SIX DIE IN BUS-TRUCK CRASH NEAR BELLEVUE SUNDAY; BABY KILLED TODAY; TWO DROWNED

FIVE MEN AND 14-YEAR-OLD BOY VICTIMS OF COLLISION; CAR TURNS OVER TODAY NEAR GREENVILLE; AMARILLO CHILD DROWNS

Week-end accidents, climaxed by a bus-truck collision near Bellevue which killed six people, today had claimed twelve lives in Texas, according to Associated Press dispatches to the Daily Journal.

Automobile accidents claimed nine of the twelve victims, two were drowned and the other one was a victim of burns at Pyote.

COLLISION ON HIGHWAY IS FATAL TO SIX

WICHITA FALLS, June 8. (AP)—Five men and a 14-year-old boy were dead today as the result of a collision yesterday between an automobile and a freight truck at a bridge over Smith Creek, four miles west of Bellevue.

The dead: Sam McNew, 23, bakery employe; Bill Orman, 23, garageman; M. Mitcham, 55, grocer, all of Wichita Falls. Murphy Deshong, 17, Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Deshong. V. J. Notley 28 Dallas subsitute driver of the truck and Leonidas Johnston, 14, Vernon, son of Mrs. Isaac Lawler.

Apparently all but Orman were killed instantly. He died of a skull fracture a few hours later. Young Johnston had arranged with Notley to ride to Fort Worth where he planned to visit his grandparents. Notley had been engaged as substitute driver for the one trip. Deshong was on his way to Decatur for a truck which he intended to drive back to Amarillo. His parents operate a truck line.

BABY IS KILLED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

DRIVER FACES CHARGE ON ACCIDENT

MANN CHRISTIAN HELD FOR DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED

A charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated was filed in county court late this morning against Mann Christian, 25, driver of an automobile which Saturday night struck a group of pedestrians and seriously injured a child.

Bond was fixed at $750. Christian had not posted bond shortly after the complaint was filed, and was in city jail. Other charges probably will be filed in connection with the accident, County Attorney Vaughn Wilson said.

Child Has Brain Injuries

Bessie Stovall, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stovall of 402 Avenue J suffered brain injuries, a five-inch scalp wound, and bruises and abrasions.

Received at Lubbock sanitarium soon after the accident which occurred at 9 o'clock Saturday night, the child regained consciousness Sunday. She was drowsy this morning, however, the attending physician said, and full extent of her injuries had not been determined.

O. L. Branam Injured

O. L. Branam of 420 Avenue K suffered several broken ribs and possibly internal injuries in addition to bruises and abrasions.

Mrs. Stovall received a lacerated scalp, bruises about the head and body. She, her child, and Branam were at Lubbock sanitarium this morning. Mrs. Branam suffered abrasions on the arms and body and an ankle injury.

Mr. Stovall and Howard White suffered minor cuts and bruises. Gladys Stovall, 4-year-old sister of Bessie, was not injured. Each child was holding one of his hands when the accident occurred, Stovall said.

The accident occurred as the five persons walked on Avenue J near Sixth street toward the business district. They were on the street because there were no sidewalks on that part of Avenue J, Mrs. Branam said.

Johnson Signs Complaint

Christian and a companion, Johnny Berry, were arrested by J. D. Johnson, police motorcycle patrolman who subsequently signed the complain against Christian. Berry was charged in corporation court with drunkeness and fined $15, which he had not paid this morning.

Fifteen empty beer bottles were in the light roadster Christian and Berry occupied, police said.

Berry is a brother-in-law of Stovall. Berry's estranged wife, Mrs Vera Berry, saw the accident as the sat on her porch at 504 Avenue J.

SUMMER TERM ON TUESDAY

REGISTRATION SLATED FOR TOMORROW; TO OFFER FULL WORK

Registration for summer school at Texas Technological college will begin at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, and classes will start Wednesday morning, according to Dr. Paul W. Horn, president. A large enrollment is expected.

A two-day period for entrance examinations began today. The summer session has been divided into two terms of six weeks each, the first ending July 18.

More than 250 courses, of which 100 are advanced, will be offered. Registration will be divided alphabetically, beginning at 8 a. m. and ending at 5:30 p. m. Required physical examinations should be taken prior to registration, D. L. Dohoney, registrar, said.

Pin To Be Removed From Negro Woman

An attempt to remove an open safety pin from a negro woman who swallowed it Sunday night was to be made at Lubbock sanitarium at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The woman, Gertrude Kilpatrick, said she swallowed the pin after putting it in her mouth while pinning clothing on a child. She was received at the sanitarium at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Kenneth Hemphill Named Post Coach

POST, June 8. (Special)—Kenneth Hemphill of Lubbock was elected as head coach of the athletics for Post high school. He is a graduate of Texas Technological College and has taught two years, one at Spur as assistant coach and one at Littlefield as head coach.

Youth's Death Is Said Accidental

LAMESA, June 8.—(Special)—A coroner's verdict of death by accidental shooting was returned this morning in the death of Jimmie Hurst, 17.

The verdict was that the youth "died from a gunshot wound self inflicted accidentally." Hurst, a linotype operator, was found dying in his room Friday morning, his brain pierced by a .22 caliber bullet, by his mother, Mrs. Charles Hurst.

The wound was high on the forehead at the edge of the scalp, she said. The rifle had a hair-trigger, the youth's father said.

Funeral services and burial were conducted Saturday afternoon at Lamesa.

REPUTATION OF SPIKES TOLD ON STAND

OLD TIMERS OF CROSBY COUNTY TESTIFY IN LIBEL HEARING

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Journal Staff Writer

Coming to the defense of their former neighbors and friends, seven men and one woman, all residents of Crosby county, today testified in 99th district court that as far as they knew in that vicinity Fred Spikes and Jeff Spikes and their brothers had the reputation of being peaceable and law abiding citizens. Testimony was given in the law suit of Fred Spikes against J. Evetts Haley and trustees of the Capitol Reservation Lands in which Mr Spikes is asking $300,000 for alleged libel contained in a book written by Haley for the land organization.

In addition, one man who had known some of the brothers in New Mexico and who said he was in the Monroe Smith saloon when it was robbed in Tucumcari late in December of 1901, testified he did not recognize any of the four men who held up the saloon, as being either of the two Spikes brothers implicated in the holdup. The witness was A. M. Belt, a cattle buyer for Dan Blankenship, who was in the saloon at the time and who was one of the four men engaged in a poker game and who lost their money.

TECH DIRECTORS IN CITY TODAY

Eight members of the board of directors of Texas Technological college were guests of Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the college, at a luncheon at Hotel Hilton at noon Wednesday.

The luncheon preceded a meeting of the board which was to be held at 1:30 p. m.

Only one director, John W. Carpenter of Dallas, was unable to attend the commencement exercises and the business meeting, officials of the college said.

Members of the directorate were seated on rostrum Wednesday morning at the final exercises of the fifth commencement of Technological college.

Directors here for the meeting were Clifford B. Jones, of Spur, chairman; Mrs. F. N. Drane, Corsicana, vice chairman; Roscoe Wilson, Lubbock, treasurer; W. T. Gaston, Lubbock, secretary; R. A. Underwood, Plainview; Riley Strickland, Amarillo; Thomas Johnson, McKinney; Gen. John A. Hulen, Houston; Houston Harte, San Angelo.

Two Mexican Students Are Killed By Officers At Ardmore, Oklahoma

COUSIN OF PRESIDENT ORTIZ RUBIO AND SON OF PROMINENT MEXICAN FAMILY VICTIMS OF DEPUTY'S GUN; BOYS FEARED HOLDUP

(By The Associated Press)

ARDMORE Okla., June 8.—Two Mexican students, one a cousin of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, were slain here early today by a deputy sheriff as the youths were driving home from their year's study in the United States.

The victims were Emilio Cortes Rubio, 20, the president's cousin, and Manuel Gomez, 22, son of a prominent Mexican family.

Had Stopped Car

Deputy Sheriff Bill Guess shot and killed the two youths after they had stopped their car on a highway. Guess and Deputy Sheriff Cecil Crosby said the boys drew guns when they approached and that Guess fired when weapons were pointed at him.

Salvador Cortes Rubio said the youths had been followed by another car on their drive southward through Oklahoma and had feared a holdup.

Crosby declared he and Guess informed the youths at once that they were officers. No shots were fired by the students and Crosby said he did not shoot.

Were Taking Guns Home

Salvador Cortes Rubio explained he and his companions carried an assortment of guns which they intended to take home as the weapons could be purchased more cheaply in the United States. They also had protection from bandits in mind, he said. The shooting occurred, he said, after he had

BANK MEN ARE SENTENCED

W. L. SMALLWOD AND C. C. JOHNSON GIVEN 3-YEAR TERMS

(By Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, June 8—W. L. Smallwood, chairman of the board of the defunct Texas National bank of Fort Worth and C. C. Johnson, vice president, were sentenced by Federal Judge William Sheppard today to serve three years each in Leavenworth penitentiary.

The two officials were convicted Friday by a jury on charges growing out of the failure of the bank, January 31, 1930, with a shortage of $1,283,000. A. L. (Lon) Baker, vice president, already is serving a 10-year term at Leavenworth in connection with the bank failure, and the president, B. B. Samuels, ill in New York, was indicted in the same case.

The specific charges on which Smallwood and Johnson were convicted were misapplication of funds, false entries in the bank's records and falsification of the condition of the bank.

At the hearing today, suspended sentences were asked for Smallwood and Johnson. Judge Sheppard, whose home is in Pensacola, Fla., and is sitting here as special judge, declared that suspended sentences were designed for younger defendants and women.

Tax Equalization Board Is In Session

About 630 Lubbock county taxpayers have been notified to appear before the board to show why their property valuations should not be raised, court attaches said.

Texas Guinan May Take Gang To Reno

RENO, Nev., June 8. (AP)—Texas Guinan, who, with her dancing "gang," recently was barred from France, is believed to be considering the possibility of coming to Reno to exhibit her galaxy of charmers.

The Nevada State Journal says Miss Guinan cabled friends here yesterday for information concerning Reno night clubs and the possibilities in the entertainment field here.

SEVEN MEN GET CASH, JEWELS ON HIGHWAY

OLD-FASHIONED STAGE HOLDUP PULLED OFF NEAR SHAMROCK

(By Associated Press)

SHAMROCK, June 8—Eighteen bus passengers who were treated to an old-fashioned western stage coach robbery yesterday waited here today to see if they could identify a man arrested at Erick, Okla., as one of seven who took a cash profit of $668 in reverting to pioneer practices.

Except that the robbers rode automobiles instead of cayuses, everything was strictly in accordance with traditions of Wild Bill Hickok's time. Two of the men rode in the bus and the other five were in two automobiles, one behind and one in front of it.

Halted On Detour

The bus was halted about 2:30 a. m. on a detour from United States highway 66.

Punctilio of the western desperadoes was observed as each passenger was returned enough money to wire home for funds and purchase breakfast. No elaborate search was made and several women passengers saved their money by hid-

THREE MEN HELD

DALHART, June 8. (AP)—Three men in a small car parked on the edge of town were arrested today by Sheriff H. D. Foust here, as suspects in the holdup of a transcontinental bus near Shamrock early Sunday. Sheriff Foust said the trio was armed. Efforts will be made to identify them, he said.

PARTY CHIEFS IN CLASHES

GARNER ASSAILS HIGH TARIFF; DEMOCRATS ARE DENOUNCED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Smoot-Hawley tariff act was assailed as a "blundering piece of legislation" by Representative Garner of Texas, and the Democratic party was said by Representative Tilson of Connecticut to be without a constructive platform for 1932 in statements through their respective national committees.

Tilson is Republican floor leader and Garner is Democratic floor leader in the house as well as ranking minority member of the ways and means committee that drafted the measure.

Klein Is Defender

Garner said Assistant Secretary of Commerce Klein had been "delegated as defender-in-chief of the Smoot-Hawley tariff" in commenting on the latter's recent statements on the act. The Texan said whenever a critic of the administration pointed out the legislation "is responsible for the slaughter of our foreign business and the continuation of panic conditions in the United States, Dr. Klein comes to bat with some high-sounding and abstruse economic thesis to show that retaliatory duties imposed by a foreign country are not really measures in reprisal at all."

TECH ALUMNI TO BANQUET TONIGHT

With J. W. Jackson, president of the association as toastmaster, members of the alumni association of Texas Technological college, graduates of this year's class and a number of guests will attend the annual banquet tonight at 7 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, is to give an annual talk and short talks will be made by Dr. W. A. Jackson, Ben F. Condray and Coach Pete W. Cawthon.

Election of officers for the next year will be conducted during a business session.

Approximately 100 graduates are expected to be present.

FEUD OVER BATHROOM IN TWO-FAMILY HOUSE RESULTS IN SHOOTING SCRAPE

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., June 8.—Charles Wilson, 40 years old, was in a hospital today with three bullet wounds as the result of a feud over the use of a bathroom in a two-family house.

The trouble started a month ago when S. M. Damf, 42, moved into the house which Wilson long had occupied. As the bath was located in the side of the house occupied by Wilson, he ordered Damf not to use it. Both men, employed at a nearby industrial plant, went to work early, and Wilson complained that after Damf moved in, he never had hot water for shaving.

Damf continued using the bathroom, and Wilson's wrath grew. Finally he obtained heavy timbers and nailed up the bathroom door to prevent Damf from entering. The next morning, Damf pounded on the timbered door in vain.

When Wilson returned home that night, the situation had been reversed. The timbers were gone and Damf was splashing away at his bath.

Biding his time, Wilson succeeded on Saturday in nailing again the door. When Damf discovered this, according to the story told police, he got his gun and began firing through the barricaded door.

Last night the final chapter was written. While the Wilsons were at a show, Damf nailed Wilson's door. When Wilson tried to enter the bathroom, the door held firm. He got his gun and fired four times. Damf returned the fire. Three of the four shots hit Wilson.

BUS HELD UP BY BANDITS

DR. WALTON IS HEARD TODAY IN ADDRESS

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED TO FIFTH CLASS BY PRESIDENT HORN

Challenge of the home and government to the graduates of higher educational institutions were related to 163 members of the 1931 graduating class of Texas Technological college this morning by President T. O. Walton, of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, speaker at the closing exercises of the college's fifth annual commencement.

Conferring of degrees and the awarding of diplomas and scholarships followed Dr. Walton's address. About 1,500 persons attended the exercises held in the college gymnasium.

Home And State Foremost

Foremost challenges hurled at the graduates of today arise in the home and the government of the state and nation, Dr. Walton said.

"Every man and woman leaving college should have some definite objective in life," the speaker said. "Each should accept some challenge which will bring the best in them to the surface.

Have Wrong Viewpoint

"If you have taken advantage of the opportunities offered by the state with the idea that your earning power will be increased and that you will have an easy time during the remainder of your life, I am afraid that you have come out with the wrong viewpoint, by virtue of that college education.

"Those who look at a college education from a monetary viewpoint are doomed to disappointment," the speaker added.

"The most important thing a college education should give you, is the power to make a contribution to the welfare of the home which

Norfolk Fire Does $3,000,000 Damage

NORFOLK, Va., June 8 (AP)—Norfolk spent last night fighting a three million dollar waterfront fire.

Started by an explosion on an oil barge at the Buxton line piers, the fire rode a strong wind along 200 feet of wharves, destroyed a hotel, swept through the wholesale district and leaped across Main street to threaten the retail business center.

The explosion, the cause of which was sought by firemen today, occurred at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and it was after midnight before the combined fire fighting forces of the entire Hampton Roads area, aided by 1,300 sailors and marines, brought the fire under control. A driving rain that began just before midnight checked the spread of the flames.

PARIS COUPLE FOUND DEAD

MAN AND WIFE SHOT TO DEATH AFTER BEING ESTRANGED

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, June 8—Tom Manuel, 45, and his wife, 41, were found dead of pistol wounds early today at Manuel's filling station, a mile east of Paris. A pistol was found beside Manuel's body and his wife was lying a short distance away. Acquaintances said they had been separated for about six months.

Residents in the neighborhood said they heard several shots at about 10:30 p. m. last night, when the double killing was believed to have occurred. There were no witnesses, so far as known.

Manuel had a son, Volney Manuel, 24, employed by a film exchange in Dallas. His wife had not been living here recently and investifators were able to learn only meagre details as to circumstances which might have furnished a motive for the shooting.

SOLDIER IS VICTIM OF HIS OWN GUN

ENNIS, June 8. (AP)—Private Ernest O. Burns, 27, of Camp Stanley, San Antonio, shot and killed himself here last night, according to a verdict of suicide returned by Justice Noel. Young Burns was here on a four-day furlough to visit his sister, Mrs. Florence Thomas of Ennis and his father, E. A. Burns of Telco. He had planned to return to camp last night.

His sister found his body at her home when she returned at 6 p. m.

Bank Mergers Are Effected In Chicago

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—Two of the most important bank mergers in the history of Chicago were effected early today when the First National bank and the First Union Trust & Savings bank, its affiliate, absorbed the Foreman-State National bank and the Foreman-State Trust & Savings bank, and a consolidation was arranged between the Central Trust company of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic.

Television Sets For Home Will Be Manufactured Soon, Is Prediction

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 8.—The radio industry is preparing itself for the introduction of television in the home. By fall or winter the new art should be in its preliminary stages.

That was the opinion expressed today at the opening of the seventh annual convention and trade show of the Radio Manufacturers' association by Bond P. Geddes, executive vice president and show manager.

"When the broadcasters now experimenting with radio sight establish the entertainment value of television, the industry itself will have anticipated that move," Mr. Geddes said.

"Television undoubtedly is progressing. Already several manufacturers are paving the way for the home vision set and others are becoming more and more interested.

"This fall and winter should see television in the 'crystal stage' through which the sound receiver passed ten years ago."

DR. MYERS

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

MUSIC LESSONS

"MY DEAR DR. MYERS: I agree with you heartily that all children should have music lessons. But will you kindly tell me if there is any way to get a child to practice purposefully when she seems to have no desire to do so? Is there no way of controlling a difficult case?

"I have a ten-year-old daughter, very bright, a fine pupil, interested in all books, fairy tales, poetry, good pictures, with an unusually good ear and fine touch in music. She has talent. She practices if I tell her to, but usually objects vigorously and plays half-heartedly. It is very easy for her to learn it, but she just won't put in any real hard work. She doesn't have to to accomplish most things. A month ago her teacher offered to continue her lessons free of charge as an expression of his appreciation of her ability, knowing I was becoming discouraged. Today he dismissed her on the spot, since he could not accomplish what he wished. She finished her second year this month and was to play a Bach study over the radio in March. I saw her name in the paper tonight. He tried very hard to push her.

"Her father is a teacher and a musician. I am particularly interested in psychology. We are ready to co-operate with any method. She has had several mental tests and I know what a worth-while mind she has, but she is very difficult to handle. I don't want to give up; there must be something wrong somewhere. How can I locate it? She has a genius for teaching; every waking moment shows that trend in her mind. How can I incorporate a little more music without injuring her nervous system?

Answer: Your child is fortunate to have a good mind and good talent for music. Unfortunate, perhaps, to have a music teacher for a father and so conscientious a student of psychology for a mother. Sometimes our very conscience makes us vex our children. Music teachers who are parents are pretty sure to be over-zealous about music learning by their children.

I can just imagine how eager both of you are to have your daughter develop the musical ability you recognize. "If you didn't know so much and feel your own responsibility so keenly you would not bother her so much. Then she probably would do better.

If I were you I should let her drop her music lessons, not even allowing her to take lessons if she begs to have them, until next September. In the meanwhile, you and dad work on yourselves and vow solemnly never to say a word about her music to her or to any other person. Of course, to do so will be a stupendous task.

Let her know in the fall before the lessons begin that she must practice every day by the clock, say 20 minutes, at a regular time each day, and see that there is no doubt nor argument about the matter. Seal your lips and merely observe the clock, and administer the announced penalties, in due time, which will be so selected as to work effectively. Better still, if you can devise a reward scheme that will work. But you must get results and pension your tongue. Don't have dad around when she practices, and you had better be deaf and blind then yournag, but who will be patient, though nag, ut who will be patient, though exacting. Good luck.

Business Leaders Discuss June Graduates And Jobs

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth

Gen. James G. Harbord

Silas H. Strawn

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr.

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, June 6.—This year's college graduates are asking themselves right now: "How is this depression going to affect my chances of getting a job in June?"

Certainly the young graduate this year faces no bed of roses. But, according to a symposium in the current North American Review by 17 leaders in industrial, artistic, financial and social activities, there are certain lines of work that seem to be an excellent bet others that hold forth faint promise and some that should be shunned.

The men giving their opinion—experts in law, merchandising, radio, automobiles, music, aviation, advertising, scientific research, the theater, journalism, medicine, farming, engineering, life insurance, the ministry, architecture and brokerage—all agree that the days of opportunism in any given work seem to be ended and that success in any field is dependent now upon the efficiency of the person entering it.

Music would seem to offer the fewest chances, according to the verdict of Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, renowned music critic and lecturer. He says:

"My frank advice to the young musical performer is to keep out of the profession at present. The supply is too much in excess of the demand, and for 99 out of a hundred aspirants, there can be only heartaches and disillusionment."

Radio, the newest field for opportunities, gets from Major General James G. Harord, chairman of the board, Radio Corporation, this summary:

"If a college graduate asked me whether radio offered great chances for advancement, I should tell him that it did, if he had something to offer to radio. Never was radio seeking fewer recruits than this year. But undoubtedly, a few from the college classes of 1931 will find their way in."

Challenges To Newcomers

A gleam of hope for the college boy and girl comes from five different lines of work. There are, it seems, still opportunities in department store work in the stock brokerage business, in the ministry, in farming, and in life insurance business.

America's big department stores offer a bigger challenge and greater opportunity to grow than almost any other business, in the opinion of Samuel W. Reyburn, president, the Associated Dry Goods Corporation of New York.

"Given appreciation of rural values and the ability to enjoy them, good farming, in a good farming district, is sufficiently profitable financially to support a good home life and provide for the essential amenities," in the opinion of F. D. Farrell, president, Kansas State Agricultural College.

Depends On Ability

L. Seton Lindsay, second vice-president, New York Life Insurance Company, points out the advantages of going into this profession:

"Life insurance companies of America offer college graduates an opportunity to win their way to the front solely on their own ability."

According to Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation, there are far fewer opportunities now in the automotive industry. But, granted a man has a broad knowledge of the principles of merchandising, technical and engineering knowledge, financial skill and executive management, he is bound to make a place for himself. Because the automotive industry is fundamental, because it is transportation and because it is the largest manufacturing industry in the world.

Bad News For Doctors

Certain professions just naturally require a long time to bring success, apparently. Others should not be counted on to be too remunerative. Law and medicine come in this category.

Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, dean-emeritus of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, asserts:

"No one should enter the profession of medicine with the idea of becoming rich."

Certain fields are tremendously overcrowded now. Law, journalism, architecture, theatrical production, scientific research and advertising. But, special aptitude should be the determining factor in picking a career, nevertheless.

Too Many Lawyers

Silas H. Strawn, former president of the American Bar Association, said of the law: "It is estimated that there are about 150,000 lawyers in this country. It would require 4,500 recruits to replace those who drop out of the profession each year, yet we are turning out about 9,500 lawyers annually. It is a question of the survival of the fittest during the first five years of the practice of law."

All of these leaders recognize that economic conditions have temporarily dimmed the prospects of 1931's crop of graduates. But since given numbers must work, it probably means that those who do succeed will have to bend more effort than their predecessors.

Mrs. W. Stanton Is Hostess At Bridge

Larkspur and other garden flowers were arranged in the entertaining room when Mrs. Walker Stanton entertained for members and guests of the San Souci Alumnae society Saturday afternoon in her home.

Games of bridge were the diversion for the occasion. Miss Anne Snyder made high score and Mrs. J. H. Stiles made second high. Ash trays were given as favors at each table.

A salad course was served. Members present were Mesdames Weldon Hankins, Ross McWhorter, Lewis Price, Winfield Watkins, Stiles, Misses Grace Jennings, Ruth Slaton, Blanche Bradley, Kate Boyd, and Snyder.

Guests in attendance were Mesdames Jack Diamond, H. H. Crabb, Lawrence Bacon and Miss Mary Lee Bardwell.

Benefit Party To Be Sponsored Here

Reservations for a benefit bridge and forty-two party which is being sponsored by members of the U. D. C. may be made by telephoning to Miss Delia Wilkinson president, or some other member of the chapter, according to an announcement this morning. The party is to be Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

Davis Is Attending Secretaries Session

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, was scheduled to speak this afternoon at Houston at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Texas Commercial Executives association and the first annual convention of the Texas Trade Association Executives.

The joint-assembly will continue through Wednesday. Paul I. Vickers of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Grady Shipp of the Plainview chamber, Maury Hopkins, assistant manager of the West Texas chamber, and Jack S. Hott, of the Fort Worth chamber also were to speak this afternoon.

PATENTED ROASTING PROCESS CONTROLS FLAVOR OF COFFEE

No Other Roasting Process Can Develop Such Uniform Goodness

Coffee drinking has become a joy forever to the millions who daily fill their cups with Hills Bros. Coffee. Of all coffees sold there are none that can duplicate its delicious, deep-flavored goodness.

This matchless flavor is due to the accuracy of every process from the blending to the packing of the fragrant coffee.

Of special importance is the control of the roasting process. Instead of roasting coffee in bulk—the ordinary way—only a few pounds at a time pass through the roaster in a continuous stream. The flow of coffee, speed of operation and the heat are accurately controlled. Every berry is roasted evenly by this process—Controlled Roasting—invented and patented by Hills Bros. Naturally, the resulting flavor is uniformly delicious, something that is rarely the case in bulk-roasted coffee.

As fast as Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted and ground, it is packed in vacuum. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

SURVEY BEGINS SOON ON ROAD

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT PLANS TO LET 137 ROUTE WORK SOON

Survey of the proposed route for highway 137 in Gaines county, between Seminole, county seat, and Seagraves, is expected to start soon, Guy R. Johnston, division construction engineer for the state highway department, says.

Plans for the highway from Andrews to the south line of Andrews county have been prepared and will be ready for rechecking soon. As soon as the survey of the Gaines county route is finished, plans will be drawn.

To Let Contracts

It is expected that the state highway department this summer will let contracts for these two sections. Mr. Johnston explained that residents of both towns are seeking an outlet, Andrews to the south and Seminole to Seagraves, the railroad center of the county.

Construction of the section from Andrews to Seminole, through the sand hills, will be the last to be completed. "We will build both units No. 1 and No. 2 at the same time," Mr. Johnston said. "We will haul the caliche onto the road as fast as we build the grade and will do both at the same time."

Bonds Voted

Andrews county in January voted $20,000 bonds for construction of its 30 mile section, the state agreeing to complete its part. A month later Gaines county voted $215,000 in bonds for its road from the south line to Seagraves, about 35 miles. An additional $35,000 was voted for a 10-mile road from Seagraves to Loop, in the eastern part of the county.

Plans for the Lubbock county section of No. 137, between Lubbock and the Hockley county line near Ropes, are to be forwarded to Austin some time soon, Mr. Johnston said. It is probable that within a few months the state will ask for bids on the first unit of construction, the grading and drainage work.

Woman Changes Her Mind So He Gets Another

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—The coffers of the marriage license bureau will grow considerably if Bezenik Karezbaim, 72, keeps this up.

Monday he appeared at the bureau, slapped two dollars down on the counter and got the state's permission to marry Pearl Goldman, 60, a widow.

Yesterday Karezbalm was back.

"And what now?" asked the clerk.

"Another license please," said Karezbalm as he dug down in his pockets for another two dollars, this time to marry another widow, Eva Chubin, 58.

"What's the matter with your first girl," inquired the surprised clerk.

"She," said Karezbalm, "changed her mind."

BAPTISTS URGE IMPROVEMENTS

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, June 8.—Advocacy of unemployment insurance, discouraging lowering of wages, and substitution of generous giving for "luxury and display in personal living", are among suggestions for unemployment relief approved by the northern Baptist convention for guidance of its 8,000 churches.

The suggested temporary relief program, devised by the social service committee, includes:

Employment committees in every church; Use of church parlors and club rooms for emergency housing; Care of elder women out of work by women's organizations; Similar care for older men by the church men's groups. Giving to unemployed of free health aid through church nurses; Arrangements with Y. M. C. A. and similar institutions for tickets for beds to be distributed to unemployed.

As permanent relief measures the convention suggests:

Holding of conferences to analyze the situation with a view to forestalling recurrence of such a period of depression; Urging the government to publish adequate unemployment statistics; Relate local state and national employment agencies; Encourage public works expansion.

Casino And Dance Hall To Be Built

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 8 (AP)—Almost on the edge of Boulder City, which the government has planned as a "model" town for workers on Hoover dam, steam shovels were tearing up the desert soil today for construction of a gambling casino and dance hall.

The venture brought to light the fact that the government, which presumably held all lands adjoining Boulder City and would be able to keep vice and gambling operations miles away, does not own a 20-acre strip of patent land within a mile of the city.

THE MOST TALKED OF BEARD IN THE U. S. IS TRIMMED AT HOME; SENATOR J. HAM LEWIS IS IMMACULATE DRESSER

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is another in the series giving little known facts about persons frequently in the news.

BY VICTOR HACKLER

(Copyright, 1931, By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—The most talked about beard in the United States is trimmed at home.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, has his hair cut regularly every other week, but the whiskers are snipped by the Chesterfieldian statesman himself.

Turning Grey Now

When Col. Lewis was in the senate before Democratic whip for President Wilson his beard was an unusual shade of red, commonly referred to as pink. The exact color now is more nearly grey, but the chin, still single him out unmistakably in this clean shaven age.

His slouch hat at a rakish angle, a carnation in his button hole and spats gleaming from his ankles, Senator Lewis is ever the smart dressed, but the stories of his lavish purchases of clothes are exaggerated.

Rumor has it that he buys 10 and 12 suits at a time, but the number is actually two. He does buy a good many ties, handkerchiefs and socks and they always match.

Extreme politeness with men, gallantry with women, is his never failing rule. In the campaign last fall when he defeated Ruth Hanna McCormick by more than 700,000 votes, he always referred to his opponent as "the lady" and when he found it necessary to criticize the enemy, he pointed out that he was sure "she was being led astray."

Is a Linguist

He was once an instructor in Latin and Greek, he speaks French and German well and knows enough Flemish, Spanish and Swedish to greet audiences in their native tongues.

He was a colonel in the Spanish-American war and wears a uniform now whenever occasion calls for it.

Walking and riding constitute his exercises. He walks the mile and a half from his hotel to his office whenever the weather permits. On vacations he rests, reads and rides.

COLLEGE AVENUE PAVING INCLUDES MILE OF HIGHWAY ON 19TH STREET

When the state highway department on June 22 lets a contract for paving 2.5 miles of state highway in Lubbock, the contract will include a mile of highway on College avenue east of Texas Technological college and also 1.53 miles on 19th street on the south side of the college.

"The college avenue contract includes not only college avenue but also 19th street," Guy R. Johnston, construction engineer, said.

"The 19th street work will include 19th street west from College avenue to the intersection of highways 24 and 187 from the west. The slab will be 20 feet wide. It will be located on the south line of the property of Texas Technological college.

City To Have Opportunity

"We are placing the slab on the south 20 feet of the college property so that the city of Lubbock will have the opportunity of creating a city paving district and pave the south side of the street in the city limits."

Mr. Johnston explained that by the state making the south line of the slab on the south line of the college property, it would given the property owners and the city the chance to pave the street 20 or 30 feet wider and make the paving 40 or 50 feet, if it was desired.

The corporate limits of Lubbock now form the south side of the street. Under the new plan it will be possible to move the city limits to the north a short distance so that the city can pave. "This was not possible on College avenue because the entire street was the property of the college," he explained.

Property owners along 19th street can, if they so desire, have a 60 foot paved street, the engineer added.

Bids Received On Lighting Airway

WASHINGTON, June 8 (AP)—Seven bids for construction of 17 airway beacons on the Albuquerque-Amarillo airway have been received and tabulated by the commerce department but it will be several days before the contracts are let.

The lowest bid submitted was $35,685 by Raymond C. Whitlock, of Colorado Springs, Colorado. Other bids included J. E. Morgan & Sons, El Paso, Texas, $40,381.

The automotive industry uses 82 percent of all rubber consumed in the United States.

Seventy Per Cent Of 240 Women Pass Test

EVANSTON, Ill., June 8 (AP)—The women, and perhaps some of the men, may be interested in this.

Three out of 240 women whose papers were graded in a police traffic school, passed with 100 per cent marks. Seventy per cent of all of them passed with grades of 80.

One of those who failed to pass, when asked what she would do in case of accident, said she would be "nonchalant." Another said that if she noticed the oil gauge reading was zero she would "pour water in the radiator."

WORK ON HIGHWAY IS PROGRESSING

Pouring of slab on state highway No. 9 north of Lubbock through the Santa Fe underpass two miles south of Monroe, was begun Friday and completed Saturday Guy R. Johnston, district construction engineer for the state highway department said, in announcing that it was probable the highway would be open for traffic as far north as the underpass, by June 15.

"We have passed the half way mark on the 16 mile section between Lubbock and Abernathy," Mr. Johnson said. "Unless there is an unexpected delay we will probably finish before the first of September.

"Opening of the paving to the underpass will mean that traffic can use the old highway from there to Monroe while the new route is being paved," he said. "It will cut down the detour to about ten miles."

Slab pouring has been going on at the rate of between 1,200 and 1,500 feet per day. The Interstate Construction company has the contract.

Within the next few days several more miles of slab north of the municipal airport five miles north of town, will be opened to traffic Mr. Johnston said.

TEXAS WHEAT CROP EXPECTED TO BE LARGE; 42,000,000 BUSHELS SEEN

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 8.—Size and quality of the Texas wheat crop this year will exceed the average of the five years preceding, Carl Robinson, wheat statistician here for the federal department of agriculture, estimates.

Robinson estimated the crop this year at 42,000,000 bushels, compared to crops the past five years of between 26,000,000 and 30,000,000 and said the quality also would be better than usual. Harvesting in the main wheat sections of the Texas Panhandle would get under way between June 15 and 20, he said, with some southern and west southern sections beginning about a week earlier.

HUBBERS AND AMARILLO DIVIDE BILL SUNDAY

FAST BASEBALL IS SEEN IN CONTESTS

ONE-RUN MARGINS ARE CHALKED UP IN BOTH GAMES FOR WINS

(Special To The Journal)

AMARILLO, June 8.—The Lubbock Hubbers came to town yesterday and met the Amarillo Aviators in a pair of the fastest, cleanest and most entertaining baseball games seen at Metro Park in many months, so said a little less than a thousand shrieking fans who stayed from 2:15 to 7 o'clock to see the teams split a double header.

Manager Waller's Hubbers once defeated the Aviators here by a margin of one run in thirteen innings. Yesterday the tables were turned in an eleven-inning contest when Rill, left fielder-school teacher, smacked a single to score Vaught, rotund second baseman who had doubled, and win the first games, 6 to 5. Willis Knight, a pitcher of amateur, semi-pro and professional note here and elsewhere, gave the Aviators seven hits in the seven-inning nightcap but shut them out to win, 1 to 0, thus leaving the Lubbock forces still a game in the van.

Score Tied Twice

After airtight baseball, with the exception of three errors on Amarillo's part and one for Lubbock, the Amarilloans broke through a stubborn defense and hit Pitcher Latham twice to win the opener. The score was tied twice, Del Morgan singling to score Gaither who had doubled in the fifth inning to tie up the count, 4 and 4. But outside of that, Buck Freeman, an old timer, pitched a fine game for Gib Jackson's Aviators.

Lubbock took a lead in the eighth when Marshall, Hambright and Breedlove singled to fill the sacks and Gailey hit a high one to center field that was caught but which scored Marshall, who hit three times in four times up to bat, with Breedlove, that department of the game. It was tied in the ninth when Pressley allowed two hits and Hodges bungled one at second. Latham, somewhat out of shape, went in to relieve Pressley in the eleventh and was swatted for the winning run.

Nightcap Thriller

The fast nightcap was a thriller. Dobbs hurled for Amarillo and gave up five hits, but two of them came close together in the seventh for the only run of the contest.

The hurling of Knight was sensational. The Aviators hit him in every inning except the seventh, but he pitched a fast ball that was knocked all over the lot and into the waiting hands of perfect support. Not a bobble was made in the defense line. He struck out seven men, the last four men to face him passing out swinging at the air.

Maxie Rosenbloom To Fight Floridan

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, whose light heavyweight title was vacated by the National Boxing association Saturday, has been signed to meet Tony Canzoneia of Tampa, Fla., in one of the 10 rounders on the Mills Stadium card Thursday night.

The bout will replace the Jackie Fields-Relampago Saguero engagement, which was cancelled because of an injury to Field's right hand. Saguero will meet either Jackie Gray of Syracuse, N. Y., or Babe Joe Gans, negro 147 pounder.

ARMY OF GOLFERS SET OUT TODAY TO SEEK QUALIFICATION FOR NATIONAL OPEN; THIRTY-THREE PLAY AT DALLAS

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 8—An army of 1,057 golfers today was traveling 36-holes on 20 widely separated courses in an attempt to gain one of the 97 vacant places in the National Open championship, to be played at the Inverness Club, Toledo, O., starting July 2.

Fifty three other players, given exemption, will go directly to inverness to make the open's starting field exactly 150.

The Chicago district had the biggest field in the qualifying round today. There 177 players sought the 15 places allotted that district. On the other side of the picture was the Seattle district where Harold Neimeyer of Seattle, the only contender for the one place allotted to that district, automatically qualifies.

The exempt list includes 31 players who finished in the first 30 and ties in the open at Interlachen last year. Actually there were 34 in this category but Bobby Jones, the champion, Craig Wood and Johnny Goodman have not entered the 1931 titular chase.

ONLY ONE MAN FROM LAST YEAR IN LIST

DALLAS, June 8 (AP)—Thirty-three southwest golfers will be matched at the Brook Hollow Country club here today for three qualifying places in the National Open at Toledo in July.

Only one of the three men who qualified from this district last year was in the field today. He is Francis Scheider, Brook Hollow professional. Ray Mangrum and Ralph Guldahl, who qualified from this district last year, are entered in different districts this year. The qualifying test was set for the 36-hole route.

ANSWER EXPECTED ON BASEBALL CLUB

Efforts to situate a professional baseball club here probably will be climaxed early this week with a definite answer, yes or no, coming from the committee of Lubbock business men who have been asked to raise a sum of money to guarantee the local club's participation this season and to finance the club to the extent of getting it started.

Interest in the club, which is proposed as a member of the Panhandle Professional Baseball league, was high here when talk first started, but lapsed last week when efforts to raise the required finances appeared to be futile. Added interest and impetus was given last week when League President J. Alvin Gardner postponed the opening date and allowed Lubbock a week in which to raise the funds.

Amarillo, Pampa and Clovis have already been assured teams in the league, the money having been posted. They are waiting on Lubbock, it is said, before going ahead with the letting of contracts for lighting parks and to start training. Teams are ready to go in each of the cities.

STARR TO ACCEPT GOVERNMENT JOB

Lonnie Starr, the first graduate of the school of agriculture of Texas Technological college to be awarded the degree of M. S. in agriculture, has been appointed to a position with the U. S. Department of Agriculture Dry Land experiment station at Tucumcari N. M., H. J. Bower, head of the department of agronomy at the local school, said.

Two other students, John Wherry and Bill Clutter, who will receive B. S. degrees in agronomy this year, also have secured positions with the U. S. department. Wherry goes to Lawton, Okla., to the dry land experiment station there and Clutter to Big Spring in the federal station.

Paving In Hale To Be Completed Soon

Eight miles of paving in Hale county on highway 28 west from Plainview toward the Lamb county line has been completed and will be ready for traffic some time soon, according to Guy R. Johnston, construction engineer for the state highway department.

It is probable that several miles of the paving will be opened for traffic this week. The paving work is about 23 miles long, from Plainview west to the county line, on the state-federal highway from Plainview to Muleshoe via Olton, county seat of Lamb county.

Pari-Mutuel Betting Is Legal In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 8 (AP)—When the thoroughbreds come back to Florida for the winter racing season it will be to the clicking accompaniment of pari-mutuel wagering machines.

The state legislature, by overriding Governor Doyle E. Carlton's veto, has legalized county optional horse and dog racing and mutuel betting.

Pryor, Okla., plans to develop its assets as a health resort with a radium water swimming pool, park and bath house.

TEXAS LEAGUE STANDINGS UNCHANGED

SAN ANTONIO IS ONLY CLUB TO WIN BOTH GAMES SUNDAY

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sunday, a day of eight games instead of the usual four because of doubleheaders, failed to change the Texas league pennant calendar. It was a day of fifty-fifty with all clubs except San Antonio, the Indians taking a doubleheader from Galveston.

Beaumont stayed at the league pinnacle with a 3 to 0 victory over Houston in the first game which atoned for a 4 to 3 defeat in the nightcap. Vaughn pitched another one of his superb games to tame the Buffaloes in the opener.

Shippers Nose Out

The Exporters almost won the second game—but just almost, for the Buffaloes pulled a seventh inning rally to nose in front, 4 to 3.

At Fort Worth, the best Art Phelan's Cats could get with Jake Atz's Shreveport was a split. With Dick Whitworth finally back in winning form after three consecutive defeats, the Cats sailed home in the first game, 8 to 1. In the second game, Fort Worth pulled away for a 4 to 2 lead at the end of the third inning, but two runs in the first of the sixth and three more in the seventh gave the Sports a 7 to 6 decision.

Tribe Wins Two

An estimated crowd of 3,500 turned out at San Antonio to greet the Indians on their return home, and just to prove they appreciated the reception, Claude Robertson's boys walloped the Galveston Buccaneers, 2 to 0 and 5 to 3. The Galveston club played two listless games of baseball while the Indians had a lot of sparkle to their fielding and made their hits mean runs, especially in the first game when San Antonio got only four hits off Harris.

Wichita Falls retained its fourth place Sunday at Dallas by splitting with the Steers. Lefty Minogue, southpaw ace of the Dallas mound staff, toiled the first game and stopped the Spudders, 8 to 4. The first game saw the Spudders unreel one of the most miserable fielding games yet recorded in the Texas league. They committed eight errors behind the fine pitching of Ash Hillin, and almost every miscue cost at least one run.

Lee Meadows pitched and lost the second game for Dallas, 7 to 0. Lee received erratic support and was hit hard. Presnell "Bochey" Koch, football star of the Baylor University Bears last season, caught the second game for Wichita Falls and looked good.

Texas Lawn Tennis Tourney Is Started

FORT WORTH, June 8 (AP)—Carrying such tennis names as Wilmer Allison, former Davis cup star, and May Cuervorst, one of the ranking women stars in the west, the Texas Lawn Tennis association state tournament was scheduled to open here today at the Meadowmere Country club.

Finals will be held Sunday. Bruce Barnes, university of Texas star and 1930 singles champion, will not defend his title. More than a hundred players are registered in the four divisions of the tournament.

Bombay, India, has added 100 busses to supplement its street-car service.

CITY OPEN TO BE THIS WEEK

ALL GOLFERS ALLOWED TO TAKE PART IN TOURNAMENT

To assure a bigger and better tournament, the Lubbock Country club and the Meadowbrook Golf club have joined hands in laying plans for the annual city championship joust, which is to be held next week.

Qualifying rounds will begin Wednesday, June 17, and will be held at the Meadowbrook club, according to arrangements made between the two golfing organizations last week. Medal play rounds will continue through Thursday, with match play beginning Friday.

Final On Sunday

Jo Dick Slaughter of the Lubbock Country club and W. G. McMillan of the Meadowbrook will act as the committee in charge of the tournament. Continuing match play Friday with quarter-finals, the tournament will go into the semi-final rounds Saturday, with 36-hole championship rounds slated for Sunday.

The first, second and third flights in the tourney will play all matches at the Lubbock Country club course, with the fourth flighters remaining at the Meadowbrook for match play.

All Golfers Eligible

All Lubbock golfers are eligible to play in the tournament, regardless of club membership. Officials of the tournament desire that it be made plain that a player is not required to be a member of any local club in order to enter the tournament.

As a prelude to the city open, the annual Country club "heck and gizzard" tournament will be held next Sunday. This is a one day event, in which all Lubbock golfers are invited to participate.

Northwestern Star Signs With Yankees

EVANSTON, Ill., June 8. (AP)—Malcolm (Buck) Fyfe, righthanded pitching star at Northwestern university for the last three years, has signed a contract with the New York Yankees. He will report to the Yankees next week.

HORNSBY AND HACK KNOCK OUT HOMERS

BRUINS RUN WINNING STREAK TO 12 OUT OF LAST 15

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's Cubs finally appear to have hit their stride.

They floundered badly during the middle of May, losing eight games out of ten in one group. In the past two weeks they have turned a new leaf, winning 12 of their last 15 games and climbing into second place.

They passed New York yesterday with an 8 to 3 victory in a game that was stopped by rain in the sixth inning. Hornsby and Hack Wilson hit home runs.

The St. Louis Cardinals lost a half game from their margin of leadership but remained four games ahead of Chicago as they divided a double header with Brooklyn. Dazzy Vance held the champions to five hits in the opener which Brooklyn won 6 to 4, but Bill Hallahan stopped the Robins in the second game 9 to 0.

Cincinnati ran its best winning streak to five games by defeating Boston 8 to 2 in the first half of a double bill as Red Lucas pitched a six hit game, but the Braves reversed the decision in part two 10 to 9.

Three of the four American league games furnished an interesting study in contrasts between the winners and losers. The fourth was a slugging match the Philadelphia Athletics trounced Detroit 12 to 2. Detroit had 18 men left on bases.

The three winning teams in the other games collected a total of 35 hits while the three losers could get only 15. Lloyd Brown of Washington held Chicago to four hits for an 8 to 1 triumph. Danny MacFayden, Boston's bespectacled star beat the St. Louis Browns 6 to 3 with a five hit pitching job.

Vernon Gomez, Yankee southpaw, won his fifth consecutive game by checking Cleveland with six hits while Babe Ruth led the way to a 5 to 1 victory.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

BILL HALLAHAN, Cardinals—blanked Robins with six hits, fanning six, in second game of double-header. RED LUCAS, Reds—held Braves to six hits, beat them easily, 8-2, and drove in two runs himself. ROGERS HORNSBY and HACK WILSON, Cubs—divided two home runs, double and single, driving in five runs against Giants. ED SWEENEY, Red Sox—collected two singles, double and triple against Browns. BABE RUTH, Yankees—drove in three runs against Indians with double and single.

Pacific Sports To Choose Sports Czar

PORTLAND, Ore., June 8. (AP)—An eastern or middlewestern man probably will be chosen to become "czar" of Pacific coast conference athletics.

The position was created by graduate managers and faculty representatives at a meeting here Saturday.

Officials generally believed they would have to go east to get a man satisfactory to all ten schools in the conference.

The faculty men decided to give the recommendations of the graduate managers a one-year try in voting to employ a commissioner to "assist in the consideration of problems confronting the conference and make recommendations on the basis of which determination may be as to future policies and methods of administration."

Field House To Be Erected In Memory Of Knute Rockne

NOTRE DAME, Ind., June 8. (AP)—The memory of the late Knute Rockne will be perpetuated in a $1,000,000 field house, the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the University of Notre Dame, announces.

The building will be erected at a cost of $650,000, Father O'Donnell said, and $350,000 will be placed in an endowment fund for its upkeep.

The campaign for funds, although directed by Notre Dame men, will not be limited to them alone.

High School Boys To Meet At Chicago

CHICAGO, June 8. (AP)—Chicago again will be the track and field capitol of the United States Friday and Saturday when high school and prep stars from all sections come to Stagg field for the twenty-seventh annual University of Chicago National Interscholastic championships.

On the same field where Southern California's great aggregation smothered its opposition with 77½ points last Saturday, youthful aces from 120 high schools, representing 21 states, will battle for national honors. The entry list includes teams from Texas.

Spying On Sports

BY COLLIER PARRIS, JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

True to advance notices and expectations we paid Amarillo a little visit yesterday and found the town and its contents under the fine control of Sportist Jerry Malin and his willing but dumb assistant, Mike. Jerry and Mike are doing a good bit of work in the City of Roses and Helium and they believe everything is going good in respect to the proposed Panhandle Professional Baseball league.

While in Amarillo we saw two of the snappiest baseball games it has been our pleasure to note in many a moon. The Hubbers of Manager Dirty Waller and the Aviators of Gib Jackson put on a two-storied exhibition of as fine baseball as you'll find outside of organized circles. If the Panhandle league teams can play ball like that, it is sure to succeed. They divided the bill, the Hubbers losing the opener in the eleventh inning, 6 to 5, and taking the seven-inning nightcap, 1 to 0. That was how close they were.

That last ball game was a real treat. Willis Knight pitched for Lubbock and did a nice job of it. He gave up seven hits, one for each inning and one in each inning, at least one, except the seventh. In the first part of the seventh the Hubbers got across a tally and here came Knight, growing hotter every minute, to strike out the last three hitters and win the game. The last three included the great Gib Jackson himself.

John J. (Honest John) McCloskey was at the games yesterday. He heard that Jim Galloway was there, the manager of the Pampa team, and we know Harry Wanderling was there because he called bases. They got their eyes full of West Texas, home grown baseball talent, all-right, and if a bunch of the boys don't get contracts to play in the Panhandle league it will not be because they were not trying yesterday.

McCloskey will manage the Amarillo club in the professional league, if any, and he plans to take at least three of the Lubbock players there. He has already offered them contracts. Ed Hambright and Raymond Marshall, outfielders, and Red Gaither, third baseman, are pretty certain to play with Amarillo. The league officials do not want home boys to play at home, and that is a good idea. Then when they do come home to play the local team they will draw a bigger gate. Bailey White, one of the four Whites of the Lamesa team, has signed a contract with McCloskey, it is reported. White is a first baseman.

We got to wondering just who would compose the personnel of the Lubbock club and found by questioning Harry Wanderling, who is to be the manager here, that Lubbock will have as good a club in the league, if not a bit better. Most of the boys coming here played with Longview in the defunct East Texas league. Some of them are already here. Wanderling has as a catcher for his team one Shaw, who will be remembered here and in West Texas as a catcher in the old West Texas league in 1921 and 1922 when he caught for Clovis. He was with Beaumont in the Texas league during the season of 1927 and went to Big Spring in the West Texas organization in 1928. He tried out with another Texas league team this season and has been playing in the East Texas league. He caught the second game for Lubbock yesterday and proved to be the hero of the game when he singled with two out and one on to score the only and winning run.

Wanderling has as a pitcher Russell "Stormy" Cromer, a Fort Worth boy who has proved himself to be of Class A calibre and who will land there when someone needs a hurler. He pitched for Abilene in 1928 and 1929, went to the Southeastern league in 1930 and was drafted by San Antonio of the Texas league last year. When he was released this spring Wanderling pounced upon him and has seen him work all season. The manager says Cromer is one of the best. Other pitchers who will work for Lubbock if the league goes through are Smith, a rookie from Sweetwater, Breezy Flanigan, who tried out with Shreveport this spring and was invited back; Latham, a rookie from Temple and a former Abilene Christian college baseball star, and Fripp Harris, a southpaw from Coleman and a class man. Harris and Cromer will be depended upon to bear the heaviest pitching burdens for Lubbock.

Wanderling says he has an infield coming up that is good for three double plays per game and which can bat above .300 per cent any day in the week. They are Clinton McClelland, first base; Hummonries, second base; Westbrook, shortstop and Robert Faucett, third base. His outfield will consist of Seward in left, George Brown in center and Turner in right. Turner, Seward, Faucett and Westbrook hit lefthanded and throw right handed. They played with Longview this spring and know each other and the game.

One Year to Go

Looking ahead to the presidential nominations of June, 1932, the greatest puzzle to politicians is Herbert Hoover himself, whose successes and failures are here splendidly analyzed in this first of a series on leading candidates

By WILLIAM C. MURPHY, JR.

DURING the stormy days of the last Congress a statement from President Hoover on some forgotten issue aroused Senate Democrats to loud and prolonged denunciation. A prominent Republican Senator rose to defend the position which the Democrats attacked; and when the Republican orator had finished he was handed a second statement from the President, saying the latter had no intention of taking the position which the Republican Senator had just defended. Whereupon this administration stalwart asked wrathfully but privately:

"How in —— can a man stand behind the President unless he has St. Vitus Dance?"

The incident illustrates the relationship between President Hoover and the veteran politicians in Washington. They cannot understand Mr. Hoover and they never will.

Which side is right is something that need not be decided here, even if it could be. The point is that Herbert Hoover is still a man of mystery after three years' exposure to the most pitiless spotlight in all history—the glaring publicity that plays upon the occupant of the White House.

According to the traditional rules of politics, the Senator who was left flapping on the end of his oratorical limb had a legitimate grievance against the President. But Mr. Hoover has never played the game according to the traditional rules and, to him, there was nothing incongruous about issuing his second statement without consulting his party leaders in the Senate. In fact, he had not consulted these Republican leaders about issuing the first statement.

Mr. Hoover is the greatest political paradox in American history, which makes it almost impossible and certainly audacious to undertake predictions concerning his chances for renomination in 1932.

From the moment he swept across the national consciousness as Director of Belgian Relief activities during the early days of the World War, he has been a political enigma. Everyone has heard of him, millions have seen him, hundreds of thousands have talked with him, but it is a rare and hardy soul indeed who claims to understand him to any extent.

THE most minute details of his life and personal habits have been portrayed in words and pictures to feed the insatiable curiosity of the public about those in high places.

Millions know he exercises with the medicine ball, what he eats for breakfast, that he has a fondness for double-breasted suits, what varieties of flies he uses to tempt the Rapidan trout. Leagues of white paper, oceans of ink, and all the pervading ether waves have spread his expressions on all conceivable subjects to every human being who might be interested. Still the public has no clear-cut conception or picture of Herbert Hoover.

There was such a public impression of Roosevelt, of Wilson, of Coolidge. Rightly or wrongly, every citizen felt he knew how any of these men would react to a given problem. Not so as to President Hoover. He is something unique in the American political scene.

Those who are most intimate with him are often the furthest astray in their guesses as to his course of action. All his life he has played a lone hand, with the world as his theater of operations,—China, Australia, England, Belgium, Russia, and the United States. He is still playing a lone hand; this course has brought him to the most powerful elective office in the world and it will have to keep him there for another four years or remove him.

It is necessary to go back to 1884, at the end of the Arthur Administration, to find an instance in which a President was not his party's candidate to succeed himself at the conclusion of his first term of office.

Hence, in any attempted prognostication concerning the 1932 campaign, it must be taken as at least a three-to-one probability that President Hoover will be the Republican candidate. That probability always holds, regardless of whether an incumbent President is deemed the strongest candidate his party might put forth or not.

There have been instances, indeed, when party leaders regarded it almost inevitable defeat to renominate a President, but, nevertheless, he has been renominated. The 1912 renomination of President Taft was one such instance.

GENERALLY speaking, it is impossible to prevent the renomination of a President, even when a substantial element in his party opposes him. The prestige of his office, the political power of Presidential patronage—touching every postoffice in the nation and thousands of other offices as well—are some of the factors which enable almost any President to renominate himself if he so desires.

Then there is another element to be considered; for a party to refuse renomination to a man whom it elected to the Presidency only four years before, would place that party on the defensive from the outset of the campaign. With considerable show of plausibility, the opposition could immediately raise the cry that this constituted an admission of failure for the outgoing administration.

The political axiom that a party in power must "point with pride" to its record in the immediate past when it asks the country to continue it in power for four years more is thus one of the chief factors in the probability of Mr. Hoover's renomination. It is also one of the chief embarrassments to his party.

Not even the Democrats, of course, hold him responsible for all the unfortunate experiences of his administration; the most they say is that one of their own leaders would have done better. Nevertheless, the fact remains that there is little in the first three years of Mr. Hoover's administration which will make good campaign ammunition in 1932. Most of his energies have, perforce, been devoted to attempts to correct evils for which, by no fair use of the imagination, can he properly be held responsible.

It is almost ridiculous that he should be blamed for the stock market collapse of 1929, for the drought of 1930, or for the agricultural depression which started back in 1921. But the first two calamities took place during his term and the third was aggravated.

His party elected him on campaign assurance that Republican rule meant insured prosperity and he himself talked about abolishing the poorhouse. It was good political strategy at the time, as is proved by the fact that it worked. But as a veteran politician observed—it must have been before the drought—"the party that claims credit for the sunshine must take the blame for the rain."

THAT may be an entirely illogical and unfair arrangement, both as to the assumption of credit and the imposition of blame, but such considerations have no bearing on practical politics. An electorate which would believe that the triumph of one of two practically indistinguishable parties would bring prosperity can be expected to blame that party when prosperity vanishes.

By all the norms of politics, Mr. Hoover should not be a very attractive candidate for his party in 1932, but, as has been suggested heretofore, Mr. Hoover appears to defy the laws of politics. Washington is still wondering whether he is the world's worst politician in high office or whether he has really discovered a new political strategy past the understanding of the veterans.

One thing is certain, he does not play the game of politics according to time-honored rules. Still another thing is certain, he has obtained results, so far as his personal fortunes are concerned. Whether his methods have built up a resentment which may operate to his disadvantage in 1932 is a question that cannot be solved until 1932.

It is significant, however, that so far no outstanding Republican, not even one of the western insurgent group, has come out in favor of another candidate for the Presidency. Therein lies one of the important elements of Mr. Hoover's strength; there is no outstanding rallying flag for the disgruntled elements of his party.

An attempt to analyze those factors which make for Mr. Hoover's renomination gives results almost as unsatisfactory as an effort to list reasons why he may lose out.

In 1928 he was hailed as the business man's candidate. It is generally conceded now, however, that that was largely a reflex from the then current prosperity epidemic. Business was contented then because it was prosperous and now it is discontented because it is not prosperous. Running as a business man's candidate in 1932 might well be regarded as a hazardous occupation.

SOLUTION of economic problems has been assigned by Mr. Hoover's admirers as one of his specialties. They have considerable justification for this assertion, but it is likely to be difficult to popularize it in 1932 in the face of opposition reminders that his first term witnessed record breaking bank failures, an unprecedented agricultural depression, unemployment on a scale heretofore undreamed of, and the first peace time treasury deficit in many years.

These national mishaps may not be Mr. Hoover's fault, but they are going to be attributed to him just the same, so they are important politically.

It is difficult to say whether Mr. Hoover's attitude on prohibition will be an asset or a liability next year; much depends on whether the Democratic party harmonizes its internal discords on this issue or stages another of its traditional suicidal orgies.

In 1928 the promise of a fact-finding commission pacified the numerous Republican wets in industrial states which the party must carry to win. However since then the commission has been appointed and has reported, and, apparently, its performance satisfied no one but the commission. That solution can hardly be effective in the next campaign.

Here again, however, while some influential Republicans have demanded a wet declaration in 1932, none of them has gone the logical step further and argued that such a platform would disqualify Mr. Hoover for renomination. Indeed, the outstanding Republican wet hope, Senator Dwight Morrow, has come out for Mr. Hoover.

PERHAPS the chief element of strength in Mr. Hoover before he became President was his reputation for relief administration. Hardly had he been inaugurated than opportunities for exercising his talents along that line were clamoring for attention. Paradoxically, the bitterest attacks which have been made upon him have been directed at his methods of unemployment and drought relief.

The jury is still out, deliberating on these charges; if there should be a revival of business to solve the unemployment problem during the coming winter and a restoration of normal conditions in the drought area, he may be hailed again as the superman of humanitarian endeavor. On the other hand, if the depression continues, it is quite conceivable that he may have to accept some of the "dole" proposals which he has denounced so vigorously.

The latter would be most embarrassing on the eve of a campaign, particularly with a hostile Congress controlled by Democrats and insurgents proclaiming that they had forced the President to yield.

The characteristic which sets Herbert Hoover apart from all other political leaders of modern times is that he thinks and acts in terms of material things rather than personalities. This explains his success and his difficulties.

All his life he has been accustomed to working under conditions where he had a free hand in devising the most efficient methods to do a definite job. Out of that training has come a truly remarkable ability to discard non-essentials—including the conflicting views of others—and get down to the bed rock of material realities.

But that self-same ability has been one of the biggest handicaps in dealing with Congress. Apparently he has been unable to make himself realize that in politics the business of placating innumerable—frequently divergent and sometimes selfish—interests is far more essential to the success of a given plan than the intrinsic merits of the plan itself. That happens to be one of the apparently incurable defects of democracy, if it be a defect.

MR. HOOVER has led many to believe that he regards the government as a vast business organization with the President as its general manager. But it happens, fortunately or unfortunately, that it is nothing of the sort.

Its charter, the federal constitution, is a product of an era in which people were distrustful of governments. It contains specific provisions for checks and balances which would be intolerable in a business organization.

For instance, Congress provides the money with which to run the government and Congress may provide as much or as little as it chooses. Imagine a business organization in which the revenue-producing department was independent of the president or the board of directors.

It is no secret that the politicians, even in Mr. Hoover's own party, are not enamored of his methods. His refusal to observe the traditional rules has often left them in embarrassing positions when they assayed the role of Presidential spokesman. But they seem to agree that there is nothing they can do about it.

They did all they could to prevent his nomination at Kansas City in 1928, but their coalition disintegrated before the voting started and there was a mad scramble among the erstwhile candidates to get on the bandwagon.

For a man who is supposed to be a poor politician and who never was a candidate for elective office before 1928, Mr. Hoover has done fairly well. Many acknowledged and self-admitted political experts would like to know how he did it—and whether he will do it again next year.

Thought For Today

And if any man obey not our word by this epistle, note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed.—II Thessalonians 3:14.

* * *

We need only obey. There is guidance for each of us, and by lowly listening we shall hear the right word.—Emerson.

Noble Adventure

Professor Piccard and Dr. Kipfer return to the earth in their queer, air-tight balloon basket announcing they made highly important scientific discoveries and experiments while drifting about nine miles above the earth's surface. For most people, however, the interesting thing about the flight will be its purely spectacular features—the enormous height to which the balloon ascended, and the strange peril into which the two scientists put themselves.

These things surely, were spectacular enough for anybody. The two men went more than two miles higher than anyone had ever gone before. They sailed up beyond the ordinary atmosphere into a queer region where the air has only one-tenth of its ordinary density, and where the thermometer sticks at 148 degrees below zero. They looked down and saw the earth vanish in a copper-colored cloud. No living mortals ever came so close to wandering off into the empty space between the stars.

In view of this, the ordinary man can be pardoned for ignoring the scientific aspects of the affair. The important things is that they made the trip. By making it they helped to swell the pride of all of us.

For there is always something oddly encouraging about the spectacle of men composedly risking their lives; and the reasons that impel them to do so are not nearly as important as the graybeards would have us think. We get a new confidence in the human race when we see a man calmly take his chances with death, whether he be a scientist trying to broaden the scope of human knowledge, an aviator seeking publicity and cash by flying the ocean or a circus "daredevil" earning his daily bread on the flying trapeze.

We are debtors to all of these men. They prove to us over and over again, that the race can, if it wants to, set itself free from its oldest and most powerful compulsions.

All learned men agree that self-preservation is the first law of human existence. We have scriptural authority for the belief that "all that a man hath, will he give for his life." But as we digest this somewhat ignoble axiom, along comes someone to upset it—a scientist in a balloon, or a young man in a 320-mile-an-hour racing car, or an Arctic explorer, or any of those cheerful souls who make danger their calling.

They suggest the existence of a different set of values. They hint that death is less of a matter than we have supposed, since it can be risked so lightly. They prove that human can be glad to loosen their grip on life; and they reveal to us, thereby, that the race is a little bit finer than we sometimes believe

Hurts Itself

In dismissing from its faculty Dr. Herbert A. Miller, professor of sociology, Ohio State University has done itself a good deal more damage than it has done to Dr. Miller.

Dr. Miller happens to be one of America's foremost sociologists, a man with a truly international reputation. His presence on the faculty gave to Ohio State a distinction, a cause for pride, of the sort that is worth a great deal to any university.

But because this man opposed compulsory military training for the university's students, and because he has said something, a year ago, in a speech in far-off India, Ohio State has got rid of him.

In the long run this will do Dr. Miller no harm at all. But it probably will be a long time before the university recovers from it.

Dorothy thinks that an architect should be a much traveled man because he takes in all the sites.

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says her beau's so independent he's going to get a job painting flagpoles, so he won't be working under anybody.

* * *

Every dog has his day and every cat his night, but Sunday belongs to the road hog.

* * *

THE PLAINSMAN went over to the First Baptist church last night to hear Rev. R. C. Campbell preach his second Sunday night sermon on the evils of the modern dance, and is here to bear witness that the discourse was the fairest he has ever heard from a pulpit. Mr. Campbell had studied his subject well and presented in in a practicable manner. A crowded auditorium indicated that there is a great deal of interest in the series of subjects which carry on into next Sunday night.

* * *

While the viewpoint of the liberal layman is naturally somewhat different than that of a minister of the gospel, Mr. Campbell said nothing to antagonize even the most devoted exponent of worldly pleasure. He made no effort to 'pick a fuss' with anybody and his presentation of the subject left no point to be denied. Listeners, like The Plainsman, who have danced all their lives could not but admit that the type of dance discussed by the pastor is everything he says.

* * *

THE only point in the dissertation shoject to question, as this column views it, is the fact that there are dances—and dances. Mr. Campbell's remarks were directed at what the average person considers as 'the loose type of dance'. The only possible disagreement with the pastor would be along the line of belief which many hold—including The Plainsman—that all dancing is not vicious. The right kind of people can, as we see it, enjoy the right kind of dancing without evil effects.

But regardless of personal views, Rev. Mr. Campbell is to be commended for his stand in the matter; he should be congratulated for the way he is presenting his facts in a fair, truthful manner, unmarred by rancor. He is hanging no hides to dry; merely presenting a problem of the day as seen by many citizens. The Plainsman intends to hear next Sunday nights sermon, too. It's not going to hurt anybody.

Wire, pole and everything came crashing down and twined around the unfortunate driver. As he recovered consciousness he felt the wires.

"Thank Heaven, I've lived clean," he mumbled. "They've given me a party!"

A GREAT many men, and, we suppose, some women, too—must have smiled the other day when a learned psychiatrist concluded through scientific surveys, that Abraham Lincoln was a "schizoid maniac."

If you are as dumb as The Plainsman was upon seeing the term "schizoid maniac," you'll probably be enlightened to know that it is a three dollar expression which means, literally "enjoying listening to and telling risque stories."

* * *

Such a weakness makes a person a "schizoid maniac," as Dr. A. A. Brill, of New York, insisted in his paper read before the American Psychiatrist and Psychoanalytic associations, the country is full of "schizoid maniacs." In fact, a person would be in dire danger of wearing out his arm trying to shake a stick at all of 'em.

SINCE Mr. Lincoln has been so maligned out, it is no more than fair to admit that he has a lot of company in this day and time. Whether it is nice or not, there are few men who fail to guffaw at the conception of an 'off color yarn', spinning of which appears to be a popular pastime whenever and wherever males are wont to gather.

THE last street cars in West Texas have followed the buffalo over the hill. The Abilene Transportation company, pleading steady loss of patronage, has been permitted to remove the electric vehicles from the streets of the Taylor county capital, replacing them with buses.

The action leaves only Ft. Worth, which is on the edge of West Texas, and El Paso—more Arizona, New Mexico and Chihuahua than West Texas—with the balance of the trolleys anywhere in this neck of the woods.

* * *

There may be those who mourn the passing of the clang and clatter of the street car, but The Plainsman is not numbered therein. This column is glad there are no trolleys here—glad there has never been.

Buses do the job quicker and cheaper—and make for bigger and better nights of slumber. Abilene's loss is her

Immediate Draft Of 4,000,000 Men Planned By U. S. In Next War; Compulsory Orders For Supplies Is Studied

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of several stories on the federal government's new plan for mobilizing man power and industry when the "next war breaks out.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Detailed plans of vast scope for mobilization of man power and industry when the "next war" breaks out have been formulated by the War Department.

Immediate draft of 4,000,000 men and registration of 7,000,000 more within the ages of 21 to 30, creation of a powerful Advisory War Council, compulsory orders for 15,000 manufacturing plants and special low-profit contracts for purchase of necessary supplies are some of the most important phases of the general war plan.

The War Policies Commission is now studying drafts of the plan along with proposals made at its recent hearings. This commission was created by Congress to make a study and prepare legislation designed to equalize the burdens and minimize the profits of war. It consists of six cabinet members, four senators and four representatives. It will report to the next Congress.

Bills drafted by the War Department which Congress would be expected to pass immediately in case of war include measures making available to the president the man power and material resources of the nation, relating to federal acquisition of private property in emergency, authorizing or creating a uread of marine war risk insurance, a war trade board and a war finance corporation and a bill covering the draft of man power.

The plans would apply to a major war. General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, points out that an emergency involving no more than the regular army, even raised to full strength and strengthened by some National Guard units, "would cause scarcely a ripple in American life and industry."

The proposed selective service plan is based on the provision designating all able-bodied males between the age of 18 and 45 as the country's unorganized militia. It calls for primary selection of men of "those ages which best fit the needs of the particular war," pointing out that this range was originally 21 to 30 years, inclusive, in the World War.

There is an estimated reservoir of 11,000,000 registrants within the ages of 21 and 30 and the Army estimates that about 4,000,000 men would be immediately available for induction into the armed service. These would be designated members of Class I by local registration cards. The other classes would be II. Those whose drafting would be deferred because of the importance to the nation of their service in civilian life. III. Those whose drafting would be deferred because of dependents. IV. Those deferred from service by law whose induction would be undesirable.

No Exemptions

Each year about 800,000 men will arrive at registration age and be added to the rolls.

There would be no exemptions, but military service would be "deferred" by a man's own neighbors on the draft board "for industrial and humanitarian reasons only." After the group selections and individual deferments calls to service would be determined by lot.

About 3000 local draft boards of three members each would be functioning in decentralized local board areas each including about 30,000 population. The national system would be under a "Director of Selective Service" with a headquarters staff, but operated within each state under direction of the governor. The president would proclaim a certain day on which all male persons between certain designated ages would register at their voting precincts. The local board then sends a questionnaire to each registrant to gather information about deepndents, occupation, physical condition; any religious convictions against war, citizenship and any claims for deferment. This information is used to separate the registrants into the four classifications.

Plan Deferments

The matter of deferments, General MacArthur points out, is one of paramount importance. Disturbance of the nation must be keut to a procticable minimum and essential factories and industries must not be robbed of necessary man power. Also, MacArthur says, "If the selection of a certain able-bodied man would cause his invalid wife and three small children to become public charges, it is evident that the public interest will not be served."

Instead of building great cantonments as in the World War the Army plans to shelter troops in federal, state, county, municipal and—if necessary—private buildings.

The Director of Selective Service would maintain close liaison with the Army and Navy and know weeks in advance the calls for men which he would be required to fill.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article with a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. Logan Clendening in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1016 East Twelfth Street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining." "Feminine Hygiene." "Indigestion and Constipation." "The Care of the Hair and Skin." "Infant Feeding." "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet." "List of Books for Mothers." "Bad Weaning of Diet of the Expectant Mother." "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

SWIMMING POOLS

Swimming pools in any well regulated community are safe, but the dangers of swimming pools are real and regulations to keep them safe should be rigidly carried out.

Dr. Clendening

The greatest source of danger in a swimming pool is from other bathers. They contaminate the water more than it is contaminated at the source. Each bather in a pool should be inspected before getting in, and those with skin diseases or infections should be excluded. The frequent occurrence of head colds and ear infections in children who use public and semi-public pools can be traced to pool contamination.

Water used for pools around cities is usually contaminated both by sewage and the refuse of industrial plants. The latter is seldom a source of danger, but may be so in the case of certain industries. Both these sources of contamination, however, are eliminated in most cities with modern water works plants. The water is first drawn in large reservoirs and allowed to settle while exposed to sunlight. Sunlight is the greatest germ destroyer we have for clear water in large quantities. Sedimentation clears the reservoir water. The water is next run through city filters which remove 99 per cent of germs of all kinds.

Changing the water in a pool is not sufficient to keep it safe. It should also be sterilized chemically, the best substance for this being chlorine gas, one part to a million. This is the best method that has been devised.

Water properly treated is not dangerous or irritating to any part of the body. Some people believe they should use goggles when diving or swimming under water, but no harm is done by keeping the eyes open under water for a moderate time. Chlorinated water does not harm the eyes, the nose or the mucous membranes of the mouth.

Those who have the advantages of a good municipal pool may be comforted by the advice recently published in "Hygeia."

"Many persons think that ocean bathing is especially clean, but it lacks the supervision found in better outdoor pools. A person never knows who has used the dressing rooms, whether they are contaminated by disease or not, and if he looks at the persons who are bathing in the ocean at most resorts he is unwilling to share a room with them. Often the bather hires a bathing suit that is not thoroughly sterilized. The beaches themselves are littered with food leavings and flies and insects abound. Because of the terribly crowded conditions at the popular resorts the supervision, in comparison with swimming pools, is not good. The mortality at these resorts is large, and the control of child bathers is less complete than in city pools."

In New York With Gilbert Swan

SWAN

NEW YORK, June 8—For the last time I have tried to be a good Samaritan to some of the younger folk observed roaming the streets.

And I have found that trying to give something away is one of the most difficult and distressing adventures one can undertake in New York.

So gun-shy have the timid natives of this metropolitan jungle become that they take flight, like frightened gazelles, at the mention of "something-for-nothing." So often have they heard tales of "sucker" rackets and "gyp" games, they cannot believe that a gift, proffered by a stranger, has no ties to it. They immediately begin to ask "What's the matter with it?" Or they conclude, without question, that "there must be some catch or it wouldn't be free."

Too often have gifts been caught wearing disguises.

Not long ago, just to attract attention at the opening of a new film theater, a shrewd press agent proffered first-class $5 gold pieces for $2.50 and found no takers. Nor could he give $1 bills away for 50 cents. He did manage to draw a crowd and two police came over to investigate what sort of swindle was going on.

* * *

My own adventure went like this: About a week ago, hurrying to a theater, I found that I had an extra pair of tickets in my pocket. It was but a few minutes before curtain time, quite too late to call up a friend, so I said to my wife:

"The first pair of youngsters we pass who look as though they would appreciate tickets to a good show can get these ducats."

At that moment a youth and his girl friend went by. They were plainly dressed and seemed to be paying little attention to the passing crowds with bright eyes. There was every reason to believe they would appreciate a couple of good $3 theater tickets.

My wife and I stopped them, and after a brief explanation I said: "As much as I cannot use them, you're welcome to them."

The youth looked at the girl. The girl glanced. The youth eyed me and with a sort of challenge demanded: "What's the idea?" I tried to say that there was no "big idea," but they were gone, and I was attracting attention.

"Let's go," I said to my wife as I turned a corner.

A large and awkward-looking man was standing on a corner staring at the bright lights. I touched timidly to his arm. They're free visitors.

I tried again. The big fellow looked as though he was preparing to swing a fist and gave me a glare. "How do you get that way? What do you thing I am—a sucker?"

I thought he was, but didn't say so.

It was now too late to do anything about it. We were passing a hotel. I figured the doorman saw lots of people coming and going and could "set himself in" with a friend. As I stood explaining my case a gent in evening clothes and opera hat came out. The doorman handed him the tickets. The man gave his top hat and thanked me profusely. He handed me his card. It was the hotel manager.

"You know, of course, that this is a theatrical hotel and I get passes to dozens of shows, but I did want to catch this one."

So I have given up—dozens of people who seldom go to shows had turned me down and when I finally gave the tickets away, it had to be a fellow already on the "dead-head" lists.

A movement is under way in Canada to teach arming free to boys. It is understood to be a growing movement.

In the Elysian fields, we understand, folks greet each other with a cheery "halo."

"I hope everything comes out all right," as the appendix victim said to the surgeon.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

It wasn't long until the Jap said, "Well, boys ,wait until I slap some red on this big lantern. Then I'll rest up for a bit. You see, it won't be long until these lanterns will bring quite a thrill to lads in your own native land. They always make a hit."

Then Scouty said, "I'm sure I know just what he means. I'm not so slow. The lanterns made here in Japan are used on July four. Folks decorate their home up great to help them justly celebrate. I thought that was the only thing that lanterns were used for."

Then Clowny said, "I wish that I could paint a bit. Please let me try. I promise I won't dob things up or get paint on the floor." The Jap replied, "All right, my son. Just start on some small lantern. Then I have a whole lot more."

So Clowny took a brush, in hand and said, "I'll bet this will be grand." The others watched him while he painted. Scouty had to smile. Said he, "Instead of red I think 'twould look real nice if you'd use pink." And Clowny answered, "I'll use every color after while."

Before the afternoon was o'er the bunch were on their way once more. The Travel Man had promised them a sight that they would like. They reached a stream and there they found a very queer boat drifting 'round. Poor Clowny sat down on the bank, all tired out from the hike.

"What sort of boat is that?" asked one. "And, gee, what makes the big thing run?" "It's just a queer Jap hauling boat," the Travel Man replied. "On it they haul much rice and tea. They're always busy as can be. I'll try to get the owner to give all you boys a ride."

College "Dry" Board Flayed

...ney R. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment (lower), has issued a scathing denunciation of the special council of 10 college professors appointed by Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, national prohibition director, to conduct a "scholarly research into the sociological effects of prohibition. Dr. Emory R. Johnson, dean of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania (right), and Dr. Roderick D. McKenzie, University of Michigan sociologist (left), are members of the college "dry" board.

Rates, Rules and Requirements of Classified Advertising Of The

Lubbock Daily Journal (Afternoon)

Lubbock Morning Avalanche (Morning)

Sunday Avalanche-Journal (Sunday Morning)

All classified advertising will appear in both the Morning and Afternoon papers—both papers counting one insertion. All classified advertising is printed in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche first and the Daily Journal of the same date, no classified originating the afternoon paper.

Classified for Sunday's issue will appear in the Avalanche-Journal counting one insertion, as this paper is sent to all subscribers of both the afternoon and morning papers.

AVALANCHE-JOURNAL Combined Rates:

Minimum words, per insertion, 10.

One insertion, per word	4c
Two insertions, per word	6c
Three insertions, per word	7c
Seven insertions, per word	12c
Thirty insertions, per word	45c

These rates are for consecutive insertions only. Additional consecutive insertions over 30 times, of 1½c per word each.

All out of town ads, received by mail must be Cash with order. No exceptions.

PHONE 13 or 14

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for our patrons and for one day only.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rate.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors, or any unintentional error that may occur further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

Classified Advertising accepted until 5:30 P. M. on week days, and 5:30 P. M. on Saturdays, and all advertising received after 5:30 P. M. will be placed under "Too Late To Classify."

For classified display advertising information.

PHONE 13 or 14

TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue An Ad must be given after 8 A. M. and before 5 P. M. to some member of the Classified Advertising Department. We cannot be responsible for notices given before or after these Hours, and to a member of some other Department.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Stock dragged slowly downward in the earlier trading today and then reduced their losses in a quiet advance from the low levels.

Weakness of the rails stood out during the selling movement which represented a continuation of last Saturday's downward trend. Atchison dropped 4 3-4 but got back 2 points of its drop. New York Central recovered part of a 3 1-4 point reaction. Pennsylvania sagged a couple of points on the report of a first quarter net loss, news that influenced the entire rail group.

American Telephone, after sagging 3 points, cut its loss to 1. United States Steel reacted 2 5-8 before rallying Standard Oil of California held a rise of 1 1-2.

Call money renewed at 1 1-2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 8, (AP)—Cotton here opened easier today owing to very unfavorable Liverpool cables. First trades showed losses of 8 to 11 points. The market continued to ease off after the start owing to selling based on the continued favorable weather in the belt, July dropped to 8.20, October to 8.53 and December to 8.77, or 11 to 12 points under Saturday's close.

Towards the end of the first hour the market rallied 7 to 8 covering by satisfied shorts.

The market ruled rather quiet all morning, after declining to levels 11 to 13 points under yesterday's close in the first part of the morning, prices had a fair rally on trade buying and shorts covering, notwithstanding rather easier stocks. July traded up to 8.33 October to 8.67 and December to 8.90, or 13 to 14 points up from the earlier lows and two points above yesterday's close.

Around mid-session the market was quiet and two to four points under the best.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Cotton opened steady today up to 11 points lower under more or less general selling which evidently was stimulated by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of favorable weather in the south over Sunday.

The decline into new low ground for the reason brought in some trade buying and covering, but it was supplied on slight rallies, with the market easing off again under continued liquidation which seemed to be combined with local and foreign selling. July sold off to 8.17 and December to 8.76 during the first half hour with the active months showing net declines of about 12 to 14 points.

Liverpool cables said there had been local continental and Bombay liquidation in that market and that Manchester was disorganized with business in cloths and yarns restricted. The Indian spot quotation in Liverpool was 10 points lower.

The early decline extending to 8.16 for July and 8.75 for December seemed to carry the market into some old trade buying limits, while covering was stimulated by a rally in stocks. The combined demand was sufficient to steady cotton which recovered a good part of its earlier losses, with July advancing to 8.27 and December to 8.87, or within 2 or 3 points of Saturday's closing quotations. Trading was quiet and the market was fairly steady at midday

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

NEW ORLEANS, June 8 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady today: July 8.21; Oct. 8.53; Dec. 8.79; Jan. 8.91-bid; March 9.11-bid; May 9.28-bid.

NEW YOR KOPEN

NEW YORK, June 8 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today: July 8.20; Oct. 8.57; Dec. 8.78; Jan. 8.89; March 9.08; May 9.26.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 8 (AP) — Heavy rains in parts of the Canadian drouth region carried wheat prices downward early today, weakness of securities and reports of large yields of new winter wheat in Texas also were influential as bearish factors. Opening 1-2 to 1 3-8 cents lower, wheat afterward held near to the initial range. Corn started 3-8 to 5-8 off and subsequently declined a little more

Wheat closed unsettled, 5-8 to 1 1-4 cents lower, corn unchanged to 1-2 off, oats 1-8 to 1-4 down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 cents.

CHICAGO QUOTATION

CHICAGO, June 8, (AP)—Wheat: No. 1 northern spring 75.

Corn: No. 1 mixed 56 3-4; No. 1 yellow 56 2-4 to 57; No. 1 white 56 1-4 to 56 1-2

BUS HOLDUP

Call Him "A Hack Driver"

W. E Trammel, making his first trip as driver of the bus was the first man ordered out to be searched. Finding no money on him, the robbers became profane and called him a hack driver. One passenger, Henry Macziell of Champaign, Ill., hid his money in his shoe, which the robbers neglected to search.

AMARILLO WOMAN IS ONE OF THE VICTIMS

AMARILLO, June 8 (AP)—Passengers on board a Pickwick Greyhound transcontinental bus that were victims of a holdup shortly after they crossed the line into Texas at Texola, Okla., early Sunday morning, arrived in Amarillo late last night and most of them continued their journey westward today.

The passengers were held in Shamrock all day Sunday while officers searched for the bandits. Two suspects were brought before them, but were not identified. Passengers said they could identify at least three of the unmasked men.

Disable Bus Motor

Mrs. Martha Johnson of Amarillo, the only Texan on the bus, told a story that varied little from the original report. She said the bandits held the party for an hour and 40 minutes, deliberately searching each passenger and then disabling the motor to keep the party from moving on. The robbery occurred about 2:30 o'clock and it was daylight before three men who went to Texola for help returned to the stranded bus.

"We were scared to death, and no one made a sound during the robbery," Mrs Johnson said. "But after the bandits left we got back into the bus, relaxed and made ourselves as comfortable as possible until help arrived.

Leader Wore Handkerchief

"The leader of the bandits wore a handkerchief over his face, but the others were unmasked. The leader appeared nonchalant. The others were nervous and acted like amateurs. They stood around after the robbery apparently waiting for something. As soon as the westbound Rock Island passenger train passed they drove away.

Mrs. Johnson lost $12 and a few cents that was in her purse.

ACCIDENTS

injured early today when the automobile in which they were riding plunged from the highway down an embankment and overturned.

The party was en route from Dallas to Texarkana to visit relatives when the accident occurred.

The injured were: Mrs. Carter Williamson, mother of the child killed; Mrs. W. O. Williamson 49; Doran Parrish, 9; Mrs. Nora True; R. S. True, 10; and Carl Williamson, 8 months.

As related by the Parrish boy, the accident occurred when the car suddenly went out of control and left the highway, plunging down an embankment and turning over several times.

AMARILLO CHILD DIES IN TUB OF WATER

AMARILLO, June 8, (AP)—Funeral services were to be held today for Frances Franks, 10-monthold daughter of Mr. and Mrs L. M. Franks of Amarillo, who drowned yesterday in a tub of water at her home. The baby fell from the back porch into the tub.

EXPLOSION IS FATAL TO PYOTE FIREMAN

PYOTE, June 8. (AP)—E. O. James, 33, a fireman, was fatally burned yesterday when several stills exploded at the Tonkawa gasoline refinery here He died in a Pecos hospital.

ONE DEAD, ANOTHER BADLY INJURED

PORT ARTHUR, June 8. (AP)—Mrs. C. B. Rogers, 72 of Bunkie, La., was dead today and her husband was in a critical condition from injuries received yesterday in an automobile collision north of Port Arthur. Mrs. J. D. Rogers of Port Arthur, their daughter-in-law L. N. Hatfield and D. Mosis of Port Arthur, and D. A. Coincon of Hamburg, La., received minor injuries.

DRIVER IS CHARGED AFTER CRASH DEATH

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—Robert Gibson, 21 today was under a charge of negligent homicide resulting from the death of August Priest, 73, fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile last night. The aged man died on the way to a hospital.

YOUTH IS DROWNED TRYING TO SWIM CREEK

HOUSTON, June 8. (AP)—Jack Edward Trimble, 15, was drowned in Cypress Creek, near Houston, yesterday. He had told his companion, Alvat Myers, 10, that he would try to swim the widest part of the stream and was exhausted before he reached the other side.

LIBEL SUIT

Lackey, B. W. Mitchell, J. A. Beddingfield and H. S. Smyer of that county and Mrs D. W. Benton and Walter Davies now of Lubbock.

Mr. Bell said he bought cattle for the Blankenship boys and after inspecting the animals and approving their ownership, sent them to the Blankenship pasture near Tucumcari. The cattle were bought for butchering purposes and only "fat cattle" were bought. He knew personally the Spikeses.

The witness on cross-examination said he "got acquainted with Henry Hawkins after I went to work for Mr. Blankenship, met him at the George Greear place." This was in the fall of 1901. He could not recall the last time he saw Hawkins. "The first man in the saloon the night it was robbed was Henry Hawkins," Bell testified. "There were four men only," he added "He was sitting in on a poker game. One other of the four men he recognized as "Moore, known as One-Eyed Moore," and the other two he did not recognize. The men had "six shooters" but did not carry Winchesters. Hawkins remained at the bar There might have ben a man outside, he did not know. After the holdup he said he heard horses outside. It was the two men who followed Hawkins and Moore into the saloon who "robbed the poker game, participants"

Bell said he had "met Hawkins in a business way," at George Greear's place. "I do not recall any incident up to the time of the robbery of the Smith saloon that would affect his reputation," witness testified about Hawkins. He admitted, however, in the questioning by George Dupree that he 'would not count Henry Hawkins as a law abiding citizen from his reputation." Bell said he had heard of the cave on Mesa Redonda, but did not visit it until nearly a year after John and Dick Spikes were killed. He recalled the name of George Cook and 'might have been acquainted with him," but did not recall it.

The witness was unable to recall any transactions in the way of buying cattle from the Spikes boys. He did remember one instance of where he went to "the Spikes' place and stayed there all night. I did not buy any cattle—they were too thin." He did not recall seeing the Spikes boys at the home of George Greear. Bell was not inclined to answer cross-examination questions with a direct "yes" or "no," and in response to the query as to whether or not he heard of any cattle being stolen, said "if there was any cattle being stolen then I never heard of it." He also added he did not think there was any more cattle stolen in New Mexico then than "in the Indian country." All the time he was buying cattle for the Blankenship boys "I never bought anything that was questioned."

Veteran Merchant Testifies

N. Y. Bicknell, veteran merchant of Crosby county and a resident there 43 years, said he "knew all the Spikes boys and knew their father." He knew Jeff and Fred best, he said. On cross-examination Mr. Bicknell said he first lived eight miles from the Spikes home, later 18 or 20 miles from John Spikes. John had a bunch of cattle, he did not know how much. He knew Jeff but never knew how many cattle he owned; Ernest did not own any cattle; Fred did not own any before he went to New Mexico; Dick did not own any that he knew of as he was "just working around the country." The witness admitted hearing of John Spikes being in trouble for branding calves. He also got in trouble for interfering with a man named Cuseneaux and his calves and entered a plea of guilty and was fined. If John had been indicted on other cattle charges, he would still say he had a good reputation. He heard of Jeff having trouble also.

A. T. Lackey said he knew Fred, Jeff and Ernest Spikes, did not know the others All had "good reputations in Crosby county from the time he went there in 1898. "I never saw John Spikes and don't know when he left," witness said on cross-examination. "I don't know what they did out there" he said in answer to what he knew about the trio in New Mexico.

Thought Reputations Good

S. W. Page, of Ralls, had lived in Lubbock and Crosby counties for 24 years. He said he knew the Spikes boys, went to New Mexico in 1892, met Fred at church 24 years ago and also Jeff and "never heard anything to the contrary" as to their good reputations. On cross-examination witness said he knew nothing of the association of Fred Spikes with others in New Mexico in 1901 and 1902.

Walter Davies of Lubbock, who met Jeff Spikes at a cow camp down in Garza county in December, 1899, said he had always heard of their good reputation On cross-examination he said when he first met one of the Spikes boys John and Dick had gone to New Mexico. He never knew them and never heard of John having any trouble with authorities until this case came up.

Mrs. D. W. Benton, formerly Mrs. Pat Murphy then wife of a sheriff of Crosby county, knew the 'entire Spikes family." She went to Crosby county in 1887 and lived near Estacado She had gone to school with John as a small boy, she said on cross examination. "I never heard of nothing wrong with the boys" she testified. If she had heard of John having trouble she would have thought it was "misrepresented" she said adding to another question that if John had entered a plea of guilty to any charge she would have thought he was trying to get out of trouble. She admitted she knew nothing of the lives of the boys in New Mexico or of what their neighbors thought of them.

Ex-Sheriff Testifies

B. W Mitchell, ex-sheriff and tax collector, a resident of Crosby county for 33 years, gave the boys a good reputation. He was sheriff from 1914 to 1922. Never heard of John's troubles there until later. John K. Fullingim was sheriff in 1900 and Pat Murphy before him. He knew John, Dick, Fred and Jeff, knew John went to New Mexico two or three years after he arrived in Crosby county did not know how many cattle John had. He knew all the boys but Sam.

H. S. Smyer a resident of Crosby county since 1892, said he kenw the mother of the boys and knew Fred and Jeff. Both had good reputations On cross-examination he admitted "hearing of their getting into trouble for cattle rustling" after they went to New Mexico. The first he heard, he later said, was about the time they were killed. "I heard they were accused of cattle stealing" he admitted. On redirect by Lockhart, Smyer said he "heard they had been waylaid and murdered."

J. A. Beddingfield, 39 years a resident of Crosby county, knew the brothers and gave them a good reputation. On cross-examination he said he lived eight miles from them at first. John was a good sized lad and Jeff almost a man at the first acquaintance. The boys "used to work together quite a bit." He heard of John's trouble and heard "quite a lot" of their troubles in New Mexico "after they were killed."

REV. CAMPBELL IS HEARD IN SECOND SERMON ON DANCE

Speaking before a crowd which all but filled the large auditorium, Rev R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church, last night preached his second sermon on the evils of the modern dance. First sermon of the series was preached on the night of May 31 and a third will be delivered next Sunday evening.

Rev. Mr. Campbell introduced figures charging the dance with causing the downfall of thousands of young men and women and he also quoted opinions from leading religious figures representing a number of denominations and beliefs.

Praises Young People

Touching upon a discussion of the subject published in The Plainsman's column of The Journal last week, the pastor declared that he was in accord with Dr. J. C. Granbery, Tech professor, and the Journal's columnist in the belief that there are many studius, ambitious young people in Lubbock who are not giving too much of their time in hunting 'a good time'. He said he had never seen a finer group of young people than are in Lubbock and at Tech and that in his dissertations he was taking into consideration the fact that there are others who give too much time to pleasure.

The pastor's sermon was read throughout and was well received. His topic next Sunday night, he said, will be "Warming At The Devil's Fire". Mr. Campbell said at that time he would have some definite facts to discuss in connection with local conditions.

walked away from the car.

The youths left St. Benedict's college at Atchison, Kans., early yesterday, after attending mass at the church there, to drive to Mexico.

Fernando and Guillermo Ortiz Rubio, sons of the Mexican president and students at St. Benedict's departed at the same time but did not accompany the others.

Pending an inquiry by County Attorney Marvin Schilling, no action was taken against the officers. Deputy Sheriff Guess shot and killed Pat O'Day at Estelline, Texas, last January. O'Day was sought for a slaying.

TECH GRADUATION

you expect to establish. The home is the fundamental institution of the nation, and if it breaks down all other institutions are useless.

Has Greater Obligation

"The college graduate has a greater obligation to society than the person who has never had such educational advantages,' Dr. Walton said. "The college graduate must endeavor to aid those who have not had college educations.

"Among our graduates there are very few who have made a study of government. We are making a great error in not being able to understand the trend of national and international affairs. It is up to the persons who understand the trend of events to keep the nation in balance.

"Several years ago our people were inclined to scoff at the idea of communism taking hold of any government of thinking people. Today, one of the largest nations of the world has a communistic form of government.'

Peace Battles More Severe

Dr. Walton said the peace time battles were more severe than those of wartime.

"There is no blare of drums, stirring battle hymns or plaudits of the people to urge you on," he said the battles must take place silently in the laboratory and the classroom."

Communism is not so far away from the United States as some people may presume, the speaker said, and every effort of education must be diverted to the cause of guarding our system of government.

"Illiteracy has not been wiped out in our country," he said. "A fertile field for anarchy and communism exists among the illiterate. "Then, there are about 15,000,000 of persons in the United States today who probably do not know where their next meal is coming from. They, too, form a fertile field for such teaching.

"Young ladies and young gentlemen, your graduation signifies that you have knowledge. Pursue your studies on through life and you will develop that knowledge into wisdom and will be in position to accept the many challenges life offers to you," the speaker said in ending his talk.

Degrees were conferred upon the graduates, by Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Technological college. Deans of the different schools announced the names of the graduates of their departments. Although this is the school's 6th year, this is the fifth class, no students being graduated in 1926.

Special music was furnished at the exercise by the college orchestra and choral club. Rev. C. E. Wooldridge gave the invocation

Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, St. Louis, Mo., preached to graduates Sunday morning in the college gymnasium on the text "Turn ye take your journey and go", Deuteronomy 1:7.

Brings Striking Message

Classifying conflicts in one's personal life as "curves in the road", Dr. Holt brought a striking message on the problems which the older generation is passing on to the younger, naming himself as "one of the older generation who is not here to give advice"

These problems are listed as: "What are the morals of the new generation to be?"; "Are we good enough to make good of the natural resources at our command?" "Can nations be neutral?"

Answers Suggested

"Our faith must be reasonable; it must be adventurous and it must be stubborn" said the speaker.

The pessimism and cynicasim regarding depression which is prevalent in groups today were compared with other periods in history and the advance in personal freedom since the World war was given as one of the greatest advances towards a solution.

COL. HOUSE TO TAKE PART

NATIONAL FIGURE TO WAGE CAMPAIGN FOR ROOSEVELT

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Herald Tribune in a copyright story says Col. Edward M. House has reentered national politics as an active participant in the movement to obtain the Democratic prescendential nomination for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Col. Houses' exact status in the Roosevelt movement, says the newspaper, is cloaked with some of the same quiet mystery which surrounded his missions for the late President Wilson.

The Herald Tribune, however, says he acknowledged his activity when his attention was called to reports from Texas and other western states that his friends were receiving letters urging them to support Roosevelt for the nomination next year.

Speaking from his summer home in Manchester, Mass., Col. House said:

"Yes, it is the first time that I have taken part in a national campaign since 1916. The only reason is because of my admiration for Roosevelt, and further, because of my belief in a Democratic victory."

CROPS COMING UP TO GOOD STAND

Better than 85 per cent of the cotton and grain sorghum that has been planted in Lubbock county this year has come up to a stand it is estimated by S. E. Cone, D. F. Eaton and others who are in close touch with the situation.

Aside from seed that was put out early and rotted, there has been but little replanting so far, according to Mr. Eaton. Farmers have reported to him a good stand. Last week Mr. Eaton made a number of trips over the county and said conditions in general were good, although there were places where rain was needed.

Mr. Cone reported that he had heard of but very little replanting. Under ordinary conditions, he said the grain sorghum crop of the county should be better this year than in years past.

G. C. Cooper, president of the farm bureau federation, who returned from a trip to Weslaco late last week, said conditions on the plains were much better than down off the caprock.

NEW SPUR MARSHALL

SPUR. (Special)—W. M. Malone has been appointed city marshal of Spur to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles Denson three or four weeks ago. Mr. Malone was night watchman here, resigning about a year ago. He was at one time a sheriff before moving to Spur.

GENERAL MACHADO, CUBAN PRESIDENT, SAYS COUNTRY FACES CRISIS; PEOPLE MUST RISE FROM ECONOMIC DILEMMA

BY GEN. GERARDO MACHADO
President Cuba
(Written For The Associated Press)

HAVANA, June 8—Cuba at the present moment is facing a great crisis—a crisis greater than at any other time in its history—yet without political origin. Economic distress which is searing the whole civilized world has visited with peculiar intensity this island republic because of its unique position as a one-crop country and the Latin mind is perhaps quicker than any other to attribute economic ills to administration faults.

When I became president of Cuba six years ago I realized that the task might be a thankless one. During the war-time inflation period when sugar was king, the people of Cuba acquired expensive tastes because they could afford them but every economist knows that temporary prosperity is generally false prosperity and that its momentary brilliance makes the shadows which come afterwards seem deeper than before.

Enemies Uses Situation

My political enemies started making capital of the economic straits we have encountered. The petition for my resignation was but one of the least important moves made by the more timorous.

My greatest sin directing the government of Cuba is that I have been too tolerant. My enemies, nevertheless, have pictured me as a dictator with an insatiable lust for power. This is not true and they know it. I am a patriot, a man of liberal ideals, and as such I could never attain the heights of egotism a dictatorship implies.

Cuba at the present time needs to do but one thing; avoid becoming panicky during this period of economic stress and work together to survive it in the best manner possible. All Cubans should work together to prevent agitation evolving into chaos.

What this nation is going through now the whole world is experiencing in a lesser degree. Cuba enjoyed the music during the famous "dance of the millions;" now it must be content to listen to slower and sadder strains for a while until the period of convalescence, already started, can be completed and Cuba's economic ills are cured.

Word 'Telephone' Is Found To Be In Original Measure

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 8—The word "telephone" in a bill originally drafted to give incorporated cities of a population of 500 or more authority to regulate water, gas, sewerage and light company rates was written into the bill before it passed the house, according to Mrs. Elsie Rupert, senate enrolling clerk.

The record showed no amendment adding telephone companies was adopted on the floor of the house but Mrs. Rupert said it was written in the original bill as passed by the house and that no changes were made in the senate.

No explanation of how the word crept into the bill was available. Employes copying the bills are forbidden from inserting any words unless specified by a regularly adopted amendment.

SPLINTERS

Vol. 1. June 8, 1931 No. 9

The hand of death again has called and our esteemed friend Mrs. W. Y. Price has been called to her reward. The whole community feels the loss.

Wife: Powder my back.
Hubby: How far down?
Wife: To where my evening gown begins.
Hubby: I thought you said your back.

After an illness of several days, Jim Biffle is feeling much better and hopes to be out again this week.

Fred: Cheer up, it's time to kiss the bride.
Harry: You're all wrong; it's time for me to quit.

E. R. Miller has just finished a nice filling station and grocery store down on South H. He has also constructed a residence for the manager. Stop in and see the boys.

Many a couple has married on puppy love only to lead a dog's life afterwards.

Maybe we can offer some valuable suggestions if you will bring your building problems to this office. Come in and have a chair, make yourself comfortable and let's talk it over.

Mrs. Paul: Do you tell your husband everything?
Mrs. Gaul: Why, I can't. He won't listen to me long enough.

Check over the men of your acquaintance and you will find that the home-owner usually occupys the position of importance in the community. You can't get around that—all communities are alike in this respect.

Visitor: Isn't it difficult to keep your household budget straight?
Mrs. Newlywed: My dear, it's terrible. This month I've had to put in two mistakes to make mine balance.

We have a complete line of Cook's paint products. You can paint your house much cheaper now than you ever could before. Call for Cook's paint; you can afford the best when it costs no more.

Tramp: Have you a piece of cake, lady, to give a poor man who hasn't had a bite for two days?
Woman: Cake! Isn't bread good enough for you?
Tramp: Yes, ma'am, usually, but this is my birthday.

If your home is not up to date, we can make it so.
