FDR Denounces Treatment Of German Jews

Vast Two-Continent Defense System Also Is Pictured; Big Air Force Planned

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — President Roosevelt denounced the German dictatorship's treatment of Jews today as almost beyond belief, and then pictured a vast two-continent defense system in which all the Americas would present a united front against aggression from abroad.

His remarks on the Jews, given out of a press conference, were as follows:

Public Opinion Shocked

"The news of the past few days from Germany has deeply shocked public opinion in the United States. Such news from any part of the world would inevitably produce a similar profound reaction among American people in every part of the nation.

"I myself could scarcely believe that such things could occur in a twentieth century civilization.

"With a view to gaining a first hand picture of the situation in Germany, I asked the secretary of state to order our ambassador in Berlin to return at once for report and consultation."

Back Of Wilson Order

Thus Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that he himself was back of yesterday's order calling Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson home. Mr. Roosevelt said he could not disclose how long the ambassador would stay here. This gave rise to speculation that the envoy might be kept at home indefinitely.

Mr. Roosevelt's words on military defenses were closely linked, in his listeners' minds, to his statement about Germany because of widespread speculation that the totalitarian reich may seek to extend its influence in Latin America.

Mr. Roosevelt declared that, as one means of insuring protection for the 20 American republics and Canada, he and his aides are discussing an increased air force.

Possible Preview Given

Giving a possible preview of the United States arguments to be presented at the forthcoming Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, he said world events of the past few years and the new techniques for waging war have prompted the United States to reorient itself with regard to North, Central and South America.

At no time since the Latin American countries struggled for their freedom, he said, has the solidarity between all American republics and Canada been stronger. He made it plain that he expected that there would be no defection from this policy.

In commenting on German anti-Semitism, the president adopted the rare procedure of permitting direct quotation of a statement which officials characterized as highly important because a comment from the head of a nation on internal developments in another

Paris Bargains With Hitler

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 15—France prepared today to arrange a bargain with Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler which would in effect give Germany a free hand in eastern Europe.

In return France would demand a nazi guarantee of her Rhineland frontier.

Preliminary Basis Reached

An official spokesman said a preliminary basis had been reached for a joint renunciation of war to insure peaceful cooperation between the traditional enemies, substituting conference tables for war in any future disputes.

It was expected the accord would parallel closely the agreement Hitler and Premier Chamberlain signed at Munich Sept. 30 expressing the desire of their peoples never to fight one another again.

Following that general line, it was

Co-Eds Demand Cute Majorette Be Ruled Off Football Field

(By The Associated Press)

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 15.—Indignant co-eds went before the Stanford student body executive committee tonight in an effort to have charming 17-year-old Maxine Turner ruled off the football field.

Maxine is the majorette of Stanford's 100-piece band and the one truly bright spot this season on Stanford's gridiron where the team has performed rather dismally.

Actions Unbecoming

The Stanford women's conference objects to the little high-kicking, hand-springing, bare-legged brunette because her majoretteing is "unbecoming a Stanford woman" and she isn't a Stanford woman in the first place.

Maxine, a San Leandro high school student who hopes to be a Stanford co-ed next year, thought the conference "very narrow minded."

The Stanford Daily, student publication, called the co-ed leaders "mid-Victorian."

Anti-Trust Law Charges Face Ninety-Seven

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 15. — Ninety-seven officials and organizations charged with violating the anti-trust laws in the milk and ice cream industries marshalled their forces for a finish fight tonight.

Shortly after two federal grand jury indictments had been made public, the defendants and their attorneys started a parade to the courthouse to post bond of $1,000 each as the first step in a legal battle against the latest move in the government's extensive drive against alleged monopolies.

Many Officials Named

City officials, business executives and labor leaders were among the 43 individuals and 14 firms and associations named in the milk bill. Twenty men and 20 groups were accused in the ice cream complaint.

Those indicted on charges of conspiring to fix prices, suppress independent competition and control the supply of milk in the important Chicago area included:

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, nationally known president of the Chicago board of health, and two aides.

Investigator Is Named

Captain Daniel Gilbert, ace investigator for State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

Ten milk distributors, including the Borden Co., and Borden-Weiland, Inc., with headquarters in New York, and the Bowman Dairy Co., of Chicago; and 21 officials of the ten concerns.

Associated Milk Dealers, Inc.; bargaining agency of the major distributors here, and ten of its officers, including Executive Secretary Paul Potter.

The Pure Milk association, sales and bargaining agency for more than 12,000 member dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan; and six men who were on its executive staff when the investigation was made. These in-

President To Lose Attorney General Homer Cummings

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — Homer S. Cummings, 69-year-old attorney general, will leave President Roosevelt's cabinet in January to resume the private practice of law.

The president disclosed at his press conference today that Cummings had asked to be relieved and said the resignation—which has not yet been formally presented—would be effective early in the new year. The date has not been determined.

Son Also Resigns

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt said his 30-year-old son, James, had resigned from the White House secretariat pending his complete recovery from an operation he had last September. James, now recuperating on a California ranch, is expected to return to his post in the spring.

The president said he had not considered, so far, appointment of a successor to Cummings, James' post probably will not be filled during the interim.

In announcing Cummings' intention to resign, the chief executive took cognizance for the first time of persistent reports of possible cabinet changes. He left the door open for other cabinet replacements when he told inquirers there were no other resignations as yet.

Others Might Leave

There have been reports that Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper might leave the cabinet, as well as Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson, Postmaster General James A. Farley and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

The president told reporters he was sorry to see Cummings go be-

Cummings, who appeared personally before the supreme court in several New Deal cases, including the litigation resulting from reduction of the dollar's gold content, entered the cabinet in March, 1933, when Mr. Roosevelt was first inaugurated.

Mr. Roosevelt said today that Cummings accepted with the intention of remaining at his post only two years, but that at the end

Successful Use Of Insulin In Treatment Of Mental Disorders Is Discovered

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15 — A new use of insulin in the treatment of delirium tremens and similar mental disorders was reported today to the Southern Medical association.

Dr. G. Wilse Robinson, jr., of Kansas City, Mo., declared that the hormone, already in wide use in the shock treatment of almost hopeless mental cases, may be even more useful in the treatment of milder forms of insanity.

Back To Normal

Such patients, who suffer from wild hallucinations, inability to eat or sleep, and have suicidal impulses, can be brought back to normal within 24 hours with small doses of insulin, he said. The treatment has been used on hundreds of persons in a Kansas City hospital with no unfavorable results, he added.

Insulin seems to act as a stimulant for the entire body in removing toxic poisons which accumulate when a person eats or drinks too much or too little or is under severe mental strain. These poisons, ordinarily eliminated through the liver, cause an expansion of the blood vessels which feed the brain and leakage into the brain tissue itself.

Develops Into Maniac

The result, Dr. Robinson declared, is a general fogging up of the mental processes, causing a person to have imaginary ideas, be unable to orient himself in his environment, and to develop into a maniac.

However the administration of small doses of insulin has been found to calm such patients, enable them to sleep, regain their appetites, and return to normal.

A number of delirium tremens patients, suffering from violent hallucinations of snakes and pink elephants and ready to commit suicide calmed down within an hour after

Young Convict Dies In Fight

(By The Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 15. — R. W. Miller of Huntsville, prison board member, said today Jack Rogers, 20-year-old convict from Beaumont, had been killed in a bloody prison dormitory fight.

Miller said an investigation revealed the slayer was Jimmy Bostic, 22, habitual criminal from Corpus Christi. Bostic admitted the killing, Miller said.

Bostic, serving as a building tender at the No. 2 Eastham camp, had punished Rogers, Miller asserted, and the Beaumont man accosted him.

Stabbed In Stomach

Rogers cut Bostic slightly on the chin and the latter drew a knife, which building tenders were allowed to carry, and stabbed Rogers once in the stomach.

The wounded convict was brought to the prison hospital but died two days later.

Miller said the case probably would be presented the Houston county grand jury.

Rogers was sentenced for "burglary with intent to commit rape," in Beaumont March 26, 1935.

Anglo-American Agreement On Trade Has Been Reached

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP) — President Roosevelt gave today the first official indication that the Anglo-American trade agreement has been reached.

He did so by saying Secretary of State Hull, rather than himself, would sign it.

Reliable information is that the signing will take place within a day or so. The agreement embraces hundreds of tariff reductions made on both sides.

Planting Goal Is Announced For Farmers

Acreage For 1939 Is To Be Divided Among The Various Crops; Cut Is Indicated

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—American farmers must plant no more than 275,000,000 of their 365,000,000 cultivated acres to cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, rice and other "soil depleting" crops next year if they are to obtain $712,000,000 in subsidy payments authorized by congress.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace established this national planting goal today for the 1939 agricultural adjustment programs, designed to prevent accumulation of crop surpluses. This year's goal was about 282,500,000 acres.

Provided For All Needs

The secretary said 275,000,000 acres should produce sufficient crops to supply the nation's domestic requirements and "all possible export markets" and provide an adequate reserve.

The 1939 goal will be divided among various crops and then allotted to farmers. Growers may comply with, or ignore, their allotments, but in order to be eligible for maximum subsidy payments they must comply. In addition, they must plant land diverted from soil-depleting crops to those classed as soil building, such as clover, alfalfa, other legumes and pasture crops.

Be About The Same

Except for wheat, peanuts and certain types of tobacco, the planting goals for major crops will be about the same as this year. The wheat goal was established at 55,000,000 acres compared with 62,500,000 last year.

The cotton goal was fixed at between 27,000,000 and 29,000,000 acres compared with a normal cotton acreage of about 40,000,000. There is a near-record surplus of cotton.

Slight increases in peanut and flue-cured tobacco acreage goals were established.

The department's planting program may be supplemented by marketing regulations under which growers will be assessed penalty taxes if they sell in excess of individual quotas. Cotton, tobacco and rice growers will vote December 10 on a proposal to invoke these regulations. They must be approved by two-thirds of those voting before they can be established.

Governor Allred Calls On Texas Citizens To Offer Up Thanks For Many Blessings

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—Governor James V. Allred's Thanksgiving proclamation:

"Thanksgiving day, which is set aside by our people as a day for giving thanks to Almighty God for his divine goodness, gives us an opportunity to also give thanks for the blessings of freedom and prosperity that we enjoy as a heritage left us, not alone by pioneers of the United States, but by the pioneers of our own great Lone Star state.

"The blessings of peace, prosperity and national security, which are ours today, are blessings deserving of our deepest gratitude and praise to divine providence.

"Now, therefore, I, James V. Allred, governor of the state of Texas, do hereby set aside and proclaim Thursday, November 24, 1938, to be Thanksgiving day, a legal holiday in Texas, and I invite the citizens of Texas to observe the day in such manner as will show our appreciation for the bountiful blessings which are ours.

"I especially urge that the United States and Texas flags be displayed in public places and on public buildings to signify our gratefulness for the privilege of living in this land of freedom and opportunity."

Many of the 450 delegates expected to attend the meeting were streaming into Memphis tonight.

Presiding Elders Attend

Presiding elders attending the meeting were T. M. Johnston, Perryton; E. B. Bowen, Stamford; Jud S. H. Young, Sweetwater; Cal C. Wright, Vernon; O. P. Clark, Lubbock; C. A. Bickley, Abilene; J. O. Haymes, Amarillo; T. S. Bacus, Clarendon, and E. E. White, Plainview.

Eighteen members of the conference board of Christian education met in a business session in charge of the Rev. C. R. Hooten, chairman, of Plainview.

The meeting will be held here for the first time in 20 years.

A communion service at 2 p. m. will open the four-day meeting.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt will preside, and Charles E. Scofield, president of the Iliff school of theology of Denver, Colo., will be one of the principal speakers.

Conference song leader will be Kermit Hollingsworth of Southern Methodist university.

Detective's Camera Eye Bags Fugitive In Dallas Tuesday

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (AP)—City Detective J. T. Luther's camera eye bagged a fugitive from justice today.

Luther and a partner saw two men walking along a street here. Luther remarked he felt certain he had seen the face of one of the men pictured on a police circular.

When the officers approached, the men ran. They were overtaken and hauled to jail.

The man Luther suspected was Delbert Bowers, 19-year-old Dallas convict who escaped the Ferguson state prison farm July 29. The other man was a local police character.

Judge Says Hitler Methods Are Not For United States

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15. (AP) — Methods allegedly used by government agents in proceeding against a Dallas man charged with income tax evasion, were assailed in federal court here this afternoon by Judge T. W. Davidson, who declared that "Hitler methods are not used for these United States."

The judge made the observation after J. S. Grisham, of Tyler, attorney for N. S. Lock, Dallas oil man who is defendant in the case, charged that government agents in Illinois had set for next Saturday a public sale of a portion of Lock's property in that state.

Two Articles Of A Proposed Constitution Are Adopted; More Dues To Be Charged

By MARBEN GRAHAM
Associated Press Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15—The C. I. O. set itself up tonight as a permanent Congress of Industrial Organizations after answering President Roosevelt's plea for labor peace with the declaration it would accept "no compromise" with the A. F. of L.

Delegates to the union's first convention adopted two articles of a proposed constitution. The first gave the organization its new name and the second set forth the objects of the congress.

Debate Is Renewed

Action on the remaining articles was halted abruptly 45 minutes before scheduled adjournment time by renewal of debate on the second article.

Joseph Curran, head of the National Maritime union, and Harry Bridges, C. I. O. director on the west coast, said they believed the article should be reconsidered after copies of the constitution had been distributed to the 500 delegates. Their motion was not acted upon but the meeting was adjourned until tomorrow.

The proposed constitution, which will be given first consideration tomorrow, resembles in many respects that of the A. F. of L.—but gives the central organization more power in some respects and more dues per member.

Five Cent Assessment

A per capita tax assessment of five cents a month on the membership of national and international union was proposed, compared with the present two cents per member assessment of similar units of the A. F. of L., which includes a special assessment of one cent.

Members of local industrial union, with charters resembling the "federal" charters issued by the A. F. of L., would be taxed 50 cents a month, compared with 35 cents by the federation.

The federation's executive council has the power to suspend national and international unions, as it did the eight big union which formed the C. I. O., three years ago, but only the C. I. O.'s convention would have the authority to suspend or expel one of its unions.

Have 45 Members

The C. I. O.'s executive board will have 45 members. The A. F. of L. board has 15.

The convention staged a 14-minute demonstration after adopting without dissent the officers' reports which included the declara-

Plans To Save On Roads Told

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 15.—County judges and commissioners of eight North and East Texas counties meeting here tonight agreed that taxpayers should be relieved of road bond burdens, but were doubtful of some details of a highway debt reorganization program presented by Norman S. Taber, New York City.

Taber's survey, prepared for the state highway commission and the board of county and district road indebtedness, was presented the county officials and followed by a round table discussion.

Survey Is Conducted

Norman S. Taber & company was employed for a $25,000 fee to conduct a survey of highway indebtedness in Texas. The report will be considered by the state agencies employing the firm, and be used as a guide for recommended legislation.

Taber said his plan would save $25,000,000 in direct interest charges, the state taking over outstanding county road bond indebtedness. The counties will pledge their part of automobile license fees, and the state 1 cent of the gasoline tax and its part of the license fees. The state already has assumed $85,000,000 of county bonds used to build

Thousands Of Acres In Dickens And Kent Counties Leased

Leasing of 37,000 acres in Dickens and Kent counties for oil by the Gulf, and announcement of a wildcat oil test on the Matador ranch in Dickens county, were two highlights of interest to South Plains oil men this week.

The Gulf took 10 years lease on the acreage. No indication of a possible test for the acreage was given, according to oil scouts.

Location of the Matador ranch test will be in the northeast quarter of the county, said reports. It is to be a mile and a half east of the Bond Jones block, and a few miles from the Bond Jones et No. 1, a wild cat test now drilling below 3,467 feet. Location is given as Humble No. 1 Matador, 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 2, block 1, Shook and Arnold survey. Contract depth is to be 6,000 feet.

The Colorado river ranks fourth in the United States in average flow of water, 101,500 feet per second.

Plans Drafted By U. S. Envoy

LONDON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Urged by United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, the British government tonight considered a new scheme for leading a mass exodus of Jews from Germany.

The plan was believed to have been drafted by the ambassador himself.

Would Move Majority

Britain's dominions, colonies and mandate territories, together with the United States, South American nations, France, Belgium and The Netherlands, it was understood, would try to move the majority of the 600,000 Jews still in the reich, not just a part of them.

Kennedy conferred with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain at No. 10 Downing street and it was believed both Chamberlain and Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax liked the plan and agreed to try it.

To expedite a solution of the problem, intensified by last week's wave of violence against Jewish property in Germany and by ensuing restrictive decrees, the United States and British colonies may be asked to take some refugees immediately.

May Call Conference

It was possible a conference might be called soon to allocate the refugees. Ambassador Kennedy, however, refused to make public details of the plan.

Though the attitude of the dominions was not known yet, cooperation of The Netherlands government was assured.

Premier Hendrikus Colijn told The Netherlands parliament he was asking Britain, France, Denmark, Belgium and Switzerland to join in urgent discussion of how to find new homes for Jews from Germany.

Discussion Is Held

Chamberlain received a deputation of leading Jews at the house of commons for a discussion along that line, but it was not disclosed if a plan had been devised.

Reliable quarters said the British government had kept under consideration the possibility of "approaching Germany at the appropriate moment" to obtain an orderly emigration of Jews under the intergovernmental committee headed by George Rublee of the United States.

Aged Lubbock Woman Looks Back On Time When Cotton Planting Was Little Known

An 82-year-old Lubbock woman, with black hair that reaches her waist, keenly looks back to a time when cotton was not planted in a region now one of Texas' largest cotton producing sections—though today her eyes do not permit much work, even toward mending her "old man's everyday coat."

She is Mrs. Maggie Shelton, whose two-room stucco residence is located at 420 Avenue E, where she and her husband, Walter T. Shelton, 88, settled over 20 years ago.

Born in Collin county, Texas, Mrs. Shelton was not able to attend "pay schools", then the only type of educational institutions in that section, but was forced to gain her education by lamplight after completing a day's work on her widowed mother's farm.

"Collin county", she said, "was chiefly planted to corn, cane, and wheat, for at that time not many of us knew what cotton was."

Mrs. Shelton, mother of seven children, the eldest of which, Mrs. Katie Murrah of near Beehouse, Coryell county, is 62 years old, devotes her time to the care of approximately 40 chickens which, together with old age pensions, is their only means of support. She admitted, however, that her husband was responsible for most of the work around the house. Shelton once sold candy on the streets of Lubbock.

Until several years ago, when bad health prohibited active work, Mrs. Shelton attended the Methodist church, where she has been a member 62 years. When questioned of her husband's religious preferences, she laughingly stated, "He once was a Baptist, but I tell him he isn't anything now."

Two New WPA Projects Over This District Announced

Two WPA projects, one for Lubbock and the other for Plainview, were announced by state WPA headquarters here said J. O. Jones, district director yesterday. Total included is over $69,000.

The Plainview project is paving of streets with asphalt. Federal funds amount to $26,019 and the city of Plainview's share is $23,113. One hundred men will be employed for several months. "We hope all winter," said Jones. "The work is to start Wednesday."

In Lubbock the city contributed $8,648 and the federal government, $11,441. Twenty-eight men will be employed in the elimination of sanitary devices in rural and suburban sections where sewer service is available. Work began Monday.

Lubbock Agent Will Attend Funeral For John Lane

Ray H. Forbes, division freight and passenger agent of the Panhandle and Santa Fe is to attend the funeral of the late John James Lane, assistant general freight and passenger agent, to be held in Sacred Heart Cathedral, Amarillo, at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Lane, well known among southwestern railroad men, died Monday morning at his home from a heart attack. He had visited Lubbock on many occasions to attend railroad rate meetings and truck and bus hearings. He also appeared before several luncheon clubs here.

Senator Norris Claims U. S. Can't Tell Germans What They Can Do With Jews

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 15. (AP)—The German persecution of Jews is "outrageous, inhuman, indefensible, and incomprehensible," but the United States can't tell the Germans "that they can't do it," Senator George W. Norris, white-haired, 77-year-old Nebraska independent, said here today.

The senator spent last night here, breaking his trip from his McCook, Neb., home to Washington, a trip on which he intends to visit all the dams in the government's vast power and flood-control project of which he was the chief sponsor.

He left this morning for Arkansas.

Senator Norris said he saw "not much significance" in the fact the state department has ordered Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson home from Germany for "report and consultation."

"They just want first-hand information on the situation," Norris said.

Time For Extension On 1937 Corn Loans Being Granted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15, (AP) — The Commodity Credit corporation announced today it would give farmers until November 26 to extend 1937 corn loans for another year at the 1938 rate of 57 cents a bushel.

The time for extending the loans closed today, but reports from the corn belt that many farmers had not had an opportunity to make the extension caused the corporation to allow the additional time.

"Cruising speed" usually is interpreted by air lines as meaning speed at 60 per cent of available power.

Good Record For Church At Morton Is Being Claimed

Claiming a $10 per capita payment of all members of his church, Rev. J. W. Watson of the Morton Methodist church and a former Lubbock resident, stopped here Tuesday. He and Mrs. Watson were here enroute to annual conference at Memphis.

The church now has 161 members, a net gain of 55 over last year. There were 112 additions and 6 dismissals.

Church payment were $1,673. "All benevolences and salaries were paid in full," he added.

Prominent Church Woman Is Death Victim In Santone

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Lula May Joiner, 64, prominent church woman and former missionary, died this morning at her home.

Mrs. Joiner, a native of Beech Grove, Ky., had lived in San Antonio for the past 20 years. Before coming to San Antonio she had served in missionary work in Brazil for 25 years.

Toy Drive Set For Saturday

Preparations are going forward for the annual Boy Scout toy pickup here Saturday, J. Ray Dickey, chairman of the pickup committee, explained. Repair and distribution of the toys to needy children are under sponsorship of Lubbock Goodfellows.

Two Meetings Attended

Dickey attended two meetings of scout leaders Monday night and has others planned at various times during the week for the issuance of final instructions and the clearing of any questions concerning the actual pickup.

Territories have been assigned, scouts are to meet at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and will attempt to visit every home in Lubbock before the day is over. Residents of the city are being urged to bundle any toys which might be repaired and to leave them on their front porches where scouts may collect them.

Suggestion Is Made

As explained by Dickey, the better the condition of the toy, the more desirable it is. But he voiced this suggestion:

"If you have toys which you believe may be beyond repair, leave them anyway. Scouts often get surprising results with seemingly hopeless material. If the toy cannot be repaired, it easily can be discarded. But if it can be repaired, it is another gift for some child who would not be remembered if it was not for the Goodfellows."

Other announcements by the chairman were that M. Boone Horne, office supply salesman, has been added to the general committee, and that the Goodfellows' housing committee is attempting to find a building where toys can be repaired and stored to await distribution.

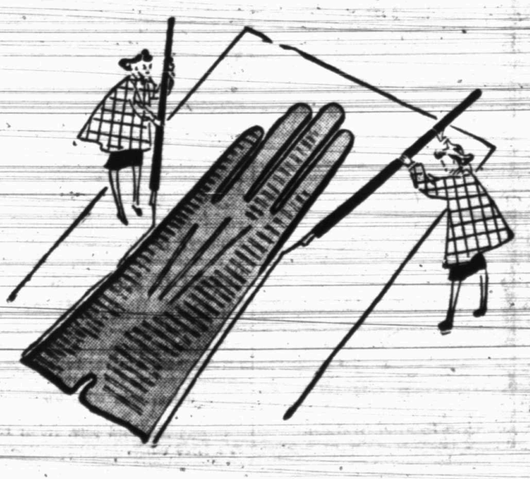

Thurman Wells Only Member Of First Graduating Class

O'DONNELL, Nov. 15—Thurman Wells, manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., yard here, is the only member of the first high school graduating class now living in Lynn county. He was a guest of the recent O'Donnell-Tahoka home coming game at Tahoka.

Wells graduated in 1910 from the high school at Tahoka. Other members of the small group are either dead or have moved out of the county, it is said.

Three-Cornered Fight For Vice Presidency Of Bankers' Group Is Flaring

Choice To Be Given Today

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Nov. 15 — A three-cornered fight for the second vice presidency of the American Bankers association flared tonight between W. Laird Dean of Topeka, Kas., P. D. Houston of Nashville and Frank P. Powers of Mora, Minn.

The nominating committee met early in the evening to select the man who will be ABA president in 1940 but did not indicate its choice, which is to be announced tomorrow on the convention floor when the annual convention is held.

Powers Is Darkhorse

The 3,000 delegates were fairly evenly divided between Dean and Houston with Powers a darkhorse. Observers said bankers supporting Dean were determined to elect a man opposed to branch banking.

Independent bankers from the midwest gave Powers an outside chance to win the nomination.

Ben Dubois of Sauke Center, Minn., leading the fight on branch banking tossed into the hopper a resolution characterizing branch banking as monopolistic and destructive to the American system of unit banking.

Would Prohibit Plan

The Dubois resolution, which was referred to the resolutions committee, asked that congress and the various state legislatures be asked to enact laws prohibiting branch banking in any form and the control or operation of any banks through group and holding companies.

The executive council took cognizance of the Dubois resolution and voted to let its proponents and proponents of a resolution adopted yesterday by the state banks division appear before the resolutions committee.

The state banks division resolution reaffirms the action of the Boston convention last year in opposing the operation of branch banks across state lines.

Heavy Spending Protested

During the day the convention heard President Orval W. Adams of Salt Lake City, Utah, ask that the federal government reduce its deficit and begin paying the public debt. He urged bankers to educate their depositors to protest heavy government spending.

Turning to a discussion of the banks' huge holdings of government bonds, he said:

"When once your depositors realize that 20 or 30 or even 40 per cent of their deposits have been invested by you in the obligations of a concern which has been losing money by the billions for more than seven years, their reaction will be different from their present stand."

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, introduced by Adams as a conservative and a "tower of strength against the treasury raiders" told the banker critics of President Roosevelt that the president had saved the banks of the nation in the early days of his administration.

Jones reminded the bankers that the mode of banking was undergoing a change and recommended long term loans to business by banks.

APPLICATIONS DENIED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 15. (AP)—Governor Bibb Graves today denied pardon applications of five "Scottsboro rape case" convicts, all serving long-term sentences.

Four of the original nine negro defendants were freed last year when the state dropped charges against them.

There are 158 persons in Bulgaria who claim to be more than 100 years old.

Judge Means Business And Sends Teacher To Jail When She Flouts His Warning

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15. (AP)—A 28-year-old kindergarten teacher wore blue slacks and a red and white blouse into court today and was sent to jail for five days for contempt by Judge Arthur Guerin.

The teacher, Miss Helen Hulick, who looks like screen actress Marlene Dietrich, flouted Judge Guerin's warning of yesterday that women in his courtroom must dress like women. He told her she could not take the witness stand because she was wearing gray-green slacks and a flamboyant yellow sweater. He told her to come back today, wearing a dress.

Miss Hulick came back, took the witness stand and testified against two negroes charged with robbing her house. Judge Guerin ignored her as she opened her coat and displayed the slacks and sweater. When she finished her testimony the bailiff led her to the prisoner's bench, and there she heard the court order her to jail.

Banks Here Do Not Have New Nickels

Lubbock banks were uncertain Tuesday when first shipments of the new Thomas Jefferson nickels will be received here.

It may be a few days and then again it may be longer. Expectation is, however, that the coins likely will be showing up in parking meters, which collect $9,000 to $10,000 nickels each week.

Meters are so productive of nickels, in fact, that Lubbock banks usually have a surplus of the coins to ship to the Federal Reserve bank in Dallas. In most cities the reverse is true. Regular replenishment of the supply by shipments from the Dallas bank is necessary in most cities.

However, more than 11,000,000 of the new nickels were scheduled to go into circulation in other parts of the nation while the minting of additional millions of the coins continues.

On the "heads" side of the coin is the profile of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States, author of the Declaration of Independence and claimed by the democratic party as its godfathter. On the "tails" side is an engraving of his Monticello home.

The design is that of Felix Schlag of Chicago, a naturalized German, who won the treasury's $1,000 competition.

Senior Crops Judging Team To Leave For Kansas City

The senior crops judging team of Texas Technological college will leave this morning for Kansas City, Mo., to compete in a national intercollegiate contest Monday and will go from Kansas City to compete in an international contest Nov. 26.

Earl T. Duke, agronomy instructor, is coach and will accompany the team.

Members are John Moody of Beckton, Russell Cook of Littlefield, Orvel Spence of Floydada, and Billy Waddle of Greenville.

The group will stop at Oklahoma A. & M. college at Stillwater for practice judging Thursday. It also will enter practice judging at the federal grain inspection office in Kansas City before the contest. It will judge at Iowa State College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts at Ames when en route from Kansas City to Chicago.

BRITISH EARL DIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—William Iygon, 66, seventh earl of Beauchamp, died last night in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. He had been ill a month. He was on a visit here.

His body will be taken back to England Friday on the Queen Mary for burial at his country seat in Madresfield, Worcestershire.

The minimum age at which one may obtain a pilot's license in England is seventeen.

Miller Funeral Is To Be Wednesday

PETERSBURG, Nov. 15. (Special) Last rites for Tom Miller, 21, of Petersburg will be conducted at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the First Christian church here.

Burial will be in the Petersburg cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock.

Miller was found dead about 2 o'clock this morning in an automobile parked near a Petersburg gin.

Body was found by two companions who had left Miller about two hours earlier, said J. W. McDaniel, justice of the peace.

The justice said he understood Miller's companions said they left Miller lying on the back seat of the open car and that they had thought him asleep; that they went to a nearby cottonseed pile to sleep; and that they returned at 2 o'clock and found Miller dead.

Officials said the supposition was that the man died of carbon monoxide fumes from the car's exhaust pipe.

The body was removed to Lubbock before daylight, he said.

Miller is survived by his wife; a 6-months old child; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller of near Petersburg; a brother, Haskell Miller of Petersburg; and four sisters, Mrs. Homer Elliott and Mrs. S. W. Eller of Phoenix, Ariz., and Misses Loraine and Ruby Dell Miller of Petersburg.

Cotton Producers Of County Are To Gather Thursday

Letters to all cotton producers of Lubbock county have been mailed by C. C. Jobson, county agent, advising them of a meeting in the district courtroom Thursday morning, at which improvement of cotton and better ginning will be discussed.

Not only were producers invited, but ginners, oil mill men, buyers, vocational agriculture teachers and others interested.

Speakers will be E. A. Miller, College Station, agronomist for the state extension service and Fritz W. Lichte, cotton gin specialist. The two men are well known in Lubbock, having been here numerous times to talk to farmers on these subjects. Lichte is known throughout the south as a gin authority. He is frequently called upon by the United States department of agriculture, for advice on ginning problems, said Jobson.

Miller is to talk on a one variety program for the county. He has been heading this type of work for several years and there has been a marked increase in the number of one variety communities over the Texas cotton belt.

GIVEN 25 YEARS

HOUSTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—Frank Foltin, 34, pleaded guilty to a murder charge today before a jury and was given 25 years in prison. He was charged with shooting William B. Vaughn on August 24 at a dairy.

Ten-Year Franchise For Sale Of Butane Gas Is Given

MATADOR, Nov. 15.—A contract has been signed by the city of Matador and the P. K. Distributing Co., of Lubbock for a 10-year franchise to permit the sale and distribution of butane gas within the city limits. Council at its next meeting Dec. 6, will pass an ordinance for this permit, it was said.

Under the contract which Paul Kasiake, president of the company, made with the city, a price of 12 cents per gallon will be made. Three units are to be installed in the city, located in three sections of the city.

No minimum rate has been set. Instead, a $10 installation charge for a meter and an $11 charge for a "regulator" is to be made. The regulator controls the pressure. Customers must furnish pipes and heaters and have their buildings piped.

Martial Law To Halt Shooting Of Firecrackers In Dallas Christmas Will Be Asked

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (AP)—Because the city council delayed enactment of a ban on fireworks sales until after the Christmas season, J. L. Parkerson said today he would ask Gov. Allred to place Dallas under martial law to prevent the shooting of "crackers" during the holiday.

Dormitory Lounge Scene Of Party

Possibly the largest group ever assembled for tea in Lubbock was the 800 delegates to the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers convention who were entertained from 4:30 until 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the lounge of the women's dormitory at Texas Technological college. Hosts were the City Parent-Teacher council, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the Teachers Classroom association.

Mrs. M. B. Hilburn greeted guests at the door and presented them to Mesdames S. B. Haynes, W. R. Weaver of Spur, H. F. Godeke, A. C. Surman of Post, A. B. Davis, Guy L. Trow, J. T. Trigg, G. W. Parkhill, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Irvin and Jay Gordon.

Table In Pastels

The tea table, especially planned for the occasion by Miss Mozelle Craddock, head professor of institutional management in the Tech home economics division, was covered with a peach dotted net cloth and centered with a large bowl of tiny pink and yellow rosebuds and sweet peas. Smaller bowls of the flowers were placed at the ends of the table.

The lounge was decorated with bowls of pastel flowers, and an arrangement of tapers, autumn leaves and fruit graced the mantle.

These Preside

Mesdames C. J. Wagner, J. T. Krueger, M. C. Overton and P. W. Horn presided at the tea table the first hour and Mesdames W. H. Bledsoe, Bradford Knapp, William G. Dingus and Roscoe Wilson the second hour.

Assisting with serving were Misses Bonnie Gary, Pauline Hooser, Mary Ansley, Lena Belle Brown, Margaret Prewitt and Mesdames E. Waldo Trotter, D. Jarrett and H. D. Woods.

Others in the house party were Mesdames J. T. Hutchinson, Mary W. Doak, and Misses Margaret W. Weeks and Elizabeth H. West.

The Senior high school orchestra, directed by Miss Beulah Dunn, played during the afternoon.

Mrs. Ed Hambright Will Be Area Chairman For Reunion

DENTON, Nov. 15. (Special)—Mrs. Ed Hambright of Lubbock has been named as one of 58 area chairmen of the reunion dinner dance for all ex-students of the North Texas State Teachers College, November 24, at 6:30 p. m. in the Crystal ballroom of the Baker hotel in Dallas.

This committee has been named as a state-wide delegation to contact all former students in their respective areas. An intensive drive is being staged by this year's Ex-Student association officers to reach every former student of the Denton Teachers college and urge him to attend the reunion dinner.

President W. J. McConnell will be the principal speaker at the dinner, Bullock Hyder, president of the Ex-Students association has announced. Music for the evening will be furnished by Floyd Graham's orchestra of Teachers college. The Dallas group of ex-students will give a program of entertainment.

Pig Roast Is Held Tuesday

High point of fall activities of the division of agriculture of Texas Technological college, was the eleventh annual pig roast, sponsored by the agriculture club in the livestock pavilion of the school last night. It was attended by several hundred students, faculty members and guests and was declared by many the most successful of its kind ever held in the school.

Chief event was the presentation of members of the five teams representing the school, the dairy cattle team, dairy products team, crops judging team and the American Royal-Chicago International livestock team of animal husbandry students. The team for Chicago, with the crops judging team, leave today for their contests.

Pavilion Is Crowded

The pavilion was crowded. John Henry Baumgardner, president, opened the meeting and presented Edwin Williams, Dallas, a junior, as master of ceremonies.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division received a round of vigorous applause for his short, interesting review of the history of the club and its official team send-offs. Coaches Casey Fine, K. M. Renner, Earl T. Duke and Ray C. Mowery, presented their teams, sketching briefly some of the accomplishments and aims of the contestants. Mowery said he considered one of the objectives of the judging work was aiding the college in "turning boys into young men."

Members of the division faculty present were introduced, as were other faculty members. State Senator G. H. Nelson made a short talk on his observations of the work of the school.

Alvin Allison Talks

Alvin R. Allison, state representative-elect and an alumnus of the school, told of some of the things he hopes to be able to do as a member of the state legislature in securing needed buildings and support of the school. He told the boys who were working their way through college that he was "for" those who overcame obstacles in getting an education. W. L. Stangel introduced Allison.

Mowery led the group in yells for the teams.

Mart G. Pederson introduced the guests of the club. Among them were, Earl Collins, Joe S. McIlhaney, Ben Jenkins, R. D. Shinkle, J. H. Brock, C. W. Ratliff, Calvin Hazlewood, R. A. Mills, E. L. Thompson, W. E. Street, M. E. Heard, Dr. E. L. Reed, C. M. Stanley, W. M. Slagle, J. D. Hassell, Frank Gaines, J. S. Lewis, John Sam Lewis, Claude Tatum, A. B. Davis, jr., W. P. Clement, Dr. F. W. Standefer, Cecil Horn, Dr. H. L. Kent, Dean O. V. Adams, James Huffman, R. C. Middleton, J. H. Houston, W. H. Rodgers, B. O'Dell, R. L. Caldwell, Dean R. C. Goodwin, Bill Bratton, J. D. Strickland, W. C. Cole, R. H. Pretty, P. C. Blazi, C. Peltier and James Huffman.

German Field Marshal Goering Is Angry At News Of Anti-Semitic Violence

Economic Plan Said Jolted

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Nov. 15. General Hermann Wilhelm Goering was reported in reliable quarters tonight to have been in an angry mood when he learned of the new wave of nazi anti-Semitic violence, on the grounds that it severely jolted the four-year economic plan he directs.

The field marshal, whose dozen positions include the premiership of Prussia and supreme dictatorship over foreign exchange and raw materials, was reported to have given strict orders to cease property destruction like that of last Thursday when Jewish stores and synagogues throughout Germany were damaged and burned.

Orders Are Disregarded

He was said also to have berated those responsible for damages costing millions of dollars, but the smashing of a laundry and a grocery near Tempelhof airdrome in Berlin last night indicated disregard for his orders.

United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson, recalled to Washington for what informed quarters thought was a report on the entire German situation especially the anti-Jewish wave, called on Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop today preparatory to sailing on the liner Manhattan Thursday.

The envoy conferred with several diplomatic colleagues. It was understood one possible solution urged upon him was that some colony now held under a mandate by another country and formerly belonging to Germany be opened to Jews for mass emigration from Germany.

Surprise Is Expressed

A definite note of surprise and indignation over the proportions of the criticism abroad in the wake of last week's anti-Semitic outbreaks and subsequent measures ending Jewish participation in national life was struck in the German press.

A foreign office mouthpiece, the Deutsche Diplomatisch Politische Korrespondenz, took note of the feeling and issued a summary of the Jewish situation with the observation that it "is all too soon forgotten now and why the problem came to a head."

The Korrespondenz asserted that world Jewry greeted the nazi assumption of power with "an open fight against the German people."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' newspaper, Angriff, and other newspapers used headlines like "poor people of Israel" and "poor Jew with 12,000,000 marks" over lists of propertied Jews, as shown in reports of Jews' wealth made under a decree of last April.

The paper reported 35,802 Berlin Jews possessed property and money aggregating at least 5,000 marks ($2,000). Of this number the paper said 894 possessed at least 300,000 marks ($120,000), 346 had at least 500,000 marks ($200,000), and so on.

highways not a part of the state system.

Is Permanent Solution

"The plan is a permanent solution of the problem of adequate and just state aid," said Taber. "Bondholders will not be hurt and in many cases will be given added security. It will strengthen the entire credit of the state and the counties."

Immediate reimbursement would be made to the counties of $182,000,000 road bonded indebtedness, Taber said, and the plan does not add to the indebtedness. The debt service would cost $13,000,000 a year for 19 years. A total of $21,000,000 a year would be pledged, to enable the state to have a bond issue of unquestionable security. Excess amounts over interest and sinking fund requirements would go back to the state highway department, the amount estimated at $1,000,000 or more a year.

Fifty Tons Of Green Feed Per Day Fed Near To Whiteface

WHITEFACE, Nov. 15.—About 50 tons of green feed per day are being fed to more than 2,500 head of cattle now in the Reed-Snyder feeding pens here, according to A. J. Cline. The feed is being cut daily as needed.

Near the pens are trench silos containing between 8,000 and 10,000 tons of ensilage. These silos have not been opened. They were filled this fall.

In addition to ensilage, ground grain and cottonseed meal are being fed. The animals are said to be making excellent gains on the ration.

Recently 1,000 calves were put in the pens here for a few days and later were driven to the Reed and Snyder pens at Levelland, where 6,000 head of sheep are being fed. The cattle were driven to Levelland over the Santa Fe right-of-way, so as to keep them out of stalk fields along the highway. The drive was made on Sunday.

Four Persons Are Forced To Jump When House Burns

PALESTINE, Nov. 15. (AP)—Fire in a two-story rooming house trapped five persons on the second floor and forced four of them to jump to safety today.

Pete Bomer clambered down a porch support to the ground, his wife dropped their six-weeks-old daughter to him. The child was not hurt. Mrs. Bomer then jumped on a mattress and hurt her back.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Anderson jumped safely.

BUYS MORE CATTLE

WHITEFACE—Pick Flowers has purchased 37 more head of cattle from Ad Eddins, which he is placing in his feed lots for fattening. The animals were heifers.

News Briefs...

Funeral services were read Tuesday afternoon in Jayton for Norman Nick Simpson, 3 years, 5 months old, who died about 4 o'clock Tuesday morning in a Lubbock sanitarium. The family resides near Girard, Kent county.

Ed Sanders, deputy sheriff of Tahoka, Tuesday reported to police here that three radiators had been stolen there. One was for a Willys automobile, another for a model A Ford, and a third for a Chrysler. They had not been reported as found, according to authorities here that night.

B. Brammer of 2220 Eighteenth street reported to police Tuesday that a platinum bracelet had been stolen from him. A description of the article was given officers.

An 18-year-old San Antonio Mexican Tuesday afternoon was arrested on a complaint of shoplifting at a Lubbock dry goods store in the 800-block Broadway. The Mexican entered a plea of guilty of theft under $5 and was fined $15. Arrest was by Lewis Kittrell and Silas Anderson of the police department.

Rank of esquire was conferred upon Adrian James, M. S. Gunn, Thomas Arnold Weed, and G. V. Pardue at a meeting Tuesday night of Knights of Pythias in the K-P hall. Approximately 60 members attended, according to Russell Hardin, chancellor commander.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Breedlove of West Lubbock are parents of a daughter weighing 7 pounds born at their residence Sunday afternoon. The infant was named Naomi.

To Sail Thursday

Ambassador Wilson, Secretary of State Hull said today, is due to sail from Havre Thursday. He will arrive in New York next Thursday, one day before Hull sails from New York for the conference at Lima. Wilson will therefore have a chance to make his first report to Hull.

President Roosevelt said instructions to Ambassador Wilson to return were—in technical, diplomatic language—not a recall but a summons.

He said no protest was being made yet to Berlin against the persecution of the Jews. Asked whether his use of the word yet indicated a protest at some future date he said he could not comment further.

At the state department it was said the only protest possibly contemplated at this time would be one based on reported damage to American Jews' property in Germany, on which there are no official accounts as yet. The president said the American embassy in Berlin is checking the reports.

Any general protest made on humanitarian grounds, it was said, would await the return of Mr. Wilson and his report to the president.

Contract On Paving Given At Seagraves

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 15. (Special)—Contract for city paving of most of Seagraves' streets was let today, subject to approval of regional director of Public Works administration.

Contract went to the Uvalde Construction company of Dallas who was low bidder with $64,508.36.

Other bids submitted were: Heberstreet Jones Construction company of Albuquerque, N. M., $68,761.50; Brown-Root of Austin, $69,625.30; Holland Page of Austin, $73,632.10; and Panhandle Construction company of Lubbock, $74,479.30.

The contract was for rock asphalt paving on the streets in the business section of Seagraves and many of the streets in the residential areas.

Joe E. Ward of Wichita Falls is consulting engineer.

Contract was awarded Monday on a city-sponsored PWA project for extension of the water system in Brownfield.

Attorney General

of this time and on several occasions thereafter he prevailed upon the cabinet officer to stick.

Finally, he said, Cummings told him last July that he had to go back to private practice of law at Stamford, Conn. The president yielded in C to'ber, but asked Cummings to remain until after congress meets January 3.

While Mr. Roosevelt said he had not decided upon a successor, speculation centered tonight on Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson. Before being appointed to his present post, Jackson was assistant attorney general.

Record Is Praised

Praising Cummings' record, the president said the department of justice under his administration had accomplished extraordinary results, particularly in the improvement of methods for handling court cases, in tackling problems that had to be worked out on a national basis, in improving detection of interstate crimes; including kidnaping, and in bettering prison conditions.

He replied in the negative when asked whether the resignation would mean any slackening in enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

Recommendations for filling a dozen or more federal judgeships will be considered at a conference the president and Cummings will have tomorrow at the White House.

Dallas Site Okayed For New Hospital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—The veterans administration announced today President Roosevelt had approved selection of a site on the outskirts of Dallas, Texas, for a new veterans hospital.

The president approved a recommendation by the federal board of hospitalization. It had picked the Byrd E. White site, consisting of 244 acres adjacent to the south city limits of Dallas.

On the site will be built a 250-bed general medical and surgical hospital which the administration had decided to locate in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. It will cost approximately $1,200,000.

The administration recently awarded a $600,000 contract for construction of a new hospital in Amarillo, Tex.

torium. These sessions are open to the public.

The second general session was held Tuesday night at Senior High school auditorium honoring past state presidents, only two of whom were in attendance. These were Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Chalmers W. Hutchinson, chairman of standards and goals in the Texas congress.

A thirty-minute band concert was played by Senior high school students directed by H. A. Anderson; invocation was by G. C. Brewer of the Broadway Church of Christ. Mrs. Charles Stephens led assembly singing of a medley of old-time favorites with Mrs. C. E. Hereford at the piano and greetings were brought by W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock Public schools.

W. Roy Breg, executive secretary of Allied Youth, Inc., Washington, D. C. was speaker for the evening, challenging his audience to a consideration of the dangers of alcohol on American youth.

"From dependable surveys made in high schools throughout the entire United States, it is revealed that youth of this generation goes in for drinking on an unprecedented scale," said Mr. Breg. "A cross section of the country indicates that 40 per cent of the high school seniors drink alcoholic beverages and 60 per cent are used to having it served in their homes."

Under Social Pressure

"We have discovered that many of these youths drink under social pressure, giving little or no thought to its deleterious effects. Allied Youth is a national movement made up of high school students in every state in the United States and Hawaii, to help at the point of education to get scientific facts for these young people and to help them to discover really good times may be had where there isn't drinking.

"Posts or clubs of students are organized and under counsel of a sponsor the student, through a social or recreational program, is guided in the right use of his leisure."

Eighty Mother Singers from the fourteenth district sang "Serenade" (Schubert) and "The Rosary" (Nevin) under the direction of Mrs. P. H. Laverty with Mrs. Hereford at the piano. They represented Lubbock, Muleshoe, Tahoka, Floydada, Spur, Plainview, Slaton, Post and Snyder. The women wore black dresses and their decorative paper caps and short crepe paper capes were fashioned to represent flowers. Mrs. H. F. Godeke presented the "flower singers" to the audience. For an encore they sang a selection dedicated to the convention and sung to the tune of "The Eyes of Texas."

A play hour closed the program. Guests were invited to the gymnasium for games directed by Miss Louisa Moon, state chairman of recreation, assisted by Mrs. Lellesse Kirby, of physical education department at Senior High school, and Mrs. George Langford and Miss Zella Riegel, professors of physical education for women at Texas Technological college.

Changsha Faces Doom By Fire

SHANGHAI, Nov. 15. (AP) — Changsha, capital of Hunan province and next major objective of the Japanese, appeared today to be doomed to virtually complete destruction by fire before the Japanese arrive.

Fragmentary advices reaching Shanghai indicated the populace of the city was panic stricken at the prospect of quick entry by the invaders, while Chinese troops burned buildings in keeping with their "scorched earth" policy.

Many Take Refuge

The majority of Changsha's foreign residents were said to have taken refuge in the Standard Oil installations on the banks of the Siang river outside the city, where they were guarded by the British gunboat Sandpiper.

A group of foreign missionaries, however, mostly Americans, remained within the compound of the American Hunan Bible institute, inside the walls of the burning city. It was believed they would be reasonably safe there.

Japanese reported their advance from the north continued without serious opposition and said they expected to reach the Hunan capital by Friday or Saturday.

Among those accused of entering a conspiracy of nationwide proportions to restrain the sale of counter freezers—used in retail stores, hospitals, restaurants and other places for making ice cream on their premises—were:

The National Dairy Products Corp. and the Borden Co. of New York and other ice cream manufacturing firms scattered from coast to coast. The International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, with approximately 400 members in 47 states, and 19 executives of the defendant companies.

To Combat Charges

Dr. Bundesen, asserting he knew nothing of any conspiracy, took a leave of absence to combat the charges. Mayor Edward J. Kelly lauded him as "an efficient health officer."

State's Attorney Courtney, declaring he had the "utmost confidence" in Gilbert's integrity, announced he would not permit him to resign. "There is no justification for any charges against us," stated Thomas H. McInnerney, president of the National Dairy Products Corp. "We are determined to fight these charges vigorously, confident that our business and executives will be completely vindicated."

Other defendants issued similar statements.

Search For Two Boston High School Boys Being Staged

BOSTON, Nov. 15. (AP)—A coast guard seaplane, aiding a half-dozen vessels, today took up a search for two Boston High school boys, last sighted nine miles off Cape Cod, and drifting to sea in a skiff.

The boys were Thomas Glendon, 17, scion of a nationally known rowing family, and Lester Welford, 18, of Wakefield, Mass.

Two companions said the boys had gone out to retrieve ducks when the wind swept their frail craft seaward last night off Monomoy point.

An all-night search by half a dozen coast guard boats failed to disclose any sign of the pair.

An inch of rainfall per acre of land weighs approximately 100 tons.

Paris Bargains

forecast the German-French agreement would have these results:

Would Pledge To Confer

1. If another crisis such as that over Czechoslovakia's Sudeten regions, should arise France would be pledged to settle her part by conference negotiations as was done at Munich.

2. Germany, therefore, would be free to pursue her own policies in eastern Europe without fear of trouble on her western frontier provided she did not threaten or attempt to attack France either by armed force of propaganda.

Informed sources said negotiations for such a post-Munich agreement were spurred when Hitler shelved at least temporarily the old German imperial policy of westward expansion and of attempting to challenge Britain as a sea power.

Spreads Eastward

Instead he concentrated on another equally well-established policy of spreading German influence eastward to the Black sea and beyond. During the Czechoslovak crisis Hitler announced Germany did not want Alsace-Lorraine, the provinces France won in the World war.

France was represented by these sources as being willing to abandon thus her 20-year policy of ringing the reich with French allies, a policy that received a shattering blow at Munich when France agreed to dismemberment of her Czechoslovak ally.

Discussion Of 1939 Program For Farmers Held Tuesday

An AAA meeting at Shallowater Tuesday night, with 125 present, featured discussion of the 1939 farm program.

Speeches at the session were: "How the 1939 program would affect the farm home food supply" by Miss Clara Pratt, Lubbock county home demonstration agent; "Changes in the 1939 Farm Program" by Walter Johnson, administrative assistant; and "Six Causes of the Agricultural Headache" by John W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent.

Miss Lida Cooper, district home demonstration agent, also was present.

Parade Chaser Gets Excited As "Salute To Cities" Is Broadcast Tuesday Night

Interest similar to that recently caused by a broadcast of an imaginary invasion of the world by Mars—except on a limited scale — was caused in Lubbock by a radio program Tuesday night originating in Cincinnati and relayed over stations of the Mutual Broadcasting system and the Texas State network, KFYO broadcast the program.

"What block is the parade in now!" was the query of a panting voice on the telephone about 10:45 o'clock that night.

A Morning Avalanche reporter explained it was an imaginary parade through Lubbock broadcast as the regular "Salute to the Cities" program from Cincinnati on Tuesday nights.

"Thanks!" was the disgusted and disappointed reply of the parade chaser.

tion "with finality" of "no compromise" in peace negotiations.

The cheers lasted so long that Chairman John L. Lewis, who had turned the gavel over to Vice-Chairman Philip Murray during the day, interrupted to say:

"Don't you know up to now you've been applauding a dictator? Don't you think the C. I. O. is merely a dictatorship, and that the chairman of it set himself up in office without your will?"

"We love it" some one in the back of the hall yelled.

A. F. L. Given Blame

The eight-page "peace" committee report blamed the A. F. of L. for the labor breach and reviewed unsuccessful negotiations between committees of the rival unions late in 1937. The report concluded:

"The C. I. O. states with finality there can be no compromise with its fundamental purpose and aim of organizing workers into powerful industrial unions, nor with its obligation to fully protect the rights and interests of all its members and affiliated organizations. The C. I. O. accepts the goal of unity in the labor movement and declared any program for the attainment of such a goal must embrace as an essential prelude those fundamental purposes and principles."

The report, Acting Chairman Murray assured the 500 delegates from 42 unions and organizing committees "opens wide the door to labor unity—it does not deny the president's desire for peace in the labor movement."

Murray said the committee which drafted the report had considered both President Roosevelt's plea for peace and Chairman John L. Lewis' report that peace could come only upon C. I. O. terms.

Murray added the report would be the "last" concerning peace to come before the convention.

Graduate Manager Alfred Masters, under whose jurisdiction come both the band and the majorette, said he could and would take no action unless the dean of women asked him to. Dean Mary Yost said nothing.

Use Of Insulin

No Sleep For Five Days

One patient who had not slept or eaten for five days and had caused severe damage to his brain as a result was restored to normal mental activity within 23 hours after entering the hospital.

Such use of insulin is not the shock treatment used in treating dementia praecox and other mental diseases caused by infections or degeneration of brain tissues, the Kansas City physician declared, but is milder treatment which already promises exceptional results.

Until the discovery of the shock treatment for mental disorders about five years ago insulin had been used solely for the treatment of diabetes.

Approximately 3,000 physicians from northern as well as southern states were expected to attend the week's meeting of the association.

Treatment For Ulcers Found

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15. (AP)—A whiff of medicinal "snuff" was reported today as the newest and most successful treatment of stomach ulcers, one of the commonest complaints of fast-living civilized man.

The treatment, announced to the Southern Medical association by Dr. M. Hill Metz and Dr. Robert W. Lackey of Baylor university, Dallas, has been found effective in 56 out of 60 cases on which it was tried.

Inhaled Into Nose

A finely-ground powder made from the rear half of the pituitary glands of animals is the special snuff used, they said. It is inhaled into the nose. The pituitary gland, which is divided into fore and aft parts, is located just at the base of the brain and is the master gland of the body, controlling the hormone secretions of all the other ductless glands.

The exact cause of peptic ulcers treated with the pituitary powder is not fully known, the Texas physicians said. However, medical scientists believe they are caused by an excessive secretion of digestive juices, particularly hydrochloric acid, which eat out the lining of the stomach. This upset may be due to nervous disorders resulting from worry or the wrong choice of foods.

Treatment Unnecessary

The usual treatment of such ulcers consists of putting patients on a strictly limited diet and using drugs taken by mouth which act as sedatives and direct healing agents on the stomach lining. Dr. Metz and Dr. Lackey reported however, such treatment was unnecessary when the pituitary gland extract was used.

Only two-thirds of a grain of the powerful glandular extract taken four times a day by snuffing it into the nose was sufficient to bring relief to a patient within two to four days, they said. Generally within 18 days he was found to be entirely free of symptoms of the disorder. Even x-ray examination at the end of that time failed to show signs of the ulcer.

Fifty Attend FFA Banquet

ABERNATHY, Nov. 15 (Special) Approximately 50 persons attended the father-son banquet here tonight sponsored by the Abernathy high school chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

Opening ceremonies were conducted by officers after which J. W. Brooks, jr., spoke on the "importance of Vocational Agriculture." Virgil Rhodes used as his subject "The Supervised Practice Program."

Charles Lutrick presented the FFA emblem.

Others Are Heard

O. T. Ryan of Lubbock, supervisor of vocational agriculture of area 1, introduced Robert A. Manire, director of vocational agriculture in Texas. Manire spoke on the aims and purposes of the FFA, naming them as leadership, thrift, and cooperation.

Principal speaker of the night was George Mahon of Colorado, congressman. In his address he emphasized the value of vocational agriculture as a practical course in high schools; the importance of conserving natural resources; and the importance of training the mind to cope with the present day problems.

M. O. Hood is adviser of the Abernathy chapter.

First Meeting Of 4-H Clubs Is Conducted At Roosevelt

Demonstrations for next year and completion of this year's records constituted discussion and work at the first of five 4-H club meetings this week which was held at Roosevelt Rural High school Tuesday afternoon. Thirty-two members, including five new ones, were present.

"Boys who have completed their records will be eligible to participate in a program Dec. 9 at the Lubbock American 'Legion hall," announced John W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent.

Remainder of the week's schedule is: Wednesday, 2:30 p. m., Cooper school; Thursday, 2 p. m., Estacado; Friday, 11:20 a. m., and 12:45 p. m., Slaton.

Cowboys Prepare For Game With Bullpups Thursday

Coach Mule Davis is priming his Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys for a return engagement at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon with the Plainview Bullpups, only conquerers of the Cowboys this season.

The game will be played on Texas Tech field.

In an early season game the Plainview eleven defeated the local juniors, 6 to 0, at Plainview.

Admittance charge for the game will be 15 cents.

Flag Tournament Scheduled For Women Golfers Today

It's "ladies day" again at Lubbock country club, and all women golfers of the organization are urged to present themselves at the No. 1 tee not later than 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. W. F. Helwig will be hostess today, and will award prizes for winner of a "flag" tournament and to the best putter.

There will be no luncheon today.

Hale Center And Ropesville Play For District 2C Title

Championship of District 2C will be decided Saturday afternoon at Hale Center when representatives of that town meet Ropesville.

Hale Center clinched honors of the eastern division of the district several weeks ago. The Eagles defeated Frenship Monday afternoon for the western half title.

Game will start at 2 o'clock.

PAY CHANGE PROPOSED

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—The New York Yankees, annoyed by the holdout stars of the past few seasons, are expected to propose a new form of player contract at this winter's major league baseball meetings. The change would call for salaries to start March 1 each year instead of with the opening of the season.

Such a shift would enable a club to penalize players who dodge spring training and pre-season exhibitions by fining them. It also would penalize the clubs, for they'd have to pay salaries to a flock of players they wouldn't expect to keep after the opening of the campaign.

Walter M. Jeffords' Regal Lily, the other participant in the dead heat, took second money. Jolly Tar, other half of the Jeffords' entry, was third.

Floydada Man Slightly Hurt In Accident Late Tuesday

As a result of a minor automobile mishap on the eastern outskirts of Lubbock Tuesday afternoon a Floydada man suffered minor injuries and a Lubbock man was charged with violation of state traffic laws.

G. H. Barton, about 45, of Floydada was riding with a brother, M. A. Barton, also of Floydada, toward Lubbock when their car was in collision with one driven by L. M. Goforth, about 75, of Lubbock. Goforth, according to officers, was turning into Mackenzie State park from the highway. The accident was about 3:20 o'clock.

G. H. Barton was given emergency treatment at Lubbock sanitarium for cuts and bruises of the head. M. A. Barton and Goforth were unhurt.

Goforth posted bond of $100 on the charge of failure to signal before turning, officers said. The complaint, sworn to by M. A. Barton, was filed with S. E. McMillan, justice of peace.

D. O. Wilkerson of the Texas Highway patrol investigated.

Narcotics Ring Said Broken

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. (AP)—The federal grand jury today indicted seven women and four men on charges of operating a major narcotic ring, ending a 2-year investigation by undercover agents of the treasury department.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Abel L. Smith, jr., said the syndicate was the main source of supply for narcotic users in the Texas underworld.

On Trail In 1936

Major Garland Williams, district supervisor of the federal bureau of narcotics, said treasury department agents got on the trail of the ring in 1936 when Eddie ("Rusty") Woodward, described as the kingpin of narcotic dealers in Houston, Texas, was arrested with Irving Mendolsohn, of New York, on narcotic conspiracy charges.

Woodward hanged himself in jail, Major Williams said, and Mendolsohn was sentenced to Levaenworth penitentiary.

Mendolsohn's wife, Rita, 28, listed in the indictment, was approached by a treasury agent in Houston while awaiting her husband's trial, Major Williams said, and agreed to continue supplying her husband's former customers.

Returned To New York

Major Williams said she returned to New York after her husband was convicted, entered into partnership with Philip Mastraccio, 26, and Jeanne Mastraccio, 23, also indicted, and built up a large clientele of narcotic users in New York City.

Major Williams said an undercover agent, who had posed as a Texas gambler, came to New York to purchase larger quantities of narcotics than Rita Mendolsohn had been supplying, and that she put him in contact with Louis Ponitz, 50, and Harry Kaplan, 35, both indicted, whom Major Williams described as "notorious underworld figures."

He said the gang sold approximately $3,000 worth of narcotics a week before treasury agents rounded up the leaders.

Among those indicted was Gussie Waldman, 35, of North Bergen, N. J.

Big Business Looms For Baseball Magnates At Forthcoming Winter Meetings

Arcs, Dead Ball, Player Limits Are Problems

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—It certainly wouldn't be asking too much if each baseball club owner from Class B and upwards was dunned by his closest university, college or normal school to buy them two or three good football players each spring. Football, next to a world championship, does the harried nabobs more good than a barrel of aspirin, a winter cruise or a dozen hunting trips. It calls the wolves off their heels and gives them a chance to come up fresh for a new campaign.

Life Saver This Year

The current season has been a real life saver for the nabobs. All of them except the bosses of the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox and Cincinnati Reds were just about to be nipped by the howling wolves as the season ended. But the pigskin season has been so crazy everybody has clean forgotten the 1938 baseball nightmare. Several managerial changes have been made but outside of those pieces of business, it's been the dullest October-November hot stove season in many a year.

However, the minor and major league meetings are just around the corner and the magnates, freshened up, are ready for plenty of business. The general problems to be discussed are night baseball, a dead ball and an increase of the player limit from 23 to 25. Exponents of these three proposals are expected to win.

This is what the clubs have been doing:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York — Traded Outfielder Myrl Hoag and Catcher Joe Glenn to St. Louis for Pitcher Oral Hildebrand. Another big deal expected. No. Joe DiMaggio will not be traded.

Boston—The gold-plated gang is still looking for pitchers.

Cleveland—The Indians are ready to get rid of a flock of old hands.

Detroit—They're hot after Cecil Travis of Washington.

Washington—The Nats are reported ready to trade Travis to Detroit but want plenty.

Chicago — A cagey crew now. Want a catcher and second baseman.

St. Louis—Fred Haney, the new manager, may try to succeed with rookies.

Philadelphia — Nobody knows what Connie Mack's really after. Connie's been busy insisting he was misquoted when he was supposed to have come out for player vacations.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Chicago—A cinch to make a couple deals, probably with Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh—Chances are Arky Vaughan will stick after all.

New York—Col. Will Terry is worrying and fretting over his cripples. May get Buddy Hassett from Brooklyn to play first.

Cincinnati—The Reds are after an infielder and more punch and may get it as they have the whip hand with their flock of fine rookies.

Boston — Bob Quinn, baseball's "rag man," will come up with a big deal any day now — a deal that should make his Bees very dangerous.

St. Louis—A new manager in Ray Blades, who will make at least three important deals by next spring. No, Dizzy Dean will not be taken back.

Philadelphia — Led by another new manager, Doc Prothro, the Phillies hope to rebuild — with what?

Brooklyn—If you have any ideas write or wire to Leland Stanford McPhail. He's about to run a contest offering a big prize to anyone who can name five out of nine in the 1939 starting lineup.

Slow-moving cattle in the St. Louis stockyards are quickened with an electric prod, consisting of a broomlike arrangement with an electric coil, which gives an effective, though faint shock.

Raiders Rehearse Offensive Plays

The Texas Tech Red Raiders, who still cling to the theory that a good offense is the best defense, resorted to the sort of practice designed to improve their ball-advancing abilities yesterday after another brief interlude of defensive practice against University of New Mexico plays.

Tech plays New Mexico Saturday at Albuquerque—and you'd be surprised at the number of persons in Texas and New Mexico who believe the Red Raiders will "get their's" next Saturday.

Loboes Set For Tech

"The Tech team has been riding too high, floating too easily, up to and possibly including their game with Gonzaga last week," is the opinion freely expressed in Lubbock and Albuquerque, "so the New Mexico university team, which has been keying itself up for years to beat Tech, probably will spoil Tech's record Saturday, despite the fact the Raiders rate favoritism on paper."

That's the way they're feeling, a goodly portion of the folks, and word drifts in from Albuquerque that the Loboes, who have lost only one game this season, and that by a single point kicked from placement, are definitely "set" for Texas Tech, and that everything is in New Mexico's favor except the records.

Team Leaves Thursday

The Raiders have yet another afternoon of practice on the home field before departing for Albuquerque. They drill here today, and take the train early tomorrow afternoon for Albuquerque. They will not drill Friday; next appearance on a gridiron will be Saturday afternoon against the Loboes, who are battling for the Border conference championship.

A special train will leave Lubbock at 11 o'clock Friday night carrying the Tech band and "saddle tramps," honorary cheering unit, and several hundred fans to Albuquerque. The train is to arrive in the New Mexico metropolis about 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Round trip rate, via chair car, is $7.40. Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, the Hotel Lubbock drugstore, Mark Halsey Drug No. 2 at Broadway and College avenue, or at Bo Williams' office in the administration building at Texas Tech.

The game tickets are $1.65, including tax, although holders of student activity tickets may purchase game tickets for half price—75 cents plus the 15-cent tax.

Bill Davis May Start

Persons planning to ride the special train are urged to make reservations or buy tickets today or early tomorrow, so that sufficient equipment may be ordered by the Santa Fe office here.

Yesterday's drill saw a new face at right tackle, and three "rabbit" backs trying out for left halfback position.

Bill Davis, the large tackle who was injured in the Duquesne game and who has not played since, may start at his old slot on the left side of the line against New Mexico, and Leonard Latch, who has been playing a whale of a game in Davis' old place, may get a try at right tackle in Line Captain Abe Murphy's place. Murphy, 60-minute man in several games this season, was more than somewhat battered and bruised in last week's game with Gonzaga, and will rest this week if he is not needed too badly.

Bobby Holmes, stutter-footed left halfback, crashed into the concrete curb in the Gonzaga game and twisted an ankle. So he will not be in the Albuquerque game, even if he were not under Border conference protest.

Gene Barnett, the passing demon; Dudley Akins, offensive running star against Gonzaga, and Woodrow Ramsey, who tossed a couple of strikes setting up Tech's touchdown against Gonzaga, have been alternating at left half, and one of them, probably Akins, will get the starting call. Elmer Tarbox will try to redeem himself at his right half position; Sophomore Raymond Flusche will start at quarter, and Sophomore Jodie Marek at fullback.

New Mexico Power

Power in the University of New Mexico backfield is Dutch Niements, fullback, who made himself known to local football customers last year. A hard driving, plunging back, Niements will carry the ball for the Lobos Saturday against the Texas Tech line, and when he hits a line, it usually stays hit for some time to come.

Mr. Lowrey Would Have You Know That Ducats For Big Game Are Gone

E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey would have you know there are no reserved seat tickets for the Amarillo - Lubbock game Thanksgiving day on sale in Lubbock.

The high school business manager of athletics has been besieged with telephone calls for information on tickets, always giving the same general answer—all of Lubbock's allotment of ducats are gone.

A bare 200 that were left from Saturday and Monday rushes were sold early Tuesday at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers.

General admission pasteboards for 1,250 seats in the north stands will be placed on sale this morning at the Hub, Lubbock Hotel drug, and Mark Halsey's No. 2 drug store. Price is 75 cents.

Amarillo's share of tickets will go on sale there today.

Examinations at the high school Tuesday gave local gridders a rest. Heavy workout is slated to begin today.

But Mr. Lowrey would have you know——.

SOUTHERNERS LEAD

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 15. (AP)—A brilliant round by Veteran Tommy Armour of Boca Raton, Fla., whose individual ball of 67 was so low that even his partner, Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., could help him only one stroke, gave the Armour-Cruickshank pair a tie for the lead today in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole Mid-South Professional golf tournament. They turned in a 33-33—66.

Tyler-Longview Row Is Up To District 9

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—A player-eligibility football squabble involving Longview and Tyler can "under no circumstances" be acted upon or appealed to the executive committee of the Interscholastic league, Athletic Director R. J. Kidd said today.

Kidd said Superintendent H. L. Foster of Longview, the protesting school, had conferred with him on the matter but that W. L. Dodson, chairman of the league's District 9 committee, also in Austin, had not appeared at the league's offices.

The director said Longview had protested to the district committee on Tyler's use of Wallace Scott, right end, whose name had not been listed on the eligibility certifications filed at the opening of the season with the district group and the state executive committee.

"Failure of such listing constitutes grounds for protest," Kidd said, but there is no rule making it mandatory that such failure should make the player ineligible and nullify the team's record.

"However, the protest must be decided by the district committee. It is entirely in the committee's hands and the decision cannot be appealed to the state executive committee.

"Tyler officials admit Scott's name was not on the pre-season list," Kidd continued. "They say it was an oversight. His name has appeared on all the game reports. Obviously, they are not trying to cover up anything."

Last week, Tyler virtually clinched the District 9 title with a 20-0 win over Longview, last year's state champions.

Cage League Forms Round Robin Card

Coaches and superintendents of ten high schools forming the South Plains Basketball league at a recent meeting completed plans for opening of the season Dec. 2.

Both boys and girls teams will play a round-robin schedule under two divisions, the west and east. At conclusion of the schedule two top teams of each division will be pitted in a tournament Feb. 3 and 4.

Southland boys and Meadow girls are defending champions of the league. Idalou High school has been accepted as a member to replace New Deal.

West half teams are Ropesville, Frenship, Shallowater, Idalou and Meadow. Southland, Cooper, New Home, Roosevelt and Wilson form the east half.

Texas Game Crop Estimated To Be Worth $93,000,000

By RAY NEUMANN
Associated Press Sports Writer

KERRVILLE, Nov. 15.— Texas' huge game crop, estimated by the federal government to be worth $93,000,000 a year, today drew thousands of sportsmen into the wild-woods anxious to bag deer, turkey, bear, buck, ducks and geese.

Hundreds of hunters streamed into this Central Texas Hill country game center, loaded up with supplies, and then fanned out to their favorite leases for a dawn attack on the wily buck and elusive gobbler.

In other parts of the state, huntsmen prepared an onslaught on the cautious black bear and the big black-tail deer which roam the sparsely-populated Trans-Pecos region.

Hunting Licenses Increase

Will J. Tucker, secretary of the state game commission, reported an increase of more than 23,000 resident hunting licenses this year with non-resident permits leaping from 339 to 417. The total number of licenses issued was 108,811.

Tucker said extensive surveys indicated the army of hunters in Texas each year spent more than $25,000,000.

The game department this year as last set up temporary headquarters here to aid sportsmen, insure enforcement of hunting laws and check, as accurately as possible, the number of bucks taken on the opening day.

30,000 Bucks Killed Last Year

Under Fred Thompson, the department's director of education, the state warden force has been concentrated in 14 Hill county counties, four Southwest Texas counties, two Rio Grande Valley counties and three far western counties.

Tucker said 30,000 white tail bucks had been taken in Texas last year and a check on more than 4,500,000 acres of shooting preserves indicated an increase of 16 per cent in the total kill.

Razorbacks Meet Ole Miss Today

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 15 (AP)—Seeking revenge for the defeat handed them last season, the University of Mississippi Rebels of the Southeastern conference will battle the University of Arkansas from the Southwest conference here tomorrow.

Coach Harry Mehre's Ole Miss team is still in the running for its conference title but Coach Fred C. Thomsen's Porkers are doing well to stay out of the cellar in the tough Southwest loop. The Rebels are top-heavy favorites.

Coach Dana X. Bible Expects Better Things Of Longhorn Teams Of Future

MILLER'S MUSINGS

By TOM MILLER

PROBABLY no one is more disappointed in the slovenly play of the University of Texas football team this year than Coach Dana Xenophon Bible, yet he is bearing up under it and a $15,000-a-year salary admirably. Coming to the state university from Nebraska, where he annually made things warm for Big Six foes, Bible's lot has been a tough one from the start.

First of all, he, like other mentors who have returned to the Southwest conference after a brief stay elsewhere, underrated the brand of football played in these parts. Wolves had been too busy under regimes of his predecessors to think about raising the standard of anything but the coach.

More material will help down Austin way and Bible is a man to whip it into a winner.

Dutch Meyer, head engineer of the Texas Christian steam roller, played on the only Horned Frog eleven that ever went undefeated and untied. He seems now destined to coach the second Frog team to achieve such a record. However, the Christians may find their toughest sledding in their own back yard against Rice and Southern Methodist on successive week-ends. The Frogs and Ponies have a habit of spoiling good records for each other.

POSSIBLY it would be good fortune for some team with better-than-average fortune if Tyler should be thrown out of the District 9 football chase, although it seems lamentable that such action should affect an entire team of Tyler's calibre. Oversight on the part of high school officials caused the bone of contention and now one of the standout clubs of the Interscholastic league seems certain to suffer for that reason.

The Lion team is considered by downstate observers to be the equal of the Longview Loboes, who captured the state title last year. It doesn't seem fair to penalize a team for a minor infraction as in Tyler's case.

Team matches forgotten. Sailor Watkins in drydock, and grudges settled, wrestling returns to its own tonight at the Auditorium. If you haven't had the pleasure of seeing one Joe Banaski grapple, this very evening is a good time to watch a smooth piece of humanity twist arms and legs with Walter Stratton. Banaski is a hardy ex-cowboy, who resembles Conrad Nagel in street clothes. He has a completely different style and uses it with unbelievable perfection.

EXTRA PERNTS: Superintendent Hayes Holman of Post High school writes in to remind that the Antelopes are not out of the District 5B race yet . . . Post could throw the southern half race into a tie Friday by defeating Brownfield . . . A football queen will be crowned at Levelland Friday when Tahoka helps the Loboes end the current season . . . Have you noticed the entire student body of Lubbock High school stand at conclusion of a football game while the band plays an entire chorus of the alma mater song? . . . Shows fine spirit . . . If you didn't get reserved seat tickets for the Westerner-Sandie fracas, you'd better get down early today for those north end seats . . . And make reservations today for the Albuquerque trip.

Lack Of Players Is Big Reason For Steer Fall

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—Scholarly Dana Xenophon Bible, a football master who has tutored some of the nation's great teams over the past 15 years, ponders the situation of his University of Texas club—losers of eight straight games this year—and concludes there are no alibis.

Frankly, the bald-pated veteran believes "for a losing football coach there are no alibis."

To millions of fans who followed Bible through championship years with Texas A. and M. and Nebraska, the bare-faced record this season is stunning. Behind that record, however, is a factual story Bible has analyzed into nine major points—not alibis.

"Just Ran Out Of Talent"

Most salient of all factors listed was that "we finally just ran out of talent."

It's Bible's story from now on:

"For the last four years we have lost by graduation, eligibility, etc., each year about twice as many boys as have come up from the freshman team. You will always lose somewhere from 12 to 15 boys each year. Last year, and the year before, we did not receive from the freshman team over a half dozen boys—so, it means we just finally ran out.

"Our squad is so small (31) we do not have a reserve team, which is a considerable handicap.

"You must have manpower in this conference to meet the opposition because of the weather.

Injuries Hamper Team

"We have had, I feel, more than our share of injuries. We have been in the shape where we just couldn't afford to lose a single boy. To tell you the truth, we haven't been two deep. In one game, we used a third-string guard at a tackle position.

"We do not have speed in the line or backfield.

"The field general we have has been manufactured. We haven't had a real leader. In fact, we haven't had key men for key positions. The success of Baylor is Bill Patterson. He is a fine quarterback, a fine passer and kicker. Texas Christian's success can be attributed to Davey O'Brien and Ki Aldrich—O'Brien conducting the offense; Aldrich the defense.

No Setup On Schedule

"We have played five games in which the temperature was 90 degrees or above—very hard for a small squad.

"We haven't had a 'setup' on the schedule. All of our games have been against major opponents.

"Our system is still somewhat new, although I think we are better coordinated than we were last year. I can say frankly you will not find a finer, keener spirit on any team than right here at Texas.

"We will continue to work, and when we can bring the personnel of our squad up to those of other conference schools, both in numbers and ability, then I believe our weekends will not be so gloomy.

Outlook Is Encouraging

"I do not have a magic formula—it is going to take some time. For the first time in a good while we will get from the freshman team more boys than we will lose. The outlook is very encouraging."

So, without alibis on any specific game or break, there is the story of a Texas team that has shocked the Southwest with ten consecutive losses—eight of them this year against Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana State, Rice, Southern Methodist, Arkansas, Baylor and Texas Christian.

Salt mine workers seldom suffer from colds or rheumatism.

Pro Golfers End Season Dec. 31

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—The money players of golf—the professionals—looked back on a good season and ahead to a boom one today.

Reports made at the opening of the 22nd annual meeting of the Professional Golfers association indicate that the 1939 season will be one of the best ever enjoyed by the pros.

When the current campaign winds up Dec. 31, professionals will have competed for $182,000 in purses during the 1938 season, an increase of $19,150 over 1937, according to the report of Jack Mackie, P. G. A. secretary. In 1939 the pot of gold will aggregate $200,000 in 40 tournaments, four more than the number in which some 800 P. G. A. members competed this year.

Fred Corcoran, whose retention as tournament bureau manager for another year was announced, said more than 500,000 persons attended the 36 P. G. A. sponsored tournaments this season. During the year the P. G. A. membership showed a slight increase, with 1,739 pros now on the list, Secretary Tom Walsh said.

One definite action was taken by the delegates, representing the 28 sections in the national body. They voted to make the P. G. A. senior championship, held as an experiment last year, an annual event. It will be played Dec. 5-7, at Augusta, Ga., where Jock Hutchinson won it in 1937. Association members 50 years or older, may compete.

It was learned the association has received several bids for the 1939 National championship and the Ryder Cup matches, but definite action is not expected until the executive board's meeting next month.

Moving the business of selecting officers a day ahead of original schedule, the association re-elected George Jacobus of Ridgewood, N. J., president for a seventh consecutive term. Tom Walsh of Chicago, was re-elected national secretary, and Jack Mackie of Far Rockaway, Long Island, N. Y., was re-elected national treasurer.

One new officer elected was Willie Maguire of Houston, Tex., named vice president at large. George Norrie of Macon, Ga., succeeded Maguire as southern vice president.

Former World Champion To Battle Walter Stratton In Main Event At Auditorium

TONIGHT'S DOCKET

Main event—Walter Stratton of Boston vs. Joe Banaski of Oklahoma City, best two of three falls or two-hour time limit.

Semi-final—Scotty William of Louisville vs. Soldier Thomas of Vancouver, Wash., one fall or 30 minutes.

Curtain raiser—Dizzy Davis of Houtson vs. Joe Kopecky of Houston, one fall or 20 minutes.

Joe Banaski, former welterweight champion of the wrestling world, returns to the local mat tonight to take on Walter Stratton in the main event at the Auditorium.

Banaski gave a preview of his skill and cunning here a few weeks ago and immediately became a "hit" with grappling fans. He cleverly evades punishing holds and applies more punishing ones of his own.

He is fast and is likely to become the kingpin of this resin circuit.

Stratton has appeared in the main event the past two weeks, beating Sailor Tex Watkins two weeks ago, and pairing with Big Train Clements to lose to Watkins and Joe Kopecky in a team match last week.

The Boston strong man gives no quarters to any of the tinears showing here. He probably will give Banaski plenty to worry about tonight.

In the supporting card are two matches worthy of main event heading.

Scotty William, a clever performer from Louisville tackles Soldier Thomas in the semi-final combat. Both wrestled here frequently several months ago.

Thomas is of the "clean" type of youngsters.

Egoist Dizzy Dilly Davis returns after several months in other fields to meet the challenge of Kopecky. A sly toughie, Davis resorts to rough tactics without provocation.

Panther Joe doesn't need much prodding to get rough either.

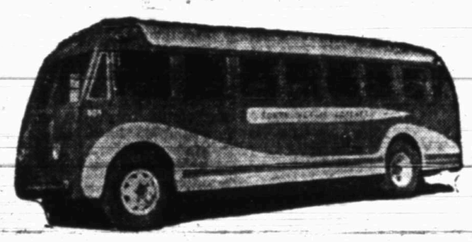

An elephant's teeth migrate from the back of the mouth to the front, the old ones being replaced by the new. About one yard of solid tooth is used up during a lifetime of one of these animals.

Problem Is A Big One

ALTHOUGH the signs are unmistakable of an increasing resentment among civilized people because of nazi persecution of the Jews, many American observers will regard with suspicion any proposal that we become bound too closely with Great Britain in any agreement which looks to the large scale removal of German Hebrews to happier homes.

This does not suggest that we as a nation should remain idle while the Jews suffer. We shall be failing in our duty as a Christian, civilized and humane nation if we fail to search out the best method of assisting, and then of rendering that assistance. But the problem, if it is to be solved, is too big for any one nation. The whole-hearted cooperation of all people who believe in freedom of religion will be an absolute essential if any relief endeavors are to get anywhere. That inevitably means that the United States and Great Britain must be the leaders.

Britain's record of recent years does very little to encourage the hope of any effective cooperation from that source. Even her solemn promise to help could not be accepted with much assurance in the light of recent events. It is not consistent to suppose that Britain has become sincerely concerned over the welfare of a few million Hebrews after having watched with silent acquiescence while dozens of millions of other human beings—Czechs, Chinese and Ethiopians—were made victims of worse atrocities.

Great Britain already has failed in one opportunity to lighten the misery of the German Jews. Perhaps it is more correct to say that Britain "blocked" an international endeavor to assist. On that occasion, plans were proposed to rehabilitate those expelled from Germany in other lands which, of obvious necessity, would have included possessions of Great Britain. But the British representative doomed the movement to failure when he said that the empire "might" accept "a few selected families" in some of the least habitable of the nation's far-flung domain. Britain, in other words, might accept the richest cream and leave the skimmings to others.

Perhaps the empire is about ready to do an about face. Perhaps she is about ready to plunge in and do her part unselfishly. If she should indicate that as her desire, we as a nation must forever remain anxious and willing to go more than our fair distance in helping a helpless people. But at the same time, we must not be blinded to what Britain's true motives may be.

Let's do all that we can to help the Jews, but without becoming tools of Great Britain in furthering her selfish aims of empire.

Chance To Do A Good Turn

SOME organization or several organizations or some individuals can do a good turn for two Lubbock county 4-H club boys by sending them to Chicago to the International Livestock show, the last of this month.

Two farm boys of this county last September at College Station, proved themselves better judges of meat identification than any other boys in the state. They won the state contest.

It takes $200 or thereabouts, to send these boys to Chicago. They do not have the money.

Today the state club leader, Mr. L. L. Johnson, is to be advised if the boys can make the trip. If not, a lower placed team will be sent. It would seem a shame that Lubbock boys who won over other teams, could not make the trip.

Persons interested should get in touch today with John W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent. Up to late Tuesday he had not been able to secure the $200 necessary to send the boys. It will be money well spent.

With Our Contemporaries

"Grade and staple, and particularly staple, do count for something in the new regime of agriculture in Texas, what with the lending agencies insisting on these," Homer Steen says in the Floyd County Hesperian, Floydada.

The One-Minute Sermon

Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily, I say unto you, If ye have faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do this which is done to the fig tree, but also if ye shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; it shall be done.

And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, ye shall receive.—Matthew 21; 21 and 22.

THE CHARACTERS

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.

Archie Lumsden, myself, his friend.

Ottilie Wills, beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday: Ottilie and I get out of Geiss's villa. Later she disappears.

Chapter 40
The Zero Hour

Dunning lifted a large, white hand. "Just a minute. There are a few points to consider before we take any hasty step, and the first and most important is the safety of Virgoe Wills. We have pretty good authority for believing that this day will see the attempt on his life, and we know his death is the stake these gentlemen are playing for. Our first duty is to attend to his safety. Up to now, I'm happy to say, he is ignorant of his niece's disappearance, and I warn you that I shall resist, by force if need be, any attempt to alarm him about her. See here, son," he continued on a sober note, "if you go to the police about Ottilie's vanishing, you'll have the whole circus, complete with elephants, dashing around here to interrogate him. Before you know where you are, the old man'll be out scouring the town for her, and how, in the name of all that's holy, are we going to keep an eye on him in the sort of free-for-all frolic that'll be filling the streets shortly?"

He was right and I knew it, but nevertheless my whole soul recoiled from the thought of leaving the girl to her fate. Minx she might be, but there was a charm, a courage, an innate honesty about her that made the thought of leaving her to Geiss completely unthinkable. Therefore, when Hugo spoke, I had already ranged myself mentally and physically on his side.

"I can't do it," he said, and his voice was tired. "You're right, Dunning, according to your lights—but you see, I love her and I've got to have a shot at finding her."

"I never suspected that. You go out and look for your girl, and take Archie along to help you. I'd come myself if I could, but you know how it is. I'll have my hands full, but there's two or three of my men hanging around this locality to help me, and I guess we'll win out."

Hugo threw me a swift, grateful glance. "I won't forget that, Dunning," he said. "The sooner we find her, the sooner we'll be back to give you a hand. Archie, are you ready?"

"Champing at the bit to be gone," I retorted, much relieved, but even as I turned to follow him, I halted, stopped short in my tracks by the sight of a tall, rugged figure emerging from the lift. It was Virgoe Wills himself, and at sight of us he reclined his gray head in dignified salutation and came towards us.

"Good morning, gentlemen," he said. "If you are waiting to see me, you are most welcome, but if by any chance you have a date with Ottilie, I fear you'll be disappointed. Cassandra tells me she's feeling poorly this morning.

"Now, if that isn't too bad!" said Dunning, with a spurious heartiness. "Here's Mr. Stern come with an invitation to you and Miss Ottilie to spend the next two-three days with him and his sister at their chalet."

The old man bowed gravely. "We are much obliged to you, Mr. Stern," he said, "but Ottilie, as you have just heard, is keeping her room—" He broke off sharply, for another voice had sounded at his elbow, a fat oily voice that I knew only too well.

"But no, monsieur!" it said. "You are mistaken. Mademoiselle Ottilie, she is already out, enjoying the braderie. Just one little moment ago I meet her, and she ask me to come and tell you to join her!"

I swung around and saw, with a mixture of stupefaction and dismay, the squat, obese figure of Baron Stahl standing at my elbow. For a moment we all started at him in a dazed silence; then Hugo spoke.

"That's a lie!" he said sharply. "Miss Wills is in her room, suffering from a headache."

'It's Come At Last'

The old man looked from one to the other of us, knitting his shaggy brows. For a moment, it seemed, he suspected that something was wrong—and then, as his eye lighted on Hugo, his face cleared. I knew only too well what he was thinking. Here was yet one more of his niece's victims, jealous that she had chosen another escort to show her round the fair.

"Well," he said slowly, "I guess the Baron should know what he's talking about. Mr. Stern, you'll find Ottilie's made that way—sudden decisions and impulsive actions, but she doesn't mean a mite of harm. If she wants me, though, I imagine I'd better be getting along. Where did you say she was waiting, Baron? In the main street?"

"In the main street, yes" the small, fat man assented with a triumphant glance at us. "I take you there right away, no?" But now it was Dunning's turn to protest.

"See here, Mr. Wills," he drawled, "there's a crush out there by now. It's scarcely the kind of spot for Miss Ottilie to be wandering around in. Why not let Mr. Stern and Mr. Lumsden here go along and bring her back?"

"Cuthbert," Virgoe Wills said dryly, "you're well-meaning, but you're not so bright as you'd like to be. There's nothing in the kind of innocent fun that's going on out there to offend Ottilie. Lead the way, Baron," and with that he turned and stumped firmly out to the terrace.

We stood there, three angry, helpless men, Dunning's face was very anxious, and in the silence I heard him mutter, half to himself: "It's come—it's come at last."

"Leave it to me," said I, for an idea had struck me. I sprinted after the two receding figures.

"Mr. Wills," I said a trifle breathlessly. "You won't mind if we come along with you? My friend Stern is rather anxious to have a word with your niece."

He halted, fixing his wise, shrewd old eyes on me.

"Mr. Lumsden, quite a number of young men have been anxious to have a word with Ottilie in the past, and most times the result of that word has been a heart-ache for them and a scalp in the warbelt for her. I like your friend, and a man of his age takes a hurt harder."

"Mr. Wills," I answered soberly, lowering my voice to meet his, "hasn't it occurred to you that one day Ottilie might get tired of scalp-collecting—I mean, prefer to acquire one permanent specimen and discard the others? Hugo's a fine chap. You wouldn't find a better nephew-in-law anywhere."

"Does Ottilie like him that much?" And when I nodded, "Well, well," he said thoughtfully, "that takes a considerable weight off my mind, for he looks as if he could handle her." He turned to Hugo and Dunning and halted tentatively a few feet away. "Gentlemen," he called genially, "string right along behind us, if you wish; and you, Baron, you won't mind joining them? Mr. Lumsden and I have certain matters of importance to discuss." The Baron swallowed hard, gave me one swift, malevolent look, and turned, with a deferential bow, back to where the others waited.

I was gratified to see that Hugo and Dunning automatically formed up on either side of him, linking their arms in his in the friendliest way imaginable, and I was still more pleased that the old man had chosen me as his companion, for I was by a long way the biggest of the three and would therefore make the best shield for him when trouble started. And that trouble would shortly start I had not the smallest doubt.

Completely Unaware

As we turned from the sunglare of the front into a narrow side-street, thronged with straying merrymakers, I saw that my friend the Arab carpet-seller had fallen into place between us and the other three. A second later two husky-looking sailors emerged from an alley and strolled on just ahead of us. Dunning's reinforcements were rolling up, and it was a considerable relief to my mind.

But the work of both advance-and-rear-guard was becoming complicated, for with every step we took the crowd thickened, and at the entrance to the main street we stopped dead, brought up short by an impassable wall of jostling, laughing, singing humanity.

The old man made a rueful grimace. "I'm afraid Cuthbert was right, at that," he admitted. "This is no place for Ottilie, but now we're here, we'd best go find her. Which way, Baron?" he shouted over his shoulder, and the fat man pointed a stubby finger, shrieking.

Virgoe Wills gripped my arm with one sinewy hand and his stick with the other. "Come on, son!" said he. "Get a move on!" and dragged me unwillingly into the thick of the press.

The crowd was keeping a semblance of order even in its merry-making, for down one side of the street a solid mass traveled stolidly westward, while the other half headed equally determinedly east. The sailors were still ahead, but divided from us now by a solid sea of heads, and when I glanced over my shoulder all I saw of the carpet-seller was the top of a red tarboosh, while of the other three no trace remained. There was nothing for it but to let myself be borne onward, keeping a sharp look-out for any face I knew.

It was a queer frame of mind that I was in, resigned, fatalistic, and yet acutely watchful; and yet, when the thing happened, it caught

The News Behind The-News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S 1939 message to Congress will be written by men who never heard of his Supreme Court battle, the senatorial purge or his rebuff in the last counting of noses. It will attempt to erase these setbacks from public memory by highlighting the dollars-and-cents aspect of national defense. It will be a flirtatious appeal to the investor, the consumer, the laboring man.

F. D. R. is carefully concealing the demands he will make on Congress for a larger and modernized army and navy and aviation arm. But it is privately understood that he will ask for at least two billion dollars for new weapons of all branches, exclusive of millions of dollars needed for battleships, aircraft and regular upkeep. The proposed expenditures, together with private industry's spending plans, should rejuvenate the heavy industries, supply firms, railroads, the oils, chemicals, steel, cement, rubber, aluminum—in short, any firm which furnishes material for a motorized and mechanized army and navy. National defense will become an industry in and of itself.

Munich may have meant a bad day for European democracies. But it may mean a field day for American business and industry.

COMPARISON: You can best measure the meaning of the Munich stunt by considering the case of Major General Malin Craig, the ordinarily snappy and far-seeing chief of the general staff of the American army. Had a buck private been caught napping like he was, the doughboy would have been courtmartialled.

General Craig wrote his annual report (released to the press Monday) before Mr. Hitler made Chamberlain and Daladier sign on the dotted line, and he failed to revise it in accord with European realignments. So the general noted that instead of spending large sums on aircraft, this country ought to expand defense weapons—semi-automatic rifles for the infantry, seacoast guns, anti-tanks and anti-aircraft. He concluded that airplanes had been over-advertised at the very moment when England and France were cowering because of Germany's tremendous air fleet. It shows how wrong a great chief of staff can be some times.

Moreover, General Craig asked for only about $117,000,000 for motorization and mechanization of the military forces—a pre-Munich request. In fact, that was the sum he asked the Budget Bureau to allot to him in preliminary conferences. But in the War Department's revised request—amended since Munich—Secretary Woodring will boost the Craig figure to almost $600,000,000 for purely military expenditures—exclusive of airplane expansion and the regular army upkeep charge. That's what F. D. R. thinks of the outlook for permanent peace here or elsewhere.

EFFICIENCY: It's entirely too early to detail the effect of Republican runaway gains on the next Congress, but a few changes in existing laws seem assured as a result of the political revolution. The authors of so many New Deal measures were defeated or won by a close shave that their original handiwork will undergo radical revision by scared colleagues.

In the industrial state of New Jersey Senator-elect Barbour hammered away at the Treasury's use of social security taxes for payment of current expenditures. He apparently convinced the workers that they were being gypped, and a system of annual appropriations for the aged and unemployed may result. The defeat of Gov. Frank Murphy apparently insures a change in the N. L. R. B. act, and probably a legislative curb on labor. Senator McGill's defeat—he was a co-author of the last A. A. A. law—points toward revision of legislation affecting the farmers. Victories of numerous candidates who assailed W. P. A. and P. W. A. suggest closer Congressional control of these funds than Capitol Hill has exercised in lush Roosevelt an days.

In short, the rightward swing will produce amendments renovating almost all New Deal reforms—preserving their basic purpose but revising the methods now pursued. It ought to mean a more businesslike handling of social, economic and political experiments with which most people are in sympathy. In short, the next Congress will emphasize efficient administration rather than experimentation.

MELANGE: Significant but unnoted feature of the Republicans' "baby landslide" was the election of five G. O. P. millionaires to high office—Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Vanderbilt of Rhode Island, Barbour of New Jersey, Taft of Ohio, Heil of Wisconsin.

It marks a sensational shift in the psychology of American voters. Apparently they haven't listened to Harold Ickes' and Robert Jackson's excoriations of the "First Sixty Families." Yet six years ago the only place to which a wealthy man could be elected was the doghouse. The same electorate, however, sent a score of Townsendites to Washington to campaign for $200 a month— more or less—for the old folks. Nobody here can figure out what it all means in this strange melange of caviar and ham and eggs.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE youthful Thomas E. Dewey put up a far stronger fight against Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York than his most ardent supporters privately expected. It was no mean accomplishment to cut Lehman's half million majority in 1936 to a scant 70,000.

Dewey made a better impression in his upstate campaign appearances than G. O. P. leaders in that area thought he would. He was greeted with more convincing evidence of popular interest and enthusiasm than any Republican candidate in many years. He was especially effective when dealing with subjects of which he has first-hand knowledge—law enforcement and alliances between crime and politics—not so hot when he ventured into unfamiliar fields of state finance and farm policy.

The Democrats definitely did not succeed in their objective of eliminating him as a future political factor. He returns to his post as District Attorney with enhanced prestige and will be heard from again—and plenty.

DISCREPANCY: Published reports stress the point that Lehman ran far behind the rest of the New York Democratic ticket and Dewey far ahead of his fellow Republicans. On the basis of comparative majorities, this is certainly true. But a careful analysis of the returns indicate that the inference is somewhat misleading.

Senators-elect Wagner and Mead headed the Democratic slate with pluralities of 475,000 and 413,000 respectively. But the total vote shows no such discrepancy between them and Lehman as the majorities imply. Wagner's total was 2,411,000; Mead's was 2,346,000; Lehman's was 2,387,000. So the governor was actually only 24,000 votes behind Wagner and about 40,000 ahead of Mead.

On the other side, however, Dewey rolled up a total of 2,319,000 as against roughly 1,930,000 for both his senatorial teammates, O'Brian and Corsi. In effect, therefore, Dewey jumped nearly 400,000 ahead of his ticket, whereas Lehman ran about neck-and-neck with his party colleagues.

DELUSION: Informed analysts explain this strange phenomenon as follows. Many counties in upstate New York used voting machines this year for the first time.

Voters in these counties are predominantly Republican. On the paper ballots to which they have been accustomed, all that was necessary to vote a straight ticket was to mark a single cross in the circle at the head of a column in which all a party's nominees were listed. Circumstantial evidence plainly indicates that thousands of upstaters must have pulled down only the Dewey lever on the voting machines under the delusion that they were thus casting a ballot for the entire Republican ticket.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"I certainly am going to let you drive—just as soon as both you and the car are a little older."

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—Traffic Enemy No. 1, says the Department of Public Safety, is the failure of motor vehicle drivers to dim headlights.

And, except for attempts at education, the department is virtually powerless to do anything about it. There is no law requiring a driver to dim lights. The department can only appeal to the driver's sense of courtesy or play on his fear of death or injury.

Ninety-four lives were lost in traffic accidents this year because drivers' didn't dim lights, the department reports. No one knows how many persons were injured in those accidents, but the total was huge.

Law May Be Passed

"The dimming of headlights is one of the easiest things about operating an automobile," said a department attache. "It is one of the most important things, yet it is something which thousands of Texans are not doing.

"There isn't a law requiring it, although there may be one after the next legislature meets. At present a driver may or may not dim headlights, according to his state of mind.

"It is almost incomprehensible why anyone able to drive an automobile is so careless of his own safety and the safety of others that he will not move his foot or hand to reduce the intensity of his headlights and decrease the possibility of collision."

THE same man, an operative of the department who has studied causes of traffic accidents in all sections of the state, said the driver who refuses to dim his headlights has taken the place of the one who a few years ago claimed more than his share of the highway.

"He has displaced the road hog," the investigator said. "Not a night passes but he roars down the highway with blinding lights, forcing cars to pull off the road or come to a standstill while he charges past.

"Signals of approaching motor cars to dim lights mean nothing to him. If the other fellow dims lights, so much the better, he thinks. That enables him to see perfectly with his own undimmed lights.

"At heart, the fellow is a coward and a bully. He is hiding in the dark, and he thinks he can get away with something he knows is wrong because there is no one to pick him out and censure him.

"He doesn't mind blinding people on the highways behind the protection of darkness and the speed of modern automobiles. That shows he's a coward."

Austin and the vicinity is believed to be the worst in the state with regard to failure to dim headlights, the operative said. He could give no reason why this was so but asserted it was a fact.

The highway between Austin and San Antonio was cited as one of the most dangerous at night because of its heavy traffic of automobiles with undimmed lights.

North Texas and West Texas drivers, it was said, generally were much more prone to dim lights.

THE department has information that a survey is being conducted in New Jersey by an insurance rating company to determine if possible whether drivers with blue eyes are more susceptible to "night blindness" than those with darker eyes.

The National Safety council reported that 15 per cent of drivers examined in certain tests were susceptible to "night blindness," which has been defined as inability of eyes to adjust themselves normally to varying intensities of light at night.

It has been suggested to the Safety department that a test revealing "night blindness" be made a part of examinations for drivers licenses, but no action to that end has been taken.

Two Austin physicians, when questioned, expressed doubt there was anything to the "night blindness" theory. One, an outstanding specialist, said that because a fair skin was susceptible to sunburn because it lacked the pigment of dark skin it did not follow that blue eyes also lacking dark pigment were susceptible to blindness from the glare of motor vehicle headlights.

Professional Drivers Praised

No complaints have reached the Safety department and its highway patrolmen, or the Railroad commission, of failure of truck and bus drivers to dim lights.

Reports uniformly are that such drivers generally are quick to reduce the power of their lights and observe other driving rules of the highways, written and unwritten.

One reason, a department representative said, is that drivers of commercial vehicles often are well trained in their duties and usually have strict instructions from their employer to carefully abide by all traffic regulations.

me completely unaware. As we stood jammed behind and before by the press of people, suddenly, in the queer, haphazard way of crowds, a tiny space opened before us, and across it, cringing and sidling, came a gangling, dust-colored figure that I knew.

The wretched creature whistled shrilly. From the milling crowd of people ahead there sprang a second figure, thin, stringy, with a flying mop of tow-colored hair, and in its hand I saw something short, black, and deadly, pointed straight at Virgoe Wills' heart.

I sprang forward, trying to throw myself in front of the old man, but there were strong hands gripping my arms, holding me back. I struggled wildly, waiting for the sickening report, the wisp of smoke that would herald death, and in that instant, which seemed to hold eternity, something else happened.

TARZAN THE FEARLESS No. 81 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With heavy heart, Mary Brooks followed Jeff down the mountainside. As his path of descent Jeff chose a winding ravine, so he would be invisible to Tarzan. Mary's only hope now was that the ape-man would follow when he found them missing from the mountain cave.

"Don't look so downhearted, sweetheart," Jeff chuckled; "everything's going to be just swell. We're going to be a very lovey-dovey couple. And when we get to the coast I'll organize a safari and come back to see what happened to Bob and your dad."

Mary shuddered. This man grew more and more distasteful to her. The thought of marrying him appalled her. But she had given her word, and she had a fanatic sense of honor. If only something would happen to release her from her promise! But what could happen?

Jeff was in high spirits. First, the honeymoon. Then he would organize a safari to return to the Zambeh country—not to determine the fate of Bob and Dr. Brooks, but to hunt down Tarzan like a wild beast, deliver him to the blacks, and claim the rich reward!

Combined Rates
10 Word Minimum

1 day, per word ____ 4c
2 days, per word ____ 6c
3 days, per word ____ 8c
7 days, per word ____ 10c

These rates are for consecutive insertion only.

All out-of-town ads received by mail must be cash with order. No exception. "NO REFUNDS" on ad stopped after it has appeared in paper.

PHONE 13, 14, 15 OR 16

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it then our collector will call the following day.

THESE ACCOUNTS ARE "ACCOMMODATION ACCOUNTS" FOR OUR PATRONS AND FOR ONE DAY ONLY.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rates.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors or any unintentional error that may occur further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

The Avalanche-Journal can not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of a classified ad. Advertisers should check their ads on first day of publication and immediately notify the Classified Department if any mistakes occur.

Classified Advertising accepted until 5:00 p. m., on week days and Saturdays.

For classified display advertising information—

PHONE 13, 14, 15 OR 16
TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue an Ad must be given after 8 a. m. and before 6 p. m. to some member of the Classified Advertisement Department. We cannot be responsible for notice given before or after these hours, and to a member of some other department.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

The Avalanche-Journal is a member of the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading Newspapers throughout the country and has as its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading Classified Advertising.

Lubbock Methodists Off For Conference

Heading Lubbock district Methodists Tuesday in their trek to the 27th annual Northwest Texas conference in Memphis were Dr. O. P. Clark, presiding elder, and Mrs. Clark.

Dr. Clark said before leaving that annual reports from 16 charges had not been received and that his totals, therefore, were incomplete. He will have the reports before making his final report to Bishop Ivan Lee Holt and the cabinet, later in the week.

Reports Show Progress

"From reports six weeks ago, we will show for the district between 1,700 and 1,750 new members," he said. "Last year we reported for the district 10,800 members, so it looks like we will have 12,000 members this year.

"Benevolences and local expenses have been raised in practically every one of the 76 churches in the 33 charges. If there are any that have not met everything, it will not be more than a few of the very small charges."

Dr. Clark said the year just closing was "the most successful from all standpoints, that we know of in this district." Throughout the district, he said, the Aldersgate revival program last spring, resulted in the greatest spiritual revival the district has known. Not only were there many additions to churches made, but also many whose interest had lagged somewhat, were revived and they have taken increased activity in church organizations.

Attendance at the several groups of services in all churches is higher, as well as paying of church obligations and voluntary contributions.

DECLINES ARE REDUCED

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—The brighter domestic outlook tended to offset uneasiness over foreign affairs in today's stock market and leading issues in the final hour reduced or cancelled early declines running to 2 or more points.

Steels, aircrafts and specialties led the comeback. With most motors, utilities, rails, coppers, mail orders and farm implements were moderately in arrears. There were a few high-priced stocks down 2 to 3 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .5 of a point at 53.1. Transfers totalled 1,465,980 shares against 1,651,280 the day before.

Offerings came out in volume at the opening as the recall of Ambassador Wilson from Berlin to Washington for "consultation" brought home to Wall street the seriousness of the latest European unsettlement.

Selling dried up as the session progressed, however.

On the declining side were International Harvester, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum, Sears Roebuck, International Nickel, Santa Fe and General Electric.

Consolidated Aircraft was up 2⅝ at 24¼ and Boeing gained 1⅜ at 30⅜. Moderately improved were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Omnibus Corp., N. Y. City Omnibus, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Hiram Walker, U. S. Rubber, and Newport Industries.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15 (AP) — Cotton prices softened here today under liquidation by recent buyers and hedge selling which encountered only scale-down buying by the trade. The close was steady at net losses of 3 to 8 points.

Trading on the whole was extremely quiet and speculative interests held the side lines during most of the session.

Dec. finished at 8.71, Jan. at 8.66, March at 8.60, May at 8.41, July at 8.25, Oct. at 8.00 (new) at 8.01-bid and March (1940) at 8.08-bid.

Spot cotton closed steady but middling was 5 points down at 8.81, sales totaled 3,153 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 (AP)—Cotton was depressed today by liquidation and moderate hedge selling while demand was limited. March sold off from 8.54 to close at a low of 8.48, with final prices 3 to 10 points net lower.

The market opened 3 to 6 points lower in sympathy with disappointing Liverpool cables and owing to nervousness over European political developments.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton at ten southern spot markets today was seven points down at 8.68 cents a pound; the average for the past 30 market days was 8.60 cents.

There are approximately 40,000 automobile dealers in the United States.

Annual Red Cross Drive Is Pushed

Annual Red Cross membership drive in Lubbock pushed steadily forward to the tune of approximately 1,000 members Tuesday in the first day of a campaign with leaders hoping to chalk up 1,500 Red Cross boosters in the city, with a county-wide total of 2,600. Last year's drive had been surpassed by about $200 Tuesday night, according to Marion F. Sanford, chairman of the roll call.

Ray Farmer and Clayton Gammill reported $89, the largest collection for one team. Some of the teams had not checked in their collections at the latest count, and several larger business firms had promised to mail donations. Slaton, along with other neighboring towns, had not yet sent the fruits of their efforts to the Lubbock headquatrers.

C. A. Sanford, father of the chairman and a member of the Lions club, garnered a few extra memberships. He stood at the door of the Hilton hotel ballroom after the club luncheon Tuesday noon and a number of men who had been missed by other solicitors "paid off."

Mattress Confiscated In Raid Is Given To Salvation Army

Help comes from unexpected sources sometimes. This is the theory of Envoy V. M. Van Syckle of the Salvation Army.

Last week he appealed for a mattress for a three quarter bed as an injured man was being forced to sleep on the springs because he did not own a mattress and could not afford one.

The day after the story appeared, Ranger Frank Mills presented the army with a mattress which had been taken in a raid and which was to be confiscated. It was just the right size, said the officer.

Changes In Newspaper Staff At Abilene Are Announced

ABILENE, Nov. 15. (AP)—Appointment of Howard McMahon as assistant publisher of the Abilene Reporter-News was announced yesterday by Bernard Hanks, publisher.

McMahon will be in charge of the newspaper during a several weeks' period of rest prescribed for Hanks by his physicians, and will relieve him of many administrative duties in the future, Hanks said.

McMahon joined the Reporter-News four years ago, as foreign advertising manager. He became advertising manager 19 months ago. He came here from the Dallas Morning News.

Hanks also confirmed appointment of Manly Hanks as business manager and Wendell Bedichek as managing editor. Both had been acting in those positions the past 18 months.

Former Lubbock Man Is Said Identified

A former Lubbock man found murdered near Little Rock, Ark., Tuesday was positively identified as William James Van Hooser, about 59, who lived "in and around Lubbock about 10 years."

The man was identified after J. H. Cox, jr., of 1621 Seventeenth street, saw the man's picture in the Monday afternoon edition of Avalanche-Journal publications. Cox told Don Reeder, chief of police, he (Cox) knew the man.

Reeder learned, through Cox, Van Hooser had two brothers, F. U. and R. A., living here. They live at 1104 Avenue L. The brothers, however, were out of Lubbock, but one rushed here from Munday to identify the dead man by a picture at police headquarters.

Lubbock relatives said they believe Van Hooser "picked up" two hitchhikers who murdered him for his automobile, money and clothing. "He always wore good clothes," said Mrs. R. A. Van Hooser. "It must have been for purpose of robbery," she said to Chief Reeder and newspapermen, "because he had no enemies and none of us can see a possible motive for his death that could be based on personal reasons."

Family members left Lubbock for Clarksville to investigate possibilities of clues for Arkansas prosecutors. They will go to Malvern, near Little Rock, today. Funeral arrangements had not been announced here.

Two brothers and two sisters live in Tennessee, at McMinnville and Murfresboro.

Oddest Interpretation On Texas Liquor Laws Given

AUSTIN, Nov. 15. (AP)—Numerous interpretations of the complex liquor law are given by the state liquor board.

Today officials believed they had given their oddest one.

They sanctioned a marriage.

It happened this way: a West Texas couple—the man an employe of a beer distributor, the woman a holder of a beer retailer's permit—nearly cancelled their proposed wedding because the law said a distributor shall have no interest in or affiliation with the license or business of a retailer.

C. A. Paxton, chief enforcement officer, thought the matter over and ruled any property the man acquired by marriage was personal and not acquired for the benefit of the distributor.

Record Membership For Legion This Year Being Predicted

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15. (AP)—American Legion national headquarters got wire reports here today from throughout the country of advance enrollments toward what leaders predicted would be a record membership of more than 1,000,000 World war veterans for next year.

The annual telegraphic roll call was held during a conference of commanders and adjutants of the legion's 58 departments in the United States and possessions. The three-day session will end tomorrow. A two-day executive committee meeting will follow.

RECEIPTS BOOSTED

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 15.—Postal receipts for the Brownfield office up to Nov. 1 this year are $1,444 or 10.3 per cent above receipts for the same period last year, James Harley Dallas, postmaster, reports.

Receipts were $15,490.81 for 1938 compared with $14,046.63 for the same time last year.

Aggie Congress Set Nov. 21-22

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 15. (Special)—M. L. Wilson, under secretary of agriculture, will be the main speaker on Monday afternoon, the first day of the two-day West Texas Agricultural congress to be held in Plainview, Nov. 21 and 22, according to C. H. Day, president of the Texas Agricultural association. This is the second meeting this fall arranged by farmers themselves in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural association which has brought national agricultural leaders to discuss farm matters with Texas farmers, Day said.

Virgil V. Parr, Spur, manager of the Pitchfork Ranch and Cattle Co., and director for district 3 of the Texas Agricultural association, will introduce Secretary Wilson.

Speakers On Program

The congress, which will be held in the Plainview auditorium, opens at 10 o'clock, November 21. Speakers for the morning session include C. E. Bowles, Texas Extension Service; Senator G. H. Nelson, Lubbock; Mrs. W. G. Kennedy, Muleshoe; E. H. Grimes, White Deer; and Representative A. B. Tarwater. Conservation, agricultural legislation, and the responsibility of farm women to agriculture are among the subjects to be discussed.

Secretary Wilson will speak at 2:45, Monday afternoon. Dr. R. H. (Bob) Montgomery, University of Texas, is scheduled to speak on the same afternoon. Tuesday's speakers include R. A. Manire, state director, vocational agriculture teachers, Austin; J. E. Montgomery; and J. S. Sharp, Paris, president, Texas Cotton Growers association.

The congress is being arranged by the co-ops of West Texas in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural association.

Gain Is Shown By Methodists

The annual report of the first Methodist church of Lubbock to be made this week at the annual Northwest Texas conference in Memphis, according to the board of stewards and church officials, indicates the greatest gain in attendance, membership, financial support and activity in the history of the church.

The report will show 408 additions during the year, 60 on profession of faith and 248 by certificate. There were 280 conversions and reclamations during the year. Net gain is 282, making membership 2,674.

Funds Raised Total $27,787

Funds for all purposes raised were $27,787, including the payment of all church benevolences before Easter Sunday last, payment of $5,000 on the church debt and all interest charges.

"Our church debt has been paid up to January, 1940," said the pastor. "We have, for four years, met our benevolences at Easter. We hope to do so the coming year."

Society Raises $2,466

The Women's Missionary society raised $2,466 during the year and the church school, $6,106.

Refinancing of the church debt is being made, to reduce interest charges.

Educational work of the church, under direction of Rev. Cecil R. Matthews, Wesley Foundation director, has made rapid and steady strides. Attendance is much greater and enrollment is between 12 and 15 per cent greater than last year. Dr. A. W. Evans heads the school as general superintendent.

Work in the college department, among students at Texas Technological college, is at a peak. "It is the best of any previous year," said Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor. There are more students from the college participating in the work than ever before.

Four from the church will leave today for Memphis, Rev. Mr. Lipscomb, Rev. Mr. Matthews, Allan Hill and A. N. Gamble.

Graduate Of Texas Tech Is Transferred To Washington

C. L. Ritchie, a 1929 graduate of the division of agriculture at Texas Technological college, who has been stationed at Chula Vista, Calif., with the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, of the U. S. department of agriculture, has been transferred to Blaine, Wash.

Ritchie has been junior plant quarantine inspector and will have the same title in his new location. Word of the change was received yesterday by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture.

CHICAGO, (AP)—The music of a church organ next to his home displeased William Hoeppner so much that he tried to drown it out with his radio—placed at an open window.

The church folk had Hoeppner arrested for disturbing their services and Judge N. J. Bonelli fined him $50.

Rank And File Lions Victors In Contest

Rank and file of the Lions club are better informed than officers on odd and unusual facts as well as straight facts about historical, sporting and other aspects of life, a quiz contest at yesterday's luncheon of the club at the Hilton hotel showed. The so-called "Knife and Fork" members rated 160 points to 126 for the officers, in the contest.

W. B. Irvin, superintendent of schools, headed the officers team, composed of Harry Morris, W. H. Evans, V. H. Moore, R. H. Bean and Arlie Crites. Vernice Ford captained Burton Burks, J. Doyle Settle, Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, F. A. Kleinschmidt and J. W. Henly. Envoy V. M. Vansyckle substituted for Kleinschmidt during the latter part of the contest.

Bruce Collier of KFYO was master of ceremonies and H. C. Pender and Dr. F. L. Green of Crosbyton, were judges. Clyde Fortune was chairman for the day.

President Bean called on M. E. Heard of the cotton committee for a report on the one-variety contest. Field day is Dec. 3, he said. Present reports indicate between 225 and 250 bales would be harvested. Prizes will be awarded on the field day. Heard displayed samples of cotton grown by 48 club boys, with samples of cotton the fathers grew.

Dr. Adams, member of the Crosbyton club, reported that group was engaged in an active campaign for the community welfare.
