FOUR DEAD AND TWO INJURED IN STREET BATTLE

Boys Taunts To Bohemians Lead To Frightful Tragedies In Texas Town

By United Press.

TAYLOR, Texas, Sept. 18.—The death toll from yesterday's downtown shooting here was increased to three today when John Chrastesky died of a bullet wound in the head. Antonio, his twin brother, and Steve Merka, were killed yesterday and two others were seriously injured when the Chrastesky brothers opened fire on a gorup of city youths after they had been taunted about their clothing. They were Bohemians living near the city.

Sam Chamblain Jr., 27, was seriously wounded in the first volley of shots and is not expected to live. The twins ran over the small son of Special Agent Wheeler of the I.-G. N. railway with their automobile in a mad dash out of the city. The child was not seriously injured, doctors reported today.

At the outskirts of the city the boys stopped at the home of one of their partners, presumbly Merka, who was shot downtown, and are reported to have fired several shots at his sister. The girl escaped uninjured. When a posse overtook the Chrasteskey car they found Antonio dead with four bullet wounds in his body. John was in a dying condition with one bullet wound in his head. The officers say the bullet wounds of both the brothers corerspond with the automatic pistol held in John's hand and think that he shot his brother and attempted suicide.

OIL SHOWING AND MILLION FEET OF GAS

O'Dornel 1 Well In Today, On Hagaman Is Attracting Considerable Attention

The O'Donnell well on the Hagaman, which oil men have been watching with considerable interest, will be drilled in some time today. It is in the shallow sand and is showing for a million feet of gas or better with good oil showing, it is said.

Clyde Team Ties Winters In Fast Game

Already the dope on next Friday's game between Ranger and Clyde is beginning to pile up and the sum total of it carries a message to the Ranger pigskin rustlers that they will have to get up on their toes or be taken off their feet, shoes and all. Clyde has 10 letter men left over from last year to Ranger's five.

The Clyde team, under the direction of Pat Murphy, former versatile quarterback of Abilene High and McMurray college, is light but with additional drilling it is counted upon by Coach Murphy to hold its own against the heavier opponents that will be played as the season advances. At least seven more games will be played this season.

Murphy had a veteran backfield around which to develop his team. Anderson, fullback; Collins and Pool, halfback, and Tabor, quarter, are the letter men reporting to the ball carrying department. Barton, a utility man, also is back in uniform.

On the line Murphy has Easterling at center; Neill, guard; Connell, tackle, and Parker and Cotten, ends. Thorn is one of the most promising of the new men and will take a backfield utility position. Nance likely will play at the other guard. Kelly, a transfer from Lubbock, probably will take the other tackle. Browning, a transfer from Baird, is looking good for one of the end positions.

The Clyde team will play a number of the teams in surrounding towns. The tie with Winters was hardly expected by those supporting the Clyde machine and as a result of the excellent start made by the grid team the supporters are looking forward to a very successful season. The following is the schedule:

Sept. 25—At Ranger.
Oct. 2—At Ballinger.
Oct. 9—Cross Plains at Clyde.
Oct. 16—At Merkel.
Oct. 25—At Baird (tentative).
Nov. 6—Albany at Clyde (tentative).
Nov. 26—Baird at Clyde (tentative).

$60 Stolen From Colored Porter

Henry Hatcher, colored porter at the Paramount hotel in Ranger, is out $60 which he believes was stolen from him last night. Hatcher is also confident he knows the identity of the thief, a colored woman believed to have taken the train for Fort Worth, after using enough of the $60 to buy her railway ticket. Police are hot on the trail.

New Army Scandal Stirs Washington

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18—A new army scandal set a considerable portion of Washington gossiping today when the war department announced that Major General Henry L. Rogers, retired quartermaster general, had preferred serious charges against his successor, Major General W. H. Hart.

Rogers asked for an official war department investigation of the circumstances under which he was retired in 1922. Rogers was appointed in 1918 and retired in 1922 without any official disturbance, the records showing he was put on the retired list because of disability.

RODEO WILL BE BIG FEATURE AT EASTLAND FAIR

"Hackberry Slim's" Broncho Busters Promise Thrills By The Million

"Hackberry Slim," the rodeo star of West Texas, and his company of bronc-busting cowboys and cowgirls, have joined the San Antonio Amusement company and will give their first performance with that organization on the opening day of the Central West Texas fair, which will open in Eastland next Thursday, continuing until Saturday night, Sept. 26.

"Hackberry Slim's" rodeo is known all over this section of Texas, having given performances at Breckenridge, Cisco, Rising Star and other places and is now engaged for three days, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, at Gorman, in this county. The show is playing at Rising Star today and tomorrow.

The show, which is something different to anything ever offered in the wild west or rodeo line, will be given in a big corral which Mr. Johnson (Hackberry Slim) carries with him. It is possible that he will also give some free attractions on the race track inside the fair grounds. There will be two performances daily, one in the afternoon and one at night, each of the three days of the fair.

Mr. Johnson carries a large number of outlaw horses, steers, buffalo, etc. He also has in his company a large number of cowboys and cowgirl trick ropers and fancy riders. One of the features of his show is a half-breed buffalo that has never yet been ridden notwithstanding the fact that a standing offer of $50 is up for the man or woman who rides him without being thrown.

All Women Are Invited to Hear National Speaker

The members of the 1920 club and the New Era club, always hospitable, wish to stress their invitation to club women of Eastland county to their opening reception Saturday afternoon at the Gholson hotel, and also to make it a more general invitation, including in its scope every woman who is interested in the American home, the subject of Mrs. Barry's lecture. The reception will begin at 2 p. m. and guests will be received on the mezzanine floor of the hotel, where a musical program will be rendered during calling hours and while refreshments are being served.

After a brief session of the County federation, the time will be given over to Mrs. Barry, who will deliver her wonderful lecture on "The American Home," a theme that should strike a responsive chord in the heart and mind of every woman in Eastland county, for the American home is the background of our national life as well as our personal lives.

When the American home totters the nation totters. Mrs. Barry is a national character, one of Texas' very own big women and in all probability the Gholson hotel will hold a capacity crowd at the first meeting this year of the County federation, with Mrs. Barry as a drawing card. This invitation means, you and you and you.

Produce House Changes Managers

H. Bockstein of Fort Worth arrived in Ranger today to take over the management of the West Texas Produce company, a jobbing concern numbered among Ranger's prominent business enterprises. Samuel Lipshitz, former manager, left for Fort Worth where he will be permanently connected with the same company in that city. Mr. Bockstein expects to be a parmanent resident of Ranger, it is said.

HINT SOMETHING BESIDES WIND AT WRECK'S BOTTOM

Sensational Allegations Made By Correspondent On Eve Of Naval Inquiry

By United Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Sept. 18.—New evidence is alleged to have been found here which indicates that the wrecked dirigible Shenandoah was in distress at least two hours before she crashed and during that time wind at 40 miles an hour was recorded. During that time, according to satements attributed to witnesses, the ship was in obvious distress. These alleged facts related in the Cambridge Jeffersonian by Ernest Shehan, correspondent, on the eve of the naval court inquiry at Lakehurst, N. J., purported to give evidence that some other cause than the storm might have precipitated the Shenandoah.

The newspaper says the disclosures are based on some records taken from souvenir hunters after the dirigible crashed and some of the survivors of the ship before their return to Lakehurst and from statements of others who saw the fall. Shehan's story follows:

"Dr. A. W. Arndt of Lore City, eight miles east of here, says he saw the Shenandoah at 3:30 a. m., when it passed over Lore City; that the tail of the ship was turned up and it seemed to have lost its buoyancy. Later a man named Davis stated that he saw the ship and it was traveling low. The ship's clock stopped at 5:35 when she crashed 14 miles south of Cambridge, so the ship had two hours to travel on its last journey."

Negroes Are Spirited Away to Escape Mob

By United Press.

CARTHAGE, Texas, Sept. 18.—Officers spirited three negro prisoners from jail here today to an unknown destination to prevent mob violence. The negroes were held on account of an attack on Red Killer, a prominent planter, and his 6-year-old son, Ray, last night. Killer is said to have had trouble with the negroes, who were working for him, and they came to his home, entered his sleeping porch where he and his son slept, and seriously wounded him. The boy may die and they badly mangled one of Killer's eyes when they fired at close range with a shotgun.

JAPANESE CAPITOL IS DEVASTATED BY FIRE

By United Press.

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 18.—Tokio was visited with a fresh disaster yesterday, when fire raged through its parliamentarian buildings, completely destroying the house of representatives. Firemen succeeded in saving some of the parliamentarian records. Troops were called out after the fire started, as the fire spread. Late in the afternoon it was got under control after a loss of more than one million dollars and many valuable records lost.

OVER FIFTY MILE RADIUS THEY BOOST

Prospects Bright For Huge Crowds From at Least Three Counties

Virtually all of the town and most of the leading communities within a radius of 50 miles of Eastland were visited yesterday by delegations from Eastland for the purpose of advertising and boosting the Central West Texas fair, which opens in Eastland, Thursday, Sept. 24, and continues until Saturday night, Sept. 26. Reports from each of the places visited showed that the people know about and are interested in the fair. At most places the Eastland representatives were told that many people ,especially the business men, were planning to attend the fair on one or more days. This was specially true of Breckenridge, Cisco, Rising Star and Ranger. Cisco and Breckenridge will head their delegations with their bands.

Secretary George W. Briggs of the fair association stated this morning, although plans had been made for handling a big crowd, it was now evident that a much larger number of people would be here than had been anticipated and that additional accommodations were being made for their convenience. The program, published some days ago, has also been added to until it will have almost twice as many features as were given in the first announcement.

Owing to the fact that it is just the beginning of the football season unusual interest is being manifested in the football game to be played during the fair between the Eastland Mavericks and the fast DeLeon team.

The daily horse races, riding tournament, horseshoe pitching contest, terrapin derby, old fiddlers' contest, goat roping contest, band concerts, style show, etc., are also growing in interest as the opening day of the fair draws near.

The headquarters of the fair association have received hundreds of letters from ex-citizens of Eastland county advisin gthem of their intention to attend the fair, especially for the home-coming in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city of Eastland.

JIMMY OR LOU WILL FACE LOVE IN TODAY'S GAME

Second Game of Play-off Goes To Fort Worth 10 to 3 Score Thursday

The play-off games between Dallas and Fort Worth lost interest for many hitherto enthusiastic fans when the Panthers took the second game by ascore of 10 to 3, Thursday, giving them the first two games by such odds as to dishearten Dallas fans and make Fort Worth fans apathetic. Predictions of a drab game with moderate attendance today are freely made.

With Love certain to go in for Dallas, there would seem to be a fair prospect of their turning the tables, although Lou North or Jimmy Walkup, one of whom is sure to go to the mound for the Fort Worth team, will if he plays up to standard, mix it with the Dallas premier. It's today or never with Dallas and a tight game is predicted. Should Dallas win today, there will be a slim chance for them. Should they win today and tomorrow, it would then be an even break. Should Fort Worth win this or any other one game, the series would be all over.

AIRPLANES GO 302.5 MILES IN ONE HOUR

Break All Records In Stunt Before Competing For Pulitzer Air Prize

By United Press.

CITIES FIELD, LONG ISLAND, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Speeding faster than any plane ever flew before, a Curtis racing plane, piloted by Lt. Alfred J. Williams, U. S. N., flew at the rate of 302.3 miles an hour over here today. There was on calamity in the test flight.

The plane reached the speed of 302.3 miles an hour on one of a number of flights which were made to establish an average speed to see if the planes came up with government specifications. Three of these planes were made to be used in the pulitzer air races.

Horn was shot in the thigh when attempting to enter a home, but denies he is guilty of the crimes.

MITCHELL IS TO BE CALLED BEFORE COURT

Notice Is Served On Fiery Colonel Who Is To Hold Himself In Readiness

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Planning to lose no time in its investigation of the air aviation question, President Coolidge's special air inquiry board today decided to call on Col. William Mitchell, air critic, early next week. The board requested the war department to have Colonel Mitchell hold himself in readiness, after presentation of "routine" testimony by war, navy and postoffice officials, the United Press learned.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Advancing along three different lines the administration conference today on aircraft inquiry, investigated past probes and the charge of Colonel Mitchell's charge of "incompetency" as follows:

1. The president's special aircraft board will study records of the last probe in preparation of the public hearing Monday.

2. Rear Admiral Jones of the navy has completed arrangements for the Shenandoah inquiry board, for Shenandoah inquiry board, Mon-Monday.

3. Judge advocate general's officials at the war office were drawing up formal charges of insubordination against Colonel Mitchell for court-martial trial, which is due in about two weeks. Chairman Dwight Morrow, an intimate friend of the president, told his fellow members of the board that economy would be necessary as there is no congressional appropriation for the probe.

By United Press.

ATTORNEY GENERAL GOES BEFORE JUSTICE OF PEACE

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—It became known today that a court of inquiry was held here yesterday before Justice of the Peace Henry Jones and that it was convened at the instance of Attorney General Dan Moody, who personally appeared and interrogated witnesses.

It is not known who appeared before the court except that John F. Maddox, agent in the department of banking, was one witness. He is named in the injunction proceedings brought at Houston as having received a check for $3,500 from the Sherman-Youmans Construction company in connection with state highway maintenance contracts.

Mr. Moody is Houston and without knowledge on the subject. It is presumed that the attorney general's inquiry was directed toward ascertaining if such a check had been given.

College Head Is Again Under Fire

By United Press.

DENTON, Sept. 18.—At the height of the stormy situation of the College of Industrial Arts created by the demand of petitioners that Dr. Lindsey Blainey, president of the institution, be removed, the protest to the board of regents was made public today.

The plaintiffs argue that Dr. Blainey recommended the dismissal of more than a score of instructors because of their lack of ability who had held positions for years in the school and declare that his administration is making harmony among the faculty members impossible. The board of regents is meeting today to consider the petition.

MANY CONVERTS AT REVIVAL ARE ADDED NIGHTLY

"Hot One" To Men To Be Delivered Tonight Says Rev. R. L. Flowers

The Flowers revival now being conducted at the Methodist church is attracting city-wide attention. People from all over the city are in attendance continually. Members of all the churches are co-operating in a wonderful way. The evangelist said last night that one of the pleasant memories of this meeting would be the way the people of the city have cooperated. The newspaper has been very generous in giving us space. The people at the hotel do their best to make our home life pleasant and at the places where we eat, everything is done to make things pleasant for the party," he added.

Evangelist Flowers seemed to have been at his best last night as he delivered some sledge-hammer blows to sin. He can deal some heavy blows, yet do it in a way that does not offend. He makes the people feel that he is not after the sinner but he is after sin. Last night the boys and girls gave a 30-minute program to a crowded house. The people were delighted with the singing of the youngsters.

Tonight the special service at the Flowers revival will be for men especially. There will be a great delegation of men who will attend and will sit together. Mr. Flowers announced last night that a hot one would be delivered tonight to men. His subject will be "The Pace That Kills." It is expected that one of the largest crowds of men seen at a religious service will attend. The service is for everybody, however there will be reserved seats for men.

Evangelist Flowers said in part last night: "Jesus Christ knocks at the hearts door of every man and woman tonight. He speaks to us through many agencies. There are things in this world, however, that hinder one from hearing the voice. Worldliness, carelessness, neglect, wilfulness are some of the things that keep up from letting Jesus Christ come into our heart and make his abode there. The modern spirit of worldliness that is abroad in the land is absolutely opposed to the spirit of Jesus Christ."

At the close of the service a great number of people answered the call. Tonight Rev. Hall will take into the church a large number of converts.

Much Work Still Confronts Clean-Up Committees

Committees appointed by the Lions' club and other organizations of Eastland for the purpose of carrying on a clean-up campaign in the city this week and the first of next, are busy and already have accomplished a great deal in that direction, but they state that there is yet much work to be done.

Chairmen of these committees have asked the newspaper to call attention to the citizens, especially those of the downtown business district, the necessity of their having their places of business, sidewalks, show windows, etc., cleaned and as presentable as possible for fair week, which begins next Thursday.

METHODISTS MEET AT GORMAN

The Methodist churches of the Cisco district were well represented at the meeting of Sunday school superintendents, presidents of missionary societies, pastors and other church leaders held at Gorman yesterday upon the call of the presiding elder, where their annual reports were made.

Those attending from Eastland were Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caton, Mmes. Luther Bean, Clair McCormick, R. E. Sikes and Mr. T. L. Overbey.

Rev. A. W. Hall and Evangelist R. L. Flowers of Ranger were in attendance.

STEPHENVILLE OPENING GAME ROUSES GANGS

Band, Boosters, Colors, Yell Leaders, Yells, All to Wake Up The Old Town

The old town is due for some real thrills tonight, according to Coach Cherry, and the yell leaders and "leaderesses," who are getting ready to wake the echoes and make it a hot time in the old town tonight, preparatory for that louder awakening in store for Saturday's opening football game. That the town is due for some real thrills, right from Thrilldom, of the sort which set off the fireworks last year and then some, is the highly scholastic way it is being said by school people of the grammatical sort. And they place a lot of emphasis on the "then some."

For Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Good People! Tonight is to be pep meeting night. And the old town is getting on its toes to boost to beat the band when our home team gets down on its haunches to take that opening game away from the enemy team tomorrow. There'll be band, boosters, school colors, yell leaders, yells, songs, 'n everything, it is said. You'll hear the report. In fact you'll help make the report. And it will be a loud report going up from 'steen thousand leather lungs, trumpet mouths, tooting horns, 'n everything. Oh, you'll be in it. You may not think so now but the thing'll get you when that High school bunch, led by their pep squad, comes down town tonight and starts things to vibratin'. If you hear any window glass rattling, you'll know what started the vibration.

There'll be Superintendent Holloway who, it is said, will just holler away, and Principal Forrest who will re-echo the yells like the oaks of the forest, and Coach Cherry, whom Ranger has "picked" to lead her hosts on to victory and Yell Leader Clyde Allworth, who is going to yell for all he's worth, and Yell "Leaderesses" Katherine Hall and Ida Mae Lonsdale, who will wake the echoes in hall and dale and out on Nitro field, when our boys go in to win for the glory of old Ranger High—and you. And they do say it's going to be the gol darndest, dad gastedest, all-firedest, boostinist bunch of noise-makers that ever came down the pike.

All of which brings up the old question, "Why is a pep squad?" Answer: To lead the bunch. It's not a case of "let George do it." All the squad does is set the pace. The whole student body and the whole town whose rep. depends on its pep, is expected always to follow the leaders and raise a roar that will send shivers all up and down the backs of that Stephenville bunch and any other bunch that has the temerity to tackle our lusty Ranger boys.

It's not all one way for Saturday. That Class B Stephenville bunch has a nasty habit of going out early every season and taking a lot of Class A teams' scalps just for a season's starter. They did it to Ranger last year and didn't leave a wisp of hair on Ranger's bald knob. Of course, they were not in Ranger's class once Ranger got warmed up. But those S'ville fellows and their boosters have a way of warming up early, it is said and they rarely go out scalping in vain in the early days of the season.

Word comes from over there that they've got not only a snappy team but a bunch of noisy boosters which they intend to bring along. Well, say our fellows, wait till tonight—up at High school—out on the streets and you'll hear something that will help put old Ranger on the big pigskin map.

No hour is set for the meeting at the High school. Come right after supper and stay till the roosters crow or the boosters cease crowing, is the word that has gone out.

BIBLE THOUGHT.

Reward of Humility: Whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased: and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.—Luke 14:11.

But in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but ever man also on the things of others.—Philippians 2:3-4.

Prayer: O Lord, give us pure hearts, that we may see Thee, and then we shall always walk humbly with our God.

Of the more than 10,000,000 workers employed in the country's manufacturing plants in 1923 New York had a total of more than 600,000 employed in over 25,000 factories and plants. The state department reports show that these employes earned an average of $27.62 per week for the four weeks of February, 1925.

A distinguished jurist asserts that a will which reads, "I leave all I have to my wife" is not a good will; that it is so full of holes it wouldn't hold law. About the only place in the world a simple statement of that kind could be misunderstood or misconstrued is in a court of law where even the good old constitution is read half a dozen different ways.

The federal trade commission is running down certain mail order houses and manufacturers who advertise "leather" luggage when a cheap fibre is used. In some cases the defense is that the advertising refers to only the corners which may be real cowhide. Cheap stuff is always cheap in more ways than in price.

ON THE RANGE AT RANGER

By THE FENCE RIDER.

(Items for this department must be phoned in to the Fence Rider, by 12 o'clock daily in order to insure their insertion. Don't be bashful. Jingle the telephone bell.)

It should have been 9 to 0 in favor of Fort Worth. It was nine Cats against one Conley.

Tonight is pep meeting night. Pep is short for pepper. And pepper is hot. Let's all turn out and get ready to make it hot for that Stephenville bunch.

The first Christian martyr was named Stephen. Ranger's first victim (maybe) will also have a Stephen in its name.

Interest in those games down the pike between Dallas and Fort Worth has lagged and they'll never unlag it any more, even though Dallas should stage a come-back. People are thinking of another game now—a game with a pigskin in it. It's full name is football.

The dog Jerry, which will remain in Ranger while his master and family tour Europe, is said to be a full blood German police dog. Maybe Mr. Perlstein would let him do a little sleuthing to see just what Stephenville has up its sleeve.

Charley Dean, son of his father who rules the destinies of city hall, is going to Texas Tech, Monday, where he will show Lubbock how to lub.

It is said the department of fine arts newly established in Ranger High will be out tonight and at tomorrow's game to demonstrate the fine art of making a big noise for the home team.

If you hear a pretty girl or fair lady say "Got you!" explosively, don't imagine she is trying to start a flirtation. It's her hay fever she is addressing. And quite a few are doing the "got you" yell these days around Ranger way.

"Looks like Fort Worth is going to get to play in the Dixie serious," a man was heard to remark at one of the radio listening-in posts Thursday. And he looked real series when he said it!

This July weather makes a fellow long for the old swimmin' hole.

British Try Out Racing Tanks and Other War Devices

By KEITH JONES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SALISBURY, England, Sept. 17.—With airplanes roaring overhead and new types of "racing" tanks scooting down roads and across country at speeds of from 15 to 35 miles an hour, 41,000 troops swung into mock battle at dawn today on Sailsbury plain.

The battle inaugurated the first grand maneuvers of the British army since the demobilization of the wartime forces. It will continue for four days and bring into play all of the latest devices for the waging of offensive and defensive warfare.

At the same time that new plans of attack and new army maneuvers are being tried out, army experts regard the campaign as a test for the many new machines of war with which officers have been experimenting for many months past. Upon the success of failure of these devices as tested out in the field under simulated war conditions will hinge the question of large appropriations for additional armament for the Brtish army.

MORROW CHOSEN CHAIRMAN AIR CRAFT INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The national aircraft investigation began today with speed and precision.

Meeting with President Coolidge in the cabinet room at the White House the nine board members organized and formulated procedure of the investigation.

Dwight W. Morrow of J. P. Morgan and Company, New York, a college mate and close frieend of the president was chosen chairman. Judge Arthur C. Denison, Grand Rapids, Mich., was made vice chairman and William F. Durand, president of the Institute of Mechanical Engineering, Los Angeles, secretary.

The meeting opened in secret session at 11 a. m., when for thirty minutes the president explained to the board his purpose of ordering the investigation. He expressed the hope that complete impartiality and thoroughness would be shown and was confident that the board would be able to present findings to him on which he could base recommendaitons for governmental air policy to the next congress.

That if they bring these ideas into the daylight it would wake up vision which would develop some energy.

That this would serve a most useful purpose in stimulating business.

ALL EASTLAND READY TO TURN OUT TO GAME

Coach Announces Line-up For What Promises To Be Hotly Contested Game

The Eastland Mavericks will play their first official game of the football season tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when they meet the John Tarleton Fish of Stephenville at Connellee park in Eastland.

John Tarleton has 55 men out for football and the team that will meet the Mavericks here tomorrow is composed of those players who did not make a letter, but who were among the better players of teams such as Stephenville last season, and the team is a strong one, full of fight and the determination to win, not only the game with the Mavericks tomorrow, but such championships as come their way during the season just opening.

The local gridsters have been training pretty hard and are showing considerable pep. They are a little slow yet, however, but Coach Adams believes them to be fully capable of handling the Tarleton team.

The Lions, Rotarians, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations of the city passed resolutions at recent meetings to the effect that each member pledged himself to be present at Saturday's game and to root for the home team. Not only this, but they also pledged themselves to work for the locals at all other games played by them during the season. The "pep squad" from the Eastland High school, in charge of competent leaders, will also be on hand at the game to boost for the Mavericks.

Coach Adams stated this morning that the following would probably be the Maverick lineup for the game:

V. Day, left end; Matthews, left tackle; Thompson, left guard; R. Cox, center; Turner, right guard; King, right tackle; Harrell, right end; Williamson, quarterback; Hunt, right half; Seastrunk, left half; Cox, fullback.

LIGHT FOR PARENT SLAYER

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—Jim Pond, 26, who has been held in jail here since late Wednesday in connection with the slaying of his father, C. A. Pond, 56, was admitted today on bail in the sum of $300 by Justice Frank Panihill today.

Young Pond declares that at the time of the shooting his father had threatened to kill the entire family and was beating his younger brother Robert, 10, and his mother, on her knees praying him to stop. Two loads of buckshot entered Ponds head killing him instantly.

C. A. Pond, three of his sons, and a son-in-law were indicted a few months ago in connection with the flogging of auto petting parties on the Oak Hill road near here. Pond was convicted on the charge and fined $75. Four other cases were pending against him.

BILIOUSNESS

Retired Minister Tells How He Keeps in Good Form With the Assistance of Black-Draught.

West Graham, Va.—The Rev. Lewis Evans, a well-known retired minister, now past 80, living here, has a high opinion of Black-Draught, which he says he has taken when needed, for 25 years.

"For years I had been suffering with my liver," he says. "Sometimes the pain would be very intense and my back would hurt all the time. Black-Draught was the first thing I found that would give me any relief.

"My liver has always been sluggish. Sometimes it gives me a lot of trouble. I have suffered a lot with it—pains in my side and back, and bad headache, caused from extreme biliousness.

"After I found Black-Draught, I would begin to take it as soon as I felt a spell coming on and it relieved the cause at once. I can recommend it to anybody suffering from liver trouble. A dose or two now and then keeps me in good form."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for a tired, lazy liver. NC-166

Man Returns Star Stolen From Ship Forty Years Ago

By United Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Missing for 40 years, a brass star, stolen from the pedestal of the steering wheel of the famous U. S. S. Constitution in 1885, has been returned to officials at the Charlestown navy yard, where "Old Ironsides" is being reconditioned.

In returning the stolen star, the guilty party wrote a letter, addressed to Admiral L. R. de Steiguer, in which he said:

"Seeing by the paper that there is a movement on foot to repair and preserve 'Old Ironsides,' I am moved to the confession of the following crime in order that by so doing I may be enabled to help in the most laudable work.

"Know then: In the summer of 1885, when on my second practice cruise from Annapolis, being that year on the U. S. S. Jamestown, I did go aboard the Constitution in the navy yard at Kittery, Me., and did there, maliciously and feloniously and solely because of the devil who in my early years did often take up his residence within me, unscrew and pry from her wheel abaft the quarter-deck a brass star; which same star, being still in my possession, and being moved after 40 years by a spirit of penitence, I am sending you by this mail in a separate box in order that it be restored to its original position."

Lieut. John A. Lord of the navy construction corps, examined the pedestal from which the star was pried loose, and oddly enough the five screw holes that held the star are still to be seen.

Two-Dollar Bills Urged For Economy

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Taxpayers can save a million dollars annually by using currency of larger denominations than the one dollar bill, according to the U. S. Bureau of Efficiency.

The public is using one dollar bills where it should be using twos, fives and tens. This means that a greater number of one dollar bills must be engraved than bills of larger denominations, costing Uncle Sam considerably more for production.

Keeping a thousand one dollar bills in circulation also costs the government more than keeping one hundred $10 bills in circulation, thus placing a direct burden on the taxpayers, according to the Efficiency Bureau.

Uncle Sam is requesting the public to forget its superstition, handed down from old gambling days, that the two dollar bill is unlucky. The two dollar bill should be given its proper place in the nation's currency the bureau says. Every time a two dollar bill is used it retires a one dollar bill from circulation and saves its weight in currency.

Poster Campaign

The government plans to placard the banks of the country with posters urging the public to use the least number of bills. The posters will point out the beneficial effect as follows:

1. Decrease the bluk of currency that individuals need carry in their pockets.
2. Decrease the bulk of currency that change-makers need handle and keep in their tills.
3. Decrease the bulk of currency that bank cashiers need handle, count and carry in their cages.
4. Decrease the work of money counters everywhere.
5. Decrease the chances of making mistakes.
6. Decrease the detail of money counting and recounting at the Treasury Department at Washington when new bills are issued or old ones redeemed.
7. Decrease the bulk of the money manufactured by the Bureau by the Government.
8. Save the government directly a possible one-fourth the cost of this manufacture and the public many times as much in the waste labor of counting and recounting innumerable small bills.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

"Now, let's get out the hose and wash off the front porch," was Mother Gregory's next suggestion when she came into the house with her armful of roses.

Gloria gritted her teeth together. But she lifted all the chairs down from the front porch and went to work with the hose and an old broom.

Presently Mother Gregory came around the corner of the house from the back yard. She had put on her hat and street dress.

"Goodby, my dear," she said. "I guess I'll have to be on my way. You've done just fine all day!"

She kissed Gloria and patted her weary shoulders.

"When you want any more help you know where to come, my dear, don't you?" She beamed at Glory. "Straight to me!"

"Yeah, any old day I'll come to you for help, again!" Gloria thought resentfully. "Ican work myself to death without your help, thanks!"

She went into the house, as soon as Mother Gregory's neat little car had disappeared around the corner. She threw herself down on the davenport in the living room, and fell asleep at once.

Dick did not see her at once when he came home at half past 6.

He stood in the hall, and looked around him, with a sense of foreboding. The house was filled with the pungent smell of a thorough cleaning, mingled with the odor of roast chicken.

Gloria must have hired a new maid! Not in a hundred years could she have cleaned the house as it had been cleaned. And that tantalizing smell of baked chicken! Gloria couldn't actually have gone to the trouble of baking a chicken.

Just then, she came out of the living room. Her hair hung dankly about her pale face. Her lips drooped. And the bungalow apron she wore was dirty and covered with grease spots.

THE STORY SO FAR:

Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes, but no work or children.

She refuses pointblank to do her own housework and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford her wages. Gloria has swamped him with her debts.

She becomes infatuated with an out-of-work actor, Stanley Wayburn. When he leaves town, to go to New York, she follows him. But he spurns her. Then she tries to get a job as a chorus girl and fails!. Gloria begins to realize how lonely she is for Dick. But she is afraid to go home to him.

At last, however, she does go. Dick takes her back but not as his wife. Gloria wonders if he is not in love with his secretary, Susan Briggs. Dick stays out late one night. Gloria is sure that he is with Miss Briggs, but the next day she learns that he spent the night at the home of Dr. John Seymour, who had killed himself because of is wife, May's love affair with Jim Carewe.

The breach between Dick and Gloria widens. Gloria makes up her mind to get back into Dick's good graces. Finally she goes to Dick's mother to ask her to teach her to cook. Mother Gregory spends the day with her, helping her do the ousework. And Dick comes home to find dinner ready, the house in order, and his tousled wife in a bungalow apron.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

"Who did all the heavy housework? Not you, I know," Dick said unbelievingly.

But his eyes swept Gloria from her untidy head to the hem of her bedraggled apron. He had never seen her like this before.

She certainly looked as if she had been working!

"Who do you suppose did it?" she snapped at him. "The army of servants you've hired to help me? Of course I did it, and I'm all in."

Every bone in her body ached. She dragged herself wearily past Dick into the kitchen. "Dinner's ready,"

A tear slid down Gloria's cheek as she thought of all the mornings of her future . . . the lonely awakening in that little room.

she threw over her shoulder as she went.

The meal was done to a turn. The chicken was richly brown, the vegetables tender, and the salad chilled and crisp.

With the first thrill of housewifely pride that she had ever known, Gloria set the dishes down on the spotless table cloth.

Marveling, Dick sat down to eat. "I hope everything's as good as it looks," he said doubtfully. Gloria sent him a look of fury.

"It is!" she said.

And so it was. As he ate, Dick's sense of wonder grew. Had his wife become an expert cook over night?

But when Gloria brought in the dessert, the mystery was solved for him. "It was Mother, bless her!" he said. "No one in the world makes chocolate custard like that but her!"

"It was not your mother," Gloria said with honest indignation. "I made that custard all by myself! All your mother did was to sit out in the kitchen and give me orders.

Dick nodded. "Sure, I knew she bossed the job," he said. "You couldn't cook a meal like that alone, on a bet! What's she doing? Giving you cooking lessons?"

Gloria grunted.

"She's been giving me orders, mostly," she answered. "She said she'd come over and help me out. But all she did was to cut a lot of your best roses and strew them all over the house! She's some kid! She ought to be a gang boss! She'd make a peach."

"I wish you wouldn't speak about my mother in that way, Gloria," Dick interrupted. He looked annoyed.

"Oh, bosh. I'll do as I please," the girl answered, bitterly. "I'm getting tired of being slammed all the time. It's time I began to pan a few people myself. You treat me like a doormat, and expect me to like it!"

"If I've treated you like a doormat I'm sorry," Dick apologized. He got up and walked out onto the front porch.

That was just like Dick! Whenever he was getting the worst of an argument, he got up and walked away. He was simply maddening!

Well, this was one time when he wouldn't get away with it! She'd walk right out after him, and say what she had to say to him!

Suppose the neighbors did hear it. They probably had a few family battles themselves, at times.

But just as Gloria opened the screen door to go out, Dick walked down the front steps and around the house to the back yard.

Gloria ran upstairs and put a touch of rouge on either cheek. Then she followed him out to the garage where he was tinkering with the car.

"Dick," she said in a quiet, even voice. "I can't go on living like this. For three days I've been doing my housework just as well as I know how to do it—and I'm willing to go on with it, if you'll only treat me decently. Won't you, please?"

Dick turned toward her. He had taken off his coat, and rolled up his sleeves. His hair was ruffled, and there was a smear of grease across his cheek. He looked boyish—absurdly boyish.

Gloria took her handkerchief from her apron pocket, and rubbed the grease from his face. Her hand dropped to his shoulder and stayed there.

"Dick," she said, "I'm so unhappy."

She looked up at him. In the dusk her eyes were black and luminous, her mouth like a dark flower. "I want you to kiss me, Dick," she murmured. "Let's be friends. It's terrible, living at arm's length, this way."

"'Two falcons in a snare,'" Dick quoted. He moved a step or two away from her.

"Now, just what do you mean by that?" Gloria asked sharply. She hated Dick to quote things that she didn't understand from the books he was forever reading.

He shrugged his shoulders. "It doesn't matter,' he said, "but I know, myself, that we can't go on living this way. It's impossible. I see it, too."

Gloria drooped. She braced herself against the side of the arage door.

"Well, what are we going to do about it?" she asked. "Do you want me to leave you? Do you hate me as much as that, Dick?"

He did not answer at once. He took his old pipe from his pocket and filled it.

"It's like this, Glory," he said finally. "I don't hate you, at all. But Wayburn—he's there, between

HOME-MAKING TO BE FOREMOST IN COOKING SCHOOL

National Expert Will Make It More Than a Name During Coming Eastland Session

Home-making is more than a mere name. It is very much of a reality to Mrs. Ida Chitwood, domestic science expert and an authority on household arts in general. She has devoted all of her time for a number of years to the subject of home-making and thousands of housewives over the country bear witness to her talent for imparting valuable knowledge and assisting them in their domestic problems.

Mrs. Chitwood is well equipped in every department of home-making. She knows what constitutes proper food, how to prepare it and how to serve it as well as what to buy and when.

Foods to be selected for different occasions and for use in unusual combination, the planning, the marketing, and all the way through to th eactual serving, making up text of the lectures on domestic science which Mrs. Chitwood gives for the benefit of the women in her audience. Add to this the demonstration of the preparation of the various dishes, step by step, each fully explained and there is supplied an afternoon of incalculable value to the home-maker.

The opportunity to give close inspection to the finished product is provided, as the various dishes are passed through the audience. Each woman may see the garnish, which is appealing to the eye. And, by the way, Mrs. Chitwood demonstrates how to use the things to garnish with and how to accomplish this in a few seconds so easily, that one feels that the day of ungarnished foods is almost passed.

There is no admission charge of any kind to these lectures. Everything is free to the women of Eastland and surrounding territory.

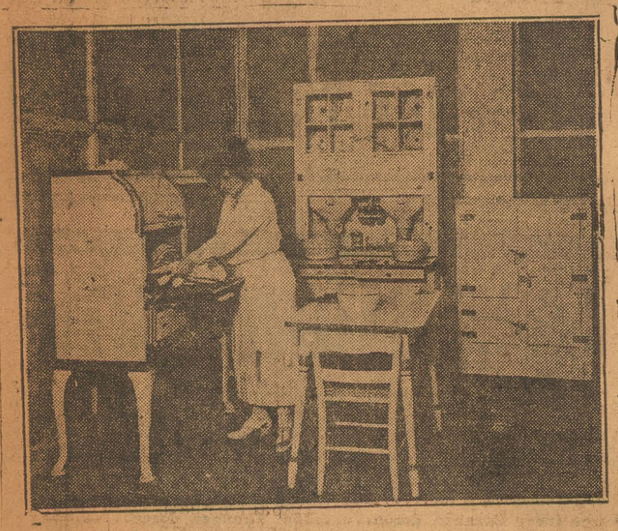

Kitchen worries and cooking troubles, those bugaboos of so many women, will be nil in numbers of Eastland homes soon.

They are going to be entirely banished by Mrs. Chitwood, noted cooking instructor, who comes to Eastland, Monday, Sept. 21, to conduct a week's cooking school for the women of this city and surrounding territory under the auspices of the Daily Telegram.

Classes will begin Monday afternoon, 2 p. m., at the American Legion building, from 2 to 4 o'clock and will be held each afternoon of the week through Friday at the same hour.

A feature of the cooking school will be the model kitchen, for which all equipment, utensils and kitchen supplies will be furnished by local merchants, who are co-operating with the Daily Telegram in bringing Mrs. Chitwood here.

The classes will be free of any charge and from present indications, there will be a great number of local women as well as many from surrounding territory, attending them. All women interested in the various phases of home-making are invited by the Daily Telegram to attend the classes and are requested to bring note-books and pencils to write down the various directions and recipes that will be given by Mrs. Chitwood.

GRAND OINTMENT MAKES PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES GO

Ever since the introduction in this country of the wonderful Black and White Ointment, and Soap, skin specialists say that such troubles as pimples, blotches, bumps, rash, tetter, eczema, "breaking out," etc., are becoming fewer every year.

Wide distribution of Black and White Ointment, and Soap, has made it possible for millions of people to get the benefit of this wonderful, quick effect in clearing disfigured skin and making it smooth and good to look at. Dealers everywhere say they are selling faster than anything of a similar nature they have ever handled, and they attribute this popularity to the low prices at which they are sold, as well as their dependability. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.—Adv.

The Art of Cooking

NOW CLASSED AMONG THE SCIENCES

Back to the days when primitive man first cast the ruddy glow of firelight on his cavern walls through the rubbing together of sticks—on to the era of flint and steel, when venison turned over the glowing coals of a kitchen fireplace, to the present day when a world's attention is centered upon the nutritive value of various foods and the matter of their preparation—the art of Cooking has kept steadily apace with the Spirit of Progress.

All Foods Are Not Proper Foods

It all depends upon those who consume them. What is nourishing food to one may prove greatly detrimental to the well-being of another. What to one person may prove to be a builder of rich, red blood and strengthening tissue, may succeed only in creating a series of woeful physical conditions in persons differently constituted.

These are subjects eevry housewife should be interested in

MRS. CHITWOOD

Did You Ever Think of This?

That the human being—man, woman or child—is after all merely a natural product of a highly organic nature—a product of that which he or she absorbs? This is obviously true. And knowing this, is it not then easy to understand that a properly functionng organism must be maintained through foods in which organic substances still predominate?

In proper food preparation only can this be made possible.

MRS IDA CHITWOOD

LECTURER AND DEMONSTRATOR

Will tell you all about these important matters during the course of her five-day lecture. She prepares foods as you watch and listen to her; tells you just how to prepare them to make them the most healthful and palatable.

Tells you how to budget your household finances in order that you may derive the greatest possible amount of benefit from your income. This in itself is a subject of vast material benefit to every woman in Eastland County.

Mrs. Chitwood is a lecturer and food expert of international prominence. Her experiences during the war, on the great plains, in the wilds of India, among the Chinese and people of other nations, have given to her an education in food values and food preparation that falls to the lot of but few.

RANGER BOYS' CAMP EXPERIENCE AT BEAR LAKE IN THE ROCKIES

WITH SIDE LIGHTS ON DE MOLAY ORGANIZATION AND NATIONAL TRAINING SCHOOL

By JACK GALLOWAY

(Jack Galloway, Master Councilor Ranger Chapter De Molay and Jack Sanderford, local Scribe of the order, having gone as delegates to the National convention at Bear Lake, took advantage of the occasion to make interesting notes on their life in the mountains, which young Galloway has been induced to set down in serial form. The story is of such interest The Times gives it to its readers for their pleasure. The story will run through several daily issues to its conclusion.)

Saturday morning Mr. Boyce made another talk on the business of the chapter. The next two periods were in charge of Dr. N. B. Edson, whose subject was "Home Relationships." The hike that afternoon was to Four Lakes, Lily Pad, Dream, Emerald in Tyndall Gorge, and Hiyaha Lake in Chaos Canyon. The evening session was given over to Louis G. Lower, first De Molay, who was in charge of the degree work. Degrees were to be exemplified the next evening, and Jack Sanderford was selected as Scribe and I was selected as Chaplain for the degrees.

The next day being Sunday, we had no session until 5 o'clock. The first session was in charge of Mr. Wilkerson of Oklahoma. The services were conducted by Dr. Baliss, who is as great a humorist as he is an interesting lecturer. In the evening the initiatory degree was exemplified, then P. A. Small, the park naturalist, showed us slides on the natural life in the park.

Monday morning Mr. Cheley made another of his interesting lectures on "Leadership." We were told that any organization which does not build leadership is superficial, and that the Order of De Molay should have a vital part in the development of Leadership. Dr. Edson continued his talk on "Home Relationship" during the next two periods. The hike that afternoon was to Mills and Jewell Lakes, situated in Glacier Gorge. The De Molay degree was exemplified that evening.

Tuesday an all-day hike was scheduled. We started at 8 o'clock up the trail to Flat Top Mountain. The scenery from the trail was beautiful. At one point we looked down 1,000 feet to Dream Lake. Above the timber line on the east side of the mountain was a very rocky, barren place, and before we reached the top, it grew very cold, with a strong wind off Tyndall Glacier. When we reached the top of Flat Top, we could look to the west and see where the waters flow to the Pacific Ocean and to the east where they flow to the Atlantic, in other words, we were on the Continental Divide.

We walked on and looked down on Tyndall Glacier, filling up the deep gorge on the side of a mountain. Then 46 of the party climbed Otis Peak, the foot of which is near by and is at an altitude of 12,4[illegible] feet. Ours was the first large party that had climbed the peak, and being so, we put a mountain club register on the summit, first building a cairn of rocks. We descended to Flat Top and ate the lunch we had brought along, drinking water from the head-waters of the Colorado River, which consists of a few small springs on the summit.

After lunch, 22 of the party climbed Hallet's Peak, an elevation of 12,785 feet and registered on the mountain club register there. We got to camp about 5 o'clock, rather tired and very hungry. Another set of slides was shown that evening on the interesting places of the park.

Wednesday morning Mr. Cheley spoke again on "Leadership." One of the main points in his talk was that there are nine wholesome urges in every boy, each for a certain activity, and an intelligent leader should be aware of these urges and should lay out a program that will satisfy them, these to be met in the program of the De Molay Chapter. Mr. Sykes spoke on "Chapter Publications" during the third hour, giving ideas on how to conduct Chapter newspapers. The hike that afternoon was about 10 1-2 miles round trip to Fern Lake, the lodge there being owned by the owners of Bear Lake Lodge. The most beautiful gorge we had seen was viewed from the rail, Odessa Gorge. Odessa Lake was in the center of the canyon with cliffs rising up from the sides that resembled the old ruins of castles.

We could also see Grace Falls and Notch Top Mountain from our position on the trail. When we got back to camp Roy E. Dickerson, director of program and activities and Alonzo Stagg Jr., University of Chicago track coach, had arrived. At the evening session Mr. Dickerson spoke on "How Great It Is to Be an American." He described the conditions in other countries and showed us how little the American people realize the hardships some of the European nations are undergoing with their reconstruction.

"THE FLAPPER WIFE."

us, somehow. You see, I can't ever kid myself again that you care about me. I know that you'd be in New York with him now, if he'd wanted you to be there. A man doesn't forget a thing like that. No one but a boob like me would ever had had you in his house again, on any terms."

"But I didn't do anything wrong?" Gloria defended herself. "What are a few silly kisses?"

Dick sneered.

"Yes, I know that's the way you look at it," he said, "but no decent woman would let any man but her husband kiss her, Glory. She wouldn't soil herself that way."

Gloria tossed her head impatiently. "Oh, you're so old-fashioned," she answered. "Think of all the petting that goes on at wild parties. And it doesn't mean a thing."

"That makes it all the more rotten, then," Dick pointed out. "Love isn't a game or a toy. It's bigger than any of us."

He broke off abruptly. And when he spoke again his voice was quite cold and matter-of-fact. "Come on, let's go into the house. The mosquitoes are beginning to bite out here." He stooped to scratch his ankle.

They went in. Silently Gloria cleared the table, piled the dishes on the sink, and put the clean milk bottles out on the back porch.

Then she went into the living room to join Dick. But he didn't look up, went on reading as if he were all alone in the house. He was utterly unaware of Gloria.

"Well," she said after 10 or 15 minutes had crawled by, "you treat me just as if I were a piece of furniture or something."

Dick closed his book and laid it on the table. "Did you want to talk to me?" he asked.

"Yes," Gloria answered. Her words came with a rush. "I've been thinking over what you said about Stan Wayburn having come between you and me. And yet you keep Miss Briggs working in your office when you know she's in love with you—and that I want you to get rid of her!"

Dick gave a short laugh. He picked up his book and opened it.

"If every man, whose wife wanted him to, would fire his stenographer, half the girls in the country would be out of a job tomorrow morning," he said. "No, I'm not going to fire Miss Briggs. Why should I? She's a good worker. I'd have a hard time filling her place."

There was a flick of finality in his voice.

"Very well, you keep her," Gloria answered. "I should worry. I'm going home to my mother tomorrow, anpway."

Dick made no sign that he had heard her.

"You don't care if I go, do you?" she asked, hoping he'd say he did care.

"I want you to do whatever you think will make you happy," Dick said gravely. "You know you can stay here as long as you like. But if you'd rather live with your mother and father, I'll take care of you. I'll send you all the money I can spare, every week. So do as you please."

Gloria tried to smile—a poor little smile that barely lifted the corners of her mouth. Her throat swelled, and her eyes ached with unshed tears.

"All right, old dear," she said, trying to make her voice light and careless. But a high note of agony ran through it.

Incredibly she went straight to sleep, her worn-out body throbbing in every nerve. And at dawn the next morning she awoke.

She sat up in bed and looked around her room—the familiar room with its wide window-seat, its flowered cushions, and silver picture frames.

Tomorrow morning she'd be waking up in the shabby little bedroom in her father's shabby little house. Shuddering, Gloria thought of it—the brown spot on the ceiling where the rain had leaked through the roof, the blistered woodwork, the battered iron bed.

How she had always hated that little room that was too cold in the winter, too hot in the summer! And how utterly glad she had been to escape from it, when she had married Dick Gregory!

A tear slid down Gloria's cheek as she thought of all the mornings of her future—the lonely awakenings in that little room.

She lay with closed eyes and heard Dick stirring in his room, whistling in his bath, singing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," as he dressed.

Later the sound of his car leaving the yard. Then silence. She would not see him again, she knew.

The doorbell rang. Gloria slipped her naked feet into bedroom slippers, threw a kimono around her, and ran downstairs.

Through the net curtains on the front door, she could see May Seymour standing on the porch. What in the world did May want, coming at that time of the morning?

"Hello, Glory, how's every little thing with you?" she asked, as she came into the hall. Her face was white as paper under her black crepe hat, and there were faint mauve marks under her eyes.

"Fine as silk," Gloria answered, borrowing the brave phrase that her father used when things were at their very worst. "And you. How are you, May?"

May tried to answer. Then, suddenly, she collapsed upon a chair, buried her face in her hands, and burst into horrible, shaking sobs.

She opened her handbag and took from it a folded bit torn from a newspaper.

"Read that," she sobbed.

RICH AND POOR WOMEN HERE JOIN IN COMMON CAUSE

Battle Against Unseen and Terrible Enemy Which Causes "Female Troubles" Is Making the Interests of All Women the Same.

A remarkable feature of the success of St. Joseph's G. F. P. here is the different types of women it is attracting. They range from the prosperous looking and fashionably dressed women, to plainly dressed working girls and women. All rub elbows in a common cause—the search for vitality and health which will relieve them of their irregularity, nervousness, excitable and irritable disposition, pains in the sides and back and that terribly depressing melancholy feeling.

"Why not," says the representative of the discoverers of this phenomenal medicine. "Because a woman has money and social position, that don't make her immune from the effects of carelessness, neglect, exposure and imprudence. In fact riding around in closed cars, attending parties in the daytime and social functions at night, together with the rich food which is usually consumed, will put the delicate female generative system out of order as sure as fate.

"Many who are getting G. F. P. now are being sent by friends. Today a prominent woman said she began using it because her maid told her G. F. P. was 'doing wonders for her.' She said: 'My maid suffered from insomnia caused by nervous exhaustion, and I have had the same trouble for years.' I wanted to say 'tommyrot' madam, both you and your maid are suffering from Catarrh of the Generative Organs, which is sapping the vitality and strength from your precious system."
