Volcano's Lava Spews Over Isle

MANILA (AP) — The Taal Volcano erupted early this morning with an earth shattering roar and pulsed through the day with blasts every five minutes.

The 12.5-square-mile island around the long-dormant volcano was more than half covered with lava, ash and steaming mud. The fate of its 2,000 inhabitants was unknown 15 hours after the initial blast sent flames and smoke towering 15,000 feet in the air.

The Philippine constabulary said it had not been able to establish contact with the island—a scenic beauty spot in the middle of a lake on the tip of Luzon, 40 miles south of Manila.

A handful of refugees from the island were known to have made it to safety across the lake. Others were reported to have drowned in boats that capsized as they frantically tried to flee. Still others may be alive on that section of the island which appeared from the air to be relatively untouched.

However, a plane which managed to fly low over the island late today reported no signs of life.

Between 4,000 and 7,000 refugees were being cared for in camps set up along Tagaytay Ridge, which borders the inland lake. But most of these were from areas surrounding the lake.

By late afternoon the periodic blasts from the volcano appeared to be subsiding. However, authorities said it was still far too dangerous to send boats from the outer shores of Lake Taal to determine the fate of the islanders.

The volcano is a breathtaking tourist attraction 40 miles north of Manila—a volcanic island surrounded by a mountain lake 500 feet deep that is itself of volcanic origin. It was across this lake that the refugees fled to the shores 5 to 10 miles away.

The volcano had been making ominous noises for some time. The temperature of the lake had been rising, and those living on its slopes had been fearful. Reports from the scene said they began fleeing the island during the night.

The last eruption was in 1911, when, according to local estimates, 1,335 people died. The eruption today came at 2:30 a.m. and was seen by a passing airliner which flashed word to the nation. By dawn President Diosdado Macapagal was on the way for a look, and rescue and relief measures were under way.

The eruption set off a towering electrical storm which spectators described as terrifying. Ash and lava rained for miles around. A plane flew within three miles of the crater, then turned back when its windows became so muddy the crew could no longer see.

Thousands watching from the outer shore of Lake Taal were covered in mud—a mixture of ash and lava thrown up with mountains of water.

Throughout the morning the volcano belched fire and smoke. About 12 hours after the initial blast it appeared to be settling down to an earth-shaking roar every five minutes or so.

The Philippine constabulary said the known dead today was 11.

Prelates Urge Church To Use Freud Lessons

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A group of Latin-American bishops urged today that the Roman Catholic Church make use of the psychological lessons of Freud. They told the Vatican Ecumenical Council that "psychoanalysis can be useful in all fields of church activity."

The proposal came during a council debate on the document on modern world problems, which deals with subjects ranging from atheism to nuclear war and birth control to politics. Some informants said the document is in "deep trouble" and that the council may not have time to fully act on it. Bishop Sergio Mendez Arceo of Cuernavaca, Mexico, speaking for 10 Latin-American bishops, told the council the modern world document needed considerable revision. He complained that it overlooked the anthropological and psychological factors of the individual man.

"It would be a mistake to ignore the conclusions of Freud," the bishop said, referring to the Viennese pioneer in psychoanalysis, Sigmund Freud.

Oil Output In Upswing

TULSA (AP) — U. S. crude oil production increased 2,300 barrels daily last week to an average of 7,617,800 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. Louisiana production was about 500,000 barrels below its normal daily output because of Betsy.

States figures included Oklahoma 578,000 barrels daily, up 2,600; and Louisiana 1,985,300, New Mexico 319,600 and Texas 2,629,500, all unchanged.

Psychiatrists Summoned In Stabbing Trial

DUNCAN, Okla. (AP) — Two psychiatrists familiar with Tama Hallmark were called as rebuttal witnesses today in the trial of the boy accused of trying to kill her in a savage knife attack last year.

Dr. Lorraine Schmidt, who observed Miss Hallmark when she identified Bert Lana, 17, as her attacker, is under subpoena to appear.

Investigators said Schmidt indicated Miss Hallmark appeared normal at that time.

Also due to take the stand was Dr. Duncan MacMasters, who was in charge of therapy for Miss Hallmark from April 1, 1964 until Jan. 23, 1965 at Tulsa.

Both Lana and Miss Hallmark, 19, have testified. The former high school beauty queen was an early witness and much of the defense case has been aimed at discrediting her identification of Lana as her attacker.

Lineman Killed In Fall From Pole

Jack Dorton, 21, lineman employed by the Delta Electric Company, was fatally injured at 10 a.m. today when he fell 25 feet from the top of a power pole. He was declared dead at noon.

The accident occurred in the Forsan oil fields, about 15 miles south of Big Spring.

A Halliburton driver brought the injured man to Cowper Hospital and Clinic, and the staff of the hospital worked for nearly two hours in a fruitless effort to restore heart action and breathing.

The victim was not breathing when he reached the hospital although Wayne Johnson and Godfrey Smith, coworkers with him on the job, maintained mouth-to-mouth respiration on the ride from the scene.

Doctors said the man had obviously sustained severe brain injury in the fall. His fellow workers said that he was at the pole and was trying to shift around to the opposite side. He had released his safety belt.

Suddenly his climbers slipped and he grasped the insulators in a desperate struggle to hold on. His grip seems to have failed and he fell, feet first, to the base of the pole.

Johnson said Dorton fell backward on impact with the earth. Dorton had been working for the Delta company only a few months. He was married this spring. He and his wife lived on Rt. 1. He has a mother, stepfather, and three brothers living here. Two of the brothers are in Big Spring schools.

Dorton did not sustain an electric shock, it was stressed. His injury was from the fall.

The body was removed to River - Welch Funeral Home, where funeral is pending.

Liz Ordered Into Court

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor has been ordered to show cause why she will not allow her 8-year-old daughter to visit singer Eddie Fisher.

Miss Taylor was ordered Monday to appear in Los Angeles Superior Court Oct. 11 to answer the suit filed by her former husband.

In his suit, Fisher said he adopted Liza Todd Fisher in September, 1961. He contended that he has not been allowed to visit the child since he and the actress were divorced in 1964.

Erhard Faces Trouble With Cabinet Seats

BONN, Germany (AP) — Riding high after his victory in the recent election, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is busy trying to take the reins of party and government into his own hands.

He seems sure of four more years in the luxurious brick-and-glass "bungalow" built for him on the grounds of the Chancellery along the Rhine.

Erhard's present problem is to put together a Cabinet, his own Cabinet. The one he has now is virtually the same that was serving when Chancellor Konrad Adenauer stepped down two years ago. Critics are waiting to see if Erhard can put his own stamp on it, or whether there was justification in campaign taunts that he turns into a "rubber lion" or a "custard pudding" under political pressure.

"I don't care much about power for its own sake," he said during the campaign. But he knows he needs people he can trust if he expects to get his own ideas through.

HAS IDEAS

Erhard has plenty of ideas, and some differ from Adenauer's. He wants close collaboration with the United States and Britain, an integrated Atlantic alliance, a drastic reduction of trade barriers in Europe and the world at large, an effective halt to the spread of nuclear weapons. Adenauer follows his friend Charles de Gaulle in his suspicion of these aims.

At home, Erhard wants put together a new kind of "structured society" in which conflicting groups will work together in the public interest.

Erhard's position is something like President Johnson's. Erhard also took over in mid-term from a respected predecessor without a popular vote. An added factor was that Adenauer was still active, chairman of his party and a sharp critic of the successor who had served in his Cabinet 14 years.

Now Erhard, like Johnson, has been to the voters and got their endorsement.

LESS SPECTACULAR

Erhard's victory was less spectacular. His party won only three new seats in the 496-man Bundestag. Its Social Democratic opponents made a bigger gain—12 seats. Erhard's ally, the Free Democratic party, lost heavily. Because of his need for the Free Democrats in a coalition government, Erhard will not be able to enact all the legislation he might want.

The pressures on him are heavy. Some fruits of victory must go to the Bavarian wing of the party, led by ex-Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss, and to Adenauer, who fought for the party if not for Erhard.

They are West Germany's leading admirers of De Gaulle, and they will have something to say about the new Cabinet.

UNDER FIRE

A measure of Erhard's strength in resisting them will be the fate of two key ministers closely identified with his pro-American policy and his cautious approach to better relations with the Soviet bloc. Both—Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder and Vice Chancellor Erich Mende—are under fire from Adenauer and Strauss.

Those who seek a bolder approach to better relations with the Soviet bloc will want to ditch Transport Minister Hans-Christoph Seebohm. He has embarrassed the government by insisting on the "right to the homeland" for German refugees from lands under Communist rule. His speeches have furnished underpinning to Soviet propaganda that the West German government is seeking revenge for World War II.

Some people would like to see ex-Justice Minister Ewald Bucher return to the Cabinet. He quit earlier this year rather than approve an extension of the hunt for Nazi murderers, maintaining that the bill was unconstitutional.

Blame Each Other

Security Council issued an urgent demand that the cease-fire be honored. U. N. Plea: Honor Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council Monday night issued an urgent demand for India and Pakistan to honor the cease-fire both agreed to and pull their forces back from positions seized during the undeclared war.

There was no reaction immediately from New Delhi or Rawalpindi. After the council's unanimous approval of the resolution, however, representatives of India and Pakistan at the United Nations each blamed the other's government for the breaches in the cease-fire.

BREAK TRUCE

Since the truce agreement last Wednesday, major clashes have been reported at two points along the cease-fire line, in the Lahore sector and in India's Rajasthan State, on the southern front. No withdrawal of forces has been reported on either side.

The Security Council's new cease-fire demand was introduced by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, the council's president for September. The resolution expressed "grave concern that the cease-fire agreed to unconditionally by the governments of India and Pakistan is not holding."

Gulf Tides Rise, Many Flee Sector

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Debbie, a tropical storm that was supposed to die during the night, whipped the northern Gulf of Mexico into an angry uproar today as she turned down the west Florida panhandle.

Thousands of persons streamed from low-lying coastal areas of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana as Gulf tides began an ominous but familiar rise.

HIGHEST WINDS

At 10 a.m., Debbie was located about 250 miles south-southwest of Pensacola, Fla., and moving northeastward at 10 miles an hour. Highest winds are 35 to 50 m.p.h. in squalls extending out 200 miles to the north and east.

"Present indications are that the center should move inland."

Crops Damaged By Freeze, Rain

By The Associated Press
Rain and freezing temperatures extended from northern Florida into the Northwest today, inflicting additional damage to fall crops.

Five inches of snow covered Helena, Mont., and one inch was on the ground in Great Falls, Mont. Abnormally cold weather gripped the nation from the northern Plains to New England. Frost and freezing temperatures prevailed in most of New England, eastern New York State, northeastern Pennsylvania and central New Jersey.

COLD, DRIZZLE

Cold rain and drizzle fell from Wisconsin and Iowa to the Dakotas. All Florida areas except Key West had rain Monday and the Weather Bureau said it was caused by a cold front extending from northern Florida to Texas.

Jacksonville, Fla., had more than 5 inches of rain in a 24-hour period and Apalachicola, 1.95 inches in six hours. A one-hour fall in Daytona Beach measured .53 inch. Rain also fell in Orlando, Tallahassee, Miami and Fort Lauderdale.

COASTAL RAIN

Rain pounded the eastern Gulf Coast region and southern Alabama and Georgia. Two inches were reported Monday at the over northwest Florida late tonight or early Wednesday," the New Orleans Weather Bureau said.

Forecasters warned of three to six foot tides by nightfall. Residents of coastal areas and offshore islands were urged to evacuate before escape roads are flooded.

WATCH ON

A hurricane watch was in effect from the mouth of the Mississippi River to Cedar Keys, Fla.

Small craft from Lake Charles, La., to Ft. Myers, Fla., on the Gulf Coast and from Palm Beach, Fla., to Savannah, Ga., were told to remain in port.

Debbie has been a tricky and erratic storm since its birth last Friday in the western Caribbean. It moved first north toward Pensacola, then turned to the northwest as it entered the Gulf. Monday afternoon, Debbie—then still a tropical depression—turned north again.

Weather forecasters said a cold front along the Gulf Coast would destroy Debbie during the night. Early today, however, they upgraded Debbie to a tropical storm as she made a pronounced turn to the northeast.

Glynco Naval Air Station in Georgia.

In the Midwest, northwestern and central Iowa was pelted with an inch of rain and some minor flooding.

Rains fell over much of Nebraska. Crop observers said the low temperatures apparently damaged late-planted corn and sorghum.

An early frost in New Mexico slightly damaged the bean crop. Rains interrupted harvesting of broomcorn, cotton and hay crops. Sugar beet farmers started to market Monday in the eastern border area one month earlier than usual.

WALLS CRUMBLE

In Capistrano Beach, Calif., waves 25 feet high crumbled sea walls in front of two more ocean homes as prison crews tried to build a sandbag bulwark.

Giant swells riding on 5-foot tides have been battering sea walls and sending salt water 50 feet high against the homes for more than two weeks. Sea walls in front of 12 homes have been dashed by the giant waves and 30 other homes were threatened.

Rain pelted most of Missouri and Kansas during the day while mild temperatures prevailed. Flooded areas began drying out and crop damage was minor.

Mitchell County Suit To Contest Lake Permit

Colorado City and Mitchell County interests Monday filed suit in district court in Austin contesting the permit for a projected dam at Robert Lee.

The suit named the Texas Water Rights Commission, which granted the permit, and the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which proposes to build the dam, as defendants.

The petition claimed that the dam at Robert Lee would have a "drastic effect on the economic welfare of the plaintiffs."

Mitchell County had been passed over as a site in favor of the location approximately 20 miles downstream. Plaintiffs in the contest suit had opposed the granting of a permit when hearings were conducted by the Texas Water Commission in Austin in December and January.

"The crux of the whole stand we take is that water in the Colorado River within Cooke County (where the dam would be located) has been delegated to the Upper Colorado River Authority by the legislature, and that the CRMW has no authority to invade that particular county," said Charles Griggs, Sweetwater, attorney for the plaintiffs.

"The legislature put the authority to control the waters of Cooke County with UCRA and if there is going to be a dam built there (at Robert Lee), it has to be brought by the UCRA and it can't be brought by anyone else," he added.

The point was injected into hearings, and the UCRA, headed by Gerald Allen, Robert Lee, waived its claims in favor of the CRMW, after CRMW assured UCRA that all interests in Cooke and Runtel counties would be adequately served by CRMW.

Allen added that he and the UCRA board had hoped that Colorado City and Mitchell County wouldn't file a contesting suit.

"Our board will discuss it and will take any action necessary to go right along with the CRMW," he said. "We're all for the dam being built here."

O. H. Ivis, general manager for the CRMW, had no comment beyond saying that he regretted that Colorado City and Mitchell County had filed the suit.

Previously he had said, in keeping with a policy pronouncement by the board, that surveying of the dam site and lake basin would begin possibly this week and that land appraisals would follow. The board authorized these and other steps because of what it considered the urgency of moving as fast as possible to meet impending water needs of an 11-county area.

The commission issued the permit to the Colorado River Municipal Water District of Big Spring. It authorizes construction of a $20 million, 489,000-acre-foot reservoir near the town of Robert Lee (an acre-foot is 325,851 gallons).

In 1960 the commission issued the district a permit to build the reservoir in Mitchell County. But the district asked to move the site 20 miles downstream, explaining it found salt water pollution insurmountable at the original location and that there was a serious foundation problem.

The major opponent to the project, the Lower Colorado River Authority, agreed not to challenge the permit in court after reaching an agreement with the district to protect the water levels in the authority's Highland Lakes.

The suit names the commission and the water district as parties. (See SUIT, Col. 3, Page 6-A)

Cong Losses High In Clash

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Hundreds of Vietnamese rangers and Viet Cong fighters were battling late today in the Phu Qu Pass area, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The Viet Cong suffered heavy losses last week in the area, which is 295 miles northeast of Saigon and 45 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

A Vietnamese army ranger unit reported that it was engaged with a large Viet Cong element, possibly one or two battalions.

About 600 men are in a government ranger battalion and 500 to 600 in a Viet Cong battalion.

ANOTHER SKIRMISH

Another Vietnamese army unit reported making contact at a nearby point with a Viet Cong group believed to be of company size.

Tactical air strikes were launched to aid the government forces.

No further details on the fighting and no estimates of casualties on either side were immediately available.

A U.S. spokesman reported the death of three Americans in the crash of a chartered plane Monday about 25 miles west of Saigon. He said seven Vietnamese policemen guarding the wreckage were killed during the night by Viet Cong small arms fire.

It was believed the plane was shot down as it was coming in for a landing at Bau Trai, in Hau Ngai Province. It crashed about 200 yards short of the airstrip.

FROM GEORGIA

Killed in the crash were the pilot and copilot of the Air

American plane and Jack Wells of College Park, Ga., an official of the U.S. Operations Mission's public safety department. The mission charters planes from Air America, a private airline.

Early today 150 to 200 Viet Cong with mortars and automatic weapons attacked and overran a government outpost 90 miles southwest of Saigon, near Can Tho.

After blowing up the barbed wire around the post, the Viet Cong entered the compound and murdered the village chief, two representatives of the central government and two women.

A Vietnamese relief column failed to find any Viet Cong in the area, and the post was reoccupied.

CONG ATTACKS

Spokesmen reported these other actions:

Two Viet Cong attacks and two harassments were reported in the province of Hau Nghia.

The biggest attack was against a ranger company near Doc Lap, 20 miles northwest of Saigon. The enemy battalion inflicted heavy losses on the Vietnamese rangers.

The rangers withdrew from their defensive positions but reoccupied them later when the Viet Cong broke contact.

Units of the U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Division killed seven Viet Cong and believed they got 50 more with artillery and helicopter fire in a search and destroy operation launched Monday in the Song Con Valley northeast of An Khe.

U.S. casualties were described

Goods Production Soviet Plan's Aim

MOSCOW (AP)—The outline of a new way of life for Soviet factory managers and store operators was laid before the Soviet public today in hopes it would stimulate home folk and foreign peoples to a fresher belief in Communist successes.

More than three pages of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper, were filled with the new plan outlined by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin at the opening session of the party Central Committee's fall meeting Monday.

Kosygin said the Soviet Union could and should do a better job with its factories, both to please the people who flock into presently unappealing stores and to convince newly liberated countries that the Communists can show a better way than has been shown in the past.

REVISION VITAL

For the Soviet Union, revision and improvement is vital. Its rate of increase in industrial production has slowed down in recent years despite its discovery of some of the richest natural resources in the world.

Soviet workers according to the Communist scheme of things should be the most eager toilers since by doctrine they own the places where they work. But they continue to be far less productive, man for man, than workers in the West who work for the free enterprise system so much abused here.

The new plan outlined by Kosygin is aimed at encouraging both workers and factory bosses to produce goods that will sell both at home and abroad. If they succeed, they will get more pay, more vacation, better homes and shorter hours.

EASE SUPERVISION

Much party supervision will be removed from factory premises. Not the least of the aims outlined by Kosygin is to make the Soviet Union such a showplace of production that the developing countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America will not only buy Soviet goods but will buy the Communist system as well.

Under the new system, Kosygin said, factories will be put on a cost accounting system in some ways similar to that in Western factories.

Under the present general planning system, a factory is assigned its production quota for the year, wage levels are fixed by central authority and machinery is provided from other factories. The main job of the manager is to see to it that his quantity target is reached.

Quality in many instances has fallen far below Western standards. Under the new program a factory's success will be gauged not only by its quantity production, but on whether what it makes can be sold. Unsold goods hereafter will count against the factory's quota. Stores and warehouses at present are filled with billions of dollars worth of unsaleable goods and unusable equipment.

"Considering what I've already been through, I'm sure that I'll come through this without a scratch. Thanks for everyone's prayers."

"You know, a situation like I'm in right now will strengthen a person's faith in God. But it will also weaken your faith in mankind. It seems to me that after more than 10 years of fighting, some type of peace terms could be reached. Anything is better than people dying."

Make A Personal Test

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Chiropractic holds that many conditions are caused by vertebral slip out of place enough to cause irritation of, or pressure on, nerves.

We recognize that other disease agents, such as germs, poor nutrition, disturbed emotions, to name a few, can cause conditions, and science has proved spinal disturbances cause a chronic nervous drain, thus weakening the organs supplied by the nerves involved.

This nerve interference may be noticed as an habitual poor health, recurring backache (anywhere in the spine), or poor resistance. Psychosomatic diseases are aggravated by nerve irritation of a spinal origin. Headaches and backaches are early symptoms of spinal subluxations. We have ways of checking but you, too, can check at home:

1. Tender spots, or pain, in the neck or spine.
2. A creaking sound when the head is turned slowly from side to side.
3. Pain or stiffness on turning the head.
4. Head not turning as far to one side as to the other side.
5. Head tilted to one side (check by looking in the mirror).
6. One leg shorter than the other. (To check, lie on back with legs extended — have someone check by touching ankle bones. If leg is 1/4-inch shorter, the test is positive.)
7. Pain or stiffness on leaning forward at waist.
8. Check tilting body from right to left, keeping hips level. On one side you may not be as free or you can't lean as far as the other.

Any of these signs become important if coupled with obvious conditions or disease or injury. While the danger signals don't invariably indicate spinal trouble, they often do and, if present, they should be checked.

If you have some condition which has not responded to present treatment or keeps returning, you might consider Chiropractic. Hansen Chiropractic Clinic across from Picky Wiggly is open until 6 p.m. each evening. AM 3-3324.

Have-Not Nations' $$ Pleas Sounding

NEW YORK (AP)—Monetary reform will inspire a lot of talk in Washington this week, but the real horse trading may be in trying to coax more money for the have-not nations from the treasuries of the haves.

The world's leading financial authorities are in Washington for the annual meetings of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler would like to see a start made toward easing the strain on international financial dealings that comes every now and then and could conceivable grow worse in a few years.

A first step may be taken toward looking for something to supplement gold, dollars and pounds, now commonly held as reserves and used to settle international payments when they get out of kilter.

SLOW EXPANSION

But this year U.S. exports are expanding slowly, while imports are growing fast. And the payment surplus could turn into a deficit again, giving other nations less to worry about — except how good the U.S. dollar might be.

All this may slow the pace toward any monetary reform such as the United States has suggested should be sought.

But the demand of the have-not nations for more money to spur their development will be strong in Washington this week.

The World Bank reports that these nations have borrowed so much in recent years that much of their available funds now goes for repayments on old loans. The growth of these have-not nations has been slower than that of the affluent industrialized ones.

The bank puts the total annual national product of the industrialized nations at $1.1 trillion in 1964, up $180 billion from the $920 billion of 1960. For the developing countries the total was $200 billion in 1964, compared with $170 billion in 1960.

World Bank officials hold that if these developing countries are ever to catch up they must have longer term loans and lower interest rates. Otherwise, they'll be spending an over large proportion of their export earnings just on repaying outstanding loans.

Courting Couples Using Sanctuary

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Police have discovered that a drive to keep courting couples out of public parks at night may have backfired.

The couples are now meeting in temple courtyards, where sanctuary from the law is considered a traditional privilege. Police officials say they have asked monks of the hundreds of temples in this Buddhist nation to help keep the couples out of the courtyards.

Breakdown Ended Jazz Queen Reign

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The year was 1930 and Clara Bow began 35 years of sleepless suffering.

The go-go pace of eight flaming years in movies turned her into a semi-invalid while still young. But at 60 her health had improved some, and death when it came Monday morning was unexpected.

That first breakdown ended her reign as queen of the jazz age. It also ended her Paramount contract, one which had brought millions to the boxoffice and wealth to her.

TOO FAST

Those high-strung 35 years made a recluse out of a Brooklyn beauty contest winner who came up too fast in a fast, fast era.

The actress suffered a heart attack while watching the late, late show on television, a habit of her insomnia years.

Her nurse looked in on her in her West Los Angeles home but found her rigid and trembling. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed to revive her and she was dead when a doctor arrived.

Thus in death she found the sleep that had eluded her through her high-tension life.

Gemini 6 Due Aloft Oct. 25

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Officials were confident today of meeting an Oct. 25 target date for launching Gemini 6, this country's next manned space flight.

A Manned Spacecraft Center spokesman said a machinist's walkout Monday at Cape Kennedy would not delay the launching.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, the astronaut team picked for the two-day mission, started two weeks of rehearsals at Cape Kennedy in preparation for the flight.

Flight controllers from all around the world began training at the space center.

'It' Girl

Reno, Nev., wants the seclusion of his mother's life to extend to her funeral. Her body will be on view Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where funeral services will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m.

The son said his reasons for a private funeral stemmed from the circus atmosphere of his father's funeral in 1962. That was the first public appearance of Miss Bow and it brought out a crowd of photographers and television crews.

But the son doubts that his mother's funeral will be any less hectic.

Miss Bow married Rex Bell, cowboy star who later became lieutenant governor of Nevada, in 1931. They had another son, George, 27, who may be prevented by serious illness from attending his mother's rites. He lives in Las Vegas, Nev.

Networks Add Soap Operas, Word Games

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC and ABC launched a quarter of new soap operas and a pair of word games, Monday.

The drama started in mid-morning with NBC's new "Morning Star." Its heroine, a silver blonde with matching nail polish who wears mink eyelashes and full makeup to bed, was found moaning in the grip of a nightmare.

Subsequently, it was disclosed that five weeks before on the eve of her marriage, her fiancé had been killed in an auto crash. Naturally she blames herself. A kindly uncle and his wife want her to leave home for a change of scenery and job in New York before she has a nervous breakdown. But there is her younger sister, Jan, to worry about. Jan is described as a neurotic parasite.

PSYCHIC SCARS

But let us not be too harsh with Jan — another silver blonde. She carries psychic scars from a fire that also took the lives of the girls' parents. Anyway, she is determined that older sister Katy will not escape to the big city.

A short time later, we were taken to "Paradise Bay," a California ocean community, and introduced to the owner of its radio station, his wife and their two teenage children. A young friend of the children has just been found dead on a nearby beach under mysterious circumstances. And besides, the radio man's loving wife seems to be getting involved with the owner of the local newspaper, an old flame.

"The Nurses," popped up on ABC in soap opera form in the early afternoon, and you'd hardly recognize the old nighttime CBS show. Head nurse Liz Thorpe no longer is played by Shiri Conway but by Mary Pickett. She is no longer a widow woman but a spinster who looks wistful every time marriage is mentioned.

ANOTHER ACTRESS

Student nurse Gail Lucas also is played by another actress, but the old hospital atmosphere is about the same. The story got off to a roaring start with an 18-year-old girl dying after an illegal operation.

After school hours came

ABC's "Never Too Young," a soap opera aimed squarely at the young audience. It was dedicated to rock music and the proposition that nervous parents are squares while the important things in life are the beach and going steady with the grooviest guy who hangs out there.

On the dramatic side, it was a thoroughly depressing day. And NBC's two new game shows didn't help one's spirits much.

One of these is called "Fractured Phrases," in which two teams of adults are urged to translate such groups of words as "owl of fizz hair Tuesday" into the sentence "our love is here to stay," and "like hood O-day haws" into "I could eat a horse."

There was the usual background of buzzers, bells and modest cash awards.

The other entry is "Let's Play Post Office," which is not the old children's game but one based on the reading of gag letters loaded with clues through which audience participants are supposed to identify the supposed writer. It was pretty heavy going.

Garage And Trees Stolen

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Three oak trees and a garage have been stolen from an Atlanta woman's home, apparently by a man who will not take no for an answer.

Police quoted Ermagard La-moureux as saying she received a telephone call while visiting in North Carolina from a man who asked permission to remove the trees from her yard. Mrs. Lamoureux said she refused but returned to find the trees and her garage missing, police reported.

Foes Seek Change In Home Rule Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents push for a series of changes today in a bill which would let citizens of Washington govern themselves.

Republicans sought particularly to knock out a provision which would permit partisan election of the mayor, city council and other officials with federal employees participating.

This would ease the Hatch Act ban on partisan political activity by government workers. The bill calls for partisan balloting in years between presidential elections. Washington registration is predominantly Democratic.

Home rule backers won two quick test votes on procedural questions Monday as the bill was taken up for consideration. They said the votes of 213 to 183 and 222 to 179 support their contention of a comfortable margin for passage of the measure later this week.

"A MONSTROSITY" As debate began, Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chief strategist for the opponents, called the bill a monstrosity. "Whose hometown is this anyway?" Smith asked. "The casual residents who live here and may be gone tomorrow, or does it belong to the people of the United States?"

He said those voting for the bill were voting against their own constituents.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Negro Democrat from New York's Harlem, said the only reason home rule for the District of Columbia is an issue today is because a majority of its citizens are Negro.

Rep. Joel Broyhill, R-Va., said the bill's backers "have admitted it is a bad bill" by changing it last week "in clandestine meetings or a smoke-filled room."

"VERY SIMPLE" Rep. Abraham J. Multer, D-N.Y., who is handling the bill, replied, "The facts are very simple. Everybody knows we couldn't pass a bill with automatic payments. We didn't have enough votes."

The principal change Multer and others made in the bill was to eliminate a provision for automatic payments from the Treasury equal to what the federal government would pay the city in real estate taxes if it were a private industry.

The change would retain the present annual appropriation procedure, under which Congress itself determines how much it will contribute.

Congress now governs the city, fixing most tax rates and passing municipal laws which are administered by three appointed commissioners.

Home rule proponents had hoped to retain the Senate-passed automatic payment, so the new city government could be more sure of its income.

The first day passed without intensive delaying tactics, although there were several time-consuming quorum calls.

Mother Of Mute Boy Does Not Want Him Back

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Detroit mother undergoing psychiatric tests has told investigators her 13-year-old mute and mentally retarded son is a good boy but she doesn't want him back.

"Someone else must take him now," said Mrs. Victor Thorne, 4, who abandoned her son, Richard, at Miami International Airport last week.

Mrs. Thorne hasn't seen her son since she arrived in Miami Sunday night.

Mrs. Thorne spent Monday night with the family of Barron Shields, a juvenile court investigator. The investigator quoted her as saying: "I've gone as far as I can."

Shields said Mrs. Thorne did not talk much about Richard but said, "Maybe someone else can do more for him; he's a good boy."

Richard, whose plight attracted nationwide attention, has been unable to speak since he suffered brain damage from encephalitis and pneumonia at the age of 18 months.

Dr. Ben Sheppard, chief juvenile court judge, ordered a psychiatric examination for Mrs. Thorne after her arrival in Miami.

"The boy will not be released until I am sure there will not be a recurrence of this episode," said Sheppard.

Russian Propaganda Aims At CIA, FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency is circulating among an inner-group of congressmen a report describing a Soviet propaganda campaign aimed at the CIA but also striking at the FBI.

The activity, says the CIA report, is chiefly planned and directed by a special "Department of Disinformation" established in the KGB, the Soviet state security service.

The CIA says the KGB department was set up by former Premier Nikita Khrushchev, and is headed by Gen. Ivan Ivanovich Agayants, "a senior, professional intelligence officer with long experience and well-developed agent and political contacts in Western Europe."

DESTROY U.S.

The objective of the campaign, the report states, "is to achieve the destruction, break-up and neutralization of CIA with an ultimate goal 'to isolate and destroy what the KGB designates as 'flavni vrag' (main enemy), the United States."

The CIA, often under attack both at home and abroad for some of its reported operations in the cold war, issued the report to members of Congress charged with keeping an eye on its operations.

The CIA says that Gen. Agayants' "defamation and forgery operations" are reviewed and passed on by the Soviet leadership and that "Department D" is directly tied into the Soviet Presidency.

RED INTELLIGENCE

The KGB department, the CIA says, makes use of "local Communist or pro-Communist propagandists and of Communist bloc intelligence and security services."

"The operations of the Soviet disinformation department have been successful thus far in stimulating a wide replay in Africa, Southeast Asia, the Middle East, and even in the United States," the CIA said.

The CIA says that one of the preferred instruments utilized by the Soviets to "disseminate disinformation is the forged document." The intelligence agency reported that, between June 1961 and last July, 14 instances of "forged U.S. official documents have come under scrutiny." "Although the CIA has not been omitted from some of these spurious documents," the report observed, "the principal purpose of such forgeries has been to discredit U.S. policies and the representatives of U.S. agencies, such as the Department of State, USA, the Peace Corps, the armed forces and American political leaders generally."

Paper Mailers Accept Proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — Progress was reported today on one of two fronts in New York's 13-day-old newspaper dispute, but there was no indication of a break in the deadlock on the other front.

Mediator Theodore W. Kheel said "a specific proposal is on the table" on job security in talks between the AFL-CIO Mailers Union and the Publishers Association in New York.

The mailers president, Thomas Laura, said the union had accepted the proposal and was "waiting on the publishers."

Association President John J. Gaherin had no comment as the talks recessed early today.

Negotiations between the AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild and the New York Times recessed with little apparent progress.

Both sets of negotiations resume late in the morning. Kheel described job security as the central issue in the mailers-association talks.

In the guild-times talks, automation was the key issue.

New Manager At Knott Gin

KNOTT (SC) — Jess Stocks has been employed as the manager of the Guitlar Gin. W. F. Shockley joined the staff as bookkeeper.

Weldon Martin is a new fifth grade teacher in the Sands School.

The Rev. Frank Pierce, Big Spring, was the guest speaker for both services Sunday in the First Baptist Church.

Here's Day In Capital Developments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The union shop issue will be a hot one when it hits the Senate floor, but even now the temperature is high.

The Central Intelligence Agency says it is the subject of a Soviet-directed smear campaign.

The District of Columbia self-government bill is in for some amendments.

Union Shop: Opponents of the proposed repeal of the federal provision allowing state bans on the union shop are preparing for a filibuster.

Edward K. Nellor, chief lobbyist for the Right to Work Committee, says six-man teams of senators have been organized to try to talk down the bill.

Nellor, onetime press aide to Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, says the goal is to delay Senate action as

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tues., Sept. 28, 1965 5-A long as possible, adding: "The longer it is delayed, the more public attention we can help generate."

CHIEF LOBBYIST

Nellor is chief lobbyist for the forces opposing the measure.

His counterpart on the other side, Albert J. Zack, public relations director for the AFL-CIO, dismisses talk of a filibuster, calling it a bluff.

CIA Smear: The CIA is circulating a special report telling of Soviet efforts to discredit it. The recipients are some members of Congress.

The CIA says the campaign was originated by former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and that a separate Soviet agency has been created to direct the attack.

The CIA says the drive also strikes at the Federal Bureau of Investigation and its director, J. Edgar Hoover.

Ulbricht Visit To Moscow Over

MOSCOW (AP) — Walter Ulbricht, head of the East German Communist party, left Moscow for home today after an official visit.

During his stay Ulbricht and Soviet leaders repeatedly denounced what they called West German militarism and said the Communist bloc would take countermeasures if West Germany got nuclear arms.

Union Shop Bill Stirs Fierce Lobbying Contest

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fierce lobbying contest is raging behind the scenes as a Senate showdown nears in the struggle over repeal of the federal provision authorizing state bans on the union shop.

It pits a lobbying task force from the AFL-CIO against the forces of the National Right to Work Committee. Men on both sides of the struggle described their efforts at persuasion in interviews.

Without revealing a nose count, labor claims a Senate majority is prepared to vote for repeal of the provision, Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act.

But Albert J. Zack, public relations director for the AFL-CIO, conceded the total falls short of the two-thirds it would take to quash a threatened Senate filibuster.

PLAN FILIBUSTER

Edward K. Nellor, the Right to Work Committee's chief lobbyist, claims neither side has the votes at this point. The tool at hand for Nellor's forces now: the filibuster which Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has said he will lead.

At stake is the law under which 19 states have passed measures forbidding contracts from which require workers to join a union. The Democratic platform calls for repeal, and the House already has passed the measure, 221 to 203.

Zack dismissed as idle rumor talk that the White House, with Congress anxious to adjourn, may not go all out to push the bill through the Senate this year. "I expect that President Johnson is going to do everything he thinks is necessary to repeal 14b," Zack said. "He is a man of his word."

LABOR LOBBYIST

Labor lobbyists now are seeking from some Senate opponents of repeal pledges that they will not join actively in the Dirksen filibuster.

The Right to Work Committee is out to enlist more senators in the threatened talk-fest. Nellor said 26 senators have agreed to sign on, in response to letters from Dirksen and Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., seeking filibuster recruits.

The bill is not expected to come up before Friday.

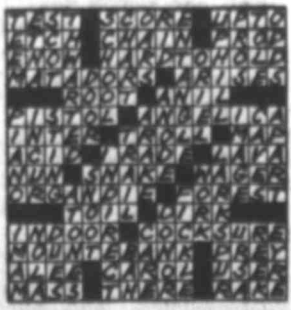

"Dirksen is trying to bluff," said Zack. "We don't think there's a real bedrock filibuster here."

Both sides said they are using the traditional tools of the lobbyist — personal talks, letters from home and messages from local leaders — in their Capitol Hill struggle.

Sono Strip Joints Still In Operation

LONDON (AP)—The glossy prints thumbtacked in the windows are all busty and hippy, with names like Lillian, Marlene, Tessa or maybe Shirley underneath.

The flashing signs, with one neon tube somehow always forlornly burned out, wink invitations to the passing throng: "Stay as long as you like."

"Never has so much been shown by so many for so little." And there you are, with promised paradise for 10 shillings, picking among the 18 or so least exclusive clubs in Londontown, the strip joints of Soho.

That familiar landmark, the Windmill Theater, used to thrive around the corner. Statuesque nudes posed motionless there throughout Hitler's blitz, but were unable to survive the competition of the upstairs free-motion sisterhood.

CELLARS
The new thrills are for sale now in such cellars as Metro Revue Club, the Carnival, Carousell, Naked City and La Sexy, purveying tease, sometimes to stray tourists, but mainly to up-country Britons and office boys out for a lark.

Nobody knows just how many such places there are. Like gypsy fortune tellers, addresses can shift overnight.

Down a narrow stairway is the "clubroom," a raised platform at one side, enough chairs for 50 to 100 "members," a not-very hi-fi blaring away in the corner.

After a while, one of the promised nymphs emerges on stage. The rhythmic clatter picks up on the noise box as she gyrates, goes into her "dance" discarding her clothes.

Then the flash blackout, and lights go on for a half hour until the next act. While waiting you can just listen to those nonstop records, read a paper, or take a sandwich out of a bag and munch lunch.

At some of the places you can leave, return later in the day. The pictures in upstairs show-windows bear an unaccidental resemblance from place to place since the girls on exhibit go round and round the Soho circuit, day in and night out.

A GRIND
"It's a grind in more ways than one," says one observer of the strip joints. "There are eight or so girls who make most of the joints, working on a timetable."

"There's never any problem about getting fresh recruits for the work when one drops out, because the jobs pay about 30 pounds a week—$84—which is pretty nice compared with 15 or 16 pounds for a good secretary."

It is the device of private membership which enables the places to put on uninhibited if tawdry programs. A man's home is his castle still in England, and that goes for his club, too.

When a guest has had enough of the basement entertainment and heads for the exit, he is apt to run into someone solicitously inquiring: "Would you like to have a drink?"

A nod, and the dubious wonders of the upstairs clubroom are made available. For 10 shillings per glass, there's soda pop and idle conversation.

Occasionally this kind of pastime wears thin. A visitor who complains too loudly about value received finds a beefy club aide escorting him rudely to the street where membership is canceled.

Man Back From Viet Hospitalized

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Donald Dawson, who returned from Viet Nam Sept. 1 after searching several months for his missing brother, was hospitalized Monday for treatment of malaria.

Dawson was a captive of the Communist Viet Cong during his search for his brother Dan, an Army spotter plane pilot shot down in October 1964.

Donald Dawson, 25, was treated briefly for malaria in Saigon and Tokyo after he was released by the Viet Cong.

Shifts Due In Air Reserve

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas will lose three Air Force reserve squadrons and gain four new units in realignment of the air reserve training program, Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Monday.

Tower, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the squadrons being deactivated are the 9824th at Paris, 9874th at Lufkin, and 9869th at Del Rio's Laughlin Air Force Base.

The new 9401st Specialty Training Squadron will have headquarters in Fort Worth. It will have an aircraft maintenance flight at Carswell AFB in Fort Worth and flights at Ellington AFB in Houston specializing in civil engineering, finance and education and training.

Social Explosion Warning Sounds

BLACKPOLL, England (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson warned today a social explosion might burst upon Britain unless the government acts to curb the illegal flow of non-white immigrants into the country.

Addressing the annual convention of the Labor party, Wilson defended official moves to thwart evasion of nonwhite immigration controls.

Mrs. Morrell Receives Award For Son's Activity

A Big Spring youth, who was faithful enough to complete his work after entering the Armed Forces, was among those honored at a Salvation Army Cadet Corps regional rally here Monday evening.

Howard Morrell had completed the major six-year award given by the corps for Bible study and activity in the church and corps. Since he was away in service, his mother, Mrs. Charles Morrell, received the award and pin from Capt. Orville Salmon, Dallas, new Salvation Army divisional youth director.

The regional rally, hosted by Capt. and Mrs. Bill Thomas, was held at the Wesley Methodist Church and drew 99 from Midland, Odessa, Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo and Big Spring.

Among those earning Honor Club pins was Janet Hall, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Waco, who formerly was stationed here. She is attending San Angelo College and received her award at this rally. She also was featured in a vocal solo. Other Honor Club pins went to Carmen Lee, Midland, and Dewayne Daniel and Geraldine Martin, San Angelo.

Mrs. Salmon spoke on the "Corps Cadetship and You." Capt. Salmon gave the inspirational message, "God Is With Us." Among the area officers here were Maj. and Mrs. Alfred Parker, Abilene; Maj. and Mrs. Robert Short, San Angelo; Maj. and Mrs. Leslie Carter, Odessa; Maj. and Mrs. Virgil Potter, Midland; Capt. and Mrs. O'Neal Keeton, Lubbock. Prayers were refreshments of cookies and cold drinks were served.

Mile swim badges went to Steve Yeats, Steven Smith, Ricky Simpson, Jimmy Davidson and Jackie Hanson. Twenty-eight summer camp patches were awarded.

Elton Carille is Scoutmaster and Doyle Hale assistant Scoutmaster for the troop.

Lomax Clubbers Elect Officers

LOMAX — The Lomax 4-H Club met at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the community center and elected officers for the coming year. Danny Fryar, president, opened the meeting, with Carla Perry leading the motto, and Sandra Bridge leading the pledge.

New officers are: Fred Posey, president; David Adkins, vice president; Stevie Fryar, secretary; Sandra Bridge, treasurer, and Danny Fryar, reporter. Community leaders named were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Adkins and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Bridge.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Home Demonstration Agent, assisted by Alice Ward, assistant, told the new officers and leaders of their duties and responsibilities. Refreshments of cookies and cold drinks were served.

School Transfers Are On Agenda

Consideration of 14 special applications for transfer is the major business facing the Howard County School board at its meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Walker Bailey, county superintendent, said that the board will meet in his offices in the court-house.

The special applications are those which have been made with the county superintendent since the regular transfer deadline of June 1. Deadline for special transfers is Oct. 1. Actually, Bailey said, the deadline is Wednesday when the board meeting is held.

The board has not met since Aug. 6.

Body Of Blankenship's In-Law Found Monday

JUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Discovery of the body of a missing clerk in a cotton patch Monday enabled police to close the case of a Eugene, Ore., man slain trying to rob a Dallas bank.

The body found near here in North Texas was that of James Walker, 57, of Cleburne. He vanished July 12 during a coffee break at the Fort Worth department store where he worked. Later that day Cecil Abbey, 38, a former mental patient from Eugene, wounded two guards and was killed when one returned fire as Abbey tried to hold up the Texas Bank & Trust Co. in Dallas.

Police found the keys to Walker's car in the pockets of Abbey. A search turned up the Walker car, blood stained and with a bullet hole in a window, parked six blocks from the bank.

Authorities said they felt sure Abbey kidnaped and shot him. There was a bullet hole in the back of Walker's skull. The inquest verdict was homicide.

Walker was a brother-in-law to W. C. (Supe) Blankenship, and Mr. and Mrs. Blankenship were to leave this afternoon for Cleburne where last rites for Mr. Walker will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Although he lived in Cleburne, Mr. Walker commuted to Fort Worth where he worked for Leonard Bros. He was running late for a staff meeting on the morning of July 12, so he did not park in the company parking lot. After the meeting, he remembered that he needed to move his car, and presumably this is where Abbey accosted him, later shooting him in the car and disposing of his body in a cotton field in Denton County. Aerial searches were made of the area, and lakes were dragged after parts of his clothing had been found, but no further trace was revealed until the body was found Monday. Identification was established by his dentist.

Texas Mild, Clouds Few

By The Associated Press

Skies were almost cloudless and temperatures stayed mild throughout Texas today.

The only prospect for change was a damp northern bound toward the Texas Panhandle. Forecasters expected it to arrive with light rain by Wednesday night but there was no indication of how deep the cooler air might push into the state.

Weather Bureau observers found the remnants of the last front to pass through Texas increasingly hard to locate as it stalled across the northern Gulf of Mexico.

Still to be reckoned with was tropical depression Debbie, about 280 miles south of New Orleans this morning and generating maximum winds of only 35 miles per hour. Experts credited cooler and drier air infiltrating Debbie for reducing the threat of a storm.

Forecasters called for a little warmer weather in South Texas tonight and Wednesday. Except for the north part of the Panhandle, no rain was expected.

Top temperatures Monday ranged from 74 degrees at Amarillo up to 86 at Corpus Christi and Presidio.

Dog Attacks, Bites Youth

Coy Joe McCann, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McCann, 510 Gollad, is recovering from a severe dog bite suffered Sunday in the 900 block of Nolan. Coy Joe and his cousin, Debbie Bennett, were riding their bicycles to a drug store when the dog attacked the boy, his mother said.

He was treated Sunday and Monday for a severe wound on the inner right thigh, and was still too "sore" Tuesday to return to school, she said.

"When the dog ran at them, Coy Joe got between the animal and Debbie to protect her," Mrs. McCann said, "and was attacked. In addition to one deep wound, several smaller marks were left in the flesh."

Animal Warden Bill Baker said this morning that the dog had not been vaccinated, and that he would be kept under observation, either at the pound or at a local veterinarian's kennel.

"We are beginning to get worried about the number of dogs running loose around town and especially those going to the schools during the day," Baker said. "City ordinance requires that dogs, coming in contact with people, must be vaccinated, and that no dogs be allowed to run loose. We don't like to wage war on loose dogs when the owners are responsible, but we'll do something about them."

Practice Skit

Den 5 of Cub Scout Pack 202 met Monday afternoon at the home of the Den Mother, Mrs. B. F. Johnson Jr. The meeting was opened with the flag ceremony, led by Bob Shapland, and the boys practiced physical fitness tests, as required by their Scout book. A skit, to be presented at the Pack meeting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 4 at the First Methodist Church, was discussed and worked on.

Californians Find Car Stolen Here

California police have located a 1961 car which was stolen from the College Park Shopping Center Sept. 13, according to city detectives. The car is being held in San Rafael, Calif., pending notification of the owner, Nathan Brock, formerly of 1608 Kentucky Way, who has moved from Big Spring, officers said.

The car was found in the possession of a Ft. Gordon, Ga., AWOL soldier, who allegedly had confiscated another soldier's car and left it near where the Brock car was stolen, officers indicated.

Detectives said the man, according to information from the FBI, will face federal charges of interstate transportation of stolen property as well as military charges of absence without leave. The Ft. Gordon car, officers found, contained a military webbed belt with the name of the AWOL soldier on it.

Submerged Land Leases Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department said Monday that nearly a million acres of submerged lands off Texas are being offered for 10-year lease for sulphur production. The lands are in the outer continental shelf. Bids will be opened Dec. 14 in New Orleans.

OIL REPORT

Field Extension Site Is Selected

David Faskin of Midland has staked No. 1 Gladys Clark and others, as an extension to the Garden City (Fusselman) field. It was spotted 467 feet from the north and east lines of section 6-32-4s, T&P survey eight miles east of Garden City, and 1 1/2 miles northwest of the discovery in the three-well pool.

Operator has contracted to drill to 10,000 feet.

In Dawson County, at the H. L. Brown Jr. and Penn Oil Co. No. 1 M. O. Kiefer, the operators are "crying" after a third drillstem test. On No. 3 they recovered one foot of free oil, 345 feet of oil- and gas-cut mud, 474 feet of oil- and gas-cut sulphur water, and 120 feet of sulphur water. He opened the tool for 2 1/2 hours between 11-

Nail, Bearkat Soph Are Among Players Of Week

Five of the area teams were in action last week and four of them had victories to show for their efforts.

The fifth club (Forsan) played one of those which won and yielded by a mere point.

Following are the boys deemed the outstanding players on their clubs. Each will receive a Daily Herald certificate, suitable for framing.

All are eligible for Player of the Year awards to be presented at the end of the campaign. The winners:

BIG SPRING
Lineman — Coaches were hard put to decide between several performers but Wayne Nail, senior right end on offense and defensive left end, finally was the choice. He caught one touchdown pass and four others for a total of 63 yards. He played a great game defensively. So did Eddie Crittenden, left tackle and Harrell Newton, left linebacker. Terry Fields came up with a couple of pass interceptions and played strong defense to figure in the four-way near deadlock for honors.

KEITH HODNETT

Back—Similarly, the choice between Van Tom Whatley and Joe Juare was close, but Whatley's quarterbacking, his record of one touchdown pass and another TD running gave him the honor. His choice of plays generally kept Snyder off balance. Juare was a marked man for Snyder, but was good enough that concentration on him let others get loose.

COAHOMA
Lineman — Keith Hodnett, 155-pound senior guard on defense and center on offense captured the award for his balance play against Big Spring B. He was a real power on defense, pursuing unusually well. He opened big holes and blocked well on offense.

Back — Marshall Williams, quarterback, had a field day against the Shortlorns, "playing like a quarterback should." He got the nod by throwing for two touchdowns, returning a punt 75 yards for others, and calling an almost perfect game.

FORSAN
Back — Clayton McKinnon, 152-pound freshman, was the honored party on the basis of his all around play against Sands. Offensively, he carried for 43 yards in eight plays from his halfback spot, and did an excellent job of playing his blockers. On the defense, he was equally effective, getting 12 tackles.

Lineman of the week was Freddy Willis, who, interestingly, is a backfield man. However, he made his record as a defensive lineman, crashing through several times in the Sands game to score 13 tackles. His coach, Oscar Becker, says that the 160-pound junior is just coming into his own.

SANDS
Back — Quarterback Glynn Harrell, who took charge at that position after the season started, was tremendous in Sands' 13-12 victory over Forsan. He passed for both of the Mustangs' touchdowns and was a standout on defense while playing the safety spot.

Lineman—End Jesse Cavazos, who caught both of the touchdowns passes from Harrell, gets the nod, although all the Sands' linemen played well. Cavazos was also outstanding on defense.

GARDEN CITY
Back — A sophomore named John Wyckoff, who weighs only 130 pounds, was particularly tough on defense against Gail. Making his first start as a safety, Wyckoff made eight tackles and was outstanding in pass defense. On one kickoff, John impressed all observers with a great second effort that resulted in an added ten yards after apparently being tackled by members of the Gail club.

Lineman — Senior Walter Taylor, a 155-pound left end, measured up in all departments, both on offense and defense, for Garden City. He caught one pass that was good for 20 yards. His blocking on offense was terrific and he wound up with ten tackles on defense.

Frogs Sadly Overmatched, Says Martin

By The Associated Press
Mr. Martin, what is an overmatch in football?

"When you play Nebraska or Arkansas."

That's the way Texas Christian coach Abe Martin looked at it as he started preparing his Horned Frogs for the big one with Arkansas at Little Rock Saturday night. It's the opening Southwest Conference game for both.

TCU was whammed 34-14 by Nebraska.

"It looks as if we're overmatched as we were against Nebraska," said Martin gloomily. "It appears almost impossible for us to contain or to score on Arkansas."

WELL-BALANCED
Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas isn't expecting TCU to stay home Saturday though and he indicated he didn't think the Frogs would be easy either. He declared that Texas Christian had a well-balanced offense.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas was pretty well satisfied with his team's showing in a 33-7 victory over Texas Tech last week but he eyed Indiana, this week's foe, with some trepidation.

"They have some big, huge humphries in the line and there's no way we can just knock them out of there," Royal said of the Hoosiers. "Their offense looks a lot like ours—a mixture of running and passing. My guess is that we can look for 20 or more passes."

Texas A&M meets Texas Tech at Lubbock in a conference game Saturday night but what if anything new the Aggies are cooking up wasn't known. They are practicing in secret although they might be scouted by plane—they worked at night Monday and had the lights turned on. Coach Gene Stallings did reveal that there were no injuries among the Aggies from the 14-10 victory over Georgia Tech last week.

It was quite different at Texas Tech where Coach J. T. King was still marveling at the Texas defense. He found that three starters may not be able to play against the Aggies—defensive guard Doug Young, offensive guard James Cecil and defensive end Joe Hurley.

BEST EVER SEEN
King said the Texas defense that beat him last week was the best he had ever seen in the Southwest Conference. But of course he could change his mind Saturday night. The Aggies have been doing mighty well defensively, also.

There will be four inter-sectional games and the conference teams that play in them all have injury worries.

QBC Meets At 7:30

Members of the Big Spring Quarterback Club will gather at the High School Cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock this evening to view films of the Big Spring-Snyder football game and give a listen to coach Don Robbins on what the future might hold for the Steers.

A scouting report — on the Steers' next opponent, Midland Lee, might be withheld until next week because the locals will be idle Friday night.

A review on accomplishments of other clubs within the local system will also be given.

Judged off non-conference starts, the Steers will be slightly favored to topple Lee but the going gets sticky after that.

Big Spring plays Midland High, Abilene High, Abilene Cooper, Odessa Permian, Odessa High and San Angelo in that order, after the Lee contest.

Tonight's convale will last about an hour. It will be in charge of Stanley Ballou and Jack Griffin.

Davis, Podres Aid In Dodgers' Surge

By The Associated Press
The Superstar of Tomorrow who fizzled — Willie Davis.

The Superstar of Yesterday who became the forgotten man of the pitching staff — Johnny Podres.

They played key roles Monday night as the astonishing Los Angeles Dodgers swept to their 10th straight victory and remained tied with San Francisco for the National League lead.

REDS DEFEATED
Davis drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Podres was the winning pitcher as Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati's third-place Reds 6-1. The victory was a must for the Dodgers, with the Giants winning an afternoon game 8-4 over St. Louis.

powered by Tom Haller's two homers and five runs-batted-in.

Davis seemed a sure bet to become a top star when he broke in with the Dodgers in 1960, but has been an inconsistent performer. The speedy center fielder went into the vital game against the Reds with a .246 batting average and one September homer — and promptly got the Dodgers away winging with a two-run homer in the first inning.

He hit his 10th of the season in the seventh, climaxing the runaway.

Podres, the 33-year-old southpaw who was the World Series ace for the Dodgers a decade ago, held the Reds to five hits and left after five innings with a 5-1 lead.

Ron Ferranowski frustrated Cincinnati over the final four innings.

Haller homered with two on in the second inning against loser Tracy Stallard and knocked in another run on an infield out in the third, helping San Francisco build a 7-1 lead against the Cardinals. But it was no breather for the Giants.

The Cards got a run off Warren Spahn in the fourth, scored again and chased the 44-year-old southpaw in the fifth and got two more runs and had the bases loaded in the sixth.

LINZY TO RESCUE
But relief ace Frank Linzy stopped that threat, and held St. Louis in check the rest of the way. He was credited with the victory, making his record 8-3. Haller batted his second homer, and 15th of the year, in the seventh.

CASSIUS CLAY

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Sports dialogue:
MILTON GROSS, New York scribe: "What's the big deal about Cassius Clay's adopted name or even his advocacy of Islamism? Muhammad Ali believes it is a religion as much as it is a social philosophy. Maybe he's still too young to understand what he's doing or what these he's joined are trying to do. But it is not an illegal organization, even though it is segregationist. So why act as if it is something unclean and should not be spoken? Rocky Marciano's name was Rocco Marchegiano. Sugar Ray Robinson was born Walker Smith. Kid Chocolate was Eligio Sardinias. Johnny Dundee was Joseph Carrone. Ted (Kid) Lewis was Gershon Mendeloff. Benny Leonard was Benny Leiner."

... For good or for evil, Cassius is a Muslim, from the Islamic crescent button he's taken to wearing to his disclosure the other day that Herbert Muhammad, son of Elijah Muhammad, leader of the Sect, is his business manager... or advisor... or boss, as he stated at various times.

DONNY ANDERSON, Texas Tech All-American, before the Raiders' game with Texas:

"Over-all, the picture looks promising. We might bust loose and go crazy. We can't help but have something with two or three years experience behind these guys. If Texas cramps our style, it'll make it that much harder to sack 'em up and get after the rest of the teams."

HARRY MEHRE, Atlanta writer: "It may not be many seasons before the pros and the collegians will be using identical offenses and defenses. The pros borrow what they like best from the college teams and the college teams borrow from the pros."

GEORGE HALAS, veteran coach of the Chicago Bears: "I'll leave the predictions of the divisional race to the experts. I quit picking five years ago. I willed the job to Weeb Ewbank, who got fired. Picked his way right out of the loop. Now I've given the chore to the Rams' Harland Sware. It's a young man's job. If he isn't big enough to handle it alone, let him split it with the Colts' Don Shula."

JOHN P. CARMICHAEL, Chicago scribe: "It is to be hoped that Red China and the Viet Cong don't take too much comfort from the opening game defeats of all three service teams, Army by Tennessee, Navy by Syracuse and the Air Force by Wyoming."

Manager GENE MAUCH of the Philadelphia Phillies, upon learning that his first baseman, Dick Stuart, had complained about being taken out of a game in the late innings because of defensive reasons, maintaining that it hurt his image: "This lettering I wear says Philadelphia Phillies, not the Philadelphia Stuarts."

JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles writer, after the Los Angeles Rams had failed to advance past the Lion 45-yard line in their 20-0 defeat at the hands of Detroit: "The Rams' longest drive was from their locker room to the field."

DARRELL ROYAL, University of Texas coach, discussing Marvin Kristynik: "Our coaches joke that we haven't had a good quarterback — by other people's standards — in so long they wouldn't recognize one if they saw him."

Longhorns Lead In All Phases

By The Associated Press
Texas is off and running toward the Southwest Conference football championship and a look at the statistics shows why. It also shows why the Longhorns have been voted No. 1 in the nation.

Texas leads the conference in offense with 358.5 yards per game and tops the league in defense, giving up only 214.5 yards per game.

Arkansas is close behind in offense with 34.0 per contest and surprisingly Baylor is crowding Texas in defense. The Bears have allowed only 216.0 per game.

Arkansas leads in ground offense with 253.5 yards per game while Baylor tops in the air with 238.0.

The stingiest team against ground offense is Texas, which

Bovines Climb To Top In AP Football Poll

By JACK HAND

Texas is the new No. 1 team in the weekly college football poll but it was a close fit with Purdue and Nebraska.

Darrell Royal Unhappy Over Team's Promotion

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — One year, if it's possible, Texas Coach Darrell Royal would like to see his team win the college football championship without being tagged No. 1 early in the season.

Speaking as one who knows, Royal said, "The hardest possible way to win a national championship is to get the top spot early and have to play under that pressure all season."

Ex-Big Springer Dies In Liberty

Tink Riviere, 66, who was business manager of the Big Spring WT-NM baseball league club that won a pennant in 1941, died Monday of a heart attack in Liberty, Texas.

Riviere pitched in the Texas league for seven years in the late '20s and early '30s. He was with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1921, after having signed a bonus contract of $1,500. That was the highest bonus paid a rookie up to that time.

He worked in only 18 games with the Cardinals and except for three games with the Chicago White Sox in 1925 spent the remainder of his 11-year professional career with minor league clubs.

He was with Houston in 1924, Dallas in 1925-26, San Antonio in 1928-29, Beaumont in 1930 and Houston in 1931 in his Texas league career.

While active as a pitcher, he worked 114 games. His won-loss record was 39-43.

Riviere assembled the great 1941 Big Spring team, along with Jodie Tate, who served as field manager. That year, the locals won 91 games and lost 45 and beat out second-place Borger by two full games.

Big Spring then beat Amarillo, three games to none, in the first round of the playoffs but lost to Clovis, N. M., in the

The Texans attracted 15 first place votes, Purdue 14 and Nebraska 13 in the balloting of a panel of sports writers and sportscasters for The Associated Press. Only 26 points separated the first three teams and Texas edged Purdue by only 389-381.

Purdue's upset of Notre Dame on the sensational passing of Bob Griese dropped the Irish out of the lead, but they managed to cling to eighth place in the Top Ten shuffle.

Michigan State and Georgia edged into the ninth and tenth positions as Florida and Syracuse, both beaten Saturday, dropped out of the select circle.

Texas moved from third to first on the strength of an emphatic 33-7 triumph over Texas Tech on top of an opening 51-0 romp over Tulane. The Texans have Indiana and Oklahoma ahead before their showdown meeting with fourth-ranked Arkansas, Oct. 16.

Purdue followed up its easy opening rout of Miami of Ohio with an exciting 25-21 victory over Notre Dame when Griese completed 19 of 22 passes for 283 yards and three touchdowns.

Nebraska disposed of the Air Force 27-17 but dropped a peg to third, displaced by Purdue as the runner-up team.

Arkansas slipped past a tough Tulsa team 20-12 for No. 4 ranking.

Louisiana State rolled it up on Rice Saturday night and advanced to fifth position. Kentucky's 16-7 victory over Mississippi moved the Wildcats into the No. 6 slot.

Michigan slipped from fourth to seventh, apparently because of its close game with California, a 19-7 victim. Notre Dame skipped down to eighth and Michigan State, a convincing 23-0 winner over Penn State, became the No. 9 team.

Georgia, which added Vanderbilt to its list after upsetting Alabama in the opener, was No. 10. The vote with points on a 10-0 scale, based on first-place ballots in parentheses.

Ecumenical Council Bishops Concerned About Document

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council's document on modern world problems was reported today "in deep trouble."

Council sources said most of the 2,200 bishops at the Roman Catholic assembly fear there is not enough time left in this fourth and final council session to make the document truly satisfactory.

It was widely felt that the document, after more rewriting and revision, would be promulgated as a decree before the council ends, probably in December.

"This is what has so many of the fathers worried," said one source.

OUTSIDE CHURCH

"There has been so much publicity and pressure they feel they've got to come up with a document of some kind, and they're afraid it won't be very good."

This is the first council document in church history to deal exclusively with problems outside the Church. It ranges in scope from marriage and family planning to the Christian approach to politics and the Church's attitude on conscientious objectors and nuclear war.

It is the council's only document addressed to all men, not just to Catholics.

It cleared its first hurdle last week when the bishops accepted it in outline. But no one seems satisfied with it in detail.

TEXT CHANGES

One specialist assigned to the commission responsible for the document speculated that at least 1,000 changes will have to be made in the text as a result of amendments suggested by the bishops.

One bishop says "the mind shudders" at the amount of work that will have to be done on the document before the council ends.

"The tragedy is that there is simply not enough time to get all this done in satisfactory fashion," commented another source.

"The bishops aren't even agreed on the meaning of basic words — words like 'world,' for example. They want clear unmistakable definitions. They really need at least another year, but they can't have it because the council will be closing soon."

It was reported that to get as much time as possible for the rewriting, the council might end its debate on the document within a week to get it back into the drafting commission quickly.

DEAR ABBY

Private Affair

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, who has just entered the eighth grade in public school, has brought home an assignment which her teacher described as a "fun project." Each child must make a "family tree."

Starting with the parents, grandparents and great-grandparents, they are supposed to go back as far as they can and give the name, place of birth, occupation, religion, and any interesting facts they can find out about each ancestor.

Now, I can't see where this information is any of the teacher's business, can you? And it has nothing whatsoever to do with the subject the teacher is supposed to be teaching. How would you handle this situation?

DEAR MOTHER: Shaking the family tree can be a "fun project" providing one doesn't mind flushing out an occasional odd bird or squirrelly character. But one's family history is a highly personal matter and no student should be required to reveal it as part of an "assignment." It's clearly an invasion of privacy, and I would tell the teacher just that.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I visit my parents about three times a year. They live on a farm not too far from the city in which we live. I always take Mom and Dad a few gifts to compensate for staying the weekend with them. Last time we were there, Mom let it slip that she had given my newly-married brother and his wife some of the gifts I had given her. I know she hadn't intended telling me, it just slipped out.

Well, I blew my top. I know I was wrong to lose my temper, but do you think I was wrong to feel offended because she gave MY gifts to someone else?

DEAR BLEW: I don't blame you for feeling "hurt" when you learned that instead of using and enjoying the gifts, your mother had given them to someone else. But after a gift is given, it belongs to the recipient to do with what he pleases. If your mother derived more pleasure out of giving away the gifts, you should not have left offended.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 16 years and have three children. To give you a brief description of what I am going through, my husband had his own business, but he went bankrupt last year. First, they shut off our gas. Later, we got thrown out of our house and finally, one morning I woke up to find the finance company had taken our car. Now, Abby, all this time my husband was worrying about his hair, which he was losing. I told him to get a toupee, which he did, but he was allergic to the glue needed to keep it on, so he had to quit wearing it. I work nights waiting on tables to keep shoes on the kids' feet and my husband just picks away on his $9 guitar telling me how lucky I am that he hasn't got any hair because if he had hair Holly-wood would grab him. I am just going crazy. What should I do?

DEAR "B": What your husband needs for his hair is not HAIR — but an examination. For goodness sakes, get him to a doctor!

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions."

Rights Worker Death Trial Due To Start

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A part-time deputy sheriff who fought successfully against a delay in his trial goes before a jury today on a charge of manslaughter in the killing of a civil rights worker.

First the trial judge, T. Werth Thagard, and then a federal judge turned down motions Monday to postpone the trial of Thomas L. Coleman, 55-year-old special officer and a prominent Hayneville resident.

SEMINARY STUDENT
Coleman, a highway engineer in private life, is charged with manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of Jonathan Daniels, an Episcopal seminary student from Kenne, N.H., who had come to Alabama to help Negroes in their struggle for voting rights.

Daniels, 27, was killed and a Catholic priest, Father Richard Morrisroe, 28, of Chicago, was critically wounded outside a Hayneville grocery store the afternoon of Aug. 20. Coleman also is under indictment on an assault and battery charge for the shooting of Morrisroe.

Thagard in Circuit (State) Court and Richard T. Rives, speaking for a three-judge federal court, refused also to order postponement of another trial growing out of a separate civil rights slaying in rural Lowndes County.

Because of their rulings, a 21-year-old Ku Klux Klansman, Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., is still scheduled for trial here Wednesday, in the same century-old courtroom, on a charge of murder in the death of a white Detroit housewife, Viola Liuzzo.

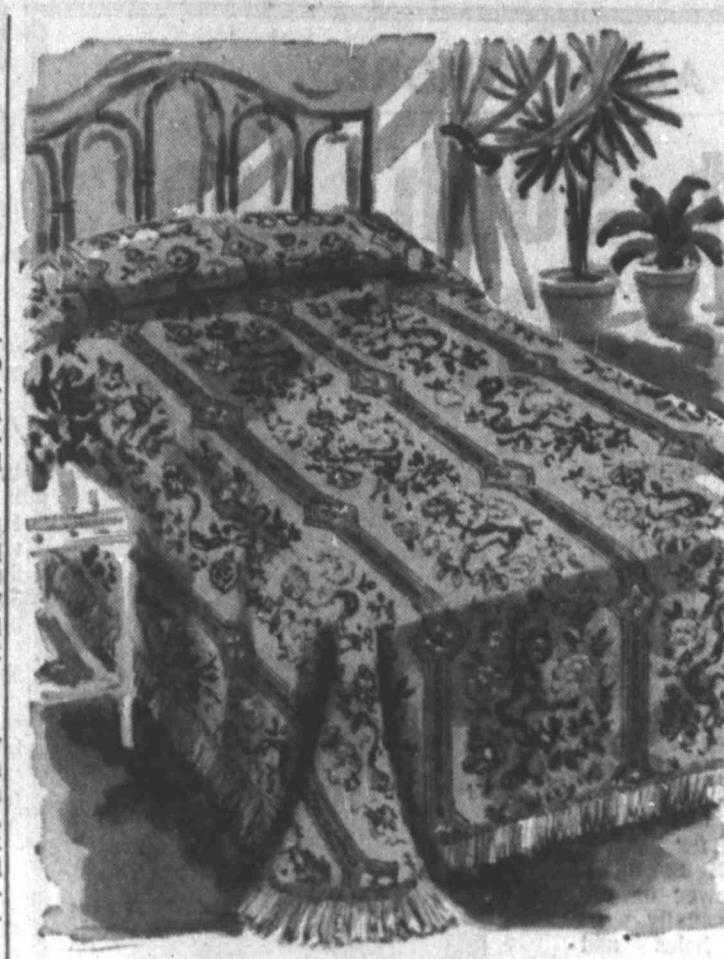

FINAL WEEK
Whether Wilkins, a Fairfield, Ala., mechanic actually is tried this week will depend on the length of Coleman's trial. This is the final week of the September term of court. If his case is postponed, it may be set for trial again at a special court term in mid-October. Wilkins was tried last May, but the jury was unable to agree on a verdict.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, wife of a Teamsters Union official, was slain in her car on US Highway 90 last March 25 following the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery. She had participated in the march and was helping drive other marchers back to Selma.

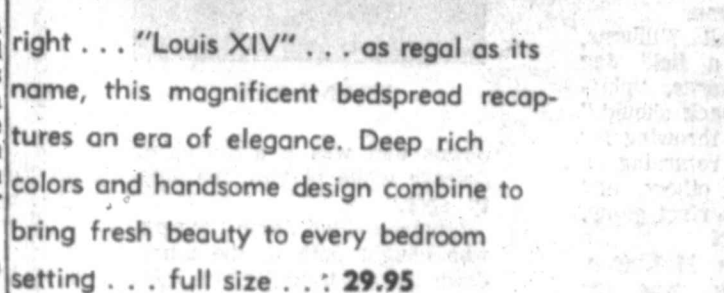

Gromyko And Rusk To Talk

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk meets with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Wednesday night in a new quest for possible areas of agreement between the two countries.

Gromyko accepted Rusk's invitation to dine at the secretary of state's suite in the Waldorf Towers, U.S. officials announced. Both are in New York for talks with foreign leaders attending the opening weeks of the U.N. General Assembly.

Family Night At Met

David, 10, appeared with their father in the production. Mrs. Merrill is at left. Merrill is wearing the costume of the Valentin, the role he sang in the opera. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Reorganization Of Dominican Military Due

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — President Hector Garcia-Godoy promises a reorganization of the Dominican armed forces to give "peace and security" to the people.

The shakeup was necessary, he said, Monday night because of recent violent incidents involving Dominican army units. He cited the fatal shooting of a high school student Monday by a guard at the national palace. During a short radio-television appearance, the provisional president announced two new laws would spell out details of the military reorganization and of the reintegration of rebel combatants into the armed forces. The reintegration should be completed in three to four days, he said.

He said the military shakeup would be accomplished gradually and with the participation of the armed forces.

Interior Minister Manuel Joaquin Castillo said earlier that weapons taken from civilians in the rebel zone would be turned over to a government commission today. This is the first phase in the demilitarization of the zone.

Backs Pope

Methodist Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia clasps hands as he hailed next week's visit of Pope Paul to America. 'Pieta' Will Sail Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Michelangelo's "Pieta" will sail for home Nov. 2 on the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo in the same intricate packaging in which the statue arrived for display at the World's Fair.

Barring accident between now and the fair's closing Oct. 17, the priceless masterpiece will leave the fair in exactly the same condition in which it left Rome a year and a half ago.

Insurance company experts will make minute examinations of the statue both before packaging here and after it is unwrapped in Rome, explained Edward Kinney, chairman of the Vatican pavilion transportation committee.

The statue, of the Holy Mother holding the reclining figure of Christ, was insured for $8 million for the trip alone, and was covered by a $20 million pool policy while at the fair.

Key Countries Push Monetary Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten major nations announced agreement today on the first step toward a world conference on possible changes in the international monetary system.

Finance ministers of the 10 nations instructed their deputies to study the need for additional money and credit and to make a report next spring. Managing Director Pierre-Paul Schweitzer of the International Monetary Fund will have representatives attending the deputies' discussions.

LONG STUDY

The 10 industrialized nations, known as the group of 10, and the International Monetary Fund had been studying the international money system separately for more than a year.

The ministers said the discussion should take place on "an intensified basis" but they referred to the action as "contingency planning."

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and other U.S. officials have said there is no present need for a new type of currency or other additional money or credit but orderly planning should be gotten under way to meet needs that may arise in two or three years.

LIMIT MATTER

A major point of disagreement between the United States and several other countries on the one hand, and France and several other European governments on the other, is whether action on the monetary system should be limited to 50 or fewer of the most powerful nations.

Fowler and Schweitzer have asked that all 103 members of the IMF be permitted to participate in the discussions and in any new monetary system which is set up.

The agreement appears to be a compromise with the IMF representatives permitted to participate in the discussions. There is no commitment to their participation in the decision on the type of change, if any, to be made.

Charges Filed In Illegal Moving Of Stored Grain

Charges have been filed with Peace Justice O. L. (Pop) Miller in San Angelo against E. T. (Sonny) Tucker Jr. and Jimmy W. Tucker on a complaint of illegal removal of stored grain.

The complaint, filed by Donald Olson, U.S. Department of Agriculture inspector, alleges that the defendants removed 157,920 pounds of grain owned by Big Spring Grain Co. from storage without complying with the law that requires all outstanding receipts issued to represent the grain be cancelled.

A Devotional For The Day

Whoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. (Matthew 10:32)

PRAYER: Father, we thank Thee for every witness of Thy great salvation, for every home of which Thou art the Lord, for every day we may live with Thee. Give us and all our fellowmen Thy guidance today. Unify us by the power of the Holy Spirit working in us. We pray in the name of Christ, our Redeemer and Master. Amen.

The Few Rotten Apples

What everyone contends is borne out again in a study by the National Educational Association. Most juveniles are anything but troublemakers. Those who do give trouble are a tiny minority.

In a nationwide survey, NEA found that only three students in 100 could be considered serious troublemakers. One of every three teachers reported having no real troublemakers in his class.

Only 14 out of every 1,000 teachers reported having an act of violence committed against them personally, and these rare instances were more apt to occur in a larger school system and toward a male teacher. Fewer than one in 10 teachers reported that fighting, serious theft, or carrying dangerous weapons was widespread or occurred frequently.

One of every three teachers put the blame for what student misbehavior did occur square on the shoulders of irresponsible parents, low income, broken families, or lack of moral and spiritual training. Twenty-eight per cent cited increased availability of automobiles to teenagers as a major cause of misbehavior in class as well as out. There was some indication that intelligence and ability bore a relation to good behavior, and that the contrary was true. For instance, nearly all above-average classes (as to ability) were rated excellently behaved, whereas less than half the below-average classes were considered well-behaved.

Although a recent FBI report indicated that juveniles were involved in a third of the crimes in the United States, the NEA report shows clearly again that most of the trouble comes from but a few. Having identified this group, surely there ought to be some way to better deal with it.

Fickle Fame

Clara Bow has died at the age of 60 years, and if you remember Clara Bow you catalogue yourself as a member of the "older" generation.

She was the symbol of sex appeal back in the twenties, and press agency created her as the personification of "It," whatever "It" was.

Perhaps some of her movies were as daring in their own way and in relation to the modes and mores of the times as are some of our best ones of today, but in retrospect, the "It" girl's dramatic production was pretty routine. Instead of today's curvaceous beauties, she was well padded and tended to the pudgy. But in those days, the boys liked them well fed. Every young swain agreed she had "It."

Ah, fame is fickle and fleeting, and tastes change with the times.

Art Buchwald Open Season On Commies

WASHINGTON — Last week the House of Representatives passed, overwhelmingly, a resolution calling for the use of force by any American nation, if necessary, to prevent a Communist takeover in any Western hemisphere country. The resolution has produced a furor in Latin American and almost every country has denounced it. It also has caused new criticism of the United States Latin American policy.

DESPITE THIS I am happy to report that the Republic of Enchilada is not only supporting the House of Representatives resolution, but is planning to act on it. It has never been a secret that Enchilada's arch enemy is Upper Tamale, which lies just across the vale of Chili.

For years Enchilada and Upper Tamale have had a border dispute about the vale, and Enchilada has been looking for an excuse to attack Upper Tamale.

AS SOON AS the resolution was passed, Gen. El Finco, the President of Enchilada, called his parliament, which he had dissolved four months ago, back into session, and in an impassioned pro-United States speech said, "Thanks to the American House of Representatives, which has just passed a resolution saying any American republic can attack any other American republic if there is a question of a Communist government, I am suggesting we attack Upper Tamale immediately. As everyone in Enchilada knows, Upper Tamale is lousy with Communists, and its leader, Gen. Frijoles, is nothing more than a Castro pawn who would enslave all of South America."

"IT IS THE duty of Enchiladans to wipe out the forces of subversion in this hemisphere no matter where they might be and I am asking the United States through the Alliance for Progress to send us 200 B-52 bombers, 400 Patton tanks, and 1,000 Hawk missiles to see that this menace is eradicated, so all of South America may live in peace and freedom."

But at the moment that Gen. El Finco was speaking in Enchilada, Gen. Frijoles was addressing his senate.

HE TOLD THEM, "I am happy to announce today that the mother of all freedom-loving countries in South America, our own Upper Tamale, is now prepared to strike a blow against communism in the vale of Chili. The leftist-dominated, Red-infiltrated, subversive government of Enchilada must be taught a lesson once and for all. Our ambassador in Washington is now negotiating through the Alliance for Progress for 250 fighter planes, 100 nuclear submarines, and 350 tons of noxious tear gas, which we will use to wipe Enchilada off the face of the earth."

TO SHOW HIS gratitude to the United States House of Representatives, Gen. Frijoles ordered his students not to burn down a USIA library for 30 days.

So, while many South American countries may be critical of the Selden resolution, there are at least two Latin countries who are for it. There won't be a "commie government" safe in South America after this.

Port Inflation

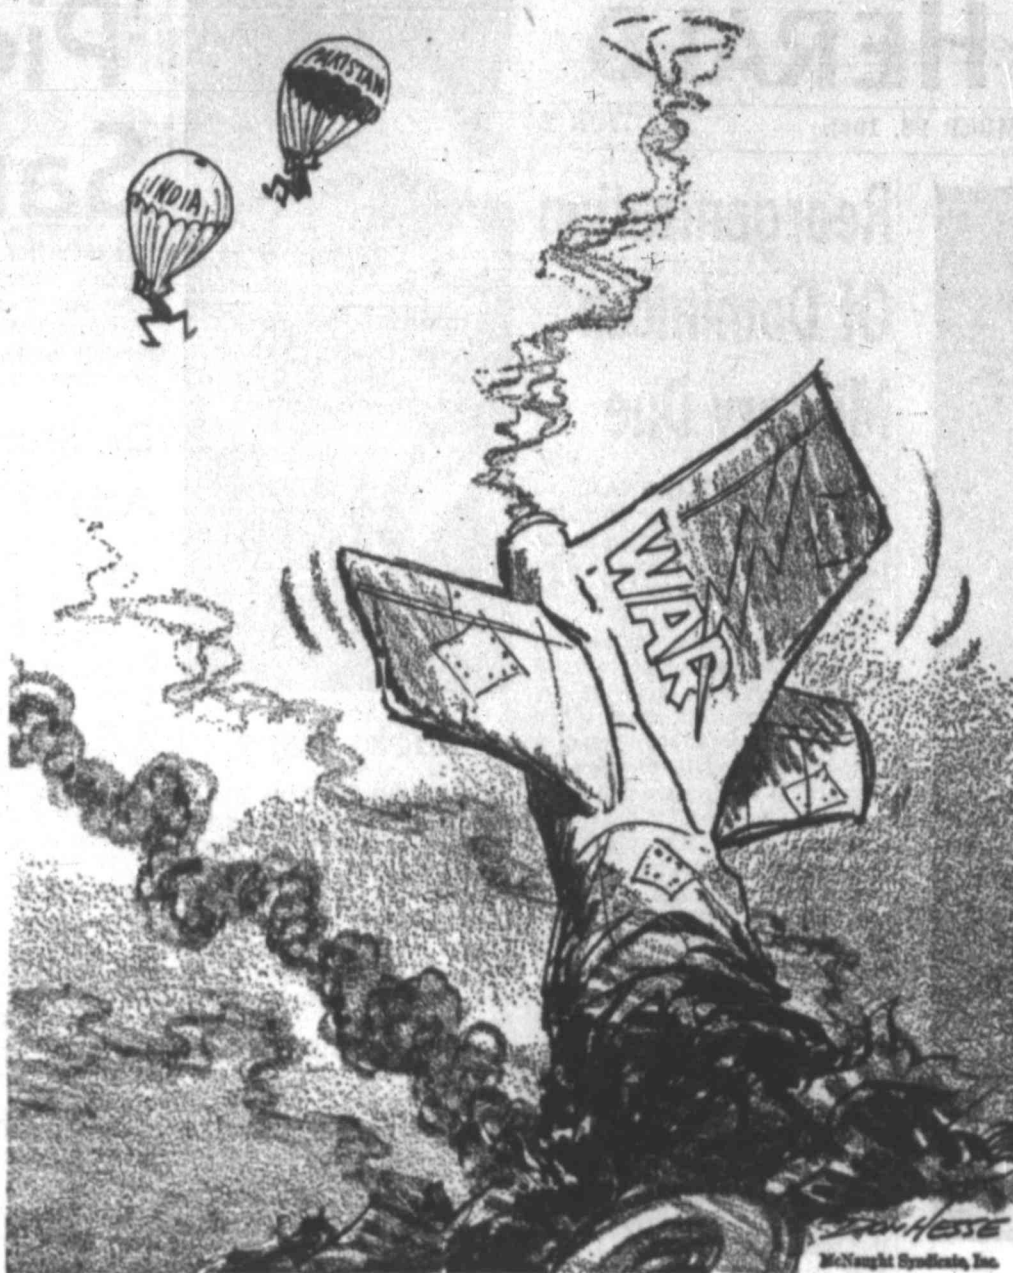

ST. PETER PORT, Guernsey, Channel Islands (AP)—The price of a bottle of Scotch whiskey went up the other day for the first time in 10 years in this low-tax island.

The old price was 25 shillings ($3.50). The new price is 26 shillings 9 pence ($3.76). A bottle costs 42 shillings 6 pence ($6.79) in England.

James Marlow Republicans: 'Short On New Ideas'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have been told by one of themselves that they need new ideas.

Gov. John H. Reed of Maine told a group of Republicans here "We have been suffering for a number of years with idea gaps to cope with the problems of the modern world."

House Republicans, less than productive with new ideas, are hoping task forces they created will come up with some to be used in the 1966 congressional campaigns.

BUT ONE of them, asked what the party stands for now, said "family unity." Another said "fiscal responsibility." This sounded like an echo of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He recently said Republicans should take their stand on fiscal responsibility, frugality and integrity.

Meanwhile, the Democrats, under President Johnson's leadership, are rolling through Congress programs that have something for the poor, Negroes, children in school — and through their parents, old people, and, through excise tax cuts, something for everybody.

In the 1964 elections the Republicans wound up in the Senate with only 32 seats to the Democrats' 68 and in the House with only 149 to the Democrats' 255.

WHILE THE Senate Republicans, under the leadership of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, have been rather quiet on Johnson, House Republicans under the leadership of Gerald R. Ford Jr., of Michigan and Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin have been his constant critics.

They're still searching for issues to use to try to make the Republican party more attractive to voters.

"Successful Republicans," Reed said, "must be able to convince the voter that our policies are superior... that they can provide the better life and the integrity that is a vital part of this environment.

"WE CANNOT solve tomorrow's problems with yesterday's thinking."

House Republicans revealed their thinking this year on some of the major pieces of legislation which were passed by the House where Democrats, outnumbering Republicans more than two to one, could shove bills through.

This is how House Republicans voted on some of that major legislation:

On the medical care bill for people 65 and older: 70 Republicans for, 68 against; on the $1.1-billion Appalachia aid bill: 25 Republicans for, 109 against.

On the $1.3-billion school aid bill: 36 Republicans for, 96 Republicans against; on the $7.8-billion house bill, with rent subsidies for low-income families: 26 Republicans for, 110 against.

On the $1.9-billion anti-poverty bill: 24 Republicans for, 110 against. On the civil rights measure of 1965 — the voting rights bill — the House Republicans were more affirmative, voting 111 for, only 29 against.

Around The Rim Individuals Reflect A Town's Image

The damage to a community's image which can result from the rudeness of a single citizen can often be tremendous and almost irreparable. An instance occurs to me.

ROGERS, ARK., in my opinion, is one of the prettiest little cities anywhere. For years, I passed through Rogers nearly every summer as my wife and I set out on our little summer vacation trip.

Once, when we were on our way to the Ozark country, we decided to drive an extra hour in order to get to Rogers to eat our lunch—preferring to have a later meal in what we both regarded as a very attractive town.

WHEN WE REACHED Rogers, we decided to fill up with gasoline before going to a restaurant. We pulled into a service station. The station operator had been washing down his driveway with a garden hose. The hose was spread across the path of my car. I saw the hose and had no intention of running over it.

The proprietor, red in the face and gestulating wildly, raced out of his office:

"Watch where you're going," he belted. "Don't be runnin' over my hose."

I LOOKED at the man and I put the car in reverse. I backed into the street. We drove straight on through town, even though we were hungry and needed gasoline.

I never again liked Rogers. I have even gone around it sometimes to avoid passing through the town.

Unfair? Of course. The grouch I met was not a typical resident. I am sure. I do not know, however, I never had a chance to find out if all Rogers residents were like him.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE: I drove into Alamogordo, N.M., one hot summer day a number of years ago. I decided to get a haircut and went to a barber shop. The barber was chatty. He found out I was a stranger in his town. "Had I seen this and that?" he asked. I had not.

When he had finished the haircut, nothing would do him but he put on his coat, shut up the shop and took me on a personally conducted visit to the town's park.

Later, as we were leaving, I drove into a service station and asked the attendant where the ice plant was to be found. I wanted to fill a thermos jug with ice.

He started to tell me and then changed his mind:

"LOOK," he said, "fill your jug out of that box there. There's plenty and it will be a lot easier than for you to find the ice plant."

I protested that I didn't want to take his supply of ice. He brushed off my protest.

"Shucks," he said, "I can go to the ice plant any time."

I ALWAYS REMEMBER Alamogordo with pleasure because of the friendliness of these two men. I suspect there are grouches there just as there were genial nice people in Rogers. However, I did not meet the grouches there; I met the nice guys. Hence, to me Alamogordo is a nice friendly town. In Rogers I ran into the sorehead; unjustly, but nevertheless Rogers is firmly impressed in my mind as an unfriendly town.

The real public relations workers of any community are the individuals who create the image, be it good or bad, are the filling station attendants, the clerks in motels, the waitresses in eating places and the cop on the corner.

How they—not the Chamber of Commerce—deal with the stranger determines most importantly how that stranger will remember the town.

—SAM BLACKBURN

Marquis Childs Voices Of Criticism Stilled

WASHINGTON — The Johnson consensus is so powerful that large areas of policy — normally in past years a subject for debate — are now off limits. The zeal of a majority President, who by temperament and conviction draws the line against dissenters, underscores the fears of a time of troubles when revolutionary regimes threaten all order and stability.

A case in point is what happened to Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Waiting until after a provisional government had been established in the Dominican Republic, Fulbright in a Senate speech delivered a carefully reasoned criticism of how the Dominican crisis had been handled.

IMMEDIATELY the full force of administration spokesmen, big and little, was leveled against him. The voices turned up high did not so much seek to refute the criticism as to discredit the critic.

On careful re-reading of the Fulbright speech it is hard to discover why the reaction was as though it had been an offense against majesty. He was saying that aspects of America's policy in the Dominican Republic compounded these faults. The example of a Senator soundly birched for faulting the administration raises a troubling question: Is any dialogue at all possible on the great issues of foreign policy?

TO PUT IT another way: Must the power of the executive be so absolute in view of the threat to America's security that critics should keep silent? An American war in Viet Nam is rapidly expanding with reports of 200,000 troops to be committed by the year's end and yet scarcely a doubt is expressed publicly over the authority of the Commander in Chief to direct an undeclared war.

Granted the stakes are awesome and the power of the executive great in conducting policy with proper secrecy as in the India-Pakistan crisis. Granted, too, that nothing succeeds like the Johnson successes.

NEVERTHELESS, the domination of the majority is so all-encompassing that a fundamental distortion of the American system seems for the time being at least to have resulted. More than a century ago Alexis de Tocqueville, one of the most searching and at the same time sympathetic foreign critics, wrote in his "Democracy in America" of the danger of the "tyranny of the majority." Of the tyranny this French aristocrat considered the main evil of democratic institutions he wrote:

"... THE SMALLEST reproach irritates its sensibility and the slightest joke that has any foundation in truth renders it indignant; from the forms of its language up to the solid virtues of its character, everything must be made the subject of encomium. No writer, whatever be his eminence, can escape paying this tribute of adulation to his fellow citizens."

De Tocqueville was writing of the majority itself but his words today might be applied to the master of the majority.

Holmes Alexander President's Finger On The World

WASHINGTON — The Oval Office at the White House, as everybody knows, is bright and cheerful if the weather is fair, but next door to it is a very small office where the windows are heavily draped and where a man in power could sit and think with only his thoughts for sunshine and shadow.

A President who has known hard times at home, who survived a wartime air crash and later nearly went to his heavenly reward as a Senator with his life's ambitions unfulfilled, could be more of a philosopher than most people think.

NO PRESIDENT ever "loved peace" in so many press conferences and public addresses as Lyndon Johnson, but it would be a mistake to suppose that his personal philosophy is as romantic as his oratory. The President knows that he heads the richest and most envied country on earth. It goes without saying, for a man of worldly wisdom, that jealous enemy nations, large and small, would like to cut us down to their level of living standards, or enrich themselves by conquest. Covetousness by the poor, and jealousy by the near-great, are certainly a phase of the World Communist movement, and part of a President's attitude toward his job is a determination that nobody's going to take away what's ours in material wealth and leadership.

THOUGH "JOHNSON'S WAR," as his critics dubbed it, is on the glory road to victory in Viet Nam, the President has no illusions about bringing the boys home for Christmas dinner. Though not yet officially acknowledged, our troop strength there is 175,000 and will increase because the whole area of Southeast Asia must be stabilized. The President knows too much about the internal problems of Red China to regard that nation as much of a tiger.

IN A QUIET room, with the noise of the world shut out, General De Gaulle's irascible monologues do not get the President's goat — as seems to be De Gaulle's intention. If it comes to an endgame contest between France's grand old man and NATO, the President has reason to think that the North Atlantic Alliance will be there after France's last hero has gone to a tomb as big as Napoleon's.

THE PRESIDENT, who was tabbed as a foreign affairs novice when he took office, can remember several early wins that may have been more than beginner's luck. Four Americans were captives to Bolivian rebels soon after Johnson became President. He said something — he's never told us what — which sprung them from prison. Castro was going to shut off our water and starve us out of the Guantanamo Navy Base in Cuba — a test for the new President — but Johnson made us self-sufficient in water by bringing it in in ships and then by moving a desalinization plant from California. Panamas rioted over the Canal, and Johnson agreed to give it away — but not till we built a new one. Brazil threw out its Left-leaning President and set up a military dictatorship. The Kennedy-men at the White House warned the new President not to be in a hurry to recognize General Castelo Branco as the new leader. But Johnson sized him up as anti-Communist and gave anti-most instant recognition. It looked like "another Castro" in the Dominican Republic, so Johnson landed the U.S. Marines while Senators Bill Fulbright and Bob Kennedy howled in protest.

A MAN, alone with his thoughts in that small White House retreat, would not expect the world outside to sleep in heavenly peace. But nothing in Johnson's record to date suggests that he can't take the world, just as it is.

KMID-TV's Remote Truck

For important events happening in the Channel 2 area, KMID-TV has a remote truck ready to roll to the scenes. This enables the station to bring up-to-the-minute coverage to its listeners and viewers. Experienced personnel man the truck and its equipment to insure pictures and description, of the finest quality. KMID-TV is on the alert at all times to keep abreast of happenings which include community events of wide-spread interest, catastrophes, and human interest features.

Guns, Ammo, Plentiful At White Store Here

With the bird-hunting season flying away, and the deer season coming on, many hunters may be eyeing old guns with the thought of better ones, or may be thinking of rifles for bigger game.

A lay-away department at White's Stores makes it possible for those wanting to start paying on guns now, for future use, to choose the shotgun or rifle they want. The same department will also be available for hunters wanting other equipment.

White's handles several of the well-known brands of shotguns and rifles, and the fine "Nimrod" ammunition—White's own trademark—is in stock for all of these shooting pieces. In stock are Winchester, Remington, Springfield, Stevens, Savage, Marlin, and other brands of shotguns and rifles.

Other equipment and supplies for sportsmen are on hand, such as hunting knives, scopes, cleaning kits, gun racks, gun cases; Coleman stoves and lanterns; fishing tackle, including rods, reels, line, weights, lures, hooks and tackle boxes; ice chests, sleeping bags, folding cots, and camp chairs and other items.

Getting closer to home, many will be looking for winter equipment such as space heaters, electric blankets, wall heaters and other items. White's carries the Catalina gas space and wall heaters; Arvin Electric floor, wall and portable heaters. Some of these are for small spaces, such as automobile use.

Automobile owners will soon have to think of anti-freeze, and White's has this in its own brand—White's Supreme—as well as Prestone.

Then there are all kinds of automobile accessories, including tires, batteries, seat covers, lights, radiator hoses, water pumps, carburetors, fuel pumps, distributors and other parts.

And White's service department is equipped, manned and ready for brake service, front end alignment, muffler and exhaust replacements, tire changing, battery installation, and general check-ups for the automobile.

Thinking of some new appliances for the kitchen, or other parts of the home? White's Catalina brands cover refrigerators, freezers, ranges, washers, dryers, hot water heaters, radios, television, combination radio-stereos, and other items.

The furniture department is well-stocked with the finest home furniture available, whether it is by the piece or a room or house-full.

Try White's Store at 202 Scurry. There is also plenty of off-street parking.

Right Into The Skillet

Don Statham, sporting goods salesman at White's, takes aim at a running buck. He hopes the rifle, loaded with "Nimrod" ammunition, brings the game right to the frying pan on the Coleman camp stove.

Big Spring Men Know Insecticides

If you are bothered with pesky insect pests around your home or business, and don't now how to control them, call Mack Moore & Son Extermination Service.

The men keep abreast of the constant changes in effective insecticides and chemicals, and know just what to use to rid buildings of ants, roaches, termites, moths and other insects. They have the equipment to get the chemicals into the most difficult places.

A telephone call to AM 4-8190 or AM 3-6514 will get you information about, or service on, all kinds of pest control.

Even skunk odors can be eliminated with chemicals. Other offensive odors, such as those caused by smoke, or by insects, may be "killed out" of the air or walls inside the premises.

Termites can do as much damage to concrete as they do to wood. Insects and pests can also develop immunity to pesticides and chemicals, requiring new kinds to be used for extermination.

Mack and Max Moore have pressurized portable equipment to enable them to get under concrete slabs, air hammers to drill into concrete foundations and slabs, where pressure forces chemicals into the entire area to exterminate termites.

So, if there is an offensive odor around the place, caused by smoke, skunks or anything else, the firm has the chemicals to rid the air and premises of the odor.

Pressure tanks, on trailers, carrying 50, 100 and 250 gallons of chemicals, are ready to roll, along with two trucks carrying the necessary tools and other equipment.

Mack Moore & Son own and operate the business and keep up with all new methods and chemicals. They are members of the Texas Pest Control Association, and are ready to go anywhere in the Big Spring area. They don't leave the house, or premises, in a "mess" when through with a job.

Call Mack Moore & Son for Pest Control Service. Termites, Roaches, Moths, etc. Home Owned & Operated. Guaranteed. Service. 903 E. 12th Street. AM 4-8190 or AM 3-6514. Member Texas Pest Control Association.

Century Seen By Stantonite

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. J. H. County. She was married in Grayson County in 1889 to the late John Kelly, and they moved to Martin County in 1907 where he farmed until his death. Six children were born to the union, all living except Mamie Burcham. The children include Claude and Walter Kelly of Stanton, Dale Kelly of Hereford, Blanche McClung of Kilgore and Neva Marchant of Electra.

There are 13 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren. Out-of-town guests were Janice Taylor, Van Alstyne; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clark and children, Mrs. Nell Kilburne and Mrs. Shirley Morrow and daughters, all of Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Kelly, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. John Dale Kelly and daughters, Panhandle; Charles Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stephens and children, Abilene; Mrs. Neva Marchant and Mrs. Clara Turner, Electra; and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wilson and Cecil Hamilton of Big Spring.

The honoree was presented a corsage, and gifts, cards, and a large number of flower arrangements were on display. On a side table was the pink carnation arrangement used for the family dinner Saturday evening at the Cap Rock Electric.

EARLY LIFE
Mrs. Kelly was born Sept. 24, 1865, at Van Alstyne in Grayson County.

Weekend Reunion Held By E. L. Roman Family

KNOTT (SC) — A weekend family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman Sr. Attending were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Roman, Temple. He is employed by the Veterans Administration Hospital and they were en route to a new assignment in Washington, D. C. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman Jr. and family, Hereford; Miss Judy Roman, who is teaching English in Jayton High School; and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roman and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Roman, all of Big Spring.

Mrs. Joe Beall and sons of Louisiana, are visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Little, and with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beall and family. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Ditto accompanied her mother, Mrs. A. E. Cockrell to her home in Meridian recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Freeman and son visited Ervin Cockrell in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Saturday. They also visited relatives in Spade.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There's been nothing but praise for the "Don't Dodge City" entertainment at Webb AFB that was given last week. The talent that is concentrated at Webb is really outstanding and the wonderful thing about it is that each talent is willing to be put into service . . . and they all apparently have a fine time in the planning, the practice and the performing.

MR. and MRS. WILL BARON and little Paul are having a nice vacation with his mother.

Hollywood Party Held For Rush

Mrs. Morris Griffice, costumed as "Festus" of the Gunsmoke TV show, took first prize at the Hollywood Party and salad supper held Monday evening by Beta Sigma Phi. Honorable mention for their character portrayals went to Mrs. H. L. McMillan and Mrs. Lamar Green.

The rush affair was held in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses were Mrs. Green, Mrs. Mike Arnold and Mrs. Billy G. McDonald.

Mrs. McMillan, a transferee, was welcomed to the chapter, and rushers were Mrs. Daniel Johnson, Mrs. Jim Noble, Mrs. Ronnie McCuiston, Mrs. Billie McDonald, Mrs. Jack Lewis and Mrs. Ronnie Clanton. There were 11 members present.

A model meeting will be held Oct. 11 with the place to be announced.

James Bagleys Visit Relatives

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. James Bagley and Jimmy were in Sweetwater for a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Davis.

Mrs. Ronnie Gandy re-entered Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital for further treatment.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Siviger were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wallender from Crane.

Mrs. W. F. Davidson is home from a visit to Morton with a son and his family, the Frank Davidsons.

First Furnish your Home

MRS. JOSEPH BARON in Tacoma, Wash., and have recently had a visit in Vancouver. They will be away for another two weeks.

There was a single rose blooming in a bed at 103 E. 20th St., that seemed to send the message it was the last rose of summer. It was beautiful and there was nothing about to spoil the scenery. If it is the last, it is certainly going out in a blaze of glory.

MR. and MRS. W. B. HENRY spent the weekend in Odessa with relatives.

Five Big Spring Kiwanians represented their club at the Texas - Oklahoma District convention in Lubbock over the weekend. BOB TRAVIS, president, DELAINE CRAWFORD, JACK ALEXANDER, G. A. R. LAND HELTON and J. C. PICKLE attended the sessions. Also present for the ladies entertainment were MRS. CRAWFORD, MRS. ALEXANDER, MRS. HELTON and MRS. PICKLE. The women especially enjoyed the garden tour which had been planned by the Lubbock Council of Garden Clubs and, happily, coincided with the convention so the sponsoring women invited the Kiwanis women to join them on the tour.

Mr. Helton combined a golf tournament with his convention going.

Alpha Chi Hears Talk

Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met in the home of Mrs. James Cook Thursday to hear a program on "Women of Today and Yesterday." Mrs. Frank Perry gave the program.

The work schedule for the Fun-O-Rama was reviewed, and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be a model meeting and beginning of the rush season. Mrs. Bill Daniels, 40 - A Chanute, will be hostess.

Rebels Change Meeting Place

Mrs. Walter Trim, secretary, reminds members that the Tuesday evening meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels has been re-scheduled for the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building at 7:30 p.m.

Astronauts Wives See Out Of World Fashions

By MARGARET SCHERF
CHICAGO (AP) — The earth-bound wives of 17 astronauts teamed up for a feminine-type blast of their own — an "out of this world" fashion show.

The women came from Houston Wednesday to attend the Presbyterian-St. Luke's Fashion Show—Chicago's most glamorous—and it left them as much in the clouds as their husbands ever were.

The group, which included Mrs. John W. Young, Mrs. James A. McDivitt, Mrs. Walter M. Schirra, Mrs. Alan B. Shepard and Mrs. Virgil I. Grisom, stole the show from such competition as a handpainted snakeskin-trimmed blue fox fur.

"The clothes were out of this world," said Mrs. Young.

It was an unusual outing for the space mates, Mrs. Young said.

"We've never taken a long-distance trip together before like some of our husbands have," she said.

A doorman in a space suit greeted the group and led them down an astral blue carpet into the sputnik-ceilinged Medinah Temple where they joined 4,000 other women to watch 115 models parade a collection of clothes, furs and jewels.

The models glided through such settings as the planet utima, a space-age city suspended in a midnight-blue cosmos; lunar bay, a glittery branch shop in the heavens; and a meridian ballroom overhung with nine silvery moons.

Fashions ranged from a gold lame gown and jacket embroidered in crystal pendants to a $30-slacks and blouse outfit.

Introduced to the audience at intermission, the astronauts' wives drew a bigger hand from the fashion-conscious crowd than any of the latest clothes.

They were on their way back to Houston today and the Manned Spacecraft Center where astronauts probably are hoping the trip didn't whet their wives' appetites for clothes the way a space trip seems to whet a spaceman's appetite for space.

4-H Finalists Prepare For State Fair Revue

COLLEGE STATION—Forty-six finalists will be featured in the 1965 State 4-H Dress Revue, Oct. 15-16 in Dallas.

These outstanding young seamstresses have already been named winners in the 12 Extension Service districts of the state, and thus represent the 16,000 Texas girls enrolled in 4-H clothing work this year.

Judging of ensembles created by the 4-H contestants will take place Oct. 15 at Hotel Adolphus. Two 4-H fashion revues will be held for the public at 10 and 11 a.m., respectively, on Oct. 16 in the Women's Building auditorium at State Fair Park.

Serving as commentator for the 4-H revues will be Jackie Block, fashion coordinator for Titcher-Gottenger of Dallas.

First place winner of the state event will receive a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this fall and will model her prize-winning ensemble there. The girl who models the most outstanding cotton garment at the state revue will receive a $50 certificate to be used for purchasing cotton fabrics or accessories.

The Simplicity Pattern Company is donor of the national award trip, and the Texas Cottonseed Crushers' Association gives the all-cotton garment award.

"The 4-H Dress Revue is an achievement program which allows the public to see how the clothing program helps the individual in personal development, and it also reflects the outstanding work of 4-H leaders and county home demonstration agents over the state," explains Rhea Boyles, Texas A&M University Extension clothing specialist and dress revue chairman.

Win High Sunday In MP Games

Winners of master points during the Sunday duplicate bridge games at the Cosden Country Club have been announced.

North-south winners were Mrs. Tom South and Mrs. E. L. Powell, first; Mrs. Don Newson and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, second; Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. W. R. Powell of Colorado City, third; and Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. R. R. McEwen, fourth.

East-west winners are Mrs. Dan Greenwood and Mrs. Ray McMahan, first; Mrs. J. H. Holloway and George Pike, second; Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. Truman Jones, third; and Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Jack Irons, fourth.

Saturday Series Ends For Duplicate Players

Master point winners for the Saturday afternoon duplicate bridge games at the Big Spring Country Club were for north-south, Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. E. L. Powell, first; Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. Elmo Wason, tying for second and third with Mrs. Ron Kibler and Mrs. John Stone; Capt. Ron Kibler and Grover B. Cunningham Jr., Austin, fourth.

The game also marked the end of the 5th Saturday Series. Winners for the best four out of seven games since Aug. 14 were Mrs. Joe Hayden, first; Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Joe Steyer, tying for second and third; George D. Pike, fourth; Mrs. Ray McMahan,

Sunday Guests Visit In Knott

KNOTT (SC) — Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lillard were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Williams Schaffer, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lillard and family, Big Spring; and Dan and Jan Lillard, Levelland.

Sunday guests in the Mike Davidson home were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jackson and Mrs. John Latty, Westbrook.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Airhart were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Airhart and Mr. and Mrs. David Airhart, New Home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Airhart and Mrs. Elsie Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Airhart in Muleshoe recently.

Wedding Solemnized In Odessa Church

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ifera are at home at 307 Circle Drive, Odessa, following their Sept. 17 wedding. The ceremony was held at the Park Heights Christian Church in Odessa.

The bride, the former Sharon Cypert, is the daughter of Mrs. Jonnie Lea Cypert and the late John T. Cypert, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crouch, Odessa.

Given in marriage by her brother James Cypert, the bride wore a white tailored suit with light blue accessories. Her veil of illusion was of white net and lace and was attached to a pearl headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white French chrysanthemums atop a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Frances Cypert, the bride's sister. She wore a light blue knit suit with white accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. W. R. Crouch, step-father of the bridegroom, served as best man.

The bride graduated from Garden City High School and attends Odessa College. She is employed at Broncho Chevrolet.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over a blue underlay and centered with a wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Mrs. Sandy Colee, sister of the bride, was in charge of the register. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. James Cypert and Frances Cypert, both of Garden City; Mrs. Bertie Raburn, San Angelo, the bride's grandmother; Mrs. R. C. Crawford, Brazos, the bridegroom's grandmother; and Mr. and Mrs. Pete McClusey, Mineral Wells.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Colee.
