

Mrs. Permelia Crow Of Lutie Dies June 6

Mrs. Permelia Crow, 86-year-old Lutie resident, died in Wellington Thursday morning, June 6, at 3:00 a. m. after an illness of several weeks. She had lived in this county for the last 38 years.

Mrs. Crow was widely known through this area, and particularly in the north part of the county.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church in Wellington Saturday, June 8, at 2:00 p. m., with Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor, in charge. Pall bearers were Joe Rountree, Tom Whitson, Stanley Whitson, Lee Roark, Jess Decker and Ike Rogers.

Burial was in the Shamrock cemetery by the side of her husband, J. B. Crow, who had preceded her in death. The Ellis Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Crow was a native Texan, having been born in Burleson County June 7, 1860, the daughter of Henry and Narcissa Cook Denton. Burleson County was her home for 80 years, before she and her family moved farther to the western part of the state, then 38 years ago came on to this county to make their home.

A woman of much courage and determination, Mrs. Crow had won the admiration of those who knew her. Since the death of her husband in 1939, she had continued to manage her farms and attend to all business until only two weeks before her death. She had done this in spite of the fact that a broken hip several years ago had made it difficult for her to get around since then.

Mrs. Crow is survived by two children, Will Crow of Canadian and Mrs. Pearl Crow Coleman of Seattle, Washington. Six grandchildren also survive, Verna May Crow, Royal Crow, Frances Crow, Jimmie Crow, Elizabeth Crow and Randy Crow. Three sons preceded her in death, Vernon W. Crow, Harvey Crow and Paul Crow.

50 Boys In City Sports Program

Approximately 50 Wellington boys are taking part in the summer sports program sponsored by the city, John Lee, director, reported this week. But there's plenty of room for as many other boys as wish to enter the classes, Mr. Lee emphasized.

All activity takes place at the high school. Softball is played each morning from 9:00 to 12:00. The boys are divided into three groups, according to age, those from 7 to 9 inclusive, 10 and 11 years, and from 12 up.

Afternoon sports begin at 2:00 p. m. and continue until 5:00. These include boxing, wrestling, tumbling and basketball, all in the school gym. No classes are held Saturday.

"This is not a summer school, and the boys may join the groups and leave at will," Mr. Lee explained. "There is no charge, and we would like to see more boys joining in our sports."

The public is also invited to watch the boys play at any time they care to do so.

J. M. Moore For County Clerk

J. M. Moore this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of County Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. Mr. Moore is manager of the Warwick Feed Store here. He said:

"It is only after much consideration that I am announcing for this office. I have no promises to make to the voters except that if elected I will fill the job to the best of my ability."

"I am a veteran of World War II, but I am not seeking the office on that basis. I am asking for it on a basis of efficient service to be rendered the people of the county."

"Due to having to stay on the job all of the time, I may be unable to see all of the people, but I hope to see as many of you as I can between now and election day."

"I have lived in this county 28 of the 31 years of my life, and I feel that I know the problems a county clerk faces and what you expect of the person filling that office."

"It is with these things in mind that I am asking your support in the coming election."

Twenty-One Cars Of Wheat Sold In Wellington

Twenty-one cars of wheat have been bought in Wellington to date, and the county's 1946 crop is approximately one-third out, local buyers estimate.

Although the yield is lighter than was hoped for earlier, the quality of this year's wheat is the best the county has seen in recent years. Practically all the wheat sold so far has graded No. 1 and the average test is between 61 and 62 pounds.

The yield, while disappointing for the most part, is running from 10 to 15 bushels on most of the land now being cut, with most averaging around 12. Some land in the south part of the county which was summer fallowed is making as high as 18 and 20 bushels, owners report.

Cutting in the south part of the county is nearing completion, but harvesting north of Salt Fork, where most of the county's crop is grown, is just beginning and it is still too early to tell just how the crop there will turn out. Damp weather will hold up cutting for a few days.

Wheat is bringing $1.70 on the local market.

Very little barley and no oats have been sold here. The barley which was raised is poor in yield, averaging around 12 bushels per acre.

Changes Made In Booster Trips

Plans for the booster trips that were originally scheduled for Thursday and Friday mornings of this week to advertise the rodeo that is to be held here on June 21, 22, and 23 were changed. Due to the rain which fell Thursday morning, the trip for that day that was to have taken them to Childress, Quanah, Hollis and Mangum were cancelled.

It was not known at the time the Leader went to press as to what new arrangements had been made. However, the trip that was planned for Friday will begin at 8:30 a. m. and was originally to take the group to Shamrock, McLean, Clarendon, Memphis, and Hedley.

The booster trip is being sponsored by the VFW.

TO HOLDENVILLE

Horace Clark, manager of the Ritz and Texan Theaters for the last three years, has been transferred to Holdenville, Oklahoma, to take charge of the Griffith Amusement Co. properties there. He and his family will leave Wellington Saturday, June 15.

Mrs. Deskins Wells

* Mrs. Deskins Wells, beloved society editor of The Wellington Leader and wife of its publisher, died Monday morning, June 10, at 2:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's Hospital. Her death, which so shocked her family, her friends and the thousands throughout the county and the Panhandle who knew her, came after an illness of only six and one-half hours.

She was stricken at her home about 8:00 p. m. Sunday evening, as she, her husband and a few friends were eating supper. She was taken to the hospital immediately and was thought to be resting well until her condition suddenly became worse after 2:00 a. m. What caused her death is not known definitely.

Word of her death spread quickly Monday morning.

Marian Wells had been with The Wellington Leader since 1927, just after her marriage to Deskins Wells, its editor, and for 19 years she had been its society editor and business manager, as well as its inspiration.

The press of Texas knew her as one of the outstanding newspaper women of the state. When she came to The Leader, she began to develop a department so often neglected by weekly and smaller daily papers, and for many years her society news won the acclaim of editors and publishers.

A few years ago, when The Leader was named winner of a general excellence contest of The National Editorial Association, the judges and newspaper people from all parts of the United States gave particular recognition to the work she was doing. She was never content with its excellence, however, but continued to bring about some mark of improvement in that page of The Leader that records the hours of pleasure of the people of Collingsworth County and the interests of its women.

Those closer home knew of these accomplishments, but they knew Marian Wells in other ways, too. Perhaps most important, they knew her as a friend. And this quality of friendship with people of all walks of life and in all circumstances was one of many gifts she possessed to a rare degree.

She was a friend to everyone who has worked for The Leader in the last 19 years, and those who have gone on to other towns and other work still count her friendship as one of the most loyal of their lives.

Those with whom she came in contact from day to day always had from her a pleasant smile, a word of greeting, a little time spent in their own interest or a small favor. It is these things that so many have remembered during the last few days.

Many who have come to Wellington as strangers recall that it was her friendliness that helped open a way into community life in their newly-made home.

Her devotion as a wife and mother has been a source of happiness to her own family and of inspiration to many others. She had made her home one of contentment, and her gracious hospitality was widely known. Charm and poise, gentleness and understanding were part of her, as were enthusiasm, keenness of mind, talent and energy.

Her interests were many and they were varied. Whatever she gave her attention to, she did well, and her work contained a perfection that can come only from devotion and loyal effort.

Mrs. Wells loved flowers. She did not care to leave them growing in the yard, but preferred to cut them to add to the brightness of her own home or to give pleasure to friends. During the week end, after arranging her own flowers, she took a bouquet to Mrs. M. M. Kern and another to Mrs. C. C. Bishop, who had been ill. Such gifts went to her friends throughout the flower growing season each year.

She was keenly interested in flying and was taking lessons at the city airport. She had learned to pilot a plane and recently flew home from Plainview, where she had taken her daughter, Diane, to join other girls en route to summer camp. She flew for the last time Friday morning.

Her community work was extensive. She always worked quietly but with determination and the success of a number of Wellington organizations goes back directly to what she did to get them started. Two of her more recent activities were securing a Girl Scout organization here and helping to make possible the Youth Center and to furnish the room where boys and girls of Wellington have a place for fun and recreation.

Mrs. Wells was a past president (Continued on Page Twelve)

Date Of City Bond Election To Be Reset

The city bond election, called for June 25, will be reset at a later date than that originally announced, Judge Luther Gribble, who serves as attorney for the city, said Wednesday morning.

This change has been found necessary, it was explained.

The bond election, announced last week, will determine the issuance of bonds for sewer improvement, street improvement, an airport, a swimming pool, and improvement of the city water system.

The new election date is due to be set within a short time.

Ansel McDowell, Jr. Selected On Staff At Camp Ki-O-Wah

Ansel McDowell Jr. is one of three boy scouts selected from this district to assist the adult staff at Camp Ki-O-Wah at Lake Marvin, which is located near Canadian, during its five weeks of camp this summer. He left for Canadian last Wednesday, June 5.

As an Eagle Scout, McDowell holds the highest scout rank there is, and is the only boy from Wellington to attain this honor.

S. K. Parsons Jr. is the scoutmaster here with Sam Gholson as his assistant. The latter took Mr. Parsons and eleven Wellington boy scouts to the camp last Sunday, where they will be for one week and he will then return there to bring them back to Wellington.

Included among the many activities of the boy scout camp are riflery, swimming, canoeing, life saving, and numerous others.

Vacation Bible School Planned By Baptists

The annual daily Vacation Bible School of the First Baptist Church will begin this coming Monday, June 17, with Miss Christina Black of Fort Worth in charge. Arrangements for the two weeks school are not fully completed as yet, as volunteer workers are still needed for some departments.

All persons up to the age of seventeen may enroll in the school. The enrollment will begin at 8:30 a. m. Monday morning at the church, and the school will meet every day during the next two weeks from 8:30 until 11 o'clock in the morning.

Members of the church met on Tuesday night to begin making the arrangements and the following women will be in charge of the various departments: Mrs. Mildred Thomas, Intermediate; Mrs. Henry Davidson and Mrs. L. V. Moore, Junior; Mrs. J. C. Whisenand, Primary; and Mrs. Raymond Patton, Beginners. More workers are needed for the infant children as well as with older children, and any who are willing to offer their services are urged to contact the leaders.

All children of the town are invited to come and attend the Bible school between June 17 and June 28.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

When a lover holds two torches he is more apt to blind himself and step off a precipice. With more than two he may deliberately jump off.

Conversations are like boiling soap kettles in which statements quickly dissolve when they strike the caustic lye of truth.

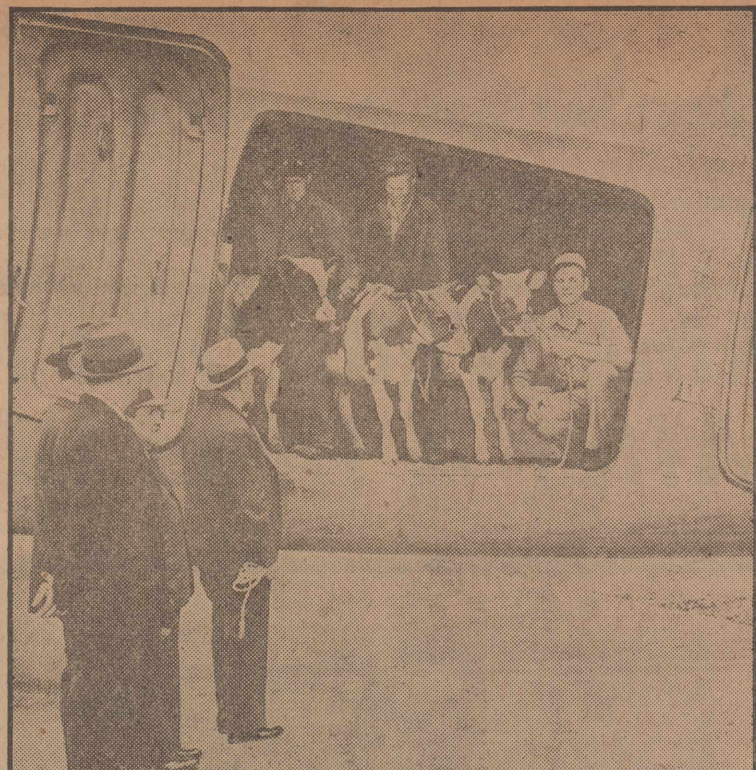

Low clouds like red flamingoes flying into the sunset and the grotesque music of frogs, frame a trivial memory of childhood. I walked a cowpath that paralleled the winding wagon road between trees and scrub oak bushes. Warm mud pushing up between my toes produced an ecstasy that belongs to the world of little boys. On hearing the plodding hoof-beats of the horse, I stopped in a sheltered place and watched. Riding sedately in a side-saddle, the woman held the reins with an ease of one used to riding. She was sobbing softly and removed a white handkerchief from her wrist, at intervals. I had never seen her before, nor did I ever see her afterwards. The instance was my introduction to the ageless answerless question of a woman's tears.

Night wore her sables of sorrow like a forsaken woman meditating at the river's shore. Tear washed stars looked down from their mezzanine of eternity with the wind playing gently on flutes of space. There was no light in the great house; the horse corral was empty. A pair of boots still bearing their spurs lay in a corner of the high-ceilinged room. Damp with dew, a mattress and bedding were spread on the spacious lawn, a few sprigs of fern lay near the gate.

Fame without friends must be as a great banquet table set for one.

Modern refrigeration is a splendid contribution to more satisfactory living but it fails in some qualities to compare with the cool spring house where my mother used to keep thick, white crocks of sweet cream.

Except for my pusillanimity, the empty house would have provided shelter until the storm passed. It stood out in bold silhouette during flashes of incredible lightening which speared light through paneless windows in the upper story. Instantly the house would drop back into the sea of night and there was less trepidation in the open hills than in the thoughts of its eerie protection. Large drops of rain quickly drove the warmth out of my shirt, then fine hail whipped by blasts of wind beat my face and arms. Water pressed up over the tops of my shoes and my trousers stuck to my legs; each step required more effort, like trying to swim while hampered by clothing. The earth trembled after each wild blade of lightning. I was looking toward the house when the bolt struck and I felt the panic of omniscient terror when flames quickly stuck their tongues through the windows. The rain was a red curtain laced by white flashes for a few minutes, then the fire retreated into the darkness from which it had sprung. The rain was like a million buckets being emptied on the earth but its panic was passing. After a time I found the road bracketed along the sides of familiar hills and rugged pieces of stars and sky moved like floating islands in a sea of tossing clouds.

Failure often owes its success to a dominating desire for comfort.

At the venue of love it is possible to become so engrossed with bidding that the item's value may have little relation to the price for which it sells.

My generation served a metamorphic period between two colorful eras; pioneer and modern. It was a depot between trains. During the period of my boyhood the prairie still held white, splintering buffalo horns, yet I saw my first live buffalo in a city zoo. A few weeks ago I learned that the vanished beasts of the prairie were the only animals that turned their heads into a blizzard or storm.

It is logical that the best place to correct a mistake is before it is made, but the experience which would be lost should not be ignored.

Judging from the nation's divorce rate America is rapidly becoming the land of the free.

But, the fact that they still perform marriages in this country is proof that this is the land of the brave.

W. H. Allen and sons visited in Pampa with his father, who has been ill, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Allen reports that his father's condition hasn't improved much as yet, and he is still confined to his bed.

Misses Frances Anne Mote and Delores Hook visited in the Bray community on Sunday afternoon.

A. V. Mote and son, Eugene, were in Childress last Saturday on business.

The farmers here are finishing their planting this week.

A deeply-moving and richly humorous exposition of life in a parochial convent school, "The Bells of St. Mary's" stars Bing Crosby and Ingrid Bergman, under the direction of Leo McCarey. It will be shown at the Ritz Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 15, 16, 17, and 18. The offering is reported to be well worthy of the talents of these three Academy award winners.

Crosby's role is that of Father O'Malley, who takes over the pastorate of St. Mary's after his predecessor's health has failed under the strain of trying to cope with the feminine domination exercised by the nuns in school affairs. Miss Bergman has the role of Sister Benedict, the Sister Superior, who has her own ideas on the subject of child education, which do not always agree with those of Father O'Malley. The friendly conflict of ideas furnishes some of the most delightful scenes in the picture. However, Father O'Malley discovers that Sister Benedict is richly endowed with a sense of humor, in addition to a great capacity for service to mankind, and at one point we see her earnestly teaching a timid youngster to box so that he can lick the school bully.

Menace is introduced by a rich but unbelieving capitalist who seeks the condemnation of the shabby old school because he wants it as a parking lot for the grand new building he is erecting next door. When Father O'Malley and his nuns go to work on him, with simple faith and unbounded optimism as their chief weapons, the menace is dispersed.

Crosby sings several old favorite devotional numbers, including "Adeste Fideles." He also sings one new number, "Aren't You Glad You're You?" composed for the picture by Burk and Van Heusen. Miss Bergman sings a little Swedish folksong, and the boys' choir is heard in choral numbers.

The supporting cast includes Henry Travers as Bogardus, the capitalist, Ruth Donnelly as Sister Michael, the Sister Superior's chief aide; Joan Carroll as Patsy, neglected waif who finds new hope and rehabilitation at St. Mary's; William Gargan as her father, Martha Sleeper as her mother, and Rhys Williams, Dickie Tyler and Una O'Connor.

Leo McCarey, in addition to producing and directing, wrote the original story, and Dudley Nichols was responsible for the screenplay. Music was under the direction of Robert Emmert Doland.

"The Bells of St. Mary's," a Rainbow Production for RKO Radio release, is heralded as one of the really great pictures of the year.

Gospel Of Christ

(Rom. 1:16)

APOSTASY

"If we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." 1 John 1:7.

There is a blessed assurance in this for the believer, but we can but note that it is conditional. "If we walk in the light," says John.

The Bible is replete with examples of children of God falling from His grace. Simon, in the 8th chapter of Acts, came into condemnation through sin. The Galatian Christians sought to turn from Christ to the law for justification and Paul said of them, "Ye are severed from Christ, ye who would be justified by law; ye are fallen away from grace." Gal. 5:4. Again Paul speaks of those who "fell away" in Heb. 6:6.

It is evident that Christians can so sin as to fall away from God's grace and be lost. Of course as Paul says in Rom. 1:8, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus," but please note that he goes on to limit this to those "who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit."

We know that God is willing to forgive us of a sin and keep us in His love, but this always conditioned upon our walking after the spirit; the light of His word. Impossibility of apostasy is one of the greatest aids the devil has.

Graham-Hoeme The Revolutionary Plow WE HAVE 'EM ON HAND!

Plowing the Correct Way

With the Graham-Hoeme two-inch chisel as shown in illustration prevents blowing, permits water to bypass top soil into the sub soil. Keeps the rubble on top, thus cutting down evaporation.

PROVEN FACTS

Enough rain falls on your farm most every year to make fine crops. But after the first few minutes of rain a smooth surface seals itself so the rate of intake is greatly lessened. This causes run-off. It has been scientifically proven that the same field will not seal itself when plowed with the Graham-Hoeme Plow with a 2-inch chisel furrow every 12 inches to by-pass the rainfall through the top soil and keep a straw mulch on top. Experiments prove that upwards of three times the moisture enters the ground.

Suppose the next day turns off fair and hot. Bare soil would soon be steaming and losing its moisture rapidly. But not covered ground. It is shaded from the sun and protected from the wind. The moisture stays in the soil.

Under these conditions your soil stays moist so long that it bridges the gap between rains.

These things are not just opinions—they are proven facts. The Nebraska Experiment Station has proven them in some of the worst years the Midwest has ever known. Now we know that a covered, corrugated field in a good, brisk summer rain will absorb 200 percent more moisture than a bare field and 64 percent more than a field with a lot of vegetable matter plowed into the surface.

Heroes of World War II will be among the speakers on the half-hour radio program which will be broadcast over all stations of the Texas Quality Network and the Texas State Network from 8:30 to 9:00 P. M.

Supporters from nearly 200 counties have already indicated their intentions of attending the Rally in behalf of Price Daniel's candidacy. The first fifteen minutes will be taken up by key speakers from various sections of the State, including G-I veterans whose exploits have been recorded in the pages of Army and Navy history. The last fifteen minutes will be used by Price Daniel in presenting for the first time to a state-wide audience the principal issues of his campaign for Attorney General.

Recent patients in the St. Joseph's Hospital were Mrs. E. T. Johnson, Mrs. Denzil Clark, Bobbie Lou Evans, Mrs. Clyde Benton, Mrs. Raymond Hall, Mrs. Constance B. Schulz, Mary Amerson of Twitty, and Ada Moffett of Vinson.

It Seems Like Yesterday

It seems like yesterday that Nancy was playing with dolls. Now she's pushing her own baby carriage. Yes, there've been a lot of changes in the last fifteen years—most of them so gradual we hardly noticed them at all.

Nancy didn't grow up all at once. A tooth at a time—a curl at a time—an inch at a time—and suddenly a little kid sister was Mrs. Joe Jones, mother of Joe, Junior.

Like Nancy, the use of electricity has grown a lot in the last fifteen years. But the price of electricity has been going down steadily. You may not have noticed it because your bill may be about the same—but how many appliances have you added to your home since 1931? Actually, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money now as then.

Keeping electric service plentiful and cheap through years of rising costs was not easy. That today's electricity is at its very lowest price in history is a tribute to the hard work and experience of the men and women in the industry, and to its sound business management.

Editorial

In Italy a satisfying meal costs $5. In Vienna a total day's food equals a poor American breakfast. In Yugoslavia the only sustenance for many cities is three slices of bread daily. On the whole Continent, one out of every five infants under a year is starving to death.

In the name of suffering humanity and justice, we must heed the plea to share food. It entails no sacrifice. The American is inherently generous and kind. Sorrow and suffering affect him deeply. But, paradoxically, we are the most flagrantly wasteful people on earth, a frailty doubtless due to our heritage of plenty. Though it is a statement difficult to prove, those in charge of food conservation say that American waste alone could almost feed Europe's hungry. It could certainly add to the emptiness of a million stomachs.

We are making much ado about bread lines and "no bread" signs that are gradually creeping into the limelight. But go into a grocery store, look at the succulence on the shelves, if not bread, then vegetables, fruits, other starches. When you have finished your shopping, prepared your meal and eaten it, then look at what is left on the table. Could you not have done on less? Did you really need that last slice of bread? Did you not eat a little more than you intended to? Then think what that waste would mean to a Greek family eking out a meal on

• Poor Substitute

Again it has been demonstrated that government management is a poor substitute for natural economic law. The magazine Fortune has published a comprehensive discussion of the world-wide food problem. Famine stalks much of the world. The United States had been counted upon to help prevent starvation of millions. It had promised aid which tragic political tinkering with agricultural production will make impossible of fulfillment. With damning finality, Fortune declares: The U. S. was short of wheat in a time of world famine because the United States government had deliberately planned for scarcity. By manipulating price ceilings and subsidies, the government had made it more profitable to turn their grain into meat than to sell it for bread and other uses—Clyde Warwick in The Canyon News.

• Traffic Tragedy

As we read the tragic toll of the traffic accidents each morning in our daily we find ourselves wondering how much attention people pay to safety hints and warnings in the matter of driving. Every day there is the same gruesome recital of mangled car drivers and passengers from the same cause—too much speed. No one's time is so valuable that he must risk his life and the life of those riding with him to save a few minutes or a few seconds. No one who drives a car but knows it is subject to mechanical breakdowns that cause disaster at high speeds. No one who drives but does not know the possibility of road hazards, loose gravel, and chuck holes. Yet every day these things cause disasters and kill and maim scores. The smart driver is the safe driver—T. B. Klepper in the Foard County News.

This is the time of year when we again put off today what we should have done yesterday.

boiled herb roots. These starve while we fatten. Too many of us aid the gross economic waste of the black market. It is our shame that few of us are not guilty of critical waste.

We can do more to save food. The restaurants can do more. The Dallas County Food Conservation and Famine Relief Committee does not ask us to cut down our eating to the bare subsistence level. It asks for no undue sacrifice. It asks conservation, saving, thoughtfulness. It asks, in the name of suffering humanity, hearts of brotherhood. It asks, as we bow our heads in grace, to think of our invisible guest that prays for mercy.—The Dallas Morning News.

Farm And Ranch Youths Will Have State Fair Exhibit

DALLAS—School-age exhibitors entering livestock in the Junior division of the State Fair of Texas October 5-8 will be furnished sleeping quarters and all meals on the Fair Grounds, R. L. Thornton, president of the State Fair association, announced this week.

Responsibility for the housing and feeding of 4-H, Future Farmer and other school-age exhibitors will be assumed by the Junior Farm and Ranch committee, Ray Wilson, chairman, said following a meeting last week. The committee will also provide entertainment for the young Fair visitors on Farm and Ranch Youth Day, he announced. According to Wilson, entertainment plans under discussion include tours of Fair Park exhibits and buildings, sight-seeing trips through major Dallas industries, and possibly a big show in the Cotton Bowl with top-flight entertainers being imported for the occasion.

Messing facilities will be established on the Fair Grounds to furnish food for participants and young visitors, Wilson said. Exhibitors will be housed in dormitories in the livestock show area.

Wilson stated that his committee, composed of prominent Dallas business men, would see that youngsters arriving at the Fair Grounds were provided with a safe-directed program from the time of arrival until departure.

State Schools Face Critical Teacher Need

The Texas State Teachers Association has just completed a survey among the city and county school superintendents to determine the condition of the teacher personnel in Texas. Replies were received from 945 superintendents representing 36,057 teaching positions or about 80 per cent of the total in Texas. Since the opening of school in September, 3,633 teachers have resigned their positions which represents about 10 per cent of the total. Of the teachers included in the survey, 5,546 were listed with sub-standard qualifications which represents approximately 15 per cent of the total.

Local districts are exerting every effort possible to keep teachers in the classrooms but many superintendents report that it appears impossible to fill all of their positions this coming year because of the low salaries paid and the number of resignations which are anticipated at the close of the current school year. Practically all of the cities in Texas report resignations averaging 13 per cent. Many local school districts are voting to increase their tax rate or will increase property valuations in order to secure more revenue for teacher's salaries. 110 independent school districts have voted a tax increase above the rates they levied a year ago and 142 report that they plan to hold elections for tax rate increases soon. In 40 counties, one or more common school districts have increased their rates and 10 counties report that they plan to hold elections for this purpose soon.

It is estimated that 8,500 Texas teachers entered the armed forces and industry from September 1941 through 1945. However, only 1,277 have returned to teaching.

In looking over the results of the survey, Mr. Anderson said: "If we are to keep a staff of well trained teachers in the public schools of Texas, we must materially increase salaries. There is no other solution to the problem. The continued exodus of our teachers from the classrooms presents an alarming condition. We must give our attention to this problem immediately with the hope that local communities and the next session of the legislature will provide greatly increased support for the public schools."

Public Danger To Be Considered In Setting Meetings

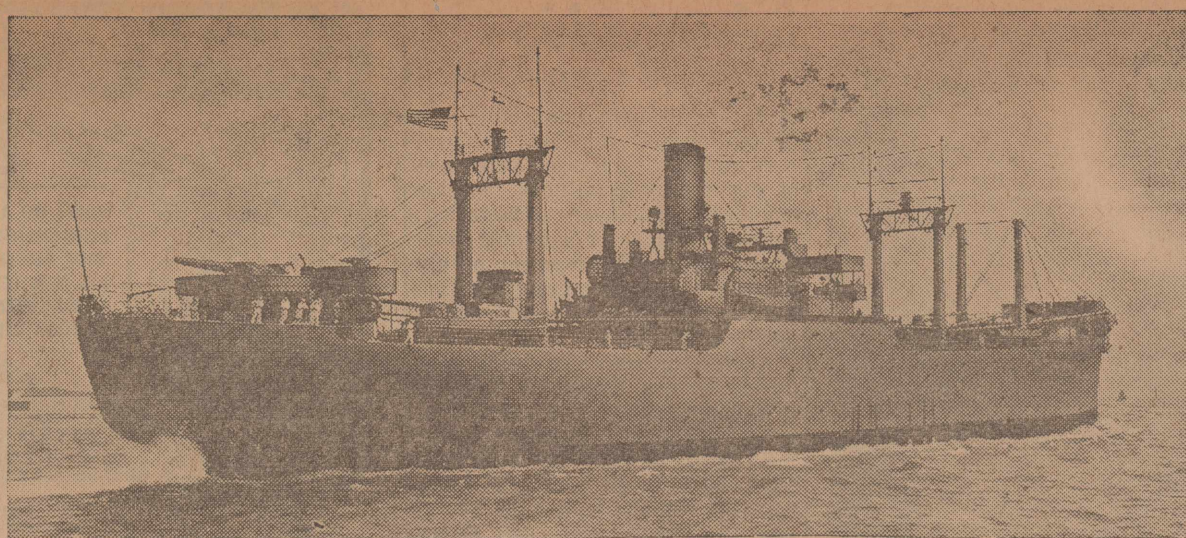

Workers of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service in practically all of the state's 254 counties have been instructed to consider protection of the public health in scheduling any meetings either of young people or adults.

J. D. Previt and Maurice Hearn, vice directors for the Extension Service said today they had charged county agents with the responsibility of cooperating fully with state and local health authorities in cancelling meetings deemed unsafe for groups of people.

"Any necessary local safeguards for the protection of public health and the prevention of spread of epidemic disease, must always be given first consideration in planning Extension meetings," they said.

Epitaphs for speeders from the National Safety Council: "He was just dying to see how fast he could drive . . . He died with his boots on the accelerator."

Injuries to farm people totaled 1,500,000 in one year, reports the National Safety Council.

TO SERVICE SUBS DURING ATOM-BOMB TESTS

Submarine-tender, the USS Fulton, is another of the ships which will repair and service the ships of the target fleet. This sub-tender and other craft like her, serviced submarines during the war, making it possible for them to operate almost continuously in the forward areas. The Fulton will be among the support units anchored about ten miles away from the test-area to check the bomb damage.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

With Layne Beatty, WBAP, Fort Worth

The revision to pre-war scale activities was given a boost in Vernon last week by the Santa Rosa Roundup and Rodeo, staged on elaborate rodeo facilities with 8000 person seating capacity built from scratch in 90 days by E. Paul Waggoner.

Scattered rains over Wichita Falls-Vernon-Crowell area put wheat and other small grains in a varied condition, but about two-thirds of the crop had been harvested last week with surprisingly good yields and better than average weights. Early varieties had nearly all been harvested, though some Tenmarq and Comarcho and other later maturing kinds still stood in the fields. Recurrent showers slowed down the combines in many localities.

Panhandle grain conditions are spotted, as local showers have left some drought-stricken fields to be plowed up, while neighboring fields are flourishing in grain, making a peculiar patchwork. Cattle are in good condition in the panhandle, we are told. Heavy rains have been received in the upper panhandle. Amarillo received its first load of 1946 wheat last week, the earliest in 30 years.

Uncertainty of feed supplies still has poultry raisers in a dilemma which is seeing hatcheries close for the season this year much earlier than usual. With reserves of all feed gone, the government demand for wheat for export, and the cotton and grain sorghum crops yet to be grown, even to be planted in many areas, the outlook is dim.

too dim for the average feeder to penetrate.

With a covey of gubernatorial candidates from which to choose this time, Texans might profitably study the agricultural beliefs, convictions and learnings of each, and select a governor who will best serve the interest of farmers and ranchers in the marketing of their products.

To know that a candidate was "born and raised on the farm" is not enough. Neither is it sufficient to hear in generalized phrases he is "100 per cent for agriculture."

We need to know precisely how he feels about such things as price control, slaughter quotas, gasoline tax, farm-to-market roads, freight rates, enforcement of seed and feed laws, public market facilities, cotton insect control, price supports, the government's wool buying program, and a good many others. Then once hearing his views, we should try to discern whether he will back them up with action, once elected.

Some people say their autos run smoother "up on the caprock" than "below the cap." Ours sounds like a hammer mill in either place.

Old Newspapers Do Good Job As Window And Mirror Polish

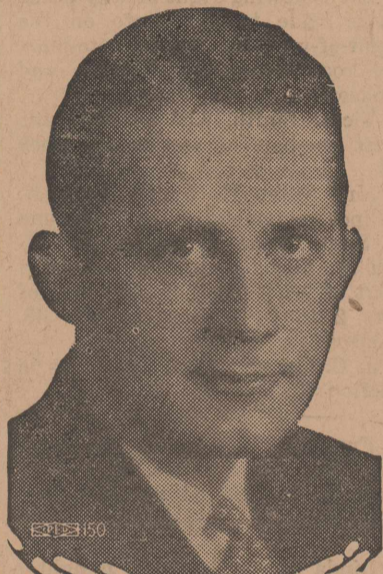

A household hint: Put your old newspapers to work in polishing your mirrors, windows and glass-ware.

Wet a piece of old newspaper, and thoroughly clean the glass. Then take a dry piece of newspaper and wipe the glass dry. This leaves a good polish on the glass, free from lint or streaks.

Mrs. Wells Dies - of the 1924 Study Club, and she was a member of the Methodist Church.

Along with her newspaper work, she had an active interest in the Panhandle Press Association and in The Texas Press Association, of which her husband is secretary. She did much of the work of the latter organization handled through the local office.

Marian Atkins Wells, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Temple Atkins of Shamrock, was born in Amarillo April 3, 1909, and was 37 years, two months and 7 days of age. She was a member of a pioneer family of this county, being the granddaughter of the late Judge and Mrs. E. H. Small who settled in the Aberdeen community in 1891.

She attended school in Amarillo, Oklahoma City, and West Texas State College, Canyon.

She was married to Deskins Wells in Wichita Falls on May 16, 1927. It was then that she became associated with the paper and a part of Wellington's social and civic life.

Mrs. Wells is survived by her husband and one daughter, Diane, age 14; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Temple Atkins of Shamrock; and one brother, Temple Atkins Jr. of Shamrock. Her aunts and uncles are Mrs. Cleo Templeton of Wellington, Mrs. Fred Holmes of Shamrock, Mrs. Earl Kromer and Mrs. Walter Mount of Amarillo, Senator C. C. Small of Austin, Horace Small of Shamrock, Hugh Small of Lubbock, and Harvey Atkins of Shamrock. Mrs. L. C. Hill and Horace Small Jr. of Wellington are cousins.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Church, when the largest crowd to attend such services in Wellington in recent years gathered to honor her memory. Rev. J. Edmund Kirby of the Bible Department of McMurtry College, Abilene, and former pastor here, spoke in tribute to Mrs. Wells' life. Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor, assisted in the service.

Rev. Kirby, who had been a close friend of the family during his pastorate here, spoke of her recognition of the sacredness of life by conducting her own life with dignity and sincerity. "She had a host of friends because she was a friend," he declared. He continued by pointing to her devotion to her home and family and her work for her friends and the community.

Flowers which she had loved in life, covered the church altar and extended far beyond it, tokens of love and respect from friends and members of the newspaper fraternity throughout the state.

Active pall bearers were Tom Campbell, John D. Glenn, Ansel McDowell, L. A. Manzer, James Doneghy, Jones Singley, Mickey Kendrick and Kelly Pigg. Honorary pall bearers were Dr. C. E. High of Pampa, Jimmie Gillentine of Hereford, Herschel Combs of Memphis, Duard Scott of Dodson, Joe Terry, Ted Rogers, J. K. Porter, Mack Wood, John M. Jones and Billie Joe Keller.

Hymns, sung by the choir, were, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," "Beyond the Sunset," and "Abide With Me."

Interment was made in the family plot in the Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Ellis Funeral Home.

All business houses in Wellington were closed for the hour of the service.

County Agent To Take Fish Orders

Farmers and ranchers desiring to order fish from government hatcheries to restock their home waters should leave their names and addresses at the county agent's office. These names and addresses will be turned in to the commission office and each farmer will receive a standard application form for ordering of the fish he needs for restocking purposes.

Each individual wishing to order fish for restocking may write direct to Marion Toole, Chief Aquatic Biologist, Game, Fish, and Oyster Commission, Austin, Texas, for standard application forms.

These forms must be filled out by each individual ordering fish and returned to the commission.

These names will be turned in July 1 from the county agent's office.

Quail Sisters On WTSC Honor Roll

Miss Ruth Aaron and Miss Grace Aaron of Quail were listed on the honor roll of West Texas State College, Canyon, for the spring semester. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Aaron.

Both have enrolled for the summer session. Miss Ruth Aaron is a senior and will teach at Quail next year. Her sister is classified as a junior.

Visitor Here Goes Home With Snake Story—And Proof

One county visitor has gone home with a snake story to tell!

Hinton Bridgewater of Waxahachie, who was here recently to attend the funeral of his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Bridgewater, went out near Wilnolcer School to shoot prairie dogs. While there he caught a live bull snake which measured seven feet and eight inches in length and 14 inches around.

He left for home shortly afterward, taking his snake with him, still alive. "I want to show folks at home how husky everything grows in good old Collingsworth County," he declared.

Mr. Bridgewater is the nephew of Mrs. Bob Stephenson and lived here most of his life until he entered the armed forces. He and his mother, who will be remembered here as Ruby Parsons, live at Waxahachie.

Horace Clark -

two children will leave Saturday, going from here to Colorado for a vacation before he takes over his new duties July 1.

"It is with sincere regret that we leave Wellington," Mr. Clark said. "We like the people and we like to live here, and we are going to miss being here."

The place at Holdenville, however, is regarded as a distinct advancement for Mr. Clark, since he is going to a larger town and will be in charge of three theaters there.

During the time they were here, both Mr. and Mrs. Clark have been active in Wellington civic life. He is a past president of the Kiwanis Club, while Mrs. Clark has just completed a year as finance chairman of the Parent Teachers Association.

ASSIST IN REVIVAL SERVICES

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui, many women say, has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try it!

How to avoid falling hair: Jump quickly to one side.

To keep a horse from slobbering: Teach him how to spit.

In time of danger, what is more to be desired than presence of mind? Absence of body.

Tell a woman who is trying on shoes that one foot is larger than the other, and you have lost a sale; but tell her that one foot is smaller than the other, and you have gained a customer.

Getting around over Texas: When the First National Bank in Cisco was re-modeled, the side door opening on the alley was eliminated. It was through that door the Santa Claus robbers marched out, using bank customers and members of the bank's force as shields, during the battle that cost three lives, back in 1927.

And the pole near the jail in Eastland, from which the Santa Claus later was hanged, is still standing.

A tribute to our teachers, entitled "Builders," written by an unknown author:

A builder builded a temple; he wrought it with grace and skill, Pillars, groins and arches, all fashioned to work his will. Men said when they saw its beauty, "It shall never know decay. Great is thy skill, O builder, thy fame shall endure for aye."

A teacher builded a temple with loving and infinite care, Planning each arch with patience, laying each stone with prayer. None praised his unceasing efforts; none none of his wondrous plan. For the temple the teacher builded was unseen by the eyes of man.

Gone is the builder's temple, crumbled into the dust. Low lies each stately pillar, food for consuming rust. But the temple the teacher builded will last while the ages roll, For this beautiful unseen temple is a child's immortal soul.
