Four Speakers

Livestock Meet Set March 25

A beef cattle short course will be held Wednesday, March 25 at 10 o'clock a.m. in the district courtroom.

This will be held in order to bring the cattlemen of the county the latest in technical information in feeding, diseases, marketing, and management, according to Cecil Regier, county agent.

The team of four speakers, each having one hour, will be:

Dr. Dixon Hubbard, area livestock specialist of Lubbock, who will talk on feeding cattle, stressing a small farm operation.

Edd Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Extension Service at College Station, who will talk on market trends for cattle in coming months.

James Murphrey, area farm management specialist, Extension Service at Lubbock, who will talk on livestock as compared to other farm operations and how this enterprise might be expanded on your farm to make you more money.

Besides many farmers are now handling cattle or plan to handle them, that are not experienced cattlemen and could benefit greatly from this training," Regier stated.

Spring Fashions Go On Display at 1924 Study Club Style Show Thurs.

"An Adventure in Fashions" is the theme for the ninth annual fashion show and dinner sponsored by the 1924 Study Club. According to Mrs. J. B. King, chairman, plans are nearing completion for this event of Thursday, March 19 at the community building. The dinner will begin at 7 p.m.

The commentator this year will be Donna Colburn, women's director of a Wichita Falls television station, and hostess of her own show, "Donna's Notebook." She will fly to Wellington Thursday after her show.

In private life Mrs. J. A. Colburn, she was designated recently as first alternate for the title of Mrs. Texas of 1964.

Unique entertainment is in store for the audience. The Bold Weevils—Dixie's answer to the Beatles—will be the featured entertainers. This group of five Clarendon high school and college boys are Danny Ray, Jerry Elmore, Billy Heden, Steve Richardson and John Kearley.

Only the cut of their cotton-white hair resembles the group they will take down. They do have their guitars, drums and uke—and what they do with them is part of the fun of their performance.

Kearley is spokesman for the group. Their songs are right out of the folk-song craze, that is sweeping the country, and they have appeared at a number of entertainments in their home area.

Decorations for this year's show carry out the overall theme.

Used for the first time will be a new spotlight which the 1924 Study Club has made available for use by schools and in the community building.

The array of models to be spotlighted will represent Pruden Drug, the Fashion Shop, Helen's Creations, Ingram's Fabric and Hobby Shop, the Farm Store, Parker's General

Store of Dodson, Pauline's House of Beauty, and Crown-over Beauty Shop of Dodson. These models will include Mrs. R. L. Templeton, Mrs. Jimmie Strickland, Mrs. Rufus Sweat, Mrs. C. A. Crawford, Mrs. Denzil Lacy, Mrs. Jimmy Langford, and Mary Beth Aaron, Mickey Ann Kendrick, Beverly Singley, Nancy Crawley, Jan Glenn, Wynona Jones, Deborah Aaron, Kim Aaron, Connie Langford, Scottie Aaron, Richard Sims, and Randall Sims.

Also participating will be Mrs. Texas of 1963, Miss Collingsworth County Free Fair, the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Queen and the new Miss Wellington.

The Rev. Glenn Hickey is conducting a revival meeting in an East Dallas church.

The home of Mrs. Franklin Burns was the scene Saturday evening, March 14, of a shower honoring Miss Patsy Wilkerson, bride-elect of K. V. Willard Jr., of Amarillo.

Hostesses with her were Mrs. Troy Stallings, Mrs. Gene Hedger, Mrs. W. A. Poteet, Mrs. J. L. Branch, Mrs. Thomas

Jesse, Mrs. George Howard, Mrs. C. E. Escoe, Mrs. A. V. Atkinson, Mrs. Ansel Atkinson, Mrs. Oral Bishop, Mrs. W. A. Eads and Mrs. Weldon Cleveland.

Mrs. Burns received the guests and presented them to Miss Wilkerson, her mother, Mrs. C. O. Wilkerson, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. K. V. Willard of Wheeler.

Miss Sharon Blackshear registered the guests. A St. Patrick's theme was carried out in the table decorations. An arrangement of green carnations surrounding a large shamrock was used as the centerpiece on a white lace cloth over green. Green candles in double antique glass holders were at each side. Other appointments were crystal and silver.

Mrs. Euris Phipps, sister of the honoree, poured, and Mrs. Russell Vandyke, her aunt, served the cake. Both are from Amarillo. Approximately 100 friends called or sent gifts.

Food Committee Meets March 23

The Collingsworth county food and nutrition committee will meet Monday, March 23 at 9 a.m. in the office of Mrs. Kathryn Barjenbruch, home demonstration agent.

The meeting is to be conducted by specialists in food and management from the Texas Extension Service and is for everyone interested in food for the family and family health.

Two sessions are planned, a day meeting for homemakers who do not work outside their homes and a night meeting for men and women employed during the day, Mrs. Barjenbruch said.

Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson, Karen and Linda, spent Friday and Saturday of last week in Plainview with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Richardson.

The Rev. Glenn Hickey is conducting a revival meeting in an East Dallas church.

With Dale Morris leading the group as president, the team divided its demonstration into four parts. 5-B Defending Champion Quails Open Spring Baseball Training

Out to match their 1963 record of no defeats, the Quail Quails opened baseball practice this week and their first game is slated Tuesday, March 24 at Ron, Okla.

Last year the Quails topped their undefeated season by winning the bi-district title, as high as Class B baseball teams go, Coach Don Lacy explained. "We lost only one boy last year, Paul Boyce, who graduated. We have practically the same team out again this time," he said.

Pitching ace Dale Morris will be back in that slot and his younger brother, Don, will catch. Other assignments have not been made.

Class B baseball is played on an interscholastic league basis, but not all schools have this sport and the alignment of four teams is playing as District 5-B, Lacy explained.

Other teams are Hedley, Mobeetie and Samnorwood. Here is the playing schedule for the Quails:

March 24, Quail at Ron, Okla. 2 p.m.
April 3, Ron at Quail, 2:30 p.m.

New Rules Aid State Park Visitors

AUSTIN.—Consideration for the pleasure of the millions patronizing Texas state parks has prompted several changes in park regulations effective March 1, it was announced by J. Welton Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

A modified curfew has been installed in all 58 state parks, banning recorded music, musical instruments and radio usage after 10 p.m. Heretofore, some of the larger and more popular parks allowed patio dancing, and have had a later curfew.

Water skiing has been abandoned at Huntsville, Tyler, Bonham, Daingerfield, Meridian and Cleburne state parks because the lakes contain less than 225 surface acres prescribed as the minimum.

Camping and shelter occupancy will be restricted to a maximum of ten days. There is no limit previously and some visitors have stayed for long periods at choice locations while others remained all summer.

Minors will not be permitted to stay overnight in a park unless chaperoned and accompanied by adults. Policing the parks sometimes has been complicated by problems arising from unruly teenagers.

Only authorized traffic will be permitted in state parks after 10 p.m. The limited parks staffs frequently are compelled to stay on duty until very late hours to reduce situations developing from promiscuous late hour car travel.

Other new regulations are: Overnight camping will be by permit only and where assigned by the park management; pets will be permitted on leash only; firearms or fireworks will not be used or displayed at any time while in a state park; boat motors in excess of 12 horsepower will not be permitted on the lakes listed above as having less than 225 surface acres.

Watson said "The new plan actually is a guide to more enjoyment of our state parks. I believe there is not one unreasonable item in the entire list." He added, "We have gone into this carefully and thoroughly and have prepared this set of rules strictly with the idea of helping more folks to have more fun."

"So many people patronize the parks now that it is no longer possible to allow unrestricted activities," said Watson. "As everyone knows just one carload of unthinking visitors could create night long bedlam, especially in the more popular parks."

TORNADO SEASON AT PEAK IN MARCH

March is the peak month of the tornado season in Texas, the U. S. Weather Bureau warns.

Mrs. Jack VanBibber of Dumas spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Zook Thomas and Nancy spent the past week end in Olton with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Thomas. On Sunday the group attended the Hi Plains Rock Show in Plainview.

Two month's production of a West Coast miniaturization factory, valued at a million dollars, can be loaded into a standard station wagon.

District Schedule

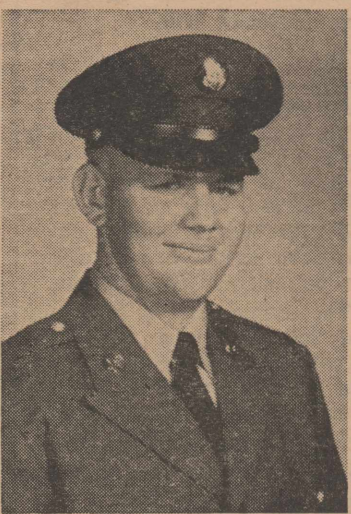

April 7, Quail at Hedley, at 4 p.m.
April 14, Mobeetie at Quail at 2:30 p.m.
April 21, Samnorwood at Quail, 4 p.m.
April 28, Hedley at Quail, at 4 p.m.
May 5, Quail at Mobeetie, 2:30 p.m.
May 12, Quail at Samnorwood, 4 p.m.
Coach Lacy has approximately 20 boys out, most of them last year's veterans.

These include, besides the Morris brothers, Robert Russell, Carrol Kennedy, Dwane Campbell, Bruce Ward, Paul Gollighugh, John Carson, Kirby Word, Coy Stephens, David Phipps, Smokey Mitchell, Garland Boyce, Earl Lynn Feemster, Gary Branch, Robert Blevins, Reed Souder, Tommy Needham, Royce Mitchell and Joe Harris.

Managers are Stanley Gosnell and Denzil Phipps.

Stock Men, Business Men All Concerned in Meeting

A short course concerning livestock, a vital part of this county's economy, will be held next Wednesday, starting at 10 a. m.

This is one of down-to-earth, practical educational meetings the Extension Service is sponsoring for county farmers and livestock men, but which are also so worthwhile for the business men too.

The cattle business is constantly changing, and even the most experienced ranchers continually find something new that has to be learned. Livestock raising has never been like it is today—chances are that five years from now it will be much different than in 1964.

Specialists with the Extension Service will be the speakers here Wednesday, and they will touch on such things as feeding cattle as part of a small-farm operation; expected market trends; livestock vs. other types of farm operation; and animal health.

We are stressing, and rightly so, the need for large-scale feed lots here, something that could be a major factor in our economy.

But there now is, and always will be, a place for the small feed lot—the one-man operation tailored to his own capacity and need. Several of this type are already in operation in Collingsworth county, and at least one of the upcoming talks will deal with this kind of operation.

It's going to be a meeting of cow-talk, but certainly the business men of the county will be welcome and it is an opportunity for them to know what is going on in the field where a good many of their customers make their living.

The Extension Service is to be commended, too, in the fine educational work it is doing in Collingsworth county.

An Easter Egg for Everyone

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

It makes a mere citizen feel real cared-for to read all about how the bureaucrats are laboring to overcome our natural stupidity at the market place.

But my master sucker neighbor says he notes some government purchasing agents have made about as many poor buys as he ever did.

Like the $100,000,000 they have spent to buy world friends which came without any guarantee, and were full of bugs and much over-priced, had a short service life and high upkeep cost, and no trade-in value at all.

Word from a usually reliable source in Washington is that us Americans are a much beloved people throughout the world.

My worrying neighbor says it's mighty comforting to know this, as he can now see that when the Greeks were burning our President in effigy, they were really just kidding.

He has been reading about Americans getting shot, and shot at, and being run out of various countries, and says things probably would be real bad if the foreigner folks didn't love us so much.

News is that the birth rate in the United States is down more than 12 per cent.

Which may be due to prospective parents noting that because the $600 a year government subsidy on children hasn't inflated to keep up with prices, raising kids is now a losing proposition.

Or it could be that word about our financial condition has got around in Heaven, where our babies are reported to come from, so it is now harder to talk them into coming down here and assuming our debts.

I see where another Survey shows that grade school kids in the U.S. are smoking more.

This is probably due to automation, in the form of cigarette machines, which early-day 10-year-olds didn't have access to.

It's a shame, too, because modern filter cigarettes naturally don't 100-proof the youthful body juices against life's rigors near as effectively as buggywhip segments, or dry cabbage leaves rolled up in school tablet paper.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

WTU is proud to be a part of your community

NATURAL RESOURCES

... basic factor in economic development

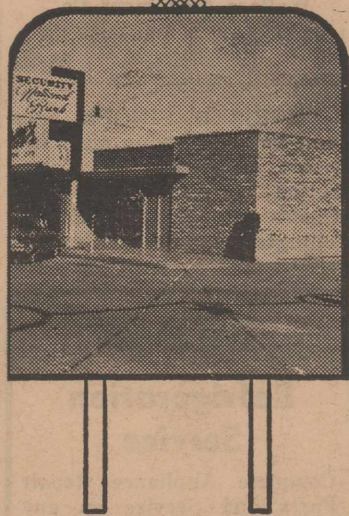

Many industries are established close to natural resources. One is pictured above — the Bestwall Gypsum Company near Quanah, where gypsum wall board and allied products are made. It is near Quanah because of large gypsum deposits there, and is a perfect illustration of the economic value of a natural resource to a community.

Employing 200 people, it adds payrolls, increases consumer sales, builds deposits in banks such as the one pictured left, and is a major factor in the Quanah economy.

This is a PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

It is because here is a manufacturer using a natural resource. National studies show that each 100 new factory workers in a community increase local personal income by $660,000, bank deposits by $229,000, and create 65 new nonmanufacturing jobs, besides increasing all types of consumer sales.

The manufacture of natural resources pays big profits to a community, and almost every community has natural resources subject to development. WTU urges every community to assess and evaluate its own natural resources as a basic step in economic development.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

OUR POLITICAL ECONOMY

President Johnson's messages to the nation and most of his proposals have reflected good intents and purposes. The apparent blamelessness of his proposals is of course not unrelated to the realities in the game of politics.

For example, the rug is seemingly jerked from under his opposition by all those headlines on the new wave of federal thrift.

Particularly, this new economy-mindedness of the administration reaches toward popular feeling. Who can be against saving the money of the taxpayers? And, simultaneously, who can be against spending it to eliminate poverty?

Well, that is the way it looks. The headlines are captured. Estimates of expenditures (not actual spending) have received a terrible slashing, which is still a far different matter from balancing the budget.

The cuts that so easily make good impressions are really only paper projections that may never become realities.

These are promises; we await with more interest the performance. Reduction of real expenses is worthy of the widest public support, and we find it hard to reject even the promise of economy. We only remember that promises like this have been many, but performances have been rare.

There is plenty of room for question, however, whether these promises ever can come to fruition under the present policies. After all, the $97.9 billion budget estimate (final figures won't be available until after the election) is still some $16 billion more than was spent five years ago.

One wonders if it is really a program of frugality.

If the federal government must continue to be all things to all men, the outflow of resources will be continuous.

We would like to see promises, not of Utopia or even of DEFICIT cuts, but no deficits at all and balanced budgets. This is essential to the long range welfare of the nation.

The federal government has become the very symbol of big spending. This image needs to be recast before frugality and economy can truly become either the administration's boast or its accomplishment. We have mentioned the President's "war on poverty." These pronouncements are enough to cause any emotional but uninformed humanitarian to climb aboard.

But the reality ahead will be billions in spending, unbalanced budgets, and soaring national debt.

The poverty elimination programs of Mr. Johnson once again, as in the 1930s, seek to impress the public with the all-powerful, curative and remedial virtues of the strong central government. It is as if nothing had ever been accomplished in this area except by the alphabet agencies of Washington.

The assumption is that only the billions of a borrowing government can bring housing, jobs, health, education — and eliminate poverty.

These political-do-all ideas work no better in the U.S. than socialist planning in any other countries.

Once it was "one-third of the nation is ill-clothed, ill-housed and ill-fed." Now it is "war on poverty." If Congress can be persuaded to appropriate the money (borrowed from future generations), everyone can join the battle. But from now until next November, the "poor" public, which may have 20 to 30 million votes in it depending on how you measure the poor voter, will be the subject of discussion and debate. We just hope he (the voter) comes out of it all as well off as he is now.

Without doubt, the poor are with us. The unfortunate and needy must be helped, a thing most Americans want to do gladly.

But the record of past federal efforts along this line, in depression days or even more recently in Appalachia, raises doubts whether the government can win such a war.

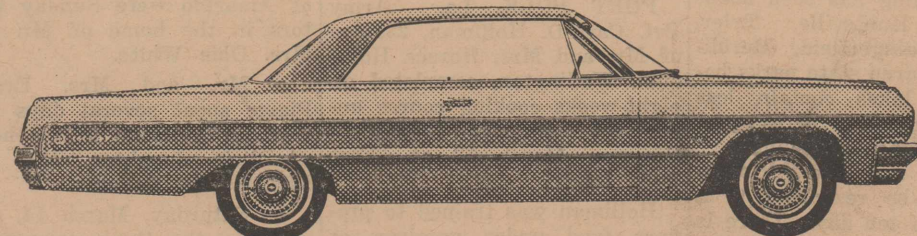

The British went all-out to build the welfare state in the post-war years, but they nearly wrecked their economy without achieving the Utopia they sought, even with the aid of almost unbelievable billions in handouts from the American taxpayer.

A dramatic fact—not being shouted in Washington lately—is that the percentage of our family incomes below $3,000 has dwindled steadily, from about 35% in 1951 to 20% today. Families with incomes of $10,000 and above have risen steadily, too.

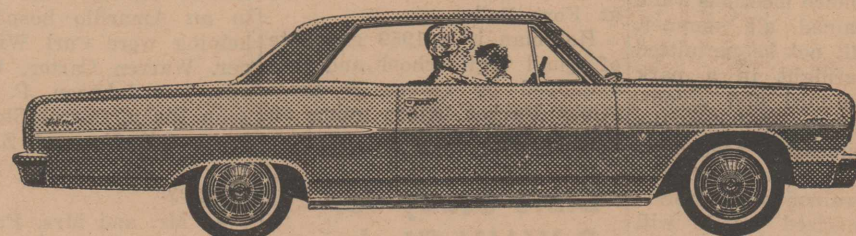

We must not forget that this nation of people, under a Constitution that provides the necessary freedoms and encourages the enterpriser to dream and dare, has already come closer to conquering poverty than any people in the history of the world has ever done.

We do not need to fall back on paternalistic, socialistic, or communistic "solutions" that eliminate the freedoms that have brought us this far, and replace them with promises of food, clothing and housing that never come.

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price.

Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15¼-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over).

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

way to slaughter are marked so that the state, county and herd from which the cow came can be identified.

When the cow goes to slaughter, a blood sample is taken and the results of a brucellosis test is recorded.

As Dr. Wilbur says, "Brucellosis being what it is, if older female animals are free of the disease, it is pretty certain the herd is free. In this way, about 97 to 98 per cent of the testing can be eliminated."

Dr. Garrett says backtagging could eliminate "down the road" testing by between 90 and 97 per cent in a given county.

Among them are jewelry, furs, luggage, toilet preparations, cameras and film, theater admissions, mechanical pens, revolvers, sporting goods, telephone calls, tobacco, travel tickets. On some items, such as light bulbs, the tax is levied on the manufacturer. Because

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

EXCISE TAXES

Excise taxes affect the pocketbooks of each of us. They add to the cost of a long, long list of goods and services we buy.

They swell the Federal treasury by billions of dollars—an estimated $10.2 billion in the current fiscal year. And excise taxes—by which the Federal government "excises" (or slices out) its share of the purchase price—constitute a problem for consumers, retailers, and manufacturers, as well as the tax collector who is faced with a jumble of complex regulations.

The focus of Congressional effort to bring new sense and balance to the nation's tax structure likely will fall next on excise taxes—and, in my view, a sweeping review of the subject is long overdue.

Congressman Wilbur Mills, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has announced that public hearings will be held later this year on excise taxes.

The purpose of the hearings, he said, will be similar to that which led the Committee to give thorough review to the income tax structure. That study directly resulted in the recent enactment of the income tax reduction and revision bill.

My prediction is that from the hearings to be held will emerge a major revision—if not an outright repeal—of the excise tax structure.

in some instances, to discourage the production and sale of items whose components consisted of vital war materials.

Luggage and jewelry were two such products. The excise tax was employed not only to Certainly there will not be time this year to complete the hearings and committee study in the House and Senate, drafting of bills, debate and decision on the floors of both the Houses of Congress. Possibly the matter will come to a decision next year, in the First Session of the 89th Congress.

I'd expect that certainly before the end of 1966, major changes—if not repeal—will have been enacted. Aside from the time-consuming aspect of Congressional procedure on this kind of very involved matter, an important reason why action will not be taken swiftly is because the Congress and the country will want to judge the effects of the income tax reduction bill signed by the President last month.

If the income reduction measure lives up to its promise to give the nation's economy a major boost, justification will be strong for a similar action affecting excise taxes.

Excise taxes are a legacy of World War II. Billed as "luxury taxes," they were first enacted into law in 1941. Congress stated as its objective in imposing them that they were for raising revenue and for "other purposes."

The "other purposes" were, the manufacturer has paid the tax, the fact that it is taxed is not apparent to a purchaser as is the fact that he must pay a Federal excise tax when he purchases a suitcase.

But the tax is there — although hidden — on light bulbs and many other items you wouldn't suspect would carry a "luxury" classification.

I've heard that some retailers refuse to handle articles on which an excise tax must be collected directly because they wish to spare themselves the expense of being tax collectors.

Many retailers can't avoid the chore. A jeweler, for example, must levy the tax of 10 per cent whether the sale is 10 cents or $1,000. His advertising must carry the notification that jewelry is taxed.

He must make separate bookkeeping entries for taxes collected. He must make separate tax reports and remissions each quarter. He must make periodic tax audits. The excise tax for the jeweler is indeed a real cost of doing business. Many other retailers are similarly affected. Drug stores, luggage and leather shops, department stores, camera shops, grocery stores which sell many of these taxed products — all of them are deeply concerned with the matter.

Consumers, however, as taxpayers, have the most direct

SALT SOIL CONSERVATION FORK DISTRICT NEWS

DROUTH INSURANCE

The past year of below average rainfall has given local ranchers an insight of what to expect in the future. The good years last only so long, and the bad ones are bound to come.

For some, another year like the last would put them out of the cow business for lack of sufficient grass, reminded Bob Crawford, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The principle of proper range use, take half and leave half, will come into its own during the dry years. Those who have practiced this the last few years when moisture and grass were plentiful have reserves which will carry them through the dry years.

interest. It is money that, if diverted from taxation, would be returned to the mainstream of the economy through the purchase of a larger volume of goods and services and be reflected in a higher living standard for Americans.

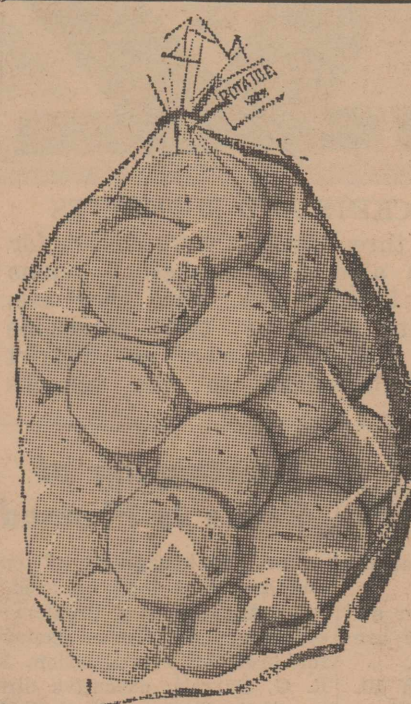

The best way to determine the amount of use is to select the key grass in each pasture and rotate so that at least 50 per cent of this specie is left about April 1. There should be seed heads produced on at least half the key plants. These key species are different on each type of range land according to the texture of the soil.

"For assistance in determining the key specie on your pasture, the SCS technicians assisting the Salt Fork SCD will be glad to furnish help," Crawford said.

Some of those who have taken advantage of this method of regulating grazing in the past are Fred Bourland, James R. Ross, Clee Parr, John Robert Henard, Jr., Zook Thomas, Pat Bradley, Jess Coleman, Jake Hess and others.

The results of using this method can be seen by observing the condition of the grass and cattle on their places.

Re-elect Two Directors of Memphis PCA

J. C. Emmert of Wellington and W. C. McClendon of Paducah were re-elected to three-year terms on the board of directors of the Memphis Production Credit Association at the agricultural financing institution's 30th annual stockholders' meeting, held here Friday, March 13.

More than 325 stockholders and guests from across the association's nine-county area attended the business meeting and barbecue luncheon, held at the community building.

Emmert and McClendon were re-elected by acclamation. Emmert has served five previous terms on the board and McClendon has been a director for ten years.

Other highlights of the 30th anniversary meeting were addresses by L. C. Young of Graham, widely known speaker in West Texas, and Jack Barton, assistant vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston, discount and supervisory agency for the 36 PCA groups in Texas.

Young discussed opportunities in modern agriculture and stressed that the industry is growing and is a vital part in our nation's economy. "There are many opportunities for the modern, progressive young man today in many fields of agriculture," he declared.

Barton pointed out that the home-owned and operated Production Credit Associations receive their loan funds through the sale of bonds to the nation's investing public through the Intermediate Credit Bank. Ample funds are always available, which emphasizes the confidence in the Production Credit System by the nation's investing public, he said.

In other business, President Emmert gave a report for the board of directors and traced the growth and progress of the association in its 30 year history. General Manager James Van Pelt gave a financial report and discussed the association's loan activities during the past year.

Elected to the 1965 nominating committee were Herb Martin of Flomont, Bruce Gibson of Turkey, Carl Wisch-

FORT WORTH AND DENVER RAILWAY

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

I love the small towns of Texas. Otherwise I would not have spent my entire life in one of them. The middle sized cities such as Austin, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock, El Paso, Texarkana, Beaumont and Corpus Christi fill me with warm appreciation and fond memories. But I also have a great affection for and devotion to our largest cities such as Fort Worth, San Antonio, Dallas and Houston. For those great cities I have a fellow-feeling of goodwill and respect just as I have for my neighbors such as Memphis, Clarendon, Shamrock, Mangum, Hollis, Quanah and Childress.

The above is a prelude to an expression of my unspeakable anger over the calumny that is being heaped on my beloved Dallas by some TV commentators and some sections of the Eastern press, not to mention the far West as they continue their falsification of the truth through and after the conviction of Jack Ruby in a Dallas court where he was assessed the death penalty for the murder of Lee Oswald.

This publicity as well as the frantic ravings of Attorney Belli is an unjust reflection on every town and city in Texas as well as Dallas. Oh well, Dallas has gone through many trials of stress and storm including the Ku Klux Klan so we are confident this great metropolis will survive.

Here in Wellington we take our TV for granted because of the Vumore cable service, but you might be interested to know that there is quite a controversy going on over the community antenna systems. Some of the smaller stations want Federal regulation of the cable system and the United Artists contend it is illegal for the cable group to use its films without permission and the payment of royalties. Naturally the CATV people want as little Federal regulation forced on them as possible. Today the cable systems over the nation have increased until there are 3,500,000 viewers who get their television programs by this method.

Here is an item which did not receive much publicity, but which should be of great interest to all public officials as well as attorneys. The Supreme Court held recently that a public official cannot recover libel damage unless he proves the statement was made with deliberate malice. What is new about this is that even false statements about public officials are given protection by the decision. The Justices were unanimous in reversing the libel award against the New York Times. The court's opinion by Justice William J. Brennan was joined by Justices Warren, Clark, Harlan, Stewart and White.

Justices Hugo L. Black and Arthur J. Goldberg in a separate opinion joined by Justice Douglas said the court should have gone further and established an absolute privilege for criticism of officials even for malicious statements. This latter opinion is not the court's opinion, but it does show some of the thinking that is going on in the court today.

Here is a clipping from Allison Sanders' column in The Houston Chronicle:

Recently Marshall F. Wells of 3033 Wroxton visited his home town of Wellington, a Panhandle metropolis some 500 miles from here, and there he ran into a cousin, Henry Sullivan.

"What is an old country boy like you doing being president of the Houston Grand Opera Association," Sullivan joshed him.

"Oh, the people in Houston recognize talent when they see it," Wells grinned. "And as for what I'm doing—right now I'm trying to raise money for the opera maintenance fund. Why don't you fellows up here help us out?"

That was all. Or so Wells thought, until a large envelope arrived last week from Wellington. Inside it was a handsome scroll reading:

"In recognition of the outstanding contribution the City of Houston is making in behalf of the fine arts movement in the State of Texas, and since a native son of Wellington, Marshall Wells, continuing a family tradition of noble service, has been selected president of the Houston Grand Opera Association, we citizens of Wellington, Texas, are greatly honored to support the maintenance fund of said organization."

Underneath were the signatures of 31 Wellingtonians,

Harold Watkins, Calvin Hurst and Jack Sanford

Partnership Named

Wells & Wells States Policy of Service

The future policy of Wells and Wells was announced this week, a policy of continuing service to the people of the Wellington area.

The firm was founded forty years ago by the late Morris Wells.

"The name of the firm will continue to be Wells & Wells, Abstracts and Insurance, and will be a partnership between Calvin Hurst, Harold Watkins and Jack Sanford, with the other experienced employees, Dora E. Smith and Laru Hays still here ready and eager to serve you," the announcement said.

including those of the mayor, the fire chief, bankers, merchants and the local newspaper editor. And clipped to it was a cashiers' check for $136!

If Houstonians would do as well, in proportion, the opera's troubles would be over.

Easter comes about as early this year as it possibly can. The first full moon after the vernal equinox will be March 27 and thus Easter Sunday is March 29.

There is something about March 27 that I had better be remembering for it is more important than stepping outside to look at the full moon. It is my oldest granddaughter's birthday. Once upon a time I was fairly good at remembering birthdays and anniversaries, but having forgotten my wedding anniversary for the past two years in a row I am not so confident any more.

Last fall I was sitting at the breakfast table and suddenly remarked "You know what I forgot." And my wife said: "You mean we both did; I didn't remember it until yesterday and was going to say nothing about it." That conversation was two days late and made me feel some better but not much. This year I have the date marked on the calendar and will probably forget it again if as many things come up as did at that time last fall.

The other day Loren Thompson, Jim Wood and I were in the B&B newsstand. Bernice Welch looked all three of us over rather critically and then chortled: "Four grown men and not a tooth in the joint." Incidentally Bernice sold 336 copies of the paper last week. His usual speed is about 330.

This reminds me of something. Will you mail subscribers please notify us promptly when you change your address? The post office charges us 10¢ a copy for each paper that is returned because of an incorrect address and in many cases we have to pay out 20¢ before we can get the paper off the list and await the bawling out we know we will receive because somebody did not get their paper. Please let us know in advance if you move. The postal people are diligent in notifying us of the change if they know it, but in many cases they are not informed either.

Our Aunt Jean has the habit of sending some highly interesting newspaper clippings along with her letters—a practice I find delightful; but our son has dubbed her a cliptomaniac.

It was pointed out that several years prior to his passing, Mr. Wells spent considerable time training each employee and partner in the functions of the business.

Those qualities of service to the customer on which the reputation of the firm is built will be the same that they have been through the years, it was emphasized.

Of the three partners, Hurst has been with the firm longest, joining it as an employee in February 1946. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hurst, he is a native of Wellington and a graduate of Wellington high school in 1940. He attended Draughon's Business College in Wichita Falls.

Active in civic work, Hurst has been treasurer of the chamber of commerce and the Kiwanis Club, and active in Little League, the VFW and the American Legion.

He is superintendent of the Sunday school of the Methodist Church, a past master of the Wellington Masonic Lodge, and a former high priest of the Council and officer of the Chapter.

Hurst is a veteran of World War II, serving in the infantry 30 months.

He is married to the former Lyna Lowry and they have three sons, Ronnie, 17; Tony, 13, and Lynn, 3.

Watkins also is a native of Wellington, the son of Mrs. Fred Watkins and the late Mr. Watkins.

He joined Wells & Wells in March 1957 after being associated with the Collingsworth Motor Company for a number of years and looking after farming interests.

A graduate of Wellington high school in 1930, he also attended Texas Tech. He is a member of the Methodist Church.

Watkins also is a veteran of World War II, having served in the Army.

His wife is the former Patti Lee Lewis, and they have four children, Mrs. Ed Hill of Amarillo; Freddy in North Texas State University; Lewis, 14, and Edie, 8.

As an insurance adjuster, Sanford was well known to the firm and to Wellington before he joined Wells & Wells in June 1958. At that time he lived in Victoria. He had entered the insurance business in 1947.

A native of Childress, he was reared at Wichita Falls and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sanford. After graduating from Wichita Falls high school in 1939 and Hardin Junior College in 1941, he attended the University of Texas.

Sanford served in the Air Force in the Pacific Theatre during World War II as a fighter pilot and received the Air Medal with three clusters and four battle stars. He is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

He began flying before the war, however, and still holds his commercial license.

He is active in First Christian Church.

A civic leader, Sanford has been president of the chamber of commerce and the Rotary Club and is a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, of which he is vice commander.

His wife is the former Mary Burnside and they have two children, Bob, a student in Texas Tech, and Nancy, 15.

Mrs. Smith was a junior in high school when she began working for Wells & Wells in 1936.

In addition to her work with Wells & Wells, she also has been active in the community, having helped to organize the Ex-Students Association and was its first secretary. She has been president of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the VFW Auxiliary.

In the Baptist Church, of which she is a member, she helps with the junior choir.

She is married to Keith Smith and their family includes Mrs. Terry Adams, Mrs. Bill Hall and Ann, 9.

After a career in religious work, Miss Hays returned here to join Wells & Wells in 1959. She was reared in Wellington, however, and is the daughter of Mrs. J. L. Hays and the late Mr. Hays.

She is a graduate of Wellington high school and attended Baylor University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary where she received a diploma in religious education.

Before returning here, she did religious work 11 years at First Baptist Churches in Borger, Lamesa and Plainview. She is active in the church here and a member of the choir.

Absentee Voting Starts in City Council Election

Absentee voting in the Wellington city election opened on Wednesday, March 18, and will continue until Friday, April 3, four days before the election. The election date is Tuesday, April 7.

The seven candidates for the three alderman's posts met on Thursday, March 12 to draw for places on the ballot, and this is the order in which they placed, according to Russell Yates, city secretary.

Mrs. Coleman and Sullivan are asking re-election. H. L. Duncan Jr., present member of the city council, is not a candidate for re-election.

Absentee voting is at the city hall, and effective this year, there are only two ways an absentee vote can be cast, by mail and in person at the polling place, Yates pointed out.

Mrs. Jameson Breaks Hip

Mrs. Mattie Jameson, 86-year old Dodson woman, received a broken right hip in a fall at her home Monday morning, March 9.

On the day before, she participated in the dedication ceremony at the new Dodson Church of Christ building, at which her son-in-law, Van Bonneau, preached.

She is receiving treatment in St. Joseph's Hospital, where she is doing as well as possible, Min. Bonneau said.

Her four children live in the Dodson area, Gilbert Hunt, Mrs. P. W. O'Brien, Mrs. Van Bonneau and R. T. Jameson.

Benefit Game for Little League Set

One sport comes to the aid of another in Wellington Thursday, March 26.

A basketball game for the benefit of Little League baseball will be played in the high school gym at 7:30 p.m. according to Bob Crawford, president of the youth baseball organization.

Tickets will be sold by Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts, who will receive a portion of the sales.

No players have identified themselves with the teams, but an indication of the age bracket comes with the announcement that Pot Belly University of Quail will meet Bay Window Tech of Wellington.

This will be a double header. Raymond Horton, Dick Pendleton and John Coffee are shaping up plans, which will be announced in their final stage next week.

Mrs. Richardson at MPCA Office

Mrs. James Richardson began work Monday, March 16 as clerk in the Memphis Production Credit Association office, Herbert Bearden, field manager, announced.

She succeeds Mrs. John Rainey, who resigned to devote full time to her home.

Mrs. Richardson has worked with her husband, who is 100th district court reporter.

She also has been employed by Howard Riggs, accountant, and before moving to Wellington, she worked in the office of the Soil Conservation Service in Plainview 7 years.

Youth Wins Music Awards

Sidney Dall Duncan of Wellington was given a Superior Rating Certificate at the Junior Music Festival sponsored by the Texas Federation of Music Clubs at Borger on March 14.

This rating was awarded to Sidney for his original composition, "Hobby Horse Hop", an accordion solo, composed and transcribed this year. This composition will be sent to the National Federation of Music Clubs and was played by him at the festival.

In the second division for Elementary Accordion performance he played "Cielito Lindo" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul." A certificate of Superior performance was also awarded him.

Mrs. Herbert Duncan, his mother, and Mrs. Lowell Wells, his teacher, went to the festival with Sidney.

Also listed on the junior day concert agenda was Janie Cummings of Austin, daughter of the Logan Cummings', former Wellington residents. Janie, representing Ninth District, is acclaimed for her unusual technique as a pianist. This 15-year-old was second last spring in the Stillman-Kelley auditions in Dallas, a very keen competition for NFMC members who excel in their respective instruments. The boy who won was more than two years older than Janie.

Installed as First District President was Mrs. Dan W. Spencer of Dalhart. Mrs. Earl Snowden of Arlington is the new TFMC President.

COURTS SPEAK ON PIPELINE TAX

Texas State Supreme Court has agreed with lower courts that a state tax on gas pipelines is unconstitutional. Decision upheld earlier opinions that the dedication reserve tax cannot be applied to pipelines holding long-term contracts to take Texas gas to out-of-state consumers. About $9,000,000 has been paid to the treasurer under the levy, $8,500,000 of it under protest.
