WASHINGTON (AP)—Five former governors, all Democrats, have got that old spring feeling. They want to be governors again. Four of them, all from the South and border states, probably would have tried earlier candidacies if their state laws had permitted successive terms.

Two of these are the former

Tennessee, who keynoted the 1956 and James E. Folsom, who is seeking a third term in Alabama.

Others are former Governors

Republican, is considering run-

King again. When elected in 1950 he was the first Republican to win his state's governorship in 20 years. He was defeated by Democratic Gov. John A. Wolfe Jr. in 1960. Wolfe has hinted he will run for a fourth term, but has not officially announced.

Former Gov. Clement was 30 when he delivered an old-fashioned stemwinder in keynoting the Democratic convention in Chicago in 1936. He nominated Wendell Willkie of Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

It is no secret that Clement has missed greatly being in the political arena. He says a record in office would have been a "great relief."

His main openings to date in the Aug. 2 primaries are Memphis Commissioner William W. Farris, Chattanooga Mayor P. R. Ozias and Clark Ery. Donelson, former leader.

Clement has been practicing law in Nashville since leaving office. He served as governor in 1953-59, which embraced a two-year term—a four-year term, he says, was not politically acceptable.

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Roxburgh, business agent of the Detroit home local of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, was charged today with extorting more than $2,500 from a trucking company and paying himself $60,000 fine. The charge in the new indictment carries a possible maximum penalty of $10,000 and 20 years.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the charge was contained in a single-count indictment returned against Roxburgh, 49, a federal grand juror in Detroit.

Roxburgh was accused of threatening the Interstate Motor Freight System of Grand Rapids, Mich., with labor disputes to obtain a $100,000 bribe.

Roxburgh, local 290 business agent, was indicted last Oct. 6 on charges of taking illegal payments from Interstate between November 1958 and January 1959 in violation of the federal bribery law.

Roxburgh is free on bond and awaiting a July 10 trial on those charges.

The new indictment, returned by U. S. District Judge Robert H. Hobbs Anti-Racketeering Act, charged that Roxburgh had received $100,000 in money between May 1957 and July 1961 in feloniously obstructing commerce by extortion.

The maximum penalty if convicted is 10 years in prison and would be six years in prison and

A rabbit drive has been scheduled for Friday and Saturday, April 20 and 21, in the Fluvanna area. Glen Lambeth is general chairman of the drive. He will be assisted by group leaders in four sectors. Group leaders on the west side will be Merv Jones and Don Jones; on the north side, Joe Landrum and Fowler Mathis; on the south, Joe Beaver and Dee Pylant; and on the east by James Beaver, Pat Jones, and Robert Jones.

Those going on the drive are asked to meet at the Fluvanna community center at 7:30 a.m. Snacks will be available at cost. Noon dinner will be served at the community center.

Everyone of high school age or above is invited to join in the rabbit drive.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal that President Kennedy establish a commission to study the steel industry's economic troubles drew Democratic support and some Republican skepticism today.

Kennedy was scheduled to get at a White House conference a suggestion by acting Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey that the President create a nonpartisan commission to examine steel pricing and "capital needs and other factors."

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., vice chairman of the Senate House

Economic Committee, applauded this as offering a way to get basic information he said Congress may not have the time nor facilities to dig up.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said in a separate interview he thought it would be very useful, to set up such a commission. He said it could supplement the work of his own Senate Antitrust subcommittee in sifting cost information in an effort to arrive at a fair price for steel.

~~But Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., expressed skepticism as to whether such a commission set up by a Democratic president~~ whose pressures led to a network of steel price increases could be counted on for nonpolitical findings.

"The way things are going, can anything in this situation be non-partisan?" he asked.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said the results could depend on who the President appointed as members of the commission. He said he hoped an inquiry by such a group wouldn't be punitive.

Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D-La., told a conference of Republican women Monday night she could applaud the results obtained by Kennedy in rolling back the steel price rise but could not condone his tactics.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., speaking before the same group, won applause with an attack on the methods Kennedy used.

"When we have a president who takes it upon himself to set prices in this country," he said, "then I suggest every man, woman and child knows what we are up against. Our opposition is committed to change our way of life."

Later, at a news conference in New York, Goldwater called Kennedy's action a "threat to the free enterprise system."

One purpose of the meeting was to set procedures for future talks—including where and when the talks will be held.

Officials said Rusk and Dobrynin had agreed tentatively to hold the fourth round of exploratory talks in Washington. Rusk is reported to feel that a fresh start with a new participant on the Soviet side and in a different

The first round was between Rusk and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, in New York last fall. It was followed by conferences in Moscow between Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson. A third round took place in Geneva last month, also between Rusk and Rusk was reported to be relatively satisfied after the first on-hour conference. He was particularly pleased because Dobrynin speaks fluent English.

Rusk told his aides he had discussed with the Soviet ambassador his Geneva talks with Gromyko, to set a firm footing for future talks.

Bonn, officials said, has been told in unmistakable terms that Washington seriously questions the value of inter-Allied consultations if such things can happen.

Fresh echoes from the Bill Sol Extra case sounded Tuesday from Washington to Texas, as they carried broadening political overtones.

Under Study

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean sought to determine today whether effective enforcement provisions can be included in an arbitration agreement as a compromise proposal for the suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

He told the 17-nation general disarmament conference that the U.S. government is making a careful study of this plan.

The proposal was introduced Monday by the eight nonaligned nations at the conference—Brazil, Burma, Ethiopia, India, Mexico, Nigeria, Sweden and the United Arab Republic.

The eight nations sought to resolve differences over control which have prevented the United States and Britain from conducting a test ban treaty with the Soviet Union.

The proposal calls for detection systems to watch for nuclear explosions. Data collected by these systems would be assessed by an international commission.

Western experts were wary, however, because the plan provided for on-the-spot inspections only if the country "under suspicion agreed" to admit the international commission.

Blast Injures 25 At Chemical Plant

Roy J. Williams of United Audited Audience Service is scheduled to arrive on Monday, April 23, to help organize the campaign. The United Audited Audience Service is the firm that will handle the program for the association. Williams is the president of the organization.

Many members of the association have been working for weeks outlining up division chairman and seeking out possible locations for the campaign headquarters. Bobbie Hargrove and Jo Birdwell are the division chairmen for the membership campaign.

All officers and directors are asked to be at the board of directors meeting at 3 p. m. on Tuesday night in Wesley Hall of the First Methodist Church. Badger Robertson, president of the association, stated this would be a most important meeting and that everyone should make a special effort to attend.

BRANDENBURG, Ky. (AP)—An explosion ripped through several buildings and injured more than 25 employees at the Olin Matheson Chemical Corp. plant today.

Damage was estimated in the millions of dollars. Several fires broke out after the blast occurred. Two persons were hospitalized. Ducts and roofs were believed critically hurt.

Poe Street, employee relations manager for the firm, said the noise of the explosion awoke him at his home in Elizabethtown, 30 miles away.

Street said 50 men were in the plant at the time of the explosion.

Several of the 20 concrete blocks on the company's 600,000-sq.-ft. roof, designed to heavily dam-

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. It occurred at 5:30 a.m.

It appears to have occurred in the ethylene oxide section of the building in which a compound for antifreeze is produced," Street said.

The force of the explosion blew out windows in Brandenburg, 14 miles away. Power was disrupted in the area.

Street said that all of those in the plant walked away from the scene. One man, listed as missing for three hours, showed up at the personnel office with cuts and bruises and somewhat dazed.

The accident was the first at the plant since it went into operation in this Ohio River community 25 years ago. It employs 450 persons.

tion had agreed to the idea of an international control system and argued details with the United States and Britain. Then the Soviets switched, charged an international system would put spies into the country and demanded enforcement of a treaty only by national detection systems.

EASTER LAMB—Deliciously edible, it is made from plain cake baked in a regular nine-inch square pan.

Easy Easter Cake Delights

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor
WHAT MOTIVATES a mother willing to make an Easter lamb cake for her family—especially if it's easy to accomplish?

Of course you can bake the cake in a special lamb mold, but not every cook has such a pan. So this year we tried shaping a lamb out of a cake baked in a regular square pan. The result was adorable and delicious, and we strongly recommend it.

First bake a "white cake," from scratch or a mix, in a square pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/2 inches). Cut the cake into two rectangles, one an inch wider than the other; the widest rectangle will be the lamb's body. Place it in the center of a large tray—you'll need one at least 20 by 20 inches.

Cut the remaining rectangle in half crosswise, making one portion about an inch longer than the other. Add the smaller piece of cake to the lamb's body at the upper right hand corner for the head.

Now cut the last piece of cake into 4 strips and arrange them at the bottom of the body so the lamb has front and back legs.

Prepare a generous amount of Seven Minute Frosting. Spread a thin layer of frosting along the edges of the cake pieces where all parts of the lamb's body are connected. Swirl the rest of the frosting over the top and sides of the lamb, rounding off sharp corners and the head and body and moulding the frosting to make the lamb's tail and ears.

Now sprinkle one or two cans (3 1/2-ounce size) of flaked coconut over the frosting. For the bottom of the lamb's feet and the inside of his ears make pink coconut mix: mix a little coconut with a few drops of red food coloring and a few drops of water.

Use a small red gumdrop for the lamb's nose. For the lamb's mouth, you can use a slice of a large red gumdrop cutting a long slit from the bottom of it. Cut an oval shape for the lamb's eye from what's left of the gumdrop used for the mouth. Finish the lamb off, if you like, by placing an inedible but pretty pink ribbon bow around his neck.

EXTRA FLAVOR

You can try this extra-good variation of the lamb cake, but you do so at your own risk! We say this because you need a cake for this version that won't fall apart from a lot of handling.

When the cake you've baked in the 9-inch square pan has cooled, cut it in half to make two layers.

Put the layers together again with a package of vanilla-flavored pudding and pie mix made according to directions for pie filling. Now, using this filled cake put together and frost the lamb according to directions.

Honey In The Easter Parade

Easter parades make news. Both fashions and foods are highlights of the season. Church bells ring in the Easter services, as sunrise signals the approach of the glad Easter-morn.

It's the time of the year when the earth awakens after a long winter sleep. It has always brought great joy. Easter breakfast, the first meal after Lent, is one to anticipate, so make it one for the family to remember.

This year honey is a leader in the food parade, for it is a sweet that suits the taste; it is in plentiful supply, and so easy to fit into a delightful meal.

Honeyed baking powder biscuits or honey french toast can be an extra special touch to a festive breakfast—a breakfast to enjoy and remember.

Candidates For Governor Are Active

By The Associated Press
Rivals in the governor's race dined away with words Tuesday. Monday at long range. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and Gov. Price Daniel were among the busiest.

Wilson, in Houston, announced for a conflict of interest law covering all Texas officials and said Daniel had engaged in about 30 land deals in Liberty County, the governor's home, since taking office. Daniel earlier said much of the land was inherited from his father, a claim disputed by Wilson.

Wilson said he does not accept the governor's position. He said he would not accept the governor's position. He said he would not accept the governor's position.

16 Refugees Win Asylum In Bold Ride

By GEORGE ARFELD
HAVANA (AP)—Sixteen refugees from Fidel Castro's regime won asylum in the Brazilian Embassy Monday after a city bus driver had smashed this vehicle through two metal fences surrounding the building.

Cuban guards posted around the embassy were too surprised to open fire.

The driver rammed the 35-foot bus through an iron fence at the end of the embassy grounds, then tore through a strong steel fence 18 feet beyond.

The passengers, including several women and children, and the driver dashed into a building on the grounds where more than 200 refugees are lodged.

The noise of the crash brought scores of neighbors flocking to the scene.

Witnesses said some of the passengers carried packages and bundles, indicating the coup had been planned in advance. One woman appeared to be pregnant.

Only the bus conductor chose to return to Cuban jurisdiction.

"I am a revolutionary," he said as he left the embassy grounds.

An hour after the escape a lone truck hauled the big British-built bus out of the grounds.

It was the second such incident in recent months. Last December another group of fugitives broke into the Equadorean Embassy compound in a heavy truck. Guards opened fire, killing three.

The granting of asylum to refugees who make it to a foreign embassy has long been traditional in Latin America.

Texas Heir Dead At 57

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Millionaire T. Waggoner Jr., 57, a Texan by birth, died at his home here Monday.

He was heir to an estate with cattle and oil interests in Texas and New Mexico, including a big ranch near Vernon. Waggoner also owned several Arizona ranches and homes throughout the West. He had made Phoenix his home the past 18 years.

He won national fame as owner of such hydroplane racers as Shanty I and II and Maverick. Shanty I was the U.S. champion and winner of the Harmsworth International trophy in 1956. Later he bought the first Maverick.

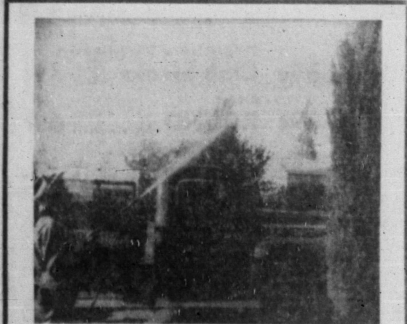

Ranked third nationally in 1958, the Maverick exploded and sank on Lake Mead in 1959. His new Maverick won the 1959 Gold Cup and two years later was given to the Reno, Nev., sponsor of the Gold Cup Races.

Girl Finally Freed By Mental Patient

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Mary Ann Soos, who left home Saturday evening on a date, returned this morning, pale and exhausted, from a desperate weekend with a one-time mental patient.

Her message—"I am being kidnapped"—scrawled in lipstick on a bathroom mirror in a Philadelphia diner Sunday, sent the FBI and police of 13 states into action to find her and her date, William Kuhlman, 21, of Maplewood.

Monday the girl, unharmed, walked alone into a Maryland mental hospital and announced who she was.

Kuhlman, in a car outside the hospital, drove off before police arrived. He was caught about 50 miles away at the Delaware Memorial Bridge and returned to Wilmington, Del., for arraignment on kidnap charges. He was held in $5,000 bail.

Springfield (Md.) State Hospital, where the episode ended, was the same one that Kuhlman was committed to after a suicide attempt two years ago.

Miss Soos was brought home shortly after midnight today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Soos, and an uncle and aunt, who drove to Westminster, Md., to pick her up.

Questioned by Maryland state police, Miss Soos said she believed Kuhlman had drugged her. She said he told her that he wanted to marry her.

Miss Soos told police that after her Saturday night date she and Kuhlman drove in Miss Soos' car to a diner here for coffee.

"The next thing I knew, I woke up in the car. We were in Easton, Pa.," she told police.

"The two spent Sunday night parked in the car behind a dormitory at the hospital. Miss Soos said that Kuhlman threatened her with scissors and tried to molest her."

In the morning, Kuhlman suggested that she enter the hospital and apply for a job while he waited outside.

Kuhlman had been committed there in March 1960 by two Baltimore psychiatrists after he tried to take his life with barbiturates and threatened to jump from a building.

Miss Soos and Kuhlman met originally at Overlook Hospital in Summit, where she worked as a volunteer receptionist and he was an orderly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

To the public and taxpayer, in regard to building a new old folks home, we old people are in the past tense, while the child of today is the future citizen. So let's consider that fact that the child needs far more care and demand for training in order to become a useful adult. So, while we are going out on the limb $250,000, why not double that amount and take care of that child, the one that is roaming the streets?

Pair Quizzed In Slaying

GILMER (AP)—Two Negroes held for questioning in the slaying of Mrs. Minnie Green, 64, were scheduled to take lie detector tests in Dallas today.

One, the object of a widespread manhunt involving 75 officers Monday, surrendered at the office of his lawyer to Camp County Sheriff H. H. Loveless.

Upshur County Sheriff Posey Seago said both men held will be taken to Dallas.

One is a former convict, 41, released from prison in 1960 after serving 12 years of two 20-year terms for rape.

The other, a 35-year-old, broke away and ran when officers first sought to question him.

Mrs. Green lived near here and the former convict lived in the vicinity, Upshur County Atty. Otis Duncan said there were signs of a struggle in the home of the widow.

Her body was found by a neighbor Sunday. Her body had been dragged across a road near her home and apparently died Friday.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

ACAPULCO, Mexico—There is a fascinating history about this poetic collection of territory on the Pacific Ocean. Beginning with the fact that nobody seems to know who discovered Acapulco.

Some historians come up with an idea about Senor Gil Gonzalez Avila, having stumbled across the beautiful big bay in 1519. In the name of the King. Then the other professors got documentary evidence that Senor de Avila was coming around Honduras at that time. He did not even see Mexico until 1525 (this is what the documents say), when the King's Men flung him in the pokey and shipped him back to Spain.

With such shabby treatment, Gil was in no mood to discover Acapulco four years earlier for the King or anybody else.

Anyhow, in the 1530s Mr. Hernan Cortes got the word and dived in. What he saw put dollar marks in his eyes.

A vast bay, several miles wide, surrounded by mountains that push up over a thousand feet. Rugged, jungled-over and in some places scattered with bushes and rocks and boulders. The only entrance to the bay was a narrow slot at which cannon could be conveniently "erred in."

"Man, what a spot!" Mr. Cortes exclaimed, rubbing his counting fingers. "They got the highway and airlines in and this place will be jumping. And just wait until Cesar Balsa starts spreading hotels around the bay. Meanwhile, round up some timber and we will turn out a unit or two for the King's Navy."

For many years, Acapulco was the New Spain port of trade between this side of the pond and the Orient. This aroused the curiosity of seafaring gentlemen flying the Jolly Roger of other nations. For each ship plying the waves between Acapulco and the Orient was said to be loaded with pearls, gold, silver, fine cloths, ivory and other native curios.

Sir Francis Drake managed to surprise several China Ships. And with such operations cutting into the Royal Withholding Tax, the King was a mighty worried man.

The first pirate ships to sail into Acapulco Harbor were Dutch. Run by Admiral Spilberg. The guns from the fort let go a few offhand shots to notify them that the climate was not so good for Dutchmen. But the Admiral had just knocked off several Spanish galleons and was low on supplies. He ran up the white flag and took a "shootout" to the fort.

"Gentlemen," the admiral said, "I am here on a peaceful mission to take aboard water, gunpowder, cannon balls, food and other items we need to continue the pursuit of your vessels. I can pay cash for these supplies with merchandise we lifted from a couple of Spanish boats the other day."

The Spaniards, being good merchants with an eye for an honest peso, made a deal and the admiral got re-outfitted. And went out to chase Spanish ships again.

Another piece of information on Acapulco. Some Spanish ships hoisted sail in the harbor one day to take off on a trip. Nothing happened.

"My goodness," the command-er said, "I do believe the west wind is being deflected by the mountains there and consequently we are stranded, to coin a phrase. Put a firecracker under these native volunteers and pass out the picks and shovels."

Legend has it that the volunteers chopped off the top of the mountain and the wind came sailing down into the harbor. And the ships went sailing out to sea. The big cut is known as La Quebrada, which means "the break." Named after the breaking of the mountain, or possibly the busted backs of the volunteers who shoveled the top off.

Today, the west wind spills through La Quebrada and cools the sunburned backs of tourists who stayed too long on the peaceful beach. Which is where your faithful correspondent is now going. To recharge the old battery in the soothing waters of the Southern Seas. Contemplate history. And conduct scientific studies of some of the scenery that is almost hidden beneath smug bathing suits.

Musicians Given Warm Reception

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wind blew a cool 20 miles an hour. The musicians blew a cool "Hail to the Chief."

President Kennedy, his wife at his side, strode out on the White House lawn to give a warm reception to two young musical organizations and 800 youngsters who came to hear them.

It was the third in a series of lawn concerts by youth for youth which Mrs. Kennedy has been sponsoring.

The groups who performed Monday in finger-numbing 48-degree weather with a spanking breeze that sent sheet music sailing from the music stands were the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra and the Breckenridge (Texas) Boys Choir.

"I loved it," said Mrs. Kennedy, who sat in a front-row seat during the hour-long concert. "It was marvelous."

Kennedy climbed up on the band shell and stood without a topcoat beside the bass fiddle section while the orchestra played the national anthem. He then welcomed them all "to this house which belongs to all of us."

"One of our greatest assets in this country is our talented boys and girls who devote their early lives to music, the appreciation of music and understanding of it. This is a great and, I think, vital force in American life."

Smiling, he said "I never heard the Star-Spangled Banner played with more enthusiasm and precision."

The concert ranged from Bach's fugue in G minor by the choir to an Irish folk tune, "Will You Come to the Bow," sung by the choir.

After it was over, Mrs. Kennedy congratulated the 40 boys in the Texas choir, who were shivering in their blazer jackets. She told the orchestra conductor, Marvin Rubin, that his 104 teen-age musicians had done wonderfully despite the weather.

The President had to go back to work and couldn't stay for the concert but he promised "I will keep the door of my office open all afternoon." And he did.

A DAILY VIEW

From me to you

Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Jesus said, 'Truly I say to you the tax collectors and the harlots go into the Kingdom of God before you!'"

Matthew 21:31 (read verses 23-32)

The two stories that are contained in the scripture reading today raise the question of the authority of Jesus. Jesus claimed to have very special authority—from God Himself. And the people who came to see him and hear him also went away knowing that Jesus had been given special authority. When one reads the Gospels it is discovered that time and again "the crowds were amazed, and they said 'We never saw anything like this before.'"

In the face of this kind of authority—that even the spirits and the elements were subject to him—there appeared those who scoffed, and even rejected completely this man who came in the power of God. They saw his authority, but refused to believe in it, or he swayed by it. And it happened that these men were the religious leaders of the community. Thus the story that Jesus tells is about them. They are the ones who say they will do the commands of the master, but then don't. This is the reason why Jesus says that they will be the very last to enter the Kingdom of Heaven—if they get there at all. They said they would but wouldn't. The ones who get in are those who believe and do what they would not do the will of the master, then changed their minds and went and did his will. Thus they recognized the authority of the master and obeyed.

This is what Christianity is about—it is recognizing that Jesus is the Master, and has authority over you and me; and it is obeying this One who has sovereignty over us.

Boots Are Okayed For Kindergarten

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The mother of 6-year-old Kimberly Pape has won her battle with school officials. The kindergarten youngster can wear his cowboy boots to school.

Kimberly's teacher felt cowboy boots were not suitable for school. Miriam Pape thought she was qualified to select what her son wore.

George E. Theobald, assistant superintendent of Cleveland elementary schools, backed the teacher and principal of the school but said Monday night he would allow Kimberly to wear boots to school.

Mrs. Pape, who hails from Texas, commented: "It wasn't just the boots, but the principle. I believe that it is my right and responsibility to choose my child's clothing. I will not turn this over to the schools."

Anniversary Of Invasion Marked

By THEODORE A. EDIGER
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Just a year ago, about 1,500 Cuban exiles invaded their homeland in a daring but unsuccessful effort to oust Fidel Castro.

First Grader Is Nabbed

DALLAS (AP)—Police caught a young Negro, proudly calling himself a modern day "Thief of Baghdad" Monday.

He's a first grader and he told of leading nine pals in half a dozen burglary raids netting more than $150.

School Principal Finis Tatum called police after hearing that several youngsters were passing out greenbacks.

Patrolmen rounded up the 7-year-old, two boys of 9, a pair of 10-year-olds, one of 14 and another 15.

All are Negroes.

The youngest told of stealing $144 from a supermarket till, $35 and $75 at gas stations and hundreds of money in three other stores.

Detectives said the youngsters went on a spree at the state fair and gave most of what was left to playmates. They sent the boys to a juvenile home.

Couple Opposed To Any Separation

VERONA, Italy (AP)—Adriano Poltronieri, 24, was drafted into the Italian army three days after Graziella Filippini, 21, accepted his proposal of marriage.

Every free moment during his 17 months of service, Adriano wrote to his fiancée. In 519 days as a soldier, he sent Graziella 615 letters, each at least nine pages long, and 1,530 postcards.

The girl answered almost every letter. Five months ago they were married.

When a mild ailment put Adriano into the hospital a few days ago, his wife asked to be hospitalized, too.

"I want to be near my husband," she told the doctors. "I have a slight cut on my hand that would prevent me from writing him every day."

20,000 Due Navy Release

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly 20,000 Navy and Air Force officers and enlisted men who were kept on active duty because of Berlin incident will return to civilian life before July 2.

Their release, the two services said Monday, is contingent on no significant change in the world situation.

Covered by the order are 12,300 airmen, 700 Air Force and Air Reserve officers, 5,300 Navy enlisted men and 1,400 Navy and Naval Reserve officers.

Their terms of service would have expired between last September and next June, but they were extended to maintain readiness for up to 12 months because of the Berlin crisis.

New Method To Preserve Blood Told

By FRANK CARRY
Associated Press Science Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Navy-sponsored research has produced a new and promising process for preserving blood indefinitely by freezing, it was reported today.

It appears to offer the best bet yet towards approaching the military ideal of having a blood bank available for weeks or months, yet capable of being brought ready almost immediately, developments of the technique said.

The development — still under research — appeared at the actual meeting of the International Association of Experimental Biology by scientists of the Lipid Co., Tonawanda, N.Y.

Dr. A. P. Rindert, the research director who presented the report and amplified it at a news conference, said either whole blood or red blood cells could be preserved indefinitely by the process in which liquid nitrogen at 320 degrees below zero is employed as the freezing agent and a new type of preservative is used.

Key to the new process is the finding that albumin, a protein obtained from human blood serum, can be used to protect the red cells so that they may be frozen and thawed with little damage.

Dr. Rindert said a plastic material, polyvinyl pyro-silidine, could also be used as the preservative.

He said the new technique of freezing certain blood components from a military standpoint over the only other freeze-preservation technique so far developed, which employs glycerol as the preservative.

Rindert pointed out the glycerol must be carefully and slowly added before the blood preparation is frozen and then thoroughly removed before the thawed-out blood can be transfused.

Also, he said, the new technique can be used both for preserving whole blood and for just the red cell component. The glycerol applied is used only for preserving red blood cells.

"The military," he said, "wants a whole blood preparation that can be preserved indefinitely and, on thawing, can be immediately transfused."
