DENVER DENIES NEED FOR NEW LINE

DISTANCE NO BARRIER WITH GOOD ROADS, BARWISE SAYS IN I. C. C. RAIL HEARING HERE

Burdened with the task of refuting the argument that all agricultural development on the Panhandle and South Plains has followed the railroads, J. H. Barwise, attorney for the Fort Worth and Denver, in the company's protest against the construction of the Santa Fe line from Hale Center to Parmerton before H. C. Davis, examiner of the Interstate Commerce commission, attempted to show throughout the entire morning today that distance offered no barrier to the South Plains farmer and that with the completion of the new Denver line to Dimmitt and the construction of several good roads through the section, the tonnage could be easily cared for.

Seven Santa Fe witnesses were examined directly and through cross-examination throughout the morning with apparently no new angles presented in the field with the exception of the continuance and expansion of points set forth in yesterday's hearing.

Attorney Barwise, with every witness sought to bring out the point that the automobile and truck were being put into use in the section, thereby eliminating the need for an additional railroad in the "Santa Fe triangle," Texico-Canyon-Lubbock, in which the new Denver line penetrates and through which the Santa Fe is seeking to run their line.

Pioneers on stand. As on yesterday, sturdy old pioneers of the section appeared on the witness stand in behalf of the Santa Fe.

Judge J. D. Hamlin, of Farwell, who has seen this section evolve from a cattle range into an agricultural area, said that the witnesses of the day, offering much valuable testimony in the Santa Fe's behalf, serving as representatives of the Farwell lands, Judge Hamlin stated that he had noticed the development begins from the railroad and goes out from the lands of the company as graduated on this theory, he said, the farther out the land, the lower the price.

"All the general development of the past has centered around the railroads," Judge Hamlin said, "following rapidly all of the lines. This section can carry ten times its present population and I expect to see the time when the Panhandle and South Plains is gridironed with a network of railroads. We have only outlined a potential wealth of our land and if developed, this territory which the Santa Fe is seeking to cross would more than duplicate agriculturally any section in the DALLAS, May 22.—(P)—With some 1,000 building and loan executives and workers from every section of the country registered, the thirty-third annual convention of the United States League of Building and Loan associations opened here today.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(P)—The house today refused to accept the senate amendments to the tax bill and sent the $205,000,000 measure to conference for an adjustment of the differences.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(P)—The ill-fated Mather mine, scene of a disastrous "explosion," continued to give up its dead this afternoon. The known death toll reached 82, and mine experts said the prospects were that all other missing men, numbering 115, would be added to the list of dead.

The rescue today of a living man from the death-ridden mine renewed hope for some of the missing.

This rescue, after practically all hope had been abandoned for the entombed, spurred the rescuers to renew their work. They started a new drive through the blast-swept tunnels, hoping to find other miners alive in the far reaches of the workings. While some rescuers held hope that others would be found alive, others held little hope. Some rescuers believed that Krubix might have crawled from another section of the mine where others might be found alive.

Despite the rescue of Krubix, veteran rescuers said they believed all the others were dead. They said Krubix's case was exceptional, and that through some freak in the air currents, the man had escaped death by gas.

The disaster was brought home forcefully to sorrowing Mather residents today when a public funeral mass was celebrated in the public square, in front of the recreation hall, in which the bodies of the victims lay. Some of the bodies were to be shipped to nearby mining towns, while others were to be buried in this section.

TEXAS FIELDS LEAD DECLINE IN OIL OUTPUT

17,293 BARREL SLUMP FROM LAST WEEK IS SHOWN IN U. S.

(By Associated Press) TULSA, Okla., May 22.—With the West Texas fields again leading in the downward slide, the estimated daily average production of light and heavy gravity oils in the United States decreased 17,293 barrels during the week ending May 19, the Oil and Gas Journal will say today.

The decrease in light crude production was 18,825 barrels. The Hendricks area of the West Texas fields again was the biggest loser of the week, the production slipping from 152,026 barrels for the week ending May 12, to 133,545 barrels last week. West Texas total decline during the week was 19,267 barrels.

Greater Seminole production declined 4,850 barrels during the week but this loss was partly offset by slight gains in other Oklahoma areas. The total production for Oklahoma during the week ending May 19 was 610,243 barrels, as against 613,050 for the previous period.

California lost step with other sections of the country in the decline movement and advanced, the total production for the Pacific coast state increasing 11,151 barrel during the week. Increases were registered in both light and heavy crude production.

The majority of the other major areas of the country had little change, with slight decreases being registered in most instances.

DEAN, ELECTED LEADER, URGES DRY PLATFORM

SUPPORT PLEDGED TO NOMINEE, HOWEVER MEETING IS TOLD

(By Associated Press) BEAUMONT, May 22.—Opposition to the candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York and pleas for religious tolerance and for strict enforcement of the prohibition law were expressed here today by W. L. Dean, temporary chairman of the Texas state democratic convention, in his keynote address.

Without making any statements that would preclude Texas support in the event Governor Smith is nominated, former Senator Dean declared that he did not consider any candidate satisfactory to Texas democracy who received his chief eastern support because he was known to be "wet as the Atlantic ocean." He also expressed disapproval of Smith because he said the New York governor was not sufficiently posted on agricultural problems and affairs.

Must Support If Nominated. "We are bound to support Smith if nominated," he said. "The integrity of human relations demands that we take no votes with our fingers crossed."

Jesse Jones of Houston was suggested "as a fit leader for Texas democracy" in the conclusion of his speech, but no suggestion or request that delegates be instructed for Jones was made.

Other Officers Named. The remainder of the temporary organization nominees were elected by acclamation, as follows: Mrs. W. E. Spell, Waco, secretary; Ed Thompson, Amarillo, assistant chairman; and Pat O'Keefe, Dallas, sergeant-at-arms.

The convention adjourned until 3 p. m. to allow congressional district caucuses to recommend to Chairman Dean their candidates for membership on the three important committees. These are the platform and resolutions committee, the credentials and basis of representation committee and the committee on permanent organization.

Slow progress of the convention means it probably will extend into Wednesday.

Settlement Is Seen On Overpass Muddle

Differences of opinion between the state highway department and the Port Worth and Denver, South Plains railroad, concerning the necessity of an underpass on South Avenue H, where the railroad crosses the avenue-highway, will likely be settled in a manner suitable to citizens of Lubbock as well as both differing parties, Frank E. Clarity, vice-president and general manager of the railway, said today.

According to Mr. Clarity's statement the railroad could better relocate its switch than build an underpass at the intersection but no definite decision concerning the question has been made.

Vaughan, working to secure the bill's passage.

Another bill, identical with the Senate bill of Senator Mayfield, was written and introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Marvin Jones and was passed by that body. If the House acts favorably then the only remaining step will be the President's signature.

G. O. P. LEADERS SPLIT HOLDING TWO MEETINGS

CONFUSION IS RAMPANT IN DALLAS SESSION OF REPUBLICANS

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, May 22.—The republican state convention split when it was called to order here today and after two of the minority faction leaders were led out by policemen that group followed for a convention of its own at another hall.

It was the faction headed by R. B. Cragger of Brownsville, national committeeman, and demanding the selection and instruction of 26 delegates for Herbert Hoover which retained control of the site of the original meeting, the municipal auditorium.

Littleton Leads Group. Leaders of the other group, which insisted that only four delegates at large be chosen upon the contention that 22 already had been selected at district conventions, were C. C. Littleton, chairman of the republican state committee for an un-instructed delegation; Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas only republican congressman; J. E. Eigin of San Antonio, member of the state executive committee, and Harry Beck, white leader of the black and tan section.

Mr. Littleton was placed under arrest and jailed on a charge of defacing public property. Bond for him was placed at $200 and he had not been released 15 minutes after he was incarcerated.

It was said that while he was standing at the civic auditorium door trying to get into the convention, someone behind him threw an ink well through the plate glass door.

When the convention was called to order, the minority forced the reading of its report by Leonard Wittington, secretary of the convention.

Eigin then made his way to the platform and addressed Littleton as temporary chairman. Instead of Eugene Nolte of Dallas, who had been named as temporary chairman by the chairman of the executive committee.

Cragger took the platform and read a statement that "you are

WRECKED MINE CONTINUES TO GIVE UP DEAD

ONE MAN BROUGHT OUT ALIVE; DEATH TOLL NOW KNOWN 82

FIVE DIE, MANY HURT IN TEXAS TORNADOSEIGE

MAIL KILLS WOMAN IN FIELD NEAR LAREDO; DAMAGE IS GREAT

(By Associated Press) LAREDO, Tex., May 22.—Five dead, many injured, and property damage estimated at many thousands of dollars is the approximate toll of severe wind, hail and electrical storms in widely separated sections of the state.

Blowing on a 70-mile gale, hail of large dimensions yesterday beat Valentine Villalobos, 14, to death and seriously injured his father as they worked in a corn field near here. G. A. Brewer, preman of the farm, was injured. Sebastian Salinas and Ronald Rodriguez, cowboys, were killed when a house was blown down ten miles south of Laredo.

Killing Kills Two. Harvey Huz, 25, was instantly killed when struck by lightning at his home near Cameron. Mrs. E. E. Christ Winsboro was struck by lightning while hanging clothes on a line and was seriously injured. A tornado struck near Ferris, El Paso county, and destroyed the home of Marion Thomas, but the family escaped into a cellar.

The greatest loss probably is in the vicinity of Laredo where early cotton and late onion crops are reported damaged extensively by hail. The Laredo Country club was gutted, wrecked, automobile tops were blown to shreds, and cattle, chickens and goats were killed or badly injured by the huge stones.

Storm Strikes Suddenly. The storm swooped swiftly over the southwest and while it passed almost as quickly as it came, the sudden deluge of hail caught many persons unawares and unable to find shelter immediately. Some of the injured were brought to hospitals here and other patients in the city. Because of the late disposition, accurate check on a number of injured was impossible.

Day Permits Pass $300,000 For City

Sending May's building total leading past the $300,000 mark, three building permits taken out to-day here yesterday have boosted the total for the year to $1,339,913. Official records in the city offices showed this afternoon. A total of 17 permits issued thus far this month have given May a building total of $395,352.

Permits, two for Monday afternoon and one for today, total $463,470. Of this amount, $56,970 will be spent upon the annex to the First Methodist church and permit for the construction was given to the Shell Construction company of this city. The balance was divided between W. B. Atkins, who is building a $4,500 brick veneer house 3702 22nd street, and E. O. Smith, who is making repairs totaling $2,000 on a residence at 1512 10th street.

ALLENE SUMNER'S FIRST ARTICLE ON PAGE 9

The wife of one leading candidate for president—and therefore herself a candidate, for First Lady of the Land—has a story to tell of a mining. Another has been accused of naming 10,000 Pullman cars, but leads "Not guilty."

In fact, there are an unusually interesting group of women this year whose husbands aspire to the presidency. But very little is known of them or their achievements.

Beginning today the Journal will publish a series of articles by Allene Sumner, noted writer on women topics for the Journal and NEA Service, describing the lives of the leading presidential candidates in both parties. They present a new angle on many of our best known political figures.

Dr. and Mrs. Horn Entertain Seniors

Approximately 100 Technological college seniors attend an informal reception last evening at the home of President and Mrs. Paul W. Horn on the Tech campus.

This is an annual courtesy extended to the seniors. Flowers were ordered in rooms of the spacious home for this occasion, lending unusual beauty to the social. Sweet peas were used in the dining room and were given as plate favors with a refreshment course. During the evening Jimmie Allen played and Miss Anneh Jo Pendleton read. These two artists are members of the college faculty.

Mrs. Joe Logan Will Entertain Club

Mrs. Joe Logan will be hostess to the London Bridge club at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at 1208 Avenue N.

Dear Mom: I've been thinking over a lot of things and I'm not so sure but you may be right about Florence and Betty, after all, I guess Florence is the kind of a girl to whom education is fatal. Anyway I think I've heard that a knowledge is a dangerous thing. And it does as if Florence's finishing line is right on the half-way mark. So if she can't get any good out of being here and having a perfectly marvelous opportunity to learn life at first hand she might as well go back home and keep house for her mother.

One of the things she certainly should have learned by this time is how to shoot straight. And if anyone can call it straight shooting to abuse the trust I've placed in her I don't know what their ethics can be like. She kept Alan and me worrying our heads off last night. I told her she ought to be in by one o'clock. She and Norman were going to a show and I had a hunch they'd go somewhere to dance afterward.

Alan wasn't very keen on her going out with Norman in the first place and after he saw that letter of yours about Norman's treatment of the girls he told Florence to can him. Florence gave him a nice little sisterly answer and went along with Norman. But I knew Alan would be storming around until she got back. That's why I asked her to come in early. She did, early in the morning.

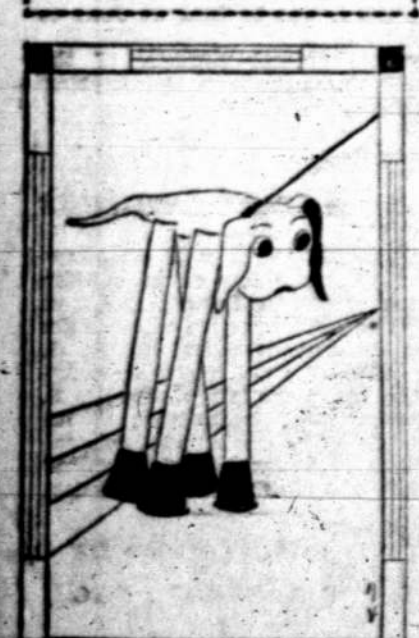

But that wasn't the worst of it. Norman was taking me out for a game of golf this morning, or so I thought. But when I called his aunt's apartment at ten o'clock he hadn't got up.

I told Florence we might as well go some place and have lunch and maybe go to a matinee but she said she couldn't because she was lunching with Norman. Well, that's what I call betraying a trust. She also added something about a married woman's place being in the home. But along about twelve-thirty I had my revenge. She called Norman herself—just to get my goat, I guess. He was still asleep and his aunt refused to wake him. It looked like we both were stood up, so when Pede called and asked me to lunch with him I had to say yes just to show Florence that I haven't died with my shoes on.

It's the first time I've seen Pede since the day he bashed Norman in the eye. And he was as sweet as could be to me. Nothing for even you to criticize, Mom.

Devotedly, MARYE

No Room For Love In Plane

"One thing at a time," is the motto of Thea Raasche, the "flying fraulein" who has come to America to attempt a non-stop flight to Germany this summer.

There is no room for love in the cockpit of an airplane," the fraulein says. "So I have no intention of falling in love or marrying."

"On the other hand, I think one has a right to tell another that he cannot fly. Death may come; it often does, to fliers. Every day, when one does stunts, he faces it."

"But fliers get to be fatalists who put all fear aside because they feel in their hearts that whatever is to happen, happens. And the decision to face danger should be a personal one—made without anyone else having a say."

"If I stop flying, it will be because I want to. And if I get married, I am sure I will stop. For it seems to me it would be impossible to combine two such opposite things as aviation and its dangers with home life and its peaceful security."

Injuries In Fall Off Horse Are Fatal

Injuries received last Saturday when a horse fell on W. J. Howard, 50, farmer living about six miles east of Ropes, proved fatal in a local hospital at 12:30 yesterday afternoon.

An X-ray photo showed that his skull was fractured as a result of the injury.

Howard was riding the horse near his home when the animal slipped down as a result of muddy ground, due to the recent rains, and pinned Howard to the ground.

His body is being held at Bynum Brothers funeral home awaiting the arrival of relatives of the deceased from Iowa, Texas.

Several children survive him, his wife having died several years ago.

Stewart Loses His Plea In Oil Trial

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—The District of Columbia supreme court ruled today that Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, must stand trial on a charge of refusing to answer questions propounded by the senate Teapot Dome committee.

Justice Siders upheld a demurrer filed by the government against Stewart's petition to have the case thrown out of court since the oil man subsequently answered the questions of the committee.

SISTER SHIP OF BREMEN BOUGHT BY GERMAN FLIER

ALBANY, N. Y., May 22—Baron Gunther von Huenefeld, backer of the first successful westward flight across the north Atlantic, has purchased the Junkers plane Europa, sister ship of the Bremen, but what flights he plans in the new plane were a matter of conjecture today.

One report was that the Baron, Captain Koehl and Major Fitzmaurice would attempt a return flight to Europe having the new plane shipped to New York from Germany. Baron von Huenefeld, however, denies that such are his plans.

May Be Shipped to Ireland He said it was possible that the plane would be shipped to Ireland and that he and Koehl would fly it thence to Germany, but that the plans were indefinite. The Baron, an aviation enthusiast, said he had also placed orders for several other planes.

The fliers, before leaving for Montreal said they had planned to attempt the eastward passage in the Bremen but with the Bremen out of commission in an attempt to bring her out from Greenly Island they indicated there was little likelihood of an attempt at a return flight.

DENVER'S DEPOT PLANS SOON TO BE COMPLETED

Plans for freight and passenger depots on the new Fort Worth and Denver, South Plains railroad in Lubbock, Plainview and Lockney are practically complete and bids will be received on all three structures within a week or ten days, Frank E. Clarity, of Ft. Worth, vice-president and general manager of the line, announced today.

According to Mr. Clarity the freight and passenger depots in Lubbock will be housed in one structure and will be completed at a cost of approximately $30,000. The buildings will be one of which we are all proud, he said, and should be ready for occupancy by the middle of July.

Inasmuch as Plainview will be a mid-way stop and not a terminus, two stations will be erected there, one for freight and another for passengers. Mr. Clarity said, but could not estimate the cost of the buildings there. The building at Lockney will be smaller but just as attractive as those in Plainview and Lubbock, he said.

W. C. Hedrick, of Houston, architect who planned the buildings at Texas Tech, has drawn the plans for the Denver's buildings.

convention today when its candidate, W. L. Dean of Huntsville who wrote the stringent Texas prohibition law, was elected temporary chairman. The bulk of the Governor Alfred E. Smith for president support swung over to Dean after John Boyle, Smith leader, had repudiated former Governor James E. Ferguson's nomination of E. A. Berry as a Smith candidate.

Moody Raps Wets In Seconding Dean

BEAUMONT, May 22 (AP)—Governor Dan Moody seconded the state democratic executive committee's nomination of W. L. Dean, author of the Texas liquor law, for temporary chairman of the state convention today in a speech deploring efforts of "something parading in prohibition clothes" to control the convention.

State Senator Tom Love chief of the ultra-dry faction, was on the platform. Governor Moody referred to rumors of a Love-klan coalition and warned the convention of the "evil consequences" of a repetition

A few feet away sat the veteran political ring master, Tom Love of Dallas, champion of the ultra-dry constitutional democrats, who have claimed a majority of the delegates. Governor Moody recalled the klan controlled Waco convention of 1924 and warned the session here against the "evil consequences" of a repetition of those conditions. He was cheered vociferously.

George Prul of Dallas, lieutenant of the Love faction, charged there is a coalition between the harmony democrats and the Smith supporters.

Ferguson made only a brief speech, but was given good attention and was not heckled. He declared Smith already nominated.

Boyle shouted that he did not want to see the convention controlled by "either Tom Love or Jim Ferguson."

state. As it stands now full development will probably not be seen for a half century or even a century due to lack of transportation.

Railroads Aid Greatly When questioned by Attorney Barwise regarding the gridironed network of highways affecting the country in a like manner, Judge Hamlin stated that he felt that the railroads would have a much greater effect.

Maury Hopkins, secretary of the Plainview Board of City Development appeared as a witness during the morning, offering a list of wholesale houses of Plainview as an exhibit whose territory, he claimed would be greatly expanded by the construction of the road.

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, acting upon the Board of City Development's instructions, also appeared as a witness and offered four exhibits into the testimony. Exhibits offered were the list of wholesale concerns here, the census report of the increase in the number of farms in various South Plains counties, a census report on the amount of cotton grown in the section, and a census report on the amount of grain sorghums grown here.

Hale Center Man Talks George Struve, living 14 miles west of Hale Center was the first witness of the day. He verified Fred Schreier's statements and that of other witnesses regarding the agricultural conditions in the section and told of the unlimited supply of sheet water to be found there.

G. H. Phillips, a resident of Lamb county near Otton for 25 years, was the second witness. His testimony told of the difficulties experienced in crossing the two draws of Running Water creek which lies between Otton and the new Denver extension and also of the more direct line to livestock markets to be obtained in the establishment of the new road.

M. E. Cleavinger, of Canyon, formerly storekeeper of Spring Lake, was next placed on the stand. He declared that "the section was just as good if not better than Hale and Floyd counties" and told of the cost of operating trucks in the section. Mr. Cleavinger, in explaining, his reason for buying land in that territory said that land agent by the name of George B. Wright promised a railroad from Plainview to Fawcett which would run directly by his land. The proposed Santa Fe line fulfills that mission, although the promise was made more than 15 years ago.

Chicago Man Colled Fred P. Warren, of Chicago, vice-president and production manager of the Cracker-Jack company, and an extensive landholder in the territory included in the line's route, was also placed on the stand as a witness. Mr. Warren told of the irrigation possibilities of the section, which consist of furnishing an unlimited supply of water by power at the rate of $1,000 to 1,200 gallons per minute and the market factors which have been a draw back to the section. The interior lands in the territory are as good as any in the Panhandle, Mr. Warren said.

Several more witnesses were scheduled to appear in the hearing this afternoon for the Santa Fe. It is thought, although no information was gained concerning them, that the Denver would have several witnesses also.

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 22 (AP)—Behind the quotations and stories moving over financial wires is a picture so colorful and romantic for W. T. Williams, market editor of the Savannah Morning News, that in 30 years he has not missed a single day at his desk.

To the lay reader the quotations may be dry and the stories uninteresting, but Williams sees them as a continuous picture of big business and stock markets, shrewdness in manipulation, dramatic coups, success and failure of carefully planned movements, with all the interest and excitement of a great game moving before his eyes.

His record includes presence at his desk even on Sundays and holidays when the markets are closed, for he dislikes vacations.

PROBE CALLED INTO CHARGES BY PHYSICIANS

RESEARCH PROGRAM BY EXPERTS TO DECIDE ON BIG QUESTION

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The illness of the medical profession with relation to charges made for treating the ill of the people are to be investigated.

Plans for a five year program of research by a committee of eminent physicians, sanitarians, economists and laymen with a view to solving the question of how a family of moderate means can obtain adequate medical attention at a cost which it can afford were announced here today by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University and chairman of the newly organized committee.

First Ever Attempted

The investigation, the first of its kind ever to be attempted, will be conducted jointly by the American Medical Association, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, The Public Health Service and other agencies. Financial support has been supplied by the Carnegie Corporation, the Milbank Memorial Fund, the Russell Sage Foundation and the Twentieth Century Fund.

The importance of the problem may be better appreciated," said Dr. Wilbur, "when it is realized that the present cost of illness to the people of the United States is probably over $5,000,000,000 per year."

He said there were a million persons engaged in curing and preventing disease and more than five billions invested in hospitals and other equipment, yet a large group of persons are not receiving needed medical treatment at costs within their means.

Complaints Are Heard

Complaints of high charges are becoming frequent, and I fear some of them are justified," he added.

"The cause of the difficulty," he continued, "is the large number of separate bills which must be paid, not the amount of the physician's charge. Physicians, as a group, are not earning adequate incomes, and for many hospitals and other facilities for scientific work and for nurses are not receiving needed medical treatment at costs within their means."

DOG'S BITE PROVES OWNER

Owning a dog was proved in a police court in Glasgow, Scotland, recently when the animal bit one man and refused to leave another. The Yorkshire terrier had been advertised for sale, and the claimant promptly had the advertiser arrested. When in court he tried to prove his claim by a broken tooth he said the dog had, the dog

Woman And Brother Held For Slaying

DALLAS, May 22.—Mrs. Priscilla Knight, 30, and her brother, Lewis Dawn, 21, of San Angelo, were charged with murder in a complaint filed here today in the death of Lloyd H. Knight, 37, who was shot to death at his home here last night.

Mrs. Knight, suffering from nervous shock, was in a hospital, and her brother in the county jail. Both were held without bond.

Dawn, police said, came to Dallas from San Angelo at the request of his sister, who had been married to Knight about a year.

Mrs. Knight had several cuts and bruises on her face when officers were called to the home last night. The house was in disorder.

Dr. Robert Short, who said he had been called by Knight to attend his wife said Knight, with a bullet in his chest, was dead when he arrived.

a week and where their old friends from the Bronx and east side gathered around the fireside to talk over the good old days.

It is here that Mrs. Smith sits, too, when "Al" is away, waiting for that comes to her from him wherever he may be.

Always the same words over the phone.

"How are you, Katie? Are the children all right?"

"Yes, Al, we're all fine. How're you?"

The mansion has several cabinets of porcelain and china—bits of Americana which the First Lady finds in old farm houses to which the gubernatorial car takes her through all New England.

She loves motoring and she loves collecting and she loves a bargain. She chuckles to tell how the farm house inmates had no idea to whom they're selling till after she's gone.

The china collection is amusing with one cabinet containing six little elephants and only one coal black donkey. Mrs. Al's maternal interests crop out here, too. There are china baby shoes and china little boys and girls.

There is a big silver framed picture of the governor on her dressing table. It is inscribed:

"To my dear Katie on our twenty-fifth anniversary of married-happiness."

Her Philosophy

"We've been married 28 years," says Mrs. Smith, smiling at the picture. "I think early marriages are best; you have that many more years together with the children. Not that I ever feel I lose my children when they marry; you can still keep them if you're the right kind of mother; why my two married sons call me every day! I married him and refused to leave the other man, who was awarded the pet."

CANNON-SMITH WEDDING

A wedding of much interest, and one that was quite a surprise to the many friends of the charming bride was that of Miss Margaret Cannon and W. P. Smith. Miss Cannon was a member of the Lorenzo high school faculty for the term just ending and Mr. Smith is principal of the high school at Southland, Texas. They were united in marriage Saturday evening at eight-thirty o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. R. S. Watkins officiating with only the pastor's family, Miss Muriel Linkenhogor and Bruce Hannah to witness the ceremony. The popular bride, whose home is in Denton, Texas, taught home economics in our school this year and during her residence in Lorenzo she has made a host of friends and admirers, who wish her every happiness. The happy couple left for Southland immediately after the ceremony to make that their future home.

just means you get some children and the grand children."

And there you have Catherine Smith, First Lady of New York, potential First Lady of America. Children owe nothing to parents; they would soon be leaving for their homes in other towns. At the close of the evening the host, assisted by Mrs. Austin Fullingim, served a salad course to Misses Verlyn Ballentine, Lois Harkey, Dessie Johnson, Ilene Wampler, Muriel Linkenhogor, Margaret Cannon, Louella Woodward, Messrs. "I suppose some women can have families and do other jobs, too," says Mrs. Al Smith. "But I was never that kind myself—I never wanted anything in my life but my home and family. I think a woman's doing the biggest job if she turns out the right men folk to do the outside work. But it takes all kinds of women to make a world, and maybe we need the other kind, too."

Kinder, Kirche and Kueche and not ashamed of it, but glorying in it, that's Mrs. Al Smith, who'd mean a friendly, neighborly, home loving woman in the White House!

TOMORROW: Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

Hughes, Rex Aycock; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fullingim.

WORTH MORE THAN WIFE

That a camel is worth more than a wife, was the declaration of a native of Egypt who recently offered both to an English clergyman. He first offered the wife for the equivalent of $25. "Why do you want to sell her?" he was asked. "She is old and fights," was the laconic reply. "Then she would fight me," said the clergyman. "No, not an English gentleman," was the answer. The offer being refused the native then offered the camel for $100. Asked to explain the difference in prices, he replied curtly, "Camel better than wife."
