Teenagers Facing Trial For Murder

RUSSELL, Kan. (AP)—Two teenage youths who admitted killing seven persons in a cross-country trail of robbery and murder will face trial on a murder charge here Monday.

George Ronald York, 18, of Jacksonville, Fla., and James Latham, Mauriceville, Tex., are charged with the death of Otto Ziegler, of Oakley, Kan., a Union Pacific roadmaster, east of Sharon Springs, Kan., June 9. The case was moved here on a change of venue.

Conviction could mean death by hanging at the state penitentiary.

A three-doctor commission examined the two and found them to be sane and able to comprehend their position and make a defense. The commission did not pass upon the question of whether they were sane at the time of the alleged murder. That could become a question for the jury to decide.

They were taken into custody June 11 at a Tooele, Utah, roadblock. After they were returned to Kansas to stand trial for Ziegler's death, they waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to district court. Pleas of innocent were entered for both at a hearing.

Latham and York are also accused of two murders in Florida, one in Tennessee, two in the Illinois suburbs of St. Louis and one in Colorado.

York and Latham are AWOL soldiers from an Army stockade at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Court-appointed attorneys from Sharon Springs will represent the two. Bernard E. Whalen is attorney for York and Jess R. Linder will represent Latham.

Could Rocky Have Designs?

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Nov. 25 date with Kansas Republicans may signal the beginning of an effort by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York to cultivate grassroots support for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

In one of his infrequent political excursions outside his home state, Rockefeller has signed on as principal speaker at a $25-a-plate Republican dinner in Topeka.

Rockefeller, tending his political fences at home, has been up to his ears in the effort to elect GOP state Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz mayor of New York City.

A strong run by Lefkowitz against Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who is seeking re-election, would be calculated to provide some encouragement for Rockefeller when he seeks another term as governor next year.

Because of his intention to run again, Rockefeller has been wary about stirring up 1964 presidential speculation too soon. He has stayed home and, for the most part, kept silent while his potential 1964 rivals, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, have toured the country and blasted at President Kennedy's policies.

Rockefeller dipped only briefly into New Jersey to offer some encouragement to the Republican nominee for governor, James P. Mitchell, former secretary of labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet.

Some of Rockefeller's advisers have been urging him to speak out more often on national issues. They want him to create the image of a liberal Republican to contrast with Goldwater's conservatism and Nixon's middle-of-the road position.

Rockefeller's advisers well know that the governor has to get better acquainted with Republicans outside his home state if he expects to get the party's 1964 presidential nomination.

Taylor 'Sights In' On Red Viet Nam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

DALAT, South Viet Nam (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor took a look at Communist North Viet Nam through the sight of a 105mm howitzer at a South Vietnamese frontier post Saturday.

President Kennedy's special military adviser drew a laughing suggestion from an aide that he fire the howitzer.

Taylor chuckled and replied: "I'm afraid the effect would be most startling."

The gunsight brought in focus the yellow-starred red flag of North Viet Nam and the red-barred yellow flag of South Viet Nam fluttering at opposite ends of a border bridge on the 17th Parallel, three miles away.

Taylor and a group of U. S. experts flew 450 miles north from Saigon for an on-the-spot look at the South Vietnamese are doing with the military aid the United States has been providing them for years.

The inspection tour followed three days of conferences in Saigon to lay the groundwork for Taylor's recommendations to Kennedy. Taylor was sent to this embattled country by Kennedy to find a formula for quickly shoring up the South Vietnamese against increasingly heavy attacks by Red Viet Cong rebels.

The Taylor party had dinner with President Ngo Dinh Diem at Dalat, a mountain resort 140 miles northeast of Saigon, and were overnight guests at his vacation palace.

Board Set For Study Of Pollution

AUSTIN (AP) — In less than three weeks, Texas' first water pollution control board comes into existence.

First, Gov. Price Daniel must make three appointments.

The bill creating the six-man board becomes effective Nov. 7. Three of the board's members will be state officials, with the other three appointed from private life by Daniel.

Daniel has indicated he will make the appointments before the deadline but the board will face transition problems.

One of these is whether present water pollution statutes will be followed until November 1962 or will the new board take action at once against violators. The bill provides that existing statutes will not be repealed until the 1962 date.

Another problem will be administration of the money provided for pollution control from the federal government. Last year, the Department of Health received $1.7 million to distribute to cities for sewage treatment works to curb pollution. This program is set up with the cities matching this money by putting up 70 per cent of the cost.

Dave Singleton, director of the Water Pollution Control Department of the State Health Department, said $103,000 there was received to carry out a pollution control program.

The bill creating the board provides that the Health Department continue its present programs but for the pollution control board to receive all federal funds.

Mrs. Norris Heads TSTA

HOUSTON (AP) — Mrs. Fred Norris of Corpus Christi was elected president of the Texas State Teachers Association Saturday.

Mrs. Norris, now vice president, was elected without opposition with a vote of 33,257. On Dec. 1 she will succeed Richard Bowles of Austin.

C. O. Chandler, superintendent of Victoria schools, was elected vice president. He received 37,259 votes to 15,914 for Forrest Binion of Ysleta.

The election concluded the association convention.

The teachers were asked to remain politically alert.

"Now is not the time to lose interest," said Dana Williams, superintendent at Corsicana.

The chairman of the association legislative committee said much has been accomplished the past year but there is still need for vigorous poll tax campaigns.

Williams also told the association house of delegates:

"Teachers pay taxes to agree on legislation. If we can learn to stick together we can make the association's legislative job much easier."

Mrs. Norris said she has no specific goals for the association but she endorses those suggested by Bowles.

Stalinists Crying Out

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Little Albania, assailed by Soviet Premier Khrushchev for clinging to Stalinism, struck back in a letter to the Soviet Communist party congress Saturday, Congress sources reported.

The family dispute came nearer a head, the infogmants said, when the letter from Albania leaders accused Khrushchev of making wrecking attacks against Communist unity.

Mikhail A. Suslov, a member of the Presidium of the party's Central Committee and a top party theoretician, was reported to have declared after seeing the letter: "We now say finally that we understand clearly where our friends are."

Khrushchev all but read the Albanian party out of the Communist bloc Tuesday when he accused its leaders of adhering to the Stalinist cult of personality and engaging in Stalin-like repressions of the people.

The arrival of the letter was reported as Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, clearly forecast the expulsion from the party of V. M. Molotov and his Stalinist comrades in the antiparty group of 1957.

The paper said the 4,406 delegates at the congress "unanimously support the speakers who raised the question of excluding from the party those who participated in the dissident group."

The paper named Molotov, former foreign minister under Stalin; Lazar Kaganovich, a former right-hand administrator for Stalin; former Premier Georgi Malenkov; former President Klementi Y. Voroshilov; former Premier Nikolai Bulganin; former Presidium members Mikhail Pervukhin and Maxim Saburov and former Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov. This indicated all eight may lose their party cards.

Albania's leaders, apparently expecting trouble, did not attend the party congress here, although Communist parties from about 80 countries are represented.

The Albanian letter apparently was broadcast in part by the Tirana radio and recorded by Radio Free Europe in Munich.

It reportedly was a biting attack on Khrushchev, adding to the evidence that ideological and political differences within the party are mounting.

It was said to have noted "with sympathy" that Premier Chou En-lai of Red China included the Albanians among fraternal Communist parties and appealed for negotiations to settle differences quietly.

"Nikita Khrushchev bears full responsibility for this anti-Marxist act and for all the consequences arising from it," said Tirana radio.

Meanwhile, speakers at the congress in the Kremlin added considerable weight to the attack on Albania.

Umzhagin Tsedenbal, premier of Outer Mongolia, a neighbor of both the Soviet Union and Red China, rapped what he called the "mistaken" Albanian line.

Observers noted, however, that two other neighbors of Red China, Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam and Kim Il-sung of North Korea, took a careful neutral course.

Molotov Treading Thin Chalk Line

By HANS BENEDICT

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Old-line Stalinist V. M. Molotov said Saturday "Perhaps I shall have something to say later on" about the violent attacks on him at the Soviet Communist party congress.

Seemingly cheerful and with no trace of nervousness, the man who as foreign minister was Stalin's tough front man at post-war international conferences told reporters: "I do not want to comment now."

Ousted from the Communist Presidium in 1957 in an antiparty purge for opposing Premier Khrushchev's policies, he first was sent to virtual exile as ambassador to distant Outer Mongolia.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda spoke ominously of congress party delegates supporting demands that Molotov and other members of the antiparty group be expelled from the party.

If Molotov is expelled, this undoubtedly would cost him his latest job as Soviet ambassador to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

Since his surprise appointment to the atoms-for-peace agency in August of 1960, Molotov has been living quietly in Vienna, rarely appearing in public. Western correspondents ran into Molotov, 71, as he walked from his home with his wife to the Soviet Embassy in downtown Vienna.

Asked for comment on the newest charges of antiparty activity, Molotov made his reply that he might speak out later but declined to say when or where.

Authoritative sources said they believe Molotov may soon be recalled from his No. 2 post in the Soviet delegation to the atoms-for-peace agency.

After Khrushchev's signal for the concentrated attack on Molotov and others at the Soviet party Congress, the expulsion of the so-called antiparty group from the Communist party would seem to be a logical consequence.

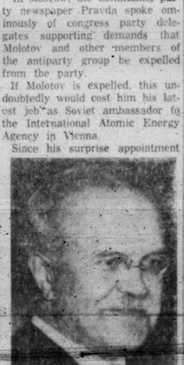

Western diplomats were puzzled by Molotov's part in an incident early this month when the chief Soviet delegate, Vasily Emelyanov, stomped out of the International Atomic Energy Agency's general conference in protest against the election of Dr. Sigvard Eklund of Sweden as general director.

Molotov and his aides remained in their seats.

There were unconfirmed reports at the time of a rift between Molotov and Emelyanov and that the two men had a heated argument outside the conference hall. Emelyanov, when he left for Moscow, virtually ignored Molotov.

Westerners feel the incident may be enlightening. Emelyanov, a prominent nuclear scientist is known to be close to Khrushchev and may well have advised Khrushchev to halt Molotov's career here.

"Mr. Nyet"—a name he got from his long record of saying "no" in international conferences—has kept to the background in agency affairs during the long talking to Emelyanov.

Revenues Of CRMWD Are Up Slightly

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District continue to run slightly ahead of last year, the September report shows.

Receipts for September amounted to $172,292.07 and happened to be just under the $173,890.36 for the same month a year ago. The total revenues for the first nine months stood at $1,478,169.90, which compared with $1,471,394.30 for the same period.

Receipts from the member cities amounted to $143,369.88, including $91,886 from Odessa, $39,034 from Big Spring, $10,558 from Snyder and $1,910 from rural users. A year ago September produced $139,277.65 from sale of water to the cities. This year September yielded $25,792 to oil companies for oilfield repressuring, whereas last year the September receipts from this source stood at $31,380. One of the oil accounts was late is not included in current totals.

Recreational revenues this September amounted to $2,804, a year ago to $3,232.

The total of $61,658.58 operating expenditures included $360 for supervision labor, $187.50 for operating labor, $158.19 for repair and supplies, $1,702.75 for maintenance labor, $63.82 for general maintenance, $4,020.84 for well field power, $2,433.49 for water purchase, $795.01 for automotive expense, $43,833.05 for pumping expense, $6,178.24 for general and administrative, and $1,915.24 for recreational.

The excess of $110,633.49 goes to the revenue fund for transfer into the debt service and other indentured funds.

French, Algerians Are At It Again

PARIS (AP)—Terrorism erupted again Saturday in France and Algeria and authorities alerted police for even more trouble Sunday.

One Moslem was killed and six Moslems and Europeans were injured in renewed racial clashes in the tinderbox city of Oran in western Algeria.

In Paris, six plastic bombs damaged buildings but caused no injuries. Other bombs exploded at Lille and Avignon. Authorities blamed French rightists opposed to the government's policy of self-determination for Algeria.

A police force 11,000 strong stood on the alert in Paris for a possible new upsurge of violence from Algerian nationalists, who are being egged on by the rebel government in Tunis.

About 10,000 Algerians still are under arrest after bloody demonstrations in Paris last week against a curfew. The curfew was imposed on Algerians to break up gang fights and to halt attacks on police.

Authorities said they expect Algerian nationalist demonstrations in France and possibly Algeria Sunday—fifth anniversary of the French capture of rebel Vice Premier Mohammed ben Bella. All sporting events in Oran, which draw big crowds, were canceled. The curfew there was extended.

Returning to Algiers after being away for a short time, Associated Press correspondent Andrew Borowiec reported hysteria among Europeans there had risen to a terrifying pitch.

In Algiers' private apartments, bars and in meeting places there was talk of an armed fight to defend the Europeans' position against a possible compromise between France and Algerian rebels, he reported.

French-made attacks and pamphlets of the settlers resistance group, the secret army organization, kept everybody's nerves on edge. Rumors of an armed European rising against President Charles de Gaulle circulated.

Negro Group At Texas U. On Probation

AUSTIN (AP)—Negro students who staged an anti-segregation demonstration at a white girls dormitory Thursday were placed on disciplinary probation Saturday by University of Texas officials.

The university order followed investigations of two Negro girls' dormitories Friday and disciplinary hearings before the dean of women in an unusual Saturday session.

The two - sentence university statement did not say how many students were affected. An estimated 50 Negro students took over the lobby of Kinsolving Dormitory for about an hour Thursday night, refusing to leave when asked to do so by the resident counselor.

Residents of the white girls' dormitory say they have been told that a Negro girl may visit a white girl in her room, but the door must be closed and the Negro girl may not use drinking fountains or rest rooms in the dormitory. The lobby is barred to Negroes, except those on errands.

The university announcement said:

"Dr. Glenn E. Barnett, dean of students at the University of Texas, reports that those students involved in the incident in Kinsolving Dormitory on Thursday evening, Oct. 19, have been placed on disciplinary probation. This is in accordance with usual procedures where there have been infractions of university regulations."

Violation of disciplinary probation can be grounds for suspension from the university.

Dr. Joseph Smiley, university president, said he did not know how many girls were involved. He said the university regents had not asked for a report but they will be informed, of course.

One student source said the Negro girls were summoned individually to appear before the dean of women Saturday but they decided to appear in a group.

Classes at the university, both graduate and undergraduate, have been integrated since 1955. Most dormitory space is still segregated.

Sam About The Same

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Doctors reported the condition of House Speaker Sam Rayburn remained the same Saturday as it has for several days.

Rayburn entered Baylor Hospital Oct. 2 and was found to be suffering from incurable cancer.

The physicians said his condition remained serious but not critical.

Crisis Is Over Temporarily

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BERLIN (AP) — Here is some plain, unvarnished news about Berlin, gathered from highly responsible sources:

The current Berlin crisis is over—but not for long. The crisis has yet to reach its peak.

Any relaxation by the United States and the West, howevpr, much lull there might seem to be, would be regarded in West Berlin as extremely perilous.

Whatever happens, a new Berlin airlift is regarded as impossible.

The United States has suffered a heavy blow in Berlin. For the time being, the Kremlin has what it wants. The wall is there, separating Communist East and free West Berlin.

People in close touch with overall strategy express belief the Kremlin has been surprised that it got that much so swiftly and so easily. Its appetite probably has been whetted for more.

The wall, foot-thick concrete topped with barbed wire to seal off West Berlin, might have been prevented.

These people express astonishment at the lack of reaction in the West Aug. 13, when the Communists first started the wall. A tank sent across the line might have turned the trick. Perhaps there would have been an attempt to build the wall farther back, but it would not have been on the sector borders, these observers say.

For almost two days the East German Communists themselves seemed surprised that no Western action was taken. Then they went to work in earnest sealing off East Berliners from friends, relatives, jobs in the West—caging them up in one huge trap.

Now the wall is there, and the Communists are likely to do all in their power to make it permanent as long as they fail to control all Berlin.

It places a tourniquet on what once was called "the bleeding frontier," the escape route for three million East Germans in 10 years.

Now Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agent, Walter Ulbricht, has his boundary to protect him from further damaging losses as he goes about reorganizing East Germany as a police state.

The wall has a political significance far beyond its original purpose. It stands as a monument to the division of Berlin and Germany.

High U.S. military authorities in Berlin express conviction that in any negotiations with the Kremlin the wall must go.

The destruction of the wall, they insist, is fundamental to any negotiations.

Even at that the case against the wall may be all but hopeless short of an act of war.

The Western position in Berlin has an unpleasant look, but confindence is expressed here in responsible circles that the West will preserve West Berliners' freedom.

Yet, the crises in Berlin are becoming more dangerous all the time.

By some measures, the United States has almost nothing to give away in negotiations with the Russians.

Yet there is talk of giving Krushchev a "means of egress" from the dangerous situation created by his insistence upon changing Berlin's status. This would offer him a way out without losing face.

One means would be to accept the existence of an East German state as a reality which cannot be changed short of nuclear war.

This would mean that should Khrushchev go ahead and sign a separate treaty with Communist East Germany, the West would deal with East Germans instead of Russians in Berlin. They would insist that the East Germans were simply agents for the Russian occupation—but that is a matter of words. The fact of East Germany in effect would be accepted.

If there are no developments satisfactory to Khrushchev—such as, for example, a summit meeting or perhaps a foreign ministers meeting on German questions — Khrushchev presumably will go ahead with his unilateral treaty.

The West then would face an unpleasant alternative: deal with the East Germans or take the chance of touching off war.

Should the West balk, a new Berlin blockade would bring imminent danger of nuclear war.

West Berlin today is a huge industrial city, far more complex than it was at the time of the 1948 blockade. An airlift could not sustain it long this time. Today the roads, railways and waterways are filled with the commerce of West Berlin. A blockade would be a crushing blow to Berlin morale, and trying to break it could mean war.

What is expected in the most informed quarters is this:

Moscow will sign the treaty, but will instruct the East Germans to act with care to avoid action raising the threat of military retaliation. Moscow will wait for a more appropriate time to get tougher, to begin to maneuver for the next bite.

If the United States and the West, after Khrushchev's treaty is signed, do deal with East Germans instead of Russians with regard to Berlin, it will be taken by most West Germans as a substantial concession to the East.

Thus, say responsible circles, the West Germans should be adequately forewarned of how the West is going to react to Krushchev's treaty. The idea of dealing with East Germans, even to avert a threat of war, seems to engender a feeling of panic among West Germans who suspect their interests might be sacrificed.

The United States is likely to insist, backed by its allies, that there can be no agreement with the Russians on Berlin at all without ironclad assurances of access to all Berlin by Berliners and Westerners alike.

Granted that, these sources say, there might be a tendency to be "realistic" about who controls the border points—East Germans or Russians.

Permian Basin Petroleum Assn. Sets Its First Drive

MIDLAND — The recently organized Permian Basin Petroleum Association will launch its membership and finance campaign on Nov. 1, Joseph I. O'Neill Jr., president, announced Saturday.

Russell J. Ramsland of Midland has been appointed general chairman of an area - wide committee now being formed to conduct the effort. Charles O. Ice of Monahans will serve as co - chairman.

O'Neill, of Midland, also announced that Wayne Cooper, formerly manager of the Denver City Chamber of Commerce, has been employed as full - time membership secretary.

Cooper is on the job at the organization's headquarters offices in the Chancellor Building in Midland.

The association's four regional vice presidents will work with the general committee in planning and conducting the campaign. They are W. T. (Bill) Edwards of Odessa, C. W. Brown, of McCamey, J. Mark McLaughlin of Snyder, and Eugene E. Nearburg of Roswell, N. M.

Membership in the organization will include two types, regular and associate. The regular membership will be those persons or firms who are actively engaged in the oil and gas industry in any of its branches, and also those persons and firms who, although not directly engaged in a branch of the petroleum industry, derive direct economic benefits from its activities and operations.

Associate members will be business organizations and individuals who are interested in the association and wish to support its aims and objects, but are not actually engaged in the oil and gas industry.

"Membership committees will be formed in each of the 55 West Texas and four Southeastern New Mexico counties in the Permian Basin and the area to be served by the association," said Ramsland.

MRS. GEORGE SUTHERLAND

K&F Club Meeting Is Set Tuesday

Members of the Snyder Knife and Fork Club will have the unusual opportunity of hearing a descendant of President James A. Garfield, and a relative of the famous showman, P.T. Barnum, at their next meeting when Mrs. George Sutherland, who traces her ancestry back to the former Republican President, will be the guest speaker at the Club's meeting Tuesday evening at the Country Club.

Mrs. Sutherland, who proudly admits to her mid-western background, having been reared in Iowa and now living in Oklahoma, is herself a showman, like her famous relative the great Barnum. A graduate of the McPhail School of Music and Dramatic Art, she has had more than 12 years of experience meeting with groups similar to the local club.

A student of American history she has just completed a long researching project which took her into the archives of some of the nation's best libraries where she dug deeply into the lives of famous great. Afterwards the data she assembled is the core of the talk she will present here, and which, aptly enough, she has entitled "Little Known Facts About Important Americans."

Concert Assn. Is Resuming Activity

The Scurry Concert Association has set the stage for resuming operations here for the 1962-63 season.

Officers of the re-activated association, who were elected at a meeting here last Monday, have executed an agreement with United Audience Service of New York City. Dewey Anderson, representative of United Audience Service, said his firm is not a talent management firm, and consequently can book virtually any artist, or group, which a local organization can afford. They offer bookings in three categories, concerts, theater and jazz.

Anderson said that United Audience Service provides one of their people and all necessary material for membership campaigns of local associations at no cost to the local association, except mailing charges for the campaign materials.

Moreover, all money raised in a membership campaign is retained locally until the day of a performance when the fee for that performance is forwarded to United Audience Service.

The Scurry Concert Association has set tentative dates for its 1962-63 membership campaign for late March or early April.

Badger Robertson, elected president of the association here stressed that reactivation of the Scurry Concert Association on a sound and perpetuating basis would significantly help satisfy the cultural desires of the community. In addition, he reminded that it would establish a continuing organization that will be an asset to Scurry County's business and industrial development interests.

Telephone Exchange To Take A Trip

Telephone history will be made again in this area on Nov. 30 when Westbrook gets dial telephone service.

Truman Black, local manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., said a complete telephone exchange, minus poles, wires and telephone instruments, will be moved from Crowley to Westbrook. The new telephone system will mean the end of Westbrook's old magneto switchboard. This is one of two such switchboards now in existence in the telephone company's north Texas area. The other is located in Lindale, near Tyler.

The Crowley building was jacked up Friday and placed on wheels to begin its 260-mile journey.

Black said this will be the second time that a complete central office exchange has been moved in West Texas. The first was two years ago when the company moved the old Anson telephone building and central office equipment to Pyote Air Force Base near Monahans.

Black said the equipment for the Westbrook exchange will be in excellent working condition when it goes into operation.

'LATE NEWS'—Cheryl Rutledge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rutledge, reads "late news" in newspaper dated Jan. 4, 1800.

History Comes To Life On Pages Of 1800 Newspaper

BY DICK ROBERTS

History comes to life on the printed pages of an 1800 newspaper owned by Mrs. C. E. Rutledge of Snyder. The paper is the Kingston (Ulster County), New York edition for Saturday, Jan. 4, 1800.

A colorful account of the funeral services for General George Washington is carried on page 3. On page 1 is found the "late" news consisting of quotes of London newspapers of Oct. 20, 1799, giving the English account of the battle of Zurich.

Also on page 1 are the messages sent to President Adams from the Congress of the United States. The second uprising of the Whiskey Rebellion was apparently under way.

And here's what Congress had to say: "We cannot refrain from lamenting that the arts and calumnies of factious and designing men have excited open rebellion a second time in Pennsylvania and thereby compelled the employment of a military force to aid the civil authorities in the execution of the laws."

Part of President John Adams reply was praise for the troops for making "a deep impression both as a terror to the disobedient and as an encouragement to such as do well."

History books tell us that the putting down of this rebellion was the first internal test of strength of the newly formed republic and was instrumental in welding the new states into a truly united group.

"Vant ads were different in 1800, too. On the last page we read "Second Notice of my wife Hannah is hereby given forbidding all persons whatever from harboring or keeping her and from trusting her on my account, as I am determined to pay no debts of her contracting." So said Matys Van Steenbergh in 1800.

Or you might be interested in "A neat, elegant, well - finished pleasure sleigh." If so "Apply to James Hasbrouck in Kingston."

Another ad offered for sale "A stout, healthy, active Negro wench. Any person inclined to purchase may know the particulars by applying to John Schoonmaker, jun. at Rochester."

Yes, times have changed in writing styles, speed in newsgathering and in the services newspapers perform. But as we celebrate newspaper week we remember again that the world's history is printed every day in the pages of our newspapers.

Clay Given Carla Funds

BERLIN (AP) — Gen. Lucius [illegible] Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, received Saturday 720,725 marks ($180,181) contributed by West Berliners for the victims of Hurricane Carla in Texas and Louisiana.

The money was raised through a campaign by the Berlin newspaper Morgenpost to show the city's gratitude for all that has been done for it by the United States. It will be turned over either to the American Red Cross or the governors of Texas and Louisiana for use in those states.

The check was made out to Vice President Lyndon Johnson as a token of thanks for his morale-boosting appearance here after the Aug. 13 border closing.

Reds Wary Of Talking About Stalin

MOSCOW (AP)—Whatever the aims of the Kremlin's current anti-Stalinist campaign, the subject of Stalin is still something most Russians hesitate to discuss with foreigners.

This reticence not only is an indication of how the training of the Stalin era has clung to them, but also a sharp reminder that Soviet citizens still do not feel free to discuss touchy political matters.

If a question about Stalin's popularity or unpopularity is put directly to a Russian, he will of course reply—with current phrases out of Pravda but nothing more. His true feelings remain hidden behind a jargon that is a hangover from Stalin's days.

Whatever phrases there are in the newspapers or on the radio have been nothing but direct quotes from anti-Stalin speeches at the party congress now under way in the Kremlin.

Whether the anti-Stalin campaign is part of a plan by Premier Khrushchev to let more light into the Soviet political scene or a cover for some deep internal party trouble is open to debate.

There have been no open signs of anyone in the Soviet Union challenging the wisdom of Khrushchev's policies.

Outside the Soviet Union, things are different. Three Communist countries — Albania, Yugoslavia and Red China—have been audacious enough to stand up against some Kremlin leadership policies.

Some Soviet citizens say that Khrushchev, with his anti-Stalin campaign, is finally exposing the truth about what went on in the Kremlin in the past.

Denunciations have been aimed at the current 22nd Soviet party congress at such Stalin aides as V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich. But what no Soviet citizen ever dares mention is that Khrushchev, Anastas I. Mikoyan, Mikhail Suslov and many others still high in Kremlin councils were also close aides of Stalin. How did they stay clear of wrong doing? Or will some Soviet politician eventually get up and denounce them too?

Arabs Want More To Say About Oil

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—The Arab Oil Congress recommended Saturday that Arab states have greater partnership in the management and capitol of oil companies operating on their lands.

The resolution said this would assure the rights of the Arab peoples and guarantee the stability in relations between governments and companies.

The resolution also recommended measures to prevent the transport or sale of oil to Israel.

A second resolution said Congress supports the Algerian Arab people and their full sovereignty over the Sahara as well as the oil resources it contains.

Girl Mauled, Bitten By Excited Lion

DALLAS (AP)—A pretty girl was mauled and bitten by an excited 80-pound lion early Saturday at a dude ranch party east of Dallas.

Miss Betty Veatch, 19, an animal trainer, received severe gashes on her head, neck and left hand before the animal was beaten and pried loose from her by Pete Lucas of the B&B Dude Ranch on U.S. 80.

The girl was in good condition later. Lucas needed numerous stitches in his hand which he had stuck in the lion's mouth in an effort to pry it open.

Miss Veatch has been employed about two years as a trainer at the ranch.

The incident happened around 2:30 a.m. while a private party was in progress at the ranch.

There were 30 to 40 persons present but most of them didn't know the struggle was on.

The male lion, Zombie, about 3, was in a cage in a ranch building.

Witnesses said someone set off some fireworks nearby and the animal became frantic.

Miss Veatch went into its cage to calm it. A woman party guest started screaming, and the lion attacked his trainer, grabbing her by the left hand. Rolling on the floor with head down to protect herself, Miss Veatch shouted, 'Get Pete, the lion's got me.'

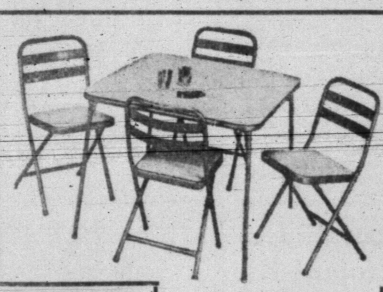

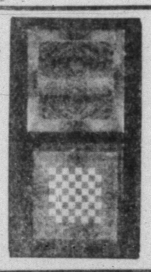

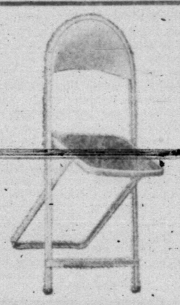

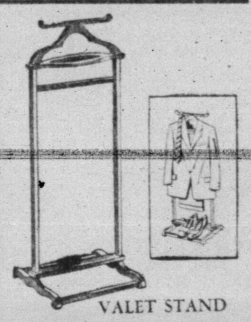

The animal was gnawing at her head when Lucas arrived. Lucas whacked Zombit and finally got him to release the girl.

Longhorns Stomp Porkers

By AL DOPKING

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Texas rocked Arkansas hopes for a third Southwest Conference championship in a row Saturday with a 33-7 beating as the Longhorns rolled on with a hard-running attack which has already racked up 172 points for them this season.

In marking up their fifth straight landslide victory, the Texans blitzed Arkansas statistically with 402 yards offense to Arkansas' 124. All but 48 of Texas' yards came on the ground.

The only place where Arkansas outdid the Longhorns was in the air and that was by the thin margin of 51 yards to 48.

The victory was the second in conference play for the unbeaten Longhorns and put them clearly in the league lead.

Almost everyone got into the Texas scoring act as the Longhorns scored in every period. All touchdowns but one came through the air. The exception was a three-yard scoring pass from quarterback Mike Cotten to halfback Jack Collins in the second quarter.

In four long touchdown drives, Texas handcuffed the Razorback defense. The longest drive, for 85 yards, was climaxed by a dazzling piece of end skirting for 19 yards and a touchdown by Cotten. That was in the third quarter.

Texas racked up three of its touchdowns in the first half, one the direct result of an Arkansas fumble on the porker 20. Tailback Tommy Ford carried it all the way for that one, needing only six rushes, early in the second period.

After being smothered in the first half, Arkansas made a frantic third quarter aerial bid. Its first thrust in the air fell far short, but its second, riding the breaks of a Texas fumble on the Longhorn 36, paid off.

With George McKinney doing the passing, the Razorbacks scored their only touchdown when end Jimmy Collier speared a two-yard toss in the end zone in the third period.

But if the Razorbacks had any hopes of a comeback, they were quickly put to rest by the rampaging Longhorns, who, on the next kickoff, rolled 85 yards in 17 plays with Cotton's 18-yard touchdown run as the big play.

Shifty footed Jimmy Saxton and hard-driving fullback Ray Poage powered the first Texas touchdown which Saxton scored from one-yard out midway in the first period.

The final Texas touchdown came in the fourth quarter. The Longhorns mounted a 62-yard drive with Jerry Cook scoring on a two-yard run after he had done most of the ball-lugging upfield.

Tech Shocks Baylor

LUBBOCK (AP)—Sophomore fullback H. L. Daniels kicked a 34-yard field goal in the closing 27 seconds Saturday night to give Texas Tech's spirited Red Raiders a 19-17 victory over the favored Baylor Bears.

Daniels' perfect placement climaxed a see-saw battle in which Tech grabbed an early 16-0 lead before sub quarterback Bobby Ply engineered a brilliant Bear comeback.

A crowd of 32,500 cheered wildly as the Raiders registered their first triumph over Baylor since 1946. The defeat virtually eliminated the highly regarded Bears from the Southwest Conference title race.

Tech stunned the visitors with two touchdowns in the first six minutes. Baylor, with Ply at the helm, tied the score at 14-14 on the final play of the first half. The Bears went ahead on end Carl Choate's 26-yard field goal. Then Tech narrowed the margin to one point on a blocked punt for a safety on the final play of the third quarter.

The stage for Daniels' winning placement—the first of his varsity career—was set when quarterback John Lovelace moved the Raiders 28 yards to the Bear 18. Then, on a fourth-down try, Daniels sent his kick high and true to hand Baylor its second straight setback.

Daniels played the last half on offense after Tech's Coolidge Hunt, conference rushing leader last season, left the game with a head injury just before the intermission.

Tech, fresh off a 10-0 upset over TCU a week ago, stunned the Bears by moving 79 yards in 11 plays on its first possession. Hunt scored the first touchdown with Daniels converting from placement.

Two plays later, the Raiders scored again as halfback David Rankin intercepted a pass thrown by Baylor's Ronnie Stanley and sped 26 yards down the sideline. Daniels converted.

Then Ply took charge. Deftly mixing runs with pinpoint passes, he sparked the Bears to touchdown drives covering 78 and 69 yards. In those two marches, he hit nine of 10 passes for 124 yards through the air.

Baylor's first tally came late in the first quarter as Ply pitched a 26-yarder to halfback Ronnie Goodwin, who snaked through five Tech defenders to score. Choate converted.

The Bears tied the score on the final play of the half when, facing fourth down with six yards needed, halfback Ronnie Bull powered six yards over right tackle. Choate again kicked the point.

Midway in the third period, Baylor forged ahead on Choate's field goal. But on the final play of the period, the Bears' Benny Corley fumbled a snapback and his punt blocked by tackle Larry Mullins. The ball caromed out of the end zone for a Tech safety to leave Baylor ahead by 17-16.

Spartans Drop Irish From Unbeaten List

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State turned two pass interceptions into touchdowns and beat down Notre Dame 17-7 Saturday in a grueling defensive battle between two football giants.

The undefeated Spartans, ranked first in the nation, were hotlied up by sixth-ranked Notre Dame until they cashed in for two touchdowns late in the third period.

The Irish, previously unbeaten with three victories, seized command early and dominated play until Michigan State's lightning comeback from a 0-7 deficit.

George Saimes, a barreling 186-pound fullback, struck for both scores and put the Spartans ahead after their long uphill battle.

He hungered 24 yards for the first touchdown after Herman Johnson had intercepted Daryle Lamonica's pass at the Spartan 22.

The Spartans took the lead after another pass interception—this time by Carl Charon. He grabbed Lamonica's pass at the Irish 42 and returned it 11 yards.

Art Brandstatter booted a 20-yard field goal for Michigan State's last three points midway through the fifial quarter.

Drouth Broken As Kansas Stops Sooners

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Versatile John Hadl, switching with ease from quarterback to halfback, led Kansas to a 19-0 victory over Oklahoma Saturday, ending 15 years of Sooner football domination.

Hadl hit Larry Allen with a 30-yard scoring pass in the second quarter to cap an 80-yard drive. Wallace Barnes added a 35-yard field goal in the third quarter for a bit of icing.

The victory kept Kansas in the thick of the Big Eight Conference scrambling for the season. Oklahoma could just about forget any last-minute miracles in the championship contention.

Michigan Slips Past Purdue

BY RICHARD PYLE

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan turned the first of Purdue fumbles into a safety in the opening minutes and made the two-point edge stand up for a 16-14 Big Ten victory Saturday.

Both teams showed flashes of brilliance. But the Wolverines, rebounding from last week's 28-0 thrashing by Michigan State, made better use of the foe's mistakes.

Michigan scored the safety when Purdue's Tom Boris fumbled a punt-out on his own two and was tackled as he recovered the ball in the end zone.

Later, in the first half, with Michigan leading 9-7, Purdue drove 51 yards to the Michigan six only to lose the ball on another bobble.

Michigan electrified the crowd of 66,806 with a 72-yard pass play from Dave Glinka to Bennie McRae to take a 16-7 lead early in the third period.

But the Boilermakers, refusing to fold, came back three plays later with a 77-yard pass play. Sophomore Ron DeGravio passed to end Tom Flyell, who escaped the clutches of the Michigan secondary at mid-field and raced all the way to the goal to close the gap to its final margin.

Owls Pop Ponies In SWC Opener

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—Great defensive plays by Randy Kerbow and Johnny Burrell broke up late Southern Methodist threats Saturday night as Rice University broke a 14-year Houston jinx by defeating the Mustangs 10-0.

Rice dominated play in the Southwest Conference opener for both teams until midway in the third period when the Mustangs, 13-point underdogs, cut loose with threats that carried to the Rice three and five yard-lines.

Kerbow stopped the first with a jarring tackle that caused Tommy Brennan to fumble, with Jerry Candler covering for Rice at the three.

Burrell held ground down at the five on the second surge but Burrell broke through to throw Jerry Rhome for a nine-yard loss. John Richey's fourth down 21-yard field goal attempt was wide.

Rice, in taking its first Houston victory over SMU since 1946, moved 39 yards in the first period for a 7-0 lead. Billy Cox passed eight yards to John Sylvester for the touchdown.

In the second period, Rice covered a fumble on the SMU 10. Three plays netted only five yards but Butch Blume kicked a 22-yard field goal, his fourth of the season.

SMU moved no deeper than the Rice 46 in the first half. Rice also appeared to be taking control of the second half. The Owls took the kickoff and moved 55 yards to the SMU 14 before being halted. After that, however, SMU was in command and the Owls moved no deeper than the Mustang 40.

Cox was the spark of the Rice touchdown drive.

A 48-yard punt by Roland Jackson had shoved the Mustangs back to their 10. SMU punted out on first down and Blume returned to the Mustang 30.

A 13-yard keeper run by Cox got a first down at the 23 and a six-yarder by the junior man-under got another at the 12. Spencer Brown moved to the four before Cox found Sylvester in the deep corner of the end zone for the touchdown.

Another 39-yard drive by Rice bogged down at the SMU 33 but it paved the way for Blume's field goal. SMU held and took over at that point but Richey fumbled on the first play and Blume covered at the 10. Three plays by Blume and Cox netted only five yards and Blume covered at the 10. Three plays by Blume and Cox netted only five yards and Blume kicked the three-pointer.

Trojans Rip Panthers In 6-Man Fray

HOBBS — The Hobbs Panthers got themselves submerged by the Divide Trojans here Friday in a six-man district grid battle, 57-16, as the victors tallied at least two touchdowns in each quarter in rolling to the win.

David Ratliff represented the bright light for the Panthers, as he accounted for all his team's point production.

The Trojans were paced by Harvy Saunders, who skipped to 26 points during the course of the contest.

Lemm Tries Luck Today

HOUSTON (AP)—Wally Lemm makes his debut as a pro football head coach Sunday when Houston entertains the Dallas Texans at the expense of the Texans. The game starts at 1:30 p.m. in Houston's Jeppensen Stadium.

Lemm replaced Lou Rymkus as the coach of the defending AFL champion Oilers Monday and is now operating with one of the smallest coaching staffs in pro football. He has two assistants.

Dallas won the season's first meeting between the teams, 26-21, in Dallas. The Texans now stand with a three won, two lost record.

Houston has won one, lost three and tied one.

Lemm said he will not decide who his startilig quarterback will be until game time. He has a choice between the veteran, George Blanda, and the youngster, Jack Lee of Cincinnati.

Blanda sat out Houston's past two games except for kicking duties.

Lee completed 27 of 41 passes against Boston last week to set a league record of 457 yards gained.

Dallas, led by the flashy Abner Haynes of North Texas State, is the league's best ground team. Houston is the league's top passing team, but is the worst in the league in defense against running plays.

Lemm plans two definite changes in Houston's starting units. Rich Michael, an All-league performer last season, will start with Matt in place of Tookie Bob-Kelly, he said.

Ends Ode Burrell, signed by Houston last month, will replace Charley Milstead in the Oiler secondary in an effort to bolster the defense that allowed 113 points in the past month.

Tribe Upends Favored State

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Lee King ran 94 yards with an intercepted pass and Donald Davis sped 35 with a kickoff Saturday as McMurry came back in the last half to nudge Arlington State 23-22 in a football upset.

King passed to Billy West for the conversion points that furnished the McMurry victory margin.

Arlington State got two quick touchdowns in the second period as Doug Wilson raced 70 yards to set up one and a McMurry fumble set up the other.

Lamesa, Lake View Share 3-AAA Lead

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes gained a share of the District 3-AAA top billing Friday by the thin margin of a conversion boot Friday, as they scored with just 2:15 left in the game to dump the favored Sweetwater Mustangs, 7-6.

That victory—coupled with Lake View's first win in history over Snyder, 34-29—put those two in the drivers' seat in district play after the first night of firing. The schedule of this Friday will see the two first-round losers—Snyder and Sweetwater—clashing in Snyder, while Lake View travels to Colorado City to try their luck against the Wolves, who were idle the past week.

Snyder's past non-district foes had a good night of it Friday for the most part, posting wins in three of four games for a fine .750 average.

Big Spring continued its unbeaten ways by blanking Abilene Cooper, 27-0, for its sixth win of the season. Breckenridge stepped out into district play in fine fashion by whacking Weatherford, 29-8. And Andrews slipped past Brownfield on the strength of a last-minute field goal, 11-8, to complete the winning picture.

The only Tiger non-league foe tasting defeat was Levelland, which succumbed to Hereford, 20-12.

Borger, which downed the Tigers in the season opener for both teams, was to have met Lubbock High in a game of Saturday night.

Ewell Blackwell, former Cincinnati pitching ace, scored the first hole-in-one of his golfing career at the Rocky Point course in Tampa, Fla., this spring. He shot a 74.

Holy Cross Victor

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Holy Cross marched 74 yards in the final minutes to defeat inspired Dartmouth 17-13 Saturday on a Pat McCarthy to Al Snyder pass in a dramatic football battle.

Snyder's spectacular goal line clutch of McCarthy's 13 yard aerial came with 4½ minutes to play. Favored Holy Cross still had to withstand a final passing barrage before it had successfully knocked the Hanover, N.H., Indians from the unbeaten ranks.

Redbirds Tip Steers, 30-12

HERMLEIGH — The Hermleigh Cardinals successfully fought off Robert Lee's Steers by 30-12 in a Class 6-B grid contest here Friday, the victory boosting the Redbird eleven into a tie for second in conference play.

The Cards now have won one and tied one in 6-B play.

Hermleigh struck early in the game, taking the opening kickoff and driving all the way to pay-dirt. Fullback Jim Robinson carried the mail the last two yards over tackle from two yards out, then gathered in a toss from quarterback J. B. Roberson for the bonus points.

Later in the quarter the Cards upped their advantage by roaring to their second tally, it being realized on a four-yard jaunt off tackle by fullback Neil Beeks. Terry Smith raveled right end for the points to hike the advantage to 16-0.

Lynn White skirted right end on a 10-yard caper in the second quarter to put the Steers back in contention, but Smith catapulted 16 yards over right guard for another Bird six-pointer prior to the end of the half to give Hermleigh a 22-6 lead at that point.

On receipt of the second half kickoff, Robert Lee drove 60 yards to a touchdown, which was scored on a one-yarder over tackle by Comie Hallmark.

Two late Hermleigh drives—one to the one-yard line and the other to the three—bogged down before they capitalized on an intercepted pass by Beeks in the waning moments of the game. He carried the pilfered package 15 yards for the TD, then rounded left end for the final points of the evening.

Hermleigh held a decided statistical edge, compiling 18 first downs to Robert Lee's 9 and 286 yards rushing to 131 for the Steers. The losers picked up an additional 43 yards by air to none for the Cards, however.

Sparkling in the line for the Cardinals were Ken Bell, Tommy Winter, Fred Gifford, Jimmy Kubala, Ken Wilcox, and Bill Robbins.

One injury was suffered by the Cards dufing the course of the game, with Curtis Brown falling victim to an injured left arm. He was taken to the hospital by Bolger Funeral Home ambulance, and was treated and released.

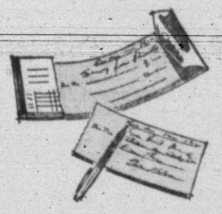

The Cards next travel to Loraine this Saturday to engage that team in its annual homecoming game as set for 7:30 p.m.

Sam Snead says he has scored 14 holes-in-one, getting one at each of the Greenbrier courses in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he is the host pro.

The Phillies won only 12 of their first 38 games and six of their victories were pitched by Art Mahaffey, 23-year-old sophomore.

Chief Land Attack Tells Final Tale

SAN ANGELO — All the offensive stoppers were pulled here Friday night in the District 3-AAA opener, as Lake View's Chiefs utilized a bruising ground game, which saw them amassing an enormous 460 yards on the ground, to drop Snyder's Tigers, 34-29. The game marked the first district outing for both teams.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Snyder, who as a team found itself buried beneath a 7-28 disadvantage in the third quarter, only to come fighting back through the airlanes to come within a hair's breadth of snatching the contest out of the fire.

During second half action, quarterback Tim Marcum fired touchdown passes of 40 and 93 yards to halfback Mike Morris, plus a 29-yarder to end Malcolm Bolger, to bring the Tigers to the very doorstep of victory. Also, recovery of an onside kick with a minute and 10 seconds left in the game put Snyder in business at midfield, but on the second pass attempt from that point an interception snuffed out the final hope for a win.

As a measure of the second half offensive show as waged by the Tigers, they accumulated all but 10 of their 237 air yards during the final two periods. Some four interceptions at various stages of the game hurt considerably, however.

The Chiefs drew first blood in the contest, driving 84 yards on their first series of downs for the ice - breaker, with the last 27 yards being run around right end by halfback Larry Hudson. Fullback Mike Sanders — who more than lived up to his advance billing as the team juggernaut — followed up by kicking the first of four successful conversions for the night to put Lake View into a 7-0 lead with 5:12 remaining in the first quarter.

Snyder recovered quickly, recovering a fumble on the Chief 28, from which point they scored on the second play as run. Marcum kept for 19, then halfback Johnny Mitchell — who picked up 63 of Snyder's 105 ground yards for the night — rambled over right tackle for the remaining nine and the touchdown with 1:25 to go in the first.

Eddie Phy split the uprights to square things up at 7-7.

Following receipt of the kickoff, the Chiefs struck out on another 84- yard paydirt drive encompassing 12 plays. Sanders, the club's battering ram and a continual thorn in the Tiger side on both offense and defense, plowed through right guard for the touchdown from two yards away at 8:45 of the second period, then kicked the extra point for a 14-7 Chief lead.

The Tigers came back to pose a serious threat on the next series of plays, with a 41-yard trap play by Mitchell carrying them deep into Chief territory. The march carried all the way to the five - yard line before an interception squelched the bid. Then, from their own eight, the Chiefs set their gears in motion once again, grinding out 92 ground yards for their third TD of the night.

The scoring play covered 23 yards as Hudson—though hit repeatedly by Snyder tacklers—slid ed for the coffin corner on the right side and barrelled into the end zone for the tally with just 27 seconds to go in the half. Once again Sanders' kick was good, so that the Chiefs left the field at halftime sporting a 21-7 advantage.

A fumble recovery by Lake View early in the second half allowed the Chiefs to set up camp on their own 43, from which point they cranked up and headed goalward once again. It was Sanders once again on the scoring play, a 15 - yarder over right guard, then he toed the conversion to put his mates into what looked to be an insurmountable 28-7 lead.

The Tigers caught fire through the air at that stage of the contest, however, and drove 85 yards in just six plays for their second TD of the game. The big gainer in transit was a 37 - yard toss from Marcum to Morris, with Sanders bringing him down at midfield, he being the last defender having a shot at him.

On a 40-yard play Morris snagged another Marcum aerial in the left flat, then raced over for the touchdown with 1:57 left in the third period. A Marcum-to-Malcolm Bolger toss for the points was too tall, but the gap had been closed to 28-13.

Seemingly confident of victory, the Chiefs gambled on a fourth-and-four situation from their own 30, where Sanders was piled up two yards short of the mark. On the second play as run from there, Marcum connected with Bolger for 29 yards and a touchdown, Bolger being all by himself in the end zone. Marcum rounded right end for the points to put Snyder to within seven points of the Chiefs at 28-21 with 6:48 left in the game.

The Chiefs took the kickoff and proceeded to march 75 yards to their last marker. Quarterback Jim Havlik kept around left end on a 21 - yard play for the clinching tally as two minutes and 27 seconds remained. Sanders' extra point attempt was blocked.

Following a kick over the goal, Snyder began operations on the 20. Marcum lost 13 yards on the first play when all the Tiger receivers were blanketed. On the subsequent play, though, he dropped back and pinpointed Morris on the 20. Morris outran the field from there, romping the 80 remaining yards for the touchdown with a minute and 25 seconds to go. Fullback Eddy Kirby skirted left end for the points to bring on the final tally of 34-29.

The Tigers made one last valiant bid when they recovered the onside kick, which squirted away from a Chief fineman to bring on the mad scramble for possession. The second pass as lofted, though — intended for Morris — was pilfered by Sanders on his 39, and four time — consuming plays later the game was history.

After a dismal first half, Snyder rallied to outplay its foes the final two stanzas, as the Tigers seemed to hit progressively harder as the game progressed. One tackle as made by Tiger John Best on a kickoff play virtually shook the stadium, as he sliced down the runner with bone - crushing precision.

Several Tigers stood out defensively, including Larry McNair, Mitchell, Joe Robinson, William Robinson, and Paul Daniel. Daniel was seeing his first game of full-time duty, as he was subbing for the injured Bob Smith. Smith had to be relieved early in the game due to a pinched nerve in his neck that has been hampering him considerably recently.

Chief elbows and even fists were seen to let fly on occasion, with Daniel and Pete Greene each being shaken up by same. Greene received several loose lower teeth from a blow as dealt him, but has not lost any of them, and will be able to continue playing.

Coyotes Sail By Southland

GAIL—In an eight-man district fray of Friday here, Gail's Coyotes continued their winning rampage by sinking Southland, 44-22.

The victory was the sixth in a row for the Gail crew, whose record is tainted only by an opening 28-6 loss as dealt them by Sterling City.

The Coyotes started with a rush, scoring four times in the first half before Southland was able to bounce back to do any point-making of its own. Quarterback Bill Nunnally kept for three yards and the initial TD of the game for Gail, then rifled to end Bobby Burris for the points.

Halfback Rusty Hensley swept end for 13 yards and a touchdown later in the first quarter, followed by a successful conversion aerial from Nunnally to end Joel Dennis.

Fullback Oscar Ovalle powered his way to both second period markers as racked up by Gail, the first on a 10-yard ramming of guard and the other on a five-yard carry over tackle. Nunnally ran the bonus points following the first of his tallies.

Southland mustered some scoring statie soon thereafter, as quarterback Robinson passed to Herring for 20 yards and a touchdown, with the same combination clicking for the points, so that the halftime reading stood at 30-8.

A pair of Coyote six-pointers in the third stanza served to put them completely out of reach. Hensley scored the initial one on a 40-yard sweep, then Randall Decker—a halfback—followed up with a 30-yard end run for the final Coyote touchdown. Nunnally then tossed to Tommy Burris for the extra points.

Robinson accounted for the scoring of 14 points for Southland in the final period, all by the land route.

Ohio State Nips Inspired Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Ohio State, fired by bull-like Bob Ferguson, subdued stubborn Northwestern 10-0 on a field goal and quarterback Bill Mrukowski's 29-yard touchdown run with two minutes left in a Big Ten football game Saturday.

It was Ferguson's 21-yard smash to Northwestern's 18 which led to Mrukowski's scoring dash on a keeper with 2:04 left.

And it was Ferguson's 38-yard run which set up a 34-yard field goal by Dick Van Raaphorst in the second period.

Just as he was in unbeaten Ohio State's previous three victories, Ferguson was the wheelhorse of the Buckeyes' cloud-of-dust attack as the Bucks won their second conference triumph.

It took all of Ferguson's explosive power, however, to quell inspired Northwestern. The Wildcats played a tremendous defensive game and pierced to Ohio State's eight in the first period.

The first-period Wildcat advance ended with a futile Northwestern field goal try from Ohio State's 13 by Dave Damm.

Trojans Fall To Odessa

ODESSA — In a weird grid contest which saw both teams battling through a scoreless first half and the Lincoln High Trojans of Snyder leading by 8-0 through much of the third period, Odessa got its ground - gaining gears in motion in the final period to walk off with a 45-8 victory in a Negro grid contest played here Friday.

Lincoln drove inside the Odessa 20 four times during the course of the game without scoring. The sole Trojan touchdown of the contest came about on a 76 - yard pass play from quarterback Buford Thompson to end Ronald Green.

The final Trojan scoring attempt late in the game was a try at a 12 - yard field goal, with Green kicking and Thompson holding. It fell short of the mark, however.

Green also came close to hitting paydirt in the first quarter on a 72-yard punt return which carried to the Odessa 20. The Trojans went on to mark up a first down from there, but were unable to punch their way over the double stripe.

Starring for the Odessans was Billy Jackson, who had 182 yards rushing to his credit and three touchdowns.

Trojan Coach Cecil Landers reports that his charges played a fine defensive game in the first half, but that they "ran out of gas" during second half play.

Odessa compiled 261 net yards rushing during the game to Lincoln's 111, and tallied 10 first down to 7 as marked up by the Trojans. Lincoln held a slight edge in passing, completing 5 of 13 for 83 yards to Odessa's 5 of 8 for 60.

Gibbs, Frogs Ax Corpsmen, 15-14

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP)—Fabulous Guy (Sonny) Gibbs drove Texas Christian 98 yards against the clock and Jerry Spearman kicked a 20-yard field goal to give the unpredictable Frogs a 15-14 Southwest Conference victory over Texas A&M Saturday.

The loss knocked the favored Aggies from the league's unbeaten-ranks while the victory was the first for TCU in three conference games.

Gibbs, playing with three broken ribs, directed a dazzling TCU aerial attack from the one-yard line down to the A&M one with about two minutes remaining. There Spearman, who kicked a similar field goal to give TCU a 17-16 upset victory over Kansas, booted the ball squarely through the uprights with 2:12 remaining.

The Aggies, 2-2-1 for the season and 1-1 in the conference, dominated throughout the game and seemed assured of victory when Babe Craig got off a chilling 47-yard punt late in the game that died on the TCU one.

But Gibbs, who didn't get in the game until late in the first quarter, put the aerial spark in the Frogs and electrified a roaring crowd of 43,000.

Gibbs first hit Crutcher for 14, then Dale Glasscock for 17 and then tossed the clincher 28 yards to Glasscock at the 10.

Donne Smith and Crutcher in three plays and a penalty got the Frogs to the one where Spearman took over.

TCU, trailing 1-6 entering the final period, had pulled back into the game on a freak 44-yard pass from Gibbs to Dale Glasscock with 13:11 left. The pass bounced out of A&M defender Jim Keller's arms at the goal and Glasscock snatched it up for the TD.

The try for two points, to even the game, failed when Donnie Smith was smeared.

Travis Reagan romped four yards for A&M's first touchdown late in the second stanza and Sam Byer blasted two yards in the third for the final one.

Daryle Keeling converted after both.

Tommy Crutcher rolled in from the two for TCU's ice-breaking marker.

Until the Aggies exploded late in the second quarter, the first half had been somewhat of a comical defensive show, with Lee Roy Caffey of A&M and Ray Pinion of TCU hogging the show.

The Frogs fumbled on their first series of downs, and Keller recovered for A&M at the 50. But four plays later Keller fumbled and Pinion pounced on the ball at the TCU 38.

The Thomas twins, Garry and Larry, sparked a TCU drive to the 15 and there Spearman first tied goal attempt hit the goal post and fell wide.

Pinion picked up a Reagan fumble early in the second quarter, at the Cadet 21 but this scoring opportunity fizzled one play later when Jim Linnstaedter intercepted a Garry Thomas pass at the 10.

Just 1:08 remained in the half when Reagan climaxed a 75-yard A&M drive with his four-yard touchdown scamper.

When Bob Caskey recovered the ensuing kickoff at the Frogs' 30, Keller moved A&M to the 14 in one play with a pass to Caskey. The Ags missed their touchdown on the next play when Casket dropped a perfect pass at the five.

With three seconds left Mike Clark's field goal attempt from the 21 went wide.

Hornets Stop Ira, 19-16

BLACKWELL — Ira's Bulldogs tumbled to a narrow 19-16 district six - man defeat here Friday, with the Blackwell Hornets reigning supreme in the nip - and - tuck contest.

The loss was the second of the year for Ira as stacked up against five victories. The Bulldogs had previously gotten past Blackwell earlier in the season to the tune of [illegible]

Quarterback Dunnie Dunn paced the Bulldogs losing effort by scoring a touchdown and booting a pair of two - point conversions to account for 10 points. Mike Sterling scored the other Bulldog TD to cap off their scoring for the night.

Jimmy Cate was the sparkplug for Blackwell with two touchdowns and one extra point to his credit. Halfback Mickey Campbell scored the other Hornet six - pointer.

Ira next travels to McCaulley Friday in another district joust. In the earlier meeting between the two teams, the Bulldogs came out on top by a score of 22-8.

AAAA Ranks Thinned Down To Seven Now

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With seven undefeated, untied teams left, the Class AAAA Division of Texas schoolboy football enters the heart of the conference schedule this week.

Defending champion Corpus Christi Miller makes its district start, meeting Corpus Christi Carroll. Wichita Falls, rated the top team, also sees first conference action, taking on Irving.

All other top teams have already tested district competition.

Only two districts of the 16 have undisputed leaders—Amarillo Tascosa in District 3 and Brackenridge of San Antonio in 16.

Longview and Marshall, tied for the lead in District 8, settle the issue Friday.

The only district with more than one undefeated, untied team is No. 1 where Ysleta and Bel Air hold that distinction and are tied for the conference lead. They meet Nov. 17.

Other teams with perfect records are Big Spring, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth Paschal, Corpus Christi Miller and Houston Milby.

Georgia Tech Edges Auburn

ATLANTA (AP) — Auburn lost a two-point conversion gamble in the fourth quarter Saturday and Georgia Tech won a 7-6 triumph in a bruising Southeastern Conference football game.

Almost nine minutes playing time remained in the game when Auburn missed connections on a pass that would have given it an 8-7 victory and its third in a row over Tech's eighth-ranked Yellow Jackets.

Quarterback Bobby Hunt's two-point try sailed over the head of halfback Don Machen in the end zone seconds after Hunt had hit six-yard touchdown pass.

Tech took a 7-0 leed in the second quarter when it drove 60 yards in 11 ground plays. Fullback Mike McNames, who gouged out 27 of those yards, scored from the two. Sophomore Billy Lothridge added the game-winning conversion.

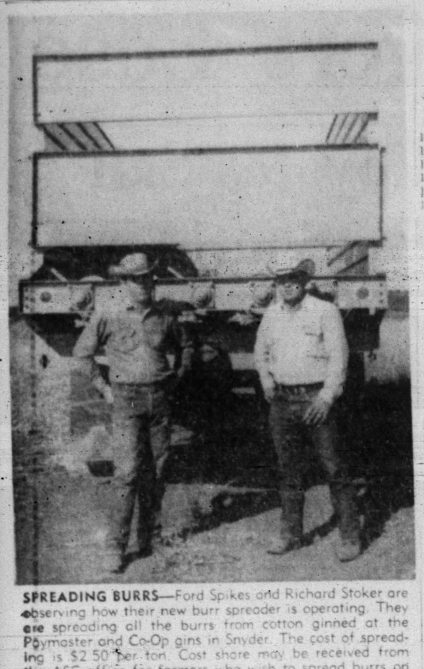

West Texas A. A. U. To Meet On Sunday

PLAINVIEW (Special) — There will be an organizational meeting of the 1961-62 West Texas A. A. U. Men's and Women's Basketball Leagues, at the Hilton Hotel here at 2 p.m. Sunday, October 29.

It is very important that all team coaches, managers, and sponsors be at this meeting. The schedules will be drawn up and arrangements for playoff and tournament dates will be made.

Michigan State fullback Ron Hatcher lost only two yards while netting 301 on 50 rushing attempts during 1960.

Art Brandstatter, Michigan State place-kicking specialist, has booted 28 of 34 extra point attempts and six field goals in two seasons.

SPREADING BURRS—Ford Spikes and Richard Stoker are observing how their new burr spreader is operating. They are spreading all the burrs from cotton ginned at the Paymaster and Co-Op gins in Snyder. The cost of spreading is $2.50 per ton. Cost share may be received from the ASC office for farmers who wish to spread burrs on their land.

Burrs Spread By New Machinery

Farmers in this area are taking advantage of improved machinery for cotton burr spreading.

The new equipment consists of a truck with a mounted auger-type bed. The truck not only hauls as many as five tons of cotton burrs, but spreads them evenly on the field.

One of the burr-spreading trucks is being used by Ford Spikes and Richard Stoker. Another is being used by the China Grove gin. They have been well satisfied with the results of applications.

The need for applying organic matter such as cotton burrs is increasing each year. When cotton is tripped, most of the organic matter and many plant nutrients are removed.

About 95,000 tons of burrs are ginned locally each year. If all of these were put on the land at three tons per acre, they would cover 31,600 acres.

When applied, the burrs should be left as near the surface as possible. Benefits from cotton burrs may be seen more easily the second or third year after application.

Farmers who take advantage of using cotton burrs may receive cost share for the ASC office.

Gins already participating in burr distribution are the Paymaster and Snyder Co-Op in Snyder, and the China Grove gin.

Briton Ired By 'Needles'

LONDON (AP) — News that a U.S. Midas rocket had shot 50 million copper needles into space in an attempt to form a radio-reflective belt around the earth brought angry reaction Saturday from Sir Bernard Lovell, director of Britain's huge radio telescope at Jodrell Bank.

"It is my opinion that this operation is a stain on the hitherto untarnished U.S. program of space research," Lovell said. "I have informed the U.S. authorities that I have reason for believing that the Russians will seize on this for propaganda purposes to justify their own activities involving the contamination of the atmosphere."

British astronomers have opposed the American experiment because they fear it may interfere with their optical and radio observations of the stars.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMALS

QUESTION: Why do elephants have trunks?

• • •

ANSWER: To answer this question we must go back over the elephant's family tree and find out what his ancestors were like. Our illustration does this and answers the question very exactly. The mastadons were ancient ancestors of the modern elephant and the earliest of these had a strange shovel-like lower jaw with flat bony plates on the end. This he used to scoop up juicy water plants. Through some mysterious evolutionary change the poor mastadon's jaw became smaller and he lost his efficient shovel. Now he was in a bad fix: His neck was so short that he couldn't reach up for juicy leaves or far enough down to get food off of the ground. But nature gave him a break after all. His snout, which before had been no longer than the shovel, began to develop. In the picture on the lower left we see that it has gotten so long that he can reach down and gather food on the ground and also reach up to feed from high branches. As the elephants developed from their mastadon-like ancestors their nose became their wonderful trunk with which they can perform a great many different tasks.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: There is a wonderful story which gives a fantastic explanation of the elephant's trunk. You should look it up and read it. The story is Kipling's "Elephant's Child."

President Kennedy To Witness Maneuvers

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Kennedy will witness Navy and Marine Corps maneuvers at San Diego, Calif., Nov. 18, the White House announced today.

Assistant Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said the maneuvers will include amphibious landing operations and carrier-based air strikes.

Hatcher said the aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk and naval and marine units in the San Diego area are expected to take part in the exercises.

Kennedy will fly to San Diego from Phoenix, Ariz., on Nov. 17 and spend the night at the North Island Naval Air Station, Hatcher said.

Hatcher said Kennedy may include Los Angeles as a stop on his western trip, but that no final decision had been made.

Autry Is Pleased With His Angels

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gene Autry rode to fame with his recording of "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine." I expected him to look like the song after a year in big league baseball.

But no. His sandy hair was merely flecked with gray. His step was sure, even in his high-heeled boots.

"I'm not hurting," he said calmly.

Numerous experts predicted he would be, after his first season with the Los Angeles Angels. He and associates put up $2.5 million —others invested a like amount — to found the American League team. What they got was a grab bag of players from other teams and an undersized—20,000 capacity — ball park to play in, Wrigley Field.

"But we'll show a profit on our first season," Autry reported. "I think we did pretty good, considering.

"Lots of folks were predicting we'd only win 40 or 50 games. We won 70. I think we would have done even better except for some bad luck.

"The team went East early in the season and got rained out several days. That meant they were not getting enough exercise, and then they had to play a lot of doubleheaders, which is hard on the pitching staff. By the time they got back here, they practically had to have spring training all over again."

Home attendance was a disappointment, he acknowledged — about 600,000 while 800,000 or a million had been hoped for. The location of the park was the principal cause, he said.

But wait until next year, Autry said, echoing a familiar phrase. In 1962 the Angels become stadium mates with the National League Dodgers in Walter O'Malley's Chavez Ravine Stadium, capacity 56,000.

"I think we should draw a million next year," the cowboy star said resolutely. "We have the Yankees for nine games, and they should pull 50,000 a game. The location of the new stadium is much better, and it should give all our games a big lift."

Sitting behind the desk of his Toluca Lake office, Autry appeared to have more the figure of an umpire than a shortstop. But that is in keeping with his age (54) and position — several millions. Plus the fact that during the last year he has been out of the saddle and on the banquet circuit.

"I only made three appearances as a performer during the year," he remarked. "That's about all the time I could spare. I devoted a lot of time to the team, making speeches at little leagues and hot stove leagues. And we have a weekly meeting of the Angel management, where we discuss plans and problems."

Tree Gets In Way Of Production

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— "We are shooting three days in Hollywood," said Billy Wilder, "because Mr. Buchholz decided to make the acquaintance of a tree."

The director did not seem perturbed by the inconvenience. At least not now that he has the final scenes of "One, Two, Three" safely in the can. Last month it might have been a different matter.

Wilder planned to shoot the comedy of present day Berlin entirely in Berlin and Munich. Then his young star, Horst Buchholz, slammed his Cadillac into a West German tree. Wilder couldn't wait for the actor to get out of the hospital and then the courts. Hence the company was dismissed and reassembled here this week.

According to Buchholz, getting out of the hospital was easier than getting out of the courts.

"I had internal injuries—how do you call it, intestines?" said the actor. "Even so, I recovered quickly. It is because I have no fat on my belly and because I am young.

"After 10 days in the hospital, I wanted to go home. The doctors pleaded with me to stay four or five more days. They said 'Horst, you are a horse.'"

He bounced back fast from his injuries, only to get staggered by German justice. The decision: a $6,500 fine and revocation of license.

"Such a fine has never been heard of before," he declared. "It was fantastic, especially since no one else was hurt in the accident, no one died. It was just me and the tree.

"I know what the reasoning was. They knew I was a young actor in the public eye. They knew I was the idol of young Germans. They thought they could make an example of me.

"They did it very cleverly. I might have appealed, but I had to leave the country. If I protested, they could have lifted my passport, since I am a Swiss citizen. They knew all that. So I paid."

"Driving in the United States is much safer than in Germany," said he. "There are too many country roads over there, too many hills and curves."

Also too many trees.

Music For Home Movies Plentiful

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Now anyone can add a musical score to do-it-yourself movies.

Publicist Maury Foladare and Bing Crosby's longtime violinist, Harry Bluestone, have come up with a whole library of music scores for home movies.

The first of a series of albums containing crowd noises and music scores suitable for baby christenings to backyard barbecues has been marketed by one of the big camera companies.

Foladare, who has been publicizing musicians from Bing to Ricky Nelson, said the idea came because he was such a lousy cameraman.

"My home movies needed help —so I called on Harry who has the biggest music library I know."

Brando Enjoyed Tahiti's Privacy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marlon Brando said his stay in Tahiti for "Mutiny on the Bounty" may not have been good for an actor's ego—but it was great for his privacy.

"No one ever heard of me there," says Marlon. "The most popular movie there is 'Dracula.' It's been playing there annually since 1932.

"The Tahitians love ghosts."

He added that if Bela Lugosi were still alive, he would be mobbed in Tahiti.

Stahr Says Viet Nam Situation 'Serious'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr returned Saturday from military briefings in Hawaii saying the situation in South Viet Nam is "serious."

He gave that answer to questions by reporters about reports he received from Amd. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of U. S. forces in the Pacific, and top-ranking Army officials.

Stahr declined to answer questions about the possibility of sending U. S. troops to South Viet Nam. He said he would not want to "anticipate" recommendations which may be made by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, President Kennedy's military adviser now on a fact-finding mission in that nation.

Two-Night Show Plan Is Revised

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Like to see "Hawaii" in two evenings? It's possible, but as of now you'll get the film in one sitting.

Faced with the task of putting the immense James Michener novel on the screen, producer-director Fred Zinnemann toyed with the revolutionary idea of doing it in two complete movies. His backers, United Artists and the Mirish Co., went along.

Now United Artists has changed its corporate mind. The present concept is a one-evening movie. That is the reason for the change of writers from a two-evening man, Daniel Taradash ("From Here to Eternity," "Picnic") to Dalton Trumbo ("Spartacus").

"It's possible that we might go back to the two-evening idea if we get a tremendously exciting script," said Zinnemann.

Meanwhile he will not make his moves until he has the script in hand.

"I am in no hurry," he said. "Films like 'Hawaii' take time; 'Ben-Hur' was on the planning boards for 10 years at MGM. I think it is a mistake to start making commitments with actors before you have a fairly complete script."

Paul Newman should feel rosy. "The Hustler" and "Paris Blues" are the No. 1 and 2 box office draws in the country.

Groucho Marx was happy with his dramatic debut on G. E. Theater—so happy he invited all the set workers to lunch at his expense. A sound man told me it had never happened to him before in 30 years of labor in the studios.

Rock Hudson dates only Marilyn Maxwell these days, but friends doubt if their longtime friendship will flower into marriage. They say he is still shaken up—financially and otherwise—by his last marriage.

"Town Without Pity" is an arresting study of rape by an occupying army, a theme as old as the Roman Empire. The film concerns four American soldiers who ravish a German maid and the furor that follows. Kirk Douglas plays the defense lawyer who tries to prove the GIs had provocation. The picture ends unhappily for all the characters and, very possibly, for German-American relations. Much of the drama is honest and convincing but would have been more effective with a more conclusive ending. Not for children.

Old Story; New Twist

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lory Patrick, a raven-haired, brown-eyed beauty, can give a new twist to an old Hollywood story.

Lory, born in Beckley, W.Va., acted in New York, mostly off Broadway, but decided Hollywood was the right place to get recognized as an actress.

"I came out here seven months ago," she says. "About the second day in town, a man came up to me in a restaurant, told me I should be in pictures.

"Naturally, I realized this was the old, familiar line and politely told him that I already was an actress.

"He then wrote down the name of a casting official for a film and told me to report there, that they were looking for my type.

"He added that he would phone in advance that I was coming. Then he left—and I've never heard from him again."

Lory went to the casting office, got the role. Someone else saw her in it and now she's the pretty schoolteacher on "Tales of Wells Fargo."

49th Starts Rolling Toward Active Duty Early Tomorrow

By ROBERT E. FORD

DALLAS (AP)—The 49th Armored, honed about as sharp as a peacetime National Guard division can be, starts its main body rolling toward Louisiana before daylight Monday for extended active duty.

Swarming out from 74 Texas towns will be men in division equipment, commercial buses and a few private automobiles.

Already a cloak of secrecy has been thrown about the division's manpower strength.

So high is the state of readiness that within 13 weeks, says a division spokesman, the Texas outfit will be ready to go anywhere in the world and be in fighting trim when it gets there.

The spokesman said division officers do not know the future beyond the 13-week deadline. The outfit may remain at Ft. Polk, La., or it may be moved anywhere in the world.

In the 49th equipment are weapons which need only the warhead to make the division atomic-capable.

The division's call-up came during the Berlin crisis and is aimed at strengthening the nation' call-up came during the Berlin crisis and is aimed at strengthening the nation's position in the cold war.

The Pentagon made a pet of the division, along with some others, keeping it in a high state of readiness.

"It has been common knowledge for some that the 49th would be the first to be called to active duty," said a spokesman.

The division, feeling that full-time active duty loomed, made the best of its two-week summer training period at Ft. Hood, Tex., about two months ago.

"That helped a lot," said the spokesman.

The division actually went on active duty Oct. 15. The men reported to their armories and worked there.

About a fifth of the division went ahead to Ft. Polk, La., as the advance party.

Many more than 74 communities will find gaps in the ranks of citizens Sunday. For many division members live in other places and have commuted to their unit's drills.

A division officer said some traffic jams may occur Monday and Tuesday, but not serious ones.

The traffic problem was eased last weekend when the 49th took all its tracked vehicles, such as tanks, to the Louisiana training ground.

Monday's mass exodus will be with the remainder of the outfit's equipment down to paper clips.

Although the present actual strength of the division has been classified as a military secret, published is the standard strength of such a division—14,617 men.

When the call to active duty came Sept. 19 the division rolls showed about 8,000 officers and men. The division began an immediate recruiting drive.

Gaps in the ranks will be filled with ready reservists—trained men attached to no organized unit but who have additional military obligations.

About half of the military reservists who will fill in the division will come from Texas.

They begin their processing Tuesday at Ft. Hood and Ft. Sam Houston in Texas and Ft. Sill in Oklahoma.

Stack Role Is Unique

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Stack's popularity as TV's Eliot Ness has taken a unique twist with his movie career.

Stack, star of "The Untouchables," has only one season left on his TV contract. He doesn't know what he will do next year—sign again or return to his movie career.

But his agent, Bill Shiffrin, works far in advance. He has been sounding out movie studios for possible Stack roles in 1962.

At MGM, one role was perfect for Stack, and Benny Thau, a top MGM executive, agreed. But Thau gave Shiffrin a surprising turndown.

Said Thau: "Bob Stack has got to stay on as Eliot Ness. It's my favorite show."

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 12, NO. 150 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1961 SECTION B

Plainview Home Demonstration Club Holds All-Day Craft Meeting

The Plainview Home Demonstration Club women were busy this week at an all-day craft meeting held at the home of Mrs. J. N. Eicke, Lloyd Mountain Road.

The group was making Christmas gifts for friends and family ahead of time to miss the last-minute rush come December.

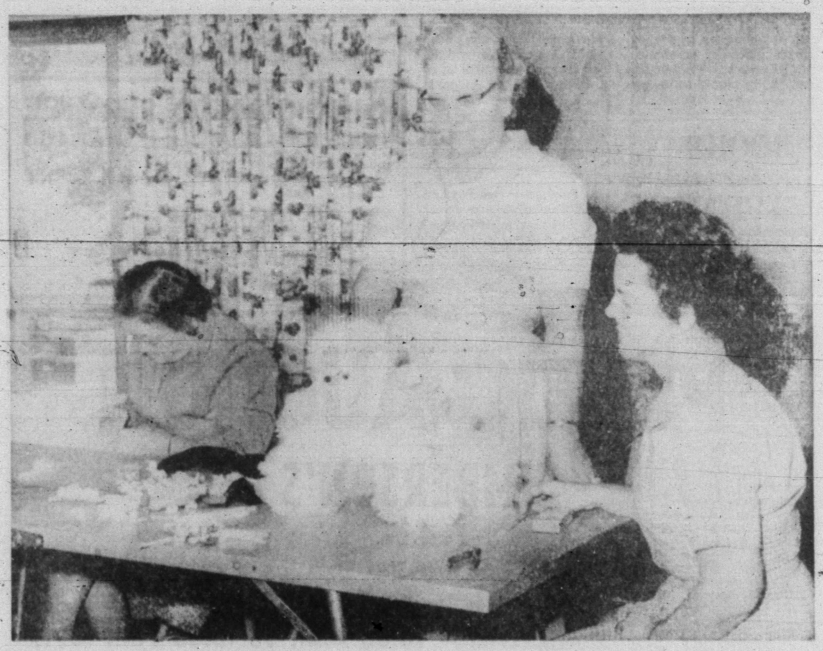

Mrs. Eicke served a most interesting lunch, in five courses, to the members at noon. Such things as gullet guzzler, frown makers and burp balls were in the 20 items one could pick for the courses, but each course was eaten before the next was served, with each individual making out her own menu. This turned into a hilarious affair before the meal was completed with some members not even receiving a Lover's Lane, (spoon), hay maker (fork), sopper upper (napkin) or jack (knife) until the final course.

After the luncheon and before, the group were seriously cutting four-yard pieces of net into six-inch strips to be made into poodles, marking pillow tops to be smocked, and making many beautiful items to be on hand for Santa when his day arrives.

Mrs. Marion Dabbs was in charge of the smocked pillows and Mrs. Jesse Koonsman the crocheted sweaters. Mrs. Koonsman was also lucky lady.

Mrs. C. L. Lee conducted the business meeting and asked for suggestions on programs for the 1961 year book.

Nine members, Mmes. W. E. McMillan, C. L. Lee, Jesse Koonsman, Will Murphree, Turner Forrest, Marion Dabbs, John Floyd, Mozell Roggenstein and J. N. Eicke were present. Guests included Mmes. Herman Stokes, Dillard Pope, Charley Sparks and Bill Riley.

ALMOST FINISHED—Not much time was wasted as yards and yards of net was cut into six-inch strips to be folded, then tufted to make poodles by these ladies. An array of pink in varying shades, blue, aqua, orchid etc. were coming out in finished products. From left are: Mrs. Will Murphree, (who also displayed some pretty hand-made aprons) Mrs. W. E. McMillan who served as instructor and Mrs. Ida Stokes, pleased with her finished doggie.

DINNER TIME—These youngsters were having a good time at the meeting as they had their own dining area away from the grown-ups and seemed to be having a ball. From left are Candy Stokes, Johnnie Eicke and Randy McMillan.

CROCHETING—Mrs. J. W. Floyd, left, and Mrs. Bill Riley were busy making beautiful sweaters for members of their families to enjoy.

SPORTS-CASUAL—Belinda Roberson, left wears coveralls by Thunderbird of Arizona, a hip and a tuck taken where girls are girlest. They feature a zippered drip seat in blue cotton cord. Ann Matthews, center, wears a dark cotton by Kabro of Houston, with full-skirt and closely fitted bodice. Pleated ruching complete the jabot and three-quarter sleeves. Completely feminine to the 'nth degree. Ann Kimbro models a real scene stealer in a Donovan Galvanis, Ragedy Ann striped sweater. The skin fit pants are of all wool worsted.

FORMAL WEAR—Barbara Spivey, left, models a striking dress coming or going in red satin brocade. The simplicity of the front is pleasing but the back detail keeps you looking. A bustle back skirt is enhanced by two large red roses and a dipped V neckline. Gold gloves and shoes complete her ensemble. At right, Marcia Overman is shown in "Fashion Dynamite" with rows and rows of tiny black lace, as beautiful as a black diamond by Alfred Weber. Long black satin evening gloves add an elegant look.

A Kindly Light

Gas lights are becoming popular for outdoor lighting in all parts of the country. The soft mellow flow of the flame is picturesque and practical. It does not attract insects. It will not disturb neighbors. Home owners say that its a joy to return home from a vacation when lights are on to welcome you. Your home always looks friendly and secure when the light is on to lead the way to the door.

From me to you
A DAILY VIEW
by Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Jonathan lies slain upon thy high places. I am distressed for you, my brother Jonathan; Very pleasant have you been to me; Your love to me was wonderful, Passing the love of women." II Samuel 1:2516 (Read Chapter one) How lonely this world would be, if it weren't for friends. The scripture quoted today is a beautiful tribute to a friendship that was indeed a great inspiration. When you read in the Bible of the love that Jonathan and David had for each other, you can begin to understand the kind of loving friendship that God desires all men to have for each other. Pray to God that you may be a real friend.

Little Takes On Different Meanings

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Little" is an overworked word in the garment district. Perspiring, woolen-clad buyers shopping here this week for next spring's styles can vouch for that.

At nearly every showroom on Thursday the conversation centered around the "little" nothing or snob dress, the "little" suit, or the "little" blouse.

Adele Simpson had a good excuse for using the word. In this diet-conscious age her customers have pared off so much weight that she is now manufacturing dresses in size 6.

But even though designer Hannah Troy has established a reputation for flattering diminutive women, she didn't really mean size when she talked about "little" things.

She meant "minimum amount of fabric and style detail." That's the new definition arrived at by the so-called fashion intellectuals.

In Miss Troy's collection there were many chic "little" suits (for large size women, too) in black and white, navy, red, and pastels. Sometimes the lining matched the "little" blouses. At other times it was a bright, different hue.

Her suits and dresses went along with the spring trend to slightly higher waistlines. And, as the majority of other fashion houses thus far, her styles were figure-conscious.

Even the usually bony models seemed to be heavier, either having added bolsters or underpinnings to accommodate the voluptuous look.

Along with front interest, Miss Troy added plenty of back interest to summer sun and moun dresses. On a few, the spaghetti string shoulder straps were the only visible means of support. Many costumes cross-wrapped in back, forming plunging V's.

The only things about fashion this year that are not "little" or "minimum" are price tags.

A graham - cracker crust is elegant with finely chopped walnuts or pecans added.

Style Show Given By Sorority

The Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha presented a style show to members and guests Monday evening in the Stanfield School at 7:30 P.M. entitled "Latest Trends in Fashion".

Special guest were members of Gamma Epsilon Chapter of E.S.A.

The style show was narrated by Kathleen Glover. Models were Ann Kimbrough, Ann Matthews, Belinda Roberson, Marcia Overman and Barbara Spivey.

Beautiful floral arrangements bedecked the stage and background music was played throughout the program by Margie Lammert.

A door prize was won by Mrs. John DeShazo. After the style show, coffee and cookies were served to approximately 50 guest and members.

4-H Club Awards Set For Nov.

Virtually all 4-H Club girls believe that woman's place is in the home, if the more than a million engaged in a home economics project could be quoted.

At any rate, the future wives and mothers are preparing early for woman's destined role: that of homemaker. Perhaps more aptly today she should be called "homekeeper."

According to statistics released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, some 1.3 million girls between the ages of 10 and 21 in 50 states belong to 4-H Clubs. And judging from interest in projects such as cooking, sewing, interior decorating and home management the young ladies are anxious to learn how to do a first-rate job.

To sum up homemaking activities under one general 4-H category, home economics, the Cooperative Extension Service and Montgomery Ward offer a full-scale program that sets up specific standards, goals and rewards.

Each year members recount achievements and submit their records in county, state and national competition. The Extension Service selects the winners.

The last week of November six outstanding girls will be named national winners and receive $400 scholarships. Approximately 50 girls are expected to win state awards of an all - expense paid trip to the 40th National 4-H Club Congress convening in Chicago Nov. 26-30. Home economics medals already have been presented to the top - ranking girls in the county.

NEWS OF BOOKS

Digests of Great American Plays: Complete Summaries of More Than 100 Plays from the Beginnings to the Present, by John Lovell, Jr., will be published on October 30.

This reference book presents a comprehensive view of American drama from "Ponteach" by Major Robert Rogers (1776) to Lorraine Hansberry's "A Raisin in the Sun," produced on Broadway in 1959. Over 100 plays digests, representing every type of American drama and every major American dramatist, as well as many lesser-known writers, are included.

Every digest includes an act-by-act re-telling of the play; a complete cast of characters; number of acts and scenes; time and place of the play's action, names and dates of author or composer; date of writing or first production.

In addition, Mr. Lovell explains the dramatic theme and provides detailed historical notes about performances, famous actors and directors, and the influence of the drama on American life.

Ten separate indexes alphabetically list authors, lyricists, composers, songs, outstanding roles, literary origins, distinguished actors, and many other important categories of information.

Dr. Lovell, Professor of English at Howard University since 1930, is currently lecturing at the Osaka University of Foreign Studies and studying Japanese drama under a Fulbright fellowship.

Complacency Aids Another Enemy, Elm Bark Beetle

Property- owners can strike a telling blow now against a deadly tree enemy—the ruthless elm bark beetle—carrier of the Dutch elm disease.

The weapon is the dormant DDT spray that will prevent the bark beetles from feeding and ravaging elms come next Spring.

Home owners become complacent as leaves fall, just at the time when the critical DDT spraying can be most favorable. They are inclined to wait for Spring to do the job. But in early Spring spraying may be limited to a mere eight or ten days. That's because of varying temperatures, wind, rain, and other factors.

Government researchers have found Autumn spraying as effective as that done in the early Spring. Yet many property owners appear reluctant to accept this finding.

Elm bark beetle depredations were more severe this Summer than in several years past, attributed in part to severe drought. Weakend trees thus became prime targets of the insects.

Some precautions are necessary in late Autumn spraying. Don't spray in wind or rain that may prevent complete bark coverage. Don't spray on days when temperatures are under 40 degrees—freezing sprays reduce the amount of poison deposited and limit effectiveness.

Practical Fashions Are Coming Back

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Possibly for the first time in the history of womankind, fashion is entering an age of practicality — even though man had to laugh, prod, and finally shove her into it.

The nation's buyers who made the rounds of some of the best known couture houses Wednesday were promised the sensible age by springtime.

That's when the women's apparel introduced this week will be in retail stores.

Just putting the waistline back was practical for the garment industry financially; for men who ridiculed the sack, snickered at the easy-fitting dress and merely tolerated the semifitted suit have had a damaging effect on sales, manufacturers admit.

Thus, Adele Simpson, Luis Esteves and of course, Jacqueline Kennedy's couturier Oleg Cassini, have done more than nip the waistline in again, they've widened it all the way up to the bosom line.

To reemphasize that tiny waist, pint-sized Miss Simpson is also putting wedge-shaped shoulders on her customers. Doesn't looking physically fit have its practicality after an era of hunch-shouldered, emaciated fashion models?

For sitting down with grace and poise, or sprinting after a commuter train, Miss Simpson offers ever-so-sensible knee-free skirts. Deep pleats or gores make the ample room for getaways.

Other points of practicality are dark little blouses, little coat dresses to step into, and polka dots so gaudy you can't be overlooked.

A back zipper you can reach because it travels down the shoulder blade, not the spine, is Luis Esteves' contribution to practicality. His entire spring fashion collection is frothy, wispy and conducive to romance with silhouettes that are more than form fitting. For the sake of customers who do not have nice forms to fit, Esteves sends them dresses with built-in foundations.

Little tailored dresses are the sensible contributions of the First Lady's personal designer, Cassini. Of course, these costumes go in and out where they ought to even though the kind he designs for Jackqueline often do not.

Teeth In Career

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What's a poor teen-ager to do when she has bad teeth and must earn her living with her mouth open?

That's the problem that confronted popular singer Joanie Sommers of California a few years ago.

"I had neglected my teeth for years," she explains. "Sure, I'd go to a dentist when I was in terrible pain, and he'd fix the immediate problem and advise me to come back. But I didn't. Suddenly, there was a chance for a singing career, and I had tooth problems."

After all, a singer not only sings with her mouth open, but she's got to be photographed in smiling poses.

Joanie began sessions with the dentist as regularly as some girls attend school.

Checkups Important

"My mouth was so bad that I had to have an operation along the gums in front of my mouth and lots of stitches," she recalls with a grimace. "My face was so swollen, it looked like a circus balloon. I couldn't eat for weeks, drank only liquids."

Seventeen fillings and many tooth extractions later, dark-haired, hazel-eyed Joanie advises that "every young girl should have her teeth checked twice a year, and brush them every day.

"Never have a dirty mouth, any more than you would tolerate a dirty face or hands," is the way Joanie puts it. "Just because people do not peer into your mouth regularly is no reason to think you are getting away with something when you don't brush your teeth."

It has been a long hard struggle, Joanie says, and one that could have been avoided if she'd gone to the dentist more often.

"Another thing about waiting too long is the strain on you pocketbook," she says. "If you catch a little cavity, the pain to mouth and purse is not as great."

She says the fact that a girl can't afford a dentist is no excuse.

"There are free dental clinics, and those that charge on the basis of what you can afford. A filling is a breeze today with the new drills, an extraction can be painless, and if you have bad front teeth you can have them capped and no one will ever know they aren't your own, unless you tell them."

On Top of the Heap

At 20, 5-foot-4, 110 - pound Joanie is on the crest of a wave. Her best selling record is "One Boy."

She has had no formal voice training, and her career began one evening when a well - known orchestra leader was playing a dance at the Venice, Calif., high school she attended. Classmates prompted Joanie to sing. She did. The applause kept her at it for two hours.

She sang with the band professionally later, then came records, night club engagements, television appearances, and a recent movie, "Everything's Ducky." She likes jazz and enjoys jazz groups. Now in the money, she hasn't let it go to her head except for dental bills.

"I'm a pretty frugal type, and I haven't splurged much," she explains. "I don't see any point in owning a car when I can get to the studio sets on a bus. I don't go haywire when I buy clothes. I buy what I need. When I entertain, the menu is very simple. But when it comes to my teeth, I shoot the wad."

THEY'RE PEARLY NOW—Joanie Sommers flashes refurbished molars, as she appears on television show with singer Pat Boone (left) and songwriter Johnny Mercer.

In a hurry: Add fresh lemon juice to homemade mayonnaise and serve with heated canned or hot cooked frozen asparagus instead of hollandaise sauce. Have the mayonnaise at room temperature; it's not necessary to heat it. Make the mayonnaise when you have time, and keep it stored in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Successful Man Can Expect Plenty Of Extra Attention

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When a man gets successful, he usually can expect extra attention from his colleagues—who figure he's on the way up, from automobile dealers—who want to sell him a prestige car, and maybe even from his wife—who wants a bigger house.

Chances are he also will get attention from a quarter he doesn't expect: private investigators.

There are good odds that his name may be among the 4½ million indexed by Bishop's Service, Inc., one of the nation's major investigating agencies. If you listed all the people who filed returns on incomes of $10,000 or more, altogether you'd have around four million names.

"Any man who comes into the business world and begins to grow in stock, financing or executive status will sooner or later be investigated by us," says William H. Chiariello, $8, stocky president of Bishop's.

The firm is a sort of private eye for banks, brokers, financial houses, insurance companies, large corporations, big investors. It serves an average of 7,000 clients each year, preparing anywhere from 4,500 to 5,750 full-scale, detailed reports. It has been checking into the honesty, integrity and ethics of individuals since 1895. It has agents in principal cities of the United States, as well as Canada, Western Europe and other far-flung points.

"The investigation we conduct is not a criminal investigation such as you might have if an employe were suspected of some wrongdoing," says Chiariello. "Our activities are almost wholly in the personnel field. But we've had our share of scoundrels and bailing cases."

There was the bizarre case of the man who got a $5-million controlling share of a company without a penny of his own.

Chiarello tells it this way: The promoter negotiated with a majority stockholder to buy $5 million in holdings. He borrowed $500,000, which he used as an option for $5 million in stock, stipulating that the shareholder would immediately refuel a new board. Thereupon the promoter went to the West Coast, swore the man had a principal office there, in his capacity as new chairman, obtained $5 million in negotiable instruments held by the company. With these, he obtained $2.7 million from a bank, sped to New York and laid the stockholder the additional money owing him. Then he wrote a check for $5 million against funds of the firm, cashed it, paid off the $500,000 he spent for the option, went back to the West Coast where he paid off the bank and returned the securities to the company.

The end of these transactions found him in control of the company, everyone paid off, and the money taken from the firm accounted for under the heading of "acquisitions."

"He might have gotten away with it except that majority stockholders were suspicious and brought suit," Chiarello says. This might not have been successful but there was something the promoter hadn't figured on. The majority stockholder did not choose a new board immediately and so when the promoter was on the West Coast dealing with the company and the bank he actually had no legal connection with the company and no authority whatsoever.

Chiarello, who was a practicing attorney until he got into investigative work for the government in World War II, says some men who are not imposters have tricky ways of inflating their own versions of their capabilities and connections. The deflating comes in the course of personnel investigations.

"You find that the man who could never get through college somehow is compelled to list himself as a Ph.D. The $70-a-week shipping clerk gets a romantic notion of his job and puts himself forth as a vice president in charge of traffic, annual salary $30,000," Chiarello says.

Businesses Take Over Park Avenue

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Were they present now, the fashionable Park Avenue ladies of 30 years ago would hardly know how to invite their neighbors to tea.

And their neighbors — International Telephone & Telegraph Co., Colgate-Palmolive Co., Joseph E. Seagram & Sons and Union Carbide Corp.—hardly would know how to reply. Their forte is the business conference.

In the past five years more than $200 million worth of slim-smooth office buildings have risen on Park Avenue, most in about 14 blocks from 59th Street South to the Grand Central Station area.

As a result, the avenue has a new appearance — and to many businessmen a new purpose—the corporate headquarters. Park Avenue is now the best-dressed street in town. Its tailoring changed from tweeds to sharply creased business suits.

The change reflects the disappearance of the millionaire and his wealthy and prestigious neighbors, their homes and their apartment buildings — costly, impressive, ornate and perhaps inefficient.

North of 59th street, the zoning laws have preserved the old homes.

Most of the new buildings have curtain walls of glass and metal —smooth except for veins of supporting metal beams. Their architecture is remarkably the same —partly due to lower costs.

The many-thousand windows of these buildings—Union Carbide's 52 stories have 6,827 windows, measuring 9 feet by nearly 5 feet — create strange effects. When clouds brood low the avenue appears colorless as a row of upended, cellophane-wrapped orange crates.

Reflecting the sunlight, however the area is transformed to a shimmering, multicolored fantasy of glass and metal, icey bright and polished as a glacial valley.

Some of these buildings are truly sophisticated with filtered air, filtered light and filtered sound. Their tenants observe a code stricter than that of high society. For example, commercial displays of motion are frowned upon.

What brings corporations to Park Avenue? Prestige for one thing.

The executive of one Park Avenue company uses his business address when registering at out-of-town hotels. Claims he gets much better service than with his unpretentious home address.

In addition, Park Avenue hotels are fine for visiting executives, banking facilities are excellent, and train transportation is handy as Grand Central station.

The cost of individual buildings erected recently on Park Avenue range up to $63 million.

The Fifth Avenue Association preserves the corporate dignity of the Park-Fifth-Madison area. Its rule is stern and carries as much force as the municipal building code.

The association commends companies that use bolts rather than noisy rivets in construction. Signs may not project more than one foot from buildings. Neons cannot project from the facade at all.

Some of the self-imposed rules are the result of socially alert businesses realizing that in the past some industries polluted, begrimed, withered and darkened the landscape.

Carpeting Lasts, Despite Traffic

BONNER SPRINGS, Kan. (AP) —Traffic through the new home of Mrs. Melba Mitchell hasn't worn out her wall-to-wall carpeting.

The rug is on the living room ceiling.

It doesn't get soiled there, and Mrs. Mitchell can sit in her chair, look up and enjoy it.

Mrs. Mitchell says she always has wanted wall-to-wall carpeting but with five sons and a daughter the traffic in and out of the house would wreck a good rug in no time.

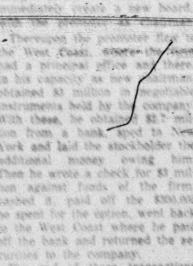

Workmen applied a heavy adhesive to the ceiling and rolled the carpet in place in three-foot widths.

New Tea Tankards Available

Perhaps no other beverage down through the ages has been served in so many different shapes and sizes of containers as has tea. Newest in design and function to capture the fancy of homemakers is the "Iced - and - Hot Tea Tankard."

The overnight demand by thousands of homemakers for these strikingly handsome tea tankards has focused new attention on the fascinating history of tea containers.

Tea in tiny pots, tea in glasses filled from steaming samovars, tea in mugs, tea in china teacups, tea and tea soup a Mongol delicacy; served in bowls. Each mode of serving is a reflection of national custom and at the same time a tribute to the world of flavors locked in a single tea leaf.

Economics as well as sociology has dictated the size and shape of the vessels in which tea has been made and served. For example, when tea reached England in the late seventeenth century, it was almost prohibitively expensive, and the tea - drinkers of the time could afford to brew it only in tiny pots and drink it from tiny cups. A century later, when the price of tea had dropped considerably, teapots and teacups had grown appropriately larger.

In the United States as elsewhere, tea - drinking has followed a distinctively national pattern of development, a development which is continuing as Americans find new ways of serving tea and new occasions for drinking this most versatile of beverages. Inevitably, these new and different tastes have led in turn to new and different serving vessels.

Thus, soon after iced tea was introduced at the St. Louis Exposition of 1904, Americans discovered that the best way to drink the new beverage was not from a cup, even a large cup, but from a tall glass.

A decade or so later, when the teabag was introduced and became popular here, many Americans took to brewing their tea in the cup — a practice which led them to use a much bigger and more substantial container than the traditional tea cup.

Now, again as the result of changes in tea - drinking habits in recent years, we are about to see yet another type of tea serving vessel introduced. This is the tea tankard currently being offered.

Old Webster Gets Meanings

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP — The word for unabridged dictionaries used to be "pompous." Now it is "popular."

The G. and C. Merriam Co. has brought out the new Merriam-Webster unabridged, under the title of "Webster's Third New International Dictionary," the first complete revision in 27 years. Weight 13 ½ pounds. Number of pages 2,720. List price (buckram binding) $47.50. Cost to produce $3½ million.

There are 450,000 entries, including 100,000 new words and meanings. That represents a reduction of about 150,000 entries from the last revision, simply because a lot of stuffy and archaic terms have been eliminated.

The idea was to make a dictionary of use to housewives, average students and business men, as well as the scholars.

Remember when a lot of the word definitions were found in dusty, musty quotations from Dryden and Pope? Not so any more. Of course Shakespeare and Milton remain, but in this edition there are quotations from 14,000 contemporaries, including Kennedy, Churchill and Hemingway, all the way to Mickey Spillane, Dinah Shore and Ted Williams.

The publishers say that these past 27 years represent the greatest vocabulary explosion in history. Yet there are fewer differences in the use of the English language in different parts of the world than there used to be. Why? Partly because of the Second World War, Korea, the cold war and the speed of modern travel. Words get around.

In order to keep track of these developments, Merriam had to build up a file containing 10 million words in context. Some 100 specialists pored over books, newspapers and magazines, menus, traffic laws, game regulations, ice hockey rules, missile publications, ticket stubs and toy assembly sheets. They monitored radio and television broadcasts and studied regional meanings of certain words.

For the letter "S" alone, it took 86 editor-years to complete all the entries, as compared with the 20 years it took Noah Webster to complete his first 70,000-word dictionary in 1828.

Take the word "shake." In 1928 Webster showed 17 different meanings and 15 usage examples, mostly from classical sources. Now there are 42 different shades of meanings, with 56 quotations cited. Dickens, Duteronomy, Shakespeare and Twain represent the past in these quotations, but most of them are from contemporaries.

For this one word, there are quotations from the New York Times, Newsweek, Entomologist, Police, Detective, Financial World, Wall Street Journal, the Book of Common Prayer, Publishers' Weekly and U.S. Navigation Code; from novelists Edna Ferber, Sinclair Lewis and Leon Uris; commentator Elmer Davis, poet A. E. Housmann, historian Oscar Handlin and many others.

JUST FOR THE S—This pile of manuscript surrrounding Madelaine Perrota represents copy for the letter S in the new Merriam-Webster unabridged dictionary.

Pork Chops

Trim 4 to 6 pork chops of all but thin edge of fat, marinate in following: mash ½ cup minced parsley and ½ garlic clove to a paste with mortar and pestle (or wooden salad spoon and bowl), add ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup olive oil and the juice of ½ lemon. After two hours, lift pork chops from marinade (saving marinade) grill in hot skillet until golden on each side. Add pan juices to reserved marinade and pour this over salad greens. Serve the salad with the pork chips.

A small, curved, saw - tooth knife is a big help in preparing grapefruit halves for the table. The knife makes it easy to separate the grapefruit segments from the surrounding membrane.

Hors D'Oeuvres

For a party hors d'oeuvre, cook 2 packages frozen artichoke hearts in ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, adding 1 teaspoon instant minced onion softened in 1 tablespoon water, and ½ teaspoon salt. Slice ½ lemon, place slices over artichokes. Do not add water. Cover tightly, cook over low heat until artichokes are tender, about 12 minutes. Serve artichoke hearts cold in their own sauce.

Do you have a nutmeg grater? Put it on the table when you serve a fruit pudding with a topping of whipped cream. The freshly grated spice is delightful wafted over the dessert.

If you can't get the snow peas called for in some Chinese recipes you may be able to use the broad Italian green beans that now come frozen.

Big Spring Flower Show Date Set

The Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs announce the date for their Fall Flower Show as Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Howard County Junior College gymnasium in Big Spring.

The show will be opened from 3 to 6 p.m. and there will be a voluntary admission of 50 cents. They intite residents of Snyder to attend and feel that they will be pleased with the quality and quantity of the exhibits in both the horticulture and arrangement divisions.

The theme of the show this year is "Cities of America in Bloom", and are planning to present interpretive designs representing such cities as New York, Chicago, Tulsa, Mobile, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Williamsburg and Big Spring, among others.

They invite any member of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. to enter their Class 1-B, "New York", a massed line arrangement, which will be judged by the scale of points number 30 from The Handbook for Flower Shows. Also, Class 12-B, "Phoenix", is an invitational class calling for dried material and will be scored from score number 43 in the handbook. They are anxious to have exhibits from neighboring cities and hope that this will be helpful to those needing flower show ribbons for credit toward their judging certificate.

Entries will be received from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. Pre-registration may be had by contacting Mrs. R. O. Carothers, 1405 Stadium, Big Spring, Texas. Mrs. Glen Lepard is the flower show chairman.

The Big Spring Garden Club Council Flower Show placed in state competition for 1961 and hope to do it again.

The Chef Couldn't Cook At First

By FRED GOLDEN

GOSHEN, Vt. (AP) — Too many cooks never spoiled Elsie Masterton's broth.

That's because she relies on the best cook she knows — herself.

A spunky and talented gal, Elsie is owner and chef of a famed country inn nestled in the beautiful Green Mountains — Blueberry Hill Farm.

She's the author of three books, a skilled amateur artist, a public speaker, mother of three young daughters and producer of 25,000 jars of blueberry jam a year.

Her story also has an element of pathos and heroism. She's struggled with cancer and won.

Time to Write

Elsie discusses the ups and downs of her activity - packed life in her latest book, "Off My Toes!"

Born and reared in Newark, N. J., Elsie was a city gal — and a pretty sophisticated one, too — until her marriage 12 years ago to John Masterton, a New York lawyer. She had thrived on the hubbub of Manhattan — restaurants, the theater, cocktail parties.

But John, a ski enthusiast, came across a thousand - acre farm in Vermont, including a mountain, and decided to develop it into a ski area.

A Long Wait

They lovingly cleared a number of ski trails on their mountain - Blueberry Hill - and then the Mastertons waited for the first heavy snows, the kind Vermonters always boast about, and the accompanying carloads of skiers.

For three seasons, they waited. "We became very, very, very poor," Elsie recalls. "We watched every penny. Our debts were monumental."

Furthermore, their first daughter, Lucinda, was on the way.

In desperation, the Mastertons decided to turn their property into a summer inn. Both, however, abhorred the standard version of the mountain hotel with its planned activities and formality.

Instead, they planned Blueberry Hill arm, a retreat with the motto "Nothing whatever to do." The food was to be "Lucullan"— of brilliant, gourmet quality with Elsie as chef.

Elsie, whose culinary talents didn't go beyond turning on the coffee pot, gobbled up all available information — from cookbooks, newspaper and magazine articles, her Vermont neighbors, even her guests. She also culled her memory for all the fine foods she had tasted in restaurants during her Manhattan whirl.

Profits by Mistakes

Slowly she learned. "My mistakes were colossal in the beginning," she says. "Later, they were less disastrous."

As her cooking skills multiplied, so did the guests. She even wrote a cookbook which sold 14,000 copies.

An amateur cook Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote her how delighted he was with it.

Later her knack for making delectable blueberry jam turned into a mail - order business. On her jam mailing list is another politician - gastronome — Harry S. Truman.

However the Mastertons' luck hasn't always been good. Their attempt to open a winter version of Blueberry Hill on the Florida Keys ended in bankruptcy. Again because of consistently bad weather.

Private Battle

And Elsie found she had cancer of the breast. An operation caught the disease in time, but Elsie was long overcoming her mental anguish.

Now, though, she discusses the operation frankly. She has returned to her vigorus way of life, including participation in local school affairs. She hopes to begin a novel soon.

John, too, is involved in public life. He represents the town of Goshen (about 45 voters) in the Vermont legislature.

"Of course, no one who wasn't born here can ever hope to be fully accepted in Vermont," Elsie says.

"But for 'suntanners' (the mocking Vermont expression for settlers from out of state), we've gone further than most."

In the understatement of their Vermont neighbors, "Yep, they have."

One-Arm Costumes Make Show

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cavemen started the style of leaving one shoulder bare. Jacqueline Kennedy okayed it by including a one-shoulder dinner gown in her state wardrobe.

Designer Rudi Gernreich made a good thing of it last year with his Tarzan-like bathing suits for women. Now he has designed an entire wardrobe for one-armed lady paperhangers and others who like one cold shoulder.

Suits, daytime dresses, cocktail dresses—with one sleeve cut short or off entirely and the other reaching the wrist — were introduced Monday to buyers here for the spring fashion market.

Because around the world was the California designers' theme. Oriental and Negro models joined the garment district regulars to pace the runway in gold Paisley print denim jacket suits; sundresses in such shocking color combinations as pink and brass; and flame red, skintight knit sailor suits designed to make Uncle Sam's boatboys blush the same hue.

Nevertheless, Gernreich also got plenty of inspiration from around the house. He borrowed red and blue checked table cloths for crisply tailored suits, sheath dresses, and lounge pants. Possibly from bed-spreads came his inspiration for trapeze dresses decked with two and three-foot tiers of polka-dot ruffles.

For the first time, Gernreich introduced bikini bathing suits for men. Otherwise sure to attract attention from the Legion of Decency, these are quickly covered with surf length boxers, or leg-covering skin diver suits reminiscent of the Gay Nineties.

Designer Vera Maxwell continued her war against beaded dresses, wispy chiffons, and "those awful minks" for middle-aged women. Her weapons are elegant, simple, wool and raw silk covered-up-everywhere dinner gowns.

Miss Maxwell does not vary much from her classic themes of last year or the year before. Coat and dress combinations, skirts with long, slightly flaring jackets, and the popular sleeveless, slightly blousing dresses all are interpreted in dignity with salad bowl greens, brilliant blues and vibrant reds.

Earlier in the day designer Herb Sondheim opened the spring buying season with a collection of figure-pleasing, ultrafeminine costumes. The collarless, sleeveless so-called "nothing" dress was in evidence, complimented by voluminous stoles, short and long jackets and form-fitting coats that also double as dresses.

Some good cooks like to add coffee to a butterscotch sauce to serve over ice cream, pudding or cake.

MARRIAGE TOLD — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Abercrombie announce the marriage of their daughter, Adaline, to Carl Ray Wickam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wickam of Lubbock. The couple were married Oct. 7 at 5 p.m. in the Colonial Hill Baptist Church by Dr. Jimmie Nelson.
