Flood Deaths Soar To 150 In S.D.

Hard Rain Didn't Portend Horror That Would Hit

Editor's Note: Wire Editor Jerry Mashek of the Rapid City Journal was covering reports of high water and flooding late Friday night in the Rapid City area when he was caught in the middle of the disaster that struck the western South Dakota resort area. This is his report.

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — The horror of the flood that had torn life out of the Black Hills didn't really strike me until dawn Saturday.

It started about 8 p.m. Friday with a call from Journal photographer Don Polovich. He had heard reports of high water along Rimrock Highway in the Hiesga area west of Rapid City.

It began as sort of a lark. I knew it was raining hard, but no one had prepared us for the wild night, and morning ahead. There didn't seem to be any real danger.

The water from Rapid Creek was running across the road in some places on the way up, but our two pickups made it through in good shape. But it was starting to look more serious.

As we headed toward Hiesga, the rain really hit. We pulled onto the shoulder and watched in amazement as a small stream spilling from the hillside turned into a four-foot-wide torrent.

We turned back at this point, but were halted along with a number of other vehicles by a three-foot wall of water spilling across the highway.

Nixon Aide And Sato Hold Talks

TOKYO (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger assured Japan Saturday that it remains the anchor of American policy in Asia and said Red China does not plan to use force to take over Taiwan, the Chinese Nationalist stronghold.

Kissinger, President Nixon's chief foreign policy adviser, made these points in the first of a three-day series of meetings with Japan's top politicians and business leaders.

He dined with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, and afterward the two went into private talks with only an interpreter present. Before them was a wide range of political and economic issues.

Both Kissinger and Sato appeared in good spirits as they emerged from the four-hour conversation. Sato told newsmen the meeting lasted longer than expected "because we found ourselves like-minded."

Another of Nixon's top aides, Elliot Richardson, secretary of health, education and welfare, also was in Japan offering reassurances that the evolution of U.S. policy toward China and the Soviet Union will not leave the Japanese in the lurch.

Richardson spoke at a conference of Japanese and American leaders in Shimoda, 130 miles southwest of Tokyo. He told them: "My government intends not only to maintain its close relationship with Japan but to strengthen it."

GOP To Raise $30 Million For Nixon's Re-election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key committees working for the re-election of President Nixon reported Saturday collecting nearly $10 million to begin the fall campaign.

The figure, disclosed in the first quarterly reports required by a new federal election law, dwarfed those reported by the Democrats, obviously reeling from multimillion dollar primary spending.

All but about $1 million of the Republican war chest was raised before the law with its strict disclosure requirements went into effect April 7.

The Nixon committees adhered to the law by not disclosing contributors before that date so some of the biggest GOP donors may never be known.

Common Cause, the self-styled citizens lobby, said in a statement that disclosure of

We were stuck, but it seemed the water would subside in a couple of hours. Then we heard that at least one bridge was out and it would be days before traffic was moving normally again. We decided to walk back to town, shooting pictures on the way.

Rapid Creek, 40 feet to our right, normally is clear and placid. But now it sounded like a freight train passing in the night. It must have been 150 feet wide in some places.

We could hear people trapped in houses on the other side of the creek calling plaintively, rather than desperately, for help.

It was pitch black, rain was falling sheets and all we could do was listen to the pleas.

How many people were swept to their deaths in that area alone, I'll never know.

About dawn we decided we'd hike toward Rapid City about three miles east. The carnage was unbelievable as we picked our way down a major Black Hills highway.

Gigantic blocks of asphalt and concrete as large as the walls of a house were strewn across the roadbed. Boulders lay haphazard and bridge structures were ripped and dangling. The smell of a world ripped apart hung in the air.

It was like nothing I've ever smelled before and hope to God I never do again.

Mud was everywhere. Once-beautiful homes had been obliterated. Articles from a shattered world lay scattered everywhere. Here a shoe, there a table top, beside us a crushed toy.

As we slugged down the highway we came to the Cleghorn Springs fish hatchery on the outskirts of the city. The raising ponds were under water, the offices were smashed and we could see where the creek had come out of its banks.

Here and there little knots of people stared blankly at their homes, or where their homes had been. Rapid City contractor Owen Emmet gave us a short list to where his home had been. It was still there, but it was smashed and mangled. His wife wondered aloud whether their dog was all right.

Several survivors were perched on roofs and the only sounds were the soft squish of bark of a dog and faint, meaningless greetings of "Morning."

Near, once-beautiful Canyon Lake Park the smell of propane gas escaping from ruptured tanks was almost overpowering.

Canyon Lake was gone. Rapid Creek rushed through a sea of mud, automobiles and home furnishings. It looked as though some insane giant had taken the palm of his hand and slapped it to the lakebed, emptying it. The dam at the lower end of the lake had literally been ripped from its stone anchors.

The park was like a desolate moonscape. Giant trees were uprooted. Picnic tables, playground equipment and the articles of everyday life cluttered the land. The beautifully manicured grass had huge gouges torn from it.

A body lay in a jumble of wreckage. We hurried past.

Planes Hit Red Targets Along 300-Mile Coastline

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes streaked nearly 300 miles along North Vietnam's coastline attacking fuel depots, coal storage areas, bridges and other military targets near the four major cities of Haiphong, Thanh Hoa, Vinh and Dong Hoi, the U.S. Command announced today.

The Command said Air Force, Navy and Marine tactical fighter-bombers carried out more than 300 strikes from the demilitarized zone northward to Haiphong on Friday.

American B52s today rocked Dong Hoi with a shower of bombs aimed at supply depots on two sides of the city.

Other B52s struck North Viet-name troop positions and staging areas only 23 and 27 miles northwest of the South Vietnamese capital. The raids were the closest to Saigon since the 1968 Tet offensive.

On the far northern front below the DMZ, B52 strikes killed 68 North Vietnamese troops on the southern flanks of Hue, about eight miles from the city, and South Vietnamese ground troops killed 32 more in a six-hour battle. The Saigon command said it reported that three South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 23 wounded.

In a delayed report, the U.S. Command disclosed the loss of an Air Force F4 Phantom jet 30 miles northwest of Hanoi during strikes Wednesday. The two crewmen are missing, raising to 37 the number of American airmen reported lost over North Vietnam since the resumption of the bombing April 6.

Thirty-seven U.S. jets also have been downed over the North. North Vietnam claimed that another jet was shot down Friday northeast of Hanoi, but the U.S. Command declined comment.

Raza Unida Party Picks Candidate

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Raza Unida Party formally nominated Ramsey Muniz of Waco for governor as expected here Saturday. But a split developed over the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Muniz, 29, a former high school football star in Corpus Christi, was unanimously approved at the Mexican-American party's state convention.

He said he has this message for Dolph Briscoe, Democratic nominee for governor: "If he's never going to have nightmares, he's going to start tonight—because for every day that he's resting, we'll be out campaigning."

Alma Canales, a native of Edinburg in Texas' Lower Rio Grande Valley, was the party's only announced candidate for lieutenant governor. But she met opposition from the Houston delegation, which in an unexpected move nominated Jose Vela, a University of Houston law student.

At one point during the day, when the death toll stood at 105, Sheriff Glenn Best said he believed only a third of the dead had been found.

In declaring the region a disaster area, Nixon made emergency federal aid available for the recovery effort.

Maj. Gen. Duane L. Corning, state adjutant general, estimated after an inspection of the area that damages from the disaster would run between $80 million and $120 million. Hundreds of residents of this city of 43,000 were left homeless.

Mayor Don Barnett of Rapid City requested military police to patrol the area after reports of looting at a west-side shopping center during the day.

Police Chief Ronald Messer said he could use 1,500 military policemen to aid his department.

Gov. Richard Kneip, who arrived Saturday, said rescuers were picking up bodies all across the southwestern part of the city.

Over 500 Reported Missing In Rapid City, Other Areas

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Flash floods, touched off by torrential rains in the Black Hills, left 150 persons dead and 500 missing Saturday, victims of walls of water that swept through Rapid City and the surrounding area during the night.

The death count was set by Civil Defense officials and police who imposed a 9 p.m. curfew for all but emergency personnel to prevent looting and keep curiosity seekers out of the disaster area. Authorities said they expected the death toll to climb even higher.

Once-in-a-century weather conditions caused the floods that battered houses, uprooted trees and swept away cars, mobile homes and some bridges. Landslides and explosions added to the devastation; gas lines ruptured and triggered fires; electricity was cut off temporarily, and communications were spotty.

Bodies continued to be uncovered as the flood—caused by up to 10 inches of rain in only a few hours—subsided. The victims were found in trees, cars and along the edges of ditches.

The Red Cross in Minneapolis said 600 cots and blankets were being flown into the western South Dakota region, declared a disaster area by President Nixon. A chain of supermarkets donated four carloads of perishable foods for distribution at the Red Cross centers in Rapid City. A Red Cross spokesman said 900 persons had been treated at hospitals in Rapid City and 2,000 persons were being served supper at the various shelters in this summer resort city of 43,000.

Damage was estimated in the millions.

The rains started at about 6 p.m. Friday night. By 10:30 p.m., the flood waters began to rise and ran over into Canyon Creek, a small pond protected at its lower end by an earthen dam. The dam collapsed half an hour later, spilling up to five feet of water through the area and into the western business district of the city.

Don Warner, a sports writer with the Ogden, Utah, Standard-Examiner, was vacationing with his wife and two children at the trailer home of his wife's parents in Rapid City. At about 4 a.m., he said, the family was awakened by his wife's mother screaming "Flood, flood."

"We opened the door and the water was about waist deep," he said. "By the time we got away from the trailer the water was up to my shoulders and to the women's necks. We could hear people crying and screaming in the darkness."

Warner said the family finally reached high ground and waited there for rescuers.

The Omaha district of the Army Corps of Engineers declared the disaster a Class A emergency, making all Corps facilities available to alleviate suffering and restore utilities. A spokesman said cleaning debris away from clogged stream channels had high priority in order to provide more rapid drainage and aid in carrying away any additional rainfall.

At one point during the day, when the death toll stood at 105, Sheriff Glenn Best said he believed only a third of the dead had been found.

Gov. Richard Kneip, who arrived Saturday, said rescuers were picking up bodies all across the southwestern part of the city.

Corning also said there was general flooding in the northern Black Hills area of Lead, Deadwood and Sturgis.

In Kansas City, the National Weather Service said the torrential downpour which dumped about seven inches of rain on the city Friday night and early Saturday was the result of weather conditions that are unlikely to occur more than once in a hundred years.

Ninety-nine of the deaths were in Rapid City, authorities said. Six were in the little village of Keystone, southwest of Rapid City near the Mt. Rushmore National Memorial.

In Rapid City, raging waters swept cars down streets while homes and mobile homes were scattered and splintered in the flood areas. Bridges were washed away and many roads closed.

10% Hike In SS Benefits Okayed By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid predictions most senators and House members will want the figure doubled, the Senate Finance Committee has voted a 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

Conservatives on the committee rejected proposals to increase general pension benefits by 20 per cent and by 15 per cent with identical 7-7 tie votes Thursday.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said that 64 of the Senate's 100 members, including himself, had announced they would vote for the 20 per cent increase when the combined Social Security-welfare reform bill reaches the floor.

Long said the committee will act Monday on higher Social Security payroll taxes to pay for the new benefits and send the bill to the Senate for debate.

The House, passing the bill last year, called for a 5 per cent general increase in Social Security benefits. But Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee who will head the House conferees on the legislation, has said he favors 20 per cent.

The Senate committee estimated a 10 per cent increase for 27 million pensioners would raise average monthly payments from $133 to $146 for individuals and from $223 to $245 for couples.

The 10 per cent increase would raise the maximum payment for an individual from about $216 to $237.

The bill calls for Social Security increases for special groups as well as the general raise, all retroactive to June 1.

Social Security checks would not be likely to reflect the changes until about three months after the bill is signed into law.

An attempt in the committee to strike out tough work requirements of the welfare portion of the bill was beaten by an 11 to 3 vote. Another try to remove the so-called Workfare Plan is expected on the Senate floor.

Long said he might also try to insert a $2.9 billion catastrophic illness plan into the bill when it reaches the floor. Financed through Social Security, the plan would pay most of medical expenses over $2,000 for a family and hospital costs beyond 60 days a year for individuals.

Churches Plan Challenge To Legality Of VN War

NEW YORK (AP) — A wide cross-section of American churches today planned to consider a method for challenging the legality of the Vietnam war in the courts.

A proposal for such a move was before the policy-making general board of the National Council of Churches, including 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations totaling 42 million members.

Prior to action on the matter, the director of the Council's international relations department, the Rev. Dr. Robert Bilheimer, said the failure of protests to stop the war has undermined "confidence in the democratic process."

"Christians note with alarm that the majority of the country want to get out of Vietnam, but the administration is unresponsive," he said in a prepared address.

"They say Congress has not exercised its responsibility, cite the unconstitutionality of the war and seek court action. They are disillusioned about the ability of the democratic process to control war power."

Alluding to President Nixon's insistence that "national honor" requires continuing the war under present circumstances, Dr. Bilheimer said:

"Christians perceive that the honor of the United States lies not in victory in Indochina but in repentance."

"It is relatively easy to recognize a mistake but Christian protest now takes a more profound and Biblical view, recognizing the war as not only a mistake but immoral and a sin," he said.

City Beautification Projects Receive Enthusiastic Support

Excellent participation on the part of many residents and businesses in helping make Pampa more beautiful was reported Saturday by Mrs. Thelma Bray, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce City Beautification Committee.

Listing a few of the many beautification projects underway, Mrs. Bray mentioned Highland General Hospital where the green lawn, sprinkled with plantings of cushion mums, ground cover, roses, day lilies, and flowering trees is expected to become a beauty spot.

Grounds around the Coronado Inn are in the best shape since the hotel opened in 1960. Cushion mums have been planted in the moat surrounding the Terrace Dining Room and will enhance the beauty of the hotel and its surroundings next fall.

Another new program underway is at the Celanese Chemical Co. plant west of the city where green grass, rose-cushion mums and flowering trees combine to make a pleasing display.

Beer Bill Leads To Jail

Refusal to pay a beer bill of ninety cents led to the jailing of two McLean men for intoxication.

Officers were called to a local lounge when the pair refused to pay their bill. According to the official report, they were belligerent but wanted to pay their bill once they reached the police station after they had been placed under arrest.

The owner of the lounge accepted payment of the ninety cents and the men were lodged in jail.

Pampa Sets Programs Celebrating July 4th

Pampa's annual Independence Day Program—July 4th to "Honor America"—at Recreation Park is practically complete, it was reported Saturday by Chamber of Commerce officials.

Activities will begin at 7:30 p.m. with western games and contests in the Top o' Texas Rodeo Arena. Various types of riding contests will be arranged and directed by Richard Guggisberg, assistant Gray County Agricultural Agent and Andy Smith of the Gray County 4-H Riding Club.

Following the western games, a 30-minute extravaganza of colorful Indian dances will be put on by the Kwahadi Indians of Amarillo. The colorful costumes and authentic dances of the group have been popular in the Texas Panhandle for many years.

At 9 p.m. the formal Independence Day Program will begin with martial music, presentation of the colors, the National Anthem, invocation, and a patriotic Honor America Day address by Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan.

Immediately following the 'Civilization' Series Will Be Presented

AMARILLO — "The Pursuit of Happiness," a 52-minute film in the "Civilization" series will be shown at 2:30 p.m. Sunday and at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Concert Hall-Theater of the Fine Arts Complex on Amarillo College campus.

Featuring composers of the 18th Century, the film deals with music by Bach, Handel, Mozart, and Haydn.

The film series, produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation, is being shown without admission charge, according to Thomas P. Matthews, Art Center director.

Survivors include one son, Paul, of Sayre; three brothers, Rex Duree, of Keyes, Calif.; T. J. Duree, of Livermore, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Juanita Jackson, of Sayre, and Mrs. Jean Banks, of Pampa; her mother, Elva Lee Conner, of Pampa; and three grandchildren.

Smith's talk was accompanied by a film pointing out what TMA labels five major fallacies in the current state system for public money management.

The current budget system in Texas, Smith stated, is outdated and was established 23 years ago when total state spending was only $500 million a year contrasted with today's annual spending of about $4 billion a year.

Smith urged his listeners to appeal to state legislators for budget reform and write to TMA expressing opinions on money management reform so they can be passed along to lawmakers by the TMA Budget Reform Committee.

Smith is an advertising assistant with Diamond-Shamrock Corp., Amarillo.

Barefoot Sanders Picked Up 218,175 Votes In June 3 Race

By CLAYTON HICKERSON Associated Press Writer

Freckle-faced, tousle-haired Barefoot Sanders, coming from behind veteran U.S. Senator Ralph Yarborough's big first primary lead, amassed the heaviest vote among statewide candidates in the June 3 runoff election.

Sanders' stunning victory came with a total of 1,103,942 votes to gain the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination. Yarborough, who almost won in the first primary without a runoff, had 927,243 votes.

The figures were revealed when the Texas Election Bureau reported the final count of the June 3 voting with complete returns from all of Texas' 254 counties.

Sanders had the best vote of all despite the governor's race drawing the most votes of any race. A total of 1,989,937 voters cast ballots for governor, while the U.S. Senate race drew only 1,931,125. The total in the gubernatorial voting was 91 percent of the number cast in the May primary.

Dolph Briscoe, the Democrats' governor-nominatee received 1,101,557 votes to 888,380 for his opponent, Rep. Frances Farenthold. Briscoe led in 236 counties, one more than he carried in the first primary, while Mrs. Farenthold led in 18 counties, four more than she carried in May.

Mrs. Farenthold's greatest strength, the TEB said, was in three South Texas Metropolitan counties, Harris (Houston), Jefferson (Beaumont) and Nueces (Corpus Christi), in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and in El Paso County.

In the lieutenant governor's race, victorious Bill Hobby took 1,091,819 votes in winning to loser Wayne Connally's 849,774. Connally carried 144 counties to Hobby's 110, but the Houston newspaperman got them where

Youth Admits Drink Theft

A 16-year old boy admitted to authorities he took a carton of soft drinks from a delivery truck and returned them.

According to the police report, the driver of the truck noted the license number of the car occupied by the culprits. It was traced to a Pampa address and the investigating officer went to the door of the home.

The youth voluntarily admitted the theft and his parents were notified. He was lectured and released according to the report but all the information will be turned over to the juvenile officer.

they counted, all the metropolitan counties and most of the urban.

Sanders' surprising mass of votes came from 199 counties which he carried with Yarborough getting only 55 in the runoff. In the first primary, Sanders carried only 80 counties, while Yarborough carried 174. The former senator, like Mrs. Farenthold, polled his greatest strength in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the metropolitan counties.

Comparing the June totals with those of the May primary, Sanders picked up 218,175 votes while Yarborough, rarely a fast runner in runoffs, lost 101,836 votes. Briscoe gained 138,160 and Mrs. Farenthold, although losing, gained even more, 143,412 votes. Connally gained 241,458 but Hobby tacked on a massive 412,090.

Teachers To Attend Workshop

Some 75 members of the professional staff of the Pampa school system will attend a summer workshop June 13-22 designed for college credit or professional growth credits.

The education seminar to be conducted at Horace Mann Elementary School is a joint project of Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla., and the regional Education Service Center at Amarillo.

Hobart McDonald, coordinator of curriculum and instruction at the center will be instructor for the workshop.

Dr. Joe Phillips of Southwestern State College will be the administrator.

Hours for the course will be 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. The course is designed to help teams of staff members from each school campus to apply the tools and implement the instruction at their command.

"Benefits from the workshop extend beyond the teachers to the entire school system," Mrs. Margie Gaut of Carver Administrative Center said in explaining the workshop.

Each staff member in attendance can earn three hours of college credit or 48 hours of professional growth credit from the seminar.

Australia's population at the end of 1971 was 12,881,100 the government statistician reported.

Californian Struggling For Survival

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "There are so many things wrong with me," says Paul Iselman. "I don't know if it is worth it to stay alive this much longer."

He doesn't always feel that way but he won't live much longer anyway, doctors say. Iselman lives one day at a time, having been told by physicians not to plan more than a day ahead because there is no guarantee he'll still be alive.

A diabetic for 20 years, Iselman now suffers severe arthritis and a skin disorder, has a poor heart and kidney and has problems with his blood pressure and nerves.

In the past two years he has been divorced, buried his mother, lost his job because of failing health and given his two children up to foster parents. Yet despite these tragedies he says:

"Life is worth it."

Paul Iselman is 27.

"I've given life to someone else, raising two kids," he said. "I've traveled a lot, done a lot of things. Life isn't really how long you live just as long as you do something with it."

He lives with his sister, sleeping most of the day. Weekends he takes his camper van and drives to the desert, where he collects rocks and relaxes, and thinks.

Area Postmaster Retires After 39 Years' Service

Winfield C. Powers, who has served under six presidents, today announced his retirement as Postmaster of White Deer effective June 30, 1972. His successor has not been named.

He closes out a career of 39 years and three months in the White Deer Post Office, having begun as a clerk under his sister, Mrs. Alice Pipes, in April, 1933 on a salary of $60 per month.

The examination for postmaster was called in 1936 with eleven applicants for the job. Powers received the appointment by Franklin D. Roosevelt on the recommendation of Congressman Marvin Jones.

Powers has been active in civic and community affairs throughout the years. He has served as Boss Lion of the White Deer Lions Club, received numerous citations for services rendered during World War Two, and served on the committee of 1967 for West Texas State University.

Powers was married to the former Mary Ellen Simmons in 1929. They are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Max Osborn, of Midland, and Mrs. Felipe Zavala of San Miguel de Allende, Mexico; and one son, Tom Powers of White Deer. They have eight grandchildren.

Postmaster Powers expressed his appreciation and thanks to all the people of White Deer and vicinity, and especially to the "loyal and efficient" employees of the White Deer Post Office.

"The Postmastership of this office has been very rewarding, and I will always feel indebted to the people of this community," Powers stated.

Youth To Approach Medicine From Ethical Point Of View

HOUSTON (SPl)—Jim Shelhamer, third year medical student at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, plans to approach medicine from an ethical standpoint.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer of Pampa, he received a B. A. degree in religion from Baylor University in Waco.

"I always knew I wanted to go into medicine but I wanted a liberal education as well," Shelhamer explains. He said because of his basic interest in ethics, he decided to approach the study of medicine from that view.

"There's a fairly obvious need to do work in value theory in conjunction with medicine, as in any rapidly advancing technical field," Shelhamer said. "There's a current trend toward clarifying the ethical issues that face physicians."

Shelhamer, 24, graduated from Pampa High School where his interest in helping people was nurtured through the Key Club, the school's community oriented service organization, sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis Club.

He explains that his application to Baylor College of Medicine was influenced by the college's varied medical opportunities available.

"I was impressed by its location and enthusiastic about its potential," he said.

Shelhamer plans to take a residency in internal medicine and possibly set up practice in Texas.

Questions Answered By IRS

Q. Is it true that small businesses are exempt from wage-price controls?

A. Yes. Companies with 60 or less employees are exempt from wage and price controls, except for firms in the health and construction industries. Small local governments with 60 employees or fewer have also been exempted from wage controls and most price controls.

Q. Will the Internal Revenue Service process an exception request from a landlord who is charging rent in violation of stabilization regulations?

A. No. The IRS will not process exception requests from landlords charging rent in excess of that allowed by stabilization regulations. However, if a landlord rolls back an illegal increase and refunds rents collected under that increase, the IRS will process his exception request.

Q. Does a landlord have to notify his tenants when he seeks an exception from the rent regulations?

A. Yes. A landlord must notify his tenants of the exception request at the time it is sought. If the exception is granted, he must also notify them of the proposed increase at least 30 days before its effective date.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, June 11, the 162nd day of 1972. There are 203 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, it was disclosed that the United States and the Soviet Union had made a lend-lease agreement to aid the Soviet war effort in World War II.

On this date:

In 1727, King George I of England died.

In 1859, a prospector laid claim to a silver deposit in Six-Mile Canyon in Nevada. The claim turned out to be the Comstock Lode. It yielded ore worth more than $300 million.

In 1936, a new constitution was submitted to the people of Russia.

In 1940, Princess Juliana of The Netherlands arrived in Canada as an exile during World War II.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt called on the Italian people to rid themselves of Benito Mussolini and halt warfare.

In 1963, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace stepped aside to permit Negroes to register at the University of Alabama in Montgomery as the federalized National Guard stood by.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Defense Department canceled an Army program for communications satellites, saying it had fallen far behind schedule.

Five years ago: Israel and Syria agreed to a cease-fire in the six-day war, with Israeli troops still holding positions inside Syrian territory.

One year ago: Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev called for an end to the arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Rise Stevens is 59. Pianist Hazel Scott is 52.

Thought for Today: If I listen, I have the advantage. If I speak, others have it—an Arab saying.

Here's a man who forgave and forgot

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote in to say that wives seem willing to forgive husbands who stray, but a man will never forgive his wife for the same thing. It's not so:

My sister's husband came to town on a business trip and he stayed with us for a few days. He [I'll call him "G"] said to my wife, [I'll call her "E"] one morning, "I'll help you with the breakfast dishes."

I went to the piano and was drumming out a tune with two fingers when I suddenly remembered I had to tell my wife something. I promptly headed for the kitchen, forgetting that I was wearing my bedroom slippers.

When I reached the door, I saw "G" with his arms around "E," and altho both her hands were in the sink, she was giving him a passionate kiss!

I dodged back and made another entrance, this time whistling loudly to give them ample warning.

I never let on to either "G" or "E" that I had seen that kiss.

Perhaps I'm too forgiving, but why should I think it strange that another man finds my wife kissable?

"E" passed away a year ago, after a beautiful marriage that lasted sixty years. I can truthfully say that I have never loved her more than I do at this moment. The type is growing dim. Goodbye.

NEVER JEALOUS

DEAR NEVER: You're quite a gentleman in my book.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding your answer to "NAMELESS PLEASE" on introducing his parents' new mates, I disagree! I am a second wife, a stepmother, and I am only five years older than my husband's oldest son. What a traumatic experience it is for those being introduced when I am referred to simply as "Mother." And my husband's youngest daughter, 9, in attempting to welcome me into the family, asked if she could call me "Mother."

I told her that the relationship between a natural mother and her child is too sacred to be compromised simply because her father has a new wife. She calls me by my first name.

It would be unfair of me to expect my stepchildren to refer to me as their "parent." I am not. I am their father's wife, and that is how I wish to be introduced.

Natural mothers and fathers, or adoptive or foster parents deserve much more respect from their children than to be categorized with us second mates. We had nothing to do with their upbringing or training, and we do not deserve to be credited with having done so.

In my opinion, "my father's wife" or "my mother's husband" would be most appropriate.

Sign me "STEPMOTHER" because that's what I am!

DEAR STEPMOTHER: Thank you for a candid [the probably unpopular] point of view.

DEAR ABBY: My aunt, who lives in a retirement home, sent me this item from their monthly newspaper. I hope it will brighten your day as much as it did mine. You may print it if you think it's funny enough to share with your readers.

AMUSED IN MISSOULA

DEAR AMUSED: The item was both funny ha ha and funny sad if this "law" was actually enforced. Yes, it's worth sharing with my readers; and here it is:

"LADIES, BEWARE

"It's Leap Year again, ladies. But if some of you have ideas of capturing some unsuspecting man's heart, be careful! A colonial Jersey law of the 1600s decreed that all women, of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, who shall... betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects by scents, cosmetics, washes, paints, artificial teeth, false hair or high-heeled shoes shall incur the penalty... against witchcraft. The penalty? Death!"

Highland General Hospital Has Registered Nurse Anesthetists

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the 12th in a series of weekly articles, prepared by the public relations department of Highland General Hospital, to acquaint the public with hospital officials, employees.

Pampa Youth Appointed To Academy

Congressman Bob Price has announced that an appointment to the United States Military Academy from the Pampa area has been offered to a Pampa youth.

John Douglas McCarroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. McCarroll, 2119 Christine Street, graduated from the Pampa High School in 1971. Since graduation from high school he has been attending Texas A & M University and is a member of the R.O.T.C. unit there.

While attending Pampa High, McCarroll was president of his sophomore, junior and senior classes. He was a member of the National Honor Society and the Student Council. He played football throughout his high school career and lettered in that sport.

McCarroll was selected as Outstanding Citizen in his sophomore and junior years by the Pampa Optimist Club. He is a Life Scout and attends St. Matthews Episcopal Church in Pampa.

department procedures and the many services offered to the people of Gray County.

By JUDITH KITTO

After becoming a registered nurse, the anesthetist must go to a graduate school for 18 months to two years in order to become a Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist. Following this training the graduate anesthetist is eligible to take the National Board Examination which qualifies him to give anesthetic to patients in any state in the United States.

There are three Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetists at Highland General Hospital. Head of the Anesthesia Department is Miss Hazel Smith who has been an employee for the past 15 years. Mrs. Virginia Bates and Richard Van Kluyve who have both been with Highland General for eight years.

The purpose of anesthesia is to alleviate pain so surgical procedures can be done without discomfort to the patient. The responsibility of the anesthetist is to administer anesthetic to the patient and to remain with the patient from the time he goes to sleep until he is released in the recovery room following surgery. Working with doctors, the anesthetist is continually checking the patient's pulse rate, blood pressure, respiration, color and temperature and reporting to the doctor any variation that may occur during the operation. The anesthetist is able to administer all types of anesthetics both intravenously and by inhalation. The anesthetist is on call 24 hours a day for the operating room, emergency room and delivery room. While administering anesthetic for an obstetrical patient in the delivery room, the anesthetist is available to assist the newborn baby if respiration difficulty occurs.

This department is essential in any hospital setting. Next week this series of articles will introduce the Department of Nursing Service.

Ringneck Pheasant Stock Said Possible

Seen any ringnecked pheasants lately? Neither have any of the mighty Nimrods hereabouts, and a number of conservation people hope to remedy the situation.

This is not an ecology drill but a plan to stock the general area with the birds and nurture them along until they are once again native to the country and in numbers enough to be huntable.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District the panel voted to try stocking the game birds in the county.

Over in Carson County the McClellan Creek Soil and Water Conservation District is working toward the same goal to make it a joint effort.

This came after a check with the SCS and Parks and Wildlife Department proved the move was not only possible but feasible. It has been tried before in the county but original numbers were few and survival was poor.

However, biologists for both the SCS and Parks and Wildlife went on record as saying there is no reason why the area cannot have a huntable population of the pheasants in a few years after stocking.

Three things are required. The original stocking effort must include a sizeable number of birds. Then the project must have the help of landowners and

Agri Ups-and-Downs

Recent USDA figures indicate per-acre real estate taxes paid by the nation's farmers are up 34 per cent over 1967.

In the same general period, American agriculture has declined by 47,000 farms annually.

A recent demographic survey by private industry shows a six per cent decline in agricultural population in the past 20 years.

operators. Pheasants need cover for nests and foraging. Management of crop residue is one of the most necessary items for their survival. Often odd areas around fields or in corners should be enough for the birds.

Finally, to stock the county, the Wildlife people must have a goodly number of requests from citizens of Gray County. Promoters of the project are placing petitions at strategic points such as local elevators and other spots often frequented at this season. When these have sufficient signatures, they will be mailed to the Parks and Wildlife Department as evidence of sufficient interest to enter into the program.

Acorns as Food

Acorns were the principal food of the Indians in California. The acorns were pounded into a flour from which porridge and bread were made.

BRING BACK THIS BIRD—At least two area conservation groups are making plans to stock Gray County with the ringnecked pheasant in sufficient numbers to create a huntable population in a few years. The state wildlife department says the move is feasible. It will require cooperation of others in two different areas to make the plan work.

Agriculturally Speaking

By Foster Whaley

Wheat harvest cranked up the first of last weekend on dryland.

Two or three more days of dry weather and dryland harvest will be complete. Yields have been much higher than expected. Bill Hood cut close to eighteen bushels per acre seven miles northeast of Pampa. Bill said he would have sold it for ten bushels and wouldn't have been surprised had it made as little as eight. The variety was KAW. The test weight was good also.

MILO PLANTING

Farmers have been running like mad to get ground worked, volunteer milo killed, and milo planted.

Most of them are wishing for a two weeks' dry spell. The rain of two weeks ago has been most helpful to irrigation farmers.

SCREW WORMS

Be on the alert and collect specimen and bring to the Extension office and we will send them off for identification. There has been a confirmed case of screw worms in Wilbarger County.

INSECTS

We have heard a lot of farmers talk of having trouble with white grubs and wireworms destroying newly-planted milo grain. Heptachlor will do a bang up job of stopping these pests. Usually they give trouble where moisture is scant and it takes several days to receive a stand. After milo has two leaves on it, they give no trouble.

IRON CHLOROSIS

Almost daily we have calls or some one brings a sample of a plant to our office that shows a severe yellowing of the leaves. Very often there will be a heavy shedding of the leaves. We have an excellent leaflet on the subject. Treating with Iron Chelate will give a rapid response. Call our office or drop by and we would be happy to give you a leaflet.

The archerfish knocks down the insects it eats by squirting water from its mouth like a water pistol.

Fashing-Peggy, Pop. 70 Is Top Rural Community

C O L L E G E STATION—Fashing-Peggy in Atascosa County has been in Texas. It boasts a population of 70.

The first place winner in the Texas Community Improvements Program (TCIP) will receive $450 from the electric utility companies in the state who annually sponsor the program in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

The other three communities that were state finalists for the top award were, in order of their placing, Harris Chapel, Panola County; Crawford, McLennan County; and Boling, Wharton County. Harris Chapel will receive $350; Crawford, $250; and Boling, $150.

The state judging committee consisted of Extension Service specialists Miss Patricia Bradshaw, Charles Lawrence and Gordon Powell. Reagan Brown, Extension sociologist, serves as coordinator of the statewide community improvement program.

This year a total of 283 communities participated in the program," he points out. "All of these communities are winners. They are better places in which to live because the people cared enough to work together to improve their livelihoods."

The TCIP reached into 106 counties this year. Some 40,000 families participated. Benefits from the program have been innumerable. They include the construction of community centers, acquisition of fire trucks, improved water systems, health campaigns, better crops and finer livestock. The program operates under the motto, "Working to Make Texas Even Better."

Meat Charts Offer Budget Buying Help

A filet mignon is what part of a beef carcass? What's the difference between a rolled fresh ham and a smoked ham?

From what part of the lamb do shish ke kab cubes come from?

Answers to these questions plus a lot of helpful information on how to cook meat are found in three colorful meat charts available from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Housewives will find the charts invaluable in helping to stay within family food budgets. Each chart shows a breakdown of all the cuts of a beef carcass, a hog, and a lamb.

The beef chart shows that the filet mignon comes from the T-bone steak, the Porterhouse steak, and the top loin steak. The pork shows that a rolled fresh ham is from the leg and a smoked ham from the shank portion. The lamb chart shows that cubes for shish ke kab come from the rear portion of the leg roast.

On the back of each chart are detailed information on how to best cook the meat.

A copy is available free of charge by writing to: Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711. Ask for the meat packet. Receive free recipes to help you prepare a variety of tasty dishes, too.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

Last week we talked about the need in our area for an out-of-state source of water. We discussed water as a fuel. We stated that it is the ingredient that starts the economic wheel; and once the wheel is turning, it keeps it turning. We also discussed the machines that run because of water.

Today's column carries additional facts concerning water and the dependence of our economy on an abundant supply of water.

Water Makes Jobs Happen
Jobs are created, and only in growing regions—like ours. Our region has grown because we had water to support an impressive agriculture base, which supports impressive commercial and industrial opportunities. Which, of course, makes for a lot of jobs. People who have jobs must live somewhere near. So we have growing cities and communities. And that helps make even more jobs.

Matter-of-fact, 1.1 million people now have jobs in our region (more than 3.3 million people live here). But the present supply of water is being depleted. And we don't want that.

Engineers tell us we can bring in additional water. This will maintain all those jobs. And even create new ones. We do want that. Don't you?

Soil Tilling Has Changed
New methods, new techniques, new ideas, modern equipment, advanced chemicals—this and more makes farming big business, a very vital business.

Food is something the world has never had enough of. Threat of famine hangs over 2,000,000,000 people in undeveloped countries. It will be necessary for these countries to more than double their imports of grain in the next few years. They look to us for help. We have the know-how and the fertile soil.

The more agricultural products, the more transportation that will be needed. By train and truck to Fort Worth and Dallas for processing. From there to Houston and Coast complex—and points in between—for storage and shipping to these hungry countries.

Fertilizers, insecticides, planting and harvesting equipment, processing and storage facilities, the corner grocery, the hardware store, the clothing shop, and all the other in-put, out-put services will need expansion to keep up with the demands of modern day agriculture.

And all it takes is water. Because of irrigation, tilling the soil isn't what it used to be.

West Texas Our Home
You get up in the morning, go downstairs for breakfast, hop in your car and off to work you go.

Now all that's very nice, but what about water? Well, to get those teeth sparkling, to get you feeling fine, fresh and clean, it takes about 30 gallons of water. Of course, there's coffee (maybe milk for the kids) and all the other goodies.

It takes 22 gallons of water to produce a gallon of milk; 10 gallons of water to do one wash of dishes; 10 gallons of water to make a gallon of gas for the car. And if you happen to have a leak in the toilet bowl, you can write out a receipt for use of another 35 gallons. There's no place like home. Even if it takes 155 gallons of water a day for each person that lives there. Which it does.

Water Importation

The Nation is at the crossroads in its water development. Water importation is feasible. Mississippi River water can be stored in canals and reservoirs. From storage, it can be moved by huge pumps to existing river channels. Then by open canal, following land contours as much as possible, into the heart of the dynamic Water, Inc. region and beyond.

Vocabulary Development Vital To Child

COLLEGE STATION—Building a vocabulary is one of the most important developmental tasks for the two-to-five-year-old child, said family life education specialist Jane Fleischer.

Miss Fleischer claimed that it's vital to a child's future success to acquire at least an average vocabulary by age five and a half.

"Vocabulary skills learned from family members become crucial to mental growth and to performance in school," the Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist said.

Acquisition of words depends almost entirely on the amount of feedback the child gets from parents in response to his endless questions. Questions about the objects and events in his world.

Short answers, inadequate answers or no answers defeat the child's attempt to learn, according to the Texas A&M University employee.

"Repeat a word time and again to refine the child's almost correct pronunciation," Miss Fleischer advised. "Praise him for putting together words that make sentences. Recognize achievement when he uses compound or complex sentences to express ideas. Or praise him for using an adverb properly."

Parents can do much to stimulate the young child's appreciation for a growing vocabulary and his feeling for grammar.

Doubling in Belts

Belts have slimmed down for the summer and a current trend is to wear more than one at a time. As many as three of these skinny belts can be worn over a sweater to create a special color effect.

DID YOU KNOW how important is the month of June?...aside from weddings, that is. I have great fun orating on how important is the month of February...More great people were born in February than any other month...that kind of thing. This has, of course, nothing to do with the fact that February is my birth month!

My deep reading for the week garnered all sorts of interesting information (Would you believe the calendar?)

This is "Cat and Kitten Month," a fact I'm reminded of each day as our mother cat and kittens bounce around the back yard. It brings forth such thoughts as "They're growing fast. I'd better not wait too long before trying to find homes for them. Oh, dear! the children will wait. I'll wait until next week." It seems only fitting that someone ought to extol the virtues of a cat and her kittens...someone who doesn't have any, perhaps. I haven't seen one article appropriate to the month. Have you?

In addition, this is National Ragweed Control Month. Hayfever victims are happy about that!

We're not through, yet. It is National Rose Month and National Recreation Month. I get most inspired by the latter. It seems to me a fitting observance would be to have recreation all month; no work!

If you're one of those looking for something to celebrate, there are a few more "occasions" this month. Freedom of the Press Day slipped by Wednesday. About this, I can get serious. During our country's beginnings, this freedom was zealously guarded. Now, it's "old hat." No one worries about it anymore. I wonder if "being taken for granted" might be the greatest danger to freedom of the press that our nearly 200-year-old country faces today.

THERE'S MORE. National Flag Week begins today and ends Saturday, with Wednesday being Flag Day. And, of course, June 18 is Father's Day.

My children, on Mother's Day and Father's Day bemoan the fact that there is no Children's Day. My explaining that in the middle-class American home, every day is children's day, does not bring them much comfort.

A "silent minority" IS being recognized today. This is Old Maid's Day. I'm not quite sure what the appropriate observance of this day might be. You could send flowers or a gift to all your old maid friends, but it might not make you too popular.

That the term "old maid" is derogatory is ridiculous. Most of my informative years were spent in my maiden aunt's home. She was the wisest, most vital, most aware and most concerned person I've ever known. She enriched untold numbers of lives. She gave a home to more than 40 people during her 87-year lifetime. She set an example of uncompromising, unyielding honesty and integrity for the thousands of teenagers who passed away during her 25 years as principal of our small town high school. She contributed more than can ever be measured to this world of

White Summer

White shoes can be a perfect accent to a summer outfit, but only when they're really white. A few tips to keep the color: Never use a thin coat of polish over badly soiled shoes. First, clean the stains with saddle soap, then use a polish. Waterproof your shoes in preparation for unexpected showers.

By Jane Kadingo

So, congratulations to the unmarried women on this, your day!

Last, but surely not least, June 18 is Male Emancipation Day, sponsored by the Society for the Emancipation of the American Male, whose purpose is "to restore the American male to the head of the family and preserve the family as an institution."

It's obvious the appearance of the young male is somewhat altered, long hair being one thing. But, it doesn't mean he is really different.

I DON'T BELIEVE we have to worry about our son, John, now 8. At the tender age of six, my husband happened to observe him at play with a little girl from down the street. They were playing house.

"I'm the mother and I'm the boss," the little girl said.

"No!" replied John. "I'm the father and I'm the boss!"

Little girl, with hands on hips: "I'm the boss!" With a gentle shove that caught the little girl off balance, causing her to do a sudden sit-me-down on the grass, John looked down at her and firmly said, "You're not the boss. I am."

"All right," the girl said meekly. "YOU'RE the boss."

And they played happily the rest of the day.

STILL PUZZLED BY last week's puzzle? A man contracted to dig a 100-foot ditch for $100. He sub-contracted the labor to two men. Since the ground was hard at one end, he agreed to pay that man $12.5 a foot; since the ground was soft at the other end, he agreed to pay that man 75 cents a foot. How many feet would each man have to dig, to complete the ditch, for each man to earn $50.

The wording may have confused some people, but it says, and I did last Sunday, "to complete the ditch." Since the contractor agreed to dig a 100-foot ditch, that is all it can be. No more, no less.

This is a sneaky one, because the answer is: "It can't be done." The man earning $12.5 a foot can make $50 by digging 40 feet. That leaves 60 feet for the man making 75 cents a foot, which totals $45. Since contractors don't "sub-contract" unless they can make some profit, the remaining $5 must go to the original contractor.

THIS WEEK'S PUZZLER: A man married a widow.

They each already had children. Ten years later, there was a battle engaging the present family of 12 children. The mother called to the father, "Come at once! Your children, and my children, are fighting our children." They each now had nine children of their own. How many were born during the past ten years?

This sin't a sneaky one. It is "pure" arithmetic.

THOUGHTS for those who think they are getting "old."

"Every man desires to live long, but no man would be old." Jonathan Swift

"Youth is not a time of life; it is a state of mind." Samuel Ullman

A Tribute To Our Flag!

By BILL DOWNS

"Three cheers for the Red, White and Blue." When we sing those stirring words at home, at school, as a parade passes, or whenever the occasion, let's pay more than merely lip service to the Grand Old Flag. Poems have been written for Old Glory. Statesmen have eulogized its immortality. Soldiers on battlefields throughout the world have died for it. It flies majestically night and day over the White House. It is the blessed Flag of Freedom and stands for all the things we hold dear. Honor the flag that is the signature of our country and fly it proudly in your heart!

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal, wore a formal wedding gown of white nylon, fashioned with a Mandarin collar, fitted bodice and long sleeves trimmed with lace. A detachable train, featuring a lace panel, added back fullness to the A-line skirt.

SUNDAY, JUNE 11

Your Birthday today: Marks a moment of transition as you move into a long phase of seeking simplicity of habit and spirit. Tangible possessions become less important, and you find better uses for them. Personal relations emerge clearly. Today's natives have nimble minds at an early age.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: There is not much to do this Sunday, so you may as well show your face and best attire in your community, make the rounds of your friends.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Getting out early lets you in on surprising information. Following a full normal Sunday routine is quite satisfying.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Correspondence, budget adjustments are suitable topics for today. Reach out to make contact with somebody you really care about.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Full participation in whatever social activity is available brings you access to useful information. Excursions are in order.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: There is a streak of satisfaction and "luck" running thru this pleasant Sunday's social adventure, with its endless round of conversations.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: In general, business is better left out of Sunday doings, but this time it seems likely you can do something that is not open to you during the week.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: There is enough to more than keep you busy all day. Select what subjects you will pursue, and get with them.

MONDAY, JUNE 12

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY:

Some new experience is mainly internally directed, concerned with immediate personal contact, settling to changing patterns of daily routines, perhaps in an unaccustomed dwelling. It's a challenge to keep material concerns within reasonable bounds. Today's natives like to develop pet theories, including supportive arguments.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Keep your work going right in spite of distractions. It's better to do a small amount well than to take on too much.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Travel meets delays or goes aside from its original purposes. Be prepared to take up unexpected matters for longer hours than usual.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: The more intimate the relationship, the more likely a passing disagreement. Don't let anybody talk you into spending over your budget.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: People resist any unusual or thoughtless move on your part. Mechanical contrivances work erratically, can be hazardous beyond usual.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Confidential matters come unexpected into public notice. Check your information well before moving on it.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Your impulses tell more of your real nature. Seek a moment of complete privacy in which to gather your thoughts.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: People in official positions seem to be less amenable to suggestion than usual. Your own reactions to annoyances are quick.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Getting in a hurry is very little help, not a substitute for advance planning.

Sagittarius Nov. 22-Dec. 21: In financial activities use your own resources rather than the almost certain disagreement of acting on behalf of others or going partners.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Pressure for a final decision should be resisted—you soon will see life in slightly different colors in a very short time.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: With inner serenity you can function well despite turmoil. Where interruptions occur, make them into vacation breaks.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Asking too much of yourself sets up a game in which you penalize yourself for being no more than normal. Be realistic.

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

One Cause Of Turmoil

The community, the county, the state, the nation, the world itself, are in turmoil. People say, no doubt sincerely, that they want peace and tranquility. Yet, there is no peace, and tranquility evades us.

Why? What is the root cause of all the confusion and enmity? Democrats blame it on the Republicans. Republicans say it is the Democrats, while Independents cry "a plague on both of them," and call for a third party.

Conservatives fault the Liberals. Liberals fault the Conservatives. Leftists say Rightists are to blame. Rightists counter that the Leftists are the culprits.

Communists flay the Fascists. Fascists flay Communists turn, and both join in attacking the Capitalists who, too often, attack each other.

Atheists say it is all the fault of those "Bible-thumping" Religionists, who then retaliate by placing the blame on the Godless Atheists.

Consumers and Producers, failing to realize that they are one and the same group, berate and attack each other.

Hippies and Squares, both sides refusing to admit that they all "hip" and "square" in one way or another, line up in opposition.

Men and Women, failing to realize that they complement and complement each other, strike out at the opposite sex.

And Youth, forgetting that "over 30" is as inevitable as death, hits out at Age, while Age, forgetting that it was once Youth, retaliates in kind.

It all goes under the catch-phrase of "getting involved," but, more often than not, it adds up to rank, vicious, coercive intervention into other people's lives and affairs. Translated into political action and arbitrary laws, it guarantees confusion, turmoil, ill-will, enmity and strife.

If we were asked to describe with one word just what it is that is tearing the world apart, setting neighbor against neighbor, children against parents, and wife against husband, the one word we would have to use would be meddling; or, as the late Dr. George Boardman put it, the refusal to mind one's own business.

Yes, we cry out for peace. Meanwhile, in refusing to learn and apply the principle upon which peace is based, and in persistently attempting to impose our values, beliefs and will upon others, we make peace impossible.

Peace will come to this troubled world only when we have learned and applied that principle.

The principle is simply this: Cease meddling in the lives and affairs of others. MYOB (Mind Your Own Business), while carrying out your relationships with those others via the peaceful medium of voluntary exchange.

King That Didn't Die

Lawrence Welk had a hard time staying on television back in the 1950's. At one time, his contract was canceled. The reason was not that he lacked talent, but rather that his style was marked for a phase-out. The new thing in those days was the physical gyrations of Elvis Presley types and the bang-bang of even more modern noise makers. So sweet lyrics and old-country polkas were doomed for inevitable extinction. However, Welk's old fogey listeners would not be put down. They raised such an outcry that TV reluctantly relented and decided to let the bubbly champagne music die a natural death rather than to administer musical euthanasia. Now, we read of a miracle. Instead of kicking off in due course as the television experts had confidently predicted, the Welk style is kicking up stronger than ever. The centuries old yearning of the human heart for music that is invigorating and at the same time romantic and charming refuses to fossilize. The young people have discovered Lawrence Welk. They are singing and polka-ing and jostling for autographs right alongside grandma and grandpa. King Polka didn't die. Neither could he be assassinated. Long live King Polka!

Who's Buying Off Whom?

According to Granville Sewell, a Columbia University environmentalist, not just big business but the whole political system in the United States is responsible for industrial pollution.

Politicians lean toward big business in such matters in payment for campaign contributions, he says.

One wonders who is buying off whom in a country like the Soviet Union, where there are no businessmen and no political campaigns but where pollution nevertheless has wiped out the Volga River caviar industry and continues to threaten Lake Baikal, the world's oldest and deepest lake.

McGovern Is Demos' Man Of The Hour

By BRUCE BOSSAT

HOUSTON (NEA)—You didn't find much enthusiasm here among the nation's Democratic governors for the front-running presidential candidacy of Sen. George McGovern. But only the most naive politically imagines he can be stopped short of nomination.

Most of them know a rushing trend when they see one. An aura of inevitability has begun to envelop the McGovern candidacy, and it is being accepted by these governors—as well as by many other state party officials with whom I talk by telephone.

In recent times, Republican governors, who are in Houston in joint conference with their Democratic colleagues, have tended to be dreamier. They thought they could quickly whistle up a movement in 1964 to block the GOP nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater. Some had the same idea about Richard Nixon in 1968.

What they lacked, as do the Democrats today, were the three chief ingredients required for success in such an effort—time, a plausible alternative candidate on whom the "stoppers" can focus, and a real head-knocking commander to put the whole thing together.

With the Democrats convening just a month from now in Miami Beach, the shortness of time is obvious.

If McGovern's main rival, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, continues his slippage in the next two weeks, a quest for a suitable substitute probably would prove futile. With Sen. Edward Kennedy truly on the shelf after the shooting down of Gov. George Wallace dramatized Kennedy's own peril, there are no alluring prospects.

The man most Democratic governors like best is the one many of them endorsed in the first place—Sen. Edmund Muskie. His candidacy, backed by a certain modest delegate strength, is still technically alive. But it simply can't be forgotten that he lost four of the six primaries he contested, and got miserably low vote percentages in two of those—Florida and Wisconsin. Furthermore, life checks show that his delegate base is still shrinking and may soon be embarrassingly low.

Even if they had a good horse, the Democratic governors don't have a commanding leader. A large number are fairly new at their jobs, and while often young, attractive, and perhaps politically skillful in their own realms, they have no general clout with their colleagues.

Newcomer types like Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Gov. Wendell Ford of Kentucky surfaced and died quickly as anti-McGovern organizers. The most seasoned governors, Calvin Rampton of Utah and Warren Hearnes of Missouri, couldn't get together a squad of their fellows, let alone a platoon.

Gov. Milton Sharp of Pennsylvania put his finger on the inescapable flaw in "stop" efforts. A political party looks both foolish and unfair if it tries to block a candidate who has done what contenders always are told they must do—submit to the testing fires of the primaries and emerge successful.

This is a particular dilemma for the Democrats in 1972. They have been busy reforming their nominating process to make it more open and more balanced. To argue that the product of the altered process, George McGovern, should now be blocked by old-style sandbagging is to cast suspicion on the sincerity of the reform movement.

So, McGovern, with his sweeping ideas about defense cuts, tax reform, welfare revision and such, may not be to the taste of most Democratic governors. But they are grudgingly learning to live with the prospect that he is going to be their guy.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The world's recoverable gold supply in the earth is estimated to be 31,250 tons, of which about 625 tons are in the United States. South Africa's gold fields have most of this supply and net over $1 billion annually. The World Almanac notes that South Dakota leads the nation in gold production with $21 million worth mined in 1971.

Inside Washington

Did Russ Muzzle Interpretations On US-Soviet Talks?

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Keep your eyes focused on those still-secret "interpretations" of the key provisions of the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation agreements.

Those "interpretations" are the crux of these fateful pacts.

They spell out in detail what is still very much in the dark—what the two nations are to have in actual number of major nuclear weapons (land-based ICBMs, missile-firing submarines, submarine-launched ballistic missiles, "heavy" ICBMs).

That is, presumably that's what the "interpretations" do.

Whether they actually do that remains to be seen—when they are published. That is supposed to be done when the two agreements are sent to Congress for deliberation and ratification. Backstage word is that disclosure of the "interpretations" was held up at the request of the Kremlin.

There is no official explanation why the Russians asked that.

Singularly, despite the crucial importance of these "interpretations" in revealing exactly what is in these nuclear arms limitation agreements, very little has been said about them by directly concerned Congressional leaders.

From their public and private comments, they appear to have accepted without question the President's assurance that there is absolutely no reason to have any doubts about the accords; that U.S. superiority, or even parity, in these catastrophic armaments is in no way weakened or impaired.

Only Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., a ranking member of the Armed Services Committee, has forthrightly challenged that complaisant attitude. A recognized specialist in strategic weapons, he has raised specific issues.

Particularly, he has voiced two grave concerns:

(1) Defense Secretary Laird's sudden cancellation of a theoretical study of the application of laser technology to ballistic missile defense; (2) the equally unexplained lag in divulging the "interpretations."

Says Jackson:

"Nothing in the agreements as they have been published calls for this cancellation. Was this done under a private understanding with the Russians? I am trying to keep an open mind. But I want the facts and the American people want them. Let's get all the facts out on the table so we will know exactly what is what and where we stand. This is not a minor matter. At stake is our country's defense and security."

Grim Numbers Game

Presumably, the all-important "interpretations" will be fully explored by the Senate and House Armed Services and foreign affairs committees in their hearings on these agreements.

Also, presumably, these hearings will be public. Sen. Jackson intends to demand still another precaution to ensure a thorough airing of the accord and especially the still-secret "interpretations."

He will ask that every member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff be summoned for questioning, and that they be required to do so under oath so they can speak freely and not feel under duress to voice only official views.

A few years ago, Congress passed a law expressly for this purpose, and Jackson proposes to invoke it.

On the basis of what has so far been made known about the pacts, it is evident the principal controversies will center around two questions: (1) whether the agreements do or do not "freeze" the strategic arms balance between the U.S. and Russia; (2) whether the U.S. does or does not wind up inferior in both numbers and fire power in these life-and-death weapons.

Graphically illustrative of the nature of these eventual disputes is how many missile firing submarines each country will have.

According to the Administration, the U.S. will have 41, and Russia 42. But Sens. Jackson and James Buckley, Ind.-N.Y., vigorously deny that. Jackson emphatically contends the Soviet could have as many as 84. He argues that figure is derived "by adding 22 Soviet G-Class submarines to the 62 Y-Class submarines they are permitted to construct under the agreement."

Similarly, the Administration's calculation gives Russia a maximum of 313 "heavy" ICBMs (intercontinental ballistic missiles), each carrying a warhead of 25 to 50 megatons (a megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT). Again Jackson forcefully argues, "If they simply MIRV their 313 'heavy' missiles with one of their MIRV options, that would give them 6,260 compared to our 5,700."

That is just the 313 Soviet 'heavy' missiles. In addition, they could have 1,100 land and 950 sea-based missiles, all MIRVed.

Significantly, under the agreement as published, the U.S. is not permitted to deploy any "heavy" ICBMs. This stark reality is not a matter of conjecture; it's a plain statement of fact.

That's why Jackson says sardonically:

"From what we so far know about these agreements, the so-called 'freezing' of the strategic arms balance appears to be wholly on the American side while most of the warming up is on the Russian side. We don't even get parity. The Soviet gets superiority, and there is no denial of it in both numbers and in the payload of those numbers."

"Simply put, the agreements give the Russians more of everything: more 'heavy' ICBMs, more light ICBMs, more submarine-launched missiles, more submarines, more payloads, even more ABM radars. In no area covered by the agreements is the United States permitted to maintain parity with the Soviet."

That is the shape of the momentous battle to come over these historic treaties.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Operation Needed To Correct Hernia

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would you please help us with our problem. My husband is 46, weighs 140 pounds and is five feet six. He has a hernia in the lower abdomen. It is not painful and seems to be of recent origin. Does surgery seem the best correction and how permanent and limiting is the future? I read somewhere about injections. Are they safe? Is surgery under local anesthesia possible?

Dear Reader—If your husband does have the usual type of hernia in the lower abdomen, it is best corrected by surgery. Such a hernia really is a hole in the muscular wall of the abdomen where the cord of the testicle passes to the scrotum. This allows a loop of the intestine to slip out through the hole to form the hernia or swelling that you have noted.

The danger of not treating such a defect is that the loop of intestine may be caught outside of the abdominal cavity underneath the skin and strangulate. This can shut off the circulation and cause gangrene of the bowel loop and other problems. It is true that lots of people go a long time before having surgical correction but the hernia does not improve with time and the person's health does not improve with age. The usual type of hernia operation in the lower abdomen is a simple procedure and well tolerated by almost anyone except those with very severe health problems.

I would think any procedure such as injections would be most unsafe and unsuccessful.

You should talk to the doctor who does the surgery about what anesthesia is preferable. Some hernias in the lower abdomen can be repaired under spinal anesthesia. Some are done under local anesthesia. One surgeon in Los Angeles has his patients walk out of the operating room. This varies with the patient's condition, the type of hernia and what the surgeon and his team are used to doing for the best results. This really is not major surgery, but it is very important surgery.

Did you know the Black Death was back? One of the greatest scourges in the history of mankind... the Bubonic plague... has made a reappearance. Its sudden return appears to be related to the back-to-nature movement and particularly in the so-called hippie communes. Dr. Darwin L. Palmer in Albuquerque, N.M., has been studying "Black Death" in the Southwest. In a 1970 outbreak near Albuquerque there were 13 cases, the largest outbreak of the plague since 1924.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Rearview Mirror

BY TEX DEWEESE
Editor of The News

THE SALES of motorbikes keep growing by leaps and bounds and more and more youngsters (and oldsters, too) are riding them now than ever before.

And that poses some problems.

Are they becoming dangerous to ride on city streets?

If so, where are the owners going to ride them? Locally, we are told, there is an effort being made to find a place where motorbike races and contests can be staged.

The bike riders say they are hard-pressed to find open spaces along creek beds, river bottoms, etc., and that they are being chased away by ranchers, landowners and others to the point there is practically no place left for them except city streets.

Anybody got a solution?

One suggestion has come up that dealers who sell the motorbikes perhaps could pool their efforts and lease some place where the cycle fans can congregate, race and jump the hills to their heart's content.

It is also understood one or two motorcycle clubs are being formed to adopt rules and regulations and seek out spots where members can indulge in the sport.

Membership fees could be charged to help pay the cost of leased land.

Maybe the chamber of commerce, motorbike dealers and city fathers could all get together and come up with something that would help arrive at a solution which would be mutually beneficial.

reporters will be invited in.

SO, WE'RE going to take the school board president's word for it and go along with him all the way.

In conclusion here is an additional quote from the Texas Open Meetings Law:

"SEC. 3. Any interested person may commence an action either by mandamus or injunction for the purpose of preventing or stopping violations of this Act by members of a governing body."

"SEC. 4. Any member of a governing body who wilfully calls or aids in calling or organizing a special or called meeting or session which is closed to the public, or who participates in a regular, special, or called meeting or session which is closed to the public without causing or attempting to cause his dissent to be entered in the record or minutes of the governing body, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $200 on the first offense, and shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $500 on each subsequent offense."

As of today, the school board, city commission and county commissioners court all have been found not guilty. We just like to keep the record straight.

OLIN E. Hinkle, the man we succeeded here as editor of the News, was back in 1936, is retiring from the University of Texas journalism department after teaching more than 4,000 students on two Texas college campuses during a period spanning about 33 years.

The May issue of the American Press quoted Hinkle as saying:

"I don't know of any job that can move you from obscurity to being a big man in the community more than becoming a managing editor—and it always has been that way."

He could have added that there's no job that will move you any faster into being a target for anyone who—because he doesn't agree with you—is convinced you are a dum-dum with an IQ a notch or two below a kindergarten dropout.

Incidentally, Hinkle is a charter member of the Pampa Noon Lions Club and has been invited to attend the club's 45th anniversary banquet here June 20.

THE PAMPA Chamber of Commerce needs $600 in public contributions to promote the city's annual Fourth of July program and fireworks display.

This year the nation will start next Wednesday, Flag Day, and mark the observance straight through July 4 with the climax to be known as Honor America Day.

The Honor America program is designed to promote America and unity among all Americans in a non-partisan approach to celebrate the Fourth of July in concurrent observances throughout the land.

A worthwhile objective would be pretty hard to find. Send your checks to The Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 1942, Pampa.

Memberships

There are several ways that a person may participate at the Center but the most economical one is the membership plan. By purchasing an individual or a family membership you can use all of the facilities here including free swim lessons. However, we do have a daily fee for those who do not want to become members. This is $35 for children, $50 for students and $75 for adults.

The individual membership plan is sold to persons 8 years of age or older and costs only $5 for six months or $8 per year. The family membership which includes all members of the immediate family costs only $12 for six months or $20 a year. You may use all of the facilities on these two plans except the health facility. This is carried on a different plan.

The health club membership is called our unlimited plan. It includes all of the above facilities plus the new exercise room, all the machines, sauna, handball and racquetball courts. This is a well-equipped health facility and we have achieved a good weight program either losing or gaining.

The health facility membership costs an individual $65 for six months or $118 each year. A husband-wife combination type plan costs $90 for six months and $170 a year. We do have a monthly budget plan for a six-month membership. This costs an individual $15.50 for the first month and $10.50 the other 5 months. The husband-wife combination costs $23.87 the first month and $13.87 the other 5 months.

Volleyball Results

In the play-offs for second place in the mixed league Central Baptist No. 2 pulled the upset of the year by defeating First Baptist 15-12, 9-15 and 15-8 for the trophy. First Baptist got into the finals by defeating Central Baptist No. 1 15-10 and 16-14. Carlson and Craddock had won first place last week with a 6-0 record.

Twirling Lessons

Baton twirling lessons began at the Center on June 5 and are presently continuing. If you are a young person interested in twirling, you may still come by and join the classes.

Classes begin for beginners at 1:30 p.m. and then 2:15 p.m. for the more advanced persons. Rhonda Dennis, noted high school twirler, is conducting the classes which meet on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays. The only requirement is that you must have a balanced baton and be a Center member.

Calico Capers Square Dance

The Center has an adult dance activity that meets each week. This is the Calico Capers square dance held on Saturday nights. They meet from 8-11 p.m. and dance to an out-of-town caller.

The Capers are always open for membership and invite all interested persons to come out on Saturday night so they can meet you and give you full details about their club. Ocie Stewart is the current club president. The Capers teach dance lessons twice a year and if you are interested in knowing how to square dance, they will be happy to furnish instructions.

Dolphin Swim Team

Boys and girls who are interested in competitive swimming should pay attention to this club. The Youth Center is the home of the Dolphins. This is a swim club for boys and girls who know how to swim and like to race. Swimmers from 6-18 are invited to participate. The club is A.A.U. sanctioned and they attend several week-end meets during the summer months.

Swimmers are needed in all groups to complete relay teams so that we can have relay representation at all meets. All interested swimmers are urged to contact coach Neil Carter at 665-8771 or come out for practice. The only requirement is that you be a member of the Center. Workout time is 6:30-7:00 p.m. on Monday thru Fridays.

Summer hours

The Center is open 8-12, 1-5 and 7-10 Monday thru Friday during the summer and 1-5 on Saturday. The pool is open 1-4:30 p.m. and 7-9:30 p.m. during open hours. Swim lessons are taught during the morning from 8-12:00 noon.

New York Primary June 20

NEW YORK (AP) — New York State held its Democratic primary election June 20 with front-running Sen. George McGovern striving to add 237 delegates to his already imposing pre-convention list. He is scheduled to begin campaigning here today.

New York's convention delegation will number 278 with 248 elected in the presidential primary and the remaining 30 chosen by the Democratic state committee after the primary. McGovern is competing for 237 of the elective delegates. His opposition in almost all the state's 39 congressional districts are uncommitted slates or those nominally for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, who has dropped out of active primary competition.

McGovern's principal rival nationally, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota, has not fielded any delegates slates in New York. However, he is hopeful of picking up support from uncommitted or Muskie delegates. Humphrey is said to be undecided on whether to campaign in New York.

Already on the scene are 114 youthful McGovern volunteers, among them Kathleen Kennedy, 20-year-old daughter of the late Robert F. Kennedy. She campaigned for the South Dakota senator Wednesday on the streets of Brooklyn and the Bronx.

Conservative estimates give McGovern a minimum of 188 New York delegates, including 33 who are unopposed. Less than 20 per cent of the state's 3.6 million registered Democrats are expected to turn out for the primary.

Also in the field are 48 delegate aspirants backing Rep. Shirley Chisholm, Brooklyn's black congresswoman, and 12 favoring Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, no longer a primary campaigner.

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL

The Red Cross Board will meet Tuesday morning at 7 a.m. in the Red Cross office for the first meeting of the year. All board members are urged to mark June 13 on their calendar and be present at this meeting. A complimentary breakfast will be served. Routine business will be conducted.

We have a new Red Cross Volunteer, Miss Joanne McCaulsnaid who will work with Robbi Harris and Donna Coufal on the second and fourth Sunday afternoons. We are very happy to have Joanne to work with our girls. There are no more vacancies at present in the Volunteer program.

Ruth and Nell Carter, WSIs have completed a Beginner Swimming class with the following completing the course: Dennis Scott, Kerry and Kevin Braddock, Joan Burns, Laura Adcock, Shannon Etheredge, and Margie Edwards. All of these boys and girls are eligible to wear a Beginner patch on their bathing suit. The patches can be purchased from the Red Cross office for 25 cents.

Douglas Henry Johnson, FAI in multi-media first aid for Skelly Oil Co. was in our office this week. Johnson is from Oklahoma City and has been teaching class to some of the Skelly Employees this week. We were happy to meet and work with Johnson.

Our first classes in swimming will begin June 19 at the City Pool. Registration for the classes are closed for the summer. Please remember to bring your registration slip so that we can know that you are enrolled and that you have paid your pool fee of $1.00. Lefors community have enrolled 30 children in Beginner swimmers this year and they will enter the 9 a.m. class. Instructors for the first two-week sessions are Martha Hilton, Beginners; Pam Green, Intermediate and Swimmers; and James Tucker, Advanced Beginners.

The below is from our West Texas Division newsletter from Fort Worth: "Don't say that the office responsible for enforcing the 1971 Federal Occupational Safety and Health Act doesn't mean business. From July 1971 through January 1972 16,162 inspections were conducted with 11,856 citations issued alleging 42,942 violations. The proposed penalties amount to $1,003,250.

Any company that comes under the act of 1971 should come to our office and make arrangements for classes to be held before inspectors come to the Panhandle of Texas.

TO REVIVE DANCES
NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — The Connecticut College American Dance Festival, in its 25th year, will open on June 30 with a weekend of performances by a repertory company.

This company was formed to revive some of the most important works in American dance. Some have not been performed in more than 20 years. The festival believes that this is the first attempt to create a modern dance company that will perform only the greatest works by the greatest choreographers.

Handyman Jefferson
While he was supervising construction of the University of Virginia, Thomas Jefferson surveyed the site with pegs and twine, calculated the brick and lumber that would be needed, hired bricklayers and carpenters to do the work and sent a scholar to Great Britain to recruit professors.

Riva Ridge Comes Back To Win Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — Riva Ridge, showing the form with which he won the Kentucky Derby, romped to victory in the $150,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday, giving him two jewels of racing's Triple Crown.

Riva Ridge took the lead on the clubhouse turn under jockey Ron Turcotte and kept it for the remainder of the 1 1/2 miles to beat out Ruritania in the 104th running of the Belmont.

The winner zoomed under the wire seven lengths in front of Greentree Stables' Ruritania, with William and Thomas Bancroft's Cloudy Dawn third, another three quarters of a length back and five lengths in front of Paul Mellon's Key To The Mint, who had dueling Riva Ridge down the backstretch before fading.

The victory made Riva Ridge, owned by Meadow Stable and trained by Lucien Laurin, the eighth 3-year-old to win the Belmont after capturing the Kentucky Derby but losing the Preakness. Riva Ridge finished fourth in the Preakness, which was won by Bee Bee Bee, who did not start in the Belmont.

Key To The Mint's defeat was the first for Mellon in three Belmonts and also the first for trainer Elliott Burch in four Belmonts.

Riva Ridge, the 8-5 favorite of the crowd of 54,635 on a cool breezy June afternoon, returned $5.20, $4.80 and $3.80. Ruritania paid $16.40 and $9.40 and Cloudy Dawn paid $6 to show.

Time for the distance was 2:28 flat, 1 2/5ths seconds off the stakes and track record set by Gallant Man in 1957. The track was rated fast.

Completing the order of finish were Max Glue's Big Spruce; Joseph R. Straus' No Le Haze, runnerup in both the Derby and the Preakness and co-second choice Saturday with Key To The Mint; Freetex; Jersey Derby winner Smiling Jack; Zulu Tom and Prince Fauquier.

Tee-Off Tid-Bits

By HART WARREN

By HART WARREN

School's out—Kids aplenty and most are at the Country Club daily.

We have a junior golf class of 20 girls and 18 boys ages 9-14. And with the aid of some very unselfish and concerned mothers, Frankie Gates and Opal White, we hope to not only have some fortune golfers—but better kids and good citizens to be. We hope!!

Some of our juniors showing determination to beat their parents are Jimmy Jeffrey, Jack Redus and Scott Harris. Girls with good swings—golf swings—are Cindy Quattlebaum, Sarra Riehart and Stacy Duenkel.

Outstanding golf was played by lots of men last weekend. Most startling was a score of "70" by Buzz Tarpley and a four under par "67" by Buster Carter.

The first Scotch-Foursome of the season gets underway today at 5:30 (shotgun start, so grab a partner of the opposite sex and enter).

Our club partnership came to an end last weekend with several complaints of slow play. But Shorty Hudson and Don Forsha solved that problem—a six-pack, a deck of cards and nine holes of gin rummy.

Good luck, Martin. See you in the rough.

Casey Orteiz Emerged As SMU Quarterback

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist permanently grounded its Flying Wishbone-T offense in the spring. The Smithonian will be calling any day now.

Coach Hayden Fry junked the error-prone 1971 offense and got back to a Pro style of football play.

"We will open up the attack like we did in 1968 and 1969," Fry said. "We've got some quarterbacks who can throw it and some people who can catch it. We're going to spread people out all over the field like we used to do."

Red-shirt quarterback Casey Orteiz blossomed in the spring with heavy play calling and a high rate of completions.

"Based on what I saw in the spring game, Orteiz has to be the No. 1 quarterback," said Fry. "Frankly, I was glad to see someone emerge from the pack."

"It was gratifying to see a sophomore stay in the pocket, check his primary and secondary receivers and then deliver a strike."

Fry also gave praise to All-Southwest Conference running back Alvin Maxson, who "didn't have a bad scrimmage all spring. He gained more than 100 yards in every scrimmage we had. He's not only a great runner but he's a great blocker."

The Mustang boss liked the looks of sophomore defensive tackles Louis Kelcher and Randy Savage.

"I predict great things for Kelcher," Fry said. "But it really doesn't take a genius to predict greatness for somebody with his talents. He's a competitor."

"Savage had a tremendous spring. He played fullback in high school and as a freshman. We switched him to tackle this spring and he took to it like a duck to water. He uses his hands as well as any sophomore we've had at SMU."

The SMU coach ticked off split end Rufus Shaw and sophomore quarterbacks John Blackburn and Raymond Crozier as youngsters with potential.

"Shaw showed a lot of game breaking potential," Fry said. "He's dangerous with that 9.5 speed. He can go all the way any time."

"Blackburn has as quick a release as anybody we've had here. He has good poise and has a lot of football ahead of him."

"Crozier could stand flat-footed and throw the ball 85 yards."

All was not shiny for the Mustangs.

"We dropped more passes than any time I've been at SMU," Fry said. "We have some very talented receivers, though. We need to work hard on this in the fall."

"One thing that hurt us was the injuries to three key people. Quarterback Keith Bobo injured his leg twice, a horse fell on fullback Rayford Clark and middle linebacker Leonard Carey broke his thumbs. You should hear a lot of these three in the fall."

Fry said. "We set out to have a balanced offense this spring and the results of the spring game show we came pretty close to doing that. The No. 1 Blue team passed for 224 yards and rushed for 252. We will be playing wide open, exciting football next year."

"I am optimistic about next year's football team. I think we have the makings of a good group."

Baugh Leads U.S. To Curtis Cup Win

WESTERN GAIRES, Scotland (AP) — Laura Baugh, at 17, America's youngest women's golfing champion, helped the United States to a 10-8 victory over Britain in the Curtis Cup Saturday.

Miss Baugh of Long Beach, Calif., won the first singles in the afternoon, beating Belle Robertson 6 and 5, and the Americans led 8-5. Then the British came back with three victories.

Lancey Smith of Snyder, N.Y., beat Diane Frearson 3 and 2 in a downpour and got the decisive ninth point for the Americans. That meant the United States could not lose and therefore retained the cup.

Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., got the final point with a 3 and 2 victory over British left-hander Kathryn Phillips.

In the morning, each team won one foursome match, with another halved. The stage then was set for the singles over the 3,331 yards par 38-37-75 Western Gaires course.

Miss Baugh was the Americans' most impressive winner. But she started disastrously against the experienced Mrs. Robertson, a veteran of five Curtis Cup campaigns.

The young American hooked her first drive far into the rough and conceded the first hole. But then she turned on the power for her easy victory.

Miss Baugh was three holes up by the seventh. At that hole, she sank a four-foot putt for a par three while Mrs. Robertson missed from 12 inches.

The American champion birdied the eighth and ninth and turned five up. Mrs. Robertson pulled one back when Miss Baugh bogeyed the dogleg 11th, but the American came back with a birdie four at the 12th and wrapped up the match with a par three at the 13th.

Trevino Tries To Beat Record Of Pneumonia

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Lee Trevino said Saturday if he can get down from where he is lying now pumped full of drugs, he will do his best to be in Pebble Beach next Wednesday for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament.

He was sent to the hospital Friday night by his doctor who examined him shortly after the golf player arrived from Philadelphia with what he thought was a case of the flu.

Trevino explained, "The doctor checked me and then said, 'I hate to tell you this, but I think you have pneumonia.'"

Trevino said the doctor sent him to the hospital immediately.

"They told me I had the first stages of pneumonia," he said. "And they have been pumping me every two seconds with all kinds of stuff."

He said he did not know whether he will be able to play at Pebble Beach next week.

"But I am going to try," he added. "If I can, I will try to get out of here Tuesday and go to Pebble Beach on Wednesday. Right now, I am planning to play."

Trevino said he has been exercising while in the hospital. "You can imagine that I will be a little weak when I get out of here," he stated, "but I have some springs and weights here for my legs and I am exercising."

"If the doctors can clear my chest and lungs I will have the strength to play," he said.

Trevino had quit the IVB-Philadelphia Golf Classic Friday saying he did not feel well.

The tournament was to have served as Trevino's last major tune-up for the national championship he won last year, a title he used as a springboard to an unprecedented sweep of the American, Canadian and British Opens.

Little League

S&J Mart slipped past One Bull 15-4 in American Little League action yesterday. Allison was the winning pitcher.

Steve Stout, who won the 11 year old competition in yesterday's PH&T contest, knocked in the winning run.

In action Friday, Celanese clobbered Dixie Parts 15-3 in the NL opener. Jeff Cook got the win. Julian Clark and Joe Greenwood each went two for three at the plate. Jeff Coulter was two for four.

Moose Lodge beat Duncan Insurance 7-2 in the NL's second game. Brent Dabbs was on the mound for Moose Lodge.

In American League play Friday, Carmichael-Whately beat Motor Inn 8-5 in the first game. Gary Free got the victory. Gary Mayes got two doubles in the game.

Pampa Wholesale beat UCT 16-12 in extra innings in the only farm league game Friday night. Lenny Diaz was the winning pitcher.

Babe Ruth

First National Bank beat Pampa Lumber 7-6 in the Babe Ruth opener Friday night. Mickey Lowe was the winning pitcher.

Mike Adair hit a home run in the sixth inning to provide the winning margin. His shot, straight over the center-field fence 343 feet from home, was the first hit out of the park in Babe Ruth play this year.

In the second game Pampa Hardware upset Cree Companies 7-5 to hand Cree its first loss of the year. Scotty Putnam was the winning pitcher.

Mets 5, Astros 3

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Koosman, making his first start in more than a month, checked Houston on four hits in six innings Saturday as the New York Mets emerged from a three-game skid with a 5-3 victory over the Astros.

Koosman, striving to regain the form that made him a star in 1968 and 1969, his first two years in the majors, earned the starting shot with several strong relief outings and evened his record at 3-3 although he needed help after yielding home runs to Doug Rader in the fifth and Cesar Cedeño in the sixth.

He also delivered a run-scoring single in the fourth inning as the Mets chased Houston starter Don Wilson, 4-5, scoring four runs on four hits, two walks and Wilson's throwing error.

The Mets scored their first run in the second on two walks and Duffy Dyer's double. Singles by Rusty Staub and John Milner set things up in the fourth.

Rodriguez Gains Philly Golf Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez fought blustery winds and chilled temperatures for a two-under-par 70 and vaulted into the third round lead Saturday in the $150,000 IVB-Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Rodriguez, gunning for his second victory in less than two months, had a 54-hole total of 209—seven under par on the 6,708-yard Whitmarsh Valley Country Club course.

Rodriguez assumed the lead with one of only five sub-par rounds forged in the unpleasant playing conditions as other leaders drifted back and challenging Bob Murphy was disqualified—then reinstated shortly afterwards.

Murphy, a former champion who usually plays this course very well, finished his third round with a 75 and was three strokes back at 212 until he was disqualified for signing an incorrect scorecard. He signed par-four on the seventh hole and actually made five.

Industrial League Scores

Stokes' Deeprock beat Skellytown 15-13 in softball action June 6. Jackie Graham got the win and Rex Pryor was saddled with loss.

For Stokes Nelson Medley was three for five and Jackie Graham got two hits in three trips to the plate. Medley and Graham each hit a home run in the game. Eben Kemp had a homer for Skellytown.

On June 8 St. Vincent's knocked Oil Field Pipeline completely out of the ball park by the score of 33-10. Mike Velasquez was the winning pitcher and Danny Kitchens absorbed the loss.

For St. Vincent's Doug Kidwell and Eddie Cochran had home runs. Kidwell was five for seven and Cochran and Gerald Owens each went three for five in the game.

Jan Andrews was three for three at the plate for Oil Field.

Sox 6, Brewers 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Tom Bradley pitched a five-hitter and Carlos May drove in three runs with two homers, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 6-1 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers Saturday.

Bradley didn't allow a hit until the fifth inning and sailed to his seventh victory in nine decisions. Bradley allowed only one runner as far as second until the ninth inning, when he gave up a homer to Dave May and a double to Billy Conigliaro.

Pipeline, Danny Kitchens went four for five and Gary Walker was three for five.

Pioneer Natural Gas edged Stokes' Deep Rock 4-3 in eight innings, in the other June 8 game. Delbert Daniels was the winning pitcher and Jackie Graham was the loser.

Dale Everson was two for four and Gene Brown two for three for PNG. Everson and Mike Reddell turned in some outstanding defensive plays.

Mark Westbrook hit a home run for Deep Rock. Tommy Downs was two for three at the plate.

Indians 4, Twins 1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rookie Jack Brohamer doubled home the tying run in the eighth inning and then scored when Craig Nettles greeted relief pitcher Dave LaRoche with a single as the Cleveland Indians scored four times and beat the Minnesota Twins 4-1 Saturday.

Minnesota starter Dick Woodson, 4-4, took a three-hit shutout into the eighth but Del Unser, batting for pitcher Milt Wilcox, got the Indians started with a bunt single.

Tom McCraw sacrificed and Brohamer, who hit his first two major league home runs Friday night, lashed a double to left-center. After an intentional walk to Alex Johnson, LaRoche relieved Woodson and Nettles put Cleveland in front with a single to right.

Thoms To Conduct Calf Roping School

Byron Thoms of White Deer will conduct a calf roping school each Tuesday and Thursday night June 13 through July 7. The classes will be at 7:00 in the White Deer Roping Arena.

Boys and girls, grade school age through high school, are invited to sign up for the classes. All aspects of calf roping will be taught in the course.

On July 7 students in the course will participate in a calf roping contest. Buckles will be awarded to both the contestant who has the best average time and the student who has the fastest single time for tying a calf.

Application blanks may be obtained from Thoms, Box 236, White Deer, Ph. 883-8191, or from Bob Martin, Wheeler Evans Elevator, 883-5451.

Thoms represented Clarendon College in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association's contests in both calf roping and ribbon roping.

Motocross Planned

Members of Explorers Post 202 are sponsoring a Motocross race at 2 p.m. today at the Pampa Rifle Range, six miles west of Pampa on 23rd Street.

All standard classes will be ran. Two special classes will also be ran—a 175 cc class and a maxi-man class for all men over 35 years of age.

Entry fee for the races is $3, with riders allowed to compete in as many classes as they wish. John Carson, assistant advisor, said.

Trophies will be given to first, second and third place winners.

Admission to the races is $1.50 for adults. Children under 12 will be admitted free. Concession stands will also be present.

The Post, the Top O' Texas Scramblers, has approximately 20 members who are all interested in motorcycling. The group is sponsored by Meers Oil Company.

Committeemen for the Post are H. A. Meers, Charley Lockhart, Doyle Keeton and Carson. Luke Garbin is the Post advisor.

Alan Keeton is the Post president. Terry Hall is secretary-treasurer.

The Post has been meeting for only the past three months. Today's Motocross is the group's first project.

LeMans Starts In Blazing Style

LE MANS, France (AP) — The Le Mans 24-hour endurance race started in the blazing style of a sprint event Saturday as French Matra-Simcas, British Lolas and Italian Alfa-Romeos battled for the early lead.

Five different drivers and each of the teams held the lead during the first hour. Henri Pescarolo and Francois Cevert of France in Matras, Jo Bonnier of Sweden and Hugues De Fierland of Belgium in the two Lola T280S and West German Rolf Stommelen in an Alfa Romeo.

Matra's chances of scoring the first French victory here in 22 years took a heavy blow in the first ten minutes of the 24-hour grind, and in front of Pompidou.

Jean-Pierre Beltoise of France took his Matra slowly past the official stands on the second lap and stopped a few hundred yards farther on with a broken piston and his engine on fire.

Another blow to the Matras came in the third hour when the fourth-placed car of Jean Pierre Jabouille of France stopped with engine problems. It took Jabouille several minutes to get rolling around to the pits, and after repairs, he had dropped back to 12th place five laps behind the leaders.

Experienced Couple Describe How To Survive Little League

By K. Witherspoon

To survive Little League Baseball—if your son decides to join a team during Little League Baseball Week June 12-18—don't use Junior as your "ego pump" and don't try to turn him into a Mickey Mantle.

So advise Catherine and Loren Broadus, who speak from 12 years experience as Little League parents and pass along what they've learned in a new book, "Laughing And Crying With Little League," published by Harper & Row. In addition to having three Little Leaguers, both parents have served as coaches.

"Father can be hero—or heel," they write. "It is a common problem in Little League Baseball for the male parent to try to achieve prestige, status and recognition through his son and to push him too hard to become an outstanding player. While all the time he protests he only wants what's best for the boy."

The authors give an example of one such parent who was a "mild, pleasant, soft-spoken man until his son became involved with organized baseball." Then the father's relationship with his son changed radically.

"He made his son practice baseball in their backyard every evening from 5 to 7," they write. "In this father-son togetherness the father yelled at Junior constantly, and they ended each practice very unhappy. The boy liked to play baseball, but he did not enjoy WORKING baseball. He would have enjoyed playing baseball with his father, but he did not like working for a tyrannical backyard boss. The father defeated his own ends, because the nervous child played worse and worse."

Instead of concentrating on making Junior an All-American player, concentrate on becoming an All-American father, the Broadus couple advise. However, this doesn't mean you have to get him everything he asks you to buy, they caution.

"Junior may want steel instead of rubber cleats on his baseball shoes because the 13-year-old boy next door who is in the Pony League wears steel cleats," they advise further.

"Our son came in and announced that he wanted a pair of white cleats. They're cool," he said. Holy shades of Joe Namath. I investigated the price and told him I would paint his feet white and put suction cups on the bottom of his feet. He smiled, put on his basic blacks, and asked for new shoe strings, the wide multicolored type. Show strings we can afford. Most Little Leaguers rule out steel cleats as a safety measure for this age boy," the book continues.

"Another item you will need to buy for your son is a baseball glove," say the authors. "No, you never knew baseball gloves cost from $4.98 to $39.98. You will also find out that Joe's, Jim's, and Jack's gloves cost $29.98 and that they get a new one every year.

"The first day Junior gets his full uniform he may wear it all day even if the temperature is 98 degrees. He will wear that wool baseball hat all day even if he gets brain fever."

For "perfectionist parents," the Broadus couple point out, there is an official "Approved Equipment and Supplies" catalog that offers everything from pitching machines to pennants (Little League Baseball, Inc., P.O. Box 1127, Williamsport, Pa. 17701).

The author-parents recommend that you have a separate box or laundry basket for storing the equipment "even if you have to keep it in the living room" or you will find yourself frantically hunting for missing pieces when you're due at the field in five minutes.

Jack's Stumbling Block Is A Well Lee Trevino

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, tight-lipped in concentration, grimly determined, high-keyed and tense as a thoroughbred at post time, this week seeks the second leg of what many consider to be golf's impossible dream—a one year sweep of all the world's major titles.

The Golden Bear, regarded by many critics and most of his contemporaries as the best ever to play the game, is a solid favorite in the United States Open Championship—quite possibly the most prestigious crown offered in golf.

Nicklaus, already the Masters champion, admittedly wants to make this the second title in a quartet that includes the British Open and the PGA national championship. No one has won all four in a season. Only Nicklaus, Gary Player, Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan have done it in a career. Only Nicklaus has won all of them twice.

His chief stumbling block figures to be squat, blocky, swarthy Lee Trevino, the defending champion, an authentic folk hero on two continents and one of the most popular players the staid old game has ever known.

And he's one of Nicklaus' strongest, most out-spoken admirers.

"The man's a freak," Trevino said. "There's no one else like him. He's absolutely the greatest who ever held a club in his hand. He's a legend in his own time."

"But," Trevino said with that infectious grin, "I can beat him."

He did last year, blunting Nicklaus' 1971 drive for the pro game's Grand Slam with a head-to-head playoff victory at Merion, Pa., a triumph that launched Trevino's unprecedented blitz of the American, Canadian and British Open crowns.

And the brash and brassy Trevino, reaching the peak of his flat-swinging, fast-talking game, would like nothing better than to repeat.

"It's almost spooky, isn't it?" he asked. "Going into the Open last year I'd won at Memphis and lost in a playoff at Charlotte. This year I won at Memphis and missed by a shot at Charlotte."

Contrary to the belief popular in some quarters, however, this 72nd national championship that begins Thursday does not involve Nicklaus and Trevino alone.

More than 150 of the world's best shot-makers will be arrayed against them on the picturesque, 6,650-yard, par 72 Pebble Beach Golf Links on the Monterey Peninsula, one of the most beautiful and demanding courses in this country.

At least a dozen are highly capable of winning.

In the forefront of the challengers are veteran Billy Casper, bright young Tony Jacklin of England and Player, the crew-cut little globe-trotter from South Africa who, according to Atlanta Classic winner Bob Lunn, "gives everybody heart attacks."

And there's Arnold Palmer, now 42 years old, struggling this season but certainly no worse than a sentimental choice.

The aging champion hasn't won this season, but has been in position to do so four times before failing. "I just got over-anxious," Palmer said of those challenges.

"I think my game is just on the verge of being very good. I play a lot of good shots, then I have a lapse in concentration. I still think I can win."

Nicklaus and Trevino are the dominant figures, however. Each is 32. Each is at the peak of his game. Each has won two U.S. Open crowns.

But they're entirely different personalities. Nicklaus is a solid traditionalist from the gentleman's school of the game, looking with something approaching reverence to the history and traditions of the game.

Trevino would lead you to believe he is reverent about little but money. He scoffs at some tradition—once boycotting the Masters for two seasons. He makes a lot of his poverty background and his carefree approach to the game.

But, like Nicklaus, he's a deadly serious campaigner on the course.

Nicklaus, who has been here since the middle of last week practicing, comes in with strong credentials: three victories and some $155,000 in winnings already this season.

And the course is one of his favorites.

"Pebble Beach is one of the finest courses in the world from a standpoint of strategy," he said. He won the Bing Crosby on the same layout in January.

"In many respects, it's a lot like some of the British seaside courses."

"A great deal will depend on

Misher, Reddic Head 1972 All-State Track

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Hurdler Allen Misher of Houston Sterling and Donnie Reddic of Dallas Jefferson, sprinter Charles Dawson of Houston Elmore and weight man Whitney Paul of Galveston were the only double honorees on the 1972 Texas Sports Writers Association All-State High School Track and Field team announced Sunday.

Sealy's fantastic sprinter Sammy Dierschke, who is Texas A&M bound, was one of nine unanimous selections in 12 events. Dierschke was a repeat choice in the 100-yard dash and would have a shoe-in for the 100-yard dash for a third straight year but did not run in the event enough in 1971.

McKinney's fine long jumper and sprinter J. T. Hillins made the long jump team for the third straight year, but missed out on a third 100 dash honor due to injuries.

Other unanimous choices were Tim Son of Plainview in the 440, Alvin Crenshaw of Dallas Roosevelt in the 880, Misher in both the 120 and intermediate hurdles, Ed Franklin of Lamar Consolidated in the shot, Paulin the discus and Ken Harrison of Beaumont South Park and Thompson in the long jump.

Repeaters from the 1971 All-State team are Dierschke in the 220, Rodney Cromeans of Austin Lanier in the mile, Franklin in the shot, Paul and Silver-ton's Marvin Self in the discus and Dennis DeLoach of El Paso Irvin and Elroy Williams of Amarillo Palo Duro in the high jump.

Here is the 1972 Texas Sports Writers Association All-State High School Track and Field team: their finish in special balloting: 100—Willis-Anderson, Fort Worth North Side (12); Charles Dawson, Houston Elmore (11); Carl Roaches, Houston Smiley (10); Ken Yates, Lubbock Estacado (7).

220—Sammy Dierschke, Sealy (13); Thomas Brown, Fort Worth North Side (11); Wardell Gilbreath, Amarillo (11); and Charles Dawson, Houston Elmore (10).

440—Tim Son, Plainview (13); Michael Rideout, Port Arthur Lincoln (10); William Johnson, Borger (8); Steve Taylor, Fort Worth Dunbar (7); and Edwill Rollins, Tyler Lee (7).

880—Alvin Crenshaw, Dallas Roosevelt (13); Harold Barnes, San Antonio Sam Houston (11); John Lodwick, Richardson (10); Jerry Ash, Camden-Corrigan (7); and Danny Pate, Houston Austin (7).

1 mile—Rodney Cromeans, Austin Lanier, Reed Fischer, Highland Park, and John McDaniel, Clear Creek, all 12. Makr Klongwer, Denton (7), 120 high hurdles—Allen Misher, Houston Sterling (13); Donnie Reddic, Dallas Jefferson (9); Bobby Littlefield, Baytown Sterling (8); and Mile Fulghum, San Angelo, and Gary Patterson, Snyder, both 7.

ALL-STAR ON TV CHICAGO (AP) — The 39th annual College All-Star football game to be played at Soldier Field on Friday, July 28 will be televised by ABC. The game will pit the Dallas Cowboys, National Football League champions, against seniors who played during the 1971 college season.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

48—Forget Food While Golfing

I recently saw a survey that showed that average golfers score higher on the back nine than the front nine. I think I know one major reason.

It isn't fatigue. The golfers studied were using carts.

Eating lunch may well be the cause of scores going up on the second nine. Those halfway houses can hurt your handicap.

After you eat, you get lethargic—your senses are dulled. You perform best when you're hungry. This irritation leads to sharpness and alertness.

I never eat while playing and I don't eat much beforehand, but I suffer no loss of energy. My doctor tells me that today's energy comes from yesterday's food anyway.

Oakland 5, Tigers 2

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Rudi extended his hitting streak to a team record 17 games with a tie-breaking two-run homer off Mickey Lolich and Reggie Jackson poked a two-run single to pace the Oakland A's to their eighth consecutive victory Saturday, a 5-2 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

Rudi's drive, his fifth homer, came after Lolich hit Bert Campaneris with a pitch to lead off the sixth inning and snapped a 1-1 tie. Danny Cater hit successfully in 16 games in a row in 1969 for the old mark.

Rudi, second leading hitter in the American League with a .330 average, has hit safely in 28 of the last 29 games.

Larry Brown led off the Oakland seventh with a single, then Lolich, 9-4, hit A's hurler Dave Hamilton with a pitch. After a sacrifice by Campaneris and a walk to Rudi, Jackson drilled a ground single through the box for two runs.
