BUILDING COLLAPSES UPON 250 MERRYMAKERS

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

What we have learned this Christmas is that it isn't any easier to write a colym the day after than it was the day before Christmas or on Christmas Day itself.

This job may look simple and easy but if anybody thinks it is just let him come down and try it, say the day after Christmas.

This talker needs help and if you have any human sympathy at all write him what you think about something. Carrying on a one-sided conversation may have its advantages but it also has disadvantages that ought to be quite obvious.

Wichita Falls officers say there were less evidences of liquor drinking this Christmas than in years. One of the evidences of this lack of evidence was the few accidents that were reported—not that all accidents are the result of liquor. But a profusion of liquor usually means a number of accidents.

Dispatches say that New York was wetter but more orderly. That's news, if true. These dispatches also tell of 83 persons being treated in New York hospitals as the result of drinking poisonous liquor.

The Wichita Falls fire department answered 23 fire alarms Christmas Day. Most of them were grass fires, many folks taking advantage of the holiday to burn grass and others being started by fireworks. Seems like its a little too dry and windy now for grass burning.

Charles I. Francis, speaking on a civic affairs program before the Rotary club, suggests an open forum for Wichita Falls, and expressed the belief that the Rotary club could sponsor such a forum.

Dallas, Houston and many other Texas cities have open forums in which the country's leading speakers and authorities appear from time to time. Funds to bring these speakers are raised through subscriptions of leading citizens. No admission is charged and the public is invited. A collection is taken. After the speakers have made their talks questions and discussion from the audience are invited.

Mr. Francis attended one of these forum meetings in Dallas recently. Four thousand people attended. He saw there people from Wichita Falls, Electra and many other towns in this section. He said it was one of the most interesting and instructive meetings he had ever attended.

We have a fine auditorium in Wichita Falls. We are not making nearly the use of it we might. Our people would enjoy and appreciate the lectures and discussions such a forum would provide. There are folks here who would subscribe the funds to bring these noted men to Wichita Falls. All that is needed is for some man or group of men or some organization to take the lead. This home town talker seconds the motion.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Pinkerton, 1706 Tenth street, is honored at a family reunion attended by 26 of her living descendants representing four generations. Next week she will celebrate her 83rd birthday.

There is nobody so interesting or who ought to be more honored than an aged grand dame or grandsire who while withdrawn somewhat from the hustle and hurry about them has retained a keen interest in people and affairs. Their years, their experience and their wisdom gives them a perspective that those younger cannot have.

What a blessing it is to live to a ripe old age and still have a clear and active mind. Such are the mothers in Israel of whom the poet sang.

And how we honor ourselves in paying honor to the aged. You or I or nobody else ever saw anybody who was tender and thoughtful of the aged who was not worthy of honor themselves.

I think I have said this before but something I like to repeat.

Believe it or not, this talker received a Christmas card direct from Santa Claus. The card was a greeting from Ripley who draws the "Believe it or not" cartoon in the Record News. It was postmarked "Santa Claus, Indiana." There is a postoffice by that name. Ripley was right again, as usual.

Who but Ripley would have thought of sending his Christmas cards to Santa Claus to be mailed?

Wonder if living in Santa Claus makes its residents any more generous? Doubtless the folks there get a little tired of the distinction.

Soviet fliers have gone out over the icy waters of Siberia in search of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Bourland, missing American aviators.

Recently when Soviet fliers on an around the world tour landed in this country were given no official welcome. Now the Soviet government is heaping coals of fire upon our heads by returning a slight with a favor. The more honor to the Soviets for it.

Hoover And Borah Hatch Prohibition Cleanup

PRESIDENT AND IDAHO SENATOR HOLD PARLEY

National Drive on Unprecedented Scale Is Plan Of Executive

SHAKEUP PROBABLE

Enforcement Personnel May Be First to Feel Force Of Big Drive

By FRASER EDWARDS
Universal Service Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—President Hoover will inaugurate a prohibition enforcement drive such as never has been witnessed since the advent of the 18th amendment, following the New Year.

This was the result of a luncheon conference between the president and Senator Borah, of Idaho, who startled the nation with the declaration that prohibition never could be enforced with the present enforcement personnel.

Prohibition and only prohibition was the subject of the conference between Mr. Hoover and his chief spokesman in the last campaign, in which Borah raked the modification views of Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic candidate.

Personnel Shake-Up

Whether the president agreed with Borah's views on the enforcement personnel, which was defended by Attorney General Mitchell, was not disclosed, but it is certain that the personnel will be set on its toes and kept there.

The president finds himself confronted with the necessity of immediate and drastic action on prohibition enforcement or facing a constant barrage from the drys on capitol hill. And it was understood that he outlined to Borah some of the measures he intends to put into operation to plug the liquor leaks.

One of these is a unified border patrol and the limiting of the number of ports of entry from Canada.

Plan to Congress

This plan will be submitted to congress by the treasury as soon as a joint congressional committee to consider prohibition is named, Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills announced.

The White House conference between the president and Borah was a full and frank discussion of existing conditions. Borah is the constitutional champion of prohibition. He feels strongly on the subject and, it was indicated, did not mince words in giving his views to the chief executive.

Borah believes that an Andrew Jackson, a character he much admires, is necessary to enfroce the

RUBIO SHOWN HIGH HONORS

Mexican President-Elect Calls on Hoover and Others

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (US)—President-elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico became the official guest of the United States today in a welcome which has seldom been accorded a visiting dignitary.

He was warmly greeted by President Hoover at the White House, the president returned his call at the Mexican embassy and Mrs. Hoover personally drove to the embassy to bring Señora Rubio to the White House as her tea guest.

For the first time in modern history the president-elect of Mexico was addressed in his native tongue by an American secretary of state. At a reception in honor of the visitor at the Pan-American union secretary of State Stimson made a speech in Spanish before the Latin-American diplomatic corps.

Secretary Stimson wished him every success and assured him of the friendship of the American people. Senor Rubio replied that it long had been his idea that the two nations should work in close harmony.

In an interview granted the press at the Mexican embassy tonight the president-elect of Mexico declared that he intended to definitely settle all litigous questions of American property interest in Mexico by directing his minister of finance to pay immediately all expropriations made by the government. These payments, the president-elect declared will be made in cash, since Mexico is very well able.

Limitless Ways to Spell Words Would Result From New Plans

Education Section of Science Association Hears Startling Facts Regarding Use of Letters

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Science Editor, the Associated Press

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 26.—Poor spellers now may take comfort that they are not so dumb, for there are 396,000,000 ways of spelling the word "circumference" alone. These millions of spellings for just one word are phonetic, spelling the word as it sounds, like using "thoro" for "thorough." Moreover, all of them are from the live speech of daily English, and not mixtures of slang. They are made by using combinations of letters in other words which give one of the sounds in circumference.

New Problems

They illustrate, said Dr. Ernest Horn of University of Iowa, at the education section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the extreme difficulties facing educators who would make spelling more rational. He said the second sound in circumference, "ir" is represented in 21 different words in other words, some of the combinations being: ir, er, or, ar, our, ear, ere, are, err, oar, oir, eur, re, yr, yrrh, irr, urr and orr.

The "s" sound in circumference, he went on, "is spelled in 14 ways. The confusion caused by this variation in the spelling of both the

Movies to Specialize On Color Productions

LONDON, Dec. 26. (US)—During the next 12 months the black-and-white film will cease to be made in the world's movie studios and, headed by American movie producers, the impresarios of the shadow screen will devote their energies exclusively to the production of color films.

This is the pronouncement of Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, head of the Technicolor process organization, who recently arrived in London.

Doctor Kalmus declared that Jesse Lasky, of Paramount, recently told him that within a short time all Paramount productions will be in full color. There will be at least 75 color films produced in America within the next few months, he said.

CLARITY'S POST TO BE FILLED

Denver Head's Successor to Be Named Saturday

FORT WORTH, Dec. 26. (AP)—A successor to Frank E. Clarity, vice president and general manager of the Fort Worth and Denver City railway, who resigned today effective Dec. 31, will be chosen at a meeting of the board of directors of the road Saturday at Fort Worth.

Clarity has held the executive position with the Fort Worth and Denver for 10 years.

He declined to disclose his plans for the future.

During his leadership here the railroad made three important extensions, the first when trains were run east to Dallas through trackage agreements. Last fall two lines serving the South Plains country and the area below the cap rock were opened after approximately $9,000,000 had been expended for construction.

Lindberghs Leave Today On Air Trip to Coast

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (UP)—With his usual disregard of bad weather conditions, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh plans to start Friday morning with his wife on a leisurely airplane flight to the Pacific coast.

Between New York and Columbus, Ohio, Lindbergh plans to transact some personal business, and from Columbus to start an inspection tour of the air routes of the Transcontinental Air Transport company, to which he is technical advisor.

At Oakland, Calif., Lindbergh may inspect, or take over, the Lockheed airplane being built for him.

Guests at Big Card Party Are Trapped When Roof of American Legion Club Falls

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 26. (AP)—Two women were seriously injured and between 30 and 40 other persons suffered minor hurts in the collapse of a building at Quarryville, in the course of a card party tonight.

One hundred and fifty persons were playing cards on the second floor of the building, a remodeled wagon shed, when the roof suddenly fell on the crowd. The weight carried the whole assemblage to the first floor where another crowd of more than 100 men and women were ready to start dancing.

The debris buried the crowd. Firemen and Boy Scouts immediately began extricating the injured.

Mrs. Frank Forbes and Mrs. Carrie Haverstick were found to be suffering from severe injuries. They had been playing cards on the upper floor.

Physicians from Quarryville, and surrounding towns were called to treat the injured after they were removed from the structure by firemen and Boy Scouts. Nearly every family in Quarryville was represented at the card party.

Famous Labyrinth Is Discovered in Crete

ATHENS, Dec. 26. (US)—How a cigaret led to the recent discovery of the famous labyrinth of the minotaur in Crete, where Theseus is said to have killed the man-eating monster and escaped through the maze of underground tunnels, is told by Dr. Adalbert Markovitis, the Austrian archaeologist.

"One day," relates Doctor Markovitis, "when a workman engaged in excavation suddenly noticed that the smoke of his cigaret was being drawn downward through a hole in the earth, he informed the leaders of the expedition who dug carefully and discovered the intricate wonders of the labyrinth, whose secret had been lost since the dawn of history."

Moody Pays Praises To Actor Personally

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (UP)—Gov. Dan Moody paid personal praises to Morris Gest after witnessing a presentation of "The Miracle," which began a three weeks' engagement at Fair Park auditorium tonight.

Presented in a city of less than 200,000 population for the first time, the production which had its premier in London 18 years ago was received with great acclaim here.

More than 600 were in the cast, and Princess Matchabelli, who took the role of the Madonna in the premier, filled the same role tonight.

HUNTER LOSES LIFE IN SEARCH FOR BIRD DOG

Companion Finds Body of Texan at Water's Edge Near Victoria

VICTORIA, Texas, Dec. 26. (AP)—A search for his lost bird dog cost the life of E. H. Paulk, 36, of Palacios. He was found dead on the San Antonio bay shore, near the water's edge, Tuesday afternoon, by his hunting companion, N. H. Martin, also of Palacios. Standing near his master's body was the dog.

Paulk and Martin were on an all-winter hunting cruise. Last Friday they cast anchor in San Antonio bay near Austwell, Refugio county, and that night went ashore with three dogs. They hunted until midnight, then returned to the boat and found one of the dogs was missing.

Saturday morning Paulk went ashore in the only skiff to search for the dog, telling Martin he would remain ashore that day and night unless he found the dog sooner.

For three days and nights, Martin awaited his return. Tuesday afternoon he waded ashore in water waist deep and found his companion's body, lying face downward on the beach.

There was sea sand on Paulk's trousers and the skiff was missing, leading Martin to believe the skiff capsized and sank while Paulk was returning to the boat, and that Paulk waded back to shore, where he died of exposure.

Loses Track of Time

Martin came near succumbing to the cold after finding the body. He stayed in the woods that night searching for a house. Yesterday morning he found a ranch house and telephoned authorities at Refugio and Paulk's relatives. He had lost track of time and did not know it was Christmas.

The body was brought to Victoria today. At an inquest the justice of the peace returned a verdict that Paulk had frozen to death.

Paulk was born in Edmond, Okla. He was a farmer and had resided in Palacios 12 years. He is survived by his widow, his parents and five brothers and four sisters. The body will be sent to Palacios for burial.

Ticket Sale Campaign Today To Decide Success of Zoo Benefit

An intensive campaign to sell tickets for the zoo benefit play "White Collars," to be presented at the Memorial auditorium Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock, will be launched Friday morning by members of the ticket sales committee under the leadership of T. J. Waggoner Jr., chairman. The campaign will cover the business district of the city. Its results will be the deciding factor in the question of whether the city will lose several of the most valuable animals in the Municipal zoo.

A note, due within the next few days, must be paid in order to retain many of the specimens now at the zoo, it was explained. The Little Theater play, because of its previous successful performances, was selected for the benefit program in the hope that the proceeds of the affair would cover the note. The Little Theater has donated its services and the city has given use of the auditorium, leaving the entire proceeds of the play to take care of the note. The campaign Friday will determine to a large extent whether the benefit will be a financial success, since ticket sales have been disappointing, according to the sponsors.

Additional rehearsals have improved the quality of the play, which was presented to overflowing houses in each of its previous performances, according to F. C. McClung, director of the Little Theater. The cast, selected from

Curtain Due to Fall Today Upon Gene Tunney's Post-Ring Battles

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 26. (US)—The final bell, signaling the end of the legal battle between Gene Tunney, former world's heavyweight champion, and Mrs. Katherine Fogarty is scheduled to sound here tomorrow.

Col. Lewis Field, Mrs. Fogarty's attorney, announced today that he would not appear to contest issuance of an injunction silencing Mrs. Fogarty forever.

Tomorrow Tunney's attorney, Homer Cummings, former Democratic national committeeman, will appear before Judge Carl Foster asking for judgment against Mrs. Fogarty in Tunney's suit against her for damages. He also will seek an injunction restraining Mrs. Fogarty from ever suing the former champion again.

Last week, Frank L. Wilder, associate counsel for Mrs. Fogarty withdrew from the case. Colonel Field's announced absence tomorrow will close the fight.

Mrs. Fogarty brought suit for $500,000, charging breach-of-promise.

HUGE ALCOHOL SCANDAL AIRED

$50,000,000 and 1,000 Names Involved in Case

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (US)—One thousand firms and individuals are reported under government investigation in an alleged $50,000,000 industrial alcohol scandal.

This became known today as Chicago attempted to shake off the effects of a grand and glorious Christmas celebration and laid plans for a bigger and better New Year.

The alcohol scandal crowded the wounding of Salvatore Mastroianni, the alleged go-between in the famous Ranieri kidnaping case, the activities of cracksmen and bandits and other crime, off the first page.

Uncle Sam is reported very much interested in what has happened to some $50,000,000 worth of industrial alcohol which is alleged to have been diverted from legitimate channels into the hands of bootleggers.

Certain information is already in the hands of federal prohibition men who, under the direction of Alexander Jamie, chief of the Washington prohibition unit, have been working on the case for the last four months.

Among those to be questioned, it is said, are heads of business houses who have permits to obtain alcohol for industrial purposes, high prohibition officials, politicians and a raft of racketeers and bootleggers.

These, it is charged, have turned alcohol from business into gin bottles reaping a rich reward.

United States District Attorney E. Q. Johnston's men are working with the dry investigators and a strict check is being made to find out just how the consignments of from 100 to 3,500 gallons of alcohol are used.

The government men admit the inquiry but refuse to discuss it.

Grass Fires Keep City Trucks Busy

Grass fires in Wichita Falls Thursday continued to keep firemen on the run, eight small blazes having been extinguished during the afternoon. The lack of rain for the past several days and the dryness of the dead grass was given as the cause of the many fires during the Christmas holidays. A total of 23 alarms were turned in Christmas Day, a new record for the department, and most of that number were grass fires.

A warning to residents who intend to burn their grass at this time of the year was issued by officials of the fire department. Extreme care must be exercised in burning lawns, it was urged, and the blaze should not be allowed to reach fences, houses or other objects unless a person is at hand to stop the flames. Beating the burning grass with brooms and other objects often fails to extinguish the blaze and it will often smoulder for a time, catching fire to wood nearby, it was said. A garden hose was given as perhaps the best means of controlling the flames.

Fire Chief J. L. McClure Thursday requested residents to state whether the blaze is a grass fire when turning in an alarm. Only the chemical truck is needed in bringing burning grass under control, he said, and the expense of sending all the trucks to a small blaze is unwarranted.

Odell Named Head Of Waterways Corporation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (US)—Herbert R. Odell, son of the late Gov. Benjamin Odell of New York has been appointed operating manager of the Inland Waterways corporation, lower Mississippi division, Secretary of War Hurley announced today.

Odell succeeds J. P. Higgins, who also served as traffic manager of solicitation for the entire corporation. Because of increasing activities, Higgins will henceforth devote his entire time to the latter position.

Odell was for more than 25 years in charge of the movement of freight and passengers on the Central Hudson Steamboat company of New York.

Wirt Hastings Pleads Not Guilty of Murder

JAY, Okla., Dec. 26. (UP)—Wirt Hastings, prominent in Oklahoma political circles, pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder in connection with the death of Charles Geayrock when arraigned here today, and will be given a preliminary hearing before Judge I. W. Ingram Jan. 3. He was denied bail and taken back to Delaware county jail.

Geayrock, a tenant on Hasting's farm, was shot to death Monday night when he allegedly was called to the Hastings home. The defendant's wife was said to have asked Geayrock to protect her from her husband who she said was intoxicated.

Former Dry Informer And Woman Sentenced

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 26. (UP)—Henry Prudhomme, former prohibition informer, was sentenced to two years in federal prison and fined $1,000 today on conviction of accepting a bribe from Frank Demayo, former leader of the Kansas City bootlegging trade. Mrs. Ivo Gillespie, found guilty with Prudhomme, was sentenced to a year and a day at the woman's industrial reformatory at Alderson, W. Va.

Prudhomme and the woman were brought here from Louisiana by prohibition authorities to obtain evidence against Demayo.

'Official Drinking' Given As Cause for Dry Laxity

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (UP)—Drinking by federal judges and United States attorneys is to blame for the laxity of prohibition enforcement, Dr. Atticus Webb, president of the Texas Anti-Saloon league, declared today in commenting on the tilt between Senator William E. Borah and Attorney General William Mitchell.

Webb said he positively knew of some United States district judges who drank liquor, and of at least one who got drunk. He added that "Borah and Mitchell both are right, and both are wrong."

DRESDEN. (AP)—The Protestant Episcopal church of St. John, the American church of this city, has been reopened with Rev. Edward M. Bruce as rector.

LEGISLATOR IN BRAZIL SLAIN

Colleague Kills Solon During Political Debate

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 26. (US)—A bitter dispute over the coming presidential election in the parliament building here today was brought to a tragic conclusion when one representative shot and killed a fellow legislator.

The dead man was Souza Filho, elected from the state of Pernambuco. His assailant, Representative Simoes Lopes, former secretary of agriculture, was placed under arrest.

The two men had engaged in a heated argument on the floor of the chamber of deputies. Words became more bitter, and Lopes drawing a revolver fired at Filho. As the latter fell, other congressmen seized Lopes and disarmed him.

Word of the shooting caused considerable excitement outside the parliamentary building where a political meeting was in progress. Several speakers attempting to harangue the crowds were seized. During the turmoil one bystander was injured.

NEW FANGLED SPELLING TOLD

Limitless Number of Ways To Form One Word

vowel and the consonant sounds is naturally very great. Circumference can be spelled in 396,000,000 different ways by using the spellings of identical or similar sounds in words likely to be known to a sixth grade child.

Alphabet Insufficient

"Our alphabet is inefficient. There are more sounds in English than there are letters. In the sound of long E can be made in 22 ways. There are 47 sound letter combinations which the child must learn for the letter A alone by the time he has finished third grade. Such hope as exists for rationalizing spelling is to be found first in the gradual casting out of parasite letters—dropping the U in words like honor—and second by teaching the rules by which prefixes and suffixes are added to base words to make derived forms."

Webster himself bumped this snag when he tried to spell women as "wimmin" and was forced to "back up," said Dr. Horn. Our spelling, however, gives variety in correct pronunciation. The world "often" was customarily used without sounding the T, but now more and more cultivated persons sound the T. There are four cultivated ways of pronouncing "horse." In Minneapolis, said Dr. Horn, cultured persons sound the R almost with a burr, but in Louisiana, Maine, and Cambridge, Eng., they largely drop the R sound and each place does it differently.

En Close and Inclose

Most persons write "en close" in their letters, but Dr. Horn found many of good standing who write "inclose."

The revolt of American youth against conduct standards was discussed by several educators. Examples of personality and behavior problems were given by Dr. Harry C. Baker, clinical psychologist of the Detroit public schools. He studied 1,357 boys and girls who broke the traces more in minor than in major fashion.

"Twelve-year-old pupils," he said, "are worse than seven-year-olds in arguing, cheating and resenting correction. White boys are worse than white girls in bullying, fighting, interfering and being 'smart alecs.' Girls are worse than boys in lying, cheating and stealing.

"Cheating as a special trait occurred in 469 of the 1,357 cases. It is more common among older than younger pupils. Dull pupils cheat more than bright ones, and the trait is closely related to arguing, interfering, lying and fighting.

"Slow or slightly dull pupils were 14.6 times more frequent behavior offenders than bright pupils, and children behind their grade for their age were more frequent than were pupils ahead of the grade."

Rubio Visits In National Capital to supply from within her own borders all demands upon her credit.

In reply to questions whether he would initiate propaganda for a prohibition regime in Mexico, the president-elect declared he had no such intention.

It was unprecedented in Mexican-American relations, and in diplomatic and official quarters was said to presage an adjustment of the few remaining differences between the two countries.

The popular Mexican official came to Washington from Baltimore in a special train provided by the American government.

At union station a full company of marines formed an escort of honor in the presidential waiting room. There the president-elect and his party were greeted by Secretary of State Stimson, Dwight Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico, and members of the foreign diplomatic corps.

The United States army band played the Mexican national anthem, while the party boarded automobiles for the ride to the Mexican embassy. They were escorted by a troop of cavalry. Arriving at the embassy the famous marine band also played the national anthem and rendered appropriate honors.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the president-elect and Senora Rubio were escorted to the White House by a troop of cavalry to pay their respects to the president and Mrs. Hoover and immediately afterwards the president and Mrs. Hoover returned the call.

Tonight Ambassador Morrow, a warm personal friend of the Mexican president-elect, gave a formal dinner in his honor and they had the opportunity of discussing Mexican affairs in much detail.

Moody Summoned As Witness in Litigation

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—A subpoena for his appearance in court Jan. 13 was served upon Gov. Dan Moody tonight at the home of Murrell Buckner, chairman of the Dallas county Democratic executive committee.

The subpoena was issued in a suit styled Claude Westerfield vs. Clarence E. Pratt. Details of the suit could not be learned. Moody was wanted as witness for the defendant.

France Announces Its Policy for Naval Parley

PARIS, Dec. 26. (AP)—The French foreign office tonight made public a memorandum explaining to the four other powers to the London naval disarmament conference in January that the French policy would be based on the covenant of the League of Nations.

France thus has reaffirmed its insistence that the London conference be regarded mainly as a forerunner to a general disarmament conference at Geneva subsequently.

Land Owner Held On Arson Charges

CHANDLER, Okla., Dec. 26. (UP)—F. B. Armstrong, wealthy land owner, was held today on a charge of arson filed by Mrs. Iva Wiles of Stroud. Mrs. Wiles told investigators Armstrong set fire to a barn on one of her farms. Armstrong, a former Lincoln county commissioner, denied the charge.

500 Join Posses Searching Hills For Bandit-Slayers of Bank Head

SMITH'S GROVE, Ky., Dec. 26. (AP)—J. Robert Kirby, 45, president of the Farmers' bank, was shot and killed by three men here today as he and a party of friends attempted to stop the robbers' automobile after they had robbed the Oakland bank at Oakland, Ky., near here, of $1,000.

Five hundred citizens, organized into posses under the sheriff, started searching the hills near here for the bandits. Several shots were fired at the bandit car as they left Oakland and it is thought that two of them are wounded.

The men entered the Oakland bank this morning, lined up 10 customers and bank employes, scooped up the money in sight and dashed for their automobile. Several citizens fired at them. Notification of the robbery was then telephoned to Smith's Grove, and a party opened fire on the robbers as the car entered the town.

The robbers returned the fire, killing Kirby and wounding Charles Beard, 22, in the foot. The car sped on, and later was found abandoned three miles farther down the road. A bag of money found in the car is believed to be the entire loot obtained at the Oakland bank.

An appeal was made to Adjutant General W. C. Boyd of Tennessee for an airplane of the Tennessee National Guard to scour the country, but Boyd said he did not have authority for a plane to serve outside the state.

The posses late today were swelled by scores of farmers, who arrived with shotguns and pistols.

W. I. Cameron Buys 4,100 Acres Of Rio Grande Valley Land in Trade

Wichitan Announces Plans for Development of Holdings; Property Here Exchanged in Deal

W. I. Cameron, real estate operator and restaurant owner in Wichita Falls for the past 20 years, Thursday announced the exchange of much of his property here for 4,120 acres of citrus fruit land to be developed in the Rio Grande valley. Both Mr. Cameron and his son, Don D. Cameron, plan to make their home in the valley. The younger member of the firm will leave Friday day morning for Starr county, the site of the new acreage, to be followed by his father next week. More than $100,000 is involved in the exchange of properties.

A. C. Woods, from whom the valley land was acquired, has taken over an eight block section of the Cameron Gardens subdivision here. The remainder of the Gardens property, about 16 blocks in all, has been purchased by Miss Rose Mangum of Henrietta. The Cameron Cafeteria, in operation on Eighth street here for many years and one of the first blocks of property sold, was acquired by W. J. Mangum, who with his daughter and Mr. Woods have taken over all the Cameron properties put upon the market. Mr. Cameron is retaining his home here and a block of buildings on Scott avenue.

The real estate man announced Thursday evening that he and his son will personally develop one section of the newly acquired acreage. The remainder will be subdivided into 40 plots of 89 acres each, to be sold and developed on a "live and let live" plan, involving a small down payment and an arrangement for installment payments, Mr. Cameron explained.

State Deaths

MRS. H. E. BRIDGE

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., Dec. 26.—Mrs. H. E. Bridge passed away at her home southeast of Hollis early Wednesday. The cause of her death was apoplexy. Those surviving are her husband, H. E. Bridge, three daughters, Mrs. May McWilliams and Mrs. Addie Crenshaw of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. E. D. Kuykendall of Hollis; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Era Bridge, and a brother, Bill Blair of Hollis.

Interment was made at Fairmount cemetery Wednesday afternoon with the officiating ministers, Rev. J. F. Graham and Rev. L. S. Abernathy, in charge of the funeral.

Negro Couple Held In Baffling Forgery Case

A forgery case on which police had been working for almost a month ended in success Thursday night when it was established to the satisfaction of officers that a negro man and woman held in the city jail were the persons wanted in the case. Forged checks aggregating more than $250 had been signed with the name of H. G. Karrenbrock and cashed in various stores and shops in the city since the first of this month, police said. Each check was machine stamped and bore an almost perfect forgery of Mr. Karrenbrock's signature. They ranged from $15 to $25 in amount.

Several of the checks have not yet been located, officers believe, but further investigation is expected to recover the missing ones. Police have traced down several clues in the case and have found large numbers of checks cashed on each of several days. The negroes will be transferred to state authorities Friday.

DeMolay Inducts Six New Members Thursday

Six candidates were initiated into the Order of DeMolay Thursday night in the winter ceremonial of Hope chapter, attended by 40 DeMolays and 15 Master Masons. Several others in the class of candidates were prevented through absence from the city or illness from receiving the two degrees of the order, according to John Cole, scribe.

Those initiated were Jack Leroy Exley, Leroy Hair, Granville Meade, Frank Thomas, Stanley Blinton Henson, and Dick Roberts. Bob Crocker, past master councilor of Hope chapter, was awarded a $2.50 gold piece as a prize for being the best preceptor in the initiatory ceremonies.

Germ Isolation Works On Influenza Vaccine

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (UP)—Dr. I. S. Falk, University of Chicago professor who has isolated a germ he believes causes influenza, is planning to develop a vaccine from his discovery and experiment on a large number of human beings.

Study of a vaccine which is sprayed into the nose and throat has been made by Doctor Falk but the results, he said, so far have been inconclusive. Further experiments will be made in the hope that an effective vaccine may be found which will check or possibly eliminate influenza epidemics which since 1918 have taken millions of lives.

Thoughtful Car Thief Leaves Warning Note

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Dec. 26. (UP)—Police found an abandoned automobile at a curb here today with a note attached to the steering wheel. It read: "This is a stolen car from Wichita, Kan., Radiator drained." It was a thoughtful precaution for the night was freezing cold here.

GRAHAM PROBE OPENS TODAY

Grand Jury to Consider Alleged Conspiracy

Investigation into an alleged conspiracy to force a continuance of the recent trial of Tom Shook by the calling of three fictitious defense witnesses will be completed Friday when the evidence of two men who have admitted a part in the plan will be laid before a special session of the Young county grand jury.

Sam Spence, district attorney, will leave early Friday morning to conduct the probe of the investigating body. He expects the work to be completed within the day. Constable W. W. Hopper of Harrold has admitted pretending to serve the three subpoenas, and A. L. Shook, cousin to Tom, has told the court that he and the defense attorney, outlined the scheme. Both men were held in contempt of court, fined $100, and sent to jail for three days.

Tom Shook, former Electra police chief charged as an accomplice in robbery with firearms, was convicted in Graham last week and sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary.

Auto Prices To Advance Jan. 1

here, according to officials of the Langford Motor company. Any raise in the prices of these cars would probably not be announced until a short time before the advance became effective, it was said.

Show Jan. 4

The majority of factories will make formal announcements of advances at the New York Automobile show, which will open in New York City Jan. 4. At that time new models will be displayed and new prices on present models announced, dealers here said Thursday.

The explanation for the advance in price, according to Wichita Falls dealers, is the present situation in the used car market. The large number of used cars traded in on new machines has created a situation for dealers which has made it difficult to dispose of the old cars at prices which will compensate for the allowance made in the trade. Consequently, it has become necessary to advance the price of new cars in accordance with the fall in the value of used machines, it was explained.

Automobiles which will increase in price after the first of the year include Graham-Paige, Oakland, Pontiac, De Soto, Hudson, Essex, and others. Chrysler has announced advances on all models to take effect Dec. 31. Others are expected to make announcements near the first of the year or at the annual automobile show in New York. Cadillac and LaSalle motor cars increased in price Dec. 1 and Studebaker and Erskine advanced in November. Buick and Marquette prices increased Dec. 1. Chevrolet, Dodge, Ford, Lincoln, Packard and others had made no definite announcements Thursday.

New Models

The increases will range from $25 to $250 on various makes. Many new features will be incorporated in the models to be displayed at the New York show, although the majority of manufacturers have made but small changes in the appearance of present models. Several manufacturers have announced new types of motor cars, with larger motors and chasses, to be introduced as new lines in addition to the present types. Chrysler has announced that its models 70 and 77 will be radio equipped. Graham-Paige has announced shatter-proof window glass and others have given indication of various improvements and additions.

Man Believed Left On Car Tracks to Die

HOUSTON, Texas, Dec. 26. (UP)—Police here believe that John Nash, 28, of Goose Creek, was slugged and left on the street car rails on Lyons avenue to be crushed to death, but had not made an arrest in connection with his death tonight.

Q. Q. Oliver, motorman, said he saw something on the track and applied the air brakes, but the car failed to stop before it ran over and killed Nash.

PRESIDENT AND BORAH PARLEY

National Prohibition Drive Is Discussed

dry law. He believes that a ruthless and iron-fisted order to the enforcement personnel will get results. He believes that such an order should be issued by the president himself.

Drastic Orders

So, it is altogether likely that some such order may emanate from the White House shortly. The personnel of the entire enforcement machinery will be told to produce or get out of the service.

Meanwhile, Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, co-sponsor of the 18th amendment, announced that he intends to press for consideration of his bill making the purchasers of liquor equally guilty under the law with the bootlegger who sells the stuff.

Sheppard also issued a statement defending the present prohibition enforcement and inferentially taking issue with Borah and other drys who are complaining about laxity.

Senator Sheppard said:

"A law may be said to be successfully enforced when a pronounced majority of the people obey it and most of the cases against offenders result in convictions. Measured by this standard prohibition enforcement is a success in the United States. The question of further action is merely a question of making enforcement still more effective.

"I believe that President Hoover is doing everything within his power in this direction; that he is in intimate touch with his executive and investigating agencies, that if there is anything wrong with them he will be the first to ascertain and correct it, that he and these agencies are entitled to the confidence and support of the American people."

Another direct result of the controversy raging among the drys is likely to be enormously increased appropriations for prohibition enforcement. Senator Harris of Georgia, whose resolution to force a partial report from the president's law enforcement commission, is prepared to sponsor the demand for increased funds.

Indian Oil Leases To Be Sold Jan. 7

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Dec. 26. (UP)—Leases on Indian land in 21 Oklahoma counties will be sold here Jan. 7 by the agency for the Five Civilized tribes, it was announced today. It will be one of the largest sales of recent months.

Organization Of Forum Is Urged In Address Here

A Wichita Falls Forum, an educational organization through which noted speakers could be brought here, was visualized Thursday by Charles I. Francis, local attorney, in an address before the Rotary club. Mr. Francis pointed out that the Memorial auditorium would serve as a place of meeting. He discussed the Dallas Open Forum, and expressed the hope that one similar would be established here. The project was commended by Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, president of the club, and it was indicated the club might adopt the proposed plan as a project for next year's program.

Tax on Bond Issues Carried to High Court

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (US)—A lower court decision holding that the federal government cannot collect income taxes on the profitable sale of state and municipal bonds was appealed to the U. S. supreme court by the department of justice today.

The department seeks a review of the decision handed down by the circuit court of appeals for the eighth circuit, in the case of Charles W. Bunn.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Beautiful Service Unites Members of Old Families

One of the loveliest of home weddings was the nuptial ceremony which took place Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wyett F. Parrish, 1102 Alma street, uniting their daughter, Miss Goldyna Parrish and Dr. James Robert Dillard of Big Spring in matrimony.

Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, read the double ring service before a beautiful improvised altar of southern smilax and palms, with great baskets of orchid and gold chrysanthemums and candles gleaming in tall candelabra adding beauty to the scene.

Miss Margaret Caldwell of Fort Worth sang, "O Perfect Love," as a pre-nuptial song, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Homer F. Bennett. Mrs. Bennett played Mendelssohn's wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party.

Little Lou Ann Whatley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ed Whatley of Snyder and only grandaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parrish, was flower girl and preceded the party in a dainty frock of blue and pink georgette with pink accessories and carrying a basket of pink blossoms.

Mrs. F. F. Hardesty, sister of the bride, of Fort Worth was matron of honor and wore a Paris model of golden brown lace which was her own wedding gown.

The bride was attired in a Hattie Carnegie model of brown panne velvet with accessories harmonizing and carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses. She entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

Dr. T. C. Gilbert of Dallas accompanied Dr. Dillard as best man.

An informal reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Ralph Maricle presided at the table in the dining room where pink tapers stood in silver candelabra, and the great wedding cake was cut by the bride.

Miss Happy Whatley and Mrs. J. C. McCracken assisted in serving a delicious plate lunch, carried out in the pastel shades of the sweet peas in pink and orchid that formed dainty boutonnieres on each plate.

Miss Elizabeth Carrigan presided before the bride's book.

Mrs. Dillard's going away gown was a three-piece black basket weave, caracul trimmed, a Mangone model with accessories to match.

Dr. and Mrs. Parrish left directly after the ceremony for El Paso, where they will spend a short wedding trip and will be at home afterward at the Crawford hotel in Big Spring.

Mrs. Dillard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyett F. Parrish, a pioneer family of Wichita Falls. She is a graduate of Wichita Falls high school and of C. I. A. at Denton.

Dr. Dillard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dillard of Bartlett, Texas, where he received his preliminary education. He attended the University of Texas and received his M. D. degree at the medical school of that university in Galveston. He has had two years' hospital work in Bellevue hospital, New York. He is a member of the Alpha Kappa medical professional fraternity and vice president of his district medical society. He has been associated with Dr. G. T. Hall and Dr. M. H. Bennett in the Big Spring hospital corporation since September, 1928.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Miss Margaret Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Caldwell of Fort Worth; Dr. T. C. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thompson of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dillard of Bartlett, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Heap of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopkin and Misses Martha Edwards and Eleanor Antley of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Bennett and Dr. G. T. Hall of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Hardesty of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Edd Whatley and little daughter of Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCracken of Graham.

Only intimate friends in Wichita Falls and members of the family attended the wedding.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"Time" in its last issue, carried a review of Theodore Dreiser's "Gallery of Women." In closing it, the critic says "Fat cheeked, loose-lipped, furrowed of brow, Author Dreiser looks like what he is: A puzzled brooder over the tragic inconsistencies of life."

◇ ◇ ◇

A criticism of "A Gallery of Women" is all we wish to read. And we wonder why one needs brood over the inconsistencies of life.

◇ ◇ ◇

Mr. Dreiser offers no remedy. He only tells the horrible things. Laughter can cure more ills than tears, and stories of wandering feet leave bad tastes in normal souls.

◇ ◇ ◇

Laughter is a great thing, any-way. We are glad when we can give a laugh and glad when we can find one.

◇ ◇ ◇

We laughed today at the head of our house when he came to the lunch table with many groans. "Do you feel bad?" we asked sympathetically. "Yes," he said, "I made myself feel bad eating peanut brittle."

◇ ◇ ◇

"For Heaven's sake!" we cried in exasperation. "We warned you when you were eating that." "I was trying to save my daughter," he said, with the resigned expression of a martyr.

◇ ◇ ◇

His daughter snickered. "Dad,' she said, "didn't you know that chivalry had gone out of style?"

◇ ◇ ◇

"Parental love hasn't," he said with a long drawn sigh.

◇ ◇ ◇

And parental love has not. In spite of the tragic inconsistencies of life, the majority of children from the homes we know are led into the right path by parental love.

◇ ◇ ◇

It is a thing that never dies. It stretches from the cradle to the grave.

◇ ◇ ◇

It makes life sometimes a crown of glory and sometimes a Gethsemane.

◇ ◇ ◇

But we believe those children, who in their manhood and womanhood can remember laughs and jokes with their parents, walk a better path through life than those who were driven.

◇ ◇ ◇

Christmas Carols Sung in Iowa Park

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, Dec. 26.—Members of choirs of the various churches of the town met at the First Christian church at 7 o'clock Christmas evening and from there went to the homes and sang Christmas carols and spoke words of cheer. The Christmas spirit was also manifested here this year by a liberal remembrance of the worthy, but unfortunate families of the town, by local organizations, churches and individuals.

Husband's Success Often Depends On Food, Wives Told

"The Health, the Happiness, the Prosperity, the Success or Failure Of a Woman's Husband and Children Depend Upon the Way She Feeds Them," Says Dorothy Dix —"So Learn to Cook, Ladies."

Ladies, do you wish to be your children's ideal of motherhood? Wives, do you desire to hold your husbands? Then learn how to cook. Recently a questionnaire was sent out to the school children of the country asking them what quality they would like best for their mothers to have, and they answered as with one voice: "For her to be a good cook." Now comes along the National Conference of Catholic Charities which asserts that bad housekeeping is at the bottom of most of the domestic infelicity, and that the principal reason that wife deserters run away from home is in search of something fit to eat.

All of this is sorry news for women who like to feel that their hold is upon their husband's and children's souls instead of upon their stomach's, and who are given to ignoring the fact that it is folly to try to appeal to our finer feelings when we are feeling the pangs of hunger or indigestion. The first woman who ever gave any advice to a prospective bride about how to manage her husband said: "Feed the brute," and nobody has ever been able to improve on this formula for keeping a husband eating out of his wife's hands.

It is still a slogan to conjure with, for amiability, sentiment, romance, even love itself, depends upon physical comfort. No man ever thinks of the state of his heart when his stomach is crying out for food. Probably no man ever made love to a woman when he was hungry. When he is hungry his question is not: "Darling, will you love me forever?" It is: "When do we eat?"

Every woman's experience has shown her that men are never romantic and sentimental and complaisant and easy to handle except when they are well fed, and that the man who before dinner was a raging lion seeking whom he might devour, after a good dinner of the things he likes best, cooked just as he prefers them, is a purring house cat that any girl child can do with as she pleases.

This being the case, and this being a matter of common knowledge among women, it is passing strange that they so signally neglect and despise this tried and proved recipe for holding a husband's affections and keeping him nailed down to his own fireside.

But they don't. They put their faith in false gods. In dieting and keeping slim and retaining a youthful figure. In preserving their youth. In being high-browed. In understudying the arts and wiles of the vamps. All of which is well and good and highly desirable if superimposed upon a solid foundation of good housekeeping.

But who can picture a happy family presided over by a woman who never acquired the art of cookery, or the first principle of order and cleanliness, no matter if she were the embodiment of every charm and grace and virtue? What man cares how slender his wife is if his own figure is as thin as a match through semistarvation? What children listen eagerly while mother discourses on the art of the Renaissance while they make a frugal supper off burnt porridge? What sex appeal is powerful enough to draw a man back to a home at night in which there is never a good meal, or a clean place to sit down, or a comfortable bed to sleep on?

None. The ideal home of every man and child's desire is a place of light and cheer and warmth and good food and comfort, a place where the cookie jar is always filled and where mother's cakes and pies and bread set a standard that nobody else ever reaches. Such a woman's family never really see her as she is. They always behold her, glorified through the incense that rises from her pots and pans, as the very spirit of home.

That bad cooking leads to the breaking up of homes is beyond all discussion. The grounds in the coffee are the grounds of many a divorce and soggy biscuit wreck more marriages than sirens. The first time a bridegroom ever gets a real disillusioning look at the girl he has married and finds out that he has been stung is when he faces her across a dinner table on which there are watery potatoes and a burnt steak and a pie that is first-aid to the coroner.

Then it is that a bride and groom say things to each other that shatters the honeymoon into smithereens, and that leave wounds that never heal. The old saying is that when poverty comes in at the door love flies out of the window, but it would be truer to say that when bad cooking comes on the table love perishes of malnutrition. If, before every girl was married, she knew as much about making break as she does about making up her complexion, there would not be so many "To Let" signs on the doors of newlyweds.

Napoleon said that an army travels on its stomach. This is even more true of a family. The health, the happiness, the prosperity, the success or failure of a woman's husband and children depend upon the way she feeds them. She can poison her children on bad cooking and make them dull and stupid and neurotic and nervous.

She can feed her husband on indigestible food until she gives him chronic dyspepsia that makes him so pessimistic he is afraid to walk through the door any opportunity that opens for him, and so disagreeable that he drives away customers and clients, and that causes him to break down by the time he is 40. Or she can build up the health of her family by the proper food until she makes her husband and children strong and healthy and good-natured and fit to do their work in the world.

And lastly, but not least, there is no other way to domesticate a husband and keep him at home of evenings equal to giving him such a good dinner that it will make a comfortable armchair look better to him than any night club.

So learn to cook, ladies. Feed the animals. It is your one best bet in making good with your husband and children.—DOROTHY DIX.

"Miracle" to Draw Crowds at Dallas

DALLAS, Dec. 26.—"To compare 'The Miracle' with any other theatrical production would be like comparing the great State Fair of Texas with a little carnival company, playing on the back lots of a small town," says Herbert Marcus, who heads the local committee sponsoring the super-spectacle known the world over as "The Miracle," which is giving 21 performances at State Fair auditorium, Dallas, through to Jan. 12.

Judging from the manner in which the citizens of Dallas, of all classes, creeds and conditions are reacting to the enterprise of Morris Gest, the world-famous impresario, in bringing "The Miracle" to a city the size of Dallas, Mr. Marcus' statement reflects the belief of everyone.

For instance, Mayor Tate has issued a proclamation calling upon the loyal Dallasites to secure their seats early in the engagement and thus make way for the throngs of out-of-town visitors who are sure to flock in later.

Practically every large business house has given up valuable window space to displays in connection with "The Miracle." And in addition, the merchants are featuring "The Miracle" in their advertisements.

The four daily newspapers are devoting columns of space to pictures and stories describing the marvelously artistic spectacle and the preparations made to give it a truly adequate presentation in the State Fair auditorium.

The chamber of commerce, in all departments, is actively cooperating to make the Dallas production as brilliant a success as that achieved in any of the big cities. But perhaps the action of the railroads in making for "The Miracle" a schedule of excursion rates lower than have been offered for any purpose in 15 years is the most significant fact in connection with "The Miracle" engagement.

The advance sale of seats reveals the fact that reservations have been made by ministers and clergymen of all denominations, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish. Thousands of seats have been purchased by out-of-town patrons, many of whom have stated that they have seen "The Miracle" in other larger cities but are eager to see it again.

Record News Daily Pattern Service

HOUSE DRESS FOR MATURED FIGURES

Pattern 1808

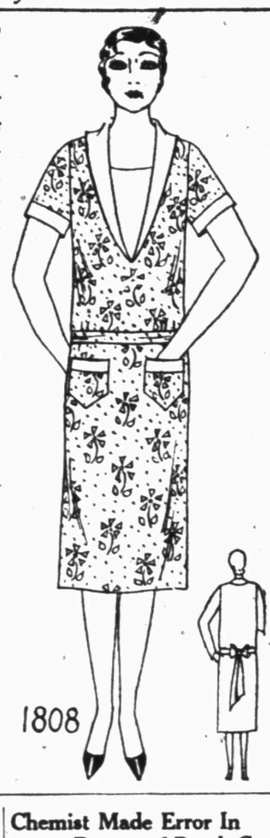

The woman who is no longer slender will enjoy this frock for wear about the home, as it is extremely simple and most becoming. The rolled collar points to a slender line, the points repeated in the pockets.

Design 1808 may be made of gingham, percale, pique or rayon in gayly colored, printed designs. The collar, vestee, cuffs and pocket trimming are made of white pique. A sash holds the frock neatly to the figure.

May be obtained only in sizes 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 38 requires 3⅞ yards of 36-inch material and three-fourths yard trimming.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of 15 cents (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size desired.

The fashion book is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to The Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

Student Flier and His Instructor Escape Death

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., Dec. 26. (UP)—A student flier and his instructor escaped with their lives today when the plane in which they were flying about 1,000 feet above the field caught fire.

The two men were Robert Black, instructor, and Ray Rothman, student pilot.

Chemist Made Error In Report of Death Case

ENID, Okla., Dec. 26. (UP)—A. F. Reiter, Phillips university chemistry instructor, today said he had made an error in determining that Joe Darnell, mill chemist, died of strychnine poisoning.

Reiter said he had found sediment of strychnine from a previous experiment in the test tube used yesterday and announced today after a second test that alcohol was found in the 22-year-old youth's viscera. He had not determined whether the alcohol was poison or not.

Darnell's body was found in a ravine near Phillips university after he had been missing several days. The body was sent to Celina, Texas, the youth's home.

Two U. S. Scientists Believed in Danger

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 26. (UP)—Two scientists, Theodore Seelman and H. W. Wells, were believed in danger today from natives in Central Borneo.

The men, both Chicagoans and members of the American Maquaysian expedition, wirelessed that Capt. J. L. Dequaint, Dutch provincial commander, who had befriended them in previous emergencies, had been assassinated by the natives.

"Trouble might break at any time," Seelman radioed.

Two of the natives were killed, according to Seelman, who did not state the exact cause of the trouble.

Violet Ray Booster Ordered to Pipe Down

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (US)—Advertising a violet ray process as the cure for 84 diseases is going a little bit too strong, the federal trade commission decided today.

Joseph F. Sereda, of Chicago, who claimed his machine would cure anything from writer's cramp to pneumonia and smallpox, was ordered by the commission to "pipe down."

Examination of the machine disclosed that the machine did not produce ultra violet rays, but merely a "mild superficial stimulation such as might be obtained from an application of turpentine," according to the commission.

South Texan Killed In Hunting Accident

VICTORIA, Texas, Dec. 26. (AP)—Refugio Gonzales, 23, was accidentally shot and fatally wounded on a Christmas day hunting expedition near here. In another hunting accident, Julius Sramek, 16, Gaudalupe, lost three fingers.

Business Women Play Santa To Seven Families

Seven families spent a happier Christmas through the efforts of the service committee of the Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Mary Crane, chairman of the committee, gave personal attention to the personnel of the children, numbering 26.

Baskets overflowing with groceries, fruits, vegetables and homemade jellies were sent all the families. Mrs. Crane took the name and age of each of the 26 children, including 16 wards of the Children's Aid society of West Texas, shopped personally for them and wrapped and had delivered to them gifts personal in their appeal.

Two of the families adopted by the Business and Professional Women's club were reached through day nursery connections; the others made personal appeal to the service committee of the club.

Mrs T. A. Hicks delivered all the baskets and gifts.

GET A THINKING CAP

Daily Editorial

GERMANY, having doffed the spiked helmet to don thinking caps, again is fast resuming her pre-war place as chemist-in-chief for civilization, and is once more bent upon devoting national genius to saving lives, aborting pain and checking premature human obsolescence with laboratory products.

Fair play must balance her obligations to various allies, with the still heavier debt that all progressive practice owes to her pioneering scientists.

The discoveries that bubbled in the test-tubes and alembics at Jena, alone have inspired more wealths and industrial opportunity than artillery in toto ever devastated.

The Teuton mind's latest contribution to knowledge and advancement is a process for separating the component elements of hydrogen, until now pontifically considered indivisible.

Entire structures of theory must promptly be redesigned as a consequence of that epochal feat and another batch of practical miracles forthwith begins to incubate from the germinating idea.

Meanwhile, American ingenuity, which peculiarly inclines toward mechanical wonders, breeds a pair of robots, on whose authors the Middle Ages would probably have passed the death sentence for practicing witchcraft.

One displaces the human voice as a connecting instrument between dial and vocal telephone, by translating electrically signalled numbers into actual speech.

And the other furnishes aviators with an automatic assistant to hold the plane in its set course and handle the controls.

EXPERIMENTERS, synchronizing their researches at three different universities, corroborate Dr. Austin Clark's contention that it will soon be practicable to alter the characteristics of certain species through the influence of radium and ex-rays, thus enabling chicken fanciers, breeders and possibly fish culturists to Burbank animals as well as spuds and daisies.

Some of the Bell company's bright young men have managed at last to contrive a gedingus which so scrambles radio messages between transmission and reception, that listeners-in on wireless conversations will hear nothing but gibberish for their Paul Pry pains.

Merlin & Sons, alias the General Electric company, also beg to advise the public that equipment users may shortly expect devices prepared to overcome any meteorological uncertainty.

A group of incredibly powerful machines have been installed at Schenectady, to determine artificially the effect of lightning, thunder and other ethereal rages upon dynamic apparatus.

What a reputation an African medicine man could make with such an outfit!

So many "ifs" and enormous "whys" are being kicked into cocked hats, that inability to solve such a piddling problem as self-support is incomprehensible.

Progress expands instead of lessening the average likelihood for success. Originality and efficiency enlarge everybody's prospects.

Whenever another truth is established—a more accurate rule provided, or a shrewder tool perfected, each of us inherits just that many more chances to make good over predecessors, without equivalent information and deprived of theaters to stage ingenuity and talents.

The front room is never totally occupied. Move up!

The struggle is back where you are. All the tense competition, all the bitter, sordid strife; the mean, enervating battles for survival, are confined to the doubters and quitters and cowards.

People who don't think and won't dare, never better lots or prospects.

VISIT DAUGHTER

FREDERICK, Okla., Dec. 26.—Sheriff and Mrs. Charles A. Wages departed Tuesday for Blackwell to spend Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Ina May Wages. They expect to return Friday.

A society woman says she bought 165 hats in five months. The idea must have gone to her head.

Sometimes men do not get to the front because they are back numbers.

Two Weeks of Worry

NOW THAT the Christmas shopping has all been done, and the spirit of generosity is slowly beginning to subside for another 50 weeks or so, it might be a good thing to take a look at our annual custom of providing Christmas gifts for the unfortunate.

To begin with, it's a fine custom. We're a prosperous country, but there are a great many people who never have enough money to make a holiday out of Christmas. So, in every city in the land, the people who are better situated get together to fix them up. They give them food, clothing, fuel, toys, trinkets and so on, and the impulse back of it all is very fine.

And yet—did it ever occur to you that there's something wrong with the whole set-up?

We dig down into our pockets to provide Christmas cheer for those who are less fortunate than ourselves—and then we very promptly forget all about them for an entire year.

At Christmas time we can't stand it to think that within a mile of us there are men and women who aren't getting enough to eat, children who can't have a doctor when they're sick, whole families that go skidding along from day to day on the ragged edge of nothing. So we get busy and do something about it.

But we won't bother our heads about it again until the next Christmas comes along.

These people that we've helped this Christmas will just have to get along the best they can between times. If they starve or freeze, or if their children are miserable because of undernourishment or bad health, it will be just too bad. We won't even hear about it, and if we do we won't listen very hard.

Not until next Christmas. Then we'll get busy again. We'll give fairly liberally, then, and we'll be rewarded by that warm glow of self-approval that comes when we think we've done something noble.

To be sure, in this world it's every man for himself. We seem to be pretty well satisfied that we're not our brothers' keepers. And, surely, we're not individually responsible for such things as unemployment.

But our attitude is funny, just the same.

At Christmas time the very thought of poverty bothers us. It makes us uneasy even to know that it exists. But during the rest of the year we accept poverty as part of the natural order of existence.

Some day poverty will be abolished from the earth. But that day won't come until we stop being indifferent to it for 50 weeks out of every year.

It will come when we worry about it all year long as much as we do now in the last two weeks of December.

What Byrd Is Up Against

THE ORDINARY MAP fails to give one a true perspective on geography. Many people, for example, are unable to understand just why Commander Byrd's aerial explorations on the antarctic continent should be such prodigious undertakings.

It will help you to grasp the extent of Byrd's job if you realize that the antarctic continent is half again as large as the whole United States. Consider, on top of that, that the whole area is entirely uninhabited and covered with ice and snow, criss-crossed by high mountains and swept by terrific storms.

In that way you can see why Byrd's job is so tremendous. Suppose that the United States were a frost-bound, uninhabited wilderness, and that some daring aviator were to try to fly from Boston to a point in western Nebraska, under the necessity of getting back without landing anywhere en route. Then you can realize what Byrd is up against.

Mexican Workers Win a Decision

STRIKING employes of the Mexican railway, a British-owned road, have won their contentions, or rather their demands in the award handed out by President Gil, who was named as arbiter of the dispute.

The strikers had demanded that the railway sign collective labor contracts, under which the employers, when in need of more workers, could select names only from a list submitted by the unions.

President Gil decided the company must sign such contracts and moreover, must pay the wages of the strikers from the time they left work on Dec. 7.

Organized labor in Mexico appears to be in the saddle.

Sullivan Loves the Open Spaces

SENATOR PATRICK J. SULLIVAN of Wyoming, millionaire rancher-man and livestock producer, has announced he will not be a candidate to succeed himself next year, "preferring the open fields of the West." Patrick J. Sullivan is a wise man. He found fame and a big fortune in the open spaces of the Rocky mountain country. He is 67. Why should he desert the open spaces for the banks of the Potomac river?

Wool and Mohair Men Organize

EIGHTY per cent of the wool and mohair producers of New Mexico and Arizona assembled in the city of Lordsburg, N. M., and voted to become members of the American Mohair Producers cooperative marketing corporation. It was reported that practically all other growers of New Mexico and Arizona will join at an early date. What is known as the cooperative spirit appears to be marching on. Texas is the leading wool and mohair producing state. Are the Texans lined up with their brothers of New Mexico and Arizona?

A Columnist Writes to Santa Claus

Please smother me with abrogations,
With bless'd events, before and after;
List thousands of consolidations,
My readers fill with ire and laughter.

Pile high my desk with bits for Monday
And verse for Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday;
Make every one of them a fun day,
A let-this-smack-you-in-the-eye day.

Deliver me from "wits" who comb Life,
From show folks grafting and abusive.
Who's Rudy's pash? What's Lindy's home life?
Rush me the answers, all exclusive.

To my contribs give good things countless,
Competitors the also-ran cue;
Cause my errata to amount less,
And I'll say, "Thank you! Thank you! Thank you!"

Gag

While touring the hinterland in his Shakespearan repertoire company, Forbes-Robertson used to lecture before the lady social clubs in every town where he appeared in a play. At the end of each talk he invited members of the audience to ask any question they might desire.

In one town a lady arose and asked:

"Did Hamlet really have an affair with Ophelia?"

To which the actor replied: "Well, when I played Hamlet he did."

He's Punny That Way

Izzy Elinson passes along the quip about the movie star who was appearing in a second-rate sketch on the small-time. The act flopped with such a terrific thud that the house manager decided to cancel it after the first matinee.

"Here," said the manager as he handed the ham his check, "go and cinema!"

Oh, Is That It?

"Dear Winchell," writes Hugh Tellem, "no doubt you've seen and laughed at Sam Marx's outburst on the critics who panned Irving Kaye Davis and his play, 'Diana.' If you haven't, I am enclosing it herewith. You'd think that the Marx hysteria was due to a genuine love for the drama, wouldn't you? Well, that isn't the reason. It appears that Master Marx is at the moment writing a play in collaboration with the indicted Davis, which may or may not explain everything."

Quiteso, Quiteso

Alexander Woolcott, who was once a newspaperman himself, observes that newspaper men are roughly divided into two classes. Those who become dramatic critics and those who write editorials deploring the low estate into which dramatic criticism has fallen.

Contrast

Once we walked as lovers do
Shuffling down the street,
Kissing on a corner—
Very indiscreet.

Now we are a proper pair,

Quite a little fee to pay

Yes, Indeedy

The ageless proverb in show business: "The Curtain Always Goes Up!" asserted itself, again this week on Broadway. Muriel Kirkland, the leading lady of the hit, "Strictly Dishonorable," was taken ill suddenly the other day. Antoinette Perry's daughter filled the gap and not until the producer apologized to the audience after the show did the spectators know any change in cast had been made. The newcomer was given an ovation for her artful performance.

David Hutcheson, the English comic in "Sons o' Guns," broke an ankle Sunday. Monday night Lynn Overman was up in the part, which contained songs and dance routines. They report that he acquitted himself most creditably.

To quote R. C. O'Brien again, the cemeteries are filled with people who thought the world couldn't get along without them.

Always Belittlin'

From an account of the Pathe fire victims' benefit show at the Imperial theater last week: "... a new song composed by George Gershwin was sunk for the first time by Gertrude Lawrence.—N. Y. Times.

The Morning Mail

"Dear Walter," writes the world-tourist, Percy Hammond from San Francisco, "it seems that I can't leave town without being double-crossed. What I said was: 'I've knocked everything in the show, except the chorus-girls' knees and nature has anticipated me in that. Knees are often knocked, but never disliked, Walter.

"I am sold on this town, the friendliest port I ever made. I may decide to spend my later days here. Please give my love to Mrs. Winchell and recall me to such others as may remember the fellow who used to defend the drama for the New York Herald Tribune.

Juvenile Whoopee

The best description of a children's party that has come to Mrs. Mack Appleton's notice in many moons is that given by her 6-year-old daughter. "Did you have a good time at Gloria's birthday party?" asked the fond mother.

"Oh yes, mother, we had a perfectly lovely time!"

"But what did you do to have such a lovely time?"

"Oh, we just screamed and screamed."

Marriage for Two—By Arthur Somers Roche

Joyce Fulfills Her Promise

"He has dared to talk to you of Larry?" she breathed.

"And of you," rejoined Joyce.

"What about me?" the other demanded.

"He doesn't like the idea of you and Larry kissing," said Joyce brutally.

There was no denial, no attempt at denial, from Helen.

"He knows?" she gasped.

"Didn't you suspect as much?" inquired Joyce.

The other girl made no reply to this. Her shallow blue eyes held something as near to that pain which comes from self-revelation as one of her sort could ever feel.

"What are you going to do?" she asked.

Their voices were lowered; they might, save for the tension of Helen's face, have been exchanging mischievous or idle gossip. And if a dozen eyes, curious because of gossip of last night's occurrence on the cliff, were bent upon them, neither of them gave conscious heed to these glances.

"Not what you hope," replied Joyce promptly.

"What I hope?" echoed Helen.

"I'm not going to give up my husband—to you," said Joyce.

Then anger possessed her. This girl had disdained Larry, had estimated the attraction of fifty millions as greater than the attraction of Larry. That Helen had later discovered her mistake made no difference. That she could contemplate making it was enough to condemn her with Joyce.

What sort of a girl was this? What sort of people, anyway, were these among whom her lot had been so strangely cast? They held themselves, by virtue of their money, or by virtue of belonging to a class, not merely above the law, but above the rule of ethics. Ethics? Too for it the word, decency.

They weren't—decent. Power had so inflamed their minds that they didn't even think reasonably. They swapped wives or husbands as their ancestors whom now they disdained in favor of a lineage discovered for them, at so much an ancestor, by tongue-in-cheek practitioners of heraldry—had swapped horses. Holding themselves clear from technical infidelity—sometimes—they prided themselves on a virtue that was only of the flesh and most certainly never of the spirit.

"Good lord, you aren't going to argue it with me, are you?" she demanded.

"Why not?" Helen's voice held spirit. Joyce was surprised. She had estimated this girl as weak, and had not realized that even weakness had moments of strength.

"Why not?" She repeated the other's question. "Your fiance comes to me, threatens me that he'll ruin Larry unless I keep him away from you—and now you casually prepare to debate with me about your rights in the man I married."

Vanity or Love?

Helen's mouth twisted in a sneer.

"What are those rights?" she asked.

"Any court in the world would define them accurately for you," Joyce replied.

"Oh, a court." Again Helen sneered. "Of course, if a woman can hold a man only by the law—"

"Suppose I hold him by the very thing you'd use to take him from me?" cried Joyce. "Larry loves me," she added.

"When," inquired Helen, acidly, "did you discover that?"

"Immediately after," retorted Joyce, "you had kissed him."

Oh, it was vulgar, incredibly so, but—what other weapon was available?

"I suppose he told you that," asserted Helen.

"That he'd kissed you? Yes, he told me."

"And then told you that he—loved you?"

Joyce felt an unaccountable pity for the girl.

"Don't you think we'd better abandon this? It's—it's so degrading."

"Even degrading things have to be talked over, sometimes," said Helen. "I suppose it didn't occur to you that Larry knew that—well, that we'd been seen and you might learn about—what we'd done?"

"Well?" Joyce's tone was dangerous.

"Larry is chivalrous. He might not want me—well, named in a divorce suit."

Joyce stared at her. The vanity—the vulgar vanity—no, she must be just. Even the meanest natures awaken to love, or that which passes for love in such natures. Helen Wilson, amazingly, was prepared to reject Burton and his colossal wealth, was prepared—it seemed—to go through the agonies of a divorce suit, to meet scandal and loss of reputation, for the sake of Larry.

Joyce felt suddenly sorry for her.

"My poor child," she said, "don't you see? Larry does care for me—"

"Even if he did—I don't believe it—you don't care for him. How could you? A woman who'd marry a total stranger—"

"Is so much worse than a woman who'd marry for money?"

"I haven't," Helen defended herself.

"Not yet," Joyce said. "But when you find that Larry is not for you—"

"I won't find that out," declared Helen.

"I'm afraid," said Joyce, "that you will."

"You mean to tell me that he—really loves you?"

"He has convinced me," laughed Joyce.

"Then—then you are his wife?"

"A Good Sport"

Humor, that shrugging unwanted humor that arises from ugly situations, left Joyce now. She had tried to laugh and had succeeded, but the success was not real. What she really wanted to do was to scratch and scream and pull hair, and she was rather pleased with herself to find that she possessed such elementary emotions. And now she was on the point of yielding to them. That Burton should profess an intimate knowledge and that this girl should now dare to put an intimate question. . . .

But she rose to her feet. Across a table sat Larry, doing his best to keep his eyes away from the two women, his ex-fiances and his wife. He felt that every one present was inwardly—or perhaps verbally—commenting on the tete-a-tete. If Biarritz was ringing with gossip—ugly, mean gossip—now, what would it be ringing with later on today? A thousand speculations would be voiced as to what the two girls had talked about. Did Mrs. Tracy know, and did Miss Wilson know that she knew? What were they going to do about it? What would happen to him?

He almost exclaimed with gratitude as Joyce signaled him to come to her side. Now he thought he understood. Joyce was making it obvious that she didn't mind Helen's presence in Biarritz. Most onlookers would assume that Joyce had heard gossip of last night's kiss. Therefore, they would go farther and assume that the kiss was merely an indiscreet harmless tribute to friendship, and that Joyce looked upon it so. Joyce was saving Helen from great embarrassment. A damned good sport, this wife of his.

Then he was at their table. He greeted Helen, and only the two women could have been certain that his careless speech hid embarrassment.

"I wanted you, Larry," said Joyce. He felt a premonition that in her suave tones lurked something which he might well dread. But he merely nodded.

Larry's Admission

"There seems to be a misconception in the mind of Miss Wilson," said Joyce.

Larry whitened. This was not Joyce, not the Joyce he had come to know and learned to love so recently. He could give his heart, perhaps, to a woman in whose past were specters, and who might not always be truthful. But manner—this was imperative. He could not have fallen in love with a woman who would create a scene, with a woman who would indulge in recrimination, vulgar argument with another woman and about her own husband.

"A misconception?" he muttered.

"About last night's—er—caress," went on Joyce coolly. "Larry, will you tell her, please, that you love me, and no one else?"

Larry Tracy, like every one else who has ever been born, was subject to occasional dreams in which he suffered a thousand embarrassments. In the Stone age, our ancestors doubtless dreamed that a saber-tooth had entered the cave and was about to devour them. But modern life robbed us of the terrors of violence, save that legalized by war, and our dreams are no longer of wild beasts.

He felt now that he was dreaming. Real waking life could not produce an embarrassment akin to this. Joyce hadn't said the words she had used; his ears had not heard them; Helen Wilson was not looking at him now, witnessing the agonizing blush that swept from Adam's apple to eyes.

Then, to assure him that he was not dreaming, but that he was actually suffering in the living flesh this agony, he heard his own voice make grave answer.

"Helen, I love Joyce."

CATTLE SALE AT HEREFORD

80 Prize Animals Go on Block Jan. 30

Special to The Record News

HEREFORD, Texas, Dec. 26.—Deaf Smith county's large Hereford sales pavilion is again a scene of activity. Approximately 80 head of the bluest blooded animals of Herefordom are now in their stall being groomed and pampered for the occasion of the sale to be held here on Jan. 30.

Catalogs will be in the mail by Jan. 10 and will be sent to the leading breeders of registered Hereford cattle in every part of the United States.

This sale, long recognized as one of the leading events in this popular breed of cattle, promises to offer this year some of the greatest animals that have ever been put in the sales ring.

Many animals that have made great records in the show rings of the state and Southwest will be offered to the highest bidder, and exceptional care has been taken in the selection of these animals in order that the great reputation already attained by these breeders will not suffer.

Col. Fred Reppert, nationally known auctioneer, from Decatur, Ind., will again officiate in the ring, and arrangements are being made for the big smoker on the night of the 30th, which has grown to be one of the features of the annual sale.

D. L. McDonald, director of the Hereford Breeders of Texas, together with local breeders is spending much time in preparations for making this one of the greatest sales in the history of this city. Sales during the past year by local breeders of Anxiety Fourth Herefords has been unusually heavy, and this sale will climax a very successful year.

Among those who will have offerings in the ring at this sale, are D. L. McDonald, T. C. Ivey, Ed East, Leo Wolfe, John Purcell, Ira Cochell, Doyle Rose, George Burch and others. Hereford breeders of this section are looking forward to the event with the assurance of a great sale.

Grandfield Needy Ones Given Presents

Special to The Record News.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., Dec. 26.—A survey of Grandfield to locate the needy that might not be remembered Christmas found 32 children whose parents were unable to furnish them with treats. Announcements was made in all churches Sunday, requesting those who have clothing or presents to give to report Monday to the presidents of various church societies. Boy Scouts were appointed to collect these offerings Tuesday and distribute them to the families. According to Rev. Ernest Hitt, in charge of the program to help the poor there are fewer families in need in Grandfield than there has been for a number of years.

Soviet Foreign Chief Urges His Resignation

BERLIN, Dec. 26. (UP)—Georges Chicherin will return to Moscow early in January to urge acceptance of his resignation as Soviet foreign commissar.

Chicherin, who has been under treatment for diabetes at Weisbaden for more than a year, has been able to take an active part in foreign affairs and asked to be relieved some time ago. It was believed here that the Soviet would accept his resignation as a result of the forthcoming journey, which was permitted by physicians only after a thorough examination of their patient.

Haskell Box Supper Provides Organ Fund

Special to The Record News

HASKELL, Texas, Dec. 26.—Despite the fact that the coldest weather prevailed last Wednesday evening there was a good crowd present at the box supper at the First Methodist church. The pastor, Rev. E. Gaston Foote, auctioned off the boxes, cakes, pies and candy to the highest bidders. The result was a fund of $128. This will be applied on the payment of a pipe organ installed last June. Ladies who made of the affair a success were Misses Lois Earnest, Ermine Daugherty, and Mrs. Henry Alexander.

How Dallas Mother Keeps Children Well

When a person can depend on one medicine to keep herself and her family free from the effects of constipation for more than ten years, what more can you expect?

Mrs. H. A. Lawson, who lives at 2015 Terrace Drive in Dallas, says "Nature's Remedy hasn't failed us in the ten years since I first started using it for myself and children. I give these little tablets the credit for keeping us healthy all these years."

Results like that are what make Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) so popular. More than three million tablets are used a day. Any druggist will tell you to use them if you suffer from biliousness, sick headaches, indigestion, rheumatic aches and lack of energy. The cost is only 25c.—Adv.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, Dec. 29:

Sunday

Breakfast—French omelet (whites of two eggs and two ounces milk), stewed pears.

Lunch—Spinach, cooked celery, stuffed tomatoes.

Dinner—Broiled chicken or rabbit, cooked lettuce, mashed pumpkin, salad of string beans, celery and cucumbers molded in gelatin, apple whip.

Monday

Breakfast—Re-toasted breakfast food with milk or cream, stewed raisins.

Lunch—Celery soup, baked potato, salad of chopped raw cabbage.

Dinner—Broiled steak, cooked rutabagas, string beans, salad of lettuce and tomatoes, stewed apricots.

Tuesday

Breakfast—Coddled eggs, Melba toast, stewed prunes.

Lunch—Oranges, with a handful of pecans.

Dinner—Leg of mutton, stewed tomatoes, salad of cold cooked asparagus on lettuce, jello or jell-well with cream.

Wednesday

Breakfast—Baked stuffed apple, re-toasted cereal biscuit.

Dinner—Ripe olives, salted nuts, stuffed celery, baked ham or chicken, shredded wheat dressing, baked ground beets and turnips, Brussels sprouts, *pineapple-almond cream.

Supper—Cold sliced ham or chicken, combination salad.

Thursday

Breakfast—Poached egg, Melba toast, stewed figs.

Lunch—Spinach, carrots, shredded lettuce.

Dinner—Vegetable soup, baked squash, asparagus, salad of chopped cabbage and celery, prune whip.

Friday

Breakfast—Cottage cheese, baked apple.

Lunch—Peanut butter soup, combination salad of celery, lettuce, tomatoes.

Dinner—Broiled white fish, cooked spinach, McCoy salad, no dessert.

Saturday

Breakfast—French omelet, crisp waffle, stewed pears.

Lunch—Eight-ounce glass of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates.

Dinner—Salisbury steak, cooked carrots and peas, sliced cucumbers, ice cream.

*Pineapple-almond cream: Into the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs fold the contents of a small can of shredded pineapple which has been chilled and drained. In another bowl beat about a quarter of a pint of thick cream and fold in a third of a cupful of crushed toasted almonds. Fold cream and pineapple mixtures together and place on ice. Serve very small portions on slices of pineapple. Top with a dash of whipped cream and garnish with one of the little green emeraldettes if desired. These little fruit garnishes may be purchased in bottles at any grocery store, and are nothing more than bleached or white raisins tinted with a harmless fruit coloring, giving a very pleasing appearance to the dish when used in this manner. They also come in red, yellow, etc.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Sunbaths)

Question—M. W. asks: "Is it advisable for a person who had a goiter operation a few months ago to take sunbaths. I have heard that a nervous person should not take sunbaths."

Answer—Daily sunbathing is one of the best treatments which can be given for nervousness. However, the nervous person is usually thin and enervated so he should not stay in the sun too long at a time and become overheated. A fat person can stand a much longer sunbath with benefit.

(Let Him Shave)

Question—M. R. writes: "My brother is 15 years old and he has long hair on his mouth and chin. I think he is too young to be allowed to shave. Will you please advise what should be done? Is there anything to remove this hair?"

Answer—Why not let your brother shave? I cannot see that it will hurt him, and it surely will make him feel more manly. There are ways for removing superfluous hair, but the hair on your brother's face must be considered natural and unless he wants to wear a beard he should start shaving at least two or three times a week.

(Malarial Climate)

Question—Miss M. C. G. asks: "Will you please tell me if a change of climate would be beneficial to one suffering from malaria? This is my second attack. How many times does it come?"

Answer—You should be able to keep yourself in such a healthy condition that you would not be subject to attacks of malaria. This disease can occur many times during your lifetime if you remain in a toxic condition. Of course, moving from a mosquito infested area will probably prevent future attacks, but you are liable to develop other disorders if your blood remains in the same condition as it is at the present time.

Haskell Music Pupils Presented in Recital

Iowa Park School Alumni Banquet Tonight

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, Dec. 26.—The second annual banquet of the Iowa Park High school alumni will be held in the basement of the First Baptist church Friday evening at 8 o'clock. This organization was perfected a year ago at a meeting held Dec. 31 at which time the following officers were elected: President, Taylor George; vice president, Loys Barbour; secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary Louise George. Tickets can be purchased at the Rexall Drug store. All reservations should be made at once.

White Deer Quietly Enjoys Yule Holiday

Special to The Record News

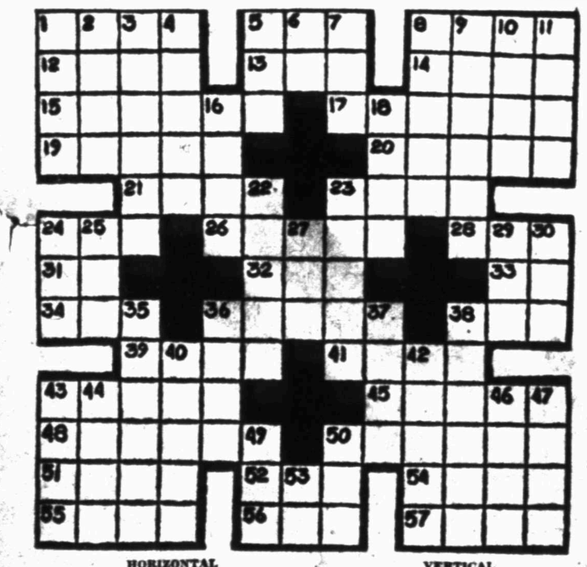

WHITE DEER, Texas, Dec. 26.—Much Christmas spirit was shown here during the holidays among the merchants and the various churches. Merchants decorated their stores and windows. They all were very attractive.

There were Christmas trees at the following churches: Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Christian. A midnight mass was held at the Catholic church.

Everything was carried on very quietly.

LONDON. (AP)—Entries from 45 countries, ranging from Japan to the United States, have been received for the poultry exhibit to be held in the Crystal palace next summer.

A Better Army Team

A year ago the Army had just finished a battering game with Nebraska before tackling Stanford. The Army would have been beaten by that Stanford team regardless of Nebraska or anything else, but the score would never have been as decisive. Nebraska came East with a big, fast line and a set of powerful, hard-running backs. The Army had to play its best game of the year to win—its best game by several laps. But it was a pretty badly jaded team that tried to get ready again for one of the best far western teams that ever carried a football.

The Army will be an entirely different outfit tomorrow at Palo Alto, both physically and mentally. It regained a lot of confidence through the Notre Dame contest, for in that battle the Army proved conclusively that it had a fine line from end to end. It was the complete demolition of the Army line that brought down the avalanche a year ago. There will be no complete demolition of the Army line tomorrow. The Army line is far better than it was against Stanford last fall, and Stanford's line isn't as good. Stanford lost two of the best guards in football and two star guards can make a big difference in the Warner scheme of attack.

The Army's running game last fall was cut down to almost less than nothing. Cagle and Murrell will have their chances to carry the ball somewhere in this Palo Alto contest, and while they may not carry it any vast distances they will pick up at least a fair amount of ground. They will at least go somewhere, even if it isn't across the Stanford goal line.

Cagle will have better footing and warmer weather for handling the ball than he had against Notre Dame over the frozen turf of the Polo grounds, and with anything like a chance to take a step or two he is always dangerous—about as dangerous as any man carrying a football for many years, when you figure in his shift to a pass from running plays.

The Next Champion

"Suppose Sharkey and Schmeling finally meet and the winner is awarded the Tunney-Muldoon trophy," writes L. P., "will he be officially recognized around the country as Tunney's successor—the real and undisputed heavyweight champion of the world?"

A lot depends. Quite a lot. Sharkey is to meet some opponent in Florida this winter. The caliber of his opponent and the showing Sharkey makes will have a bearing on the final round-up. If Sharkey wins and then is matched with Schmeling next summer more will depend upon how the winner happens to look.

If Sharkey and Stribling had been matched for the heavyweight championship it would have been impossible to have gotten any nationwide support for the winner of that fight. Neither showed enough to prove he was a champion. If Sharkey holds something approaching the same dash and pace he uncovered against Loughran there will be nothing to stop him. But there seems to be a general idea now around that a champion should look like a champion—a little like a champion, anyway. The real test cannot come along until Sharkey and Schmeling meet. And when they do one of the two must prove that he belongs.

Handling Fouls

The best suggestion made in regard to handling fouls in the ring is that requiring a foul check, just as baseball issues a rain check. In case a foul developed where the fight is stopped the spectators should then be allowed to get their money back with certain necessary expenses deducted possibly, or else be allowed to use the foul check to see a return fight between the fighters involved. In case of a foul neither fighter would be paid, the money to be held over until their next meeting.

There is no contest when a foul is committed, and the spectators are supposed to pay for the privilege or the what-you-may-call-it of seeing a contest. There isn't always a contest even where there is no foul. But the privilege of paying to see a foul committed before a knock-out or a decision can be given is becoming a trifle too juicy to be digested.

The main idea is that in case of a foul, in the main bout, the fighters collect only after a return match and the public gets something for its cash.

The best golf resolution for 1930 is to make the swing easier by making it easier.

And the best way to carry this idea out is to use more rubber and less steel in the spine.

Shires Knocks Out Bad Billy Bailey

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 26. (UP)—The winter batting average of Arthur (The Great) Shires climbed from .500 tonight to .667.

Making his eastern ring debut before a crowd of 5,500, the great one flattened "Wild Bill" Bailey of Cleveland in one minute and 22 seconds of the first round. The White Sox first baseman entered the ring weighing 179½, while Bailey was five pounds heavier.

"Now I'm up around my right percentage. Two wins in three battles gives me a percentage of .667 doesn't it?" he chortled as he ran to his dressing room after the brief battle.

Professionalism Charges Again Stare Iowa in Face

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Dec. 26. (INS)—Iowa University's old bugbear of professionalism charges came to the fore again today with the report that Virgil David, ineligible basket ball captain, played semi-pro baseball with a Missouri Valley team.

In replying to the charge Iowa Athletic officials pointed out that David was declared ineligible Dec. 4, because of scholastic deficiencies. Officials say that David recognized that he is through as a college athlete when he signed last week for a tryout with the Cincinnati Reds this spring.

TICKET SALE LARGEST EVER

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—The task of whipping an assorted lot of football heroes into two compact fighting units began in earnest on two practice fields here today. Four days of actual practice remain in which the Southwest and Mid-West stars can be drilled for their benefit game New Year's day.

Uniforms were issued and the players assorted and catalogued by the rival coaches. Coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist, entrusted with the job of building a team that will uphold the Southwest's football prestige, gathered his boys at Ownby stadium. Jimmy Phelan, former Purdue mentor, had his huskies at Fair Park stadium.

Except to pass the ball around and get limbered up after several weeks of inactivity, the visiting stars did little today. The hard work will start tomorrow, when two practice sessions are scheduled. Most of the players already are in top condition, so it will be possible to start perfecting teamwork at once. Both squads are equipped with plays to be used a week before they reported.

Officials of the game reported a heavy advance seat sale. More than 10,000 tickets were understood to have been sold and it was predicted the attendance would pass 15,000. Only about 4,000 saw the first Dixie classic last year.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE BANQUETED IN DALLAS

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—The greatest collection of gridiron stars ever gathered under one roof in Texas will attend a banquet here tomorrow night in honor of the University of Pittsburgh football team, en route to Pasadena, Calif., for its New Year's Day bout with Southern California.

In addition to members of the undefeated Panther eleven, the guest list will include the two squads of huskies from the Mid-West and Southwest who are practicing here for their post-season clash also on New Year's Day.

The Pittsburgh squad is expected to take a brief workout tomorrow at Ownby stadium here. The Southwest all-stars also are using the home of the S. M. U. Mustangs for practice, but as there are two full-size practice fields available there will be plenty of room to go around.

Elks Club Bowlers Win Pair of Games From Hub Clothing

The Elks club bowling team took two out of three games from the Hub Clothing company Thursday night at the Spudder alleys and thereby made the competition for first place in the City league standing somewhat harder. Ossenbeat of Hub Clothing company had high three games with a total of 587 points. Truechte of Elks club had high single game with 215 points.

In the B. & A. league Handy's made it two out of the best three games played with the Security National bank and the First National bank took a pair from Sullivan Grocery. Rizan of Handy's had high three games with 497 points also high single game with 202 points.

ARMY-MAROON FULL STRENGTH

Last Scrimmage Is Under Belts

By CARLE H. BENNETT
United Press Staff Correspondent

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 26.—With the exception of one player, the Cadets of West Point and Cardinals of Stanford will start their strongest teams in the football finale of the year here Saturday.

Both teams were past the stage of possible injuries tonight, having closed scrimmage work, and Walter Heinecke, Stanford center who is suffering from a bad cold, was the only regular of either team on the hospital list.

Combat of Stars

The contest will most likely become a combat with the army's individual stars, Christian K. Cagle, and Johnny Murrell, trying to out gain the four-man reverses of the Sanford backfield.

The Cardinals have no one man who has gained the popularity of Cagle this season but they will have the famous system of their coach, Glenn "Pop" Warner, of unison in attack.

The task of trying to stop Cagle, an all-American, has been assigned to Herb Fleishhacker, son of a financier, and the Cardinals' best defensive back.

Fleishhacker will also run interference for Chuck Smalling, Harlow Rothert and Lud Frentrup, his backfield mates.

Stanford's Forward Wall

On the line Stanford is not quite as strong as was the forward wall that helped the Cards to beat Army, 26 to 0, in New York last year, particularly with Perry Taylor substituting for Heinecke, but still is believed to be slightly stronger than that of the invaders. The Stanford ends are expected to outplay the eastern wing men.

Army's team went shopping in San Francisco today. Returning here shortly before dark to go through signal drill. A similar drill will be held Friday, with newspaper men admitted.

Tickets were selling fast today with a likelihood that 90,000 seats in Stanford stadium will be filled Saturday.

Athens Cagers On Barnstorming Trip

ATHENS, Texas, Dec. 26. (AP)—Coach Jimmy Kitts of the Athens Hornets, national high school basket ball champions, will carry 15 players on his team's barnstorming trip through the Panhandle next week. Included on the Hornet roster are four members of last year's championship squad.

If their showing in practice games means anything, the Athens loopers lack little, if any, of being as strong as last year. They have crushed every team they have met so far with ease, including the crack Corsicana Y. M. C. A. quintet.

The Hornets' first stop on their tour will be at Amarillo Monday and Tuesday nights, where they will meet that city's high school five. They also have games booked with Estelline, which went to the semi-finals in last year's state tournament. A number of Athens' sportsmen will accompany the team.

Sports Enjoy Best Year Ever in Texas

Colleg Football Reigns as King of All

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 26.—If Santa Claus left Texas sport fans another year such as the one just making an exit, the bulk of the state's populace will be well satisfied. The baseball and boxing bugs might reasonably ask for a little better treatment, but other sports have found 1929 about the best ever.

Football, in particular, flourished as never before. Texas Christian university's unexpected rise to the Southwest conference heights struck a popular chord, and the unusual number of powerful teams in the circuit caused attendance to average high. The fall sport has a firmer grip on fans of the Southwest than ever before.

Baseball Ailing

Baseball unmistakably was ailing during the past season. The Texas league, apparently, was not as strong as in other seasons, and there was an accompanying decline in interest, not to say box office receipts. Only one smaller league, the West Texas, played out its schedule in the state, whereas there once were four or five flourishing in the hinterlands.

Boxing passed completely out of the picture. Governor Moody handed the ring game a death blow when he decided to enforce an anti-boxing statute that had reposed in the capital vaults for many years. The exodus of boxers and promoters was a slow one, accompanied by some stubborn real guard action, but they are gone now and wrestlers earn a riotous living where once the knights of the glove plied their art.

Steers and Porkers

Texas university and Arkansas were the only Southwest conference schools to win more than one title in major sports. The Longhorns, as usual, had baseball and tennis in the bag almost before the season opened. Arkansas was supreme in basket ball for the fourth straight year and won conference golf honors about as it pleased. Bruce Barnes captured the net crown by defeating his more noted teammate, Berkeley Bell, in the finals. Dave Boutwell, Arkansas' long shooter, proved himself the class of the conference's linksmen in the meet at Fort Worth.

Texas Christian and Texas A. & M. shared honors in two other major sports. The Christians won their first conference football title by a bare margin, tying Southern Methodist in the closing tussle at Fort Worth. The Aggies walked away from the field in the annual track meet here.

Baylor's Distinction

Baylor, Rice and Southern Methodist struggled through the year without making an particular additions to their trophy cases. Baylor, however, had the distinction of being a football favorite for some two months of the campaign, which was something.

The Dallas Steers, piloted by Milton Stock, romped through the first half of the Texas league schedule in fine shape and had the power to trim the Wichita Falls Spudders, second half champs, in the play-off, but lost out to Birmingham, Southern association titlist, four games to two, in the Dixie series.

President Robert's Death

Professional baseball in the state lost one of its strongest champions in the death of President J. Doak Roberts of the Texas league. He had been unable to participate actively in affairs of the league for a year before his death. He was succeeded as president by J. Alvin Gardner, former head of the Wichita Falls Spudders, and the Texas league office was moved to that city.

Dennis Lavender, a youngster from Abilene, proved himself the state's leading amateur golfer with a victory over a crack field in the annual tournament at Brook Hollow Golf club, Dallas. He downed Lanham Conner, another of the younger generation, in the finals.

Golf Tourney

The Houston invitational, whose entry list in many respects overshadowed that of the state amateur, resulted in a triumph for the veteran Ossie Carlton of Houston. He stopped Reuben Albaugh, Rice institute student, in the finals. Wild Bill Mehlhorn captured the Texas open at San Antonio for the second straight year.

Both the national high school and national girl's basket ball titles were brought back to Texas.

The Athens Hornets, after proving themselves the class of state cage circles, went to the national tournament at Chicago and won out over a field which included schoolboy champions from almost every state. Schepps Aces of Dallas won the national girl's cage crown for the second straight year in the big meet at Wichita, Kan. The employers casualty sextet, also of Dallas, was runner-up. The Elks team of San Antonio won state amateur basket ball honors.

Texas Net Champion

Berkeley Bell, Texas university stylist, fought his way to the state tennis championship. It was only some five years ago he was state high school champion. They do grow up.

High schools of East and West Texas had a corner on championships in the three sports sponsored by the state interscholastic league. Athens gave the piney woods section a running start by taking basket ball honors for the second straight year. San Angelo evened the score for West Texas when its track team bowled over all opposition in the tournament at Austin. Then Port Arthur and Breckenridge, with a fine opportunity to break the deadlock between the sections, battled to a scoreless draw for the football crown.

Howard Payne college won its second straight Texas conference football title. No championship was awarded in the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association, although the Southwest Texas Teachers of San Marcos had a logical claim. Daniel Baker took T. I. A. A. basket ball honors.

NATIONAL LOOP BEST FIELDERS

Earl Sheely Tops List of Hitters

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—National league fielding averages made public today suggest it does not always profit a baseball player to lead the league. Two of the Athletics who showed the way at their respective positions in 1929 probably will not be regulars in 1930.

Earl Sheely, Pittsburgh, topped the first basemen with an average of .996, but he is slow of foot and Gus Suhr, promoted from San Francisco, may get the Pirate call next year. Andy High, St. Louis, led the third basemen with .9672 but Frankie Frisch is expected to move from second to third for the Cardinals in the spring. High won by a whisker from Arthur Whitney of the Phillies whose average was .9671.

Best Second Baseman

Hughe Critz, the Reds Spark Plug, was the leading second baseman with an average of .974 and Travis Jackson of the Giants was at the head of the shortstops, showing a mark of .969. The veteran Rabbitt Maranville, Boston Braves, was second.

Ethan Allen, Cincinnati, gave the Reds another place by leading the outfielders with an average of .988.

Mike Gonzales of the Cubs had the best average for the receivers participating in more than 100 games.

Twenty-One pitchers had perfect fielding averages, but Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn, led in total chances with 62, divided into 13 putouts and 49 assists.

Two fielding records were bettered during the season and another tied. Earl Clark, Boston, set a new record for putouts and chances accepted by an outfielder May 10 when he registered 12 putouts and one assist in center field. The former record for putouts was 11 by Max Carey, Pittsburgh, July 25, 1921, and for chances accepted 11, held by seven National league outfielders.

Horace Ford, Cincinnati, had 11 putouts at shortstop, Sept. 18, tieing the mark set by William Fuller, New York, Aug. 20, 1895.

Battle Within Battle New Year's Game

All-American Men to Be Seen in Action

By MAXWELL STILES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (US)—There will be some battles within a battle when Southern California meets Pittsburgh Jan. 1 at Pasadena.

Pittsburgh comes west with four men who have been placed on the first all-American team picked by numerous pickers. Not the same men have made the same mythical teams, which only goes to prove that all four of them must be above the ordinary.

Donchess, an end, and Montgomery, a guard, have been virtually unanimous selections. Uansa, halfback, and Parkinson, the big fullback, have appeared on a great many teams.

California's Star

Southern California's lone all-American is Francis Tappaan, left end, and he did not make Grantland Rice's team for the reason that "Dink" Templeton, Rice's west coast operative, could see nothing out West beyond the center of the Stanford line. All of which was very myopic on Templeton's part.

In addition to Tappaan, the Trojans boast a number of individuals who at times play ball of all-American caliber. Because these men were not consistent, they failed to make the grade. But the itch persists to see how these men will stack up on New Year's Day against the prides of Pitt.

The Stars

Specifically, the individual battles are between:

1—Tappaan and Donchess at end.
2—Barragar and Montgomery at guard.
3—Saunders and Uansa at packing the ball.
4—Musick and Parkinson at fullback.

No claim is advanced herein that Saunders, Musick or Barragar should have made the all-American. I merely point out that local fans are looking forward with keen anticipation to learn how Saunders, Musick and Barragar stack up against the men who were chosen. Because on occasion they have looked just about as good as any all-American who ever played in the coliseum here.

Conversely, on certain other occasions they have not looked so good.

Pitts Best Bet

The real star of the Pitt team, however, appears to be this fellow Montgomery. He is the one guard in the country that has been rated on a par with Cannon of Notre Dame. This means that he is one of the best in a decade. Barragar has played a brand of ball on occasions, at Stanford for instance, that might make Montgomery lock to his laurels. The only appreciable difference between the two men is that Barragar has wilted during the games, while Montgomery has played 60 minutes of all-American football.

Russ Saunders' Record

It is very doubtful if even the mighty Marsters of Dartmouth was able to gain ground more consistently than Russ Saunders has done in his last two starts. Washington State and Carnegie Tech could not stop him. Saunders is not all-American, but right now he is playing a brand of ball that undoubtedly would stack up with the season's best efforts of Cagle, Marsters, Booth or Glasgow.

After taking Christmas off, the Trojans will resume practice on Bovard field tomorrow. It is probable that one hard scrimmage will be on the schedule then.

Risko Vs. Griffith At Garden Tonight

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The ugly duckling of the prize ring, rubbery Johnny Risko, has it in his power again to break the hopes and spirit of another young aspirant for heavyweight honors, the bounding one from Cleveland, a constant menace to every battler who rears his head above the crowd, will provide the test of fire and leather tomorrow night for Gerald Ambrose Griffith in an important 10-round tilt at Madison Square garden.

The winner will be among those present when the garden nominates a rival for Jack Sharkey in the second annual duel for the Southland at Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.

The plump baker boy already engaged Griffith once, losing on a foul in seven rounds earlier this season. With any other fighter than Risko that would indicate that Gerald Ambrose, who was dedicated to fighting from the moment he was christened, had something of an edge.

Risko, however, is the master of the prize ring from reversals. The late Tex Rickard, in a moment of exasperation, named him "the spoiler" and named him well. His hobby has always seemed to be the trimming of logical heavyweight contenders after "blowing" decision to very ordinary athletes.

National Net Play For Juniors Begins

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (INS)—With a record field entered, the national indoor championship tennis tournament for juniors was to get underway here today on the courts of the seventh regiment armory. Play for the boys' title starts tomorrow.

The field numbers 111 in this junior division, 16 of the total, nine of which are college players, being seeded.

Richard Murphy of Utica, N. Y., present titleholder, will not be on hand to defend his laurels because of illness. The seeded players are headed by Sidney Seligson, New York university star, and William Jacobs of Baltimore City college.

Shires Barred In Detroit Big Bouts

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 26. (AP)—When and if Charles Arthur Shires fights in this city, it will be in a four-round preliminary and not in a main event. This is the attitude of the Michigan boxing commission, which was made known today after Benny Ray, matchmaker for the West Side Athletic club, had announced that the self-styled "Great" Shires would head a card on New Year's Day.

"It is silly to think of him as a main-event fighter," said Henry Komroesky, member of the commission discussing the first base pugilist. "The public is entitled to some protection. Shires hasn't yet established himself as a main event boxer and until he does, he will have to be content with preliminaries if he fights in Detroit at all."

Ray thereupon announced that he would get up another main event and put Shires where the commission thinks he belongs.

Under Ray's final plans a pair of local featherweight with fair records will meet in the main bout. They are Marty Stone and Donald McLeod, neither of whom has fought away from home arenas to any extent.

PARIS. (AP)—French women, admitted to higher education only a quarter of a century ago, now hold equal place with men.

Phone Your Classified Ads to 4391

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the next day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ads accepted for afternoon papers up until 11 a. m. same day.

Morning paper up to 6 p. m. for the following morning.

Sunday paper up to 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Same copy in both papers.

THE CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT IS OPEN ON SUNDAYS from 4 to 6 p. m. and telephone orders for classified ads to be inserted or to be discontinued will be accepted.

Exceptions: Want ads will be accepted over the telephone for all excepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.

The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriate headlines and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—A somewhat irregular opening was followed by advances in cotton here today on reports that the January notices were being stopped by the trade and reiterated reports of a better tone in the cotton goods situation. March contracts sold up from 17.31 to 17.51 but reacted a few points under realizing and closed at 17.43. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 8 to 17 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 5 points to an advance of 1 point with near months relatively easy under liquidation incident to the circulation of notices. The latter were estimated at about 70,000 bales and they brought considerable selling. Trade interests were buyers of the January at a slight widening of the difference between months, however, and it soon became apparent that the notices were being stopped. This helped the tone of the general market which developed considerable firmness during the middle of the day, with January selling up to 17.20 and May to 17.57 or 15 to 20 points above last Tuesday's closing quotations. Offerings were very light at the beginning of the upturn but increased slightly around the 17½c level for March deliveries and the close was a few points off from the best under realizing combined with a little southern selling.

Owing to the holiday there were no cables from Liverpool to influence sentiment here either way.

Port receipts today 8,725. U. S. port stocks, 2,656,968. Exports, 3,971, making 4,123,941 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Cotton, quiet, due to the holiday season, showed unexpected steadiness today in spite of the early issue of January notices for 11,200 bales in New Orleans and 70,000 bales in New York.

In the absence of Liverpool cables the market opened practically unchanged and improved during the session. Prices gained 13 to 18 points and ruled steady near the highs during the afternoon.

March advanced from 17.28 to 17.46, or 18 points and closed at 17.10, or 10 points net higher for the day. The general market closed steady at net gains of 10 to 14 points. January traded up to 17.13, March to 17.46 and May to 17.68, or 13 to 18 points above the opening figures.

The market remained near the highs in the afternoon within the morning range and was steady practically to the end. March closed at 17.40 and May at 17.64, or 10 to 12 points net higher on these active months.

Receipts 9,730, for week 146,225, for year 6,693,207, last year 7,051,967. Exports 3,971, for week 116,997, for year 4,001,994, last year 4,557,246. Stocks 2,708,226, last year 2,443,507. Stock on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 136,922, last year 147,031. Spot sales 10,513, last year 15,108.

Short Covering Influences Good Rally on New York Stock Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (US)—Short covering influenced good rally in another quiet session on the stock exchange today. Utilities featured but standard industrials also held leading place as quiet but persistent demand was experienced for most of the session. Some professional profit taking toward the close wiped out a little of the earlier advices but Steel finished with gain of 4½. Radio advanced 3, Chrysler 2½, General Electric 8¼, Westinghouse 6⅝, American Can 4⅛, Allied Chemical 8¼, Foreign Power 4⅞, Standard Gas 6¾, Simmons 4⅛, Byers 5 and New York Central 3½. Standard of New Jersey led a more active and stronger Oil group. Money tightened a little more with the call rate going from renewal of 5½ to 6 per cent. Turnover totalled 2,500,000 shares.

Short covering in the Utilities gained added momentum as the session progressed due to the more confident advices put out by those who have been most active on the bull side of the group in the past. Merger reports were revived. Expectation was voiced that one of the first deals announced would be combination of Standard Power and Standard Gas through exchange of stock. The deal would be consummated along the same lines as the grouping of Electric Bond and Electric Investors, it was stated. Many of the professionals who were covering did so because of possibility of having to pay higher for the stocks if they waited until after the turn of the year. This feeling was influenced by reports of active holiday trade in the larger cities and emphasizing of the huge amount of funds that will be seeking reinvestment after Jan. 1.

Western Electric was reported to be placing orders for some 30,000,000 pounds of copper. This report was received coincident with the declaration of the regular dividend by Anaconda. There was no reason why the company should not pay the regular. In fact it could do so for several months to come even though the price of the red metal were reduced. In Copper trade circles the belief was expressed that the Western Electric buying would influence other consumers who have been holding off to place orders. Radio's holiday business was larger than expected a few weeks ago, it was claimed.

Some buying of the Motors resulted from expectation of a more active market in the group coincident with the Motor shows early next month that would afford opportunity for trading profits. Few have the courage to take an important long pull position in the Motor shares, however, until trend of the industry for the first half of 1930 is shown in January. Current price levels for some of the stocks, however, have discounted considerable; even possibility of divided reductions. Quiet absorption that larger companies will be able to stabilize their affairs while others are having trouble over the course of the next half year.

Reduction in loans while small is important in that it will tend to enhance improved sentiment a little. The new low level for borrowings is further indication of the amount of liquidation that has been taken by the market in the past week due mostly to selling for tax loss purposes. Advance in rediscounts and additional bill purchases it is explained reflects the larger commercial demands due to holiday buying. Such increase also should have favorable influence in that it is further proof that Christmas trade held up in better manner than was generally forecast when the stock market was breaking wide open during November.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Swayed by reports that the United States department of agriculture is backing up slashes in Argentine official crop estimates, wheat scored new advances late today. Earlier the market here had been depressed by unexpected downturns in Buenos Aires quotations and by at least temporary dearth of fresh export demand for wheat from North America. Toward the last bidding at the Gulf of Mexico indicated pretty fair European inquiry notwithstanding that transatlantic markets were still inactive because of holidays.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were irregular, varying from ¼c decline to ⅛c advance compared with Tuesday's finish. Corn closed unchanged to ¼c down; oats ¼c off to ⅛c up and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 to 17 cents.

Corn and oats trading was mainly of a holiday character with predictions current that a good-sized movement of corn will develop whenever the weather permits.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by late downturns in the value of hogs.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Dec. 26. (AP)—While the total livestock supply here Thursday was very light, it was about normal for the day after Christmas. Grown cattle sold steady with calves 25-50c higher, hogs steady to 10c higher, and fall shorn fat lambs about 25c higher.

Fairly good fat steers $11.15; medium quality steers $9.50.

Common light bulls $5.25 and $5.75. Fairly good heavy bulls $6. Better fat bulls $7.50 to $7.75.

Cows sold fully steady. The top load sold at $7.65. Another load sold at $7.25; others around $6. Canners and cutters brought $5.

Slaughter yearlings $10.25 and $10.65. A load at $10.90, on the calf order.

The calf supply was so light that it was hardly a fair test of values. Sales 25-50c higher. Fed calves $10.75. Heavy calves $10.40; Brahma calves $8.50. Culls $5.50 to $8.50.

No stocker cattle of any consequence arrived. Cows $5.50 to $6.

No rail hogs offered. Truck hogs to order buyers sold steady to 10c higher, top at $9.35; bulk butchers $9 and $9.35.

Good fall shorn fat lambs $12 and while they are better than anything that has been here for some time, they were considered 25c higher.

—Hogs—Receipts 600; truck hogs steady to 10c higher; top $9.35; others $9.10@9.25.

Cattle and Calves—Receipts 1,100. Calves—Receipts 400; steady to strong; fed steers $11.15; yearlings lights $10.40@10.90; cows $6@7.65; slaughter calves better heavies $10; very good heavy fed calves short yearling order $10.75.

Sheep—Receipts 600; lambs $12; about quarter higher.

MIDWEST LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Short fed steers predominated supplies of cattle at most points around the 11-market circuit. Fed steers have been in liberal quota all week, but until today packers met with little success in shading values on short fed description which recently scored a sharp price advance. Desirable yearlings and matured steers of strictly good and choice quality held steady, but several markets reported a big 25c decline on short feds. Choice 1,045-pound yearlings in Chicago scored $16 while choice 1,370-pound steers made $15.25. Firm prices were maintained on other killing classes and there was a fair demand for replacement stock. Receipts 34,000, an increase of 17,000 over a week ago and 13,000 heavier than the corresponding day last year.

Opening hog trade steady to 15c higher but the activity was short lived as later prices were weak to 20c lower than Tuesday. The day's extreme top of $10.10 was paid on early rounds at Chicago. Offerings 73,600 as compared with 91,602 last Thursday and 128,527 a year ago.

The supply of sheep approximated 40,300, an increase of 12,000 over a week ago but 6,000 short of a year ago. Fat lambs unevenly steady to 25c higher while matured classes held steady. Bulk fat lambs in Chicago $13.50 to $14, with choice light weights at $14.25 to $14.50.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (INS)—Hogs—Receipts 25,000, market 10 to 15c higher; top $10.10; bulk $9.50@10.00; heavyweight $9.70@10.10; medium weight $9.85@10.10; lightweight $9.75@10.10; light lights $9.40@10.00; packing sows $8.35@9.15; pigs $8.85@9.85; holdovers 2,000.

Cattle—Receipts 12,000, market steady. Beef steers: Good and choice $12.50@15.00; common and medium $9.50@13.00; yearlings $9.50@16.25. Butcher cattle: Heifers $7.50@14.50; cows $6.25@10.50; bulls $7.50@11.00; calves $11@15.00; feeder steers $9@11.50; stocker steers $8.50@11.00; stocker cows and heifers $6@10.00.

Sheep—Receipts 15,000, market steady; medium and choice lambs $13@14.25; culls and common $9@12.00; spring lambs blank; yearlings $9@11.50; common and choice ewes $4@5.75; feeder lambs $11.50@13.00.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—Cattle—Receipts 800. Calves—Receipts 300; slow; short fed steers $9@9.60; bids on good heavies $11; cows $8 and above; fancy veals $11; heavy calves $8.50@9.50.

Hogs—Receipts 500; 25c higher; top $9.10; bulk $8.75 and up.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 26. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—Receipts 4,000; opened steady to strong; later 10 to 15c lower; top $9.70 on 170 to 200 pounds; packing sows $7.50@8.50.

Cattle—Receipts 6,500. Calves—Receipts 1,000; fed steers steady to 25c lower; other classes little changed; slaughter steers, good and choice 950 to 1,500 pounds $11.25@15.25; cows $7.50@10.00; vealers $9@13.50; stocker and feeder steers $10@12.25.

Sheep—Receipts 7,000; steady to 10c higher; lambs $12.25@13.35; ewes $4.50@6.10.

DEPUTY'S GUN KILLS NEGRO

Rooming House Owner Draws Fine in Court

Charles Bembry, negro proprietor of the rooming house before which Cleve Sams, another negro, was fatally wounded by shots from the gun of Deputy Sheriff H. L. White Wednesday night, paid a $1 and costs fine for disturbing the peace in the county court at law Thursday afternoon. Sams was shot after he and another negro, members of a large party of Christmas celebrants, had inflicted wounds upon the officer which may result in the loss of his left eye. The affray and shooting took place in the course of a sheriff's department raid upon a house near the intersection of Brick and Welch streets Wednesday night.

Mr. White, 62, who was struck on the head by one of his two assailants, is under treatment at the Hargrave-Walker hospital. Attendants there said late Thursday that he had spent a fairly comfortable day but would not be able to leave the hospital for several days.

Sam Spence, district attorney, announced after an investigation that the affair would be laid before the grand jury when it convenes here early in January. He added that no charge would be brought by his department against Mr. White and no bond be asked of him pending the action of the grand jury.

Sheriff W. G. Bralley said late Thursday that he held his deputy justified in firing the shots.

Bembry was the only one of a dozen negroes, held for questioning, against whom formal charges were filed. He entered a plea of guilty.

The raid on the rooming house followed a complaint from neighboring negro church-goers who claimed that their services were being disturbed by the celebration. Mr. White, Warren Belcher, and Dick Morris, deputies, answered the call. Mr. White stood against the front door of the rooming house, where between 30 and 40 negroes were gathered, while his fellow deputies searched for liquor in the rear. As the officer turned his back to the crowd for a moment, two negroes, one of them Sams, made an attack, Mr. White explained. The blow on the head followed. When White called for help, Sams fled outside. It was in the course of the pursuit that the two shots, resulting fatally, were fired, the deputy said. The first shot was fired when Sams whirled to face his pursuer; the second as he turned to continue his flight.

Unknown Person Seals Dog's Mouth

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 26. (AP)—The person who sewed up the mouth of a small dog with strong cord and released the animal to starve to death was sought today under rewards totaling $500 announced by the humane society.

The dog was put to death by the humane society because of its weakened condition. When found it apparently had gone without food or water several days.

Robert F. Sellar, secretary of the humane society, said the stitches evidently were made by an adult lacking in surgical knowledge who had been piqued because the dog barked or otherwise annoyed him.

Raymondville Youth Found Shot to Death

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas, Dec. 26. (AP)—Buddie Palmer, 18, was shot to death as he lay in his bed last night.

The shooting occurred about midnight. A party of merrymakers, just returned from a Christmas celebration, at Matamoros, Mexico, heard the shot, rushed to the room and found the boy's body. A bullet had pierced his brain.

Because of the many conflicting reports, a coroner's verdict was delayed.

Palmer was the son of a pioneer family of this community.

In the absence of the county attorney, no charges have been filed.

Vagrant Poses as Former Champion Ball Player

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Danny Murphy, vagrant who posed in police court as a former member of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics two decades ago, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 and costs today by Judge Samuel Heller, from whom he almost won a dismissal and a Christmas dinner by his impersonation before the court learned of the imposture.

"It's Sure Been a Surprise to Me" Says Amarillo Farmer

"I Never Saw Anything in My Life That Gave Such Quick Relief As Orgatone," Declares Doyle

"It's the honest truth, before I had taken this Orgatone a week, I was feeling so well and strong that I hardly knew myself," says John Doyle, a well-known farmer residing at 904 North Arthur street, Amarillo, Texas.

"I had a very bad case of stomach trouble and liver disorders," he continued, "that knocked me out so I hardly felt like working at times. My stomach was in such an awful fix everything I would eat disagreed with me and made me miserable all the time. I would have heartburn so I could hardly stand it, in fact, for a whole month before taking Orgatone I just felt completely worn out.

"I commenced to read in the papers about several Amarillo people who have been taking Orgatone and getting a world of good out of it, so I began to feel better from the very first dose and before the week was out I was feeling more like nothing had ever been the matter with me. I never saw anything in my life before to give such quick relief as this Orgatone and I haven't had a single symptom of my trouble since I started on it."

Today

At the Theaters

By FRED D. THOMPSON

STRAND: "Flight," first all talking picture of the air, and Paramount sound news.

MAJESTIC: Ted Lewis in "Is Everybody Happy?" Comedy and Movietone news.

OLYMPIC: Bert Lytell in "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," comedy and Pathe news.

GEM: Bob Custer in "Fighting Terror," also chapter No. 4 "Tarzan the Tiger" and comedy.

Ho hum. Well, we went to see Al Jolson at the Strand Thursday like we've been promising all week.

Ho hum!

And after we got out of there we walked over by the Majestic and looked at all the pretty signs advertising Ted Lewis in "Is Everybody Happy?" and all the lures made us tingle and we were just dyin' to go see that show when suddenly:

A person once noted
Approached us and quoted
Miss Edna St. Vincent Millay,
"Ah, friend!" said I, blinking,
"I see you are thinking,
How noble to chant such a lay!"

◇ ◇ ◇

But he answered meekly
"I'm jobless, and no weekly
Pay check do I now receive.
All I've got is my soul
In my wallet's a hole
Where I once carried tens by the sheaves."

◇ ◇ ◇

Well, we controlled ourself. Choking back 3¼ grams of tears that threatened to spiral outward, we referred our unfortunate poet to the president of the Tightwads' Society For The Relief Of Flattened Wallets.

◇ ◇ ◇

Christmas is over, you know.

◇ ◇ ◇

The office of Manager Vic Lowrey at the Majestic was a convention center Thursday and some high dignitaries were there, including Bill Irwin, district manager of Dallas, and Bob Euler, Strand manager, and Mr. Lowery himself.

◇ ◇ ◇

They were anxiously awaiting the arrival of Mr. Ed Roberts, who is a Big Boy in Publix theaters, and who was expected to arrive late in the afternoon. Mr. Roberts, who the newspapers in Austin, Texas, used to call Eddie, was, on the lower rungs of the ladder to success, the manager of the same show that Bill Irwin used to boss, the Majestic. Both are now in bigger jobs, for soon after Eddie was promoted to the New York office, Bill was given a whole district to travel over and tantalize.

◇ ◇ ◇

Mr. Roberts is coming to Wichita Falls to visit a sister, Mrs. Daisy Almond.

◇ ◇ ◇

Eddie, as the newspapers in Austin used to call him, was also called something else by the newspapers, to-wit: "The man who introduced the tuxedo to the Austin theater business." This stiff-collared comment was made by Martin Anderson, the high powered Austin scribe, when Eddie, on his first day in Austin, appeared at his office in a tux.

◇ ◇ ◇

O, well, that's nothing. We've got a Majestic manager who wears spats.

Negress Arrested On Charges of Theft

Two complaints charging theft under $50 were filed Thursday afternoon against Ida Belle Carrell, negress, arrested in Saul's store Tuesday night with a box of goods valued at $41. The second complaint charged the theft of $10 worth of goods from the Williams' store.

The negro girl said a white woman had rushed to her side in the store, said: "Hold this for me," and thrust the box in to her arms.

Defective Flue Blamed For White House Fire

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Blame for the fire which wrecked the executive offices of the White House on Christmas Eve today was placed upon a defective and overheated flue in the office of Walter Newton, one of the president's secretaries, by the chief engineer of the District of Columbia fire department.

Negro Fined $25 For Part in Cutting Fray

Noah Bennett, negro, was fined $25 and costs in the county court-at-law Thursday afternoon when he pleaded guilty to an aggravated assault charge brought in connection with the stabbing of Dorsey Lee Dale, another negro, Wednesday afternoon. Dale, badly cut around the face, is under treatment at the Wichita General hospital.

LIQUOR DEATHS SHOW DECLINE

Marked Decrease Revealed By National Survey

(By International News Service)

A marked decrease in the number of liquor deaths was revealed today in a nation-wide survey of post-Christmas casualties by International News service.

Based on reports gathered throughout the country, there were less fatalities from poisoned liquor this Christmas than ever before.

Late today, few deaths from alcohol were registered. Patrick Clifford, railroad laborers, died in New Haven, Samuel Fleming, 20, was a victim of alleged poison liquor at Bellaire, Ohio. Two liquor faltalities were reported in San Francisco one resulting from a man mistaking acid for liquor. Robert E. Hudson, war veteran, was said to have died from bad liquor at Richmond, Virginia.

Despite the drop in the booze dead list, the supply of alcoholic beverages was reported undiminished.

Denver reported that drinking was heavy but confined mostly to private parties.

"Most dealers ran out of supplies," it was said. "Everything was orderly with only a half-dozen arrests and no illness or deaths resulting."

Pittsburgh said that no liquor deaths were reported in west Pennsylvania yet the supply was plentiful. Conditions were quite orderly.

Northern New England reported that no liquor deaths were recorded.

"Boston on its good behavior," said the report. "Fewest number of arrests for drunkenness since advent of prohibition in Boston with only 78 men and women charged with intoxication."

In four great metropolitan areas —New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Washington—the scenes of large poison liquor tolls in previous years, there was not one death reported at noon today.

The negative report on alcoholic casualties continued to pour in from all sections of the country.

While direct deaths from liquor were at a lower level there was one direct casualty recorded in the killing of Eugene F. Downey Jr., son of a Buffalo police officer, when a coast guard patrol, fired on the motor boat in which he was cruising.

New Ideas Revealed In Christmas Trinkets

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (UP)—The annual day-after-Christmas rush to exchange presents that did not suit revealed Santa Claus had some new ones up his sleeve this year.

One was a small glass flower vase to be worn in men's coat lapels. It holds water, at least for a while. Many got musical coat brushes that play gay tunes. A bird store sold bullfinches that piped such old German ditties as "Blaz Blueht Ein Blumelein" and "Ich Liebe Dich."

Marmoset monkeys, about as big as one's hand, found their way into many stockings.

Wurzbach Requests Summoning of Burke

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Former Representative Wurzbach announced today he had requested the house elections committee to summon County Clerk Jacke Burke and District Attorney Lamar Seeligson of Bexar county, Texas, to testify before the committee in his election contest against Representative McCloskey. The hearing is expected to be early in January.

DOCTOR COOK HAS NEW HOPE

Convicted Oil Swindler Sees Good Year Ahead

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Dec. 26. (UP)—A grey-haired doctor, bent to his 4-year-old task of succoring the sick in the federal prison here today with perhaps a flutter of the heart rivaling the thrill he gave the world in 1908 when he announced he was the first man to reach the north pole.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook—"Smiling Doc" Cook, who wore a wreath of roses and a halo of fame two decades ago, only to see the petals dry up and blow away—looks out on the new year with the hope of a new world to conquer.

Discredited, shamed and silenced upon conviction that he had added fake Texas oil discoveries to his hocus-pocus explorations over mountains and seas, Cook entered Leavenworth penitentiary April 6, 1925, to serve 14 years and nine months for misuse of the mails.

Eligible for Parole

On March 5, 1930, he will be eligible to parole. The federal parole board will sit in his judgment here between Jan. 10 and 15, prison officials advised the United Press today.

They will decide whether prisoner 23,118 will at that time face the world again or remain behind walls more hopeless than imaginative ice barriers of the far North and more insurmountable than high peaks of the earth.

"Doc" Cook entered the walls of Leavenworth exactly 16 years after Admiral Robert E. Pearly reached the north pole on April 6, 1909, and announced that Cook's discovery claim of the year before was one of the world's greatest fakes.

Cook stood up before Federal Judge John L. Killits in Fort Worth, Texas, in 1923 and was sentenced to prison with the court remark that "this deal of yours stinks to high heaven. You should not be allowed to run at large."

Misuse of Mails

He was found guilty of misusing the mails as promoter of the Petroleum Producers association, a combine of defunct oil companies, which he claimed had two 20,000-barrel gushers, but which the prosecution claimed could make only 10 barrels daily.

Numbered among his prosecutors was a civil war widow of Ohio, who claimed to have sold the rugs off the floors of her home, invested $70 with Cook and got back 60 cents.

Cook, years before discredited for fake polar claims and a hoax ascent of Mt. McKinley, assumed an air of martyrdom in court and two years later went bowed to prison.

In the penitentiary he resumed his medical work as director of the hospital and gave vent to his exploritive bent by writing of the advantages of a "polar bear farm" for raising furs in the arctic. He edited the prison magazine.

Grey-haired, stooped and now 64 years old, Cook has complained several times that were he to serve out his sentence he would die inside the walls. Prison officials described his present personality as that of a "mellow gentleman."

Reed Asks Facts On Tax Association

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 26. (UP) Gov. Clyde M. Reed today began what may develop into an important angle of the recent investigation in congress of lobbyist organization maintained by utility concerns.

He wrote a letter to the Inter-State Commerce commission asking that body to try to determine if any of the money paid the American taxpayers league by Kansas railroads was charged up to operating expense by the roads, and thus passed on to the general public. Also, he wrote a letter to Jess W. Greenleaf, head of the Kansas Public Service commission, directing him to investigate where the money paid this organization by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, the Insull interests and the Kansas City Power and Light company came from.

Herriot Lauds Plan For United Europe

PARIS, Dec. 26. (UP)—Foreign Minister Briand's proposal for a United States of Europe is possible and should be given immediate support, Edouard Herriot told the chamber of deputies today.

"I hope France in September will carry a definite project for a federation to Geneva," the former premier said. "Everything demonstrates the project is possible. Will France honor and add this supplement to the world's peace?"

Harry Lauder, Noted Comedian, One Of Stage's Most Popular Figures

There is no more popular star before the public than Sir Harry Lauder, and the announcement of his appearance at the Memorial auditorium, Jan. 7, has aroused a preliminary interest that is notable. The present tour is one of many that the Scots comedian has made to this country, and it is an interesting fact that, instead of wearing out his welcome, the popularity of this globe-trotting singing comedian constantly grows with the years. This has been repeatedly demonstrated and this year has been accentuated by the fact that it has been two years since his last appearance in this part of the world.

Lauder began his career as a mere performer—what is known in England as a "comic;" but he has long ceased to be that. With the years, and his varied experience there has come to him the emotional as well as the fun-creating development of a great artist; and never in his career, it is said, has he held such powerful sway over the great audiences that throng the theaters to see and hear him.

Every recurring tour brings a budget of new songs, while the revivals are always such as the audiences would select if left to a popular vote. On Lauder's arrival in a city where he is announced to appear, he always finds, it is said, scores of letters from admirers requesting the singing of songs that have appealed to the writers in other years. This year's new songs have had the advantage of a try-out during Lauder's Antipodean tour, and will be utilized in his London engagement, which closely follows his comprehensive American tour. They are credited with being songs with the same "touch and go" that made and have always made "I Love a Lassie" and "She's Ma Daisy" exceptionally popular. The revivals will, it is announced, cover the most successful of his earlier presentations.

As in other seasons, Sir Harry will have associated with him a company of clever imported and American entertainers.

Man Charged With Slaying Youth In Field of Peanuts

OKMULGEE, Okla., Dec. 26. (UP)—J. C. Simpson, mining company lease keeper, was charged with murder today in the shooting Christmas of 14-year-old school boy whom he thought was stealing peanuts from his field.

Charles Henry Williamson, the slain youth, had received a gun for a Christmas present and accompanied by his brother, Richard, a University of Oklahoma student, he went hunting. They told their family they would be late for Christmas dinner.

They crossed a peanut patch on Simpson's lease near Henryetta and were greeted with three shots, one of which struck Charles in the heart. Simpson, who was a friend of the Williamson family, surrendered. He told officers he had been harassed by boys stealing peanuts from his patch and that he had fired to scare them away.

It was reported feeling against Simpson was at high pitch. He was held in the Okmulgee county jail, having been brought here from Henryetta to thwart reprisals.

DEATHS

MARY FRANCES CROW

Funeral services for Mary Frances Crow, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Crow, 1420 North Tenth street, who died at the family home about 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning, were held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. J. L. Walters, pastor of the Lory Memorial Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside.

MRS. SOPHIA BANSTON

The body of Mrs. Sophia Banston, 45, of El Paso, who died in a local hospital Wednesday afternoon, was forwarded to El Paso Thursday morning by the Hines mortuary. Mrs. Arthur Browning, sister of the deceased, accompanied the body. Interment will be in El Paso.

Admiral Byrd Thanks Navy for Promotion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (UP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd has wirelessed the navy department his appreciation of his promotion and announced his intention of asking government recognition of 15 members of his south pole expedition upon returning to America, it was announced today.

A bill passed by both houses and signed by President Hoover before the Christmas recess elevated Byrd from the rank of commander to rear admiral.

STORK LEAVES NINE PRESENTS

One of Them Named Christmas, and Two Joy

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (INS)—It was the day-after-Christmas—and fate left some bright and drab presents from its stocking of tricks.

Nine babies, most of them girls, were born in city hospitals on Christmas day. One will be named Christmas and two named Joy.

Prof. and Mrs. William A. Boring today gazed with bowed heads at an oil portrait of their son, Benson, who fell out a window to his death at his home just before he was to open his gifts. Professor Boring was a leading architectural authority at Columbia university, formerly of Illinois. His son was a Harvard student.

For the first time in years, there were no deaths reported in New York from alcohol poisoning. The number of persons under treatment was reduced to 99.

Four bandits joined a Christmas poker game and shot two of the players.

Herman Bergman, after a turkey Christmas dinner, dreamed of fire. He awoke in time to save his wife and three children from the burning building.

Charles Sirice and Harry de Stefano, escaped convicts, got an invitation through the underworld grapevine to attend a Christmas party. They came and were captured. The invitation was a trick devised by the warden of the East View penitentiary.

A bowery bum found a 50-cent piece in the snow. It turned out to be counterfeit.

Joyce White, showgirl, reported dead in Pathe studio fire, vigorously denied it.

Bandits of no Christmas spirit beat Robert Magnanto, when they only found a nickel on him.

Patrolman Peter Franchini saved Herman Schwartz from icy waters of East river. Both enjoyed Christmas in the hospital.

Total Christmas suicides reached seven but there were no casualties from Christmas tree fires.

Four hundred homeless men ate turkey at Bowery mission. One asked for a napkin. Why? to wrap up the turkey bones.

Italian Postal Seaplane Wrecked Near Greece

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 26. (AP)—An Italian postal seaplane with a crew of five was wrecked today near the small island of St. Eustratios off the Turkish coast in the Aegean.

The Greek cruiser Helle failed to find a trace of the machine or its crew. The sea was rough, and the wind high at the time of the accident. The Italian mail company has dispatched several planes to aid in the search.

FOUR HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Wind Blown Oil Car Hits Fast Passenger

SWEETWATER, Texas, Dec. 26. (UP)—Four persons were seriously injured and more than a dozen suffered minor injuries when a Santa Fe passenger train was struck by a car of crude oil in the local Santa Fe yards early today.

The yard crew had made up a red ball freight train on the east lead track of the yard, adjoining the main line, with several oil tank cars at the head of the train. The southwest wind put in motion a box car on one of the yard tracks entering the lead track and the loose box, having rolled down with considerable momentum struck one of the oil tankers just as passenger train No. 95, Amarillo to Sweetwater, was pulling into the yard.

The tank car was thrown from the rails and struck the last chair car of the passenger train, rebounded, and side swiped the two Pullman cars following, completely demolishing one side of the two sleeping cars.

The injured included Mrs. Anna Zett, Willow, Okla.

Poultry Association Heads Meet Friday

Directors and officers of the Wichita Valley Poultry association will meet Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce in the Perkins-Snider building, it was announced Thursday night by C. O. Smith, secretary of the organization.

Plans for the show room of the annual poultry show to be staged here under the auspices of the association, Jan. 4 to 7, will be made at this meeting, Mr. Smith stated. Assignments for the officers and members during the exhibition will be made at the meeting.

Doyle to Suggest New Mining Laws

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 26. (UP)—Prompted by the Old Town coal mine blast at McAlester which took 61 lives, Judge Thomas H. Doyle, chairman of the state industrial commission, said today he would ask the next legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to give the commission jurisdiction in deaths.

The announcement came after Miller D. Hay, chief state mine inspector, reported that no coal company in the state carries compensation insurance.

Except in two instances, no mining company has ever settled death claims in major mine disasters, Hay said. He pointed out that records showed almost 400 miners had been killed since Oklahoma mines were opened about 40 years ago.

The two companies that settled claims were the Rock Island Development company for 15 miners killed in an explosion several years ago at the Alderson No. 5 mine, and the Fulsom Morris company, owned by the Santa Fe railroad, that settled claims for the deaths of 10 miners killed by fire in the company's mine.

Father, Two Sons Make Bonds on Murder Charges

WINFIELD, Kan., Dec. 26. (AP)—A father and two sons, charged with the murder of their son and brother, Carl Jones, farmer, and his stepdaughter, Elizabeth Walworth, last night were released on bond from the county jail.

John Phelan Jones, the father, and his sons, Harry and Neil, were the men released. They are alleged to have slain the victims Oct. 26, as the culmination of a family disagreement.

John Phelan and Neil Jones were freed on $10,000 bond each. Harry Jones was set at liberty on $5,000 bail.

Universal Gives Special Rate For Business Travel

Air travel at rail rates over all routes of the Universal airlines was made effective Thursday, the new rates being separate from the present established rates which will continue, it was announced by A. V. White, new district traffic manager of the Braniff division of the Universal lines.

The announcement is directed mainly to the business house and commercial traveler and offers air travel at rail-pullman rates, Mr. White said. Mr. White, a Wichita Falls man, assumed his duties with the Braniff lines this week. His office is at the Holt hotel, where both the Braniff and Safeway lines maintain a joint ticket office and bureau for air travel. Tickets over any air line in Canada, the United States, Mexico and Central and South America may be reserved at the Holt hotel office and information on schedules and rates are at all times available.

The special plan introduced by the Universal Thursday was made possible by the issuance of scrip books which contain $250 worth of coupons exchangeable for air passage at regular rail rates at any Universal ticket office. There will be no cut in the regular established rates, Mr. White said. The new service is for American business which has in the past said it would use air serivce if the rates were lower. The scrip books offer the fastest transportation at the same cost as any other means of travel.
