urveying And Sale To Claimants Of 100th Meridian Land Due

AUSTIN.—The first meeting of the Land Board that will make a sale of some 30,000 acres in five counties in the Texas Panhandle, a part of which lies in Collingsworth, along the Texas-Oklahoma border awarded to Texas by the U. S. Supreme Court in the final settlement of the boundary dispute was held here Saturday.

Plans were made by the Special Board, which consists of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, Attorney General Gerald Mann and State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, to arrange the details for the proper and orderly disposition of the tracts to bona-fide claimants.

The lands affected lie in Lipscomb, Hemphill, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Childress Counties in the Texas Panhandle. The United States Supreme Court issued its final decree awarding the lands to Texas March 17, 1930 in the "hundredth meridian" case.

At the initial organization meeting it was announced that because of the duties placed upon the Board by the law prescribing for sale of the land to proper claimants at $1.00 an acre, it will be necessary to delay disposition of the tracts until rules and regulations can be set up.

The Board announced that it also plans to work out a uniform system of surveying in the five county area. The Board stated that the claimants should not have any surveying done until its rules and regulations have been completed, inasmuch as it is contemplated that only one surveyor will be designated to do the work at a considerable saving to the purchasers.

The Board also is working to determine a method of ascertaining the persons eligible to purchase the land. The law only authorizes sales to be made to those persons who would have had good title to the land at the time of the final decree of the Supreme Court of the United States in the boundary suit affecting this area, had the same been located in Oklahoma, and to those persons who have acquired or may acquire title by reason of a foreclosure of a line valid and enforceable under the laws of Oklahoma at the time of such decree.

It will be to the advantage of the land owners that the Board does delay in issuing the proclamation fixing the time for the sale until all preliminary details and plans are worked out, it was (Continued on Page Twelve)

Overplanted Feed Acres In AAA Can Not Be Destroyed

Local Committee To Meet With Chief Administrator On Problem

Word received from the state AAA office Friday morning warned the staff of the local conservation association that farmers will not be allowed to plow up their 1939 excess feed acreage. This in no way, however, interferes with the present regulation that excess cotton acreage may be destroyed.

"The county association officials are making a desperate effort to get this regulation changed, as are those at the state office," said C. V. Griffin, secretary of the association.

In trying to do this, Clyde Emmert, county chairman, along with members of the committee have asked conservation association officials of other counties to meet with them in Amarillo to confer with R. M. Evans, chief administrator of the AAA, of Washington, and I. W. Dugan, director of the AAA for the southern division, when these two are in Amarillo August 11 for a meeting with wheat farmers of the section.

Although the regulation concerning the plowing up of excess feed acreage was present in last year's program, it was not then interpreted by the state office to have the meaning given it last week.

All other counties in this section are in the same situation as is this county, Mr. Griffin said, and news of the present interpretation was received by all at about the same time.

Only a few farms measured in this county to date have shown an overplanted feed allotment, although all farmers were warned to contact the local office before plowing up any excess acres.

Reunion Invitations Are Mailed To Old Settlers

Every Person In County 25 Years Ago Eligible To Attend Event

Every person who lived in Collingsworth County more than 25 years ago is invited to the Old Settlers Reunion, regardless where he lives now.

That in effect, was the invitation issued this week by the Old Settlers Association, for the reunion, which meets Thursday night, August 10, and all day Friday, August 11, at the Lahue Grove, three miles east of Wellington.

"Printed invitations are being sent to a number of pioneers now living out of the county, but in view of the fact that it is likely that there are many names which we do not have on our rolls, we want to take this means of inviting all who helped build this county during the first 25 years of its existence," said Dave Thomas.

Registering will begin Monday, August 7, this year, instead of being confined to the day of the reunion. It will be continued Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Old Timers are asked to register at the office of Gribble and Anderson, located in the old Post Office building.

One feature of the reunion will be the extra emphasis placed on the gathering Thursday night. No program has been planned, but it is expected that those who come will sit until the late hours recounting the experiences which they as young men and women had in a county which was young.

The association is urging that all who can to come Thursday night and camp at the reunion grounds.

S. P. Barker Dies Suddenly While Driving Car

75 Year Old Wellington Man Had Been Gathering Plums

S. P. Barker, 75-year-old Wellington man, died suddenly Thursday evening, July 27, as he and a neighbor, J. W. Duke, were returning to Wellington from the Lillie community.

The two had been to Salt Fork River to gather plums. Mr. Barker, in the best of spirits, was driving, and had remarked but a few minutes before that he was anxious to get home to help with the evening chores. He slumped in the seat and died immediately.

He had lived in Wellington for the last 15 years. Living quietly in a neighborly fashion, Mr. Barker made many friends here, and all who knew him liked and respected him. His cheerfulness and friendly disposition were remembered by those who met him at his work each day.

Born March 3, 1864, Square Price Barker was 75 years, four months and 24 days of age at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Barker, and these brothers and sisters, C. G. Barker of Gageby, J. J. Barker of Cee Vee, R. E. Barker of Ranger, Mrs. L. A. Spurlin of Rush Springs, Okla., and Mrs. Tom Powers of Otton. Funeral rites for Mrs. Barker were conducted Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Independent Mission in Wellington, with Rev. S. L. Wood and Sister Ellis Carter in charge.

Pall bearers were Ervin Brewer, Lawrence Gillespie, Clarence Littleton, Ellis Carter, Robert Posey and Earl Gibbs. Flower girls were Audie Yarbrough, Audrey Yarbrough, Jeanetta Duke, Inez Boatman, Dorothy Jane Lindsey and Dorothy Austin.

Hymns included "Farther Along" and "I'll Live On." Interment was in the Wellington cemetery, with the Kelso Funeral Home in charge.

Buck Newsom, Detroit pitcher, celebrated the Fourth by shutting out Cleveland 4 to 0, and allowing only three hits. But the interesting thing is that he got three hits himself, or as many as he gave up during the whole game.

SCIENTISTS AND LAW-MAKERS WORK TO IMPROVE ICE CREAM

To many a child and grownup there's no more beautiful music these torrid days than the tinkle of the ice cream peddler's bell—the whir of the family freezer—or the crackle of a cone as the soda boy pushes into it a generous dipperful of frozen dessert. For in a dish or cone—on a stick or in other novel form—this food that literally melts in the mouth has come to be a national favorite.

According to one version, ice cream made its debut socially in the United States when First Lady of the Land Dolly Madison served it at a White House reception shortly before the War of 1812. In those days, of course, this new food delicacy was definitely in the luxury class.

Today, with modern refrigerators and family-sized freezers, it's not at all difficult to make good homemade ice cream. And wholesale production of ice cream which began in Baltimore less than a century ago, is now a 282 million dollar a year industry. Demand for this factory-made ice cream has grown tremendously in the past two decades. Twenty years ago Americans bought about a quart and a third of ice cream per person a year. Last year, they bought nearly 8½ quarts per person.

And while ice cream production has pyramided, it has also expanded in other ways. The many different varieties and qualities for sale today probably would astound pioneer Dolly Madison. In fact, some of these differences are so great they even confuse present-day consumers.

At present, there is no federal standard for ice cream. Probably early this fall, though, the Federal Food and Drug Administration will get machinery in motion for setting up a standard for ice cream that enters into interstate commerce.

The reason there has never been such a federal standard is, that until Congress passed the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act of 1938, no agency had the power to set up a food standard with any legal force. Under the new law, the Secretary of Agriculture, is given the power to establish reasonable standards of identity, quality, and fill of containers for nearly every food under its common name.

Work From WPA Sewing Room Is Now On Display

Garments, typical of the work being done in the Wellington W.P.A. Sewing Room, are now on display at that place. The exhibit includes dresses, shirts, pajamas, children's clothing, pillow cases, table scarfs, and cloth toys, all made by the women during recent months.

The sewing room has been open since November 1935, under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Peoples, supervisor. The women here earn $28.60 per month for their work, and each employe is the sole support of her family.

The exhibit will remain up until after the visit of a state official who is expected within the next few days. During the time, the public is invited to inspect the work.

Volume 1—Number 15 Wellington, Texas Thursday, June 29, 1939

On July 12, 1939, a happy event occurred in the Farmall family. A daughter, Farm Ollie, made her advent and is she a little dandy with her beautiful red skin, a skin men love to touch. She certainly is frisky. She is strong as ten mules and she has the clearest vision of any tractor in the world.

All the boys are in love with her—Johnny Deere, Massey Harris, and Charley Case came by to flirt with her last week when she visited Wellington. They tried to take her out on week end parties, but she graciously declined as she had promised Alice Chalmers to spend the week end in Twin City.

In a short time Farm Ollie will be back with us to stay. We would be glad for every one to come in and see the little lady and get acquainted with her.

Well, friends, the time has come to buy your Electrical appliances and get ready for the Electrification of your home. Before you buy be sure you consider the quality of the merchandise you want. There are two things to consider: quality and beauty.

There are many of you that don't know that we are the agents for Kelvinator Electric Refrigerators, the oldest refrigerator on the market today. This refrigerator Co. celebrated its 50th anniversary this year. Kelvinator operates for less than any other make and it is guaranteed for five years, and you will agree with us that it is the best looking electric refrigerator on the market.

We have Universal and Bee Vac sweepers. We carry the old Reliable Hot Point irons. Also other brands. See us for table lamps, boudoir lamps, bed lamps, and especially do we want you to see our Student lamps. If you have a child in school, protect his eyes by providing him a Student Lamp to study by. Out Hot specials are: Floor Lamps for 99c. Get your light bulbs from us—we have a size for every room made by General Electric.

Every time I walk down the street I feel bad. I miss the old Ozark Trail Monument. The last one to go. It was a monument erected by public subscription by the old timers who were builders. The monument was erected in honor of the builders of good roads in this state and other states. It has gone like all the pioneer landmarks to give way to the advent of modern civilization.

Believe it or not I have one friend. He came in and paid me more for a windmill than he could buy it in Oklahoma for. That's what I call a man. He said he had rather trade in Wellington.

A salesman told me last week about a man losing his house by fire. His friends made up money in his own home town for him, but he takes this money to a neighboring town to purchase his household goods.

Now is the time to fix up your old windmill or replace them with new ones. Aermotors pump with less wind. In stock tanks we have any size to fit your needs. How about some new pipe and rod to replace that old pipe in your well. It is going to be awful cold this winter to work on a well.

If Frank Stuckey seems out of kilter don't forget you got married once upon a time.

We are adding gifts suitable for showers, prizes and any occasion. Prices range from 49c up. This includes Coors Pottery, a Bakeware product in all colors, Pyrex, Crystal.

We have added a line of framed pictures. Floral pictures in several sizes, Religious subjects and Godey prints.

See our beautiful line of chenille and Candlewick bedspreads in the following shades: peach, aqua, rust, rose, wine, Royal blue, green and white. A very beautiful and complete line of spreads, price $2.95 up.

See the Bed Room Suite of the month, a light bleached mahogany veneered suite with water fall front. 4 pieces for 49.50. This suite will be in the window. Other suites for $39.50 and $29.50.

The TRIOSIN is an exquisite design with a gorgeous wide border design of soft blended colors.

DO YOU EVER THINK?

Do you ever think when the horse drives by,
That some day you and I
Will take a ride in the big plumed hack

And never remember coming back.
Rake, scrape, grab and save,
You will leave it all when you go to the grave.

If you only think in the struggle for gold,
A dead man's hands won't a dollar hold.

If life were a thing that money could buy,
The rich would be poor, and the poor would die.

Give what you can with a wish of good cheer,
Though it be but a dime or a penny.

Remember that many could help
one,
When one can not help many.
Very truly yours,

Brute Strength vs. Electric Service

ONE KILOWATT-HOUR

is equal to the muscle work of a man...

- PUMPING THREE DAYS
- LIFTING WEIGHTS FOUR DAYS
- HAMMERING SIX DAYS
- CARRYING BRICKS FIVE DAYS
- PUSHING WHEELBARROW TEN DAYS
- SHOVELING DIRT ELEVEN DAYS

SPEAKING OF Horse Power

Reddy Kilowatt is one-third stronger

ONE kilowatt-hour equals 1,000 watts of electric energy. This is one-third more than one horsepower. Therefore, we say: "Reddy Kilowatt is one-third stronger than a horse." And many times stronger than a man!

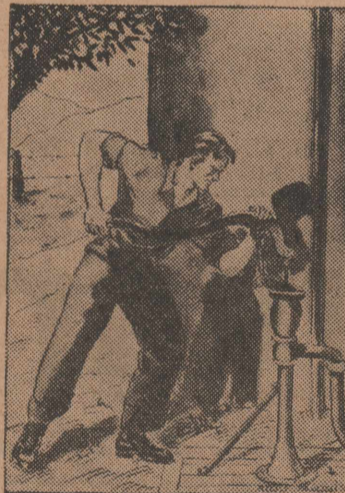

A man, for example, hammering eight hours does 480,000 foot-pounds of work. It takes 2,655,200 foot-pounds to make one kilowatt-hour. Thus we learn that the man with the hammer does 18 per cent of a kilowatt-hour's work in an average day. This is equal to 14,000 watts, or, in turn, 22.5 watts per hour. So it takes a man approximately six days to do the same amount of work that Electric Service does in one hour!

IT therefore seems futile—and unnecessary—for Men or Women to do work that Reddy Kilowatt can—and should—do. Electric cranes, pumps, hammers, etc., do hard jobs more cheaply and efficiently than men.

Why do Women continue to perform the hard tasks in the home? No one has taken time to figure the foot-pounds of energy she expends in washing clothes and dishes, cooking over flame-type stoves, sweeping and other similar distasteful work. Whatever the amount, it's safe to suppose it might be reduced by two-thirds if the home was ALL-ELECTRIC.

The average residential electric rate is LESS than 5 cents per kilowatt-hour

a man's work equals 45 watts, or enough to run small kitchen fan.

*Lifting 65 tons up 4 feet in a day—

a man's work equals 33 watts, or enough for heating pad on "low."

*Hammering all day—

a man's work equals 23 watts, or enough to run food mixer on low speed.

*Carrying 16.7 tons of brick up 12 feet in a day—

a man's work equals 25 watts, or enough for small light bulb.

*Wheeling 51 tons up 3 feet in a day—

a man's work equals 12 watts, or enough to run large electric clock.

*Shoveling 25 tons of dirt up 5 feet in a day—

a man's work equals 11 watts, or enough to operate small radio.

Deck's DIDACTICS

By H. D. W.

These are the waiting days—waiting for a rain—waiting until we see if we make a crop—just waiting.

Get set for a change. Unless war comes the business cycle will pick up from 1940 to 1950. That means little to us here in Collingsworth unless we make crops and the stock stay fat. But the wet cycle of years will also start in 1940.

You have heard that few people can stand prosperity. That is true inasmuch as it relates to the fact that the foundation of many failures is laid in prosperous times and that the foundation for many successes is laid in hard times. However, I am of the notion that this county could stand a little prosperity.

We could also stand less discriminations in freight rates with other sections of the country. We could stand less discrimination from the tariff, and in case we do not get that, we could stand more subsidy for agriculture. The plain truth is that the government payment to farmers has not evened the scales. We could stand more intelligent treatment of trucks who do offer us a cheaper means of transportation. Yes, there are a whole lot of things that we could stand. But the thing I am telling you now is that, barring mishaps, better times are ahead.

Here is the view of Republican Ernest Lewis who has been a loyal member of the minority party for many years. He says, "If the Republicans have little enough sense to take over the administration and try to work out this mess, then I intend to quit the party. If they win in 1940, they will never hold power again after 1944." I report that simply as an opinion of a sailor who cannot swim.

Within the next week or two there will be an announcement made in Wellington that will have a tremendous bearing on promoting good things in this community. It concerns FHA loans. All along the lumber yards have been most anxious to cooperate in this movement. They lacked adequate financial assistance. It is possible that this may be provided. If this program ever gets started on a big scale it will help tremendously. Think of the houses that need to be painted and remodeled as well as the jobs it will provide.

I have been wondering about P. Barker's dog. Mr. Barker died last Thursday. I have never seen him without that gray police dog at his heels. Mrs. Barker will keep the dog well fed, but I imagine that the animal will be listening the rest of his life for footfalls he will never hear. He will be looking for a friend that he will never see. Sooner or later that experience comes to each one of us.

Memphis held a splendid reunion of its old settlers last week, but Collingsworth provided quite a bit of the formal program. D. C. Brooks, who was celebrating his 70th wedding anniversary and his 93rd birthday made one of the notable speeches of the day. In spite of his years and the heat he did not seem the least bit tired. Clint Small, former county judge and mayor, made the outstanding speech of the celebration, and A. S. J. Lockhart provided quite a bit of fun in his own right.

Next year Collingsworth County will celebrate its golden anniversary. Plans should be made now for a gigantic celebration. It takes time and effort to put on this kind of a celebration in a big way. This is the time to start.

David C. Brown came in to tell me about his watermelons and his fruit, and John Puryear came in to bring samples of his apples and pears. Both provide eloquent testimony of the variety of things that can be grown on certain types of soil in this county. If you had attended the fruit festival you would have secured a broader vision. Not all of our land can produce vegetables and fruits profitably, but there is much that can. The rest will produce feed for trench silos

Four-Knee-High

Midwest promises to be tall corn country for sure this summer. Joyce McAllister stands beside 7-foot stalks near Plainfield, Ill., where farmers expect bumper crop of 45 bushels to acre.

and a place where feed can be marketed in the form of eggs, butter, pork, mutton and beef. From experience I know that words in a newspaper will not get the job done, but necessity will. The picture is changing in Collingsworth County, and it is for the better.

Next week the old settlers of Collingsworth County will meet at the Lahue grove for their annual reunion. Dave Thomas has made plans to entertain them in a fashion that they will enjoy. There will be a large crowd, but as I said before, next year is the year. At that time we should have a celebration that will attract every person who ever lived in this county in the old days.

Merry-Go-Round And Wading Pool Attract Children

That 1780 children entered the wading pool in the city park during the three seasonal months of 1938 as compared with the 1535 children who have already been in during June and July of this year, was announced in a report given Wednesday morning by Mrs. Tom Stall, playground supervisor. Children below the age of twelve are allowed to wade one hour each day and may go in any afternoon with the exception of Saturday. Mrs. Stall says that a pool for the older children is badly needed.

"Perhaps the biggest attraction of the entire park is the merry-go-round, donated by F. C. Lederer. This donation, along with one of a number of bathing suits by the Rotary Club, is much appreciated," said Mrs. Stall.

Mrs. Stall's general report of park conditions also included an announcement of the Youth Program, now being sponsored by various civic clubs. Friday afternoons are set aside for refreshments to be served to the children, while each afternoon includes a reading hour, which is scheduled for 4:30 o'clock p. m. The supervisor is in charge of softball play period for boys, which is held at 4:00 o'clock every afternoon.

Quail Dies At Monday

Gianna Barton Ave In Build-Community

Mrs. Georgiana Barton, who came to the Quail community 38 years ago and helped materially with the development of that section in those early years, died Monday, July 31, at a Wheeler hospital after a short illness. Although she still maintained her home at Quail, she left a few weeks ago to visit a daughter at Mobeetie, where she became ill.

Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday from the Baptist Church in Quail with Rev. J. P. Neal, pastor of the Wellington Church, in charge. Pall bearers included Curtis Owens, Winford Quarles, C. P. Quarles, Ernest Howard, Forrest Hopp, and Richard Jones, Jr. Flower girls were granddaughters, Amadee Barton, Nancy Ruth Jones, Bertie Faye Quarles and Betty Jean Owens. Hymns included "We'll Understand it Better By and By," and "The Old Rugged Cross." Interment was in the Quail Cemetery, with the Kelo Funeral Home in charge.

Born in Louisiana November 29, 1859, Mrs. Barton was 79 years, 8 months and 2 days of age. She was the daughter of George and Frances Hogan Peevey, both members of families who had lived in Louisiana for many years, and who were prominent in the parish in which they lived.

While still a young woman she moved to Texas, settling in the southern part of the state.

Her husband was a prominent farmer in the Quail community, and Mrs. Barton soon came to be beloved for her many qualities of kindness and neighborliness. She had been a member of the Baptist Church for 65 years.

Surviving are seven children, R. M. Barton of Claude, H. M. Barton of Wichita Falls, Curt Barton of Quail, Mrs. A. E. Owens of Quail, Mrs. L. L. Quarles of Mobeetie, Mrs. M. Connelly of Amarillo, and Mrs. Dick Jones of Turkey. Twenty-five grandchildren also survive.

Two Thousand Attend Fifth Sunday Singing

Mississippi, Arkansas And Oklahoma Represented At Gathering

Old songs loved since childhood — new songs whose very novelty add pep and vigor — standard songs wherever there is church music, all these were heard Sunday when Wellington was host to some 2,000 singers, some of whom came from as far as Arkansas and Mississippi, in addition to Oklahoma and all surrounding counties in Texas.

The singing opened with a session Saturday night, and continued throughout Sunday. In charge of the singing were officials of the county singing convention and Grady Bradford.

"We wish to express our sincere thanks to the people of Wellington and Collingsworth County for their splendid co-operation on this event," said Bess Owens, who assisted with the plans. "Especially do we want to mention the business men, whose donations made possible the singing, as well as those who brought food for the dinner served on the grounds Sunday."

Plans Complete To Give Vaccine

All plans were completed this week for the inoculation of indigent children in the county against typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox, according to Mrs. Charlie Jones, chairman in charge of the work.

The inoculations will begin Saturday afternoon, August 12, at 2 o'clock, and will be given at St. Joseph's Hospital.

"These inoculations are designed to protect the children of those families who are unable to pay for the administering of the vaccine and toxoid themselves, and any child from 17 years of age down to pre school children are eligible to receive this free service," explained Mrs. Jones.

By checking through relief records and the records of families receiving aid from the government in any manner, it has been learned that there are approximately 400 children in the county whose parents are probably unable to pay for the vaccinations. It is also likely that there are many others who also need this service of whom there is no record.

"Of course, we have no way of knowing just how many of these children have already been inoculated, but we wish to urge parents of children who have not had vaccinations to bring them at this time," Mrs. Jones requested.

The typhoid vaccine will require three injections, each a week apart, and these will be administered each Saturday at the hospital.

Any person wishing further information on this work has been asked to contact either Mrs. Jones or the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital.

That a complete flood control and irrigation survey of Salt Fork of Red River in Oklahoma will be made was announced in Hollis, Okla., late last week. ### BETTER AUTO ENGINES

The swing of popular favor in the selection of automobiles is going to be back to improved performance, predicts Charles B. Bohn, president of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corporation, who is in a position to be in close touch with engineering development in the industry.

Lighter materials, produced largely through pioneering in the aviation field, permit reduction in the weight of vehicles, yet increase power output, Bohn declares.

As a net result of these improvements, powerplants will have a greater output due to the fact that compressions will be higher, reciprocating parts lighter and design more efficient. Even more important will be the direct improvement in the power-weight ratio of the newer cars.

The recently developed Magalloy series of magnesium alloys provide materials which are approximately two-thirds the weight of aluminum and one-fifth the weight of steel. By suitable heat treatment and with the proper selection of alloys they provide more than ample strength. Higher compressions are more than likely to again return with improved methods of design, incorporating aluminum cylinder-heads and improved aluminum pistons. Such pistons as the Autothermic, which greatly reduce oil consumption and prevent leakage of power from the combustion chamber, make a valuable contribution to the improved design.

With all of these factors of design and materials considered, we are certain to have some highly interesting and improved motor cars during the very near future.

MILK IS FOOD—NOT A BEVERAGE

By Ruth J. Cooper, Home Economics Consultant
Breeder-Feeder Association

Fallacies continue to come, and will to the end of time, but each one is disproved by science. Milk remains our nearly perfect food.

Few people, comparatively speaking, do not like the taste of milk. A cool or cold glass of milk is more of a "pick-me-up" in the mid-morning or mid-afternoon than any other drink. As milk is more completely digested if taken with other foods, it is a good plan to eat a slice or so of buttered bread or graham crackers along with the milk. This snack will not only refresh but "stick-to-your-ribs" longer.

This same reasoning holds for drinking milk with meals. If the milk is mixed in with the other foods of the meal, it stays in the system longer and is more completely digested, enhancing the nutritive value of all.

There are few people who cannot take milk. If they do not like milk, the problem is usually psychic and they often imagine that it does not agree with them. The problem is to overcome this phobia so that milk can become the vital part of their diet. Invariably this type of individual needs to be built up and to help correct this phobia, milk has to be disguised.

To the few who by necessity or choice prefer to have their milk disguised, the milk shakes offer endless variety. They are easy to shake up at home and are liked equally by all ages—from baby to grandfather. These suggestions are for hiding that extra milk in the diet.

VANILLA MILK SHAKE

- 1/2 pint milk
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 tablespoons chipped ice
- Ice cream (any flavor)
- 2 tablespoons whipped cream

A sprinkling of nutmeg

Place the milk, sugar, flavoring and ice in a fruit jar or shaker and shake for two or three minutes, until foamy. Pour into tall glass, add ice cream if desired, top with whipped cream and a dash of nutmeg.

The variations are endless—use brown sugar, molasses, honey, various syrups, or fruit juices as the sweetening, and accentuate the flavor with any of the flavoring extracts or a blend of the extracts such as rose, raspberry, almond, peppermint, lemons, spice.

ORANGE—Add 2 tablespoons fresh orange juice and a grating of rind or 1/2 teaspoon orange extract and a few drops of orange coloring.

STRAWBERRY—Add 1/2 teaspoon strawberry extract and a few drops of red coloring.

GRAPE—Add 2 or more tablespoons of grape juice.

CHOCOLATE—Add 2 or more tablespoons chocolate syrup.

COFFEE—Add 2 or more tablespoons of strong coffee. This with the chocolate syrup makes a delightful flavor.

ORANGE MILK SHAKE

- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 cup milk
- Combine ingredients in a fruit jar or shaker and shake for two or three minutes. Serve immediately.
- 1/2 cup chipped ice
- 2 tablespoons sugar

EGG NOG

- 2 egg yolks
  - 1 cup milk
  - 2 teaspoons sugar
  - Few grains salt
  - 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
  - 2 tablespoons whipped cream
  - A sprinkling of nutmeg
- Beat egg yolks, add sugar, salt, milk and flavoring. Mix well, pour into glass, top with whipped cream and a sprinkling of nutmeg. Serve well chilled.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—A glance at the figures is enough to show that the major problems of agriculture are still far from solved. That, of course, explains why this year's agricultural appropriation bill carried the largest sum in its history.

Heavy carry-overs of crops, dwindling export markets, expanding domestic production—these are the three forms which the problem takes in the big-scale production commodities such as wheat, cotton, corn, and pork.

To meet them, the Department of Agriculture has turned to a three-part program. It seeks, first, to adjust production so that the gap between what is grown and what can be marketed profitably will be narrowed. Second, it is trying at least to hold what remains of the export markets. And thirdly, it is trying to increase domestic distribution of the surpluses.

Cotton is a case in point. Since 1932, the carry-over from one year to the next—that is, the part of each annual crop which was neither sold abroad nor consumed at home—has never been less than 4,400,000 bales, and it has on occasion risen as high as 9,600,000 bales. Total stocks on hand at the end of 1938, thus, stood roughly at 13,000,000 bales; all of which is piled up in addition to the year's production—which, of itself, is more than enough to meet the year's requirements.

The nation's consumption of cotton since 1932 has ranged between 5,300,000 bales and 7,900,000 bales; its exports have been dropping until the figure for 1938 is estimated at less than 3,500,000 bales; and only once in the years since the New Deal came in has production been under 10,000,000 bales, while it has frequently been far above that.

The figures for wheat, for corn, and for hogs do not exactly parallel the figures for cotton, but the same trend is in evidence.

In each case, the solution has to be approached from a slightly different angle. Adjustment of domestic production, of course, follows somewhat the same lines in all of these commodities: but beyond that each commodity has to be dealt with differently.

For cotton and wheat, the department is hopeful that some international agreement may be reached assuring American growers a fair share of the world market. This share will not be as large as it used to be, since world production of both commodities has been rising for years, and since the self-sufficiency programs of the totalitarian states have further narrowed the market. But, if the world conferences turn out as the department hopes they will, the decline of the export market at least will not be carried any farther.

As to domestic distribution: department experts are not hopeful that a great deal can be done for wheat. They point out that per capita consumption of wheat is fairly constant even in a depression, and that efforts to increase it have a pretty limited field in which to operate.

With cotton, this field is a good deal broader. New uses for cotton are being developed; eventually, these may serve to make up for a great part of the loss exports.

With corn and hogs—which are much the same thing, since probably 90 per cent of the corn crop is used as stock feed, mostly for hogs—the Surplus Commodities Corporation is striving to increase consumption by making more pork available to people on relief. In the end, this may broaden the market substantially.

Courageous Elijah

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 6.

Text: I Kings 18:30-39.

We have seen that King Asa and his son, King Jehoshaphat, were both confronted with widespread corruption in Israel, because of the idolatrous worship in which the people were imitating pagan peoples who surrounded them. As we have indicated, this was not merely a matter of mistaken ideas in religion, but the worship of Baal was associated with licentious practices contrary to the fine ideals of home, family, and social relationships, which were so inculcated by the religion of Israel.

We forget perhaps at times the extent to which these ideals of home life and integrity of love relationships are a product of Jewish life and religion. It would be well, in an age when, without idolatrous worship, or with idolatrous worship in other forms, there seems so great danger of society's lapsing into loose and evil practices, if we could revive something of that nobility and purity of life upon which Elijah insisted.

Elijah seems to have stood with the minority in Israel, though he had a great many more followers than he was disposed to believe in his moments of discouragement.

Our lesson centers around the famous test by fire, in which Elijah had a sign from heaven and put the prophets of Baal to rout. We can neither explain nor comment upon the miraculous aspect of the narrative, but the one thing that does stand out so strongly is the integrity and honor of Elijah in contrast with the trickery and deceit that have always been a part of false religion and of the activity of false prophets.

The ultimate test of the true, as distinguished from the false, is the sincerity and unselfishness of all true religious faith and action. Elijah was not in any sense a self-seeker, nor had he in mind the establishing of his own power or authority. He began in his test by fire by calling all the people to him.

We must remember that, despite the high teachings and ideals that emerged, it was a crude and raw age when people were more apt to be influenced by outward demonstrations than by the inner integrity of truth and righteousness. The people were tremendously impressed with the miracle that they saw, and we are told that they fell on their faces and said, "Jehovah, he is God; Jehovah, he is God."

How genuine was this demonstration and its repentance we cannot tell, but Elijah's triumph as the prophet of the living God was complete. That is, it was complete except for Elijah himself.

As has so often happened in the world, we find the man of courage despondent and weakening after he has fulfilled his purpose. He cries out to God in a voice of despair even in his hour of victory, complaining that all Israel has become recreant and that he only is left among the faithful. The divine voice had to remind him that 7000 had not bowed the knee to Baal, which after all was a considerable company in support of the prophet.

It is in accord with human experience that the hour of deep discouragement often follows the time of greatest triumph. Perhaps it is due to the fact that even a good man succumbs to the physical strain, and that the demon of doubt or of discouragement attacks him when he has the least strength to resist. But Elijah stands, none the less, as a great figure of faith and of courage. We think of him in his hour of faith and victory, rather than in his mood of unwarranted isolation. He was only one among the faithful.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. Martha Keller Held Wed.

Cross Roads Woman Had Lived In This County Twenty-three Years

Mrs. Martha Washington Keller, 86-year-old Cross Roads woman, died shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 1. Funeral services were scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 2, from the First Baptist Church in Wellington, with Rev. J. P. Neal, pastor, in charge.

Mrs. Keller had been in ill health for several years, and had been confined to her bed for much of the time during the last year.

Born in Mudlick, Indiana, on November 29, 1852, Mrs. Keller was 86 years, 8 months and 2 days of age at the time of her death. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Beloit.

While still a small child she came with her parents to Texas, settling in Hill County. In 1869, she was married to George J. Keller, who preceded her in death fourteen years ago.

Twenty-three years ago, she, with her family, came to Collingsworth County from Johnson County, and they have since taken an active part in the county's development. During the time she had lived here, Mrs. Keller made many friends who loved her for her high ideals and strength of character. She was a devout member of the Baptist Church.

Surviving are two daughters and four sons, Mrs. E. S. Clack of Cleburne, Mrs. R. S. Montague of Wellington, J. A. Keller of Wellington, L. S. Keller of Wellington and R. L. Keller of Mosquero, N. M.

Two sons and a daughter preceded her in death.

All bearers were grandsons and included George A. Keller, Auburn Keller, Aubert Keller, Harold Keller, R. S. Montague, Jr., and Earl Keller.

Interment was in the Wellington Cemetery, with the Kelso Funeral Home in charge.

pointed out, since the law provides claimants have only one year to purchase after the Board issues its first proclamation.

It was stated that the Board hopes that landowners will not attempt to make any effort to purchase or survey tracts in the area until the details have been arranged. The Board will announce later when the sale proclamation will be issued and will advise fully the procedure to be followed by claimants in making applications to purchase. The Board stressed that all communications concerning the sale of these lands should be directed to Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, Austin, Texas.

The Texas Legislature created the Special Land Board to arrange for the sale of the land, but the matter was held up until this Spring when the Wortham case was disposed of by the Texas Supreme Court.

Although the recent Legislature took all school lands off the market until 90 days after the Legislature adjourned, or until Sept. 20, an exception was made empowering the Special Land Board to proceed with the sale of the boundary land.

Midget Clown

One of the most outstanding rodeo entertainers in the southwest is "Bunky" Farrar, midget clown of Azle, Texas, who is shown with his educated donkey. He will be headlined during the Fourth Annual XIT Reunion August 7 and 8 in Dalhart. Some of his stunts are extremely dangerous and one in particular always raises the crowd to its feet. He has a small barrel around which old auto tires are fitted tightly and painted red. "Bunky" rolls his barrel into the arena, gets a big Brahma bull to chase him. He ducks into the barrel and braces himself just as the bull crashes into the auto tires. Oftentimes "Bunky" and the barrel hurtle half way across the arena.

All-Stars Meet Wheeler Players

"It's going to be a real game." That's how softball fans are predicting the game which the Wellington All-Stars will play with the Wheeler team Wednesday evening, August 2, in Wellington.

All softball fans are urged to see this game.

"We extend a cordial invitation to every person in Wellington who is not attending revival services now underway at other churches here to come and be with us in our meeting," said Rev. Kirby.

trees, a point in which you are particularly lucky. Only rust is found here, and that in only a small amount," he told the group attending.

His afternoon talk was in the form of a round table discussion, in which he pointed out the best season at which to set out, and gave practical pointers in pruning fruit trees.

Miss Camp pointed out in her discussion of "Fruit From the Standpoint of the Family Food Supply," that 300 pounds of fruits were needed for each individual a year, and continued by urging that the family orchard should be planned so as to give the family fruit from spring until late fall.

"Plenty of fruit is a help to beauty as well as to brains," she pointed out. Pictures illustrated her talk.

"We were particularly well pleased with the exhibits brought this year, in view of the short notice that was given before the show was held," commented W. K. Cottingham, county agent. "So impressed were those attending, that the request has already come in that we hold another fruit festival next year."

Want Ad Sells Car For Station Owner

"Kill my want ad! "I sold my car and could have sold a lot more like it." That was what Jack Gibson, owner of the Gibson Service Station, told a member of the Wellington Leader staff this week.

The car was sold, he added by the time the paper had been out two days. But even then the inquiries didn't stop, and Mr. Gibson estimates that he must have had at least 25 persons contact him in regard to the car, which he advertised for forty cents.

Community House Plans Ready To Submit To WPA

All plans and specifications for Wellington's proposed Community House will be ready for submission to the W.P.A. headquarters as soon as that body begins receiving applications for projects again. This information reached Wellington late last week in a letter from Lawrence A. Kerr, Amarillo architect, in charge of drawing up the plans, to F. C. LeDerer, Mayor.

No W.P.A. project applications are being accepted at present, although Mr. Kerr expressed belief that this would be resumed in the near future, possibly by late July.

Those connected with the project in Wellington have, during the last week, expressed the belief that interest in the community house has grown materially since the proposed project was first mentioned.

When John Puryear tells his friends that fruit can be raised in Collingsworth County, he can also furnish them with proof of this fact—from his own orchard.

Monday Mr. Puryear left at the Leader office a few of his sugar pears and his Stark's Delicious apples. Although these are not yet quite ripe, they are already large and well formed.

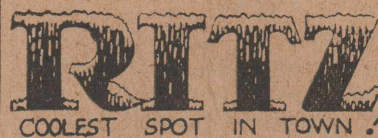

"Of course I believe this is a good fruit country," he commented, and added that he believed it so strongly that he now has on his farm 300 apple trees.

ROLY, Mich.—A new and exclusive "emergency credit certificate" plan to meet the problems of emergency credit requirements of motor car travelers away from home has been offered to its time payment customers by Universal Credit Company, it was announced today by Ernest Kanzler, president.

The plan is available only through Ford, Mercury and Lincoln-Zephyr dealers, Mr. Kanzler said, and is intended to benefit particularly thousands of their customers who travel by automobile extensively or who spend their vacation periods in motor travel.

Under the new Universal plan which has just been released to the company's 168 branches through the United States and to Ford dealers and their staffs, a new "emergency credit certificate" is to be issued to Universal time payment customers. The certificate entitled the holder to credit for payment of the costs of emergency repairs, or for the purchase of tire replacements, accessories or other emergency needs from any Ford, Mercury or Lincoln-Zephyr dealer in the United States.

Mr. Kanzler said it was anticipated that the new credit certificate would be used primarily by travelers who are away from home whose credit has not been established in the locality where the emergency needs arise and whose vacation plans might be greatly upset by the extra outlays necessitated by these emergency expenditures.

The new emergency credit certificate plan is simple in operation, Mr. Kanzler explained.

"Thousands of tourists and others who travel extensively by automobile have experienced the need for emergency repairs on the road, for tire replacement or for the purchase of necessary accessories," he continued. "Oftentimes, when such emergencies arise travelers find themselves lacking sufficient cash.

"A Universal emergency credit certificate will solve such financial problems. All that the traveler need do is to present his certificate to a Ford dealer, and arrange for necessary repairs or for purchase of necessary replacements or accessories. The dealer will immediately obtain authorization from the nearest Universal office, and secure payment immediately from the company. The customer may then repay us over a normal period."

Mr. Kanzler said the new plan was developed to meet a growing need of motor car travelers.

"Motor car travel is increasing each year, bringing with it the need for this additional service for the benefit of car owners," he added. "Our new Universal credit service meets a demand which goes hand-in-hand with long-distance travel, which this year is enjoying the stimulus created by the two great fairs and the added attraction of the National Parks and other of the nation's scenic wonders."

McCauley Flying Cadet In Calif.

Among the group of new Air Corps flying cadets training at the Army's aviation training center at the Ryan School of Aeronautics, San Diego, is Harris K. McCauley, former Wellington High School student, who arrived at the Southern California air school on July 1 along with 35 other fledgling fliers.

Young McCauley is among the first of the Air Corps flying cadets to begin flight instruction under the Army's new training program, whereby primary flight training is now being given at nine commercial flying schools instead of at Randolph Field, Texas, as heretofore.

After three months of intensive instruction under Air Corps supervision at the Ryan School, which will include 65 hours of flying and 225 hours of technical aviation study, cadets who have successfully completed the course will be advanced to Randolph Field, "West Point of the Air," for basic flight training. From there they will be sent to nearby Kelly Field for specialized instruction in the essentials of formation, advanced instrument, night and cross-country flying preparatory to graduation as second Lieutenants in the Air Corps Reserve and assignment to the various tactical Air Corps centers throughout continental United States, Hawaii and Panama.

The local Air Corps student pilot was graduated from Wellington High School in 1936, and has since had college training at Cameron Junior College, Lawton, Oklahoma.

With a group of Air Corps cadets, McCauley recently visited Agua Caliente, across the border from San Diego, and chanced to meet and shake hands with President Cardenas of Mexico who was visiting there.

BOTH PUNCTURES AND BLOWOUTS with the Amazing NEW Seiberling SEALED-AIR Tube

PUNCTURE TEST

Driven time after time over this "torure road", a set of Seiberling SEALED-AIR Tubes was punctured 2,498 times without going flat.

These huge, sharpened "blowout spikes" ripped open holes that would blow a tire instantly... but because of SEALED-AIR Tubes, there was no blowout!

The punishment this amazing new SEALED-AIR Tube will stand—without a blowout or a flat—is almost unbelievable! There's never been a safety tube like it before. It gives you double protection against punctures and blowouts because of its patented bulkhead construction.

If a spike, a sharp piece of glass, or an internal tire break cuts this tube, the plastic gum within the bulkhead seals the injury—resists the sudden release of air that is called a "blowout".

If one of your tires should pick up a nail, you can drive on and on without a flat. The plastic gum in the bulkheads seals the hole while you drive!
