Construction Tops $50,000 in March

One commercial and a new residence permit helped boost March construction in Colorado City to $50,700, city officials reported Wednesday.

The commercial permit was issued to Dr. H. Jene Steak for a brick veneer building at 16th and Chestnut. The structure will house the doctor's office and will contain more than 2,200 square feet of floor space. Estimated cost is $28,000.

Curlee Lumber Co. obtained the permit for a new residence at No. 1 Eastover. The home, with attached garage and storage room, will cost an estimated $15,000.

Except for two permits to move buildings issued to L. C. Mize, the others granted by the city in March were for additions. They included: Rockwell Bros. Lumber Co., 1900 block of Mulberry; $900; Fred McKay, 1405 E. 14th; $4,000; Joseph F. Robertson, 2104 Locust; $3,000; and P. G. Carpenter, 106 E. Sixth; $100.

Baseball Mentor Resigns Post Here

Jeff Walker, seventh grade coach at Wink High School, has resigned his position as baseball coach at Colorado City High School.

The resignation is effective June 1, 1964 or after the current baseball season and school term, whichever comes first.

Walker is a substitute teacher. The Walkers have one daughter. The announcement follows the resignation of Walker as baseball coach at Colorado City High School.

Wolves Gearing For 3-AAA Play

The Colorado City Wolves, sporting a 6-3 win-loss mark in non-conference play, including a 3-1 decision Tuesday over Class AAAA Abilene Cooper, are gearing for the opening of District 3AAA competition Saturday.

Coach Jeff Walker's charges took to Sweetwater for a 2 p. m. clash Saturday while Lamesa engages Brownfield in another circuit opener. Snyder drew a bye because the Lake View Chiefs do not compete in the diamond game.

The Wolves and Snyder lead the top of the conference heap, with the Tigers given a slight edge in the race for the title. Ace hurler Larry Damborsky got the win at Abilene Tuesday as he chucked a 4-hitter at the Cougars while his Wolf teammates were rapping out eight. David Bearden started on the mound for the Wolves and Damborsky's 3-inning relief stint was good enough for the win.

The setback was the third in 10 starts for the Cougars. The Wolves opened the scoring in the fourth when Donell Pendergrass was safe at first on a fielder's choice, advanced to second on a stolen base and scored when Ronnie Hillhouse smacked a single to left field.

Abilene scored in the bottom of the fourth and the game was knotted until the seventh. Damborsky took a personal hand in the scoring in the seventh when he slamed a run-producing single that was enough for the win. The Wolves picked up an insurance marker on an error.

EAGLES WIN TWIN BILL

The Wolves managed only five hits in a doubleheader here last Saturday and the Odessa-Ector Eagles walked off with 3-0 and 3-1 decisions.

Damborsky was the loser in the opening game as Pendergrass absorbed the loss in the nightcap. Eddie Dominguez put the hosts down with only one hit in the first game, won by Ector 3-1. Damborsky was touched for nine base knocks.

The nightcap, a scheduled five-inning game, went six frames before the Eagles won it on a two-run circuit blow by Ricky Goode in the final frame.

The Wolves committed six errors in the two tilts while the Eagles were charged with only four.

DOZEN LETTERTMEN

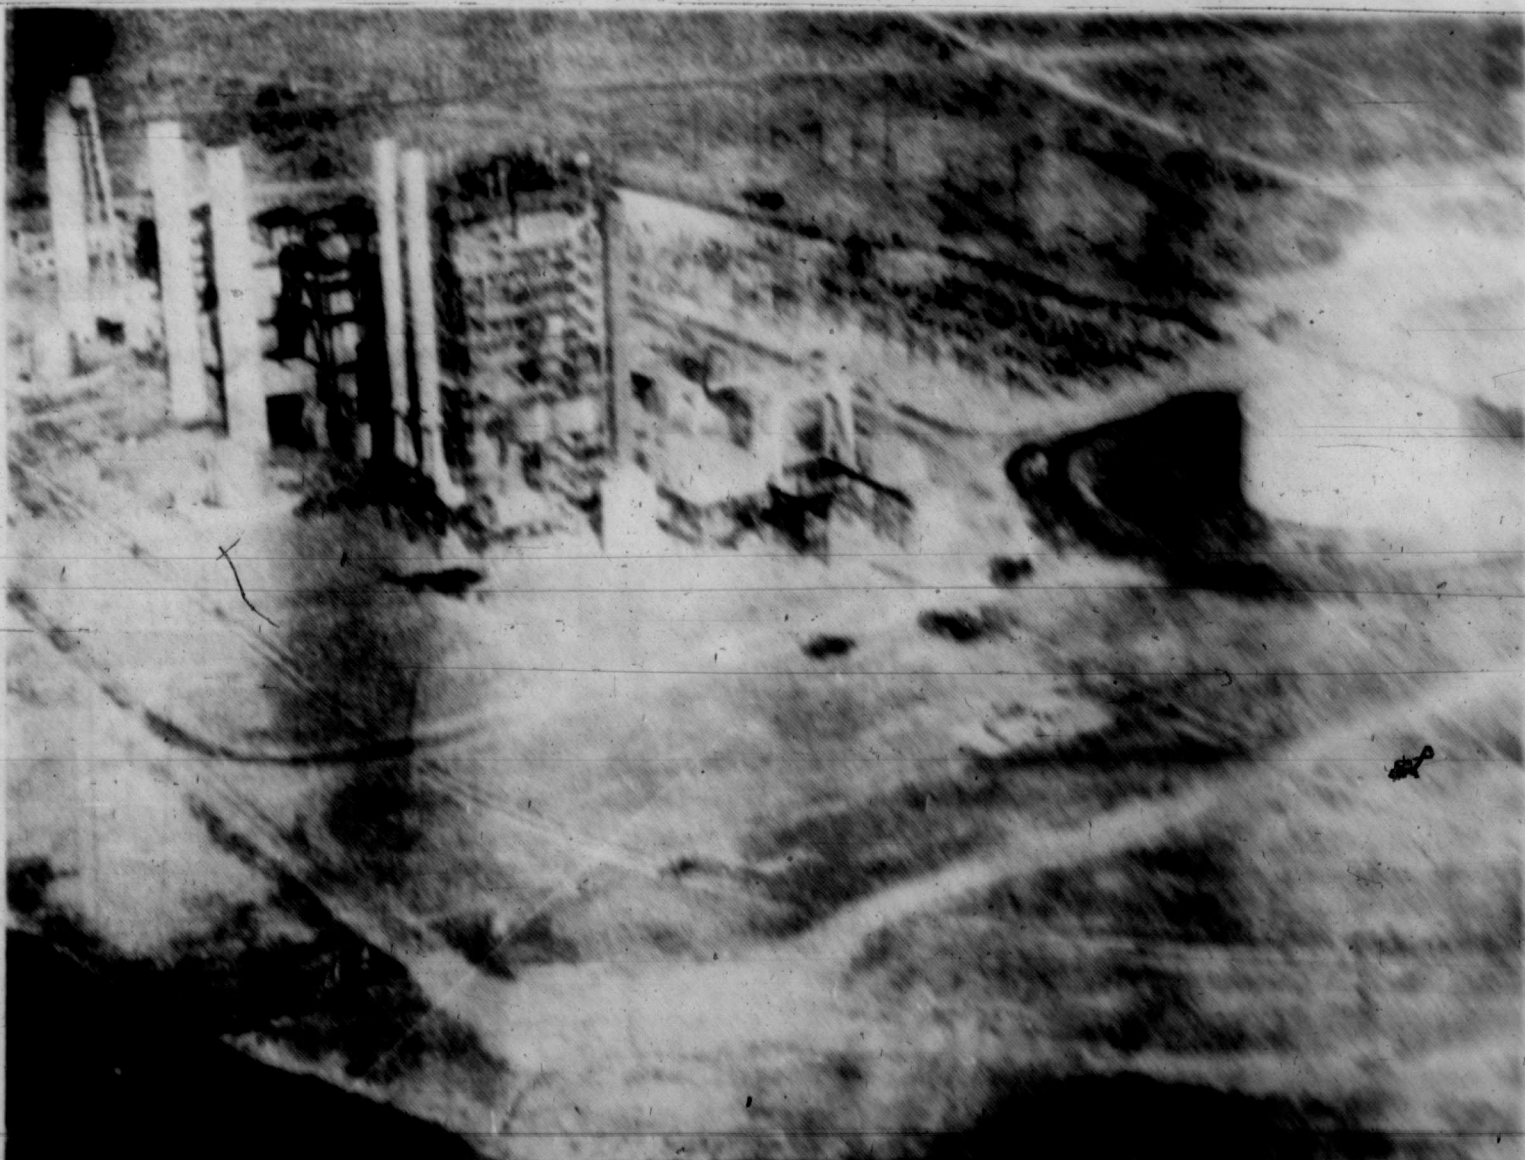

The Wolves returned a dozen lettermen, including eight starters, to the fold this season. Snyder and Colorado City have the most impressive records to date with Lamesa and

Over 5,000 Tags Issued

Slightly more than 5,000 motor vehicles had been registered by the Mitchell County tax assessor-collector's office here late Wednesday. The figure was "about normal", clerks said, but noted a slight gain in passenger car figures.

The incomplete total listed 5,058 motor vehicles registered, including 3,469 passenger cars. Other tabulations: commercial, 896; farm, 408; truck-trailers, 24; and 248 trailer of various sizes. Thirteen motor scooters, according to Monte Hardegree, tax collector.

Wednesday midnight marked final time 1963 Texas license plates could be legally displayed on motor vehicles. Motorists caught using the now-obsolete tags can be fined or jailed—or both.

Morgan Creek Power Plant

For the fourth time since its completion in 1950, Morgan Creek Power Plant at Lake Colorado City will be expanded with construction to start in September. The plant is owned by Texas Electric Service Company and is part of one of the longest derrick-type power lines in the country. New expansion plans call for expenditure of 30 million dollars. Beaman Fisher is Texas Electric president. Roy Bates is Morgan Creek Plant Superintendent.

COMMISSIONER LANGDON SAYS

Texas Oil and Gas Production Jumps

Texas crude oil production is said to have jumped 10 percent for the month of March over the same month in 1963. The jump is the result of a combination of factors, including the discovery of new oil fields and the expansion of existing ones. The Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the oil industry, reported that the jump was the result of a combination of factors, including the discovery of new oil fields and the expansion of existing ones.

Langdon said that the jump in production was the result of a combination of factors, including the discovery of new oil fields and the expansion of existing ones. County Agent Warns About Screwworms Screwworms are on the move again in Texas, warns Mitchell County Agriculture Agent.

Livestock producers must take precautions in handling their livestock if they do not want the insects to spread across the state, Logsdon said. Several infestations have already been detected in various parts of Texas, the agent said. With the coming of spring weather and an increase in livestock management practices, few areas can be counted completely safe from infestation by screwworm attack.

Spring is an ideal period for screwworms because of the mild, moist weather, the county agent indicated. In addition, such activities as calving, farrowing, and shearing, along with routine surgical operations, provide thousands of wounds that are open invitation to screwworm infestation. He expressed alarm that many farmers and ranchers are reported not using smeary, spray, or other screwworm preventatives, and are allowing their animals to go unchecked and untreated. This practice could quickly result in an explosion of screwworm cases in this county and throughout the state, he said.

Logsdon pointed out that although the statement recently released by the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, the United States Department of Agriculture, and the Texas Animal Health Commission that screwworms have been eliminated from the overwintering areas of the Southwest, he warned that screwworm cases could occur because of insects migrating into the United States from Mexico. Cases caused by migratory flies, if not detected and treated promptly, could permit the screwworm to be reestablished in Texas. To prevent this from happening, Logsdon urged producers to inspect their livestock frequently, treat wounds and infestations, collect larvae samples, and report cases immediately, so that emergency measures can be taken. Sterile screwworm flies will again be dropped near all cases reported, the county agent said.

Women Past 21 WITH BLADDER IRRITATION

After 21, common kidney or bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYS-TEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYS-TEX at drugstore. Feel better fast.

Testing Program Given In Loraine

Reports of scores have received for the Loraine High School seniors who participated in the American College Testing Program examination held recently.

Seniors who took the examination include Joe Cushing, Joyce Furlow, Charla Hamilton, David Jones, Cindy Mahon, Judy McDaniel, Stanley Moore, Loretta Taritt, and Don Williams. Don Small who took the College Entrance Examination Board's Scholastic Apptitude Test will take the ACT exam in April.

Individual conferences are being held with these students, according to Preston C.

Lightfoot, to discuss the significance of the test results. Each student's scores are charted and entered in a booklet that he might compare his scores with those of other high school seniors in all parts of the United States, with college-bound seniors, Texas senior norms, and college freshmen in two different types of colleges.

One major purpose of the ACT program is to help the senior plan his college career wisely. Comparing a student's relative standing on the ACT tests with those who are already in college has real meaning only when the comparison is made with students at a particular college, said Lightfoot. Colleges tend to select students who have similar ranges of abilities. Some colleges will accept only those students who have demonstrated exceptional scholastic ability, while other colleges prefer the average high school student.

Colleges in this area are now requiring the ACT tests for college admission, although some require the Scholastic Aptitude Test, such as Texas Technological College, Tarleton State College, Arlington State University, University of Texas.

Young America Bakes—

Frosted Polka-Dot Cake

FROSTED POLKA-DOT CAKE
(Makes 1 9-inch cake)

1/4 cup warm water (105-115° F.)
1 package or cake Fleischmann's Yeast, active dry or compressed
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup lukewarm mashed potatoes
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine, softened
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
2 3/4 cups biscuit mix
2/3 cup jam, marmalade or preserves

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in Fleischmann's Yeast, until dissolved. Add sugar, lukewarm mashed potatoes, Fleischmann's Margarine, cinnamon, salt and egg, blend well. Add biscuit mix in two portions, mixing well after each addition. Press dough evenly into a square, greased 9-inch pan. Cover, let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. With handle of a wooden spoon, make depressions at 1- to 2-inch intervals. Fill depressions with jam, marmalade or preserves.

Bake in hot oven (400° F.) about 20 minutes, or until done. Cool slightly. Drizzle with Confectioner's Sugar Icing.

CONFECTIONER'S SUGAR ICING
Mix together 1/3 cup confectioner's sugar, 1 teaspoon hot water and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring.

Frosted Polka-Dot Cake is a sweet treat any young baker can make. Jam polka dots and "drizzle icing" are fun for the artistically inclined, too.

Biscuit Mix Cuts Time

Jam polka dots and snowy sugar frosting artistically dribbled make this yeast-raised bread a glamorous offering for brunch, lunch or tea. Biscuit mix is the short-cut secret, eliminating much of the measuring and mixing of "from scratch" recipes. In fact, this is just the recipe for a young baker to prepare for Sunday brunch. Frosted Polka-Dot Cake is loaded with good flavor, an appealing contrast of tart-sweet jam and sugary icing. For the novice it's a good introduction to the interest and pleasure of working with yeast. To the experienced cook it's great fun!

Industrial Fair Set In Dallas April 28

Industrial products from the show, the Dallas/Southwest Industrial Trade Fair is sponsored by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and State Fair of Texas. Its purpose is to promote industry in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Chester L. Wells, industrial trade fair manager, reported this week that more than a score of major industrial already have contracted for exhibit space in the show.

Among exhibits the industries are bringing to Dallas are microwave communications systems, space communications and tracking equipment, all types of metals and metal alloys, castings, heavy dies for hot and cold work, drills, grinders, shears, machining processes for special, contract work and many other products and services.

An all industry type of

In addition to exhibits, the show will feature an industrial opportunities conference during its second and third days, April 29-30. The purpose of the conference is to encourage more Southwestern industries to enter defense production and to advise small specialized industries how to diversify production so that the individual plant can depend upon more than one major product for its support.

Representatives of all types of business, industry and manufacturing will attend the show. Special admission invitations are being sent to 600 regional chambers of commerce and to the Southwest representatives of 90 engineering, industrial and scientific groups.

Lone Wolf Co-Op Aiding Economy

Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative Inc. is one of Mitchell County's biggest "little" industries. Organized in 1939, the coop now employs 15 persons and has a payroll of $90,000, most of which is pumped into the economy of the city and county.

First lines were put into use in May of 1940 and the firm now serves all of Mitchell County and parts of Scurry, Nolan, Fisher, Borden and Howard Counties. It has approximately 3,000 meters and about 1,526 oil well and irrigation projects combined.

Raymond Perdue is manager and James Hull, assistant to the manager. Miss Nelda Garrett is the office manager and E. F. Rothwell the line superintendent. The present office building, located on Robert Lee Highway, was built in 1962.

A feature of the office is the Medallion Room, a public meeting place offered for use by local organizations. It seats 208 in chairs, 150 at tables and contains a fully-equipped kitchen, a stage and public address system.

Financing of highline construction, new buildings, etc., is done with funds borrowed from the federal government. The vast majority of the money has been spent on construction of new electric lines and equipment. A total of 1,200 miles of line has been built.

Revenue is received on a monthly basis from the subscribers. The revenue is used in various ways: to pay taxes to federal, state, county, district, and city governments; to make regular quarterly interest and principal payments to the government; to pay for cost of purchased power; to pay for operating and maintenance costs of the electric plant; salaries; and if a margin should accumulate, it is earmarked to be returned to the cooperative members.

Help is only a prayer away

WORSHIP TOGETHER THIS WEEK

Somewhere in your town a man you may have never seen waits hopefully for you.

He is a minister. A priest. A rabbi. A man used to speaking out... making decisions... taking action for himself, for his congregation and his community.

But where you're concerned, he can only wait and hope you will come.

He holds something in trust for you—the powerful, crucial first introduction to Faith. And he is anxious to pass it on.

The strength and confidence of Faith can mean many things to many men... and to the families who count on them.

So together with your family start to find that Faith this week.

FIND THE STRENGTH FOR YOUR LIFE...

Worship together

this week!

City Fire Inspection Planned

Finding and marking potential fire hazards before they cause serious trouble is the purpose of a city fire inspection planned for Colorado City on April 16.

The inspection will involve the downtown business area, schools and churches and will be made by members of the Oil Basin division of the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association.

Essentially, the inspection consists of marking with red and white "Fix-me" tags all fire hazards uncovered. Recommendation booklets explaining how the hazard can be eliminated will be left with each occupant or building owner. As explained by Gene Allison of Abilene, chairman of the inspecting group, the correction of any hazards uncovered will be left strictly up to the occupant or owner. The inspection is a public service by the capital stock insurance industry and the tags are only friendly warnings.

"Texas Town Inspections are not a new idea," says Allison. "The first ones were conducted around 1900, but the first Texas town inspected under this program was Gatesville, in 1948. Since then the fieldmen's organization has inspected over 115 cities in the state."

Allison outlined the reasons for the inspection as threefold: (1) To building owners and occupants, it brings recognition of hazards otherwise un-noticed; (2) for local volunteer firemen, it means safer buildings and a pinpointing of existing danger spots; and (3) for the visiting experts, it affords the opportunity to perform a community service.

Don Benson is serving as local chairman for the one-day inspection and all costs are being borne by the capital stock property insurance companies represented by the inspectors.

Ninety Thousand Texas Volunteers

The designation of April as cancer control month by Governor John Connally has officially opened the 1964 Crusade of the American Cancer Society in Texas.

The educational and fund-raising drive by more than ninety thousand Texas volunteers will aim at reaching every Texas family during the month.

Get Up & Go

Every year about this time, most of us start daydreaming about making this year's vacation trip the greatest ever.

After sticking close to our jobs most of the year, it is only natural to want to pack the family into the car and take off for the mountains, the beach, or for a visit with Aunt Minnie.

We have a lot of company in our urge to get out and go. The American Automobile Association estimates that more than 255 million vacation and pleasure trips will be taken during 1964, putting $21 billion into circulation all over the country. The new federal income tax reduction will help many of us to pay for these trips.

With so many places to go and so much to see, it makes sense to plan ahead carefully. The nation's oil companies make it easier by giving away nearly 200 million road maps each year, at an estimated cost of around $12 million. Some oil firms also operate touring bureaus that give motorists detailed advice on making travel plans.

Highly informational from the beginning, today's road maps are marvels of condensed intelligence. Revised every year to keep up with the ever-expanding network of highways, they also pinpoint parks, forests, service areas, toll stations, rivers, lakes, mountain ranges, recreational areas, military reservations, airfields and all manner of things to see and do.

Oil company mappers explore first so you can cruise later — on a fully-charted course.

In his official proclamation, Governor Connally noted that one-half of the twenty-four thousand cancer patients who will be diagnosed for the first time in 1964 could be saved with present scientific knowledge and medical skill, through earlier diagnosis. One of three are presently being saved.

He also pointed out the need for the greater intensity of research which will be needed to save those for whom there is now no cure available.

"Through collective efforts of volunteers of the American Cancer Society, and broad programs of research, education, and service," he said, "significant gains are being made in the fight to bring final victory over cancer. Every such gain immeasurably benefits our families, our economy, and our State."

More than half of the funds contributed during the current Crusade will be spent for cancer research in Texas institutions, and for public education to increase the saving of lives. Additional amounts which will be spent for professional education and for service to cancer patients will help bring the total to be spent in Texas to more than one dollar of the dollar contributed.

The Society is currently supporting research at three University of Texas centers, in Dallas, Houston and Galveston, and at Baylor University centers in Dallas and Houston. Texas grants currently in effect total more than $738,413.

This includes some of the important research in the leukemia field, where the most substantial progress has been made in recent years. Other current research is being financed on lung cancer, breast cancer, and cancers of the uterus, liver, bladder, stomach, thyroid, colon and rectum, prostate, and pancreas.

State Attorney General Waggoner Carr, member of the Texas Division Board of Directors and Executive Committee, will head the 1964 Campaign as State Crusade Chairman.

Bob Carver is Mitchell County Crusade chairman.

TEXAS TOURIST NEWS

Travel Ads of Texas To Be Published Soon

Texas will observe a milestone Sunday, April 5, when for the first time it begins to tell the nation of its myriad vacation attractions.

The message will be beamed to The New York Times' 4 million readers who will see the ad in the newspaper's special Spring Vacation Travel section.

Another 2½ million will read the same ad the following Sunday, April 12, in The Chicago Tribune's first travel section of 1964.

The ads are the vanguard of a newspaper and magazine schedule approved by the new Texas Tourist Development Agency for the balance of the fiscal year which ends August 31. Funds for the advertising first-year made available by the state, were appropriated last year by the 58th Legislature.

It gave the TDDA a budget of $292,292 for the biennium beginning last September 1. Of the amount, $300,000 was earmarked for travel advertising, promotion and public relations, $80,000 of which was to be spent during the current fiscal year and $120,000 during the fiscal year beginning this September 1.

The first 11½ by 12 inch ads come at a time when most Americans are first beginning to think about where they will spend their vacations this year.

Texas will be presented to winter-weary northerners and midwesterners as a spot already offering summertime pleasures at a time when much of the nation is still locked in ice and snow.

Superimposed on a photo of a girl on a Texas beach are eight lines of copy keyed to the idea "Summer begins 'right now' in Texas."

The copy continues: "The sun sparkles on a thousand lakes and the gentle waves of the Gulf lap mile after mile down the world's longest beaches. The tarpon will be running soon."

"Flowering cactus paint the desert while bluebonnets carpet the rolling plains. Green pathways roll to the shores of lakes where record bass lie waiting. And sure-footed quarterhorses follow snail trails."

"Meet summer halfway in the big Panther—in Texas!" In an upper corner of the ad is a coupon which the reader is invited to clip and send to the TDDA for more expansive Texas travel literature.

"All we can hope for the ad itself to do is create sufficient interest in the reader that he will want to know more about Texas," said Frank Hildebrand, TDDA executive director. "We will rely upon the material that we send in response to his coupon to further persuade him to plan a Texas vacation this year—to 'clinch the sale.'"

The "Funtier Folio" which will be mailed will contain copies of the colorful 32-page brochure, Texas—America's Funtier, and the 1964 Texas highway map as well as a pamphlet, Texas Facts.

Publisher of the Funtier Folio, the Texas Highway Department, is cooperating with the TDDA in distributing the material.

The April ads in The New York Times and The Chicago Tribune will be followed by the same size ads in the newspapers' travel sections June 7 and again August 30. They will utilize photos of other sections of the state and will discuss additional vacation activities, all keyed to the season during which they run.

The magazine schedule begins with the May issue of Sunset, and will be followed with the June issue of Redbook and the June issue of Reader's Digest, Southwest Edition.

Plans call for full page, four-color ads in both Sunset and Redbook and a double page, four-color spread in Reader's Digest. A variety of color photographs, selected to represent each major region of Texas and its vacation highlights, will be used in each magazine ad.

Copies of the advertising schedule will be mailed to all current travel advertisers in the state, urging them to consider "tie-in" campaigns with the TDDA. By placing their ads in the same publications and at the same times the state ads appear, the Texas impact upon the reader will be heightened.

All ads were prepared by McCann-Erickson, Inc., of Houston, the advertising agency selected in January to work with the TDDA in telling the Texas travel story. Account director is John Tipton, well-known advertising executive and Southwest Conference sports caster.

The current advertising schedule was approved in February by the TDDA's board of advisors. Chairman of the board is James M. Gaines of San Antonio, president of Southland Industries, Inc. Members are Bill Berger of Hondo, publisher of the Hondo Anvil Herald and president of the Texas Press Association; Chris Fox of El Paso, vice president of the State National Bank; John McCarty of Dallas, vice president in charge of advertising, Erito-Lay, Inc.; Garner A. (Pop) Mabry of Houston, director of public relations for the Southwest Region, Humble Oil & Refining Company, and John Powell of Austin, partner-owner of Superior Textile Company.

West-Tex Talk

Looking back on these Ruby and Hoffa affairs, it looks like the most stylish comment to make nowadays when a guy loses a case is to say that American justice has been set back a hundred years.

Personally, it looks to me like Mr. Belli has been watching too many Perry Mason shows.

Oh, by the way, That rumor about the Ruby case being reversed and the trial being switched to Terry County is completely unfounded?

This Belli business reminds me of the story — sworn to be true — told by a psychology professor of mine up at Tech.

He told the class that he went to school with a girl having the monicker of Belle Rasch, and we could imagine how everybody pronounced her first name.

—By Jerry Jackson
Brownfield News

In this critical old world, where far too many persons criticize their neighbors, rather than say kind words about them, I like to think of those famous lines written by Henry David Thoreau: "It is a pleasant fact that you will know no man long, however, low in the social scale, however poor, miserable, in-temperate, and worthless he may appear to be, a mere burden to society, but you will find at last that there is something which he understands, and can do better than any other."

Many people get the feeling of how important they are, that they are indispensable — and that no one could fill their shoes, or do their job as well. My old professor taught me many moons ago to always remember that "no matter how good, and how well you do your job, there is always someone who can do it better." Kinda' takes the ego out of you, doesn't it? — but 'tis true.

POINT OF VIEW Two businessmen were discussing a couple of their employees. One man said "I'll show you how dumb Joe is." He called the boy in, gave him a five-dollar bill, and said, "Here, Joe, go get me a new car." Joe left with the money.

The second man, not to be outdone, called his boy and said, "Pete, go down to Tom's and see if I'm there." Pete left on his errand.

Downtown, the two boys met. Joe said, "My boss is so dumb. He gave me five dollars to buy him a new car, and didn't say what color."

"Well, what do you think about mine?" Pete replied. "He sent me down to Tom's to see if he was there, and he could just as well have phoned."

ACCENT ON HEALTH

Poor Posture Habit Affects Efficiency

Good posture makes it possible to use the body in the simplest and most effective way — muscle contraction and relaxation balance, coordination, rhythm, and timing makes all tasks easier.

Posture has a direct bearing on comfort, work efficiency and body functions. Poor posture can become a habit, like overeating. Poor posture reduces blood circulation, induces drowsiness, and fatigue. Because breathing is shallow, abdominal organs sag and perform poorly.

Posture, some experts explain, is the end result of body mechanics. The human body is composed of many intricate and interacting components. Body mechanics might be defined as the functioning of the body parts.

Tension is a deterrent to good body mechanics. Relaxation is a lessening of tension. Learning to relax completely is an important aid to body mechanics. A person may lie down to rest but feel his purpose by not relaxing.

For an example of how tension feels, contract a part of the body strongly. Clench the fist tightly then start releasing it gradually, taking away more and more of the tension until there is a feeling of complete looseness. Another method is to close your eyes and, starting from the tip ends of the toes, fingers or scalp, let each muscle relax or go completely limp. After mastering these methods of tension relaxation, it becomes possible to locate tense areas within the body and relax them.

Aside from building good principles of body mechanics with the fundamentals of health—plenty of sleep, regular exercise, meals which

TEXAS AGRICULTURE

Boll Weevil Threat Seen At Minimum

Texas cotton farmers can take some comfort in the fact that fewer boll weevils went into hibernation this winter than last year, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Boll weevil counts were made at random over the state by Texas and federal entomologists with special attention to the most troublesome areas in Central Texas. The winter survival is expected to be about half of what it was in 1962, White said.

During the late fall of each year Texas and U.S.D.A. research teams take samples of wood trash adjacent to cotton fields to determine the number of weevils in hibernation. The number surviving the winter, combined with weather condition during the early part of the cotton fruiting period, will determine potential boll weevil damage to the 1964 cotton crop.

"I am especially pleased with the report this year which indicated our control efforts to hold the destructive boll weevil at an absolute minimum are working, Commissioner John White said. "Our neighboring state of Louisiana shows some increases of the insect are in prospect for their area, however," he added.

Trash samples collected from four Central counties are indicative of results over the rest of the state. Falls, Hill, Limestone, and McLennan county areas averaged only 517 weevils per acre, compared with 1,781 in 1962.

Commissioner White attributed a major part of this winter's decrease in hibernating boll weevils to low spring populations that survived the winter last year. A cotton planting and plow-up program administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture is designed to control the pink bollworm and also achieves benefits in boll weevil destruction. Mandatory plow up of cotton stalks in much of the state destroys hibernating quarters for many insects.

Perhaps the most popular fish in Texas is the perch. This little bluegill or bream or whatever you prefer to call the scrappy little fellow—infects every fishing water of the state.

The art of perch fishing has been lost to many. This, despite the fact that they can be caught almost any place water is found in the state.

There are many different kinds of perch. And each has its own way of being playful. But one thing for sure, a frypan filled with perch—the size of your hand—is a delicacy no one should pass up.

So many of us now-a-days go out with casting or spinning tackle and artificial lures that we have just about forgotten this great fun-fishing, perch catching game. Even a great many youngsters have missed the thrill of perch fishing.

Form Fishing
Best bait for perch fishing is the garden worm. Probably more perch have been caught on worms than on all other baits combined.

Next most successful bait is a light spinner or a small bug like lure cast out either on a fly rod or on ultralight spinning equipment.

Occasionally a perch is caught on a plug. In most waters, they'll follow a plug all the way to the boat. Often they will hit at it with their tails. We've seen them slap at a top-water lure so hard, they would knock the lure as far as 15 to 20 feet. Sometimes you'll think you've just missed a kingsize bass, when all it was was a snappy perch.

To Find Perch
Perch can be caught from a boat, a dock, the bank or by wading.

Like all other fish there are certain hot spots for perch and fishing is best at certain times of the day.

My own favorite spot to catch perch is along some high cliff, where a few old trees have fallen into the water. There isn't much to rigging up for perch fishing. A cane pole of medium length is ideal for the purpose. You need a small split-shot sinker, a very small hook with a long shank, and some sort of bobber.

Large Fresh Worms
Be sure your supply of worms is fresh and that they are not so small they can't be threaded on a hook. Occasionally a perch will grab a whole mouthful of worm at one gulp. Other times he will suck on it, keeping the bobber moving about until you think he has gone.

Then all at once he'll take it.

seen down in the early morning or late evening they'll be working around the banks, especially around tree tops and in the shade of high cliffs.

You may have to try varying perch. Some use crickets for bait. They drop their bait, hook down beside a tree trunk protruding from the water. If a big perch is there it will take the bait quickly. Otherwise, you may as well move on to another spot.

Live Bait Wells
Real perch fishermen have live wells in their boats and just toss the fish into these wells.

Others use fish baskets, or perhaps even a gunnysack, hanging over the side of the boat. Perch can be kept alive in this manner long after they are caught, unless of course they've been injured badly by hook removal.

Perch don't string too well. Furthermore, around good

There is no cruel limit on perch. Biologists like to see many of them caught because too many perch in an impoundment are harmful to the largemouth bass population and to catching bass.

Biologists also will tell you never to throw a perch back into the water. They just continue to be a nuisance.

Little perch make excellent trotline bait. Many trotline fishermen seeking catfish catch a dozen or two small perch with which to bait their lines. And it pays off.

If you want to go fishing and really catch something useful and good to eat, try perch.

Texas Electric Service Co. Here Serves 115 Industries

Texas Electric Service Company, with local office at 143 Oak St. in Colorado City, employs nine Colorado Citizens whose experience with the company totals 65 years.

Don Benson, became manager for the Colorado City TESCO August 1, 1963. He has been employed by Texas Electric here for 14 years.

Otho Rice, chief clerk, has been with the company for 13 years. Margaret Oyler, cashier clerk has 9 years' seniority with TESCO. Rosella Bell, cashier clerk, 4 years; G. G. Goggin, senior clerk, 4 years; Phil Fortune, meter reader, 4 years.

has been working with the local office 3 years. Robert Bracey, janitor, 4 years.

Robert Chambers, utility service man has 5 years' Texas Electric experience.

Colorado City office of the utility company services about 3,300 customers. Powers sent to Mitchell County industries including numerous oil wells in the west Mitchell County. Latah-Westbrook Field from the company's giant Morgan Creek Power Plant, Lake Colorado City.

Texas Electric serves a total of 115 industrial accounts in town and county.

TESCO here employs, also, two men in the transmission department as sub-station patrolmen for the 9 sub-stations in Mitchell and in Scurry Counties. Patrolmen, both of whom live in Colorado City, are Louis Hargrove and John Morgan.

Morgan Creek Plant, on the shore of one of the two lakes built here by Texas Electric Service Co., is the biggest power plant in West Texas. Part of one of the longest electric type power lines in the country Morgan Plant is due for an additional unit to cost 30 million dollars.

Construction of the addition will be the fourth expansion since Morgan Creek Power Plant was finished in 1950.

Roy Bates is plant superintendent, Larry Kinard, assistant superintendent.

Morgan Creek Power Plant of Lake Colorado City employs a total of 65 persons.

Colorado Steam Laundry Locally Owned Industry

Colorado Steam Laundry, owned and operated by J. Ralph Lee since April, 1925, is located at the corner of Oak and 4th Sts. here in Colorado City.

The modern brick and well lighted building was built by Lee in the fall of 1929. None of the original equipment installed by Lee in his original days as laundryman is still in use.

Gradually, though, his years as a Colorado City business man and owner of a local industry, Lee has replaced equipment with new and the most modern of machinery used in the steam laundry industry world.

Colorado Steam Laundry employs 22 persons and bears a payroll of $40,000 a year. It is in operation six days a week and offers pick-up and delivery services to customers.

Mr. and Mrs. Root live at 204 E. 8th Street. They are parents of two daughters, Mrs. Ray Dillard (Anna Lee) of Big Spring and Judy, a freshman at Austin College in Austin, Texas.

Both Lee and his wife, the late Mrs. Lee, were members of the Chamber of Commerce. Lee is former president of staff, grew up in childhood and moved to Colorado City shortly after their marriage. They are parents of a daughter, Mrs.

Ted Bossenroth of the University of Iowa, and one son, J. Rodney Lee, Waco, attorney.

Lee is a Lions Club member of longstanding, active in First Methodist Church, member of Industrial Team Inc., and heads the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Wayne Shawn, senior vice-president, is a member of the Industrial Committee of the Chamber.

The City National Bank's historic association with industrial development has not abated in the 64 years of its existence, and is continually being strengthened to keep pace with the financial development of our county.

Also included in the laboratory facilities is the hospital blood bank which recently became associated with the Texas Blood Bank Chain.

The new wing connects the hospital with Root Valley Fair Lodge, a nursing home for elderly people. Both the hospital and the nursing home are properties of Root Enterprises, Inc., owned by Charles Root.

The hospital was started by Root's father, Dr. C. E. Root, founding at Austin College in Austin, Texas. It has grown through the years to the modern plant it is today. There are thirty-two patient rooms in addition to the facilities for operating, emergency, etc. The hospital employs

Lone Star Gas Co. Services Industries

Service to industry is a major aim, according to local men of part of Lone Star Gas Co., J. G. Grubner. He said the company's operations throughout the country furnish natural gas to such places as laundry.

The company provides de-icing and cleaning establishments, dependable service in numerous cotton gins, oil refineries, oil refineries to some 5,100 industrial firms, a cotton oil mill, cotton customers and also in homes, gas and water well pumping, new plants to cities on its pipeline.

Key men in this industry, Colorado City, with some 18 assistance program, are the natural gas industrial accounts company's utilization engine is an example of Lone Star's service to both new industrial development and existing industries on ap

Official Memorandum

GREETINGS:

By resolution of the Legislature, the week of April 1-7 is observed each year as Texas Industrial Week. Manufacturing is the most rapidly expanding source of income in our State, and through the Texas Industrial Commission we are actively seeking new plants and encouraging the expansion of others. In 1963 Texas ranked second only to New York in new plant locations.

It is most important that Texans understand the need for maintaining an economic climate conducive to industrial development and the company need for stable growth on the State and local levels. In this era of technological change, it is essential that we encourage the creation of new job opportunities through industrial growth, resulting in more business, more trade, more income and more investment capital.

Industrial Week gives us the opportunity to show appreciation to Texas industry through the promotion, display and purchase of products manufactured in this State.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the period of April 1-7, 1964, as in this State, and urge all citizens to give due recognition to this vital segment of our economy.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby give my signature this 24th day of Feb., 1964.

pliable local gas rates, localizing its activities to attract existing pipelines and industry. Today the company sources of local gas supply and gas quantity and quality reports. In addition, Lone Star often furnishes a prospective industrial customer an estimate of the amount of gas necessary for the per-unit production of a proposed product. Mr. Grubner said.

When dealing with established industries, Lone Star engineers adjust controls and effect gas fired equipment to assure operating efficiency. They are also active in existing industrial expansion programs.

Many other company employees and departments back up the utilization engineers by assisting industry. Lone Star's Area Development Department, under the direction of John W. Perry, has been active in the technology of natural gas service and the industry's best possible natural gas service to home and business, as well as to industry and new developments. To help bring them into this and other pictures, we're investing $47 million this year.

Transforming this scene into a bustling community takes work and planning — plus the helpful energy of low-cost natural gas. Lone Star is busy building ahead of the demand, preparing the way for vigorous new growth. Our current $47,000,000 investment is going for new gas wells, extension of our pipelines, expansion and modernization of existing facilities, new buildings and equipment. Our goal? Added capacity to meet the natural gas needs of tomorrow — as well as today. Investments like this (more than $100 million in the past three years) also circulate added money throughout the Lone Star system contributing to a stronger economy. Count on Lone Star for the modern key to progress: abundant, economical natural gas.

POWER TO GROW

Colorado City, in the heart of the area served by the strong power system of Texas Electric Service Company, is a forward-looking community offering many advantages for industrial growth and development. The progress-minded citizens of this area look confidently to a future of industrial development based upon expanding markets and the availability of natural resources to supply many types of industry.

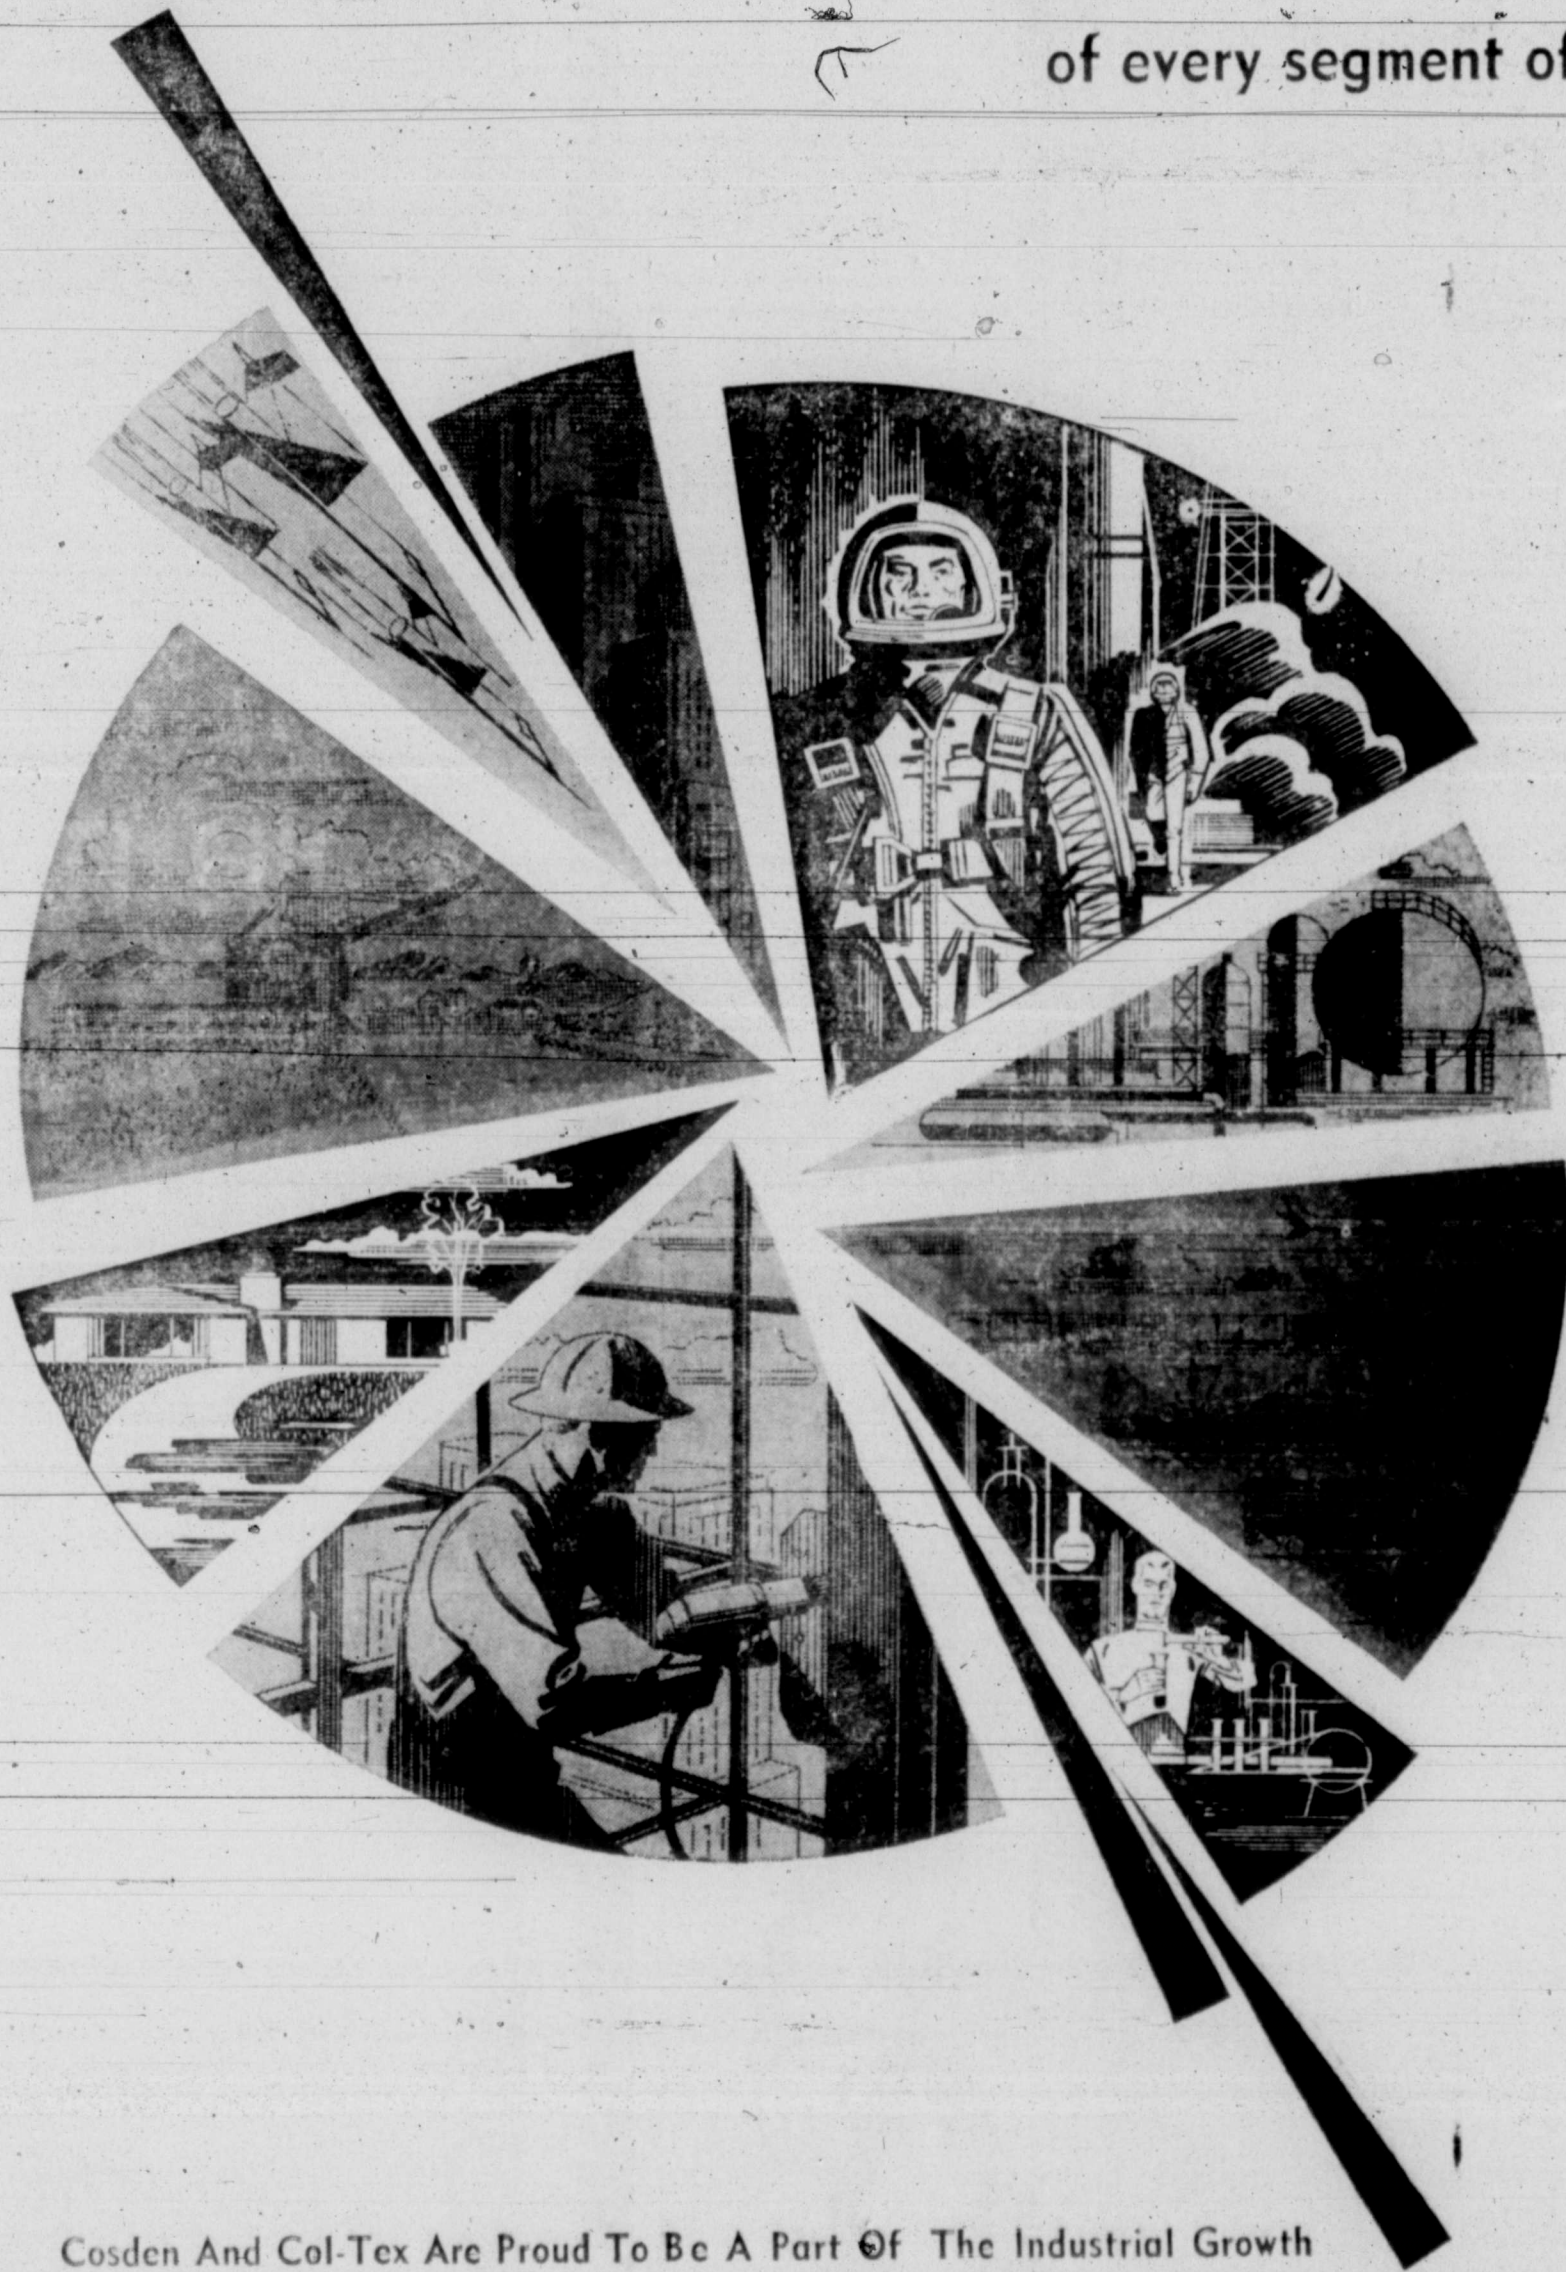

Texas Electric is planning and building ahead to assure plenty of dependable electric service for the continued progress of the area we serve. The new 500,000 kilowatt generating unit which will be added to the Morgan Creek power plant at Lake Colorado City is another expression of our confidence in the future of Colorado City, Mitchell County and other areas we serve in North Central and West Texas.
