All-White Jury Set In South

By SAM JOHNSON

SUMNER, Miss. (AP)—A 12-man all-white jury was completed today to try two white men accused of murdering a 14-year old Chicago Negro boy.

Nine farmers are on the jury. One man is a carpenter, one an insurance salesman and one a retired carpenter.

The state approved the jury and after brief questioning, the defense attorneys accepted the 12 men sitting in shirt sleeves in the jury box.

The state is expected to call Mose Wright, uncle of the slain Emmett Louis Till, as its first witness.

Circuit Judge Curtis Swango ordered a 13th juror selected as an alternate in case one of the regular jurors becomes ill or dies during the trial.

Till's mother, Mrs. Mamie Bradley, 44, of Chicago, arrived in the Sumner Courthouse this morning to testify as a state witness.

As she sat down, 270-pound Sheriff H. C. Strider pushed his way through the crowd and handed her a subpoena as a witness.

Defense sources said attorneys for Roy Bryant, 24, and his 36-year-old half-brother, J. W. Milam, expect to try to establish that Mrs. Bryant was assaulted by the victim, Emmett Louis Till, while he was alone with her Aug. 24.

The word was used in the legal sense which implies any untoward incident and did not imply actual physical attack or rape, the source said.

There had been speculation Mrs. Bradley would arrive today with a police guard.

"I would feel better with one," she said, although she arrived in the courtroom unguarded. She added no one has molested her in any way in the South.

Wearing a dark grey suit with white collar and a black bow, Mrs. Bradley walked into the courtroom quietly with several Negro men. She sat down at a table with Negro reporters and photographers.

A small neat woman, somewhat on the plump side, Mrs. Bradley told newsmen quietly that among 2,000 letters she has received since her son was slain only a very few were "nasty and threatening."

White spectators watched silently as Mrs. Bradley sat down. Sheriff Strider, after pushing his way through the crowd, handed her the subpoena, saying, "You are now in the State of Mississippi. You will come under all rules of the State of Mississippi."

State and defense attorneys, operating in the shirt-sleeve heat of a crowded courtroom, agreed yesterday on 10 jurors for the all-male, all-white jury.

Through the tedium of juror questioning, the principals in this publicized case sat quietly, frequently abandoning their silent contemplation of the steamy proceedings to tend their 2-year-old sons, whom they held on their laps for a time. Their wives were also in the courtroom.

The two men are charged with killing Emmett Louis Till, who allegedly whistled at Mrs. Bryant after offensive remarks.

The big mystery is what happened between the time Till was taken from the home of his sharecropper uncle Mose Wright until the time the youth's body was found floating in the muddy Tallahatchie River a few miles to the north.

The state says Bryant and Milam bludgeoned Till, shot him to death and disposed of the body by weighting it and dropping it in the river.

One source close to the case said the state has no witnesses to actual events. Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham sail he would not ask the death penalty "since a substantial part of the state's evidence is circumstantial."

Principal state's witness apparently is Wright, 64-year-old uncle who said three men took his nephew away under protest at 2:30 a.m. Aug. 28.

The body was found three days later.

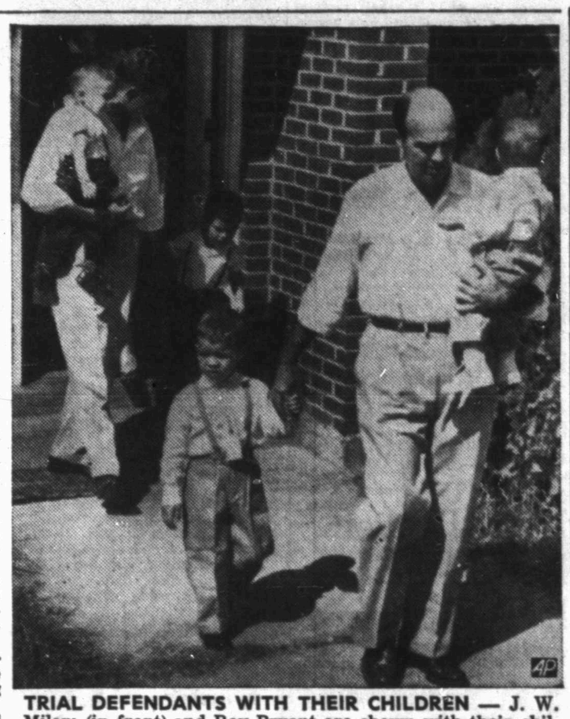

Wright, a short, thin negro who is proud he has never before had any dealings with the law, heard Till had made some remarks or wolf whistles at Mrs. Bryant, 21.

The incident allegedly occurred Aug. 24 in Bryant's country store in Money, a community near Greenwood in adjoining Leflore County.

The body itself offered still another thread in a bizarre pattern. Sheriff H. C. Strider has voiced some doubt as to identification of the body as Till. The state almost certainly will try to establish this identification in testimony.

Prime identification sources would include Till's mother Mrs. Mamie Bradley of Chicago.

She left Chicago by plane last night and planned to arrive in Sumner today.

Herndon Freed In Trial Here

A Scurry County jury Monday night acquitted James T. Herndon of Stanton on a charge of theft.

Herndon, a contractor, had been charged with theft of $204.50 from Martin County on July 13, 1953.

The jury deliberated approximately half an hour before returning its verdict at 8 p.m.

The grand jury here was scheduled to go back into session this morning, following a recess from last Friday, and the petit jury panel for this week is scheduled to report again at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Herndon's trial was transferred here on a change of venue from Martin County.

During his trial Monday, the state introduced invoices indicating that Winifred Estridge, an employe of Herndon, had done 17 hours of bulldozer work for Martin County on June 18 and June 19, 1953.

Estridge was put on the witness stand and testified that he had not worked for Herndon since May 27, 1953. Estridge now resides in Odessa.

For the defense, Mack Clinton, Martin County farmer, testified that he had heard a Martin County Commissioner tell Herndon to "spread out" his bills, and Herbert Matthews, an empolye of Herndon, said he heard two commissioners on another occasion make a similar request.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Herndon said the work covered in the invoices actually was performed during the month of May, 1953, but he had delayed submitting statements at the request of county commissioners. Herndon said that in such cases he did not pay any attention to dates on the invoices submitted.

Joe Froman, Martin County Commissioner, and Oliver Vaughn and Stanley Lewis, former commissoners, were put on the stand by the state, but declined to testify on grounds that testimony might tend to incriminate them. All three have been charged with theft of county funds.

Three character witnesses who testified for the defendant were Milt Yater, former Martin County sheriff; Stanley Wheeler, Stanton automobile dealer, and L. E. Turner, Martin County farmer.

Other witnesses for the state were Doris Stevenson, District and County Clerk in Martin County; Jack Ireton, cashier of the Stanton Bank, and Lester L. Barry of Abilene, an accountant who had done some bookkeeping for Herndon's firm.

Herndon was represented by Attorneys Bill Tippen and Bryan Bradbury, both of Abilene, while attorneys for the state were Gil Jones, 118th district attorney; Renal Rosson, local district attorney, and Ralph Caton, Martin County Attorney.

District Judge Sterling Williams presided at the trial.

Northeast Relieved As Ione Turns Back

By The Associated Press

Storm-jittery Northeastern states heaved a huge sigh of relief today as skittish Hurricane Ione headed to sea after a final flutter just off shore at Norfolk, Va.

Near noon the Washington Weather Bureau said the tempest was well out in the Atlantic and moving away from the coast. Ione's position was pegged at 200 miles east of Norfolk.

However, to be on the safe side, the bureau cautioned most of the New England coast to stay on the alert lest winds from the erratic Ione cause trouble.

Before heading seaward, the storm had taken at least five lives —all in North Carolina—and caused property damages of millions in the same state. Some crops were badly hit.

Heavy rains fell in Virginia, and hard winds were felt at many points along the Northeastern seaboard.

Although New York City felt little effect, the world championship fight between Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore at Yankee Stadium was postponed.

It will go on tomorrow night if the weather permits. Otherwise it will be delayed until Thursday night.

As Hurricane Ione went swirling off to the east, an older sister, Hilda, died out early today in the rugged north central mountains of Mexico.

However, Hilda all but wrecked Tampico, an oil port on the Gulf of Mexico. There were at least 12 persons killed, 350 injured and 15,000 left homeless.

Several additional cities were hard hit, and torrential rains still were expected in some parts of Mexico.

Ione, with her windpower down to only about half the original force of 120 m.p.h., thrashed about several hours early today off Norfolk and then took off for the open sea.

Once under way, her forward movement was about 12 m.p.h.

The Northeast was savagely assaulted by floods touched off by Hurricane Diane a month ago, and had eyed Ione's approach with gravest misgivings.

Diane's floods took nearly 200 lives and wrecked property worth billions.

Ione, the season's ninth hurricane and whose name means "to go" in Greek, was the most unpredictable of this year's tropic-spawned storms.

At every stage it was difficult to tell where she'd head next. As a consequence, the whole Eastern seaboard was kept in nervous tension.

While the death and damage toll was far less than in some previous storms, it might have been far greater with a slight change in direction.

Still, Ione's peculiar and slow movements gave the seaboard ample time to get set for the worst. This probably was a great factor in the comparatively low loss of life and property.

Every state in the storm's path marshalled police and Civil Defense forces to cope with the emergency. Everything loose was tied down. Emergency aid centers were set up. Civil and military planes were shifted to fields inland. Red Cross operations were planned.

New York City's 21,000-man police force was kept on an all-night alert.

North Carolina got the worst of the blow, suffering 100 mile an hour winds and deluges of rain.

All five deaths were counted in the state, and crop and property damages totaled millions.

Four died at New Bern, where the trent river flooded 40 city blocks. Two victims, a boy of five and a man of 50, drowned. Information on the others was not immediately available.

The fifth victim was another child who drowned when a dam was reported to have burst at Eliabethtown, N.C.

Several towns were left partly or entirely under water.

At many points power and communications lines were demolished, roads made impasssble and buildings wrecked or battered.

Flooded towns included Morehead City, 12 miles from New Bern, Washington and Belhaven. The latter, which has a population of 2,500, reported every house damaged by wind and water.

Crop losses in eastern North Carolina were expected to run into millions.

Ione's heavy rainfall, coming so soon after Hurricanes Diane and Connie, was reported to have ruined the peanut crop and struck hard new blows at corn and cotton.

Ione hit the state's principal commercial peanut producing area where last year's crop was valued at 38 million dollars. Sweet potatoes were another crop casualty in some areas.

Virginia apparently escaped with less damage, even though the hurricane decided to stop for a visit around Norfolk.

Winds were only about 35 to 47 m.p.h. although there were occasionally stronger gusts.

Rainfall was heavy at some points in Virginia, including Norfolk where three inches fell in 24 hours. Cape Henry registered 3.53 inches, nearly two and a half of them in six hours. Richmond had 3.83 inches.

Peron Missing After Fall Of Government

BULLETIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The rebel Argentine radio broadcast a call today to the insurgent navy to halt the escape of President Juan D. Peron. It said he was fleeing to Asuncion Paraguay, on a Paraguayan gunboat.

The rebel broadcast said it had been learned that the fugitive president is aboard a vessel named the Humaita.

A broadcast from Asuncion had identified the boat as the Paraguay. The Paraguayan fleet has boats of both names on the Parana River.

Asuncion is about 900 miles upstream from Buenos Aires and the trip by boat usually takes about five days against the strong current.

The repeated orders to intercept Peron were heard from several rebel radio stations.

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's new army government began peace talks today with the rebel forces whose revolt ended Juan D. Peron's 10-year dictatorship.

Peron was reported to have escaped arrest and fled the country. The independent newspaper Clarin said the dictator's arrest was decided upon in all-night session of top military leaders. But Peron was forewarned so that he could leave the presidential palace and flee the country by air, the newspaper said. There was speculation he had gone to Paraguay.

A junta of generals took command of the government as a climax to the four-day revolt that overthrew Peron. They quickly announced peace talks with the rebel forces.

The generals also moved rapidly to tighten their control on Buenos Aires after rebel reports that the six-million-member General Federation of Labor — the backbone of Peron's popular support — is planning a general strike. With such a strike Argentine labor returned Peron to power in 1945 after a military clique had jailed him.

The rebel radio at Bahia Blanca, 325 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, said the CGT "is preparing secretly, under the inspiration of Peron, a general revolutionary strike for dawn to restore the tyrant, betraying all pledges."

The state radio soonafter said there would be "no work" in the capital today, but several hours later a broadcast communique from the junta called on the workers to remain calm and resume work.

The communique singled out the CGT, saying that Hector Hugo Di Pierto, the federation secretary general and one of the fallen dictator's hencemen, "had been informed the talks aimed at pacification of the country already have been started with the rebels."

Another broadcast communique called on all government employes to continue performing their duties with "regularity, correctness and efficiency" and to maintain normal administrative activities.

The junta did not say where the peace talks with the rebels are taking place, when they started or who is representing the rebels. Previously the commander of the rebel fleet, Adm. Isaac Rojas, had been reported planning to enter Buenos Aires Harbor last night aboard the Cruiser La Argentina for the negotiations.

The army commander in chief, Gen. Jose Domingo Molina, appeared to be the new leader of the junta which took over the reins of government after Peron's resignation yesterday.

Molina was mentioned today as the junta president, whereas previous announcements had listed only three other members in the group: Gen. Emilio Forcher, commander of interior forces; Brig. Gen. Carlos Wirrth, chief of staff, and Gen. Angel Juan Mani.

In sweeping changes, the junta named leading army men to replace Peron appointees at the head of the nation's police forces.

An announcement said division Gen. Felix M. Robles had resigned as director of national security and been replaced by division Gen. Andelino Bergallo, commander of the 3rd Army and head of the Buenos Aires garrison. "Military, police and gendarmerie forces" were put under Bergallo's overall command.

Brig. Gen. Norberto Leoncio Mania was named to replace Miguel Gamboa as chief of the federal police, and Brig. Gen. Benjamin Sanchez Mendoza was ordered to head the national gendarmerie.

"Both will take charge immediately," the announcement said.

Motion Filed For Dismissal Over Charges

FORT WORTH (AP)—Counsel for Safeway Stores, Inc., filed a motion yesterday to dismiss an antitrust indictment against the grocery chain, citing the lack of women on the panel when the federal grand jury was drawn.

The motion said failure of court officials to add women to the jury box after Texas voters amended the state Constitution was a violation of the 5th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The motion was one of three filed in U.S. District Court.

The jury panel was drawn April 27. A vote Nov. 2, 1954, made women liable for jury duty in Texas.

The chain is charged with three counts alleging antitrust law violations.

Safeway also filed a motion on behalf of the defendants, Safeway Stores, Inc., and two of its officials, Lingan A. Warren of Oakland, Calif., president and director, and Earl Cliff, Dallas divison manager, asking that the court strike "surplusage" from the indictment.

The motion referred to long lists of alleged violations which it said were "immaterial, irrevelant and inflamatory, highly prejudicial to the defendants and do not constitute elements of offenses purported to be charged in the indictment."

A third motion asked for a bill of particulars.

Oil Allowable Set For Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas oil allowable for October will be 3,148,459 barrels per day, up 64,772 barrels daily over the present level.

The Railroad Commission ordered the increase yesterday afternoon after the industry indicated it would solve the "distress oil" situation in Texas.

Purchasing companies said they will take on a pro rate basis 60,000 barrels a day of distress Texas crude which Stanolind Oil Purchasing Co. normally would be taking.

Stanolind has said it is unable to handle the oil because of the Aug. 27 fire which shut down the Whiting, Ind., refinery of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, for which Stanolind is the purchasing subsidiary.

However, Ralph Dietler of Stanolin assured the commission his firm will not apply its purchaser proration policy to waterflood wells. Operators of some such wells in west central Texas had said that Stanolind's curtailment of purchases might force shutdown of the wells.

Increased production will result from having 16 days of flow statewide and in the big East Texas Field, one more day then for September.

The Sandusky (Oil Creek) field will be on 13 days of flow Adamc Devonian, Jigger Y (Pennsylvania) McElroy, South Cowden, and Foster, 15 and Fort Chadbourne, 11. That is the same schedule they are following this month.

Post Office Winds Up In The Red In 1955

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department said today it ended the 1955 fiscal year $362,700,000 in the red.

Releasing its annual financial report, the department said this was an improvement of $29,200,000 over the previous fiscal year, which ended with a $361,900,000 deficit.

The department noted that the deficit as of June 30 — the end of fiscal 1955 — was 47 per cent below the record deficit of fiscal 1952—$682,400,000.

It said it was able to make a better financial record in fiscal 1955 than in fiscal 1954 despite a pay raise to its workers which, retroactive to March 1, added an estimated $40,300,000 to the cost of running the postal service last year.

France To Replace Moroccan Sultan With 3-Man Regency

PARIS (AP)—France today officially resolved to remove the Sultan of Morocco and replace him with a three-man regency for an indefinite period of governmental reform.

In a stormy, three-hour meeting the French Cabinet authorized Premier Edgar Faure and his minister for Moroccan and Tunisian affairs, Pierre July, to name the three regents.

This decision was taken when the French nominee, Gen. Mohammed Si Kittani Ben Hammon, formally refused a post as regent.

Both Faure and July told newsmen they would make their choice of regents today and include this in detailed instructions to the French resident General, Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin.

Faure and July to pick the regents ended days of debate within the French government itself, and between French and Moroccan leaders, on the choice of the third regent.

Both sides had earlier agreed that two of them would be the former Pasha of Sefrou, Si Bekkai, an independent nationalist, and El Mokri, 108-year-old grand vlier or prime minister of Morocco.

Under Faure's plan the three regents are to install a new government of national union, including representatives of the principal nationalist movements. This is part of a program for a reconstruction of French-Moroccan relations which Faure hopes will end months of bloodshed and violence in the North African protectorate.

The formal decision to go ahead with the program came as the U.N. General Assembly was preparing to convene in New York. Faure's aim was to have a decision on the plan in time to prevent criticism from the Arab-Asian bloc.

Under the French plan the present Sultan, Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa, will move to Tangier—willingly, the French hope—while the new Moroccan government negotiates with France on amendments to the 1912 Treaty of Fe. This treaty established France's protectorate over the country.

The amendments would be designed to give Morocco limited self-rule within a French-Moroccan political partnership.

Faure conceded to newsmen that the position of the present Sultan, who has repeatedly insisted he will remain on the throne, is still a big hurdle. However, French officials are convinced that they can handle this problem.

Council Gives Okay To New City Budget

A budget for the city for 1955-56 fiscal year totaling $629,429 was unanimously adopted by the city council last night on first reading.

The council action came after a public hearing on the budget was held, at which one citizen appeared, and he made no comment on the budget.

After the budget was adopted on first reading, the council unanimously passed on first reading an ordinance setting the city tax rate $100 valuation, the same rate as for the 1955 tax year at $1.50 per has been used for the past two years.

A report of the city tax board of equalization, in letter form, was read by Malven K. Stevenson, mayor, in which the tax board stated that the total valuations for Snyder this year are $13,256,922, an increase of more than $1,600,000 over last year's valuations of $11,600,000.

Second reeadings of both the budget and tax rate ordinances will be necessary before they become officially effective.

The city charter calls for the city budget to be prepared and the public hearing held earlier in the year than it was this year, but the tex equalization survey held this summer made it impossible to compile a budget until the results of the survey were known.

A letter from the city council to the Snyder Independent School District was read and incorporated into the minutes of last night's council meeting. The letter stated that the city would make available to the school district the results of the city's tax equalization survey, and make available also the building permits and plat plans of new developments in the city, so that the school tax department could keep abreast of new developments.

B. J. Shelley, city manager, reported to the council that the city's expenditures for the current budget year are below the total budgeted estimates, and that the city will end the fiscal year Sept. 31, with balances in all departments.

Exact balances in the budget will not be known, however, until the city has paid all bills for this month, Shelley, said

Hilda Broken Up In Mexico By Mountains

By The Associated Press

Hurricane Hilda, branded one of the worst tropical disturbances to strike the Mexican coast, broke up in the mountains of western Mexico Tuesday to leave Texas unscathed.

But in misery-laden Tampico, Mexican Gov. Horacio Teran reported 15,000 homeless, 12 dead, 350 injured and 90 per cent of the Gulf coast city's buildings damaged. A state of emergency was ordered as the Mexican government rushed aid to the stricken city and asked United States help.

While heavy rains had been expected in Texas' already soaked lower Rio Grande Valley, a 4 a.m. (CST) advisory from the New Orleans Weather Bureau said Texas was practically out of danger.

The hurricane, the advisory said, was only a weak circulation over central Mexico, 300 miles west of Tampico and still moving westward. Heavy rains, said the advisory, were occurring 250 miles east and north of the center.

The continued westward movement indicated by the weak circulation virtually eliminated for Texas all threat of excessive rains.

The Gulf coast area, however, could expect showers during the day as a result of the hurricane, the U.S. Weather Bureau said. Light rains were falling at Brownsville, Corpus Christi and Alice at mid-morning Tuesday and cloudy conditions prevailed in South Texas and along the coast on a line south of Laredo eastward through Junction, San Antonio, Lufkin and the Louisiana border. Elsewhere in the state skies were clear.

Showers dotted the state Monday night. Amarillo had .09 inches, Brownsville .01, Corpus Christi .07, Laredo .13, Victoria .28 and El Paso, Salt Flat and Dalhart reported traces during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Early morning minimum temperatures in the state ranged from 60 degrees at Amarillo to 82 at Corpus Christi.

Land Accounts Are Released

AUSTIN (AP)—Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder said yesterday 111 veterans land accounts have been released from a suspense order invoked during the recent investigation of the state program.

Investigations by the attorney general's office showed the released purchses were made in good faith, Rudder said.

Another 1,400 accounts, representing a state investment of more than three million dollars, were still being held in suspense pending further checking.

A total of 16,333 veterans have purchased almost two million acres of land at a total cost of more than $105,000,000 under the program, Rudder said.

More than 500 veterans have paid off their loans in full, permitting use of that money again in purchases for more veterans under the revolving 100 million dollar fund.

Draft Call Almost Doubled For Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas draft call for 1,006 men for November, almost double the October quota, was announced today by State Selective Service Director Paul L. Wakefield.

The state quota is about 5 per cent of the national call issued recently for 20,000 men for November. The Navy has asked for 10,000 draftees to replace heavy losses from expiring enlistments during the Korean conflict.

Wakefield said local board quotas are now being figured and will be mailed about Oct. 1. With the exception of delinquents and volunteers, the November call will be filled with men 21 years old or older on Nov. 1.

U. N. Delegates Meeting Today

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—As U.N. delegates gathered for the opening today of the 10th General Assembly, the United States marshaled support to knock down any fresh Soviet bid to seat Communist China.

The Red China issue, which comes up each year, was expected to get another test as soon as the acting president, J. M. H. A. Luns of the Netherlands, rapped the gavel to launch the new session.

Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. expressed confidence the United States had lined up enough votes to keep Red China out. Lodge prepared a brief resolution to shelve the issue for 1955, the maneuver which worked at the last session.

Diplomats anticipated that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, here for his first Assembly since 1946, would make the annual bid to unseat the Chinese Nationalists. There was speculation, however, that the Russians might leave the initiative up to some other power sympathetic to the Peiping regime.

An East-West test of strength was also seen shaping up in the hot contest between the U.S.-backed Philippines and Soviet-supported Poland for a Security Council seat.

With a number of European members reported favoring another Soviet bloc member on the council, the United States faced a stiff fight.

Molotov was all smiles as he told reporters yesterday he expects the current session to yield positive results.

Lodge also appeared optimistic that the session would be a good one. He conferred last night with the 20-nation Latin-American bloc on China representation, the Security Council election and other issues.

The Assembly will swing into its general policy debate as soon as it clears aside organizational matters—election of a president, seven committee chairmen and adopts an agenda.

The presidential election was expected to be routine, with Chile's Jose Maza so far unopposed.

Because of the presence of the Big Four foreign ministers, interest centered on what the United States and Russia would have to say in the policy debate. Secretary of State Dulles will take the floor Thursday. Molotov the following day.

Molotov's decision to attend the Assembly gave rise to speculation Moscow plans to bring up important questions.

Disarmament is the major single topic before the Assembly, but the delegates are not expected to take it up until after the Big Four thresh it out in Geneva.

Some diplomats speculated that Molotov might follow up Russia's agreement yesterday to give the Porkkala naval base back to Finland with demands that the United States also relinquish bases in foreign lands.

Many also looked to Molotov for the first concrete indication of how the Russians would vote on Eisenhower's plan for mutual armament inspection by air.

At last night's session of the Disarmament subcommittee, Russian delegate Arkady Sobolev cited as examples of Soviet good faith both the Porkkala agreement and announcement of a 640,000-man cut in Soviet armed forces.

Harold Stassen of the United States came back with a demand for fuller information on what is going on behind the Iron Curtain and with statistics of huge cuts in American armed forces since World War II.

The Assembly's agenda also is expected to include such explosive items as Arab-Asian differences with France over Morocco and Algeria, the British-Turkish-Greek squabble over Cyprus and the U.S.-Soviet breach over charter revision through which the United States hopes to break the membership deadlock caused by Soviet use of the veto power.

Ike Appeals For Highways

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called on an organization of motor-minded citizens to "speak up again and again for prompt action on a highway system adequate for modern living."

Eisenhower, whose multibillion-dollar highway improvement program was rejected by Congress earlier this year, made the suggestion in a message to the 53rd annual convention of the American Automobile Assn., an organiation whose aim is to improve driving conditions. The group claims 4,800,000 members, mostly passenger car owners.

"The members of your association know from experience how urgently needed is a road system in pace with our expanding population," the President said. "Economic growth must not be stunted by a creeping paralysis of traffic.

"Motoring convenience, safe driving and national security must not be checked by a lack of roads. A modern road system is one of our great national needs," he continued.

"I hope all of you will continue to speak up again and again for prompt action on a highway system adequate for modern living."

The President's call for a broad highway building program was seconded by Andrew J. Sordoni of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., president of AAA, although Sordoni did not come out for any specific plan.

Nazareth, Israel, where Christ lived most of His life, was recently given its first modern water supply when it was linked with the nation's national pipeline network.

Fines Passed Out By Court

Two men were assessed fines in county court this morning after pleas of guilty to charges of swindling by worthless check were entered before Edgar Taylor, county judge.

One of the men, G. H. Clanton, 26, of Post, paid a fine and court costs totaling $45.25.

The other man also of Post, W. R. Rogers, 51, was assessed a fine of $5, court costs of $23.50, and milage totaling $6, but had not paid his fine at noon today. He is in county jail in lieu of the fine.

Both men were charged with giving worthless checks to the B & B Parkway No. 22 grocery store at the East Highway and Avenue F.

CASSEROLE CORNBREAD

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5488.

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

CASSEROLE CORN BREAD: good companion for baked ham when you are giving a buffet supper. Add a big salad——of cooked or raw vegetables, or a combination of the two——and watermelon pickle and you can be sure your guests will fare well. The corn bread is firmer than traditional Southern spoon bread, but it sould be served with a big spoon rather than cut with a knife. Be sure to have lots of pats of good butter (lightly salted or sweet to go with it).

This Casserole Corn Bread is a recipe we had noted many times but had not tried until recently; the cheese variation makes it doubly useful. One word of reassurance to remember when you try it: don't worry if the stiffly beaten egg white doesn't combine perfectly with the thin batter. The little blobs of white will be taken care of in the baking.

CASSEROLE CORN BREAD

2 cups enriched yellow corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups boiling water
¼ cup butter or margarine (soft)
1½ cups milk
3 eggs (separated)

METHOD: Stir corn meal and salt together in mixing bowl. Add boiling water and mix until smooth and free from lumps; stir in the butter until combined. Add milk; beat with spoon until smooth. Beat egg yolks until they begin to get thick; stir into corn meal mixture. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff; fold into corn meal mixture. Pour into greased 2-quart baking dish. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 1 hour or until puffed and browned. Serve at once.

VARIATION: Stir in 1 cup grated cheddar cheese and 2 tablespoons finely diced pimiento with the beaten egg yolks. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

OTHER CASSEROLE CORN BREAD SERVICE

Baked ham is not the only accompaniment for Casserole Corn Bread. Here are other suggestions:

For Brunch——Serve the corn bread with crisp bacon and apple rings. To prepare the fruit, core apples but do not peel. Slice into about ¼-inch thick rings. Cook in a little butter or margarine in a large skillet, one layer at a time; sprinkle with brown sugar. Turn rings to cook evenly on both sides. Skillet may be covered through part of the cooking time to help make apples tender. But watch! they should not get mushy.

For Lunch——When there's a ladies' party at noon, serve Casserole Corn Bread with creamed chicken and green peas. Add cranberry sauce so its garnet color will make the plates look pretty. The bread is good, too, with fried chicken and gravy.

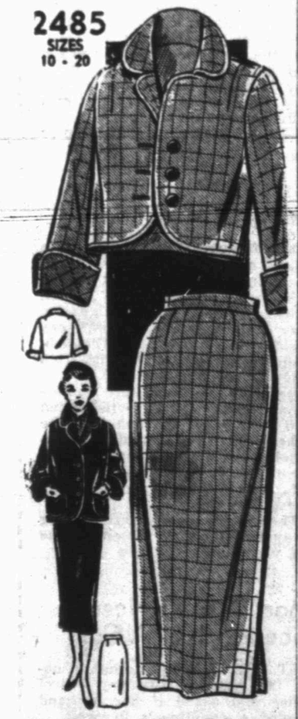

For Supper——Like baby turkey oven-fried? The Casserole Corn Bread will taste good with it. Add a big salad of greens with a tangy French dressing. Have the greens, assorted, choosing among escarole, chicory, romaine, lettuce, water cress, and adding shredded green cabbage. Men who won't eat a salad of plain lettuce or romaine seem to take to this potpourri!

Entertainment has come home, and with baby sitters everywhere, Mom can be a grand hostess. She can wear party dresses, and even show off the gold compact Dad gave her on the honeymoon. Jewelry that has been stashed in bank vaults can now go to her fingers, neck and ears. Her silent robots in the kitchen make it possible for her to emerge from chores just before a party looking bright-eyed and fancy free.

Glamor items in the stores are being snapped up by older women. You'll find fancy-sequined and beaded playshoes topes on the fashion parade. Colorful party slacks, and bejeweled sweaters and aprons highlight Mom's wardrobe instead of the dreary housedresses of a few years ago.

Mom takes better care of her looks too, because of this revolution in the home. She manicures her nails, touches-up her hair, weighs herself everyday. She wants to stack up against Dad's secretary when the office crowd comes to the house, so she can't afford to have a bulge around the middle. She'll pedicure her toes till they twinkle through her play sandals.

Hold The Onions

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — The New England Telephone Co. was well prepared for Hurricane Ione. It announced that not only were the usual measures taken to protect stock and keep service going but the cafeteria refrigerator at the main office "is full of hamburger."

Her teeth sparkle. If she must wear a hearing aid, she accepts the idea, gets one buried in her earring, barrette, comb of glasses and doesn't think a thing of it.

Even her eyeglasses have gone dramatic. Conversation-piece trims are available to fit temple corners of frames for company appreciation. Mom knows one pair of glasses just won't do, do if she can't afford another pair she'll adopt the eyeglass trim——elaborate modernistic swirls of baguette-cut rhinestones or shimmering colored stones. There are some with matching earrings. These trims may be added to one or both sides of the eyeglasses on a temporary or permanent basis.

Is it any wonder then, that the Modern Mom looks so young and bewitching that that sometimes one wonders "which one is the daughter?" These days it is hard to tell.

Underground Commie Leader Being Held

NEW YORK (AP)—Morris Weiss, 45, identified by federal authorities as an underground Communist leader, is being held in $50,000 bail on charges of violating the Smith Act.

Weiss was arrested yesterday by FBI agents on a subway platform.

A Justice Department announcement said Weiss disappeared from his Chicago home about four years ago and had been in the Communist underground ever since. It said he had been in Moscow for eight months of study and training during the late 1930s.

The Smith Act forbids conspiracy to teach or advocate overthrow of the government by force. Conviction carries a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The swirled line of this closed-toe model enhances the fashion appeal. The back is open. The materials, suede and lustre leather.

Scoop out a cucumber and fill with a well-seasoned cream cheese mixture. Chill, then at serving time cut into one - quarter - inch thick slices. Serve with lots of paper napkins! A pimento cream cheese mixture looks particularly attractive in these cucumber rings.

MORE FLAVOR PER CUP

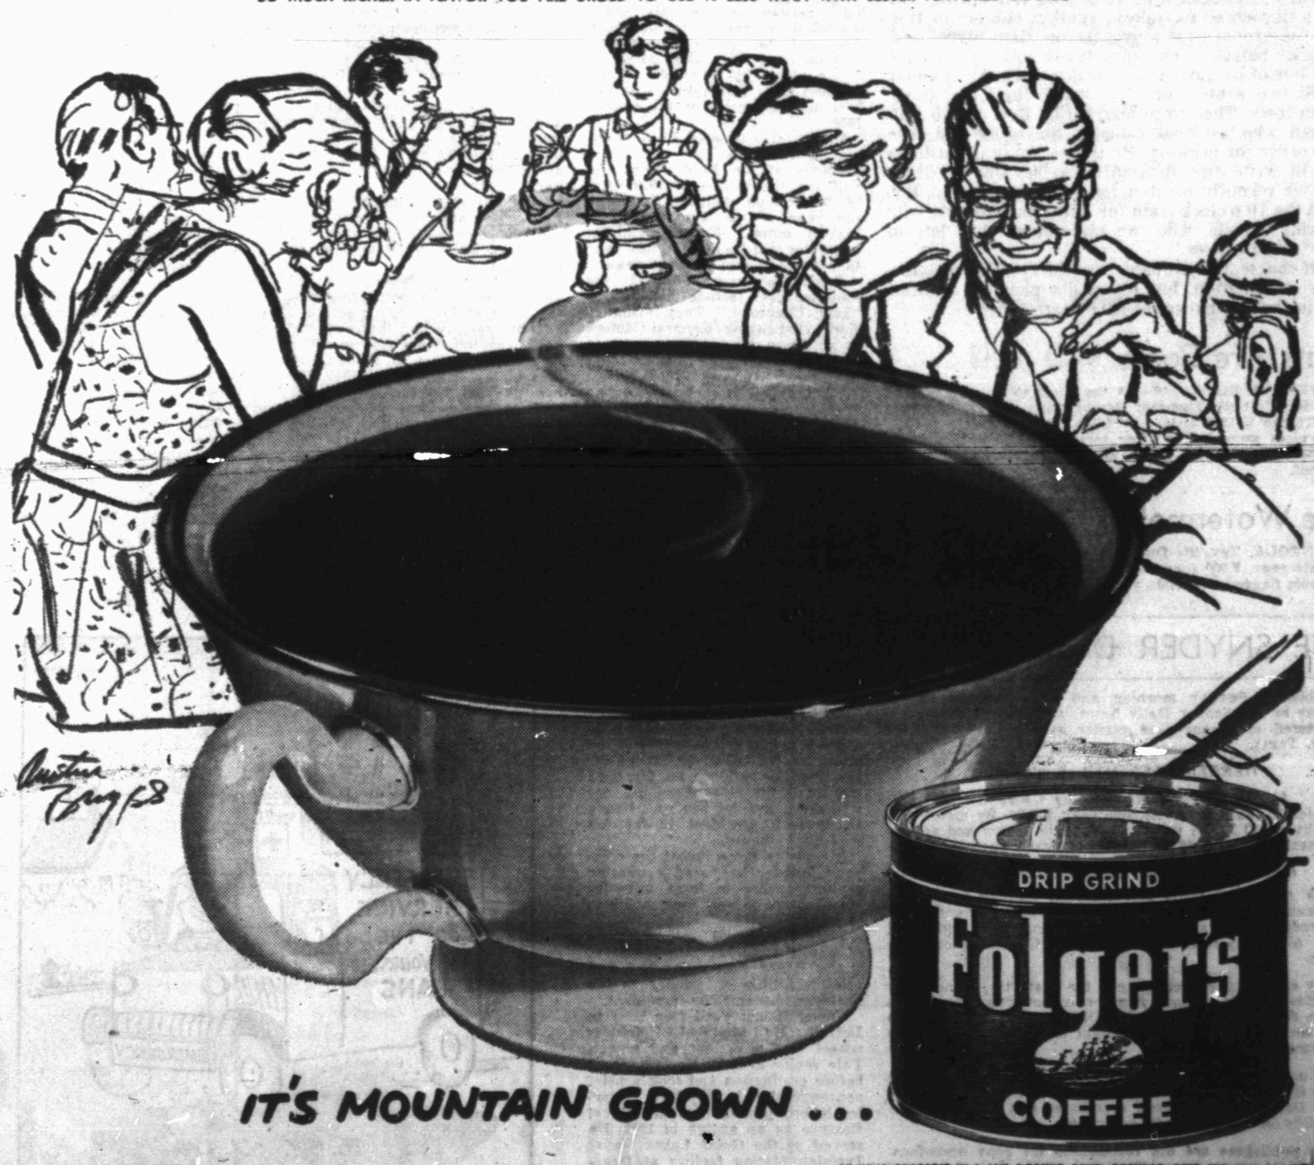

Folger's skillful blending and roasting of nature's most flavorful coffees makes the difference!

Folger's, you see, starts with only the choicest coffees... Mountain-Grown coffees that are naturally richer, heartier, more flavorful.

They blend and prepare these finer coffees in an unique way, with their century-old Folger "touch" that produces not only a richer flavor, but a truly distinctive flavor no other coffee can match. And because Folger's blends to a flavor, not to a formula, you can be sure of the same rewarding goodness cup after cup, day after day.

Why not serve your family the one coffee that over the years has been specially made to give you more flavor, more coffee satisfaction in every cup. Serve them Mountain-Grown Folger's. We think that once you've tried Folger's, you'll never be satisfied with anything less.

The Art Of Spelling

For the last several decades of his life the late Colonel Robert R. McCormick practiced what he preached—simplified spelling. Certain words—enuf, thoro, thru and so on—were rendered phonetically in the columns of his Chicago Tribune. The purists poked fun at the colonel, of course, and indeed some of his spelling ideas were slightly on the ridiculous side.

Well ,the colonel's heirs and assigns recently dropped most of the colonel's verbal sacred cows into the hellbox, and went back to spelling 'em the way the dictionary says. He wasn't the first of the spelling reformers and he won't be the last. He merely went a little further than some and stuck by his guns longer. Colonel McCormick wasn't what you would call a changeable man. Notionate, perhaps, but not wishy-washy.

Well, sir, not long ago the head of the Los Angeles Civil Service Department sat down to taxpayer's time and studied the list of words commonly misspelled by applicants for jobs. He found that eleven words were commonly misspelled, and of that number, six began with the letter "a"—accumulate, accommodate, afraid, all right ,already and aqueduct.

Somebody pointed out promptly that over twenty years ago English Professor Easley S. Jones, flanked by a flock of assistants, studied the spelling of more than four million words written by high school graduates. Twenty-five of those words were found to be responsible for eleven percent of the misspellings—not a single one of which began with the letter "a."

Professor Jones concluded that bad spellers don't misspell a great number of different words; they just misspell the same words over and over again.

Any word-carpenter can tell you that certain words have a habit of getting misspelled in spite of all the speller can do. Perhaps one may write a particular word correctly a thousand times, and on the 1,001st attempt it comes out wrong.

From our observations we have come to the conclusion that the difference between a good speller and a poor one is a dictionary. The good speller looks 'em up when in doubt.

Advertising Or News?

Not too many decades ago newspapers did not always separate news from advertising, but mixed them indiscriminately sometimes to the confusion of everybody. Nowadays news is news and advertising is advertising, each in its separate sphere, but it can be said that advertising can be news even when it is clearly offered for the purpose of making a sale. Indeed, advertising is basically news ,because it tells the reader what he can buy, where he can buy it, and generally what it will cost him—anything from a toothbrush to a grain combine.

3ut in the old days newspapers sometimes mixed business with pleasure. Certain favorite advertisers were treated to free blurbs now and then, or paid-for boosts masqueraded as "news." Nowadays newspapers and magazines must make it clear that paid-for space is advertising, either by its very form or plainly branded as such.

Other day we ran across a clipping of an item that appeared in a newspaper fifty years ago, as follows:

"Miss Jennie Jones and Bob Henry were married at the Jones mansion last night. The bride is the daughter of Constable Jones who has made a good officer and will doubtless be re-elected this spring. He offers a fine horse for sale in another column of this issue. The groom runs a grocery on Main Street and is a steady patron of our advertising columns. He has a good line of bargains in his ad this week. All summer he paid two cents more for putter than any other store in town. They were married by Rev. Josiah Butterworth ,who last week called at this office and gave a nice order for printing. He is also going in business and will write fire insurance. So sav the business cards we recently printed for him. Jennie and Bob left on the 10 o'clock train for Milwaukee to visit with the bride's uncle, who, we understand, has lots of money and a cancer."

Of course ,this probably was the creation of somebody's imagination, but it had its genuine counterparts in the journalism of fifty years ago.

Henry Ford II Has Succeeded In Bringing Back Empire Started By His Grandfather

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Ten years ago a stubborn but tired old man resigned as president of the Ford Motor Co. Into the post stepped his 28-year-old grandson.

For the Ford Motor Co. it was a history-making event.

World War II had just ended. Big defense contracts were about to be terminated. The huge industrial empire the elder Henry Ford had founded and directed as one-man institution showed signs of tottering.

To a younger Henry Ford backed by all members of his family excepting perhaps the retiring 82-year-old patriarch fell the task of rebuilding the empire.

Did it frighten him?

"I didn't know enough to be frightened," he said later.

In the decade that Henry Ford II has directed the destinies of the great family-owned automotive enterprise, he and his associates have brought it back into the big money-making area, weathered some serious threats to its life and implemented a 2¼-billion-dollar expansion and modernization program.

And, temporarily at least, he has realized one of his most cherished ambitions—to overtake Chevrolet, his major competitor, in production and sales. Although disputed by Chevrolet, Ford claimed sales leadership in actual customer deliveries at the end of 1954.

Unofficial estimates from financial sources say this year's net earnings of the Ford Motor Co. will top the estimated 1950 total of 265 million dollars. That was the year of the auto industry's biggest output. Ford assemblies and sales will be greater this year than those of any previous year.

Friends of young Ford say his ambition goes farther than just to "beat Chevrolet." They visualize Ford challenging General Motors in all price classes. They point to the huge expansion program that has been underway since 1946.

When currently planned projects are completed in 1958 more than $2,325,000,000 will have been spent on expansion and modernization. More than 50 million square feet of floor space will have been added to present facilities.

An acrimonious family meeting is said to have preceded the elder Ford's resignation and his grandson's election as president. It was common knowledge that young Ford's father, Edsel B. Ford, had been president largely in name only, from 1918 until his death in 1943; that the elder Ford and some of his close associates frequently countermanded commitments Edsel made, much to the latter's embarrassment.

Eleanor Clay Ford, Edsel's widow, reportedly threatened to sell her company holdings and the stock she controlled as trustee for her younger children on the open market if the elder Ford did not step down and let her son, Henry II, become president in fact as well as in name.

It was the same threat the company founder had used a quarter century earlier to force minority stockholders to sell their holdings to him.

Thus, on Sept. 21, 1945, a couple of weeks after his 28th birthday, young Henry Ford, who had had relatively little experience in the business, became its president.

Young Henry Ford was born in Detroit. He attended Hotchkiss school in Connecticut and was a Yale senior in 1940. He left school before graduation and took a brief apprenticeship in the Ford factories before joining the U.S. Naval Reserve as an ensign in 1941. He served at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station facility at Dearborn, Mich.

Late in 1943 he was put on inactive duty and rejoined the company as a vice president.

At 38, the six-foot Ford is becoming somewhat plump. To a characteristic personal charm and outspoken frankness he has added substantial poise in the decade he has headed the Ford company.

A hard worker, he has the faculty for quick discernment and quick decisions. He gives full credit to his management team for much of the company's success during the last 10 years.

Unlike his grandfather, who figuratively carried the company's affairs in his vest pocket, the younger Ford sought and got a lot of help. He brought together a group of experts in engineering, in manufacturing, in administratiin, in financial affairs, in labor relations. Heading the management team was Ernest R. Breech, top-notch production man who had directed three General Motor subsidiaries. Today the company has more than a score of vice presidents. Each is responsible for a vital phase of the company's operations.

Formation of the management team followed a major "house cleaning" Ford started when he stepped into the presidency. Many old, time-worn policies, along with many individuals long associated with the elder Ford, were swept out of the corporation.

Numerous "fringe" enterorises developed by the company's founder also went out. Ships that sailed the seven seas were sold; so, too, were big rubber plantations in South America; tire manufacturing facilities, timberlands and saw mills, soybean oil mills; numerous small factories in rural towns; thousands of acres of farm lands and hydro power sites in various parts of the country.

"Our business," explained young Ford, "is making automobiles."

Breech was made executive vice president. Later he became board chairman.

This is the way Breech summed up the Ford situation at the time the younger Ford took over:

"About all we had that was any good was the name of Ford. The company had lost 55 million dollars in the first half of 1946. We had no real research. Even the postwar engine was no good."

Ford now has research: it has a styling division: it has labor direction; it has manufacturing responsibility and capacity; it has most of the things needed to battle General Motors.

A golden torrent of profit, a multibillion-dollar expansion program, a still growing industrial empire—these are fruits of young Henry Ford's first 10 years as head of the Ford Motor Co.

His grandfather, with 11 other Detroiters, founded the business in 1903 with a total paid in cash capital of $28,000.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A rich man is returning from Florida to New York in his car. He collides with a bulldozer, smashes a prison truck, kills two guards.

The man is completely paralyzed except for a finger on his left hand. He is presumed dead and taken to the morgue, his body resting on his left hand.

This chilling situation is meat for the macabre mind of Alfred Hitchcock and it's one of the dramas that will introduce the famed director to TV audiences. He'll begin the Alfred Hitchcock series on CBS Sunday Oct. 4.

The calm Mr. Hitchcock was supervising the filmings of the drama at Republic Studios. The bulldozer was being wheeled into position, an auto was being jacked up to look like a wreck and Joseph Cotton stood by ready to assume his role as the paralyzed driver.

"This is the kind of story we'll present," the director remarked. "A nice, cozy story of terror with a little twist at the end."

Hitchcock, who has presented nice little murders in films like "Dial M for Murder," "Rear Window" and "To Catch a Thief," is directing three to six of the 39 films. The others will be done in the Hitchcock manner, but by others.

He is using the same methods he uses for features — making drawings of each shot before filming begins. But there's a big difference. The TV shows are shot in three days.

"I hope Paramount and Warner's don't hear about this," he said. "They'll say, 'Hmmm, a 30-minute show in three days. Then why a 90-minute show for us in 93 days?'

"There's a lot of difference, of course. You have to cut a lot of corners in TV. The emphasis is not so much on quality."

Swiss Hotels Must Do Enough Business In Three Months To Last Entire Year

By HOUSTON HARTE

GENEVA (By mail) — Outside of Geneva, Bern, and Zurick, if you think your Swiss hotel bill is a little high, you should take a look at the hotel business in the country as a whole. There are a few winter resorts which also attract tourists in the summer, but most of the tourist trade, outside of the big cities, is in Switzerland during the four-month period from May to September. The first two weeks of May and the last two weeks of September are pretty poor picking for the operator.

In an actual three-month operation the hotel must pay a rent which will earn a return on the investment in the property for a year, make the necessary repairs, and earn a little profit for operator and owner. It is a pretty hard undertaking.

At the Grand National Hotel in Lucerne last night there were six persons in a dining room 100 by 150 feet. There must have been a dozen to 15 waiters. The hotel was built in 1875 for the enjoyment of Europe's great. It is five stories high, 356 feet long, but has only 260 rooms. Here kings and queens, dukes and duchesses and lesser nobility of Europe came to enjoy "the season" which in those days was either the month of July or August.

The old Ritz - Carlton in New York is the only thing in the United States that could compare with it in elegance, inefficiency, and waste space. The main guest rooms have their own balconies fronting the lake. Across the hall were the quarters for the maids and valets. The ceilings are 14 feet high, the walls plastered and paneled. The furniture, with the exception of the brass beds, duplicates the elegance of the Ritz-Carlton.

With vestibule and all the Famifications of the bath room, the room is 40 feet deep and 24 feet wide. In September you get it for $12.50 a day for two. And they throw in a continental breakfast served at your bedside, if you can take it that way. This hotel closes Oct. 1 until May 1 next year.

The watch industry here is unbelievable. There are as many watch stores along any street in Geneva as there were cocktail bars in Los Angeles or San Francisco a few months after repeal.

That is to say a third of the retail shops are devoted exclusively to the selling of watches. As probably the only visitor who has been to Switerland who did not buy a watch (at least so far), it is a source of amazement to see stores jammed like a bargain basement with every nationality of the globe trying to get the attention of a clerk to buy from one to a half dozen watches. And they are not cheap—or at least as cheap as you would think.

I can't see what difference it makes to the Swiss if we do raise the tariff. We come over here and buy the watches and carry them back home duty free. The $1,000 exemption certainly must have been a boon to Switzerland's principal export. If the tariff really does put the watch prices up in the states, it just makes it that much more attractive for the American tourist to buy one or two extra watches when he comes to Switzerland.

The watch industry is specialized here. All the big watch names are splashed in electric signs on top of buildings all over the lake area. But watch movements are mass produced by a few companies whose names are unknown to the American purchasers. The cases are made up by another group of firms and the sales are carried on by the big advertised name firms we know.

The same movements go in a dozen or more cases in which the dial plate is the only different piece that enters the watch. It contains the advertised name and is sold under its guarantee. The movements are just alike; only the advertising and salesmanship are different.

Watch parts are specialied too. Little shops all over Switzerland—many of them in the mountain towns that are snowed in during the winter—make a certain number of parts for the popular 15 and 17 jewel watch, which is the basis of the Swiss watch supremacy throughout the world. They sell these under contract to the firms which assemble the movements.

Government Wants Savings And Loans To Be In Balance

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Home builders will find mortgages a little harder to come by from now on.

The loan end of the savings and loan business has been growing faster than the savings end. The government thinks they should be in balance. So the Federal Home Loan banks are being told to stop handing out new credit to their 4,200 members.

People are still saving money. The Department of Commerce reports total personal savings running at an annual rate of 16½ billion dollars. But a year ago the savings rate was 18¾ billion.

The significant thing in the view of the government is that while savings totals were falling personal income totals were rising. So were consumer spending and debt accumulation. Although some people are still saving money, people as a whole are saving a lower percentage of their incomes after taxes than they were doing last year when incomes were lower.

New investment money—whether for mortgages, for corporate securities, for loans to business or to government—comes from savings, both personal and corporate. These may be deposited in banks, go to insurance companies or pension funds, or be invested in government or corporate bonds.

Industry and government draws on these accumulation of savings to start new businesses, expand plants, build highways and schools.

When the demand for such investment funds increases faster than new savings are adding to the supply, interest rates go up. And people needing money to build homes or factories go to the banks for loans.

The 11 Federal Home Loan banks have been lending money to their member savings and loan associations—about 1¼ billion dollars in such loans are now outstanding. These associations furnish more than a third of the financing of the new homes being built around the nation.

The Federal Home Loan Board says the associations have made around six billion dollars worth of new mortgage loans this year, a gain of 44 per cent over the amount lent in the same period of 1954.

And now the board is telling the 11 district banks to see to it that the associations lend only out of new savings and loan repayments. This rule won't apply in such emergencies as making loans to those whose property was damaged in recent floods.

The government's move will tighten the money supply a little, make the would-be home owner shop around a little more for someone to lend him money, and probably to pay a little stiffer interest rate.

WASHINGTON LETTER

U.S. Juvenile Delinquency Problem Growing Steadily

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The problem of juvenile delinquency in this country should be the concern of everybody in this country whether it is the business of everybody or not, Philip Green, new director of the Childrens Bureau's Division of Juvenile Delinquency Service, says.

The dynamic, 39-year-old Green who was San Francisco's chief juvenile probation officer before coming here in April, says juvenile delinquency has grown progressively worse over the past six years.

"Even though we are talking about a small percentage of our youth," he told me, "the seriousness of the offenses and the increase in the number of young people who become involved in them is cause for grave concern."

He sees a need for strengthening all existing services to treat the problem. "There is no Salk vaccine, or single thing, that's a sure cure," he explains. "All must coordinate their efforts, the health agencies, school services, the police, juvenile courts, probation officers, training schools, detention homes, institutional and guidance services, recreation people, churches and families."

Statistics gathered from FBI figures, testimony taken by the Congressional sub-committee on juvenile delinquency, and other sources, show, he says, that some of the difficulties are caused by feelings of insecurity resulting from international and national tensions based on the threat of communism and the cold war.

But he has "keen feelings" himself that most of the difficulty centers around the family; the dependency cases, "the things that happen to kids through no fault of their own.

"The neglected and abused child of today is the delinquent of tommorrow," he says, "that's why I put the emphasis on strengthing the basic services to families." Mr. Green, who was one of three official U.S. delegates to the First UN Congress on the Prevention of Crime and The Treatment of the Offender, which met in Geneva, is building up a staff of trained specialists in Juvenile Delinquency treatment with nine professional consultants in such fields as court and probation work, police, institutions, community services, training of personnel in all fields and group work.

Finding Name Is Only One Problem Of Merged Unions

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finding a name that's easy to say, and easy to fit into headlines, will be only one of the minor problems of the AFL and CIO after they merge in one big union next December.

Although they will be working together in the new organiation, the leaders of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organiations didn't want to give up their individual identities.

So, apparently without losing much sleep over it, they agreed on a compromise. They will start out under this name: the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organiations.

That's a big mouthful to carry around very long. The labor bosses probably will agree later on something shorter for the outfit which puts under one tent 10 million AFL members and five million unionists of the CIO.

The first major problem of the two groups when they sit down together will be to get along together. In spite of the present air of harmony, hard feelings run deep among the heads of the some unions which will be in the new AFL-CIO.

For one thing, there's the problem of trying to keep them from raiding one another's unions for members.

For the sake of labor unity, Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, agreed that George Meany, president of the AFL, should be president of the new giant of American labor.

The ruling body, with plenty of power written into the proposed constitution, will be the Executive Council, made up of the president, Meany, a secretary-treasurer, and 27 vice presidents from member unions.

Starting out, at least, the CIO will be in a minority. There will be only 10 cio people on the 29-man council. This council has a big stick: it can investigate and suspend member unions for what it considers misconduct.

Since this council will meet only three times a year, perhaps the real power will turn out to be in the hands of an executive committee which will meet every two months and can get a lot of work done faster than the 29-man council.

The CIO will be outnumbered on the committee too. Three CIO men will sit on the eight-man committee.

But, by agreement, the CIO will name the director of organiation. And organing workers not yet in unions is one of the major tasks the new group has set for itself.

In addition Meany has given warning that the AFL-CIO will plunge into politics "to change the political picture that is developing against Labor."

THE MALEDICTION. By Jean Giono, translated from French by Peter de Mendelssohn. Criterion.

Monsieur Joseph comes dramatically into possession of the estate called the Moulin de Pologne, and thus steps right into the middle of the malignant fate which pursues the Coste family from generation to generation—— and from opening to close of this novel. You may stumble over Giono's conventional use of an initial to conceal a supposedly real name——Madame de M, or Monsieur de K. But you find yourself committed to the Costes' adventures, and half-persuaded that a power exists beyong accounting, beyond proof.

Fish With Memories Bother Fishermen

TOKYO (AP) —The fishermen in Tokyo bay think fish have memories and they're put out at the U.S. armed forces. The United States lowered anti - submarine nets at the entrance of Tokyo bay during the Korean war. The fishermen said the nets kept fish from entering the bay.

Recently the nets were removed and eager Japanese fishermen cast their lines. No bites. Now the fishermen are demanding compensation from the Japan Procurement Agency, the go-between for U.S. armed forces and the Japanese government.

They claim the fish are staying away because they remember the net was there.

Man Doesn't Need License, Just A Car

Child Is Kidnaped In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nearly 300 policemen searched house by house through a 66-block area today for a doctor's 3-day-old son who was kidnaped from Mt. Zion Hospital.

The child, Richard J. Marcus, is the healthy 6-pound, 6½-ounce son of Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus of suburban Daly City.

He was taken from the glass-enclosed nursery yesterday afternoon, presumably by an untidy blonde who had been questioned by Lettie Clement, 21, a student nurse.

Eleanor Loren, a nursing supervisor, saw a blonde woman walking from the hospital shortly afterward with a baby.

Inspector George Dyer described the woman as a "white female American, about 34 years of age, between 5 feet 5 and 5 feet 7 tall, weighing between 150 and 170 pounds."

He said she was large busted, clear skinned and with long blonde hair and gave the general impression of "untidiness."

Dr. Marcus, a staff physician at the hospital, pleaded in a radio broadcast addressed to the kidnaper:

"I realize that you probably wanted this baby for your own, to give it all the love and affection a fine new baby should have. But you must understand that you have left behind two heart broken parents — a mother, who is on the verge of complete collapse and a father whose dreams of having a fine strong son are shattered.

"We will bear you no ill will for loving our son too.

"Please, please return him in good health to us."

The doctor told newsmen, "My wife and I are not vindictive. We will not prosecute if our baby is returned to us unharmed.

"And we are certainly poor candidates for ransom.

"The woman is just hungry for a child."

The hospital offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the baby's recovery.

Mrs. Marcus, 29, was put under sedatives. Her husband is 34. They have two other children, Richard, 3, and Sudan, 2.

East Germans Sign Treaty

BERLIN (AP)—The East Berlin radio announced that Communist East Germany and the Soviet Union signed a treaty today giving sovereignty to East Germany.

The treaty abolishes the office of Soviet high commissioner in Germany, and gives the East Germans more power to regulate their own affairs, particularly in relation to West Germany, the broadcast said.

The agreement provides that Soviet troops shall remain in East Germany as long as Allied forces are stationed in West Germany.

The radio said the negotiators had a "fruitful discussion" on the return of former German prisoners of war.

3 Americans Are Rescued

ACAPULCO, Mex. (AP) — Three North Americans adrift in a fishing boat for three days and nights without food were rescued yesterday by airplane.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Wormser and their 5-year-old son, Paul, residents of Mexico City, left early Saturday on a fishing trip in a rented boat.

The motor died, and the boat drifted for three days and nights 78 miles south of this popular West Coast resort.

They were found yesterday by a rescue plane, which made a rough landing on a nearby beach. The pilot swam to the boat and brought the three to shore, then flew them back to Acapulco.

They had been without food, and their only water had been rainwater, but their condition was said to be good. Wormser is head of a U.S. company in Mexico City.

More Citrus Research Set

HOUSTON (AP)—More money must be spent on citrus and vegetable research, the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Assn. was told yesterday.

Secy. of Agriculture Ezar Taft Benson was scheduled to speak before the group before the convention ends tomorrow. So was Asst. Secy. of Labor Rocco Siciliano.

Bob Allen, research committee chairman told the group's 13th annual convention the state government should be urged to place more emphasis on research for development of improved varieties, insecticides, marketing methods and cultural methodist.

The state, he said, will need help from the association, which spent only $7,000 on research last year. "We talk in thousands of dollars but spend in pennies," he said.

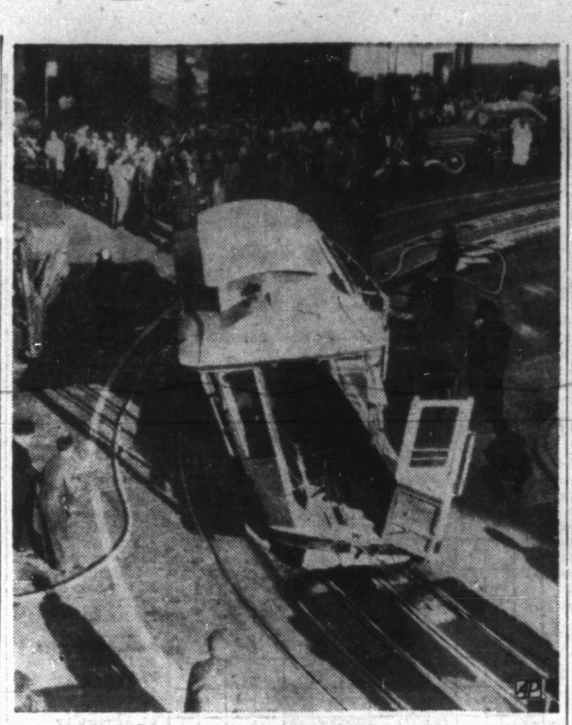

Marines Keep Flag Flying

ST.LOUIS (AP)—The Stars and Stripes are flying again atop the old courthouse for the first time in about a year, thanks to the U.S. Marines.

The climbing of stairs 162 feet to the flag pole on the dome was regarded as too much for the elderly custodians of the building.

Lt. Col. John J. Jarvis, commander of the Marine recruiting service in the Federal Building, came to the rescue with a five-day-a-week flag raising detail which started yesterday.

Jarvis said the Marines couldn't sit by while no flag flew over the building, and added that he doesn't want his men to get soft. "Those stairs, 162 feet up, why that's the best obstacle course downtown."

CABLE CAR FAILS TO MAKE 'HOLD ON CURVE'—Fifteen to twenty persons were injured, none seriously, when this cable car failed to make "hold on curve" at the corner of Powell and Jackson Streets in San Francisco. The car was loaded with the usual afternoon rush hour crowd, some holding on outside, when the accident occurred. The curve got it's name from the traditional warning given by conductors to riders to "Hold on for the curve."

'Miss Japan' Weds Broker

TOKYO (AP)—Bengamin Alder, 66, identified here as a millionaire cotton broker of New York, was married yesterday to 23-year-old Miss Japan of 1952 in a civil ceremony at the American Embassy.

His bride is Hinako Kojaima.

Alder said they would be married a second time, in a Shinto ceremony, and give a wedding reception in the evening at Tokyo's Grand Imperial Hotel.

Miss Kojima represented Japan at the 1952 Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif.—the first Japanese girl to enter that event.

Alder said he met Miss Kojima here in 1953 on one of his annual business trips.

They met again at Mills College, Oakland, Calif., where Miss Kojima studied in 1953; at New York University, where she also studied and then when she was a piano student under his brother Dr. Clarence Adler.

Adler said his wife would complete necessary arrangements for leaving for America while he returned to the United States via Southeast Asia and Europe.

Red China Releases Two American Women

By GENE KRAMER

HONG KONG (AP)—The first stage in the repatriation of 41 American civilians from Communist China neared completion today with the release of two American women missionaries after 4½ years' imprisonment.

The women were Miss Sarah Perkins, 63, a native of Tennile, Ga., and Miss Dorothy Middleton, 34, of Cicero, Ill. Miss Perkins is a Presbyterian, Miss Middleton a Lutheran who worked at a leper colony.

Of the 10 Americans the Communists announced would be freed from jail or house arrest, only Dilmus T. Kanady, a cotton dealer from Houston, Tex., remained to come across.

The Reds also have said that 12 other Americans previously denied exit permits were free to leave China and that machinery had been set up to provide the "expeditious" release of 19 others under detention. None of these has arrived yet in the free world.

The women missionaries were the only American passengers on the daily train from Communist Canton. As they crossed the 200-foot freedom bridge to British territory, they were met by U. S. Vice Consul Robert Aylward, Hong Kong Police Supt. A. L. Gordon and American and British Red Cross officials.

"I have a lot tc thank the Lord for," Miss Middleton said.

"It's so good to be on free soil," said Miss Perkins.

Wearing summer dresses, both women appeared in good physical and mental condition although tired. Asked how she felt, Miss Perkins replied: "For a woman of 63, I think I look pretty well."

The women were arrested separately on sabotage charges at Samkong village, near Linhsien, south China, in February 1951. They were kept in separate rooms in the same buildings — in Samkong, then in Kukong and in a Canton prison — and finally met on Sept. 11 when they were called before a Red council in Canton. They were told then they would be deported.

Miss Perkins said the first time she was called up for questioning, the Communists "told me if I would tell on others, they would treat me lightly, but if not 'we may shoot you or treat you very cruelly.'"

"I replied," she continued, "'You may shoot me tomorrow but I will still tell the truth.'"

"We are no spies, we are missionaries," she declared, tears welling in her eyes.

Miss Middleton said she had "signed some papers which I believe were confessions in 1952 or 1953." She said she wrote "some things from my point of view — that I was a Christian and that I was sorry if I had said anything contrary to their belief."

"I probably had done things contrary to their ideas," she continued, "but as a Christian, I would never go back on God." She declined to be more specific, saying she feared to bring down reprisals on Chinese friends.

Nation's Heat Wave Appears To Be Broken

By The Associated Press

The September heat wave which scorched the Midwest for a week appeared broken today with a flow of cool air from the north and showers.

The cool air spread southeastward across the Midwest and Great Lakes region. Temperatures, which hit the 90s again yesterday in many cities, dropped to around normal levels.

Readings ranged from 48 at Duluth, Minn., and 52 at Lone Rock, Wis., to 64 at Des Moines and 69 at South Bend, Ind. Chicago's 67 compared to a daytime high of 93, a record for the date and the 46th day this year with temperatures of 90 or higher, also a record.

Normally cool weather prevailed in the Northern Plains and most of the Far West. Warmest parts of the country were the Southern Plains, the Gulf Coast and Florida, all reporting readings in the 70s, with highs of 82 at Dallas and 83 at Key West, Fla. Elsewhere temperatures were around normal.

Heavy rains were reported around the central part of Hurricane Ione, which moved up the Atlantic coast after striking coastal areas of North Carolina and Virginia. Rain fell northward into New England.

Light showers fell in parts of the Midwest and fairly heavy rainfall was reported in sections of the Northern Rockies and Western Plains.

Services Set For Physician

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)— Funeral services are set for tomorrow for Dr. George Perry Rains, a pioneer Marshall physician and former commander of Texas' 36th National Guard Division. Rains died yesterday.

The 83-year-old Rains served in the Texas Volunteer Guard and the Texas National Guard for 49 years, holding all ranks from private to lieutenant general. He retired in 1937.

Rains, who practiced medicine here for 45 years, was prominent in civic and business circles. He was a former director and chairman of the Marshall National Bank, a former city commissioner, director of the Marshall and Sabine Pass Railroad, past exalted ruler of the Marshall Lodge of the Elks, a Mason and deacon of the First Baptist Church. He belonged to a number of military and medical associations.

He saw federal service on the Mexican border and was a colonel in World War I. At one time he was commander of Camp Sheridan, Ala.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Jeff Donnell says she intends to sue her actor-husband Aldo Ray for divorce.

Hopes Rising For Publisher Of Argentina

NEW YORK (AP)—Exiled Buenos Aires publisher Alberto Gainza Paz said today he believes a new Argentine government would return to him the newspaper La Prensa, confiscated four years ago by the Juan D. Peron regime.

However, he said in an interview at his New York apartment, it is too early to predict how soon he would be able to return to his homeland and resume publication of the famous, 86-year-old daily, held by his family for three generations.

Gainza Paz fled Argentina to adjacent Uruguay in 1951, shortly after La Prensa was seized by the Peron forces. He has since resided in the United States, acting as a spokesman against the Peron government.

"My newspaper was confiscated in violation of every principle of decency and constitutional 'guarantees,'" he said today. "It was just a mere case of plunder."

He said it would be only "a case of sheer justice" on the part of a new government to return the daily to him.

He declined to comment, however, on whether he would attempt soon to return to the embattled Argentine capital.

He reiterated his belief that the revolutionary forces are "the expression of the Argentine people's desire for freedom."

"This was an explosion of that desire," he said. "I am sure that it will not be a change of one dictator into another."

Kicking Device Ges Kicked Out

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP)—On the highway between New Bern and Morehead City there is a gadget that has won considerable fame around North Carolina, and even among out-of-staters who travel Highway 70 to the coast.

It's Tom Haywood's famed kicking machine.

Folks who stop at Haywood's service station-store are invited to step out to a shelter on the grounds, and there — if they are so minded — kick themselves to their heart's content.

Shoes on a wheel propelled by the self-kicker provide the kicks.

The kicking machine was given something of a kick itself yesterday—by Hurricane Ione. The hurricane had kicked the kicking machine plumb out of the shelter.

He's Really Hooked

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Joe Hilbreath of Dallas dragged a 10-pound alligator gar out of nearby Little Minerad Lake into his boat. The gar showed its displeasure by clamping its powerful jaws on Hilbreath's leg. Hilbreath finally got back to the dock yesterday with the fishing plug, the gar and his leg all firmly hooked together.

Rep. Dingell Dies Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John D. Dingell, 61-year-old Michigan Democrat, died unexpectedly last night at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. His death was the first in the present 84th Congress.

Dingell had represented Detroit's 15th District since he was first elected to Congress in 1932. He had entered Walter Reed Friday night for a checkup on a suspected asthmatic condition.

A son, James, said his father, apparently died of a heart attack. He said the congressman's condition had not been considered serious until he took a sudden turn for the worse some three hours before his death.

Elected to Congress 12 consecutive terms, Dingell was the second-ranking Democrat on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. He also was a member of the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Identified as a political liberal, he was a leader of the unsuccessful effort by some House Democrats earlier this year to put across a $20-a-person income tax cut.

The vacancy will be filled by a special election.

Dingell is survived by his widow Grace; two sons, John Jr. and James; and a daughter, Jule.

He'll Run, Says One, No, Says The Other

CHICAGO (AP)—The chairman of the Republican National Committee says he believes President Eisenhower will be a candidate for re-election but the Democratic national chairman predicts he will not run again.

Leonard W. Hall, the GOP chairman, and Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler expressed their views to newsmen in interviews yesterday.

Hall said he feels certain Eisenhower will be a candidate and announce his 1956 plans "well in advance" of the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in August.

"I'm organizing on the basis that he will run again," Hall said. "I think it will be the same ticket as in 1952, with Ike and Nixon. We're going to have the most popular candidate in history at our conveniton. We've got the issues and we've got the climate for victory—peace and prosperity."

Butler, told of Hall's remarks, said the GOP chairman was "whistling in the dark."

"I don't blame Mr. Hall," Butler said. "If I were in his shoes, I would feel the same way. But I don't believe Eisenhower will run. I don't believe he is happy as president. He doesn't appear to be enjoying the responsibility of the office. He's probably spending less time at the job than any president in the 20th century."

Butler also mentioned "family considerations," referring to his statement earlier this year that Mrs. Eisenhower was in poor health. Butler added that he "got hell" for that statement.

Hall was in Chicago for a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Convention Arrangements Committee.

Butler attended a meeting of the Democratic Advisory Committee on Agriculture. The committee of farm leaders said that they "stand on the principles of price parity."

Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture under President Roosevelt who heads the committee, told reporters:

"Parity is the synonym for economic equality. Parity is our objective. We are going to seek out the very best information and ideas on how to achieve and keep it, and we won't neglect the consumer in the process."

Old-Time Telegrapher Puts Out Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—A. W. Drinkwater, who, as a telegrapher, sent word 53 years ago of the Wright brothers flight at Kill Devil Hill, N.C., is still putting out the news.

Among messages the Civil Air Patrol received on an emergency radio set up for Hurricane Ione was one from Drinkwater at Manteo, N.C., advising, "for the first time since it was established in 1875 the Coast Guard lifeboat station at Nags Head has been evacuated."

Drinkwater has been an AP string correspondent in the Carroline coastal country for many years.

Ohio Monkey Looking For Greener Treetops

CINCINNATI (AP)—George Kersting thought his six children were strictly up to monkey business yesterday when one of them yelled, "There's a monkey in the back yard."

But sure enough, there was a monkey rapidly making friends with the youngsters. They fed him some bread and a banana.

Later the visitor took to the trees and disappeared in a wooded area in the neighborhood.

Escaped Murderer Gives Himself Up

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Harvey John Collins, 29, a convicted murderer who broke out of the Pierce County Jail with six other inmates Sunday, gave himself up last night to Sheriff Harold Bird.

The capture of Collins left only three of the seven escapees still at large. Three were taken into custody yesterday.

Collins was convicted of the Samurai sword slaying of a Tacoma motel operator last March. Police said he also admitted slaying two other persons, including Mrs. Edna Iona Hall on the Ft. Knox, Ky., military reservation in 1953.

He's Resting But Not Well

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A machinist who allegedly attempted to rob a bank because he wanted $50,000 for a rest was resting today — in jail.

Police said Francis McMullan, 40, walked into the bank yesterday, pulled a plunger from his briefcase and told Manager Craig Edwards:

"I want $50,000 cash or I'll blow you and this whole place to hell."

Edwards said he followed McMullan to the vault. A few feet from the door the manager gave him a shove and slammed the grill door. It locked automatically.

Police said the briefcase contained only a hoax bomb. They withdrew McMullan from the vault and booked him on suspicion of bank robbery.

"I was tired of being poor," they quoted him, "and I thought if I had $50,000 I could get some rest."

Navy Ships Escape Arctic Ocean Ice

SEATTLE (AP)—A Navy officer said all 58 ships of the fleet that sailed north of Alaska with cargoes for the arctic radar network are escaping the dangerous threat of Arctic Ocean ice.

Lt. Cmdr. Robert F. Hopkins made the report yesterday after his arrival here on the survey ship Requisite.

All the ships now are safely west of Point Barrow, northernmost tip of North America, on their return trip, he said. The ice knocked holes in four ships and took out the rudder of another, but all were able to proceed, he added.

Kimball Tells U.S. Peace Hopes Bright

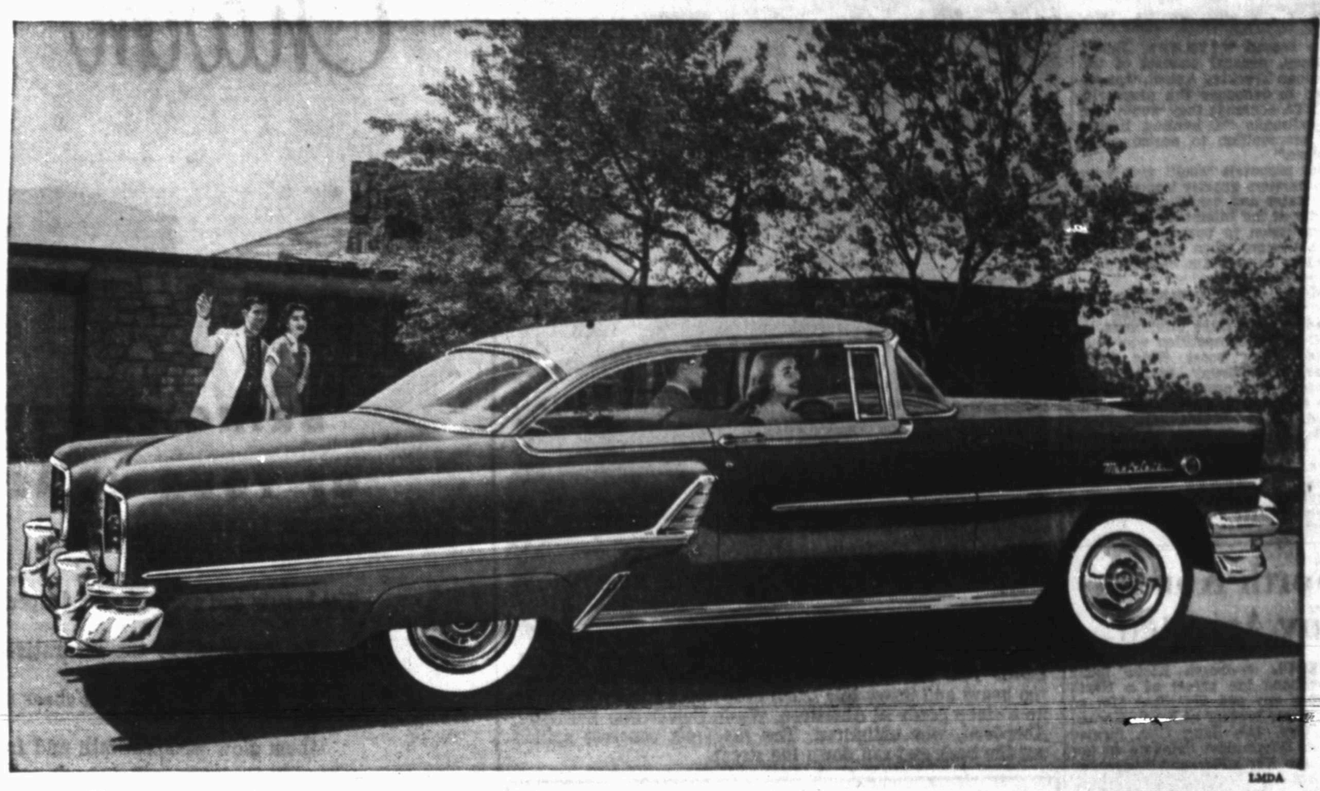

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States can avoid a major war for 200 years if it keeps its guard up, says former Navy Secretary Dan Kimball.

Kaiser Wilhelm, Hitler, Tojo and the Chinese Communists were tempted to attack the United States because of its lack of military forces, Kimball told a meeting of the American Rocket yesterday.

Kimball said the United States has assumed England's onetime role of keeping small wars from spreading.

Flooded Cities Fighting Back

Editor's Note — A month ago devastating floods struck the East, killing and injuring hundreds and making thousands homeless. Three communities — Winsted, Conn.; Woonsocket, R.I.; and Stroudsburg, Pa. — were among the hardest hit. What has happened since and what the stricken are doing in their heroic efforts to come back is told in a series of three stories by Associated Press reporters who returned to the scenes of desolation and horror. This is the story of Winsted.

By SAUL PETT

WINSTED, Conn., Sept. 20 (AP)— The river flows quietly today, its muddy water reaching only a depth of 12 or 18 inches, a width of maybe 20 feet.

Catching the sunlight, the river looks all innocence now. All around it, bulldozers and derricks and men with shovels are digging out in funereal gloom, but the river pretends no connection, seems to ask, "Who, me?"

This is the same Mad River which lived up to its name a month ago, flooded over its banks to a depth of 30 feet and in one terrible night cut the heart out of Winsted. It killed seven people, left 1,500 homeless, destroyed 172 of the 200 shops along Main Street, washed out or immobilized 36 factories, carried off whole houses, buildings, cars and trees.

Only the river now maintains a fraudulent serenity. The rest of Winsted swings between rising hope and deepening gloom, between lingering shock and a slowly growing awareness of the disaster's enormity.

But no one is alone. No one is starving. No one is without a roof. No one is without clothes. People are fighting back. People are helping each other in many inspiring ways.

Physically, downtown Winsted still looks as if it was blitzed. Main Street, where the river gouged out a channel 10 feet deep, has been refilled but not yet repaved. Water, light, telephone services have been restored but half the town is still without gas. Two of the 13 bridges lost have been replaced by Army Bailey bridges.

Where they still stand on Main Street, buildings look like corpses waiting to be buried, like bodies with empty eye sockets. Some are shredded in half, vertically or horizontally, with pipes, wires, pieces of twisted metal hanging down like ruptured veins.

In one store, a ceiling still sits on a crushed new car. In another, a twisted, empty luncheonette, there's this sign: "Special Today —For Sale—Junk Cheap."

Outside of town, trucks keep rolling to the city dump with the remains of refrigerators, furniture, roofs, cars. In what used to be a playground, there are pieces of fencing and other debris high in the trees. Out on a meadow, the high school football team practices in jeans. Their field and uniforms were lost.

On higher ground, in the residential area, merchants are trying to come back to life. You see crudely printed signs on elm trees announcing the temporary headquarters of a hardware store or barber shop or clothier. You find them in homes, in garages, in barns and fraternal organizations which have thrown open their club rooms to the flooded-out merchants.

In the Elks auditorium, against a backdrop of stained glass windows and signs proclaiming "Brotherly Love, Fidelity, Justice and Charity," you find the temporary headquarters of the West-End Barber Shop, Sexauer Jewelers, Smith's Men's Shop, Winsted News and United Cigars, the Modern Dress Shop and the local Buick dealer (he lost all his 18 cars in the flood but is taking orders now).

The Sears-Roebuck store now is probably the smallest in the national chain. It temporarily occupies a room about 20 by 40 on the second floor of the Improved Order of Red Men, Kehow Tribe, No. 39.

The flood knocked about 1,400 men out of work in Winsted factories. Today most of them are working again, cleaning up debris in the plants, or living off unemployment checks. The destitute are fed by the Red Cross.

About 1,500 people still can't go back to their homes. They're living with friends or relatives and one house has no less than 18 residents. About 250 can never go back to their old places. For them, the city and federal government are cooperating on providing 50 housing units.

That is the broad picture of Winsted a month after. Now you narrow your focus and come down to individuals. In some cases, tragedy struck twice.

Clifford Tiffany lost his grocery in the flood. A week later he lost his son, killed in an Air Force crash in Texas. Arthur Pelkey lost his hardware store. Last week he and his wife were injured in an auto accident, she seriously.

John Gould, truck driver, drowned trying to save others in the flood. He left a wife and four young children, but no insurance or savings. How will they get along now?

Mrs. Gould, a gaunt woman of 27, remains optimistic. She said the Red Cross will pay half of John's funeral expenses, which totaled $360. A New York radio show raised $1,100 for the family, the local police another $100. Between social security and the state's "widow's fund," she expects she will be able to feed her family and keep up the $30 mortgage payments on her home.

Tall, husky Bernie Leshay was hit twice. His father drowned. His dress shop was demolished—about a $40,000 loss, he estimates, in stock and fixtures. He also lost about $13,000 worth of accounts receivable. Legally, he can't prove who owes him what, but so far his customers have proved honest; some are paying sooner than they ordinarily would.

"People everywhere," said Bernie, "have been wonderful. One of my suppliers cancelled $1,200 in bills I owed him and gave me $600 worth of new stock free to get started here in the Elks. A group of New York office equipment manufacturers sent us some desks and other things free.

"People in town have been loyal. They followed us to the Elks. If they don't find what they want now — and there's very little here now because I have only about 100 dresses where I used to carry 500 — they promise to wait. They're shopping less than they ever did out of town.

"Before the flood, I was completely solvent. Now I'm in a bankrupt position. So are most of us. Loans from the Small Business Administration will help, but frankly, we'll need more than loans. It'll take me 10 years to get back where I was."

Ed Strittmatter, a bright-eyed, stubbly bearded old man of 71, with a bouncing sense of humor despite his arthritis, lost all his earthly goods when he was swept out of the Clifton Hotel. Total losses: all the clothes he wasn't wearing, his false teeth, alarm clock and collection of detective story magazines or "dick books," as he calls them.

"Lost my shoes too," he says, "but I went out of there with my socks on. A gentleman never goes anywhere without his socks. I'm not worried about the teeth. The Red Cross is making me new ones."

Strittmatter, who lives on social security and state welfare benefits, has been transplanted to an old age home in Litchfield, about 16 miles away.

The flood hit Meyer Rosansky from two directions. His men's clothing shop was ruined and, at his home, the water swept up to two feet over the second floor. He was able to save only his camera and daughter's canary. All together, he figures he took a $35,000 beating.

"It took me 23 years to build up that store," he said. "But I'm not worried. We'll make it, with help. We'll just have to start small again. So I'll have only 500 shirts instead of 3,000."

The Rosansky home is now a skeletal mess. All the furniture was demolished.

"It will be like starting all over again, the way we did when we were married 16 years ago," Mrs. Rosansky said. "But where do you start?"

She pointed to a pile of plaster dust in the corner.

"I used to have a mahogany desk there, with the family album and the scrap book with clippings about the children's piano recitals. All gone now. How do you replace them?"

And out behind the Rosansky home, behind the garage that isn't there any more, behind the huge holes of uprooted trees, behind debris swept down from two miles away, the river flows quietly by.

NEW HOPE—Jo Nell Lane, right, 14-year-old Anthony, N. M., girl who was thought to be a cerebral palsy victim, will soon undergo an operation for her broken neck. Doctors recently discovered Jo Nell was not a palsy victim, but was born with a broken neck. Dr. Eric Oldberg, famed neurosurgeon who separated the Brodie twins, will operate on Jo Nell. Every since the discovery, Jo Nell and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Van Lane and Dikey, her brother shown with her, have been exhuberant over the new hope.

Fire Officials Come At Opportune Time

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Holy Trinity Catholic school yesterday held a fire drill, showing off for three city fire inspectors.

The students left the building and assembled outside. A kitchen helper sprinted out and whispered, "Fire," to the principal, Sister Verena.

The inspectors rushed inside and put out a fire back of the automatic dishwasher.

"First time I ever had a formal appointment with a fire," said Inspector F. F. Dunaway.

Threatening Letter Brings Prison Term

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 19-year-old blonde has been sentenced to two years in federal prison after pleading guilty to sending a threatening letter through the mails to the family of Mrs. Norma McCauley, Bel Air divorcee, who was slain last spring.

Mrs. Veronica Williams' probation plea was denied. The letter was sent to John A. Thompson, wealthy contractor and father of Mrs. McCauley. It demanded $100,000 on threat of harming Mrs. McCauley's three children.

Mrs. Williams' husband Edgar also was indicted by the federal grand jury but charges were dropped when investigators found he was unaware of the plot.

He's Carried Away, So Is Black Angus

CARTHAGE, Tenn. (AP)—A painter and writer who calls New York and Paris his homes got carried away at Sen. Albert Gore's first production sale of Black Angus cows and bought a heifer he has no place to put.

Ludwig Bemelmans bought Miss Burgess of Marwood for $1,250 yesterday and then explained: "She had such a kind face I couldn't keep from buying her. I also liked the idea of keeping her for a pet, not raising her for slaughter."

Bemelmans owns a dairy farm in Austria, but he never attended a beef cattle sale before. He plans to leave Miss Burgess at Gore's farm until he can wind up plans to buy a Virginia farm.

Modern Sculpture Dies In Stockholm, Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—One of modern sculpture's towering figures, 80-year-old Carl Milles, died at his home here last night. The Swedish-born artist had become a U.S. citizen in 1945.

Milles worked in the United States from 1929 to the end of World War II, when he moved to Rome. His sculptures are in most West European capitals and in many U.S. cities, including New York, St. Paul, Minn., St. Louis Mo., and Wilmington, Del. He was an honorary member of the American Institute of Architects, American League of Architects, American Academy of Arts and Letters and the Royal Academy of Britain.

Truck, Train Forces Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The railroads and the trucking industry square off today in the battle over a new national transportation policy.

A House Commerce subcommittee called a sits first industry witness J. Carter Fort, vice president an dgeneral counsel of the Association of American Railroads. He was expected to endorse with enthusiasm the administration's plan for rewriting transportation law by relaxing government regulation of railroads and other common carriers.

The second witness, James Pinckney, general counsel of the American Trucking Assns., was expected to denounce the proposals. The ATA contends they would give the railroads "a hunting license and ammunition to destroy competitors."

The proposals would give common carriers greater leeway to revise rates and would curb the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to postpone proposed rate changes when complaints are filed by competitive carriers or by shippers of goods.

Motor truck operators contend the plan would permit the railroads to cut rates until their less well-heeled competition was eliminated, then boost their freight charges. Highway carriers also contend the program would free the railroads to enter the trucking field.

But James G. Lyne, chairman of the Federation for Railway Progress, said the proposed changes would "improve transportation service with maximum economy of costs for the benefit of shippers and passengers."

North Korean Spy Arrested

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea today announced the arrest of a North Korean spy and identified him as a younger brother of North Korean Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, former senior Communist delegate to the and now North Korean ambassador to Russia.

The ROK army Counterintelligence Corps identified him in a formal announcement as Lee Sang Hwan, 27, "genuine younger brother" of Lee.

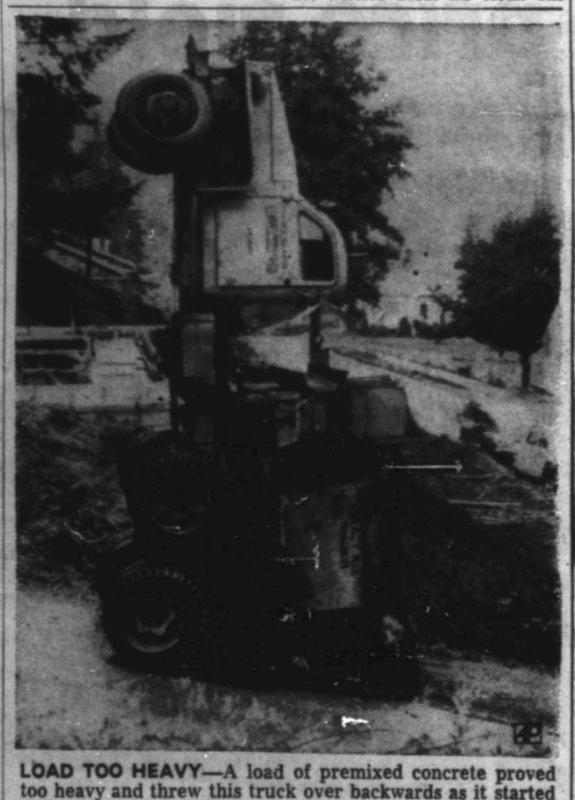

Later, however, a CIC spokesman said the suspect was a cousin of the North Korean General. The discrepancy was not explained.

The CIC said Lee Sang Hwan was arrested north of Seoul last month as he was preparing to cross into North Korea "after five years of espionage and sabotage."

They said Lee [illegible] masquerading as a South Korean army captain and carried "fake ROK army travel orders."

Ione Causes Postponment Of Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — The heavyweight championship fight between titleholder Rocky Marciano and challenger Archie Moore was postponed today because of Hurricane Ione.

Weather permitting, the 15-round bout will be held tomorrow night in the Yankee Stadium. If weather conditions still are unsuitable, it will be held Friday.

Postponements are nothing new for Marciano. His second fight with Ezard Charles was set back twice by rain last September. Then Rocky knocked out Charles in the eighth round.

The second Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott fight was postponed twice by rainstorms in June, 1948. When they finally got together, Louis knocked out Walcott in the 11th round.

The odds were 3½-1 the undefeated Brockton strong boy would make Moore his 49th victim.

It was even money that Moore, stopped four times in his 19-year career of 144 fights (120-19-5), would not come out for the ninth round.

Despite the odds, the poised light heavyweight champion was as confident as ever he would become the oldest man to ascend to the heavyweight throne.

"I never was more sure of winning a fight and I will win this one," he said. "I think it will be by a knockout."

The 31-year-old heavyweight king is just as anxious to get in there with Moore as the veteran is to get his long sought crack at the title. Archie's needling campaign has stirred up the Brockton Blaster and his intimates say he is burning with a desire to crush the cocky challenger as quickly as possible.

Rocky never has been a shining star in his workouts, but for this bout he has looked tremendously impressive. The short-armed, heavy-thighed champ has displayed an assortment of fast, precision punches as well as the old reliable "Suzy Q"—a looping overhand right to the head.

Moore went through his paces in leisurely fashion, just working on his timing and accuracy. It was the same sort of preparation used by Jersey Joe Walcott, who won the title at the age of 37.

Moore is bucking two jinxes. No reigning light heavyweight champion ever has beaten a heavyweight ruler for the title. Seven have tried. Then, too, 12 previous challengers who attempted to win the title in Yankee Stadium were defeated. This corner strings along with the jinxes, picking Marciano to stop Moore within five rounds.

With one eye on the skies and with fingers crossed, promoter James D. Norris said that with a break in the weather he still was hopeful of a 50,000-55,000 crowd and a $750,000 gate. The advance sale had zoomed close to the $600,000 mark when Ione reared her ugly head.

There will be no home television but the 15-rounder will be broadcast by ABC at 9:30 p.m., EST.

A closed circuit telecast will be beamed to 128 theaters in 92 cities and also will be piped to four veterans hospitals.

On an average of $3.50 a seat, the theater gate could go over the million-dollar mark, netting the International Boxing Club about $300,000 as its share. Radio brings in another $35,000. With everything figured in, Rocky may earn $400,000 and Archie $200,000.

Both fighters flew in from their camps yesterday afternoon and went into seclusion.

Marcicano expected to weigh 187 pounds, two lighter than he scaled when he stopped England's Don Cockell in the ninth round May 16. Archie planned to come in at 185 pounds. 10 more than he carried when he flattened middleweight king Carl (Bobo) Olson in the third round June 22.

Houston Is Nearing Title

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston needs only a victory tonight to be in the Dixie Series for the second straight year. The Buffs lead Shreveport three games to one in the final Texas League playoff series.

Houston beat Shreveport 3-2 last night to put the Sports on the brink of oblivion. Good pitching by Ralph Beard, who gave up only five hits, and erratic Shreveport play brought the Buffs their triumph.

They scored all three runs in the first inning on hits by Bob Boyd and Hal Smith, a walk, two Shreveport errors and a wild pitch by harassed Ray Knoblauch, the Sport toiler.

Shreveport got its run in the eighth as Ev Joyner slugged a homer with one mate on base.

Bob Mabe, a righthander with a 16-10 record, will be Houston's starting pitcher tonight. Shreveport will put in John Andre (4-4) in an effort to stop the Houston championship surge.

Houston lost to Atlanta in the Dixie Series last year.

Mobile may become the Southern Assn.'s representative in this year's series. The Bears lead Birmingham three games to two and can win the Southern Assn. playoff tonight.

The Texas League president Dick Butler has announced that Bill Malesky and Ken Burkhart will be this league's umpires in the Dixie Series.

Alston Pondering Series Strategy

By ED CORRIGAN

BROOKLYN (AP)—Already assured of his job for another year, Manager Walt Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers today began thinking of his pitching rotation for the World Series.

The thoughts turned out to be disturbing.

Five members of his hurling corps are ailing or below par. Don Newcombe, the big fellow, is just getting over a virus; Carl Erskine still isn't "100 per cent" according to the manager; Karl Spooner is laid low with a virus; Billy Loes has an aching arm; and Johnny Podres has a rib injury.

"I'm going to pitch Newcombe in one of tonight's games against Philadelphia," said Alston, "and see how he has come around. But we do have a problem. We're coming out of our hitting slump all right, but I don't know as I'll even try to scout the Yanks. I think I'd rather stay with my own pitching."

Podres and Spooner may not be able to pitch in the series, but Alston hopes Erskine and Spooner come around.

"I thought Erskine did pretty well in his last start although he went only six innings," observed Alston. "The important thing is that his arm is all right."

Alston indicated he wouldn't pitch Loes any more until the series unless he goes an inning or two against the Pirates because "layoffs don't seem to bother him."

As for his retention as manager, Alston said he was happy that President Walter O'Malley had confidence in him. First, O'Malley hinted that Alston would be back at a victory dinner for the Brooks and their wives Sunday night.

Then he confirmed it last night when he said:

"I know this isn't December when he usually announces his manager but Alston has little worry — in fact, no worry — over his job next year. I like the way he has handled everything."

Alston won't sign a contract until after the World Series.

Yanks Figure To Have Flag Cinched Friday

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Unless Hurricane Ione sends them sprawling, the New York Yankees figure they'll have the American League pennant in hand Friday at Boston.

Yet, it's possible the champion may not be decided until after Sunday's regular-season windup—which would provide an appropriately screwy finish for the screwiest race since Casey Stengel was a pup.

All sorts of things can happen between now and Sunday, but basically, here's the situation:

1. Any combination of New York victories and Cleveland defeats totaling five gives the Yankees and Manager Stengel their sixth pennant in seven years.

2. The Indians, with the world on a string just a week ago, must sweep their five remaining games and hope the Yanks lose three of their remaining seven to gain at most a tie for the title.

New York could clinch it as early as tomorrow night. To do it, the Yankees would have to sweep their three games at Washington while Cleveland drops a two-game set at Chicago. Even the confident Yanks don't think it will be over that quick, however. They see themselves hauling in the pennant in either the afternoon or night portion of their twin bill with the Red Sox Friday.

The storm knocked out last night's game between the Yankees and Senators. Could be Ione will wash out the whole three-game series in Washington — and if so, the Yankees may have to return to Washington after Sunday's "finish" at Boston to play the trio, which loom importantly in the pennant issue.

Stengel, hoping the Washington series comes off on schedule, is aiming for a quick clinch to give his veterans a rest before the World Series opener against Brooklyn a week from tomorrow.

Playing for a swift kill, Stengel sent Whitey Ford (17-7) and Don Larsen (8-2) against Washington in today's scheduled afternoon-night doubleheader.

The Senators, only 6-13 against New York for the season after whipping Cleveland 13-9 and starting the Tribe on a four-game losing streak that dumped them from the lead, will throw Bob Porterfield (10-17) or Pete Ramos (5-9) and Maury McDermott (9-9).

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, forced to win 'em all, will decide on either Early Wynn (16-11) or Herb Score (15-10) against the White Sox's Billy Pierce (14-9) tonight.

Only two games were scheduled yesterday. In the National, St. Louis overcame a 5-0 deficit to beat the Chicago Cubs 6-5 in 12 innings. Detroit, riding high after taking three straight from Cleveland, shut out Kansas City 4-0 behind rookie Bud Black's six-hitter.

The Cubs' Ernie Banks, who recently set a record for shortstops with his 40th home run of the season, knocked off another major league record with his fifth grand-slam homer of the year. Only 10 sluggers, including Babe Ruth, ever had been able to hit as many as four bases-loaded shots in one season before. Banks now has 44 home runs.

Pampa Takes WT-NM Title

By The Associated Press

The Pampa Oilers, third-place finishers in the West Texas-New Mexico regular season, last night won the league playoffs and a right to compete in the "Little Dixie Series."

The Oilers whipped Amarillo 10-7 to cop a 4-1 final playoff victory. It was Pampa's second straight playoff title. They won the playoff after finishing on top of regular season play in 1954.

Pampa had moved into the finals with a 4-2 semifinal series victory over Albuquerque.

The Oilers will meet Corpus Christi, winners of the Big State League playoffs, in a best-of-seven series for the "Little Dixie" crown.

Pampa committed five errors last night to hand Amarillo an early lead that stood until the Oilers got into high gear in the eighth. Four bases on balls, a hit batsman, three singles and two Amarillo errors combined to chase in five Pampa runs and wrap it up.

Tech Is Driving More Wedges Into Bid For Berth In SWC

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas Tech, a big college out here in the plains country, is busy right now putting wedges into its bid for membership in the Southwest Conference.

The way things are going the Red Raiders might reach that well known stage: They can't beat us so they beter join us.

The Raiders went down to Austin last week and whipped the University of Texas 20-14. Saturday they play Texas Christian here and if they can put one over on the Christians it will mean two seasons of whaling Southwest Conference teams.

Tech blasted Texas A&M 41-7 last year, that giving DeWitt Weaver three victories in eight games with conference teams in the five years he's been the Red Raider head coach.

But Weaver isn't sure he can take care of Texas Christian. His scouts saw unbridled Christian power run over Kansas 47-14 last week at Fort Worth.

"We're in for it," said Weaver as he prepared his team for the supreme effort. He was worried because of injuries to three keymen. Co-Captain Jim Sides, a riproaring fullback, is definitely out with a cracked wrist. The other co-captain, guard Arlen Wesley, has nine stitches in a cut leg, and Dwayne West, also a center, has a knee injury. It is doubtful if either Wesley or West will play.

But Jack Kirkpatrick, the gifted Tech quarterback, and Don Schmidt, who scored two touchdowns against Texas, one with a 78-yard run, are in good health, and Tech's squad bulges with veterans.

A sellout crowd is expected. Already 25,000 tickets have been gobbled up and that leaves only 3,000 to fill the stadium. This, Tech followers say, is an indication of what would come if the school was a member of the Southwest Conference. They'd just enlarge the stadium.

Texas Christian apparently has a much stronger team than the last one to show in Lubbock. That was 1951 when Tech whipped the Horned Frogs 33-19. TCU won its conference championship, however.

Red Raider scouts Wyatt Posey and Polk Robison were buzzing at Fort Worth Saturday as they watched the great running of Jim Swink and the all-around power of the Horned Frogs.

When the two ground attacks collide here Saturday some bloody noses are bound to result.

FULL PROGRAM IS SET FOR QBC SESSION TONIGHT

A full program has been lined up for tonight's meeting of the Snyder Quarterback Club, J. B. Davidson, president of the organization, reported this morning.

The session is set for 7:30 p.m. in the High School cafeteria.

A film will be shown, there will be a guest speaker, and refreshments will be served. The group also will keep up with the Marciano-Moore fight.

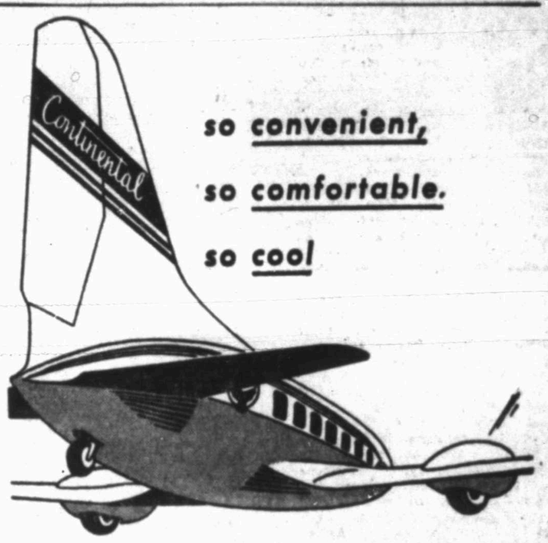

Everyone interested in sports is invited to attend, Davidson said.

Sailor Catches Fish The Difficult Way

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Marcus Codrey, retired Coast Guard veteran, caught his record fish the hard way.

Cordrey, working at the Naval Air Station, said he saw the big fish in shallow water and threw rocks at him. The fish swam into deeper water. With the help of two sailors he went out in a boat. The fish continued swim on the surface. Cordrey caught him in the gills with his hands and, backed by the sailors, got him into the boat. The fish, a black drum, weighed 93 pounds.

Cordrey believes the fish was stunned by blasting operations on the Norfolk-Newport News tunnel under Hampton Roads.

Ike Is Happy With Rod, Pan

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

FRASER, Colo. (AP)—Give President Eisenhower a trout rod and let him do some cooking too and he's a real contented man.

Well, he's got the rod and he's been catching fish. And he's also doing a heap of cooking.

The President arrived here yesterday morning from the Denver White House for another five days or so of relaxation at the Rocky Mountain ranch of an old friend, investment banker Aksel Nielsen. This is his second visit here since he came to Colorado for a work-and-play vacation Aug. 14.

An hour and 15 minutes from the time he stepped out of his car at the ranch, he was wading cold St. Louis Creek, casting a dry fly for the wily trout.

He stayed at it for 3½ hours and came away with seven fish, each weighing about a pound. As usual when the President visits here, the stream is well stocked.

He passed up having the trout for dinner and decided on fried chicken instead. The word was that he spent more than two hours in the kitchen with a white apron tied around his waist.

The word also was that the chicken was delicious.

The President's workshop is an all-electric kitchen in a comfortable prefabricated cottage which Nielsen put up this year.

Staying with him there in addition to Nielsen is another old friend, George C. Allen of Washington, a former Truman administration official.

The President's tentative plans are to remain here until Friday afternoon, then drive back to Denver. He probably won't return to Washington before Oct. 15.

Before going out to the trout stream yesterday, Eisenhower aleted all federal agencies concerned to stand by to provide relief in the wake of any destruction by Hurricane Ione in the East.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said the President received telephone reports on the course of the hurricane.

Defense Report Branded False

FRASER, Colo. (AP) — A columnist's report that Russia is overhauling this country in the air-atomic weapons race was branded inaccurate yesterday by a presidential aide.

The Washington story, by Joseph Alsop, stated his appraisal was based on an official report to the National Security Council. It said "the frequently mentioned 'American lead' may be expected to become a Soviet lead in the period 1960-65."

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, was asked for comment at President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here, and declared: "The substance of the story is inaccurate."

A confidential survey was made for the council, Snyder recalled, by a committee of scientists and industry leaders headed by the president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. James R. Killian. It was established last fall and asked to study mobilization of U.S. resources in event of emergency.

Eisenhower has received this committee's report, Snyder said, but his staff has not finished evaluating it.

Senator Seeks Credit Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discounting Republican prosperity claims Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) called on the Eisenhower administration today to take immediate steps to control what he termed "runaway installment credit."

"The handwriting is on the wall," he said in an interview. "The Eisenhoer administration must improve strict credit regulations as soon as possible. If new legislation is needed, Congress should provide it."

Mansfield said he would favor credit regulations requiring one-third down and 18 months to pay the balance on major consumer durable goods such as automobiles and television sets.

Such restrictions were in effect during wartime, but the authority under which they were imposed has since expired. The government is not now directly regulating credit terms. At the end of July, consumer credit reached a record high of $32,900,000,000.

Mansfield expressed his views as he took issue with a weekend statement by Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall in which Hall said:

"More Americans are working at more jobs, making more money, with more take-home pay to enjoy more good things of life than ever before in our history."

"That sounds wonderful," Mansfield said, "but Hall should have also pointed out that credit is running wild, people are buying two of everything with only a few pennies down, the stock market is rampant and the farmy economy is in a desperate slump."

Much Egyptian farmland is 20 to 30 feet higher than in the time when the pyramids were built because of continuing deposits of silt from the Nile floods, says the National Geographic Society.

London's Limehouse district got its name in the 17th century from a lime making plant or limehouse located there, says the National Geographic Society.

Jurors Picked For McGowan Trial Today

WACO (AP)—Ten jurors still remained to be chosen today as the questioning of veniremen continued at a slow pace in the murder trial of Raymond McGowan, Dallas horseman charged with murder in the death of his pretty wife.

The attractive, blonde Mrs. Polly McGowan, 27, was shot to death in a Waco motel last July, along with her young riding student, Royce Darby, 21.

McGowan, 47, surrendered to Dallas County officers a short while after the shooting and gave them a gun. He has been indicted in both deaths but is scheduled to be tried now only in the slaying of his rodeo performer wife.

Judge D. W. Bartlett of the 54th District Court yesterday turned down several defense moves before selection of the jury began.

The defense first sought to have the indictment quashed because 61 of the 350 jurors summoned failed to appear. Then it sought a continuance because a key witness was missing, then to continue the case because McGowan had been denied bond and had not been able—his lawyers maintained—to prepare his defense.

Earlier, a change of venue had been denied.

Friends of the pretty rodeo rider said she had stopped at the motel to pick up Darby and take him to a lesson in horsemanship. She had filed suit for divorce from McGowan a short time before and he, in turn, had filed a counter suit.

Both divorce suits were filed in Dallas County, where the McGowans maintained their residence.

Elephant Still In Her Hideout

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Now that Mecklenburg County is learning to live with Vicki, its wayward and unobtrusive elephant, the animal may be calming down.

Veteran elephant man Louie Reed, called in on the hunt from Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, says if he can spot her in her woodland fastness six miles from downtown Charlotte he thinks he can coax her home by talking to her "like a baby."

Reed figures Vicki was made skittish by amateur elephant hunters since her disappearance 10 days ago from her amusement park home. Yesterday she would have nothing to do with the bait scattered along woodland trails—white bread and grain, mixed with molasses. Usually she loves it.

Owner Jack Partlow says he's confident his 6-year-old Indian elephant will be caught.

4 Newspapers Ordered Closed

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — The army command governing Turkey's three largest cities under martial law today closed four of the country's major newspapers.

The military ordered the Istanbul afternoon paper Hergun to cease publication for 15 days because of the prominence it gave the news of U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' appeal for a Turkish-Greek reconciliation.

Three others, all morning papers, were closed for publishing statements by former President Ismet Inonu, leader of the major opposition People's Republican party.

The Ulus of Ankara, official organ of Inonu's party, was suspended indefinitely. The Istanbul Hurriyet and Tercuman, both strong supporters of Premier Adnan Menderes' government, were shut for 15 days.

The martial law decree after the disastrous anti-Greek riots in Istanbul and Imir Sept. 6 asked all papers not to publish articles that might incite the population. The military commander, Lt. Gen. Nurettin Akno, also requested that the papers avoid controversial political subjects.
