Steer Band's state plans

Herald staff report

The Big Spring High School Steer Band will travel to Austin Sunday in preparation for the University Interscholastic League State Marching Contest.

The band earned the trip by being one of two qualifiers at the Region B contest Saturday at Lubbock. This will be the second appearance by the Steer Band at the state contest, according to Director Ricky Mitchell.

The top 14 bands in class 4A will be featured at the contest, and the Steer Band will perform next-to-last, at 2:45 p.m. Monday, Mitchell said.

The top five bands from that class will then be featured in finals competition at 8 p.m. that day at Memorial Stadium in Austin, he added.

The band will return to Big Spring Tuesday afternoon, Mitchell said.

Preparing applicants is JTPA goal

By SARAH LUMAN
Business Writer

Identifying job skills and learning to apply life skills to a potential job is not simple for the unprepared.

It is the unprepared who are being helped by the Job Training Partnership Act through the Big Spring field office of the Permian Basin Industry Council and its job search class.

The job search class teaches workers to identify their job skills, transfer life or educational skills into the job market, learn to present themselves positively and successfully locate openings through networking contacts and personal interviews.

"Eighty-five percent of all jobs available are never advertised," Job Training Partnership Act programs coordinator Virginia Belew said. "The employers know where the openings are and what level of training an employee needs."

She pointed out that many jobseekers do not realize opportunities often exist in businesses where no applications are being taken.

"We have people come to us who have just exhausted all their resources," she said. "But they're only going in and asking if an employer is taking applications. We teach them to look for the next step."

"We teach our clients, for instance, how to locate the contact person in a business and present themselves to that person — let the employer know they're available and interested," she said.

Belew said the program tries to limit class size to six or eight for personalized instruction, although as many as 13 have been accepted into a session.

Big Spring's field office of the Permian Basin Industry Council recently graduated six members of its job search class. Jo Ludington, Julian Ramirez, Ray Heffington, Mary Paredes and Ramona Ramirez received certificates of completion during the final class session. Yolanda Gomez also trained with the class.

Departing instructor Tammy Strippling has been replaced by Cloetta Shotts for the session beginning Monday.

Typically, the training program covers eight to 10 days,

Cloetta Shotts, job search instructor, and Virginia Belew, director, look over the paperwork on students for the upcoming class that begins Monday. The group aids job seekers in polishing their search abilities.

Belew said, depending on the number of students. Students meet in the field office on the second floor of the U.S. Post Office building at 501 Main St.

A class session may cover anything from how to develop job leads to dressing for an interview. Practice interviews are standard within the course.

Belew said the classes teach students how to maximize their positive attributes and overcome or minimize negative aspects of their past work experience or history.

An important technique taught in the classes is breaking the ice in job interviews, Belew said. Students are encouraged to use an anecdote from a previous job to make a personal connection to the interviewer, thus reducing nervousness.

Salary considerations and other questions also are part of the practice interviews. Other topics covered in the job search class are following up on interviews with a call back, developing contact networks, and similar job-clinching ideas.

"We recommend this course for everyone who comes through our door," Belew said. The course is sponsored through the Permian Basin Private Industry Council, which also sponsors other JTPA programs for area employers and prospective employees.

Displaced workers who have skills but must transfer into new or different industries also are encouraged to use the class, Belew said. Class members and graduates are encouraged to return for assistance in future job searches.

Applicants for job training programs are responsible for meeting eligibility criteria and providing documentation of their eligibility.

The office does not, Belew emphasized, handle Immigration and Naturalization Service forms or documentations for either applicants or employers.

The next class begins Nov. 9. For information, interested persons should contact Belew at the Job Training Partnership Act programs' office in room 245 of the Federal Building, 501 Main St. (post office) or by telephone at 263-8373. The class is available to persons from Borden, Glasscock and Howard counties, Belew said.

Economy boosting oil field

MIDLAND (AP) — Improved oil industry prospects are prompting increased West Texas drilling activity, Exxon officials say.

The oil company plans to drill 150 wells in the area before 1987 is over, with about three-fourths of that occurring in the last months of the year, outgoing Exxon president Randall Meyer told a gathering at Midland Petroleum Club.

The 150 wells represent about half of all domestic wells being drilled by New York-based Exxon in the United States this year, Meyer said Thursday.

Exxon expects the Permian Basin to continue to play a major role in the addition of reserves to the company and has designated almost $300 million in capital expenditures for 1988, he said.

Meyer said Exxon gradually is rebuilding its drilling program in the Permian Basin following the collapse of oil prices in 1986.

Exxon expects to increase its Permian Basin activity by 40 percent in 1988, to more than 200 wells, provided oil prices remain stable, he said. Most of the drilling activity again can be expected to occur in the last half of the year, he added.

Several Exxon officials from Houston, including Bill Stevens, who will succeed Meyer as president in January, accompanied Meyer to Midland.

Meyer said Exxon would continue to aggressively add reserves in the Permian Basin by exploration, development, enhanced oil projects and acquisitions.

He said Exxon USA has acquired over 300 million barrels of oil reserves since 1984 through acquisitions, with most of the barrels being purchased in the Midland division.

He said Exxon earmarked $200 million in capital expenditures for the two division offices in Midland this year and that a 40 percent increase to $280 million is possible for 1988.

Enhanced oil projects, particularly carbon dioxide flooding, will play a major role in increasing that production even more, Stevens said.

Ansel Condray, vice president of production, said that an oil price in the "mid-$20s" would probably be needed to get future tertiary projects off the drawing board. West Texas crude oil closed at $19 Thursday in New York.

He said he expects most of the projects to be kicked off in the 1990s, assuming oil prices continue upward.

Meyer said oil companies have not fallen too far behind in tertiary development over the past two years because although drilling was brought to a near standstill, research and planning continued.

Commissioners to canvass, act on board

By KERRY HAGLUND
Staff Writer

Howard County commissioners will vote Monday on the Tax Appraisal Board of Directors and also are scheduled to canvass election returns and discuss repairs for polling locations.

County Clerk Margaret Ray said the state requires commissioners to check vote tallies at their first meeting after an election. Election returns then will be certified and sent to the secretary of state, she said.

Officials will discuss the items during a 9 a.m. regular meeting of the Howard County Commissioners Court at the Courthouse.

Knott Community Center, where 50 residents voted in Tuesday's election, and Jonesboro Fire Station, where 187 voted, need repairs, County Engineer Bill Mims said.

Windows, doors, roofing and plumbing all need to be repaired at the Knott center, he said.

"The building needs a lot of maintenance work ... if they want to continue to use it as a community center it should be repaired," Mims said, adding that the building has no cooling or heating systems.

Mims described the Jonesboro station as "an old metal building that's dilapidated."

Both locations are among the 25 county polling places. — PUPPETS page 2-A

Amnesty officials evaluate the year

DALLAS — While a one-year amnesty being offered to qualified illegal aliens is doing better than expected in Texas and the Southwest, the program has bogged down in other parts of the country and officials will have to work harder in those areas to draw applicants, a top official of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service said Thursday.

At a Dallas news conference one day before the anniversary of the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, INS Deputy Commissioner Mark Everson repeated the agency's belief that amnesty and employer sanctions — cornerstones of the effort to curtail illegal immigration into the United States — are off to good starts.

Under the new law, illegal aliens who can prove they have lived in the country for five years or performed set amounts of farm labor are eligible for amnesty, and eventually can apply to become U.S. citizens.

Employers for the first time face fines, and possible prison terms, if they knowingly hire illegal labor, or fail to keep proper records on the legal status of their workers.

Everson credited the new laws for causing a 30 percent drop in the number of illegal aliens arrested on the U.S.-Mexico border since they were enacted, and said he believes most employers are getting the message not to hire illegal labor.

"We're quite convinced the law has had a very real impact," he said. "We're convinced there's a high degree of acceptance out there in the workplace."

Success in the amnesty programs, however, has been mixed, Everson acknowledged. While California and Texas have led the nation in the number of applicants — accounting for almost 70 percent of the more than 900,000 applications nationwide — amnesty has caught on much slower in the Northeast.

This cotton field northwest of Big Spring appears ready for harvest as timely rains and recent warm weather has produced not only a heavy cotton crop, but cotton of high quality, resulting in higher prices for the product for the farmers.

Puppets, posters 'just say no' tools

By STEVE REAGAN

Big Spring schools are using puppets, posters and other activities in its effort to convince children to "just say no" to drugs, alcohol, tobacco and peer pressure.

Local schools are in different stages of organizing Just Say No Clubs in an attempt to "organize kids in a common effort" to avoid drugs and other harmful materials, according to school Superintendent Bill McQueary.

The Just Say No activities are in addition to the regular, state-mandated drug education curriculum, McQueary said, adding that club activities are left to the individual campuses' principals and PTA groups.

One school that recently began its efforts in this area is Bauer Magnet School, and Principal Jean Broughton said students enjoyed the presentation.

A puppet show was presented to the general assembly, and a life-sized McGruff, the crime dog, made a special appearance to encourage students to say no to drugs, alcohol, peer pressure and tobacco, Broughton said.

Bauer students are currently involved in a poster contest with "Just Say No" as the theme. Prizes will be awarded to winning entries, and Broughton hopes the posters will be displayed at area shopping malls.

Broughton said future Bauer activities will be coordinated by Mike and Sheree Moates, school PTA presidents.

Safeway employees to vote on pay cuts

AMARILLO (AP) — Faced with the possibility of losing their jobs, employees of the Oklahoma division of the Safeway grocery chain, which includes eight stores in the Texas Panhandle, are voting whether to accept pay cuts of up to 45 percent.

Safeway recently sold its 106-store Oklahoma division, which includes the eight Texas Panhandle stores, to an investor group headed by Clayton & Dubilier.

A pay and benefit reduction plan, agreed upon by the union and by Clayton & Dubilier, proposes that employees making $12 an hour be reduced to $8 and that employees making $8 be reduced to $4.50 once the acquisition is complete.

"We hammered out an agreement that we wish we could be proud of, but frankly we have to come to something to keep our people working," said Dennis Patterson of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union, Local 368 in Amarillo.

Voting by Safeway grocer workers was held Thursday night in Borger and Pampa, following a Wednesday night vote by Amarillo Safeway workers who overwhelmingly approved of the reductions, Patterson said. Safeway employees in Dumas will vote tonight.

Safeway's Oklahoma division, which is based in Oklahoma City, employs 5,000 people in three supply plants, a distribution center and supermarkets in Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle and southern Kansas.

It includes five supermarkets in Amarillo and one each in Pampa, Borger and Dumas. Two of the five Amarillo stores were completed in 1985 and another in 1979, officials said. The union represents about 350 employees in the Panhandle, Patterson said.

Voting throughout the division continues through Saturday, and figures will be available sometime thereafter, Patterson said.

Patterson said the cuts may be the best option if the alternative is for the people to be jobless.

Forum debates release of investigative records

AUSTIN (AP) — The public has a right to know details of investigations into intercollegiate athletics, a money-making activity that has been plagued by scandal, freedom of information advocates say.

But Butch Worley, former assistant director of enforcement for the National Collegiate Athletic Association, contended at a Thursday seminar that releasing such details would hamper NCAA efforts to get information and stop rules violations such as the pay-for-play football scandal at Southern Methodist University.

The question, which is being pursued in state and federal courts, was debated at a seminar sponsored by the Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas and the University of Texas journalism department.

"You have to look at the power (the NCAA) wields ... Major college athletics have become a multimillion-dollar business, and we've basically left them unscrutinized in large measure," said Doug Bedell, sports reporter for the Dallas Morning News.

"You essentially have an organization here that does what it wants to, and without much scrutiny. There are few, if any, other quasi-governmental bodies or organizations with such power without any access to the public or any right of access to its whole procedures," Bedell said.

When the NCAA investigates universities, it only makes public a copy of the final report, without names, said Worley, now special assistant to the athletics director at the University of Texas.

Worley said some information about rules violations only can be obtained by the NCAA with a promise of confidentiality. Rules violations recently reported at universities include payments to student athletes.

"I know you've got the right to know and the right to privacy, but I think there's a third thing that needs to be considered, and that's the institutional effectiveness, and can the institutions do the job," Worley said.

"Sometimes they (open records requirements) can in fact decrease the information that is known, because if people don't talk to you, the NCAA doesn't know about it," he said. "And the public doesn't know about it, but that doesn't mean that it's not happening."

Bedell said the public has a right to examine records to find the answers to "nagging questions" about athletics investigations. For example, he said, it is now impossible to examine claims that SMU was the victim of selective enforcement of rules.

"If (student athletes) are truly amateurs out there, not professionals, I just think it's essential that something be opened up here and allowed more scrutiny," Bedell said.

Sunny time

Sarah Hallmark, 6, daughter of Marsha Haugenater, enjoys a warm, but windy, Friday morning as she and her classmates take a break from class to play on the playground at the Kindergarten Center. Recent temperatures have been warm, but Saturday the high will be about 64, according to the AP.

ing locations that were open during Tuesday's election.

The county is responsible for providing public facilities for elections, Ray said.

Commissioners will vote on the Tax Appraisal Board of Directors, a five-member board that serves two years.

Seven county entities, the county, the cities of Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan, and the independent school districts of those cities, elect the board.

Billy T. Smith, Rob Roberson, Harold Pearce, D.D. Johnston, and J. Arnold Marshall currently serve on the board, which meets once a month at the Howard County Courthouse Annex, 315 Main St.

Commissioners, during a past meeting, nominated Johnston, Pearce, Carlton L. "Corky" Harris, and Lee George to serve on the board.

Big Spring Independent School District has nominated John Webb. Coahoma ISD nominated Harold Pearce, and Forsan ISD nominated Lee George.

Big Spring City Council designated Johnston and Harris as its nominees.

Howard County Judge Milton Kirby said commissioners are allotted 997 votes and usually designate all votes for one person.

The number of votes each entity receives is determined according to tax levies, he said. Big Spring Independent School District receives the most votes — 1,593, he said.

C. Roy Wright, Howard County Volunteer Firefighting Association president, was not listed on the commissioners court agenda.

Wright said Tuesday he planned to speak to commissioners at Monday's meeting to seek new equipment for the county's volunteer fire stations.

Kirby said today no one had requested placement on the agenda, but said commissioners were aware of a need to replace equipment at the stations.

The following items also are included on Monday's agenda:

- Consideration of health and dental contracts, which will expire Dec. 31.
- Discussion of sick leave policy.
- Approval of the treasurer's monthly report.
- Request for temporary assistance in the hot check department while an employee recovers from a recent operation.
- Consideration of bids for the Road and Bridge Department on asphalt and concrete.
- Budget amendments.
- Presentation of the monthly financial report.
- Presentation of a tax report.
- Approval of minutes from the Oct. 26 meeting.

courage by the results.

"I think it's working well," she said. "They (the students) are real anxious to meet again." Herren estimated that the meeting's attendance — which was optional — was around 85 and 90 percent.

Herren said adult organizers of the meetings attempt to make them as fun as possible for the students.

During the October meeting, she was dressed as a witch, and future meetings will feature a puppet show and Santa Claus at Christmas time, Herren said.

"That's how I can best bring them to them," she added.

"The major thing we try to show is all the fun things there are in life," Herren continued. "We try to show them that they don't have to turn to drugs."

"This is very important. We hope to be able to decrease the portion of the population that uses drugs, and kids are easier to convince than adults," Herren added.

The school PTA president explained that presentations vary between grades.

"Kids in fifth grade have heard more about drugs, so you can be more specific about the subject," she said. "You don't go as far with it with first-graders. Your approach is more light-hearted."

The parents also attempt to teach the importance of the family in saying no to dangerous substances, she added.

"The students seem very receptive to the idea," Herren said. "In addition to saying no to drugs, we try to teach them the importance of the family. We teach them that they can rely on their parents."

"I'm real excited about the way things are going," she concluded.

Sheriff's log

State RRC candidate asks for ethics reform

AUSTIN (AP) — If a public official's holdings pose a conflict of interest, divestment and not a blind trust is the way to solve the problem, says a Railroad Commission candidate who wants stricter ethics and campaign finance laws.

ED EMMETT

It's difficult for me to understand how a blind trust can be truly blind if you know what went into it in the first place," Ed Emmett told a Thursday news conference. "Really, the blind trust is nothing more than a mask."

Emmett, a Republican running for the seat now held by Democratic Commissioner Jim Nugent, said commissioners should be prohibited from accepting funds from parties in cases pending before them as well as from holding stock in companies regulated by the commission.

"It seems the public is largely unaware that we have a major flaw in our ethics and campaign finance laws," Emmett said.

He said it doesn't make sense to forbid parties to discuss a pending case with a commissioner while allowing them to make contributions to the commissioner's campaign.

"I still support them not being allowed to go in and talk to a commissioner specifically about an issue that's pending," he said. "That same person, though, that's prohibited from discussing the issue is allowed to host a fundraiser and contribute money to a commissioner, and that to me is just wrong," he said.

Commissioners also are prohibited from owning railroad stock under what Emmett called an antiquated law.

The law "doesn't say anything about owning stock in oil and gas companies or trucking companies, and the railroad commission regulates oil and gas and trucking. It doesn't even regulate railroads any more in an economic way," he said.

Nugent said he sold his oil and gas holdings when he joined the commission, on which he has served since January 1979. The incumbent also said he does not solicit contributions from people he knows have pending cases.

"We do not know whether or not someone who makes us a contribution has a pending case," Nugent said. "I would not want to limit contributions anyone can make to a candidate."

The commission should change its policy, and the 1989 Legislature should toughen the laws for the commissioners and other "quasi-judicial" state officials, he said.

Emmett is executive director of the Texas Association to Improve Distribution, a shipping association. Also running as a Republican for Nugent's seat is Ralph Hoelscher, a Tom Green County farmer and rancher.

Tribute

Air Force Lt. Mike Conup, left, presents the United States Flag to Terri Faust, wife of Airman Steven Faust, Thursday, after funeral services at the National Cemetery in Houston. Airman Faust, 22, was shot to death in the Philippines last week. Communist rebels today warned the United States to stay out of Philippine politics, and said that any U.S. personnel who ignored the warning would become "targets for attack."

Suspect in shooting dies at home

HOUSTON (AP) — A quadriplegic who was accused of killing his bride two months ago with a wheelchair-mounted gun triggered by a string in his mouth has died in his home, apparently of natural causes, police say.

James B. Burns died Thursday in the home he shared with his mother, homicide Sgt. H.L. Meyer said.

Although the official cause of death has not been determined, Meyer said it appeared he died of hardening of the arteries and blockage to the heart.

Burns had been charged with murder in the Sept. 7 death of his wife Bertha Mae Burns, 37.

Mrs. Burns was shot in the neck at a bar where she and her husband of two weeks had been talking. Witnesses told police that Mrs. Burns had placed a string in her husband's mouth.

Burns had told police he jerked his head back accidentally. Three shots fired from the apparatus hit Mrs. Burns, who was sitting directly across from her husband.

The apparatus was described as a 9mm pistol mounted on a small board that the man had across his lap. A string ran around two small screws in the board with one end running to the trigger and the other to his mouth. A shoebox that covered the apparatus was taken off before the shooting.

Police have said they don't know why Mrs. Burns put the string in her husband's mouth.

Opponents of gambling may challenge translation of ballot

Dallas Times Herald Bureau AUSTIN — Pari-mutuel gambling opponents are considering challenging the results of this week's election to approve wagering on horse and dog racing in three counties because the Spanish version of the referendum question was different from the English version on the ballot.

The development unfolded Thursday with Gov. Bill Clements saying he didn't know anything about it and gambling proponents and the secretary of state's office downplaying the discrepancy. The English version asked voters if they were for or against "The legalization of pari-mutuel wagering under the Texas Racing Act on a county-by-county local option basis." The Spanish version specifically asked voters about betting on horse racing, asking whether they were for or against "The legalization of betting placed under the government of Texas law allowing horse races and giving a local option to each county."

Jim Warren, spokesman for the secretary of state's office, said the Spanish version would not have made as much sense without specifying horse racing and that no one in his office could figure out how to translate "pari-mutuel."

Credit firm employee indicted

Dallas Times Herald Bureau DALLAS — A former employee of a Dallas-based credit reporting firm has been indicted on a federal conspiracy charge for allegedly altering computer records of 70 people who authorities said paid thousands of dollars for the service that enabled them to fraudulently obtain a total of $1 million in consumer loans, officials said.

Seventy individuals — including Rogers and Jones — who allegedly paid from $350 to $1,000 each for the illegal service, were indicted on misdemeanor charges of unlawfully altering computer records because of what authorities allege was their willing participation in the scheme.

The indictments followed a year-long investigation by the U.S. Secret Service in Dallas, with assistance from Chilton and the U.S. Attorney's office. Officials said they believe more files were altered that authorities have not yet identified.

Assistant U.S. attorney Jack Williamson called it the biggest operation of this type his office has seen.

"We've had other cases where a couple people paid someone to change something, but this is a lot bigger than that," Williamson said. "The word kind of got out on the street that this was possible."

Second teen to be arrested

Dallas Times Herald Bureau MIDLOTHIAN — A second 16-year-old boy is expected to be arrested by police next week after a warrant was issued for his arrest in connection with the Oct. 23 slaying of an undercover police officer. The warrant, which accuses the juvenile of capital murder, was issued late Tuesday but will not be served until next week because the youth has volunteered to turn himself in, said Lt. Bill Fowler of the Midlothian Police Department.

another 16-year-old boy in a rural area south of Midlothian, near where Officer George Raffield was killed, officials said.

"He was a participant in the slaying," Fowler said.

Raffield, an undercover narcotics officer who was posing as a Midlothian High School student, was shot twice in the back of the head with a .38-caliber gun and was found lying between his truck and a field, police said.

Goeglein and the 16-year-old were arrested hours after the murder. Goeglein is being held without bond at the Ellis County Jail; the other youth is being held in a Johnson County juvenile facility.

"They have made some arrangements for his surrender," Fowler said.

The youth is accused of picking up Richard Goeglein, 17, and Defense leader leaves legacy

Caspar Weinberger will be remembered as a secretary of defense who put muscle back into the U.S. military at a time when it was really needed. It was this build-up that brought the Soviets to the arms negotiating table.

But he rebuilt our defense capability at the expense of his reputation as "Cap the Knife," acquired when he ran the Office of Management and Budget with a well-honed hatchet. Ignoring the need for reform of procurement and military pensions, he insisted on spending money indiscriminately, as if the federal deficit were no problem.

Weinberger announced his resignation Thursday. After almost seven years as defense secretary, he has left a mixed legacy.

When he took over the job in 1981, the nation's armed forces had fallen behind those of the Soviet Union, and there was a serious morale problem. Many top officers were retiring because they felt they were being ignored, and lower-echelon personnel were so poorly paid that many with families qualified for welfare.

In the early years of the Reagan administration, he got about what he wanted in the way of new armaments and increased pay and benefits for the military. Evidence that he was able to catch up and perhaps pull ahead of the Soviet military machine lies in Russian leader Mikhail Gorbachev's apparent eagerness to sign a missile-reduction treaty while speaking positively about cutting back on other weapons.

Weinberger got the B-1 bomber, MX missile and Trident submarine on the production line, but he failed to cope with waste and inefficiency adequately. Cost overruns on big weapons systems have continued.

Also, there have been embarrassing news stories about purchases of $600 toilet seats and $100 hammers by the defense procurers. And for all that, the Navy still had trouble getting minesweepers for the Persian Gulf.

He admirably warned his boss and close friend Ronald Reagan about the pitfalls of stationing Marines as a peacekeeping force in Lebanon and secretly selling arms to Iran in order to barter for hostages held by radical Moslem groups.

But he did not feel so strongly that he resigned over these debacles.

Overall, Weinberger's service has been a plus for the nation. But now it is time for a secretary of defense who is more cost conscious, and more inclined toward defense systems that match our strategic aims.

Reader clarifies speeding issue

To the editor:
I was glad to see Ms. Frontiero's letter in the Herald. When people take the time to write letters, it shows that they are concerned citizens.

I do, however, wish she had read my letter. I stated, "Remember, the police are only doing as directed." I have some good friends on the force and the chief belongs to our Kiwanis Club. I spent three hours Oct. 24 with other Kiwanis members cleaning U.S. Highway 87 south of town in conjunction with the Texas Highway Department.

She then referred to me as a "speeding motorist." I am surprised she didn't check the police records before she wrote. If I am, as she said, I must be quite clever because in my 15 years living in Big Spring, I have never had a speeding ticket. No, I was not caught in the recent Kentwood purge. Had I been, I would not have felt I could criticize objectively.

Next, she suggested I go to a larger city to see how they operate. Some years ago, I worked with the Los Angeles Traffic Bureau over a two-year period when they were trying to see if the newer digital electronic devices would be of help. Their emphatic aim was to do better at getting people from point "A" to point "B" in the shortest practical time. Their main concern was "TRAFFIC FLOW" not "CONTROL." It was through them that I learned and was shown data verifying that speed itself, has little to do with traffic accidents.

She may be interested in the following data. The fastest speeds on the L.A. freeways are during the morning and evening rush hours. The greater number of deaths on these freeways occur in the very early morning hours of 2 to 3 a.m., with less traffic and a slower speed.

Do you remember those who would hardly wait for the last July 4th weekend so they could shout about their expected large increase in deaths and be able to claim it was all due to going from the 55 to 65 mph speed limit? How deathly quiet these people were when our traffic deaths went not only down but down a lot, not up.

Reporters shout for Reagan's attention

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grown men and women are shouting at the president of the United States at the top of their lungs. They say they don't like it, but it's their job. And they say Ronald Reagan makes them do it this way.

Demonstrators? Lunatics? Loud-mouthed bores?

No, the White House press corps.

It's become the standard closing scene at Reagan's infrequent news conferences, and even at ceremonial events.

The chief executive gets the official closing, "Thank you, Mr. President," from a wire service correspondent, but before he can retreat out the door of the East Room, reporters are on their feet, shouting, badgering Reagan for one last word.

He may enter the Rose Garden or the Roosevelt Room to the strains of "Ruffles and Flourishes," but he often beats a retreat to a chorus of questions from the boisterous folks behind the ropes with the cameras and boom microphones.

Recently, an educator made headlines when he upbraided the media for shouting questions about the Supreme Court nomination of Robert H. Bork to Reagan as he left a Rose Garden ceremony for outstanding schools.

"You're taking away from the joy of the whole occasion for us," said John Vessak, an eighth-grade history teacher from North Salem, N.Y.

There was even less decorum last month when Reagan came to the White House briefing room to announce a breakthrough on arms talks with the Soviets. At the end of Reagan's statement, pure cacophony erupted as several basso profundo types vied at once to get his attention.

The reporters themselves wince at the negative image created by such scenes, beamed into millions of American living rooms.

But they say the blame rests with Reagan and his aides, who have sharply curtailed opportunities for the press corps to engage the president under more civil circumstances. They have pushed the press lines back and even cut the number of reporters allowed into so-called pool events.

Reagan has participated in only 40 news conferences in 80 months. This year, enveloped by controversy over the Iran-Contra affair, he has had just two — including one in Venice at the end of the economic summit in June while most of America slept.

His predecessor, Jimmy Carter, held 59 news conferences in 48 months in office; Gerald Ford held 39 in less than 2½ years.

Terence Hunt, White House correspondent for The Associated Press, said, "I don't think anybody likes shouting at the president. What we would like is more opportunities to talk with him than we now have."

Former ambassador has Nazi past

By JACK ANDERSON
and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — Gunther van Well, who served as West German ambassador in Washington from July 1984 until last week, has a documented Nazi past.

Jack Anderson

We have unearthed a Nazi Party membership card issued to van Well in September 1940. It shows the date and place of the future diplomat's birth: Oct. 15, 1922, at Osterrath, near Krefeld in the Rhineland. He was given party membership number 7767073.

According to van Well's official biography, provided by the embassy, he graduated from high school in 1941. The biography does not mention his party membership.

Van Well's tenure as Bonn's ambassador to the United States ended a few days ago, and he decided to retire. He is married to an American, and an embassy spokesman said the van Wells will probably remain in this country.

After several unsuccessful attempts to meet personally with the ambassador, we sent him a copy of his Nazi Party membership card through an aide. Van Well then issued this statement:

"This copy is known for 40 years. Party membership was never active because I was drafted in the Wehrmacht early 1941. This suspended membership. I was a soldier until the end of the war."

We have no evidence to contradict van Well's claim that he was not an active member of the Nazi Party. But several experts we consulted said they had never heard that party membership was suspended upon entry into the armed services.

His official biography states that he was on active service until 1945. After the war he studied at Bonn University, where he earned degrees in both economics and law.

He entered the diplomatic service in 1952 and after an assignment in the personnel office he was sent to the West German mission at the United Nations in New York in 1954. In 1962-1963, he attended Harvard as a fellow at the Center for International Affairs, and was then assigned to the Tokyo embassy for four years.

After serving in various high-level posts at the foreign office in Bonn, van Well was named West Germany's ambassador to the United Nations in 1981.

Incidentally, a U.N. press release of June 5,

1981, noted that van Well presented his credentials there to U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim.

Now president of Austria, Waldheim has been accused of participating in German atrocities in the Balkans during the war and of lying to cover up his Nazi past. The Justice Department has placed Waldheim on a list of individuals who may not be admitted as private visitors to the United States.

Footnote: Two months ago, Bonn's consul general in Rio de Janeiro, Hans Joachim Dunker, acknowledged he is a former Nazi. He remains at his post despite the revelation.

SAVE THE CHILDREN — The poignant story of Vietnam veteran Barry Huntton had a happy ending. He spotted a photo of a young girl in Life magazine two years ago, was struck by the strong family resemblance and last month was finally reunited with the Amerasian daughter he had left behind in Vietnam in 1975.

But as we reported last year, there are perhaps 12,000 children of American fathers still languishing in South Vietnam, where they are discriminated against because of their mixed parentage. The situation has grown worse since the Vietnamese suspended a makeshift program that had allowed such rare success stories as Huntton's.

Non-alcoholic beer may change image

By LEWIS GRIZZARD

I've been a beer drinker for many years. I especially like beer when I am hot and very thirsty.

It goes down so smoothly under those conditions. It quenches the thirst and then finds a nice warm spot in the belly.

The more beer I drink, the more intelligent, funny and good-looking I become.

I used to think I could drive an automobile better when I had had several beers. I don't think that anymore, thank God.

I don't have any particular beer that is my favorite. If it's cold and runs downhill, I'll drink it. I also will go to great lengths to find beer when there isn't any that is readily available.

I once attended a cocktail party hosted by The New Yorker magazine. The New Yorker is a very sophisticated magazine that carries articles I never quite understand.

There was no beer at The New Yorker's cocktail party. They had white wine and bottled water, which is what very sophisticated people drink these days.

I left the cocktail party, walked across the street to a convenience store, bought a six-pack and brought it back with me.

The bartender was nice enough to put the beer on ice. After I'd had three or four of my beers, I began talking to the very sophisticated people around me, and said aloud, "I have no idea what y'all are writing about in The New Yorker, but I love your cartoons."

Everybody thought I was intelligent, funny and good-looking. I took a cab back to my hotel after I had finished my six-pack.

I bring all this up to establish the premise that I dearly love beer and it has been an integral part of my life for some time.

Given that, it may be a surprise to you, like it was to me, that when I tried the new non-alcoholic beer recently, I really liked it.

I don't want this to be a commercial, so I'm going to mention the name of the new product just once, Kalibur.

A man who works for the company that makes the non-alcoholic beer said, "We hope designated drivers will drink it."

"Drinking is mostly a social thing anyway, and this is a great substitute when you're at a bar or a party, and you know you have to drive home."

A friend of mine who is a bigger beer drinker than I am also tried the new product. He tried it six or seven times.

"This is great," he said. "I've had all this beer and I can still talk and walk and I won't kill anybody driving home."

"Another thing," said the man from the company, "is if you'll mix in one of ours between regular beers, you can drink a lot of beer and not become so intoxicated."

I'm not going to lie to you. I'm still going to drink my beer. But the non-alcoholic route is out there now, and there are times I think I'll take it.

I don't have to be intelligent, funny and good-looking all the time.

Civilian jobless rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's civilian jobless rate edged up to 6.0 percent in October — the first increase in 18 months — despite the creation of more than 500,000 jobs and significant growth in manufacturing employment, the government said today.

The Labor Department's survey of households showed 415,000 more Americans at work last month than in September. But the civilian labor force grew by 500,000, raising the jobless rate by 0.1 percentage point.

September's 5.9 percent rate had been the lowest in nearly eight years.

World sailor returns

SANDY HOOK, N.J. — A 21-year-old woman who left two years ago for a 27,000-mile round-the-world voyage in a 26-foot sloop given her as a birthday present was a few miles short of her goal today.

Tania Aebi docked at a U.S. Coast Guard station here Thursday night to be with family and friends before officially ending her odyssey in New York. Sandy Hook is at the entrance to New York's outer harbor.

Ms. Aebi had been at sea since Sept. 16, when she left Gibraltar on the last leg of a trip that began May 28, 1985.

Her father, Ernst Aebi, said he bought her the $40,000 sloop Varuna because it was cheaper than a college education.

Defector comes home

FORT DIX, N.J. — Army investigators today began questioning a newly returned American soldier who defected to the Soviet Union in April but decided to come home despite facing disciplinary charges.

Pvt. Wade Roberts, 22, who defected eight months ago, arrived at Dover Air Force Base, Del., early today after being flown from Rhein-Main U.S. Air Base outside Frankfurt, West Germany, on Thursday.

Roberts deserted from an Army base in Glessen, West Germany, in April and fled to East Germany hidden in the trunk of a rented car driven by his West German girlfriend, who is now pregnant. The couple defected to the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin and then went to Moscow.

Calls flood hospitals

SAN FRANCISCO — Recipients of blood transfusions and their relatives flooded Kaiser hospitals with calls after Kaiser officials urged AIDS testing for 30,000 people who received blood during an eight-year period.

Kaiser Permanente spokesman Dan Danzig said the company's three area hospitals had received about 150 calls since Tuesday, when the San Francisco Chronicle reported that Kaiser would mail letters after the holidays saying it would supply free AIDS testing for blood recipients.

"People are looking for reassurance," Kaiser Health Plan spokeswoman Susan Pieper said earlier.

Gay custody

Teen to live with late father's lover

By LYNN ELBER
Associated Press Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — A fundamentalist Christian mother says she was "raped" by the courts after a judge awarded custody of her 16-year-old son to her late husband's homosexual lover.

In awarding custody of Brian Batey to Craig Corbett, Judge Judith McConnell said the youth would have the "stable and wholesome environment" his mother couldn't provide.

Thursday's custody decision apparently ended the bitter five-year battle during which Betty Lou Batey took her son into hiding for more than 1 1/2 years. Her husband, Frank, died of an AIDS-related illness in June.

Mrs. Batey stormed out of Superior Court sobbing before the hearing ended, refusing to participate any longer because she said the judge was biased.

"I have been raped by the court system!" Mrs. Batey said after the judge's ruling.

"I'm not fighting anymore. We're leaving it to whatever Brian wants. I'm just hoping his life won't be destroyed."

McConnell said she placed great weight on Brian's wishes to remain with Corbett at the Palm Springs residence that for years has been the boy's home.

"It would be detrimental to remove Brian from the only place that he has found stability ... in recent years," the judge said.

To Brian, she said, "You are fortunate to have a person like Craig Corbett, a man who will provide you with a stable and wholesome environment."

The judge also noted that a county Probation Department report found that Mrs. Batey "willfully deprived him of his education" and refused to provide him with needed therapy.

"The court (in 1984) has declared Brian would be in grave danger if returned to his mother's home. There is no evidence before the court to show anything has changed," the judge said.

The judge made no provision for Mrs. Batey's visitation rights, but Corbett said she could continue to see him whenever she wanted.

"I'm glad it's over," Corbett said, wiping away tears. He then left the courtroom through a rear exit with Brian, who could not be reached for comment.

Mrs. Batey, who accused Brian's guardian of exploiting him by taking him "from TV show to TV show," said she planned to write a book detailing her struggle to regain her son.

A tearful Betty Lou Batey, right, tries to console her daughter, Tammie, outside of Juvenile Court in San Diego Thursday when Batey withdrew from the custody battle of her teen-age son, Brian. The judge ruled that Brian will continue to live with her ex-husband's gay lover.

"I am not fighting anymore because it will do no good," Mrs. Batey said. "All I can say is that I believe in the ultimate judge, God. We will all stand before Him at some time, and I have faith that He will return Brian to me."

Mrs. Batey walked out with relatives and her lawyer midway through the proceeding without presenting arguments.

Attorneys for Mrs. Batey had sought to disqualify Ms. McConnell, contending among other things that the judge couldn't be fair because she was a feminist. The petition was rejected by the 4th District Court of Appeal on Tuesday.

In 1982, a judge switched custody of Brian from Mrs. Batey to his father, ruling that Mrs. Batey had denied child visitation rights to her ex-husband.

A short time later, she picked up her son for a court-approved weekend visit and went on the run for nearly 19 months before surrendering to the FBI in Denver in 1984. She was acquitted of felony child-rearing charges in May when a judge ruled she acted out of fear the boy would be harmed by her ex-husband's lifestyle and not out of a desire to deprive Batey of custody.

Students fight police

SEOUL, South Korea — Hundreds of students battled police with firebombs and stones today in an anti-government demonstration. They demanded a neutral interim government to ensure fairness in upcoming elections.

No injuries were reported.

Fighting raged when plainclothes officers hauled away at least six students who were collecting signatures at the gate of Seoul's Yonsei University to back a campaign being launched by opposition groups.

Tanker hit by iranians

MANAMA, Bahrain — An Iranian speedboat hit a U.S.-operated tanker with rocket-propelled grenades in the Persian Gulf today, setting the ship's engine room ablaze, said gulf shipping sources and Lloyd's of London.

There were no reported casualties. The attack apparently was in retaliation for an Iraqi strike Wednesday on an Iranian supertanker, said the shipping sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

In other combat, Iraq said it attacked a coastal Iranian petrochemical plant in the northern gulf today, and Iran said an Iraqi warplane was shot down Thursday night over Saudi Arabian territorial waters. Iraq denied losing a plane.

Haiti reviews election

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — The Electoral Council, reacting to fires that gutted its headquarters and a factory printing ballots, said it will decide soon whether to cancel Haiti's first free elections in at least 30 years.

Opposition groups and prominent citizens in Haiti have charged the fires were aimed at derailing the electoral process and may have been set by supporters of the former Duvalier regime, a charge the supporters deny.

"So far, elections are still scheduled for Nov. 29," council member Alain Rocourt said Thursday after an all-day meeting of the independent body at which postponement was a main topic. The board's decision could be announced as early as Saturday, council members and aides said.

Spain scraps accord

MADRID, Spain — The government plans to scrap an agreement allowing U.S. military forces on Spanish soil but is likely to agree to a scaled back American presence, officials and government sources said.

Meanwhile, Portugal's defense minister reportedly said his government would consider a proposal to transfer U.S. F-16 warplanes that Spain no longer wants stationed there to Portugal if the United States raised the issue.

Spain told the United States during negotiations Thursday that it will not renew the 34-year-old defense accord, said foreign ministry sources who spoke on condition of anonymity.

A new airport for Austin means a new way of life for J.L. Perry Jr., his wife, Kim, and their nine-month-old daughter, Sara. The family lives on a 200-acre farm east of Manor. Austinites voted Tuesday to build a new airport.

Austin airport vote bringing big changes to small town

MANOR (AP) — This week's elections mean big changes for this community of 1,200 east of Austin, where Manor Chamber of Commerce President Andy Norton had said "you can see the whole thing in 2½ minutes."

With voter approval of the statewide referendum on race track gambling, the owners of Manor Downs, one of the state's few existing horse tracks, say they plan to be among the first to seek a pari-mutuel license.

And Austin voters decided to move their airport from the city's east side to Manor. The airport is to be built on a 3,460-acre site east of Manor.

Manor, which for years has been projected as the most likely location for Austin's airport, is a different place since Tuesday.

With or without the airport, the Manor area was in for some big changes, said Neil McDonald, executive director of the private Northeast Association, and Manor City Administrator Mike Bamer. "Austin is really, whether they realize it or not, putting Manor in a nice position economically for the next several years," Bamer said.

McDonald prefers to think of the planned airport not as Austin's airport or the Manor airport, but as a regional airport for all of Central Texas. The effects of the airport — and of legalized betting at Manor Downs — will touch Elgin, Taylor and Pflugerville as well as Manor, he said.

"The confluence of Manor Downs and the airport at almost the same time will mean the rebirth of a once-thriving community," he said of Manor, where Bamer estimated that 70 percent of the residents have low to moderate incomes.

With the support of Austin and other governments, the Texas Highway Commission last spring raised the priority of the proposed expansion of four-lane U.S. 290 to a six-lane freeway with frontage roads between U.S. 183 and FM 973.

Highway department spokesman Mark Ball said Wednesday that the plans probably would be modified to extend the new freeway slightly, taking it virtually to the entrance to the new airport. Construction on U.S. 290 probably will begin within five years, he said.

Utilities also have been laid toward Manor from Austin, about 10 miles away. Much of a $600 million bond issue approved by Austin voters in 1985 was for water and sewer lines for the northeast section of the county near Manor.

A 12 million-gallon reservoir on U.S. 290, approved by Austin voters in 1982, is nearing completion to serve already planned housing subdivisions.

"It will be an accelerator to all these other activities," McDonald said of the new airport.

"I truly believe it will be the same town," Norton said. "We're not going to get that much bigger. We're just going to be that much better."

Judge defends sentence of senior

CLEVELAND (AP) — While leaning on a walker, a 79-year-old woman who sold LSD was sentenced to 90 days in jail by a judge who told her that dealing drugs to children was serious "no matter what her age."

Dorothy V. Curtis also was ordered by Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Paul R. Matia to pay a mandatory $2,500 fine, court costs and restitution to police for an undercover drug buy.

Mrs. Curtis was charged with selling 30 doses of LSD to an undercover agent, a felony that carries a minimum five-year sentence. She pleaded guilty Oct. 5 to a reduced charge of selling less than 10 doses, which carries a maximum sentence of two years.

Matia, who said he believed Mrs. Curtis was directly involved in drug sales to neighborhood youths, sentenced her Tuesday to the maximum prison term but suspended all but 90 days and put her on probation for three years.

DOROTHY V. CURTIS

"It seems to me that the crime of selling drugs to children is a serious matter and it seems to me a person has to take responsibility for her actions no matter what her age," said Matia, who ordered Mrs. Curtis to sell her suburban Euclid home as a condition of her 90-day sentence.

"I'm sorry, your honor, that I caused so much trouble," Mrs. Curtis told Matia. "I just delivered something for someone who asked me. ... I didn't benefit from this one cent."

A boarder in Mrs. Curtis's home, David Campbell, 20, was charged with five counts of selling LSD as a result of the same investigation. Campbell pleaded guilty to two counts of selling LSD and is awaiting sentencing.

Police Detective Bill Hodakiewicz said Wednesday that an undercover agent bought 30 doses of LSD for $6 each from Mrs. Curtis. He said the hallucinogen is sold in drug-soaked squares of paper.

Mrs. Curtis will remain in Cuyahoga County Jail until she can be transferred to the Cleveland House of Corrections, a minimum-security prison.

Biden sets early December target for Ginsburg hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee said Thursday he hopes to begin confirmation hearings for Supreme Court nominee Douglas H. Ginsburg the week of Dec. 7 and finish before the Senate adjourns for the year.

Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., announced the starting-time target at a committee meeting, but said it was "not in concrete." He said that before hearings can begin, an American Bar Association review panel must complete its work and the FBI must finish its background check on Ginsburg.

A Republican member of the committee, Orrin G. Hatch of Utah, said he believed hearings could begin earlier than the week of Dec. 7, which is the same week as the U.S.-Soviet summit in Washington.

But Biden said that if Ginsburg is confirmed, "he is going to sit on the court for 35-to-40 years, so there's no need to rush."

Biden also said that while President Reagan has suggested the committee should move more quickly, the administration has not formally sent the nomination to the Senate.

"I hope to complete the committee's work well before we adjourn," Biden said. The full Senate cannot consider the nomination until the committee hearings are finished.

Biden, who helped lead the opposition that defeated the nomination of Robert H. Bork, said he has an open mind on Ginsburg.

"I'm assuming at this point I'm going to vote for him. I know of no reason now to vote against him," Biden said.

He did note that the Office of Government Ethics is investigating a possible conflict of interest involving Ginsburg's former cable television investments and that Rep. John Dingell, chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, wants the Judiciary Committee to investigate what Ginsburg knew about destruction of documents in the Justice Department.

Biden said these factors also could affect the timing of the hearings.

Ginsburg, now on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, formerly was chief of the Justice Department's antitrust division.

In an interview with reporters after the regular weekly meeting, Biden said he would not ask Ginsburg at the hearings to say how he would rule on specific cases as a Supreme Court justice, but would solicit his broad views on the Constitution.

Biden said he would ask, for instance, "Is there a right of privacy" in the Constitution? Bork said he couldn't find one, a view that clearly cost him votes on the Senate floor.

"I don't want him to be able to say 'I can't comment because it will come before the court,'" Biden said.

He said Ginsburg's nomination was the first he's seen in which senators "are walking around saying, 'Who is he?'" Ginsburg, he added, may not be certain how to react at the hearings because, "All of a sudden, bang, he's in the cockpit, saying 'How am I going to fly this thing?'"

Ortega says indirect talks with Contra rebels possible

By BRYNA BRENNAN
Associated Press Writer

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Daniel Ortega offered to hold indirect cease-fire talks with Contra rebels, but said any further moves toward peace depend on "an end to aggression against Nicaragua" by the United States.

The announcement Thursday night was greeted with cautious optimism by one rebel leader who said such talks would depend on finding a mediator acceptable to the rebels and the leftist Sandinista government.

Ortega's offer represented a reversal for the Sandinista leader who previously refused direct or indirect talks with the Contras, demanding to talk instead with officials from the United States, which finances the rebels.

Ortega, who made the offer in a speech before thousands of cheering Nicaraguans, did not explain how such indirect talks would work.

He said the offer was made "to strip all pretext from our enemies and unmask those who say they are for peace and don't really want it."

He said "this should not be confused with a political dialogue with the leadership of the Contras to negotiate power."

Ortega's speech coincided with the deadline for Central American leaders to show progress in fulfilling a regional peace plan aimed at ending the civil wars in Nicaragua, El Salvador and Guatemala.

The day was marred by a clash in northern Guatemala that left 13 soldiers and three leftist rebels dead.

In El Salvador, President Jose Napoleon Duarte declared a unilateral cease-fire in that nation's civil war with leftist guerrillas that has killed an estimated 65,000 people.

In Costa Rica, Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, a director of the rebels' Nicaraguan Resistance umbrella group, called Ortega's announcement "a triumph for the resistance" and said the Contras want to know who will mediate.

Chamorro noted the Contras had accepted a proposal by Costa Rican President Oscar Arias that Nicaragua's ranking Roman Catholic clergyman, Cardinal Miguel Obando y Bravo, serve as a negotiator in cease-fire talks.

Arias, author of the regional peace plan, won the 1987 Nobel Peace Prize.

It would be "very difficult for us to accept anyone but Cardinal Obando y Bravo," Chamorro said. However, he added: "We'll have to see the names proposed."

Sources close to the regional peace negotiations said Obando y Bravo, long a critic of the Sandinistas, was unacceptable to the Nicaraguan leadership.

A close adviser to Arias, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Arias had proposed former Colombian President Belisario Betancur as a mediator.

It was not immediately known if Betancur will be accepted by either side.

Ortega called on the Contras to take advantage of an amnesty offer before Saturday's expiration of a one-month, limited unilateral cease-fire.

Iceberg reported twice size of Rhode Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — An iceberg twice as big as Rhode Island has broken away from Antarctica and is drifting in the Ross Sea, the National Science Foundation reported.

"The size of the iceberg in human terms is staggering. If you could somehow transport it to California and melt it, it would supply all the water needs of Los Angeles for the next 675 years," Guy G. Guthridge of the foundation said Thursday.

Icebergs often break away from the massive Antarctic ice shelf in the Ross Sea, where they are affected by weather and tidal forces. However, the new iceberg equals two to three times the normal amount of ice that breaks free in a year.

Despite its size, the iceberg represents no threat to shipping in the region, the foundation said.

The drifting iceberg is about 25 miles wide and 98 miles long, for an area of 2,450 square miles; the foundation said Rhode Island, by comparison, has an area of about 1,200 square miles. The iceberg is estimated to be 750 feet thick.

Despite its massive size, the floating block represents only three one-hundredths of one percent of the total area of Antarctica.

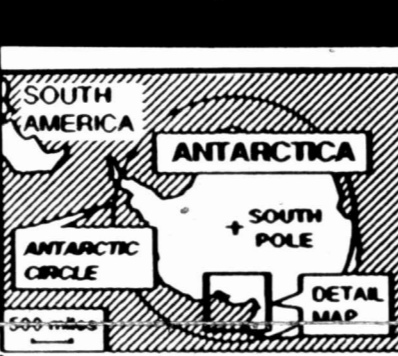

It broke from an ice shelf, a region of freshwater ice formed from snow. That ice has flowed, glacierlike, over time onto the sea surface from the Antarctic land mass. The floating ice near the coastline has many weak areas and large crevasses, scientists report.

The major significance this has for us, besides the historical aspects, is that it is the only map of the continent of Antarctica that shows the Bay of Whales. U.S. Navy aerographer's mate stationed at McMurdo Station.

The iceberg broke away from the ice shelf at a location known as the Bay of Whales, an inlet into the shelf near the locations of several camps constructed by explorer Richard E. Byrd.

Unless the iceberg halts close by, its departure will alter the coastline to effectively eliminate the Bay of Whales as a geographic feature, scientists said.

Spock visits babies while hospitalized

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock, hospitalized and fitted with a cardiac pacemaker, felt so good before his scheduled release today that he was prowling the halls looking for seriously ill babies to visit.

"I'm ashamed to be occupying a hospital bed," Spock said Thursday at the New England Medical Center. "I feel like a fraud."

The 84-year-old baby-care expert and peace activist, visited a hospital playroom, where he folded his 6-foot-3 frame into a child-sized chair and chatted with about eight children between the ages of 2 and 6.

Spock's wife, Mary Morgan, said he had insisted on going for a walk through the hospital the night before because he "wanted to find some babies. We got lost but he found a couple babies."

Spock was hospitalized Saturday after fainting at a Boston restaurant and falling on the marble floor.

Modern myths run forever

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a lady regarding the horrible consequences suffered by a young woman when she overused the facilities at a tanning salon. The story she told was obviously far-fetched. Why did you print the lady's name? You must have known it would embarrass her.

Dear Abby

I have read your column for many years, and while I don't always agree with you, I have always looked forward to seeing what you had to say. No longer, I think printing the lady's name, when you knew it would make her look foolish, was just plain mean! Now every time I read your column, I feel resentment. Please notice, I am not signing my name. You are not to be trusted with it.

UNSIGNED IN OREGON

DEAR UNSIGNED: I'm glad you wrote because other readers may have felt as you did, and I welcome the opportunity to publicly state that before I published the woman's letter, I obtained permission to use her name. Furthermore, if I had thought she might be embarrassed by the publicity, I would not have identified her.

Incidentally, after that item appeared, I heard from folklorist Jan Harold Brunvand, author, columnist and professor in the Department of English at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

He wrote (in part): "I was pleased to see that you debunked the tanning story. I have heard many different versions of that legend — it's been around for a long time."

"I have published three books on 'urban legends' in which I used a few letters from your column. Generally, you are very good at spotting phony letters, but at times you have taken them at face value. My favorite of the legends you have published is the one about the Civil War 'virgin birth.' It ran in November 1982."

The item to which Dr. Brunvand refers, I titled: "Unknown Soldier Fires Shot Heard Nine Months Later." And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: You said it is possible for a woman to become pregnant and still remain a virgin. It sounds impossible, but I know it's true, which reminds me of a similar story I read in a reputable magazine some years ago.

It seems that during the Civil War (May 12, 1863, to be exact), a young Virginia farm girl was standing on her front porch when a stray bullet first passed through the scrotum of a young Union cavalryman, then lodged in the reproductive tract of the young woman, who thus became pregnant by a man she had not been within 100 feet of! And nine months later she gave birth to a healthy baby.

You don't believe it? If it hadn't been published in the very reliable American Heritage magazine (December 1971, page 99, in a story titled, "The Case of the Miraculous Bullet"), I wouldn't have believed it either.

LELAND E. SMITH, NASHVILLE, TENN.

DEAR MR. SMITH: Several years ago I ran that item in this space, which brought me a letter from a 90-year-old South Dakota Indian. He said he had heard a different version of the same story. Only the girl wasn't a Virginia farm girl, she was an Indian maiden who claimed she had been impregnated by a bow and arrow.

Maybe that's where the traditional Indian greeting "How?" originated.

Names in the news

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Actress Jacqueline Bisset says she's gained some insight into Josephine de Beauharnais, wife of Napoleon, whom she is impersonating in a $20 million, six-hour miniseries.

JACQUELINE BISSET

"She was rather an uneducated aristocrat, ill-prepared for her life," said Ms. Bisset, who is playing the Creole courtier in the three-part ABC miniseries "Napoleon and Josephine: A Love Story" to be shown beginning Tuesday.

"What fascinates me is her contemporaneousness, even though she was absolutely not a feminist," the actress said in an interview to appear in next week's TV Guide. "She had a free sexuality — certainly not a saint at all. Still there was a sweetness and innocence she might have had a ripe old time in the '60s and jumped on the feminist bandwagon."

Ms. Bisset co-stars with Armand Assante, who trained on New York stages and played Napoleon in a Broadway play, "Kingdoms."

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Conductor Carlos Kleiber, whose concerts in Rome drew raves from critics, will not conduct Giacomo Puccini's opera "La Boheme" due to illness, the Florence Comunale theater said.

CARLOS KLEIBER

The theater gave no details Tuesday about what it called "serious health reasons" for Kleiber to cancel nine performances that had been scheduled to start Nov. 21.

The announcement said that Italian director Franco Zeffirelli's production of the opera, which will open this central Italian city's opera season, is to be conducted by Bruno Bertoletti.

NEW YORK (AP) — Game show fans converged on Radio City Music Hall for an unusual chance to see such "Hollywood Squares" personalities as Joan Rivers, Lynn Redgrave and The Fat Boys.

Robert Oswaks, a vice president with Orion Television Syndication, the company that distributes the show, said the two weeks worth of "Hollywood Squares" being filmed

Tuesday and today were being taped in front of the largest audiences in game-show history in the 5,882 seat theater.

"We're going for the Guinness Book of Records," Oswaks said.

For a normal filming in Hollywood, 100 to 200 people are in the audience.

The shows are for broadcast the weeks beginning Nov. 9 and Nov. 16. The show is based on tic-tac-toe.

BELLEVUE, Pa. (AP) — "Wheel of Fortune" personalities Vanna White and Pat Sajak proved to be too much for a telephone switching center serving 20,000 suburban Pittsburgh residents.

Television station WPXI-TV, which carries the game show in Pittsburgh, offered auditions for the show to the first 100 callers and hired a service that had only seven phone lines available to handle the calls.

"We're estimating that in less than 90 minutes, between 75,000 and 100,000 attempts were made," Bell of Pennsylvania spokesman Noah Halper said Tuesday.

"It completely fouled up the Bellevue office, so the 20,000 people served by that office weren't getting through and people calling to Bellevue were also getting blocked," he said.

WPXI planned to continue the promotion through the week, and after learning of Monday's trouble Bell technicians installed safeguards to prevent another overload, Halper said.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Clara Hale, who opened Hale House in New York City's Harlem section to help babies born to heroin-addicted mothers, says that despite her age of 82 she still wants to help children.

"There are more children who really need help," Mrs. Hale said in an interview Tuesday during a regional meeting of the White House Conference for a Drug-Free America.

Mrs. Hale, known as Mother Hale, has worked with children since 1940 and has been a foster mother to 40 children. She opened Hale House in 1975 and will soon open Hale House Cradle for children with acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

VA Medical Center hosts open house

Operating Room Nurse Day will be Nov. 13 at the Big Spring VA Medical Center, said Conrad Alexander, director.

Open house will be conducted from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the operating room suite. On display will be surgical instruments, drapes, equipment and other furnishings in actual operating room settings. Visitors will be able to see and touch everything on display, he added.

The purpose of Operating Room Nurse Day is to inform the health consumer that the nurses in the operating room care for the patients before, during and after surgery, said Alexander.

Nurses in the operating room assess special needs of patients, determine the nursing care necessary for an efficient, successful operation, provide patient teaching, prepare necessary equipment and supplies, and monitor patient safety.

Reservations are not necessary. The public is invited except for children under the age of 15.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Blue Blazers will conduct a ribbon cutting ceremony at 10:30 a.m. in conjunction with the open house.

Organize for extra time

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — For women with children who need to find extra time in their busy lives, Irvina Siegel Lew, herself a working woman and mother of three, has one word of advice: organize.

A mother's life doesn't have to be chaotic, claims Lew, author of the paperback book, "You Can't Do It All: Ideas That Work for Mothers Who Work," as well as numerous articles on organization techniques for magazines.

Now, she has produced the "Moms' Survival Guide," in conjunction with the makers of Ziploc storage bags, a booklet filled with tips, advice and answers to make life easier for mothers.

Among the tips she offers for saving time:

- Make a game of choosing chores by writing down different duties on index cards, including cards with prizes on them, such as an extra hour of television. The children can reach into a bag to pick a job at random.

- Help children learn to dress themselves by color coordinating their wardrobes. Buy their clothing in one color scheme, according to their preference, so almost any top will match any bottom.

- Organize outfits in jumbo zipper-top bags, putting a matching top, bottom and pair of socks in each bag, to create a ready-to-go wardrobe.

- Put low hooks in children's rooms so they can hang up their own clothes.

- Let your children decide how they want to arrange their toys. Give them recloseable bags for organizing puzzle and game pieces, crayons and small toys.

Beaumont brothers oldest living male quadruplets

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Since the day they were born on a cold, rainy Halloween afternoon some years ago the Perricone quadruplets have been gawked at, photographed and talked about.

They've been interviewed so many times they can anticipate questions before a reporter can flip open her notebook. They've seen their faces splashed across newspaper pages and television screens.

They've lived together on a private street appropriately named Quad Lane for more than a decade, fought together in the Korean War and together shouldered each of their parents' caskets as pallbearers.

Meet Anthony, Bernard, Carl and Donald Perricone, the original A-B-C-D quadruplets, the oldest, living male set of quadruplets in the world. They are four of the nine Perricone boys born to Marie and Philip Perricone, hard-working immigrants from Italy who scratched out a living peddling produce raised on their Beaumont farm.

"I don't feel any different from a single birth," said Anthony, the third-born quadruplet. "I just feel like I've got eight brothers. For a long time people thought if one of us was hurting, we were all hurting. It don't work that way. We've each got our own personality."

Make no mistake about it, though. This is a close family, although each brother has his own family and, through the years, has built his own life. The brothers not only the four that make up the quadruplet set pitched in and built each other's brick homes on Quad Lane. Six of the nine Perricone brothers and one nephew live along the quiet street on Beaumont's outskirts.

"Us being quads, we've had unusual circumstances what with public appearances and all," said Carl, the first-born quadruplet. "I have no qualms about being a quad. I know this, I wouldn't want to be an only child."

"You get used to all the attention," said Donald, the second oldest quad. "It's like water on a duck's back, you just shake it off and go on."

It was Oct. 31, 1929, two days after Black Tuesday when the stock market crash plunged the nation into the Great Depression. Marie and Philip Perricone had five sons and high hopes for a daughter to fill the empty spot in their lives left when their only baby girl died 15 months earlier.

But that Halloween night within a 45-minute time span, the Perricones were blessed with four more sons and had marked a spot in Beaumont's history books. The awestruck parents didn't name their newly born sons for several days as the last born boy struggled to survive. Named first for relatives, the quads' names eventually evolved into names beginning with the first four letters of the alphabet.

"My bed was a shoebox on the kitchen table," said Bernard, who weighed a whopping 2 pounds at birth and was the last born. "He came that far to not making it for several months," Carl said, squeezing his forefinger and thumb together.

"But I'm meaner than all of them," said Bernard, giving his brothers a good-natured wink.

Totaled up, the famous four weighed in at 16 pounds, give or take a few ounces, and fit right into the loving Perricone family.

They (their other five brothers) were proud of us, they bragged about us," said Anthony. "One brother went to school and told the kids, 'Last night I had four brothers and today I've got eight.'"

The brothers grew up in the spotlight, garnering attention from all walks of life. Then, in 1951 with their draft papers in hand, the quads found themselves in a dilemma when the Army assigned Carl to a tank unit headed overseas. They wanted to stay together and a military rule prohibiting brothers from serving in the same combat units stood in their way. But not for long.

It took a plea to then-Sen. Lyndon Johnson but the brothers wrangled assignments in the same Army tank unit. They served seven months in Korea and made it home without any injuries.

"It all worked out but when we got sent home the Army breathed a sigh of relief," Carl said. "People asked our mother what she thought about all four of us in the same unit and she said, 'They were born together, they've lived together and if they want to die together, so be it.'"

After leaving the Army, the four headed back to Beaumont where they bought identical, baby blue Chevrolets and began working at a local refinery in Nederland. Anthony left the refinery after a few years and now works as a barber. Bernard is retired from the refinery's clerical department. Carl and Donald still work at the refinery, Carl as a train's engineer and Donald as a pipefitter.

Marie Perricone died in 1974 and Philip Perricone five years later, but their sons speak of them and the family's humble beginnings with fierce pride.

"Our mother was the hub of our family," Carl said. "And our dad worked hard and was a farmer for 63 years."

Carl is the father of four girls and two boys and a total of three grandchildren. The four resemble each other but are far from identical in appearance or mannerisms.

Anthony has five daughters and three grandchildren. Slightly balding himself with an intense stare but a quick smile, Anthony has been a barber and hair stylist since 1955.

Bernard, who married a twin, is the father of two boys and one girl, and the grandfather of two. Being born the last of the quadruplets earned him a special spot in the family, he said.

"I've always been the runt of the litter," a bespectacled Bernard said.

By the way, the quads added, just in case you were wondering, the rest of the Perricones brothers' names are Mike, Luke, Jess, Joe and Ted.

U.S. banks cut prime lending rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Several of the nation's largest banks Thursday slashed their prime lending rates a quarter percentage point to 8.75 percent amid mounting pressure for lower rates in the aftermath of last month's stock market plunge.

Citibank, Chase Manhattan Bank, Bankers Trust Co., Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., Mellon Bank and Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. announced the cuts in their key lending rate shortly after the stock market opened.

Stock prices, which started out lower Thursday, quickly rallied following the announcement. The rate was cut as recently as Oct. 22, when it dropped for the first time this year from 9.25 percent to 9 percent. The latest reduction also follows interest rate cuts in Britain and West Germany.

Before last month, the prime had been raised five times since August 1986, when it stood at 7.5 percent. Three banks had boosted the rate as high as 9.75 percent in October but promptly reduced it to 9.25 percent in the wake of the stock market's plunge Oct. 19.

The prime is the benchmark used by banks to set interest rates on a variety of corporate and consumer loans.

Analysts said Thursday's reduction came as no surprise given the fact that the Federal Reserve has eased its credit policies and rates in the credit markets have fallen sharply in response.

"I think there's a real effort on the part of the Fed and the banking system to provide a lot of liquidity in an effort to keep short rates down and safeguard against a slowing in the economy," said Nancy Vanden Houten, a money market economist for Merrill Lynch Capital Markets Inc.

"Their (banks') cost of funds have come down quite a bit so they decided to pass that along to their customers."

A cut in interest rates often stimulates economic growth by making corporate and individual borrowing less expensive.

Overseas, West Germany and Britain also have pushed down their interest rates in moves that could help prevent the cut in U.S. interest rates from leading to further weakness in the dollar. The dollar has slid steeply in recent weeks.

October retail sales show little effects by markets

The collapse in the stock market apparently has not caused the majority of Americans to change their spending habits, retail industry analysts said Thursday after reviewing October sales results of the nation's largest retailers.

"They don't indicate any major downturn, any major deviation from what we had been seeing," said Jeffrey B. Edelman, an analyst with the investment firm Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. "Middle America is still spending."

Retail sales generally have been sluggish throughout this year, and for October, the retailers "reported sales which were in line to slightly below expectations," said Jeffrey Feiner, an analyst with Merrill Lynch & Co. Inc. Since the $500 billion collapse of the stock market Oct. 19, many economists have predicted consumers will cut back their spending.

"While it's obviously difficult to ascertain the impact of Black Monday on total sales results, we nevertheless believe that the overall retailing environment was not importantly impacted and in essence remains sluggish," Feiner said.

Monroe H. Greenstein, an analyst with Bear Stearns & Co. Inc., said if there was any effect from the stock market, it was reflected in results reported by stores serving higher-income customers. For example, Carter Hawley Hale Stores Inc., which owns chains including the Broadway stores in California and the Southwest, suffered a 2.7 percent decline in October sales. Carter Hawley Hale reported its cumulative sales over the last 39 weeks rose 4.5 percent.

Sears Roebuck & Co., the nation's largest retailer, reported its sales rose 1 percent last month from October 1986 levels, while its 39-week sales were up 3.4 percent. Analysts attributed the sluggishness at Sears to stronger sales in September that detracted from the company's October performance.

J.C. Penney & Co. Inc. said its October sales soared 9.1 percent while its year-to-date sales rose 5.2 percent.

K mart Corp. said its overall sales rose 6.7 percent last month and 7.8 percent so far this year. Its comparative store sales — those for stores open at least a year — were up 3.7 percent in October and 3.8 percent for the 39-week period.

Wal-Mart Stores Inc. reported a 40 percent increase in October sales and a 36 percent jump for the first nine months of the fiscal year. Comparative store sales for the rapidly expanding discount chain were up 14 percent in October and 12 percent over the nine-month period.

Federated Department Stores Inc. reported its total sales rose 3.5 percent last month, and 7 percent for the 39-week period. Federated's department stores, which include the upscale Bloomingdale's, Burdine's and Filene's chains, had only a 1.7 percent sales increase in October.

The figures reported Thursday are from general retailers and apparel stores, and do not include sales of supermarkets or auto dealerships.

Imposter crashes club benefit

HOUSTON (AP) — He looked like Paul Hogan, spoke with an Aussie accent, was preceded by security guards and without question was the life of the party.

The only problem, chagrined organizers now acknowledge, the man who showed up for the Halloween bash wasn't the actor who starred in "Crocodile Dundee."

"Mr. Hogan was not in Texas during the Halloween weekend," said Paramount Pictures spokesman Bob Dorfman. "He was not involved in any way, shape or form. It was obviously an imposter."

The party benefit was sponsored by the Montgomery County chapter of the American Association for Lost Children.

The bar's manager, Al DiGiacomo, said that before Halloween night, a man and a woman claiming to be Hogan's security guards came and checked out the club, asking that a window near where the actor was to sit be boarded up.

"If he wasn't the real thing, he went to a lot of trouble to convince us he was," said DiGiacomo.

Dorfman said Hogan could not have been in Texas because he was in New York filming "Crocodile Dundee II," the sequel about the wily outback hunter with the big heart.

Snyder (1-7, 1-5) at Big Spring (4-4, 3-3)

With the exception of 1985, the Steers have had their way with the Snyder Tigers over the past eight years. Both teams are coming off losses to the top two teams in the district. Big Spring fell to Monahans 27-0 and Snyder fell to Sweetwater 31-15. Snyder is playing much better ball now. They are still having their offensive problems, but the defense is all healthy. The Steers' offense sputtered last week, but look for it to bounce back this week in fine form. The current turmoil surrounding the possibility of Steers coach Quinn Eudy resigning after this season will only add fuel to the Steers' fire. And the Tigers will get burned badly this week. BIG SPRING 35, Snyder 6

Forsan (6-3, 2-2) at Rankin (4-5, 1-3)

This is a must win for the Buffaloes. A victory here will put the Buffs in the playoffs for the fourth consecutive season. A Rankin win opens the possibility that the Red Devils can force a five-way tie for the District 6 AA runner-up spot. Last week Forsan didn't play very well, and you can bet coach Jan East let them know about it. This week Stacy Munoz, Brant Nichols and John Roman will lead the troops to another state playoff berth. FORSAN 28, Rankin 12

Ozona (3-6, 2-2) at Stanton (3-6, 1-3)

In the wild and wacky 6-AA race, this is a must win for both teams. The Buffaloes are coming off an embarrassing 50-0 drumming by Reagan County last week. Ozona squeaked by Rankin 10-7. The Ozona Lions are playing better and have their confidence level up. But Stanton always bounces back from tough losses, and the Buffs have the home field advantage. Stanton in a close one. STANTON 14, OZONA 22

Colorado City (6-3, 4-2) at Sonora (4-4-1, 1-4-1)

This game is a matter of pride for the Colorado City Wolves. The Red and Black is down after losing to Abilene Wylie last week, costing them a chance at a trip to the state playoffs. On the other hand, Sonora has to be one of the best 4-4-1 teams in the state. The Broncos have lost three district games by a total of 10 points. This game will be a knock-out, drag-out affair. There will be no holds barred in the season finale for both teams, as neither has anything to lose. Colorado City has more punching power though. COLORADO CITY 20, SONORA 14

Harriers take regional trail

By SARAH LUMAN
Staff Writer

Both Big Spring High School cross country teams will advance to regional competition again. The girls' team won district for the second year in a row Saturday at the meet here, and the boys again placed second, repeating their 1986 performance.

Freshman Mimi Regalado paces the girls' squad, according to cross country coach Randy Britton. "Two weeks ago she broke the school record," he said.

"She ran a 13:01 for a freshman, that's pretty good time," Britton said. "She's the most consistent runner we have (in cross country) this year. She's an extremely good competitor for such a young kid."

Earlier this year, Britton's harrier squads took part in the Lubbock high school invitational meet at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock. Britton said Regalado turned in a good performance on the course, which will be used for the regional meet tomorrow.

"You wouldn't think there'd be any hills in Lubbock," Britton said. "But that's a tough course. It has some pretty good hills." He said Regalado's 13:19 time on the course indicated that she could, barring any problems, break 13:00 during the regional meet.

Girls participating in the regional meet from BSHS are Mimi Regalado, freshman; sophomores Yvett Regalado, Trisha Barnes, Rocky Alviar and Kelly Daily; freshman Lillian Trevino and junior Susan Garza.

Britton said the girls' run will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. The boys' event will follow at 10:20.

"They have a chance to go to state, which will be the next week," Britton said. "Our philosophy this week is going to be just let it all hang out and run our best, go for our best times."

"Only one of the girls on this team ran cross country last year, and that's Rocky Alviar," he said. "We had some people elect not to run who could have helped us this year, but that's life."

He said the cross country rules offer athletes two chances to advance to state competition. "The top three teams go," Britton explained, "or the top ten individuals. Like last year, we finished seventh as a team, but I had a girl finish tenth overall, so she ended up going to state."

"It rewards the athletes as individuals as well as a team," Britton said.

Six of the seven members of the boys' squad are also new to cross country running this year, he said. James McMillan, a sophomore, is the squad's lone repeater. Joining him on the team are juniors Ben Gonzales, Mario Ramos and Tim Pruitt, along with freshman Shaun Daylong and senior Goel Price.

"Ben finished third in the state last year in the mile run and sixth in the two-mile," Britton said. "So he has some state experience."

But Britton said the harriers' inexperience has made their season more difficult. "These kids want to run," he said. "I've seen a lot of the kids get down, because they'll run a really good time on an easy course, and then running on a hard course their times go down. It really frustrates them."

"That's the hardest thing about cross country," he continued. "You can't really compare your times, because you run on different courses every week. You have to realize that you won't run as fast on a tough course as on an easy one." Girls run two miles in the cross country competition, boys three, Britton said.

Ben Gonzales has the best time CROSS COUNTRY page 2-B

Mavericks' coach makes debut

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks open their NBA season tonight with a new coach but with the same injury problem that hampered them in the playoffs last season.

Center James Donaldson is still bothered by the leg problems that sidelined him for much of the Mavs' playoff loss to Seattle, and he may see only spot duty in the debut of Coach John MacLeod against the Utah Jazz at Reunion Arena.

MacLeod replaced Dick Motta, who had coached Dallas since it joined the NBA in 1980. Motta looked at other coaching possibilities after the Mavericks failed in the first round of the playoffs and resigned in a huff when Dallas management asked for a commitment regarding whether he was staying or leaving.

Only Red Auerbach, who coached the Boston Celtics for 16 seasons, had a longer continuous service with one club in NBA history than MacLeod, who was fired last season after almost 14 years with the Phoenix Suns.

MacLeod, 50, was 579-543 with Phoenix and directed the Suns to nine playoff berths. His 1975-76 team lost to Boston in the NBA finals.

He has promised to chart "new waters" for the Mavericks.

"Dick built a great winning tradition, and I hope to carry on that tradition and hopefully get the Mavericks up to the next level."

Although MacLeod said "it makes no sense to make dramatic changes" he is hoping Dallas can run more, a la the Los Angeles Lakers.

"This team averaged 117 points per game but I think we can run a little more, though," MacLeod said. "I think you'll see us look for the easy basket in transition first. If it's not there, then we'll set up and go with the reliable halfcourt game."

"We have a lot of talent and a lot of depth," said MacLeod. "I plan to use 10 players. I'm excited about this team."

Oklahoma's teams will collide

By The Associated Press

Oklahoma State ranks 10th in the nation in kickoff returns. That's good, because the Cowboys might handle a lot of them Saturday.

That's when the 12th-rated Cowboys visit No. 1 Oklahoma, which leads the country in almost everything. The Sooners are outscoring opponents by an average of 52-6 1/2, and that translates to roughly nine kickoffs per game.

"You just hope you can slow 'em down," Oklahoma State defensive coordinator Louis Campbell said. "It's no secret we're not big and strong."

Oklahoma averages 532 yards in total offense, 450 on the ground, and 7 1/2 yards each play. Jamelle Holieway and the other Sooner quarterbacks complete only 36 percent of their passes, but they throw mostly for fun.

Oklahoma is No. 1 in total defense. Oklahoma State, meanwhile, ranks 87th, slightly ahead of Kansas, a 71-10 Oklahoma victim last week.

At 8-0, Oklahoma may already be looking ahead to its Nov. 21 meeting with No. 2 Nebraska. The Sooners have beaten Oklahoma State 10 straight times and lead the series 63-12-6, making it an intrastate rivalry without equal rivals.

Oklahoma State, despite a 7-1 record, is a four-touchdown underdog. The only loss came in the Cowboys' previous toughest game, 35-0 to Nebraska. The Cornhuskers ran right at, and right over, the smaller Cowboys.

"I certainly expect Oklahoma to do the same thing," Campbell said.

Nebraska, 8-0, is a 47-point favorite this week against Iowa State in another Big Eight game.

In other Top Ten games, No. 3 Miami of Florida plays Miami of Ohio, No. 4 Florida State is at No. 6

Auburn, No. 5 LSU plays host to No. 13 Alabama, No. 7 UCLA is at Oregon State, No. 8 Syracuse is at Navy, No. 9 Notre Dame is at home against Boston College, No. 10 Clemson is at North Carolina, and Georgia, tied for 10th, meets No. 17 Florida at Jacksonville, Fla.

In the Second Ten, it is Purdue at No. 15 Michigan State, No. 16 Penn State against Maryland at Baltimore, No. 18 Indiana at home against Illinois and No. 19 Tennessee plays host to Louisville.

The Oklahoma State offense is built around quarterback Mike Gundy and tailback Thurman Thomas.

Gundy throws for 220 yards per game and Thomas runs for 118. Holieway is not ranked among the top 100 passers in the nation but leads the Sooners in rushing with 92 a game.

"We don't establish a rushing game, it's going to be the same as Nebraska," Gundy said. "They came in and shut down our running game right from the start, then they were able to rush their front four on every play."

"If they know you're going to throw every time, they have no other concern."

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said his team needs to contain Gundy.

"Gundy's the difference in their team," Switzer said. "He allows you to use a lot of various formations, a lot of sets. ... He's the key to the ballgame for us defensively."

Hawks down Kansans

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

MIDLAND — "I hope the word to describe this team is tenacious," said Howard College Hawks basketball coach Jerry Kassan after the Hawks defeated Garden City, Kan. 76-69 in the opening round of the Chaparral Classic Thursday afternoon.

Tenacious was the right word to describe the Hawks' play as they used pressure defense and good foul shooting to defeat the number-23 ranked team in the nation.

Using 12 players, Kassan had his team keep up the defensive pressure throughout the game against the Broncos, who featured a starting front line of 6-11 George Ackles and 6-10 Omar Roland.

While the Broncos won the battle on the boards, rebounding Howard 32-26, Howard won the war, causing 24 Bronco turnovers. Garden City used a pressure defense for most of the game, and it was effective also, causing 20 HC turnovers.

But in the end, Howard clung to victory behind some good foul shooting, led by point guard Chris Miller.

The Hawks downed 20 of 25 charity shots for 80 percent. Meanwhile the Broncos only made 10 of 25 charity attempts, for a dismal 40 percent.

While Miller led the free throw parade, downing 13 of 15 attempts, guard Larry Pettigrew led the Howard shooting from the floor. Pettigrew finished the contest with a game-high 24 points, including five three-pointers.

Despite losing the battle of the boards, Howard's Hawks scrapped hard against their taller opponents. Myron Wright and James Helaire paced Howard with five rebounds each. James Higgins and Jerrod Elliot chipped in four boards each against the big Garden City front line.

"I thought we played well against their big guys," said Kassan. "I had to go with different post players (Wright, Helaire, Ernest Porter and James Anderson) against them, and they all did a fine job."

The contest was really a game of streaks: a defense would cause a series of turnovers, turn them into baskets, and then see the other team retaliate in kind.

Pettigrew got Howard off on the right foot by hitting his first of four first-half three-pointers to start the game. By the 15:40 mark, Howard had built the lead to 15-6. Garden City cut it to 18-15 and Howard stretched it back out to 24-15 with 11:32 remaining in the half.

But in the next three minutes Garden City reeled off 10 unanswered points, taking a 25-24 lead. Howard recovered to take a 37-34 halftime lead as Pettigrew hit another three-pointer and Helaire scored twice inside in the waning minutes.

The big story in the second half was Howard's ability to control Ackles. After scoring 12 first half points, Ackles managed only one point the remainder of the game. Ackles did pull down a game-high 15 rebounds.

While Garden City couldn't score inside, they did get good second half production from forward Derek Williams and guard Norman Schippers along with Randy Devall. Devall came off the bench to lead Garden City scoring with 18.

But the trio's outside shooting wasn't enough to overcome Howard's balanced scoring attack and pressure defense.

The Hawks threatened to turn the game into a rout by taking a 61-48 lead with nine minutes left. But the Broncos rallied to cut the margin to 66-61 with 4:31 remaining.

Howard then took a 71-64 lead but Garden City cut it to 71-69 with 2:05 to go. But the Kansas team could come no closer as Miller and Bernard Williams each sank two from the charity stripe to put the Broncos out of their misery.

The Hawks will face Midland College at 7 p.m. after Midland's defeat of Cisco Junior College.

HOWARD (76) — Myron Wright 4 1/2; Jerrod Elliot 3 0 6; Lavon Brown 0 2 2; Chris Miller 2 13 17; Larry Pettigrew 9 1 24; James Helaire 6 2 14; Jemel Ross 2 0 4; Ernest Porter 1 0 2; Bernard Williams 0 2 2; James Higgins 2 0 4; Kevin Welch 0 0 0; totals 29 20 76.

GARDEN CITY (69) — Robin Oletree 2 0 4; Derek Williams 5 4 14; Norman Schippers 5 0 12; George Ackles 6 1 13; Omar Roland 3 2 8; Randy Devall 7 1 18; Mark Fox 1 0 2; Sam Schwerdfeger 2 8 69.

Halftime — Howard 37, Garden City 33. Turnovers — Howard 20, Garden City 20; Rebounds: Howard 28 (Wright 5, Helaire 5); Garden City (Ackles 15, Oletree 6); Three pointers — Howard (Pettigrew 5); Garden City (Devall 3, Schippers 2).

Houston worries UT coach

By The Associated Press

David McWilliams is worried that the University of Houston will pick this week to become a spoiler.

"It's probably the most worrisome game a coach can have," the University of Texas coach said. "You're playing in the home of a team that hasn't won a Southwest Conference game, yet they've played a lot of people tough."

The Longhorns, who are 3-0 in SWC play 4-3 overall, are 10-point favorites over the Cougars (1-6, 0-4), who have yet to win a league game for new Coach Jack Pardee. But Houston has played Baylor, Texas A&M and Arkansas close.

"You just know Houston is going to be a spoiler somewhere down the line," McWilliams said. "I just hope it isn't this week. We're going to have to play with a good deal of emotion to make sure that doesn't happen."

Texas and Houston tangle at the Astrodome in the only night game — 7 p.m. CST — on the SWC schedule this week.

In other games that feature Arkansas and Texas Christian trying to stay alive in the SWC chase, the Razorbacks (6-2, 4-1) host Baylor (5-3, 2-2) at 1 p.m. in Fayetteville, while the Horned Frogs (5-3, 3-1) are on the road for a noon (Raycom regional TV) meeting with Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Arkansas rated a 14-point favorite over well-rested Baylor, which was idle last week.

TCU was a one-point pick over the Red Raiders, who play tough in Jones Stadium where they upset defending champion Texas A&M in September.

The Aggies and the Rice Owls are idle this week.

Arkansas has a bone to pick with Baylor. The Bears knocked the Hogs out of the Cotton Bowl race last year with 17 points in the fourth quarter for a 29-14 victory in Waco.

The TCU-Tech series couldn't be closer. It's knotted at 20-20-3. The Red Raiders have won the last two times, defeating TCU 36-14 last year in Fort Worth and 63-7 in Lubbock in 1985.

"It's kinda hard to have very many fond memories of Texas Tech in Lubbock," said TCU defensive tackle Kent Tramel.

Howard College Hawks' guard Bernard Williams (24) applies the defensive pressure to Garden City Broncos' guard Randy Devall (34) during action Thursday afternoon in the Chaparral Classic in Midland. Howard won the game 76-69.

Garden City stays perfect

FORSAN — The Garden City junior high gridgers ran their record to 8-0 by defeating Forsan 42-0 in football action Thursday night. Mario Aguilar led the way scoring four touchdowns on runs of five, 30, 19 and three yards. The other G-City scores came on a 47-yard run by James Soles and a 40-yard run by Tony Aragon. Garden City will play Sterling City in Sterling City Thursday at 6 p.m.

Coahoma sweeps Merkel

COAHOMA — The Coahoma junior high teams swept wins from Merkel Thursday night. The Coahoma seventh grade finished their season with a 4-3-1 record by defeating Merkel 14-8. Steven New scored both Coahoma TD's. New scored on a seven-yard pass from Gary Martin and a six-yard run. New finished the game with 145 yards in 23 carries. The Coahoma eighth grade won a wild 38-32 victory over Merkel. Quarterback Brent Elmore and running back Isa Castellano led the way to victory. Elmore, who passed for 165 yards, threw a 14-yard TD pass to Matt Coates for the winning score with 25 seconds left. Castellano finished the contest with 173 yards in 20 carries. The Coahoma eighth grade finishes the season with a 5-3 record.

They hope they can add a sixth home game — in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1 against the Oklahoma-Nebraska winner. Syracuse, 8-0 and hoping for a major bowl bid, figures to have little trouble at Navy, 1-7. Still, Orangemen Coach Dick MacPherson played the typical coaches' game of finding something good to say about every opponent.

Forecast

Garden City (2-6, 1-5) at Miles (5-4, 3-4)

With all the bad luck the Garden City Bearkats have had, they're due for a win. The 'Kats have lost three league games by less than a touchdown. This week the Scott twins and daddy Sam will make sure the Bearkats end Miles' season on a losing note. GARDEN CITY 21, MILES 20

Grady (2-7, 1-4) at Sands (7-2, 5-1)

The Sands Mustangs are rip-snortin' mad after dropping last week's close contest to the Loop Longhorns. The Grady Wildcats have improved by leaps and bounds from the start of the season. The 'Cats have a very explosive offense and an average defense. But that defense won't figure out a way to stop Jay Fryar and Co. SANDS 51, GRADY 30

Klondike (4-5, 2-3)

at Dawson (1-8, 0-5)

The Klondike Cougars want this one badly: if they win, they'll finish the season with a .500 record. Dawson just wants one more victory to end an otherwise dismal season. The Cougars will take out all their frustrations on the Dragons and get that .500 season. KLONDIKE 48, DAWSON 22

Merkel (5-3-1, 3-2-1) at

Coahoma (2-7, 0-6)

The last chance for the Coahoma Bulldogs to get a District 5-3A victory comes tonight. The Badgers are down after losing last week to Brady. The Bulldogs are hungry and the Badgers aren't. The 'Dogs will give the hometown fans a thrill. COAHOMA 21, MERKEL 14

Wellman (6-3, 4-1) at

Borden County (3-6, 2-4)

The second straight tough opponent for the Borden County Coyotes. Wellman will be up for this game because the Wildcats need a victory to have a shot at the state playoffs. Borden County will play well, but the Coyotes don't have the firepower to match the Wildcats. WELLMAN 48, BORDEN COUNTY 34

San Francisco eyes scrappy Oilers

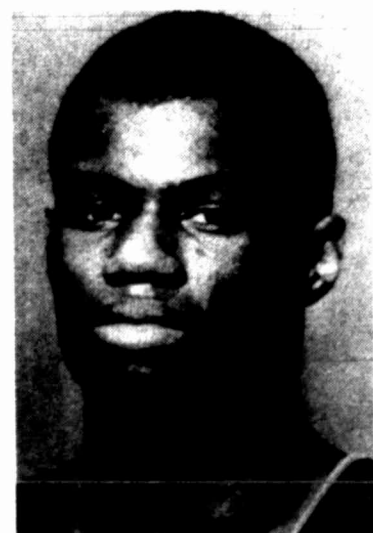

By The Associated Press
The San Francisco 49ers know what to expect from the Houston Oilers. A lot of real mayhem. "They spear, they eye-gouge, they body-slam. Just like professional wrestling," 49ers tight end Russ Francis said, looking ahead to Sunday's game between NFL division leaders. Houston, at 5-2, has already matched last season's victory total. The Oilers rely on an active defense that roughs up opponents and stirs up trouble. "They are a very aggressive, borderline cheap shot defense," San Francisco wide receiver Mike Wilson said. The Oilers lead the AFC Central by one game over Cleveland, and their "Gritz Blitz" is a reflection of Coach Jerry Glanville, who began the tactic while an assistant at Atlanta. "Man, I was always getting into a fight with one of the DBs (defensive backs)," San Francisco wide receiver Dwight Clark said, recalling Glanville's teams with the Falcons. "The Houston defense looks similar. If they play that way against us, it will be a really physical game with a lot of fights." In other games Sunday, Atlanta is at Cleveland, Chicago plays Green Bay, Dallas visits Detroit, Denver plays Buffalo, the Los Angeles Raiders face Minnesota, Pittsburgh plays Kansas City, San Diego takes on Indianapolis, Tampa Bay is at St. Louis, Washington faces Philadelphia, New Orleans plays the Los Angeles Rams and Miami visits Cincinnati. New England plays at the New York Giants on Sunday night and Seattle visits the New York Jets on Monday night. Glanville said this season's Oilers are "really not much different from a year ago" when

Houston was 5-11. "The biggest difference between the first and 28th teams in this league is mental," Glanville said. The 49ers again look strong at 6-1, two games ahead of New Orleans in the NFC West. San Francisco has scored 199 points, the most in its conference. "We don't want to be in a scoring contest with this team because we won't come out on top," 49ers Coach Bill Walsh. "But I'm afraid we'll have to score four touchdowns." The Oilers have scored 180 points and allowed 153. The 49ers have given up 154. "I would like to see our running game sustain itself, but if they blitz us we'll have to throw," Walsh said. "So you may see very little running in this game." There may be more running in Indianapolis when the Colts and Chargers play. Eric Dickerson, in his second week with Indianapolis, should be more of a factor in the Colts' offense. Last Sunday, the three-time NFL rushing champion gained 38 yards on 10 carries against the Jets. "I've picked it (the offense) up pretty well," Dickerson said. "We have some of the same basic plays. We have some things that even have the same terminology. When you're a running back, things come easier." Dickerson will start in place of Albert Bentley, who gained 145 yards in a 19-14 victory over the Jets. "It's nothing personal, because I think he's a fine running back. But I don't like to stand on the sidelines. If he was my brother or best friend... I'd be going after it," Dickerson said. The Colts are 4-3 — the first time they've been over .500 since moving from Baltimore in 1984

— and tied with New England for first place in the AFC East. San Diego is 6-1 and tied with San Francisco, Chicago and Washington for the best record in the NFL. The Chargers have won six straight since losing their opener to Kansas City. Once a pass-dominated offense operated by quarterback Dan Fouts, San Diego now has a more balanced attack. "We've been three different teams, just like everyone in the NFL," Coach Al Saunders said. "The first team that we had came out of training camp went 1-1 and we felt we were making some progress and some improvement over last year. Then the strike hit, and we had a spirited group of guys who ended up winning three games, all on the road, all in the last quarter. "After the strike, we've had a mixture of replacement players and our regulars that has put two good games back-to-back and they've been 2-0." The NFC Central-leading Bears have rallied to win their past two games behind quarterback Jim McMahon. The last time Chicago played Green Bay, Packers nose tackle Charles Martin slammed McMahon to the ground. McMahon was injured and lost for the season and Martin was suspended. Since then, Martin was waived and picked up by the body-slammng Oilers. "Charlie Martin's not with this team any longer. If you want to dwell on that, you go ahead. But not me," Packers Coach Forrest Gregg said. "We miss Charlie Martin as a football player. The other part we won't." Green Bay is 3-3-1 going into the 134th meeting with the Bears.

Spurs sign Navy hoopster

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs have coaxed top draft pick David Robinson out of a six-month silence on his NBA plans with a contract reportedly worth $26 million. Robinson, a 7-foot-1 center who set several basketball records at the Naval Academy, was expected to end months of speculation today by signing a contract with the Spurs, team officials said Thursday. No details of the pact have been announced, but the New York Times reported that is a guaranteed contract worth $26 million over eight years, including a $1 million signing bonus payable immediately. Robinson was selected the college basketball player of the year last season as he set 33 Navy records, including 2,669 career points, 1,314 rebounds and 516

DAVID ROBINSON blocked shots. Spurs Coach Bob Weiss said he felt confident Robinson could be signed after talking to the Navy star in September. "I felt he was open-minded, and if he was open-minded I knew Angelo could get it done," Weiss said. "Some people could have come here and it didn't matter what you did, you couldn't sign them." The Spurs are coming off their worst season, 24-58, as they prepare to open against the Houston Rockets tonight, and management sees Robinson as a crucial spark for the team. Weiss said he would like to develop younger players so that they would be prepared when Robinson joins the team. The San Antonio Express-News was the first to report on Thursday that Robinson would sign with the Spurs. The newspaper quoted Robinson's best friend, Carl Liebert.

Driver likes raceway

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Darrell Waltrip is one driver who is in no hurry to see Riverside International Raceway close its gates for good.

Riverside, which is being encroached upon by residential neighborhoods, has been kept open on a year-to-year basis since 1985 as track owners have attempted to find land nearby to build a new racetrack.

So far, those efforts have failed, but the track will remain open at least through next June.

"There's a lot of talk about this track being torn down for apartments and condos, but Riverside keeps hanging in there," Waltrip said. "Every year those houses just seem to get closer and closer to the track. But I also notice that each race has been bringing more fans into the grandstands."

"I, for one, will really hate to see the track closed, if that indeed happens. It's really a shame."

Waltrip, a three-time Winston Cup driving champion, switched from the elite team of Junior Johnson to the strong team of Rick Hendrick at the start of this season, with everyone holding great expectations of success.

But, despite the best efforts of everyone involved, only one victory — last month at Martinsville, Va. — and little success has come their way.

"Our team has come a long, long way this season," Waltrip said this week as he headed into Sunday's season-ending Winston Western 500 at Riverside International Raceway.

"We've developed into a solid race team," he said. "This old Tide Chevrolet brought us that win at Martinsville, and I can't think of a better way to close out my season than with a win at Riverside. I love the place."

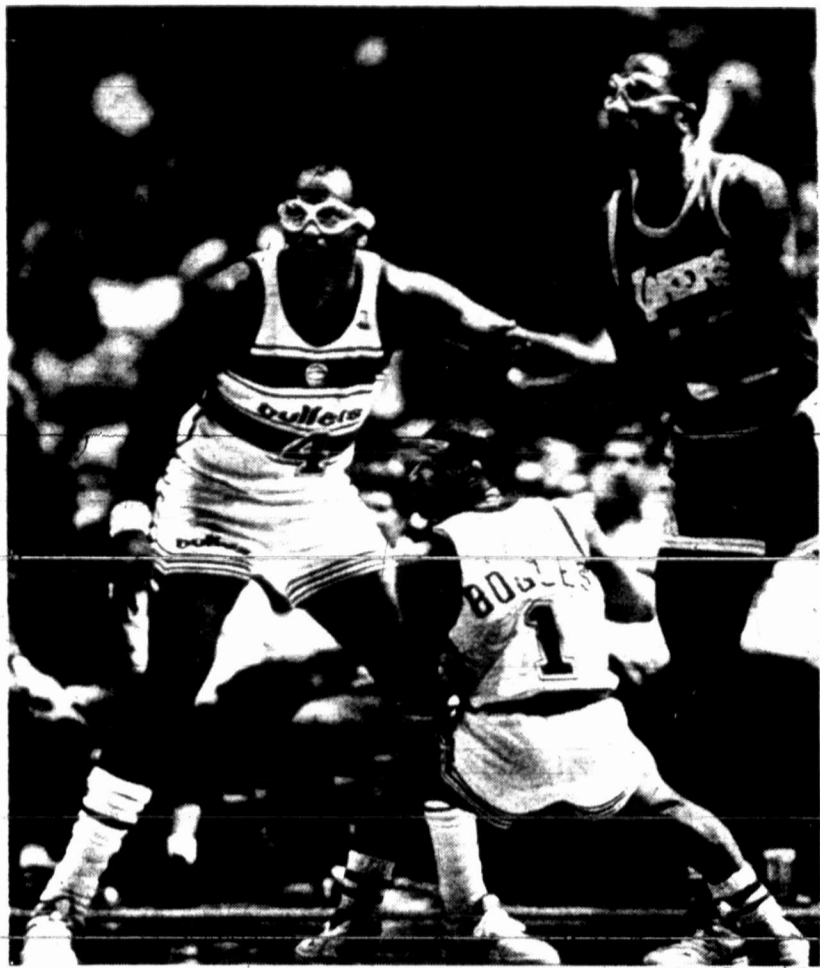

During his years of racing on the 2.62-mile, nine-turn road circuit, Waltrip has won nine pole positions and five races and finished in the top 10 15 times in 25 starts.

"It's a challenging road course," he said. "It requires a driver to use every ounce of skill and talent he possesses. It's not like an oval where sometimes it's the car that wins the race, not the driver."

"At Riverside, it's the driver who makes the difference between winning and losing. It takes a lot of skill."

"A driver has to know the proper time to downshift, follow the correct line into and out of each turn and know how to conserve his equipment. One mistake on the turns isn't easily corrected, and it's easy to forget your car's limits and wear it down in just a few laps."

Practice opened Thursday for both weekend races — Sunday's Winston race and Saturday's Motorcraft-Trak Auto 300, the final stop on NASCAR's Southwest Tour for Grand American stock cars.

IN WAR OR PEACE THEY RISK
THEIR LIVES FOR OUR FREEDOM

Technically speaking, we are at peace in the world, or at least not engaged in any officially declared war at the moment. However, conditions can change from day to day, and in any case the members of our armed services are always on duty around the globe, protecting our national interests; and they are prepared to give their lives for us if necessary. Therefore, when those who are fortunate enough to do so return home, the least we can do for them is to make their lives as easy as possible. We should also attend our House of Worship, thank the Lord for the safe return of all our veterans of whatever conflict, and pray for the continued safety of our heroic service people still stationed in foreign lands. The choice of our faith is one of the freedoms they have guarded for us and for future generations, and we can best honor them by making use of it.

God created beauty

DEAR GRAHAM: I know most people might not share my concern, but I've always had a great love for art, and have been an artist and art teacher for some years. I was hurt the other day when an acquaintance at church said she "didn't understand why I wasted my time on such things when there was so many important things Christians ought to be doing. Do you think she's right?" - Mrs. T.R.

DEAR MRS. T.R.: If God has given you the gift of being an artist, then be thankful for it and use that gift for His glory. The Bible says, "So whether you eat or drink or whatever you do, do it all for the glory of God" (1 Corinthians 10:31). The Bible tells us that when God made the world He "made all kinds of trees grow out of the ground - trees that were pleasing to the eye (Genesis 2:9). In other words God made beauty, and He also gave us the ability to enjoy the beautiful things He created. In the Old Testament God commanded that the Temple was to be elaborately decorated so it would be beautiful, and would be a symbol of the glory of God. "See, the Lord has chosen Bezalel... and he has filled him with the Spirit of God, with skill, ability and knowledge in all kinds of crafts - to make artistic designs... and to engage in all kinds of artistic craftsmanship" (Exodus 35:30-33). Some of the greatest artists (and musicians) in history have been deeply committed to Christ, and used their art as a witness to God's glory and power.

Gospel group performs at high school

The Florida Boys, a Southern gospel music group, will perform Saturday at the Big Spring High School auditorium at 7 p.m.

Admission is $5, and persons wanting advanced tickets can call 263-3281. Transportation will be provided for senior citizens by calling 263-3281, said Rhonda Merrick, organizer.

With an energetic upbeat style of Southern gospel music, The Florida Boys, for over 35 years, have made an impact in gospel music as one of its most recognized and beloved acts, according to information released by Tucker and Associates, Nashville, Tenn.

From the 20-year popularity of their Dove Award winning, nationally syndicated TV show, "The Gospel Singing Jubilee," to the stage of Carnegie Hall and performances in several foreign countries, they have set the standards for gospel music entertainment, the release stated.

The Florida Boys consist of Derrel Stewart, pianist, a 30-year veteran, known for his comic antics and red socks; Buddy Liles, bass vocalist, who joined the group 15 years ago and is responsible for writing many of the group's songs; and Ricky Busby, who became the latest addition in June 1986.

Glen Allred, lead

guitarist/baritone, and Les Beasley, lead singer and manager, have been with the group for 34 years, according to the release.

The group released its first album in February 1965 and have released at least one album each year since then. With the inception of gospel music charts more than 10 years ago, The Florida Boys continue to be a dominate group, the release added.

Their 1984 album, "Reaching Out," was nominated for a Dove Award and contains the number one gospel chart song "When He Was On The Cross, I Was On His Mind," according to the release.

They tour annually, performing at fairs, festivals, churches, auditoriums and other places where gospel music is desired, the release stated.

In addition to co-hosting a singing cruise each year to the Bahamas, the group hosts an annual tour of the Holy Land. Their travels have taken them to every state in the union plus Canada, Mexico, England, Greece, France, Lebanon, Israel, Cyprus, Ireland, Italy and Holland, according to the release.

"Each year it seems our ministry in son keeps growing stronger," band member Les Beasley said of the group's success.

Proceeds will go to the Big Spring Bible Fund, according to Merrick.

Annual banquet slated for Nov. 9

"Open Doors With Brother Andrew," the international Christian Missionary group often called "God's Smugglers", will conduct its annual banquet Nov. 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Park Inn, 300 Tulane Ave.

A complimentary meal will be served and the guest speaker is from Open Door's South Africa Base, according to a news release.

Open Doors provides Bibles to Christians in restricted countries. The ministry is nondenominational. Individuals interested in what is happening to persecuted Christians in different parts of the world are invited to the banquet. A slide presentation is planned.

Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling Mrs. Cruz at (915) 263-2452 or Anne Sigmon at (915) 263-3726.

Church to host lunch and bazaar

First Christian Church, 911 Goliad, will have its annual bazaar and luncheon Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The bazaar will feature a White Elephant Sale with homemade crafts, baked goods and canned items.

A luncheon plate with chicken spaghetti, salad, apple crisp, bread, and tea or coffee will be served. The price is $4.50 per plate.

Raffle tickets for an afghan made by Ann Fritzier, president, will be sold.

Local church news

Evangelist, wife to lead revival

Evangelist and Mrs. Tex Lambrecht, divisional evangelists, The Salvation Army, Dallas, will speak at a series of revival meetings at The Salvation Army, 811 E. Fifth St., Big Spring, beginning Sunday at 11 a.m. and at 6 p.m., continuing Monday through Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

The Lambrechts are talented vocalists and musicians who will feature gospel songs of distinction at each service. Mr. Lambrecht is a keyboard virtuoso who plays the organ, piano and accordion, according to Lt. Tex Ellis, local Corps commander.

Mrs. Lambrecht teams up with her husband for accordion-guitar duets. The audience will be invited to participate in a sing-along sing-along of gospel choruses with Mr. Lambrecht at the piano.

The Lambrecht evangelistic ministry spans a period of 29 years and is uniquely characterized with the use of drama, theatrical grease paint, special lighting, costumes and other special effects, said Ellis.

Mr. Lambrecht's dramatic portrayal of the beloved Apostle John as a man of more than 80 years old is a highlight for most of his campaigns.

Elizabeth and Tex Lambrecht

EVANGELIST AND MRS. LAMBRECHT

are children of the regiment with parents and grandparents who have served as officers in The Salvation Army. Two of their three children are in full-time Christian service, and one is an officer in The Salvation Army, said Ellis.

The public is invited to attend these special meetings as well as the regular services at The Salvation Army.

Women discuss church in India

The women of First Church of God met Monday, Nov. 2 for their monthly meeting.

The third study of Southeast Asia entitled "This is the Church in India" written by Jean Johnson, missionary in that area was presented by Betty Reagan, Missionary Education Coordinator. She was assisted by Anna Smith and Linda Lindell.

Her objective was to acquaint the women with the outreach of the Church of God in India.

Renee Loy, Spiritual Life Coordinator, acquainted the women with the worship customs of India and Bangledeish Christian women.

The next meeting will be a Christmas meeting entitled "Mary Remembers".

Pastor's mom to preach Sunday

Ione Sedinger, minister of First Christian Church in Silsbee, will preach at 10:50 a.m. Sunday at First Christian Church, 911 Goliad.

She is the mother of Victor Sedinger, senior minister of First Christian Church, who is recovering from back surgery and will not be able to preach this Sunday, said Paula Waters, associate minister.

Ione became a licensed minister six years ago and her son preached her ordination service two years ago at Sandy Lane Christian Church, Fort Worth.

"I don't think I can fill his (Victor's) shoes - I'm just going to fill his pulpit this Sunday," said Ione.

Victor will return to the pulpit Nov. 15, said Waters.

Experience

Retreat offers new beginning

A Beginning Experience weekend will be conducted November 6-8 at Christ the King Retreat Center, San Angelo.

This ministry is designed for those who have begun to put their lives back together after having suffered the pain and loss of a spouse through divorce, separation or death.

A specially trained team will lead the participants through the simple program which consists of presentations followed by personal private reflection and dialogue in small groups.

Team leaders include women and men who are divorced or widowed as well as other persons with experience in life renewal. This experience is quiet, reflective and spiritual. It is designed to be a time of closure on the past and a step toward a new beginning in the present, according to a news release.

For many people, the Beginning Experience has proven to be a deeply spiritual and enriching experience in their lives. Once in touch with their own feelings, people find it easier to get in closer touch with God. From the Beginning Experience comes a real opportunity to begin again, through God, to turn pain into an adventure of grace. Although the Beginning Experience is rooted in the Catholic Church, it is open to and serves people of all faiths. Anyone interested is invited to participate, regardless of religious affiliation.

Beginning Experience began in October 1973, when Sister Josephine Stewart and Ms. Jo Lamia (now deceased), attended a family enrichment program. During that program, Ms. Lamia, who was divorced, wrote a letter of closure to her former husband.

Sister Josephine, a professional family counselor, and Ms. Lamia immediately perceived the impact of the closure experience and the sense of beginning which followed. With people at the Catholic Renewal Center of North Texas, Sister Josephine and Ms. Lamia outlined the original Beginning Experience.

The Beginning Experience has been blessed in its growth. A network of well established Beginning Experience Teams exists throughout the continental United States, as well as in Alaska and Hawaii. Their experience is also well established and growing in Canada. In 1980, it was established in Australia and New Zealand.

The Beginning Experience Team is committed to serve and bring healing to the divorced, separated and widowed.

YOUR DAILY HOROSCOPE

From the Carroll Righter Institute

RECAST FOR SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1987

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You may have to consider giving up an interest which you enjoy, but which has given you a considerable number of seemingly insoluble problems. A change of attitude will help you decide on a new goal.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good friend will introduce you to a person who has been very successful in your line of work. Take the advice which is offered.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may be anxious to improve your income by seeking a promotion of some sort. Now is the right time to do just that.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Now is the time to pay back all of those favors done for you by a partner. Do something thoughtful and kind and feel great all day.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Don't let a family friend usurp your authority at home. Study the cost of any home repairs, and get a second estimate.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Get into an old-favorite hobby with a close friend, but be sure you've made proper arrangements before beginning. Be charming and diplomatic.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Listen carefully to a financial expert, and follow any advice given to you. If you go out visiting today, make sure you drive carefully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be succinct and friendly today, and you can make many new and beneficial friends. Don't be overbearing or rude.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take time to sit down and think about some confusing aspects of your life. A little contemplation may be all you need.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Enlist the aid of a close friend to settle up a difficult situation. Get together later with some acquaintances you haven't seen lately.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are tactful, you can get a little boost in business from a superior. Accompany your mate to a popular civic affair.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't be trapped by routines. Getting away from it all with a good friend would help you both unwind and could also be profitable.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Avoid any arguments with your mate, or any other confrontations for that matter. Keep your poise today, and all will be well.

If Your Child Is Born Today He or she will be very skillful at work involving the hands, and will have a natural understanding of mechanical matters. Your progeny will have a restless urge to travel and will meet many interesting people along the way. Great success is indicated for your child.

"The Stars impel; they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
