Fourth Round Wage Boosts Are Resisted

Contract Talks In Major Industries May Settle Issue

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Government officials who keep tab on labor matters said today the nation may be in for a summer burst of strikes.

They pointed to mounting union demands for fourth round postwar wage boosts, increasing employer resistance to added labor costs, and bargaining difficulties over Taft-Hartley law provisions.

These authorities list imminent negotiations in the coal, steel, automobile and maritime industries as crucial in determining if there will be labor peace or strike conflict in the months ahead.

Small Strikes Possible

But a rash of smaller strikes could break out, too, they said privately. During the war government controls over wages led many smaller unions to expect they could get the "pattern" pay awards won by the larger unions.

This tendency for the smaller unions to demand, and get, the "pattern" awards has continued to some extent after the war. Most unions got the 18-cent raise the big unions negotiated in 1946. The next year the pattern was about 15 cents, and in 1948 about 12 cents.

Now, the experts say, collective bargaining results depend more and more on an employers' ability to pay, or his own economic situation. So the variation among unions is widening all the time. But this may not sit so well with some unions which see others get more.

Pay Hikes Small

A private labor relations advisory service recently estimated fourth round wage increases given so far average just under 8 cents an hour. Government officials think this may be high, that the average may be closer to six cents.

The surveys show a great many fourth round settlements without any pay boost at all. Others show unions settling for pension or other insurance plans, or improvements to existing plans, or extra holidays.

John L. Lewis is starting contract talks for a soft coal industry agreement to succeed the one expiring at the end of this month. He reportedly wants a bigger welfare fund and shorter work week. But he may run into trouble again

Grain Storage Aid Is Sought

COLORADO CITY, June 1. (U.P.) The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, fearing a potential loss of $20,000,000 or more to wheat farmers, appealed today to the Texas congressional delegation for securing surplus military tents to use as emergency storehouses for grain.

The chamber board of directors, at a meeting here last night, recommended that 100,000 or more tents be made available to wheat growers in 90 West Texas counties.

It noted that, unless adequate storage facilities are provided, grainmen will be forced to throw their wheat into the open market. It sells there now for about $1.57 per bushel, as against a government loan guarantee of $1.87.

Depressed Market Feared

To qualify for loan, however, the wheat must be in storage.

The chamber board, in its telegraphed plea for action, expressed fear that wholesale dumping of wheat on the open market would depress prices to $1 per bushel or less.

D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas chamber, observed that "there is probably less storage in West Texas than in any other grain belt in the nation."

And, he said, "the problem is aggravated by the fact that much of it is already occupied, even as the current harvest begins."

If the tents are made available, Bandeen said, they probably will be allotted to individual farmers on an acreage basis.

Lifer's Reunion With Parents "Most Pathetic Sight"

Michigan's Famed Victim Of "Railroaded" Justice Is Free After 17 Years Behind Bars

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSON, Mich., June 1—Rene De Meerleer, Michigan's famed "quick justice" victim, walked about as a free man today for the first time in 17 years.

The 35-year-old former lifer, who won a fight before the U. S. Supreme court, yesterday left Southern Michigan prison after confinement since he was a youth of 18.

In the warden's office the aging parents, Alphonse and Helen DeMeerleer, met their tall, dark-haired son to take him home.

"It was the most pathetic sight I have ever seen," said Warden Julian Krisbie.

When DeMeerleer entered Krisbie's office, his possessions wrapped in two small, paper-covered bundles, his mother burst into tears.

There were few words. The three hugged and kissed.

Wordlessly, DeMeerleer climbed into a car for the ride to Detroit and a promised job in an automobile factory.

He was 18 when sentenced to life for murder in the fatal holdup shooting of a Lenawee county gasoline station attendant. He was charged, convicted and sentenced in one day.

A few years ago DeMeerleer, with the help of prison self-schooling, began legal battle to have his case reopened. The Supreme court ruled that his constitutional rights had been violated in the swift proceedings that followed his arrest.

Ordering a new trial, the high court held that the Michigan trial court had discriminated against the young DeMeerleer.

The Supreme court was found

Clark Claimed Candidate For "Stupid" Prize

Damages To Cover $23,500 Forfeited Bail Is Objective

(By The United Press)

PRAGUE, June 1—Communist Gerhart Eisler threatened today to sue the United States government for damages to cover the $23,500 bail forfeited when he fled from the United States to escape a possible prison sentence.

The international Communist leader and fugitive from American justice was interviewed in the luxurious state-owned Hotel Ambassador between embraces from top-ranking Communists who greeted him like a long-lost cousin.

Jubilant At Escape

Jubilant at his escape, he called U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark "this year's candidate for the Nobel prize for stupidity" and boasted that "Uncle J. Edgar Hoover is no superman."

He refused to divulge details of his bail-jumping voyage from New York "because the FBI still doesn't know—and I don't want to spoil it for any more political refugees."

He said he had left instructions with his London attorney to file suit against the U. S. for the bail money lost when he skipped.

Eisler claimed that he was conscience-stricken for "letting the civil rights congress hold the bag on his bail" when he fled. But he said his flight was governed by three considerations:

Hostage Seizure Charged

1. "If I had stayed in the United States, my appeal would have cost thousands of dollars without result — because I would have been tossed into prison anyway."

2. "If I came back to Germany and the time came when German money was worth something, I could repay my friends."

3. "I could better fight for peace in Germany than in a United States prison."

Eisler accused American authorities of seizing his wife as a hostage—just like the Nazis."

"I hope they will let her go and join me," he said. "She has suffered enough. There is no reason for keeping her in an American prison."

TO LEAVE FOR EUROPE—Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ, and Mrs. Young look over a travel folder as they complete long-made plans for a three-months tour of Europe, on which they will see missionary work being done by the church. New Proposal Of $72 Month At 65 Offered

Plan To Eliminate World War II Vets Finally Abandoned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 1 — The House passed and sent to the Senate today a World War I and II veterans' pension bill after knocking out an "unable-to-work" provisions.

Passage came quickly after a spirited fight over the unemployability proposal recommended by the veteran's committee. The provision went out of the bill by a standing vote of 172 to 57.

No Other Changes

There were no other changes proposed to the bill, estimated to cost, in its present form $65,000,000,000 in addition to what now is being paid in pensions under veterans' administration regulations.

The one-sidedness of the fight over the unemployability clause led to abandonment of a planned battle to eliminate World War II vetrans from the bill's provisions.

A much more costly bill was defeated by the House in March.

Chairman Rankin (D-Miss) of the vetrans committee had opposed the unable-to-work provision as unfair and discriminatory.

The effect of the provision was to say that a veteran who can work half a normal day or earn half a normal day's pay is not eligible for a pension.

Cost Caused Defeat

It was the high estimated cost of pensions that resulted in defeat of the original veterans' pension measure. That measure's cost had been estimated at upwards of $100,000,000,000 during the next 50 years.

The unemployability provision says only veterans who, because of disability, can't do more than half a day's normal work or earn more than half the normal pay for the work they are doing, shall receive the pensions.

Average Set At $72

The pensions in most cases would be $72 a month at age 65. The bill incorporates into proposed law existing benefits now being paid under Veterans' administration regulations.

These regulations pay $72 a month to veterans who, at age 65, have a 10 per cent disability rating. They pay $60 a month to veterans under 60 who are con-

POWER LINES DOWNED BY STORM

Heavy Rains, Wind Strike In Midwest

(By The United Press)

Power lines were being repaired today in the wake of severe wind and rain storms that struck the midlands, from central Oklahoma through western Missouri, Iowa and extreme eastern Nebraska.

No injuries were reported, but there were scattered reports of wind damage throughout the area.

Winds reached a record 81 miles per hour in St. Joseph, Mo., damaging utility lines. Five fires were started in that city by lightning, destroying one house.

Powerlines Damaged

Power lines also were damaged in Kansas City and Independence.

Reports of a tornado in Kansas, however, proved false, according to the U. S. district weather bureau in Kansas City. The bureau had issued a tornado warning late last night, but "the scare proved just a scare and didn't amount to anything," a weather bureau spokesman said today.

Police in Fort Riley, Kan., where the funnel-shaped cloud was reported, said they had received reports of a "small tornado off highway 40 on the way to Manhattan, Kan.," but they had not received reports of any damage.

Heavy rains accompanied the strong winds.

Winds Clocked At 50 mph

Winds reached 50 miles per hour in Kansas City, one gust at the Fairfax airport hitting 60 miles per hour, officials said.

The forecaster, meanwhile, promised more thundershowers today and tonight in the same general area of last night's storms.

Heat Is One Issue They Can't Resist

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP)—The heat got so unbearable in the House of Representatives yesterday that:

1. Members voted to start work today at 9 a. m., an hour earlier, so maybe they could quit at 1 p. m.

2. They defied the rule that they had to wear a coat but slung it over one shoulder when someone objected.

3. Efforts were made to suspend the coat rule but the speaker said it was an old tradition.

Mrs. Rae Files Still, the representative from Waxahachie, padded across the carpet in her stocking feet. "My corns" was her cryptic explanation.

The temperature in Austin reached 96 degrees about 4 p. m. Representatives swore it was 116 where they sat.

Fire Rages At Oil Refinery

OMAHA, June 1, (AP)—A roaring fire which had burned a half million gallons of oil today threatened to destroy still more at the Searle Petroleum company here.

The fire started yesterday afternoon when a blast of undetermined origin rocked the distributing and refining plant and sent a huge tank rocketing 50 feet in the air.

Tanks Are Wrecked

Explosions wrecked other tanks and made an inferno of the company's storage yard. The twelfth of 33 tanks in the yard began to blaze early today.

Weary, oil-blackened firemen abandoned efforts to control the fire in smaller tanks in the yard and concentrated on trying to keep the blaze from spreading to a huge 500,000 gallon tank.

H. A. Searle, head of the petroleum firm, estimated that from 500,000 to 675,000 gallons of oil had gone up in smoke.

Fire Destroys Large Building In Houston

HOUSTON, June 1. (U.P.)—A two-story building housing a grocery store and apartments was destroyed here last night in a three-hour blaze. Grocer E. T. Morgan estimated damage at $62,000.

Earl Roberts, his wife and 11-year-old daughter escaped from the building without injury. Origin of the fire was undetermined.

COOLER WEATHER IN TEXAS IS EXPECTED

(By The Associated Press)

It might be a little cooler today—if predicted cloudy weather and scattered thundershowers show up.

There was nothing in Texas yesterday but sunshine. Hot sunshine. It was 105 at Presidio, 102 at Laredo and Wink and the lowest maximum reported to the Dallas weather bureau was 84 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart.

The weather bureau said partly cloudy weather and scattered thundershowers were due the next couple of days.

Louisville Buses Halted By Strike

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 1. (AP)—Operations of the Louisville Railway company were halted last midnight by a strike of the CIO-Transport Workers union over a new contract.

Company president John H. Bickley said no effort will be made to operate buses for the duration of the walkout, which threw the burden of transportation of the 245,000 daily bus riders on private automobiles and taxicabs.

Market Prices Hit New Lows

NEW YORK, June 1. (U.P.)—Stock prices dropped around half a billion dollars today, reaching a new low for more than 14 months in the most active session in six weeks.

Today's loss came on the heels of yesterday's break of more than $1,000,000,000, which was the widest drop in prices since last November.

Selling Is General

Selling was general early in the session as investors again showed their concern over world labor unrest, the stagnation of the Paris conference of ministers, and the declining industrial production in the United States, with talks of further unemployment.

Although "blue chip" stocks on the big board generally were down fractions to more than a point, an occasional leader had a small rise shortly after midday. These plus signs were noted in International Paper, Consolidated Edison, N. Y. Central and Westinghouse Electric, among others.

Standard Oil of California, Chrysler, Allied Chemical and American Tobacco were all down a point or more and major fractional losses were noted in Johns-Manville, Douglas, American Can, Texas Co., and U. S. Steel.

News Is Disquieting

Most disquieting of the news that caused yesterday's break, according to Wall street sources, was the report on current steel production. Steel is considered a bellwether of business conditions

Farmers To Get Aid

Corn Program Is Announced

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 1. — Farmers had a new incentive today for keeping their 1948 corn crop down on the farm.

By having their corn inspected and "resealing" it under a new government program, they can extend their price support loans and qualify for a 10-cent-a-bushel storage fee.

To Slow Movement

The new program, like a similar arrangement for wheat and other grains, is designed to slow down the movement of corn from the nation's farms and relieve the pressure on the transportation system and commercial storage facilities.

Under the program, farmers by acting before Oct. 31, can extend price support loans through July 31, 1950. The loans are due to expire Sept. 1. If farmers have made purchase agreements under which the Commodity Credit corporation was to buy their corn, they can convert those agreements into loans under the same terms as the extension program.

To Get Storage Fee

Farmers who finally deliver their corn to the Commodity Credit corporation after the 1950 maturity date will receive the 10-cent a bushel storage fee.

The Agriculture department, which announced the new program yesterday, said that as much

Truman Will Make Important Speech

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The White House said today President Truman will make an important speech at Little Rock June 11 during the annual reunion of the 35th division.

Presidential press secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman will speak in the stadium there at 2:30 p. m. (CST) at the dedication of a war memorial.

Ross said the subject of the President's speech has not been determined but he should be inclined to call it a "major" speech.

The President will leave Little Rock for the return trip to Washington at 3:30 p. m. (CST) June 11, an hour after he starts his speech.

Ross said there was no prospect of the President flying to Des Moines, Iowa, to attend a meeting of Democratic farm leaders June 12.

LILIENTHAL HEARING UNDERWAY

Senator Demands Vast Atomic Data

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) demanded today that the Atomic Energy commission turn over to him a vast volume of records and reports, including memoranda of 1943 Roosevelt-Churchill talks at Quebec on atomic matters. He also asked FBI and security reports on unnamed number of persons.

Hickenlooper fired this demand when the Senate-House atomic committee opened hearings on his charge that there has been "incredible mismanagement" of the Atomic Energy commission under the chairmanship of David E. Lilienthal.

Charges Discounted

He said he needed the material by 4 p. m. (EST) as a basis for future questioning of Lilienthal.

Among other things, Hickenlooper asked the minutes of the commission's meetings and its records of overtime pay to personnel in the headquarters office.

Lilienthal sat impassively while the senator ticked off a 14-point list of material he wants. He gave no immediate indication whether the commission would attempt to comply with the request.

Lilienthal has called Hickenlooper's charges an "un-American" effort to "smear" the commission. He also has declared that the atomic project was "bogged down" when the civil commission took it over from the Army in 1946 and now is "really rolling."

Number Names Withheld

At the outset of the hearings, Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) said the aim would be to get at the truth—that there would be "no persecution" and "no whitewash."

Hickenlooper had a sealed envelope he said contained the names of the persons he wants to get security data about. He did not say how many names there were.

The Iowa senator demanded the information on 14 different matters, and started to hand to Lilienthal the sealed envelope.

Hickenlooper said he wanted this material to use in future questioning of Lilienthal.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) asked to see the envelope.

Weapon Custody Included

McMahon opened it, read the list, and handed it to Lilienthal.

Besides this, Hickenlooper asked that the commission deliver to him by 4 p. m., EST, today, the following:

1. All correspondence regarding the custody of atomic weapons.
2. Reports of the commission's advisory committee.
3. Records of all overtime paid to headquarters personnel in Washington.
4. The minutes of the commission's general advisory board.
5. The minutes of its military liaison committee.
6. The commission's minutes.
7. Records of the Quebec conference pertaining to atomic matters. (The conference was a 1943 meeting of the late President

Banker's Killer Shot To Death

JASPER, Ark., June 1. (AP)—A bank president was wounded fatally and shortly afterward his assailant—whose motive was uncertain—was shot dead in this small Ozarks mountain town late yesterday.

The banker, J. W. Moore, 62, head of the Newton county bank here, died early today at a Harrison, Ark., hospital. He was shot once in the abdomen.

Fraud Is Claimed

The dead man was identified from papers on his person as Albert Herman Mayer, 34, once of Chicago but more recently of Roland, Ark.

Moore was shot while talking to a friend on the lawn of the Newton county courthouse. Then Mayer ran into the building where he exchanged shots with Sheriff Russell Burdine and others but finally was killed by a shot through the neck.

Burdine said he learned after the shooting that Mayer recently wrote a "crazy letter" to the "courthouse" at Jasper in which he demanded $10,000.

Other sources said Mayer in 1946 purchased some property in Newton county, sold it after a short time at a considerable loss and recently had written letters to Jasper residents asserting he had been defrauded.

Bolivian Strike Is Said Under Control

LA PAZ, BOLIVIA, June 1 (AP)—Reports reaching here today said the army was "in control of the situation" in Bolivia's strike-torn tin mine region, scene of bloody rioting for the past four days.

Army reservists from 19 to 50 were ordered mobilized last night as the cabinet met in emergency session to cope with what it calls a "state of civil war."

The government said the mobilization was justified by the gravity of the present situation in which striking tin miners have seized mine officials, including Americans, as hostages and fought bloody battles against troops sent to the area.

Strike, Plus Resignation, Bring Results

Teacher Will Get Retirement Pay To Have Cancer Treated

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, June 1—A determined teacher who has been staging a sitdown strike for $63.78, was promised her money today, but only after she gave up her job.

The 54-year-old woman, Dr. Willie Melmoth Bomar, home economics teacher of Glenwood, Ga., began her strike Monday in the office of the state teachers' retirement board.

She wanted to collect the $65.78 deducted from her salary for the retirement fund to pay for treatment of a cancer.

J. L. Yaden, director of the retirement system, said he could not refund the money unless she resigned. Last year, he added, the pension money was returned to Dr. Bomar who said she was going to quit, then failed to do so.

This morning, the teacher wired her resignation to Wheeler County School Superintendent T. C. Fulford. Yaden said he would return Dr. Bomar's money as soon as he received word from Ful-

U. S., British Plan To Cut Up German I. G. Farben Property

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 1 (AP)—American and British authorities have begun steps to break up the sprawling I. G. Farben industrial empire. A major unit of the great chemical trust will be put up for sale soon.

Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy U. S. military governor, said last night the British, Americans and Germans have agreed upon procedure.

The first step was setting up of three units from the American-zone holdings of the vast combine which monopolized Germany's drug and dye industry.

Hays said it has not yet been decided which of these units will be sold first. He declined to estimate the value of the three units.

No Split Up Yet

The general said Farben property in the British zone has not yet been split up for sale purposes, but added that British agreement in disposing of the U. S. zone property was needed. The British and Americans have been working together, he said, in disposing of Farben holdings in their zones.

Hays said Farben stockholders will be invited to sit in on consultations before the sale which will not be arranged for five or six weeks.

French military government representatives also will be asked to study procedures. Some Farben property is located in the French zone, but the French are not a party to the pending sale, Hays said, because the French zone never merged economically with the others.

Hays said the long delay in beginning disposal of Farben property was partly due to the fact that Farben originally was subject to the four-power allied control council — Russian, British, French and American.

The Russians walked out of the council over a year ago, eliminating the possibility of four power agreement.

"We and the British decided we couldn't wait any longer," he said.

Hays said it was planned to sell the rest of the Farben property in the British and American zones after the first sale.

Hays was questioned about whether the so-called Ferguson report criticizing delays in the program of breaking up German cartels was a factor in the decision to start selling parcels of the Farben combine.

"It might be and it might not," he answered.

The report, made by a committee appointed by former Secretary of ar Royal, was critical of the progress of decartelization. Two employes discharged by the American military government since have asserted their dismissals were connected with their testimony before the special committee.

Sugar Heir Is Sued By Woman Writer

LOS ANGELES, June 1, (AP)—John D. Spreckels III, the sugar heir, has been sued for $50,000 by Mrs. Jeannette Marshall, a writer, who accuses him of beating and threatening to kill her.

Mrs. Marshall, 35-year-old divorcee, said that at a party celebrating her birthday, Spreckles hit her without warning and pulled her hair. Spreckles denied it.

The complaint, filed yesterday, also alleges Spreckles, 37, pulled a gun on her and threatened to shoot.

Spreckels was divorced a year ago by his third wife, Lou Dell, who accused him of hitting her with a poker.

Ivey Files Appeal From Sentence Here

Appeal of Arthur Lee Ivey, 50, from a five-year murder sentence was announced here Tuesday.

Ivey's motion for a new trial was overruled Monday by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue, whereupon the defendant was formally sentenced.

He had been convicted May 17 of murder without malice of Leonard Bailey, who was fatally stabbed in a Myrtle drive dugout after a gambling game.

Theater Owners Rap Bergman, Hayworth Publicity, But Decide Not To Boycott Films

DALLAS, June 1 (AP)—Theatergoers may arch their eyebrows at the mention of the names of Rita Hayworth and Ingrid Bergman, but their movies will not be banned.

The board of directors of National Allied Theater Owners, meeting here yesterday, decided not to boycott Hayworth or Bergman films.

But they asked the Johnston office in Hollywood to take strong steps against actors whose private publicized lives bring the industry unfavorable publicity.

A. F. Myers, General counsel for Allied Theaters, said the boycott idea had been abandoned.

To Resubmit Plan

"The Justice department wouldn't like it," he said.

The directors decided to resubmit to movie czar Eric Johnston the "Finneran plan" they adopted last year at New Orleans. It would permit film producers to revise contracts and suspend or banish movie stars for misconduct.

"The Johnston office gave no encouragement to the plan, and since then we have had the Bergman incident and the Hayworth incident," Myers said.

The Allied Theaters group is composed of movie house operators in 33 states.

America's Lowest-Priced Straight Eight!

Until they see the actual figures, few people realize that the big, beautiful Pontiac eight is America's lowest-priced straight eight. Not only does it undersell all other straight eights by a substantial margin, but it actually costs less than many six-cylinder cars!

The fact that the Pontiac eight gives so much for so little is the basic reason for the great and growing popularity it enjoys.

Pontiac has distinguished appearance, and distinctive Silver Streak styling. Its spacious Body by Fisher is handsomely upholstered and appointed.

And finally, it is powered by the world's sweetest engine—a great straight eight which is supremely smooth and quiet, instantly responsive to the accelerator, packed with power—an eight which gives peak performance and economy.

We honestly believe that no other car carries such definite assurance of really enjoyable performance at so low a cost. We invite you to come in and take the wheel yourself. We're sure you'll be very pleasantly surprised.

GARBO'S 'CAMILLE' DRAWS VOTES

Stars Differ Over History's Great Screen Performance

By BOB THOMAS
AssociatedPress Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June 1.—What was the greatest performance in the history of motion pictures?

This is a question that draws sharply-divided opinion in Hollywood. I have asked more film stars for their verdicts, since they should be expert on the subject. Here are some of the latest answers:

Gene Autry—"The one I remember most is Greta Garbo in 'Camille.' I don't think that will ever be topped."

Lucille Ball—"Vivien Leigh in 'Gone With The Wind.' It's a difficult role and she did a great job. I have seen it eight times and try to catch it every year."

'Stella Dallas' Draws Vote

Fred MacMurray—"If's hard to pick one, but I think Barbara Stanwyck in 'Stella Dallas' left the biggest impression with me."

Claudette Colbert—"I'll never forget Helen Hayes in 'The Sin of Madelon Claudet.' I cried and cried."

Robert Young—"John Barrymore was outstanding in anything . . . to name one, 'Topaz.' And Laurence Olivier's job in 'Hamlet' was one of the best of all time."

Joan Bennett—"Vivien Leigh in 'Gone With The Wind'."

Irene Dunne—"Diana Wynward in 'Cavalcade' stays in my memory as the best. She was fascinating."

Alan Ladd—"Clark Gable in 'Gone With The Wind.' That was the most perfect casting in history."

'Jekyl-Hyde' Frightening

Jimmy Stewart—"I think maybe Fredric March in 'Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde.' It was a frightening thing to watch.

Marie Wilson—"Charles Coburn in 'More The Merrier' was the funniest thing I've ever seen, especially the scene where he lost his pants."

Rosalind Russell—"Cary Grant in 'None But The Lonely Heart.' I had always considered him an expert comedian, but my opinion of him went up a hundred-fold when I saw him in this dramatic role."

Diana Lynn—"Garbo in 'Camille,' or anything."

Erich Von Stroheim—"This may sound like immodesty, because I directed her, but I would pick Zasu Pitts in 'Greed.' A great tragedienne."

Gloria Swanson—"I don't see many pictures, but the best performance I can think of is Van Heflin in 'Johnny Eager'."

Chaplin In Anything

Gregory Peck—"Charlie Chaplin in everything; he's the greatest of actors. He can make you laugh one minute, cry the next. For the actresses, Garbo—especially in 'Camille'."

James Cagney—"For an all-round flawless performance, I'd pick J. M. Kerrigan in 'The Informer.' There was nothing you could find wrong with it."

Maureen O'Hara (who didn't see a movie until she was 18)—"I'd select three: Bette Davis in 'Dark Victory,' Fredric March in 'Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde' and Charles Laughton in 'Mutiny On the Bounty'."

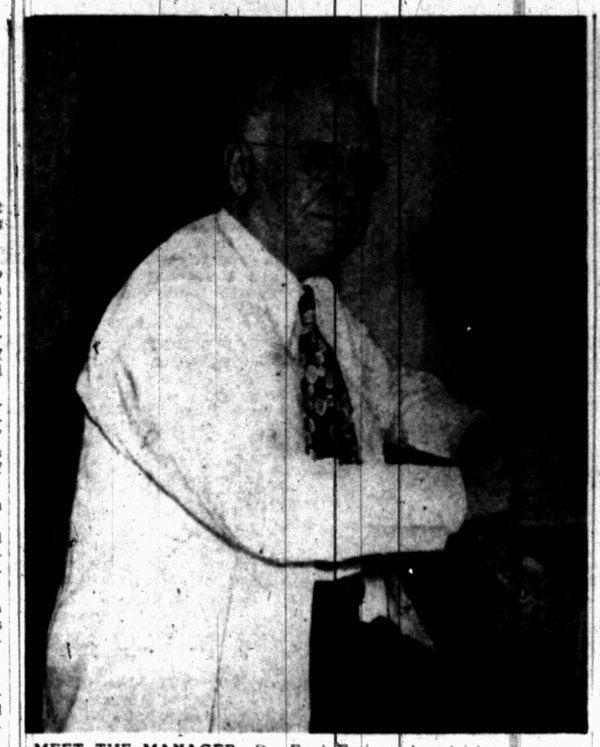

Coleen Gray—"Laurence Olivier in 'Wuthering Heights,' especially the bedside scene."

John Lund—"Alfred Lunt in relative of mine, either."

Soil Conservationists Of West Texas Are Honored At Ceremony In Amarillo

(Special To The Journal)

AMARILLO, June 1.—Outstanding soil conservationists from a wide area of West Texas, including the South Plains and Panhandle, Tuesday were honored at the annual district awards ceremony in the "Save the Soil and Saxe Texas" campaign.

The program of soil conservation is sponsored annually by the Fort Worth Press, in co-operation with a number of industries in the state. Weldon Owens, regional editor of the Press, presided at the awards ceremony which was held in Herring hotel.

Cash prizes amounting to $1,200 or more, plus a number of plaques, were distributed. Among those to be given awards were:

Top soil conservation groups: North Old Glory group, in King-Stonewall Soil conservation district.

Best farmer, Frank J. Shaller of Canadian.

Most unselfish service promoting soil conservation, Dr. R. F. McCasland, Tulia dentist.

Top soil conservation districts: Swisher county, first place; Crosby county, second; Hale county, third; and Lynn county, fourth.

The Swisher county district was awarded $300 as first place winner.

Plaques Presented

J. W. Payne, a member of the board of supervisors of the Crosby county Soil Conservation district, accepted the $200 second-place award for his district. C. A. Robinson, a member of the Hale county district board of supervisors, received the $100 third place award on behalf of his soil conservation district. Kay Moore of New Home, a member of the board of supervisors of the Lynn County Conservation district, was present to accept the $100 fourth-place award.

B. A. Morrow of New Home and Tom Lockwood of Crosby county were among those who received plaques for being outstanding farmers in their soil conservation districts. Morrow is in the Lynn county district; Lockwood is of the Crosby county district.

Lubbock Man Honored

Two other South Plains farmers who also received such recognition, but who were not present at the ceremones, were J. C. Porter of Pettit and Cecil Brashear of Lubbock.

Porter will be awarded his plaque at the next meeting of the board of supervisors of the Hockley County Soil Conservation district, and Brashear will receive his award at the forthcoming meeting of the board of supervisors of the Lubbock conservation district.

At Tuesday's ceremony, also, the following West Texas young people were presented awards for outstanding essays on soil conservation and allied fields: Frances Holloway, Spur; Margaret Wood, Spur; Frances Shaller, Canadian; Nancy Alexander, Canadian; Leva Dell Cherry, Bovina; and Maurine Youree, Crowell.

Principal speaker at the gathering was Jay Taylor, Amarillo cattlemtn, who spoke on some of his experiences with soil conservation work. Uncle Jay Linn, Amarillo radio entertainer, was master of ceremonies.

The Save the Soil and Save Texas program is now in its fourth year. It is designed to boost and promote good soil conservation practices. It has been commended as one of the most outstanding and successful such campaigns in the nation.

Managership Change Is Made At Ward's

Change in the managership of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s local store was announced Tuesday.

Arnold H. Maas, for the past 14 years local manager, has taken an extended leave of absence from the company, and M. D. Dovel of Wichita, Kansas, will come here Monday to succeed him.

A. W. Lawrence, assistant manager, will be in charge of the store until the new manager arrives.

Maas, who owns a farm at Monroe, said he had no particular plans for the present, but expects to take an extended vacation before entering business again.

'Heartbroken' Singer Divorced From Hubby

LOS ANGELES, June 1 (AP) — Singer Doris Day has won a divorce from a husband who left her "heartbroken" but who otherwise was "a very nice man."

But, she testified yesterday, her husband, saxophonist George Weidler, deserted her. She said the reason may have been her leaving here for a singing engagement in New York in 1947. She added that Weidler met her when she returned and said "It's all over."

At that time they were living in a trailer. The couple married in 1946 in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Weidler is a brother of one-time child movie star Virginia Weidler.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflow Drive

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

THERE'S the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride. There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot—so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflow.

For Dynaflow Drive† is not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience—a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran—in two days you wouldn't be without it.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflow is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflow.

Your Buick dealer will be glad to demonstrate—glad to quote delivered prices—glad to talk terms of as fine a deal as you could want.

And you'll find glad surprise in the delivery dates he is now mentioning.

No Longer Hot Spot

Former Lubbockite Tells Of Life In Free Trieste

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Charlie Jackson, native Lubbockite, who is in the Army exchange service at Trieste, spent several days in Venice in April with the woman's editor of The Avalanche-Journal, Miss Ruth E. Ford and Mrs. John D. Lynch of Grosse Pointe. Today's article, another in a series, describes life in the free territory of Trieste.)

By MARGARET TURNER

A PLEASANT addition to our party during our stay in Venice was occasioned with the arrival of Miss Charlie Jackson from Trieste. Charlie, a native of Lubbock, is in the Army exchange service in that city, seat of government of the free territory of Trieste. She enjoys her work and considers her stay there as a great adventure.

Trieste, once the hot spot of Europe, lies on the narrow ground between the Adriatic sea and the Carso plateau and, most of its expansion is made over the surrounding hills. It is a city of modern buildings and fine thoroughfares and Charlie told us that all seems peaceful at present.

Refining and storing of oil are important industries in Trieste and she is preparing to make a bid for her former place as one of the world's leading commercial ports.

* * *

ALTHOUGH there are several American women in civil service work in Trieste, Charlie is the only woman with the exchange service. Allied Military government headquarters is on Corso in the downtown section, known as the Wall Street of Trieste. Charlie has a room at the Grande hotel and eats most of her meals there. Her long time friends in Lubbock know that she would be the last person in the world to complain about anything but Charlie admitted she tired of eating cauliflower last winter.

Miss Jackson arrived in Trieste in mid-November. There was no great variety in the food, except in the ways of preparing the cauliflower.

"After you have eaten cauliflower for breakfast, lunch and supper in every guise for days, it does not matter how it is disguised, it remains cauliflower," she laughed in recalling that time. "Now the food is much better and we have sufficient vegetables, butter and meat."

* * *

AMERICANS in Army and civil service offices are never at a loss as to how they will spend leisure hours, Miss Jackson says. The castles of San Guisto, Miramare and Duino would provide entertainment hours for weeks and then there are the churches, museums, art galleries, not to mention the great scenic beauty.

Miramare castle, constructed on a rocky promontory that juts into the Adriatic just north of Trieste, was constructed for the Austrian Archduke Maximilian, contemporaneous with the Civil war. It has been the site of considerable tragedy and romance and Miss Jackson says so far she had seen nothing in Europe to compare with its beauty.

During the German occupation, the grounds were heavily mined and over 1,000 have been removed up to the present time. When the Germans occupied the castle, they also pilfered twelve valuable paintings that have not been restored yet, Charlie told us.

* * *

WHEN Charlie first went to Trieste she found it difficult to become accustomed to the low, damp weather. However, she stuck it out and now she says she thoroughly enjoys her work and the association with other Americans and with the natives who are in the exchange building.

Cudd-Berry Vows Read

Miss Betty Berry and Warren Cudd, both former students of Texas Technological college, were married recently at the First Baptist church of Wellington with Rev. Howard J. Jones officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Berry of Wellington and the bridegroom is the son of J. E. Cudd of Perryton.

John Harper, organist, and Miss Lenora Lowe of Lubbock, soloist, provided wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush satin with a fingertip veil which fell from a half bonnet of satin. She carried stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Miss Grace Schneider of Plainview attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore pale blue taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet of multicolored sweetpeas and pink carnations. Other attendants were Mrs. Cecil Tevis and Mrs. Gene Cudd who wore dresses identical to Miss Schneider's.

Brother Is Best Man

Benton Berry, brother of the bride, was best man. Cecil Tevis and Gene Cudd were ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception given in their home.

For travel, the bride chose a navy blue silk shantung dress with a matching bolero and navy and wisteria blue accessories.

Mrs. Cudd is a graduate of Wellington High school and Tech where she was a member of Las Vivarachas social club. She has been employed for the past several months by the Perryton schools. Mr. Cudd, a graduate of Perryton High school, is a former student of Tech where he was a member of Double T association. He served four years with the Army Engineers; at present he is farming and ranching near Perryton. The couple will be at home in Perryton following a wedding trip to the Texas coast.

Church Reception Is To Honor Bickleys

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bickley will be honored at a reception to be given by the Asbury Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service tonight at the church following an 8 o'clock prayer service.

All members of the church and other friends of the Bickley's are invited to attend.

Dr. Bickley has been reappointed to the pastorate of Asbury church.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Sensible Business Woman Rejects Attention Because Brother Is Mentally Ill

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a sensible successful business woman, 32 years old. A fine young man, 30, a fellow worker, is in love with me and I with him; but I feel that his attentions should be discouraged, even thought I deeply desire marriage to him, and a home and children.

My brother has been a patient in a mental hospital for several years, incurably insane, and for this reason I push the thought of marriage from me, feeling that it would be unjust to visit such trouble on one I love deeply and sincerely.

When this man — I'll call him Fred — tries to be friendly and kind, I deliberately act curt and seem to freeze up, or tremble in his very presence. This has been going on for six months, as he tries over and over to assure me of his love; and my associates, not knowing my problem, think I am being cruel and tend to take his side.

SHE'S WORRIED SICK ABOUT THE SITUATION

I don't want to hurt Fred's career, but for economic reasons I cannot change to another job and we are thrown together constantly. I am sick with worry and unhappiness about the situation, and the strain is affecting my work, which I always enjoyed before.

Am I handling the matter correctly? Or should I encourage his attentions, be happy with him, and try at a later date to delicately explain the problem to him? What is best for both of us? Please help me clear the air. Signed—V. L.

SHE RATIONALIZES FRIGHTENED REFLEX

DEAR V. L.: It seems to me your attitude towards Fred is pretty neurotic, a back-away from the idea of giving your heart and then being rejected.

I think you behave as you do involuntarily, on an uncontrollable impulse of childish unreasoning fear, and not with clear altruistic intent to discourage his suit; and then try to justify your actions to yourself by saying loftily that you don't want to link your brother's problem to the man you love.

As for your brother's illness, it may be called incurable by some, and possibly he may never recover. Yet if he had been given preventive treatment in time it might be another story. Or if the best psychiatric therapy were generously available to him even now, and he had a spark of faith in God's healing power, wherewith to assist the specialist's help, he might be restored to health of mind.

SHE IS BURDENED BY WORRY-COMPLEX

I MAKE that point with sincere conviction because you need to know it. Much of your recent sick anxiety is caused by accelerated self-identification with your brother's plight. You feel, or fear, that your temperament and tendencies are kin to his; and this theory spawns two other worries, namely: 1. You wonder when or if you will break "hopelessly" as he has done. 2. You have a fixated notion that if people knew of your brother's condition, they would immediately look for and "see" symptomatic peculiarities in you, too. Isn't this true?

You were cradled in the same disturbances that cracked the foundations of his health, yes; and presumably you've been racked by tensions and terrors like those which overtaxed his spirit; but obviously your margin of endurance is greater, for ostensibly you've kept a normal pace, even though your soul is torn with distress.

Which is to say, you are emotionally sick, but not psychotic, as your brother is; nor are you in danger of getting worse, unless you let yourself drift blindly into increasing confusion of thought. For advice: recognize your defensive behavior as a sick tendency and get specialist help in taking redemptive inventory. Liebman's "Peace of Mind" (Simon & Schuster) and Sanford's "The Healing Light" (Macalaster Park Publishers) are loving guides to that undertaking.—M. H.

Mrs. N. F. Shires played the wedding music. As Miss Billie Beadles lighted the candles, "Until" was played and the wedding solo, "At Dawning," was sung by Foster Thomas. "Indian Love Call" was played during the ceremony.

Carries White Bible

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length, white linen and eyelet organdy suit with white accessories and carried a white Bible topped with red rosebuds. For something old she wore the gold bracelet the bridegroom's mother had worn at her wedding.

Miss Mattie Lee Shires of Midland attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore blue dotted voile trimmed with white organdy and lace and accessories of navy and white. Her corsage was peach gladioli.

Jack Rogers of Anson served his brother as best man.

The couple left for a short trip and after Sunday will be at home at 2119 Tenth. For travel the bride wore a pink eyelet picue dress with white accessories.

Financial Responsibility For Drivers Pushed In House Bill

AUSTIN, June 1 (AP)—House backers of the controversial bill to make drivers financially responsible for automobile accidents pushed the measure through second reading today, 69-61.

No attempt was made to secure final passage.

The House then took up a compromise version of the last of the Gilmer-Aikin school bills, already approved by the Senate. The Senate advanced Rep. S. J. Isaack's anti-lynching bill, passing it on second reading, 19-8. This was not enough to bring it up immediately for final passage.

FINAL ACTION TAKEN

AUSTIN, June 1 (AP) — The Gilmer-Aikin school reform program was finally enacted by the 51st legislature today.

The House voted 110 to 24 to accept a conference committee report on the minimum foundation measure, the last of three bills to give Texas a new public school system.

The action sent the bill to the desk of Gov. Beauford H. Jester, whose signature was a certainty. The Senate accepted the committee report yesterday.

Stormy debate preceded approval of the Senate-passed bill that would make drivers show financial responsibility up to $11,000 if involved in an accident causing at least $200 damage or causing injury or death.

Bill Denounced

Opponents shouted that the bill was inspired by "insurance companies who stand to collect sixty-two million dollars a year in liability insurance if the bill becomes a law."

Rep. J. K. Aynesworth of Waco, House sponsor of the measure, said the bill does not make it compulsory for drivers to have liability insurance.

"No one has the right to go out and endanger somebody's life without assuming some responsibility," declared Rep. Frank B. McGregor of Waco.

The Senate refused to take up a bill setting a standard measurement for natural gas.

Then it killed a bill giving the state the right to try suits involving ownership of submerged land in Travis county, as well as in other counties where the lands are located.

Court Rules Taxi Is Man's 'Castle'

CARDIFF, Wales, June 1 (AP) — A Cardiff court dismissed a charge that a man had been drunk and disorderly in a public place—namely, a taxicab with this ruling:

"When he has paid his fare, an Englishman's taxi is his castle."

New Mail Service Starts In Lubbock

Mail service opened as scheduled this morning on two mounted routes serving eight suburban areas north, east and northeast of Lubbock.

Approximately one-half of the patrons in the areas were estimated to have moved their mail boxes to places in front or across the street from their homes. Others continued to receive their mail today on rural routes, which in most cases do not go directly by the homes in the area affected, or by general delivery or boxes at the postoffice. Some were waiting until after receiving first-of-the-month mail in usual manner before changing addresses.

About a week and a half probably will be required for all of those wishing to change immediately to move boxes and file change-of-address cards with the postoffice said Ernest Ohnemus, superintendent of mails at Lubbock postoffice.

After a trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the couple will be at home in Lubbock, where Mr. Burnette was graduated from high school and attended Texas Tech college. He is station agent for Braniff International airways.

The bride is a graduate of San Jacinto, Calif., High school.

Mayor Dares Wrong Man, Now Ex-Mayor

SAN ANTONIO, June 1. (U.P.)—A. C. White, hotel operator, was sworn in as mayor of San Antonio today, succeeding the man who "dared" him to make the race.

White was victor by some 30,000 votes last month over outgoing mayor Alfred Callaghan—who challenged him to get into the campaign.

Operator of hotels in Dallas, Corpus Christi and San Antonio, White pledged a city administration of businesslike qualities and said he figured that operating a municipality was much like running a hotel.

"The public tells you what to do," he said.

Claimants To Divide Firm Bond Of $5,000

Claimants against the bankrupt Armstrong Warehouse and Transfer company will divide a $5,000 bond among themselves with the approval of Federal court. This action came yesterday when Judge Joseph B. Dooley allowed the claim of Standard Brands, Inc., and some 15 or more other claimants. The bond was issued by the Employers Liability Assurance Corp.

The damage suit originally sought a total of $100,000 for damage to food and merchandise stored in the Lubbock firm's warehouse in December 1946. A hard freeze at that time caused the automatic sprinkler system to burst and flood the goods in storage.

Standard Brands, the principal claimant, tried to recover the loss of $20,000 worth of various kinds of cheeses. Other damaged merchandise included furniture, salt, feed and several thousand dollars worth of beans.

After the firm took bankruptcy the assets were sold and the proceeds distributed among the claimants. The division of the bond yesterday makes a total of about nine per cent paid on the full claims. E. L. Klett was attorney for Standard Brands.

President Of Baseball League Fines Police Chief For Pushing An Umpire

DALLAS, June 1 (AP)—Walter Morris, president of two baseball leagues in Texas, announced today he was fining the Temple chief of police $10 "for pushing an umpire."

Morris said the umpire, Nels Pearson, was given a push Saturday night following a Big State league game at Temple.

Chief of Police W. M. McDonnold at Temple could not be located immediately for comment.

"The chief of police walked into the umpire's club room and pushed Pearson," said Morris.

"The chief shouldn't even have been in the room. Homer Peel, vice-president and general manager of the Temple club shouldn't have been there either. Peel walked in with the chief of police. I'm fining Peel $5 just for being in the room."

The 200-pound Morris, who is also head of the East Texas league, said: "I guess this is the first time in the history of organized baseball that a league president ever fined a chief of police."

"What is your authority to fine a chief of police?" Morris was asked in an interview. "Does he have any connection with baseball?"

"Down there he does," Morris chuckled, "and he'll pay the fine."

California Woman Leads In Air Race

EL PASO, June 1 (U.P.)—Veteran pilot Mrs. Betty Gillies of San Diego was at the head of the field today on the second lap of the annual powder puff Air Derby.

She landed her silver Navion at municipal airport yesterday afternoon, less than four hours after taking off from Lindberg field at San Diego on the cross-country dash to Miami.

Twelve of the 16 women pilots landed here and four others set down for the night at other West Texas ports.

Mrs. Gillies, 20 years a pilot and a ferry pilot for the military during World War II was awarded an expensive cosmetic kit for being first into El Paso.

First prize in the derby, sponsored by the 99'ers, a Miami women's flying organization, is $1,500.

HST Housing Measure Halted By Committee

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The House rules committee refused today to clear President Truman's controversial housing bill for a House vote until it finds out just how much the program will cost.

On motion of Rep. Herter (R-Mass), the rules group sent a letter to the budget bureau requesting cost figures. Foes of the Senate-approved bill contend it would involve a federal outlay of $16,000,000,000 to $19,000,000,000 in 40 years.

The rules committee killed similar legislation last year.

PUPILS GET AIR BONUS

COLUMBUS, Ind. (U.P.) — Grade school children at Walesboro county school near here got more than a report card at the term's end. They got an airplane ride. Airport officials at a nearby field took more than 50 youngsters up and they all liked it. Parents were grounded.

Allred May Receive Federal Judgeship

HOUSTON, June 1. (AP)—The Houston Chronicle today said former Governor James V. Allred and Houston attorney Ben Connally will be recommended to President Truman for two new Texas federal district judgeships.

Connally is a son of Senator Tom Connally of Texas.

The House judiciary committee yesterday in Washington approved a bill creating a third judgeship for the southern district of Texas and a temporary "floating" bench between he state's southern and eastern districts.

The Chronicle said Senator Connally will recommend the appointment of Allred to the southern district post and that Senator Lyndon Johnson will recommend Ben Connally for the temporary bench.

Foreign Ministers Battling Over Veto

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—The foreign ministers council today took up the question of restoring four-power control of Berlin and clashed at once on the veto issue.

American sources said the three western ministers urged that the rule of unanimity be abolished in a revived kommandatura.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky strongly objected, saying that unanimous decisions were "the only way to govern."

The kommandatura, a four-power body, governed Berlin in the immediate post-war period before the cold war division of the city. It broke up last year following continued East-West deadlocks.

The issue of Berlin and the currency situation there made up the second item on the agenda of the council.

Before the afternoon's session, the three western ministers conferred among themselves for about 75 minutes. It was understood that one of the questions discussed was whether the council should go into "restricted" session.

Plane Missing With Two Texans Aboard

STEPHENVILLE, June 1. (AP)—A plane carrying two Stephenville men, one a prominent business man, has been missing since leaving the Hot Springs, Ark., airport Sunday morning.

Aboard the plane were T. C. Elkins, 48, owner of Elko Products company here, and his nephew, Ben Ferguson, a pilot who was employed by the firm.

The two had gone to Hot Springs Saturday on a business trip and left at 6:15 a. m. under what the Hot Springs airport said were "adverse weather conditions."

Mrs. Elkins said today "I'm sure that, because of the poor visibility, their plane went down."

Portuguese Fishing Is Almost Paralyzed As Sardines Vanish

LISBON, June 1. (U.P.)—Sardines are vanishing from the Portuguese coast.

Throughout the Portuguese fishing ports the industry faces a crisis, particularly in Sezimbra, just south of Lisbon.

The economic life of that big fishing center is paralyzed. Half the population depends on the fishing, and for the most part lives on fish. Canning factories are at a standstill.

Fishermen say that the main trouble comes from the stream fishing ships which operate less than six miles from the coast, where in former times only the smaller boats worker.

Fish Killed Off

Such deep fishing vessels destroy everything and transfrom the fishing grounds in such a way that the fish either die or move on to more congenial areas.

Because of this, the sardines which preivously were plentiful around the Portuguese coast have almost ceased to exist. They no longer appear in the markets nor are supplies available for the canneries.

Portuguese law forbids fishing by steam trowlers less than six miles from the coast, but in 1945 the regulation was relaxed. The government granted licenses to such vessels to fish close inshore, thus bringing about the present situation, under which the small fishermen are unable to make a living.

Many Unemployed

In Sezimbra alone 3,000 fishermen are unemployed. The industry there has declined steadily year by year. In 1943 the production of fish was 209,220 volumes; 1944, 125,248; 1945, 112,248; 1946 81,108; 1947, 78,856; 1948, up to June, 18,213. And the catch continues to diminish.

The fishermen have applied to the government for aid, and at present soup for 700 is being provided daily.

Near Sezimbra is a town called Setubal, which also is suffering. Out of 5,000 fishermen living there 20 years ago, only 150 remain, most of them unemployed. The authorities also supply them with daily soup.

The press states the navy minister is to study the situation and attempt to find a remedy.

Complaints were made at one time that a Norwegian whale fishing enterprise off the Portuguese coast was responsible for the plight, but it stopped operations and the scarcity continued.

Geologists expect to find oil in Western Australia within a year.

FROM HEAD TO TOES—Meet "Miss Beautiful Eyes." She's 17-year-old Constance Carroll, above, of Philadelphia, Pa. A high school senior, she was picked for the title at Atlantic City, N. J., from a field of thousands whose pictures appeared on television screens in a national contest. The chiropodists titled Patricia to commemorate National Foot Health Week.

'Atomic Cocktails' Fail To Save Girl

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 1 (AP)—Two "atomic cocktails" failed to save the life of a 15-year-old high school girl suffering with a rare glandular disease.

The girl, Joyce Lee Hughes, died yesterday in a hospital. She was stricken with Hodgkins disease last November and wasted away from her normal 132 pounds to 85 pounds.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryon B. Hughes, had been hopeful she might recover after drinking the "atomic cocktails" at the isotope clinic of the University of Tennessee hospital. The cocktails included radioactive phosphorous from the atomic ovens at Oak Ridge.

Joyce made her last trip to Knoxville in mid-April. Her condition showed some improvement then, but she took a turn for the worse three weeks ago.

NEW U. S. ENVOYS?—Nathaniel P. Davis, right, veteran foreign service officer of Princeton, N. J., has been appointed by President Truman to succeed former minister to Hungary Selden Chapin. Chapin returned to the U. S. "for consultations" last February after the Communist-dominated Hungarian government charged he conspired with Cardinal Mindszenty. The President also named former Rep. Pete Jarman, left, Alabama Democrat, to be ambassador to Australia. Jarman would succeed Myron Melvin Cowen, who is now ambassador to the Philippines.

Worry Often Helps, Psychologist Says

CHICAGO, June 1. (U.P.) — If nothing worries you, something is wrong, according to Irwin A. Berg, associate professor of psychology at Northwestern University.

While worry, when carried to extremes, hinders us, it also helps us physically, mentally and socially when properly controlled, he said. He continued:

"We think of worry and how unhappy we are. But have you ever thought that if we lacked such concern, houses probably would burn down because we failed to extinguished the gas or a smoldering cigarette butt, bills wouldn't be paid, probably, and we wouldn't even ask for a rise in pay because we weren't worried about the cost of living? Many things that we should get done would not be accomplished without constructive worry."

If you worry so much that you begin to feel defeated and frustrated, Berg advises you to indulge in some form of harmless escapism until the mist clears from around the problems.

Juror Wants Court To Uncork Evidence

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 1. (U.P.)—The evidence which District Attorney Carlton Loser was presenting in a liquor store robbery trial had a tantalizing effect on one juror.

Exhibiting bottles taken from the store and explaining the system of serial numbers on bottles, Loser asked the jury: "Would you gentlemen like to examine this bottle?"

From the jury box came a voice: "Not unless the top is off."

Whether Moose Swiping Cow's Fodder Raises Hot Argument

PALMER, Alaska, June 1. (U.P.)—The long, Alaska winter is over and sportsmen and farmers in the Mahtanuska Valley are at antler-points over the region's famous herds, especially their eating habits.

With the return of spring, the moose herds have been treking slowly back into the foothalls surrounding the valley, pausing at intervals to gaze back on fields of demolished haystacks.

Farmers looked at the loitering herd and pointed to scattered hay as circumstantial evidence; die-hard hunters eyed the scrambled cow food and said it wasn't possible.

The moose herds and the haystacks were exhibits "A" and "B" of a controversy raging between the hunters and the farmers. Did the moose herds which were driven by heavy winter snows into the fields muscle in on the diet of their domestic cousins, the valley's cows?

No Joke To Farmers

For the farmers who pay $45 a ton for the hay, the discussion is no joking matter. Tons of the feed are consumed by the cattle every year during the long winter when there is no pasturage.

Sportsmen, however, refused to believe the charges even when Holger Larsen, area fish and wildlife service chief, was called in by the farmers to offer suggestions for saving the hay.

"Moose just don't eat cow food," the outdoormen insisted.

Larsen proposed to solve the problem by surrounding the fields with flares. Disgusted farmers reported it not only didn't work, but the moose were cuddling around the flares for warmth on the long, cold, Alaskan nights. One farmer insisted he saw one of the walking hatracks holding his wet and frigid hoofs to the flare to warm his feet.

Moose Have Troubles

The moose had their troubles too this winter. The awkward, publicity shy animals were plagued by photographers and had more than one argument with motorists as to who had the right of way.

A truck driver told a backing in reverse at full speed down a slippery, one way road when a bull moose ignored the traffic signals. Not even a truck can count on coming out best in a bout with 1,800 pounds of annoyed moose.

Another big bull who fell through a railroad bridge at Talkeenta and was rescued by the villagers, turned on his benefactors and challenged the whole outpost to lock horns. The residents took to the housetops until a rifleman brought the animal down.

All speculation aside as to who at the haystacks, it was a long, hard winter for moose and man.

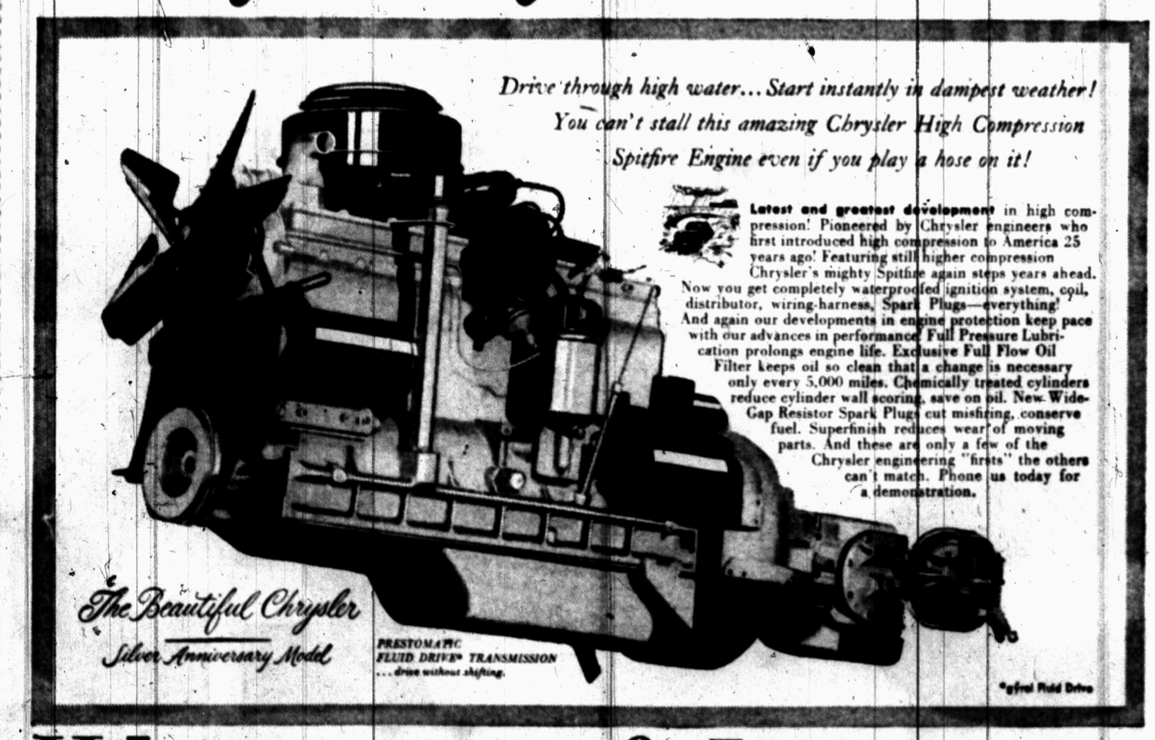

It's Not Wool Grower That Makes It High

ITHACA, N. Y., June 1. (U.P.)—Don't criticize the wool grower because of the price of men's suits, advises Prof. George R. Johnson of the Cornel animal husbandry department.

Johnson explained that the wool needed to make the average $55 men's suit costs only $6.50, and that this raw wool price remained the same from Dec. 15, 1941, to March 1, 1948.

A break-down of the suit-dollar, he said, shows 33.8 cents goes to the retailer; two cents to wholesalers; 50.1 cents for various manufacturing processes; 2.7 cents to wool merchandisers, and 11.4 cents to wool producers.

Albuquerque Edges Hubs, 7-6

Dukes Clinch Win In Tenth

(By The Associated Press)

Amarillo broke the fourth place West Texas-New Mexico league deadlock Tuesday, defeating Lamesa and sending the Lobos down to the fifth place rung on the ladder.

The change in the lineup came as Albuquerque defeated Lubbock to lengthen its lead in the loop to two and a half games.

Amarillo Tops Lamesa

Amarillo won over Lamesa 8 to 4. Albuquerque defeated Lubbock 7 to 6 in a ten-inning thriller. Clovis and Pampa split a double header with Clovis taking the second, 10 to 8 after Pampa won the first, 4 to 1. Borger edged out Abilene 7 to 5.

A five-run outburst in the seventh paved the way for the Amarillo win over Lamesa. Four walks, two singles, a double by Jerry Folkman and a Lamesa error accounted for the runs.

At Albuquerque, Dick Dawson smacked out a double in the tenth inning—his first hit in 16 times at bat—to score Frank Shone and break the deadlock with Lubbock. Albuquerque spotted Lubbock a four run lead in the first four innings, tied the ball game up twice and came back dramatically in the tenth to take the nod.

Clovis Holds Edge

Dawson's double came on the first pitch and with two men out.

Clovis gained an edge in its three game series for the cellar with Pampa, winning the second of a double-header 10 to 8 after losing the opener.

Howard Bass outpitched George Matthews in the first game, giving up only one scratch hit until the seventh, when Pat Lorenzo tripled to center and came home when Charles Ridgeway threw wild over third.

Clovis took five runs in the second and four in the fifth to take the nightcap.

Four doubles, a single, an error and a base on balls produced six runs for Borger in their big fourth inning.

Boston Braves Drop Phillies, 7 To 6

Homer By Carl Furillo Gives Brooks 6-4 Win Over Giants

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Furillo, the fellow Leo Durocher said couldn't hit right-handers, is making his old boss eat his words.

The Brooklyn right fielder hit a 14th-inning home run off right-hander Larry Jansen in the wee small hours this morning to win the "big game" of the young season for the onrushing Dodgers.

Furillo's second homer of the year, both off Jansen, enabled the Brooks to shade Leo's New York Giants, 6-4, in a three hour-57 minute marathan at the Polo grounds.

As a result of the homer and a spectacular job of no-hit, no-run relief pitching by rookie Jack Banta, the Dodgers enter June in a two-way tie with the Boston Braves for the National league lead. The Giants, who were partners in a triple tie yesterday morning, now are third.

It was a toughie for Jansen who opposed four different Dodger pitchers during the long evening. He blew an early 3-0 lead and another 4-3 advantage. Then in the 14th he dished up the homer to Furillo. A triple by Roy Campanella sent the tiring Giant ace to the showers. Dave Koslo yielded the extra score on Banta's single, his first hit of the season.

Banta's top drawer bullpen job was his second victory within a week since Manager Barney Shotton shifted him to fireman duty. Only two men reached base against the lean righthander. One walked and the other was hit by a pitched ball. Both were erased on double plays.

Jansen Near Victory

Jackie Robinson, always an important part of every Dodger victory, didn't figure in the headlines of this one although he clicked for three hits. But he made a fine running catch of Johnny Mize's foul fly against the right field wall that helped. Robinson always plays deep in a wide shift to right against the long ball-hitting Mize.

As a result of the night's efforts, Robinson boosted his average to .360. He has been going at a terrific clip for the past week. Over that stretch he has hit .563 on 18 hits in 32 at bats, hotter than anybody in the majors.

Jansen was three outs from victory starting the ninth. Gil Hodgts opened with a home run. Then they went into their long overtime duel that made it 58 innings for the Giants in the last three days.

The big crowd of 43,922, best of the Polo grounds night season, knew they were watching a battle for first place. The final of Boston's 7-6 afternoon victory over the Phillies was posted on the scoreboard.

Boston had to come from way back to take that one. Trailing 5-0 going into the fourth inning, the Braves finally pulled it out when reliefer Jim Konstanty walked Clint Conatser with the bases full in the ninth.

In Copenhagen, Denmark, a stolen railway locomotive was sold as scrap.

Dallas Eagles Pound Indians

(By The United Press)

The Dallas Eagles, their pitching and batting improving, expanded their Texas league lead to two full games today over the San Antonio Missions.

The Eagles rapped out 13 hits last night in defeating Oklahoma City, 6 to 3. Winning Pitcher Roy Sanner allowed only five hits before giving way to Hooks Iott in the eighth inning. Iott was touched for two more. It was the fifth victory in six games for the Eagles in their current road trip.

Catcher Is Hurt

The Indians had injury added to insult when Catcher Ray Murray was knocked out in the first inning by a bat wielded by Sanner. Sanner, a vicious swinger, went around on a third strike and the bat caught Murray on the temple. Murray was hospitalized, but his condition was not believed serious.

Meanwhile, San Antonio lost a 4-to-0 decision at Shreveport. Hank Wyse limited the Missions to seven hits. It was his fourth victory without a loss.

Tommy Fine twirled for San Antonio and gave up only four hits, but one was a three-run homer by Pete Lewis, playing his second game in Shreveport livery after being acquired from Oklahoma City.

Cats Lose Tilt

The Fort Worth Cats lost their first decision in eight starts as Tulsa's Oilers poured it on, 10 to 3. Al Boresh allowed the heavy-hitting Cats eight hits, including a homer by Wally Fiala with one teammate aboard.

However, Tulsa rapped out 15 hits, including four homeruns. Joe Bill Adcock slammed two, one of them with two men on; Dewey Williams got one, and so did Russ Burns.

At Beaumont, Houston's Jack Creel limited the Exporters to five hits as the Buffs won a second-division battle, 6 to 2. Larry Miggins provided the big punch for Houston by homering with two on.

The club moved after last night's games, Oklahoma City is at Fort Worth tonight; Tulsa at Dallas; Houston at Shreveport, and San Antonio at Beaumont.

Big Spring Blanks San Angelo, 5 To 0

(By The Associated Press)

The Big Spring Broncs have widened their lead in the Longhorn baseball league race.

Big Spring blanked San Angelo, 5-0, last night. The sixth-place Ballinger Cats defeated second-place Vernon, 8-5, dropping the losers, three games behind Big Spring. Fifth-place Midland defeated Odessa, 11-6. Odessa and San Angelo remain tied for third place. Roswell blasted Sweetwater, 18-11.

Big Spring's Julio Ramos limited San Angelo to three hits as the Bronos won an easy victory. The Bronos counted one run each in the fifth and ninth frames and three in the seventh.

Ballinger scored three runs each in the fourth and fifth frames to defeat Vernon.

Midland scored three runs each in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings to trounce Odessa.

And Roswell scored seven runs in the second and six in the eighth while walloping Sweetwater.

Tonight, Roswell plays at Vernon, Big Spring at San Angelo, Odessa at Midland and Ballinger at Vernon.

NEW LINKS RECORD

BROWNSVILLE, June 1. (AP)—Ed Brady, jr., San Benito, set a Brownsville municipal course record of 64 yesterday, one stroke better than John Barnum had ten years ago.

Cambridge university, England, has started a course in farm architecture.

Snead Winner Of PGA Meet

RICHMOND, a., June 1. (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead—at 37—is king of America's professional golfers today.

The slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., earned that distinction yesterday when he came from behind to defeat Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., 3 and 2, for the 1949 championship of the Professional Golfers association.

Snead's brilliant victory over Palmer distinguished Sam as—

1.—The only golfer in history ever to win the Masters tournament and the PGA crowns in one year. After his match with Palmer, Snead immediately served notice he is out to take his third major title this year in the National Open at Chicago next week.

2—The nation's leading money winner for 1949. Sam has earned $12,610.83, with $3,500 coming from yesterday's triumph. Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago is second with $11,457.50 and Palmer third with $10,050.83.

3—A pretty fair country putter. Snead's putting had always been the subject of criticism. Folks said if Snead could putt like he can drive, he'd win tournaments. Since he began using a borrowed putter (he won't reveal where he got it), Snead has won three in a row—the Greensboro Open, the Masters and now the PGA.

Henderson Wins Bout

Tech Student Gets Knockout

LEVELLAND, June 1. (Special)—Bill Henderson returned to the scenes of his adolescence here last night, but there was nothing adolescent about the way he put Chino Alonzo away to sleep at 1:14 of the third round in their scheduled 10-round main event.

A crowd of approximately 1,200 Levelland and South Plains boxing fans, predominantely from this oil city, watched Henderson absorb some punishment early in the fight, only to come out of it in good shape. The Texas Tech student weathered a couple of punishing blows by Alonzo before he opened up with his own assortment.

And when he did, Alonzo simply couldn't stand the power in Henderson's fists. Alonzo had carried the fighting for a good part of the first two rounds, only to suddenly run squarely into a right that dropped him at the bell in the second. And in the third, Henderson continued his relentless attack until he found his opening, fired a salvo and watched Alonzo crumple to the canvas.

Perez Stages Good Show

The five-bout card, sponsored by the Levelland Junior Chamber of Commerce, produced good action in all fights. Pedro Garcia of Juarez and El Paso, a classy little bantamweight, won his opening bout in easy style and a pair of negro heavyweights also staged an interesting waltz number.

Probably the best of the preliminary fights, a four-round go between Sammy Galvan of Juarez and Trinidad Perez of Mexico City, saw Galvan go down to another defeat.

Gene James of Lubbock, fighting as a heavyweight, was surprised within 30 seconds of the first round by Floyd Bennett of Denver, Colo., fighting as a light heavyweight. Bennett dropped James with a right solid to the nose. But James returned to win the bout on a TKO at 1:10 of the second round.

Fight Opens Slowly

The main event started slowly, with both fighters sparring lightly and experimentally. Henderson landed a glancing left to the head and after a brief exchange midway through the round, landed a

Lubbock Drills For Tilt Here Friday

Hard Workout Set Today For Westerners' Baseball Squad

Practice will begin in earnest today when the Lubbock Westerners workout this afternoon at Chapman field diamond.

In addition to a game with Lamesa at 3:30 p. m. Friday, the Lubbock High school nine will be getting in shape for the first Texas Interscholastic league baseball tournament, to be played in Austin June 6-7-8.

Lamesa should prove to be no pushover for the Westerners, since the team won the District 3-AA title before bowing out in the bi-district to Bowie of El Paso. Coach Fred Taylor said earlier that he would use all three Westerner hurlers — Jimmy Hamilton, Jimmy Richards, and Benny Day — in the nine-inning game Friday.

Lubbock Meets Austin

On June 6, the first of three days of the single-elimination tourney, Beaumont will play Waco, Stephenville meets Bowie of El Paso, Marshall tangles with Denison, and Lubbock takes on Austin.

The best season's record is held by Beaumont with 15 wins and one loss. Other records include: Lubbock, 19-3; Austin, 12-3; Marshall, 13-2; Denison, 11-1; Waco, 14-2; Bowie, 15-3; and Stephenville, 14-1.

Coach Fred Taylor's Westerners have drawn the team to beat for the title in the first round of play. Austin, by virtue of superb fielding, excellent hitting, and three good pitchers has the nod of Central Texas sports writers and coaches as the pre-tournament favorite.

Strong Hitting Club

In nine high school games three Austin pitchers—Jack Brinkley, Riley Verdine, and Bill Hees—hold three victories each. Eight Maroons are hitting above the .300 mark. Pitcher Verdine, who does outfield duty also, leads the club with .409. Behind him are Dick McCoy second base, .400; Charlie Leissner, shortstop, .362; Joe Miles, first base, .354; Danny Burger, third base, 351; Ted Tate, catcher, .324; Travis Eckert, first base, .319; and Luther Knebel, rightfield, .303. These percentages are in the nine high school games.

Westerner averages over the whole 22-game series are not so high, but they are, nevertheless, impressive and present a clearer picture of what each player has been batting all season. In some cases the averages are much higher if only the nine district games and two bi-district contests are considered.

Some of the batting records over the season are Bob Brown, shortstop, .388; Charles Galey, second base, .381; Morris Turner, catcher, .352; Powell Hinson, third base, .299; Jesse Fullerton, first base, .273; Jimmy Hamilton, pitcher, .270; Dean White, right field, .265; Jimmy Sexton, right field, .243; and Garnet Reeves, centerfielder, .224.

Tyler Club May Be Sold By Faulkner

TYLER, June 1 (UP)—Wanta buy a ball club?

Harry Faulkner, owner of the Tyler club of the East Texas league, hinted yesterday he would be willing to sell the team's franchise.

He said he already had received two offers for the club, now floundering in seventh place in the league standings.

As an extra-added incentive, the sale will include an eight-year lease on Tyler's new ball park. That is, if Faulkner decides to sell.

Fred Johnson, Michigan State's IC4A indoor and outdoor broad jump champion, is the holder of eight school track records in the broad jump, sprints and hurdles.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Loveland turned out last night to watch Bill Henderson, pride and joy of that oil city, hammer his way to a third-round knockout over Chino Alonzo. But at the same time, it was a disappointing crowd. Estimates placed it as low as 800 and not over 1,200, while many of those sitting at ringside and in general admission seats came from Lubbock. Bill's second home. Those who did turn out saw a good fight card that might have been made even better had there been adequate lighting over th ring. At the same time, the fighters didn't lack scrap.

● ● ●

Henderson looked better in winning in three rounds last night than he looked in losing to Jean Mougin in 10 by decision. That isn't surprising. Against Mougin he had to go the full distance and the route tired him. Last night he was fresh when he finished. He was exuberant after the fight. Spying us, he broke into a big wide grin and said "Well, Joe, I guess that proves that I can win one." He was hustled off and we didn't have any further chance to talk with him, but he did fight a good fight.

● ● ●

Chino Alonzo hurt Bill a couple of times. You saw his knees wobble and you saw a look on his face of pain. But they were quickly wiped off and he came back strong. Once he had to hold on, but his experience told him when to clinch and when not to. And don't forget that Alonzo is no novice in the ring. He isn't. He's an experienced fighter and he hit much harder than Mougin did. At the same time, he also was more vulnerable to Bill's jarring right and when it caught him in the second round, it floored him. The cobwebs went away slowly and Bill came out to swarm him in the final heat. Bill's only trouble last night was a tendency to be hit too much, but he worked for his openings, found them and fired home blows with telling effect.

● ● ●

Probably the most amazing thing about the Jaycee fight card last night was the look of disbelief, astonishment and paralysis that came over Gene James' face in the first round of his fight. James' opponent windmilled out and caught James flush on the nose with a looping right. James went down as though he were a tree axed by the woodcutter. He turned white as a sheet and when he got to his feet, he was out. He weathered the round in shaky fashion, but when he got his breath and a whiff of salts, he was all right. After the fight he went to his wife in the stands and asked her how he had lost.

Nice note from Warren Cantrell, golf pro at the Cree Madows Golf and Country club in Ruidoso, N. M. Warren, who is a familiar figure on the links in West Texas, is announcing the First Annual Cree Meadows Invitation Golf tournament. It will be played from June 9 through June 12 at the rejuvenated Ruidoso club. The course has been remodeled, as has the club house, which is under new management. Ruidoso, already a vacation center, hopes and aspires to become a leading golf center. If Warren Cantrell has anything to do with it, we know that it must be good. Wouldn't be surprised if a lot of Lubbock and South Plains golfers entered the tourney.

We've been receiving complaints recently that the Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club here is rundown this year. Since Paul Jones, the club pro, is out of town, we haven't been able to rundown explanation, pro or con, from him. The accusation is that the greens are changed every few days, that the grass isn't kept cut close, the rough is just that, that greens one day are springy and the next day are baked flat due to lack of proper watering and other minor grievances. Seems to us that if this is true, something ought to be done. The course is popular, particularly with the man not able to afford the Country club, and he should be given a fair deal.

● ● ●

Lake Texoma is going after brass, but this time it isn't to adorn the boats. The brass will be Gen. Lucius Clay, late commander of American forces in Germany, who is retiring. The Lake Texoma Sportsmen Club is inviting the general to "come home," since when work was first started on the Denison Dam which forms Lake Texoma, construction activities were under command of Capt. Lucius Clay. He's never seen the completed lake, he's an ardent catfish fisherman and his return would be a signal honor. If he accepts, the club plans a gigantic celebration. Pres. Harry S. Truman and Speaker Sam Rayburn will be invited and the day will go down as one of the biggest in Texoma history.

THE ROUNDUP: Bill Parsley, sportcaster for KSEL leaves for Canada today, but expects to return in the Fall. In the meanwhile, Wayne Allen has been enticed to leave California. Farewell and welcome! . . . Postcard in the mail from Joe Holmes, happily basking in Colorado mountain climes and allegedly catching fish. To use his words "Sleep—Fish—Rest are my dishes up here" . . . Gene Gibson of Texas Tech athletic fame and Miss Jonona Boyett will have the knot tied Friday at the First Christian church . . . Beaumont optioned Bob Marquis to Binghamton, N. Y., but he refused to report . . . Amarillo has optioned Pitchers Louis Franks to Roswell and Bill Leathers to Ardmore, Okla. . . . Tech wasn't expected to get Pampa's Darrel Davis, but we hope they turn up with Shallowater's Darrell Murphy. If they don't, Derrell be trouble. Ugh.

TEXAS STAR—J. D. Hampton, above, slim Texas Aggie track star, has given sports fans something new to talk about this spring. Hampton startled cinder path followers by turning in a 4:18.7 mile at the Border Olympics early in the season, then went on to dominate the Southwest distance events.

Longview Gains In East Texas Chase

(By The Associated Press)

The second-place Longview Texans are inching up on the first-place Marshall Browns in the close East Texas league baseball race.

The fifth-place Bryan Bombers edged Marshall, 2-1, last night. Longview beat the third-place Kilgore Drillers, 5-3, to climb within two games of the Browns. Paris defeated Tyler, 8-4, moving into a tie with Kilgore. And Henderson squeezed by Gladewater, 7-6.

Dempsey Albritton led off with a home run in the eighth and Manager Stan Goletz scored the winning run on a single by Al Kaiser to beat Marshall.

Longview counted three runs in the second frame and went on to defeat Kilgore.

Paris was sparked by Stan Bartowski's four-run homer in the sixth.

Henderson's Elvin Tappe singled in the seventh inning to score Rags Ragone with the winning run against Gladewater.

Tonight, Marshall plays at Bryan, Tyler at Paris, Kilgore at Longview and Gladewater at Henderson.

Cummings To Battle Estes

A rough-and-tumble mat card is in prospect tonight at Sled Allen's arena, and in the main event Bob Cummings of Seaside, Ore., will take on Balk Estes for two out of three falls.

The two grapplers will be swapping holds for the better part of an hour, and Cummings, who was very much of a favorite here in the late 1930's, will be making his first appearance in the local ring since returning to this territory. Cummings is a rugged wrestler of the old school with plenty of power and know-how. He can dish out plenty of punishment to an opponent.

Estes Capable Fighter

Estes is a very capable fighter, and he can meet any situation that is likely to come up. He is one of the more scientific matmen appearing in the local arena, but he can get rough too. The two boys are evenly matched, and this should be a thriller from the start.

In the semi-final event George meets George In this case it is George Dusette, the strongman from Boston, against George Bruckman. Bruckman packs considerable strength and will be forced to extend himself with Dusette. Both boys will be out to win, but Dusette prefers a clean fight while Bruckman is not particular how he wins a match.

In the 20-minute preliminary George Curtis and Danno McDonald will give the fans a taste of scientific wrestling in a fast match. Both boys are speedy, young, and aggressive and willing to mix it, and the match should warm the fans for the ones to follow.

Tickets are on sale at Wylie's Drug store until 5 p.m. today.

Matches start at 8:30 p.m.

Henderson moved in, but Alonzo covered up well and weathered a stormy session, getting in some good blows of his own.

Alonzo carried the fight to Henderson in the second heat, staggering him once with a hard right and landing several good body blows. But Henderson fought him off and went to work with his left to the body. Finally, just a second before the bell, Henderson shot a straight right to the jaw that dropped Alonzo and left him groggy.

Henderson tore after his opponent when the third round opened and dropped him with a solid right, followed in quick succession by a left, right and left. Alonzo recovered to land one right, only to run into a flurry of blows by Henderson. A solid left uppercut started Alonzo down and quick right, left, rights finished the job.

Bo Sexton of Lubbock, third man in the ring, tolled the count that sent the Levelland crowd home happy by the showing of its pride and joy.

James, as mentioned earlier, almost got too much too early. Bennett came out swinging like a windmill and James ran into a right to the nose. It brought blood and dropped him as though he had been felled over the head. When he jumped up, James' face wore a look of bewildered surprise.

But Bennett failed to follow up his advantage and James weathered the round. In the next stanza, James was the aggressor, finally landing a terrific right chop that dropped Bennett and left him groggy. Sexton stopped the fight.

Officials Of P.G.A. Defend Ed Dudley

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

RICHMOND, Va., June 1—P. G. A. officials in the wake of their annual tournament today stormed to the defense of Ed Dudley honorary captain of the Ryder cup team, and denied that they were putting a "gag" on tournament golf players.

A number of pros questioned Dudley's appointment to the post during the course of the tournament which at times assumed a passable similarity to a championship fight card. These pros intimated that Dudly rigged the deal when it should have gone to Gene Sarazen or Ben Hogan.

Charge Is Denied

"There is no truth to that," said George Schneiter, P. G. A. tournament manager. "Thirty sections each were represented by two delegates at the annual meeting in Dunedin, Fla., and they unanimously voted the honor to Dudley."

Schneiter, the Ogden, Utah, cattleman who set the opening round pace with a course record 66, said that there were "three or four pros who don't take the time to find out the score."

He also took a pot shot at Vic Ghezzi the Englewood, N. J. pro who charged that the P. G. A. officials would hold the championship on a driving range "if the price was right."

"Ghezzi would be one of the first to complain if the purses fell off," Schneiter said.

But the dark-featured Schneiter said there would be no penalty levied against Ghezzi or such aces as Sam Snead and Lew Worsham who described the Hermitage course where the championship was played as a "pitch and putt" layout.

Traveling Unit Slated

"Technically they are liable to reprimand, I suppose," said Schneiter. "For it is our job to keep the sponsors and the host clubs happy.

"Playing a tournament at a golf club we are guests of these clubs," he explained. "It is like going to dinner to someone's home and then criticizing it to rant about the courses on which we play.

But he insisted again that the so-called "gag-rule" in the tournament players' agreement was not intended to keep the pros from talking to their hearts' content.

And he revealed that plans call for a complete traveling unit in the near future. With the P. G. A. trucking its complete layout of stakes, ropes, sound system, scoreboards, placards and tents.

Which would make it even more like a circus—which this one surely was!

Austin Leads In Big State

(By The Associated Press)

The Austin Pioneers have replaced the Texarkana Bears at the top of the Big State league baseball standings.

Austin won a hard-fought, 3-2, victory over Sherman-Denison last night. The Temple Eagles edged Texarkana, 7-6, to drop the Bears into second place, half a game behind the Pioneers.

Wichita Falls Wins

Third-place Wichita Falls defeated Greenville, 5-3. And fourth-place Waco beat Gainesville, 5-1.

Austin's Bill Monahan bested Sherman-Denison's Ramon Roger and Pete Mayor in a tight mound duel in Sherman. The Twins counted one run in the second frame. Al Lawrence homered for Austin in the fourth to tie the count. Gil Castillo then homered in the fifth to put the Twins back in the lead. A triple by Emory Hresko in the seventh, scoring Lawrence, and Dick Brown's fly, scoring Hresko, iced the game for Austin.

Schedule Is Given

Temple tallied four runs in the fifth and single runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth frames to down Texarkana. The loss snapped a seven-game winning streak by the Bears.

Wichita Falls' scored four runs in the first frame and one in the sixth to defeat Greenville.

Jodie Howington limited Gainesville to only four hits as Waco won an easy victory. The Pirates counted three runs in the second inning.

Tonight, Greenville plays at Gainesville, Waco at Wichita Falls, Austin at Texarkana and Temple at Sherman.

Wreck Victim Is Improving

LAMESA, June 1. (Special)—Bessie Jean Galloway, 42, today was reported as "no longer in a critical condition" at Lamesa General hospital, where she is being treated for serious injuries suffered Tuesday in a traffic accident in which her mother was fatally injured.

Mrs. Edith Galloway, 42, of near Welch community, died at 10 p. m. Tuesday in the hospital, less than four hours after her automobile and a "bobtail" truck collided at a highway intersection near Welch, in north-central Dawson county.

Truck Driver Escapes'

Charles R. Berry, 27, of Sweetwater, driver of the truck, escaped injury.

Mrs. Galloway's daughter suffered a fractured thigh, fractured ankle, possible skull fractures and multiple bruises and lacerations. Today, however, an attending physician said that her condition was improving and was now considered "satisfactory."

Car Almost Demolished

Texas Highway patrolmen who investigated the accident said that Mrs. Galloway's car and the truck collided after Mrs. Galloway, who was going north, attempted to turn west onto the Welch cutoff. The officers said Berry, who is employed by the Pace Packing company of Sweetwater, was going south from Brownfield toward Lamesa when the mishap occurred.

The Galloway car was reported almost completely demolished. The truck careened almost 300 yards south after the crash before overturning on its side.

Mrs. Galloway and her daughter reportedly were brought to a Lamesa hospital by a Welch resident who came to the crash scene. Berry came to Lamesa and reported the accident to officers.

The Dawson county woman, a widow, lived on her farm three miles west of Welch. Her daughter is a sixth grade student in Dawson school at Welch. Mrs. Galloway had been employed the past year in the Dawson school cafeteria. Her husband, Bryan Galloway, a farmer and World War I veteran, died about three years ago.

Funeral services for Mrs. Galloway will be conducted here at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Methodist church, Higginbotham Funeral home reported, by the pastor, Rev. Sam Thomas. Assisting in the services will be Rev. J. A. Martin of the Welch Baptist church.

Pallbearers will include Grady Phillips, Vernon Parks, Lamar Payne, Nolan Jayroe, Herman Kelley and Eugene Hendon, all of Welch.

Immediate survivors of Mrs. Galloway include two daughters, Bessie Jean and Golda Ruth Galloway; a son, Willard Galloway, about 20; the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Laney Grice, of Welch; and two brothers, Arthur Grice of Columbus, S. C., and Elbert Grice of Houston.

Several relatives of Mrs. Galloway live in Lubbock. They include an uncle, Rev. J. A. Laney, of 2208 Ninth; and four cousins, Mrs. W. A. Miller of 2803 Thirtieth, Mrs. George F. Box of 2712 Thirtieth, and J. B. Laney and J. A. Laney, jr., both of 2208 Ninth.

Corn Program

as 500,000,000 bushels of corn may be on loan and purchase agreements by June 30 which is the deadline for negotiating such agreements.

Earlier, Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan had asked Congress to extend the allotment-quota production control system to a long list of new crops in order to deal with surpluses which may develop.

Extension Is Asked

In a letter to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Texas, Brannan asked that present provisions dealing with tobacco, cotton, corn, wheat, rice, and peanuts be extended and somewhat modified. He recommended that all provisions setting up minimum production quotas for cotton be eliminated.

Included on Brannan's list of new commodities to be brought under the program are: barley, oats, rye and other grains; vegetables and fruits; livestock; poultry, and milk and milk products.

Strike Threat

with the Taft-Hartley law on his union shop arrangement.

Fights Shaping Up

Big fights are shaping up, too, in new contract demands of Philip Murray in the steel industry and Walter Reuther with Ford in the auto industry. The CIO leaders have contract talks starting soon.

Government officials are particularly worried over the possibility of a shipping strike. Three CIO unions have contracts expiring June 15. Many demands are involved, including the unions' insistence on continuing their traditional hiring halls despite a labor board decision they are illegal under Taft-Hartley.

Complicating the negotiations where Taft-Hartley law provisions are issues will be the prospect that Congress may change the law before adjourning for the summer.

Negro Draws Knife, Is Killed By Officers

BEAUMONT, June 1. (U.P.)—A 52-year-old negro was shot to death here today by two policemen who had investigated a disturbance call.

Justice of the peace Horace Blade returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Stock Market

CLOSES ON RISING NOTE

NEW YORK, June 1 (AP) — The stock market closed on a rising note today following opening losses of fractions to around a point.

Not all the early declines were erased. The recovery move was a laborious job. Many issues see-sawed at slightly lower prices a good part of the session.

Efforts at a comeback followed a drop yesterday — the severest of the year—which carried the price level back to a low since February 1948.

Turnover was at the rate of around 1,200,000 shares for the full session, which would compare with 1,240,000 yesterday.

Once again a wide variety of stocks sank to new lows for the year or longer before making a stand. Most of these issues later moved up from the lows of the day.

Lower prices were paid most of the day for U. S. Steel old, Follansbee Steel (directors reduced the dividend), Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Commonwealth Edison, Consolidated Natural Gas, Anaconda Copper, American Can, Allied Chemical, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Superior Oil of California.

Leaning ahead were Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse Electric, International Paper, Santa Fe, Studebaker, and Dow Chemical.

Scouts' Camp Gets Off To Good Start

With 115 Boy Scouts from nine troops on hand for the opening week-long session, Camp Post—summer camp of South Plains Scouts—this week got off to an auspicious start.

W. R. Postma, Council executive, said today that the new swimming pool at Camp Post has proved especially popular with campers during the first week. The improved rifle and archery ranges also are top attractions this year, he added.

Postma said plans have been made to permit Cub Scouts and their fathers to visit the camp for the next three week-ends. The Cubs will arrive in time for supper Saturday, and remain through lunch Sunday. Some 450 Cubs and their fathers are expected to take advantage of these arrangements, he said.

Camp Post probably will have a total Boy Scouts attendance of 450 boys this summer before it closes July 9.

Additional registrations still are being accepted at the Council office, 2109, Ave. X, Postma said. The week-long camp fee Scouts attending as troups with their own adult leaders is $11. Individual Scouts may attend the provisional camp July 3-9 for a fee of $12.50 each.

Texas House Okays Sleeping Pill Bill

AUSTIN, June 1. (AP)—A sleeping pill bill that would require a doctor's prescription before a person could secure barbiturate drugs was passed by the House yesterday, 103-7.

Drug stores would be prohibited from selling any barbiturate drug without a prescription. Phenobarbitol and benzedrine derivatives would be included, but the act would not apply to benzedrine inhalers used for colds.

The bill goes to the Senate.

The House finally approved and advanced to the Senate other bills that would:

Establish a Texas A. and M. experiment station in the eastern panhandle in either Donley, Collingsworth or Wheeler county.

Give counties half the revenue from automobiles sales taxes in their counties, the county share not to exceed $100,000.

Define carbon black so that a state tax held unconstitutional by the courts could be levied again.

The House also approved on second reading a Senate-passed bill granting paid leaves of absence for state employes to attend the National Guard encampment. The measure now awaits a vote on third reading and final passage.

Drilling Due Before June 15 On New Lubbock County Well

Drilling is to start before June 15 on a wildcat slated to go to around 6,500 feet in north-central Lubbock county, to test into the lower Permian lime.

The venture will be C. W. Chancellor of Midland, Slick Oil Company, et al, No. 1 Floyd Cloud. It is located 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 22, block D, L&SV survey.

That makes it three-quarters of a mile southwest of the Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Lula Mae Cravens, small pump discovery from the lower Permian, completed more than two years ago. The No. 1 Cravens is reported to be currently pumping about 28 barrels of oil per day.

Owned By Midlanders

The wildcat is 10 miles north and two miles west of Lubbock. It is on a block of approximately 2,250 acres. A one-half interest in the block, and in the well-site is owned by a group of Midland operators which includes J. C. Williamson, Alvin L. Attaway, George R. Kribbs and R. R. Herrell.

Contract to drill the project with rotary tools has been awarded to Kirk-Green-Way, Inc., Lubbock drilling contractors.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Flanagan, one location east outpost to the discovery well of the Flanagan-Ellenburger field in south-central Gaines county, has shown for some sort of production from the Devonian, and is to now drill ahead and investigate the Ellenburger.

Oil, Gas Are Shown

The Magnolia prospector, located 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey, showed its oil and gas in a drillstem test at 10,350—405 feet. The tool was open for three hours and 25 minutes.

A 1,000-foot water blanket was used. Oil started flowing out at the top of the drillpipe in one hour and four minutes. It was flowed to pits for 28 minutes to clean, and was then turned to tanks.

The well flowed 27 barrels of oil with no water in one hour. Gravity of petroleum was 33 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 40-1. Skaktout was four-tenths of one percent drilling mud.

Operator drilled down to 10,430 feet and took a one hour and 17 minute drillstem test with the packer at 10,405 feet. A 1,000 foot water blanket was used.

Drilling Is Resumed

Recovery was the blanket, and 7,530 feet of oil and gas cut salt water, estimated to have been ten percent oil. The venture has now resumed drilling.

The Magnolia venture is said to be 50 feet low on the top of the oil stained zone in the Devonian, the same marker in the Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, opener of the Flanagan field.

Top of the Devonian, in Magnolia No. 1 Flanagan, was picked by some geologists to be at 10,295 feet. Top of the staining was at 10,365 feet. Elevation is 3,351 feet.

Shell No. 1 Hawkins showed a thicker Devonian pay zone than has been found in the Magnolia development. The Shell project showed for a heavy flowing production from that zone.

It was drilled on to the Ellenburger and found commercial production in that horizon. It was completed there.

No Production

The Devonian pay and the Clear Fork of the Permian, which also showed for production, are currently cased off and not being produced.

Magnolia No. 1 Flanagan has also showed for flowing production from the Clear Fork.

Deepening after recovering free oil and unloading some fluid on a drillstem test was in process at Sinclair Prairie Oil Company No. 1 Sterling Williams, deep wildcat in northwest Borden county, about 11 miles northwest of Gail.

It was under 9,991 feet, penetrating lime. The test was at 9,878-9,978 feet for three hours, recovering 7,300 feet of clean oil kicked out while pulling drillpipe.

Information has been released on a drillstem test prior to the above show. The tool was open three hours at 9,830-78 feet. Recovery was 6,350 feet of clean oil and 250 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mul.

No Water Reported

The current lime formation, thought to be Pennsylvania, has yielded no water as yet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

The Fusselman section of the Silurian was rumored to have headed some oil during swabbing at Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, dual pay opener two miles southeast of the Dollarhide field in southwest Andrews county.

Through perforations at 11,000-26 feet, operator acidized with 1,000 gallons and re-acidized with 3,000 gallons. After the second injection, the well was unofficially reported to have flowed oil.

No Information Released

No information was available as to whether the fluid was partly new oil or all load material.

The zone has been re-treated with 6,000 gallons of acid and swabbing was continuing, recovering load oil. Total depth is 11,244 feet.

The prospector also has shown production from a lower section in the Fusselman and from the Devonian.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey.

Courtroom Pressure Buckles Man's Knees

DETROIT, June 1. (IIS)—The strain of waiting his turn in a Detroit courtroom today was more than 21-year-old Robert J. McKeown could take.

When the first of four prisoners who preceded him from the bullpen returned with a long face, McKeown asked:

"What did you get?"

The answer was "7½ to 15 years." The next fellow got the same. And the next two drew 10 to 25 year sentences.

It was all McKeown could do to keep his knees from knocking his feet out from under him as he dragged himself to the bench.

Recorder's Judge O. Z. Ide studied McKeown's larceny conviction, then placed him on one year's probation. But when he looked up from the bench, he couldn't see the defendant.

McKeown had fainted dead away.

Sailor's Flight To See Sick Wife Ends

LOS ANGELES, June 1 (AP) — "Oh, God, I hope she pulls through."

This brief prayer of hope was uttered by Navy chief storekeeper William J. Kopytko after a 5,000-mile emergency flight from Guam to see his wife, Marion, 30, critically ill with polio.

His wife, in an iron lung, recognized him and smiled briefly. Then tears filled her eyes. It was their first meeting in 16 months.

Kopytko reached here by plane yesterday. After visiting his wife in General hospital, he was driven to nearby Long Beach to see his nine-month-old son, Rickey for the first time, and for a reunion with his daughter, Sally Jo, aged three. The children are staying with relatives.

ON TIME NOW

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (U.P.)—The Rev. J. Thomas Cook is getting to Sunday school on time these days. The young minister used to make so many trips into the country to pick up children in his car and take them to Sunday school that he almost always was late himself. So the church bought his a used school bus.

Most Weather-Beaten Cowboy Is Having Fun; Wants To Ride Herd On Rich Widow

MADISONVILLE, June 1 (AP)—The world's most weather-beaten cowboy" is having a lot of fun.

Big, bow-legged Jack Leel of Northport, Wash., is over most of his early embarrassment at being treated like a celebrity.

"I ain't married," he said last night, and—with some prodding—confided he's sort of cutting his eyes around.

"Looking for a rich widow with two or three oil wells," said Jack.

Leel, husky 26-year-old cowhand, was tabbed the world's most weather-beaten cowboy by the Madisonville Sidewalk Cattlemen's association. He won the title and several days of high living for nursing a herd of 270 cattle through a severe blizzard last winter.

Eleven pretty girls decked out in fancy cow togs greeted Leel with kisses at Dallas yesterday.

Today, he's scheduled to meet Miss America, pert Bebe Shopp of Minneapolis.

Youth's Music Tastes Influenced By Movies

SILVER CITY, N. M., June 1. (U.P.)—A professor at New Mexico State Teachers College believes musical tastes in American children are movie-bred.

Jack Elliott, who has taught children in a music appreciation class, discovered that most young minds interpret music in terms of something they have seen in the movies.

"Students are most appreciative of descriptive and mood music," he said. "These are the two major forms used in moving pictures."

A girl in his class listened to Tschaikovsky's "1812" overture. She described it as "the kind of music they play in a movie when there is a war and the right side wins."

Another pupil was asked to describe his impression of the "Sunrise" section of Ferde Grofe's Gran Canyon Suite. He said it sounded like background music for a scene in the movies when a returning soldier sees children playing in the street and thinks about his own boyhood.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 1, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Fort Stockton Water Carnival To Feature Historical Pageant

★ ★ ★

MISS SOUTHWEST — Lovely Ann Mims of Sul Ross college reigns as Miss Southwest since her selection in 1948. Her successor will be chosen by a group of lucky (though anonymous) judges at the 1949 Forst Stockton Water Carnival. June 10 and 11.

FORT STOCKTON, June 1 (Special) — Everybody in Fort Stockton is busy these days in preparation for the big community show—the 1949 Water Carnival.

This year's big show will feature a colorful historical pageant woven about the history of beautiful Comanche Springs free swimming pool—from the days when the Mendoza Expedition brought the first white man to the site to disturb the enjoyment of the traditional modern touch, the annual All-Southwest Bathing Revue, with entrants coming from towns of this entire section of the Southwest.

Water Ballets Billed

Geller Productions of Hollywood has contracted with Fort Stockton Lions club under a $2,500 contract which provides for colorful costumes, stage scenery and lighting, and professional direction of a cast of local talent 150 strong. Robert Campbell, director for Geller Productions, is in the midst of rehearsals for the colorful "Cavalcade of Comanche Springs."

Water ballets, scenes from the famous court of Judge Roy Bean, "Law West of the Pecos," and glamorous beauties, both of the past and modern vintage, will feature a thrill-packed show on the nights of June 10 and 11.

Young women from all parts of West Texas will compete for the title of Miss Southwest, won last year by lovely Ann Mims, Sul Ross college entrant from Alpine. A free trip to Hollywood, with entertainment arranged through the Geller organization, is the coveted prize.

Roping Contest Set

The Water Carnival starts on Thursday afternoon, June 9, with a big street parade in Fort Stockton, followed that evening by Fort Stockton's own bathing revue and a special prevue of the big stage spectacle, "The Cavalcade of Comanche Springs." Winner of the senior division of the Fort Stockton contest will be crowned Queen of the Water Carnival on Friday night, June 10.

Many communities of the area have held, or plan to hold their own elimination contests to choose community sponsors for the All-Southwest Revue.

A new feature for the Water Carnival this year is a Saturday afternoon matched calf roping between two of the most promising younger ropers of the Southwest, Clay Cade of Alpine and Bill Teague of Crane, together with a jackpot calf roping and bronc busting exhibition. The new Sheriff's Posse Arena in Rooney Park will be the scene of the event starting June 11 at 2 p. m.

Dances on the nights of Friday and Saturday night at Gibbs Field sponsored by the Fort Stockton Fire Department, will round out the entertainment.

Dred Wood, president of the Fort Stockton Lions club is general chairman of the Water Carnival committee. Headquarters is at the Pecos County Chamber of Commerce building.

Higher Output Is Predicted

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 1 (AP)—Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric company, predicted today the nation's industrial production will be rolling along at a high level again by the end of 1951.

There's nothing permanent about the current decline in output, Wilson said, and it won't be very drastic.

The General Electric president estimated the slackening may continue until about the second quarter of 1950 before it turns upward.

But by the end of 1951, he said, industrial production may again reach the high level of 1948.

Excesses Restricted

He anticipated a slackening of about 15 per cent from the fourth quarter of 1948 through the second quarter of 1950 and he gave three reasons why he felt it would not be more drastic than that.

"We lack the great speculative excesses in such areas of our economy as inventories and the stock market which featured the 1920, 1929 and 1937 setbacks," he said.

"Adjustments in the form of curtailed production, reduced prices and inventory control are already well along in some industries.

"The large and increasing volmue of government expenditures for security and construction, government support of farm prices, and the anticipated federal deficit should cushion the decline."

He made his prediction at the second session of the Edison Electric institute's three-day 17th annual convention.

Mock Sky Duel For Top Planes Banned

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The mock duel in the sky between the Air Force's mighty B-36 and the Navy's best banshee jet fighters suggested by Congress has been turned down by the joint chiefs of staff for security reasons.

The recommendation to call off the public feud air battle was first made known in a copyrighted story in the Washington Times-Herald shortly after the House armed services committee yesterday ordered a full investigation of why the B-36 came to be the heavyweight darling of the Air Force.

No Useful Purpose

The possibility remained that such a bang-you're-dead test might be conducted later in deepest secrecy.

But the joint command, in a letter forwarded to Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the committee by Secretary of Defense Johnson, said such a battle between the two best planes of the two rival services would divulge vital information.

The letter also said such an event would serve no useful purpose.

The showdown sky fight was first approved May 18 by the armed services group to help settle conflicting claims by the Navy and the Air Force.

The Air Force said the B-36 operating at 40,000 feet and above could not be intercepted by any fighter plane now in existence.

Carrier Work Halted

The Navy planned to build a multi-million dollar aircraft carrier from which jet planes and bombers would operate. It said the jet planes can whip up to 40,000 feet in seven minutes and are good enough to lick the B-36.

Air Force enthusiasts proposed that the carrier be junked and the money used to buy more B-36s.

That's when the House committee stepped in with its suggestion for a test fight. Vinson said the unanimous vote of the group did not make such a test mandatory, but he said it should be "very persuasive."

The Navy promptly jumped at the suggestion, offering a list of four planes as candidates for the job of puncturing the B-36's reputation.

The B-36 bomber investigation ordered yesterday was not directly connected with the mock air battle. It grew out of reported "irregularities" in connection with pushing this plane into top spot on the Air Force's defense plans. Contracts for some other types of planes were cancelled in order to boost the purchase of more B-36s.

But the question of how good a defense buy the B-36 is, probably will become just a springboard for more far-reaching questions.

The personalities involved have a high fireworks potential. They include Secretary Johnson, Secretary of Air Symington, industrialist Floyd Odlum and Rep. Vinson, a veteran of many big-time investigations during his 35 years in the House.

The committee recommended probe still must be approved by the House itself, but Democratic leaders are supporting the investigation and a quick o.k. is expected. For the next two weeks or so, the matter may simmer behind the scenes, however.

Rumors Disturbing

When it breaks into the open, it may set a stage for more study of the Navy-Air Force arguments over defense policies.

Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) brought the B-36 controversy to the House floor in a speech last week. He said he had heard "ugly," disturbing reports" concerning the connections of Johnson, whom he referred to as "my old friend," Symington, and Odlum, head of the Atlas Corp. Odlum controls the Contract For Paving Is Let

Contract for 70 additional blocks of street paving to be finished by Oct. 15 was awarded to Holland Page, of Austin, on a bid of $148,986 at a recessed meeting of the City commission Tuesday afternoon.

The award increased the year's paving program to approximately 290 blocks, by far the largest in the city's history, the commission was advised by R. L. Oldham, director of public works. The surfacing will aggregate about 29 miles. A large percentage of the blocks in the program are double length and average about 10 to the mile, he said.

To Boost Total

When finished, the program will give Lubbock well over 100 miles of paved streets. The mileage at the beginning of this year was estimated at approximately 77.

Technicolor Founder Pushes Divorce Case

LOS ANGELES, June 1 (AP) — Mrs. Natalie Kalmus' divorce trial here against Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, founder of technicolor, must proceed, despite her plea for a delay.

The court yesterday ordered the trial to proceed, although Mrs. Kalmus, 67, contended she was serious ill and has a Massachusetts suit pending to annul her 1921 divorce.

The court's order was issued after Dr. Kalmus, also 67, produced affidavits saying Mrs. Kalmus was well enough to attend horse races near Boston. She seeks a share of her millionaire husbad's fortune on grounds they reconciled and lived together for 25 years after the Boston divorce.

Washington Thief Outsmarts Quiz Kid

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—An Illinois quiz kid was outsmarted by a Washington thief yesterday.

Guerrie Rhoads, 12, of Western Springs, Ill., won a $100 bond last week on the Quiz Kid radio program. When he won the Cook County Ill. spelling title and a free trip to Washington, he brought the bond to show relatives.

His wallet, containing the bond and $12 in cash, was stolen when he laid it on a step to play with a dog.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

What does opening of mounted mail service in suburban areas mean to you?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. J. E. COVEY, 615 E. Broadway, housewife: "I'm going to get it front of my house and it will save time and trouble and work. Just a lot of times I don't have a way to come to town. It takes about an hour and it costs bus fare to come get the mail. I don't have that much time to waste. I have seven children and if I don't have the car so I can take them with me, I have to get someone to take care of them."

MRS. R. A. McMASTER, 303 Forty - second, housewife: "It means quite a bit, I'll tell you, because our mail has been getting mixed with that of other people in the mail boxes. Mixing the mail was the worst thing and I think that was the thing that bothered most of them. I think it is a good idea to have our box in front of the house."

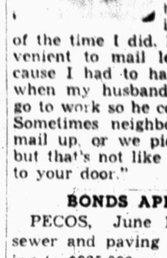

MRS. R. L. MURDOCK, 610 E. Yale St., housewife: "I really am glad, because I had to walk half a mile to get the mail. If I didn't go after it, I had to wait until the evening until my husband came in. It's more convenient in mailing letters, too. I have had to have them ready when my husband left in the morning. The postman would sell stamps to me and sometimes I would go up there to the highway and wait for him. That's mighty inconvenient when you have two children to take along. In the winter especially at Christmas time, it was a problem to go up there. I would put the baby in the buggy and the oldest walked and we would go up there to mail packages."

D. N. OSBORNE, 230 Thirty-eighth: "It will just be about two hours earlier for us. We were lucky to have the rural box right in front of our house and the only change for us will be that we will move the box across the street."

MRS. A. G. STRINGER, 718 E. Yale, housewife: "I seldom have our car and it means I can get my mail off when I want to get it off and I can get my mail every day. We have gotten ours at my husband's mother's house, about three miles from here. We just picked it up three or four times a week—whenever we happened to go over there. Sometimes telegrams have been mailed out and his folks would bring them to us. I never did appreciate mail service like I should have until I moved out here where we didn't have it. I didn't realize what it meant to anyone to have it."

MRS. L. B. GUNTER, 520 E. Wabash, housewife: "We are awfully proud to have it, because we have had to go quite a way to get it. Our box was five blocks away on the highway. Part of the time my husband picked it up and part of the time I did. It is more convenient to mail letters, too, because I had to have mine ready when my husband was ready to go to work so he could take them. Sometimes neighbors picked our mail up, or we picked theirs up, but that's not like having it come to your door."

Little Gems Of Wisdom Found In Evening Journal's "Fillers"

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Journal Staff Writer

You learn such interesting things from your newspaper. Particularly if you read the fillers.

A filler, you know, is a brief news item of one to six lines of type. It is used, as the name implies, to fill out a column when the stories in the column fall short of the mark.

A recent survey of several dozen Evening Journal fillers indicates that these little gems of wisdom are something no self-respecting radio quiz program addict would be without. They are true treasures of figure and fact, bits of knowledge that one never could discover elsewhere—not even in the bulkiest almanacs.

Might Come In Handy

So, if you aspire to some day "Break the Bank," or to drag down the "double" on "Double or Nothing," you'll do well to follow the fillers. Those thin shavings of information might come in handy.

A meandering survey of the field shows that the writers of fillers know no bounds in their eager search for material, for those last few lines of type. They cover the globe, both on land and sea.

Let's look at a few examples.

We find, among other things, that "Prices still soar in Turkey." Well, there goes that summer vacation in Istanbul, shot to thunder. Who would want to visit a land where prices still soar?

Keep Your Eye Pealed

Also, "The sea has washed up 70 $4 notes lost in a drain at Auckland, New Zealand." Next time you're down at the beach, be sure to keep an eye peeled for currency that's run aground. And let this serve as a reminder that a drain is a poor place to store your extra $4 notes.

Then there's the startler, "It is said that an electric refrigerator has 1,397 parts." Any husband who's ever tried to repair one would readily testify that there must be at least twice that number. And "Mexico has new money troubles." Yeah, Mexico—and a few million American husbands who have just bought the little woman a new spring outfit.

DOCTRINE DISPUTE FLARES AGAIN

Catholic Official Refuses Church Wedding For Couple

BOSTON, June 1. (AP)—A young GI student says he and his fiancee have been denied permission to wed in the Roman Catholic church because of their stand against Boston archdiocese authorities in a controversy on church doctrine.

Thomas H. Sennott, 26, said he and his intended bride, Miss Doris M. Coulombe, 22, were told by Msgr. Walter J. Furlong, chancellor of the archdiocese, yesterday that they could not be married in the church unless they severed connections with an educational institution in Cambridge.

Warning Sounded

The institution—St. Benedict's center—is headed by the Rev. Leonard Feeney, S. J., who recently was "silenced" by the most Rev. Richard J. Cushing, archbishop of Boston.

The archbishop has warned Catholics that participation in activities at the center would mean forfeiture of the right to receive certain church sacraments. The sacraments include penance and holy eucharist which are necessary to Catholics planning to be married in the church.

Sennott said he and Miss Coulombe had "no intention" of severing their connections with St. Benedict's. He added, however, that they would not be married outside the church.

Msgr. Furlong withheld any comment. No church official has made any comment on the subject.

Fr. Feeney was "silenced" shortly after he issued a statement in support of three instructors discharged by Boston college.

Salvation Is Issue

The instructors, who have been active at St. Benedict's, accused the school of heresy in teaching that there can be salvation outside the Catholic church.

Church authorities have stated that salvation is possible for non-Catholics under certain circumstances which are outlined in the Baltimore catechism.

The three teachers have appealed to Pope Pius XII for a decision. The only comment from the Vatican has been from an "unofficial spokesman" who reported such cases of dispute are within the jurisdiction of local ecclesiastical authorities.

Miss Coulombe and another girl, Evelyn J. Uberti, resigned from Emmanuel college, a Catholic girl's school, two weeks ago. They said instructors were teaching the same heresy they contend is taught at Boston college.

The girls were both seniors. They were to have been graduated this month.

Benny's Announcer Files For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, June 1 (AP)—Don Wilson, Jack Benny's radio announcer, has filed suit for divorce from his third wife on a charge of cruelty.

The complaint, filed yesterday, claims his wife's conduct has been detrimental to his health and work. She is the former Marusia Radunska, Polish beauty.

The couple married in Harrison, N. Y., Dec. 17, 1942, and separated last Monday. Wilson formerly was married to Mrs. Lucy Jane Wilson and to Peggy Ann Kent.

Wheat Treaty Okay Is Seen

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee called up the international wheat agreement today. All signs pointed to quick approval.

A complete lack of organized opposition to the wheat-selling plan is expected to speed the agreement to the senate for ratification. The committee meets at 1:30 p. m. (EST).

Under this plan, five producing nations agree to sell and 36 consuming nations agree to buy 450,000,000 bushels of wheat each crop year for the next four years. The top price would be $1.80 a bushel. The minimum would scale from $1.50 the first year to $1.20 in the fourth year.

Opposition to a similar plan last year came from the grain and milling trades. But their opposition has faded, with a surplus wheat crop in sight.

Is An Experiment

Administration spokesmen have said this sort of international plan for marketing surplus wheat may prove to be the way to handle other surplus crops. They regard it as an experiment.

All the large farm organizations are in favor of the agreement.

Senator Jenner (R-Ind) is a sharp critic of the agreement and has said he will oppose it.

Jenner says the plan will cost U. S. taxpayers millions of dollars each year because the wheat will sell below the price which the government guarantees to farmers. He said the taxpayers will have to make up the difference.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said the plan would cost about $84,000,000 a year in subsidies. He held this would be cheaper than a forced cutback in wheat acreage.

Veteran Nurse Dies In Waco Hospital

WACO, June 1 (AP)—Miss Hattie M. Thomas, 78, for 23 years superintendent of the Lamar county hospital at Paris, Tex., died here yesterday.

Death came to the veteran nurse in a Waco hospital. The last three and a half years she had made her home with a foster daughter, Mrs. Filbert Gale of Waco.

Miss Thomas was a member of the first class to graduate from the Sealey hospital school of nursing in Galveston in 1892. She lived for a number of years in San Antonio.

Margaret O'Brien's Mom Asks 3-Month Marriage Be Annuled

HOLLYWOOD, June 1. (AP)—Margaret O'Brien's mother wants to annul her three-months-old marriage to orchestra leader Don Sylvio but insists that the child star had nothing to do with the decision.

However, Mrs. Sylvio added last night that Margaret is very happy about the whole thing.

Margaret, who has been suspended from her $3,000 a week job at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer since shortly after the wedding, has made no secret of her dislike for her mother's marriage.

Upset During Wedding

Margaret stood weeping with fists clenched during the wedding rites last Feb. 22 in a Palm Beach hotel suite.

Afterward she refused to kiss Sylvio when photographers asked her. She wiped her eyes and smiled briefly for group pictures, and then began weeping again.

Margaret, whose father, Larry O'Brien, was killed shortly before her birth in an accident, had asked that her mother not remarry until she reached 14. She is 12.

Sylvio and Margaret's mother reportedly had planned to marry several times before but Margaret's tears had always dampened the plans.

After the wedding last February, Margaret and her mother left Florida the next day for Boston where the actress had an engagement, leaving Sylvio behind to lead his band.

The plans then called for Sylvio to join his bride out here in April but he apparently did not.

An MGM spokesman said that Margaret did not return to her studio job after the Boston engagement and as a result was suspended. He added that MGM moguls and Margaret's mother had been negotiating recently regarding her status but that he knew of no definite move to drop her or reinstate her.

Significant, however, was the fact that Mrs. Sylvio's planned annulment action was announced by MGM.

ABC Group To Visit Midland

If the ABC Boys' Club rodeo doesn't draw the largest attendance ever to witness this show it won't be because of lack of effort on the part of the ABC boosters.

This morning the second of a series of 'trade tours' left Lubbock bound for Midland and Big Spring. Like the kick-off tour to Hobbs, N. Mex., made by 14 western dressed ABC members Tuesday, the group today will stop at every community and town along the route.

Boosters Are Greeted

On the trip to Hobbs the boosters were greeted with interest at each stop. Two sound trucks supplied music and periodic announcements informed the crowds that gathered about the events they will see when the world champion rodeo opens at Jones stadium June 8.

While the music blared forth on the courthouse square each booster, armed with handbills, placards and toy whistles, went up and down the street visiting business houses or talking to each passerby.

In a few places a number of youngsters, eager for the whistles, volunteered their services to distribute the handbills in parked cars.

Rodeos Are Slated

Riding in a caravan of seven cars the trade tour maintained the prearranged schedule to within a few minutes. In some towns, such as Brownfield, Seagraves and Hobbs, the convoy was met by local sheriffs or police who acted as escorts.

Many of the towns through which the group passed have scheduled rodeos of their own during the month of June but there appeared to be no conflict of dates.

Most of the people approached said they planned to visit the show in Lubbock as well as their hometown rodeo.

The group making the trip to Hobbs was led by Larry Kennedy. Others were, Mrs. Kennedy, Dick and Johnnie Kennedy, Mr and Mrs. Bill McKenzie, Lewis Kerr, Dub Rushing, Cye Tankersley, Alton Taylor, Herb S Brown, John Sissom and Lawrence Haymes.

A group led by Fred Hinson will visit all places between Lubbock and Spur on Thursday and Friday will find a large group under the leadership of Frank McElroy leaving for Clovis.

The Lubbock boosters are scheduled to meet with the Clovis ABC for lunch Friday noon.

Northern Baptists Eye Name Changing

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (AP)—The Northern Baptist convention decides today whether to change its name—a regional designation resulting from a split over the slavery issue in 1845.

Delegates will vote on a recommendation by their committee of review to change the name to "The American Baptist Convention," in conformity with the titles of the organization's various societies.

Committee chairman Edwin T. Dahlberg, of Syracuse, N. Y., said the change would "widen our fellowship with those churches that today shrink from the territorial implications involved in the names northern and southern."

The Southern Baptists recently in convention in Oklahoma City, declared, they would no longer recognize any territorial differences between the southern and northern groups. Some Southern Baptist churches have been established in the north, but none from the Northern group has opened in the south.

The Southern Baptists broke away 104 years ago after the American Home Mission society declined to accept missionaries who held slaves.

Budget recommendations for fiscal 1949 total $6,167,000, or $882,700 less than last year.

The convention ends Friday.

TRAIN GETS TICKET

MERIDIAN, Miss. (U.P.)—A train got a parking ticket here. While the city was in the midst of a campaign against parking violations, a Southern Railway train stopped at a crossing inside the city. Police put a ticket on the train for blocking the street.

Area Woman Takes Oath As Attorney

Oath as an attorney was administered to Miss Patsy Smith of Sudan Tuesday afternoon by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue here.

The pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith of Ralls plans to enter law practice soon at Sudan.

She was graduated in January from Southern Methodist University School of Law, and was notified only this month that she had been admitted to the Texas bar. Taking the oath was the last prerequisite to actual practice, court officials here said.

The daughter of a Ralls gin operator was graduated from Ralls High school and, in 1946, was graduated with a B.A. degree from Texas Tech.

She will be the only woman practicing attorney in this entire section of the state, court officials said they believed.

Group Leaves Today On Trip To Mexico

Fifteen girls, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hayne, left today on a trip to Mexico City.

Girls going were Bettye Armstrong, Margaret Brown, Sandra Boydston, Margaret Barrier, Edda Lynne Cox, Francyne Cox, Laura Lou Bailey, Norma Edler, Sandra Toombes, Cynthia Ann Tankersley, Iris Brunson, Elizabeth Mitchell, Zita Martin, Pat Montgomery and Mary Duggan.

Side Tours Planned

The party was to go by chartered bus of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches to Dallas and will stay tonight in the Baker hotel. They will leave by a morning flight of American airlines Thursday for Mexico City, where they will stay three days at the Hotel Del Prado, then will go to Acapulco to spend two days at the Hotel De Las Americas. Then will return to Mexico City by American airlines and will stay overnight at the Hotel Del Prado before leaving by chartered limousines to Cuernavaca, then Taxco and to Lake Tesquesquitengo, where they will stay in the Hotel Hacienda Vista Hermosa two days. Then will return by chartered limousines to Mexico City and will take the Toltec flight from there to Monterrey, where they will spend one-half day before going by plane back to Dallas. The night of June 11 they will remain overnight at the Baker hotel and on June 12 they will return to Lubbock by chartered bus.

Three Injured As Auto Flips

Six persons miraculously escaped death or serious injury early Tuesday night when a late model club coupe in which they were riding blew a rear tire and overturned twice on the Idalou highway, about 7 miles from Lubbock.

The car was the last of seven in a convoy en route from Lorenzo to Mackenzie State park in Lubbock for a family get-together and picnic, one of the party said.

Lorenzo Man Injured

Three of the passengers in the club coupe were carried to Lubbock Memorial hospital for treatment of injuries.

George Hargrove, about 50, of Lorenzo, was treated for bruises and abrasions of the back, and was admitted to the hospital for further observation of the injured back.

His son-in-law, C. P. Butler, 29, of Blessing, suffered a cut on the back of his right hand. Mrs. Roy Huckabee, 26, of Lorenzo route 1, was treated for bruises and abrasions of the back and ribs.

Roy Huckabee, Mrs. George Hargrove and another woman in the car were not injured.

When the tire blew out, the car skidded and turned over twice onto the right side of the highway. It came to rest on its wheels, but was facing in the opposite direction in which it had been traveling. The top of the vehicle was damaged considerably, and one glass was broken out in the accident.

HOUSE WRECKING VETOED

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U.P.)—A bill providing heavy penalties for persons who tear down a dwelling in 1949 passed the house of the Rhode Island legislature. The measure was advocated because of the housing shortage.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Archie, Master Of Insults, Finds Panning Guests Pays.

HOLLYWOOD, June 1—Hollywood has had its professional ribbers from time to time, but no one has made insults pay off quite like Ed "Archie" Gardner on his "Duffy's Tavern" radio show.

Johnson

Archie has insulted 'em all—from Oscar winners to Metropolitan opera stars to the idols of bobby-soxers.

Some of them love it as a welcome change.

Others have demanded changes in the script.

Here are some of Archie's best insults:

Rudy Vallee was introduced as a radio star of the old silent days—"sort of a prehistoric Perry Como."

"Remember the time you bought a crystal set and thought there was something wrong with it?" asked Archie. "Well, Vallee was the guy."

He defined Lauren Bacall as "the dame with the husky, throaty voice, like Tallulah Bankhead on a clear day. She inspired the 'Lauren' in laurengitis'."

Of Arthur Treacher, Archie said:

"Some guys go around looking as though they smelled something bad, but Treacher looks like he's found it."

Of Frank Sinatra:

"There's a thin line between singing and crooning, and that thin line is known as Sinatra. He makes the bobby-soxers swoon because his voice sounds better when the listener is unconscious.

"How can they dare say every week that this guy is so round, so firm and so fully packed?" (When Frank had that cigaret sponsor).

• • •

De-Glamorizer

Archie dubbed Hildegarde as "the rich man's Cass Daly" and Marlene Dietrich "the baritone Margaret Truman."

"Actually," added Archie, "I'm very fond of Marlene. With them legs, she's made more successful crossings than the Matson Line.

They've earned her a couple of million bucks and you've gotta admit that's pretty good pin money."

When Archie asked Dinah Shore how long she had been away from Duffy's Tavern, she answered:

"Two years, eleven months, three weeks, two days, seven hours and 22 minutes." When he chided her for counting, she quipped: "I always county my blessings."

He told Helen Traubel, the opera star, that in the tavern visitors had a choice of their one-dish menu. "And judging by appearances," he said, "I think you've been taking it when you should have been leaving it."

But Ed can take it, too.

Visiting guests have had their retaliatory licks.

Humphrey Bogart told Archie: "I've experienced many killings in my movie career, but this is the first time I've watched a guy bump off a language."

When Archie told Gertrude Lawrence that he was her new Noel Coward, she replied: "You're half right."

He once urged Sophie Tucker to make a picture with him. Said he, "Sophie, Hollywood is calling you."

She replied: "If you make the picture, I can hear what they're calling me."

Leo Carrillo signed for a new film version of "Pancho Villa," to be filmed in Mexico this summer. The picture will have the cooperation of the Mexican government and will be made in separate English and Spanish versions .

Howard Hughes and the producers' association in another rassle over Hughes' ad campaign on "The Outlaw." . . . Two intriguing film titles coming up: "Born to Hang" and "You Only Love Twice."

• • •

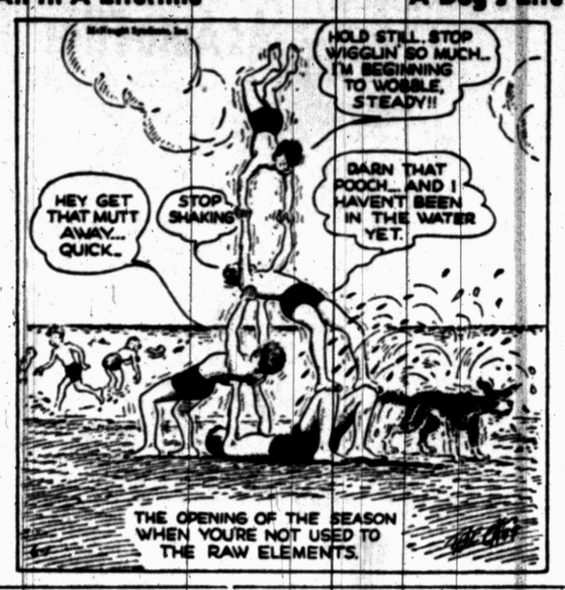

Eve Arden says no more Eve Arden-type roles for her.

"Every time a writer needs a wise-cracking secretary or somebody's girl friend, he says: 'It's a typical Eve Arden part.' Then they hire Eve Arden. Well, from now on they won't get Eve Arden. They'll have to hire somebody else."

Hollywood finally kids itself about western pictures. "Grand Canyon" will be a satire on a film company making a western. One scene will show the hero getting aboard his horse via a ladder. It's really happened in the Beverly Hills.

Newspapermen Watch Caesarean Delivery Of Child By Color Television Receiver

PHILADELPHIA, June 1 (AP) — A group of newspaper men and women yesterday watched by color television receivers the caesarean delivery of a girl at the University of Pennsylvania hospital.

The demonstration, sponsored by Smith, Kline & French Laboratories, Inc., was described as the first public viewing of surgery by color television.

The university's director of surgical research, Dr. I. S. Ravdin, said the television audience "saw more of the operation than the surgeon's assistants and nurses in the operating room" three floors away.

Closed Circuit System

Officials of the Columbia Broadcasting system, which designed the television equipment used, and Zenith Radio Corp., manufacturers of the receiver, said the demonstration was not color television comparable with the present reception of a black and white picture.

The equipment was specially designed for closed circuit operation and is intended primarily for surgical instruction in medical schools.

Smith, Kline & French laboratories said they plan similar demonstrations at the American Medical association convention at Atlantic City, N. J., next week.

President Eugene F. MacDonald, jr., of Zenith, emphasized the demonstration "does not mean the coming of color television for the public." He pointed out the picture of the operation was not broadcast but was carried by telephone wires from operating room to the viewers in the same building.

Progress Made In Treatment Of Most Severe Rheumatism

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 1.—The blood of mothers who have just had babies has stopped rheumatoid arthritis, cruelest of all forms of rheumatism.

This was reported to the seventh international congress on rheumatic diseases here today by Dr. L. W. Granirer, of New York.

The relief, he said, was temporary but lasted sometimes from three to twelve weeks. Stiffened joints eased, pain and swellings went down. All patients gained weight. Best results were on people for whom gold salts had failed. Gold is one of the numerous treatments for rheumatoid arthritis.

New Hormones Used

The cause of this form of rheumatism is unknown, but in a Mayo clinic report yesterday there was a possible explanation for the effectiveness of mother's blood.

The Mayo doctors and five other American medical centers have treated 20 persons with this form of arthrities, using a newly discovered hormone from the adrenal glands, which are in the small of the human back. They and the others said the results were surprising. Everyone got better:

Lik those on mother's blood, they got better only temporarily, although one woman has been practically well for four months. The Mayo and mother's blood work tie together because during pregnancy women produce more hormones.

Compound Scarce

At the Mayo clinic one reason for trying the hormone was the known good effects of mother's blood. Blood carries all the hormones the body makes.

The new hormone is called compound E, a discovery of Dr. Edward C. Kendall of the Mayo clinic.

In the entire world, the Mayo men said, there is now only enough of this harmone to treat 20 human beings. Merck & Company, Rahway, N. J., manufacture it, and hope by next year to have enough to treat some thousands. The making is partly synthetic, incliding 30 chemical steps, and at present quantity production is not possible.

A spot in the Assam hills of India is believed to have the heaviest rainfall on earth, totalling 50 or 60 feet a year.

Walkout May Tie Up Capital Construction

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP) — A strike of 5,000 AFL carpenters today threatened a tieup of virtually all commercial construction in the nation's capital.

By week's end the absence of carpenters will force the layoff of about 15,000 other AFL building mechanics and laborers, according to industry leaders. Work on projects costing an estimated $75,000,000 would halt.

The strike resulted from a contract dispute between the Carpenters' District council and the Master Builders'

We don't agree with a brother columnist who suggests a $5 federal tax be slapped on every after-dinner speech.

It's unconstitutional to tax anything at from 200 to 1,000 times its value!

IN our schools and colleges, youngsters are forced to learn many things which they promptly forget, because they never use the knowledge in their daily lives.

We are not one who contends that only technical, usable subjects should be taught the youth of the land. Instead, we agree with the theory that all learning is good and stimulates the mind: that no matter what one learns and never uses, all is not waste of time and effort.

But it occurs to us, as it must to others, that some of the non-essential instruction might well give way to some essential learning—learning which is useful after school days are over and which is not now being ladled out to our young.

As an example of essential instruction which, to our knowledge, has never been formally undertaken we submit a very simple thing, to wit: the use of a telephone.

Everybody with the exception of a very few physically handicapped people uses the telephone. All of us use it frequently. Many of us use it as we use our knives and forks—as a part of our living.

Therefore, it seems to us that all of us should know how properly to use the telephone—and the best way for all to learn anything is by way of the public schools.

☆ ☆ ☆

IN "learning to use the telephone" we are not referring to learning how to put in a long-distance call; or how to give a number to an operator; or how to find a number in the book, or even how to operate a dial.

People learn these things for themselves.

What we are referring to is telephone etiquette—or, if you please, telephone manners—which some people do learn for themselves, but which some other people never learn.

As a result, those who never learn go through life irritating others. By irritating others, they often fail in making proper contacts—social and business—which they otherwise would make with better telephone approach.

A great many otherwise smart and observant people never learn how to use a phone without putting their worst foot forward.

One of Lubbock's most prominent and smartest men dials a number and when his party answers he bawls: "Whooze tawkin'?" Another we know answers his phone by growling, "Yeah?"

Youngsters are offenders, too, as any parent knows who has a 'teen-age kid whose friends suffer from telephone-itis. Some of them forget to ask for the party to whom they wish to speak, and otherwise show need for instruction.

☆ ☆ ☆

IN addition to knowing how to use the telephone vocally, people also need to know when to use the instruments.

People should be taught to make business calls during business hours. They should have their desires in mind when they make a call, in order not to unnecessarily prolong it.

They should remember that a telephone interruption is just as complete as any other sort of interruption, and refrain from disturbing others with calls at times when they wouldn't think of disturbing them by a ring, or knock on the front door.

Early risers should remember that all people don't get up early. Late sitter-uppers should remember that the object of their call might be asleep and then not make the call unless absolutely necessary.

In fact, there are many angles to the proper employment of Mr. Bell's invention which should be impressed upon us. The sooner the schools recognize the fact that they are missing the boat by not offering proper telephone instruction, the better off we'll all be.

☆ ☆ ☆

Sudden Thought: Only a highly accomplished worrier should undertake the enormous job of worrying about something so big and so chaotic as China.

☆ ☆ ☆

That Man on Avenue Q says children are little people who are constantly bawled out for acting like their parents did at the same age.

From the Salt Lake City Desert News:

"The couple was married last Tuesday, thus ending a friendship which began in their school days."

Whoops!

THE current issue of Fortune magazine, after a survey of seniors in 18 representative American colleges, comes up with the alarming report that only two per cent of young men graduating this year have any plans, or desire, to go into business for themselves.

According to Fortune, most of this year's male graduates are interested only in "security." In fact, says Fortune, the interest in security among 1940 college graduates is 'extraordinary."

Only in the Southwest (Texas and Oklahoma) are a majority of the 49-ers thinking about striking out on their own, the survey shows. Among the Longhorns and the Sooners, 60 per cent still have the spizzerinctum of earlier American generations—are willing to try slugging it out on their own hind legs.

Elsewhere, 98 per cent of the boys are seeking employment in big business with longevity of employment their main goal.

That is not a good picture.

But it represents the fruits of the sort of political philosophy under which these young people have been nurtured throughout most of their years.

They have been told, in dulcet tones, that the way to get along is to work less for more day-by-day pay; to enjoy "the more abundant life" by letting somebody else pay taxes to be used for government handouts to them and theirs.

They have seen the tax structure pyramided to the point where it discourages financial risk. They have learned that in the eyes of the politicians, the successful businessman has become fair game for treasury raids and that the more people a business employs, the more of a "public enemy" it becomes.

FORTUNE'S survey indicates that as a nation we are beginning to pay the fiddler; that there's still truth in the old saw which says that if you use enough silken thread (in this case of socialistic paternalism in government) you can bind down the strongest giant.

It isn't a happy thought that the "tax and tax and tax, spend and spend and spend" philosophy of the New Deal has turned our people from a rugged clan of individualists into a group seeking only to "get by." But that's the only sort of thought which possibly can arise after a contemplation of the Fortune survey of this year's male college graduates.

The picture certainly indicates that it's time for us to sober up, politically and sociologically, and put the accent where it belongs, on individual effort, hard work and the will to get somewhere without a prop in the form of government handouts.

BY DREW PEARSON: FLOYD ODLUM OPERATES BACKSTAGE IN TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION

Wall Streeter Pushes His Men In Key Positions

WASHINGTON — One of the most important and amazing aspects of the congressional furor over B-36's probably won't be touched on by the House armed services committee. It is the manner in which ingratiating, likable Floyd Odlum, son of a Michigan preacher who became the barefoot boy of Wall street, has become a gentleman of backstage importance in the Truman administration.

PEARSON

Also important is the manner in which Mr. Odlum has sucked various big corporations under his control, sometimes by buying up directors.

Yet Floyd Odlum was called to the White House not long ago and offered the job of chairman of the National Security Resources board, the vitally important job for which the Senate recently turned down Ex-Gov. Wallgren of Washington. It has also been reported that Odlum is now being considered as secretary of commerce.

Just how Mr. Odlum worked his way into White House graces is not definitely known—but his campaign contributions may be one clue to the mystery.

Furthermore, Odlum's friends have a habit of reaching into the government and pulling wires to get his men appointed to key positions. For instance, Curtis Calder, head of the giant Electric Bond and Share (long dominated by Odlum), has now been offered the post of secretary of the Army—which controls the Army engineers, who in turn control the government's big power dams. These big dams, of course, vitally affect Electric Bond and Share.

Again, Odlum forces have been maneuvering behind the scenes to have Richard Patterson, now ambassador to Guatemala, transferred to be ambassador to Argentina. Reason: Patterson is a director of one of Odlum's subholding corporations. Odlum's Electric Bond and Share invested $37,000,000 in Argentine utility companies. Therefore Odlum wants someone in the American embassy in Buenos Aires to cope with President Peron, who has already taken them over.

• • •

Secret Argentine Deal

Incidentally, the Electric Bond and Share investments in Argentina were made by Odlum without the knowledge of its stockholders, who now are irate and indignant. And it's significant that in 1928 Curtis Calder wrote his chief accountant a confidential letter instructing him to enter the $37,000,000 advanced to Odlum to buy Argentine utilities in such a way that it would be camouflaged on the company's books.

This is the man—Curtis Calder—whom President Truman and Floyd Odlum now want to make secretary of the Army. Incidentally, Calder's letter is in the official files of the Securities and Exchange commission and can be secured by the armed services committee in 15 minutes.

• • •

ALSO in SEC files is other significant data regarding the powerful gentleman who pulls wires backstage in the Truman administration. Those files show how Odlum paid $100,000 to Ed Hutton and $29,646.35 to David G. Baird in 1931 to get them to turn the Chatham Phenix Allied corporation over to Odlum's Atlas corporation. Hutton was a director of Chatham Phenix, and the $100,000 he received from Odlum amounted to a so-called "commission" to use his influence against the stockholders he was supposed to represent.

In the end, Odlum's Atlas Corp. got Chatham Phenix Allied Corp. for only $8,367,300, which money was actually advanced to Odlum by the Chatham Phenix bank, and when the deal was all finished in 1933 the stockholders, as usual, came out on the hairy end of the lollypop. They got $15.31 for stock which had cost them $27.

Not even Jay Gould or the elder J. P. Morgan in their lushest days ever pulled a deal like that.

Again SEC records show that Odlum in 1930 paid secret fees to five directors of the All America General corporation, thereby managing to absorb the company into his own Atlas Corp. So secret were these so-called "commissions" that none of the five directors knew the others were getting paid by Atlas, and each thought his own persuasive arguments were convincing the others to join Atlas.

The SEC uses strong language in condemning this practice, making it appear that what Odlum paid, in less elegant language, would be called bribes. The directors of All America secretly subsidized by Odlum to vote for him and against the interests of their stockholders were:

C. Shelby Carter, $46,000; Richard B. Scandrett, $22,700; J. W. Campbell, $38,500; Harold C. Richard, $77,000, and C. H. Nichols, $16,170.

As a result of this sleight-of-hand, the stockholders once again came out on the hairy end of the lollypop. The exchange of stock worked out by All America's directors with Odlum's Atlas cost them a "gross loss in asset values of approximately $470,000," according to the SEC.

"However," continues the SEC, "an aggregate of $200,370 was paid to Messrs. Carter, Scandrett, Campbell, Richard and Nichols as commissions for their efforts in recommending exchange transfers."

• • •

Politics And B-36?

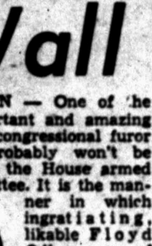

This columnist, after exhaustive research, has come to the conclusion that Odlum's financial godfathering of the Truman campaign and his attorney's fees to Defense Secretary Louis Johnson had absolutely nothing to do with purchases of the B-36 from Odlum's Consolidated Vultee aircraft. The switch to B-36's was decided by a board of officers after months of research, readjustment and flying. Politics had nothing to do with it.

However, the backstage operations of Floyd Odlum are highly important and will continue to be important. The American public has a right to know about them. The American public also has a right to know about the myth, built up around the Army and Navy, that men with Wall street backgrounds are best qualified to operate the Army and Navy. The most dangerous thing about some of these gentlemen is that their backgrounds undermine public confidence in national defense.

Trends In American Life Are Reflected By Nation's Jokes

THREE Decades of Jollity—The Twenties opened with every joke-writer making almost as good a living out of Prohibition jokes as bootleggers mined in the Silliest Amendment. 1921 fetched the flapper, and the mouthings of the fresh young thing assailed you from the mags and the vaude stages. A year later, Eugene O'Neill put some language he had picked up at sea into his hits, and a crack like "go to hell" was getting more attention than than chorus gels with no clothes on, or anyway, just a few. The Prince of Wales acted like a real prince all during 1923, obliging with a fall off his horse on a dull day to land right into some sweating gag-writer's copy.

Harding took the big portfolio in 1924, and Florida began selling land by the karat. You could build a whole comedy that year around a poke about the capitalist who owned a flower pot in Palm Beach. Two years later they were laughing at the people who believed it. Noel Coward gave a worldly, international tone to joke-telling in 1925, his imports being aped in such a wicked way that you began wondering if your aunt was really nice. The decade reached its cockeyedest point in 1926, and Daddy Browning inspired one good joke (unprintable) and a million variations of a sick one.

• • •

CAL. COOLIDGE, who occasionally spoke up notwithstanding all reports, muttered in 1927 that "I do not choose to run" and lifted mortgages for a mob of grateful jokesters. In 1928, the last year the American people used their pockets, the Chicago mobsters fed the humorists by shooting pedestrians just to sharpen up their marksmanship. It was kind of gory joking, but we were a calloused bunch. We had to be to survive what happened a few months later.

The laughter got good and gruesome in 1929, with all the punch lines dealing with the Wall Street crash. The popular type of yock dealt with the market victims who were suiciding from high places. And it was grim for the merry-makers in 1930, too. Their best sources were apple sellers, flagpole-sitters and marathon dancers. Poverty had become almost as funny as a slip on a banana peel. Corruption was the 1931 feeder to the wags, and we were all holding our sides over cracks about having the best judges money could buy.

• • •

PRES. HOOVER'S partyplug about "two cars in every garage" came back to haunt him all during 1932 in the form of belly-laughs. And we were all so carefree in 1933 that we saw a hilarious situation in the bank failures. For sheer wit you could not top anything that reported a pal's loss of his life's savings . . . An ugly furriner named Hitler, who ranted like a Saturday night Bowery drunk, struck us all as much more comical than Bobby Clark. While we were howling at his 1934 comicalities he ducked off to Austria and assassinated Dolfus and gave some of us reason to stop laughing. It was better in 1935, when H'wood was the patsy, made so by a comedy called "Boy Meets Girl," when that title became part of the slanguage.

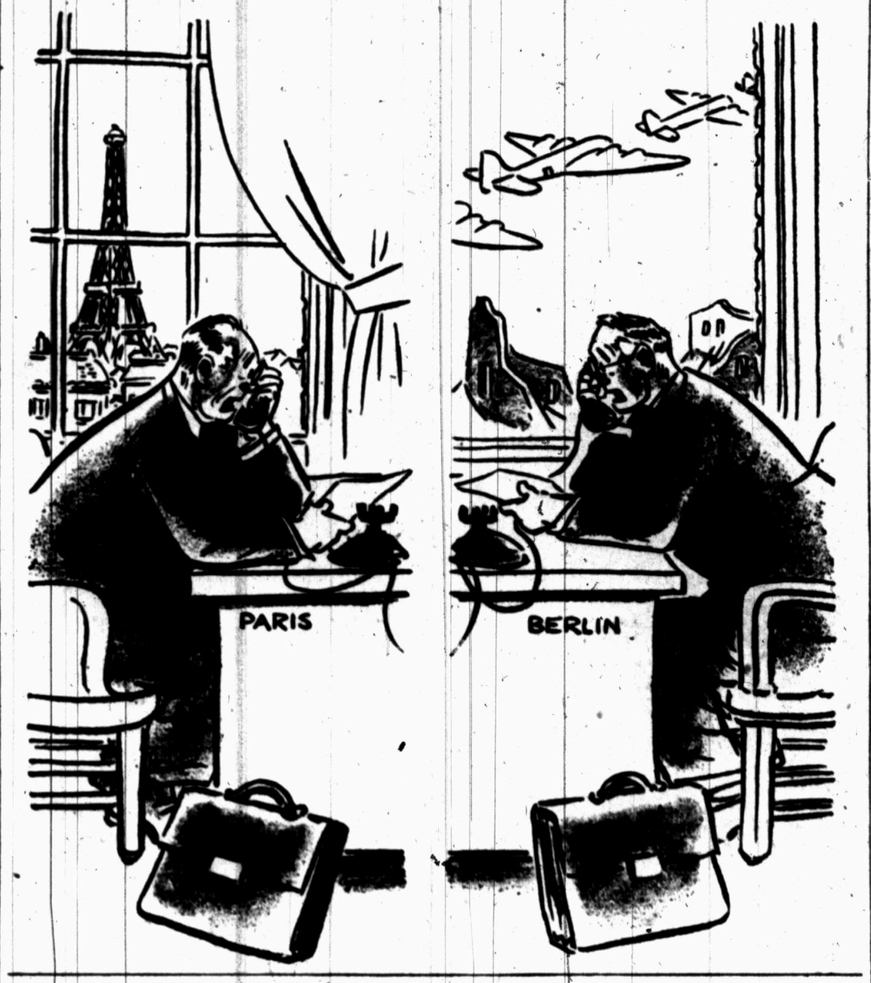

• • •

Two sleepers, Maine and Vermont, were the comic inspiration of 1936. These two states were the complete catch of an amiable Kansan named Alf Landon, who had been kidded into pacing a walkaway for FDR. . . The WPA workers kept comedy coiners off the relief rolls in 1937. . . You could wow the party by reporting that a man leaning on a shovel wasn't a statue but a WPA toiler. The pickings were very meager in the joke pits in 1938, but along came Wrong-Way Corrigan to fly West and land in Ireland. The big nugget in 1939 was the sweater girl, which made it a big year for the smirk, too. The sweater girl is getting pretty matronly after 10 years but not nearly so matronly as the gag itself.

• • •

THERE'S NEVER been a poorer year for wags than 1940. Things were so tough then that the pert paragraphers and radio authors were having fun with Europe's phony war. My, they were sarcastic! A year later, when the blitz came and the Nazi big parade, these amusing characters wished they had kept their silly traps shut. There were no joking matters in 1941. We were in the scrap ourselves in 1942, and out of the 1917 kits came all the old wheezes about draft exemptions. They were pretty beat-up looking, but they helped a lot until the kissers got rid of their gloom.

Idle Casket-Makers Provide New Problem For Washington

NEW YORK, June 1 — There is no way to duck the issue, people are living longer. A government survey, according to the Wall Street Journal, shows that the national death rate is down 2 per cent over last year, and the figure threatens to jump as fresh advances are made in medical science.

RUARK

This, ordinarily, would be a cheary item, except that it is kicking the stuffing out of economy in the casket-making business. According to the Journal, production has declined among the casket builders, chiefly because funeral directors overbought last year and are, in consequence, over-inventoried.

This is obviously a challenge to the government, which has in past endeavored to plug all the chinks in the leaky dike of demand. Why should a casket manufacturer be the forgotten man in a managed economy?

• • •

Must Be Protected

Is the fellow who builds your final couch less deserving than the farmers, the shipowners, the airlines, the myriad recipients of government financial aid for maladjusted business? Agriculture Chief Brannen has some fantastic scheme to keep the wheat-grower happy. Is he not the man to administer a program shaped to aid the fellow who does direct business with the boss reaper?

When and if Mr. Truman's medical program is passed, at goodness knows what annual cost, the White House then must inspect the program's impact on other industry. As people get healthier and healthier, there will be less and less demand for undertakers, casket-makers, florists, grave diggers and the other folk who earn their living from a grim but necessary line of work.

No comfort here for the fellow who predicates his investment on the stark fact that every man shares a common destination. Death is now in process of becoming less certain than taxes. The casket-builders are speedily entering a state where they may see an increasing lapse of time between customers. They must be protected, if our planned economy is to tip equally on the scales.

• • •

I RECALL, from the depression days, that the tremendous brain of Henry Wallace came up with a solution for excessive production of pigs. In those days we killed the little pigs to stablize pork. We burned grain. We encourage the farmer not to plant.

It is only my opinion, doubtless unshared by Mr. Truman's council of economic advisers, that such a scheme cannot possibly work as counter-balance to the plight of the mortuary men. Even if the victims are politically opposed to the administration, no Democrat would dare advocate the plowing under of people. Not if he had his eye on the vote.

• • •

Problem For Washington

In my observation of mankind I have also reached the conclusion that you dare not admonish him to cease breeding, in order to keep the economists happy. This stubbornness of the taxpayer poses a very real problem for the administration.

No economist, I, there will be no attempt to solve this problem for the paternal government which has underwritten our existence. This one I leave squarely in the lap of Washington. With a baleful postscript.

Casket-confectors have votes. They live off a mathematical certainty. Their business is now in process of shrinkage, even as the auto ate into the buggy-whip and harness business. Something must be done.

Shall we grant them a subsidy? Shall we abandon the program to make people healthier, thereby chopping demand in a specialized field? I don't know. This is one for the experts.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"I GUESS I'm just at the awkward age," I recently heard a woman nearer 40 than 30 remark. I'm too old to be a young woman and too young to want to give in to being middle-aged."

She's right. There is an "awkward age" for women. It is when they are approaching middle-age.

MILLETT

It's an awkward time for a number of reasons. They suddenly realize that one type of clothes and hair styles is too young for them and what is offered the "mature woman" makes them feel too old.

So it's at this time that they say discontentedly, "If I could only figure out a new way to wear my hair," and drive saleswomen crazy by objecting to everything they try on: "It's too young," or "It looks so matronly."

Their social life may be just as unsatisfactory. They may try hard to be young and gay at parties, only to discover they don't carry it off too well. On the other hand, they're not yet ready to accept without a struggle the fact that they are settled, middle-aged women and might as well start acting like it.

PATTERN CHANGES

THE AGE may be awkward as far as their pattern of living goes, too. They no longer belong to the young married crowd who can be gay about living on a shoestring and big plans for the future. They are at the age when they begin to "want things nice"—and yet they may not be able to live the way they feel they should.

It's at this time, too, that a woman faces the problem of finding some satisfying outside interests. Her children are probably all of school age and she knows she needs some outside activity. But just what shall it be?

So don't feel you are alone if you are facing these problems now. Just conclude that you are at the "awkward age" and realize that you'll work your way out of it. After all, you came through adolescence to young womanhood. And you will come through the awkward age to a contented middle-age, too.

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

THERE was a bit of a mystery in Cambridge, Mass., some years ago, and Charles Morton, of the Atlantic Monthly, tells how it was solved. One of the town's leading churches boasted a clock with a fine set of chimes that rang out perfectly every hour on the hour. Perfectly, that is, twenty-three hours out of the twenty-four. At midnight, folks noticed that the chimes were ringing thirteen times!

The mechanism was checked and rechecked to no avail. Then one canny inspector noted that the church adjoined one of the dormitories of fair Harvard. He established an outpost in the belfry and trained his binoculars on the dormitor, windows.

Sure enough, as the first chimes of midnight rang out, a light went on in one of the windows and disclosed a whimsical undergraduater, equipped with a .22 rifle and a homemade silencer. As the twelfth chime of the clock sounded automatically, the undergraduate took careful aim and added the thirteenth for luck.

Today's Journal Editorial

WORTH CAREFUL STUDY

If finances will permit, it obviously would be preferable to adopt a plan of extending the Lubbock city limits which would embrace large areas and obtain as much regularity of the municipal boundaries as practical considerations will permit.

Largely through force of financial necessity, the plan has been followed during recent years of annexing new areas in small chunks. The result has been to create boundaries which wind and twist in degrees that border upon the incredible. Few cities anywhere could be much more mis-shapen than Lubbock is now.

It remains to be seen whether it will be practical, for several reasons, to altar the present system and to annex large areas. One most important consideration is the financing, with the possibility that a bond issue might be necessary to provide the services annexed areas should have, if they become an official part of Lubbock. Perhaps the residents of Lubbock aren't ready to approve large scale expansions at that price. But the plan deserves the investigation the City commission has promised to give it before it is adopted or rejected.

Southern Presbyterians Reject Move To Quit Federal Council

MONTREAT, N. C., June 1. (AP)—The Southern Presbyterian church's general assembly has rejected a move to withdraw from the Federal Council of Churches on the grounds that "it was leftist."

The assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. last night named its first general council and set up a $4,000,000 goal for 1950-51 on behalf of church agencies and benevolent causes.

This new council will direct the reorganization of the church's agencies and benevolent causes.

This new council will direct the reorganization of the church's agencies and committees and act as a governing body between sessions of the general assembly.

Faced with an adjournment by today, the assembly spent nearly 13 hours yesterday debating and acting on a mountainous pile of work. Still pending before the assembly, however, are the reports of nearly a dozen committees.

Cooperation Endorsed

By the time the day ended they had endorsed greater cooperation with the Presbyterian church of the U. S. A. (North), with a view toward ending the division which began with the war between the states in 1861.

The assembly turned down overtures from the Presbyteries of Knoxville, Tenn., and Meridian, Miss., to withdraw from the federal council. These overtures charged that the council advocated non-segregation of the races and was a political pressure group.

During a floor discussion on the matter of council membership, one speaker, supported by others, argued that the southern church "is being lead to the left."

To this view the Rev. John M. Alexander of Atlanta objected. He declared that while the council sometimes took a stand coutrary to the beliefs of the southern church, the latter was free to dissassociate itself from that stand and often did so.

Debate Is Heated

The matter of dealing with council membership was presented by the committee on inter-church relations, the same committee that recommended increased cooperation with the northern denomination.

The recommendation of this committee, headed by Dr. J. N. Thomas of Richmond, Va., urged joint meetings and cooperation on all levels of the two churches, north and south.

In the debate, speaker after speaker contended that such cooperation would amount to prounion propaganda. They said a moratorium had been placed on agitation for reunion by the 1948 assembly.

Dr. Charles L. King of Houston asserted that the 1948 assembly intended only to "hold in abeyance for five years discussion of the plan of the union."

Dr. King said that the specific recommendations of the 1948 assembly demanded closer cooperation with the northern church.

The subject of racial segregation did not come up during the discussion of withdrawal from the federal council.

Consolidated Vultee Corp., maker of the B-36.

Van Zandt said he had heard Symington plans to resign before long to head a big aircraft combine controlled by Odlum.

Johnson, Van Zandt added, was an official of Consolidated Vultee until not long before he became secretary of defense in March. And, he said, Odlum was active last fall in helping Johnson raise funds for the Democratic party campaign.

Symington promptly welcomed the investigation, and said Van Zandt's accusations were false. There has been no comment yet from the others.

Vinson said the probe, approved unanimously, would be "no white wash investigation."

Oh My Itching Back No Problem To Bee

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 1. (U.P.)—A bee reacts much like a human being when he gets an itch in the middle of his back.

He gets another bee to scratch it.

V. G. Milum, University of Illinois professor, made that observation after a long study of the habits of worker bees which were encased in glass-sided hives.

Milum said the bee is able to cleanse most of the pollen from his body by brushing it off with his legs, antennae and pollen combs. But there still are parts of his body he can't reach. So the bee goes into what Milum calls a "grooming dance," the equivalent of asking someone to scratch your back.

If the dance is convincing enough, another bee—Milum calls him a "barber" bee—will lend a hand by brushing off the pollen in the inaccessible parts of the "customer's body.

as scrap.' There you are, Buster. Now you know how to dispose of that train engine you've been hiding in the cellar.

A Housing Problem

Next, "A family living in a cave near Sydney, Australia, pays $5 a week rent." And we Lubbockites think we have a housing problem.

In case you're thinking of whipping up a Mexican dinner, "Argentina has 1,500 tons of pink garlic to export by August 1."

And if you've been pitying the war-ravaged Greeks, you'll be stunned to learn that "Greek bank employes now get overtime after a 36-hour week."

If you need a job, "East Africa lacks stenographers."

And, animal lovers, "A goat at Chelmsford, England, had quadruplets."

The Same Old Line

Another filler states that "The richest lead deposit in Southern Rhodesia has been found near Umtali." So if you need any sinkers for your fishing tackle, drop by Umtali on your way to the lake next Sunday.

"Yugoslavia reports that its first fountain pens, now being manufactured are 'cheap, simple and of good quality'." Sounds like the same old line the ball-point pen salesmen use.

And, to bring the list to a close, there was that one-line sparkler, "Israel had a brewery strike." You may write your own punch line (no pun intended) for that one.

Safety Man Forgets What He's Teaching

CHICAGO, June 1. (U.P.)—Vivacious 7-year-old Barbara Schmidt saw a dignified, well-dressed man walking up the middle of the street trying to hail a cab.

"You should know better than that," she scolded. "You're not supposed to walk in the street. You might get hurt."

"You're right," the man said. "I'm very sorry."

He was Ned Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council.

Russia claims to have 29,000 citizens over 100 years old. Moscow reports.

Woman Follows Doctor's Orders, Walks 20 Miles Every Two Weeks For Checkup

NEW ORLEANS, June 1 (U.P.)—Mrs. Amelia Brendon, 41-year-old housewife, figured she had better follow doctors' orders when they told her to come back here every two weeks for a checkup following a serious operation.

That was, last December. Yesterday, when Mrs. Brendon appeared for her 12th checkup, nurses learned for the first time that she had been walking every foot of the way from her home in Barataria, La., 20 miles away.

She walked back again each time, too.

Mrs. Brendon said she didn't have the money for a bus ticket so she started her hike at 4 a. m. to get here on time.

Yesterday nurses took up a collection to pay her fare home, and a social service agency began investigating the case to see if a ride can be provided.

Stillwater Police To Ban "Courtesy"

STILLWATER, Okla., June 1 (AP)—The Stillwater Police department has been too courteous—so it's going to stop. Mayor A. B. Alcott has ordered police to discontinue the courtesy of inserting coins in parking meters for motorists who leave the money attached to windshield wipers.

It seems motorists would not slug the meters when they park. Instead, they leave the coins for the officers—thus getting free time.

QUEER FISH CAUGHT

A fish with a head like a cat, what appear to be four legs with paws and claws, green eyes, and fur on its body, was caught by a woman in Hawksbury River, New South Wales, Australia.

Negro Goes On Shooting Spree, Killing Two, Wounding Three

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 1 (INS)—A negro World War I veteran went on a murder rampage in south Phoenix today and killed the parents of eight children before he was shot to death by sheriff's deputies.

Before police arrived, the crazed gunman, E. C. Washington, 43, seriously wounded three children as he blazed away with two pistols.

Dead were Mr. and Mrs. Feliz Jaso.

Authorities said that Washington started his rampage in the home of Rafaele Mendoza, 18. He dragged the girl out of the house and shot her in the abdomen. She was not expected to live.

Shot Through Window

Washington then ran across the street to the Jaso home. Through a window he pumped bullet after bullet into the front room.

Jaso and his wife, Francisca, were killed instantly.

Two of their children, aged 9 and 3, were seriously wounded.

The Jasos' six other children escaped the murderous gunfire.

Deputy sheriffs cornered Washington in a garage and ordered him out. He emerged firing both pistols. In their seventh return volley, the deputies shot and killed him.

General Gets Offer To Be Jap's Brother

TOKYO, June 1 — Of hte 400,000 fan letters received by Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Japanese, one stands out.

It is from Masashige Takahashi. He approved the Allied occupation commander's work so enthusiastically that he wound up asking MacArthur to become his brother.

There is no record of MacArthur's reply.

FOUR MILLION DISPLACED

NEW DELHI, June 1 (AP) — A census recently taken by the rehabilitation ministry places the total number of displaced persons from west Pakistan at 4,412,000. On the basis of claims filed, these displaced persons have abandoned properties with $11,787,000,000.

Germany, once a principal supplier of Italy, now supplies only about two per cent of Italy's commodity imports, Rome reports.
