

Britain to Retain No Bases in India

By the Associated Press

NEW DELHI—Viscount Mountbatten, viceroy of India, promised the Indian people today that Britain would retain no bases whatever within the sub-continent when its complete independence is achieved under the new British plan.

"I think it would be most improper for any foreign power to have bases in India," the Viceroy told a news conference.

He made it plain that under the plan, announced yesterday, Hindustan (Hindu India) and Pakistan (Moslem India) would be independent both of British and each other and that neither could control the other on the question of remaining within the British Commonwealth. Both will have dominion status for the transitional period.

At Least Four Missing in Vermont Flood

By The Associated Press

With at least four persons—three of them children—missing and upwards of 500 homeless, Rutland, Vt., today staggered toward recovery from a roaring flood that caused damage estimated at more than $2,000,000.

National Guardsmen patrolled the flooded residential area and emergency kitchens were set up to feed the homeless in Vermont's second largest city. Clearing weather indicated the worst was over. Business virtually was suspended as everyone went to work to help the homeless and clear debris.

Rutland was the worst hit of several communities struck by flash floods that followed torrential rains in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and New England.

A bursting dam north of Rutland sent a nine-foot wall of water pouring across sections of the city last night. An estimated 500 families left their homes; some headed advance warnings and others were taken out by boat and canoe. The city of 18,000 was left without drinking water or electric today.

Another dam burst 18 miles up the Moose river from Lyons Falls, N. Y., wrecking a bridge spanning the main highway into the Adirondacks and flooding farmlands, but the village itself escaped major damage.

In Oneida, N. Y., Oneida Creek receded after spreading over a six-block area and flooding 300 homes. A fourth of Elmira, N. Y., was flooded by Chemung River tributaries, which quickly receded.

The rains, which ranged up to four-inch torrents, forced the evacuation of 50 families from homes at Springfield, Pa., and others at Conneautville. Water ran 10 inches deep over the main street of Kertown, Pa.

First to be struck by the floods was the Miami River Valley north of Dayton and other lowlands of Central and Northern Ohio. At least 80 families were forced from their homes.

Coal Contract Negotiations Flop

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Contract negotiations between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and Southern Coal Operators broke down today.

Ten minutes before the talks were scheduled to resume, the UMW representatives notified operators they would not attend because the mine owners yesterday had made public their wage proposals. These included not over an 85 cents daily pay increase in return for abandonment of portal-to-portal pay time for underground travel to the mines.

Laurence E. Tieney, Jr., chairman of the negotiating conference, told reporters that the union representatives had warned the operators they "were not coming back" into the wage meetings if the owners issued a press release.

Formal collapse of the negotiations was delayed, however, because the conference officers stuck around in case the miners showed up later.

Similar negotiations between Lewis and operators from the north and west were suspended last week after the two sides disagreed on the issue of wages.

More Sponsors Needed for Local Running of Soap Box Derby

Several boys in the Pampa area are asking for sponsors in the All-American Soap Box Derby, it was announced today, and the Sponsor Committee has issued a call to persons who wish to sponsor a boy in the July 20 race.

A. A. Schuneman, president of the First National Bank, and head of the committee, said any individual or concern that would like to sponsor a boy in the race is asked to call him at the bank (telephone 724) or call the editor of The News, Culbertson Chevrolet or Morris Enloe at DeLuxe Dry Cleaners.

The only cost to a boy for the race is the cost of his car, which in most cases should not exceed $12. There is no entry fee. Cars in the local race bear the name of the sponsor if it is preferred.

There are boys at Skellytown, White Deer and other neighboring towns that would like to have sponsors, it was reported. Business firms in those communities are asked to discuss the matter with the boys in the communities.

"Some of these boys may not get to run in the race if they can't get financial help," General Chairman Enloe said.

The Derby is sponsored here by The Pampa Daily News, Culbertson Chevrolet and Chevrolet Division of General Motors, and the Pampa Lions Club.

Crash helmets and other equipment for the race, which will be run on the Old Miami Highway north of Pampa, will arrive here.

Britons Receive Explosive-Filled Packs From Italy

LONDON—(P)—Scotland Yard

said today that prominent Britons had received letters from Italy filled with explosives and arranged to detonate when opened.

Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Spears, an admitted anti-Zionist, said he received one of the letters and that it contained "a mechanism like the inside of a watch between two sheets of paper" and a bag of powder "about the size of a banana."

A Scotland Yard spokesman said that "I can neither confirm nor deny" a London Evening Standard report that Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, and Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, also received the infernal machines. Scotland Yard agents visited the War Office, however.

A spokesman for Prime Minister Attlee said no such letter was received at 10 Downing Street.

Crime experts were studying the powder, the type script and the large sized, double envelopes in an effort to trace the senders.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said all the letters were mailed from Italy, where the Jewish Stern gang recently asserted it was responsible for an explosion in the British Embassy. They were delivered through regular mail channels.

Spears said there was "no actual proof of who sent them."

"One can only guess, but I could make a jolly good guess," he said.

Informants said the packets were made up of an outer envelope, cream in color and measuring eight and three-quarters inches by six and one-half inches, bearing a typewritten name and address and the words "private and confidential."

Inside this was another envelope, seven and one-half by six inches, containing what was described as an "explosive powder" which would have been detonated by opening the envelope.

None of the inner envelopes was opened, however, since in each case, Scotland Yard said, the recipients came suspicious and notified police.

Eisenhower expressed belief that the "legislation in its present form presents a thoroughly practicable organization of the armed services which will permit us with increased economy and efficiency to do our part in the preservation of the peace and, if need be, prosecution of war."

Argentina Likely to Receive U. S. Arms

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Diplomats look today for Argentina to be successful in its long bid to get United States arms, now that the two countries have quit glaring at one another.

They say that sale of American military equipment to the Buenos Aires government is one of three major developments likely to follow yesterday's White House conference re-establishing formal good relations.

The turn came when President Truman indicated to Argentine Ambassador Oscar Ivanissevich this country's willingness to sit down with Argentina and the other American republics to draft a mutual defense treaty.

Besides the arms sales, diplomatic authorities also predict:

1. Holding of the Inter-American Defense Conference at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in July or August if arrangements can be made in time.

2. A re-estimate of the political situation in South America as a result of the changed relationship between Buenos Aires and Washington.

Some of the small nations around Argentina which have been fearful of President Juan D. Peron's dynamic policies may want to know how far the United States will continue to support their resistance to any pressures from Peron to bring them into an Argentine orbit.

Yesterday's White House conference was attended not only by Ambassador Ivanissevich but also by Secretary of State Marshall and Undersecretary Dean Acheson.

Ivanissevich reviewed steps by the Peron administration to rid Argentina of Axis agents and interests and Mr. Truman told him in response that the United States is willing to renew its consultations with other governments concerning the Rio conference.

What they are concerned about now are these questions:

1. The long-range U. S. policy toward Argentina.

2. The fundamental American policy toward all the Latin American countries.

Both in together because they seem to be recurrent.

It is well established now that both Assistant Secretary of State Spruille Braden and George Messersmith, ambassador to Argentina, will go out of office shortly and almost simultaneously. They have long been on mere official speaking terms because of their clashes over Argentine policy.

These clashes, while involving some element of divergent personalities, really represent a collision of fundamental ideas on U. S. Latin American policy.

Oversimplified, the problem is: shall the United States under the new policy treat all the Latin American neighbors alike or be firm with those it considers to be bad neighbors?

Should the United States maintain inter-American unity, at all costs, or play down this unity when the situation warrants?

Messersmith is generally classified in the school devoted to maintaining unity. Braden is regarded as an advocate of seeking widest possible acceptance by the Latin Americans of principles this country deems essential.

During the past five years there have been four reversals of policy toward Argentina, and the school favoring the time over the other.

Now the question arises again: What President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall will decide.

Those who have been advocating a close working relationship between the two countries.

Diplomats from nations bordering on Argentina express fears possibly of acceptance by the Latin countries will be forced into Argentina's orbit. They say that up to now they have been depending on U. S. support to ward off that possibility.

Revoke of Pardon Is Ruled Against

WACO—(AP)—Judge W. M. Harmon of 74th District Court ruled yesterday that Ex-Gov. Coke Stevenson could not revoke his pardon granted Marshall Morris of Palestine, Texas, and ordered all costs of the lengthy court trials on the case be paid by Sheriff Paul Stanford of Anderson County.

The latest trial ended here about six weeks ago, but Judge Harmon entered judgment only today.

Morris was convicted in Palestine on an aggravated assault charge, and sentenced to a year in jail and a fine of $500. Later, Gov. Stevenson granted him a pardon and ordered the fine refunded. Following then Gov. Stevenson revoked his pardon. Fraud had been charged.

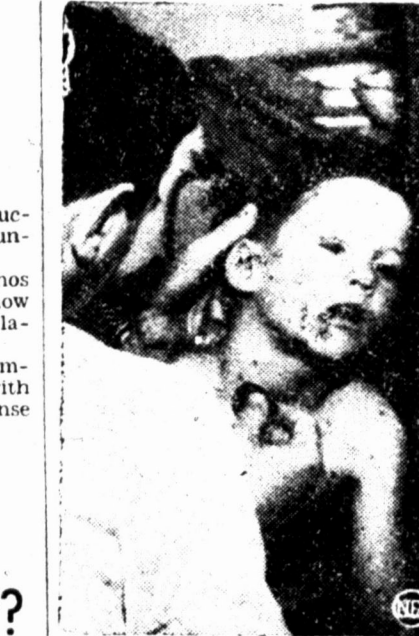

Judge Harmon ruled that the pardon had not been obtained by fraud, and became unconditional when Morris tendered $100 and costs to the Anderson County clear as provided in the pardon.

Morris was charged and convicted of aggravated assault on a Palestine nurse. The original pardon was obtained on grounds that the sentence was far more severe than the case justified.

Highway Patrolmen Are Going to School

The school's courses will be repeated next week for highway patrol sergeants, he added.

Mayor Hague, 72, Of Jersey City, Going to Retire

JERSEY CITY—(AP)—Frank Hague announced today his retirement as Mayor of Jersey City.

Hague announced that he was leaving office June 16, the 34th anniversary of his first election as a member of the city commission.

He will be succeeded, he said, by City Commissioner Frank Hague Eggers, his nephew.

The state democratic leader said he would continue as vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He is 72.

The announcement came at a complete surprise to political quarters in the state. There had been continued rumors that the democratic leader would step down some of these days, but none had expected it so soon.

Hague's Deputy Mayor John P. Malone called reporters to city hall at 9:30 a. m. and there they were ushered into the Mayor's office.

Hague, surrounded by members of his official family, greeted newsmen with the simple statement: "I am retiring."

He explained he was leaving office on the date that will also mark his 30th anniversary as mayor.

Eggers will be succeeded on the city commission by City Clerk Philip J. McGovern while the new city clerk will be Frank X. Barker, war hero and Congressional Medal of Honor winner from Jersey City.

Hague later issued a statement saying he was leaving office because he felt that "the time has come when, in justice to my wife and my family, I must pass on the heavy burden of administrative duties to younger men."

Local Office Supply Business Is Sold

Sale of the Pampa Office Supply Co., 211 N. Cuyler, by L. N. Atchison to H. R. Miller and K. I. "Jack" Dunn was announced today.

The Pampa Office Supply Co. was established in 1928 and has been operated by Atchison for the past eleven years. The firm has been in its present location since 1942.

Miller has for the past 15 years been office manager at the local Danciger Oil and Refining Co., refinery office. Dunn for a number of years was deputy supervisor of the Texas Railroad Commission, Pampa District, and was a member of the armed forces for four years being discharged as a major.

The firm will be operated under the same name, with the same policies and personnel, announced the new management. Atchison did not say what his plans are for the future.

Pampa Delegation Returns From Enid Meeting of Highway 60 Association

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee returned yesterday from Enid, Oklahoma, where they attended the annual meeting of the Highway 60 Association, June 2 and 3. Delegates from towns located on Highway 60 in Pampa, Amarillo, Dalhart, Amarillo, Va., and Elmore, Calif., attended the convention, convention officials announced.

Attending the convention from Pampa were Judge Sherman White, Jack Vaughn, Jack Mobley, Duke Balch, and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Wedgeworth, and daughter.

Officers of the association were re-elected for the forthcoming year. President of the Association is Harry O. Glasser, attorney for the Champlain Oil Co., Enid, Oklahoma; and O. E. Zink, manager of the Chamber of Commerce of Enid, is secretary-treasurer.

Robert L. Barr, chairman of the Oklahoma State Highway Committee, in speaking to the delegates at a banquet held in their honor Monday night stated that he was not in a position to give very much encouragement of any immediate action of the Oklahoma Highway Commission on U. S. Highway 60. He stated further that there will

Senate Votes Tomorrow on 4 Peace Pacts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Conceding opponents no more than a dozen votes, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said today Senate ratification of peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania is a certainty.

"This fight is all washed up," Connally told a reporter.

The Senate has agreed to vote tomorrow, CST, tomorrow on the four pacts.

The Texas senator, chief Democratic sponsor of the treaties, held out no chance at all for a pending motion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) to defer action on the Italian disarmament pact until Jan. 25, 1948.

Fulbright acknowledged he is waging a losing battle. He said in an interview he expects to muster only "a few" votes for postponement. His motion would require only a bare majority, while the treaties themselves must be approved by two-thirds of those voting.

Fulbright added he has no illusions that he can win a delay in view of strong endorsement of the treaties by Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Secretary of State Marshall and President Truman.

In offering his motion yesterday, Fulbright told the Senate he was motivated by "the renewed expansion of the Communists as exemplified by their action in Hungary."

This was a reference to the political coup which installed Communist-supported Lajos Dinnyes as premier of Hungary, deposing Fecsen Nagy.

Vandenberg, in a Senate speech yesterday, said the Communist move in Hungary was a "treacherous conquest" which "may become a clear cut trial in the forum of the United Nations."

And if investigations show that such is the case, he added, it "may become America's duty to sound that call."

PAAF Auxiliary Field Awarded To Gray County

County Judge Sherman White announced yesterday afternoon that the county's application for Pampa Auxiliary Airport number 2, located north of the city, had been accepted by the War Assets Administration on March 27.

A letter from John W. Berryman, chief of the non-industrial division of WAA in Dallas to Judge White notified the County that their application for the field was accepted and it would be turned over to them.

This field had been offered to either the city or the county several weeks ago by the WAA.

A joint meeting between members of the WAA and CAA with the County Commissioners Court and the City Commission was held in the City Commission Room, City Hall at that time.

At a meeting, held later, by the County Commissioners Court the County agreed to accept the field. A formal application was made to WAA by the County and the application accepted a few days later.

The field is expected to be used mainly at present as a training field for student flyers.

Several hints have passed around that the field may be used as a future date for possible airline service. No confirmation of this has yet been forthcoming.

Man Acquitted On DWI Charge

A six-man jury yesterday afternoon acquitted Donald L. Cook, Memphis, charged with driving while intoxicated after a half hour deliberation.

County Attorney Bruce Parker introduced the State's only two witnesses, Sheriff C. H. Kyle and Deputy Sheriff C. M. Tucker, yesterday morning. Both officers testified that Cook appeared drunk to them when they saw him and talked to him. Cook testified in his own defense and said he had taken only one glass of beer and that he drank very little.

Defense Counsel W. R. Ewing called two character witnesses, L. E. Jenkins and C. M. Aiken, both of Memphis, to the stand yesterday afternoon. Both men testified they had known Cook for several years and declared this was the first time he has been in trouble.

Throughout the afternoon, while testimony was heard, the prosecution and defense made their jury pleas and while Judge Sherman White charged the jury, Cook sat slumped in his chair calmly reading a newspaper. The case went to the jury at 3:15. The verdict of not guilty was returned at 3:45.

Only six of a 25 impaneled jury reported for duty yesterday morning. One of these, under attorney examination, said that he had been drunk himself several times, but that he had no prejudice with drunk men charged with drunk driving.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—What fun is it to be whistled at if the whistlers aren't worth a hoot?

That's what a number of Oklahoma high school girls wrote in to ask Miss Maxine Turner, state nutritionist, after she told them in a frank booklet that the best way to become a "classy chassie" was to develop a "classy chassis."

The girls complained that the quality of "nice wolves" was so low it was hardly worth the trouble to develop eye appeal.

So Miss Turner, an attractive brunette who follows her own advice, has prepared a booklet for the Health telling high school boys "how to be a big time operator."

She talks in their own jive language.

"If you're only slightly repulsive, you can talk it over with the physical education teacher or the coach," she wrote. "They were probably young once, too."

"However, there are a few things every guy can do to stay on the beam. Such foods as milk shakes, pastries, cakes, rich sauces, cream, fat meats and candies are no-go if you sport a plump rump."

"If you're a Slim Jim—and you can tell from the number of times she slams that receiver down in your year—you'll need to eat more of the fattening foods."

Miss Turner listed as the seven

It was also reported by the Bureau that 40 inches of rain fell during the storm and that some light pellets of hail dropped in some localities.

Some hail loss was reported in the Vega vicinity where 31 inches of rain was recorded. Most extensive hail damage was revealed near Sunray where a ten-mile strip north and south of town was struck.

Most other localities reported rains ranging from 25 to 50 inches with heavy thunder and strong winds.

Homers Cheap In WT-NM League

LUBBOCK—(AP)—Home runs come cheap in the West Texas-New Mexico League—that is, for the fans.

The way the boys are socking the pellet over the fence may cause a baseball shortage.

The fence-rattling clubs in the circuit rapped out a gaudy total of 234 round-trippers in the first 136 games—an average of 1.7 per game.

The fans love it. Clicking turnstiles show that.

Three players have clouted three homers apiece in a single game this season—the first time such a performance has been recorded since 1940 when the record of three per contest was established.

The three bombardiers are Joe Bauman of Amarillo, Leon Mitchell of Borger and Jack Riley, Clovis manager. They turned the trick just last week.

Tuesday night four games produced 14 homers which is a little above the average.

George Sturdivant, Lamesa manager who currently swings the biggest bat in the loop, established a record this week when he connected for home runs in five successive games.

Top Seeded Tennis Champs in 3rd Round

DALLAS—(AP)—Top seeded players moved with little trouble into the third round of the Texas Sectional Tennis Championships today.

Claire Mabry, Alice, top seeded entry of the men's singles, overcame his jitters in facing a left-handed opponent to defeat Frank Jones of Dallas, 7-5, 6-1, in the second round yesterday.

Second seeded Robert Kamrath, Dallas, downed John Baker, Fort Worth, 6-1, 6-1.

Mabry and Felix Kelley of Robstown, top-ranked doubles team, overcame Jack Turpin and Dixon Osburn, Dallas, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Margaret Varner, El Paso, seeded first in the women's singles, easily blanked Sarah Jane Weeks, Austin, 6-0, 6-0.

California Has New Lightweight Champ

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Body belting Enrique Bolanos, Mexico's favorite fistic son, held the California State Lightweight title today in the first step he hoped would lead to a world championship bout.

The two-fisted youngster from Durango battered John Thomas of Los Angeles into submission and a technical knockout in the seventh round of their scheduled 12-round battle here last night.

After piling up a fairly substantial margin in the earlier rounds, Thomas fell a victim to a withering attack from his stockier rival.

Panhandle Scouts Will Attend Camp

PANHANDLE—(Special)—Final plans were completed for Troop 1, Boy Scouts of America, to attend Camp Ki-O-Wah, near Canadian for the period beginning June 9, with J. P. Smith as adult counselor, when the Scout Committee met Monday evening.

Plans were also made to move the boxcar owned by the boys to a more desirable location and fix it up so as to be able to hold meetings in it as the building now used by the boys has been purchased by the U. S. O. F.

All of the committee were present.

WE, THE WOMEN

Write a Note to That Sick Friend

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

That sick friend in the hospital is on your mind because you haven't yet paid that duty call. You feel such a call is absolutely necessary to express your concern and interest. But why not write him a note, call him on the telephone, or send him a book instead? Wait until he is home again to "do your duty." That would be doing him a real favor.

The head of a large midwestern hospital recently called hospital visitors "hazards" because they "bring the community right into the bedroom."

So why don't we do away with the out-moded social custom that says we must call on the sick, especially those who are ill enough to be hospitalized? Your "duty call" doesn't do the patient any good in most cases, and it may do him a lot of harm.

OTHER REMEMBRANCES
Your concern need not be expressed by a personal visit when there are so many other ways of letting a person know he is remembered.

We have been quick to drop many social customs that have proved incompatible with the modern world. And it looks as though the "duty call" could well go into discard also.

Why take a sick man out of his community only to let the community go to him?

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—Pleasant corporate statements and the drying up of offerings to a mere dribble brought in sufficient professional bidding to lift today's stock market favorites fractions to 2 or more points. Prices hardened in the forenoon with dealings slow. The ticker tape quickened for a brief interval before midday as motors and steels came to the front. Activity again picked up a bit on the final hour, with quotations around the best of the session, when Standard Oil (N.J.) disclosed a sharp jump in earnings. This stock touched the year's high of 72 with a gain of 3/4. Transfers ran to around 650,000 shares.

The first hour's turnover of 100,000 shares equaled the low for this stretch since last July.

In front were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Great Northern Railway, Illinois Central, Goodrich, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Philip Morris, Texas Co., American Can, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Celanese, J. C. Penney and American Smelting. Some railway bonds did better.

The Tollivers

THE STORY: I was off in boarding school when Orsage went into a dither of excitement over the funeral of young Hubert Tolliver, an elaborate showman staged by his mother and sisters and now known as the Tolliver girls' debut into Orsage society. Up to that time, I had never heard of Hubert or any of the Tollivers who were to become our town's most famous family. Father wrote they were penniless newcomers who had rented the big Carstens home next door to ours on the 3500 insurance young Hubert had left. The two youngest girls—Flora and Annabelle—were beauties and openly making a play for the two well-to-do and middle-aged bachelors, Sam and Nelson Forster. When I came home for summer vacation, the Tollivers gave me a "surprise party." During the evening, Flora disappeared for a while with young Bob Finerman.

THE next morning Leah brought me a breakfast tray. She had barely gone downstairs when I heard giggles and greetings. What Father called Leah's belly laugh. In a few minutes Flora and Annabelle were in my room. They were as fresh and pretty as daisies, even though they said they had been up since 6 o'clock.

"We brought back the silver and china Leah lent us," Annabelle explained.

"And we had to run upstairs and tell you how beautiful you looked last night," Flora drewled.

I knew that I was anything but beautiful, yet the praise was very soothing.

I told them I wanted to give a large party for them and their sister and mother, perhaps a garden party, and ask all my friends and Father's. To my surprise Flora burst into sudden tears. Annabelle got up and kissed her and shook her gently.

"Don't be a goose," she told her. "We're not used to kindness," she said to me.

"It's the loveliest thing that ever happened to us," Flora got out. I felt uplifted and grand. Flora was soon laughing and we fell to planning the party. I explained that I'd have to ask an awful mob.

"The more the merrier. Sister, isn't it heavenly?" Guests of honor at a huge, big, wonderful party! Were you ever so thrilled? Think of it, a real party for us!"

My idea was a simple garden party on a Saturday afternoon, with punch and sandwiches and little cake. But both Flora and Annabelle took it as a matter of course that I would have elaborate refreshments. They had a simply marvelous recipe for sweet bread salad, made with sours of blanched almonds, a few mushrooms, and white wine in the mayonnaise. And Amy would be glad to make her delicious potato rolls and bring them over hot. And didn't I think it would be smart to serve tea instead of coffee? In the New York papers the smart set always served tea, afternoons.

I DON'T know just when it was but certainly before the invitations were out, that Flora rather timidly let drop the idea that we make it a supper instead of an afternoon party. She said that since it was so hot, everyone would be certain to come late and want to stay later.

"I hadn't planned on serving supper," I said a little coldly. "I would mean a lot more work, and with the mob of people I have on my list it would be extremely expensive."

Flora's face fell.

"I didn't mean that the afternoon party wouldn't be wonderful," she said dolefully, "but I thought that Sister and I could help with the work, and we're expert at pinching pennies. You'd hardly need a single extra thing if you turned the tea into a supper, except possibly a ham."

Suddenly Flora's face lighted up, and she clapped her hands. "Why not serve Spanish rice instead of ham?" she cried ecstatically. "That would be wonderful. Everybody has ham. If you substituted veal for half the chicken you could serve the whole lot for a dollar or two. Really, Louise darling, it would be an economy in the end as you wouldn't have to give any other party for ages. And it would be such fun."

Looking back, it gives me a warm glow to remember that I finally allowed Flora to have her head and, instead of a niggardly, commonplace afternoon lawn party, gave the "fete champetre" of Flora's dreams.

I never dreamed then, of course, of the consequences of that party or what it would do to both Flora and Annabelle.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what digestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach" and the ever-changing blood need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to gaily bark with gas, bloating and off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy glow in your skin—firm flesh all over hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sure Energy.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, June 3.—Grain futures bounded upward on the board of trade today, moving sharply in response to renewed government buying and reports of unfavorable weather in the corn belt.

Some profit cashing early in the session shaded the initial advance, but renewed buying attributed to commercial interests and mills induced some short covering, and spot loss orders were uncovered on the way up.

Toward the close profit cashing, induced by an advance of more than 5 cents in wheat and around 4 cents in corn, caused prices to back down.

At the finish wheat was 3 cents to 4 cents higher than the previous close. July 22.25-23.00. Corn was 3/4 to 1/2 higher, July 22.25-23.00. Oats were 1/2 to 3/4 higher, July 22.25-23.00.

Ott Thinks Hartung Will Develop Curve Ball That Giants Need Badly

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Bumping into Bucky Walters, Mel Ott asked the Reds' old World Series pitcher how he so quickly developed his curve when Jimmy Wilson decided it was a shame to waste such a strong arm at third base for the Phillies in 1934.

"I asked all the pitchers with good curves how they held and released the ball," replied the Cincinnati dependable, "and experimented until I found which was the best one for me to throw."

So, considering his almost entire lack of a hook, it might be well for Clint Hartung to do a bit of inquiring.

The Giants certainly could use one.

Walters had nothing besides his speed and a sidearm sinker when he broke in, but was intelligent enough to capitalize on his natural pitching equipment.

It's easy to learn when you're winning, so Hartung should catch on quickly, Manager Ott believes he will.

Charley Root was traded to the Los Angeles club by the Browns with no more curve ball than Hartung has now, but he threw side-arm and was swift. It was old Doc Crandall of early Giant fame who gave him the twist of the wrist that sent him skyrocketing to the heights.

Hartung has the side-arm sinker and is just as swift and wild enough to prevent batters from taking too-holds. If the large young man had a wind-up enabling him to get all his 215 pounds behind the pitch, he really would be the Hondo Horror. He throws the ball as though he were throwing a dart.

But when all of his six feet, four inches is stretched out it appears practically rammed down the batter's throat.

Not a few schooled observers not only believe Hartung will remain a winning pitcher, but insist that eventually he will be returned to the outfield as a cracking right-hand hitter.

Pitching he is most assuredly helping himself at bat. In his first three winning efforts, he manufactured six hits, including three doubles and a tripple.

The first thing you know pitcher will be purposely walking him to get at the lead-off man.

One of the biggest things in Hartung's favor is self-confidence. He firmly believes he can do anything.

When Hartung is polished up a bit, he'll be a tough guy in competition. He has the light and expressionless glass-eyes of another Texan, Rogers Hornsby, who could hit fairly well himself.

Of the Giant's pitchers, Dave Koso works well in fits and starts. Monte Kennedy is a remarkable young pitcher requiring another year. Larry Jansen might do. Bill Voiselle has shown nothing to date.

Bill Ayers has gained miserably thus far. Junior Thompson only the other night against the Dodgers once more showed the sidearm pitch and low curve he possessed.

Mike Budnick is nothing more than some time back with the Reds. A thrower. Hub Andrews should be in Jersey City.

Ken Trinkle, breaking his curve into the dirt, is the most valuable member of the New York staff, and it strikes a lot of veteran observers that Strategist Ott should refrain from employing his crack relief worker when the cause plainly has been lost, as he did in the opening of the Brooklyn series at the Polo Grounds.

That made Trinkle's 15th appearance in 31 games, and his arm isn't made of reinforced leather. He should be called from the bullpen only when he gains or when the Jints stand a fair chance of winning.

It was lack of pitching that gave Floppy Hartung, a flop in left field and at bat, the chance to help the Giants where they need it most and remain one of the more interesting stories of the year.

Oilers Chalk Up Second Win Over Pioneers, 18-11

CLOVIS—Pampa exploded in the eighth inning for 10 runs on nine hits, two walks and two errors to defeat the Clovis Pioneers here last night, 18 to 11. It was the second straight win for the Oilers over the Pioneers.

The "pay-off" pitch in the eighth was to Bob Bailey, first baseman who relieved starter Foster White and who in turn was replaced by Al Johnston. Pampa had counted a run to knot the count at 8-2.

The bases were loaded and two were out. Bailey singled sharply into center field and Manager Jack Riley of the Pioneers let the ball go through him to the fence with everybody scoring.

Clovis overcame a 5-2 lead in the fifth when five consecutive hits, the last a two-run homer over the center field fence by "Chuck" Novotney, brought in five Pioneers tallies and drove White from the hill.

The Pioneers went a run ahead in the seventh on two hits, after Pampa had tied the score in their half of the frame on three hits. After Riley's bobble the Oilers pounded Mel Kramer almost at will until the side was retired.

Tony Ronger homered in the top of the ninth off Nick Nicholas who pitched the last canto for the Pioneers.

Giants Get Three Homers to Smash Chicubs---Grab First

By The Associated Press

Although the New York Giants are the surprise team of the Major Leagues, there is no secret why Mel Ott's gang is at the top of the National League today.

The answer lies in their big, booming bats.

In 39 games of which they've won 23, the slugging men of Ott, led by Johnny Mize, the Major's leading homer hitter, have walloped 48 four baggers.

Mize's 14 home runs put him two days ahead of Babe Ruth's record breaking pace of 40 in 1927.

The Giants hit three circuit smashes at the Polo Grounds last night to whip the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and take over sole possession of first place. The defeat dropped the Cubs into second place, one game behind and only three points ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers swept a double-header from Pittsburgh at Ebbets Field outslugging the Pirates 11-6 and 8-7 to move into third place past the Boston Braves who were shut out by the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 in Boston. Philadelphia advanced from seventh to sixth past Cincinnati by downing the Reds 4-1 at Philadelphia.

The New York Yankees, led by Joe DiMaggio, blanked the Detroit Tigers 3-0 to narrow the Bengals' first place lead in the American League to two games. Washington went into a virtual fifth place tie with the Philadelphia Athletics by losing out the third place Cleveland Indians 6-5 in Cleveland. The last place St. Louis Browns came up from behind to nip the Boston Red Sox 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 3-2 at Comiskey Park.

Rex Barney received credit for both the Dodger victories. The fireball rightlander started the opener and was hit for a pinch hitter in the sixth with Brooks ahead 10-4. He relieved in the sixth inning of the nightcap after the Bucs had overcome a 6-0 Dodger lead and were trailing 8-7 with men in scoring position, but checked the Pirates thereafter.

The inevitable direction of science is toward greater secrecy, greater co-ordination and greater nationalization—Dr. Sidney J. French, Colgate U. chemist.

Eleven-Man Longhorn Track Club to Dallas

DALLAS—(P)—The University of Texas will bring an 11-man squad to the Duel of Champions track and field meet between the Big Six and the Southwest conferences to be held here the night of June 13. Director James H. Stewart announced today.

Heading the list of entries is the crack Longhorn 440-yard relay team which recently set a new meet record at the Los Angeles Coliseum relays with 40.6 seconds, one-tenth of a second the world's record.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(P)—When the idea of a national collegiate baseball playoff first was broached, several NCAA bigwigs maintained it couldn't be successful because it would be impossible to keep the teams together until late June.

Now the University of Illinois, which finished its regular season May 17, is booking games against semi-pro clubs to keep in shape for the playoffs.

Texas finished about the same time but the team hasn't disbanded, and their first championship competition will come in the sectional playoffs June 20-21.

IDENTITY CONFIRMED

At a ball game between Austin and Wichita Falls in the Texas Big State League Sunday the Wichita Falls Spudders called upon a pinch hitter—A big red headed kid stepped up and told Umpire Berry: "I'm Albert R. McCarty of Jonesboro, Ark. My uniform number is 18 and I'm coming in to hit for Third Baseman Eddie Storenski. I'll go into the lineup at third base, but first I'm liable to knock the ball out of the park."

The ump wanted to repeat it all to the crowd just for the laugh, but a routine cut in first... So Berry still was chuckling to himself when McCarty slammed a home run over the right field wall.

When Notre Dame's Bill Leonard ran a mile in 4:15.7 at the Indiana State meet last week, he broke the Notre Dame outdoor record which Greg Rice set in 1939.

A pair of Louisiana State U. footballers, Don Sandifer and Joe Leach plan to spend their summer vacation on a raft, floating 400 miles down the Red and Mississippi Rivers from Shreveport, La., to New Orleans.

Wonder if that's what the purly boys mean when they say Southwestern Conference athletes get a free ride.

AN EXAMPLE OF CAPITALISM

Those people who are always denouncing the enterprisers and are afraid that their greed will impoverish the consumers should read the report for the first quarter's business by the Celanese Corporation of America. It is a report to the stockholders.

This report explains to the stockholders why the Celanese Corporation is in a strong position from a competitive standpoint. It points out that when the company first started production in 1925 the price of its 150 denier Celanese yarn was $2.90 a pound and that seven years later had been reduced to 90 cents a pound. Today it is selling for 67 cents a pound. This is less than one-fourth of the original price and one-third less, they say, than it sold for in the early 1930's during a period of subnormal prices. That, they say, has been accomplished despite the fact that our wage rates have more than doubled since 1932 and there have also been large increases recently in the price of their basic raw materials.

The explanation of this, of course, is technological improvement in the manufacturing process, chemical research to produce new and improved products, more efficient production achieved through expanded volume and aggressive sales and promotion effort.

Their volume of business for the first quarter of 1947 was $44,794,313 as compared with a little less than $31,000,000 for the same period last year, an increase of almost 50 percent. Their profit per share for the first quarter of 1947 was 98 cents a share compared with 48 cents for the same period of 1946.

Achievements like this take foresight, courage, judgment and capital. The consumers as well as the workers and the stockholders benefit in capitalism of this kind.

The real purpose of the government should be to protect human initiative; not to do as it is doing so increasingly—take from one to give to another. If this process of discriminatory labor laws and tax laws are continued, we will not see examples of this kind of service to American citizens.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

(Johnson on KFDN Monday thru Friday, 2 p. m.)

HOLLYWOOD—While conducting Eddie Rickenbacker and a group of Eastern newspaper executives and reporters through M-G-M studio, Katherine Hepburn took them to the set where "The Kissing Bandit." Katy commented: "Sinatra and I have the kindest legs in Hollywood. His are even skinnier than mine."

The Eastern reporters, incidentally, were amazed at Katy's complete personality renovation. They found her charming and amiable, apparently enjoying being a gracious human being—a perfect saleswoman for Hollywood.

Boyd Lewis of New York, NEA executive editor, admitted here by remembering his first stage appearance 19 years ago in New Haven. The play lasted only three days.

I doubt if Paramount is ready to confirm this, but it's a good bet that "The Bing Crosby Story" may be in the offing. Crosby would play himself, singing all his hit songs he has made famous for the last 20 years.

There may be legal difficulties over "Mam'zelle," the song Director Edmund Goulding wrote for "The Razor's Edge." Xavier Cugat, telling his attorneys that it's too similar to "Illusion," which he wrote three years ago.

BAMBINI'S STORY—Laurence Olivier is wearing a hat and refusing to take it off. They bleached his hair a Grable blond for "Hamlet." . . . Hedy Lemar is finally admitting that she and John Lodge aren't getting along. But they're both trying to avoid a divorce, she said.

MORE FERTILIZER

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Looking at it from an earthy, everyday point of view, what the world may need first is more fertilizer and better supersonic airplanes, atomic bombs, international conferences, or United Nations skyscrapers. What it needs worst is just more fertilizer.

The International Emergency Food Council meeting in Washington this week is hearing nothing but tales of gloom. The number of people in the world is increasing. The supply of food is not. The acreage under cultivation is no bigger than it was before the war.

That reduces the problem of growing more food on the same amount of land, fewer and better people. One way to do that is to use more fertilizer, as the U. S. did in the war.

Making more fertilizer and spreading it around doesn't sound too hard. But data presented to the IEFC on the world fertilizer situation reveal that mankind as still pretty clubfooted in the head and not much better than a Neanderthal when it comes to using his noggin to maneuver his lazy bones out of the mire.

Principal commercial fertilizers are phosphorous and nitrogen compounds. The phosphates are in fairly supply now, and the IEFC is relinquishing its controls over them as of July 1. The big shortage is in the nitrogenous fertilizers which this year are 35 percent under world demand and probably won't be any better next. World demand is for 27 million tons. The supply is 28 million.

AVIATION PEDDLERS—A group of 25 air-minded stars who fly their own planes, headed by Dick Powell, are asking the nation's aviation writers what they can do to advance the cause of private aviation. The basic thought is that film stars, due to their ability to command public attention from non-flying people, could be the opening wedge in a program designed to sell private aviation to the general public.

Jaycees' Head Reports On Club Activities

At the weekly luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday in the Palm Room, reports were given to the members of the civic organization as to the progress of the Jaycee softball team and of the Jaycee annual bathing beauty contest and dance, held Thursday night, May 29.

Wilford Boyles reported on the softball team and Joe Fischer reported on the contest and dance. Bill Smith was appointed to be in charge of the program at next week's meeting.

Jack Nimmo, president of the club, was in charge of the meeting.

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

LIASION—The current lack of contact between the House and Capitol Hill, which forces Congress to legislate in the dark and to waste months on measures which may finally run into a presidential veto, is blamed on former Speaker Sam Rayburn by G. O. P. associates.

Two important bills which may be delayed or not become law at all for want of closer liaison between the two ends of Pennsylvania Avenue are the anti-labor and tax reduction proposals now in the last stages of Congressional preparation. The majority has not the least idea whether President Truman will sign them, reject them or permit them to become law without his signature.

As it is doubtful whether a veto of either or both bills could be over ridden in both chambers, the want of consultation may mean that the 531 men in House and Senate will be wasting time and energy to no avail for themselves or the general public.

COUNCIL—The framers of the La Follette-Monroney Reorganization Bill originally planned for the formation of a so-called executive council that was to confer regularly with the occupant of the White House on proposed or pending legislation. It is a reform which has long been recognized as needed, and it has been advocated by men on both sides of the aisle.

The so-called "executive council" was to have consisted of an equal number of members from each party. When a major measure was in preparation or under consideration, they would permit their ideas to the chief Executive, and try to iron out differences in advance.

Basic idea was to introduce greater responsibility into the governmental system, and to eliminate partisanship as it has almost been wiped out in the conduct of foreign affairs now.

Naturally, controversial and partisan questions would not fall under the jurisdiction of the proposed group. Plenty of room would have been left for political battling.

DOUBT—Mr. Rayburn, who then wielded tremendous influence as Speaker of the House, refused to agree to the reform move. He expressed doubt that any good would come of the scheme, and intimated that he would oppose the general reorganization if it were forced its elimination at the last moment.

The inside story seems to be that Mr. Rayburn feared such a system would tend to diminish his power and weaken his prestige as Speaker. He frequently found himself out-talking, out-voted and lectured to at meetings of the Democrats' House Steering Committee, especially when it was presided over by the former Robert Crosser of Ohio. At times it was difficult for him to preserve his dignity and to enforce his leadership power.

INTRIGUE—Mr. Rayburn might have been embarrassed even more seriously in a larger body, especially in view of its bipartisan composition. Worse still, his discomfiture might have come in the presence of Cabinet members called in for advice. This hitherto unpublished story of legislative intrigue explains why.

Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
Well, our California State Legislature certainly has had a busy week. That august body made it a felony to steal a goat, buried Sunday haircuts, refused to allow bets on jumping frogs, considered the tattooing of anybody under 21 and discovered that Peeping Toms are legal in California.

Now it's easy to see why this state has such a tremendous floating population. After reading this legislative report, all the goat-stealers, jumping-frog bettors and Sunday haircutters will rush to get out of California, and the Peeping Toms will have to sit tight until next session and see how things turn out.

The only law that disturbs George is the free one. He doesn't understand why the lawmakers won't let him bet on jumping frogs that can really jump when they're willing for him to bet on running horses that can't run.

Gracie

there is no assurance of eventual enactment of laws restricting the authority of labor unions and easing the burden of taxation.

BLOW—Herbert Hoover delivered the most effective, anti-New Deal blow in his political career in his recent appearance at an executive session of the House Appropriations Subcommittee handling war department funds. It was one so subtly an obliquely that many members failed to sense it, although several Democrats are reported to have squirmed in their chairs.

The former President was testifying on the need for generous allocation of funds for feeding the people in the areas occupied by American forces. When he was asked to reason for the scarcity of food, for maldistribution and general disruption of European economy, he replied, in effect:

ECONOMY—"In addition to the destruction and devastation of war, there are other reasons for the difficulties. Those nations having turned to socialism, liberalism and other 'isms.' You also have Russia and her satellite nations, with their totalitarian kind of government. There is no such thing as free enterprise over there."

"You have a government-directed economy, which has destroyed all production incentive for management and for the farmers. Their money isphony, or is suffering from inflation, with black markets as the result. Therefore, the growers of food will not send their produce to the cities. These are among the basic causes for Europe's troubles."

ENTERPRISE—Then, with a wry smile, the apostle of "rugged individualism" looked around the committee room as he concluded:

"Too few people realize that the western hemisphere, South Africa and Australia—six percent of the population of the world—are carrying the rest of the world. That speaks pretty well for the system of private enterprise."

It was noticeable that he did not include socialist Britain in the six percent.

Common Ground

By E. C. HOILES

Faith in Groups

When one analyzes the causes of our confusion, it will be found that it largely comes from having too much faith in groups and not enough faith in individuals. In short, we have too much of the herd instinct in our thinking. All progress comes from individual initiative.

The place where faith in groups seems to do the most harm is in group education. When we have faith in groups or collective education, we have only one choice to select from. When we have faith in individuals, we have many choices from which to learn. Under state education, the majority determines what shall be taught. The individual has no voice. The individual does not have enough means to pay for his majority rule education and real education which comes from individuals and never, never comes from majorities.

Probably we get the herd instinct in education from the herd instinct in protecting oneself from an enemy. But education and protection are entirely different. Education is developing human initiative and understanding Gods laws while protection is simply defending oneself against destruction.

And it is strange that people have faith in group or compulsory collectivist education and do not have enough faith in their own judgment as to the person worthy of helping them become educated. All progress comes from faith in one's own judgment and individual responsibility. As Ayn Rand aptly said in "The Fountainhead," "Civilization is a process of setting man free from men." Compulsory education is a process of destroying civilization.

Yes, we have too much faith in groups and not enough faith in individuals.

Competition the Only Protection Against Greed

President Truman would leave the impression that if prices do not go down, it is due to the greediness of the business man and workers. He would leave the impression that there are no greedy people holders.

He would like to get the public to believe that government officials who attempt to regulate prices are divine and omnipotent.

If the government would do what it should do, namely try to keep the highways and byways of commerce open so that all jobs are interchangeable so that no one has a right to fix prices of his labor or his product other than on a competitive basis, there would be little need to worry about greedy people setting prices too high.

Competition, not bureaucracy, is the one thing that will protect the consuming public from greedy people. All history is evidence of the fact that to the degree that we have competition are we protected against the tyranny of greedy people.

QUICKIES

By Ken Reynolds

This year an effort is being made to get some of the German nitrogen plants going again in the U. S. French, and British zones. Production of 200,000 tons is hoped for. All the German nitrogen plants are in the Russian zone, so nobody knows what they're doing. But if German fertilizer production could get back to its prewar 1.5 million tons, it would not only increase food supplies but the exportable surplus could be sold to the U. S. This would help pay for food the U. S. now sends to Germany.

All countries that have fertilizer surpluses want to export to the U. S. to get dollars. That's one of the factors which makes it difficult to get the exporting countries to allocate their surpluses to countries that don't pay so well.
