were discussed and sympathy cards sent. Next meeting will be March 11 in home of Della Nobles.

Dear Abby

Monikers Come Back To Haunt Her

DEAR ABBY: I can't remember names! When introducing friends, I panic and draw a total blank, and just want to crawl into a hole.

Could this be inherited? For years, whenever my closest friend visited me, my father would come to my room and say, "That girl is here." (He couldn't remember her name.)

Don't suggest the technique of association. My neighbor, Mrs. Glassey, whose name I associated with "glass-eye," I once called "Mrs. False Teeth."

I've even tried making up little rhymes to help me remember, like: "Maggie, Maggie, her pants are baggy." Or, "Mary, Mary, her lip is hairy."

Help! It's embarrassing!

GRACE IN FLORIDA

DEAR GRACE: Try this: When you are introduced to someone, if you didn't hear the name, ask immediately. Then address the new acquaintance by name immediately after you've met. And keep using his name every time you speak to him. When you depart, use it again.

When you see him again, if you have forgotten the name, don't agonize over it, simply say, "I'm sorry, what is your name?"

This failing is not hereditary, it's universal. And the reason one "forgets" a name is usually because he didn't hear it in the first place.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married for three years to a man who was married before. That marriage lasted for 14 years. The problem concerns his mother, who insists on calling me by his first wife's name. Afterward, she is embarrassed and apologizes. I can understand how this could happen early in our marriage, but, Abby, we've been married for three years, and she's still doing it!

This gives me the feeling that she doesn't really recognize me as her son's wife, or perhaps she wishes he was still married to his first wife. I was told she was very close to Wife No. 1, but hasn't seen her since the divorce.

I'm sure other second wives have had this problem, too. What's a good solution?

NO. 2 AND HANGING IN THERE

DEAR NO. 2: Accept it as a 14-year habit that is hard to break, and try not to read anything negative or unkind into it.

Care of poor has improved

There's no place like home — at least that was the opinion of 17th century British and Colonial American public welfare policy. In those times Settlement Laws required that a poor person be sent back to his home town or parish if they were to receive public assistance for clothing food or housing. Such laws were on the books in the United States until the 1970's.

In 19th century America, the poor were sometimes auctioned off to the lowest bidder who would care for them and have them work on his farm. The township or county would pay the lowest bidder. Orphans were sent to institutions or apprenticed to tradesmen. In New York, thousands of abandoned children were sent by train to be adopted into Midwestern farm families.

1905 Hyperion Club discusses new issues

The 1905 Hyperion Club met Feb. 19, in the home of Mrs. S.M. Anderson (Mildred). The hostesses for the meeting were Lillian Dawson and Elizabeth Pickle. The president, Mrs. D.O. Gray, led the club in the salute to the American Flag.

Mrs. J.R. Anderson, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Ben Johnson who presented a dissertation and report on current events concerning new issues between the United States and her neighbors—Canada and Mexico.

Mrs. Johnson stressed the importance of each citizen being aware of the new oil, communications, wholesale food industry, and land and property development issues that will be facing the United states government in the upcoming years.

Canada has set a goal of being self-sufficient in its energy program by 1990, and new laws are being passed concerning United States oil refineries and production which will result in drastic effects upon United States oil consumption. Mexico, the fifth nation in oil production, is also revising its procedures and regulations. Mrs. Johnson ended her program by displaying and summarizing several articles about these recent events in the Wall Street Journal, Dallas Morning News, and various magazines.

Upon the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Mary Joy Cowper, representing the Historical Commission of Howard County, presented a report concerning the History of Howard County which is to be published in a beautiful bound book. This book will also contain a section on family histories, churches, businesses, and a section on clubs in Howard County. A motion was made and seconded for Mrs. Clyde Angel and Mrs. O.T. Brewster to compile a current history of 1905 Hyperion for this book and for the club to purchase one page for the history and other items.

Plans were discussed for the Western District Spring Convention which will meet March 20-21, at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, with the 1905 Hyperion Club, the Women's Forum, Coahoma Study Club, and Forsan Study Club as hostesses. The meeting was adjourned upon the finalization of the business discussion for the coming events.

Sniper saw love letters in license plates

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A sniper who opened fire on Lubbock motorists apparently picked his targets because of messages from a lost love he saw in the license plates of his victims' cars, police said.

A woman and her son were wounded in one of the four separate sniping incidents and an unemployed Vietnam veteran has been charged with four counts of attempted murder.

Teddy Glyn Floyd, 36, was arrested in a restaurant parking lot after a district attorney's investigator spotted a pickup police said they believed had been used in the sniper attacks.

He was arraigned on the attempted murder charges, a charge of aggravated assault and a count of carrying a concealed weapon.

Peace Justice L.J. Blalack set bond at $100,000 on each attempted murder charge, $25,000 on the aggravated assault charge and $5,000 on the concealed weapon charge.

Police said Thursday they believe the sniper attacks, which occurred over a two-week period, may have been triggered by Floyd's rejection of a woman he met at Tarrant County Junior College four years ago.

And investigators speculated that the targets may have been chosen because of the messages Floyd perceived in the license plates.

"I saw a face staring at me and the license plate was unbearable," one investigator quoted Floyd as saying.

Floyd, with a history of mental problems, told officers he began to suspect in the fall of 1976 that he was being followed — often for months at a time, police said.

Police speculated it was that fear that prompted Floyd to purchase a .223 caliber rifle earlier this month in Lubbock.

Police spokesman Bill Morgan said arresting officers found a .223 "mini-14" rifle and a .22-caliber pistol in Floyd's pickup.

Morgan said tests had shown that bullets fired from the rifle were used in at least one of the shooting incidents.

The sniping incidents began Feb. 12 when 4-year-old Cory Menton and his mother, Vanessa, were injured by a bullet that struck their car as they were traveling through Lubbock.

Morgan said Mrs. Menton was struck in the back of the neck and the boy was hit in the head.

Both have been discharged from the hospital, but Morgan said doctors believe the boy could lose the sight in one eye.

Two other cars were shot at and struck Tuesday and Wednesday, but the drivers escaped injury, Morgan said.

Police said one of the drivers was a 23-year-old woman who may have reminded the alleged gunman of the woman who rejected him.

Another suspected sniping incident took place Wednesday afternoon, but neither the driver nor the car was hit.

One witness reported seeing a second person riding in the sniper's pickup. But police said Thursday they believe only one person was involved.

Local pharmacist gains IFA achievement award

Clint Holloman, owner-operator of The Medicine Shoppe pharmacy at 1001 Gregg, in Big Spring, has been chosen by the board of directors of the International Franchise Association for the IFA Distinguished Achievement Award.

The award is presented to individuals whose business achievements have helped strengthen and preserve the free enterprise system while enhancing franchising's role in that system.

A native of Martin, Tenn., Hollman opened his Medicine Shoppe in April, 1979. He is a 1958 graduate of the University of Oklahoma - Norman, and is currently a member of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

An active individual when it comes to community affairs, Hollman serves as president of the "Blood Advisory Committee"- Big Spring Chapter, is a member of the board of directors for the local chapter of the American Heart Assocation, and is a member of the Lion's Club. He and his wife, Mary, have a six-year old daughter, Muffy Ann.

The award, given jointly by the IFA and Medicine Shoppe International, was presented by Jerry Sheldon, president of Medicine Shoppe International during a recent regional convention held in New Orleans, La.

In presenting these awards President Sheldon said, "These individuals have demonstrated that through franchising, a small businessman can successfully compete and prosper in a free economy."

The International Franchise Association represents over 400 leading franchising companies in the United States and around the world.

Front-runner Lewis cites sour grapes in House speaker race

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Conservative Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, says sour grapes explain the criticism he has received for the blitz that put him ahead in the 1983 House speaker's race.

His critics wish they were in his front-runner's shoes, Lewis said Thursday.

The scramble started Monday when Speaker Bill Clayton announced he would retire from the Legislature after this term. Until then, he had spoken of seeking a fifth term as speaker in 1983.

More than half a dozen representatives are in the race, thinking about it or being touted by colleagues.

Lewis, chairman of the House Intergovernmental Affairs Committee, said Thursday he has pledges of support from over 80 House members in the speaker's race and added, "To me, it is over."

The 150 House members, by majority vote, elect the speaker, whose immense power derives from his ability to steer legislation to passage or certain defeat.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, was nailing down pledges when Clayton made his announcement. He said his blitz for support is about finished.

"I have two or three more members I want to talk to. Then it will be over until after the (1982) primaries," Lewis said.

Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, chairman of the powerful House State Affairs Committee, is gathering pledges.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, speaker pro tem and also a committee chairman, is running but doesn't believe in asking House members to sign pledge cards.

Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, who ran against Clayton but dropped out just before this year's vote for speaker was taken, says he is considering a race.

So is Rep. Lynn Nabers, D-Brownwood, chairman of the House Criminal jurisprudence Committee.

Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, said he might run if Bryant doesn't.

Others who have been mentioned include Reps. Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels, chairman of the Environmental Affairs Committee, and Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, Redistricting Committee chairman.

"I am not a candidate," Bock said Thursday.

"I don't have any current plans to become an active candidate," Von Dohlen said.

He said that with his key role in drawing new districts for election of state representatives, it would "be a disservice to the members to get involved actively."

Washington said a race to gather pledges during the session would be "the worst thing in the world."

"I just think it's the worst damn thing and the worst damn time in the world, with redistricting and all the other bills, to get into a speaker's race on the floor. In 1973 (when candidates were jockeying for the 1975 speakership), the House became an armed camp," he said.

Nabers said the speaker's race would "disrupt the legislative process from now until the end of the session."

Bock said the race would "overshadow everything we do."

"People are going to be asking on every bill, 'Is he (the sponsor) on Lewis' team or Uher's team? Is he a good guy or a bad guy?' And that's not what we should be doing," he said.

Lewis responded, "I'd probably be criticizing too if I didn't have a pledge and wanted to run for speaker and somebody else was out ahead."

He said his efforts were designed to get the speaker's race "out of the way" early so it would not be an issue for the rest of the session.

Clayton said it was just "the natural thing" to campaign for speaker while the Legislature was in session because it is "easy to get ahold of" the members.

But for impact on the work of the House, he said, "It ain't going to mean anything."

Uher said nobody is going to have the race won by the end of the session because redistricting, defeats and political decisions to leave the House would cause a turnover of 40 to 60 members.

"If he (Lewis) were to lay out 80 votes today, those 80 votes would not be there in 1983 because he is counting on people who are not coming back," Uher said.

Clayton said he estimates the turnover in the House will be 50 members.

Lewis said he expects to have so many pledges that he could afford to lose 15 or 20 supporters to redistricting or defeat.

Clements will sign wiretap, waste bills

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he is pleased with progress made by two of his key measures in the Legislature, although one of them has been shunted to a subcommittee.

Clements told a news conference Thursday he would sign a bill on licensing of low-level nuclear waste sites if it can pass the House in substantially the same form approved by the Senate.

"This is just about what Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Bill Clayton and I have talked about," Clements said

The Senate bill was approved 30-0 Wednesday and sent to the House. It would let the Department of Health purchase land for radioactive waste sites, then lease them to private concerns for operation under strict state control. There would be a state fund for perpetual care of the sites.

Clements also said he was not discouraged by a House committee sending his measure for legalization of wiretaps in drug cases to a subcommittee after a public hearing.

"I still think we will get the bill passed in its present form. It needs that kind of scrutiny," he said.

Clements also said he supported the Parks and Wildlife Department in its backing of a controversial bill that would ban the commercial taking and sale of redfish and speckled trout from coastal waters.

"I will sign that bill if it passes," he said.

Clements said he would not sign a series of bills introduced by Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, calling for elections to fill new judgeships created by this Legislature. "I told him two years ago I would veto these," he said. "It has been traditional that the governor appoints judges to new courts, and I'm not going to accept it otherwise."

On other subjects, Clements said:

— He was disappointed the Republican candidate, Ricardo Hinojosa of McAllen, did not win over Democrat Hector Uribe of Brownsville in a special election for the Senate but he was sure Uribe would serve the Valley well. "You win some and you lose some," he said.

— He had asked state officials to review Texas' program on alternative enegy sources and make recommendations in view of decreased federal support of the synthetic fuels program. "I am wholeheartedly in favor of a synfuel program and we need the support of the federal government," he said.

— He would fight "forever" a court request last week from state prison inmates for single cell accommodations by 1983. "That is an unreasonable demand," he said.

A course in House Plants will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Martha Fierro, director. Classes will meet from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Tuesday, March 10, through March 31.

Instructor for the course will be Terri Johansen. Cost of the course is $12.

Interested persons must pre-register in the Continuing Education Office located in the Horace Garrett Building. For further information, call the Adult and Continuing Education Department at 267-6311, ext. 70.

Two Lubbock A.J. employees are wounded

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Two employees of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal were wounded when a sniper opened fire on a home where a party was being held in this West Texas city late Thursday, police said.

Wounded were Bryce Cockerham Jr., 23, and Shannon Kennedy, 19, both employees of the newspaper's advertising department. Cockerham was shot twice in the back and Miss Kennedy was shot in the throat.

Cockerham was listed in serious condition at a Lubbock hospital early today and no condition report was immediately available on Miss Kennedy.

FORGIVENESS

An esteemed English clergyman told J. Wallace Hamilton, "The turning point came in my life when I was 17 years old. I always had trouble with my brothers and sisters. I was called the black sheep in the family. We were always fighting each other.

"One night they were all picking on me until I could stand it no longer. I jumped up and cried, 'I'm getting out of here!' I ran up the stairs and there suddenly in the darkened hallway I ran into my grandmother. She had been listening to it all. She stood there in the hallway and stopped me by putting her hand on my shoulder. With tears in her eyes she said only a few words to me, but they changed my life. She said, 'John, I believe in you.'"

And right now, can't you see Jesus? He comes down from the cross and stops you in the middle of your tracks by putting His nail-scarred hand on your shoulder. He says to you, "I've heard everything, and I want you to know, I believe in you!"

What a great moment that is! And when, you've experienced His acceptance and forgiveness, you'll become a forgiving person yourself!

"...we see God's abounding grace forgiving us."

Corker, Akins lead gundown of T-Birds

Hawks claim 2nd place with comeback triumph

HOBBS, N.M. — The Howard College Hawks, led by Randy Corker and Ron Akins, rallied from a 10-point deficit in the final eight minutes to escape with an 85-83 win over the NMJC Thunderbirds here Thursday night in the final regular season game for both teams.

The Howard win allows Coach Harold Wilder's crew to claim a tie in the final Western Conference standings for second place with Frank Phillips, but more importantly, gives the Hawks the number two seed from the WJC in next week's Region V Tournament. This is because the HC men defeated Frank Phillips in both of their meetings, and subsequently had a higher power rating.

NMJC led for most of the game, taking a 43-30 halftime lead and gradually increasing it to 72-62 with just over eight minutes to play.

But Corker, Akins and the rest of the Hawks refused to quit.

Their rally finally brought a three-point lead at 82-79 with just under a minute to play on a bucket by Kenneth Jones, but NMJC's Ricky Black quickly countered with a basket to narrow the Hawk edge to 82-81.

The Hawks then went into a four-corner offense, and stalled the ball effectively until 10 seconds remaining, when Crushon Loving was fouled.

Loving missed the front end of the one-and-one, but Akins rebounded and scored for a three-point lead.

It looked to be the clincher, but Loving fouled on the inbounds play, and Black came down with seven seconds left and canned a pair of free throws to reduce the lead to 84-83.

Corker was fouled on the in-bounds pass with three seconds left, and he sank the first shot before missing the second.

NMJC rebounded and quickly passed the ball upcourt, but a tying shot missed at the buzzer.

Corker ended his excellent freshman campaign in which he led the Western Conference in scoring by canning 34 points. Akins, in his final regular season game as a Hawk, added 25 points.

NMJC's Jeff Roberson, one of the outstanding players in the league, countered Corker and Akins with 26 points of his own. Mike Smith chipped in with 15 for NMJC.

Howard will now face either McLennan or Ranger in an afternoon game in the first round of the Region V Tournament next Thursday in Brownwood. Wilder was calling Northern Conference headquarters today to find out which foe his team will face on their first step to what they hope will be a trip to the national tournament.

NMJC, meanwhile, finished conference action with a record of 8-10, and a season mark of 15-14. They will go to the qualifying round of the Region V Tourney as the WJC's fifth place team, and will play the fourth place team from the Northern Conference.

HOWARD (85) — Faubion 2-0-4; Akins 12-1-25; Loving 4-5-13; Corker 13-8-34; Jones 3-1-7; Johnson 0-2-2; Word 0-0-0; TOALS 34-17-85.
NMJC (83) — Black 4-4-12; Smith 7-1-15; Welch 3-0-6; Roberson 11-4-26; Green 2-2-6; Prescott 2-0-4; Patrick 6-0-12; Lindley 1-0-2; TOTALS 36-11-83.

Steers end season

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Steers, a team hard to figure out this year, end their season tonight when they visit the hot San Angelo Bobcats in the District 5-AAAAA finale for both schools.

The Steers have been a team that can play extremely well or go the opposite way. The past week is a good example.

Last Friday night, the Steers knocked the Abilene Cooper Cougars out of the district race with an exciting 57-56 triumph. But on Tuesday, the Bovines came back and played sub-par in dropping a 79-54 decision to a hapless Odessa High team.

San Angelo, meanwhile, has been nothing short of good in this half. The Bobcats are 5-1 in the second half and 22-8 on the year.

Their only loss in the second half was to district champion Midland High.

The two teams staged an exciting game in their first half finale, with the Bobcats using an excellent late performance by reserve Tal Jackson to emerge with a three-point overtime win.

In that contest, the Steers rallied from a 14-point deficit early in the fourth quarter to nearly win the game in both regulation and overtime.

Tonight's game will mark the end of high school careers for many players on both sides. Big Springers in their final high school basketball contest include James Doss, Dickie Wrightsil, Bobby Brasel, Ross Stone and Fletcher Johnson.

Amarillo fems claim WJC in slim win over Queens

AMARILLO — The Amarillo College Lady Badgers rallied from a slim deficit in the final minutes, then held on as Howard College missed a winning field goal attempt at the buzzer to take an exciting 59-58 win here Thursday night and claim the championship in the Western Conference.

A Howard win would have thrown the Western Conference race into a final three way tie between themselves, Amarillo and Western Texas.

But Amarillo's win allowed the Lady Badgers to finish with a mark of 10-2 in conference and a season record of 26-6.

Howard, which won the WJC title last year, ended their conference campaign with an 8-4 mark, and dropped to 26-7 on the year.

Both teams are not through for the year, however, as the Region V Tournamemt in Brownwood awaits. The winner of that affair advances on to the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas.

The one-point difference produced a wide difference in seedings in the Region V Tournament, however. Amarillo will take the number one seed in the WJC and meet the winner of Sunday's qualifying game between the WJC's number five team, Clarendon, versus the number four team from the NJC, Cooke.

Howard, meanwhile, must play on Sunday in the qualifying round as the number four seed from the WJC. They will face Ranger, the NJC's number five team, at four o'clock on Sunday.

If Howard gets past Ranger, they will meet the NJC's number one team, Weatherford.

That doesn't bother Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens. "The way it ended up isn't really that bad. Sure, we would have rather gotten a share of the conference championship, but this way I feel we get in what is probably the weaker bracket, and won't have to play Amarillo until the championship, if we both get that far," he said.

In last night's battle that decided the WJC championship, the Hawk Queens led most of the way, but never by comfortable margins.

The HC women held a slim 32-29 halftime lead, and everything was going well in that nobody was in foul trouble.

But in the first two minutes of the second half, Howard's All-American candidate, Kelly Lyons, received her third and fourth fouls, and Coach Stevens was forced to put her on the bench.

The Howard College women led at this point, and were able to maintain a slim lead with Lyons out despite the sudden hotness of Amarillo's All-American, Olivia Jones.

But with eight minutes left and Amarillo seeming to gain the momentum despite still trailing by one, Lyons re-entered the game.

It didn't take her long to foul out, however, as she was whistled for her fifth personal with 6:01 to play.

Nevertheless, the Hawk Queens hung tough before the partisan Amarillo crowd.

The game remained one point both ways until the final minute. Holding a 58-57 lead, the Hawk Queens turned it over, with Amarillo converting their scoring opportunity to take 59-58 advantage.

But Howard wasn't through. With the ball and 11 seconds to play, Stevens set up a play designed to win the game. But it didn't work, as Jili Floyd was forced to put up a hurried shot from long range which failed to connect, and Amarillo won the WJC championship and the game.

Stevens was not happy with the execution on the final HC scoring attempt. "We didn't execute the play like we were supposed to. Floyd had to shoot in a hurry and not from where we wanted to," he noted.

Both teams shot poorly from the field, with Howard hitting 36 percent and Amarillo 33 percent. But, as Stevens noted, much of that was due to the intense defense played in the important contest.

Amarillo actually took the one point win at the charity stripes and on the boards.

Amarillo canned all nine of their free throw attempts, while the Hawk Queens could hit on only four of eight tries.

Meanwhile, the Lady Badgers also outrebounded the Hawk Queens by 50-38. That's part of the game the HC women usually win, but without Lyons, the task was very difficult.

Melissa Luna led the Hawk Queens in the contest with 14 points, with Carrie Lee Lutrick adding 12. Lyons had a sub-par 10 points, along with freshman Kelli Mull.

Jones led all scorers in the contest with 23 points. Mitzi Marquardt added 10 for Amarillo.

HOWARD (58)—Floyd 2-0-4; Wasserman 2-0-4; Lutrick 6-0-12; Lyons 4-2-10; Luna 6-2-14; Robinson 2-0-4; Mull 5-0-10; TOTALS 27-4-58
AMARILLO (59)—Marquardt 4-2-10; Robinson 1-0-2; Wiley 4-0-8; Richardson 3-2-8; Jones 9-5-23; Dale 3-0-6; Kaserok 1-0-2; TOTALS 25-9-59

Opening round games tonight in Lubbock Coliseum

Coahoma, Forsan girls set for regionals

LUBBOCK — Two girls high school basketball teams from Howard County will be shooting for the Region I title when action begins this afternoon in the first of two days of action.

Both Forsan and Coahoma, although in different classification, are the Howard County representatives going for the regional title and a berth in the state tournament next weekend.

The Forsan girls, no stranger to the regional tournament, will square off with Sanford-Fritch in the opener today at 4:30 p.m. in the AA part of the tournament.

Forsan, which defeated McCamey 45-42 in bi-district, brings a season mark of 25-3 into the contest against Sanford-Fritch. Sanford-Fritch has an impressive mark of 28-1, including a 58-49 win over Clarendon in bi-district.

The winner of the Sanford-Fritch vs. Forsan game will meet the survivor of the New Deal-Winters battle at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow morning.

Winters brings a mark of 28-3 into the tournament, while New Deal has a season mark of 28-5.

The Coahoma girls will be gunning for the Class AAA regional title when they meet first round opponent Dimmitt at 7:30 p.m.

Coahoma ran their season mark to 26-3 with an easy 53-31 romp over Alpine in bi-district action, but Dimmitt had a tougher time advancing to the regional tournament.

Dimmitt, with a record of 21-9, defeated Spearman 39-37 in bi-district.

Should the Coahoma team win, they would face the winner of the Abernathy-Comanche game at noon tomorrow, with the winner advancing to the state tournament in Austin next weekend.

Abernathy appears to be the favorite in the tournament, as they knocked off defending state champion Slaton in bi-district by 41-40. Abernathy has a season record of 32-2.

Comanche, sports a season mark of 22-6.

3-way race develops in BSHS golf tourney

A three-team race for the championship in the Big Spring High School Girls Invitational developed after the first round of play on the Comanche Trail Course yesterday, with the final round slated for today.

Midland High took the lead with a round of 344, but has only a two-stroke lead over El Paso Coronado and a three-stroke advantage over Amarillo Tascosa.

Midland High's effort was paced by three golfers who placed in the top seven in the medalist competition. Ann Combs fired an 81, with teammates Kelli Mobley and Janice Littlefield shooting rounds of 82 and 83, respectively.

Karen Downing of Lubbock Monterey and Jill Prince of Amarillo Tascosa are sharing the medalist honors with rounds of 79.

The Big Spring Steer girls are in ninth place in the 23-team tournament after the first day, with a youthful mistake possibly costing them a chance to finish higher.

Freshman Patricia Jones scored a total of 141, which is misleading. Her actual shot total was not nearly that high, but she put her nine hole total on the ninth hole spot on her card, and had to take that. That forced Miss Jones to finish the day's round with such a high total.

If her total could have been lower than any of the other BSHS golfers, it would have helped the Steer girls score, which finished at 406 for the day.

Heading the BSHS golf team was Laura Mexia, who carded a 96. Lisa Bumgarner was just behind with a 97, followed by Toni Subia's 104 and Karen Woodall's 109.

Wild hockey game sets penalty record

North Star, Bruins make history

BOSTON (AP) — The charges afterward flew as furiously as the fists during the most penalty-filled game in the 64-year history of the National Hockey League.

"We all know what their game plan was," Boston Coach Gerry Cheevers charged after the Bruins' 5-1 victory over the Minnesota North Stars Thursday night. "They came to play that way and we obliged them."

Minnesota Coach Glen Sonmor fired back that Cheevers "was yapping at our players, asking about the heart of (center) Bobby Smith...If he wants to check the heart of anybody in our organization start with mine.

"We've got a corridor right down by our dressing room in Minnesota. Come right down there and I'll gladly accommodate him. And tell him when he does come to bring a basket to carry his head home. I've had it up to here with him."

Boston General Manager Harry Sinden said he was surprised at all the fights because, "among hockey people, Minnesota has gained the reputation as the most chicken team ever developed."

The brawls that inspired all that bombast broke six league penalty records, including most penalty minutes in a game. The total of 406 was 26 more than the old mark set on March 11, 1979 when Los Angeles played at Philadelphia.

Before Boston's Mike O'Connell scored the first goal midway through the opening period, 336 penalty minutes had been whistled and seven fights had taken place on the ice. The first was between Steve Kasper and Smith seven seconds into the game.

There were no full-scale brawls, but the biggest fray broke loose at 8:58 of the first period. Boston's Keith Crowder, already in the penalty box, punched Minnesota's Greg Smith in the aisle between the penalty box and the Bruins' bench as Smith was walking toward the locker room after being penalized.

North Stars raced across the ice from their bench. When the melee ended, 210 penalty minutes were called and seven North Stars and five Bruins had been ejected with game misconducts.

After the chaos, Jean Ratelle scored to give Boston a 2-0 lead after one period. Minnesota's Mike Polich and Boston's Ray Bourque traded second period goals and Rick Middleton notched two short-handed goals in the final period.

(AP LASERPHOTO)

Spurs set sights on new goal

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs, edging closer to wrapping up the Midwest Division title, have yet another goal as the National Basketball Association playoffs approach: passing the Los Angeles Lakers.

"We're trying now to catch Los Angeles and get the home-court advantage," Spurs Coach Stan Albeck said Thursday night after his team ran its record to 44-24 with a 123-113 victory over the Seattle SuperSonics.

That put the Spurs just one-half-game behind the Lakers in the race for the best record in the Western Conference. In each playoff matchup, the team with the better record gets the home-court advantage.

The win also reduced San Antonio's magic number to six. Any combination of six San Antonio victories or Houston losses would clinch the Midwest Division title for the Spurs, whose record is their best ever after 68 games.

In the only other NBA game of the night, the Kansas City Kings edged the Dallas Mavericks 105-102.

San Antonio beat Seattle from the free-throw line. Seattle hit 43 field goals to 39 for the Spurs, but San Antonio sank 45 of 48 free throws while the Sonics hit 26 of 31.

George Gervin of San Antonio was the game's high scorer with 35 points, while Mark Olberding had 20 and James Silas 16. Gervin was 9 of 10 at the free throw line, Gervin hit 10 of 12 and Olberding made all 10 of his tries.

Umpires meeting set

The Big Spring Umpires Association will hold their first meeting of the year on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

President Rocky Viera urges all those wishing to umpire this year to be in attendance. Viera stated that there currently is a shortage of umpires, and more are needed.

For more information, call Viera at 7-7773.

To lead Bay Hill Classic

Watson's back with spectacular 64

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Tom Watson, golf's greatest player, was beaming, delighted and bubbling with confidence.

For the first time this year, he had his game in order.

"That's the best round I've played all year," Watson said after a spectacular 64 that gave him a 2-shot lead Thursday in the first round of the $300,000 Bay Hill Classic.

"I'm striking the ball very well. I'm putting very well. I have great confidence in my short game."

And well he should.

He one-putted 11 times in matching the course record at Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill Club, easily saved par on three of the four times he had to scramble and put himself in the position he wanted: in front of the pack.

Watson, winner of the British Open and six American titles last year, has been denied a victory in his first four starts this season, but his heroics in warm, hazy weather here left the rest of the pack in an unenviable spot: attempting to overtake the man who has dominated the game for the past four years.

Rookie Rod Nuckolls, playing in only his fifth PGA Tour event, was alone in second after a 5-under-par 66 but said that, insofar as winning is concerned, "I don't look that far ahead."

Hubert Green, a former U.S. Open champ who has been in a long slump, regained his putting touch and compiled a 67 that tied him with Mark O'Meara.

Watson has had a series of relatively high finishes this year. He's been sixth on two occasions and won more than $23,000 in four starts. But he hasn't won. And he has complained all season of poor (by his standards) and inconsistent play.

If players go through with strike

Baseball owners worried about insurance

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball club owners are having problems with strike-insurance policies, a development which could help the players get coverage for a threatened walkout, The New York Times said today.

Quoting insurance-industry sources, the Times said some of the underwriters involved in the owners' $50 million insurance plan had until recently been unaware that baseball's bosses could unilaterally implement a free-agent compensation plan.

Once the underwriters learned of the provision, the Times said, some became skittish, and this could threaten $40 million worth of strike coverage. Of the threatened amount, $15 million in coverage had not even been placed with underwriters by insurance brokers, as of Thursday, the paper said.

The Times also said that the players's association had tried to line up its own strike insurance, but had not succeeded.

"The owners did a good job of making it hard for the players to get insurance," an industry source said. "They took out their insurance last October and used up the market."

The Times' source added, however, that should the owners lose some of their insurance, "the players might be able to get something."

The owners last week announced they were unilaterally implementing a plan whereby teams losing free agents would be compensated by teams which sign the players.

The players' union voted Wednesday to strike May 29 unless a compromise can be reached. The players say the owners' plan would effectively end free-agent movement.

An emergency meeting of the insurance companies involved is scheduled for Friday in Bermuda, the paper said.

Ray Grebey, head of the owners' player relations committee, denied any problem with the strike coverage.

"I met with the brokers in my office yesterday (Wednesday) and there's absolutely no problem," Grebey said. "As far as I know, there are no problems. The insurance is in full effect."

In Olympia Gold golf

Unaccustomed women lead

CITY OF INDUSTRY, Calif. (AP) — Marlene Floyd, who has never won a Ladies Professional Golf Association event, and Sandra Palmer, a winner just once in recent years, are tied for the lead heading into today's second round of the $150,000 Olympia Gold Classic.

The two matched 3-under-par 70s Thursday to share a one-stroke lead in the 72-hole event.

"I'm not afraid anymore," said Floyd, who hasn't won a tournament since joining the tour in 1976. "I used to put too much pressure on myself, but I've learned to play the course one hole at a time. I used to think ahead too much."

Palmer, who snapped a three-year victory drought with a victory earlier this year, said: "You lose your confidence and doubt your methods when you don't win.

Floyd, 32, credited her brother Ray, a PGA tourist, with helping her improve her short game.

The 39-year-old Palmer, who owns 19 career LPGA victories, said she was still trying to figure out the Eisenhower course at Industry Hills, a 5,978-yard layout that plays to par 73 and is marked by its large, rolling greens.

Donnie Little asks for Change at UT

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas quarterback Donnie Little will move to wide receiver for spring training, apparently as part of a plan for a future in professional football.

"I guess it had something to do with pro football," said Little.

He said he went to Coach Fred Akers "and asked him if I could look at wide receiver, too. That doesn't mean I'm relieved of my duties at quarterback, though. I'll still be playing quarterback. I just want to work at wide receiver, too."

Little, a 6-foot-1, 196-pound junior, ran and passed for 1,584 yards last season, just 40 yards shy of the single season total offense record set by Bill Bradley in 1967.

UT loses All-SWC second baseman

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' Dean David, an all-Southwest Conference second baseman, will miss his senior year with a knee injury. He was hurt Wednesday when St. Mary's Steve Rambie slid into him in an attempt to break up a double play.

David, who hit .321 last season, suffered torn ligaments, and surgery is tentatively scheduled for Monday. Rambie suffered separated rib cartilage on the fifth inning play in the opener of a doubleheader, which Texas won, 5-1, 1-0.

Umpire Tom Jenkins ruled runner interference on the play and gave Texas the double play — ending a bases-loaded St. Mary's rally — even though David's throw to first was late.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, FEB. 28, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when it is advisable to avoid arguments and confrontations of all kinds. Make a point to show that you are interested in the welfare of others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be sure you get your marketing done early so you will have more time for recreation later. Spend money wisely.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Strive for increased harmony with family members. Study your financial position and make plans for improvement.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Attend to home affairs and improve the quality of your life. Don't jeopardize your present security in any way.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take time to improve your property in some way and add to its value. Engage in your favorite hobby.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to gain the favor of those who are related to you. Communicating with others can lead to good things at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can handle private matters wisely with the help of a clever person you know. Establish more order around you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your environment and make plans for improvement. Complete any creative activity you are working on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to complete your routines with fewer interruptions and more efficiency. Be more tolerant of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good friend can point out new outlets that could be profitable for you. Take treatments to improve your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to handle your obligations in a most efficient way and don't quibble over small matters. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Listen to the good ideas of others and profit by them. Don't lose your temper over a matter that displeases you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Use your fine artistic talent to improve your environment. Be more willing to cooperate with neighbors today.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one who naturally likes to please others and this quality could lead to a happy and prosperous life. Direct education along teaching lines for best results. Give ethical and religious training early in life.

LOOK INTO A MIRROR

Some people claim that they can match husbands and their wives in any large group. It is true that many couples seem to resemble each other the longer they live together.

Children often resemble their parents both in looks and actions. Although many times parents may hesitate to acknowledge it, children's actions, moods, speech and attitudes are often merely reflections of our own. We need not look into a mirror to observe our likeness. Watch the children. They are miniature replicas of us.

Among humans this tendency to imitate may not always be for the good. But the Heavenly Father wants His children to be like Him. He has given us an example to follow. Our lives should reflect the actions, talk and attitudes of Jesus Christ. The more time we spend worshipping Him, the better replicas of Him we become. That is a good reason for worshipping together this week.

Indians wrote the program

Women from 150 countries will celebrate World Day of Prayer March 6. Church Women United in Big Spring will sponsor a service at the First Presbyterian Church, Eighth and Runnels, at 10 a.m.

The program will be on concerns and prayers for all peoples of the world and their needs. The theme, "The Earth is the Lord's" is a timely one, and the service will be an opportunity to focus concern and prayer for the ecological awareness and action which is needed to restore health to our world.

This year's international service was written by American Indian women of the Church Women United from six tribes: Cherokee, Choctaw, Hopi, Seneca, Sioux, and Winnebago. These women brought to the task their sensitivity to nature, the earth and its creatures, and the rich spiritual heritage of the American Indians.

Offerings made on this day are a visible form of witness to faith and willingness to share resources to carry out the mission. Some of the goals of Church Women United are: Urban concerns, Community services, grants for mission to projects in the United States and overseas with such concerns as food, human rights, shelter, family stability, justice and peace.

All women of Big Spring are cordially invited to attend this service, and the fellowship with one another following the program.

Film to be shown Sunday

Trinity Family Church, 1006 Birdwell, will show the film, "More Than Conquer's," Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend by the pastor.

Thousands of youth finding Christ behind the Iron Curtain. Glowing, radiant testimonies of victory through faith despite the persecution of the Communist state. Aggressive youth evangelism in progress in the Soviet Union. Bibles being joyously received by Christians in the East. Pastor Georgi Vins giving an active challenge to believers in the Free World. All this and more is featured in the fast-breaking action of the new motion picture, "More Than Conquerors."

"More Than Conquerors" will likewise be a great spiritual encouragement to all in the West who desire to "remember them that are in bonds." According to one pastor who recently previewed this new film, "How can we in the West remain silent when through this film we have witnessed the sacrificial faith of those Christians who live under the power of state atheism? This dynamic portrayal of revival under the most dire circumstances is certainly a challenge to believers throughout the Free World."

Relief arm of CWS is alarmed

NEW YORK (AP) — Church World Service has expressed "its alarm" at cuts proposed in U.S. foreign aid by President Reagan's budget director — cuts also opposed by the new secretary of state, Alexander M. Haig Jr.

The agency, international relief arm of the National Council of Churches which carries on relief work in 70 countries, cited a proposed $2.6 billion cut in the $8 billion foreign aid program proposed for 1982 by the former Carter administration.

"The reductions in aid would mainly affect the poor countries of Africa and the Asian subcontinent," the agency's committee says. "The primary casualties are likely to be many of the poorest developing countries and poorest people in them."

The statement adds that even without cuts, U.S. foreign aid programs "represent an inadequate U.S. contribution" to alleviating serious human need.

Operation Rice Bowl is to help Catholics alleviate world hunger

Catholics in the Diocese of San Angelo will have the opportunity to alleviate the sufferings of their less fortunate fellowmen by participating in Catholic Relief Services' Operation Rice Bowl.

"In Africa alone, 1.7 million people died of starvation and lack of water last year while an estimated 12-million children died world wide of hunger related illness," said Frank Trudo, director of communications for the Catholic Diocese.

"With 30 people dying each minute because of lack of food and water, Operation Rice Bowl brings to the people of this area a chance to help the plight of the hungry," said Trudo.

Operation Rice Bowl will 'kick-off' with the beginning of the Lenten season, March 4 and continue until Easter Sunday.

Once a week for the duration of Operation Rice Bowl families eat a simple, low-cost meal and pray for the poor of the world. The money saved through eating the frugal meal is placed in a cardboard 'rice bowl' on the dining table. Each Sunday of the program families bring their contributions to their church and add them to the offerings of their fellow parishioners.

From these funds 75 percent are allocated to the Catholic Relief Services (CRS), the official relief and development agency of American Catholics, which uses it to relieve worldwide hunger, especially during emergency situations. CRS also creates long-range, self-help projects that combat the root causes of poverty. The remaining 25 percent of the money collected is used within the diocese to support feeding and antipoverty programs.

Since it was first begun in 1976, Operation Rice Bowl has raised over $14 million. With this money, CRS has implemented many worthwhile developmental projects in scores of impoverished nations around the world.

In Sierra Leone, it instituted a successful project to increase rice production. In India, it provided medical assistance and supplementary nutritional feeding to 1,000 children and mothers.

"As Christians, we are obligated to act as Christ would have acted," said Reverend Mr. Trudo, a deacon in the Catholic Church," and this means simply that we have to make a personal commitment to alleviate human suffering through our own sacrifice and prayer.

Mt. Bethel will serve barbecue

A barbecue dinner will be served by the Usher's Board of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, 630 N.W. 4th, beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday. Adult plates will be $3.25 with children under 12 served for half price. Ribs, brisket or chicken will be sold at $4 a pound. Beans, potato salad and sweet potato pie will be served with each order.

Deliveries will be made within Big Spring those who call the church, 263-4069. Orders earlier than Saturday may be phoned to Annie LaBrew at 263-6738.

Gospel concert scheduled

Joseph and Linda Parr, full-time music evangelists, will be featured in concert at the First Church of God, 2009 Main, March 4 at 7 p.m.

The Parrs were both born and raised in Indiana, and are graduates of Indiana University School of Music. Joe earned a Bachelor of Music Education degree and pursued studies on the masters level in choral conducting. Linda holds a Bachelor of Music degree in trumpet.

Joe taught choral music at Washington High School, Washington, Ind. and Linda taught at Vincennes University, Vincennes, Ind.

The couple married in 1971 and are the parents of two daughters. They have served as associate pastors in Indiana and Illinois.

The Parrs have held concerts and meetings as music evangelists in Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska and Ohio in the United States.

The public is cordially invited by Rev. Bob McCray, pastor.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH PARR

Ash Wednesday service slated

A service of Holy Communion and Imposition of Ashes is scheduled for St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1001 Goliad, on Wednesday, March 4, 5:30 p.m. Celebrant will be the Rev. Edward Dentzer of Abilene.

During the last ten years Sunday school enrollment has decreased from just over 40 million to 31 million. During this same period the population of the world has increased at the rate of 70 million per year. This is tragic!

At 14th & Main we offer Bible classes for all ages including infants. This Sunday we will begin a new series of lessons in each of these classes. Won't you bring your children that their lives, and yours, may be enriched by God's word.
