Army Explains Plan To Train Youths A Year

Inside "Dope" On Military Program Is Made Public

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — The Army detailed to Congress today how it would handle universal military training if President Truman's request for such a law was granted.

Four major generals explained the "here's how" to the House military committee.

They were George J. Richards, War department budget officer; Ray E. Porter, director of the special planning division; Willard S. Paul, assistant chief of staff for personnel, and I. H. Edwards, assistant chief of staff for training.

How It Would Operate

The universal one-year training program, today's witnesses said, would operate thus:

Who would be trained? Young men in the age group 18 through 20; the training normally would begin when a youth is 18, unless he hadn't finished high school, in which case he could wait until he graduated; a youth who had finished high school at the age of 17 could start training then, with his parents' consent.

How many would be trained? After allowing for rejections for physical and other disabilities, the Army would train 700,000 and the Navy about 260,000 annually.

Selection For Training

How would they be selected? By local civilian agencies similar to local draft boards; each youth would register by mail when he becomes 18; his local board would tell him when his training would start, and there would be several different entry dates annually, with the individual's convenience to be considered.

When would a youth's first actual contact with the military occur? At a receiving station to which he would be ordered by his local board to report. There he would be given a special oath and examinations and offered a choice of services. The physical standards for acceptance would be low-

Navy Training To Terminate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (UP)—The Navy announced today that it will terminate active duty training of NROTC trainees and V-12 engineers on or about March 1.

The Navy made the decision in anticipation of a reduction by Congress in a naval reserve appropriation.

The V-5, or aviation, portion of the V-12 program, which includes 6,000 students, is not affected.

To Get Commissions

Men who graduate at the end of the current term will be commissioned ensigns and assigned to active duty. All other students enrolled in NROTC will be given three options:

1. Release to inactive duty on the stipulation that the men continue studies at their own expense and accept a commission in the naval reserve upon completion of training. Such men will be ordered to active duty if their services are required and if they have not sufficient points for release.

May Be Transferred

2. Transfer to the V-5 pre-aviation college training program if three college terms have been

U. S. Forces Ordered To Let Japan Make First War Move

Marshall Claims Such Order Was Issued By FDR

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Gen. George C. Marshall said today President Roosevelt personally ordered included in prewar warning messages to American commanders instructions to wait for an overt act by Japan.

Marshall told the Senate-House Pearl Harbor inquiry committee the president's directions were being followed when Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short was told "the United States desires that Japan commit the first overt act." Short was the Army commander in Hawaii at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Personally Gave Order

The former Army chief of staff said he had a "dim recollection" that Mr. Roosevelt personally gave him those instructions. He said he was worried about how to transmit them without too rigidly restraining defense actions.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) opened the fifth day of testimony for the five-star general with questions about an alert Marshall had ordered in Hawaii on June 17, 1940.

At that time the Hawaii garrison was ordered on a full alert, with the request that Lt. Gen. C. B. Herron, then commander there, acknowledge to Washington that the order had been carried out.

Was Told To Report

Ferguson noted that Marshall's Nov. 27, 1941 message to Short, who succeeded Herron, told Short to take measures he deemed necessary and report what those measures were.

"Isn't it the procedure that if a commander is told to take measures he deems necessary and report back and you are not satisfied with the measures he has taken, that you would advise him differently?" the Michigan senator asked.

"I would assume so," Marshall replied quietly.

"That's the correct Army procedure?"

"Yes, sir, that's right," the general said.

No Further Instructions

Short has contended that when he reported he had placed into effect only an anti-sabotage alert and Washington gave him no further instructions, he felt the measures he had taken were satisfactory.

Prisoner Saws Out Of Jail At Tahoka

Sheriff Sam Floyd of Tahoka telephoned Lubbock police at 10 o'clock this morning to report that Tommy Mason, 22, wanted by several South Plains counties including Lynn on burglary charges had "sawed out of jail and escaped."

The sheriff said the man's mode of transportation or direction of flight was unknown.

There were no further details from the sheriff, except for the fugitive's description: 5 feet 7 inches tall, 140 pounds, brown hair, blue eyes, medium complexion, medium build.

Mason had been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary from Lubbock county, and was under forgery indictment in Lynn county, also under charges in Dawson, Hockley and Lamb counties, officials here reported.

Lubbock Voters Cast Ballots In $5,894,000 Bond Election

Lubbock's electorate was slowly trekking to the polls at Central Fire station today to cast ballots on a proposed $5,894,000 over-all bond issue to finance a five-year municipal expansion program.

Up until 1 o'clock, only approximately 389 votes had been cast in the election but an increased pace in balloting was expected this afternoon. The number of voters increased several score after adjournment of the Lubbock Lions club, when a majority of the members went to the polls in a body to vote.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock, total votes cast had increased to 571.

Although a sweeping victory had been forecast for all 14 propositions on the ballot, bond campaign leaders were making every effort this afternoon to see that a large turn-out of voters is secured for the election. They were citing the total vote at Dallas where only 5,000 ballots of a possible 125,000 in the city were cast and the $40,000,000 program there carried by a margin of only five votes to three.

Present indications point toward a total vote of approximately 1,500 in the election should the early afternoon pace be continued throughout the day. Polls will remain open until 7 o'clock.

Plan To Curb Wildcat Strikes Is Proposed To Ford Company

Discharge, Fines Planned To Block Labor Walkouts

DETROIT, Dec. 11 — A union plan for curbing "wildcat" strikes and slowdowns paved the way today for wage talks with the Ford Motor company, only member of the automotive "Big Three" still under union contract.

The Ford company's favorable reaction to the proposal also raised the possibility some similar

Fines And Discharge

Countering a management demand for "company security," the CIO United Automobile Workers offered to subject instigators of unauthorized work stoppages in Ford plants to discharge and participants in such action to fines.

An unauthorized interruption of work was described as one resulting from a dispute which could be settled by the impartial umpire or, if not in this category, an issue not approved by the international union.

Any employe ordered discharged by the umpire could demand an investigation by the local union.

Nation's 5,000 Gypsies Mourn As Death Takes Queen Mother

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 11. (UP)—Lappy Marks, 70-year-old queen mother of the nation's 5,000 gypsies, was to be buried here this afternoon and throughout the country her followers began at the same time a nine-day period of mourning.

Wichita florists were receiving telephoned orders for flowers from coast to coast as members of the five gypsy tribes of this country learned of the death early Sunday of Queen Lappy in a camp west of here. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Police received calls, too, from all parts of the country. The gypsies wanted verification of the death report for during the period of mourning gypsies of the Marks, Mitchells, Adams, Costellos and Uniwich tribes cease singing, dancing, telling fortunes and carrying on their usual businesses.

Lappy Marks was the widow of Spero Marks, who was known to the gypsy kingdom as the late King John. She had lived in and out of Wichita since 1908. Her father, little Steve Marks, was a native of Serbia.

Schedules For Hearings Will Be Speeded Up

No Date Set For Opening Of Trial Of Hideki Tojo

TOKYO, Dec. 11 — The first of 300 small-time Japanese charged with atrocities against Allied war prisoners will go on trial Dec. 18 under a speeded-up schedule, it was announced today.

The announcement left undetermined, however, the date when war-time Premier Hideki Tojo—No. 1 on the Allied list of suspected war criminals — will face the Allied tribunal.

May Run Concurrently

Lt. Gen. C. P. Hall, acting U. S. Eighth Army commander, said trials of Japanese accused of maltreating Allied war prisoners might be held concurrently after the first begins next Tuesday in Yokohama. Three courtrooms are available there and two more will be after Jan. 1.

Defendants will be tried by military commissions of five to eight members, drawn from Army and Navy officers and civilians, each of which will include one law member.

The suspects will be defended by 12 counsels, headed by Lt. Col. James Dickinson, Jacksonville, Fla., and Maj. Harold H. Emmons, jr., Detroit.

To Extend Session

In the diet today, Premier Baron Shidehara told the House of Representatives the government is taking steps to extend the current extraordinary session as General MacArthur's agrarian directive speeded consideration of the previously ignored land bill.

The premier did not specify the length of the anticipated extension but said he intended to insure time for enactment of a labor union law which also had seemed foredoomed.

A House committee toiled all last night on the government land reform measure to insure its early discussion in the plenary session. Diet members made no attempt to hide the fact that MacArthur's agrarian directive prompted their nocturnal labors.

Hospital Program Is Approved By Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—A federal aid hospital program expected to provide $700,000,000 in construction during the next five years won Senate approval today on a voice vote. The measure now goes to the House.

Approval came after the Senate rejected a long series of amendments offered by Senators Murray (D-Mont) and Wagner (D-NY) which they said would bring the bill into line with President Truman's recent congressional message for a national health program.

Young Movie Starlet Is Victim In Attack

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 11 (UP)—Police searched today for the "nervous man" who attacked Movie Starlet Jacqueline Gray, 19, then warned her against leading an immoral life.

The blond actress told police her assailant, about 40 and wearing dark glasses, forced her into his car at gun point as she waited for a Hollywood bus.

The man then drove her to a deadend street, threw a blanket over her head and attacked her.

"He warned me against leading an immoral life as he left," she said.

DIES AFTER ACCIDENT

DALLAS, Dec. 11. (AP)—I. Hoover, 40, film projectionist at the Lisbon theater here, died early today in a hospital from an accident in the projection booth. Fire Marshall B C. Hilton said the film apparently ignited and that fumes from the fire overcame Hoover.

Gen. Patton's Wife Arrives

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 11. (AP) — Mrs. George S. Patton, jr., expressing confidence that her husbands fighting heart will carry him through to recovery, arrived today at the Army hospital where the colorful general is in a critical condition from a broken neck.

"You can tell me all about it," Mrs. Patton said to Maj. Gen. Julius Kenner, Army theater surgeon, "but I have seen Georgie in these scrapes before and he always comes out all right."

Arrived By Plane

Mrs. Patton arrived here following a flight from the United States in an Army plane, and went immediately to the 130th station hospital.

Patton, paralyzed from a fracture of the neck, improved slightly during the night, it was officially announced. He has had a blood transfusion.

The colorful commander of the U. S. 15th Army had a good night and his general condition was maintained at a satisfactory level," an official bulletin said.

Accompanied By Specialist

Mrs. Patton was accompanied by Col. R. Glenn Spurling, neurosurgery specialist, an officer of the Army's operations division. Red Forces Being Ordered To Move Out Of Mukden

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Dec. 11—Russia agreed today to permit Chinese government troops to fly into Manchuria and take over its most strategic cities, Central News agency reported.

After weeks of tense negotiations, during which Chinese Communists had sought to take over ports and cities, the agency said the Chungking government had won permission to plant itself firmly in this territory held vital for the recovery of war-ravaged China.

To Fly Into Cities

It reported that Central government troops would be permitted by the Russians to fly into Changchun, the Manchurian capital, Mukden, largest city in the territory, and Harbin, most important in northern Manchuria.

Chinese Communists previously had been reported concentrating about both Changchun and Harbin and ready to take over Mukden if Central government troops on the outskirts tried to move in.

A Chinese dispatch yesterday said Communist headquarters at Yenan had ordered their troops to clear out of Mukden "to conserve the strength of Communist forces."

May Enter Dairen

Previously it had been reported that the Russians also agreed to permit Chungking troops to enter Dairen, which under the Sino-Russian agreement will be occupied by both powers.

The announcement said agreement also had been reached on procedure for Chungking to take over local administrations throughout the vast territory.

The agency also reported that Russian military authorities had agreed to give protection to Central government troops whenever they land in Manchuria.

Senate Group Drops Foreign Policy Quiz

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (UP)—The Senate Foreign Relations committee today dropped its investigation of charges by ex-ambassador Patrick J Hurley that State department career diplomats undermined U. S. foreign policy throughout the world.

For three hours today the committee examined secret State department records. Then chairman Tom Connally, (D., Tex.,) announced that no further hearings or closed sessions on the matter were planned.

This was tantamount to rejecting Hurley's complaints. Hurley, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson and other witnesses testified at the committee hearings during the past week.

Deadliest Poison Gas In The World Developed By Germany

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Senators heard from a military government official today that Germany "developed the deadliest poison gas in the world" by testing it on concentration camp inmates.

The testimony came from Col. Bernard Bernstein, director of the division of cartels and external assets, U. S. military government in Germany. He submitted a statement to a Senate military subcommittee headed by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa).

Denial Is Offered

Bernstein also offered what he said was a German denial of a Standard Oil company of New Jersey contention that the United States benefitted, rather than suffered, through Standard's prewar relations with the big German dye trust, I. G. Farben industries.

On the poison gas matter, he said many plants and all stocks of poison gas were destroyed by order of the German government before occupation by the Russians. Bernstein continued:

"But at least one of the terrible secrets which the Germans hoped to save for the next war

Over 400,000 Workers Vote For Walkout

Truman Plan For Labor Peace Is Branded Vicious

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—The CIO-United Steel Workers wage policy committee today adopted a resolution calling for a steel strike January 14 at 12:01 a. m.

The resolution said:

"Over 400,000 workers throughout the nation, in a secret ballot, have given their mandate—to strike in self protection.

Legislation Condemned

"This is the solemn judgment—after careful consideration—of the steel workers, aluminum workers, and iron ore miners, under the jurisdiction of this union."

In a separtee resolution, the committee said:

"We condemn President Truman's proposed legislation as vicious anti-labor and an attack on our basic Democratic liberties.

"A fact-finding board for the steel industry is unnecessary. Any such proposal is but a false trail of fruitless delays which can only serve to undermine labor."

A union spokesman said that was the union's reply to the request of President Truman for continuance of work pending his appointment of a fact-finding board to settle the dispute.

Largest In History

The strike would be the largest in the history of American industry, the USW claiming a membership of nearly 1,000,000.

The union declared:

"The sharp slashing of the pay of American wage earners spells economic disaster for the American nation.

"The steel industry can meet the union's request for a $2-a-day wage increase and in 1946 still earn over $400,000,000 in net profits after taxes—or 3½ times its peacetime average.

"The Inland Steel company, in connection with its iron ore mines, has disclosed the real design of the steel industry. That company now refuses to comply with a collective bargaining agreement negotiated and consummated for the iron ore mines . . .

To Cancel Agreements

"The reason given is that the War Labor board is going out of existence and there is no need for the corporation to comply with its solemn contractual obligations. Many other steel companies have already threatened the union that if the steelworkers exercise their legal right and strike—the collective bargaining agreements will be canceled.

"The steel industry is thus embarked upon a campaign to renew the 'union wrecking plan' of the 1920's which effectively destroyed the newly developed labor union

Crazed Killer Being Sought

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (AP)—The brutal murder of tiny, comely Frances Brown, 33-year-old stenographer and former Wave, by a man police described as a maniac, was under investigation by Chicago's top detectives today.

"Whover the killer was, he's a maniac, and we must get him," said Capt. Frank Reynolds as police intensified their search to solve the latest in a series of slayings in Chicago in the last week. Police reports disclose nine persons were slain in the last week. Three of the deaths have not been solved.

Killed In Apartment

Miss Brown, discharged from the Waves last September after three years of service, was killed some time Monday morning in her apartment at the Pine Crest hotel in the North Side Lakeview district. The slayer twice shot and twice plunged an eight-inch bread knife into the throat of the 95 pound, five foot, one inch Miss Brown and then left her nude body hanging over a bathtub in her blood-spattered apartment. A hotel maid found her body.

The killer, before leaving, wrote a message on the wall in lipstick in large, uneven letters. It read: "For heavens sake catch me before I kill more. I cannot control myself."

Clues Are Sought

Criminologists studied the writing in efforts to obtain clues. The letters were three to six inches high and the highest sentence was about six feet from the floor.

Capt. Reynolds theorized the

Court-Martial Of Indianapolis Skipper Is Taking On The Aspects Of A Sideshow

By ROBERT C. RUARK
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. — The court-martial of Capt. Charles McVay, skipper of the lost cruiser Indianapolis, is beginning to take on some aspects of a sideshow.

All along it has departed from standard Navy procedure by being well press-agented, but the importation of Commander Ike (pronounced ee-kay) Hashimoto, the Jap submariner who is supposed to have sunk the Indianapolis, is unprecedented in the annals of anything, and is causing much talk among Navy men.

Flown From Tokyo

Ike—as the boys in the Navy department refer to him — is to testify tomorrow or next day. The Jap was flown to Washington from Tokyo.

Just why the submarine commander is here is unclear, and the judge advocate generals office won't talk. The admisibility of a recent enemy's testimony against Capt. McVay is almost certain to be challenged by the captain's counsel.

Navy officials assume that the Jap's log will be brought to the trial, and that its entries will show whether he sank the Indianapolis, and what course and speed the cruiser was making when he waylaid her.

This poses a question in many Navy minds: If the log was brought here why was Hashimoto brought too?

Why were not his records inspected in Japan and transcripts brought to the trial? Or, if he had any testimony to give why was he not questioned in Tokyo and a transcript of his testimony sent here.

Just To Enliven It

The answer, some Navy men speculate, is that Hashimoto was flown over to enliven a court-martial which was beginning to sag in reader appeal.

Capt. McVay's court-martial, which was recessed last week for lack of witnesses, commenced again today, and was expected to conclude within a week or ten days. He is charged with inefficiency, in not ordering the vessel to steer a zigzag course through dangerous waters and with culpable negligence in not ordering "abandon ship" in time to save great loss of life. Of the 1196 men aboard the cruiser, 880 perished.

Testimony to date tends to show that Capt. McVay was not pursuing a zigzag course, and that inter-ship communications almost immediately were destroyed after the ship was struck twice about 450 miles from Leyte. She rolled over and sank some 10 minutes after being hit.

The captain has not yet taken the stand.

In prewar years the U. S. imported an average of 3,000 tons of dried figs annually.

Small Scale Service To Wed Midget And His Bride-To-Be

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (U.P.) — Few cities ever see a midget wedding, but Austin this month is going to have its second such ceremony in less than a year.

Waylon H. Galloway, 21, a messenger in the Secretary of State's office and the smallest employe on the State payroll, said Monday he would marry Miss Rosemary Copeland, 22, of Burbank, Calif., at Austin about Dec. 21. He is 45 inches tall, as is his bride-elect.

Last June Ausugust Clarence Swensen, 52 inches, married Myrna Myrle Clifton, 48 inches, at Austin. The Swensens will attend Galloway's wedding as best man and bridesmaid, respectively. Myrna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Clifton, Austin, 52 and 47 inches, will divide the ritual of giving the bride away and acting as matron of honor.

Proposal Via Mail

Galloway, who met Rosemary at Vinita, Okla., in 1942, said the date of the wedding depended upon her arrival in Austin. He has not seen his prospective bride since they met. His proposal and her acceptance were handled through the mails, he said.

Waylon has five normal-sized sisters. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Galloway of Austin, formerly of Wills Point, where Waylon was born. Miss Copeland, whose parents are dead, was an only child.

No Early Christmas For Leukemia Victim

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore of Blackwell, Tex., said today their three-year-old daughter, Mary Jacqueline, who has leukemia, will not be given an early Christmas.

The parents said they are making plans for the child to celebrate Christmas on Dec. 25.

A relative of the Moores had expressed belief Mary Jacqueline would be given an early Christmas because of the grave nature of her illness.

The little girl has had nine blood transfusions since August and will get another here today.

Russia To Get Cold Shoulder If She Asks More Territory

BY CARL D. GROAT
Special Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 11 — The forthcoming Moscow conference of foreign ministers is in the nature of a fishing expedition, so far as the British are concerned.

Perhaps the same also may apply to Secretary Byrnes, according to impressions this correspondent gained in well-posted circles here.

The British are hopeful that some better understandings will result before the United Nations plenary meets in January, realizing that the presence of frictional points at that time might be embarrassing or even fateful.

Horse-Trading With Bomb

The British also hope that a wide range of subjects will be considered, not solely the atomic bomb. On the bomb subject there is likely to be some horse-trading, with the Americans and British angling for some Russian scientific contribution to put into the United Nations pool.

It is unlikely that the American and British will look favorably upon any attempt to "exact" from them the bomb secret as such. Also it is certain that Russia will get a cold shoulder if she renews her sweeping demand for territory far distant from her homeland, such as Tripolitania, as she did at the last foreign ministers' session here.

The impression is strong that the Moscow meeting was called chiefly on the initiative of Secretary Byrnes. The tendency here is to interpret this as a hopeful sign, since Moscow the original stumbling block at the session here, now will become the host nation.

The British are inclined to believe France is considerably mollified by pledges that questions directly affecting her interests won't be discussed.

British Plan Agenda

The British place high on the anticipated agenda Japan, China and the Balkans. Press forecasts also include 'Iran but this correspondent got the impression that is not necessarily a prime topic.

In the course of various inquiries here, I went into the subject of hints in Germany that the British-American disposition to hasten establishment of a German industry on a "humanitarian" level might be the forerunner of a German industrial comeback.

The answer was that there was no intention to let Germany revive to a first-class power, but certainly it was desired that she be sufficiently industrial to allow her to pay for essential food and raw material imports.

Ex-Soldier Dies In Motorcycle Mishap

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 11 (U.P.) —Odie Loftin, 23, Carthage, Tex., was killed instantly here last night when the motorcycle on which he was riding crashed head-on with an automobile on Highway 80 near Shreveport.

Highway officers and Dr. C. S. Boone, deputy coroner, said that the man, a recently discharged soldier, was riding on the wrong side of the road at the time of the collision.

Flashes Of Life

(By The Associated Press)

BORROWED TIME

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Judge John B. Seabrook slapped an extra-heavy city jail senteuce on a man hauled up before him for drunkenness. The culprit had been a frequent offender and a month ago, the judge gave him a parole and lent him $10 for a pair of shoes so he could accept a "promising job." The man promised to repay the loan on his first pay-day.

When he came up before Judge Seabrook again, the judge remembered the loan. The offender got 120 days.

IT ALWAYS HAPPENS

OMAHA, (AP)—It happened again—this time in Omaha.

During an electric power failure, a housewife complained to the telephone operator that her phone was dead.

"If it's dead, how are you talking to me," asked the operator, and the housewife meekly hung up.

FUR TRADER

CHICAGO (AP) — Six years ago when she was 13 years old Delphine Furtek started saving nickels. Her objective was to purchase a fur coat.

Under a load of four sugar sacks and two quart jars full of nickels, she staggered into the Steel City bank yesterday. Bank clerks counted 16,000 nickels.

She had changed her mind about getting a fur coat, used the nickels for a $1,000 Victory bond.

AFTER YOU

CORTLAND, N. Y. (AP) — "Go ahead, you saw him first."

Thus went the conversation between nimrods John K. Alama and Samuel Musici as they sighted their shooting irons on a deer silhouetted against the sky.

Their polite conversation was interrupted by a shot. Another hunter bagged the deer.

SHOCK PROOF

CENTRALIA, Wash. — At the height of the Pacific northwest's gale, Light Superintendent Paul Peyton answered a telephone call from a woman motorist who reported her car was snarled in power wires at Rainier. She asked him to shut off the power until her machine could be removed.

"How did you get out of the car?" queried Peyton.

"Oh, I just pushed the wires aside with my purse and got out," she replied.

The flabbergasted light executive assured her the power would be shut off immediately. The city's wires at Rainier carry 2,400 volts.

WAC Corporal Frankly Admits Preference For Officers As Dates And Reveals Why

HONOLULU, Dec. 11. (AP) — A letter-writer identified only as a WAC corporal said in Stars and Stripes today that she frankly preferred officers to enlisted men because they had a corner on transportation, had more money and were smarter and more mature, on the average.

The letter in the Army newspaper, anticipating replies, said that "no doubt some private with a degree from Yale will write in, loudly protesting that he has an I.Q. (intelligence quotient) of 160 while his commanding officer has one of 110. Thats way I stress the word average."

As for transportation, said the writer, "I admit it is not fair that officers have the Army and Navy vehicles, but that is the set-up, and with plenty of dates to choose from, why not make the best of it?"

Admitting it all sounded "a bit mercenary," the letter concluded by asking the enlisted man which date he would take if he had his choice of equally attractive girls, with "a good car, a private apartment and plenty of Scotch" or one who "has the use of the Honolulu buses and is usually broke."

Try ALL-BRAN Apple Spice Muffins!

(No sugar, no shortening, but lots of praise!)

It's hard to believe such luscious muffins are sugarless and shortening-less—but they are! They owe their wonderful flavor to a combination of ginger, cinnamon, molasses and the tasty, nut-sweet goodness of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. PIN-WORM ITCH MAY THREATEN YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Don't let your child suffer a single needless minute of distress with Pin-Worms!

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong. So watch out for the warning signs—especially the tormenting, embarrassing rectal itch. Because now you can and should do something about it!

A highly effective way to deal with this ugly infection has now been made possible. It is based on the medically recognized drug known as gentian violet. This special drug is the vital ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. So, if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, get a box of JAYNE'S P-W right away, and follow the directions.

Ask your druggist: P-W for Pin-Worms! Adv.

Flu Cases In Schools Drop

Influenza cases among students and teachers in Lubbock public schools is on the decline this week as compared to the unusually large number absent from classrooms last week, a check with school officials revealed here today.

The peak of the epidemic in most of the schools was reached last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Junior High school reported the largest number of students and teachers absent today — 177 students and eight teachers. The same school reported 294 students out because of sickness Monday.

Has Decreased Steadily

The number of cases in Senior High school reached a high Dec. 3 when 240 students and seven teachers were absent. Since that time the figure has decreased steadily and today only 109 students and five teachers were out of classrooms.

Sanders reported 135 students absent today as compared to 152 students and two teachers absent Monday. Today 124 students of George R. Bean and two teachers were absent as compared to 163 students and two teachers Monday.

The principal of Dupre said about the same number of students and teachers were absent today as yesterday—114 students and three teachers. Central Ward had 113 students and no teachers absent today as compared to the school's highest absenteeisms of 130 last week.

Fifty-five students and two teachers were on the "flu" list at McWhorter today and Roscoe Wilson reported 144 students and one teacher absent.

Maria Osmena Will Talk Here Tonight

Various phases of life in the Philippines will be discussed by Maria Osmena, daughter of Sergio Osmena, president of the Philippines, in a talk before the Knife and Fork club at the Hilton hotel tonight at 7 o'clock.

While in a measure she will be reflecting the views of her father, she will in no sense be parroting them and nothing that she says can be construed as official in any way. She has a great deal of hard-to-get information to give on the Philippines in her lecture, which she has the ability to deliver in a charming manner.

Proposed Loan To Britain Is Under Fire In Both Countries

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — Before the ink was dry on the terms of the proposed U. S. Loan to Britain, there were reminders of what a great Englishman once said, that a loan "oft loses both itself and a friend."

During World War I, the United States loaned Britain $4,277,000,000.

At the time, the British were duly grateful. Not until quite some time later did they begin to throw brickbats our way and speak of Uncle Shylock.

Terms Are Generous

Now it is proposed to lend Britain $4,400,000,000. The terms, as loans go, are generous. She pays nothing until after 1950. If it inconveniences her, after that, to meet the annual interest installments during any of the 50-odd years the debt is to run, she can skip it. And it is non-cumulative. While the United States will have to pay more than 2 per cent to raise the money for the loan, counting from 1945 Britain will have to pay only about 1.62 per cent. So it may cost the American taxpayer upward of $2 billion more to lend the money than he will get back.

Nevertheless, in London opinion, we are putting the screws on Britain.

Unlike the last time, the critics are not waiting. The London "economist," is quoted as saying that the terms are "cruel." It accuses us of exploiting Britain's need. It is a "bargaining victory" over our best friend. Britain's plight, it says, is due to the fact that she fought the war the earliest, the longest and the hardest. "And for that," it charges, "we shall pay $140,000,000 yearly for the rest of the 20th century. It may be unavoidable, but it isn't right."

Only The Beginning

This, of course, is only the beginning. Twice a year, every year "for the rest of the 20th century" we shall be accused of robbing a cripple. And if we make similar loans to other nations, they will join in the chorus as they did the last time. Many, therefore, are asking if we can afford to go on with it.

Congress has yet to pass on the loan. Conditions, therefore, can still be attached. That Britain needs, and must have the credits, few dispute. Majority sentiment unquestionably favors granting her the most generous treatment that is ours to give. There is a disposition, too, to overlook some of the ill-tempered flings certain London circles are making. We are quite aware of what we did in the war, whether in Europe or the Pacific. Talk now, therefore, of who did most to win it seems childish.

There would have been no war at all, for us or anybody to be drawn into, if Britain and France had not turned pacifist thus inviting what Hitler believed would be an easy conquest. Moreover, the British empire boasts one quarter of the habitable globe and one quarter of the earth's population. Surely, one would think, she would be big enough, strong enough and rich enough to take care of herself.

Talk Is Misleading

But there, again, such talk is wholly misleading. It is just as silly an argument, in the present situation, "Economist's" remarks about fighting the war "the earliest, the longest and the hardest." What matters at present is that Britain needs the money, that she is our ally and our friend and that we wish to help her as selflessly as we—with our own troubles—can afford.

There are two ways in which we can help Britain and not lose a friend and neither of them is by such a loan as that just negotiated. One is to make a deal with Britain for certain raw materials, services and concessions — which, over the long haul, will benefit both parties — in exchange for the credits she needs. The other is to make her an outright grant-in-aid — a gift. If the former is not possible, the latter would be cheap at the price.

Poll Tax Payment Campaigns Okayed

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—The attorney general has given the go ahead for civic groups interested in stimulating payment of poll taxes.

An opinion released yesterday said that there was nothing in the law to prevent such groups from setting up booths to aid citizens in filling out applications for payment of poll taxes.

It continued that aid could include the furnishing of stamps and envelopes for mailing such applications. The applicant may be furnished with a certified check to forward with the application, provided the applicant advances the money and "it being understood that the check is furnished as a convenience."

The civic groups or others may conduct door-to-door campaigns to stimulate and aid citizens in paying poll taxes, taking notaries along with them, the opinion held. It was furnished at the request of County Attorney Perry Jones of Travis county.

Search For Missing Planes Reaches End

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 11. (AP) — The Navy today called off its mammoth special search for 27 Navy airmen who disappeared in six planes last Wednesday.

"Planes and surface craft which travel the area where the airmen are believed to have disappeared will remain on the alert indefinitely," the Navy reported, "but the special search is being ended as of today."

Five of the six planes to disappear left the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Naval Air station on a navigational flight early Wednesday with 14 aboard. A sixth plane, a Martin bomber, carrying a crew of 13 was lost when it went in search of the other aircraft.

The hunt covered thousands of square miles of land and sea and involved many hundreds of airplanes and surface vessels.

Mathematics Or Politics! Questions Are Being Asked On New Veterans' Hospitals

By DANIEL M. KIDNEY
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — Whether it was mathematics or politics which caused Tupelo, Miss., to be selected as the site for a new 200-bed Veterans administration general hospital was being discussed on Capitol Hill today.

For Tupelo is the home town of Rep. John E. Rankin, chairman of the House veterans affairs committee.

Anticipating that the question might be raised, the Veterans administration was prepared to explain the Tupelo site by a mathematical formula.

Explanation Given

The 1940 census showed a total U. S. population of 131,669,000. The Tupelo area population is 780,777. That gave the area a rating of .593 per cent of the total U. S. population.

By 1950, VA general hospital beds are expected to total 65,000. So the Tupelo area should rate 385 on a percentage basis.

Then the formula shifts to the state of Mississippi, rather than the Tupelo area. The state population is 2,183,794, of which 57.2 per cent are white.

Therefore, the formula finds that Tupelo is entitled to 220 white beds. VA is installing only 200, or 10 per cent less than the formula provides it was explained.

Mr. Rankin admitted he wasn't too familiar with the formula. He had been working on this Tupelo hospital project before Gen. Omar N. Bradley succeeded Gen. Frank T. Hines as head of the Veterans administration he said.

"Of course I know that Tupelo is the center of the white population of that area," Mr. Rankin said. "The area includes southern Tennessee, northern Alabama, and central and northern Mississippi.

"The location is perfect. Just three and one-half miles outside of Tupelo. Plans call for building the first all-electrical hospital in the world. That is made possible because of TVA-power."

Population of Tupelo is 8212. Next to Bonham, Tex., with a population of 6349, it is the smallest town on the list of 29 sites selected for new VA hospitals.

Bonham is the home town of Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

Oil Company Hearing Set

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—The railroad commission has set Feb. 5 as the date for hearing the application of the Blanco Oil company and Al Buchanan for the adoption of field rules for the area approximately eight miles southwest of Bruni, Webb county.

The commission also announced the adoption of special orders setting up rules for the Kelsey deep field in Hopkins county.

For the Kelsey deep field, spacing regulations provide wells must be 660 feet apart and at least 330 feet from property lines. Proration units of 40-acres each are set up and the gas-oil ratio was set at 2,000 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil.

Ratio Is Set

The Pickton field order provides that wells shall be 933 feet apart, and not closer than 330 feet from boundary lines of leases. Proration units of 40 acres were set up and the gas-oil ratio was set 2,500 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil.

The commission issued an order permitting the Texas company to repressure the 1,500 and 1,800 foot sand underlying its Fred Thom lease in Wichita county, and set a hearing for Feb. 5 in the application of the Shell Oil company for an exception to statewide rule 25 as it applies to the Chapel Hill field, Smith county.

Japs Exploit Manchuria During War, Remain To Guard Their Interests

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHINHSIEN, Manchuria, Dec. 11 (AP) — Manchuria illustrates forcibly how a nation can win a war and still be far from winning peace.

This great, rich northern crown of China after 14 years of puppet subservience to Japan is slowly being reannexed to the central Chinese government by Chiang Kai-Shek's armies but the Japanese economic hold on it has not speedily been broken.

Visualizing the time when they might have to sweep through Manchuria to attack Siberia, the Japanese rapidly industrialized the province and it now has more miles of railroad lines than perhaps all the rest of China put together. It also has extensive cotton mills, substantial coal and iron deposits and some good oil shale. Industrial cities have sprung up almost overnight.

Jap Development

Most of this economic development was organized and carried out by highly trained Japanese technicians. They are still here and the Chinese must retain them because otherwise the plans likely would be idle.

Many foreign observers and educated Chinese believe this reliance on Japanese talent will inevitably enable the Japanese to retain their present dominant position in Manchurian industrial life.

A similar situation exists in North China.

Here both the Japanese army troops as well as civilian industrial technicians are being employed by the nationalists to prop their control. Here also 50,000 American Marines and thousands of Chinese puppet troops who once fought under the banner of Japan are actively supporting the Chinese nationalist government by guarding rail lines against communist sabotage.

Four Kinds Of Guards

Along one railway there are four kinds of guards — American Marines, Japanese soldiers, Chinese puppet and Chinese nationalist troops.

This situation is extremely puzzling to the Marines, who were told their job was to disarm the Japanese.

Chiang Kai-Shek has shown a marked disinterest in further disarming of Japanese troops in North China or to the return of Japanese civilians to their homes.

This all raises the big question: Will beaten Japan still in effect retain its dominance in both Manchuria and North China?

The hireling Japanese has a way of becoming master.

Part Of 36th Slated To Arrive Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.) — Families and friends of the 36th Division (Texas) prepared today to welcome home from Europe the first units of the organization, which were expected to arrive at Hampton Roads, Va., Wednesday.

The War department announced Monday that the first units of the division, which originally was composed of Texas National guardsmen, would be processed through Camp Patrick Henry, Va.

Dangerous mixture . . .

During the war there was little production of civilian goods, and a lot of the things people had were worn out or used up—

People did not spend the high wages they earned, so savings increased rapidly.

The result is that America has built up tremendous buying power.

Lots of buying power and little to buy make a dangerous combination—like chemicals that explode when put together.

When people need things badly and have plenty of money, they are apt to pay too much for what they need. INFLATION then begins!

It's a dangerous mixture—shortage of goods and plenty of money.

The answer to high prices and inflation is plenty of goods.

America's factories should be working day and night to turn out the things people need—to balance needs with goods.

Instead—what do we have? A demand by UAW-CIO leaders for a 30 per cent wage increase. More than that, a strike which has closed down General Motors plants. Both are inflationary. Both make the mixture still more dangerous.

Atomic Bomb Test Planned On Ships

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The United States, as custodian of the atomic bomb, intends to find out what it will do to warships as well as to cities and people.

Results To Be Known

Similarly the results of a detailed, scientific study of the destructive power of nuclear explosion on buildings and humans will be forthcoming in a report of the United States strategic bombing survey in Japan.

The survey, a group of civilian and military experts appointed a year ago, made its second report on a European study available today—a blood-chilling account of the horrors modern war visits upon civilians. Members of the survey now are making a similar study in Japan, where the two atomic bombs were dropped.

To Assemble Vessels

The announcement on the forthcoming tests against warships was cryptic. It said that plans for the operation involve assembling "many naval vessels," extensive use of recording instruments and the gathering of necessary personnel.

The second report of the strategic bombing survey covered the effects of the Allied bombing on German civilian life. The medical branch of the survey found, among other things, that fire was the great killer in air raids and that an estimated 500,000 persons died in German cities under bombings.

Fire Rated Second

Maj. Cortez F. Enloe of Manhasset, N. Y., one of the survey group, told a news conference that the atomic bomb raid on Nagasaki "was not nearly as bad as the area raid on the city of Hamburg." There, he said, three attacks in as many days set off fires that burned six weeks and in which 46,000 known dead were counted. An estimated 19,000 more bodies still are in the ruins two and half years after. (Japanese authorities estimated that from 40,000 to 45,000 died in the Nagasaki attack).

Atomic bomb experts, however, rate fire as second in casualty-attaining results. They give the blast effect top position, with radioactivity the third casualty-producing effect.

WOMAN IS INJURED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Mrs. Frank Mitchell of 2218 Sixteenth suffered a broken wrist and was in a hospital this morning—to become Lubbock's first reported victim of ice-glazed paving this season.

She and Dep. Sheriff Mitchell were en route to Austin with a negro woman, who had been adjudged insane and committed to a state mental hospital. Near Sweetwater they ran into snow on the paving and their car skidded and overturned.

Only One Injured

Only Mrs. Mitchell was injured. Her wrist was "set" in a Sweetwater hospital, the deputy informed Sheriff Grady Harrist shortly before 11 a. m.

Sheriff Harrist asked that the negro woman be left in Nolan county jail until Wednesday, when she will be sent to Austin in another car. Mitchell said he would return Mrs. Mitchell to Lubbock this afternoon.

Lubbock police also reported the first mishap tracing to icy paving here this morning.

A car driven by W. J. Dickson, 37, of route 2 approached the corner at Fourth and Ave. J. Spray from a condenser at the city light plant had crystallized in the cold, and Dickson's car went out of control and skidded into a truck driven by Virgil Fields, 38, of Amherst, official police reports said.

None was injured.

STOCKS TAKE REST

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — After five successive rising sessions to 15 year average peaks, stocks generally took a rest at moderately lower levels in today's market although scattered aircrafts and specialties continued to display relative strength.

Aviations did fairly well from the opening on. Steels, rails, motors and many other pivotals suffered more from inattention than liquidation. Transfers of around 1,800,000 shares compared with 2,150,000 Monday.

Registering new highs for the move were Douglas Aircraft, which eventually cut a 5-point advance; Boeing, Sperry, Murray Corp., and J. J. Newberry.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — Aggressive mill and local buying advanced cotton futures into new seasonal high ground today as the demand disclosed a scarcity of offerings. The smaller crop of this season, improving statistical position and broadening export demand for the staple were strengthening factors. There was considerable switching from the near to later months partly attributed to year-end evening up operations.

Futures closed 20 cents to 60 cents a bale higher.

Nazis Haunted By Past Events As Films Are Shown At Trial

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11. (U.P) — The 21 Nazi leaders' past life came back on the movie screen to haunt them today when the war crimes prosecution showed a four-hour film of their rise and rule.

Beneath soft fluorescent lighting they sat in the prisoners' box and watched scenes from old German newsreels that depicted the Nazi story from the days of Munich street fighting in the early twenties until the attempted assassination of Adolf Hitler on July 20, 1944.

Had Master Plan

The film, possibly the longest documentary one ever made, was intended to give graphic proof of prosecution charges that the Nazis had a master plan of world aggression.

Two American Navy officers who were peacetime Hollywood men, Cmdr. James B. Donovan and Cmdr. E. Ray Kellott, compiled the film from German newsreel libraries. Only English titles have been added to the original sound track in which Garman commentators narrated the rise of the Nazis.

Adolf's Screams Heard

Possibly for the last time, Joseph Goebbels' frenzied shouting, the belligerent strains of the Horst Wessel song, cries of "sieg Heil" and the massed chanting of slogans and marching songs rang in the defendants' ears.

Adolf Hitler's screaming speeches were there to mock them, too.

The film opened with Alfred Rosenberg's history of early Nazi days. In rapid order it showed Hitler's Nazi party card, his speech on coming into power, the first boycott of Jews and the burning of books.

Goering watched a picture of his own speech made when the Nazis came into power.

The defendants sat almost transfixed as they heard once again the hoarse voices of Hitler and Goebbels, heard the thousands of Nazi voices shouting sieg heil and singing the stormy strains of the party Horst Wessel song.

One shot showed Rudolf Hess administering the Nazi oath by radio to 1,000,000 party members. Hess bobbed up and down in his seat as the sequence was run off.

Guards stood close around the defendants' box, making it difficult to observe individual reactions.

"Our investigation has disclosed that an I. G. Farben official at Wuppertal - Elberfeld developed the deadliest poison gas in the world. This gas, unknown to the military authorities of the Allied nations, could have penetrated any gas mask in existence.

"They were used with full knowledge and acquiesence on the part of Farben to exterminate whole groups in concentration camps."

"Farben's cartel agreements numbered 2,000 and included agreements with Standard Oil (New Jersey), the Aluminum company of America, E. I. Du Pont De Nemours, Ethyl Export corporation, Imperial Chemical industries (Great Britain), the Dow Chemical company, Rohm and Haas, establishments Kuhlmann (France) and the Mitsui interests of Japan . . ."

Bernstein cited a statement he said was prepared by "three of Farben's leading scientists" to the effect that Farben "gained technical information from America far more important to Germany's war effort than Standard Oil was able to obtain for the American war effort from Germany."

News Briefs

Mrs. D. J. Bolch of Lamesa was admitted to West Texas hospital early this morning for treatment of a fractured left knee cap suffered Monday when the car in which she was riding was hit by another automobile.

Theft of two tires and wheels from Ed Gordon of eight miles south of Lubbock was reported this morning to the sheriff's department. The wheels were abandoned after having been rolled approximately 400 yards across a field to the thieves automobile, but the tires were not recovered.

Police said they would refer the case of Isaac Lockhart, 26, a negro, to district officials to determine jurisdiction for filing a formal complaint. The negro approched a police patrolman early Monday night and said he had fired a shotgun twice at his wife, but had "failed to hit her." He was in city jail this afternoon.

Firemen said a cabin at Motor Inn hotel, at 2910 Ave. H, was "badly burned out" about 5 o'clock this morning. It was believed the blaze originated in a floor furnace, department members said.

er than those which prevailed during the war.

What kind of training would a youth receive? An initial recruit training period of about eight weeks to teach him the fundamentals of life as a soldier; this would be followed by a period of technical training, the length of which would vary, depending on the assignment; then would be unit training, and finally combined training.

Who would do the training? A selected training organization composed of national guard officers, reserve officers, and enlisted men on temporary active duty.

Would the one year be devoted entirely to military training? Generally, yes, but there would be holiday furloughs and short vacation periods; there would be educational and recreational facilities.

Would the trainees be paid? Yes, at the rate of about $30 a month (Army regulars get $50 monthly but are subject to military duty, while a universal trainee could be assigned to actual Army duty only by special act of Congress). The trainees also would have dependency benefits. Cost of the universal training program is estimated at $1,720,000,000 annually. Provision would be made for disability compensation and hospitalization.

What would happen to a youth when his year of training ended?

He would go into a reserve for six years, unless he had displayed leadership ability and desired to follow a military career, in which case he could become an officer. While in reserve status he could not be called to active duty except by act of Congress and then, normally, through the regular draft procedure.

Judge Davidson Is Speaker At Lions

Speaking on the Bill of Rights, its origin and scope, Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, U. S. district judge, told members of the Lubbock Lions club today noon at the Hilton hotel that "every upheaval in public sentiment suggests an amendment and these amendments, in main, have added little to the strength and character of the original Constitution, with the Bill of Rights."

"The thought of our fathers was that when the machinery of government had once been set in order, that it should not be suddenly or quickly turned to the right or left," Judge Davidson continued . . . "The three branches of the government are designed to prevent this very thing. It is just as important, oftentimes, not to do something, as it is to act hastily.

"Only recently I heard the president of the Dallas Bar association declare to a group of lawyers that in his opinion there was not one present who could advise his client, to any certainty, as to what the law would be pertaining to any important question. This is the direct result of judges that have been appointed, not because of their learning in the law, but because of their views upon social and economical questions.

"These courts so appointed have not followed the precedents laid down," the judge continued. "They have departed from the established grooves and pathways so that we may not judge the future by the past, and no one knows what is in the mind of a court.

"A court which fails to give due preference to the long established interpretations and traditions of the laws of the land leads to uncertainty and confusion. With an unstable government all rights are lost."

Judge Davidson was introduced by Marion Key.

Christmas Season No Fun For Dallas Man

DALLAS, Dec. 11. (U.P) — Last Christmas Thomas R. Sinclair of Dallas was riding across Germany in a horse car bound for a Nazi prison camp.

This Christmas, he decided today, won't be much better despite peace and liberation.

He broke his leg while working last week. And now his home has burned down, leaving him, his wife and his three daughters without a place to live.

Said Sinclair: "That's life, I guess."

3. Transfer to general active duty in enlisted status until eligible for discharge under general demobolization polices.

Marine trainees will be commissioned or offered the opportunity to transfer to the NROTC.

A naval spokesman also disclosed that 922,000 Navy men and women have been discharged through Dec. 8. Through Dec.6, 65,000 coast guardsmen had been released and 151,000 Marines had been discharged through Dec. 7.

PLAN IS REJECTED

JERUSALEM, Dec. 11. (U.P) — The supreme Arab Palestinian council issued a surprise announcement today rejecting the British plan for settlement of the Holy Land controversy by a joint Anglo-American inquiry commission.

Troops To Intervene In Rail Union Fight

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., Dec. 11 (U.P)—Mexican troops were to be assigned today to prevent what Gen. Jose F. Botello called "further railroad sabotage" which tied up Southern Pacific of Mexico trains for 34 hours in a union dispute.

Gen. Botello, commandant of the Nogales military garrison, last night arrested 12 men, the crews of two trains, and announced he would order troops to see that trains got through today.

The 12 arrested included those suspected of having "sabotaged" operation of the railroad at Imurs, approximately 30 miles from here. Water tanks were emptied and the tracks blockaded.

Those arrested were members of the Brotherhood of Trainmen and Oilers, an organization claiming 28,000 Mexican railroad workers, which is striking against attempted control by the government-backed syndicate of railroad workers of the Republic of Mexico, claiming 80,000 workers.

Trouble on the railroad began in Monterey last week when one man was killed and 18 injured. The military throughout Mexico was reported prepared to back the government - sponsored syndicate in the jurisdictional dispute.

Strike Curb

and on proving his innocence could have a grievance processed. If a settlement then could not be reached the dispute would go back to the umpire for decision.

The fines — $3 a day for the first offense and $5 for the second — would be deducted from the worker's pay and donated to the president's infantile paralysis fund.

The company would agree not to permit any lockouts and could impose "appropriate financial penalties" upon any of its representatives it finds guilty of provoking a strike. The umpire, at the union's request, also would have the right to review such penalties.

Would Gain Objective

Officials repeated that the Ford plan to assess the union $5 a day for each member taking part in an unauthorized work interruption "would accomplish our objective" and withheld comment on the union proposal "until we have had opportunity to study it."

Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO Ford director, said the company had agreed to discuss the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand at the next negotiating session Wednesday.

General Motors announced termination of its contract with the union more than four months in advance of its April 28, 1946, expiration date.

Wilson said the cancelled agreement, which dated back to the sit-down strike days of 1937, "obviously" had failed to achieve its purposes.

Observers pointed out that the action would have little effect on settlement of the 21-day old GM strike.

Chrysler corporation's bargaining agreement with the union expired a week ago after numerous issues remained unsettled.

First returns indicated local GM unions would turn down President Truman's appeal for an immediate resumption of work.

Ten-Year-Olds Taken As Slaves By Nazis

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11 (AP)—Ten-year-old Russian children were kidnaped for slavery in German war factories as part of the Nazi campaign of "extermination through work," according to evidence submitted today at the war crimes trial of 21 of Hitler's top leaders.

Producing the Germans' own records, U. S. Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd said the kidnaping policy was approved by Alfred Rosenberg.

Not only were children kidnaped for slave labor but the abduction also of children of "good blood" was favored by the gestapo to build up Germany's war-depleted population, other Nazi records disclosed.

Optimist Club Hears Lecturer-Cartoonist

Declaring that the United States is permitting its ideals to go to decay, Charles Wells, syndicated cartoonist and writer, called on this country "to get tough and stand up for the things we think right," in a talk before the Optimist club today noon in Lubbock hotel.

Wells, who is giving a series of lectures this week at the First Baptist church, said the idea for the League of Nations was permitted to outlive the first World war, but that the Atlantic charter had been rendered pointless long before the end of the last war.

He blamed the British for having much to do with the slow death of the charter, and attacked the empire and the Netherlands for their use of American lend-lease and acceptance of remnants of defeated Jap armies to crush native revolts in the East Indies.

"There can be no peace as long as the nations of the world measure their objectives in terms of racial arrogance, greed and self-ishness," he asserted. He added that peace would come only when men of the world measured their objections in terms of the teachings of Christ.

He accompanied his talk with charcoal illustrations on a large board. He was introduced by Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Guests of the club were Mark Hiatt, jr., John Voe, Eldon Rawlings, Henry English, Anson Sewalt, W. C. Manzey, Sam Fort, Lt. Paul White, R. J. Tayler, Howard Schmidt, George McCleskey and Don King.

THE COACH SITUATION

The rapid return of America's armed forces from overseas requires that the Burlington relinquish approximately one-half of its main line coaches for military transport exclusively. This takes many cars from regular trains, plus any relief equipment.

No extra cars are available for the holiday season and many regular trains will have fewer cars than normally. Some discomfort, disappointment or delay seem inevitable.

If trains are temporarily overcrowded or do not have the customary equipment, you will understand why it is unavoidable.

Christmas Shopping In Nation's Capital No Fun—In Fact, It's A Real Nightmare

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — Christmas has got to be abolished. At least in the District of Columbia. Else our government is going to collapse in a welter of crunched jingle bells, hysterical federal stenographers, wrecked department stores, and sweating Santa Clauses.

I know about this (lady, get off my foot) because I went out among officialdom to do my shopping early (lady, I did not either pinch you) and the result was not good.

Cops On The Prowl

Thirty-eight extra plain clothes cops and copesses were on the prowl for shoplifters, whom they did not find, because the shoplifters couldn't (lady, quit poking my ribs) find anything to lift.

The capital's Christmas merchandise, $7,000,000 worth at latest estimates, was (lady, I am not a floorwalker) piled in terminal warehouses because of a truck strike eight weeks old. Only the customers were in oversupply and you should have heard 'em (lady, take it easy) snarl.

Pans of water littered counters of the biggest department store. This was to prove that a $12.50 fountain pen designed for divers, mermaids and literary sea monsters would write under water. So many shoppers (lady, watch that ink) were trying this out that the water was purple.

Plenty Of Perfume

Perfume there was plenty of, and $700 wrist watches. There was a voice shouting in the center of a mob on the main aisle, step lively, make it snappy, hold onto the rail. This belonged (lady, will you please quit pushing) to a little guy who was trying to make the people line up so they wouldn't break their necks on the escalator.

The second floor, lingerie, toys for tots, and Santa Claus, was like a bad (lady, I have no little boy) dream. Santa Claus' whiskers kept getting unstuck. Toys for tots consisted principally of rag dolls at $3.89 (lady, I don't know where are the phonograph needles) and as for lingerie, whooie.

A Woman's World

Peace and good will towards men have not yet descended on the lingerie department. It is a woman's world and all the women in it are sore at everybody else (lady, get your hands off my nightgown) and in particular at dolts in pants (lady, this is my nightgown).

This department operates like a cafeteria. Grab a black nightgown with lace on it (lady, have a heart) and hunt for a clerk who writes the price on a slip. Elbow then through a room full of ladies clutching unmentionables and stand in line to pay.

The cashier hands over a receipt and the gown (lady, go get your own nightgown). Stand in line again to get it wrapped. Fight through the ladies with pink things in their fists, line up to go down, and then—I swear it—line up to get outside.

That's the first peacetime Christmas in the capital as of now. I've got a rumpled nightgown in a paper sack to present my bride. She'll smile like she thinks its wonderful, but she'll think to herself that all men are dopes; her husband in particular.

I think we'd better abolish Christmas in the D. of C. before (lady, I've got bundles of my own to get across the street) it is too late. Our government can't survive many more days of this.

Weather Bureau Says Texas Is Two States

DALLAS, Dec. 11 (AP) — Most Texans wouldn't believe you if you told them that Abilene is in East Texas. And, although it's a little more credible, the old-timers would think you're crazy to tell them that Texas is really two states.

Well, perhaps for the best, that sort of talk usually is confined to the New Orleans office of the U. S. Weather Bureau service, which forecasts for a six-state area in the Southwest. Texas is so big, the weather bureau points out, that for forecasting purposes, it has been divided into a two-state area.

Divisions Explained

You see, according to the weather forecasters, West Texas is all that remains west of the 100th meridian. The "border line" stretches north and south from the Oklahoma border, just outside the Childress county line and on into the Rio Grande valley through Hidalgo.

All territory east of this line—and in the major portion of the state seems to be—is considered East Texas, including Abilene, Brownwood and Mason.

California, Pennsylvania and New York have similar systems.

The two-state area was devised in order to prevent general confusion, for, as the weathermen point out, the average person would be quite harried, perhaps angry, by the time he charted out a separate forecast for the Panhandle, the Red River valley, the Rio Grande valley and other strategic weather map positions.

"But Mr. Johnson next door got a telephone!"

IF YOU ARE WAITING for a telephone but the telephone man stops at your neighbor's house, most likely your neighbor has been waiting longer than you have. If that's not the reason, it's probably because:

He has just moved from somewhere else in the city and had his telephone service moved, or . . .

There may be serious illness in the family and a telephone is necessary during the emergency, or . . .

Your neighbor may be a returned veteran needing a telephone to re-establish him in civilian life, or . . .

A telephone in his home may be necessary to the health and welfare of the community.

With these necessary exceptions, those waiting are served in the order in which we received the application. In some neighborhoods, of course, we shall be able to catch up more quickly than in others. But, as telephone plant is constructed, our aim is to see that everyone gets service in proper turn.

We're putting in telephones as fast as we can. And whether your turn for service comes in the near future, or not for several months, you can be sure we're looking forward to the day when the telephone man will knock at your door and say:

"I'm here to put in your telephone."

Speed And Brawn Aplenty On The 1945 All-America Squad

Lubbock Star Is Selected Again; Five From Army

By CHIP ROYAL
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—The 1945 All-America football team, the twenty-first selection of Associated Press sports writers, is one of the fastest and heaviest bunch of pigskinners ever chosen on one squad.

Featuring a speedy, brawny line averaging 206 pounds per man, and four atomic-like backs, weighing between 174 and 205 pounds, this season's big eleven also has four repeaters from the 1944 team.

BECHTOL BETTER THAN EVER

Sports writers, in selecting Hubert Bechtol, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bechtol, 1711 Seventeenth, Lubbock, for the team, had this to say: "One of four boys who made the All-America team in 1944, the Native Lone Star backer is better than ever this year. One of the lightest men on the big team, the 190-pounder ranks with the best pass-catchers in the country.

"A bulwark on the defense, Hubert held up more than his share of the line. Not only that, but every time his team was on the offense, the youngest member of the All-America team had to handle two or three enemies which he did very well."

Five West Pointers

If that isn't enough to appease any pigskin appetite, cut yourself a slice of those five powerful West Pointers in the all-important lineup—backs Felix (Doc) Blanchard and Glenn Davis, guard John Green and tackles DeWitt Coulter and Albert Nemetz—and remember they represent the greatest team in Army's history.

Besides Blanchard and Davis, back Robert Fenimore, Oklahoma A. and M.; and end Hubert Bechtol, Texas university, win All-America honors for the second successive season. It is the first time since 1942 that any stars repeated. The last time four players turned the trick was back in 1940.

Two Years In Row

Blanchard, Davis and Fenimore create another first by being named to the backfield two years in a row, and a fan has to go all the way back to 1914 to find a season when five teammates—all from Harvard—won recognition.

As fas as sections go, once again the East rules the roost with 13 grid greats. Besides the five Army players, end Richard Duden of Navy makes the first team, three other Eastern collegians are on the second team and four on the third.

Midwest Is Second

The Midwest is second with 12 representatives, Fenimore and guard Warren Amling of Ohio State on the first team, six second stringers and four on the third team.

The South placed one man, center Vaughan Mancha of Alabama on the first eleven, one on the second and two on the third. Besides Bechtol, the Southwest landed a tackle on the second team. The Far West has quarterback Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's running the big backfield and a guard on the third eleven.

Will The Third Time Be The Charm?

Highland Park Has Boasted Top Squads But Never Won A Title

By TOM W. MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

Will the third time be the charm for Highland Park's Scotties?

Will the team that has been consistently strong for three years—in fact the best Texas high school eleven for the whole three year period—finally come through?

Will a well-balanced team at the Dallas suburban school succeed where two other good teams featuring one outstanding backfield star failed?

Fates Hold The Answer

Naturally, time and the football fates hold the answer. But the speculation makes interesting mulling for the minds of fans following Texas' 26th year of organized schoolboy football.

Highland Park's Highlanders never have won a state championship. They had Bobby Layne in 1943 and they won their district, bi-district and quarter final games behind the star who later was to cut fancy capers also in the University of Texas backfield.

San Angelo stopped Highland Park in the 1943 semi-finals.

Came Back Again

Back again came the Scotties last year, behind a new star, Doak Walker, who did everything a back was supposed to do, and well. District, bi-district, quarterfinal and semifinal hurdles failed to trip them. Then Port Arthur did, in the championship game at Austin.

Now, once again, the park city crew is making its bid. Doped in pre-season forecasts to be strong, Highland Park has been unbeatable. Heavy on the scoring, with not one but a handful of backfield bruisers, the team brushed aside all opponents but one—Wichita Falls which gained a 7-7 tie.

Best Scoring Record

Highland Park has the state's best scoring record 403 points in 11 games. And its defense ranks second, allowing but 40 points.

Its opponent this week, Fort Worth's North Side, has given up but 21 points.

The Highlanders figure to thump the North Siders despite the latter's fine defensive record. Both teams played, and beat, Sherman, but Highland Park made it a runaway of 45 to 6, while the Fort Worth team won by two touchdowns.

West Texas Gassers Lead Bowling Loop

West Texas Gas company bowlers pulled three games in front of the pack in the City League bowling race Monday night at the Plamor alleys, as Leo Bell paced them to three wins over the Jaycees.

Bell shot the top single game score of the night with 221 pins and the best three game series with 582 pins. It was the only clean sweep of the night.

In other games, the Lions club won two from Meads Bakery, Birds Eye Food won two from Armour's, and Hub Laundry won a pair from S. & Q. Clothiers.

Westerners Facing Abernathy Tonight

Lubbock's fast improving Westerners will be seeking revenge tonight when the Abernathy Antelopes move into the Westerner gym for an A and B game tonight, starting at 7 o'clock.

Abernathy took a 39-33 decision over the Westerners last week at Abernathy.

The Westerners have been playing good basketball in the three times out this season, but have been turned back twice by Levelland and once by Abernathy.

Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst will likely start the same lineup of other games, and reports that the club should be ready tonight for the year's best showing.

The losses by the Westerners have been to teams undefeated for the year, and rated as two of the strongest on the South Plains. The Lubbock lads have been showing a steady improvement in their work, and hope to crash the win column tonight.

Both Lubbock and Abernathy are entered in the annual New Deal cage tournament, opening Thursday night at New Deal High school, and advance dope on the tournament lists Abernathy as the pre-tourney favorite.

The Westerners also announced two additional games on the seasons schedule, playing the Amarillo Golden Sandies, traditional 1-AA foes, in January. The Sandies play in Lubbock Jan. 18, and the Westerners go to Amarillo on Jan. 25.

A record crop of 2,336,865,000 pounds of peanuts is expected this year.

Schedules For 1-AA Adopted

Cage And Football Contests Slated

District 1-AA school officials met Monday afternoon in Plainview, and adopted the basketball schedule for both north and south half for the present season, and the football conference schedule for next fall.

The basketball play in the south half of the district will find each team playing two games at home and two on the road with each of the other clubs, with the Plainview Bulldogs and the Lubbock Westerners starting play in the south half Jan. 4 at Lubbock.

Attending the meeting from Lubbock were E. J. Lowrey, R. W Matthews, Floyd Honey and Dixie White. Brownfield was represented by Supt. W. M. Vernon and Coach Tom McCullum. Supt. O. J. Laas, Principal R. W. Davidson and Coach W. C. O. Harris attended from Plainview.

Supt. C. A. Cryer of Borger was reelected Chairman of the District, and O. J. Laas reelected secretary.

Ticket Price Raised

A raise in the price of tickets for the district football games next season was voted by the district. General admission tickets will be boosted from 50 to 75 cents. Reserve seats, including tax, will be $1.20 for regular games, and $1.50 for holiday games. Student tickets will be 30 cents.

Brownfield, Plainview and Lubbock play in the south half of the district in basketball, with the winner of the south half playing the winner of the north half (Pampa, Borger and Amarillo) for the district title.

The basketball schedule for the south half will be:

Jan. 4.—Plainview at Lubbock.
Jan. 8—Lubbock at Plainview
Jan. 11 — Brownfield at Lubbock.
Jan. 15 — Lubbock at Brownfield.
Jan. 18—Plainview at Brownfield.
Jan. 22—Lubbock at Plainview.
Jan. 25—Brownfield at Plainview.
Jan. 29—Plainview at Brownfield.
Feb. 1—Plainview at Lubbock.
Feb. 5—Lubbock at Brownfield.
Feb. 8—Brownfield at Lubbock.
Feb. 12—Brownfield at Plainview.

1-AA Football Schedule

The 1946 football schedule for conference play was adopted at the meeting, with one game listed as tentative, pending final arrangement of the game.

The Borger at Lubbock game will be played either Oct. 25, as the opening game for Lubbock, or be played Nov. 16. This game will be decided later between the tow schools.

Conference play will get underway Oct. 18, with two conference games scheduled at that time. Borger plays Pampa, and Brownfield at Amarillo.

On Nov. 1, Borger plays at Plainview, and on Nov. 2 Lubbock plays at Brownfield.

A full schedule is set for Nov. 9, with Lubbock at Pampa, Amarillo at Borger and Brownfield at Plainview.

Games already set for Nov. 16 sends Pampa to Brownfield and Plainview to Amarillo.

The Amarillo-Lubbock annual classic is scheduled for Nov. 23 at Lubbock.

The Thanksgiving schedule, Nov. 28, will find all teams in action for the final round, Plainview playing at Lubbock, Pampa at Amarillo and Brownfield at Borger.

QUITS AT SYRACUSE — SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 11. (AP)—Oscar M. "Ossie" Solem is through as Syracuse university football coach after nine years. He submitted his resignation last night. Chancellor William P. Tolley announced the resignation had been accepted.

Minor Leagues Are Promoted

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Commissioner A. B. Chandler had a paradoxical vote of confidence from his baseball bosses, six minor leagues were promoted a notch, and two National league doormats had launched a 1946 rebuilding program as the major leagues moved into the second day of their winter meeting today.

Chandler, rebuffed by the minor leagues at their annual conclave in Columbus last week, was depicted by the majors as a victim of "misunderstanding," but also defined as a commissioner without the dictatorial power of his predecessor, the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Sale Is Reported

The majors approved the amendment of the major-minor agreement adopted by the minors last week which removes from the commissioner authority to rule baseball legislation "detrimental."

The unofficial highlight of the opening session was the sale by the Cincinnati Reds of Veteran First Baseman Frank (Buck) McCormick to the Philadelphia Phillies for a reported $30,000 in cash and one player to be named later.

The majors approved the boost of the International league, American association and Pacific coast league to "AAA" classification; the Southern association and Texas league to "AA"; and the South Atlantic league to "A."

The bigwigs huddled to study the plea of the Pacific coast league to become a third major league but deferred action until Wednesday.

Davidson's Seniors Top Littleton Five

Denny Davidson's senior cagers opened the Lubbock Boys club cage league Monday night by prancing to a 47 to 18 victory over the Littleton five in the opening night's feature game.

Littleton paced his own team with eight points.

In the Junior league, Marshall Parrs team rolled over John Cottman's club, 14-7, with Norman Bantz pacing the winners with five points, and John Potts leading the losers with four.

Tommy Elliott won over Ira Ownes, 10-7, in the midget league game, with Bobby Sexton of the winners and Charles Rand of the losers sharing the scoring honors with six points.

Levelland Winner Over Spade Cagers

LEVELLAND, Dec. 11 (Special)—Staving off a last minute rally by the Spade cagers, the Levelland Lobos nosed out a 33 to 30 win for their third straight victory of the season here last night.

Leveland led 20 to 8 at the halftime, but Spade finished strong, but was never able to overhaul the Lobos. West of Spade copped the scoring honors of the night, getting 15 points, to account for half of the Spade scre.

Jess Clardy with 14, and Joe Garrison with 12, pressed him closely.

The Levelland B team won the opener over Spade B team, 18 to 13.

Cotton Bowl To Watch Deadheads—

Novel Stunts Often Pulled To Crash Gates At Football Tilts

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Dec. 11 — P. C. Cobb, athletic director of Dallas high schools who annually serves as ticket manager for the Cotton bowl and who has handled sports crowds for years, is going to find out something that's been puzzling him for a long time.

"There are always a thousand or two people who get into a football game without paying," he said. "How it's done nobody has ever been able to accurately figure out. We make allowance for ushers, hot dog salesmen and every other person who ordinarily gets into a game without a ticket. Yet we always end up knowing there was a certain number of persons in the stadium for whom we can not account."

So, come Jan. 1 and Cotton bowl day, Cobb is going to equip the fellows handling the pass gate with indicators. They'll punch them to cover every deadhead.

We imagine Cobb is going to come across some very novel stunts folks use to crash the gate.

Has Different Idea

Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist university has a different idea from most mentors on what a bowl game means.

Usually, a coach wants to match his team with a school that has tradition behind it, is champion of a conference and has high eligibility standards.

Of course, Matty would rather play a team of that sort but he says he wouldn't quibble no matter what eleven was put in the bowl to meet his school.

"A bowl game is a show; it should be the best football and should be designed to please the fans," he declares. "The very best teams obtainable should be in the bowl. It should have a national standing — that is, it should be a test of strength between teams that could claim standing among the best in the nation."

Dutch Has Been Busy

Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian university, who during the war years did everything at the Fort Worth school including selling the tickets, says he's sure those two years took considerable time off his life.

Meyer had one assistant coach, Hub McQuillan, in 1943 and 1944 and Hub did the scouting, so Dutch did most of the work on the field.

"The night before a game with Texas I was at the stadium until 1 a. m. handling the business affairs," said Meyer. "Imagine working until 1 a. m. on tickets and trying to coach a football team that afternoon in one of the biggest games of the year!"

"Well, anyway you didn't have to sweep out," we ventured.

"Oh yes, I did that ever once in a while, too," said Dutch.

More Nominations

Nominations for the All-State schoolboy football team continue to roll in.

Franklin Bradford of the Palestine Herald-Press backs Newell Kane of Palestine High.

Kane, 180-pound quarterback who scored 145 points in nine, kicked 32 extra points out of 39 attempts. "He can outpunt anything I have seen in the Southwest conference, is the best high school passer I ever saw and is fast, big, rugged, hard-running and yet elusive," says Bradford.

Anthony G. Zoppi of the Longview News and Journal puts in the name of Bobby Collier of Longview High. Zoppi was a sports writer in New Jersey before coming to Texas and had occasion to see many high school athletes who gained fame in college.

But says Zoppi: "Still, I honestly feel that I can rate Bobby Collier of the Longview Lobos as one of the greatest high school guards I have ever seen. That includes such top-notch ball players as Fordham's Ed Franco — one of the famous blocks of granite — who performed for Dickinson High school in Jersey City, and Al Blozis of Georgetown and the New York Giants. Collier is big, he's fast and he's a demon at diagnosing plays."

The Army has called for 57,900,000 pounds of peanut butter to be used by the Army in 1945.

Bob Feller Father Of A 7 Pound Boy

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (AP) — Bob Feller, Cleveland's pitching ace, excitedly telephoned from nearby Waukegan today to announce the arrival of a seven pound, nine ounce boy.

It's the Fellers' first youngster.

"I hope he'll be another right hander, but he's a little guy right now," Feller said.

The Fellers were married Jan. 16, 1943.

There is more happiness in working to forget than in forgetting to work.

* * *

THE nation has a terrific housing shortage. The way things look now — and assuming we Americans cling to our long established building customs — it will be five years before the shortage can be eliminated through new construction, remodeling and additions.

But interesting to contemplate—particularly on the South Plains where cotton can be grown at a profit under almost any economic conditions — is a new type of mass production house which can be set up, ready for use, at a cost in the neighborhood of $2,000.

This new type house is built largely of plywood, which is covered with a cotton canvas duck—and that means another here-to-fore unheard-of outlet for the cotton crop.

If the new type house becomes popular, as indications are it should, that will mean something to cotton growers in this area, as well as in all others. The structure, incidentally, looks like just what thousonds of college-bound veterans and their young wives need at such places as Texas Tech.

Certainly, the possibilities might well be looked into here, and elsewhere.

* * *

Note to the defendants at the Nuernberg War Criminals trials:

"He who lives by the sword shall perish by the sword" — and the goose of the goose-stepper eventually shall be cooked.

* * *

ARMED clashes, riots and civil difficulties in various parts of the world, such as China, Iran, Palestine and Indo-China, have had their effects upon the thinking of John Doe, of Main street, U. S. A.

Three months ago, after hostilities on broad fronts had come to an end, John and his missus, Jane, were pretty optimistic about the possibilities of a long, if not a permanent, peace. But now John and Jane are a lot less optimistic than they were, according to a nationwide survey by Fortune magazine.

* * *

According to Fortune, a survey held three months ago found 63.7 per cent of Americans holding the belief that the world had a good chance to avoid another big war for at least 25 or 30 years — maybe longer.

But a similar survey, staged several weeks ago, showed the 63.7 per cent had shrunk to a bare majority of 51.1 per cent. On the other side of the ledger, 38 per cent of the people recently polled expressed the opinion that the world will "probably" experience another major conflict before the next quarter century has passed.

* * *

IN taking its survey, Fortune was curious about the opinions of people regarding which country might be expected to so conduct itself as to foster war.

Only .9 of the people polled thought the U. S. could possibly be to blame for any future conflict, but the largest group looked upon Russia with a jaundiced eye. Of the people who fear another war is certain to come, 17.5 per cent believe Russian policies are more likely than those of any other nation to bring it about. As to Germany and Japan, the licking those nations have received apparently is credited with having more or less wrecked them as future military powers. Only 5.9 per cent believe Japan can foster any war within the next 25 years while 2.6 per cent believe Germany will be able to repeat as a major aggressor.

Great Britain is suspected by 2.1 per cent.

* * *

All this marshaling of public opinion uncovers a very disappointing state of affairs in the U. S. A., which never has been a war-loving nation and whose people as a whole have had all the war they ever want, despite the fact that they've just emerged as victors in the greatest conflict of all time.

But, fortunately, there still is time for us to exert world leadership against war; to urge in every way an international, co-operative effort to outlaw it.

No matter how many of us are prone to believe war can't be avoided forever, or even for a quarter century, that shouldn't prevent us from doing our dead-level best to avoid it.

That's a point our people, as well as those around the world, should never forget, no matter how black the outlook may appear.

* * *

WE see by the papers where a New Jersey woman in an automobile chased her husband, on foot, into a blind alley; then ran him down and left him dying on a pile of garbage.

She must not have liked him—or, at the moment, was "awful" mad!

* * *

Go away, please and let us worry. Our doctor just checked up on us and said we were as sound as a dollar — and we don't know whether that means we'll live to 90, or fall over dead tomorrow!

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says it's strange, but usually the person who thinks he knows almost everything is that his circle of knowledge is so small it touches but little of the unknown.

* * *

We entertain no high hopes of this world ever amounting to much as long as it is run by politicians.

son of smallest calibre is the biggest bore.

* * *

A government economist remarked in a speech the other day that the whole world today is in a state of flux.

Yep. Flux one thing — and then another!

* * *

SPEAKING of economics: Martha Raye, recently signed for several weeks' appearance at a New York night club, will draw $5,000 per week, the largest figure ever paid a single night club performer.

We have no objections. If Martha can get that much, more power to her.

But the whole thing looks more than a little cockeyed when you stop to consider that Texas Tech, for instance, isn't permitted by the legislature to pay more than $2,000 per year to some professors with doctorates and many years of careful preparation behind them.

As Mr. Jeremiah Colona would say, "Are we Americans crazy, or sumpthin'?"

* * *

We popped off here recently about the need for organizing now to assure Lubbock's being a "real Christmas city," with decorations, lights, etc., come the holiday season of 1946. Next day, Hizzoner Mayor Ribble and some other business men said they agreed with the idea, then demanded: "Why doesn't The Avalanche-Journal sponsor both residential and business decorations and lighting contests come 1946?"

Well, The Avalanche-Journal will do just that. Next holiday season the papers will publicize the contests, furnish cash prizes for contests covering residences and appropriate placques, for permanent display, for the winning business houses.

The papers will take the lead in the project — even secure the assistance of fair and unprejudiced judges to decide the prize winners — because we think it will be a fine thing for Lubbock and all the people of the South Plains area.

You'll get the details along about November 1, 1946.

* * *

AS happens each year along about this stage of the calendar, newspapers again are being flooded with letters from people who think "Xmas" should be banned from use as an abbreviation for Christmas."

We agree that "Xmas" is obnoxious; that it isn't in keeping with the spirit of the holiday occasion; that it's use is in poor taste. But differences in opinion are what make horse races and political contests and quite a few folks don't think there's anything wrong with the concentrated spelling.

More important, however, than how a person spells, writes or displays the name of the holiday is how he feels about it in his heart.

Perhaps more debate and attention should be laid upon the latter than upon the former.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT
(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

SOME of the country's more accommodating "grandmas" are getting fed up.

They say they didn't mind taking over the kids so that a daughter-in-law could work to supplement her allotment check, even though it was really pretty hard on grandma. Nor did they mind too much when the kids were pushed off on them so mama could go out with friends in the evening.

MILLETT

But all the while they were playing nursemaid the grandmas figured it would only be for the duration. Once the husband and father came home, the family would settle down and the parents would look after their own kids.

But here's the catch. In many cases the daughter or daughter-in-law is trying to ease the kids off on grandmother for another spell. The plea now is, "Jim and I should have some time alone. We need to go away together for a few months, without the children."

So grandmother wonders what she should do. Is is really her duty to keep the kids while the husband and wife go on a second honeymoon, or trail off to some new place to try to establish themselves — or while the husband completes his education under the G. I. Bill of Rights?

* * *

GIVE THE KIDS BACK

NO, it really isn't, grandma. And the sooner you get out from under the load of shouldering the responsibility that should belong to the young couple, the better off they will be.

For the men might as well assume the full responsibility of family life right from the start. They have children — and they should start living with them right away. A second honeymoon may sound fine to the young couple, but after all they aren't irresponsible newlynews. They are parents, and they have a duty to their children. That duty is to give them a normal home, with both parents in it, as quickly as possible. You won't be mean or hard-hearted, grandma, if you give the kids back to their parents the minute the father gets home.

TRUMAN IS ON THE RIGHT TRACK

A place to live used to be one of an American's least worries. A roof over the head was taken for granted. And it could be had cheaply. A new residence going up on this block, a new apartment house under construction on the next, took care of the population increase. But the war stopped building cold as well as nearly everything else not connected with the war efforts. From Pearl Harbor to V-J day, a lot of additional families were established, the birth rate shot upward and the domestic death rate was among the lowest in any period of our history—all of which shoved our population to a record high level. So, now, every hallway, closet and rumpus room in the country is packed to the ceiling. Housing is so scarce in Lubbock and most other parts of the nation that termites are sleeping three to a splinter.

The problem of where to put all the people is one of the nation's most throbbing headaches. It has a tragic note in that men coming back from overseas are unable to find quarters so that they and their families can settle back into the old life—which they well deserve.

It is a problem which demands immediate attention; if not handled now, it will grow into proportions which will defy solution. Therefore, we believe that President Truman is well justified in proposing the re-establishment of a priorities system on building materials in order that home construction might come first. His plan is not to prohibit commercial and industrial construction, but to allow it only in cases after home needs have been met.

New store buildings, new drive-in stands and new theaters can wait, if need be. Shelter is one of life's necessities; making it available to all citizens is the country's first duty.

Republicans Prepare Plans For 1946

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The Republican National committee isn't overlooking any bets for 1946. Ex-Senator John Danaher of Connecticut, who became GOP congressional liaison officer after his defeat by Brien McMahon, outlined Republican plans at a secret meeting of the 78-79 club last week. This is a group of 78th and 79th Congress Republicans, who meet weekly in closed-door sessions.

PEARSON

Danaher made two major points. First, he advised the congressmen to go out and challenge federal jobholders and the beneficiaries of New Deal spending programs, instead of sitting quietly and bemoaning the fact that millions of people receive funds from the Federal government.

"The thing to do is to go out there and put them on the spot," Danaher exhorted his Republican listeners. "Ask them, 'Are you a thinking man or are you a follower?' Make them squirm. Ask them, 'Are you bought or are you a citizen'?"

Danaher's second tip to the congressmen was that they should stop sounding off about Democracy.

"We all believe in Democracy and the democratic form of government," Danaher said, "but the truth is that too many people tie up the word 'Democracy' with the democratic party. You'd be amazed to learn how many people think the Democrats stand for Democracy and the Republicans for something entirely different.

"Article four of the Constitution says we have a republican form of government, and the more we can stress the word 'Republican' in that connection, the better off we are. We are simply playing into the hands of the Democrats when we constantly stress the word 'Democracy.' Hereafter let's use our own word—'republican.' With a small 'r'. It's just as good a word, and for our purposes much better."

ANOTHER MISSION

IF President Truman calls Chester Davis of St. Louis back into the government as is now rumored, it will be the most resounding rebuff to FDR that Truman has administered thus far. For Chester Davis was about the only man Roosevelt ever got sore at publicly when they broke relations.

Davis was then War Food administrator, had been rowing with economic stabilizer Vinson over the price of farm products and was threatening to resign. Finally Justice Byrnes, Judge Vinson, and several other Roosevelt advisors had a long session with Davis in his hotel. They thought they had him sold on teamwork and cooperation.

But at the end of the conference, Davis, without telling anyone, went out of the hotel, got in his car, drove around to the White House and handed in a curt letter of resignation. Roosevelt then issued one of the most caustic letters of his career.

Talk at the White House now is that Davis, head of the Federal Reserve bank of St. Louis, will be brought in to replace John Snyder, reconversion administrator, also of St. Louis. Wisecracks outside the White House are that Davis has one good qualification for the job. Like both Truman and Snyder, he is from Missouri.

CONG. "STALIN" COX

THE Rules committee of the House of Representatives is supposed to be the toughest in Congress—and usually deserves that reputation. But the other day when a group of ladies called on Chairman Adolf Sabath of Illinois to urge passage of the UNRRA appropriation bill he courteously ushered them into his Rules committee.

And while such labor-baiters as Howard Smith of Virginia and Eugene Cox of Georgia listened attentively, Mrs. Dana Bachus, vice-chairman of the Women's Action committee for Lasting Peace, argued that we were reneging on our pledged word if Congress did not pass the UNRRA appropriation immediately.

Later, one of the group, Mrs. Edgar Ansel Mowrer, wife of the well-known news commentator, sought out Congressman Cox in the privacy of his office. Cox is considered one of the toughest and most reactionary members of the Rules committee, but to Mrs. Mowrer he was the height of southern cordiality.

"My dear, come right in at once," said the gentleman from Georgia.

Cox listened carefully, but told Mrs. Mowrer that he was suspicious of Russia. The UNRRA relief bill, he feared, was playing right into Russian hands.

"But," said Mrs. Mowrer, "are we going to let the Russians say that the capitalist nations make a lot of promises and then turn round and don't carry them out?"

Then she tried a new tack.

"You know, congressman," said Mrs. Mowrer, who has traveled all over the world, "you remind me very much of Stalin as I once saw him working in the Kremlin. He's a tough cookie, and you are too."

The congressman from Georgia seemed to like this comparison, but he didn't budge regarding the UNRRA appropriation.

WHY HURLEY BOILED

WHAT really made ex-cowboy Ambassador Pat Hurley boil over against the career diplomats was an incident that occurred when he was in Washington on leave shortly after V-J day.

During Hurley's visit in Washington, George Atcheson, an old "China hand," remained in acting charge of the U. S. embassy in Chungking. In that capacity he sent a telegram to the State department which said:

"I and the undersigned members of the embassy staff wish to disclaim any responsibility" for reports sent the State department on the size and strength of the armies of Red China, and for the "detrimental effects of United States policy here" as directed by Hurley.

Atcheson also complained that all communications between embassy officials and Washington were censored by Hurley, without exception.

Hurley immediately flew into a rage. He claimed Atcheson had sent this cable behind his back. Many diplomats point out, however, that since Atcheson was in charge, it was his duty to report the facts as he saw them to the State department.

Atcheson has spent about 30 years in China, Hurley less than two years. Immediately after serving as a second lieutenant in the last war, Atcheson entered the Far Eastern branch of the diplomatic service and has worked in almost every part of China. And although State department officials have been of indifferent caliber in Europe, they have made a remarkable record in the Far East.

Hurley was so sore at the Atcheson telegram that the State department was afraid there would be physical violence if the two men met in Chungking. So Atcheson was transferred to be adviser to General MacArthur in Tokyo before Hurley's return.

"Try And Stop Me"
By Bennett Cerf

THE old Carlisle Indians were a tricky and colorful outfit, especially when they had Jim Thorpe in the backfield. They invaded Cambridge one fall to tussle with a fine Harvard team and had leather patches on their jerseys that looked exactly like footballs.

In the first few scrimmages, the Harvard team thought all eleven opponents had pigskins tucked under their arms, and didn't know whom to tackle. One Carlisle back added to the confusion by slipping the real football under the back of his jersey and galloping unmolested over the goal line. Officials had to change the rules the following season.

* * *

THE most lopsided football game in the record books took place in 1916. Georgia Tech defeated Cumberland College, 220-0. There lives a man who admits he quarterbacked that Cumberland team: George Allen, former commissioner of the District of Columbia. Allen treasures a yellowed clipping which reads, "Allen spearheaded the Cumberland offensive with a brilliant run around left end which resulted in only an eight-yard loss." "Once I fumbled," he remembers, "and as three Tech ogres bore down, another Cumberland stalwart shied away from the loose ball. 'Pick it up,' I yelled to the guy, but what do you think he answered? 'Pick it up, hell,' he said 'I didn't drop it'!"

Walter Winchell

ON BROADWAY
(Copyright, 1945, For The Journal)

AN American In London—Dear Walter: My trip by Clipper from New York to London was smooth, pleasant, uneventful. I left LaGuardia airfield at 3 p. m., had breakfast in Ireland and dinner at the Savoy in London.

It got up the next morning at 6:30 and started walking. I was anxious to see what the blitz had done to this city. I walked for approximately five hours, and was stunned by what I saw. We have read in the New York papers that a million homes and buildings were hit, but any figure with six cyphers means nothing on paper—you must see it to understand it.

WINCHELL

London is still here, but it reminds you of some enormous animal trying to lick a thousand wounds. Some parts of the town are intact—but not many parts. There is a square mile of devastation around St. Paul's cathedral, which by some miracle escaped. You will walk down a street and think it is intact—the fronts of the houses seem okay. Then you turn the corner and realize that they are only fronts, that the buildings have disappeared. Landmarks, museums and great examples of architectural beauty—by the hundreds—have disappeared from the face of the earth.

* * *

When I got back to the Savoy hotel I bought a couple of afternoon papers, and the headline that caught my eye was "Poor Germany." Then followed a piece of writing which suggested that London share its meagre rations with the Germans. It's all pretty confusing. Poor Germany, hell! Poor London!! I find very little bitterness here about the Germans; these people just don't know how to hate and I think they will live to regret it.

* * *

I HAVE seen prettier girls at parties and in restaurants here, than I have on the stage. The producers here seem more interested in their comedians and scripts.

I brought over a dozen pair of nylon stockings. Suffice for you to know that Sid Skolsky with nylons would be a greater favorite here than Vic Mature without.

Our G. I.s made a great impression here in London and are genuinely missed. London thought them a bit crude at the beginning, but their general good looks, happy-go-lucky dispositions and overall generosity won them millions of friends. Very few of the popular comedians fail to crack some jokes about getting their girls back now that the Americans have gone.

* * *

After 3 or 4 days in Paris I'm going on to Frankfurt, Nuremhberg, Heidelberg, Berchtesgaden, Munich and Berlin—though not necessarily in that order. A soldier-show of mine—the Diamond Horse Shoe—is playing somewhere in Germany and I hope to spend some time with it. I don't know whether I can do anything to improve it, but I'll certainly try.

* * *

WITH practically no exceptions, every show is a sellout and they have twice as many shows currently playing as we have in New York. A theater ticket is one of the few things they can buy without ration points. Some shows are good, some are bad. It doesn't seem to matter. The musicals that I have seen don't come up to our standards, but they have a repertory company with Laurence Olivier as the moving spirit, which makes anything on Broadway look like a penny arcade. In every sense I think that this is the finest bit of theater anywhere includes world. The company includes Ralph Richardson, probably the best actor on the boards in any country, Sybil Thorndike, Laurence Olivier and a long list of their most distinguished actors. This is a non-profit venture and is located at the New Theater. They moved here after the Old Vic was blitzed.

* * *

Without exception the better managements here are all interested in "Carmen Jones." I am seeing the Ministry of Labor tomorrow to see if I can get a permit to bring the American company intact into London. I think the show would run from one to three years here—not that that is much of a trick—everything runs here. To be a producer in London today you must know how to do just one thing—unlock the front door.

* * *

THERE is a great American girl here running Rainbow Corner, the big Red Cross servicemen's club. You may remember her—Rebecca Pierpont Morgan Hamilton. She may go back to the States soon to complete her divorce arrangements, and is seriously thinking of coming back here to live.

The Viscountess Billy Scarsdale is also suing for divorce. It seems that hubby wants to marry a German girl whose father spent the war in an English prison for security reasons.

There is a terrific black market here in coupons, without which you can buy nothing. You are allowed 40 coupons a year for all your clothes. A simple raincoat requires 18, and with the other 22 you have barely enough to buy a rope to hang yourself. But if you know someone—and who doesn't?—you can buy extra coupons at 2/-d. a coupon. In other words you pay $25 for the suit, such as it is, and you hand over 26 coupons, which cost you approximately $13.

Strangely enough you seldom hear Churchill discussed in London—sort of "off with the old, on with the new."

Do you remember Constance Carpenter? She's getting her divorce from husband No. 3, a naval officer by the name of Scudamore. We'll probably be seeing her in the States very shortly.

I saw a revival of the old play, "Lady Windermere's Fan," by Oscar Wilde. It had one lovely old joke. "There's nothing in the world like the devotion of married women, but of course that's something a married man knows nothing about." Regards—Billy Rose.

Still They Can't Keep Him Out Of Trouble

FDR Sent Hurley To China As Chiang-Red Arbitrator

Embassy Scene Of Many Shifts, Changes

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The easiest way to dispose of your opposition, if you are not too sure of your arguments, is to yell communist. That was what Patrick J. Hurley did when he resigned as American ambassador to China.

CHILDS

His statement, which seems to have been issued without warning to either the State department or the White House, had an angry, intemperate sound. It adds heat, but certainly no light to the obscure workings of our policy in China.

What makes Hurley's outburst more difficult to understand is the fact that in China he has had his own way almost entirely. Those same foreign service officers about whom he complains so bitterly were sent out of Chungking at his request. He would take no advice from them.

* * *

Sent By Roosevelt

Hurley was sent to China by President Roosevelt, who hoped it would be possible to reconcile the two hostile factions — the Nationalist army under Chiang Kai-Shek, and the Communists. The Communists had resisted the Japanese with less to fight with than even Chiang's beleaguered forces.

While these were Hurley's instructions, he seems to have swung quickly into the Nationalist orbit and increasingly resented the advice of younger men in the embassy who urged him to bargain with Chiang in order to try to bring the two factions together. Stubbornly holding to his own viewpoint, Hurley drew closer to Chiang, who was naturally gratified to find that he was not required to make major concessions to the other side.

Among the younger diplomatic officers in our embassy in Chungking were some who knew China and the Far East from long eperience and study. One was John Service, who was sent back to Washington where, subsequently, he was charged with giving out secret documents.

* * *

AFTER being subjected to arrest and search under the most humiliating circumstances, Service was later cleared with an official apology from Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who declared him guiltless. While former Undersecretary Joseph C. Grew was apparently responsible for the stupid blunder, the whole story of this cruel injustice has never been told.

After the formal apology, Service was reinstated with a higher rank and sent to Japan as an adviser to Gen. MacArthur.

George Atcheson, also long familiar with China and the Far East, was sent home from Chungking. He, too, is now in Tokyo on MacArthur's staff.

* * *

Ex-Stilwell Aide Moved

Still another of these diplomats is John Davies jr., who was transferred from Chungking to Moscow. Davies served for some time as liaison officer to Gen. Joseph Stillwell. Stilwell, who did such a magnificent job of training Chinese troops, was similarly exiled for his outspoken criticism of Chiang's policy.

The most conspicuous target of Hurley's blast is John Carter Vincent, a career diplomat with many years' experience in the Orient. Vincent served as counselor of the embassy under Clarence E. Gauss, who preceded Hurley as ambassador to China.

Vincent, a conscientious public servant with an excellent record in the foreign service, was called back to Washington to be head of the China division of the State department. It must have come as a great surprise to him to read in Hurley's statement that career diplomats were setting our China policy.

Responsible officials in the department have been concerned because they felt they had been completely sidetracked on China.

* * *

THE policy was being set by Hurley and the War department, with Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding general in the theater, one of the most important figures. These men were convinced, as they have publicly stated, that we should use American arms to help restore China to Chiang Kai-Shek.

There are many things wrong with the State department, as this column has recently stressed. One of them is that too often, in shaping our policy, we ignored the advice of the expert career men who have real knowledge in their specialized fields.

Hurleys' explosion has served no good purpose. Gen. Marshall has again proved himself a patriot in accepting this extremely difficult assignment when the luxury of retirement was in his grasp.

The hope is that Marshall will be able to work with the state department toward a reasonable solution of the Chinese puzzle. He is utterly lacking in vanity and vainglory, and that will give him an advantage to begin with.

"Anything Can Happen . . ."

JINX

COFFEYVILLE, Kas. (AP)—Heat or no heat Leo Knight has reached the conclusion that one of his stoves has been an ill omen and has decided to dispose of it.

Last June the kerosene stove exploded and set the house afire. Knight then moved the stove to his garage. Now Knight reports that it has exploded a second time causing a fire that did $300 damage to building and contents.

STOP, HAT!

CHICAGO (AP) — Residents along South Halsted street watched excitedly as Policeman Joseph Morrison chased a speeding automobile.

But the officer wasn't in pursuit of bandits. He was trying to retrieve his hat which had blown off and landed on the rear bumper of a car.

Morrison found his hat a couple of blocks away.

Use Of Poison Is Threatened

(By The Associated Press)

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 11.—Indonesian leaders threatened today to use both poison and arms to resist military restoration of Dutch sovereignty in strife-torn Java.

Premier Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized Indonesian republic said Indonesian forces would fight if the British attempted to land more troops to back up the rule of the Netherlands.

Will Annihilate Them

From a radio station near Soerabaja, the native leader Soetomo spoke of a campaign of poisoning against the Dutch, saying:

"The Dutch are boasting that they soon will bring in thousands of soldiers. What of it? We are determined to annihilate them, even if we have to poison them to death.

"We have 70,000,000 behind us. It is an easy task for us to get rid of 100,000 or 200,000 enemies by poison."

Simultaneously, the Netherlands East Indies government announced that acting Governor-General H. J. Van Mook would leave by plane Thursday for the Hague.

Recognition Asked

Premier Sjahrir again asked world recognition of his regime.

His statement came as the British command clamped wartime secrecy on troop movements and communications as a prelude to full-scale operations against armed Indonesians who were reported planning a major uprising by the week's end.

"We tell the whole world we have won independence and ask recognition," the youthful premier told a press conference.

Compelled To Resist

Referring to a reported British offer to discuss the dispute after the elimination of so-called extremist elements, Sjahrir said the Indonesians would be ready to negotiate "after international recognition."

"If, however, our independence is attacked," he added, "we are compelled to resist. There can hardly be such a thing as war against extremists alone. We never have understood who were termed extremists."

Services Wednesday For Accident Victim

SLATON, Dec. 11 (Special) — Funeral services for Ausie R. Golding, 40, Santa Fe railroad engineer who died early Monday after he had been struck by an automobile at a railroad crossing Sunday night in Tahoka, will be read at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Slaton Church of Christ. Burial will be in Englewood cemetery, here.

A. R. Golding, jr., RM3/c, USNR, had arrived for the service, and another son, Billy Golding, S1/c, USNR, who had arrived in San Francisco Saturday from overseas service, was en route by train.

From Tahoka it was announced that Golding was switching his train at the time of the accident. He had been in employ of the railroad more than 20 years, and had lived that long at Slaton.

Dean Brookshire, minister of the Slaton church, will officiate at services, assisted by Minister Albert Smith.

Other survivors are the widow; a daughter, Betty Yvonne, 10; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Golding of Temple; two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Levy of Killeen and Mrs. C. W. Moran of Temple; and a brother, O. E. Golding of Lorena.

The parents have arrived here.

Bearers will be A. J. Hoover, Delma Hodge, Levi Self, Clark Self, Jimmy Watkins, and Bill Sikes.

Gunmen Give Up As Man Shows Fight

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 11 (AP) — When two masked gunmen entered the shop of Charles Nagel, 73-year-old shoemaker, he "grabbed both guns by the barrels, jerked down and held on for dear life."

Police today quoted Nagel as saying his action so "exasperated" the gunmen that "when they finally wrenched the pistols away, they thrust them back in their pockets and walked off in a huff."

Armed Forces To Get Better Grade Beef

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.)— The Agriculture department is preparing to requisition some of the better grades of beef for the armed forces within the next few days.

Gordon Peyton of the Agriculture department made the disclosure in testifying before the Senate Judiciary committee in favor of a one-year extension of the Second War Powers act.

Peyton also said there would be no chance of lifting sugar controls until at least September, 1946.

Labor Legislation Facing Test Vote

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — A test vote shaped up in the House today on proposed labor legislation.

Severl law makers said the outcome will be a preview of what is in store for other pending measures designed to curb industrial strife.

Before the members is a bill by the military committee to restrict political activities of unions and penalize them for violating no-strike contracts.

Concern Only Rules

House leaders announced, however, that today's vote will concern only the rules for consideration of the measure. Chief among these is one that would ban any amendment unless it had been approved by the military committee.

Labor supporters told newsmen they will try to defeat this resolution.

If they have the strength to kill the resolution, these members said privately, they then will be able to steer the course of other labor legislation from now on.

No Hearing Scheduled

Informed that the labor committee had no hearing scheduled today, Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee said he might call his group together to discuss adding the president's fact finding board proposal as an amendment to the union-regulation measure.

Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chieftain, both took issue yesterday with Mr. Truman's request for legislation before Christmas.

Johnston said action should be delayed until several changes had been made in the proposal and "careful consideration" given to it.

Lewis voiced all-out opposition to the president's proposal, asserting it would weaken labor only to aid "frightened" millionaires.

News Briefs

John Vargas, 20, a Mexican charged with desertion of one minor child, was preparing to post $750 bond set this morning by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, in binding him over to grand jury investigation. Vargas, accompanied by a negro interpreter, went to city jail this morning, saying he understood "the law is looking for me." Chief Dep. Sheriff Raymond Land was in the station and accepted custody.

J. O. Tinsley and Clarence Newton apparently are literal examples of peace-enforcement officals turned peace-makers. Sent to an address Monday night on Nineteenth, where it had been reported to police a man was "whipping his wife," the patrolmen disposed of the case with this written report: "Went by, talked with Mr. and Mrs. —— and got them to kiss and make up—at least they were O. K. when we left."

Harvey Nix and Harvey Smyrl, police patrolmen, Monday night arrested a soldier for drunkenness, but may have earned his gratitude, at that. Their official report: "We picked this soldier up very drunk and giving his money away to everyone." The soldier was sober this morning—and he had some money left.

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie L. Weston, 52, of the Pep community in Hockley county who died Sunday in a Littlefield hospital, are pending word from her son who is reported by the Red Cross to have started home from overseas. The body is at Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home.

Bond of $2,500 had been set for Melton Wilburn Godwin, 18, but had not been posted, the sheriff's department said this afternoon. The charge was burglary. Two other persons charged in connection with the same investigation had not been arraigned. They are Hubert Brown, 20, and Bobby Gene Sanders, 18, officials said. County officials this afternoon furthered the sweeping investigation of thieving in several counties by preparing to file charges of misdemeanor theft against two Quanah men implicated by confessions of two of the other three youths. The Quanah suspects, 18 and 23, were arrested at Quanah Monday and returned here that night by Chief Dep. Sheriff Raymond Land and Police Detective Pat Davidson. No loot was recovered to add to a tall pile of stolen property found over the weekend, officials said.

Boy Scout Finance Drive Opens Today

Personal benefits derived from scouting experiences and observations of good work done by scouts in Africa, China and India were described by Elmer Tarbox, formerly a major with the Army Air Forces and now sales manager for Lubbock Auto Co., when he delivered an inspirational speech to 155 solicitors assembled this morning in Hilton hotel for a kick-off breakfast to open the annual Boy Scout finance campaign.

Earl B. Collins, general drive chairman who presided, announced the Big Gifts committee has collected $2,750 toward their goal of $4,000. He estimated that one-third of the Big Gifts cards were still in the hands of prospective contributors. Sam Leifeste gave the invocation.

Immediately following the breakfast, solicitors representing all civic clubs began their canvass of the downtown district. Each man expected to call on approximately five business men. While soliciting Scout funds, the men planned to remind business men to vote "Yes" on today's bond election.

Goal of the Scout financial drive is $4,000 and reports of solicitations will be complete by 6 p. m., today, according to G. M. Unger, South Plains council executive.

Youth Pleads Guilty Of Homicide Charge

Robert Neill Hale, 17, of Levelland, this morning appeared at the office of County Attorney Syrian E. Marbut and announced he wanted to plead guilty of a negligent homicide charge filed last week.

An assessment of $500 and court costs handed down by County Judge Walter Davies was stayed in execution until June 11.

The charge accused Hale of having driven his car on the left side of another vehicle traveling in the same direction the night of Oct. 28, when the highway was not clear at least 50 yards ahead and, as a result—without any apparent intent to kill—driving his car into one operated by Wilburn Wenzel, 16, of Brownfield, and causing fatal injuries to Marjorie Neill, 19.

The mishap was near New Deal school, at Monroe.

Miss Neill, of 1611 Fifteenth, was night operator of Western Union and had been in Lubbock only four months after moving from Midland. Her home formerly was Levelland.

Eight other persons were injured in the collision.

London Is Probable Site Of Olympics

NEW YORK, Dec. 11, (U.P.)—London is virtually certain to be the site of the 1948 Olympics, with San Moritz host to the winter Olympics, it was revealed yesterday at the annual meeting of the U.S.A. Sports federation, which changed its name to the U.S. Olympic association.

Avery Brundage of Chicago was re-elected president. He has held the post since 1929. However, a new set of officers will work with him. Kenneth Wilson, Big Ten conference commissioner, was elected vice president, Owen Van Camp of Chicago was named treasurer, and Asa Bushnell of New York is the new secretary.

Brundage told the delegates that the International Olympic committee believed that London, which would have been Olympic host if the war had not intervened, should get the first postwar games.

State Middleweights Meet In Title Bout

HOUSTON, Dec. 11. (AP) — The state middleweight championship goes on the line here tonight, with Corpus Christi's Tony Elizondo defending his recently-won title against Paul Altman, Houston slugger.

Altman lost the middleweight crown four weeks ago in San Antonio to the battling Mexican fighter. It took only one round for Elizondo to eliminate Altman.

Warning Is Given On Cutting Hair

NUERNBERG, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—Cutting the hair of German girls who have dates with Allied personnel will not be tolerated, a military government court said today.

The warning was issued when 22-year-old Heinrich Hirschmann was sentenced to six months imprisonment for trying to cut off the locks of a fraulein who was seen leaving a restaurant with two Poles.

Threatened Student Strike Is Averted

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 11. (U.P.)—The Cotton bowl football game at Dallas, New Year's day, matching the University of Missouri against the University of Texas, held student interest on the Tiger campus this week.

A threatened student strike was averted when the board of deans voted to extend the Christmas holidays for the school to Jan. 4 to enable students to attend the game.

The deans previously had ruled that classes would be resumed Jan. 2, Cotton bowl or no Cotton bowl.

Coach Chauncey Simpson said Monday that the Tiger squad, composed of 36 players, would leave Columbia by train Dec. 21, the day Missouri's Christmas holidays begin. The Tigers will work out at Dallas within two blocks of its hotel, the Melrose.

Several Tigers were suffering from influenza, and the entire squad was driven into Brewer fieldhouse by the twenty-one degree weather.

Athletic Business Manager George R. Brewer said ticket sales had been brisk. Missouri still had about 1,000 tickets — all for seats between the five and 10-yard line, he reported.
