Joe Burkett To Seek Rehearing

COURT MOVE TO KEEP NAME OF ALLRED OFF BALLOT IS PUSHED

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 24.—Joe Burkett, San Antonio attorney, today planned to file a motion for a rehearing in the fourth court of civil appeals on a district court restraining order which would keep the name of Attorney General James V. Allred off the general ballot as Democratic nominee for governor because of alleged excessive campaign expenditures.

The appellate court Saturday dissolved the district court's restraining order. Allred's attorneys contended that the ruling dissolved the question.

Early Trial Sought

Burkett maintained that the appellate court ruling dealt only with the restraining order and the case remains to be tried on its merits. He said he would seek to have the trial set in the next term of the ninety-fourth district court, beginning Oct. 1.

Burkett filed six additional interrogatories in district court, directing them to Raymond Lang, manager of radio station KTAT, Fort Worth; Carl Estes, Tyler newspaper publisher; Martin Campbell, manager of radio station WFAA, Dallas; J. E. Josey, Houston capitalist; Bert N. Honea, manager of radio station WBAP of Fort Worth, and Hugh C. Hopper of Houston, who according to the plaintiffs, was connected with the Houston Allred campaign headquarters.

NEW LEADS IN KIDNAP CASE FOLLOWED

SUSPECT'S FOOTPRINTS AND FINGERPRINTS BEING CHECKED

BY RONALD DIXON

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—New trails gave police a chance today to prove their contention that Bruno Richard Hauptmann kidnaped the Lindbergh baby.

State troopers in New Jersey—where Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., was stolen from his crib and done to death in 1932—obtained Hauptmann's fingerprints. Their commander denied that they had the prints of the kidnaper, permitting a comparison, but another investigator called them "the one priceless piece of evidence."

Ladder Offers Clue

New York police took Hauptmann's carpentry tools for microscopic examination. They reasoned that nicks and bumps possibly might fit the tooled ridges and grooves on the homemade ladder down which the abductor carried the baby from a nursery window.

The ladder, which broke under the weight of the kidnaper and his victim, also figured prominently in a third track which the investigators took. They ordered an x-ray of Hauptmann's left ankle to determine whether a fracture had caused the phlebitis which he suffered months after the abduction.

Department of justice disclosed there is a similarity between footprints of Hauptmann and that found near Lindbergh home the night of the kidnaping.

Prosecutors say they are ready to press three charges.

Extortion in connection with the ransom double-cross is the charge before a Bronx county grand jury in this city. Defense counsel heard Hauptmann already had been indicted, but this was denied.

Kidnaping and murder charges are planned in New Jersey.

FDR PREPARES FOR ACTION

PRESIDENT PACKS HIS BAGS TO RETURN TO THE WHITE HOUSE

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 25—President Roosevelt packed his bags today for a return to the White House after a month's comprehensive survey of national conditions.

Whatever he had in mind for action at Washington upon his arrival there tomorrow morning was undisclosed, but he will make a radio address Thursday evening, in connection with the New York Herald Tribune conference on current problems.

To Outline Views

Within a week or so, Mr. Roosevelt will talk to the nation over the air, giving a report of his stewardship and an outline of his views for the future.

There is every indication that he is confident of the trend of the times but ready to take whatever steps he feels may be necessary to bring better days.

Today was set aside for disposition of routine papers which have accumulated during his days of study with national leaders of all thoughts. Late tonight he boards a special train for the capital.

NRA Question Up

The National Recovery administration is the principal thought of the president at this time.

With Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier and recognized economist; General Hugh S. Johnson, hard working industrial administrator; and Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, and other business and labor leaders he has given it closest consideration.

MONDAY STAND IS REVERSED BY SOLONS

MAJORITY MORE THAN NECESSARY TO MAKE BILL EFFECTIVE

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 25—The Texas house today reversed its decision of yesterday and adopted a conference committee report on a bill to issue $6,000,000 state relief bonds. The vote was 120 to 18, twenty more than necessary to make the bill effective immediately.

Quick action toward final adoption on the conference report in the senate was anticipated. The senate yesterday approved the conference bill 26 to 1 but late last night withdrew its acceptance to await house developments.

Solons Back-Track

The entire legislative machinery was thrown into reverse as the house backed tracked over its action of yesterday. Four votes were necessary to vitiate previous decisions.

Opponents of the bill joined with proponents in giving the measure enough votes to go into effect on signature of the governor after their efforts were defeated to have it sent to another committee for removal of provisions objectionable to the house.

A resolution to suspend the rules to permit final house passage of a senate bill to provide for regulation of refined petroleum was adopted 87 to 39 in the house today. Adoption in the senate was necessary before the house may proceed with the bill.

FAMED WESTERN FILM STAR IS COLLECTOR OF STAGE COACHES

BY FRANK TOLBERT

When Tom Mix talks, whether about his appendicitis operation or one of Pancho Villa's raids, it is with the excitement and the natural humor of the old cowhand who likes best his food cooked over a fire of mesquite knots.

Mix is probably the world's greatest collector of relics that have a western or horseman's significance. Anything that has historical connection and is "horsey" Mix wants it—maybe it will be Queen Victoria's tally-ho stage coach or maybe Brigham Young's sheep-skin saddle.

Buys Queen's Coach

When he was in Europe a few years ago he bought the stage coach in which the English queen once took her grandchildren on week-end picnics. Tom says that he's not going to take it to any picnics.

When either of his daughters, Ruth and Tomasina, is married, Mix is going to hitch a quartet of gotch-eyed, spotted ponies to the picnic hack of royalty, and go to the wedding.

This morning, with a gang of circus workers crowded about him

HUNT HOBO IN GIRL'S CASE

CHILD WHO VANISHED LAST WEDNESDAY IS STILL MISSING

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 25—A middle-aged hobo who lived in a hayloft beside a railroad track, was hunted today for questioning in connection with the disappearance six days ago of little Dorothy Distlehurst.

Whether he could throw more light on the case than two acquaintances who were brought up to police headquarters shortly before midnight by police and U. S. department of justice agents remained a question in the minds of officials. The two were allowed to return to their home after questioning.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Distlehurst, who live in suburban East Nashvile, vanished last Wednesday as she was walking home from a kindergarten. Her path led across a railroad track.

Meanwhile, the belief that Dorothy may have been the victim of an attack that resulted in her death or may have met death in some other manner was somewhat strengthened by a report yesterday from state Bacteriologist William Litterer that blood stains found near where she was last seen had been made within the last week.

He could not say, however, whether the blood was from a human or an animal.

ALL SOUTH PLAINS IN CITY TODAY FOR FAIR AND SHOW

It's circus day!

And all the South Plains is in Lubbock to see Tom Mix and his circus and visit the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Arriving in the early morning hours, the motor caravan of the Sam Dill-Tom Mix show proceeded immediately to the fair grounds where everything was agog with activity as the "big top" went up and scores of Lubbock youngsters lent their muscles to "heave-ho" as they carried passes for the show.

Mix Is Headliner

Headlined by the inimitable western movie and circus star, the show is playing two performances this afternoon and tonight at the fair and thousands were flocking through the gates this afternoon to indicate one of the largest daily attendances at the fair. All stores in the city were closed this afternoon in observance of "Lubbock day" and owners and employes were attending the circus and fair.

Hundreds of people lined the streets as a parade was held through downtown Lubbock at noon.

The afternoon performance was at 1:30 and tonight's show will begin at 7:45.

All the acts of a big circus are included in the show and seats will be available for more than 6,000 persons. Included in the crowd will be more than 3,000 children who bought special ten-cent tickets through the courtesy of the Avalanche-Journal.

Special Concert Offered

Riding numbers, dog acts, aerial performances, clown acts and all the other exhibitions of a circus are included in the show, besides Tom Mix and his troupe. Mix also performs in a special concert at the close of the main show.

The flying Jordans, the Ward troupe, Hobson riding act, Buddy the trained seal, Texas Irma Ward and a host of others are billed for the show. Many of the performers are stars of other big shows including the Sells-Floto, Ringling brothers and others.

LOCAL STORES CLOSED FOR AFTERNOON

HUGE THRONGS GO TO FAIRGROUNDS FOR LUBBOCK'S DAY

Lubbock turned out in full force today to show the South Plains that it was wholeheartedly behind the Panhandle-South Plains fair on its 21st birthday anniversary.

Starting with a good crowd as soon as the gates were open this morning, the gate keepers were kept busy all morning. As noon came, the rush grew and indications were a record crowd would see the show.

Double Bill Today

Combining both the circus and Lubbock day was a master stroke. Lubbockites entertained their out-of-town relatives who came to see the circus. A double bill—a fair and a circus, was one thing many people did not want to miss.

Gratified at yesterday's record attendance of 15,243, fair officials prepared for a huge crowd. Yesterday's attendance was 5,500 in excess of last year's opening and it was hoped a proportionate increase would come today over the second day a year ago.

Judging Under Way

Livestock judging began this morning, with D. W. Williams of College Station handling the beef cattle; Roy B. Davis, Plainview, the dairy cattle, and I. L. Bandy, Dallas, the poultry. Agricultural results were to be announced late today.

Lubbock stores closed at 1 o'clock this afternoon for the rest of the day. The banks also closed.

Up and down the midway of the John T. Wortham shows, through the several exhibit buildings, past the concession-stands, the automobile show, the livestock barns, the industrial exhibits, and on to the race track the crowds surged jostling, laughing, eating cones and confections.

Exhibits Draw Crowds

One of the chief attractions was the 14 vocational agriculture displays, where a "real educational at-

P. A. ROCKEFELLER TAKEN BY DEATH

NEW YORK, Sept. 25. (AP)—Percy A. Rockefeller, nephew of John D. Rockefeller and a prominent New York financier, died early today. He was a director of important banks and industrial corporations.

Flower Display Is Said To Be Unique

The flower display at the Panhandle-South Plains fair is larger and more unique than anticipated, Mrs. W. O. Stevens, department superintendent, said Monday. It is the best one of the past several years, she said, despite the drouth of the summer.

A cockscomb bouquet showing 10 varieties of the plant, grown from one package of seeds, was displayed by Wallace Rix. Colors in this bunch range from a deep red to a dull mustard green. Some of the specimen are of solid color and others are mingled. The range of variety in the bouquet is so great that some of the specimen have little resemblance to the cockscomb family.

J. C. Dean, one of the judges who has acted in that capacity for the past 12 fairs, commented especially on the roses. "As a whole they are the prettiest and the most unusual flowers that I have ever seen at a fair in Lubbock."

Most of the flowers were raised in Lubbock, although a number came from Idalou, Slaton and other surrounding towns, Mrs. Stevens said. Judging had not been completed and the total number of entries had not been announced late Monday afternoon.

The exhibit will be replenished with fresh flowers each day this week, Mrs. Stevens said.

GERMAN TOWN THRILLED BECAUSE U. S. DETECTIVE TO STUDY HAUPTMANN CASE

KAMENZ, Germany, Sept. 25. (AP)—Arthur Johnson, New York detective who is coming here to investigate angles of the Lindbergh kidnaping case, is a famous man in Kamenz long before his arrival.

"This will give us a rare chance to see a real American detective," many people say.

(Dispatches from Madrid said Johnson, there in connection with another case, planned to leave this morning from Kamenz).

American correspondents in this Saxon town, where Bruno Richard Hauptmann, suspect in the Lindbergh kidnap case, was reared, have been deluged with requests by natives for American newspapers. "We would like to read what America thinks and writes about our hometown," they say.

The mother of Richard Hauptmann, Frau Pauline Hauptmann, has gone into seculsion, overcome by news of her son's arrest in New York. The case is an absorbing topic of conversation to nearly every resident of Kanez.

Johnson, before leaving Madrid, said he would investigate antecedents of Hauptmann and of Isador Fisch, who died this year in Leipzig shortly after his return from New York. Hauptmann claimed Fisch gave him the Lindbergh ransom money.

The group went to the park in a truck "hay-ride" style.

CHANGES SEEN IN CONGRESS

REORGANIZATION ARE NECESSARY DUE TO PRIMARY VOTES

BY CECIL B. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Almost complete reorganization of the house and some important revamping of the senate will be necessary when the 74th congress convenes in January.

The change in personnel brought about by primary contests, retirements and deaths will force the reorganization without regard to casualties that may occur in the November elections.

Speakership Vacant

Not only is the speakership left vacant by the death of Henry T. Rainey, but eleven important house committees and two senate committees are without chairmen. Virtually all the chairmanships were held by veterans who reached their posts through seniority. Most of them went down in defeat in intra-party contests.

The defeat of Senator Hubert D. Stephens in Mississippi by Theodore G. Bilbo, liberal Democrat, left the chairmanship of the senate commerce committee open. The retirement of Senator C. C. Dill of Washington did likewise to the chairmanship of the interstate committee, which handled much important "new deal" legislation.

Shift Necessitated

These changes plus the defeat of Senator Erickson (D-Mont) for re-nomination and the withdrawal of Senator Thompson (D-Neb), will necessitate a shift in the senate organization.

Shifts in the house also vacated six seats on the powerful ways and means committee—four Democratic and two Republican. This was regarded as of unusual significance because the Democratic group in this unit fixes the slates of Democratic members on all other committees.

Further, five posts on the appropriations committee, including the key positions on the military and naval sub-divisions; four on the equally potent judiciary and three on the interstate commerce committees will have to be filled.

Already Democrats, confident they will control the next house, are engaged in a scramble for the speakership and other high positions.

Six Seek Speakership

Six Democrats have announced their candidacies for the speakership. The race will get going in a big way after November 6, election day.

Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic floor leader in the 73rd congress, Chairman Bankhead (D-Ala) of the rules committee, Chairman Rayburn (D-Texas) of the interstate commerce committee, Chairman Rankin (D-Miss) of the veterans group; and Chairman Mead (D-NY) of the post office committee, appear to be the leading candidates. Representative Green (D-Fla) also has announced, while Sabath (D-Ill), Jones (D-Texas), McCormick (D-Mass) and Lea (D-Calif) are likely candidates.

The choice for the post will be made at a Democratic caucus late in December, when the majority vacancies on the ways and means committee will be filled.

State Park To Be Sought Near Post

By Staff Correspondent

POST, Sept. 25—Marshall Mason, South Plains Boy Scout worker, and George Sampson of this city are working on plans to submit to the state park board asking the conversion into a state park of 2,000 acres of land near the South Plains area Boy Scout camp.

The proposed park site would include land on top of the caprock as well as in the "brakes." Running water would be available, as well as many scenic places, deep canyons and some springs.

It is proposed to make a scenic drive, leading to the top of the caprock and then down the canyons.

ADOLF HITLER INSANE WITH POWER, LOCAL DOCTORS SAY AFTER TWO-MONTH VISIT IN VARIOUS CITIES OF EUROPE

Adolf Hitler is insane with power—he has more of it than Napoleon ever dreamed of—Hungary still boils with post-war hatred—Mussolini is just waiting for an opportunity to try out his fighting troops—Austria is peace-loving and wants to be let alone—Belgium still bears burdens of the World war—Germany is in better shape than any European nation—the average European thinks America is the "end of the rainbow" and nourishes a fervent hope that some day he may cross the ocean to this country.

Such are a few of the observations brought back from Europe by Drs. Fred W. Standefer and O. W. English, who last week-end returned from a two-month trip to Vienna where they studied at the University of Vienna, the medical center of the old world.

"Austria Seeks Peace"

Austria, "no man's land" between Hitler and Mussolini, is endeavoring to maintain peace among its people and would rather continue as the cultural mecca for the world rather than "mess with politics," the doctors declare.

The nation is more advanced in socialism than even Soviet Russia itself, Dr. Standefer observed. The state owns all the utilities, all hospitals and even apartment houses where families live for as little as $5 a month.

These large apartment houses, some of them housing as high as 1,000 families, may be found scattered throughout Vienna, their modern architecture shadowing buildings of the old. To live in them, a couple must have children and must be native born Austrians. The more children, the better apartment they get.

May Sell Lease

As long as a man pays his rent and doesn't get into trouble, he can live in the apartment. Sometimes, a man will sell his lease or permit to another for as high as $500.

Drs. Standefer and English arrived in Vienna just two days before Chancellor Dollfuss was killed. They were in their quarters throughout most of the disturbance while machine guns and rifles bristled outside. Several days later, they joined the procession which marched by Dollfuss' bier as he lay in state.

His funeral was one of much pomp and ceremony, they reported.

The "putsch" was accomplished by a small band of Nazis, the doctors say. They were the advance guard and the goal of the revolt was complete annihilation of the government. Their surprise came at a time when the cabinet was not in session, however, and only Dollfuss and one or two other officials were victims.

Vice Chancellor Starhemberg was expected to become head of the government, all Austrians thought, as he controlled the army, 80,000 men, which he financed out of his private fortune, paying their expenses and ten cents a day.

"Few Support Government"

Only about 20 per cent of the people are in support of the government, the remainder being 40 per cent socialists and 40 per cent Nazis.

The rigid technique and excellent medical knowledge of the doctors in the Vienna hospitals impressed the two physicians on their visit. Row upon row of hospitals may be found in the medical center where physicians come from all over the world to study.

Courses for American doctors are arranged through the American Medical association.

Austrians are friendly to Americans and especially is former President Herbert Hoover a hero to them. They give him credit for saving millions in the food relief work after the close of the war.

All the information learned on the political situation in the country was gained from physicians in the hospital who would only talk "behind closed doors." Apparently, no one discusses the government in the open in Austria.

Gather At Cafes

Cafes in Vienna and elsewhere in Austria are the social center of the town. People go there every day, many of them using the same table for years, and talk. The women gather at a cafe and sew. And let the first sign of warm weather show up and out goes the tables and chairs on the sidewalk. There are between 11,000 and 12,000 of these cafes in Vienna.

"The hardest thing about the cafes is getting them to take your money," Dr. English said. "You almost have to beg for your bill."

A waiter always brings you two glasses when you sit down at a table. One is for wine and the other water. The two glasses are to prevent anyone from knowing whether you are drinking wine or not, the doctors said.

The Austrians, although they drink at all occasions, are a very temperate people, the two Lubbock men reported. They said they saw only one drunk man while they were gone and he was an American doctor.

While in Vienna, the doctors visited all points of interest throughout the country. They went to see the Prater, where a world's fair was held in 1870, and there they found rides used at that time still in service after 64 years.

Blue Danube Not Blue

And much to their dismay, they discovered that the Blue Danube, the song writers spend so many lyrics on, is not blue at all, but "about the color of the Brazos river."

The Austrians are a great outdoor people. They spend much of their time hiking and picnicking in the summer and skiing in the winter. Every week-end finds thousands of people going to the country.

Vienna is still considered the music center of the world and many students from over the globe come there to study. Opera is extremely popular and the season began in September to continue until early next summer.

American movies are quite popular with Europeans, especially the Austrians, and a translation of the conversation is flashed on the screen below the picture. Most movie goers in Vienna, however, the physicians said, understand English. You can find someone, nearly everywhere throughout the city, who understands and speaks English. Each cafe has two or more English speaking employes.

Dr. Standefer recalled a conversation with a doctor in one of the hospitals, a very cultured gentleman, who asked about American circuses. An American circus, playing Vienna years ago, had impressed him more than anything else.

Remembers Texas Drink

A famous plastic surgeon in the hospital had been to America and during his tour visited Texas. Bluebonnets in Austin and a well-known Texas bottled soda drink were his recollections of the state. He said he had never seen anything so beautiful as the Texas state flower in bloom and the soft drink had always lingered in his memory.

The doctors visited Hungary and reported Hungarian women the most beautiful in all Europe.

"And as for style, Paris hasn't a thing on Budapest," Dr. English said. "The Hungarian women take especial pains in their dress."

On their return to England where they caught a boat for the States, the doctors went different routes. Dr. Standefer visited Belgium and London for several days while Dr. English went to Oberammagau to witness the Passion play.

He told of viewing the play, of having to buy a ticket that included two nights' lodging and five meals along with the admission cost and of seeing the players at the principal vocation—wood carving. It required eight hours to see the play.

Meet In London

Dr. Standefer's train passed through Germany en route to Belgium and he reported Germany in better condition than almost any other nation of the continent, having suffered no ill effects from the world-wide drouth.

The two doctors joined each other in London where Dr. Standefer had been spending ten days in the famous Moorefield clinic, the most famous eye clinic in all Europe.

In London, while visiting a famous historical place, they found evidence of English ancestry of people of this country. Adorning a plaque on a wall was the inscription, "Spencer Wells," while a few paces away stood a statue of "John Dalrymple" and at another place was a chair for "the earl of Lubbock."

American movies were popular in London, also, in spite of the attitude of the press, Dr. Standefer reported. An impersonation of Mae West by a musical comedy girl was the outstanding acting on the stage that they recalled of their visit to the theaters.

Cows which freshen in November are higher producers than those which freshen in July.

Horse Entertains For Fair Visitors

"Prince Hilliard," owned by F. M. Hilliard of Swisher county, home-trained trick riding horse is entertaining Panhandle-South Plains fair-goers with his stunts and is also entered in some of the racing events.

Foaled in July four years ago, the horse has been trained by Mr. Hilliard to do a number of stunts. He "shakes hands" with all four feet and can be ridden by boys and girls as well as grown folk.

Yesterday he visited the Avalanche-Journal offices and was put through his paces to entertain the crowd. He walked right into the office through the front door and was perfectly at home.

"Prince is a good cow pony, a fair race horse, a trick horse and a work horse," said his owner. "I had lots of fun with him at the Amarillo fair last week."

MATADORS AND WESTERNERS PRACTICE

LUBBOCK HIGH MEETS RANGER AND TECH FACES McMURRY

The Texas Tech Matadors and Lubbock High's Westerners are laboring these days on the practice lot, preparing a rousing reception for week-end foes.

Friday night at Matador Field, the Westerners collide with the heavyweight Bulldogs of Ranger High. The Bulldogs have most of their veterans back and they are even heavier than last year. So it is with realization of the tremendous task ahead of them that the Lubbock High gridmen are working

Lubbock Won Last Year

Last year Lubbock defeated Ranger, 26 to 21, with a final quarter rally. The Bulldogs scored in almost the first minute of play, piled up a commanding lead of three touchdowns. Then with the speed of Captain Rufus Ryan and the blocking power of the whole team, the Westerners scored with staccato rapidity to put them out in the lead just before the final gun sounded.

The Westerners came out of the Big Spring game physically intact, no injuries have cropped out during practice sessions, and they will be able to throw the same lineup at the bulksome Bulldogs. Jeton Meador, end who was injured in drills week before last, is expected to be back in uniform this week.

At Matador Field today Texas Tech's gridiron army will undergo their first workout of the week. Recuperating from their grilling conflict with the University of Texas, the Matadors took things easy yesterday, but this afternoon they are to begin, with grim purpose, preparation for defense of their field against the McMurry Indians here Saturday night.

Tickets On Sale

Coach Medley, whose 1933 team was the only aggregation to defeat Jack Chevigny's St. Edwards Saints, is famed for his ability to make a fighting club of raw and untried material. This year, however, he has a troupe of boys with both weight and experience. Field general for the Indians is C. L. Harless of Littlefield.

Tickets for the McMurry-Tech game are on sale this week at the J. and J. Sporting Goods store. The price for reserved seats is $1.10.

Tickets for the Westerner-Bulldog game go on sale today at the J. and J. store also. Only section C, in the middle section of the west stands, will be reserved. Other grandstand seats will sell for the same price, 75 cents, as reserved seats.

Student tickets for the game will be 25 cents each. E. J. "Pinky" Lowery, athletic business manager, announced last night. The week-end's largest football crowd is expected the Westerners tear the wrappings of their home season.

Detroit Backs Into Flag As Reds Down Yankees

SPORTOGRAPH by COLLIER PARRIS

Title Copyright 1933

DATE for the national motorcycle polo championship game has been set for October 21, at Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia. The Philadelphia Quakers will meet the Lubbock Redshirts.

Wade Anthony, corresponding secretary for the local motorcycle club, has received a letter from the Quaker secretary, J. Horky, and the president of the American Motorcycle association, naming the date and sanctioning the game.

Philadelphia is going to make quite an affair of the game. The date has been selected with an eye to other athletic schedules, and nothing else is billed for that week, or the preceding week-end. Lubbock will receive one half the guarantee money immediately, the rest after the game.

IT WOULD SEEM that Coaches Cawthon and Smith will be content to struggle along with their own coaching ideas and without any extra help or hints from this department or any other, which is perfectly okie dokie by us and for which they, not us, draw pay checks. They've been doing pretty well for themselves for four years, so it isn't for us or any other sideline coaches to be butting in.

No sooner had this dept. made the suggestion that a shift or two in the Tech forward wall might help things along a bit than Cawthon announced that what shifting would be done would concern the backfield. Cawthon charges the Tech backfield with most of the faults that resulted in the Matadors defeat last Saturday night, while we were of the opinion that the ends and tackles had something to do with it. Maybe the head coach is just being nice to his line mentor. Smith, however, believes his linemen will show rapid improvement, and he plans no immediate changes.

But the backfield will take on a different appearance. The regular backfield for the next game, at least, will consist of light but experienced men. Ed McKeever, who must be some better than he's given credit for being, will be shifted to right halfback position where he will be in better position to block, and catch laterals. It is interesting to note that in Tech's toughest games, the Matadors have scored while McKeever was running the ball club. McKeever will continue to run the club, calling signals and mapping out his route from the halfback berth.

Adrian Clark, whose punting Saturday night constituted Tech's best showing, will be the quarterback on the first team, but will take orders from McKeever. D. M. McElroy, the greatest running threat on the ball club and a powerful ball player when he wants to be, will cover the left halfback position, and Marion "Stud" Harris will be the fullback.

Harris looked good the other night. Cawthon believes he will make a very valuable hand indeed. He knows the system, his assignments and he's fairly fast. He will replace the heavier but slower Bear Curfman, who always did shine brightest while playing for the shock troops. Gwynn Dowell, another potent power who is capable of being a truly great backfield man, also goes to the shock troops for a while. Curfman will be switched from fullback to right half on the shockers, and Winford Baze, who did the neatest bit of open field blocking we've seen in a long time the other night, will be known until further notice as the fullback on the second team.

Someone advances the opinion that maybe the Matadors lost because, in their effort to convince Texas players and fans in general, they played too much "touch" football instead of tackling and blocking with earnestness. It is true that Coach Chevigny of Texas and all the Longhorn players interviewed said it was one of the cleanest games they ever played in, and that the Matadors were gentlemen from opening whistle to final gun. There was very little rough stuff but it was no pink tea affair at that. The Matadors suffered more injuries about the face and neck than the Texans, and several of Pete's boys were considerably scarred up after the battle. But there's no complaint from that quarter.

Umpire Poe, whose duty it is to see that rules of sportsmanship are obeyed, told Cawthon and Smith that it was a very high type of game. All the officials admitted that they had dreaded working the game. Afterwards they said it was one of the easiest games to work they'd ever tried.

Chevigny said he would not be averse to meeting Tech again next season, but that he would not agree to making it the first game on the schedule. "Along about the second week in October," he said, "would be about right." Tech and Texas had only a one-year contract, however, and Cawthon is doubtful that they'll meet next year.

PLANS are getting under way for a real bowling league here this winter. Our good friend the colonel, M. L. Davis, announces that five local firms already have announced themselves as ready to sponsor teams in the league. At least three more are expected. Davis is hopeful of conducting an 8-club city league. Hilton Hotel, West Texas Gas company, Myrick Building, City Hall and Furr Food stores have "signed up" for teams.

Any local organization or business firm desiring to sponsor a club in the league is requested to contact Mr. Davis at The Lubbock Club, basement of the Myrick building, at once. A nominal entry fee will be exacted, to which The Lubbock Club will add a neat sum of dollars. All of it will go into the prize fund, and winners in the league race will be rewarded.

TIGERS' FOE FOR THE WORLD SERIES IS STILL IN DOUBT

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in 25 years, the Detroit Tigers have won the American league pennant but whether their world series rivals would be the New York Giants or the St. Louis Cardinals none could say today.

The idle Tigers "backed" into the flag yesterday when the New York Yankees were shut out 5-0 by John Merena, a Boston Red Sox rookie right hander, and thus lost their last mathematical chance of overhauling Detroit in the race to the wire. Merena pitched five-hit ball.

Cards Down Cubs

While Mickey Cochrane's inspired club thus was sewing up its championship, developments in the National league served to indicate that if the world champion Giants are to win again they'll have to do so on their own behalf. They'll get scant help from the Cardinals.

While the Giants were idle, the Cards beat down the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, and headed for home only two games out of first place. With the season ending Sunday, the Giants have four games yet to play—two with the Phillies today and tomorrow and two with Brooklyn Saturday and Sunday, all at the Polo grounds. The Cardinals still have six on their slate, two with Pittsburgh today and tomorrow and four with Cincinnati on the last four days of the season, also all at home.

Special Series Possible

If the Giants win all four of their games, they will take the pennant no matter what St. Louis accomplishes. If they win three while the Cards capture six, the race will end in a tie and a special series of three games will be necessary to decide the league champion. Any combination of New York victories and St. Louis defeats which adds to four will automatically give the Giants the flag.

The Cards won from the Cubs yesterday by virtue of Bill Walker's seven-hit pitching and timely hitting by Pepper Martin and Leo Durocher.

In the only other major league engagements of the day, Brooklyn toppled the Phillies twice, 5-3 and 10-1, and the Athletics tripped Washington twice, 5-4 and 3-0. Jimmy Foxx hit his 44th homer in the first game.

COCHRANE THINKS TIGERS WILL WIN

DETROIT, Sept. 25 (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, who gave his longshot Detroit Tigers a hustling ride down the stretch from July to September to beat out the favored Yankees in the American league pennant race, is hoping and thinking today that Detroit will be the next world's champion.

"Now we can play out the string without any mental hazards," he said as he gathered in his strategy board for the world series. "We will go into the series ready to fight either the Giants or the Cardinals to the last out.

"I hope and think we will be the next world champions."

Cochrane's young band of players whom he led to Detroit's first pennant in 25 years in his first season as a manager, were trying to pick the winners at the fairgrounds race track when the news of the Boston shutout came.

Cochrane's plans for the next week include a little less work for some of his regulars, and a close study each night of the nip-and-tuck race between New York and St. Louis in the National league.

HORSE RACING CONTINUES AT FAIR

LITTLE DUDE WINS IN FASTEST RACE OF OPENING DAY

In the fastest race of opening day yesterday at Panhandle-South Plains fair quarter-mile track, Little Dude, 7-year-old gelding owned by R. C. Philbrick, with Pick Adams up, beat Panzy Retta, owned by Leo Denison, by half a length.

Philbrick, from Rocky Ford, Colorado, owner of a string of horses, was passing through Lubbock enroute to South Texas tracks, and entered Little Dude in the fifth and last race to pick up the $50 purse. One of the best 7-year-olds in Texas, according to track-wise authorities in the judges stand, Little Dude was featured in the Tri-State fair races at Amarillo last week.

Panzy Retta, a 5-year-old sorrel, and Lady Luck, a 4-year-old dunn, ran almost a dead heat, with Panzy Retta a neck ahead at the finish line and passed by the dun, owned by C. A. McLaughlin and ridden by Milton Garrett, 10 feet past the finish. Keefier was astride Panzy Retta, Myrtle M, a 9-year-old brown mare, was the fourth and last entry in the bunched field.

Revenue Wins Opener

Cleburne Staggs' Revenue, an 8-year-old pinto, took the lead at the start and won the first race, a saddle horse free-for-all, and the $25 purse. Revenue was a half a length ahead of Lady Ray, a 3-year-old paint mare owned and ridden by Luther Jones. The six entries in the race were bunched at the finish, with Gold Dust, H. Green's 5-year-old dun, coming across third, closely followed by Pancho Villa, a pinto owned by Walter Honey. H. Lindsey was abroad Revenue. C. C. Abercrombie rode Gold Dust.

The scheduled second race was cancelled for lack of entries. It was a shetland pony race, but the only entry was J. R. Sechrist's Booger Red.

Driftwood Drifts In

Driftwood, a 5-year-old sorrel horse owned and ridden by H. Robinson, won the third race, a free-for-all carrying a $30 purse. Driftwood beat Stanizar by a length, and Fancy, a 6-year-old sorrell mare was a close third. Joker Joe, an 11-year-old bay owned by Bob Norfleet and ridden by R. Tangway, was fourth. Fancy is owned by F. R. Farrington, and H. Lindsey, who rode Revenue to victory, was atop. Stanizar, a brown horse, 7 years old, was ridden by his owner, S. Ward.

Dolly, a long legged sorrell, 3 years old, won the "kid pony" race and the $10 purse. Dolly is owned by Charley Ellerel, who rode her. Prince, a bay ridden by his owner, Joe Baldridge, was second, and Trixie, a little paint owned by G. T. Cartwright and mounted by C. J. Bloom was the third and last entry.

The attendance at the free attraction was about a thousand. The track was heavy, mushy in spots though not splashy.

Today's race program starts promptly at 3 o'clock, officials have announced, and there will be no delay before or between races, they said. Three races have been scheduled, the first a quarter-mile free-for all, with a $30 purse, the second a saddle horse free-for-all with a $25 purse, and the third a 2-year-old free-for-all, with a $50 purse.

Buccaneers And Pelicans To Meet In Dixie Series

GALVESTON TROUNCES MISSIONS TO WIN TEXAS PENNANT

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

GALVESTON, Sept. 25. (AP)—Proud of their accomplishment, that of winning the 1934 Texas league pannant, the fence-smashing Galveston Buccaneers arrived here early today from San Antonio where last night they smothered the Missions, 9 to 2, to win the sixth game of the championship play-off and conclude the series, 4 games to the Missions 2.

Happy as a college football team after victory, the Buccaneers were met by a delegation of ardent Galveston fans.

Series Opens Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the first game of the Dixie series will be played at Moody stadium with New Orleans, Southern association pennant winner, opposing the Buccaneers. The first three games of the annual Dixie classic will be here. Saturday will be an off-day, and then the series will be concluded in New Orleans.

Galveston, after winning the straight through race and a $1,000 bonus to the team finishing on top, eliminated Dallas in the first round of the Shaughnessy play-off, then erased San Antonio who previously had eliminated Beaumont.

Manager Billy Webb, enthusiastic over the way his boys clouted Asa Hillin and George Mills from the mound last night at San Antonio with a bombardment of fifteen hits, said he would start slim Jim Bivin, right-hander, against New Orleans. Bivin won 20 games during the regular Texas league campaign, and beat San Antonio in the only game he pitched in the final championship series.

In Fine Condition

The Buccaneers are in fine physical condition for the Dixie series. Skipper Webb is confident that Beau Bell, rightfielder and ace hitter, has returned to form after being in a slump. Bell connected for a home run and single last night. His circuit wallop came with Buck Fausett on base and was the blow that sent George Mills to the shower.

Galveston went wild last night to win the pennant. Behind the pitching of Harry Gumbert, the Buccaneers hit two home runs and five doubles that convinced an estimated crowd of nine thousand that Ash Hillin had no chance to win his twenty-eighth game of the season. The Bucs shelled Hillin from the mound in the third frame after he had allowed seven hits and five runs. It was Hillin's first defeat in the Shaughnessy play-off.

The New Orleans Pelicans are due here tomorrow morning.

TAHOKA, Sept. 25 (Special)—The Fort Worth Cats of the Texas league defeated the Tahoka All-Stars but required 11 innings to do it in an exhibition game here yesterday. H. NEW ORLEANS BLANKS NASHVILLE TO COP SOUTHERN TITLE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25 (AP)—Manager Larry Gilbert and his New Orleans Pelicans rested happily today and leisurely packed their bags for a trip to Galveston, Tex., to defend the Dixie championship from the threat of the Galveston Buccaneers.

New Orleans captured the Southern association championship for its second successive season yesterday when Denny Galehouse shut out the Nashville Volunteers, 2 to 0, in the deciding game of the series.

Bucs Beat Missions

Galveston captured the Texas league pennant last night from San Antonio by taking the sixth game of the Texas series, 9 to 2.

Manager Gilbert and his team was confident today that they would win the Dixie championship again.

"If we play in the Dixie series like we played yesterday we'll trim 'em," Manager Gilbert said.

The Pelicans truly played a great ball game yesterday to win the Southern crown. Nashville though it lost, proved it had a great ball club.

Galehouse, entrusted with New Orleans baseball fortunes as he had been last season when the star-right-hander won two games in the play-off and went on to win two more in the Dixie series, "went to town" yesterday.

Allows Two Bingles

He whitewashed Nashville with two hits and only four Volunteers were able to get on base, one through a fielding error.

Hal Stafford and Byron Speece, sharing mound duty for the Vols, were hardly any more generous, for the Pelicans were given a quota of four basehits with which to win the pennant.

Two of the four were all the Pelicans needed. Both came in the sixth inning. With two out and the bases clear, Carson poled out a home run and trotted home with New Orleans' first run.

Eddie Rose followed Carson to bat and drew a walk. Then Ernie Holman, Pelican third-sacker, came up and smacked a triple out to the scoreboard in deep centerfield, scoring Rose with the only other run of the ball game.

Galehouse was nicked for one hit in the fifth inning and one in the sixth.

ENDEAVOUR IS ONE DOWN

AMERICA WILL RETAIN CUP IF RAINBOW WINS TODAY

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 25. (AP)—Barring an accident or a reversal in form on the part of either the defender or the challenger, the New York Yacht club should be privileged this evening to lock the America's cup away in its vault until another challenger takes up the quest.

As Rainbow, Harold S. Vanderbilt's defender, and Endeavour, T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger, prepared to face the starting line today for what may be the last time, even the most loyal supporters of the invader thought very little of her chances. Yesterday she suffered her third straight defeat, by four minutes, the largest margin of the series. Previously, she won the first two races of the four out of seven contest. Unless she is able to lead Rainbow home today she may just as well sail on up the bay to Bristol for her jury rig with which to make the passage back to England.

Crew Is Blamed

Rainbow, it has been apparent to all, has improved since the start of the series, whereas Endeavour's performance has been the revers. There are many reasons for the situation, but probably the most telling one has to do with Endeavour's crew. The opinion is generally expressed in Newport that Sopwith made his costliest mistake when he put his old professionals ashore and shipped amateurs rather than meet a demand for higher wages.

No mishandling of Endeavour has changed the popular belief that she is a faster boat than Rainbow and more sympathy is being expressed in Newport for Chasles Nicholson, designer of the invader, than for anyone else connected with the British invasion.

The current sereis for the America's cup is the longest in the history of competition for the famous trophy in the number of races sailed. The fifth race yesterday equalled the record and the concluding race or races exceed it.

MICKEY COCHRANE, SCHOOLBOY ROWE, SPEED AND BATTING POWER CREDITED WITH BOOSTING TIGERS TO PENNANT

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—A number of circumstances have combined to lift the Detroit Tigers to the American league peak after a 25-year interval but the four salient factors contributing to their dramatic pennant victory as well as to their world series hopes can be listed as speed, batting power concentrated in an iron-man infield, the forceful leadership of Mickey Cochrane and the pitching skill of Schoolboy Rowe.

For speculative purposes you can compare these assets with the pitching, outfield power, defence and shrewd leadership of the Giants by Bill Terry or the all-around driving power, speed and Dean brothers' pitching combination of Frank Frisch's St. Louis Cardinals, still in hot pursuit of the world champions down the National league stretch.

Rowe Furnishes Surprise

Without either Cochrane or Rowe, it is safe to say Dettroit would have been lucky to land a place in the first division. As a matter of fact the Tigers were picked in the pre-season consensus to finish no better than fourth but at that time it would have taken rare imagination, as well as prophetic vision, to have anticipated Rowe would win 24 or more games, including 16 in succession to tie the league record.

Rowe's heroic pitching in his first full big league year has won him Cochrane's designation as the starting Tiger flinger in the opening game of the world series, October 3, at Navin field, Detroit. The young giant from El Dorado, Ark., will likely be pitted against Carl Hubbell, ace southpaw of the Giants and one of the greatest "money pitchers" the game has developed in modern times. Should the Cardinals overtake the Giants, undoubtedly Rowe would find himself arrayed against Jerome (Dizzy) Dean. Any way he may look at it, it's the toughest kind of an assignment for a newcomer to world series fire and furore but they say in Detroit the Schoolboy doesn't know what nervousness means.

Crowder Second Choice

For the Tigers, Cochrane's pitching rotation probably will consist of Rowe, Al Crowder, Tommy Bridges and Rowe, with Firpo Marberry, Elden Auker and the others to do any necessary mopping up. Crowder, free from the heavy burden he carried in 1933, has made a fine comeback, since being discarded by the Senators.

It will be "Dean, Dean, Dean"—a la Kipling—if the Cardinals carry the National league banner into the world series whereas the "big four" of the Giants probably would be asked to work in this order: Hubbell, Hal Schumacher, Roy Parmalee and Fred Fitzsimmons.

CARR TO MEET VAN BEBBER

TWO MATWOMEN WILL CLASH IN TWENTY MINUTE MATCH

VFW ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED

The 35th anniversary of the founding of Veterans of Foreign Wars will be celebrated by Lubbock post 2466 with a "Dutch" lunch and short program at Shannon park tonight. After the lunch, Judge Homer L. Pharr, post member, will speak on the history of the organization and its purpose.

Membership of the V. F. W. at present includes veterans of the Spanish-American war, Chinese Boxer rebellion, Philippine expedition, the World War, Nicaraguan expedition and various other foreign services. Only members of American forces who have served outside the United States are eligible to membership.

"The V. F. W. was organized September 23, 1899, by 13 Spanish-American var veterans to perpetuate their comradeship and mutual sympathies in a permanent veterans group," Tom H. Carter, deputy chief of staff of the local post, said. "At this time the organization has 3,100 posts, organized in every state of the union and in many foreign lands, including France, China, Canada and Cuba."

Most posts observed the celebration Saturday night, which included radio talks by National Commander James E. Van Zandt, Major General Smedley D. Butler and others. The local celebration was postponed because of the Tech-University of Texas football game.

Officers for the coming year are to be chosen, it was said.

Screechless Street Car? That's Promise For This One

Heralded as virtually noiseless, this new type street car was demonstrated for the first time in Cleveland, O., after four years' time and a million dollars had been required to perfect it. Note the greater ease with which passengers enter and leave, with the new extra step arrangement. Right are shown the resilient wheels, with rubber and steel interlocked, and another unusual feature shown is that the car "brakes" on the rail instead of on the wheel.

DAWSON RECEIVES ITS CERTIFICATES

(Special To The Journal)

LAMESA, Sept. 25——Certificates numbering 3,988 and representing 11,600,310 pounds of lint cotton have been received in Dawson county according to Joe W. Williams, county agent. Glen T. Hackney, cotton adjustment assistant for the county, went to the state office at College Station for the exemption certificates. "These are believed to be the first certificates received on the South Plains," Mr. Williams said.

"Certificates are issued tenant and landlord separately, as each shares in the cotton grown on the farm in question."

Certificates are transferrable from one producer to another in the county in which they are issued. They may also be held over until 1935 or put in the national pool, to be pro-rated among members.

More than 300 Dawson county farmers signed a petition Saturday asking the secretary of agriculture to advance four cents a pound on all exemption certificates, immediately, to enable farmers in drouth areas to get prompt aid.

That Girl on Broadway says you can tell a heathen country. It is one where they kidnap missionaries instead of millionaires.

After Upton Sinclair does away with poverty in California he should try his hand at eliminating the earthquakes and the bores who insist upon telling you about the climate.

YESTERDAY afternoon The Plainsman combined business, pleasure and a civic duty.

He went to the fair, took the Little Woman and the brats and dug up a little information that perhaps the reporters covering the fair will not get to in their rush to do their bigger job.

Cornering Mrs. John Wortham, wife of the carnival king and an old acquaintance of your humble servant, The Plainsman asked her what was new on the midway.

"Good heavens," Mrs. Wortham, a jam-up good business woman, replied, "how should I know? I haven't been in one of the shows for more than three years.

Her son, Jack, and his wife, however, were more helpful.

"Take a look at the 'Loop-o-Plane'," they advised. "It's new."

So The Plainsman did.

YOUNG Mr. C. G. Clarke, of Spokane, Washington, who has been with the Wortham shows for the past five years, is operating the "Loop-o-Plane" and was glad to advise.

"Come on," he invited, "take a ride in it."

"Thanks a lot," The Plainsman replied, after watching this new riding device spin through the air like the daring young man on the flying trapeze, "but I'm awful busy. Just tell me about it."

"Would your wife like to ride?" Mr. Clarke said.

"I hope she's got better sense," was the reply.

Anyhow, here's the dope on the "Loop-o-Plane."

It is new to this section of the country.

The first two ever built were put on the World's fair midway at Chicago and did a land office business, as the one here is doing. Mr. Clarke believes he has a winner and maybe he has.

Anyhow, the "Loop-o-Plane" looks like the body of an airship.

It is attached to a long arm of steel which, in turn, is attached to an axle on an upright, high above the ground. When the motor is turned on the "Loop-o-Plane," like a giant swing, rocks back and forth on delicate balance until finally the passenger is swung 'round and 'round, from heaven to earth and back again.

The Plainsman advises it for those with strong hearts but does not advise it for those with weak stomachs!

But it is something new and those interested in carnival contraptions should look it up at the fairgrounds.

SPEAKING of the fairgrounds, Sam Dill, Tom Mix and a large entourage of men, women and animals are here today, putting on circus performances for all the citizens who enjoy that sort of thing.

You remember the Sam Dill circus, here last year—a crack up good show which has been so well met this season that its owner has had to buy larger tents upon three different occasions. Last year the show had a sell-out in Lubbock, both afternoon and night.

As a dyed-in-the-wool circus fan The Plainsman couldn't go into rigors last year when he heard that the Dill circus was coming.

A newly organized show, he'd never heard of it.

But as a dyed-in-the-wool fan he went to see it and came home talking to himself. Sam Dill had a good show last year. He has a better one this year.

Arthur was kind enough to send The Plainsman a copy of a letter he wrote Tech Director Roscoe Wilson, in which he said:

"This appropriation was made in the Senate within 24 hours after you called attention to the matter and just a few hours later by the House, where there was a sharp fight which was won.

"I am sure both Mr. Thomas and myself are pleased to have rendered this character of service to Texas Technological college."

The Plainsman hasn't talked to Roscoe about the matter but he is sure the local member of the directorate will join in with a:

Many "Firsts" Are Included In Life Of Veteran Director; Karl Freund Gained Initial Honors As Film Photographer

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24—Celebrating his 26th year in the picture business, Karl Freund, now a director, can look back over his career almost as an inventor would review his life. As a photographer for Pathe Newsreel in 1910, he was the first man to take a motion picture camera into the Balkans. He was the first man to put a movie camera on wheels and move it around. And the first to use a motor-driven camera—this was in "The Last Laugh."

He was the first cameraman to light a set entirely with incandescent lights. And he was largely responsible for the development of the present supersensitive film so necessary in modern movie making. Not a bad record.

Modest Rudy

An amusing story is told about Rudy Vallee, who is to return here soon to make another picture. Alfred Green, who will direct the film, was in New York recently, so he had dinner with Vallee to discuss the picture. After dinner Rudy excused himself a moment and returned with two books about himself. "Read these, Al," he said. "They'll help you to understand me."

Hollywood now has its first open air theater. In fact, it might better be called a drive-in theater, since you drive right into it and remain in your car while watching the picture. TODAY'S JOURNAL EDITORIAL

A BOUQUET TO THOSE WHO DESERVE IT

Very few of the thousands who, rain or shine, will trickle through the gates of the Panhandle-South Plains fair this week will give a thought or realize the great amount of work that has been done to make the exposition a reality.

Most of us are prone to go to the fair, drift through the various buildings and departments, stopping here and there to enjoy or marvel at this or that feature. But when it comes to giving any real thought to the fair—or at least to the reason for its being here—we just don't.

A number of paid fair workers have been driving themselves day and night for weeks and weeks—striving with might and main to do their jobs. The Journal hails their efforts and congratulates them but, after all, they are paid workers and "hired out," as it were, to do what they have done and are doing.

But laboring under the direction of the paid workers have been literally scores of men and women who, without thought of remuneration of any sort, have done a great job.

Many of them do the same work, year after year and, if they keep their health will be willing to continue their efforts for years to come.

Many of them do real manual labor that "The Show Window of the Plains" may be unveiled before the eyes of the rest of us and don't even expect a "thank you" or a "pat on the back" as a result.

It is these people to which The Journal this afternoon doffs a sombrero and makes a sweeping bow.

It is to these people that we say, in effect, "we appreciate what you've done."

After all, the fair is a civic enterprise, is a public affair and is a part of our social and educational life out here where an empire is being built in spite of conditions which, at times, would discourage a less hardy and courageous people.

To the men and women who, unsung and unapplauded, have done what they have done not only this year but in the years past we say "your labor is not in vain."

For they are carrying on, accepting a share of the burden and the responsibility that is every good citizen's—that is every person's who refuses to stop at doing only what he has to do to merely "get by" on this earth of ours.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—Life for the foreign diplomatic set has been just a horrible nightmare ever since the Senate Munitions Committee laid the ethics of the armament business out on the operating table and started wielding the scalpel.

Foreign attaches usually put in a tough day's work featured by sipping a little weak tea or an occasional cocktail in the lounge of the Mayflower or Shoreham.

Now they are suddenly deluged with mail, telephone, and personal calls from countrymen all heated up at the assertions before the committee that homeland officials suffer from chronic cacaethos palmi, or itching palm.

At the British embassy, where the name of his majesty is never even mentioned except possibly in a breathless and reverent toast over a bottle of old huntin' port, I'm told attaches practically swooned in rows at the rude suggestion that the king wasn't above helping the British munitions firms to turn an honest dollar.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, led a long file of lesser diplomats with a protest that was described as "more hurt than angry."

Some of the diplomatic folks actually had to cut short their three-month holiday at the shore to handle the squawks of indignant fellow citizens.

Some of the few who sport a sense of humor sat back in their cavernous chancelleries and waited the next revelations with a grim smile that meant "Huh! You're telling US!"

But most winced and were really shocked, for these one-syllable words aren't used in diplomatic language.

Hull's "in the Middle"

Meanwhile, poor Secretary of State Hull, who has labored mightily for greater goodwill between the Americas, had to take the rap for a situation for which he was in no way responsible.

It's expected that as a result of his agitated conferences with the Nye committee, there will be less naming of names in future. But the investigation will go on.

People close to the arms situation here feel that America can just kiss goodby to most of its foreign arms business now. For who wants to deal with a company whose confindential correspondence is likely to be shouted to the cockeyed world at anytime?

Nobody, especially if there has been a judicious spreading of palm-oil in the deals.

Right Down Peace Alley

Don't think the peace organizations aren't making the most of the arms revelations, either. The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom is just starting a "Congressional Caravan" out to tour the country and impress its cause on congressional candidates.

And the speakers are ordered to put all steam on the revelations of the munitions racket.

And it'll be America's first chance to "go abroad" to a really foreign country (Canada's not considered foreign any more) in the family flivver.

Secretary Hull will probably go to Laredo (American terminus of the road) himself for the formal dedication.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper just has explained to Pierre Dufresne that the powerful politician's alibi on the night when two men were murdered in his house is worth nothing at all. Harper himself has escaped from the locked and guarded apartment that supposedly held Dufresne while the murders were taking place. Dufresne maintains a scornful attitude.

AGAIN DEATH

"You appear to be armed at all points, Harper. It's a vey pretty yarn. You've almost convinced me of its truth!"

"We've had all these pieces of evidence," the detective continued calmly, "but we couldn't get them into a pattern. After we had a talk with Ellen Becker we began to understand."

Pierre Dufresne jerked as though he felt a knife at his ribs. "Ellen Becker?" he echoed faintly.

"Yes, and once again I can tell you something you didn't know before. Your bribes to her were a waste of money. She had already put her silence in pawn—elsewhere!"

Dufresne leaped up, his face working, his eyes glittering in stark rage. He gripped the detective's shoulder. "My wife—?" he choked.

Harper nodded. "Ellen Becker has been taking money from both of you. Whe nshe confessed about those notes in the sand, it became obvious how you must have planned to catch that man in your house and murder him. But you have hopelessly prejudiced your case by being secret and subtle, with the result that a perfectly innocent man lost his life as well. That part is not so easy to forgive."

Dufresne faced the detective. "Harper," he exploded, "what would you say if I denied everything, completely and absolutely?"

"You may deny all you like, but you'll find it pretty hard to explain away Ellen Becker's evidence, or those letters. Then there's the presence of the master-key on your ring, and the murder gun, first hidden in your room. Besides, there is any amount of corroborative evidence."

"But didn't you tell me you had two suspects on your list? Or were you lying to try to trap me?"

"Not exactly that, Mr. Dufresne." Harper threw his bombshell. "Mrs. Dufresne's actions are under equal scrutiny. She is known to have been away from Mrs. Morlock's house during that mysterious fire. She has refused to give any explanation or account for her movements."

Dufresne halted in his tracks, a peculiar intentness coming into his eyes, as though looking at something far away.

"I suppose you threatened my wife with arrest?"

"I am giving her every chance to reconsider her decision," Harper replied, "but continued refusal to answer my questions will force my hand."

Pierre Dufresne threw back his head and burst into harsh, jarring laughter. "Are you mad?" he cried. "No one in this house is ever going to stand trial for murder."

"The prize quandary of all time!" Sergeant Stephen Harper, still clad in pajamas, was shaving himself. He had just started the razor down the side of his face when the telephone by his bed began to ring. In a moment a voice he did not recognize was pouring out an excited tale.

"Wait a minute. . . Stop shouting, I'm not deaf," Harper protested. "Who is it? . . . O'Connor? . . . at Dufresne's. . . . Yes . . . Who? . . . Donaghy, the chauffeur? . . . Yes, yes, go on . . . Whitmore found him? . . . You've kept the others away? That's the stuff, O'Connor! Hold everything! I'll come right out!" Harper sat down on the edge of the bed.

Joseph Donaghy, the chauffeur, a suicide in his living quarters over the Dufresne garage! And there was a letter he had written—an open letter explaining his action. So this was the end of the trail for that cocky young fellow.

He hurriedly finishing shaving, dressed, and was ready at the door

THE PLAINSMAN GETS SOME MAIL

COMMENT RECEIVED ON CITY CONTROVERSY

Dear Plainsman: I'm just an old country boy—dumb and ignorant so please excuse my few rambling remarks. I have just about decided that most us folks in Texas and lot in Louisana are dumb. Why a whole lot of us couldn't even average up as a freshman in the lower house of the Texas legislature. But once in a while something happens around here that is refreshing for instance: Clark Mullican's statement for publication after the run-off primary. Folks, that was the statement of a real sporstman and I call it a masterpiece.

Then another thing is our fighting parson, everyone knows who I mean. There are several preachers mixed up in this mess now but we have one preacher that don't seem to be afraid of the devil or even his (the preacher's) best paying members and he can "tell em" without stuttering. Then again Lubbock is to be congratulated on having a mayor that can "take it on the chin."

Now when the preacher "balled him out" did he cry, or get peeved, or make excuses? He did not. He wrote another sportsman-like letter to the preacher.

Well, whether anything comes of the preacher's war dance or not, I can say this: He has managed to get high-geared promises from the executive officers of the city that would make the promises of an average candidate fade into insignificance. That is something.

Then again they are asking a hard thing of the city officials: to close up booze joints, gambling and that other outlawed business that more or less always goes hand in hand with them.

I say it is a hard thing. Of course, everyone knows that any ladies aid society could have done a better job enforcing these laws during the last year than any county or city officials have done, but there are two sides to most questions. The officers are confronted by numerous obstacles among which is public indifference. The fact that law has become despised even by judges and those in high authority and such violations as have been complained of here are commonly ignored by people all over the state. For instance: Games of chance, whether it is a roulette wheel, or a punch board, or whether they pay off in chewing gum or currency, all come under the same statute and the penalty for violation is nothing less than a pen sentence. Yet we all "wink" at them and as long as the people "don't give a durn" don't blame the poor officers too much. Then one of the officers' greatest obstacles is the ever present, inevitable legal adviser with a dignified and learned look who burns midnight oil to find "reasons" why laws can't be enforced. (It seems to me it would be fine if an executive officer could just back his own judgment a little and read through that great joke book known as the Texas constitution and statutes and find out, first hand, what he could or could not do).

Well, I feel sure we have officers as good or better than average and we will have lots of fun watching. Personally, I believe that an ordinary mayor can't do very much. If he has enough of what it takes (personality) if he is really mad (I mean determined) and his jaw is square enough he can go a long way toward overcoming the obstacles in the path of better law enforcement.

Well I am for both the preacher and the mayor.

LaVerne Kershner,
Lubbock.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.—Adv.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 3 to 9 points decline in response to lower Liverpool cables and selling against October notices. Oct. 12.44; Dec. 12.60; Jan. 12.64; March 12.75; May 12.80; July 12.81.

October liquidation incident to the issuance of first notices against that delivery was quite heavy. However, an active trade demand for the nearby positions absorbed the bulk of these offerings and combined with a fair quantity of commission house, foreign and New Orleans buying orders in the distant months, the undertone was about steady.

Prices recovered partly but turned easier at the end of the first half hour apparently influenced by an opening decline in the wheat market. December rallied from 12.60 to 12.67 and then eased to 12.62, while May advanced from 12.79 to 12.85 and reacted to 12.80. The general list at the end of the first half hiur was about 2 to 7 points net lower.

Liverpool cables reported scattered realizing and hedging against outside growths with offtake limited to small trade buying.

Near month liquidation continued quite active during the first hour and combined with rather heavy selling credited to European and far eastern account in the forward deliveries, prices sold off to new lows for the movement. After December had sold off to 12.55 and May to 12.75 or to net losses of 7 to 14 points the market rallied partially on some reactionary buying and covering. December sold up to 12.64 and May to 12.80 with the general market at midday showing net losses of 1 to 7 points.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25 (AP)—Lower Liverpool cables than due and a rather heavy issue of October notices brought an easier but active opening of cotton here today. First trades showed losses of 7 to 8 points.

Prices eased off a couple of points right after the start making the level 8 to 9 points below the previous close. As soon as it became apparent that the notices were being stopped, prices rallied 4 to 6 points with October at 12.58, December 12.72 and March at 12.31, or only three points under the close of yesterday.

Activity featured the market all morning. The circulation of a good part of the October notices caused considerable liquidation of the near months and transfer from near to distant positions. Oct. finally traded down to 12.46, Dec. to 12.60 and March to 12.71 or 13 to 15 points below the close of yesterday.

Near mid-session prices rallied on shorts covering, October traded at 12.55, Dec. at 12.69 and March at 12.76, up 5 to 9 points, from the lows, but still 4 to 6 points below yesterday's close.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Financial markets were hesitant today and prices in most categories were irregularly lower.

Trading was extremely dull. The list, as a whole, yielded fractions to more than a point in the first hour, but many of these losses were cancelled later and replaced by small gains.

Commodities were heavy. Wheat led a substantial reaction in grains following a break in foreign markets. Cotton sagged along with rubber. U. S. government securities were about even, but secondary bonds were soft. The dollar exhibited strength in foreign exchange dealings, the British pound and European gold currencies falling rather sharply.

Some improvement was shown by shares of Chrysler, Loew's Consolidated Gas, Spiegel-May-Stern, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, Macy and American Telephone. American Smelting was off a point and U. S. Smelting was down nearly as much. Such issues as Western Union, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, National Distillers, Case, American Tobacco B, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, and Alaska Juneau were quite narrow. Standard Oils of New Jersey and California eased.

Grain Market

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 25. (AP)—Fair demand continued on the grain market here. Estimates called receipts of 4 cars wheat, 2 corn, 2 oats and 2 barley.

Prices quoted: delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard 114 1-4 to 115 3-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 88-90; No. 3 nominally 86-88. Sorghums no. 2 milo per 100 pounds 182-184; No. 3 milo nominally 180-182; No. 2 kafir nominally 176-178; No. 3 kafir nominally 174-176.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 white 105 3-4 to 106 3-4; No. 2 yellow 100 1-4 to 101 1-4. Oats No. 2 red 60-61; No. 3 red 59-60.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. (AP)—With spot delivery of corn commanding the highest premium reached yet this season, corn values developed strength late today, and rallied wheat.

Wet weather over parts of the corn belt caused apprehension as to conditioning of the new corn crop. Strength shown in the New York stock market was also a late stimulating factor relative to grains.

Corn closed strong 1 cent to 1 3-4 to 1 1-4 advanced, December new 104 1-8 to 1-4, oats unchanged to 1-2 up, and provisions varying from 25 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

Wheat, No. 1 red 1.04 1-4; corn, No. 1 mixed 80; No. 1 yellow 79 3-4 to 80 1-2; No. 1 white 84 to 84 1-2; oats, No. 1 white 56; no rye.

Stephens, Nelson Sentenced To Life

Formal sentence to life imprisonment was pronounced upon J. B. Stephens and Andrew H. Nelson by Judge Clark M. Mullican in 99th district court this morning. Juries had found Stephens and Nelson, recaptured after escaping from county jail here, guilty of robbery under an habitual criminal act.

Envelopes did not come into common use in the United States until 1240; ten years later practically all letters were enclosed.

Hollywood Bound

Very much annoyed by rumors she'll marry Peppy d'Albrew, the blonde and alluring Peggy Hopkins Joyce on her arrival in New York from the Riviera vehemently asserted she hardly knew the gentleman. When the cameras were trained on her, however, she brought out this sunny smile, for she's Hollywood bound.

STATEMENT MADE ON CAR MISHAP

J. W. Boney of Littlefield, driver of a truck that was in a head-on collision with an automobile driven by T. L. Lesley, 51, of Shallowater last night in Shallowater, made a statement of the accident to County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, and paid a fine of $13.15 upon pleading guilty of overloading a truck in Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg's court this morning.

Condition of Lesley, who possibly suffered a skull fracture and was knocked unconscious, had not been determined at Lubbock sanitarium at noon today. He under went x-ray photography this morning.

Recovered at Sanitarium

He was released at the sanitarium at 9:45 o'clock this night. He also had suffered a lacerated chin.

Boney said Lesley drove from a filling station into the highway and continued on his left side, instead of crossing the highway to the right side as the truck driver had anticipated he would.

The truck was carrying 130 sacks of meal.

County Attorney Wilson this morning took statements from four other witnesses. W. H. Covington of Littlefield, who was riding in the truck with Boney when the accident occurred, was to make a statement.

Lesley was alone, highway patrolmen said.

Abernathy PWA Job Is Delayed 60 Days

ABERNATHY, Sept. 25.—(Special)—Quickest expedition of arrangements through Public Works administration offices will not enable actual construction of Abernathy's waterworks to begin in less than 60 days, H. N. Roberts, engineer, of Lubbock estimated.

That a longer period would elapse before work could begin was anticipated.

Free of bonded indebtedness, the city of Abernathy, through its city council, passed an ordinance for issuance of $20,000 in bonds, to draw only upon the waterworks revenue. A PWA allotment of $5,500 increased to $25,000 the amount provided for the project.

A network of pipes in a 30-block area will be laid, two wells will be drilled and pumps installed, a 100-foot metal tank will be erected, and other installations will be made.

Abernathy now is without a water system.

Additional Charge Filed In Squabble

Additional developments in a squabble between Pete Duncan, 1008 Avenue B, and the family of Josh Barbee, 1001 Avenue B, led to an assault-to-rape complaint against Duncan, 20, yesterday.

He was charged in Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg's court with an assault upon Barbee's 15-year-old daughter. Mrs. Nola Barbee was the complainant.

Duncan signed a complaint charging the girl, Mildred, with using abusive language. That case was transferred to juvenile court in which the girl pleaded not guilty.

Tried for using abusive language, in a case in which Mildred Barbee was complainant, Duncan was convicted and fined $1 and costs. He was jailed when he failed to pay the fine, said Mr. Trigg.

Barbee, 50, faces a charge of assaulting Duncan with a pistol and of carrying a pistol.

HAUPTMANN

after a gasoline station attendant received a $10 gold note and jotted down the customer's automobile license number. The bill was from the $50,000 ransom which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh paid for his son, already dead; the license number was that of Hauptmann's car.

Climatic Meeting Nears

In the best manner of fiction, the unraveling of America's most notorious kidnaping brought the bereaved flier and the accused father—Hauptmann, too, has a little son—closer to a climactic meeting.

Lindbergh, now flying east to appear before the grand jury, saw an accomplice of the mysterious "John" who took the ransom over a cemetery wall. This was revealed last night. The man, a handkerchief over his face, peered into the aviator's automobile as Lindbergh awaited the return of his emissary, Dr. J. F. Condon.

Later the lookout dropped the handkerchief, apparently as a signal to his confederate behind the wall, and the colonel obtained a fleeting glimpse of the man's features.

Suspect Now Dead

Federal agents will show Lindbergh a picture of Isador Fisch to see whether the flier can identify him as well as the prisoner in the Bronx jail. Fisch, now dead, is the man who Hauptmann contends gave him a small fortune for safekeeping. The money was part of the ransom and police recovered $13,750 from Hauptmann's home.

Investigators are hurriedly winding their many skeins of evidence and pseudo-evidence so that Lindbergh may study them in the light of his experience as a leader of the hunt for his missing baby. Its body was found near its home a month after the kidnaping.

Lindbergh's appearance before the grand jury is set for tomorrow, the day on which Samuel Foley, district attorney for the Bronx, says he expects an indictment. James Fawcett, the defense lawyer, declined to disclose who had told him the true bill already had been voted.

Foley said that the extortion charge would not stand in the way should the New Jersey authorities wish to try Hauptmann on the more serious charges. Attorney General David Wilentz of the garden state predicted extradition "probably within a week."

As for the fingerprints, the Daily News said today that a "high police official" had tol it that despite denials fingerprints were found on the window sill of the Lindbergh nursery the morning after the crime.

Evidence Guarded

"That is the one priceless piece of evidence in the possession of the New Jersey state police," he told the newspaper. "They've kept it secret because they knew it was the only infallible proof. If those fingerprints tally with Hauptmann's, he might as well be sitting in the electric chair this moment."

New York police had been asked to rush the Bronx carpenter's prints to Trenton, Jersey's capital.

Colonel Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, denied again that any fingerprints other than those of the family and servants had been found at the Lindbergh home near Hopewell. He said Hauptmann's prints were sought only to determine whether he has a criminal record.

Hauptmann's tool kit held the interest of other investigators because the kidnap ladder bore marks of a plane, a chisel and a hammer, all of them clear enough under a microscope to be matched with the tools that made them.

More Leads Develop

Coupled with the decision to x-ray the suspect's leg came the news that an "Edward Hoffman" had treated at a Bronx hospital for a fracture about midnight of March 1, 1932, the night of the kidnaping. The man gave a fictitious Yonkers address and did not return as instructed for further treatment.

Police said the hospital was the one to which Hauptmann's baby was taken when it became ill several months ago.

The treatment of "Hoffman" came to light after authorities had asked all hospitals in the city to check their records. A heavy footprint below the broken ladder had led investigators to believe it was the kidnaper's left leg which had been injured.

Suggesting the x-ray, Dr. Otto Meyer told investigators that he treated Hauptmann early in 1933 for an inflammatory condition which might have been caused by an injury long before he saw the patient.

"I am not insinuating that Hauptmann's injuries resulted from a fall from a ladder," said the physician. "I am not insinuating anything."

Amarillo Caravan Is Coming Friday

Bill Beechler, Amarillo, here Tuesday to discuss Amarillo Day at the Panhandle-South Plains fair with local officals, said there would be a large motorcade down Friday from the North Plains capital city.

Mr. Beechler, chairman of the delegation, said Amarillo desired to show its appreciation for the splendid support given it by the Lubbock delegation last week.

"Amarillo is indebted to Lubbock's citizenry because of the way the South Plains people assisted in making our fair a success," he said. "Lubbock came to the Tri-State fair with a great delegation, headed by a large band and my committee is eager to show the South Plains folk that we appreciate their visit."

He has a carload of Jersey cattle on exhibit and also 53 head of hogs. The Tierra Blanca hogs are famed all over West Texas and only recently Franz sold a lot of fine gilts to Crosby county club boys. He has Poland-China, Duroc-Jersey and Hampshires.

NO FENCE CLIMBING

The boys are not getting to "climb the fence," this year as in previous years, via Shannon park. A guard, mounted on a spirited "paint" rides up and down the east fence, just on top of the caprock. Every time he sees any one, man or boy, he asks his business there and warns him not to try and climb the fence.

TECH BOYS WORK

The Tech boys are out in full force again this year, in spite of the fact that college does not open until next week. There are seventeen boys, ticket takers, working with the Wortham shows. The boys are enjoying the expefience of being right in the middle of the show.

RIDE IS POPULAR

The Loop-O-Plane that John Wortham has with his carnival this year is said to be in its sixth week. It is the only ride of its kind east of California. The ride is proving to be one of the popular rides of the midway and all the young men are tempted to take a ride on it.

Men's Bible Class Accepts Challenge

A challenge for cooperation in enforcing prohibition and other laws here has been answered by Asbury Methodist Episcopal church's men's Bible class. A resolution adopted by the class and signed by C. E. Lynn said:

"Inasmuch as a challenge has been given the ministers and membership of the churches in the city by Chief of Police H. L. (Bud) Johnston, we, the men's Bible class of Asbury Methodist church, accept such challenge and pledge support to and cooperation with the city administration and other law enforcement bodies, for the purpose of assisting in the enforcement of all laws being violated in the City of Lubbock."

COLEMAN OFFICER RETURNS SUSPECT

Identified as a fugitive, R. M. (Bob) Lamb, 44, was taken from county jail here this morning by Sheriff Frank Mills of Coleman for return to Coleman, where Lamb escaped from a courtroom Sept. 13 while being tried for burglary.

An alias Lamb gave when arrested at a drink resort here Sunday was revealed when his fingerprints were checked.

An Associated Press dispatch from Abilene last night said that Lamb had escaped at Coleman after testimony had been completed and his absence, following noon recess of court, was not discovered until attorneys began their arguments. However, the court ruled for completion of the case and the jury brought in a sentence of three years in the state penitentiary. Bondsmen of Lamb since had been seeking him.

COOPER ASSUMES POST IN LUBBOCK

To assume his new duties as secretary-manager of the Lubbock Production Credit association Wednesday, Wade Cooper, formerly president of Citizens National bank at Crosbyton, has moved his family to Lubbock. He now lives at 2124 Twenty-First street.

"I sold my stock in the Citizens National bank to Mr. E. M. Perkins, who succeeded me as president," Mr. Cooper said. "I have long wanted to come to Lubbock and feel that I have made a wise selection in this city.

Mr. Cooper succeeds Sim O'Neal, who resigned several months ago to resume his work with the oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad commission. The place has temporarily been filled by a man from Houston, pending selection of a permanent secretary-manager.

LUBBOCK DAY

traction" as Prof. Frank Phillips put it, was to be seen. The community and county exhibits in the same building, drew better crowds.

Those mechanically inclined, stopped to watch the implement exhibits or loafed and looked in the automobile show tents.

Everybody had a good time. All buildings were favorites with the crowds and no department was passed up. When the horse races started, the crowd swept over to the tracks; at the close they headed back to the midway and the horse barns.

Efforts Are Redoubled

What seemed an unusual number of trucks and cars inside the grounds indicated a good attendance. The rain of Sunday night has delayed concessions and the carnival in getting tents up and machinery ready to go. As a result, efforts were redoubled Monday to have the whole affair going.

Judging of swine starts in Wednesday morning. Horses and mules will be judged today.

Agricultural exhibit judging will be finished today. George W. Woodbury, Texas Tech; George Samson, Post; Ray Quinby, Chillicothe experiment station, and Ray E. Dickson, Spur experiment station, were the judges.

New Modernistic Washer Displayed

Hailed as the most significant development in the field of household appliances in the past fifteen years, a new washing machine is being displayed at Montgomery Wards, it was announced today by E. H. McKinney, local store manager.

The introduction of the new machine comes as a culmination of more than a year of experimental research in Wards laboratories to produce a washing machine not only mechanically sound, but decorative as well.

Representing a radical departure from the traditional type of machine, the new washer was created by Wards bureau of design with the aid of Lurelle Guild, well known industrial designer. A white lacquer cabinet, square in shape as contrasted to the old style circular tub, neatly covers all moving machinery except the wringer.

Instead of operating levers there are push buttons, all controls now handy and simple to use. The exclusive agitator swirls suds through the clothes 128 times a minute. Absence of a center post in the tub not only aids in keeping clothes from tangling but also permits high-up-sudsing to increase the cleaning speed.

FABRIC CHEATS WILL GET YOU IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT

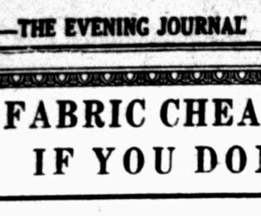

Buy all-wool clothes--be sure--with this label!

Fabric Cheats are fabrics that are made of 20 per cent to 80 per cent cheap substitutes for wool. The markets are flooded with them. Clothes made from them shrink in the rain, fade on your shirts, acquire permanent wrinkles, the nap quickly wears off leaving threadbare clothes.

And you can't tell Fabric Cheats from all-wool by looking at them

Every fabric that Hart Schaffner & Marx use must pass this infallible all-wool test

THIS IS ALL-WOOL
Caustic soda eats away only animal fiber leaving a clean hole in the fabric.

THIS IS A FABRIC CHEAT
See the vegetable fiber remaining after the wool in the fabric cheat is eaten away by caustic soda.

NOMINEE ADVISES SENATE WHAT HE WILL, WON'T DO

AUSTIN, Sept. 25. (AP)—Unlike many other Democratic nominees for legislative membership, E. M. Davis of Brownwood, party primary victor to succeed Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, didn't wait until he was officially a member to tell the senate what he would and wouldn't do.

Davis drew a round of applause when, in a courtesy talk, he promised: "I didn't declare open season on the senate in my campaign, and I won't come here with the idea of reforming it."

Former House Member

He is a former member of the house of representatives, and defeated Representative Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo by a narrow margin.

Then he outlined his program. The first point was simplification of governmental machinery, "so we can reduce costs without cutting salaries."

His chief aim as a senator, however, "is to have a part during these hectic times in helping work out a plan for the Texas centennial in 1936.

"I propose, instead of a celebration in only one city, to have a really statewide commemoration.

"Let Dallas have an exposition depicting commerce; San Antonio, history; Houston, transportation and oil; Austin, cultural advancements, and San Angelo, the pioneer spirit. Let each portray its other qualities in miniature.

Would Collect Taxes

"By that we can make visitors travel from one end of the state to the other, and we will collect some gasoline taxes, too."

Davis delivered practically the same speech in the house, but there he received a friendly jibe from Speaker Coke Stevenson.

"It looks like "Eph" takes his new duties seriously," the speaker observed. "He has started off long-winded."

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

when the car fro tmhe Homicide Bureau stopped to pick him up. In the back seat were the fingeprint man, a police surgeon, and the official photographer, his two black boxes of equipment wedged between his knees.

The snow-laden streets made for slow driving but there was not much conversation exchanged on the run up to Powhatan Terrace.

The uniformed policeman on guard at the front door to the Dufresne house looked alert and excited when he saw the official group coming up the path. "Plenty of excitement in there this morning, Sergeant!" he volunteered.

The four men from Headquarters walked into the hall. They heard voices coming from the rear of the house and found an excited group back in the kitchen. A policeman had taken his stand at the back door and Andrews and the two Whitmores were holding a lively dicussion with him.

The appearance of Sergeant Harper and his party choked off this talk. The detective greeted them briefly, then turned to the policeman. "Where's O'Connell?"

"He's out there, with the body," nodding toward the barage.

"All right, boys."

They went out the back door, crossed the porch, went down the wooden steps and along the brick path under a covered pergola. The snow had thrust its spearheads between the latticed sides, but the middle of the walk was clear. From the pergola to the stone garage was a matter of about fifteen yards and a number of tracks in the otherwise smooth snow led to the side door of the building, where there was a small porch with wooden Colonial benches on each side, under a little pent roof.

The four men crowded around the bed where Joseph Donaghy lay dead, lying back at an angle from the edge of the bed, with his head sidewise on the pillow. He wore no uniform, but had taken off the coat and vest of his civilian suit. The automatic gun was loosely held in his right hand. Hi sfeet rested on the floor, his arms were in a natural position. The bullet had been fired into the right temple.

The Coroner's man picked up the ejected shell from a fold of the bedclothes. He looked closely at the wound, then bent one of the fingers. He nodded to Harper. "Been dead six or seven hours."

Harper, satisfied with his scrutiny, gave the signal to the photographer and the police surgeon and they set about their routine procedure. Then the detective turned to the piece de resistance of this unexpected climax.

A chair, with Donaghy's feet still under it, was drawn up close to the bed. On the chair stood a portable typewriter and in it was a typed letter. The arrangement suggested that the chauffeur had finished typing, reached for his gun without getting up, pulled the trigger, and fallen sideways across the bed. Harper carefully released the letter and read it. This was the letter:

I'm going to kick off in a minute because I couldn't stand going to jail, maybe to the chair. Tonight I tried to win enough jack to make a sure getaway, but instead I dropped my roll. Harper is wise to me I know although he goes around hinting that he's got something on the boss.

I'm not sorry I bumped off Harry Dorey but I'm real sorry I had to bump off the cop. I knew him and he was a good guy but I had no choice when he butted in.

I never had any luck after I got in with Harry. We started on easy jobs but when Harry wanted to try the dirty stuff I wanted to pull out. He got nasty and said he would turn me in if I didn't play ball. So I figured out a way to get rid of him.

Look in the old tire hanging on the wall of the garage and it will save a lot of explaining. My scheme worked out fine and my alibi held up and everything would have been all right if it hadn't been for the cop.

Nobody will shed a tear because Harry has gone, so I burned all his papers. Harper can figure out the rest of it for himself. Anyawy I swore. I'd never go to jail and I won't I can't find anything to sign this with, but I guess that won't be necessary.

Harper read this startling confession through twice and put the letter aside thoughfully. "Have you been down in the garage, O'Connell?"

"Yes, sir. It's just like it says in the letter—an old tire hangin' up on a big spike."

"All right, bring the tire up here."

Presently the ruddy-faced policeman came back with the designated tire. O'Connell held it upright on the window-seat, while Harper's eager fingers dislodged the contents of the circular hiding-place.

The first, and bulkiest portion of the treasure trove proved to be a neatly-skeined length of a very thin, but exceptionally strong and durable rope. It was a brownish yellow in color and to each end of it a metal ring was bound. These rings had the circumference of a fifty-cent piece.

(Copyright, 1934, by Walter C. Brown)

Tomorrow, the piece of rope is explained.
