All Propositions On Slate Get Majority

Total Of 1,284 Votes Are Cast On City's Five-Year Expansion Plan

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

LUBBOCK voters gave city officials the green light on a five-year municipal expansion program Tuesday by approving all 14 propositions of an over-all $5,894,000 bond issue with overwhelming majorities on each project.

A total of 1,284 votes of an estimated 3,000 voting strength, was cast in the election with margins ranging from 48 to 1 in favor of additional sanitary sewers to 13 to 1 in favor of a $1,750,000 municipal auditorium-coliseum.

The vote was as follows:

Proposition	For	Against
No. 1 (City Hall Improvements)	1,185	58
No. 2 (Fire Stations)	1,208	34
No. 3 (Police Station Improvements)	1,190	61
No. 4 (Equipment Storage-Garage)	1,177	68
No. 5 (Fire Fighting Equipment)	1,209	28
No. 6 (Parks Improvements)	1,176	79
No. 7 (Airport Improvements)	1,174	72
No. 8 (Auditorium-Coliseum)	1,163	86
No. 9 (Storm Sewers)	1,222	62
No. 10 (Street Improvements)	1,219	28
No. 11 (Street, Traffic Lighting)	1,220	35
No. 12 (Sanitary Sewers)	1,221	25
No. 13 (Water Supply System)	1,221	29
No. 14 (Water Softening Plants)	1,200	52

Approval of the bond program, which affects every phase of the city's life, paves the way for municipal development to keep pace with commercial and residential expansion destined to make Lubbock the No. 1 metropolis of West Texas. Projects to be financed through the bonds were planned to provide facilities for the needs of Lubbock for the next quarter-century or more than the life of the bonds.

Primarily the bonds will provide basic facilities for Lubbock's growth, making funds available for immediate expansion of public utilities, streets, lights and other improvements needed to meet demands of a rapidly-expanding community.

Also of primary importance, passage of the bonds projects will provide a source of employment for hundreds of returning servicemen during the next five years, a period predicted as critical in the employment situation of our nation.

Eligible For Federal Aid Funds

In addition, approval of the bonds will make Lubbock eligible for an early share of federal aid funds for the various projects. Already $3,000,000 in state and federal aid on the highway improvements program has been tenatively promised the city and government officials have announced that cities with local financing already assured will be given first call in allocations of federal funds for municipal expansion and improvements provided appropriations are passed by Congress.

The electorate's approval of $1,750,000 of the bonds for a municipal auditorium-coliseum will put Lubbock into the fore as a cultural and entertainment center of West Texas. The structure will provide facilities for staging of entertainment events ranging from grand opera, road shows, sporting events and livestock expositions may be staged for the benefit of the approximately 300,000 persons residing within two hours' drive of the city.

Approval of the bonds assures Lubbock of a water supply system with ample production and storage to provide for 25,000,000 gallons of water daily, sufficient for a city of 75,000 to 100,000 persons. Not only will it provide the water but approval of the water softening phase of the development program will provide for the finest quality of water.

Will Improve Traffic Dispersal System

The election's verdict gives the go sign to the city's traffic dispersal system for its major arterial highways and streets, for $600,000 of the bonds are earmarked for purchase of right-of-ways for the program on which state and federal funds totaling approximately $3,000,000 will be expended in and around Lubbock. The highway plan will bring in commercial and vehicular traffic over four major routes, dispersing it to their various areas of destination with greater facility than on present highway entrances.

Extensive improvements to Lubbock's parks and recreation system are also provided in approval of the bonds. The parks improvement program calls for construction at least two more swimming pools in Lubbock, building of wading pools, tennis courts, recreation buildings and other facilities in each of the city's network of parks besides providing for extension of water lines and lighting facilities.

Hardly a section of the city will be without street lights as a result of the voters' approval of the $245,000 bonds for this purpose. A total of 51½ miles of white way, 26½ of them in major and secondary retail business areas and traffic routes and 25 miles for residential areas in every section of Lubbock. In addtiion the bonds will also allow for installation of a complete new system of traffic lights for the city.

The addition of approximately 30 miles of sanitary sewer lines and expansion of the city's sewage treatment plant financed by $445,000 of the bonds will provide for needed improvements and facilities to serve Lubbock for another 25 years of progress.

In a like manner, $60,000 of bonds will pay for storm sewer lines and connections with the present system for outlying districts of Lubbock.

Development of aviation in Lubbock will be spurred by approval

Lubbock Still Points Toward Progress

A Fine City For Fine People!

Although the total number of ballots cast left much to be desired, action of the overwhelming majority of voters in yesterday's bond election should be a source of satisfaction to members of the City commission, in particular, and to the citizenship of Lubbock, in general.

In approving all 14 proposals aimed at fostering a bigger, better and happier Lubbock, yesterday's voters acted in full keeping with the traditions of our city. We always have been able to boast of Lubbock's dedication to progress and desire for continuous public improvements. Today, we still are able so to boast.

We have a fine set of city officials—forward-looking men, each with the unselfish desire to serve his fellow citizens. Yesterday's vote proved that this estimate of those in authority at City hall is general. Therefore, as they prepare to carry out the mandates of the ballot, the officials may do so firm in the knowledge that they have the confidence of the public; that in charting the future improvement plan embraced by the ballot they were and are in step with the wishes of their neighbors.

Lubbock voters did a fine job yesterday. Lubbock people are fine people. They deserve the fine city for which yesterday they recorded their desire.

New Program For Germany Is Announced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The State department today announced a broad-scale economic policy for Germany which calls on the United States and other Allied powers to finance a program of German imports over the next two years.

Such aid will be necessary to "prevent disease and unrest" in the shattered nation, the department said. There was no estimate of the amount of money involved in the proposed financial aid, but it was believed the American share might run into hundreds of millions.

Great Hardship Is Seen

The policy statement forecasts great hardship in Germany this winter, but calls for starting a slow recovery in the spring. It is aimed at getting Germany back on its own feet economically and industrially in 1948.

This means what officials here called a "delayed process of reconstruction" in the Reich to give a head start on postwar recovery to the European neighbors that Germany once overran.

Would Control Economy

Under the American plan, the German standard of living in 1948 would not be allowed to exceed that of its European neighbors. But neither would the ex-enemy country be reduced, officials emphasized, "to a nation of foresters andand goatherds." German industry would be sharply restricted ot minimum peacetime needs at the outset.

Secretary of State Byrnes in an accompanying announcement said the policy declaration had been forwarded to United States occupation authorities in the American zone of western Germany and also to the governments of Russia, Britain and France, the other occupying powers. The four nations are supposed to work out by Feb. 2, 1946, their final program for the removal of industrial equipment from Germany as reparations.

Would Still Be Weak

The State department declaration is the first formal interpretation by any of the powers of the broad principles of German control agreed upon at the Potsdam conference last August. The announced objective was and is to disarm Germany industrially and leave her at least as weak as neighboring countries.

The immediate cause of the declaration was described at the State department as a list of six question submitted by the War department for guidance on how these objectives were to be achieved and how much industrial

U.S. To Seek Soviet Aid On Allied Atomic Commission

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The United States will seek Russian support in organizing a special United Nations commission to handle atomic problems, Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed tonight on the eve of his departure for Moscow.

Byrnes also revealed at a news conference that he would renew his plan for writing the peace of Europe in a general peace conference for which preparations would be made through revived sessions of the inactive foreign ministers council at London.

Leaves For Moscow Today

Byrnes will leave for Moscow tomorrow at 9 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, taking along six advisers and aides. His conferences with Soviet Foreign Commisar Molotov and British Foreign Minister Bevin are scheduled to start Saturday.

Gen. George C. Marshall may be able to leave in two days for his assignment as special ambassador for President ruman in China, Byrnes said. A plane is ready to take off with Marshall soon as the Pearl Harbor committee releases him. Byrnes, Marshall and the President conferred at the White House today.

Byrnes also told reporters that: Byrnes is proposing to Russia coordinated withdrawal of their armies from Iran as soon as possible. The British reported this in a note saying they would not try to get out by Jan. 1, as Washington proposed, since Russia had declined to do so.

Byrnes has changed his mind about releasing the report of Publisher Mark Ethridge of Louis-

Nazi Reign Of Slave Labor Told In Court

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11 — Men, women and children in vast, uncounted numbers were torn from their homes and shipped to slave labor camps in Germany in a calculated Nazi "program of extermination by work," the international military tribunal was told today.

Taking up the forced labor case against the 21 Nazi leaders on trial, Assistant U. S. Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd said the labor deportations were carried out through "terror, fraud and arson," with an utter disregard for the dignity of mankind.

He produced a document signed by Heinrich Himmler, which contained phrases such as these:

"Whether nations live in prosperity or starve to death interests me only insofar as we need them as slaves for our kultur. . . . We must be honest, decent, loyal and comradely to members of our own blood and to nobody else. What happens to the Russian and the Czech does not interest me in the slightest."

Polish men, women and children were snatched away with the deliberate aim of destroying the Polish people and the immediate purpose of strengthening German manpower, the documents showed.

Soviet Children Kidnapped

Ten-year-old Russian children were kidnapped for slavery in war factories, the Nazi documents disclosed. On order from Himmler to SS leaders called for adbuction of children of "good blood" to bloster Germany's war-depleted population.

This phase of the case was opened after the 21 defendants squirmed through hours of a filmed history of Nazis.

The documentary movie, punctuated by the harsh rhythm of the Nazi's Horst Wessel song covered the rise and decline of Nazism all the way from Munich to the Hitler bomb-plot trials in 1944.

The sight of Rudolf Hess in knee pants provided a comic prelude to the grim sequence which followed—the brutal treatment of Jews, the torchlighted Congresses of the party, the grinning Hitler strutting before his hysterical followers, the parades of the labor front under flabby, Dr. Robert Ley.

Reorganization Bill Is Pushed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP) — Legislation giving President Truman power to reorganize and combine many federal agencies moved ahead today in Congress, with early passage predicted.

A Senate-House conference committee approved a compromise version of the measure, which Mr. Truman listed as a "must" bill early this fall.

The compromise did not give the President all the authority he wanted, but the legislators said it granted him more power than Congress has previously given any chief executive in the matter.

Quick Vote Is Set

Chairman Manasco (D-Ala) of the House conferees said he would call the compromise up on the floor for a vote tomorrow or Thursday. He added "it ought to go right on through to the White House without much trouble."

Mr. Truman had asked that Congress give him the authority without naming exceptions, but the legislators insisted on giving 11 agencies whole or partial exemption. This was a compromise between eight originally named by the House and 14 by the Senate.

Victory On Veto Power

The President scored a victory in the section dealing with Congressional veto powers, however. The compromise provided that any recommendations the President makes before law within 60 days unless both the Senate and House disagree.

The bill does not allow reshuf-

Patton's Condition Is Said Improved

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Dec. 11 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., paralyzed by a broken neck, was improved tonight after a half an hour talk with his wife and his condition was described officially as "very satisfactory."

The colorful U. S. Army general was fully conscious, rational and taking nourishment.

Nurses attending the former Third Army commander described him as "one of their best patients" and said Patton was accepting his condition like a "true soldier."

The medical bulletin issued at 6 p. m. omitted the phrase "prognosis guarded" for the first time since the general arrived at the 130th station hospital at Heidelberg on Sunday, after an auto crash near Mannheim. (A prognosis is a prediction or conclusion in regard to the course and termination of a disease.)

Mrs. Patton arrived at her 60-year-old husband's bedside, confident his fighting heart would carry him through.

Jap Warning On War Said Intercepted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—A Naval officer testified at the Army's Pearl Harbor inquiry that the Navy picked up a Tokyo message three days before the attack committing Japan to war with the U. S.

Two copies of this, the controversial "winds execute" message, were sent to the War department, the Naval officer related. But Army officers testified that there was no record of the War department's ever receiving them.

This and other startling testimony in the Army inquiry board's report has hitherto been classified as "top secret." But the report is to be placed in the record of the Congressional Pearl Harbor investigation tomorrow and Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) authorized its publication tonight.

Short Expected Sabotage

The Army board also received testimony:

That Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Army commander at Pearl Harbor, interpreted warnings from Washington as indicating "that the War department did not believe there was going to be anything more than sabotage." Short added that "when I reported action taken and there was no comment that my action was too little or too much, I was 100 per cent convinced they (the department) agreed with it."

That as late as Nov. 28, 1941, Short discounted the probability of an air attack on Pearl Harbor but conceded to the Army board that in this respect he "was wrong."

Boy Delivers Warning Note

That the final warning General George C. Marshall sent on Dec. 7, which arrived after the Japanese struck, "was given to a boy for delivery on a bicycle. The boy was caught in the bombing and did not deliver the message until after the attack." The reason for this, Judge Advocate General Myron C. Cramer testified, was that Army radio was not working, the Signal corps sent the message to San Francisco by Western Union and from there to Hawaii by RCA, and the teletype at Honolulu was not working.

The existence of the "winds execute" message has been a subject of considerable controversy. William D. Mitchell, counsel for the Congressional investigating committee, was one who said he did not believe there ever was such a message.

Jap Message Intercepted

Previous testimony had developed that Japan had hit on various weather conditions as code for its future action and advised its outposts to watch for the tip-off.

Suspect Held In Mystery Deaths

DALLAS, Dec. 11. (AP)—Dr. W. E. Haley, Dallas physician, today identified a picture of Mrs. Eva Delora Frankhouser Krebs, widow of Charles E. Krebs, wealthy Chicago manufacturer, as the woman who died at the Scott hotel here on Oct. 17, 1944.

The woman, under instructions of a 56-year-old man claiming to be her business agent, was cremated in Dallas three days after her death under the name of Mrs. Alice W. Carpenter, 66, Dallas Chief of Detectives Will Fritz said.

Identity Established

H. C. Holloway and T. O. Pope, Dallas homicide detectives said Dr. Haley had positively identified a picture of a man now held by San Francisco police on a technical charge of "suspicion of forgery" as the man who had ordered the cremation of Mrs. Carpenter. Holloway and Pope said the San Francisco officers are investigating the suspects association with the mysterious deaths of seven, possibly eight, elderly women and two men.

All but two of the dead persons, San Francisco police reported, were cremated under instructions from the suspect.

The suspect had told police that Mrs. Krebs was his wife and that she died on Nov. 29 at Portland,

CIO Says 700,000 To Take Part In Strike

Huge Steel Walkout Is Set For Jan. 14

(By The Associated Press)

The giant CIO United Steel workers union, in the largest strike call in the history of American industry, rejected President Truman's appeal for a work continuation yesterday and directed its 700,000 members to quit work Jan. 14 in support of a $2 a day wage rate increase.

The union's 175 man wage policy committee, representing locals throughout the country, took the action at a closed session presided over by Philip Murray, head of the Steel workers union and the CIO.

If the strike is called and other continuing disputes throughout the country remained unsettled, the number of persons idle in labor disputes—now about 400,000—would shoot above the 1,000,000 mark.

The strike call was authorized by the membership in a strike vote under NLRB supervision Nov. 28, which carried by a 5 to 1 ratio. It followed refusal by the steel companies to grant the wage boost and rejection by the OPA of the steel company's request to raise prices.

In its resolution calling the strike, the wage policy committee accused the steel industry of "determined arrogance" and "adamant refusal to meet its public obligations" and said it "must stand condemned as being solely responsible for the present impasse."

The committee, whose action rejected President Truman's suggestion that the men remain at work until a fact finding committee could be named to study

Royal Prince Is Held In Japan

TOKYO, Wednesday, Dec. 12 (AP)—Imperial Prince Morimasa Nashimoto surrendered at Sugamo prison today, first person of court rank to be imprisoned as a war criminal suspect.

Two hours previously Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma was started for Manila for trial on charges of condoning the Bataan death march.

With 15 hours to go until the midnight deadline General MacArthur had set for his surrender, Nashimoto, veteran, of the Russo-Japanese war, checked in at grim Sugamo on the outskirts of Tokyo. He was dressed in a Japanese Army overcoat and cap and was accompanied by a representative of the Japanese central liaison office.

Imperial Plea Fails

Attempt by the imperial household to gain a reprieve for the prince failed. MacArthur ruled that he must be treated the same as other war criminal suspects. He is the only member of the imperial household whose arrest has been ordered.

Nashimoto, who recently told the Associated Press "I don't know why I am wanted . . . I am a field marshal without a command, without influence." rose through various important posts in the Army to become a full general in 1923. He became a field marshal in 1932. He had been a supreme war councillor and lord custodian of national shrines for many years.

Others Also Taken

Nashimoto's daughter is the wife of Phince Ri Gin, Dauphin of the royal house of Korea.

Homma was taken from Sugamo at dawn.

Homma was accompanied by Col. Akira Nagahama, commander in chief of the Kempeitai (thought police) in Manila from late 1942 until 1945, and Lt. Col. Saichi Ohta, commander of the dreaded Kempeitai in the Philippines in 1942. Both Nagahama and Ohta are accused also of permitting their men to commit atrocities.

Homma, large for a Japanese, waved a smiling goodbye to his guard and the commander of the prison as he stepped into the ambulance which took him to Atsugi airfield for a flight to Manila. He is due to arrive at Manila late tonight.

Plea For Philippine's Freedom

By GEM BOB CALLEY
Avalanche Staff Writer

WERE there any doubt in the minds of 285 Knife and Fork club guests whether the Philippine islands should be granted their independence and a post-war request for free trade, they were firmly convinced the Filipinos are deservant of both after they heard Maria Osmena, daughter of the President of the Philippine Commonwealth, deliver a sales talk par-excellence last night in Hilton hotel.

Maria Osmena

Although unofficially a spokesman of her father, His Excellency Sergio Osmena, petite, attractive Maria Osmena is doing more to create good will between Americans and Filipinos than any ambassador assigned to this particular task could accomplish. She represents the younger and more intelligent Filipinos of today and she presents in a capable and forthright manner the hopes and plans of a freedom-loving people.

Have Own Army

"The Philippines are politically ready for their independence" she asserted when reviewing how her people had always stood together to preserve national unity even in times ripe for revolution. Taking into account that the Philippines are not free from aggression, the islands' most charming ambassador pointed out that Holland and Belgium, even a larger country, France, were and still are in the same position.

"We will have our own standing army and we have patterned our government by the American democratic system," she declared. In a diplomatic manner, Maria Osmena stressed the fact that the Philippines are in a strategic position, that they form America's first line of defense.

Aiding U. S. Forces

The Philippines are giving both Army and Naval bases to the United States. "It is necessary for you to maintain bases in the Philippines so you see they will 'be mutually beneficial," sshe added.

The Philippine islands are scheduled to become independent July 4, 1946.

"Because the islands are a complete rubble, we are trying to send goods to the United States—duty free," Miss Osmena said in way of explaining the rock-bottom economic condition of the Philippines.

Mayor Ribble Expresses Appreciation For Voters' Confidence In Plans For Future

"IT'S gratifying to know that the taxpayers of Lubbock have faith enough in their city officials to express such an overwhelming confidence in their plans for the future development of Lubbock," Mayor O. W. Ribble said last night. "I'm sure the other members of the city commission join me in expressing our appreciation for such a fine vote for the bonds.

Manchuria Bids For Recognition As Curb Against New Aggression

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11 — The Ta Kung Pao in Chungking made a suggestion today which it knows perfectly well has about as much chance as a snowball in the Sahara.

WHITE

This ordinarily sober Chinese daily newspaper today proposed that the capital of the United Nations organization be located in Changchun, the capital of Manchuria.

Perhaps this was just the Ta Kung Pao's subtle way of saying that Dr. Jan Masaryk of Czechoslovakia said yesterday—that the UNO, no matter where its capital is to be, is in danger of becoming a football to be kicked around by power politics.

Actually, Chungchun could be a very attractive place. Changchun is the old Chinese name for a provincial walled town which until 1931 dozed on a broad rise in the rolling Manchurian prairie.

Japs Moved In

After 1931 the Japanese expropriated several Chinese farming villages outside the grey walls of Chungchun and there built a new capital (which they called Hsinking and which means "new capital") copied after Washington, D. C.

Now if you backed a Ta Kung Pao editor up against the wall he probably would admit that Manchuria is too cold in the winter for the elderly statesmen who will be part of any UNO capital. So it may be assumed that the suggestion to locate UNO in Manchuria is rooted in other reasons.

Nation's Future At Stake

For one thing, Manchuria is the largest remaining industrial setup in all the Orient, and control of it will influence the recovery and welfare of East Asia. That control rests legally with China, but is qualified by the Chinese treaties with Russia and the unknown way in which treaties are going to be implemented, Russia now is the greatest land-power in Asia, as the United States is the greatest naval power in the adjoining Pacific.

It follows, therefore, that since the fringes of American and Russian policy and influence will meet anyway in Manchuria and China, that meeting would be more strongly spotlighted to the world if the UNO capital itself were on the spot.

Cities League's Stand

The Ta Kung Pao, being Chinese, speaks with a strong sense of the past—the uncomfortably recent past. Japan's invasion of Manchuria in 1931 was laid before the League of Nations, in which China and other weak nations paced hopes of full sovereignty and equality.

The league investigated, found Japan guilty of aggression and said so. Japan withdrew from the League, and was allowed to get away with it by such dominant league powers as France and Britain.

The Chinese strongly support the UNO, just as they supported the League.

They don't want history to repeat itself, and Manchuria is a place where historic trends have a habit of building up a momentum that is hard to stop.

Man Takes Matters In Own Hands After Cops Block His Driveway

HOUSTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—The police had one story today, a 76-year-old man another.

Police said he complained a squad car was blocking his driveway and before officials could investigate took matters into his own hands and punched two holes in the tires.

Said the aged man:

"The car probably ran over broken glass. There was a beer party in the neighborhood last night."

HST Urges Police To Help Curb Growing Juvenile Delinquency

By FRANK D. EIDGE, JR.
United Press Staff Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 11—President Truman today called on the nation's police chiefs to face their "most alarming" problem, the increase in juvenile delinquency, with a campaign aimed at its causes.

Mr. Truman, in a message read to the International Association of Chiefs of Police here, commended the officials for their wartime work but declared that "now as guardians of the peace you are faced with grave problems. Perhaps the most alarming is the increase in juvenile delinquency."

Parents Are Blamed

"Americans cannot afford to regard that problem passively or to postpone the action necessary to its solution," the President warned.

"I am convinced that the active co-operation of all welfare, religious and social agencies, civic leaders, business men and citizens in a broad national crime prevention program directed at the root of the evil is the path to be followed, and without delay."

The President's message came after FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had reported to the convention that crime in the United States was so great as to "startle the imagination." Hoover said that the greatest increase in crime was among youth, both boys and girls, and laid much of the blame on parents.

Air freight transport men estimate that the nation's air cargo in 1949 will go over a million tons for the first time, with rates running from 15 to 20 cents per ton mile.

Improvement In Seed Conditions Foreseen By Texas Tech Man

Present trend of cooperation between seed growers (producers of certified seeds) and seedsmen of the seed trade associations will serve as a stimulus to increase and intensify seed production throughout the nation, it was learned by Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry at Texas Tech, when he attended recent meetings of the Texas Seedsmen's association and International Crop improvement association held in Dallas and Chicago.

Plans for handling a greater quantity of certified seeds through the seed firms which are now in existence will result in increased production, Dr. Young said. In the past, the greater majority of certified seeds sales were made by growers and their organizations, but with this new cooperation in effect more advertising will be done and production will be intensified, Dr. Young added.

Standards Are Set

Primary purpose of the two meetings was the unification of certification of seeds. For a number of years the two associations have been setting standards for crops, accepted by all states and in this year's meetings standards for approximately 20 more crops were adopted by the International Crop Improvements association.

In connection with the two associational meetings, Dr. Young attended a one-day session of the American Potato Growers association, affiliated with the International Crop Improvements association, also held in Chicago. Principle discussion of this conference was a symposium on the use of DDT, according to Dr. Young.

"Where DDT was used on potato crops infested with insects, a 30 to 50 per cent increase in production was reported from a three-year experiment conducted in all states," Dr. Young said. General opinion was that sprayed DDT is more effective than when applied in dust form, he reported.

Potato growers reported an 85 pre cent control of aphidis, of which there is quite a bit in this section of the country, Dr. Young said. Good control of the flea beetle and the Colorado potato beetle was effected after the use of DDT—if sprayed before insects get a foothold on a crop. It was recommended that DDT be sprayed every 7 or 10 days.

New Trends Discussed

"Two new trends in the use of DDT are impregnated spray and mironized dust, soon to be marketed, which appear to be more effective than dust and liquid forms of DDT now on sale," according to the plant industry specialist. He added that some states were reluctant to advise general use of DDT because it is still in experimental stage. A few representatives expressed fear that an accumulation of DDT in the soil would be absorbed by plants, thereby hindering growth.

There is no definite proof of determental effects as result of DDT, but experiments and tests are being made to check harmful results, if any, after the insecticide has been used, Dr. Young sadi He reported that experiments have shown DDT will work well when applied in conjunction with fungicides and a good many different materials to control fungus and bacterial diseases.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

HOME and the joys of reunited families that will make for a good old-fashioned merry Christmas is the favorite theme for the 1945 Christmas cards. Gone are the martial motifs of the war-time years and back are the illustrations of bells, candlelit windows, poinsettia, gleaming Christmas trees and all the other cherished Yuletide symbols.

For those to whom the holiday occasion means Christmas "back home," there are dozens of designs this year showing cozy farmhouses in the snow under blue skies. There are innumerable scenes of the Christmas tree shining in the corner, the holly on the stair rail and, of course, the mistletoe hung from the archway.

Religious cards are everywhere in evidence, with the Madonna and child apparently still the preferred design among many subjects. On many messages, the religious theme is expressed by the notes of immortal carols and the paintings of famous cathedrals still are popular.

TO US, the most familiar evidence that, despite the much talked about modern trends in other fields, there will be a true, old-fashioned Christmas, is the reappearance of the perennial Christmas card favorites. The coaching scenes are back and there are stockings hanging by the fireplaces —to be filled, to be sure, by that most old-fashioned Christmas card symbol of all—Santa Claus, whose ruddy face appears everywhere, wearing his merry smile on the first peace-time Christmas in half a decade.

Are you touchy, easily insulted or grieved? Do you carry your resentments long? Reason is, say the physiologists, that you go through life with your jaws set, your face strained, your muscles tense. This causes you to jump at the slightest noise or the slightest insult to your ego. You may say your nerves are on edge, but really it's your muscles from your eyelids to your toes. When all your muscles are relaxed and at ease, your nerves and your ego will be, too.

GIVE AWAYS

THE Jack Douglases, who are going to California for the Christmas holidays, are anxious to give away four spitz puppies that are described by Mrs. Douglas as "sweet and awfully cute." There are two males and two females in the litter. They are six weeks old. If you would like to get a puppy to give a child for Christmas, you might telephone Mrs. Douglas.

ON BUYING TIES

NAOMI SADOVSKY, who designs ties, has one word of advice to women who are about to descend on the stores for their last-minute buying of ties:

"Just be sure it's red!"

College and high school boys are the most conservative of all males in their tie tastes, says the designer. After 30, men get rid of their inhibition and really blossom out in astounding neckwear, she says. After 45, they are likely to grow more conservative, although if a man considers himself a snappy dresser, the sky is the limit.

Most of the men's ties sold in the U. S.—some 70 per cent—are bought by women, year in and year out, says Miss Sadovsky.

Here is more advice:

Don't buy a tie because it looks good in the box. Knot it around your finger to see how it will hang. See that the fabric hangs straight, that the pattern falls pleasingly, that the material has body and the colors are clear.

MRS. J. E. SMITH

Smith-Turner Vows Read In Brownfield

The marriage of Miss Juanda Ruth Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Turner of Brownfield, and J. E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse S. Smith of Brownfield, was read Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Brownfield First Baptist church.

Rev. Avery Rogers of Victoria performed a double ring service before an archway of greenery flanked with baskets of white gladioli and white tapers in candelabra. A large fan of white gladioli and fern was in the background. Pews were marked with white satin bows and white flowers.

Candlers were lighted by Miss Joyce Dungan, Brownfield, as Miss Glynna Ross, Brownfield, played "Always." Miss Marilyn Claiborne sang "Because," and during the ceremony "Roses of Picardy" was offered. Traditional wedding marches were by Miss Ross.

Dress Described

A bridal dress of ivory duchesse satin, designed with leg o'mutton sleeves and a shirred bodice was worn by the bride who was given in marriage by her father. She carried a showered arm bouquet of white roses, white Narcissus and a white orchid. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a heart shaped halo which was trimmed with orange blossoms. For something old, the bride wore a pin belonging to Mrs. Sidney Claiborne. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Billye Lackey of Brownfield, maid of honor, wore a dress of limelight net with a matching halo and mits. Her gown was fashioned with a full skirt, fitted bodice with scalloped bertha yoke and elbow sleeves. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Misses Jean Knight and Christine McDuffie, bridesmaids, and Miss Dungan wore identical dresses of turquoise net, styled with full gathered skirts, shirred bodices, yokes outlined with double rouching and elbow sleeves. Their colonial bouquets were of yellow rosebuds.

Alfred Gore of Brownfield was best man and Sammy Jones and Oral Greenfield, both of Brownfield, were ushers.

At the reception which was given in the Turner home, the bride's table was covered with a Madeira cloth and decorated with white flowers, candles and a three tiered wedding cake.

Mother of the bride wore a black crepe afternoon dress with a pink mothercarnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe afternoon dress with a red carnation corsage.

After a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., the couple will be at home in Brownfield. For travel, the bride wore a three-piece grey wool suit with tuxedo trim of natural silver muskrat.

The bride attended Baylor university and Texas Technological college where she was a pledge of Sans Souci social club. The bridegroom attended John Tarleton college and Tech and was discharged from the Navy in November after serving three years and nine months.

Wedding guests were from Abilene, Lubbock, Plainview, Victoria and Jacksboro.

Argentine Motorists Arrive In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—Six Argentine motorists rested here today after making a perilous four-man trip from Buenos Aires.

The six men left Buenos Aires for New York in three cars last July 19. They lost time in jungles where the highway ended, and had to travel from Panama to Guatemala by sea. Actual driving time, they said, was 40 days. They said the Pan-American highway is "still a myth in many of its spots."

U. S. May Deport Nazi Spy Who Came To Nation, Joined Army

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Justice department proceeded today with plans to deport 40 year old Frederick Emil Bauer, described as a trained Nazi spy who didn't work at it.

Instead, the department says, he joined the U. S. Army and became a sergeant. Now the Army has given him a discharge without honor and he has been interned at Indianapolis as an alien enemy.

Makes Confession

The "evidence against Bauer rests on his own voluminous confession to government authorities," a department announcement said. It related that Bauer's own account was as follows:

Born in Germany in 1905, he came to the United States in 1930, in 1935 became a naturalized citizen and was admitted to the bar in Washington.

In June, 1940, having returned to Germany, he joined the German Army, "taking the fatal oath of allegiance which expatriated him." He received spy training and became a lieutenant. In August, 1941, he was smuggled back to the United States and lived on "spy funds" until May 2, 1942, when he enlisted in the U. S. Army.

No Overt Acts

"No overt acts, however, implementing his training and equipment, are reported," the department said.

An officer board of the Fifth Service command gave Bauer a "blue" discharge yesterday at Fort Benjamin Harrison and Justice agents picked him up immediately.

The department said he will receive a "full and fair hearing" before a repatriation hearing board. The hearing will be behind closed doors.

ITALIAN PREMIER — An eleven-day crisis in the Italian government was resolved when Alcide de Gasperi, above, accepted the task of forming a new cabinet in which Socialists will hold the key Interior portfolio. Davidson Is Speaker At Lions Luncheon

Concepts of the forefathers in formulating the Constitution and its adjunct, the Bill of Rights, have held true through the years, U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson suggested in a talk Tuesday to members of the Lions club in Hilton hotel.

He said: "Every upheaval in public sentiment suggests an amendment and these amendments, in main, have added little to the strength and character of the original Constitution, with the Bill of Rights."

"The thought of our fathers was that when the machinery of government had once been set in order, that it should not be suddenly or quickly turned to the right or left," Judge Davidson continued . . . "The three branches of the government are designed to prevent this very thing. It is just as important, oftentimes, not to do something, as it is to act hastily.

"Only recently I heard the president of the Dallas Bar association declare to a group of lawyers that in his opinion there was not one present who could advise his client, to any certainty, as to what the law would be pertaining to any important question. This is the direct result of judges that have been appointed, not because of their learning in the law, but because of their views upon social and economical questions.

"These courts so appointed have not followed the precedents laid down," the judge continued. "They have departed from the established grooves and pathways so that we may not judge the future by the past, and no one knows what is in the mind of a court.

"A court which fails to give due preference to the long established interpretations and traditions of the laws of the land leads to uncertainty and confusion. With an unstable government all rights are lost."

Judge Davidson was introduced by Marion Key.

Wells Warns Nation Must Enforce Ideals

Charles Wells, syndicated cartoonist and writer, declared the United States is permitting its ideals to decay and called on this country "to get tough" in a talk before the Optimist club Tuesday noon at the Lubbock hotel.

Wells, who is giving a series of lectures this week at the First Baptist church, said the idea for the League of Nations was permitted to outlive the first World war, but that the Atlantic charter had been rendered pointless long before the end of the last war.

He blamed the British for having much to do with the slow death of the charter, and attacked the empire and the Netherlands for their use of American lend-lease and acceptance of remnants of defeated Jap armies to crush native revolts in the East Indies.

"There can be no peace as long as the nations of the world measure their objectives in terms of racial arrogance, greed and selfishness," he asserted. He added that peace would come only when men of the world measured their objections in terms of the teachings of Christ.

He accompanied his talk with charcoal illustrations on a large board. He was introduced by Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Guests of the club were Mark Hiatt, jr., John Voe, Eldon Rawlings, Henry English, Anson Sewalt, W. C. Manzey, Sam Fort, Lt. Paul White, R. J. Tayler, Howard Schmidt, George McCleskey and Don King.

Consolidated's XC-99, a six-engine pusher type cargo transport, is capable of carrying a 50-ton payload over a 1500-mile range.

Big Three Meeting In Moscow May Dispel Allied Suspicions

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The conference of the Big Three foreign ministers scheduled to start in Moscow next Saturday has an importance far beyond its discussion of the atomic bomb.

Atomic energy is, of course the most important topic in the world at present, but the three ministers are not empowered to reach any binding decision on it. The best they can do is to exchange views.

By announcing that the atomic bomb is one of the main purposes of the meeting, the United States, Great Britain and Russia presented a plausible excuse for not including France and China in a larger session of the Big Five.

To Wipe Out Suspicion

The real purpose is to dispel suspicion among the Big Three, not only regarding the atomic bomb, but on more immediate problems of postwar adjustment. Decisions on international control of atomic energy and the sharing of its secrets will require more conferences than the present one, with complete agreement among the principal powers necessary before the United Nations organization can take over.

Meanwhile, the urgent necessity exists of preparing the peace treaties so that the nations will know where they stand and be able to shape the new world on an orderly basis. Until that is well under way, the first meeting of the United Nations Organization will be futile, since the UNO is not empowered by its charter to make the peace, but to enforce it after it has been made.

Must Set Up Program

Procedure for laying down the peace must first be agreed upon by the United States, Russia and Great Britain before any progress can be made. They are the dominant powers, and their direct interests cover spheres are limited.

The Moscow conference has vast possibilities, and it is almost certain that the three ministers will do their best to offset the unfortunate physchological effect of the failure of the council of five in London to agree on anything.

Other Nations Hopeful

Reaction among the other nations to announcement of the Moscow meeting has not been entirely unfavorable. The attitude seems to be one of hope, for it is generally recognized that if the wartime cooperation among the Big Three is to vanish, the UNO is an empty gesture.

Even France, which might have been expected to object strongly to the limited meeting, has taken it with calm. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault merely pointed out in a speech on Sunday that France does not expect any final decisions to be reached at Moscow, and in any event, will not feel bound by anything decided there which affects France. He intimated, incidentally, that France has an interest in everything that concerns the future world structure.

De Gaulle Takes Stand

President Charles de Gaulle took a similar realistic view in his speech last night. He declared that France is the balance between east and west, and is determined to maintain friendship both with the United States and Russia, whom he described as the "two very great powers." French collaboration with Britain he apparently took for granted.

De Gaulle at the same time made clear that France will tolerate no reorganization on the continent which might jeopardize her. His reference presumably was to restoration of Germany as a central European power, a question which the Moscow conferees will have to handle with kid gloves.

No better explanation of the unyielding French position could be made than de Gaulle's reminder that France has been invaded seven times in the past 140 years and Paris occupied by an enemy four times.

Police Told To Speak Softly Before Using Their Big Sticks

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—Public Safety Director Homer Garrison today advised officers to speak softly before using their big sticks.

He gave this counsel in a speech prepared for delivery before the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at Miami, Fla.

"Dale Carnegie said there is only one way to get a person to do something: by making him want to do it," said Garrison.

"You can make him want to do it in a positive manner so as to please him in some way, or in a negative manner, which is by threat or force or fear.

"There is a very definite place in police work for both methods, but it saves a lot of war and tear on our clothes, hides and reputations to give the first method a real chance to work for us before restorting to the second.

The Eastern Defense Command in India in a 12-month period flew more than 500,000 tons of cargo into Burma in what is said to be the greatest sustained air supply operation in history.

Appeal To Make New Sugar Stamp Valid Dec. 17 Is Made

HOUSTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.) — An appeal to advance the date of sugar stamp 39 from Jan. 1 to Dec. 17 was telegraphed today to OPA Administrator Chester Bowles in Washington by Joe Weingarten, president of the Supermarket Institute of America.

Weingarten said he observed a shortage of stamps and an abundance of sugar in Houston and then checked 25 Supermarket operators from Los Angeles to New York. Twenty three of them reported plenty of sugar but a shortage of stamps, Weingarten said.

"Advancing the date won't add to the amount of sugar consumed," Weingarten said. "It simply would make available early enough for Christmas the next rations due."

In the telegram Weingarten said:

"I am sure the housewives of America would appreciate this consideration, and it would help materially to make this the first peace-time Christmas in five years a happy and merry one."

Board To Help Solve Labor Strife Urged

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—Establishment of a state industrial board to help prevent and cure Texas labor troubles was urged today by State Labor Commissioner Leonard Carlton upon his return from the recent labor conference called by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach.

Al state representatives at the Washington conference favored such a board, Carlton said.

"Besides aiding in the prevention and mediation of labor disputes, the board could supply the public with all the facts in the case," he pointed out.

THE COACH SITUATION

The rapid return of America's armed forces from overseas requires that the Burlington relinquish approximately one-half of its main line coaches for military transport exclusively. This takes many cars from regular trains, plus any relief equipment.

No extra cars are available for the holiday season and many regular trains will have fewer cars than normally. Some discomfort, disappointment or delay seem inevitable.

If trains are temporarily overcrowded or do not have the customary equipment, you will understand why it is unavoidable.

"But Mr. Johnson next door got a telephone!"

IF YOU ARE WAITING for a telephone but the telephone man stops at your neighbor's house, most likely your neighbor has been waiting longer than you have. If that's not the reason, it's probably because:

He has just moved from somewhere else in the city and had his telephone service moved, or . . .

There may be serious illness in the family and a telephone is necessary during the emergency, or . . .

Your neighbor may be a returned veteran needing a telephone to re-establish him in civilian life, or . . .

A telephone in his home may be necessary to the health and welfare of the community.

With these necessary exceptions, those waiting are served in the order in which we received the application. In some neighborhoods, of course, we shall be able to catch up more quickly than in others. But, as telephone plant is constructed, our aim is to see that everyone gets service in proper turn.

We're putting in telephones as fast as we can. And whether your turn for service comes in the near future, or not for several months, you can be sure we're looking forward to the day when the telephone man will knock at your door and say:

"I'm here to put in your telephone."

Truman Working On Message To Solons On Armed Forces Merger

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Truman is now working on a message to Congress outlining his views on proposals to merge the Army and Navy into a single department.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters today that he thought the message would go to Capitol Hill before the Christmas recess.

May Opposes Plan

Disclosure of Mr. Truman's proposed message came after leaders of the powerful House military and naval committees had aligned themselves firmly in opposition to any merger.

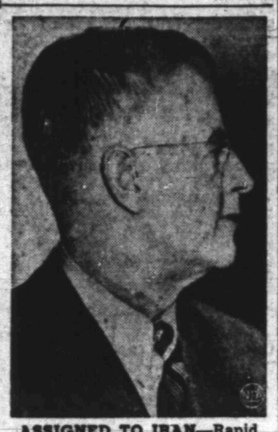

Proposing instead that an independent Air Force be created, Chairman Andrew J. May (D-Ky) of the military and Carl Vinson (D-Ga) of the naval committees declared "unification of the Army and the Navy is not the answer to the problem of national defense under modern methods of warfare."

Would Split Setup

Some congressional quarters interpreted the May-Vinson action as a move to split the Army in its support of merger plans by lining up the Army Air Forces behind the new proposal.

Sources close to both May's and Vinson's committees told newsmen the measures could be regarded as "the Navy's answer to demands for unification." Both May and Vinson, however, said the identical bills they introduced were the product of their joint efforts.

The bills May and Vinson offered would set up the Air Forces as an independent department headed by a cabinet officer and with its own school—similar to West Point and Annapolis—for developing officers. Eventually the new department would take over the Army Air Corps and the Army Air Forces, although it would not have jurisdiction over the Navy's air arm.

ASSIGNED TO IRAN—Rapid withdrawal of U. S. troops from Iran is the task of Gen. Donald H. Connally, above deputy commissioner of the Army-Navy Liquidation commission, who heads the U. S. mission to Iran to speed "wind-up" of U. S. affairs there.

Youths Given Six To Ten Year Terms For Raping Young Girl

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Six-to-ten year terms in the state penitentiary today face two youths who pleaded guilty to charges of forcibly raping a 15-year-old Albuquerque girl.

The pair, Eduardo Montano, 19, and Fred Moreno, 18, both of Albuquerque, were sentenced by District Judge Albert Kool. Reprimanding the youths sharply, Judge Kool explained that length of their sentences was due to circumstances surrounding the charge.

Sheriff Harold Hubbell had received statements from the pair in which they told of starting out one night to "find a woman," and of how they forced the teen-aged girl into their car and then drove her to the sand hills where they assaulted her.

Freedom Of Press Is Said Essential To Maintaining Peace

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (U.P.) — Freedom of the press is fundamental to peace, Dr. Harry E. Moore, University of Texas sociologist, told a university class in journalism here in a special lecture.

"If American reporters were free to investigate events in London, Paris, Rome, Moscow and other cities of the world, they would ask the right questions and we would get correct facts," Dr. Moore said.

"If we can get the pertinent facts, then we can judge whether a statement is propaganda, or not.

"I am not absolutely sure that if we had free transmission of what happens in all other countries it would make us love all the rest of the world. But if we have any hope of working with people, we must have information about them. Anything which impedes access to information arouses suspicions."

Byrnes' Statements On American Policy In China Praised

YENAN, China, Dec. 9 (Delayed) (AP)—Official Communist circles received with satisfaction today Secretary of State Byrnes' statement of American policy supporting a broadening of the Chinese government to include groups not now represented.

These sources also voiced pleasure over the Byrnes expression of an American desire for a free, independent, Democratic and prosperous China.

Makes Marshall's Job Easier

Some quarters asserted that the job of Gen. George C. Marshall, newly appointed ambassador to China, had been made easier by this clear-cut expression.

Chou En-Lai, the party's "number two" man, told a mass meeting that Byrnes' views were welcome but the policy of American "military intervention" in China pursued by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, Marshall's predecessor, must be discontinued.

Chou said Mao Tze-Tung, the Communist leader, had participated in talks two months ago with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and had proposed in vain the immediate establishment of a provisional Democratic coalition government to hold office until the nation could have a general election.

End Of Price Curbs On Mutton Is Asked

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Complete removal of price control of lamb and mutton and the end of all government subsidies after next June 30 have been asked of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Office of Price Administration by a committee of the National Wool Growers association.

This word was brought today by G. N. Winder of Craig, Colo., National Association president, to the 35th annual 3-day convention of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association here.

Pointing out that the government has announced discontinuance of the present lamb subsidy next June 30, Winder said that the government had offered no alternative plan. He stated:

"We did not ask for a subsidy in the first place but we did ask some time ago for an increase in lamb and mutton retail prices."

Government officials, however, thought such an increase would upset the general price control system and substituted a subsidy to be paid producers on lamb offered for slaughter, Winder related.

Ruling Is Given On Poll Tax Payments

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Civic organizations are within the law in setting up poll tax booths and aiding payment of poll taxes so long as the assistance does not extend to payment of the poll tax for another, an Attorney General's opinion held today.

It answered a series of questions from Travis County Attorney Perry Jones.

The booth can extend notarial service, furnish envelopes, stamps and even certified checks (paid for by the poll tax payer). The organizations may conduct house to house campaigns for poll tax payment, it was held.

Jap Warning On War Said Taken

the Navy communications security division, testified before the Army inquiry that on Dec. 4, the "activating winds" message came in—intercepted by U. S. code crackers.

It was deciphered "war with England, war with America, peace with Russia," and given immediately to Admiral Noyes, chief of communications.

Copies Sent To White House

Two copies were sent to the War department, Safford said, and others to the State department and the White House.

Col. Gibson of military intelligence said there is no record of the War department's ever receiving that message.

Neither the original nor copies "can now be found in the files of either the War or Navy department," Cramer observed in the report.

"The proof that it got to the White House seems to be that this was routine distribution," Cramer noted. "The same is true as to its getting to the Secretary of State."

File Said Missing

Other officers testified that file 7001 was missing from the War department but couldn't pin down whether the winds message was in that file.

Cramer said Col. Otis . Sadtler, Signal corps, stated that he got word from Admiral Noyes on Dec. 5, 1941, that "the message is in," but did nothing to ascertain its wording.

Short told the three-general board, it was disclosed, that he ordered what he called a No. 1 alert—against sabotage only—because he didn't think an assault from the air likely.

But Short said he put that order into effect, Nov. 28, the day after he received from Marshall a warning that "hostile actions may come at any moment. Specifically he messaged:

Short Tells His Reply

"Department alerted to prevent sabotage. Liaison with Navy."

Neither the War department nor the Chief of Staff ever replied to that between Nov. 28 and Dec. 7. And Short testified to the Army board:

"Everything indicated to me that the War department did not believe there was going to be anything more than sabotage; and as I have explained, we had a very serious training proposition with the Air corps particularly, that if we went into alert No. 2 or 3 instead of No. 1 at the time, that we couldn't meet the requirements on the Philippines ferrying business."

"Also the fact that they told me to report the action taken unquestionably had an influence because when I reported action taken and there was no comment that my action was too little or too much I was a hundred per cent convinced that they agreed with it."

Short testified that long range air reconnaissance wasn't his responsibility. A "definite agreement" for the Navy to handle that "was approved by the Navy as well as our Chief of Staff," he declared.

He said he was in close touch with the Navy, then commanded at Hawaii by Read Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, who also was deposed after the disaster.

Planes Had No Ammunition

Noting that Marshall ordered such reconnaissance by air as the commander deemed necessary, Short said:

"Whoever wrote that message was not familiar with the fact that the Navy had assumed the full responsibility for that long- distance reconnaissance."

Short insisted that "everything indicated to me that the War department did not believe that there was going to be anything more than sabotage." He said he was confirmed in this conclusion by the action of the War department in sending a flight of flying fortress to Hawaii "without ammunition for defense . . . the planes arrived in this condition during the attack."

From all the messages he got from Washington, Short said he did not think the situation demanded vigorous action on his part—"very definitely not, from the information I had."

The Army board accused the War department of failing to inform Short properly. Cramer, in attached memorandum to Stimson, disagreed with this. Cramer contended Short had enough information and command directives to make it plain that war was imminent and his garrison might be a target.

Demos Make Protest

An angry row broke out at the inquiry today as Democrats protested that a former Republican party worker was suggesting questions to Republicans on the joint-Senate-House investigating committee.

The man in question was sitting beside Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) at the committee table. He became the center of sharp exchanges after Senator Lucas (D-Ill) angrily accused him of "prompting" the Republican senator and of "chuckling" at Democratic senators.

Admits GOP Connected

Ferguson identified him as Percy L. Graves, jr., in the employ of Senator Brewster (R-Maine) who was absent.

Asked by Lucas if he had not been connected with the Republican National committee, Greaves said he was its research director last year.

Both Lucas and Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) wanted to know who was compensating Greaves but that question went unanswered.

Referred To Brewster

Asked about that point by reporters later, Greaves said any statement would have to come from Brewster. The latter has been attending the funeral of his father in Maine.

(William Murphy, publicity director for the Republican committee, said Greaves left its employ last February.)

The flare-up came near the close of a session in which:

Gen. George C. Marshall, former chief of staff, volunteered a denial of rumors he said had come to his attention that he ordered destruction of a Japanese "winds" message signaling a break in relations with the United States in 1941. He declared he knew nothing of it.

Miles, Marshall Disagree

Marshall and the 1941 chief of the Army's intelligence division differed as to whether Marshall saw Dec. 6, 1941—the day before Pearl Harbor—an intercepted Japanese message which Ferguson contended made clear that Tokyo was setting a "zero" hour.

Marshall testified that to the best of his knowledge he did not see it that day. But Maj. Gen Sherman Miles, the intelligence chief, said he had "every reason to believe that General Marshall did receive the locked pouch on the afternoon of the 6th."

Intercepted and decoded Japanese messages were taken to top officers of the War department in a locked pouch. Those entitled to receive the messages had a key to the pouch and, under usual procedure, read the messages and returned them to the pouch which was then taken on to some one else.

Miles disputed, however, Ferguson's view that the message in question had major significance. From Tokyo to Japan's ambassadors here, it advised that a reply was being sent to the United States' note of Nov. 26, 1941, and that the ambassadors would be advised later of what time it should be delivered.

No Date Said Set

Next day, instructions came for delivery of the note at 1 p. m. which was simultaneous with the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Miles argued that the Dec. 6 "pilot message" could not be interpreted as meaning "a zero time" was being set for military action.

"Of itself, it did not mean that other action would be coordinated with it," he asserted.

Confers With HST

Marshall, who was in his fifth day in the witness chair, was excused in mid-afternoon so that he could go to the White House for a conference with President Truman. The former chief of staff has accepted an assignment as a special presidential envoy to China.

He had volunteered the statement about the "winds" message.

"I had no knowledge of it whatsoever," Marshall told the joint Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

In bringing up the subject himself, the former chief of staff pulled into the open one of the rumored mysteries growing out of the disaster.

Was Told of Rumor

There have been whispered reports that a "winds" code message was intercepted before the Dec. 7, 1941 attack and that thus Washington knew a break was coming, but that the records of the interception had since disappeared from the file.

Marshall said Admiral H. K. Hewitt had told him about the rumors, including the version that he (Marshall) had the records destroyed.

Then he entered an emphatic denial of the story.

Whether or not there was such a Tokyo broadcast is one of the questions to which the committee has been seeking an answer. William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, said information from Tokyo is that there was not.

It is known from decoded Japanese messages that Tokyo advised its diplomatic officers on Nov. 19, 1941, that if United States-Japanese relations became endangered it would broadcast the signal, "east winds, raining."

The question is whether such a broadcast ever was made.

Scout Drive Gets Off To Impressive Start

With reports from the big gifts committee and the general solicitation group incomplete, Earl B. Collins, general chairman of the annual Boy Scout finance drive, reported last night that $5,330 was raised during the opening day.

The big gifts committee, with a goal of $4,000, reported $3,200, with about one-third of the cards still in the hands of prospective contributors, C. H. Hamilton, chairman, said.

Reports, about one-third incomplete, from the general solicitation group showed $2,130 received toward a goal of $4,000.

All reports are due by tonight at the Scout office, 410 Myrick building, including that from the American Business club which with Roy Krebbs as chairman, is handling contributions from employes of Lubbock business firms; and the Texas Tech group.

The $5,330 raised so far does not include $2,700 pledged yearly by "sustaining members," Collins said.

The drive was opened Tuesday when 155 solicitors gathered at the Hilton hotel for kick-off breakfast at which Elmer Tarbox, formerly a major with the Army Air forces, now sales manager for Lubbock Auto Co., made an inspirational address.

Fort Worth Woman Indicted In Slaying

FORT WORTH, Dec. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Bradshaw, 27, was indicted by a county grand jury today on a charge of murder with malice in the Nov. 11 fatal shooting of her husband, First Lt. George B. Bradshaw, jr., 32, at their home here.

The defendant will continue at liberty under $10,000 bond posted Nov. 26 when she was given a preliminary hearing and bound over to the grand jury. District Attorney Al Clyde, said Mrs. Bradshaw's trial will be set for Jan. 7.

City's Voters Give Bond Issue Overwhelming Approval Tuesday

of $300,000 in bonds for this phase of Lubbock's development. The bonds will finance construction of a new administration building, larger storage and repair hangars and several score T-hangars at municipal airport for both commercial and private airplanes in addition to driveways and roads and pave the way for strengthening Lubbock's claim as the air center of this vast area.

Will Boost Fire Protection In City

Verdict of the voters also empowers city officials to extend Lubbock's system of fire stations and fire-fighting equipment so that every area of Lubbock will be covered by adequate fire protection. A total of $166,000 of the bonds had been designated for this phase of the city's expansion.

The election also will provide the city with funds for remodeling and expansion of the City hall, $75,000 in bonds being set aside for this purpose. Possible addition of a third floor, installation of an elevator and enlargement of the building to relieve crowded conditions in all departments is included in tenative plans.

The bonds will also finance to the extent of $88,000 badly-needed improvements to the city police station and jail. The purchase of two blocks of land and construction of a city equipment storage and garage building totaling $60,000 was also approved in the bond program.

Bond Campaign Leaders Surprised

The bond election was the most important in Lubbock's history.

Bond campaign leaders last night expressed pleasant surprise over the small opposition against the bonds, declaring they had expected heavier votes against some of the proposals. Especially were they fearful that the auditorium-coliseum, largest project on the program, would meet with a larger unfavorable ballot than the 86 total votes cast against it.

City officials plan to prepare the bonds for sale as soon as possible and start work on several of the projects as soon as labor and materials are available. By selling a large portion of the bonds now, they hope to take advantage of the low interest rates now offered for municipal financing.

The bonds will yield interest not to exceed 3½ per cent and their issuance will increase the city's bonded indebtedness to approximately $7,500,000.

Officials have estimated that the city's tax rate will only have to be increased approximately 40 cents to meet interest and sinking fund requirements. Only other increased cost to taxpayers will be an estimated increase of five cents per thousand on Lubbock water bills to pay the cost of water softening.

Snow Dips Down Into Central Texas Area

(By The Associated Press)

The first snows of the season in central Texas were accompanied by sleet and ice as a two-day old cold wave moved steadily south across the state.

Ice formed on trees in Austin Tuesday after an all-night sleet storm, while Beaumont experienced its first severe winter weather. Sleet and the first snow since 1943 caused fear of loss to cattlemen in the Beaumont area if the cold, a wet norther continues.

Snow fell in Waco, Hillsboro and other points throughout the central Texas area.

Temperatures in the Panhandle and North Texas were several degrees above Monday's severe lows. Coldest spots in the state recorded by the U. S. Weather bureau were Amarillo and Pampa, with 19 degrees. Dalhart and Lubbock both reported 20 degrees.

It specifies that civil functions of the Army Engineers corps are wholly exempted from reorganization. Six other agencies are fully exempted, except that functions can be transferred to them. They are the Interstate Commerce commission, Federal Trade commission, Securities and Exchange commission, National Mediation board, National Railroad Adjustment board and Railroad Retirement board.

In the case of four other agencies the President would be required to submit individual reshuffling plans. They are the Federal Communications commission, Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, United States Tariff commission and Veterans administration.

The powers are limited to the current presidential term.

Clues Are Sought In Wave's Murder Case

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—Chicago's scientific crime detection experts hurried tests today in an effort to trap a brutal slayer of a discharged Wave—a killer who warned that he—or she—would "kill more" unless captured soon.

Police said an examination of the apartment of Miss Frances Brown, 33, whose nude, shot and stabbed body was found in her bathtub yesterday, had revealed no fingerprints—not even those of the victim. However, sections of the blood-stained woodwork were taken from the apartment to the police crime laboratory where experts attempted to develop legible fingerprints from smudges.

Police Capt. Frank Reynolds said it "could have been either a man or woman" who crept into Miss Brown's sixth floor apartment, shot her twice with a .38 caliber pistol, plunged a bread-knife through her throat, dumped her body in her empty bathtub and then printed this message in lipstick on the living room wall:

"For heavens sake catch me before I kill more. I cannot control myself."

Jap Civilians Said Dying By Hundreds

PEIPING, China, Dec. 11 (AP)—Japanese civilians, caught in the grip of winter as they await repatriation, are dying off by the hundreds.

Six hundred deaths have been reported among 8,000 who made their way by foot, with occasional train rides, from Shansi province to Fengtai, near Peiping.

the steel wage issue, said in another resolution:

"A fact-finding board for the steel industry is unnecessary. Any such proposal is but a false trail of fruitless delays which can serve only to undermine labor." The resolution condemned the President's proposed legislation for fact-finding boards as "vicious anti-labor and an attack on our basic democratic liberties."

House Turns Down Curbs

In Washington, the House refused to consider legislation proposing that labor unions who strike in violation of contract agreements be penalized. By a 200 to 182 vote the House rejected a recommendation of the rules committee for consideration of a bill repealing the War Labor Disputes act and imposing new curbs on union activity.

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the military committee, which wrote the bill, sair earlier he would not seek its actual consideration until after the labor committee studied another labor measure to set up fact-finding boards in major labor disputes.

Later, however, the House voted 359 to 107 to consider legislation extending provisions of the 1934 "anti-racketeering" act to labor unions—a bill bitterly opposed by organized labor. The measure broadens the 1934 law which prohibits interference with interstate trade and commerce by violence, threats, coersion or intimidation.

GM Makes Demands

In Detroit, the General Motors corporation joined the Ford company in demanding that the CIO United Auto workers union find some way of outlawing unauthorized strikes and slowdowns. The UAW, whose three weeks old strike against General Motors has kept more than 200,000 idle, made plans for building up a strikers' relief fund.

The union asked the membership to contribute at least $1 a week each to support needy cases arising from a strike of "lengthy duration."

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Deveny, 24-year-old mother of two children who eloped with Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver while her soldier-husband was in Japan, was ordered today to stand trial Dec. 18 on a charge of contributing to 16-year-old Sonny's delinquency.

Russians Sign Pact With Kai-Shek Group

CHUNGKING, Dec. 11 (AP)—Chinese Communists intensified their raids on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's northward supply lines today as Russia agreed to permit the airborne reinforcement of Central government troops in Manchuria.

The Russo-Chinese agreement facilitating Chiang's operations in Manchuria, reached after weeks of tense negotiations, was announced by the official Central News agency. It said the Chungking government had won permission to plant itself firmly in the vast northern territory deemed vital for the recovery of war-ravaged China.

Chiang's troops will be permitted to fly into Changchun, the Manchurian capital; into Mukden, largest city and vital industrial center of the territory, and into Harbin, the key to northern Manchuria.

Still unclarified was the status of the southern Manchurian port of Dairen, slated for joint-Russo-Chinese operation as a free port, but as yet occupied only by Russian troops.

A Chinese press dispatch said the government's 94th Army would be flown from North China to Changchun and that the 92d Army would be air lifted to Chinhsien, advance headquarters of Chiang's ground forces moving into Manchuria.

The Central News agency announcement said agreement also had been reached on the procedure for Chungking to take over local administrations throughout Manchuria. It said Russian military authorities had agreed to give protection to the Central government troops flown in, and had given assurances that the taking over of civil administration in the provinces would have smooth sailing.

Moscow Meeting

ville, Ky., on political conditions in Romania and Bulgaria. He is taking this report to Moscow and may use it with Molotov and Bevin.

Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university who has worked with Byrnes on atomic energy prolems, will be the secretary's adviser in Moscow on that subject.

Washington Meeting Planned

Byrnes discussed in some detail his plans for the Moscow meeting and revealed that while there had been an exchange of ideas on topics to be taken up there were no prior agreements that would absolutely assure the success of the conference.

Byrnes said he disagreed with the idea that a meeting on this kind should not be held without the problems being solved ahead of time. He said he intends to propose that another session of the three foreign ministers be held in Washington next March.

To Find Out Soviet View

On the atomic bond problem, as he described it, Byrnes said the initial American purpose is to inform the Soviet government about the United Nations commission agreed upon by President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee of Britain and Mackenzie-King of Canada, and to learn the Russian view.

It is not planned at this time, Byrnes said, to go into scientific questions.

Another major topic certain to come up, he said, is that of the proposal by which he sought unsuccessfully to break the five-nation foreign minister deadlock at London in September. Russia having objected to French and Chinese participation in discussion of peace treaties with the Balkans, Byrnes suggested that the Big Three powers should first go over the field and that the ultimate step should be a peace conference. He said there was nothing more essential than getting peace machinery working and he expressed hope that the foreign minister council might be revived.

Several times he said people should not think that because all issues among the United States, Britain and Russia were not decider, relations of the powers were worsening. He said there would always be disagreements and a need for clarification of views.

B-29 Makes Record Flight On Burbank To New York Run

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP)—The B-29 Dreamboat was clocked over Floyd Bennett field tonight at 11:42:19 (EST) after a non-stop flight from Burbank, Calif., that set a record. The plane had left California at 6:15:11 (EST).

William Zindt, official timer for the National Aeronautical association, handled the stop watch and termed the time an official record for the distance.

The Dreamboat last Nov. 20 made a non-stop flight from Guam to Washington.

Philippines Plea

According to the speaker it will take many years for the islands to again rise to their feet, make their sugar plantations productive, but they can provide America with hemp, coco, copper, iron and lumber.

Demand For U. S. Goods

"It isn't unreasonable for Filipinos to request free trade because we import a great many American goods and there will be a tremendous demand for your textiles, automobiles, radios, and steel," she predicted. Prior to the war the Philippines were sixth in line for consumers of American goods and as Miss Osmena stated, "That's a large order for a small nation."

Expressing the profound gratitude of an appreciative people, Miss Osmena recalled how with the help of America the Filipinos were freed from the Spanish in 1898, the year which marked the beginning of their social, economic, educational and political development. "We at first resisted the idea of America's governing us because we felt it would be a duplicate of the Spanish rule, but we soon learned differently and decided America had no imperialistic motives." Her father was one of the first to advocate wholehearted cooperation with America.

Had Sympathetic Audience

"When Japan attacked the Philippinos we were preparing for independence. Had the history of the islands been different we might have welcomed the invader, rather than resisting," she said in tribute to American influence and guidance. She described the true loyalty evinced by the Filipinos, our valiant allies in the campaign which finally resulted in driving the Japanese out of the Philippines, in a sincere and competent manner.

An acute person, with the ability to analyze her audience and at the same time sprinkle her speech with bits of witticisms, Miss Osmena did not fail to make use of her trump card. "We have much in common with Americans, especially you Texans in our love for freedom, and we are more occidental than oriental," Miss Osmena declared.

Speaking to Texans, about freedom and patriotism, Maria Osmena had a sympathetic and understanding audience.

Indonesians Threaten Use Of Poison Gas

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 11 (AP)—Defiant Indonesian nationalist leaders called upon 70,000,000 Javanese today to resist with arms and even poison any attempt to reinstate Dutch sovereignty, and demanded international recognition of their republic as a prerequisite of peace negotiations.

Prime Minister Sutan Sjahrir of the unrecognized republic declared Indonesians would fight further landings of British troops, and a Nationalist leader broadcast from a radio station near Soerabaja threatened mass poisoning for Dutch troops.

"The Dutch are boasting they soon will bring in thousands of soldiers," said this leader, Soetomo. "What of it? We are determined to annihilate them, even if we have to poison them to death.

German Program

and economic resources were to be left to the German people.

Is Three-Year Plan

The State department statement actually covers a three-year period —the two years of reparations or removals beginning next Feb. 2 and the succeeding 12 months, beginning Feb. 2, 1948. The latter period is supposed to mark the emergency of Germany as a weakened but self-sufficient European nation, able to begin balancing needed imports against exports and to work toward repayment of the financial assistance required from the Allied powers during the two-year reparations period.

The statement did not say whether the proposed financial aid would involve a report to Congress for funds. The U. S. Army has been using some of its funds to finance shipments of wheat into Germany, but after the control of Germany is placed in civilian hands the money presumably would have to come from some other agency.

The Byrnes statement said that this winter liberated Europe "must enjoy a higher priority than Germany" on food and supply shipments.

OPA Chief Warns Price Controls Are Not To Be Abolished Soon

DALLAS, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Regional OPA price executive W. V. Womack sought today to correct a mistaken public opinion.

Somehow, he said, the public has incorrectly come to believe that price controls will be abolished soon.

Warning that such is not true, Womack said the public's mistaken opinion has caused "serious harm and inconvenience to southwestern merchants and consumers alike."

Clothing Cases Cited

He said that recent investigations have uncovered many cases where southwestern clothing merchants—believing OPA would soon be out of business—were seriously in violation of price regulations because they admittedly "tossed pricing charts in wastebaskets and forgot about price control."

The price executive for OPA Region Five, including Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kansas and Missouri, said that this misconception could be attributed to the fact that "nobody in OUA is in position to issue a prediction about what lawmakers of this nation will do five or six months from now."

Commentators Mislead Public

Because of this, he added, some "short-sighted commentators have been able to mislead the public dangerously regarding the probabilities of price control's future."

He urged consumers to prevent inflation by reporting overcharges to their local price control boards.

BOWLES ADMITS OPA WAS LAX ON CLOTHING CURES

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11. (U.P.) — Chester Bowles, chief of the office of price administration, said today that the OPA had done a "bad job" with the price control of clothing and that the government's worst home front mistake of the war was its failure to ration clothing in 1943.

Bowles said at a press conference that the present shortage of almost all types of clothing and fabrics and the admittedly inflated price of much that is available were the direct results of this failure.

Industry Partly To Blame

The OPA administrator blamed the responsibility for the failure with one other government agency and the industry itself. Bowles said that the machinery for rationing clothing was set up in 1943 and was urged by the OPA. But, he said, by the time other officials saw the necessity for it, stocks were so low that rationing was unworkable.

However, Bowles held out some hope that men's shorts under a dollar and men's shirts for under $1.50 would be available soon in small quantities.

Bowles added that most clothing shortages would not be wiped out until a year from now. The chief bottleneck now, he said, was at the mills and was caused by the unwillingness of epough persons to enter work there for the "historically low wages" paid.

ASSAILS SOVIET—Terming Russia a "predatory, aggressor nation," Sen. James O. Eastland, (D-Miss.) urges an economically strong Germany as a bulwark against the Soviet. He charged that the U. S. is "starving" Germans and driving them into the arms of Communism.

HST's Health Plans May Cause Snag In Hospital Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (AP) — President Truman's proposal for a broad national health program posed a threat today to Senate approval of a $700,000,000 hospital program.

The curious snag resulted from months of work by a bi-partisan trio, Senators Taft (R-Ohio), Hill (D-Ala), and Ellender (D-La) in drafting their plan to provide the country with more hospitals and health centers.

They introduced their bill before Mr. Truman's health program message reached Capitol Hill.

Yesterday Senator Murray (D-Mont), chairman of the labor committee which approved the hospital bill, offered seven amendments which he told the Senate would bring the measure into line with Mr. Truman's program.

Among other things Murray's amendments would double the amount of federal funds and strengthen federal control of the entire program.

Taft promptly served notice he was opposed to Murray's amendments. And Hill, Democratic whip, indicated he would support the Ohio Republican because of the long period already devoted to perfecting the hospital bill.

Murray urged a federal contribution of $150,000,000 for each of the next five years, instead of $75,000,000 previously agreed upon. He also asked that health centers be provided on the basis of one for each 10,000 of population compared with 30,000 in the bi-partisan bill.

Virtual Confiscation Of Large Estates In Texas Seen In Ruling

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—The ultimate effect of yesterday's United States Supreme court decision that all community property of a married couple must be included in the estate of the first spouse to die, for federal tax purposes, will be virtual confiscation of large Texas estates, Gov. Coke R. Stevenson said today.

He was commenting on the probable long-range results of the decision in the face of an estimate from the comptroller's office that the immediate effect of the decision would be to increase the state's as well as the federal government's take from estate taxes.

Take Away Incentive

"The ultimate effect of the decision on the accumulation of property is that it will take away the motive for such accumulation," said Stevenson.

Lower courts had found that because of the various state community property left could be taxed when the first spouse died. The remainder then was subject to tax when the second spouse died.

Under federal estate tax acts, Texas obtains a credit of 80 per cent on taxes paid. That means, under yesterday's decision, that the amount taxable by the state as well as the federal government, is greater and therefore the state's prospective income from this source is greater.

Westerners Nose Abernathy In Cage Thriller, 28 To 27

The Lubbock Westerners broke into the win column Tuesday night at Westerner gym, nosing out the Abernathy Antelopes, 28 to 27, in a cage thriller that kept every fan in their seat until the final whistle.

The victory was the first of the year for the Westerners, and evened the season's series between these two clubs with one win each in the two game setto.

Fast All The Way

It was the fastest game of the season, and paired two high geared ball clubs that found the Antelopes coming from behind late in the game to get very much into the ball game. So loud was the shouting at the end of the game, the whistle ending the game was not heard on the floor, and many thought an after game field goal by Abernathy had sent the visitors into the lead.

The game was tied four times in the first quarter, and the period ended with the count still knotted at 8-8. Turner, Crawford and Presley ran the score up to 14-9 soon after the second period started, and the Westerners were leading 18-11 at the half.

But Abernathy struck back in the last half, and fans began to wonder if they were going to repeat their great battle of last week, when the Antelopes came from behind to win 39-33 over the Westerners.

At the end of the third quarter, the Antelopes had cut the lead to 21-17, and the final quarter tempo stepped up.

Antelopes Grab Lead

Brown and Lutrick pulled the Antelopes within one point, 21-20, then Turner tipped in one for Lubbock. Riley then looped one, and Rhodes hit a long one from the side to send Abernathy into a 24-23 lead.

Presley put the Westerners back in the lead with a long shot, but Rhodes tied the score at 25-25 with a donation toss. Riley then hit a long side shot, and Abernathy regained the lead. Crawford then tied the score with a two-pointer, and Presley dropped in a free pitch perhaps a minute before the end of the game, and the winning point.

It was the return of Charles Presley, a veteran performer to the Westerners; who spelled the difference in the two clubs Tuesday night, and the Lubbock veteran made a great difference in the way he handled rebounds off the backboard, and a generally fine floor game.

The Westerners played the ball game without their coach, Marlin "Shorty" Hayburst, who was ill, and after the game announced they were dedicating the season's first win to Hayhurst. In his absense, Dixie White, cage coach of the last two years, was in charge of the club.

Both starting lineups went the full route, with only one substitute used in the game, and he played only a minute.

Brown Top Scorer

The individual scoring race was close between four boys, with Abernathy's great little guard, Brown, coming up with ten points for the best showing of the night. Bob Crawford of Lubbock was next in line with nine points, while Abernathy's Bob Riley and Lubbock's Verdell Turner were pressing the leaders with eight points each.

Lubbock made it a clean sweep by taking the opening B gabe, 27 to 10, with Lubbock's Virgil Johnson matching the Abernathy score o' ten for high point honors.

Both A teams will be entered in the New Deal invitation tournament which opens Thursday, and may get the chance there to settle the question with a rubber game on the New Deal court.

NO COACH NAMED

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 11 (AP)—A new head football coach for the University of Arkansas will not be named until Dec. 21, the board of trustees announced tonight at the close of a series of inconclusive conferences.

Coast Loop Bid Gets Rejection

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 (AP)—The major league moguls turned thumbs down today on the Pacific Coast loop's bid to become the third major league in baseball, but they agreed to disagree on just about everything else—and especially on night baseball and player deals for 1946.

The refusal to go along with the minor's decision of last week and give the Coast league permission to make the first break in baseball's 40-year old two-big-league lineup, was softened somewhat by the majors' recognition of the Pacific Coast circuit as "potential major league territory."

It "may eventually be able to qualify under major league standards," said a joint statement by National League President Ford Frick and American League Prexy Will Harridge.

"Therefore," the announcement went on, "The major leagues offer to the Pacific Coast league the services, if desired, of a cooperating committee to further study the situation."

Up for some discussion, too, was the minors' proposal to put on the books a law wiping out all bonus payments to players. The majors named a committee to draw up a substitute bonus plan and will consider both at the joint sessions tomorrow.

The club owners, who spent the entire day behind closed doors fighting out the night baseball squabble, announced they were still fighting it out when they had to call time to get ready for their clambake tonight as guests of Commissioner A. B. Chandler, with whom some of them haven't seen exactly eye-to-eye in past months.

As a result, the row over night baseball goes before the joint meeting tomorrow.

Tahoka Cagers Take Two Wins, Lose One

TAHOKA, Dec. 11 (Special)—The boys cage fives from Tahoka took both games over New Home here tonight, but the New Home girls proved too much for the Tahoka club and salvaged one win from the program.

The New Home girls won 30 to 17 over Tahoka, with Mary Nettles setting the pace with 14 points. Nancy Nell Watt paced Tahoka with 11 points.

The Tahoka Bulldogs A team won a fast 19 to 10 victory over New Home, with Jerry Edwards pouring in nine points for scoring honors for Tahoka. A. C. Fullingian paced New Home with seven.

Five Tahoka players each rang up two points in the B game to give Tahoka a 10 to 7 win. Buck Fillingian of New Home captured scoring honors with four points.

Ropes Cagers Sweep Pair Over Meadow

ROPESVILLE, Dec. 11 (Special)—Ropesville High school took both ends of a double header from the Meadow High school cagers here tonight, the girls winning 15 to 7 and the boys taking the nightcap, 25 to 21.

Underwood of Ropes paced the scoring in the opening game, getting six points, closely pressed by Drake and Riley, each with four, as the trio accounted for all but one point. Hinson led Meadow with three points.

The boys game was close all the way, as Means and Riley paced the scoring for Ropes, each with nine points. Barnes, with eight, and Nettles, with six, were next in line, and led the losers.

Red Sox Tradition Helps Taylor Ducks

TAYLOR, Tex., Dec. 11 (AP)—Taylor's Ducks, who have lost only one football game in four years, think maybe the tradition of the red socks has something to do with it.

The Ducks last week won the Class A schoolboy regional championship—their eighth since 1930 when this socks business started.

The captain of the team has since that day worn red socks. The tradition began when the Ducks were winning their first regional title. Walter Pythian, who later starred at Texas A. and M., donned red sox because of badly bruised shins and in the game his furious play soon attracted so much attention everybody was yelling, vociferously if ungrammatically, to "watch them red socks!"

Pythian, upon graduation, presented his socks to the succeeding captain and thus it has been ever since.

Taylor had its first undefeated, untied season in 1938, its second in 1942. Then 1943 went without a single loss and last year, the Ducks, headed by the greatest footballer Taylor ever produced, Frank Struska, were apparently on the way to another perfect record when Struska suffered a fractured skull and missed the all-important game with Killeen. Taylor lost 14-6, snapping a winning streak of 33 games, one of the longest in Texas football history.

Red Raiders Leave On Four Day Jaunt

A twelve-man squad of Texas Tech Red Raiders basketeers takes to the road today for invasion of the SMU and TCU campuses. Tonight and Thursday night Tech meets SMU in Dallas, with TCU encounters set for Friday and Saturday nights.

Coach Polk Robison has indicated he may revise his starting lineup this week, inserting two hard-working freshmen in place of letermen whose play has not met with approval. If he makes the shift three first-year men will open the road games.

Expected to start tonight are Tilley Sneed, 6 foot, 8¼ inch Idalou lad, at center; Gene Hardey, letterman, and Ardis Barton, Spring Lake freshman, at forwards; and Don Dollar, Dumas freshman, and Bill Kelley, Idalou sophomore, at guards. Should Robison revert to his previous starters, Jiggs Jackson, Monument, N. M., sophomore, will be in for Dollar and Jay Kerr, Odessa sophomore, teamed with Hardey at forward.

Robison also is taking along James Putnam, Throckmorton frosh; Clayton Roberts, Portales, N. M., sophomore transfer; Robert Pardue, Lubbock freshman; Calvin Shoup, Dublin first-year man; and Leonard Steger, Dumas freshman.

Both SMU and TCU have been winning their games this year, but the Raiders insist they will come home with a better than even break for the week. Both home teams, like Tech, are top-heavy with freshmen. TCU this year is featuring several lengthy Indiana boys who have starred on Hoosier championship teams in the state which specializes in basketball.

The raiders in their two games have been amassing larger scores than SMU and TCU, but the two home teams may be hard to beat on familiar territory.

Schlinkman Accepts Bid Of West Eleven

Bounding Walt Schlinkman, the Dumas Dynamiter, has accepted a an invitation to play in the annual East-West game at San Francisco on New Year's day, Tech athletic officials announced Tuesday.

The invitation came from Homer Norton, Texas Aggie coach, who will be one of the coaches of the West team in the annual all-star game. The game is sponsored by the Shriners.

The invitation arrived Tuesday, and was accepted in behalf of Schlinkman by Coach Dell Morgan.

Schlinkman ranked high in the nation's ground gainers for the season, and was rated in most quarters as one of the greatest backs in the land. He was selected on the United Press Little All-America eleven, and given honorable mention on the United Press' major All-American eleven.

Schlinkman's play this season has been the highlight of the year for the Red Raiders, and brought praise from coaches and fans everywhere the Red Raiders, and Schlinkman, were seen in action. He is a senior.

The world's champion, watermelon, grown at Hope, Ark., weighed 195 pounds.

Golfers Fly In For Texas Play

FORT WORTH, Dec. 11 (AP) — Golfers following the winter tournament trail won't have to worry about transportation when they need to make a thousand-mile trip and reach a tourney site in time to get in some practice licks.

Johnny Bulla, former airplane pilot who also is a top linksman, has bought a cargo plane from the Army Air Forces and is taking care of golfing travels these days.

Seventeen pros and amateurs playing along the winter tour came here from Miami and are already testing the Glen Garden Country club course as they tune up for Fort Worth's $10,000 open starting Friday.

Bulla is taking reservations for the 1946 circuit and already has such players as Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan, top money-winners, as customers, along with their wives. Hogan, who was in the Air Corps during the war, was co-pilot with Bulla on the trip to Fort Worth from Miami.

"It is the only way to travel from tournament to tournament," said Fred Corcoran, PGA tournament manager. "Now we won't have to worry about scheduling tournaments a thousand miles apart."

Eighty-one pros and amateurs have been invited to play in the tournament—first big one for Fort Worth since the 1941 National Open. Nelson and Hogan immediately were established as favorites to win the event here.

Cooper Breaks Even With Frenship Clubs

Cooper and Frenship cagers divided two basketball games Tuesday night at Cooper gym, the Cooper girls winning the opener, 26 to 9, and Frenship boys evening the count with a 26 to 14 victory in the second game.

Wylie and Webb paced the Cooper girls in the opener, with eight and seven points, respectively. Bush led Frenship with four, closely followed by Gillit with three.

Penkert paced the Frenship boys in their victory, getting 12 points, while Pierce was high for Cooper with five ponits.

Approval Received For Title Mat Show

Approval from the state boxing and wrestling commissioner's office at Austin was received early this week by Promoter Pete Hallas for the title mat show scheduled for tonight at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Austion arena between Milt Olsen and the Hood.

Olsen is putting his title as junior heavyweight champion of Texas at stake against the masked grappler, and the Hood has promised to unmask if beaten.

The bout will be for the best two out of three falls, with a 90 minute time limit.

Another pair of familiar grunt and groan artists are scheduled for the semi-final, Gorilla Poggi meeting Ivan Jones in the two fall match with a 45 minute time limit.

Seminole Cager Beat Brownfield, 20 To 11

SEMINOLE, Dec. 11 (Special)—Playing before the largest crowd to ever turn out for a basketball game here, the Seminole Indians gained an even break tonight with the Brownfield Cubs by winning the varsity feature of the card, 20 to 11, after Brownfield won the B game, 40 to 9.

The Indians showed some potent power during the game, with the five starters going all the way.

There is a new face on the opening preliminary of the card, Ted Torres of Chicago making his debut here against Tony Ross in a one-fall, 30-minute time limit match.

Promoter Hallas said Tuesday night that ample stoves have been set up in the arena, in case cold weather continues.

Patton and Baker led the scoring for the winners with six points each. Wheatley and Gorby were high for Brownfeld, each with four points.

The Fijis consist of from 200 to 250 separate islands located just east of northern Australia.

Tech Has A Job Here

And It Should Be Done First!

SEVERAL weeks ago, after the directorate of Texas Technological college voted to ask the federal government to turn over to the college for instructional and experimental purposes the now closed, war-born Pantex Ordnance plant, The Morning Avalanche said the proposal was worthy of careful study.

We said the proposal was so revolutionary; that the plant and its equipment so vast, that to offer snap judgment either for or against its attempted use by Texas Tech was bad business. We said the proposal should be thought through—and carefully—and from all angles, because there were possibilities involved which might prove beneficial to the college and to an appreciable number of citizens of the State of Texas who, in the aggregate, own and operate Texas Technological college.

Since that time we have ourselves done what we advised others to do. We have studied the proposal carefully—from the Tech board's own brief and from other standpoints as well. And the result of that study is our conclusion—which we believe is shared by all citizens of Lubbock who have given the proposal similar thought—that Texas Tech will do better to exert all its efforts and powers toward improving and expanding its present plant than it will to divide its strength and efforts between Lubbock and the Pantex layout located 137 miles away.

IF Texas Tech were an old, moribund institution which already had reached the pinnacle on its own grounds and in its multiple academic phases, there might be good reason for its authorities to seek new fields to conquer.

But Texas Tech is neither old, nor moribund, nor prevented, by having already reached its height in public service, from continued growth, expansion at its present location. Texas Tech is only well started along the path to which its academic feet were set little more than a score of years ago when it was established by the State of Texas. To be sure, it has made a good start. But all of its staunchest friends will agree that it is just a start.

Out at Lubbock's western gates lies the college which, to date, is about one fourth completed as to buildings and equipment. Upon its 2,000 and more acres of land there still remain hundreds and hundreds of acres to be put to the work for which they were set out.

Texas Tech has a full-time job—a whale of a big job—left to be done in accordance with its original plans and concepts. The thing to do is to get that job done first, before wandering far afield at Pantex, or anywhere else.

AS the West Texas public fully knows, the program for which Texas Tech originally was established—and which didn't even dream of the extra-curricular activities which might be carried on at Pantex or anywhere else many miles away—has never yet been given the financial support it has deserved from the State of Texas.

Even though the men who have represented us in both houses at Austin have performed yoeman service throughout, it is no exaggeration to say that appropriations granted Texas Tech by successive legislatures to date have permitted no more than a small part of the growth and service which should have been the college's under more generous treatment. In short, the college has received from the State of Texas "only enough money to barely get along" and there are no indications that there will be any appreciable change in the situation in the years to come.

Why, then, Pantex—or any other additional undertaking which would require operational funds in excess of those needed here?

Since Tech hasn't been able to secure enough financial support from the State to more than partially do its work here, what reason is there to think that it could get sufficient support to operate a "sub-station" at Pantex?

There is no reason to think so. Instead, there is good reason to think that whatever funds the State might furnish in the future for the operations of Pantex would be largely, or entirely, taken from the basic budget and the work here thus be more handicapped than it has been in the past.

WE have no criticism of the board of directors of Texas Tecnological college in considering the possibilities—whatever they may earlier have seemed to be—of Pantex. We think no other friend of the college who has studied the whole problem has any such criticism to offer. In fact, Tech's directorate will be remiss if and when it ever reaches the place where it refuses to consider any and all possible opportunities to enlarge the scope of Tech's appeal, or to increase the services it can perform for the people of this State.

But we respectfully call to the attention of the directorate what certainly is a pertinent fact: that the vast majority of the people of this community want Tech's job completed here before its responsibilities are extended to strange pastures, far removed.

When Lubbock's campaign to bring Tech here was successfully completed—before a single brick was laid on any building and while cattle still were grazing upon what is now the campus—the people of this community dedicated themselves to fostering, in every way, the best interests of the college. This they should have done, of course. But this they did do; this they continue to do; this they always will do.

Therefore, everything that affects Texas Tech affects Lubbock—and everything that affects Lubbock affects Texas Tech.

Members of the directorate, individually and collectively, know that Lubbock people—more than any group anywhere—have helped make the college the success it has been, and that Lubbock people will continue to do just that.

So, we believe, the college directors—now informed of public opinion in Lubbock—will keep that opinion uppermost in mind as they begin to see, as they surely must by this time, that the Pantex project is not compatible with the best interests of Texas Tech, or with its basic program of public service.

Believe It Or Not --- By Robert Ripley

Marshall's Report On The War

By Gen. George C. Marshall
Wartime Chief Of Staff

(This is the 22nd of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.

BEYOND THE RHINE

IN six weeks the combined efforts of the Allied armies had achieved a major objective. The German soil west of the Rhine had been cleared of all hostile forces. The river itself had been forced in two fortuitous crossings, and the freedom of action of the German defense on the east bank was seriously curtailed. General Eisenhower was now ready to launch his offensive beyond the Rhine.

MARSHALL

Several considerations governed the selection of the area north of the Ruhr for the main effort. A drive in this sector was the quickest means of denying what vestiges remained of the once rich Ruhr industries to the enemy. That stretch of the Rhine between Emmerich and Wesel was one of the two best sites for a forced crossing, and the Germans had brought up only relatively inferior forces to oppose such an operation. Once across that river the gently rolling terrain north of the Ruhr was most suitable for mobile and tank operations, the type of warfare it was desired to force upon the enemy because of his shortages in tanks, vehicles, and motor fuel.

After a heavy aerial and artillery preparation, the Second British Army began an assault crossing of the Rhine during the evening of 23 March. Next morning, the U. S. 17th and the 6th British Airborne Divisions were dropped north and northeast of Wesel. British troops crossing the river soon established contact with the airborne forces. The U. S. Ninth Army crossed between Wesel and Duisburg early on the 24th, meetnig light to moderate resistance. Within two days seven bridges had been built across the river and the British-American bridgehead stretched 25 miles along the Rhine to a maximum depth of 6 miles.

Eisenhower Praises Troops

General Eisenhower was with the Ninth when it jumped off. He described the attack in a letter:

"I have just finished a rapid tour of the battle front. Yesterday and the day before I was with the Ninth Army to witness its jump-off and the early stages of the Rhine crossing. Simpson performed in his usual outstanding style. Our losses in killed, during the crossing, were 15 in one assault division and 16 in the other. I stayed up most of one night to witness the preliminary bombardment by 1,250 guns. It was an especially interesting sight because of the fact that all the guns were spread out on a plain so that the flashes from one end of the line to the other were all plainly visible. It was real drumfire.

"I have noted so many unusual and outstanding incidents in the forward areas that it would almost weary you to tell you of the fine Performances of American and other troops. For example, the Engineers of VII Corps laid a Treadway bridge across the Rhine in 10 hours and 11 minutes. While not actually under fire, this job was done under battlefield conditions with all the necessary precautions taken to prevent unusual damage by a sudden concentration of enemy artillery fire. It was a brilliant performance."

During the critical week ending 22 March, United States aircraft alone made 14,430 heavy bomber attacks, 7,262 medium bomber attacks, and 29,981 fighter sorties against targets in Europe.

By 25 March hard fighting in the Remagen area had extended the bridgehead to a depth of 10 miles and a length of over 30. The German High Command, expecting an immediate drive on the Ruhr from this direction, had concentrated strong forces of Army Group "H" north of the Sieg River. To their great surprise, General Hodges broke out of the bridgehead to the southeast on 26 March, when his armor drove to Limburg, seized a bridge over the Lahn River, and raced along the superhighway toward Frankfurt. Other armored columns of the First Army, speeding eastward as fast as 40 miles a day, reached Marburg and Giessen by 28 March, and then swung northward through the hill country west of Kassel. Troops of the Third Army crossed the river at Mainz to reduce the German pocket bypassed between Mainz and Frankfurt while, to the east, other Third Army forces drove on toward Kassel and the line of the Fulda River. With solid contact between their advancing corps, the First and Third Armies were now executing a massive thrust to the northeast into the heart of Germany. The complete rout of the German military establishment was now under way.

Resistance Shattered

In the sector of Field Marshal Montgomery's Northern Army Group, the U. S. Ninth Army pressed into the northwest section of the Ruhr. Still further to the north, resistance on the right flank of the British Second Army slackened considerably toward the end of March, and armored troops broke through to Dulmen. Meanwhile, on the left flank of the Second Army, the enemy withdrew, and British units crossed the Dutch border on a 30-mile front.

During the last week of March both of General Devers' armies in the south crossed the Rhine. The Seventh sent the XV Corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. W. H. Haislip, cross on a 15-mile front between Gernsheim and Mannheim. Our troops took Mannheim and advanced 25 miles east of the Rhine. The II Corps of the First French Army crossed the Rhine near Germersheim and established contact with the Seventh Army south of Heidelberg. By 1 April, French troops had advanced 18 miles.

The magnitude of the offensive smothered resistance all along the Western Front. The shattered condition of the German transport system and the sustained speed of the Allied advance prevented the enemy from coordinating a defensive line in any sector. He did offer bitter resistance at isolated points but these were bypassed by the armored columns, leaving pockets to be mopped up later. During the month of March nearly 350,000 prisoners were taken on the Western Front.

Judgment Is Given In Homicide Case

A judgment of $500 and court costs was handed down Tuesday by County Judge Walter Davies in the negligent homicide case of Robert Neill Hale, 17-year-old Levelland youth, after the accused had voluntarily appeared in the office of County Attorney Syrian Marbut and stated he was prepared to plead guilty to the charges.

Judge Davies stayed execution of the judgment until June 11.

The charge accused Hale of having driven his car on the left side of another vehicle traveling in the same direction the night of Oct. 28, when the highway was not clear at least 50 yards ahead and, as a result—without any apparent intent to kill—driving his car into one operated by Wilburn Wenzel, 16, of Brownfield, and causing fatal injuries to Marjorie Neill, 19.

The mishap was near New Deal school, at Monroe.

Miss Neill, of 1611 Fifteenth, was night operator of Western Union and had been in Lubbock only four months after moving from Midland. Her home formerly was Levelland.

Eight other persons were injured in the collision.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

TWO cases have just come to my attention, both of which are so similar that there must be thousands of others like them.

In case Number One a wife and husband were divorced and the father was required by the court to take care of the daughter until she was eighteen.

The girl went to an academy not far from New York and the father paid all her expenses. She was an excellent student and her one ambition in life was to become a teacher.

BRANDEIS

A few day before she was ready to pass the final examination and receive her diploma she was called into the principal's office and notified that her father had stopped payments on the day she became eighteen, a couple of months ago, and that as much as they would like to let her finish her education, the rules of the school forbade it and she would have to leave.

The girl was heartbroken and tried frantically to get in touch with her father, but in vain. He would not even talk to her on the phone. The mother could not afford to pay the arrears—and the girl had to leave.

Today this very fine young girl is working as a clerk in a department store, completely disillusioned and, I am sorry to say, she has completely lost her interest in life and is pretty much on the road down.

Case Number Two is even more pitiful: a divorce, a rich father, a poor mother, a daughter with tuberculosis in a private sanuitarium at Saranac Lake.

On the very day this girl reached eighteen the father stopped payments. The mother has had to move out of her little apartment and go to some healthier climate where she can take care of her daughter and maybe eke out a precarious living.

I wonder sometimes why hatred can so completely transform human nature into cruelty and take from it all the finer instincts of the soul.

I don't care how justified these two divorces were—I don't care how good the reason was for two people who once loved each other to detest each other now.

Those children were conceived in love and are in no way responsible for the misdeeds of their parents.

Mind you, both of these men have plenty of money.

Their only reason for their meanness is that they want to hurt their former wives.

Divorce in itself is bad enough, although it is an irremovable adjunct of our so-called civilization.

But why take it out on the children?

Why ruin the life of a human being which you yourself have brought into the world and whose downfall, if it comes, is your own moral downfall as well?

Whatever other immortality there may be, the only evident and visible immortality lies in the lives you create and that life after you.

To kill your child's spirit or body is to kill your own right to live.

Unless you call the accumulation of wealth living.

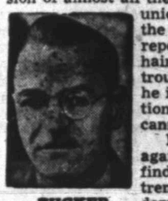

A New Trend In Labor?

Political Alignments Tottering

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE AMERICAN labor movement may have reached a turning point within recent weeks as a consequence of the realignment of leaders at President Truman's Labor-Management Conference and these demands for legislation creating a fact-finding agency and barring strikes for at least 30 days.

Although they say it is difficult to speculate on any postwar trend, that is the present day conclusion of almost all the leaders of the more important unions, including Philip Murray of the more radical CIO. His friends report that the lovable, white-haired Scot is an unhappy and troubled man these days, and that he is growing weary of his association with leftist groups which he cannot control.

TUCKER

Labor's surprising revolt against President Truman's fact-finding proposal signifies the new trend — away from government domination. Now that the CIO is is aligned with the UMW and AFL for the first time in years, union leaders may cooperate to combat the government as well as industry. Unless President Truman can heal the break, political repercussions in 1946 and 1948 could defeat the Democratic party.

CONSERVATIVE: John L. Lewis, who is so conservative that he voted the Republican ticket in the last two presidential elections, was the first to sense that labor was swinging too far to the left under CIO inspiration. He represented the rightist and individualistic viewpoint at the Washington conference.

He brought President William Green of the American Federation of Labor around to his way of thinking, and he did not have to argue with the heads of the Railway Brotherhoods. That organization, which has not had a serious strike in many years, is one of the most sober institutions if its kind in the country.

David Dubinsky, head of the garment workers, is a bitter enemy of Sidney Hillman. In the recent New York mayoralty election his sympathies lay with Judge Jonah Goldstein, the defeated Republican candidate, while Hilmman's American Labor party plumped for William F. O'Dwyer, the successful Tammany nominee.

REUTHER: Although Walter P. Reuther inspired and spark-plugs the motor industry strike in Michigan, he is regarded as less of a firebrand than either George Addes or Richard Frankensteen, secretary-treasurer and vice president, respectively, of the Automobile Workers union.

The outcome of the higher wages drive against General Motors may increase or imperil Reuther's status with the rank and file. If he wins even a partial victory, he will be the No. 1 man in the most influential union in the CIO. Should he lose, the Addes-Frankensteen radicals may get control.

Incidentlly, Frankensteen's defeat as a candidate for mayor of Detroit last month has also tempered the thoughts of labor leaders. They are coming around to the United Mine Workers' chieftain's belated realization that they jeopardize their fortunes when they become too closely attached to politics or any single party organization.

Like the prohibitionists, the public utilities, Wall Street and businessmen generally, they suspect it may be smarter to paddle their own canoe.

REFORM: The reputed manufacturers' tax strike supposedly holding consumption goods off the market has sparked discussion of a reform in the writing of future revenue acts. Parliamentary lawyers are now studying their volumes on Capitol Hill to ascertain whether the proposed change would have legal status.

The new idea is that Congress, in enacting a statute revising the tax structure, should keep secret the exact date when it becomes effective. One proposal is that the bill contain the provision that the new rates become operative by proclamation of the President or by a joint resolution passed when it is not expected.

HUSBANDLY: The MCs have heard reports of the alleged withholding of postwar products, and it has been dinned into their ears that the automobile industry hopes to postpone any strike settlement until after January 1, thereby saving the higher taxes they would have to pay on 1945 profits from new cars. But the members paid scant attention until the recent opening of the capital's social season and the Christmas shopping period.

Congressional ladies return home after a wearisome tour of the stores with the news, which they obtain from saleswomen and buyers, that the warehouses are stocked with shoes, lingerie, dresses etc., but that the makers will not release them until after New Year's. Several private husbandly investigations convince the legislators that the shortage of material has been artificially created for tax-saving purposes.

POPULATION: The most recent population figures for the United States and other countries disclose that, despite estimated World War II deaths of 25,000,000, there are more people on this exasperated earth than ever before, and that their number is still increasing.

Hope of the future still sways the human heart and emotions, even in the face of the atomic bomb

This discovery has led experts in these things to question the British, French and Russian programs for artificial stimulation of births, including the payment of big bonuses for little babies. They see the seeds of another global conflict in this competition.

Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini adopted these same methods at a time when they were complaining that they did not have sufficient living room, food and employment for their existing populations. The pressure for space and sustenance eventually became unbearable, and the outcome was a global war.

SURVEYS: The "more babies" campaign in England, France and the Soviet Union could have the same tragic results, in the opinion of students, unless the squeals of new arrivials were accompanied by a betterment of the conditions under which they must live.

Recent surveys indicate that none of the major powers, including the United States, needs a larger population, which would lead those nations to insist on more land, greater trading opportunities, more home-grown or imported food and immigration concessions. The present Palestine problem illustrates the point.

Failing to obtain these privileges for their surplus populations, the nations which take too literally the Biblical injunction to "multiply" might some day emulate the Axis powers and fight for their economic and geographical demands.

AIM: The United States should take a lively interest in this question at postwar sessions of the economic branch of the United Nations organization, according to our experts. Population pressure, especially where a low living standard prevails — and that means everywhere outside this country —has been a cause for conquest since the days of Genghis Khan.

The UNO's aim should be, these experts think, to persuade foreign governments to improve living conditions for their people instead of increase the number of hungry mouths and bodies which Uncle Sam may have to feed and clothe.

NEED: Incidentally, Ireland and France present the most illuminating arguments for low or high population, to wit:

Erin's population is only half as large as it was 100 years ago, while France has increased by one-seventh in that same period.

Today Ireland is one of the richest countries in Europe ,after centuries of dire poverty, whereas even prewar France suffered from extremely low standards of living — a fact which explains the rise to political power of Communists and Radical Socialists in that normally conservative land.

Party Again Follows Conservative Policy

GOP Slips Back Into Old Ways

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

CHICAGO—Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois, who might be properly regarded as an authentic voice of Midwest Republicanism, said at one point in his speech before the Republican National committee here:

"The people are tired of double-talk. No party can be all things to all men."

STOKES

He was indicting the Democratic party.

He added:

"Let us Republicans be true to ourselves and our honest beliefs. I predict that if we do that, we shall gain ten votes for every one we lose."

He won thunderous, enthusiastic applause with that.

He obviously included his own party in the indictment, for he spoke out vigorously against those who would compromise with the New Deal or imitate it.

Conservatives In Power

He put his finger on the dilemma of the Republican party, plain to any observer of the National Committee in action, with the pull both from the left and the right, as in the Democratic party. This was clear in criticism by both sides of the vague interim party platform composed by Republican leaders in Congress for the Congressional elections next year.

But it is evident that the conservative, old guard element is dominant here, that it is preparing to take over in anticipation of the Congressional elections and the 1948 presidential election and that, if it has its way, somebody of the general cut of former Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, 1944 vice presidential candidate, will be nominated for president.

THIS element of the party, which is in command of the top posts in Congress and controls the National Committee, is done with nominating such men as Wendell L. Willkie and Gov. Dewey of New York who followed the New Deal closely on domestic and foreign policy, with the qualification that they would do it all better.

For the party in Congress has constantly repudiated the political philosophy of these two men. The old G.O.P. leadership would abandon such compromises in their national ticket, follow a pattern of strict conservatism, and make the fight on that basis. It would be more honest, certainly, for the people are aware by now that what the last two presidential candidates stood for mean little, if anything, as far as the party's actions go.

The record is written in Congress. And that record has been clear and unmistakable—beginning with opposition to New Deal reforms, continuing during the critical pre-war period with opposition to Lend-Lease and conscription. It emerges now with every effort to throw off all controls, get back to normalcy and exploit politically the irritations natural to people released from war, including suspicions of our Allies. Thus they would try to win their way back to power.

Old Ideas Proposed

That is the nauseous atmosphere here in the controlling clique. It by no means represents everybody here, nor can it represent the great rank-and-file of the Republican party, but that's the plot, and it might as well come out.

Governor Green sketched the platform for this predominant group here. He attacked the New Deal fore and aft. He condemned its expenditures, many of which, aside from war, are for social reform. He called the New Dealers deceivers, hypocrites and double-dealers. As far as foreign policy is concerned, he preached generally a strong and self-centered America, drawing back into itself. It was as close an approach as any Republican has yet dared publicly, so soon after the war, to prewar nationalism and isolationism, covered over with lip service to the Atlantic Charter which he accused the Truman administration of violating.

It was a real "America First" speech and it was hailed.

THIS trend was so noticeable that dissenters, members of the old Willkie element on the committee, were outspoken privately in their disgust, disillusion, and discouragement.

But unless they are able to arouse a rank-and-file revolt against this sort of philosophy, the party is headed in that direction.

Legion Of Merit Is Awarded Two Texans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (U.P.)—The War department today announced the award of the Legion of Merit to two Texas officers.

The Legion of Merit was awarded to Col. Luther C. Weatherly, of San Antonio, Tex., for "inaugurating and supervising many new programs to meet rapidly expanding needs of the Eight Service command." Weatherly was commended for supervisiong the initial requisitioning and delivery of supplies on the dates needed.

Col. Richard M. Levy, of Longview, Tex., also received the Legion of Merit, for services as director of the records division of the office of the adjutant general. He was credited with the organization of branches of the records department and the extension of the administration program to embrace all elements of the Army.

Nazi Leaders Shown Films Of Meetings

NUERNBERG, Dec. 11. (AP) — Hermann Goering, looking at voodoo-like torchlight rallies of National Socialism pictured on the movie screen at the war crimes trial today, remarked that if they had been show nin their entirety "Justice (Robert H.) Jackson would certainly join the party."

Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrops eyes filled with tears at a scene of the Fuehrer speaking and he exclaimed: "Don't you feel Hitler's tremendous personality? For us it is the most fearfully stimulating thing that has happened.'

But dark, frowning Hans Frank, the "butcher of Warsaw," was bitter. His comment: "That is the man the Germans made a tin god of.'

American observers agreed most of the accused hitler leaders reacted "like a group of school-children" re-living their most glamorous adventures.

Wartime Pipeline Is Seen As Life Saver In Northeast Storm

AUSTIN, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—The "big inch" pipe line could be a life saver for a frozen northeast in event of a severe blizzard, Chairman Olin Culberson of the Texas Railroad Commission said today.

It was Culberson's understanding that the war oil line had been partially filled with oil. This would eliminate the days required to fill the line with oil before deliveries through it could be made.

Culberson said, however, there was no indication of transportation difficulties through purchasers' nominations for January show a decided shortage of available fuel oil.

A first of the month estimate that Texas oil production might be recommended to take a 50,000 barrel a day decrease may be changed as a result of fuel oil conditions, Culberson thought.

The U. S. bureau of mines estimate of January demand has not yet been received by the Texas commission, which will hold its statewide meeting to consider January oil allowables on next Tuesday here.

Session On Resuming Citrus Ceilings Set

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (U.P.)—Economic stabilizer John C. Collet will decide after he meets with a group of citrus dealers Thursday whether to return ceiling prices to citrus fruits.

The Office of Price Administration has recommended that price ceilings be put back, since prices have doubled since ceilings were removed Nov. 19.

It is understood that the department of agriculture opposes the erturn of price ceilings on citrus fruit since prices have recently begun to decline after their quick rise.

STOCKS SHOW SLIGHT LOSSES

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — The stock market slipped on balance today, after successive rising sessions to 15-year peaks, but weakness was a rarity and many favorites managed to emerge with comfortable plus signs.

Aircraft manufacturing issues and specialties successfully contested the trend throughout. The viations were buoyed by big backlogs and earnings prospects after excess profits taxes are shelved. Dividends were helpful. Gains running to 3 points were well distributed at the close but declines predominated. Transfers of 1,690,000 shares compared with 2,150,000 Monday.

Labor controversies caused some customers to retire. Predictions of a business boom in 1946, following a temporary depression, propped bullish sentiment.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .1 of a point at 77, first setback since Dec. 4.

At tops for the move were Douglas Aircraft, up 3¼ after an earlier jump of more than 5: Boeing United Aircraft, Sperry, Lockheed, Murray Corp. and J. J. Newberry, the last-named responding to a split-up proposal.

U. S. Steel lost ⅜ and Bethlehem was up ¼. Eastman Kodak tacked on 3 and lesser gainers included General Motors, Goodrich, American Telephone, General Electric, Westinghouse, Du Pont and Texas Co. American Airlines dropped 2⅞ and recessions were posted for Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Packard, Santa Fe, Pan-American Airways, Standard Oil (NJ), Kennecott, Consolidated Edison and Loew's.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 (AP) — Aggressive mill and local buying advanced cotton futures into new seasonal high ground today as the demand disclosed a scarcity of offerings. The smaller crop of this season, improving statistical position and broadening export demand for the staple were strengthening factors. There was considerable switching from the near to later months partly attributed to year-end evening up operations.

Futures closed 20 cents to 60 cents a bale higher.

Fire Takes Heaviest Death Toll In Bombings, Survey Reveals

By REUEL S. MOORE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 (U.P.)—Fire, not the exploding bomb, is the greatest air-raid killer and the chief menace against which civilians must be protected if the country is to survive future wars.

That is the grim conclusion reached by a special board of medical men and scientists after a survey of U. S. strategic bombing of Germany. Their report was made public today.

Millions Made Homeless

They found that bombings in the Reich killed 500,000 civilians, wounded 700,000 and made 7,800,000 homeless. Deaths from actual bomb blasts, however, were relatively infrequent as only persons within 30 yards of an explosion were affected. Fire was the real killer.

"Preliminary reports from Hiroshima and Nagasaki," the report added, "indicate that the number and type of injuries sustained in an atomic bomb attack do not differ greatly from those inflicted upon the German civilian population in the great fire raids."

Called "Fire" Raids

The Germans called the raids on industrial cities "fire blizzards." The fires created 90 mile an hour drafts which literally sucked many persons into the flames. Street temperatures were recorded up to 1472 degrees farnheit.

Up to 80 per cent of air raid deaths in Germany were due to carbon monoxide poisoning which attacked victims in cellar shelters or trapped in wrecnage. The gas came from imperfect combustion and broken gas mains. Breathing superheated air and direct burns caused many deaths. Many bodies were found shriveled from extreme dehydration, with no sight of other injury.

PLANS FOR A-BOMBING OF SHIPS TO TAKE TIME

By LEE NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Progress of plans for international control of atomic energy may determine whether the world will have grandstand seats when the United States conducts its great atomic bomb experiment on ships at sea.

Formal announcement that the U. S. is preparing for a gigantic naval test of atomic bombs was made last night by the Army and Navy, both of whom will take part in the experiment. The results are expected to have an important bearing on the future of navies, their size and nature and disposition in warfare.

May Be Months

Months of preparation will probably be needed before the requisite ships, men and scientific equipment can be gotten together. The announcement said the operation will involve "large problems of logistics, including the assembly of many naval vessels, extensive instrumentation for measuring results and assembly of necessary personnel."

During this period plans for some sort of world control of atomic weapons will be going forward. The United States is pressing for international action. It has already talked it over with Britain and Canada, its partners in atom bomb development, and is bringing Russia into the discussions next Saturday.

May Set Up Control

These steps are preliminaries in the drive to bring atomic weapons under full international control through the United Nations organization.

Observers here believe that if some international formula can be devised before the experiment is ready, many outside nations may be allowed to witness the tests as observers.

Britain and Canada are more certain of observers' posts, since they helped develop the bomb. The question of whether the U. S. press will be permitted to see the tests is also still unanswered.

It is not believed here that any international agreement could be reached that would prevent holding of the test. Some U. S. scientists and congressmen have argued that we should stop making atom bombs and destroy any we still have to ease fears of other nations and prevent an atomic arms race.
