Voters Return Some, Elect Some 'New' Faces

Rockport Voters Return Falk, Ward, Elect Bent To First Term

Henry Bent is the new German representing Rockport's Ward 2 while Walter S. Falk Jr. and Dan Ward were re-elected in Saturday, April 5, city elections.

Some 463 voters turned out in both city wards.

Rockport's city council canvassed results of the election in a special meeting at 5 p.m. Monday, April 7, in City Hall.

The council members elected in Saturday's election will be officially seated in the regular council session set for Monday, April 14.

Falk, in his bid for re-election as Rockport's mayor, received 314 votes from both city wards. Some 41 write-in votes were cast for 28 persons.

In Ward 1, 143 voters turned out to elect Ward alderman over challenger Peter Lazidis by a margin of

Incumbents Returned In Fulton City Races

Fulton citizens cast a total of 113 votes last Saturday, and in the process, re-elected all incumbents.

Mayor L.E. Casterline, who ran unopposed, garnered 91 votes. Two men received write-in votes:

Dan Shelton had three and Raymond Allen had one.

Lucia (Pat) Loflin was the leading vote-getter for the council seats, with 93. Others who were elected for second terms were Katherine McLeister—89 votes, Dominga Benavidez—86, Ray H. Patterson—84 and James F. Metzger—82.

Antoinette J. Lamonte was unsuccessful in her bid for a council seat, but did garner 57 votes. Ann Warren received one write-in vote.

The official vote canvass was set for the regular April council meeting on

Meyer, Gregory Re-Elected To Aransas School Board

Joe Meyer and Gene Gregory were re-elected as Aransas County School Board Trustees in the April 5 election held at the Rockport-Fulton Junior High School Cafeteria.

In Place 4, Joe Meyer had 419 votes, and opponent Pete Ramirez Jr. had 326.

Gayle Atchley had 13 write-in votes for that place.

In Place 7, Gene Gregory had 370 votes, and write-in candidate Gayle Atchley had 251 votes.

230 Ballots Cast In Water Board Election

Some 230 Aransas County residents cast ballots in the election Saturday, April 5, that returned incumbents Richard Beck and Cam Leonard to the county water board.

Beck and Leonard were running unopposed for re-election to six-year terms as directors of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

Six persons received write-in votes in the election held in the North Lobby of the Aransas County Courthouse.

Results of the election were canvassed during a meeting of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District at 5 p.m. Monday, April 7.

Beck received 112 votes for his seat on the water board. One write-in vote was cast for A.D. King for that spot.

Leonard received 98

More Meetings Due On City, County Sewer Systems Grants

By Pat Blair

The City of Rockport and Aransas County water board have each held one public meeting in their separate sewer system projects.

They each have additional public meetings scheduled and at least one public hearing before the end of the Step I grant phase.

For the county water board, which does not have existing sanitary sewer facilities, the requirements under Step I are more detailed than for the City of Rockport which does have such facilities.

For example, Rockport is not required to have a citizen's advisory committee. The Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District must -- and does -- have this committee.

Rockport does not have to find a location for a wastewater treatment plant -- Aransas County does.

Rockport's study -- which involves only the incorporated area of the city plus its extrajurisdictional jurisdiction (about a mile beyond the city limits) -- is to determine the need and feasibility of expanding existing sewage facilities. The ACCRD study is to determine the need for sewer system facilities that the county does not now have.

For these and other rea-

Body Found On Verne

The body of a man was found in a small house in the 300 block of Verne Street, on the north side of Market Street, last Monday afternoon, April 7.

The exact cause of death was not definitely known, but the Sheriff's Department reported that it was probably due to natural causes. Identification was still pending Tuesday morning.

Correction Noted

The youngster should have been identified as Charlie Baros.

ANOTHER WINNER

Six year old Kara Low won second place in the six and seven-year-olds division of the Easter Coloring Contest sponsored by the Rockport Pilot and the First National Bank. Kara, a first grade student at Windsor Park Elementary School in Corpus Christi won a Chocolate Easter bunny.

Police Report

An accident at the intersection of North Live Oak and Mimosa resulted in a traffic citation for Paula Marie Belleggie, 26, of Houston Sunday, April 6.

Ms. Belleggie was traveling west on Mimosa when her vehicle was in collision with a car driven by James Earl Dinsdale, 71, of Reinbeck, Iowa.

She was ticketed for running a stop sign following the mishap that occurred about 10:27 a.m.

Gerald Wayne Kissling

Jr., 28, of Rockport was under $500 bond for driving with a suspended license after he was arrested by Rockport police about 9:30 p.m. Saturday, April 5.

Kissling was arrested by Joaquin Martinez who reported the man ran a stop sign. Kisling was arrested at Market and Live Oak.

Joe Ruben Ramirez, 31, of 523 East Bay, Rockport, was placed under $500 bond for driving with suspended license after he was stopped by police Friday, April 4, for driving without lights.

Officer S.P. Trevino made the arrest in the 500 block of Austin Street about 12:13 a.m. Friday.

Manuel R. Sanchez, 41, of Rockport was placed under $500 bond for driving while intoxicated and ticketed for failure to control his vehicle following an accident Friday night.

The incident occurred about 10:50 p.m. when Sanchez' vehicle ran off the roadway and into a ditch in front of the U-Tote-M Drive in on Bronte.

Police Officer Martin DeLeon investigated the accident.

Mrs. Ivane Alsop of 1636 South Water, Rockport, reported an incident of criminal mischief that occurred about 9:15 Friday.

Mrs. Alsop told police someone threw rocks through three of the windows in her residence, causing an estimated $75 in damages.

A "steering malfunction" was the cause of an accident Thursday afternoon in which the car driven by Jay Carroll Brown, 20, of 823 South Church ran off the road and into a tree.

Brown was driving east on Harbor Drive when the accident occurred. The vehicle struck a tree in the yard of Cy Richards, 2013 Baywood.

The accident occurred about 2:40 p.m.

Wayne Emerson Collins, 58, of Rt. 1 was released on personal recognizance bond following his arrest Tuesday, April 1, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Collins was arrested at the intersection of South Bronte and 5th Street about 8:50 p.m. Arresting officer was Martinez.

LITTLE LEAGUE SHAMPOO SALES

Aransas County baseball and softball players of all ages will be taking orders for shampoo from April 10-15 to raise money for the Little League Association. The price will be $2.75 per bottle; their goal is $4,500. The players will be going door to door as shown above. Here David Blankinship, left, gives his order to sellers Monica Boone, Joey Trimyer and John Sanchez.

Evaluating Important

"Being able to choose the right neighborhood for a particular family is a very important skill in the real estate business, and as Realtors we work hard to help our clients find an environment that suits them," said Louise Wilken, president of the Rockport Area Board of Realtors here this week.

"Location is one of the first factors to be considered by the home-buying public. We as Realtors try to establish with the buyer such considerations as: Do you want the home close to the city center, business, recreation and cultural facilities? Where will your job be? Do you want to be near any particular friends or relatives?"

Ms. Wilken indicated that the following points should be used as guidelines to help those looking for homes:

The matter of public transportation should be considered. What types of stores and services are nearby? Are banks in the vicinity? When are they open? Streets are a matter to consider in this way: Are they wide, well-lighted and in good shape? Are there sidewalks? What about the drainage system?

If the new homeowner has youngsters, these are some of the questions to ask: Is there a park nearby? What about swimming pools, tennis courts, churches or synagogues, public library and/or a college?

Public safety and services are points to be considered. How far are the police and fire stations? Is trash removal frequent? Is the water supply adequate throughout the year? What about service on the public sewers or private septic systems?

The buyer will be affected by the neighborhood's zoning, so should ask: Are there buffer zones between residential, commercial and industrial zones? How close are factories, airports, highways, railroads, chemical plants and sewage treatment plants? Do any unusual deed restrictions limit use or future expansion of the property?

A Realtor who is familiar with the neighborhood can answer factual questions such as: What are the state and local taxes? Is there an active community association for the neighborhood? The homebuyer will want to find out for himself about the neighborhood's appearance. Are homes improved or neglected? Is there landscaping? What activity goes on at night or early in the morning?

"The homebuying public should consider all of these points. Realtors work hard at helping homebuyers remember these points, but all of the aspects are easy to forget. So, we as Realtors depend on questions from the prospective homeowners," Ms. Wilken concluded.

Residents Still Have Time

To Be Counted

Census Bureau officials remind Aransas County residents that it's not too late to be counted in the 1980 Census.

While encouraged by the very good response they have received in early returns of census questionnaires by mail, the Census Bureau is now turning its attention to those who have not yet completed and mailed back their 1980 Census forms.

These individuals are reminded that, while there is no penalty for late return of census forms, they can save both tax money and personal inconvenience by mailing their census forms now.

Households that have not returned their completed census questionnaires to their district census office by April 11 will be contacted by census enumerators, who will personally retrieve the questionnaires.

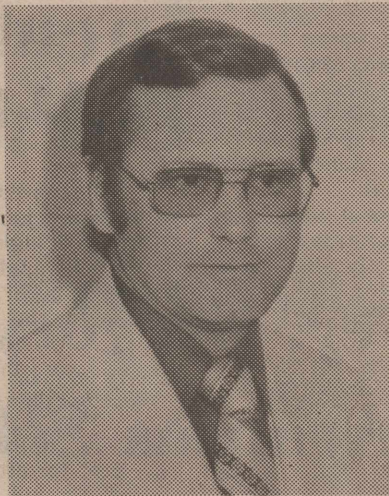

These census takers will begin going into the field April 16, with the operation continuing through May until all households have been contacted.

The Census Bureau estimates it costs an extra $5 in tax money for each individual who must be contacted by a census taker in the extensive follow-up operations that are necessary to be sure every person is counted.

The added costs go to pay salaries and travel expenses of census enumerators who must go door to door to each household not responding to the census by mail.

Persons who have not completed their census forms as yet are urged to do so immediately.

swallowing these objects can cause strangulation as a foreign body obstruction in the digestive tract.

One example was a four month old sad-eyed St. Bernard presented to my clinic with a history of vomiting for the past 24 hours. The vital signs were normal, but on palpating the abdomen, I could feel an unusual object.

I told my client we would need an X-ray to confirm my tentative diagnosis of foreign body obstruction. After taking the X-ray and developing it, I called my client into the viewing room and asked her where her house key was.

She gave me a puzzled look and began digging through her purse. Finally she turned her purse upside down, dumping the entire contents on the X-ray table. Like many women, she had everything in her purse except the tire jack - and her house key.

Then I showed her the X-ray of her dog. Larger than life was a big, old-fashioned door key; the type of key used to open locks on the old homes built at the turn of the century.

The key was removed under anesthesia through a gastroscope, using an 18-inch grasping gastro forceps.

The following day I sent the puppy - George Washington - home, with a large indestructible ball to play with instead of keys

Wyatt Co-sponsors Bill For Livestock Protection

U.S. Representative Joe Wyatt has joined as a co-sponsor of legislation which would require the Secretary of the Interior, in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture, to implement an effective animal damage control program.

"Every year our ranchers suffer significant losses due to predator attacks on their herds," said Wyatt. "So far, for whatever reason, existing programs have not been tremendously effective."

"This bill directs the Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture to develop a plan which will work. This legislation puts the burden on their shoulders to get the job done."

Wyatt said that he was disappointed at Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus' recent decision that his department would extend its "corrective" predator control program, that no controls would be authorized until losses reach an unacceptable level, and that future controls would be non-lethal.

"First of all, ranchers all across Western states are losing thousands of dollars each year in sheep, goats and cattle due to predators. I call that 'unacceptable'."

"Second, I certainly don't want to wipe these species out, but I believe food production is a priority for this country, and in areas where predators, such as coyotes, are jeopardizing the ability of this country to raise enough food, something has to be done to rid those areas of the predators," said Wyatt.

The bill, H.R. 6725, is sponsored by Congressman Kika de la Garza of Texas, a member of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Our Readers Write

Dear Sir:
Please accept my thanks for publishing the pictures and statements of the candidates in the Pilot of April 2. Since it is impossible for the voters to meet and talk to all the candidates about the issues, your coverage provides an excellent service. It helped me make choices in three elections this past Saturday.

I also want to thank the many voters in Fulton who supported me in my effort for a council seat. To have a turn out of over 50 percent in a non-issue election certainly speaks well for the civic mindedness of the Fulton residents.

Sincerely yours,
s/Antoinette J. Lamonte

and studious youngsters in spectacles. Are eye defects a sign that a youngster is smarter?

Not necessarily. Some of the world's smartest people have had no obvious vision problems. On the other hand, many mentally retarded must wear lenses. Some of us in the vision care field, however, do feel that in the special case of myopia (nearsightedness) there is a relationship between that problem and intelligence. Research seems to prove it, but we can't quite decide whether the intelligence or the myopia came first. Genes no doubt are involved.

Blurred vision at distance naturally causes a person to concentrate more on things at near where vision is clearest. That certainly includes books, hence more reading, more smart! On the other hand, is it the intelligence that spurs a greater desire to learn? Mors curiosity, more reading? And because of long-time focusing at near on flat surfaces (books), nearsightedness results from focus-muscle spasm? We know that function can alter structure, much like the right arm of the blacksmith has an overdeveloped biceps from years of overuse. But the chemistry of muscle/nerve function does not fully answer the question.

I suppose, then, that we should simply say that myopia and intelligence do seem to go together. So, perhaps cartoonists will continue to depict the smart youngsters in spectacles.

By the way, are you or any of your children nearsighted?

Q. I'm trying to get my wife to cut down on the sugar that she uses in cooking, etc. Well, she has switched to that dark brown sugar and thinks she has really done a lot of good. I'm not that much better than white sugar is it? What's the deal?

A. No, it's definitely not "that much better!"

Sometimes dark brown sugar is just white sugar that has been sprayed with molasses. Well, molasses is a good source of vitamins and minerals, so this sugar is a LITTLE better than white sugar. Sometimes, however, this sugar is sprayed with caramelized white sugar, which gives it a brown color, but NO food value at all, except calories! Hope this helps your "cut down on sugar" campaign!

Activities at the Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center for the week of March 24 through March 30 were busy as usual.

Sandra Lee was at the center several times during the week to do volunteer work and visit with the residents. Cindy Haskett, Mimi Haskett, and Gloria Haskett decorated the activity rooms for Easter.

The Presbyterian women from Rockport visited and brought books and name plates for the new residents. Faye Quinn of Portland donated some books to the center for the residents. Delma Rogers, Mary Spears and a friend were at the center visiting during the week.

The Hibiscus Garden Club gave the residents an Easter Lily to celebrate the coming holiday.

Faye, Pat, and Ruth delivered goodies to the residents on Friday, and Wednesday afternoon was the Birthday Party given by the ladies of the First Baptist Church of Aransas Pass. Refreshments were served, and each birthday honoree was given a gift.

Hope Rangel of the Aransas Pass Chapter 630, held a game evening on Wednesday. Bob Keeper and Bill Cooper played some ragtime music on their piano and banjo.

Paint class was conducted on Friday morning by Lyla Olive and Frankie Edwards, and Father James Hamilton gave Holy Communion to the Catholic residents on Saturday morning.

Mary Frances Fahrenthold and Robert Mize played the music for the Country Western Dance held Saturday evening. The Ladies of the Alter Society of the Aransas Pass Catholic Church served refreshments.

Sunday morning church services were held by Reverend Al Bankert.

With Our Military

Navy Seaman James R. Swank, son of Marion E. Swank of 1422 Redbird, Rockport, recently participated in exercise "Rimpac 80" in the Pacific Ocean.

He is a crewmember aboard the frigate USS Marvin Shields homeported in San Diego.

"Rimpac 80" was the seventh in a series of major Fleet exercises involving "rim of the Pacific" nations. Forty-one ships, 200 aircraft and 20,000 sailors and airmen from Australia, Canada, Japan, New Zealand and the U.S. participated.

The exercise was designed to test and improve combat readiness of the units in most aspects of maritime warfare. Anti-surface, anti-air and anti-submarine warfare were practiced, along with at-sea replenishment and opposed transits. Also, a weapons firing was conducted at the Pacific Missile Range Facility at Barking Sands, Hawaii.

More Eligible For Credit

AUSTIN — Working parents whose earned income and adjusted gross income for 1979 was less than $10,000 and who had a child living with them may be eligible to receive up to $500 in earned income credit, the Internal Revenue Service said.

In order to claim the credit, eligible persons must file a return even if they owe no tax. The credit is based both on their earnings and adjusted gross income.

For incomes over $6,000 the credit declines on a sliding scale and phases out completely once a person's income reaches $10,000.

The new changes also allow individuals to receive payments of the credit each payday. Qualifying persons should request Form W-5, "Earned Income Credit Advance Payments Certificate," from their employer.

See page 2 of the Federal tax instructions for details about the earned income credit or call the IRS toll-free number listed in the local telephone directory.

Additional information on the credit is available in the free IRS Publication 596, "Earned Income Credit," which may be obtained by filling out the order blank in the tax package.

Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition and scaly, especially my legs and feet. I've tried all kinds of creams and lotions, even baby oil. Nothing helps. What can I do?

A. One thing you can do is to make sure you're getting oil on the INSIDE as well as the outside! This is important! You can put creams and oils on your skin forever and still have dry skin if you don't include oil in your diet.

Now, we're not suggesting that you load up on lard! What we're talking about is vegetable oils, which are known as the "good guys of the fat family" because they are low in saturated fats. Nutritionists and nutrition-oriented beauty experts recommend taking a tablespoon of vegetable oil daily. (Safflower oil is one of the best, or try a blend of 3 or 4 of the good oils) You can take this straight from the spoon or put it on a salad. Just get it down once a day -- you'll be amazed!

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

ENERGY-EFFICIENT HOME HELPS MRS. J. W. HERRINGTON SAVE ON POWER COSTS

Hoping to cut utility bills, Mrs. J. W. Herrington followed a friend's advice: when she chose a new house, she made sure it incorporated features that qualified it for an Energy Efficiency Award from Central Power and Light Company.

Obviously, it was good advice.

Now Mrs. Herrington recommends the EEA program to other prospective home buyers.

"I find it a great savings," she says of the energy-saving plan used for her comfortable new home in Carmel Hills, at Lake Corpus Christi.*

CPL developed the Energy Efficiency Award as a means of helping home owners get full value for every kilowatt hour of electricity they use. An all-electric house that merits the award is well insulated, weather-stripped and equipped with a highly efficient heating and cooling system. These and numerous other features that boost the home's energy efficiency are checked and certified by a qualified technician from CPL.

Before you buy or build a new home—or remodel your present one—be sure to look into this money-saving plan. Ask for more information at your CPL office—or get the details from your architect, builder, designer or realtor.

*The exact amount of savings will depend on individual circumstances.

Energy Saving Measures

AUSTIN -- Homeowners or renters who purchase insulation, storm windows and other energy-saving devices for their homes can reduce their federal tax bill as much as $300, the Internal Revenue Service says.

In addition, they can receive a credit of up to $2,200 for installing solar panels, windmills or other devices that use renewable energy sources.

The first credit, known as the energy conservation credit, is figured at 15 percent of the first $2,000 spent on items such as storm or thermal windows and doors, insulation, weatherstripping or caulking.

The second credit, or "renewable" energy source credit, is 30 percent of the first $2,000 plus 20 percent of the next $8,000 invested in qualifying solar, wind or geothermal equipment used to heat, cool or provide hot water for the home.

Both credits are available on items purchased and installed on a taxpayer's principal residence between April 20, 1977, and December 31, 1985.

To claim the credit, taxpayers must file Form 1040 and attach IRS Form 5695, to show how the credit was computed. Form 5695, "Energy Credits," comes with your tax package.

Additional information on the credit is available in the free IRS Publication

903, "Energy Credits for Individuals."

Copies of the publication and of Form 5695 may be ordered by using the order form in the tax package or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, it can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

CONVERTING SUNLIGHT INTO ELECTRICITY

A novel approach to the conversion of sunlight into electricity is being investigated for use in solar power plants, reports the Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI).

At Stanford University, a research group directed by Dr. Richard M. Swanson has achieved efficiencies of 26% in converting incandescent light into electric energy—up from 12% a year ago—and has identified a program with strong prospects for reaching 35% conversion efficiencies.

Solar cells convert sunlight directly into electricity by transforming energy from sunlight into electrical charge motion, causing an electric current. But in a solar TPV converter, which Dr. Swanson's group is using, a metallic heating element — a radiator — is heated by concentrated sunlight and serves as an intermediary between the sun and the cells. This heating element radiates primarily infrared light to which the cells are most responsive.

Dr. Swanson has succeeded in recycling infrared energy unused by the TPV cells, which has led to the attainment of Stanford's high conversion efficiencies.

Dr. Swanson's Stanford University group is under contract to EPRI.

President Carter Proposes Higher Spending

Following is a statement by Dr. Jack Carlson, executive vice president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors:

The country faces disastrous inflation and President Carter responds by proposing even higher spending and taxes, reduced savings and investment and greater wage, price and credit controls and regulations.

The President proposes $6 billion additional spending for Fiscal Year 1980 and $9 billion to $109 billion for FY 1981, and he calls these increases "revisions." He then claims budget cuts to be announced later, but these forecast budget cuts for these two years disappear when the spending increases are recognized, according to a White House fact sheet.

The budget cuts are a mere $2 billion in 1980, but the President's budget revisions will add $6 billion to his January budget. This means spending will increase by 15.3 percent from 1979 instead of 14.2 percent, clearly no way to fight inflation. The President proposes only $13 billion to $14 billion slower spending in FY 1981, which starts in October, but he makes upward revisions of $9 billion to $10 billion, thereby eliminating almost all of the cuts.

agents that will do the job.

Rothrock mentioned seven in and dipel as well as malathion and bactur.

An important distinction should be made at this point. Dipel, thuricide and bactur are bacterial in nature and are virtually non-toxic to man and other vertebrates. The other products are chemical in nature. Whichever you use, the directions should be read and followed carefully.

When bacterial agents are used, even heavy dew can wash them off, so they will have to be reapplied following rains. Also, Rothrock stressed that when these bacterial products are used, the insects will not die for about three days, but they will stop feeding at once. So even though they are still alive for a while, they are no longer damaging your tree.

Rothrock also stressed that you be sure and spray enough to do the job. Try and get to both sides of the foliage and around the tree trunk.

A small amount of liquid detergent, about a capful per gallon of spray, will help the material stick to the plants better.

Creepy Crawlies Come Out In Spring

By Eddie Bradley

Well, springtime is upon us. The buds are bursting forth, wildflowers are blooming and everyone is looking apprehensively at their trees to see if the dreaded "wooly" worms are out yet.

We contacted Mike Rothrock, the Agricultural Extension Agent, and Suzanne Pearson of Pearson's Nursery for some suggestions or steps to take in the battle of the bugs.

Rothrock said that people should now start looking for egg masses under leaves and in the bark. He said the newly hatched worms are less than an eighth of an inch long.

Pearson said that, right now, oaks and ash trees are the most susceptible, so these are probably the best places to begin looking.

The smaller the worms are, the easier to kill, said Rothrock. So if you are going to spray them, it is a good idea to get started soon after finding the little things.

Several kinds and brands of products are available for use on the worms. Pearson mentioned tox-sol, sevin, dipel and thuricide as

Area Doctor Attends 'Scientific Seminar'

H. Freeman Elliot, D.O., of Rockport will receive medical education credit while attending a Texas Osteopathic Medical Association seminar this week in San Antonio.

Dr. Freeman will receive 19.5 hours of Continuing Medical Education (CME) credit while at the Association's 81st Annual Convention and Scientific Seminar.

The seminar begins Thursday, April 10, and continues through Saturday, April 12.

The American Osteopathic Association requires its physicians to earn 50 hours of CME credits through seminars and post-graduate courses each year.

Dwight H. Hause, D.O., of Corpus Christi will be installed as president of the 1,000-member state organization, succeeding John J. Cegelski Jr., D.O., of San Antonio.

tional Product), in our history, including the World War II years.

Not only does the President propose increasing taxes to record levels, but his program will add to inflation and an increase in short-term interest rates. He proposes a crude oil import fee to be paid by consumers on increased prices of gasoline.

The President readily admits that it will add to consumer prices by 0.75 percent, but he failed to indicate that consumer prices will increase by more than 2 percent when the higher gasoline prices are reflected in prices of other competing energy sources and on cost-of-living adjustments throughout the economy. Long-term interest rates will increase by 0.75 percent, and result in 100,000 fewer housing starts and 200,000 fewer existing home sales. Further, the gasoline tax will eliminate 200,000 jobs and reduce output by 0.75 percent.

The President should be commended for recognizing the inflationary problem and resisting the politically expedient approach of proposing immediate mandatory wage and price controls. However, elements of the President's proposals indicate additional wage and price controls, even if not mandatory. He does this by instituting prenotifications of price increases and by requiring even more firms, those with sales as low as $100 million, to give formal advance reports of price charges.

He proposes to triple the staff of the Council on Wage and Price Stability to place a greater reporting, auditing and paperwork burden on business and workers. Also, the greater staff capability will make it easier for the President to continue moving towards more and more controls.

He has also started to impose credit control, starting with credit cards and unsecured loans.

While the country is suffering for low savings and investment, the President proposes accelerated tax collections on dividends and interest earnings, which would result in overall reductions of $2.4 billion in savings and investment in 1981, with lower productivity and a reduced standard of living for American workers.

Clearly, the President's program will not effectively fight inflation, nor will it lower mortgage interest rates or relieve distress in the housing industry. The Congress must revise the President's deficient program to truly fight inflation.

Such a fight must include not only a balanced budget in 1981, but must slow the growth of federal spending and thereby remove the need to raise the total tax burden, as the President proposes.

Ducks Unlimited Going Into Its Third Year

The Rockport - Fulton chapter of Ducks Unlimited is going into its third year, reports the organization's secretary, Jim Friebele.

Last year, the local group was nearly three times as successful in efforts to raise revenue for Ducks Unlimited as the first year.

Generous cooperation and support from area businesses, coupled with enthusiastic participation from the public, has made the local group one of the most successful new chapters in the nation.

This year's national convention will be held in Houston, and out of more than fifteen hundred chapters, the Rockport-Fulton group was one of ten chosen to give a program describing their success.

Jody Rouquette, the founder and chairman of the local organization for the first two years, will give the talk, which will also be printed in the "Duck Call," a newsletter sent to chapter officers through the nation.

Each year, the national office of Ducks Unlimited selects an Artist of the Year, and one of that person's paintings is designated as the Painting of the Year.

Every local chapter receives a signed, numbered print of the painting to be auctioned off at their annual banquet.

There is also a Gun of the Year that is specially engraved and numbered for Ducks Unlimited by a major firearms company, usually a different one each year.

Each chapter gets one of these guns for their banquet auction, and they have proven to be very much in demand with gun collectors.

In 1979 based on the selling price at the banquet, the local chapter's print was first in the nation and their gun was second. The group was fifth in Texas for total, net revenues raised.

"It is a great source of pride and satisfaction to me that our community has made such a worthwhile effort so successful," said Friebele. "This money will be used in Canada, where over 70 percent of our waterfowl are produced."

"The funds help with projects that provide nesting wetlands that are so vitally important," he said. "These projects, over 1.6 million acres of them, provide homes for millions of birds and animals in addition to ducks and geese."

In closing, Friebele said, "We wish to thank the public for making us so successful. We hope that you will continue to support us, making the Rockport-Fulton Chapter of Ducks Unlimited the best in the nation."

Services For 'Mom' Gilson Held

Loie E. (Mom) Gilson, age 84, died Wednesday, April 2, in Louisiana.

She was born in Dublin, Texas and had lived in Rockport since 1949. She was the former owner and operator of Mom's Bait Stand for over 15 years. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Bernell Ory of Vacherie, Louisiana and Mrs. Margaret McDonald of Marble Falls; one brother, William B. Andrew of Corpus Christi; one granddaughter.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, April

5, at the Marshall Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Boyd Harris officiating. Burial was in the Rockport Cemetery.

AARP News

By Lucille E. Skrobarek
A workshop was held on Monday, March 31, for representatives from six chapters in District 7 South, American Association of Retired Persons.

Fifty-one members attended the workshop which was conducted by Mrs. Pat Works, Assistant State Director of the American Association of Retired Persons, District 7 South.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Adele Adams, State Director of AARP District 7 South from San Antonio. A wide range of subjects was covered including the methods of achieving a quality chapter; membership recruitment; community service; chapter programs; and the importance of having interesting and informative programs.

The importance of the nominating committee was emphasized, as it is this committee that recruits the members who become officers and who keep the quality of the chapter intact. The nominating committee is in very close contact with the membership of the chapter and meets four times a year.

Mrs. Adele Adams spoke briefly on "The Aging Network," and the importance of AARP officers and members working with the Aging Network agencies.

At noon, those attending the workshop enjoyed a delightful luncheon at the Sea Gun Inn. The workshop adjourned at 3 p.m.

Friday, May 23, is the annual picnic for 22 American Association of Retired Persons chapters in District 7 South. These are the chapters founded by Mrs. Pat Works as Assistant State Director.

The picnic will be held at the Robstown Auction Barn in Robstown. Plan to attend.

An AARP business meeting is Wednesday, April 9, at 10 a.m. Coffee and cookies will be served at 9:30 a.m.

Guest speaker at this meeting will be Ms. Annette Reddel, Sea Food Consumer Education Specialist associated with the Sea Grant Program at A&M University. Her subject will be preparation of local seafood.

A second guest speaker, Ms. Anita Dingemary, will speak briefly on the Little League Program in this area.

sons, the county's study comes with a higher price tag than the City of Rockport's. Cost of the Step I feasibility study alone exceeds $70,000 of which the county will pay an estimated $18,674.

The remainder of the money -- 75 percent -- is provided through a federal grant from the Environmental Protection Agency. The grant will provide just over $56,000 in funds.

The City of Rockport projects a total cost of just over $55,000 for its Step I study -- also funded through the EPA grant -- of which the city will pay just under $14,000 and the federal government will pay the balance.

The two studies are independent of each other -- and in fact, the county could not have included Rockport in its planning area for the sewer study according to Mick Ladner, public participation coordinator for the ACCRD project.

Ladner explained that, under EPA requirements, the county's application for grant funds could not include an incorporated city.

Fulton is included in the grant study area because Fulton was not incorporated at the time the ACCRD submitted its application, Ladner added.

The Reclamation District's public meeting on its proposed sewer project was held on March 18. Ladner said he anticipates at least one more public meeting, probably in May or June, and a public hearing on the project in August.

The City of Rockport will have additional informational meetings and at least one public hearing, according to Carl Hoyt who is public participation coordinator for the city's grant study, but he did not speculate on when those meetings might be.

In the meantime, engineers are making preliminary studies under both programs -- Urban Engineering for the city's project and Walsh Engineering for the county.

In Ward 2, Bent received 194 of the 320 votes cast. Jerry Martin Shaw, seeking re-election to the council, received 120 votes.

Two write-in candidates received one vote each in the race for alderman.

For Bent, manager of Rockport Realty, this is a first term on the Rockport council. Falk was re-elected to his fifth term as mayor in Saturday's election, and Ward is returning for a third term.

Council members serve for two years each.

The company, which is 31 years old, has had an operating base at the Aransas County Airport for almost five years. The home base is in Lafayette, Louisiana and their main business is servicing offshore industries.

They are the world's largest commercial helicopter operation and have about 350 aircraft throughout the world.

Emergency operations aren't the only ones that have utilized PHI services, as the company took part in the operation of an early satellite retrieval program, which involved grabbing the satellite in mid-air after it had re-entered the earth's atmosphere and been slowed by drogue parachutes.

The company is currently taking part in the filming of "Smokey and the Bandit II."

IN TEXAS

To My Friends In The 17th Senatorial District:

I'm happy to be a candidate again for State Senator, the position to which you have been kind enough to elect me for the past twenty years.

I love the entire Gulf Coast and its people, and fight for the things that are important to all of us. We--you and I--win a lot of those fights because we're right. Sometimes, even when we're right, we only win because of my strength and seniority in the Texas Senate. I like to win for you. Serving you is an honor and a great and satisfying part of my life.

My opponent in the May 3rd Democratic Primary is the same old candidate whom I have beaten both times he has run against me. I between those, he also ran a bad losing race for a judgeship. He never carried Galveston County in any of those races. The people who know us both best are in our home County, Galveston County, where we both live and have held public office. He has been defeated overwhelmingly where his name has been on the ballot four times since 1972. I characterize him as a candidate for hire, and some selfish special interest groups are still willing to pay the price for his services.

If you like the way I represent Aransas County and our Coastal District in the Senate, I will be grateful for your vote and support again.

Babe

WHERE DOES THIS GO?

That seems to be the question plaguing Mary Albert, who runs the Sundial II, as she "straightens up" following the move of the Rockport business from 508 South Austin to its new location on Austin next to Tynes Real Estate. Moving day started last Sunday and has been an ongoing thing for most of this week but Sundial II has continued to conduct "business as usual" at its new location.

Sundial II Moves To New Location

Sundial II has moved -- but not far. In fact, it's only about three blocks north of its former location on Austin Street.

New address of the Sundial II and Farley Gallery is 105 South Austin.

Reason for the move was space -- the Sundial II needed more room, says Shirley Farley who is the "Farley Gallery" part of the business.

Shirley, her husband Dub Farley and sisters Mary Albert and Sally Summers are partners in the business and Mary runs the place.

The move into the new building started last Sunday and was finished up (mostly) this past week. In the meantime, it's been business as usual in the shop which has kept its doors open to customers.

The new building is being leased from Ronnie Tynes and has "more useable room" than the old building, Shirley said.

"We're delighted with this," she said. "We have all sorts of space we can move into."

Area customers of the Sundial II will still find the same assortment of merchandise ranging from furniture to tableware, ceramic "car cups" to Shirley's latest paintings -- plus some "nifty new goodies," according to Shirley and Mary.

Among those who helped with the move, Shirley and Mary said, were Pat McLead from Clark & Company and Louis and Tootsie Guido, a couple of "newcomers" to the area from San Antonio. Tootsie, Shirley added, does the stained glass pieces that are being offered in the Sundial.

Contributions Must Be Taken As Credit

Taxpayers can now only claim a tax credit for contributions to candidates for public office and political committees, and to newsletter funds of candidates and elected public officials, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Previously, the contribution could be taken either as an itemized deduction or a credit.

You may take a credit of half of your political or newsletter fund contributions up to a maximum of $50 ($100 on a joint return).

To be eligible for the credit, the contributions must be made to (1) candidates for nomination or election to a federal, state, or local office in general, primary, or special elections; (2) committees sponsoring such candidates; (3) national, state or local committees of a national political party; or (4) newsletter funds of an official or candidate.

The free IRS Publication 585, "Voluntary Tax Methods to Help Finance Political Campaigns," offers helpful information and can be ordered by using the handy mail order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory.

WHO NEEDS MORE LIP SERVICE ON INFLATION?.....

Ever know a candidate who was for inflation? No way. But what can most of them do about it? Nothing.

Bob Barnes is an exception. He's had the experience as Nueces County Judge to fight public budgets -- and win.

During his nine year administration, expenditures have never exceeded income. He knows how to balance budgets. He knows how to fight inflation.

Let's send an inflation fighter to Congress from our 14th Congressional District, May 3.

Let's send Democrat Bob Barnes a Certain Man for Uncertain Times!

Taxes Should Not Be Paid In Cash, Says IRS

When paying your Federal income tax, send either a personal check or money order, but never cash, the Internal Revenue Service has warned.

Using a check or money order is safer from two standpoints, the IRS explained. First, a check or money order is harder to steal; second, the cancelled check or money order will serve as a record that the payment was made.

The IRS also advised taxpayers to put their social security number on the check or money order directly below the signature.

That way the taxpayer will be certain to get credit for the payment should the check or money order be detached from the return.

NEWS OF NUTRITION

Added Nutrients Are Identical To Natural

Vitamins and minerals added to foods like breakfast cereals to enhance their basic nutritional value are chemically and biologically identical to nutrients naturally present in food. In fact, U.S. Food and Drug Administration regulations prohibit any statement in food labeling which differentiates in any way between vitamins naturally present and those added to a food.

These added vitamins and minerals are utilized by the body just as those already present in food, the Cereal Institute reports. The virtual disappearance of rickets and pellagra in the U.S. as a result of nutrient additions to foods is evidence of the biological effectiveness of such added nutrients.

More than 92 percent of ready-to-eat breakfast cereals today are nutritionally fortified, representing a 20 percent increase from a decade ago, according to a new Cereal Institute booklet, "Breakfast Cereals and Nutritional Fortification." A typical cereal provides 25 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances of at least seven vitamins and, frequently, iron in a one-ounce serving.

More than 92% of ready-to-eat cereals are now nutritionally fortified, up from about 20% a decade ago.

Fortification at this level is appropriate for cereals, the Institute says, since many nutritionists recommend that breakfast provide 25 percent of the day's nutrients and calories.

The process of adding nutrients to cereals is complex. Nutrients that are stable to heat may be added before cooking, but heat-sensitive vitamins must be added after all processing stages involving high temperatures have been completed. In fact, nutrients are added to some cereals at as many as six different stages during processing.

Unsung Heroes Of America

OUR FOOD PRODUCERS

It happened 200 yards off the coast of Bimini. A two-man submarine took an oversized bag of potato chips 25 feet below the Atlantic Ocean, and then left the bag there for four hours.

Why sink the bag into a world usually populated only by sand sharks, barracuda, brain coral and every imaginable color of tropical fish? To show something about how food suppliers, backed by St. Regis Paper Company's technological leadership in making plastic film, protect us.

Of course, a bag of potato chips almost never has to withstand the ton of pressure and onslaught of moisture this one was subjected to. The bag is designed to keep out moisture vapor and gases, like oxygen, as well as keep oils in. It has to do all this to ensure freshness and preserve shelf life.

This potato chip bag does this so well because it's made of Co-Ex film—three layers extruded simultaneously. Each layer imparts a different property to the film, not only for keeping things out, but to help keep freshness and flavor in.

What happened when the four hours were up? People opened the bag and ate some chips, right down to the last crisp, flavorful crumb.

TIPS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Mower Power To You

This time of year, a home-owner's thoughts often turn to . . . cutting the grass. So it's get the power mower out of cold storage and get on with the job. Hold it! Not so fast!

Your mower must be ready for the job. The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute suggests:

1. Take the mower to an authorized service dealer for inspection unless you had it serviced in the fall.

2. Make sure the spark plug is clean. If necessary, replace it while the engine's off.
 3. Make sure the carburetor and air filter are clean.
 4. Change oil and fill with gasoline.
 5. Clean and repaint scratched or rusted metal parts, first with a primer of red lead, then two coats of exterior paint.
 6. Reread the owner's manual.
- Now spring into action. Mower power to you.

Super Supper For A Single

This delicious entree salad makes good use of leftover chicken, crisp raw vegetables and delicate, nutty-flavored toasted coconut.

CHICKEN WALDORF SALAD

- 2 to 4 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 apple
- 1/2 cup diced cooked chicken
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1/4 cup Baker's Angel Flake coconut, toasted
- 1 small carrot, cut in thin strips

Combine mayonnaise, sugar and lemon juice in bowl. Cut half the apple into slices; set aside. Dice remaining apple. Stir in diced apple, the chicken, celery and 3 tablespoons of the coconut into mayonnaise mixture. Serve on crisp spinach leaves or other salad greens with carrot sticks and reserved apple slices. Makes 1-1/2 cups or 1 entree serving.

AMERICA'S HERITAGE OUR CRAYONS

Unless you're over 100 years old, crayons were probably one of your first creative toys, and although the kind of crayons used in most schools today are still made the same way they have been for a century, most people don't know much about that process.

In crayon-making selected waxes and pigments are carefully formulated in the proper proportions. The waxes are melted in large, heated kettles and the pigments finely ground, then added to the waxes.

The molten mixture is then poured into special molds that give the crayons their familiar shape. A jacket of cold water flowing around the molds speeds solidification of the wax.

When the wax is solid, rods are pushed through the mold cavities, and the finished crayons are released.

The crayons are gathered and placed in a labeling machine, where they are encased in preprinted, pre-cut paper wrappers.

Pirates Fall To Beeville

By Bob Crawford

Beeville jumped on pitcher Wayne Childers for three first inning runs, and then kept the Pirates of Rockport-Fulton off balance with some fine throwing by pitcher Steve Lewis as the Trojans bumped off the Pirates 6-1 in Rockport last week.

The Pirates, which have suffered most when the opposition has been able to stage the big inning, again fell victim to that situation, as Beeville led off the game with three runs scored on three solid hits. The Pirates made a threat in the bottom of the first when Jim Eaton and Eric Commander both got on, but the next three Pirates went down in order.

Commander tied into a Lewis fastball in the bottom of the third and smashed the ball out of the ball park for his first homer of the year, and narrowed the gap to 3-1.

Beeville solved the Pirate pitching for single markers in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, establishing their lead of 6-1. The Pirates just couldn't put the necessary ingredients together to score runs. Lewis yielded just three hits to the Pirates and faced only 25 batters in the seven-inning game.

Coach Skip Richardson hinted that the Pirates played well in the field, but just couldn't solve Lewis' pitching. "Now we must get everything together and try to challenge for the second half crown," he went on to say.

The loss drops the Pirates to 2-4 in district and 3-10 for the season.

In earlier action, the Pirate JV also fell to the Trojans.

'Galent Johnie' Takes Purse In Futurity

"Galent Johnie" came home the winner in the rich Texas Futurity Finals run Sunday, March 30, at Goliad's La Bahia Downs.

"Johnie", owned by C.R. Potts and trained by Walter Monk, ran the 330-yard distance in 17.42 to get the winner's share of $24,264 in the race.

Second was "Ms. Peggy Dean" owned by Arthur L. Pike Jr. of Palestine, and third finisher was "Flaming Pass Em" owned by F.M. Bowman of Alvin.

The co-feature race Sunday, the Texas Futurity First Consolation, was won by "Pleasure Measure" owned by Kenneth A. Kanglance of Madisonville and trained by Tommy Buffalo. Winning time was 17.36 for 330 yards.

Runner-up spot in this race went to "Toddy Doty" and "War Sea" dead-heated to show.

In other races during the weekend, "Easy Carrie Ann," owned by Anita Palermo of Lake Charles, Louisiana, won the Goliad Graded Championship Series 3 at 350 yards.

"Talent Sinn", owned by Recio and Canales of Pre-mont took home the winning purse in the La Bahia State Bred Feature Finals.

The Texas Futurity Second Consolation was won by "Sparklin Diamonds" owned by Bob Rule of Houston, and "Pals Fantastic Gal" owned by Charles Richards of Sweeny took home the winner's money in the Third Texas Futurity Consolation.

The next race meet at La Bahia Downs is set for July 12 though 27.

Bird Watching Helps Catch Fish

By E.L. "Buck" Rogers

If you're an angler, I suggest you take up bird watching, too.

Most of us watch birds because we're fascinated by the way they fly, pull worms out of the ground, or make long trips without a road map. But, I've also found that some birds are excellent fishing guides. Certain species are excellent anglers in their own right. Others depend on predator fish to provide their meals for them.

Seagulls are one example, and are among the most reliable when it comes to finding fish. These graceful birds feed on shrimp or small sardines, but have to rely on larger fish to drive their food to the surface. Seagulls spot schools of bait fish as they wheel high in the air and wait patiently until larger fish also locate the school and begin to feed. Then, the gulls swoop down and pick up the bits and pieces which are left behind.

A flock of wheeling gulls, therefore, means that bait-fish are present. They bear watching, but their presence is not a cause for immediate action. When they begin to dive, though, this signifies that gamefish are present. Approach the diving birds cautiously. Trolling through the school of baitfish will put them down and larger fish with them. So be careful. Determine which direction the school of fish is moving and intersect it at an angle. Then, with your motor idling or even turned off make long casts into the feeding fish. Action usually results.

Other diving birds like pelicans, terns, or cormorants indicate the presence of a school of sardines, but not necessarily gamefish. As a result, these birds bear watching but they're not as reliable as seagulls.

So, it pays to keep your eyes open. When fishing is for the birds, it's usually productive for the angler, as well.

Rockport Area Board of Realtors

A BOARD OF REALTORS

What is it? What does it do? In 25 words or more.

Basically, a Board of REALTORS is an association of men and women reaching for a cooperative and higher level of performance in today's real estate world.

Historically, a Board of REALTORS is anchored solidly as a spokesman for the free enterprise system and the protection of private property rights. It is part of an exciting network.

There is the National Association of REALTORS headquartered in Chicago, the Texas Association of REALTORS in Austin, and the local Boards in every part of the state.

The Board helps guard the term, REALTOR, actually a registered collective trademark used only by professionals who are members of the national association and who follow the Code of Ethics.

The Board also stands for: continuing education, housing and financial updating, seminars, community service, professional standards hearings and Multiple Listing Service, in many cases.

A Board of REALTORS is a living, growing organization, always looking for more ways to serve its members and the public.
