Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

James G. Watson, Oil Editor

First Pennsylvanian Lime Is Topped In NE Val Verde Test

Phillips Petroleum Company, Delta Gulf Drilling Company, and associates No. 1 B. E. Wilson, Northeast Val Verde County wildcat topped its first lime in the Pennsylvanian at 13,840 feet.

Derrick floor elevation is 1,894 feet. The prospector penetrated to 13,880 feet. The samples through that 40 feet of lime failed to log any shows of oil or gas.

Operator is now preparing to run a drillstem test at 13,840-880 feet.

This wildcat is eight miles south and west of R. J. Caraway No. 1 Rose, shutin gas well from the Pennsylvanian lime.

Down to now the Phillips and Delta Gulf No. 1 Wilson has not encountered any possibilities of production.

Penrose, Anderson Stake 4,500-Foot Andrews Wildcat

Neville G. Penrose and Warren D. Anderson No. 1 Southland is to be drilled as a 4,500-foot wildcat one and one-half miles north of the Ittman-San Andres field of Northwest Andrews County.

Drillsite is 440 feet from north and 809.9 feet from east lines of section 5, block A-29, psl survey and 8.5 miles northeast of Eunice, N. M.

The exploration will be drilled on a 151.50-acre lease.

Humble Schedules 8,000-Foot Test In SW Glasscock

Humble Oil & Refining Company staked location for an 8,000-foot Spraberry wildcat two miles east of production in the Driver field of Southwest Glasscock County. At the same time, Sohio Petroleum Company reported completion of a one and five-eighths-mile north extension to lower Spraberry production in the Weiner-Floyd field.

Humble No. 1 Ivy Huegler will be drilled 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 33, block 36, T-4-S, T&P survey.

The new oiler is Sohio No. 2 Williams, 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 19, block 36, T-5-S, T&P survey.

It was finaled for a daily flowing potential of 510 barrels of high-gravity oil through a three-quarter-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 7,652-7,710 feet. Completion was after a 1,500-gallon fracture job.

Although No. 2 Williams is in Southwest Glasscock County, the closest other lower Spraberry production is in the Weiner-Floyd field of Northwest Reagan County.

Barron And Butler Give Program For Landmen's Meeting

More than 175 persons attended the meeting of the Permian Basin Landmen's Association at the Blue Star Inn Monday night.

The presidents of the two banks in Midland were the speakers.

Different Subjects

Ralph M. Barron of the Midland National Bank explained credit restrictions now in force on the making of loans.

John P. Butler of the First National Bank spoke on the handling of drafts in connection with the purchases of oil and gas leases and other petroleum properties.

Both bank executives related some of the humorous experiences they have had in connection with financial transactions on oil operations.

Landmen Complimented

Barron and Butler each declared that the activities of the oil industry landmen in the Permian Basin had been major contributors to the large deposits which are in the two banks of this city.

Fred Goodman announced that the association would stage a dinner-dance for its members and their ladies during the later part of April.

Tom Green To Get Wildcat; Failures Have Been Plugged

Truman Asks End Of Hate, Terror Policy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In a dramatic peace broadcast, President Truman Tuesday appealed to the people of Russia and Red China to force their rulers to drop "their senseless policy of hate and terror."

The President spoke from the flight deck of the Voice of America's powerful new floating transmitter, the U. S. Coast Guard cutter "Courier," berthed at a city pier.

He addressed his words especially to the people of China and Russia, reminding them how the United States came to their aid in World War II, when they were invaded by Nazi Germany and Japan.

"We helped them to save their countries," the President said. "I want to say to these people today, as we said then: We are your friends. There are no differences between us that can not be settled if your rulers will turn from their senseless policy of hate and terror, and follow the principles of peace.

"Today, the aggressive policies of your rulers are forcing us to arm to defend ourselves. But we can not find in our hearts any hate against you. We know that you are suffering under oppression and persecution. We know that if you were free to say what you really

School Week Holds Pace

The Midland observance of Texas Public School Week continued in full swing Tuesday, with Rotary Day being observed in the public schools, and with the Optimist Club presenting a special school program at its noon meeting.

Highlight of the day was to be the school parade scheduled at 4:15 p.m. It was to be led by the Midland High School and Junior High School Bands. Hundreds of students including the High School Half-Timers, were to appear in the procession, along with decorated floats and automotive units.

Parent-Teacher Association units issued a special invitation for all Midlanders to visit classrooms throughout the public school system during the week. Guest registers will be available in all rooms.

The edition will be the largest and most complete ever published in the Permian Basin Empire.

The regular Sunday price of 10 cents per copy will prevail. A charge of 25 cents will be made for mailing copies of the edition, the additional 15 cents being necessary to cover postage and cost of mailing.

Wilson Asks Extension Of All Controls

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson Tuesday urged Congress to extend price and wage controls two years.

"We cannot hold back inflation unless we hold down prices," Wilson told the Senate Banking Committee. "Conversely, we cannot hold down prices unless we hold the wage line."

Wilson said there has been "some easing" of shortages in such materials as copper and aluminum but said it still is too early to know whether this "easing" will continue.

Kickoff Witness

He was the kickoff witness as the Senate opened hearings to decide whether or not to extend the Defense Production Act, which authorizes price and wage controls.

Wilson said: "No present easing of a shortage here or there, no decrease in some prices, should make us throw away the keys to our security.

"At least two more years of hard work are ahead of us before we reach our present goals of military strength and productive power."

Wilson asked:

1. Restoration of full authority to control credit, which provision was weakened last year.
2. Restoration of controls over beef slaughtering.
3. Repeal of the partial embargo on imported fats, oils and certain other products.
4. An increase in defense loans and other aid funds.

100 Dead, 200 Hurt In Train Collision

RIO DE JANEIRO, BRAZIL —(AP)—More than 100 persons were killed in a train collision near here Tuesday. About 200 suffered injuries. The wreck was the worst in Brazil's history.

A train crowded with commuters coming into Rio crashed into a stalled passenger train near Anchieta, about 19 miles southwest of the capital.

Bodies were strewn about the wreckage and some were seen floating in the nearby Pavuna River.

"It looked like a battlefield," a survivor, a former soldier, said.

Two cars on the passenger train were derailed at Anchieta. The commuter train which hit it was enroute from another suburb and traveling at a high speed.

THE HOUSE THAT BROOKS BUILT?—Rep. Pat Sutton (D-Tenn), has told the House of Representatives he "understood" this luxurious hunting lodge was built for the alleged personal use of Lt. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, commander, 2nd Army, at Fort Meade, Md., at the taxpayers' expense. Representative Sutton located the dwelling at the A. P. Hill Military Reservation, near Bowling Green, Va., where he had made an inspection. Sutton declared he had seen "the most magnificent lodge I have ever seen in my life." Lieutenant General Brooks has denied the charges.

Shadow Of General De Gaulle Looms Large In French Crisis

PARIS —(AP)— The lanky figure of Gen. Charles De Gaulle cast a lengthening shadow over French politics Tuesday as independent Antoine Pinay tried to patch a new cabinet of experts from the ill-fitting jig-saw pieces of France's non-Communist parties.

Few observers gave Pinay—transport minister in the lame duck government of Edgar Faure—any better chance of success than his predecessors.

Jaunty wartime Premier Paul Reynaud already had failed to stitch together what Pinay was seeking—a national union government of technicians drawn from all parties except the Communists. Rene Pleven, still smarting from the defeat which threw him out of office in January, refused even to make the try.

The crisis was in its fifth day. It began because the assembly voted 1,400 billion francs (about four billions dollars) for arms—including expanded defense of Western Europe—then refused a 15 per cent tax boost to help pay the bill.

Some French deputies already were talking about asking the United States for still more aid to pay France's defense bill. But in Washington, Chairman Tom Connally (D-Texas) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee angrily thundered that unless France does "her utmost in her own defense, she cannot justify large appropriations from the United States for both economic and military aid."

Such plain talk from the Senate's most potent voice on foreign affairs indicated that the French failure to find the funds for her part of North Atlantic defense was building up fresh trouble for President Truman's request for $7,900,000,000 for foreign aid.

The longer the crisis dragged on—with the bleeding of the almost empty treasury unstopped by new taxes—the better De Gaulle's chances seemed of getting into power.

Against Schuman Plan

His party, the RPF (Rally of the French People), which has the largest membership in Parliament, has decided it is ready to join in talks for a national union to meet the growing crisis. Should it gain a dominant voice in a new cabinet, it undoubtedly would cause a major upheaval in present French foreign policy.

De Gaulle already has called for sweeping changes in the major Western defense programs to which France recently has committed herself.

The RPF vigorously opposed the Schuman plan for pooling Western Europe's coal and steel industries. It also opposes the one-uniform European Army, proposed by France as a method of bringing Germany into European defense without risking another German conquest of France.

De Gaulle instead has proposed—in vague terms — a confederation of Europe "with each country retaining the right to its own forces but each country bound to another by precise mutual undertakings so that no one can seek hegemony (domination) over the others."

He believes the United States is interfering too much in Europe but adds, "We can't do without American aid."

Though De Gaulle himself could not be in a cabinet—he is not a member of the National Assembly—there were persistent rumors that he is seeking a meeting with President Vincent Auriol, who nominates premiers.

Senate Turns To Problem Of Control Of Tidelands

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Tuesday took up the controversial problem of whether the states or the federal government should control the oil-rich lands off the nation's coast line.

The Supreme Court has ruled three times that the federal government, not the states, has paramount rights to the lands and the minerals they contain.

But the states, particularly California, Louisiana and Texas, have refused to give up their fight.

Pending before the Senate is a resolution, supported by the Administration, providing for federal administration of mineral leases in the offshore area.

The proposal — introduced by Senators O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Anderson (D-NM) — would validate oil leases issued in good faith by the states before the Supreme Court decisions and authorize the secretary of Interior, with state consent, to issue new leases.

The coastal states would get 37 1/2 per cent of the revenues from mineral leases and royalties. The remainder would go to the Federal Treasury.

Thirty-five senators are sponsoring a substitute bill to surrender any federal claim to ownership of lands within the three-mile limit.

This substitute is similar to a bill passed by Congress and vetoed by President Truman in 1946. Another veto is regarded as a certainty if the "quit-claim" measure again reaches the White House.

Senator Connally (D-Texas) already has proposed another amendment to substitute a House-passed "quit-claim" bill which goes even further.

House Bill More Liberal

The House measure not only would give the states ownership of lands within the three-mile limit (10 1/2 miles in the case of Texas), but would give the states 37 1/2 per cent of the revenue from mineral production of the continental shelf beyond the three-mile limit. The continental shelf extends to the point where the water drops to more than 600 feet.

A group of 19 supporters of the Administration point of view have proposed another amendment. It would devote the federal share of the revenue from oil and gas leases to a special fund for federal aid to education.

Tidal Waves Sweep North Island Areas

TOKYO —(AP)— A powerful earthquake and tidal waves 12 feet high killed an estimated 31 Japanese in Northern Japan Tuesday and left thousands homeless.

Driving snowstorms and bitter near-zero cold hit the area Tuesday night.

The quake, centered deep under the Pacific Ocean off Hokkaido Island, was one of the greatest shocks ever recorded on the world's seismographs.

It stirred up tidal waves that battered coast towns, crumpled flimsy fishing villages and tossed small boats. The rumbling shocks knocked down buildings, started landslides, caved in coal mine galleries. Unofficial reports said more than 2,500 homes were destroyed.

Japanese police said five trains were derailed and one turned over. Three bridges fell.

Three schools and eight buildings were wrecked, police said.

The U. S. Army reported 31 Japanese dead. The Army figure was higher than police or newspaper estimates, but a military spokesman said it was essentially accurate.

One snow-swept community called for an air drop of 1,000 blankets Wednesday. But a U. S. Army spokesman said "the relief situation seems to be under control."

Tokyo Escapes Damage

Most of the dead were in and near Kushiro, on Japan's most northerly island. Tidal waves knocked down warehouses. The quake touched off 11 fires.

Nine persons were buried alive by a landslide.

The quake was general north of Tokyo. Tokyo itself was not damaged.

The U. S. First Cavalry Division is stationed on Hokkaido and the U. S. 24th Division is in Northern Honshu.

They reported no Americans injured. Under orders of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the divisions turned their facilities to aid the stricken and thousands of homeless.

The quake struck at 10:24 a.m. (7:24 p.m. Monday CST).

Seismologists at American universities reported it was one of the most severe in the world in half a century.

Columbia University said it was the worst since Aug. 15, 1950, when a quake shook Assam, India. That was the biggest in 50 years. The Japanese quake was about the same intensity.

In Massachusetts, Weston College feported it "the strongest earthquake" in a decade. University of California scientists called it "tremendous."

American seismologists said the shock was centered 60 miles below

O'Dwyer Pal Given Heavy Prison Term

NEW YORK—(AP)—James J. Moran, political crony of former Mayor William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, was sentenced Tuesday to 12 1/2 to 28 years in prison as the master-mind of a $500,000-a-year shakedown racket.

Moran, former first deputy fire commissioner, was accused of leading a ring of firemen who extorted fees from fuel oil equipment companies seeking permits for installations. He was charged with extortion and conspiracy.

Moran allegedly led the ring for a three-year period during O'Dwyer's administration.

One of O'Dwyer's last actions before resigning the mayoralty for the diplomatic post in 1950 was to appoint Moran to a "lifetime" $15,000-a-year Water Board job.

Moran resigned the life job after being accused of perjury before the U. S. Senate Crime Committee.

He subsequently was convicted on the perjury charge in federal court. He was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $2,000.

SCOOTER HALTS; YOUTH DOESN'T

Fourteen-year-old Frank Midkiff threw a block into a big plate glass window early Tuesday and escaped with just a couple of head scratches.

The youth, who lives at 105 North G Street, told Police Officer William Miller he was driving up to the front entrance of the Elder Chevrolet Company in the 700 block of West Texas Street when the brakes on his motor scooter failed to hold.

The vehicle hit an iron railing in front of the window and the youth sailed over the handlebars.

He was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Elks Lodge Leases Downtown Building

The Midland Elks Lodge has leased the first floor annex of the Leggett Building for a downtown lodge and clubroom, chapter officials announced Tuesday. The lease, for three years with a three-year option, was effective March 1.

The immediate remodeling of the quarters was authorized Monday night at a meeting of lodge officers with House Committee members. The project is expected to be completed by April 1. The purchase of new furnishings for the clubrooms also was authorized at the Monday night meeting.

Approximately 4,400 square feet of floor space is provided in the new quarters.

Plans call for the providing of a lounge, ladies' powder room, dining room, kitchen, club activities room, and lodge room, with the meeting and club rooms to be carpeted.

Lodge officials said it is hoped to make the Elks Home the finest and best equipped in the Permian Basin Empire.

They indicated the chapter's present quarters on West Highway 80 will be rented to a cafe operator.

Jack R. Mogle is the exalted ruler of the Midland Lodge. Other officials are Conrad Reeves, leading knight; George Christy, loyal knight; John B. Mills, lecturing knight; Melvin C. Robertson, secretary; Ray Krusemark, treasurer; Charles Edwards, tiler; William Hester, esquire; J. A. Richardson, inner guard, and Dean Baker, organist.

Red Cross Campaign Reports $1,370 First-Day Collections

Returns in the 1952 Red Cross finance campaign Tuesday morning totaled $1,370, Treasurer Murray Fasken announced.

He said the first-day receipts mostly were from the Special Gifts Division, of which Bill Miller is chairman. The special gifts drive was started late last month.

The community-wide drive was launched Monday following a "kick-off" breakfast held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

R. L. Miller, general campaign chairman, expressed confidence the drive will be concluded successfully within 15 days. He called upon the scores of volunteer workers to contact prospects promptly and to report at regular intervals to division chairmen.

The Midland County Red Cross goal is $16,000, which is more than $1,000 less than the $17,711 subscribed by Midlanders last year.

J. V. Bassham, chairman of the drive in the downtown section, said his workers are on the job and that reports from team captains should start coming in Tuesday afternoon.

Volunteer workers also are soliciting Red Cross funds in the city's office buildings, under the direction of Hartman McCall and Paul Osborne.

Charles Mathews is the school division chairman, and Woody Campbell is directing the campaign at Terminal.

The drive in the residential districts will be launched Thursday morning following a coffee at the Ranch House. Mrs. Raymond Leggett is the chairman.

Second Polio Case Of Year Reported

Paul K. Schultz, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schultz, Sr., was rushed to Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene Monday for treatment after doctors here diagnosed his ailment as polio.

It was the first polio case reported in Midland County since January.

Technicalities Delay Hearing On Martin Water Injunction

AUSTIN —(AP)— Attorneys deadlocked on technicalities Tuesday in the court fight of Martin County to keep control of water production within its borders.

The dispute delayed the opening of a hearing in 126th District Court on application of the Colorado River Municipal Water District for a temporary injunction to block the Martin County Underground Water Conservation District from enforcing production regulations.

Judge Jack Roberts recessed the court until 2 p.m. to allow time for the attorneys to seek an agreement on technical rules governing introduction of evidence.

The Colorado River District was granted a temporary restraining order last October 29, pending hearing of its suit for a temporary injunction. The district seeks to use pipe lined water from wells in Martin County to supply water-short Odessa and Big Spring pending completion of a Colorado River dam to serve the area.

Lulacs Seek To Place Latin-American On Selective Service Board At Pecos

PECOS — The League of United Latin-American Citizens of this city is attempting to install a member on the Local Draft Board No. 105.

The City Council last week complied with the Lulac request to draft a resolution endorsing three Latin-Americans as being qualified to serve on the draft board. Copies of the document are to be mailed to Governor Shivers, State Selective Service Director Wakefield and President Truman.

A. C. Ramirez and Frank Apolinar told the council that the Lulac already has written letters to the three officials, recommending that a Latin-American be appointed to serve on the board. They said their national headquarters advised them to obtain endorsement from the City Council.

Albert Sisk, chairman of the draft board, told a reporter that "there is no vacancy on the board at present." He added that none is anticipated in the immediate future.

Present members of the board are: Sisk; J. P. Donnell, Pecos; Woodrow Wheat, Fort Stockton; Tom L. White, Monahans, and J. B. Walton, Kermit.

Under the law, the state's governor makes recommendations to the President after receiving suggestions from a local committee composed of the board chairman, county judge, county school superintendent, county clerk, and representatives of veterans' organizations.

Board members must be 35 years of age or older, not a member of the Armed Forces, reserve components, or on the retired list.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

✣ Jacoby On Bridge ✣

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What should West choose as his opening lead in today's hand? He fell back on the un-bid suit, but was this a wise choice?

Let's not look at the result for a moment. Consider the bidding, for maybe it will indicate the killing opening lead.

North's double of one heart shows length in hearts and, almost surely, shortness in diamonds. North would not be in a hurry to double a bid of only one heart if he had length in his partner's suit.

South's bid of one spade shows shortness in hearts. Otherwise he would stand for the double of one heart. The rest of the bidding indicates that both partners have length in spades.

In short, the bidding tells you that each partner has trumps and that each is short in a different side suit. Obviously, declared will plan to cross-ruff the hand. Just as obvious, the best defense is to lead trumps at every opportunity.

If West had opened a trump, East would have taken two trumps and led a third round. South would then struggle desperately, but he would eventually win only eight tricks.

When West opened the ten of clubs, thoughtlessly enough, the result was very different. Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of clubs, ruffed a heart, cashed the ace of diamonds, and ruffed a diamond in dummy.

The cross-ruff was now well under way. Declarer continued by ruffing a second heart in his hand and a second diamond in dummy. He next ruffed a third heart in his hand and returned to dummy with the jack of clubs to ruff a fourth heart in his hand.

By this time nine tricks were safely tucked away where the mice couldn't get at them. South tried the ace of clubs and found to his joy that both opponents followed suit. That was his tenth trick.

Just for art's sake, South now led a diamond and discarded a heart from dummy. East had only his three trumps left, so he had to ruff and lead spades to dummy's king. Thus South made his contract with an overtrick. The opening lead made a difference of three tricks.

CARD Sense

Q—With both sides vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 N. T.	Double	?

You, South, hold: Spades 7-3-2, Hearts J-5-4, Diamonds 9-8-3-2, Clubs 7-6-5. What do you do?

A—Pass. This is a bad hand, and your side may take a beating. There is nothing safe that you can do, however, and your best course is to pass and hope that West is misguided enough to bid.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 7-3-2, Hearts J-5-4, Diamonds 9-8-5-3-2, Clubs 7-6. What do you do?

Club To Hear Top Scientist

Dr. Gerald Wendt, former editor of "Science Illustrated," will be the guest speaker at the March meeting of the Midland Knife & Fork Club, President Thornton Hardie, Jr., announced Tuesday.

The dinner-meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the Midland High School Cafeteria.

Dr. Wendt's appearance will mark his second before the K&F Club here. He was the first speaker to address the club following its organization in 1949. He is said to be one of the outstanding platform speakers in America today.

A distinguished scientist before entering the writing and motion picture fields, Dr. Wendt is the author of numerous books, including "The Atom Age" and "Atomic Energy and the Hydrogen Bomb."

Reservations for the Monday night dinner should be made promptly with Ralph E. Smith, secretary.

Texas Ex-Students Hear College Editor At Annual Meeting

Almost 200 former University of Texas students from several Permian Basin cities Monday night attended the annual Texas Independence Day dinner-meeting of the Texas Ex-Students Association, held in the main dining room of the Midland Country Club.

Russ Kersten, editor of The Daily Texan, student newspaper of the university, was the principal speaker. Texas exes, with their wives or husbands, from Midland, Odessa, McCamey, Kermit and other cities were present.

Kersten was introduced by Tom Sealy of Midland, a member of the Board of Regents of the University. The young editor spoke briefly on "The University from a Student's Viewpoint," pointing out the university's greatest need as "a 12-month yearly selling job to the people of Texas generally and to prospective students."

Kersten also called for closer relationship between students and alumni and, in conclusion, pointed out a third great need which was greeted by roars of applause.

New Officers Elected

This third great need, he said, is a good split-T quarterback.

James Marberry, retiring president of the Permian Basin Chapter of the Ex-Students Association, presided at the meeting, and was assisted by Robert M. Payne, who acted as song leader and unofficial master of ceremonies.

Chapter officers for 1952 were elected, including Joe Ward, president; Mrs. M. B. Arick, vice president; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Huff, joint secretary-treasurers, and Jane Ferrell, reporter. Eight new directors also were named: Murphy H. Baxter, Ray O. Howard, Herbert Hemphill, Jr., Holt Malone, J. P. Wilkinson, Buzz Fauntleroy, Mrs. Gloria Ezell and Mrs. R. W. Hamilton.

Dancing followed the program.

Actress Una Merkel Discovered In Coma

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. —(AP)— Actress Una Merkel is in St. John's Hospital suffering from what her doctor says was "probably an overdose of sleeping pills."

"She is pretty sick," Dr. Roy T. McReynolds said Monday night, "but I think she will pull through."

Miss Merkel, 48-year-old veteran of stage and screen, was found in a coma Monday by a nurse who had been attending her during a siege of influenza. Her condition at first was described as critical.

Dr. McReynolds, who had been treating her for influenza, said he had not prescribed sleeping pills but added that he found an empty seconal bottle in her apartment.

The actress narrowly escaped death in 1945 when she and her mother, Mrs. Arno Merkel, were overcome by gas fumes in a New York apartment. Mrs. Merkel was found dead and police listed it as suicide.

George Raft To Appear With Silver Threads Among Black

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —Home audiences who have been seeing George Raft as a glossy-black-haired movie king in "Mr. Ace," and other movies sold to TV, are due for a double-take when George hits their home TV screens in his "I'm The Law" series.

The Raft pompadour will still be there, but in glorious, natural gray. "I play a roving detective who's had a past career as a hoofer," George told me. "We keep saying that the hoofing days were long ago. There has to be some explanation for my gray hair."

The series will have as a background New York City, and George, who is a 50-per-cent owner of the series, thinks of it as "an annuity if it clicks."

The Raft explanation for his decision not to retire from acting: "I know that I said I was retiring. I wanted to. I don't know what persuaded me to make more pictures. I didn't want to."

The story's being told that Harry Cohan of Columbia pictures was offered $10,000,000 for television rights to Columbia's film library dating up to 1946.

The inside: The offer was for $20,000,000—and Harry turned it down on the theory that he'll eventually get an even bigger price.

It's all as secretive as You-Know-Who's election plans, but eight top writers have been assigned to turn out the first scripts for UI's mammoth television film program . . . Bing Crosby has made up his mind about TV. He'll do it on film, probably this fall. There's still no format, though he doesn't want to follow the pattern of his radio show.

New TV Capital?

Initial cost of CBS's new Television City in Hollywood will be $12,000,000. Final cost will be $35,000,000. Who's saying Hollywood won't be the world's TV capital?

Red Skelton's now ahead of Milton Berle in popularity rating. It's Red, Arthur Godfrey and Berle in the win, place and show spots.

There are now 100 "Fireside Theater" films on celluloid . . . Loretta Young's the latest big star to sign up for a TV film series . . . There's talk of Norman MacLeod, the veteran movie director, guiding Joan Davis' telepictures.

Joan Crawford will appear on TV for $200,000 a year, for 26 thirty-minute telefilms. So far there are no takers, and network brass is screaming that her price is too high . . . The Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis NBC-TV charity marathon has been set for March 14-15 in New York.

• • •

Parlor Huzzahs: Barbara Stanwyck's appearance on TV is as starry as it's been on the screen . . . Mickey Rooney's freshly-combed look and zest for a new medium in his video bow . . . Sam Levenson's never-failing wit on "This is Show Business."

Binnie Barnes' comeback as a video luminary . . . Nina Foch's energy. She's been on every show, it seems, but "Zoo Parade" . . . The way Phyllis Kirk has proved via TV that she was one of Hollywood's most under-rated actresses and beauties.

Wrist-Slapper Needed

"The quality of TV reception is a long way from motion picture screen quality. We are working on the standardization of control within the studios so that at least a uniform picture will be sent to the homes of viewers from each station in the country.

"But, until someone invents a machine to slap the wrist of the 'expert' at home, we can't guarantee uniformity."

Runnels County Asks $500,000 Of Gulf

EL PASO—(AP)—Hearing of evidence in a $500,000 damage case continued here Tuesday before Federal Judge Ewing Thomason.

Runnels County seeks the damages from Gulf Oil Corporation.

Plaintiffs are Theodore Andreas, Abner Lipscomb and W. C. Petticolas, El Paso attorneys, and W. H. Lipscomb, Bob Reid and E. B. Baggett, Jr., all of San Angelo.

The El Paso attorneys are trustees for Runnels County. The San Angelo men purchased an interest in the county's claim against the oil firm.

Barriers Must Be Demolished

A European army with German units participating is not yet a reality. But it has advanced a significant step closer to that stage with the formal endorsement of the plan by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Lisbon.

The idea of a six-nation army that would include Western Germany was born in France. Negotiations looking toward its creation began last Summer, and proceeded fairly smoothly for several months. But then serious snags developed in both Germany and France.

In Germany, the difficulty is that the Bonn government demands conditions which add up to political equality and greater independence. The Germans, vanquished though they were in World War II, see the paradox in their being asked to contribute to the defense of free Europe without sharing equally in its privileges.

There may be audacity, even arrogance, in a defeated nation's boldly calling for equal status a mere six and a half years since it fell in the dust. But there is also an inexorable logic in it. How can we convince the Germans that they should be our "partners" in military matters only?

As for France, the problem is simply fear of a rearmed Germany. Torn by this fear and the counterbalancing necessity to have German strength thrown into the scales against communism, the French devised the Pleven plan for a European army.

* * *

On its face, this appears a far-seeing gesture aimed at the ultimate unity of Europe. But from the French viewpoint it is primarily a compromise between fear and reality. It is a way of gaining the German strength for the free nations without exposing France to the dangers of an independent German military force operating under its own general staff.

This inherent contradiction in the French attitude has become increasingly apparent in recent months. The French National Assembly now has approved the European army with German elements, but not without conditions that would gravely slow down the program.

Nothing yet done by NATO at Lisborn, nothing yet on the European horizon anywhere indicates an easy solution to these German and French puzzles. Deft and delicate use of the arts of statesmanship will be needed to win Germany's support without yielding more than seems wise to offer a nation still unproved as a member of the democratic family.

By the same token, much still must be done to outweigh French fears of the German in uniform. There is a feeling in many circles that France will continue to pose new obstacles as present ones are cleared away.

The main purpose of French politicians appears to be to put off the hard day of reckoning when Germans actually must be allowed to shoulder guns again.

* * *

Nevertheless, it is hardly possible that France can now reverse itself and turn away from a European army with German representation. As a member of NATO it has given its official stamp to the project. Henceforth the seal thus placed upon the plan by France and the other NATO powers cannot help but serve as a pressure upon them to execute their commitments—to make the army a reality.

If this action in Lisbon is indeed to be seen by the world as more than a hollow gesture, the NATO countries most directly concerned now must proceed with promptitude to demolish the French and German barriers standing in the way.

The European army plan was conceived in fear. But it cannot be translated into life with so negative a handicap. Having embraced the program, the free nations of NATO now must infuse it with tough substance and endow it with all the high and positive purpose it merits as a contribution toward the unity of Europe.

Only The Brave Wear Mink

Milady's stubborn loyalty to the coat of mink, paradoxical symbol of both fame and infamy, reminds us of the history of the four-ragere, the braided cord worn about the left shoulder seam of certain cited military units.

It first was worn, reluctantly, by members of a battalion in Napoleon's army who had distinguished themselves by turning tail in the face of the enemy. As punishment they were forced to wear cords about their necks, symbolic of the hangman's noose.

But in a subsequent engagement, fighting bravely to erase their ignominy, they emerged a battalion of heroes. So, they tucked their cords around one shoulder and declared them a symbol of great courage. Which today they are.

Certainly the women who persist in wearing coats of mink these days have much of the type of fortitude possessed by Napoleon's famous battalion.

We predict great things for the mink. A hundred years from now, who knows what it may symoblize?

"Reports Of My Death Were Greatly Exaggerated"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: L. D. Long behind senators' charges Puerto Rico under dictatorship; Contractor Long owes Puerto Rico $1,000,000 in taxes; He financed $51,000,000 worth of housing through FHA link.

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO. — The U. S. Senate now has heard charges from three different senators that Puerto Rico's Georgetown University-educated Governor Luis Munos Marin is dictator of that land. The accusing senators are Brewster of Maine, Butler of Maryland, both Republicans, and Johnston of South Carolina, a Democrat.

Their charges illustrate a new technique in what is supposed to be the most illustrious legislative body in the world—the U. S. Senate. For what the public doesn't realize when it listens to these speeches is that the man behind them is a South Carolina contractor who owes $1,000,000 in back taxes to the Puerto Rican government.

The Puerto Rican public does realize this, however, and reactions here have been highly prejudicial to the prestige of the U. S. Congress. Whereas Congress is supposed to set the highest moral and legislative standards for the Western Hemisphere, actually the speeches of these three senators are regarded in Puerto Rico as little more than blackmail. In brief, if the Puerto Rican government doesn't forgive $1,000,000 in taxes owed by L. D. Long, South Carolina contractor, then the U. S. Senate will investigate Puerto Rico.

At a time when we are trying to encourage clean government throughout Pan-America this does not go down well in the Caribbean.

Housing Projects

Meanwhile, L. D. Long of Charleston, S. C., becomes one of the most famous characters in Puerto Rico. It is doubtful whether Franklin D. Roosevelt or Harry S. Truman are better known, although their reputations here are more favorable.

L. D. Long is a likable, hustling contractor who has put up more FHA housing projects in Puerto Rico than any other man in history—housing that was badly needed although opinion differ regarding its durability.

Long and his family have been staunch supporters and contributors to the campaigns of Senator Olin Johnson, who, aside from his current proposal to probe alleged tyranny in Puerto Rico, has been a hard-working and conscientious senator.

Shortly after he began operations in Puerto Rico, Long started to apply Northern political techniques to the island and dropped in on Munos Marin, then a candidate for governor, with a large wad of greenbacks bulging from his pocket totaling $25,000. These he offered to Munoz as a campaign contribution for the Popular Democratic Party.

Munoz declined.

"Our campaigns do not cost that much," he said. "Besides, if I accepted that much money from one man the voters might hold it against me and I would be defeated."

Long however insisted. Finally Munoz told him to take the money to the secretary of the Popular Democratic Party, get a receipt, and they would use the money if they needed it. If not, it would be returned. Long did so. At the end of the campaign—which incidentally elected a native, Munoz, for the first time in Puerto Rico's history—the money was returned.

Tax Trouble

The trouble over Long's taxes arose when former Governor Jesus Pinero, a Washington appointee, told Long that his petition for tax exemption would be favorably considered. Ex-Governor Pinero now has gone to work for Long. But even so the ex-governor does not state that Long was promised tax exemption but rather that his petition would be considered favorably.

Since the question of Long's taxes have gone before the U. S. District Court and the U. S. Court of Appeals in Boston. Each decided against him. Although these first appeals were taken to U. S. courts, Long now has gone back to try his hand in the Puerto Rican courts, where the case now stands.

Whether he is right or wrong, Long certainly has been given every right of judicial appeal not usually available in a dictatorship, which he and his Senate friends now claim exists in Puerto Rico.

Meanwhile he has gone over the heads of the courts as dictators sometime do to try his case in the U. S. Senate—which has left a decidely bad taste in Puerto Rico.

Furthermore, he has employed certain other techniques not considered good practice in democracies to promote FHA housing in the island.

These techniques recently caused the Federal Housing Administration in Washington to fire its FHA representative in Puerto Rico, Frederick D'a. Carpenter.

FHA Okays

Long now has financed a total of $51,000,000 worth of houses and apartments through FHA in Puerto Rico and has exhibited a surprising facility for getting FHA okays.

It is interesting that FHA representative Carpenter informed the Rockefeller Group, an organization trying to help the low-cost housing situation in the Caribbean, that only 200 housing units were needed in San Juan. But only four months later the same Carpenter okayed 3,800 housing units for Long to be financed through FHA.

The reason for Carpenter's interest in helping Long could have had some connection with the fact that a woman who registered on the S.S. Puerto Rico passenger list on June 14, 1951, as "Mrs. Rosario P. De Carpenter" is an officer in three of Long's subsidiaries. The woman is Rosario Pelaez, whose daughter has been adopted by Carpenter and who is vice president of Caparra Commercial Corporation and Caparra Grocery Stores and is also secretary-treasurer of Caparra Pharmacy. All these are owned by Long who paid "Mrs. Rosario, P. De Carpenter" a regular salary.

After the discovery of this interesting connection between L. D. Long and the FHA representative who okayed $51,000,000 worth of housing for Long, the FHA fired carpenter.

Naturally, all this is well known to the people of Puerto Rico. So when a U. S. senator takes the floor of the world's most important deliberative body to criticize Puerto Rican democracy it doesn't help the so-called democratic system which is supposed to prevail in the U. S. Senate.

The Mental Cure Of Warts Presents A Medical Paradox

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A reader writes "I would like to tell you of my experience when a child of 10. I'm now 82. My left hand was a mass of warts.

"A schoolmate told me to steal a piece of red flannel and a piece of raw pork, to fold the pork in the flannel and bury it in the ground under a stone.

"Feeling very guilty I did as directed, but strange to say in three days every wart disappeared, and I have had none since."

An experience such as this reader describes is by no means unusual since there are few if any diseases in which so many different kinds of treatment bring recovery.

This is the one disease in medicine which is surrounded with more superstition than any other because of the rather mysterious nature in which warts come and go.

The response of warts to treatment is all the more astonishing because they are caused by viruses which are small living bodies too tiny to see under the ordinary microscope.

Why a condition caused by viruses should respond to strange treatments of the kind mentioned is something no one knows.

The most common type is the so-called "seed wart" which occurs on the hands. Children are more likely to have warts than grown-ups, but they may come at any age.

Medical science does not know just why warts come, though they can be spread from one part of the body to another. There is no basis for the old superstition that handling toads will produce warts.

Painting with certain dyes, use of any one of several kinds of ointments, freezing with carbon dioxide snow, and burning with diathermy needles have all been used with success.

One of the favorite treatments consists in the use of injections contafning a heavy metal called bismuth. Warts also disappear in most cases after X-ray treatment.

The most astonishing treatment of all, however, is the method of suggestion. How the mind can have an effect on a virus disease is a mystery.

This does not involve the use of anything locally or by injection. Nevertheless, it has long been known that warts which have been present for many years can disappear suddenly and completely.

This has been confirmed by scientific observers. Just how to go about this kind of treatment is not settled and some doctors are skeptical about it, but many others claim that it does happen.

Warts usually are not serious but they remain a subject of fascinating interest.

Commerce Secretary Now Wonders If 'Long-Life' Formula Still Will Work

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer makes a point of always seeing personally every one of his department's employes on their retirement. The secretary likes to congratulate them on their long and devoted service to government. But the other day he had a new experience.

Frederick C. S. McNally, of Takoma Park, Md., came to the secretary's office prior to his retirement after 30 years of service, 20 of them as a guard at Bureau of Standards.

Sawyer asked McNally what he was going to do.

"I'm going back to Italy for a visit," said McNally.

Did he have relatives there?

"My parents are both dead," said McNally. His father was Irish, his mother Italian, he explained. "I'm going to see my grandmother," McNally added.

Sawyer wanted to know how old she was.

"One hundred and twenty-two," said McNally. Her secret of long life was to drink plenty of wine and work every day in the fields.

Secretary Sawyer wished McNally a happy voyage, and long life like his grandmother's. The secretary said he'd like to have a picture of them together, in Italy. McNally promised to send it.

When McNally got home, there was a cable saying that his grandmother had just died.

Bonanza Now Ended

Investigation of ex-Cougressman Joe Casey's $3,000,000 profit on the release of surplus government ships brings out the sad news there's no chance for anyone else to make a killing like that now. Disposal of government ships as surplus was stopped when the ship sale law expired Jan. 1, 1951.

Today the Maritime Administration has only seven hulls authorized for sale as scrap. They're mostly World War I ships and are part of the 30 ships carried on the Maritime Administration inventory as scuttled, sunk, or scrap.

The total reserve fleet numbers 1,393 ships. There are 1,021 Liberties and 342 military auxiliaries—troop carriers and attack transports. Of these, 134 were put in mothballs at the end of their war service, without repairs. They'd need a good bit of overhaul before being put back in active service, but they're still considered useful.

Almost 700 ships in the reserve fleet were put back in active service when the Korean war broke out, and to haul Marshall Plan and military assistance to Europe. The 180 Victory ships, faster than the Liberties, were chartered to private shipping lines. The government's National Shipping Authority operates more than 500 Liberty ships. They saved the government about $90,000,000 hauling Marshall Plan cargo.

All told, the government's reserve fleet—including those now on active service—numbers 2,247 usable hulls.

'Rust' Is Hull Preservative

People who drive by the eight Maritime Administration moorings where reserve ships are anchored frequently write in to complain that the ships are "rusting away." Or else they ask, "Why aren't the ships sold to relieve the scrap shortage?"

Reason given for the rusty appearance is that everything above water now is painted with a new lead oxide and oil paint which is the color of rust but actually is a better preservative than anything so far discovered.

New methods of hull preservation also have been perfected, involving electroplating. The ship hull is given a negative electric charge. Metal ingots, dunked in salt water, alongside carry the positive charge. Flow of the electric current between the two gives the hulls a protective coating which is rust resistant so long as the hulls are moored in fresh water.

Diet Secrets

Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma isn't the man he used to be. He's 27 pounds lighter. This reduction in weight has nothing to do with the senator's entry in the Nebraska primaries as a Democratic candidate for the presidency. It goes back to last August.

At the end of a hot Washington Summer, the senator arbitrarily decided his 252 pounds were too much to carry around. So he started pushing back from the table a little sooner, passing up the second helpings. Also, he now walks about an hour before coming to work. Those are his only diet secrets, which have cut his weight down to a mere 225. He says he feels better, too.

Big Campaign Fire

Bi-partisan foreign policy is in for a rough time till after election. Senator Taft's campaign speeches and South Dakota GOP Congressman E. Y. Berry's resolution asking President Truman to report on any commitments made to Prime Minister Churchill set the pitch.

Many Republicans blame the GOP election loss in 1948 to foreign policy cooperation given by Governor Dewey, the late Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and John Foster Dulles of New York. Strategy this time will be to avoid any support for what's now ticketed as the "Truman-Acheson" foreign policy.

Front-Page Reversal

Seaway Battle Underway

St. Lawrence seaway project, on which Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Tom Connally reluctantly called hearings, now shakes down to a fight between rival big business interests.

One one side are railroads who feel they would suffer from waterway competition. Private power companies who fear St. Lawrence public power development, back them up.

On the other side are, principally, a group of Pittsburgh-Cleveland-Detroit steel companies developing Labrador iron ore deposits. They want deeper seaway to move ore to Great Lakes.

Vermont Senator Aiken's compromise proposal to let private utilities companies develop St. Lawrence electric power is a shrewd move to get power interests swung over in favor of seasway project.

The Peacock Path

By Edwin Rust

THE STORY: Jim Orth, private detective, guised as a friend of Sally Cravath, is attempting to solve the murder of Ames Warburton, partner of Marney Cravath, the stockbroker. Jim already has discovered that Cravath is quite fond of Eve Wheeler, a widow, who is one of the guests. That same evening Manila, the Filipino houseboy, appears very excited and calls Cravath from his guests. Cravath summons his other partner, Jack Dumont, saying "there seems to be trouble."

* * *

XIV

MARNEY CRAVATH disposed of Manila summarily. "Manila. You stay here and serve dinner!" I heard a controlled, but protesting, hiss.

"All right, Williamson!" Cravath snapped. "Lead on!"

Williamson, the chauffer, seemed to want to explain himself. "I was having a look around, sir," he began, "like you says to, and I . . ."

Cravath pushed him roughly. "Later, man!"

Without another word Williamson turned and broke into a run, his torch blazing full-on now. Cravath was hard at his heels. I came next. Dumont, who until now had appeared stunned, panted in the rear.

But suddenly Dumont sprinted past me; past Cravath.

"Is—is . . ." he puffed at Williamson's elbow, but I lost the rest of it as Cravath stumbled and swore.

Cravath righted himself. And I heard Williamson, flinging it over his shoulder, "I don't know, sir. Couldn't say."

Dumont dropped back then, between Cravath and myself, a short muffled ejaculation escaping him. After that we just ran, behind Williamson's flickering swaying light.

I found myself racing down that accursed path before I knew it. Down a straight narrow tree-bordered strip where once, I understood, gaily-colored peacocks had preened and strutted.

An instant later I was conscious of Williamson, slowing his steps. And I could just make out the fence posts, stubby white spectres in the enveloping gloom.

Williamson stopped altogether. The three of us behind him stopped too, a bumbling excited little huddle of men, falling over each other, swearing, apologizing briefly, and straightening up. Williamson's flashlight bored a tunnel of radiance through the damp and sticky dark.

We saw it, indistinctly but horribly. A big misshapen bundle, beaten by the rain, draped limply and pitifully over the sagging chains that guarded the end of the Peacock Path.

"Dolly!" Dumont's stricken cry came back to us through the monotonous patter of raindrops.

CRAVATH grabed my arm and we moved slowly forward. And I had to force myself to look. Dolly Dumont, lying across that cold wet iron, was an even more grotesque and awful spectacle than the broken body of Ames Warburton.

Her head, hanging so low that it almost touched the ground, faced the cliff. Evidently she had been moving in that direction when someone, or something, strung her over the chains. Cravath snatched the light from Williamson, played it upon her sagged figure. The beam showed a crimson patch at the back of her head.

Jack Dumont lifted dazed eyes. "Who could have done this thing?" And when Cravath shook his head helplessly, he kept repeating that phrase, as if it were a kind of litany.

The big chauffeur put a hand on Dumont's arm, drew him gently aside. Cravath bent over the body.

The next second a low exclamation broke from him. "Orth! She's not dead. At least, not yet."

I did as he had done, put the back of my hand down close to her lips. I felt breath, faint but warm. We had manifestly been deceived by her dreadfully lifeless look.

"What?" The news snapped Dumont out of his stupor. His voice rose in a clear ringing shout. "Are you sure, Marney?"

"Absolutely sure," Cravath cut in. "But she's in bad shape. We've got to get her inside at once. Orth and I can manage that. Go to the house, Jack, and phone Dr. Dreeves at Port Liston. If you can't get him, get somebody else. In a hurry. Williamson, you help us lift her. Then bring a car up to the house. We may have to take her to the hospital."

Dumont, all trace of dazedness vanished, was off even before he finished speaking. Then Cravath and I made a "chair" of our hands. Big Williamson lifted Dolly as if she were a baby, eased her into it, putting a slack arm around each of our necks. She was a dead weight, of course, and her head rolled lollingly, drunkenly, between Cravath's shoulder and mine. But when we started back along the Peacock Path, she suddenly gave a little moan. It was a weak pathetic sound, but one of the most welcome I have ever heard.

* * *

WE made the house slowly but without too much difficulty, went in by a side door. There Dumont met us.

"How is she, Marney?" He clipped it out anxiously.

We carried Dolly up to the rooms occupied by the Dumonts. She moaned again as we laid her on the bed.

Dumont disappeared, but returned almost immediately with the grim-lipped housekeeper. When Mrs. Ring took over, she took over. She asked no questions. Only a momentary flicker of surprise and shock crosed her sharp face. Then she issued orders.

TEXAS PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK—

Lions Find Visit To Schools Pleasant Event, And Filling

By BILL COLLYNS
Reporter-Telegram Editor

Students in Midland's public schools were delighted to have visitors Monday—and members of the Lions Club who visited the schools during the lunch hour were glad they went.

It all was a start of Texas Public School Week observance in Midland, and Monday was Lions Club Day in the public schools. Tuesday is Rotary Day; Wednesday will be Kiwanis Day; Thursday, JayCee Day, and Friday, Optimist and B&PW Day.

Thirty-eight Lions, as hungry as lions, assembled on the courthouse lawn at noon Monday, awaiting assignments and rides to the various schools. Wesley Martin, director of special services for the school system, was on hand to direct the Lions to the proper buses which were lined up to take them to their assigned schools.

The writer and eight other "youngsters" boarded Bus No. 8, driven by Edgar Zachary, and headed for the new Sam Houston Elementary School. There we were met by the gracious Carlton B. Downing, principal, who ushered our group into the huge cafeteria and right into the food line, which was moving rapidly through the large and spotlessly clean kitchen. The sparkling eyes of the alert and friendly student diners immediately were focused on the visitors, and one could tell at a glance the students were glad to have luncheon guests.

All For 35 Cents

Then we were at the serving counter, where the friendly cafeteria attendants handed us plates loaded with baked ham, turnip greens, mashed potatoes, combination salad, hot rolls, orange juice and cookies—a delicious and well-prepared meal. The cost was 35 cents for the adult plate. The student plate is 25 cents.

The cafeteria, of which Mrs. Jimmie Drury is in charge, feeds an average of 500 of the school's 747 students daily. And it all is done in an hour's time and without confusion.

During the meal, Martha Scott's fifth graders sang several selections which were enjoyed by students and visitors alike.

It then was time for a tour of the completely modern school plant, with Principal Downing proudly leading the way. The Lions visited the administrative office, several classrooms and the playground.

Examination questions still were on the "greenboard" in Mrs. Jean Poulsen's sixth grade room — the first question completely stumping the visitors. The Lions still would like to know, "Why was Rowland safe at Abbey?" One of the Lions said he thought Rowland was "safe at second," but he didn't know why.

Other Schools, Too

The wind was blowing and the playground sand was swirling, but it didn't seem to bother the scores of students who were getting in their noon hour play.

Bus No. 8 was waiting to take the guests back to the courthouse following the delightful, educational and worthwhile visit.

This is the story of the Sam Houston visit, but the same cordial reception was extended and the same fine meal served at the other schools visited—North Elementary, West Elementary, and Junior High. Other schools also will be visited during the week.

The main objective of Public School Week is to better acquaint citizens with the projects and accomplishments of their school system. The objective is attained through the visits of service club members to the public schools.

The Lions Club members who made the tour Monday said they hope the program will be repeated next year.

For Normal Driving—It Loafs!

You cross over the boundary into another state—and there are the posted rules and regulations.

Maybe the daytime limit for passenger cars is "forty-five"—or "fifty-five." Or, maybe no limit at all . . . just your own good common sense and the general rules of safety.

Well, whatever the legal limit, your Golden Anniversary Cadillac is going to "loaf"!

Down under its hood is the most powerful engine ever used in a standard American passenger car. There's more power there than you'll ever need—except for emergency.

But don't think that great power doesn't work for you—even when you are driving within the legal limits!

It works for your safety . . . because a great reserve of power is a wonderful safeguard in most of the driving emergencies that present themselves.

It works for your comfort . . . because no car rides so well, or handles so superbly, as when it "coasts along," with a great percentage of its power still under the accelerator.

And it works for your peace of mind . . . for it is unbelievably comforting to know you have tremendous acceleration, should the necessity for it arise.

Of course, power has to be harnessed and handled in order to be your friend and servant.

So the Golden Anniversary Cadillac has superb new brakes—larger and more efficient—and designed and built to double the span of their endurance.

And those who want the ultimate in easy handling may order at extra cost Cadillac's new power steering that eliminates up to seventy-five per cent of normal steering effort.

It would take a volume to tell you all the things that have been done to make this a "car among cars."

But it will take but a mile or a minute for you to sense what it means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction.

It means something wonderful . . . too wonderful, in fact, to miss!

Better come in today—for a look—and a ride—and a revelation.

Daddy Ringtail And The Barking Dogfish

Senator Algynon really had never been a senator, and he was selling fish because the senator business had never been very good. He asked the Huffen Puffen, that friendly wolf, if maybe the Huffen would like to buy a barking dogfish.

"Sir?" said the Huffen.

"A barking dogfish, my boy, a barking dogfish," said the Senator. "All yours for ten dollars."

The Senator was really a fellow who didn't play fair, I am sorry to say, and maybe that's why his senator business had never been good. People who do the things they shouldn't most often come to a sad, sad end, as everyone knows, but the Senator didn't know it. He turned to the dogfish and said: "Doggy, old boy, let's hear you bark for the Huffen Puffen. Bark out loud so the Huffen will know you're a real dogfish."

The dogfish barked out loud, but it was really a trick which the Senator had played to fool the Huffen. A dogfish can't really bark, of course, but the Huffen was fooled indeed, and he said: "I'll buy him! I'll buy the dogfish, I will! Here's the ten dollars!"

The Senator took the ten dollars, and the Huffen took the dogfish. "Let's hear you bark, like a dog again," said the Huffen to the dogfish, but of course the dogfish couldn't really bark at all. "Hey! Senator Algynon!" said the Huffen. "My dogfish won't bark like a dog."

"Of course he won't bark like a dog," said the Senator. "Huffen, my boy," he said, "you have been cheated."

"I did it," explained the Senator. "Good day, Huffen." And the Senator started to drive away, but he stopped quick enough when he heard some barks that seemed to be coming from the dogfish. Why, the Senator had made a mistake, it seemed, and the dogfish now was really a barking dogfish after all. Yes, and the Senator quickly gave the Huffen ten dollars to give back the barking dogfish, and it's like I was telling you:

People who do the things they shouldn't most often come to a sad, sad end, as everyone knows. The Senator knows it now. That dogfish never barked once again, for I think it was the Huffen who barked for him the last time, and the Senator was caught with his own trick. Happy day!

Educator Speaks To Optimist Club

Dr. L. D. Haskew, dean of education at the University of Texas, addressed the Optimist Club Tuesday at its regular luncheon-meeting in the Ranchland Hills Country Club.

Dr. Haskew spoke in connection with the observance of "Public School Weeks."

He said he doubted if Midland residents realize how fortunate they are in view of the city's rapid growth that the schools don't have to operate on a double schedule.

He praised the present school administration for its foresight in planning the school's needs.

He was intrduced by School Supt. Frank Monroe.

Special guests included Tom Sealy, member of the university's Board of Regents; Bob Payne, member of the Midland Board of Education; Jack Wicker, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Delbert Downing, manager of the C. of C., and Burvin Hines, assistant manager, and Charles Mathews, director of curricular services of Midland schools.

John Redfern announced Carl Stotz, national commissioner of Little League Baseball, will address the club next Tuesday.

the floor of the Pacific Ocean.

Some points were hit by as many as eight tidal waves. At other points the sea rose as much as five feet.

At Hachinohe, on the northeast coast of Honshu, five tidal waves swept inland. Each was larger than the one before. Then, almost four hours after the quake, "the sea receded greatly," Tokyo meteorologists said.

Sketchy reports said most of the damage was done along the eastern coast of Hokkaido facing the epicenter of the quake.

The U. S. Army reported 1,002 houses were destroyed at Shiranuka, 400 at Kiritappu, 400 at Hamanaka. Other reports said 200 houses were demolished at Obihiro, 150 at Urakawa. The town of Nemuro reported 1,200 persons homeless.

Eighteen fishing villages were inundated. Tidal waters swept 20 fishing boats away at Kawaguchi in Northern Honshu, the main island of Japan, just south of sparsely settled Hokkaido.

Residents fled coastal villages as soon as the quake struck. They knew the tidal waves were coming.

Nineteen years ago Monday, another big earthquake and the tidal waves it churned up killed 802 persons in Northern Japan.

Storms Bring Five Deaths In Kansas, Western Missouri

By The Associated Press

Kansas and Western Missouri Tuesday began shaking off the effects of a late-Winter storm that dumped more than a half foot of snow in many sections, snarled transportation and closed schools.

At least six deaths five of them in the Kansas City area, were attributed to the storm.

Many city and rural schools were closed Tuesday.

Highway and air traffic were at a virtual standstill for a time late Monday in Northern Kansas and Northwestern Missouri.

THE SHIRTS OFF THEIR BACKS—Secretary-Treasurer Don W. McColly, right, of the California State Farm Bureau, collects shirts to send to Rep. Hubert R. Scudder (R-Calif). So you might as well have that, too.'" Charles M. Davis, Brown Valley, Calif., waits at left to add his shirt to the collection. Their goal is 1,000,000 shirts.

It May Be You, Standing In Line To Get Car Tag!

Somebody, County Tax Collector-Assessor J. M. Speed predicted Tuesday morning, is going to have to stand in line to buy his 1952 automobile license plates.

"The deadline," he explained, pointing to March 31 on the calendar, "is less than a month away.

"So far we've sold only 2,980 passenger license plates and maybe another 450 for trucks and other such vehicles.

"Well, that's only about one-fourth of the way toward the more than 12,000 we expect to sell before the end of the month."

But, he shrugged his shoulders resignedly, it happens every year.

"Most people wait until the last week," he said, "and then fuss because they have to stand in line."

Attlee Beats Off Attack On Labor Party Leadership

LONDON —(AP)— Clement R. Attlee beat off decisively Tuesday an all-out attack by Labor Party left wingers against his leadership on the issue of Britain's national defense policy.

Attlee's victory, at a closed session of the 295 Laborites in Commons, was reported reliably to have been by a voting margin of around three to one.

It was the first time the long standing leadership challenge of Aneurin Bevan and his leftist forces had come to a showdown vote at a meeting of party members who hold seats in Commons.

Nazi-Type Movement Exposed In Schools

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Three high school students have been sentenced to indeterminate terms in state industrial schools for the firebombing of a Jewish synagogue and a theater.

A fourth was sent to the House of Detention Monday pending final decision in his case. Eleven others charged with being "alleged delinquents" were placed on probation.

All of the unnamed youths, 15 to 17, are students at Olney High School in northeast Philadelphia.

Presiding Judge John A. Boyle also placed on probation five youths who testified as material witnesses. One denied any organized anti-semitic movement among his classmates.

The boy answered "Yes, that is probably true" when asked whether any of his acquaintances used the Hitler salute, wore swastika arm bands and goose-stepped in the recreation yard to "intimidate the Jewish boys."

Community leaders, police officials, the district attorney's office and school authorities conducted separate investigations of reports that some 100 boys were members of a Nazi-like organization following the fire at the Synagogue January 18, which caused slight damage.

Grand Jury To Study Possible Organized Crime In North Texas

DALLAS—(AP)—Possible organized crime in North Texas will be studied by a federal grand jury meeting in Fort Worth March 17, U. S. District Attorney Frank B. Potter said Tuesday.

"The grand jury will conduct a very general but widespread inquiry into crime conditions in the district, with a view to ascertaining whether or not there exists in the district any form of organzied crme, especially that kind of organized crime which recognizes an overlord in Chicago, New York, or any other out-of-state area," he said.

"Primarily, the inquiry will pertain to federal violations, but any information gleaned from the investigation which relates to local violations not covered by federal statute will be transmitted to state authorities."

Public Education Labeled Greatest Democracy Blessing

Public education was described Monday before the Kiwanis Club as "the greatest blessing of all the blessings of democracy."

The speaker was County Attorney Reagan Legg, who described the history of public schools from their beginning to the present time.

The county attorney, speaking at the club's meeting at the Hotel Scharbauer, noted that "Public School Week" is being observed this week.

"Because we're too prone to take public education for granted," he said, "it's good for each of us to stop and consider its worth and value."

Legg was introduced by Frank Bezoni, program chairman. Herschel Ezell, president of the Kiwanis Club, presided.

1,184 Texans Face Draft Call In April

AUSTIN —(AP)— Selective Service Tuesday called on Texas to furnish 1,184 men in April.

The March call was for 1,858.

The April call will be filled with men 21 years old and older. There are 2,000 men available for induction in this group, state Selective Service headquarters said.

Texas also has been called on to furnish three dentists in April under provisions of the doctor's draft law.

All Texas Becomes Disaster Loan Area

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Agriculture Department announced Tuesday all Texas counties have been designated as disaster areas under its emergency farm loan program.

Ninety-seven of the 254 counties previously had been designated. The action qualifies farmers who suffer crop losses and who are unable to obtain credit elsewhere for loans from the department's Farmers Home Administration to carry on farming operations until new crops are produced.

Texas was put under the program because of damage to crops by bad weather last year.

Beauty Confesses Stealing Checks To Purchase Dope

NEW YORK—(AP)—Brunette Peggy Ellsworth, "Miss Michigan of 1947," admitted Tuesday she once cashed stolen government checks to get dope—but she declared she is cured of the habit.

The beauty, 24, appeared in a police lineup on a federal charge of possessing and cashing treasury checks taken from the mail.

Detectives said checks were taken from Detroit mail boxes in 1950 and some of them were passed there that year. Miss Ellsworth said she had cashed "four or five" of the checks, amounting to $300 or $400.

She said she worked with "a boy named Wells," a negro.

Now a Broadway night-club entertainer, Miss Ellsworth said she twice was arrested in Michigan on narcotics charges but she never spent time in jail and she no longer used dope.

She was poised and precise as police questioned her under the lights.

She was to be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner.

Cloudless Skies Put End To Texas Hit-Skip Showers

By The Associated Press

Farmers counted the weekend's rain money in the bank Tuesday but scanned cloudless skies for more moisture farm experts said still was needed.

Other residents estimated losses from hail and high winds that rocked the state early Monday. But most agreed the rains offset all other losses.

Before daybreak Tuesday, the Weather Bureau said there was not a single cloud over Texas. Temperatures ranged from a chilly 17 at Dalhart and Lubbock to a moderate 55 at Brownsville.

The latest forecasts called for continued cold weather over most of the state with fair skies. Increasing cloudiness and warmer temperatures were due Wednesday, weather forecasters said.

Peace And Friendship

"Your government, with its newspapers and radios, may try to make you believe that the United States is a hostile country, bent on war. But that is not true. I want you to know that our highest aim is peace and friendship—and an end to the horrors of war."

The State Department said Truman's voice was heard in Europe, Latin America and the Far East. Relay stations at Tangier, Munich, Ceylon, Manila, Honolulu and facilities of the British Broadcasting Company beamed the message to listeners in all parts of the world via 37 transmitters. Immediately following the President's English language broadcast, the message was being translated into 45 languages for rebroadcast.

The address highlighted welcoming of the cutter to Washington for an elaborate 45-minute program during which a ship's flag was presented to the commanding officer, Capt. Oscar C. B. Wev, by Donald McQuade, national commander of Catholic War Veterans.

Designed to increase the reach and power of Voice of America broadcasts, the ships, 150,000-watt medium wave transmitter is described by the State Department as three times as powerful as the largest American commercial transmitter "and can be heard clearly a thousand miles away."

After a shakedown cruise in the Caribbean, the ship will proceed to unannounced overseas destinations.

Jury Finds Council Candidate Guilty Of 15 Counts Of Illegal Alley Parking

Ray O. Howard, who is a candidate for a City Council post in the April 1 election, Tuesday had a $75 illegal parking fine hanging over his head and the apologies of a Corporation Court jury ringing in his ears.

"We had no other choice," apologized R. H. (Rusty) Gifford, foreman of the six-man jury, which deliberated only five minutes Monday afternoon before finding Howard guilty.

"We were of the unanimous opinion that the parking ordinance worked a hardship on Mr. Howard but we were also of the unanimous opinion he was in violation of the ordinance.

"We wished that we could set a fine lower than the minimum but since we can't, we will recommend the minimum fine."

So Judge Fred Hartman, shuffling Howard's collection of 15 illegal parking tickets in his hands, assessed a total fine of $75 and then listened while Attorney Hulon Brown explained the case will be appealed to County Court.

It was Brown who told the jury "Mr. Howard is an outstanding, hard-working citizen who had no intention of violating the law."

Howard operates a printing shop in the Leggett Building, he said, and the only place he had to park was in the alley alongside the building.

Howard himself had testified that he had talked to "every policeman on that beat."

"They usually gave me a ticket the first time," he explained, "and then they didn't leave any more."

He added that he had tried for more than a year to get the city to provide some loading zone or parking space, since it was important that he have such a facility to speed deliveries of printing orders.

"What could he do?" said Brown to the jury. "He expected the city to give him some place to park and, until this was done, he stayed there by the sanction of the policeman on the beat.

"Mr. Howard won't have to do that any more for the city finally has done what it should have done long ago."

Served By Warrant

He explained that parking for loading purposes now is permitted in a short, dead-end alley directly behind the Leggett Building.

Howard's troubles reached a climax last week when the batch of 15 tickets was counted, a warrant was issued for him and then served by Jimmy Hoover, the city's new warrant officer.

"Did you bring your tickets in?" asked City Attorney Ed Stitt, "or did you wait until the warrant officer came down there and arrested you?"

"The warrant officer didn't have to come after me," answered Howard.

"Well, how was the court to know, then?"

"There's the telephone," answered Howard, pointing to the telephone on Judge Hartman's desk.

"It's just like all the other merchants. They've been getting these tickets and we knew that something would have to be done some day."

The city produced only one witness, Officer John Luper, who had put some of the red tickets on Howard's automobile. Howard was the only witness to appear in his defense.

"In this case," said Stitt, in summing up the case, "it's not a matter of teaching Mr. Howard a lesson.

"The question is whether a man can violate the law and get these tickets and not come up to the judge and at least offer an explanation.

"In effect, he has been in contempt of court."

It was the first jury trial in Midland's Corporation Court involving a parking ticket.

Hughes Contends Pecos Geographically Located In 'Heart Of The Real West'

PECOS—Pecos is geographically located in the "heart of the real West," claims Alton Hughes, Chamber of Commerce manager.

In his "Facts about Pecos," an information-packed booklet published annually, Hughes states that the geographical center of Texas is a point in McCulloch County, about 20 miles north and slightly east of Brady.

Hughes has prepared a sketch which divides Texas into five areas, Central, North, East, West and South Texas. Pecos is listed as the center of West Texas, with Big Spring given the heritage to "where the West begins."

Fort Worth is on the dividing line between East and Central Texas; Abilene is in the north-central part of Central Texas, and El Paso lies on the extreme western perimeter.

Crockett is in the center of East Texas, with the principal cities named as Dallas, Waco and Houston.

Main cities in South Texas would be San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Galveston and Brownsville, while in North Texas Hughes lists Amarillo, Lubbock and Wichita Falls.

Abilene, Austin and San Angelo are termed principal cities in Central Texas.

Wounded Man Held In Widow's Slaying

Police Chief Clint Hussey said officers found Miller and the body of the attractive widow in the locked Berkowitz home Monday.

Hussey said Miller suffered a self-inflicted neck wound and offered no resistance when officers entered the house through a window. He was believed in serious condition.

Neighbors told police they heard the pair arguing before the shooting. Mrs. Berkowitz moved here three years ago from Decatur, Ill. Miller moved here about the same time from Matoon, Ill., where his wife and son are said to live.

Kirk, who resigned last month as U. S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, also said in a Town Hall address Monday America would be foolish to consider Russia invincible.

He said he believes war can be avoided if America is able to "negotiate from strength, actual and in being."

Kentucky Wildcats Named Nation's Top Basketballers

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Kentucky Wildcats can add another honor to their bulging collection.

Coach Adolph Rupp's beauties from the blue grass country have been named the top college basketball team in the nation for the third time in four years in the final Associated Press poll.

The Wildcats' latest laurel came hard on the heels of their ninth straight Southeastern Conference championship and a 44-43 victory over Louisiana State in the conference tournament that boosted their winning streak to 22 games. Kentucky is after one more trophy, the NCAA championship.

The Wildcats previously finished at the head of the class in the AP poll in 1949 and 1951. Bradley interrupted the streak by winning in 1950.

The 121 sports writers and sportscasters who participated in the final poll awarded Kentucky 39 first-place votes and 1,033 points.

Illinois came in second with 750 points. Kansas State followed with 672.

The Wildcats moved to the front in the poll six weeks ago and have been there ever since. Before Kentucky took over for keeps, Illinois, Kansas and St. Johns of Brooklyn had occupied the top berth. Kansas wound up eighth and St. John's tenth.

Dequesne finished fourth behind Kansas State and in turn was followed by St. Louis, Washington, Iowa, Kansas, West Virginia and St. John's.

Illinois clinched the Big Ten title Monday night, beating Northwestern, 95-74, while runner-up Iowa bowed, 78-75, to Wisconsin.

Other members in the Top Ten who are bidding for an NCAA berth are Kansas State, Kansas, Washington and West Virginia.

Indian Park Gets 900 New Seats, Boxes

The pounding of hammers, rasping of saws and swishing of paint brushes will end at Indian Park in approximately two weeks, and the old ball orchard will hardly look the same.

For more than 900 new seats—including additional boxes—two new concession stands, two large exits and a 14-seat press box will be added to the site of Midland's professional ball games.

Also, the players' clubhouse will be greatly improved. The bunkhouse will have new floors with new lineoleum, individual clothing lockers and a lounge complete with comfortable furniture. The old flooring in the locker room will be torn out and replaced while the shower room will come in for a complete over-hauling. Single players may live in the clubhouse free of charge.

Work also has been done on the outfield and infield. Grass already is turning green and the earth is level and firm after being rolled.

New Exits

65 feet of new stand has been constructed along the third base line, with 45 going along the first base side. On each side a concession stand is being built as are two large exits to help handle expected over-flow crowds.

The additional seating space will increase the park's capacity to approximately 2,900. Horace Busby, general manager, has set the club's attendance goal at 100,000 for the year, with 70 ball games due for the home park.

Illinois, Seattle Join NIT Tourney

NEW YORK —(AP)— Johnny O'Brien, Seattle University's scoring machine, will be like a midget at the tall men's convention in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament, but the 5-9 star is used to playing the big boys.

Selection of little Seattle for the NIT Monday filled the tournament's 12-team field and also assured the diminutive pivot man another chance to show that the bigger basketball player is not always the better.

O'Brien, the first player in college history to score more than 1,000 points in a season, will run into the tall timber right away when Seattle plays its first tourney game against Holy Cross March 10.

The Western Conference race was settled and along with it another place in the NCAA tournament was filled Monday night when Illinois polished off Northwestern, 95-74, to take the title for the second straight year. Iowa, the only other team that could have overtaken the Illini, dropped a 78-75 decision to Wisconsin.

Illinois, the nation's No. 2 team in this week's final Associated Press poll, now has a league record of 13-1, while Iowa, which closed out the season's loop business, finished with 11-3.

The Big Seven, however, still is far from settled. Kansas State, the third-ranked team in the country, polished off Iowa State, 88-66, to go into a first-place tie with Kansas for the lead. Both have 9-1 records and meet in a showdown game Friday.

Duquesne, the No. 4 team, had no trouble sweeping past Baldwin-Wallace, 94-51, in the finale of its regular season. The Dukes finished with a 20-1 mark.

Ab DeMarco of the Buffalo Bisons in the American Hockey League has scored over 600 points in his long league career.

BACKFIELD MEN—Coach Tugboat Jones watches as backfield newcomers charge ahead in current Spring football drills. The backs will see action in an intra-squad game at 3:30 p.m. Friday in Memorial Stadium.

Red-Hot Jack Burke Cops Third Open

BATON ROUGE, LA.—(AP)—For 91 holes it looked like the inaugural $10,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament would never end.

Then in a driving rain, poker-faced Jack Burke, Jr., propelled a ball over a flooded green to break the deadlock, end the sudden death extra playoff, and win his third straight major tournament in three weeks.

The tournament was supposed to end on Sunday. But at the end of 72 holes three pros—Burke, Houston, Texas; Bill Nary, Albuquerque, N. M., and Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C., and Houston—were tied with seven under par 281's.

An 18-hole playoff was held Monday, but the trio was still tied with two under par 70's. Then came the sudden death playoff. That's where the first guy who wins the first hole takes first prize money.

Bolt Drops Out

On the nineteenth, Bolt dropped by the wayside when he fell short with a six-foot putt. That left it to Nary and Burke, and the little Texan with the deadpan face birdied the 20th with a 20-foot putt to take first prize.

This was Burke's third major title in three weeks. Prior to this he had won the San Antonio and Houston Opens.

Burke shoved his winnings above the $6,000 mark for three week's work. He received $2,000 first prize money in all three tournaments.

Plus his $2,000 here, he will receive a third of the gate receipts for Monday's play. Nary will collect $1,400 plus and Bolt $1,000 plus.

Managers, Adults Set Baseball Meet

Managers for the Shorthorn League and the boys' senior group (15, 16 and 17-year age group) and interested adults will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Midland Youth Center.

John Redfern will preside at the meeting, at which managerial assignments will be made and officers for the loops named.

SMU Cops Opening Diamond Contest

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—The Southern Methodist Mustangs won a baseball season opener from Brooke Army Medical Center, 9-7, Monday.

The Ponies capitalized on seven Comet errors and outhit the Army nine to win.

Look for a speedier, somewhat lighter ball club next Fall when Midland High School takes the field to open the 1952 football season.

After watching a couple of the Spring drill sessions, we are rather impressed with the shiftness and speed of some of the boys.

Not that the team will field a backfield of sprinters, but it will be much faster than the Midland teams of the last few years. These outfits have been long on brawn but short on speed.

In fact, the 1949 and 1950 teams were about the slowest upper-class high school teams we ever watched.

Films show that time after time during these two years, linemen would open good holes on reverses, etc., only to see the opposing players get up off the ground and make tackles near the line of scrimmage.

Last season, the team had a bit more speed and met with more success. Just how many games will be chalked up on the win side of the ledger next season is, of course, a mystery—but for once the team should be able to go all the way rather than for the first down.

• • • • • •

By a lighter team, we don't mean a flock of lightweight linemen at all, but there are few boys in the middle of the line who can stack up with Stan Coker, Dalton Byerley and the like—at least in the weight department.

But the weight should be more evenly distributed and this should be the best-balanced outfit to wear the Purple and Gold in sometime.

• • • • • •

Ends Robert Keisling (170) and Bill Mims (170) are fairly speedy at the terminals. Both lettered last year and Keisling was an all-district boy on the offensive side.

Tackles might be Bobby (Red) Cast, 174-pounder who is growing tougher and inexperienced but hustling Keys Curry, who weighs approximately 205 pounds.

Bill Leonard, 170, guard, should take care of his position well enough. The other post might be manned by Darrall Spivey, 160, or Terry Fuglaar, 150-pound letterman. Fulglaar, however, could show up in the backfield next season.

Three boys are fighting for the center post: Charles Crites, 150; Milton Jones, 160, and Dan Ratcliff, approximately 150.

• • • • • •

The backfield has two veterans to spearhead it: Larry Friday, 170-pound blocking back, and Roy Kimsey, 175-pound sprinter who has pushed Odessa's famed Joe Childress on occasion.

Kimsey, one of these days, is going to realize just what he is capable of and it may take a freight-train to stop him when this happens.

Still, the backfield surprise of the year could be shifty little 145-pound M. A. Rose. Rose is fairly fast, but looks faster due to his ability to cut back and run in a broken field.

After serving his apprenticeship last season, he might be earmarked for stardom.

Dick Spencer, 142-pound letterman also will see some backfield action as will Jesse Hatfield, 140-pounder who can and does break away occasionally.

Just how this switch from power to speed will affect the team, only time will tell.

But before you think it's all hip-swinging tag stuff, you might watch some of these afternoon Spring drills. The old leather-poppin' blocking and tackling still is there, and probably will remain. You just can't win without it.

Lopez Eyes St. Louis Browns, Detroit Team

By GAYLE TALBOT

TUCSON, ARIZ. —(AP)— Some of the things which happened to Al Lopez in his first season as manager of the Cleveland Indians might have turned the man from Tampa into a waspish individual given to long moody reflections on the perversity of baseball players in general.

But they haven't. The senor is his same gentle smiling self, and he doesn't appear to be sore at anybody. He is able to speak calmly, even objectively, of the failure of his big men—Luke Easter, Larry Doby, Al Rosen—to hit up to expectations last year. He is confident he will lick the Yankees this time.

"I think they're going to miss Joe DiMaggio even more than they realize," he said. "I don't care what Joe hit last year. All I know is that when he was in there against us we felt like we were facing a different club than when he was out.

"Who's going to be their take-charge guy now? Phil Rizzuto? I don't think Phil can take Joe's place. Phil is a great shortstop, but he's just a little fellow that they like and kid around with. Yogi Berra? The same thing—a fine catcher but scarcely possessed of the qualities which set DiMaggio apart and made the other Yankees feel that they were champions when he was in the line-up.

"Maybe Mickey Mantle can hold down centerfield for them, but it's asking a whole lot of the kid. He has terrific power when he gets a pitch down where he likes it, but he wasn't doing much with the fast ones across the letters.

"If they lose Jerry Coleman to the Marine Air Force, as it looks like they will, and Gil McDougald goes to second, who's going to play third for Casey? They say Bobby Brown will be gone, too. They've got some problems, same as everybody else.

"Everybody knows that we have been looking for a good right-hand hitting outfielder, but how many are there around? I mean good ones that might be possible to get. They're mighty scarce. Everybody knows we're thin on reserve strength, too, but tell me a club that isn't.

"Outside of the Yankees I can't see any club we need to fear except possibly Detroit. I have a feeling they're going to be better. I can't see where Chicago White Sox figure to improve, for all their speed. Boston? They could be in bad shape if Ted Williams goes back in the Service.

"Tell you where I do think there's going to be a big difference in our league. Those St. Louis Browns are going to make their presence felt. Rogers Hornsby has cornered the absolute cream of the rookie crop, fellows like George Schmees from Hollywood and Manny Rivera from Seattle and Clint Courtney from Kansas City.

Rog isn't going to let any of those boys of his get away, either. We were talking to him and Bill Veeck about making some sort of deal and Bill was saying he could get us this player and that one—just name him—you know how Bill is.

"When Bill had finished Rog told us we could forget all Bill had been saying. If we wanted a deal, he said, he would make one with us. He named off those three I mentioned and maybe another player or two such as Ned Garver, and after that he said we could have any man on his club. He meant it, too. Yep, if Rog gets some pitching from fellows like Tommy Byrne and Bob Cain he could make it rough for all of us."

Having pretty well exhausted the subject of the other clubs in the American League, Al then took up his own outfit in detail and told why it should win the flag this time for certain. We'll let him hypnotize you Wednesday.

Billy Reed Seventh Indian To Sign Pact

Midland Baseball, Inc., received its seventh signed 1952 contract Tuesday.

Latest to come to terms is Billy Reed, southpaw limited service right-hander who won five, lost 13 with Midland last season.

Others who have signed are: Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal, pitcher; Israel Ten, pitcher; Hayden White and Rudy Escobar, outfielders; Gordon Tanner, catcher and Julio de la Torre, third baseman.

AGGIES CONTINUE SPRING WORKOUTS

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)— The Texas Aggies continued Spring football training Tuesday. The Aggie drills were started Monday after being delayed a few days because of the death of Freshman Coach Kleppto Holms. More than 80 candidates reported.

Trades, Position Switches, Discussed In Spring Camps

By The Associated Press

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)— Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants hinted Tuesday Catcher Ray Noble may be traded.

Noble checked into camp Monday and Durocher remarked the hefty Cuban receiver would make a good catcher for several clubs, especially Pittsburgh and Boston.

The Giants have three catchers—Wes Westrum, Sal Yvars and Ray Katt, in addition to Noble.

• • •

• • •

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. —(AP)— Rookies Andy Carey and Jim Brideweser, and Billy Martin figure prominently in New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel's plans.

Carey will be given a full crack at third base. If he wins it, Gil McDougald will shift to second. If Carey fails, Martin and Brideweser will battle it out for second base with McDougald returning to third.

• • •

LAKELAND, Fla. —(AP) — Vic Wertz, home run blasting outfielder for the Detroit Tigers, had his initial try at first base Monday in what has been billed as manager Red Rolfe's "great experiment."

Afterwards Wertz, who has never played the position before, had one observation:

"At least I won't have to chase those ground balls—the ones they hit through me in the outfield—all over the park."

Wertz' fielding appeared adequate in his first trial.

• • •

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif—(AP)— Pittsburgh Pirate officials say Pitcher Jim Walsh will be placed on the waiver list if he does not accept his 1952 contract by Wednesday.

The veteran hight-hander is classed as a definite holdout. He is being offered some $10,000.

• • •

SARASOTA, Fla. —(AP)— Boston Red Sox Coach Earl Combs hopes to help Third Baseman Fred Hatfield boost his batting average this season by showing him how to punch the ball over the infield.

Hatfield came up from Birmingham late in the 1950 season with a .300 batting mark. But he fell off sharply against big league pitching and last season hit .172 in 80 games.

• • •

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla —(AP)— Red Schoendienst made his debut at first base during the St. Louis Cardinals' practice Monday and observers thought he looked good.

But Manager Eddy Stanky couldn't be pinned down to say it was permanent.

Both Stanky and Schoendienst are second sackers and Stanky, a good lead-off hitter, has said he will be a playing manager. That meant Red would have to find a new job.

• • •

ORLANDO, FLA. —(AP)— The St. Louis Browns, studying Washington's roster here for trades, might be interested in a package deal involving a half dozen players.

Bill DeWitt, Brown vice president, is talking to Clark Griffith, Washington owner. DeWitt told reporters he might go for a bulk swap of five or six Washington players, possibly including Infielders Eddie Yost, Cass Michaels or Irv Noren.

Texas Tech Rips West Texas To Confuse Loop Race

LUBBOCK —(AP)— West Texas State and Midwestern University will meet for the District 8 NAIB title and the right to enter the national tournament at Kansas City.

Coach Paul Brotherton of the Midwestern club called the flip of a coin Monday night after the Texas Tech-West Texas State game.

Texas Tech threw the Border Conference basketball chase into a two-way tie Tuesday night by beating West Texas, 89-85.

The Buffaloes from West Texas now must play New Mexico A&M for the title.

Date of the West Texas State-Midwestern NAIB game is undecided pending outcome of the WTSC-NMA&M game which probably will be played Thursday.

Winner of the latter game will represent the Border Conference in the NCAA playoffs, also set for Kansas City.

Denton High School Ace Signs Pro Pact

DENTON—(AP)— Melvin Rainey, 19, port-sided hurling star at Denton High School the last three years, will report to the Waterloo, Iowa, Class B farm team of the Chicago White Sox for Spring training.

Rainey signed a contract with the Sox Monday for a reported $6,000.

NO HELP HERE FOR DUFFERS

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A suggestion that radioactive golf balls might help the duffer who invariable drives into the rough got no congressional support Tuesday.

The Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy reported the suggestion was interesting but "not practical."

The group had the Atomic Energy Commission check up on the idea after a member of Congress suggested a Geiger counter easily could lead a golfer to a stray radioactive ball.

But, alas, the commission said a ball with enough radioactivity to be any good would be dangerous if carried more than three hours a week.

It added that a Geiger counter able to detect a ball at 10 feet could cost $700.

Puerto Rico Voters Adopt Constitution

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO —(AP)—Puerto Rican voters overwhelmingly adopted a new Constitution Monday to give their 100-mile-long island self government as a "free commonwealth" associated with the United States.

Final returns in the ratification election, announced Monday night, gave 373,418 votes for the Constitution, 82,473 against it.

The island has been a U. S. colony since the Spanish-American War. Congress gave it the power to elect its own president in 1947. It already elected its Legislature.

The new Constitution must be ratified by the United States Congress but approval is considered virtually certain.

The new Constitution ends U. S. congressional power to repeal the island's law, and removes the U. S. President's power to appoint auditors and Supreme Court justices. It leaves open the way for Puerto Rico to become a state and permits landing of U. S. armed forces in case of invasion or rebellion.

Truce Talks Back In Tight Deadlock

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)— Korean truce talks are "right back where they were December 18," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said Tuesday after arguing with the Communists whether 50,000 missing Allied troops actually exist.

Libby demanded the Reds account for the missing men—South Korean soldiers the UN command says the Reds incorporated in the North Korean army.

They "do not exist," said North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho. He called it an Allied fabrication, an "attempt to block our progress by creating another hindrance."

At this point Libby said: "Apparently we are back where we were on December 18." Negotiators exchanged lists of prisoners of war on that date.

In another truce tent, Red staff officers repeated their "firm and unshakeable" demand that Russia help supervise a truce.

This is the largest potential reported for producers in the field.

Gas-oil ratio was 379-1. Total depth is 3,542 feet.

The Texas Company No. 1 Montgomery, West-Central Midland County wildcat, seven miles southwest of the city of Midland, has been abandoned and plugged on total depth of 11,030 feet in dry lower Pennsylvanian lime and shale.

This prospector logged some slight shows of oil and gas and some salt water in the Spraberry and it found a little gas in the Pennsylvanian.

No Commercial Shows

None of the shows were of commercial value and operator ordered the development plugged

Location was at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 44, block 39, T-2-S, T&P survey.

It was three miles southeast of the nearest producers in the Parks-Pennsylvanian field and three quarters of one mile northeast of Texaco No. 1-B-NCT-2 Scharbauer, a small producer from the Spraberry.

Dunlap's

Millionaire Unconcerned Over $2,500,000 Theft

RENO—(AP)—L. V. Redfield, who says he is "a man of character but not a 'character'," still is unconcerned over the loss of an estimated $2,500,000 in cash, jewelry and negotiable securities.

As police checked rumors and listened to a multitude of theories as to how burglars carried away Redfield's safe from his home Friday, the 54-year-old millionaire told reporters:

"Money can be replaced.

"There are many things in life that are more important than money. I have good health; I have a good wife and, with apologies to the song—I have her love to keep me warm—who can ask for anything more."

Then he philosophized on thrift:

"I buy a bargain when I see one. If I can save a nickle on an item, I buy it in quantity, thus saving one or two dollars. If I hadn't done that all my life, I'd be just like so many other people today—just one step ahead of the bill collector.

"I can say that I don't owe a cent to anyone in the world, including Uncle Sam. If the Internal Revenue people will check their files, they'll find I have paid income taxes on far more money than was taken the other day."

The burglars didn't "break" Redfield. They overlooked another $1,000,000 in securities.

Reno Police Chief L. R. Greeson was not as talkative.

All he would say about the robbery was:

"We're checking and chasing leads. If we were getting close, we couldn't make it public anyway."
