Barber launches campaign

Pat Barber

Pat Barber of Colorado City is conducting a state-wide campaign in his Democratic candidacy for judge, court of criminal appeals, place 3.

Barber, who has a private law practice in Colorado City, said "I believe in the freedom and dignity of the individual. If elected, I would follow the law and the facts, and where appropriate, I would attempt to balance the right of the individual to be free from the predations of crime with the right of the individual to be free from an occasionally overreaching government."

"I have served as both prosecutor and criminal defense attorney," he said. "I would be a fair and even-handed judge."

Barber is a past member of the Jaycees and is a current member of Kiwanis International. He has served as director of the Mitchell County Boy's Club. He is currently a member of the Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers' Association.

His professional experience includes:

• February 1989 - present: private law practice in Mitchell and Scurry counties;

• November 1988- February 1989: criminal defense practice in Coryell County;

• September 1987 - October 1988: assistant criminal district attorney (special projects director) in McLennan County;

• January 1985 - August 1987:

general private law practice in Colorado City;

• 1976-1984 - Mitchell County Attorney, private law practice.

In 1984, Barber was elected to Texas Prosecutor's Council (County Attorney Seat) and served one year. The primary duty of the Prosecutor Council was to investigate complaints against elected Texas prosecutors, with authority to impose sanc-

UIL moves C-City to new district

The University Interscholastic League announced Thursday that the Colorado City Wolves will move west into District 6-3A in football and basketball for the 1990-91 school year.

The Wolves will face Crane, Kermit, Midland-Greenwood, Big Lake-Reagan County, and Sonora in district play, said CHS Athletic Director and Head Coach Tom Ramsey.

In the District 7-3A, the district the Wolves use to participate in, there has been a few changes. Coahoma, a long-time rival of the Wolves, has dropped into a division 2-A school, whereas Ballinger, Abilene-Wylie, Clyde, and Merkel are still in the same district. Early and Comanche have also been added in District 7-3A.

The move for the Wolves, no doubt, will have many fans traveling far and wide to support the C-City, but just how far, the coaching staff will not know until Wednesday at a district organizational meeting in Crane, said Ramsey. The district game sites will be confirmed at that meeting.

There has been a tentative schedule for the first five non-district games. However, the sites for the games will not be known until the district meeting has concluded. The first game is against "old district rival" Ballinger, the second game is against 2-A, Stanton, and the rest of the teams that the Wolves will face are 3A schools Slaton, Merkel and Abilene-Wylie.

Tech coach to speak at banquet

The Colorado High Football Banquet will be held, February 6, at the Colorado Middle School Cafeteria, and this year's guest speaker is John Paul Young, an assistant coach at Texas Tech University.

Young might be a rookie on the Tech coaching staff, but he's certainly no newcomer to the game. Young came to the Raiders in March with an illustrious 27-year coaching background, including the last 10 in the professional ranks. With extensive experience in coaching linebackers, Young will oversee the Raider linebackers this fall.

A native of Abilene, Young helped Abilene High to 49 consecutive victories and three consecutive state championships in 1954-56. He was three times, All-

Manning announces for JP post

Becky Manning, 30, has announced her candidacy for Justice of the Peace for precincts 1 and 4.

Manning has lived in Colorado City for 12 1/2 years and is a secretary/office manager. She and her husband, Steve, have a daughter, Sara, 21 months old.

"I have worked as a secretary and office manager in an insurance office for the past 10 years," said Manning. "I feel this has given me some valuable experience in working with state laws, legal policies, lots of paperwork and, most of all, dealing with people."

"I feel my most valuable qualifications to be my ability to learn and my willingness to serve," she said. "I have always believed in doing the best job that I can do at whatever job I am doing, and I can promise the voters that I will do my very best."

"I have always tried to give something back to the community that supports me and my family," she said. "I have served on the Wallace Community Education Advisory Council, the Mitchell County Child Welfare Board and have served a full three years on the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. I have been a very active member of the Optimist Club, serving Mitchell County youth through the Youth Basketball Program, Christmas Toy Program and the numerous other projects that organization supports."

"I am an active member of the Baptist Church in Westbrook, where I serve as assistant nursery worker, assistant Sunday School teacher and past church clerk," she said.

"I believe that this position will give me another opportunity to serve the voters of precincts 1 and 4," she said. "I believe this office to be one of public trust and I promise to be available and accountable to those who elect me. I urge every voter to vote for the candidate of your choice. If elected, I promise to do the best job I can do."

Larry Hale seeks election to Pct. 3 commissioner post

Larry Hale, 44, has announced his candidacy for Mitchell County Precinct 3 Commissioner.

Hale and his wife, Bee, live in the Plainview Community. They have a son, Alan, who is in the Air Force stationed in Mississippi. They are expecting a baby in May.

Hale is president of the Sundown Lions Club and an active member of the Plainview Baptist Church. He served in the U.S. Navy and received an honorable discharge.

"Economic development and growth is the forefront in everyone's mind these days," said Hale. "For the past several years we have watched Mitchell County decline industrially and economically. We have seen our work force and talented young people move off due to financial hardship and lack of opportunity. However, no one person will be able to make these changes alone. We as a county must work together to solve our problems. I believe Mitchell County is ready for a change and I want to be a part of the process with new ideas and a fresh approach."

"We must also look for alternatives in the budget," he said. "I believe it will be possible to cut back on spending while maintaining a secure governmental structure."

Hale has 24 accredited hours in budgeting and financial management from the University of Texas and Texas A&M in addition to courses in new management techniques and up-dated state-mandated laws in county government.

"I resigned from my office as commissioner of precinct 3, not because I was guilty of the charges brought against me, but because of the tremendous expense it would have placed on you, the taxpayer, and my own family," he said. "I am not ashamed to run for this office again. I believe I can help this county and help lead it to a more productive future."

"I only asked the citizens of Precinct 3 and Mitchell County to think about the future when they go to the voting polls," he said. "I would appreciate your vote and support."

Hospice meeting set Wednesday

A county-wide hospice informational meeting will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Loraine Senior Citizens Building.

Sponsored by the North

Loraine Extension Homemakers Club, the meeting will feature Paula Ammons, RN BSN, executive director of the Nolan County Hospice.

As related in a previous column, I'm not much of a singer, and therefore, I rarely sing anywhere - not even in church with the song leader glaring at me.

But even to a non-singer like me, the thought of changing our national anthem from "The Star-Spangled Banner" to "America the Beautiful" is something I hope doesn't happen.

Critics of the "Star-Spangled Banner" are hoping to have it replaced with "America the Beautiful" and point out that the "Star-Spangled Banner" only became our national anthem in 1931, when Herbert Hoover signed it into law.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" opponents say the music for it was not even written by an American, but is an 18th-century English drinking song. And, the text of the national anthem written by Francis Scott Key is about war (the War of 1812 against England). Critics also say the national anthem is almost impossible to sing well, covering the range of an octave and a fifth - whatever that means. Perhaps, the fifth has something to do with it originally being an English drinking song.

True, "America the Beautiful" was written by the American musician Samuel Augustus Ward in 1882. The words are by Katherine Leo Bates, written in 1893. Yes, the melody is flowing and, I'm told, easy to sing. The text is about the beauty of the land, not about war and hatred, and emphasizes the love we have for our country, brotherhood and pride in accomplishment.

National anthem supporters say the symbolic importance of "The Star Spangled Banner" in 1812, as a young nation defended itself against foreign tyranny, is proudly recalled each time it is sung. It was created during a heroic defense of the nation and serves as a reminder that the price of freedom is the willingness to defend it.

Even to an untrained ear like mine, "America the Beautiful" just doesn't stir the soul like the "The Star-Spangled Banner". After all, a football game just wouldn't be the same without me humming "the rockets red glare" and "bombs bursting in air" and hearing the clash of a cymbal.

Hunters try to make a good thing better

SAN ANGELO—Traditionally, deer hunting in Texas consists of hunters descending on a landowner for a few weeks each year, taking their deer and heading home.

Today, with deer hunting a big business generating millions of dollars in Texas alone, hunters are joining landowners in trying to make a good thing better.

Dr. Dale Rollins of San Angelo, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said today's deer hunters want to see more bucks with bigger antlers. As might be expected, this is a pretty tall order. The specialist said that unless the landholding is fairly large, little or no control can be exerted over the property's deer population.

To remedy this situation, the Extension Service is setting up a growing number of deer management associations in a traditional deer hunting area of the state, the Texas Hill Country. The counties involved include Gillespie, Burnet and Llano. The land areas are fairly small, generally from 200 to 600 acres. In this situation, Rollins said, a single landowner has absolutely no control of the deer's fate unless the animals are enclosed in fences.

"This area, like most of the Texas Hill Country, has an abundance of deer, but the number of buck deer is disproportionately low, and most of those taken are too young to have quality antlers," said Rollins. "Allowing the bucks to mature another year or two would help antler size considerably, but due to the small size of most acreages, if you don't shoot these deer your neighbor will."

This lack of control stems from the size of a deer's home range which is anywhere from 300-400 acres for a doe to 1,000-1,200 acres for a buck.

"Extension personnel have gotten together with landowners who have pooled their lands to maintain some level of general cooperation" said Rollins. "We visit with them about cooperative management and come up with certain goals that they want to accomplish. These groups have met with good success in these counties."

Using these cooperatives, hunters considering long-term leases can get a better idea of the quantity and quality of the animals available.

"Essentially what we do is study the past and apply it to the present to affect the future," said Rollins. "Our method is to collect harvest records on the deer taken. By looking at antlers, ages, and weights over a period of time we can discern what effect our management strategies are having."

A very important aspect is nutrition. Rollins said if a buck is going to reach his maximum antler development, he must be on a diet of at least 16 percent protein. By contrast, a cow without a calf needs only about 7 percent crude protein in her diet to maintain herself.

A big factor affecting nutrition is simply how many deer are out there. Rollins notes that often his work with landowners reveals they usually underestimate their deer herd numbers by as much as 300 percent. He said the only way to actually know the number of animals present is through some type of survey. This is generally accomplished by helicopter or at night with spotlights.

Rollins thinks deer hunting is entering an era when hunters will have much more of a buyer's market. As deer herds expand north and west, there will be more competition for the hunter's dollars.

This kind of economic pressure, coupled in many cases with dwindling agricultural income, is resulting in a more intensive management of deer populations.

County officials attend state conference

COLLEGE STATION—About 800 county officials from across Texas took part in the 32nd annual statewide conference of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas at the College Station Hilton, January 23-25.

The conference included discussions on issues such as ethics and elected officials, redistricting, criminal justice reform, disaster and risk management for counties, county and special district laws and addresses by several state officials.

County Judge Mac Morris and commissioners Johnny Shackelford, Ed Roach and Buddy Herterberger of Mitchell County said highlights of the conference were changes in family law, juvenile case handling and law changes affecting county government.

Yoakum County Judge Jim Barron of Plains, the association president, opened the meeting.

John Gilmartin, county official program specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said county judges and commissioners who took part in all general sessions earned 8.0 continuing education units from the Office of Continuing Education at Texas A&M University. Commissioners who attended all conference sessions could apply the credit hours toward their mandatory 16-hour annual educational requirement.

The 71st Legislature enacted HB 1555, a mandatory minimum continuing education requirement for county commissioners, beginning January 1, 1990, Gilmartin explained.

The educational course work was coordinated by the V. G. Young Institute of County Government, a part of the Extension Service.

Other officers besides the president include Gus Mutschler of Brenham, Washington County Judge, first vice president; Lee Walker of Denton, commissioner in Denton County, second vice president; and Douglas H. Smith of Gatesville, Coryell County judge, immediate past president.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

HABILAMENT: clothing, attire, accouterments, especially as worn by a particular profession or class

Back in the early 1900s in Colorado, Texas, there were a number of fine swimming holes in the Colorado River. The late LEE JONES recalled such favorite spots as "Big Blue" and "Little Blue", also "Round Rock" at the foot of Fourth Street and "Twenty Foot" at a sharp bend in the river below the old refinery site.

There also was the swimming hole just off to the west of the south bridge. (Some of the braver boys would jump from the bridge!)

It was only inevitable that boys would be boys when they congregated at the river and Jones recalled several activities the youngsters would indulge in... such as dunking each other. Or throwing red mud on one another as each tried to clean up to go home.

There also were battles with sling shots. Jones said the boys would get pea-sized gravel from the river, then from concealed spots in ravines, they would fire their missiles.

"There was no radio, no TV," Jones said, as he reflected on his Colorado boyhood. "We had to make our own fun."

No doubt about it, those boys had fun. And, sometimes residents of Colorado felt the young men were going too far.

An article in the Colorado Record July 5, 1907, offered proof.

"People who live near the river are beginning to protest against the indiscriminate bathing without regard to time, place or habilament indulged in by many these hot days. Clad only in the 'altogether', man is a sorry figure and a bathing suit would help, without a doubt," the Record lectured.

In our day and age, Mitchell County boys and girls have a modern, junior olympic-size swimming pool to enjoy at Ruddick Park. It's used extensively. Revenues total about $7,000 annually for the city and expenses approximate $21,000.

Seems like a good investment for our kids. They don't have to worry about impressing their peers by jumping off bridges or finding ammunition for their sling shots.

And adults don't have to worry about the kids' habilament.

BLESSED POVERTY

Travis Monday, Pastor

Calvary Baptist Church

Do you realize that poverty has its advantages? Well, poverty really does have its advantages. The kind of poverty I'm talking about is what Jesus called "poverty of spirit".

Jesus said, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 5:3 NIV).

What did Jesus mean by "poor in spirit?" He meant humility and awareness of one's neediness before God. "Blessed" or "Happy" are those who humbly acknowledge their need for God in every area of their lives.

The opposite of being blessed is being cursed or miserable. So we might say that the opposite of side of the first part of this verse is: "Cursed (miserable, unhappy) are the rich in spirit."

What does it mean to be "rich in spirit." It means that a person is too full of sinful pride and self-deception to admit his or her neediness before God.

What about you? Are you enjoying the blessedness of spiritual poverty?

MITCHELL COUNTY Day Care kids enjoy their Christmas present from Maggie Compton, CPA.

ALL-DISTRICT - Colorado Middle School students Cory Carlock, left, and Adrian Martinez were named to the All-District Band during tryouts recently in Abilene.

Births

Dustin Lee, son of Lynn and Herman Dunham of Snyder was born in Mitchell County Hospital January 30 weighing 7 pounds, 4 ounces. He was 19 1/2 inches long.

Hearing Test Set For Colorado City

J. Wampler, Hearing Instrument Specialist will be at 501 Walnut to perform the test. Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if the loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have hearing test at least once a year -- even people now wearing hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them. Only a hearing test can determine if you are one of them many a hearing aid can help.

The free hearing tests will be given Monday, Feb. 5th from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon at Perkin's Apothecary. Or, if you can't come in call 728-3484 for in-home service.

Greenwood beats Wolves, 58-50

On January 30, the Rangers from Greenwood came to The Pit to take on the mighty Wolves to continue district play. The last time the two teams met, the Rangers won by only 2 points, so the Wolves, without a doubt, were looking for revenge. There was one minor factor missing in Tuesday's night action, the Wolves only had six players.

In first quarter action, both the Rangers and the Wolves came out running and gunning to get their quick baskets, but at the end of the period, Dane Hoover's 10 points would be enough to give the Wolves a 15-13 lead.

As play continued in the second quarter, the Wolves seemed to have found another hot hand in Robert Lewis, as he hit the first 6 points in the early moments of the second quarter. Mark Monroe also contributed well from the "charity stripe," free throw line, where he was 5-6. With 2:23 left to go in the half, the Wolves had an 8 point lead; however, the Rangers did what they are known for doing so well, and that is pushing the ball up the court to cut the lead to 2 at the half. The mighty Wolves were were nursing a 28-26 lead.

With the first half out of the way, the Wolves would have to consider the fatigue factor; however, so would the Rangers. Although the Rangers had more substitutes than the Wolves had players, Greenwood only had about seven players they could utilize effectively, and the stage was set for the last two quarters.

Again, as in the first two periods, the Wolves came out firing and hustling to take a 38-29 point lead with 4:13 to go in the third. As play continued through the period, the Rangers shot their way back into the game to score five unanswered points to cut lead to 40-36. With less than :05 seconds to go in the third, a Greenwood Ranger "aired out" a 3-pointer and found the bottom of the net to leave the score 41-39 in favor of the Wolves.

In the final period of play, Mark Monroe had four fouls and was forced to sit on the bench for a few minutes. Jeremy Strain took over for the Wolves at the point guard position, and with only :58 seconds elapsed in the beginning of the fourth, Wendell Iglehart went down with a sprained ankle. This left no choice for Coach Claxton but to send Monroe back in the game. With four fouls, Monroe was hampered in hustling on defense, and Greenwood tried to attack the Wolves by running a slow offensive game hoping Monroe would commit a "dumb foul."

As play continued, Greenwood took the ball inside and took the lead with 4:47 to go in the game. The Wolves had several opportunities underneath, but they could not find the bottom of the nets. The Rangers started back on their attack and took a 53-45 lead, but Lewis hit a 3-pointer which brought the fans back in the game. However, on the next trip down the court for the Rangers, they hit a basket which only cut the lead to 7 for the Wolves. The only tactics left for the Wolves to do was to foul the Rangers hoping they would miss on their free-throws. This method partially worked as Greenwood made 4-8 free-throws. Monroe managed to stay in the game with :34 seconds to go in the game. Just leaving the Wolves with four players, but Lewis also fouled out with :21 seconds to go. With all the excitement gone, the game ended with Greenwood the victors, 58-50.

Scoring for the Wolves were Hoover, 22; Lewis, 13; Iglehart, 7; Monroe, 6; and Tracy Ausbie, 2.

In Junior Varsity action, the Wolves were playing the part of "catch-up" through the whole game against Greenwood. At the end of the first period, the Wolves were trailing by a score 18-13. In the second quarter, the Rangers kept the lead by running a fastbreak offense to get their points, and at the end of the half, the score was 34-23.

As the two teams took the court in the second half, Greenwood began their assault by running a fastbreak to take a 23 point lead over the Wolves. At the end of three, Greenwood led by a score of 53-30. In the final period, the Wolves saw much of the same by Greenwood, and at the end of the game, the score was 70-50.

Lady Wolves fall to Greenwood

The Lady Wolves played an exciting and close game against the Greenwood Rangers, Tuesday night, January 30, to continue district play. Although the Wolves lost a hard fought game, the play by both teams was just as thrilling as the boys game.

In the first quarter, the Wolves and Greenwood both had their share of turnovers, but the Rangers capitalized on the miscues by the Wolves. At the end of one, Greenwood had a 10-4 lead.

As the Wolves tried to regroup for the second period, the Lady Wolves turned to Brittany Bridgford for scoring, and Bridgford connected for 10 points and 7 rebounds in the second. Although she had an excellent quarter, the Wolves committed five more turnovers than the Rangers, and Greenwood just kept converting them into points. As the end of the half came to a close, the score was 22-16.

As the second half began, the Wolves could not buy a basket as Greenwood prevented the Wolves from scoring for the first two minutes of the third quarter. The Rangers had scored 6 points before Jennifer Munoz hit a 15 foot jumper to get the Wolves on the scoreboard, but Bridgford got into foul trouble early and had to sit out the remainder of the third period. The score after three complete quarters was 39-24 in favor of Greenwood.

As the final period got underway, the Rangers pulled the ball out and started to work the ball inside patiently. Greenwood did this to keep the clock ticking, and they did a relatively good job until the last 3:00 minutes of play. The Wolves tried one last rally to pull off the victory. With the score being 41-26, the Lady Wolves started pushing the ball up the court and cut the lead to 9 with 1:55 to go in the contest. The Wolves even cut the lead to 5 with 1:26, but a controversial and technical foul were called, and Greenwood increased the lead back to 6 with 1:06 left. Each team then traded a basket a piece, and the Wolves had :19 seconds to pull off the victory, but it was a case of "a little too late" as Greenwood won by a score of 47-41.

Bridgford ended the game with 22 points and 15 rebounds for the Wolves. Others scoring in the contest were Munoz, 8; Cami Redwine, 4; Bridgett Bridgford, 3; Kendra Ritchey, Melissa Rivera, and Angie Picola, 2.

The Lady Wolves were 9-13 from the "charity stripe" whereas the Rangers were 15-20. From the field, the Wolves were 16-54, and the Rangers were 16-36.

In the Junior Varsity game, the Lady Wolves also lost. The score was 37-26. At the end of the first period, the Wolves were trailing by 6. The score was 14-8. In the second period, the Lady Wolves couldn't get the ball rolling and found themselves trailing by a score of 19-10, and they found themselves trailing in rebounds by 24-13.

As the second half began, the Rangers kept running a slow paced offense, and their defense did not allow the Wolves to score many baskets. At the end of the third period was 31-19. In the final quarter, Greenwood kept playing a tight man to man defense that disrupted the Wolves plans of trying to make a late fourth quarter comeback, and at the end of regulation time, the score was 37-26.

Scoring for the Wolves were Bea Rivera, 7; Jackie Smith, 6; Angela Biggers, 5; Wendy Bradbury, 4; Michelle Lara, 2; Lisa Lara and Priscilla Rivera, 1.

Loraine blasts Blackwell, 86-48

In basketball action Tuesday night, January 30, the Loraine Bulldogs played Blackwell in district play. Shawn Finley led all scorers with 22 points to help in the victory against Blackwell. The Bulldogs blewout Blackwell by a score of 86-48. Others scoring for Loraine in the district win were Anthony Williams and Ruben Vasquez, 14; Heath McGhee, 13; David Lopez, 10; Martin Solis, 7; Clayton Lee, Chris Phillips, and Adam Madrid, 2. The Loraine Bulldogs are 4-3 in district play with 3 games left to play.

Lady Wildcats fall to Roscoe

The Westbrook Lady Wildcats played Roscoe on January 30, to resume district play. The Wildcats have suffered through district play as they hold a 2-5 record in district play, and Tuesday night was no exception as they fell to the Plowgirls by only 4 points. Sherry Putman and Stephanie Matlock had 19 and 14 points as they lost 50-46.

Westbrook and Roscoe also played a couple of Junior Varsity games with the Wildcats taking victories in both contests. The score in the J.V. Boys game was 60-37, and in the J.V. Girls game, Westbrook won by a score 50-46.

The Bulldogs, up to this point, were undefeated with a record of 6-0; however, Tuesday night, the Bulldogs suffered their first district loss by a score of 53-45.
