Annual Junior Steer, Heifer Show Slated Here Saturday

The annual Collingsworth County Junior Steer and Heifer Show will be held Saturday, Jan. 21, the last outing for these fine calves before they compete in two of the nation's largest livestock shows at Ft. Worth and Houston.

The show will begin at 1 p.m. and will be held in Bill Wilson's indoor arena 1 mile north of Wellington, Extension Agent Don Reeves announced.

There will be two classes of steers, light and heavy, and one class of heifers, Reeves said.

"The steers will probably be a little larger than they have been in recent years, for the boys and girls are feeding their steers for the Ft. Worth and Houston shows. That's where they will be sold."

He pointed out that the show is financed by individual merchants and industries in the county who are interested in promoting cattle raising for the county and who are interested in promoting the boys and girls who bring so much recognition to the county.

Trophies will be awarded to the grand champion and reserve champion in each of the three classes. Ribbons will go to all other calves in the show. There will be a showmanship class.

"We invite the public to come and support the kids," Reeves urged.

The show judge will be Robert Harris, extension agent for Armstrong County and formerly in extension work in Wilbarger County. He has fitted steers for a number of years and showed calves all over the state. He has also judged a number of shows throughout Texas.

This year's show will be made up of one registered polled Hereford and one registered horned Hereford, and the remainder are cross bred, primarily Angus crossed with Chianina, Limousine, and one Brahman cross.

These steers will weigh between 900 and 1250 pounds.

The young exhibitors will leave with their calves for the Fort Worth Livestock Show on Monday, Jan. 30, and then will go to their last show of the season, the

An office for Dr. Pillai was set up in Collingsworth General Hospital where patients may meet with him and where treatment can be given. "We are indeed fortunate to have an oncologist of the ability of Dr. Pillai available to be in Wellington on a regular schedule," Foster said.

Quail Has Fire Department

Quail Volunteer Fire Department was organized Saturday, January 14, officers were elected and recruitment of members is now under way.

The organization took place in the meeting of Quail Booster Club, according to Cary Don Neeley, president.

Chief of the Quail volunteer department is Donald Langley, and the two assistant chiefs are Mack Shields and Mrs. Jessie Alston.

With this election, Quail became the first volunteer fire department in Collingsworth County to have a woman as an official.

There are now approximately 10 members, and recruitment of more members is under way, said Neeley.

The next step will be to secure some type of fire-fighting vehicle.

Neeley pointed out that the aim of the department at this time is to be able to put out smaller fires and to contain larger fires until the Wellington Fire Department can arrive.

Two fires within Quail spurred organization of a volunteer fire department," Neeley said.

These are the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Beachy which burned a number of months ago, and the recent fire that damaged Mrs. Alston's store.

At the Beachy home, community residents were fighting the fire when a picture window blew out, letting air to the blaze. "In a few minutes that it took the Wellington Fire Department

Texas Observes Arbor Day Jan. 20

Arbor Day, an observance which recognizes the importance of planting trees, will be celebrated in Texas on January 20 this year.

Beginning in a Swiss village more than fifteen hundred years ago, Arbor Day symbolizes the need to plant trees in cities and towns as well as for wood and paper products.

In the United States, Arbor Day began in a state which had at the time less than three percent of its land area covered with trees -- Nebraska. Since that first Arbor Day in 1982, the idea has spread to fifty states and the Virgin Islands.

Temple was the site of the first Arbor Day in Texas in 1889. An Arbor Day resolution was passed shortly after that first ceremony by the Texas State Legislature. In 1949, the third Friday in January was designated as Arbor Day in Texas.

Because only 13.6 percent of Texas' total land area is in forest land, and this mostly in East Texas, many Texans are not aware that this amounts to an estimated 11.7 million acres, or 18.583.2 square miles. This, while perhaps a small portion of the entire state, nevertheless amounts to an area larger in size than the states of Maryland (10,577 sq. mi.) and New Jersey (7,836) combined.

It is also larger than the four New England states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island, with a combined land area of 15,437 square miles.

Besides the obvious benefits of the timber industry in Texas, which generates 150,000 jobs, $82 million in taxes, and $5.1 billion in sales annually, urban tree planting can have a far-reaching effect on a community.

According to Larry Schaapveld, urban forester with the Texas Forest Service in Fort Worth, trees serve many functions in urban areas.

"Trees do much more in a town or city than provide color. They also provide residents with a variety of shapes, forms and practical uses.

"In today's urban areas, trees are taking on a new importance in providing energy-saving shade," he said.

They can, if properly selected and located, protect a building or house from the hot Texas summer sun. Then, after losing leaves in the fall, allow the warm winter sun to penetrate to the structure, he added.

Your skin weighs in at a total of about 6 pounds.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by Nancy Janes

SEWING TIME CAN BE CUT

Speeding up sewing without relaxing basic standards takes practice and planning. But here are some tips to help you save sewing time.

Alter the pattern to the correct measurements before you cut out the garment. This eliminates endless fittings as you sew and helps insure a well-fitting garment when your sewing is completed.

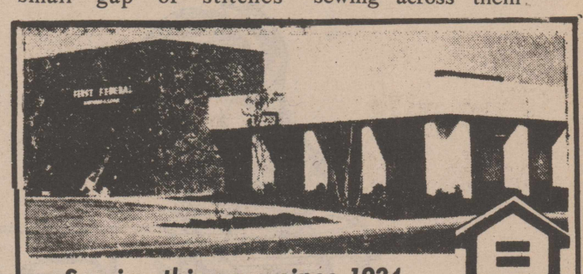

Fold the fabric with the right sides together unless you need to see the right sides to match the fabric design. This places the fabric in the correct position to stitch center front or center back seams as soon as pattern pieces are removed.

Eliminate the cutting of notches by clipping about 1/8 inch to 1/4 inch into the seam allowance. Make as many clips as there are notches. Mark the center front, center back and the top of the sleeves with a clip also. Use pins or a water-soluble marking pen to mark the ends of darts and pocket locations.

Cut out several garments, including interfacings and linings, at one cutting session. Mark all essential construction details as you cut, using one of the above methods. If fusible interfacings are used, fuse them in place at this time. Pin sew-in interfacings in place so they will be ready to stitch as soon as you begin sewing.

Learn to work in units, and complete as much of one section of a garment as possible while it is flat. For example, apply pockets to the garment before sewing side or shoulder seams. Sew in the zipper before sewing side seams. In many cases you can complete the neckline before sewing the side seams. Also, some sleeves can be sewn in before underarm seams are sewn.

Eliminate extra motions by sewing as many darts and seams as possible in a continuous movement. For example, sew the shoulder seams, bodice side seams, skirt side seams and sleeve seams one after another. A small gap of stitches between the pieces can be clipped at the ironing board when pressing. Use a press cloth and steam or a misting bottle to speed pressing of seams and darts. Be sure to press all seams before sewing across them.

Sick Pay Taxable Income

Taxpayers who received sick pay benefits from their employer in 1983 must include the payments as income on their federal tax return, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The payments are taxable whether they were made directly by the employer or from a welfare fund, a state sickness or disability fund, or an insurance company, provided the plan was paid for by the employer.

Benefits received under an accident or health insurance policy for which the employee paid the premiums are not considered taxable by the IRS.

More information on sick pay benefits is contained in the free IRS Publication 525, "Taxable and Nontaxable Income," which can be ordered on the handy order form in the tax package or by calling IRS.

"INSTALL THE NEW LENNOX PULSE™ FURNACE TODAY AND CUT YOUR HOME HEATING GAS USE NOW."

*Cubic feet of gas used during heating season by a five year old conventional gas furnace—81,000.

Cubic feet of gas used by the new Lennox Pulse Furnace—45,000.

Take it from Dave Lennox...

Pulse can cut your home heating gas use immediately.
Let's say your present gas consumption for heating purposes is 81,000 cubic feet of fuel per season. The new Lennox Pulse can cut your usage by nearly 36,000 cubic feet. Immediately. Because for every dollar's worth of fuel burned, Pulse delivers up to 96¢ worth of heat. Your present conventional gas furnace may deliver no more than 55¢ worth of heat. So you see why we say Pulse can pay for itself in a few heating seasons.

This higher efficiency gas furnace is available now.
The new Lennox Pulse is unlike any gas furnace in the world. It uses a new technology for home heating. A process that ignites tiny quantities of gas continuously at a rate of 60-70 times per second! Virtually complete combustion occurs with each "pulse" ignition, delivering almost waste-free heat.

Start saving now. Call today.
Call the independent Lennox dealer nearest you. He has the Lennox Pulse Furnace in stock now. And he can show you how to keep warm and save plenty of cold cash.

B&PW Names Jeannie Adams Young Careerist of Year

The Wellington Business and Professional Women's Club met Tuesday evening January 10 in the Bura Handley Community Building with 22 members attending. Loretta Wright presided.

Jeannie Adams, employed by Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors, was named Wellington's B&PW young careerist of the year.

Some items of the business meeting are of special interest:

A donation of $100 will be made by the B&PW to the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in memory of Carolyn Wilbanks, 1st Vice President and program chairman of the Texas B&PW. The B&PW will support and assist the Satellite Center during the basketball tournament scheduled for Saturday Jan. 21, providing both food and service in the booths during the day and evening.

In September, 1983 each B&PW member set goals for personal improvement for the coming year. At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Wright held a surprise audit on the progress made by each member. These members indicated no progress to date and were given the "pickle" award, all in good fun for non achievement. Paulene Estes, Laverne McLain, Ruth Phipps, Lucille Kelso, Dollie Mae Wilson, Charlene Poteet, Nell McKinney and Hettie Keller.

Members attending who felt they had reached part of their goals and escaped the "pickle" award were Nancy Lindsey, Willie B. Harwell, L.C. Sweat, Jeanice Adams, Pearl Harwell and Nancy Janes. SCOOPIN'

The recently issued report of the Kissinger commission on Central America only highlighted the decades-old problem that the United States has in Central and South America.

That problem is this: we have been supporting corrupt dictatorships because they are anti-communist.

These dictatorships, whether civilian or military, have oppressed, deprived and murdered their own peoples.

We have said that they are better than the communist supporters which seek to replace them.

I suspect that to their impoverished and demoralized countrymen there is no difference between a dictatorship of the right or of the left.

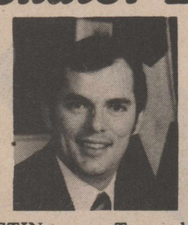

Since we have supplied arms and money and political support to the dictatorships, a group of revolutionaries must turn to outside support if they hope to have a chance of unseating the government in power. And the people who are willing to give them support are communist governments.

This throws them into the arms of governments unfriendly to ours, and it gives them an ideology alien to their long-term best interests. But that ideology gives them hope of change, and, to them, anything seems better than the current circumstances of their lives.

All of this is not to condone communist governments. They are just as bad, and in some cases much worse, than right-wing totalitarian governments.

But if we are to achieve long-term stability in Central America, we are going to have to use our tremendous leverage on the side of representative governments, bills of rights, and fair taxation---principles that we expect for ourselves, and that we should encourage for all people---instead of propping up some penny-ante generals who stash the cash in Zurich banks and take a quick flight to Miami when things get rough. ---Henry Wells

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Texas has now closed its ledgers on a two-year state budget that managed to hold up under attack from all sides. While other states were coping with budget shortfalls, Texas survived.

Budgeting was not without serious problems. When the Legislature convened in Austin last January to write the 1984-85 budget, we had to strip the state's financing to the bare bones.

There were four major reasons the Legislature was forced to cut the budget three times before arriving at a $31 billion multi-year expenditure.

The national recession, the fall in oil prices, adverse weather conditions in the state and the drop in the value of the Mexican peso combined to bring Texas' explosive growth in the 1970's to a sudden standstill.

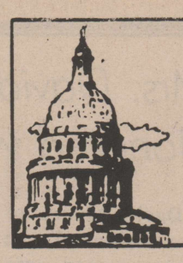

During the fiscal year 1983, from September 1982 to August 31, 1983, tax collections were down because of drops in oil production and the state sales tax.

Because of the recession, 1983 total revenue increased by only one percent to $14.6 billion. Increases in federal funding helped to make up some of the decrease in tax collections.

The same factors that caused revenue collections to decline, caused state expenditures to increase. The economic downturn put many people out of work and increased the need for welfare and unemployment payments.

While we were doing poorly, most of the other states were doing even worse. Because other states were in dire straits many of their residents left for the greener pastures of Texas to find employment. That put further stress on our systems for welfare spending, unemployment compensation, prisons and education.

The net effect of the slowdown in revenue growth and of the increase in state spending was to leave the state with an ending cash balance of $1 billion — $300 million less than in 1982. This balance is the state's general revenue fund from which most of the state's spending occurs. We were one of only five states to have a surplus at the end of the fiscal year. We are still one of the strongest of the economies and with continued financial management and a Legislature dedicated to the economic health of Texas, we will continue to prosper even in difficult times.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—At the end of last week, state officials were narrowing their search for a new firm to operate 53 state oil wells surrendered by Mobil Oil, Corp. in a giant lawsuit settlement.

Other major events at the Capitol included:

—The Speaker and a key House chairman indicated a new tax hike to support teacher pay raises may be forthcoming.

—The district attorney prosecuting Attorney General Jim Mattox delayed the pretrial hearings to correct the indictment of "commercial bribery," a felony offense.

—A special audit team reported that about $1.8 million in Texas Department of Corrections inventory is missing, and,

—A House ethics committee publicly admonished a Houston lawmaker and then closed its probe of improper conduct after he repaid the state $2,000 for possible illegal expenses.

More Invalid Leases?

A group of Miami investors made an offer to take over oil and gas leases on 42,000 acres of land in South Texas after Shearson/American Express withdrew its offer.

The alleged failure of Mobil Oil to fulfill drilling requirements on the state lease resulted in the state taking back the leases and searching for a new operator.

Last week Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who led the negotiations, told reporters that a systematic audit by his office has uncovered more than 25 additional leases which may be invalid.

Settlements in those cases would lead to the recovery of hundreds of millions of dollars for the state, he said. The revenues are dedicated to the public schools of Texas.

Meanwhile, Texas Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple questioned Mauro's predictions that the 53 oil wells would generate an additional $100 million for the state, indicating his calculation came to about half that figure. Temple based his estimate on 1983 production, Mauro based his on reserves.

New Taxes?

Gov. Mark White has promised new taxes to raise teachers salaries, and new statements from House Speaker Gib Lewis and the tax committee chairman Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killen, indicates he might get his way.

Schlueter, whose committee stopped the tax bill from reaching the House floor for debate, said last week that unless the economy turns around and fills state coffers, taxpayers will probably see a tax hike by spring.

Later, Lewis said any new taxes for teachers salaries should be temporary and should "self-destruct" when the economy improves.

Schlueter and Comptroller Bob Bullock questioned a temporary tax, but Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said it should be seriously considered.

Corrected Indictment

Prosecutors said last week they may have to seek a new indictment against Mattox because of technical problems with the charge of commercial bribery now leveled on him.

The indictment accuses Mattox of threatening to use his office to drive a Houston law firm out of the bond business.

A re-indictment will have to go before a different grand jury from the one which originally charged Mattox, and if grand jurors choose not to re-indict him, Mattox will go free.

Strake Seeks Probe

Texas Republican Party chairman George Strake called again for an investigation of whether Mattox illegally used state employees to raise money for his legal defense.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle said his office will investigate the published reports of such illegal activity, but that first he would concentrate his efforts on a new indictment.

Prison Audit

The special audit team investigating the Texas Department of Corrections reported that about 14 percent of the TDC construction division's inventory worth about $1.8 million is unaccounted for.

Auditors blamed sloppy bookkeeping for the discrepancies, but Rep. Ray Keller, R-Duncanville, wanted an explanation why four TDC officials recently resigned without explanation.

"Public Admonishment"

Last week the House Ethics Committee publicly admonished Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, for gross overspending of his Health Services committee budget.

Following the chastisement, Wilson repaid the state $2,000 and the committee officially closed its probe.

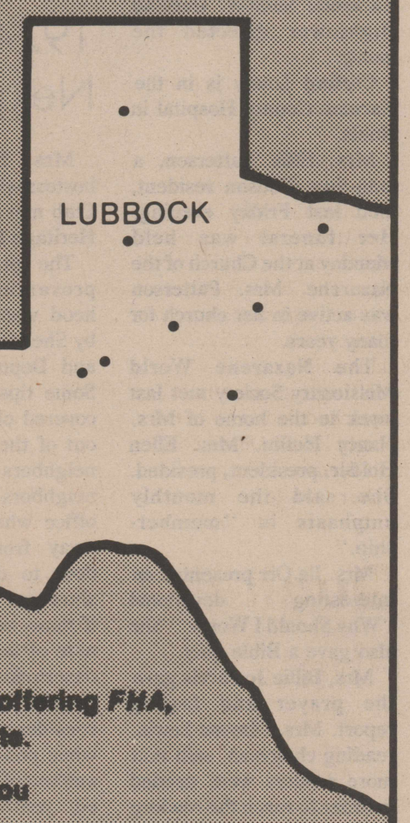

Public record shows Wilson, attending law school in Austin, charged the state for trips back to his Houston district. He also used state phone privileges for over $4,000 in long distance calls, including more than 150 calls to Hollywood talent agencies and film companies.

The committee said it had reason to believe Wilson had illegally collected certain expenses and offered the $2,000 remedy to Wilson.

Gospel Jubilee Saturday

The gospel jubilee, an evening of gospel music featuring singing groups from the county and from other areas of the Panhandle, will be held Saturday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in Bura Handley Community Center.

Tom Wilkins is in charge of arrangements.

He said that this will be an evening given over to a program of music such as people like to hear.

Keynoting the program will be the Isbell Singers of Stinnett and the Smith Family from Pampa. Both of these are well known over the Panhandle and widely presenting programs in churches and before other groups. The Isbell family is due to appear in a Wellington church Sunday, Wilkins said.

Wellington groups already scheduled to sing are the Light House Quartet and Hugh Bledsoe's Quartet.

Other singers in the county are invited to participate, Wilkins said.

ISBELL SINGERS

For information, they should contact Wilkins at Wilkins Furniture or call him at his home.

"If you are interested in appearing before our audience Saturday night, we will get you on our program," he said.

Quail Reunion Plans Started

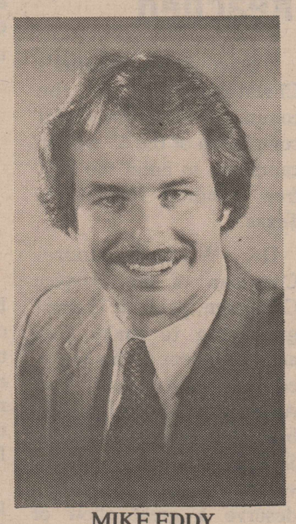

Officers of Quail Ex-Student's Association met Tuesday, Jan. 10, to discuss the annual banquet and reunion traditionally held on Saturday night before Easter. This year's date will be April 21.

The planning meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Delbert White west of Quail.

"We would like to urge everyone planning to attend to let us know so we can get a head count for ordering food," said Mrs. Herb (Barbara) Duncan, an association officer.

Plans for special class reunions are under way.

Mrs. White's class of 1949 is getting that group together. "We hope to have more information on other reunions at a later date," said Mrs. Duncan.

KEEP LOOKING UP...

Keep looking up . . . look up to God. Look to God for guidance. Look to God for all things. . . . "For the word of the Lord is right; and all His works are done in truth. He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord. By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. . . . Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of Him.

Bring up your children in the fear and admonition of the Lord. Attend church regularly.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH · THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

He says some of the accomplishments during the time he has been commissioner are:

Building the addition to the county jail, installing the elevator in the court house to bring it to state and federal specifications relating to making public buildings available to the handicapped, including wheel chair patients; securing more farm-to-market roads for the county, including the one-mile road a mile east of Wellington and securing approval of another FM road from Highway US 83 to Panfork Baptist Encampment.

Lowe has lived in Collingsworth all his life and was raised in the Quail area and is a graduate of Quail High School.

Pitts has served on the Quail School Board, is chaplain of the Masonic Lodge, a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, and member of the Farm Bureau.

BILL SARAPLIUS

AMARILLO--State Senator Bill Sarpalius, the Panhandle lawmaker from Canyon, announced he will seek re-election and officially became a candidate in the Democratic Primary set for May 1. He also said he has some new objectives to pursue.

Sarpalius has achieved state-wide recognition for his efforts to pass strong driving while intoxicated legislation. That legislation is now in effect and the Department of Public Safety says it is already helping to lower the state's accident rate.

He has a mobile office on the road to make sure the people had an opportunity to speak at the local level. The mobile office travels regularly throughout most of the towns in the 29 counties on a monthly basis, visiting almost every town once a month. "To know the needs of our constituents we need to keep in touch with them on a grass-roots level," he said.

He noted legislation he helped to pass which the people of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains strongly supported such as the DWI bill, raising the legal drinking age, establishing the gasohol industry, outlawing dogfighting, establishing a work release program to help with our overcrowded prisons, establishing state standards for emergency medical services, strengthening criminal trespass laws, establishing a commodity assessment program for agriculture, and legislation to help stop the storage of high level nuclear waste in the Panhandle.

In the past four years, Sarpalius has served on the Senate Committees of Natural Resources, State Affairs, Education, Economic Development, Human Resources, the Sunset Commission, and as Chairman of the Agriculture Subcommittee.

Lt. Governor Bill Hobby named him as one of two Texas legislators on a national legislative committee to monitor the disposal of high level nuclear waste. Sarpalius is also a member of the National Committee on Agriculture.

BEAU BOULTER

Beau Boulter, an Amarillo Attorney, has announced for U.S. Congress from the 13th Congressional District. He is running on the Republican ticket and said he expects to face Congressman Jack Hightower in the November General Election.

Boulter, 41, is a West Texan, is a graduate of the University of Texas and of Baylor Law School. He was admitted to the Texas Bar in 1968.

He served as briefing attorney for the Supreme Court of Texas in 1968-69 and in the latter year was admitted to practice before the United States District Court, Northern District.

Boulter is a member of the Amarillo Bar Association, Texas Association of Defense Counsel, American Bar Association and Defense Research Institute.

His bar activities include chairman of the Ethics Bar Committee, Lubbock Bar Association, in 1973-74, speaker for the Amarillo Bar Institute, a member of the State Bar of Texas committee on Citizen's Legal Education and member of the State Bar of Texas Committee on admissions.

In his political activities, Boulter served as Amarillo City Commissioner in 1981-83 and was a candidate for Republican nomination to the U.S. Congress (13th District) in the 1982 Republican Primary.

He was chairman for the Reagan Bush Campaign in Randall County, co-chairman for the Panhandle Presidential inaugural Committee, and chairman for Commitment '80.

He is a member of the Reagan Coalition Conference, Presidential Task Force, and was Republican Precinct Chairman and president of the Amarillo Men's Republican Association.

GOLF WITH THE SWINGERS

By Mary Sanford

Tee that ball! Swing that club! The Wellington Ladies Golf Association is starting a new year in full force. Lucky for some, unlucky for others, but last Friday the 13th was a red letter day for the Ladies Golf Association of Wellington Country Club.

If there is as much enthusiasm on the golf course as there was at the meeting Friday, the ladies' golf season coming up should be a great one.

Bennie Sullivan and Betty Cochran, the new president and vice president, of the Ladies Golf Association hosted a get-together party at the Wellington Country Club and get-together we did, between wining and dining as Bennie called it.

Fruit punch and dips were served as the guests arrived and barbecue and salad were served after the business meeting. From much input of ideas and more discussion, some good get-together decisions were made.

The first was to change the name from Willow Creek Women's Golf Association to Wellington Country Club Ladies Golf Association.

Willow Creek has been used until now, since at the time of the organization inception there was already a Wellington Country Club Ladies Golf Association. Though inactive in golf, it still had members meeting for other activities. Since that organization and its bank account is now completely closed, it leaves the present country club free to use this name.

This column will also be written under the new title.

Now if you are still with me, we will go on to the next get-together decision. The association will meet for regular meetings at night on the second Tuesday of each month.

The dues of $12 per year will remain in effect. They are payable in November of each year.

A project committee to work with the country club board was voted on and appointed by President Bennie.

As all money made by the ladies association goes back into purchasing items for the club, this committee will be a helpful addition to the association. The committee will be headed by Margaret Wood and working with her will be Vicki Parker, Beth Lennon and Virginia Williams.

Even the non-golfers were there to join in and give their support to the organization. Activities for non-golfers, such as card games or dominoes, are being planned so they will also be a vital part of the ladies association.

Golfers can join them on days that are unsuitable for golf or any time they just might prefer these activities.

This get-together, to get-it-together-meeting-ended with the following people signing up for membership:

OIL AND GAS

Oil and gas lease: Vernon K. Peters and wife, Freda M., Route 1, Vinson, and Shirley K. Peters Henard and husband, Dan Henard, Jr., to Anschutz Corp., Oklahoma City, Okla.: Surveys 65 and 67, blk OS, A.B. Smith Survey, containing 505.05 acres.

Ex-Students Begin Plans

The Wellington Ex-Students Association met Tuesday night, January 10 to discuss plans for this year's reunion on August 4.

Vickie Porter will be in charge of the newsletter. She urges classes that are planning special reunions to please get their news to her by February 15.

Anyone having new addresses for ex-students are asked to call or write Louise Peters, Rt. 2 Box 8, Wellington, Texas 79095, 806-447-2490.

St. Anthony's Hospice Goal Reached

St. Anthonys Hospital's Christmas gift to the community is the successful completion of the $3 million campaign to build the first free standing Hospice in Texas.

Dr. Winfred Moore, Chairman of the Hospice Campaign, said "It is most gratifying to make this announcement at this blessed time of the year. The Area wide campaign has been underway since April. Several hundred wonderful volunteers and contributors deserve a great show of appreciation for making this unique humanitarian effort a reality. There was never any doubt in our minds that Amarillo would be the first to plan and implement such a wonderful project."

Final assurance for meeting the $3 million goal and fulfilling the terms of the challenge grant from the Mabee Foundation came from the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation.

Richard D. Palmer, President of the Harrington Foundation, stated, "We are very pleased to assist in meeting the challenge grant and see the Hospice Campaign reach its goal. As has happened so many times in the Panhandle, the generosity of the people has been equal to the challenge. St. Anthony's Hospice will have a great impact on all the citizens and the Harrington Foundation is proud to have been a part of this fine effort."

"The Harrington Foundation gave the original $60,000 in 1980 to begin the Hospice program. In May, 1983, they gave a $250,000 grant, and now the final $100,000 to assure success," stated John J. Buckley, Jr., President of St. Anthony's.

Construction was due to begin December 27, weather permitting, with final bids having been given. The Hospice will be built directly south of St. Anthony's between N.W. 7th and N.W. 6th streets. It will encompass more than 26,000 square feet. Opening is scheduled for the Spring of 1985.

New Date For Comptroller's Official

John Lindsey, an enforcement officer with the office of State Comptroller Bob Bullock, has announced that the tentative new date for his Wellington visit is Wednesday, Jan. 18.

This will depend on the weather.

The time will be 10 a.m. to 12 noon in the county court house.

His visit planned for this week was cancelled due to the snow.

Those with questions about taxes relating to the Comptrollers office are urged to meet with Lindsey.

City Sales Tax Up 41% Over 1983

State Comptroller Bob Bullock on January 5, sent a check totaling $3,281.50 to the City of Wellington, representing its net payment of city sales and use tax for the period ending December 30, 1983.

This also represents the payment to date of all sales and use taxes for 1984.

It also represents a 44.29% increase over the payments for the same time in 1983. At that time the sales and use tax remitted for the period ending Dec. 30, 1982, and or the first payment period in 1983, was $2,274.21.

Robert Burba on Wayland Honor Roll

PLAINVIEW (Special) -- The fall 1983 Dean's Honor Roll at Wayland Baptist University includes Robert Carl Burba of Wellington.

Mr. Burba, a senior, posted a 3.76 grade point average (GPA) for the recently-completed term.

The Dean's Honor Roll is announced at the end of each term by the Academic Vice President's office and lists the names of students who posted at least a 3.50 grade point average on a 4.00 scale and who carried at least 12 semester hours.

A total of 150 students were named to the Dean's Honor Roll at the main campus and four off-campus centers, including 51 who posted a perfect 4.00 average.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT

by Don Reeves

COLLECT SOIL SAMPLES NOW

Farmers are concerned about ways they can improve the efficiency of nutrient use by crops and therefore should pay close attention to soil testing. Soil tests show which nutrients are actually present and which ones are lacking.

Fertilizer efficiency deals with the amount of a nutrient in fertilizer used by the crop to increased yields and profit. If no increase is obtained, then soil's nutrient level was inadequate to meet the crop's requirement. Therefore, knowing the level of available nutrients in a soil is fundamental to fertilizer efficiency.

Soil tests have been developed to measure soil nutrient levels. These laboratory tests use methods that have given good correlations with crop responses. Soil nutrients must be considered for sound and profitable decisions about fertilizing 1984 crops.

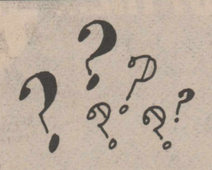

Texas Agricultural Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratories at College Station, Lubbock, and Seymour can test your soil samples and provide you with information for more efficient use of fertilizer. The lab at Lubbock is used by Collingsworth County. More information about collecting and mailing samples can be obtained from the County Extension office.

Collecting soil samples and getting them tested now will help you avoid the spring rush and will allow you more time to plan your fertilizer needs for the coming crop season.
