County Organizations Discuss Plans for Holding Fall Fair

About twenty representatives of the various organizations met in the county courtroom Tuesday night and endorsed the Jaycee proposal for holding a fair this fall. Each of these representatives is to canvass members of their organization and report back at another meeting on March 10 to find out how solid the support of a fair will be.

A temporary program committee of Hood Willis, chairman, Harold Hudson, Bill Lance, Mrs. James Hardy, Howard Slaughter, Charley Pyle and Percy Powers will meet Feb. 26 to draw up recommendations as to a prize list, calendar of events, and cost of a fair. This group will make their recommendations at the March 10 meeting.

Harold Hudson, Jaycee president, acted as chairman for the Tuesday night meeting.

It was reported that some preliminary planning has been done toward erecting livestock buildings at the county fair grounds by the Angus and Hereford breeders, and it may be possible that something can be worked out during the summer.

While adequate facilities do not now exist for holding a complete livestock exhibit, representatives at the meeting stated that a fair could be held with temporary structures.

License Plate Sales Are Slow

License plate sales are slow at the tax collector's office, with only 230 sets of passenger car plates sold during the first three weeks of February. There have been 28 sets of farm truck plates and 20 sets of commercial plates sold during the period. In order to buy license plates, the car owner must have his certificate of title and 1951 registration receipt. It is not necessary that the car pass the state inspection in order to get 1952 plates.

Draftees Can, Regulars Can't Vote In Texas

Omar Truax, Legion zone commander, received a letter this week from Attorney General Price Daniel, clarifying the status of soldier voters in Texas elections. Truax had written Daniel protesting the election laws which prohibit a soldier, sailor or marine from voting.

Daniel pointed out the amendment to the Texas constitution, adopted on August 25, 1945, which allows members of the armed forces to cast a ballot without paying a poll tax while the U. S. is engaged in war. A civilian soldier can vote without a poll tax if he was in service 18 months prior to the election.

This is an amendment to Sec. 2a of the constitution. However, the amendment expressly prohibits "members of the regular establishment of the Army, Navy, or Marines" from voting in Texas.

This means that while draftees can vote, those who volunteered into any of the services cannot. The Air Force and Navy have only volunteer regulars now, and most of the Marine Corps is made up of volunteers.

Sixty Present for Irrigation School at Courthouse Friday

There were 60 farmers and ranchers present for the irrigation meeting held Friday in the district courtroom. Specialists from the Extension Service gave much information regarding irrigation, a practice comparatively new in this section of the Panhandle.

Most of the interest in irrigation here stems from a desire to have some "insurance" in dry weather toward growing feed or permanent pasture and not toward intensive cultivation of crops in small tracts, like is done on the South Plains.

It was pointed out that the cost of irrigation here is considerably more than in established irrigation districts, because the water is deeper, it costs more to drill a well and it cost more to get the water to the surface.

W. L. Broadhurst of the State Board of Water Engineers gave a presentation of the water level in Ochiltree county. He said that the water ranges from 50-150 feet in the southeast corner of the county to 400 feet in the southwest part of the county, with most of the water being found from 200-300 feet.

He pointed out that all of this water comes from the surface and is discounted the theory of a tremendous mass of water coming from the Rocky Mountains. Broadhurst said that the water bearing sands are quite thick with some sands over 200 feet thick. Water is recharged from the surface in small amounts and a 24-inch annual rainfall puts only a portion of an inch of water in the underground water sand.

However, since a 200-ft. water sand strata means that much water on top of the ground if it could all be pumped out, there is a tremendous reserve of water in the area.

Phillips and Dalhart are Title Choices

Play in the District 1-AA basketball tournament opened last night, with five boys teams and four girls teams battling for the district title and the right to advance to the state playoffs. Scheduled to open the tournament Wednesday night were the Dalhart and Dumas girls at 7 p. m. with the Dumas and Phillips boys following at 8:15 p. m.

First appearance of the Rangers will be at 10:15 a. m. today, when they play the winner of the Dumas-Phillips game. The Rangerettes met the Shamrock girls at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Phillips has been tagged as the favorite in the boys tournament, with Dumas and Perryton given the best chance to upset the Hawks. The Rangers have played on even terms with all other teams except Phillips, and of course the Blackhaws haven't played any of the district foes.

The Dalhart girls are heavy favorites to cop the trophy in the girls division. They haven't lost a game this year and have lost only 16 games in the past five years. Three of the Dalhart team have played together for five years and will be present this year.

The finals in both divisions are scheduled Friday night. If

Norris Child Is Injured In Fall From Car

Tim Norris, 3½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Norris, suffered painful injuries last Thursday afternoon when he fell from the Norris automobile traveling south on highway 83 about four miles from Perryton.

The car was traveling at a high rate of speed, when Tim, who was in the back seat, somehow opened the left door and fell out on the pavement. He skidded and rolled on the pavement and off into the ditch at the left hand side of the road, and was stunned by the fall, but was conscious when his father managed to turn around and pick him up.

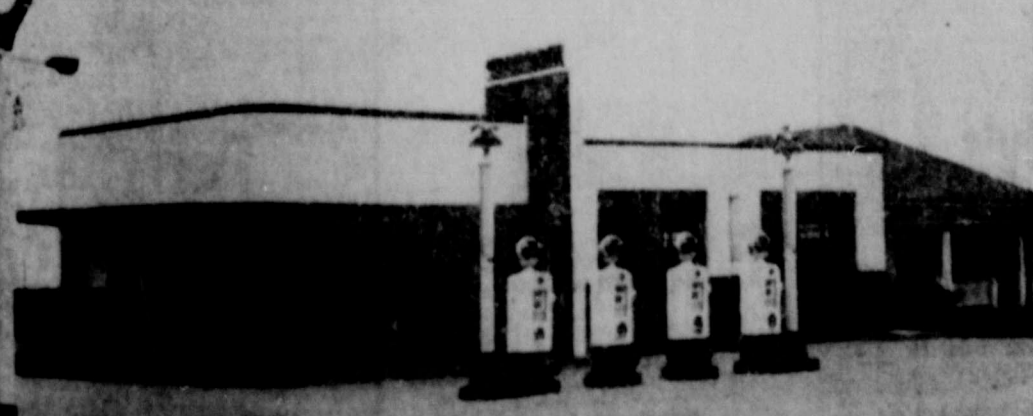

He was taken to a local hospital for treatment, where it was found he had a fractured skull and concussion, but no more serious injuries. In fact, the youngster received very few bruises and abrasions from his experience, other than the head injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris were in the front seat of the car, and Mrs. Elizabeth Fuelscher and Tim's older brother were riding with them.

Demi-Tasse Group Here Wednesday

The Demi-Tasse Players will present the February concert of the North Plains Mutual Concert Assn. at the school auditorium next Wednesday night, Feb. 27, at 8 p. m.

The Demi-Tasse Players are a troupe of four professional actors who have brought professional theatre to a variety of clubs and organizations in the New York area since 1948 and have branched out into the Mid-West.

Traveling without the burden of scenery and equipment which limit the presentation of a full scale theatrical production, the group creates its fine drama through good acting, well-chosen music and sound, authentic costumes and scenery which suggests rather than defines the atmosphere of the play.

The actors are Charles Avery, Jane Surrey, Laurence Cregar and Kathy Dugas. Admission is by membership card only.

Cashmere scarfs were introduced to Europe at the start of the 16th Century.

Highway 3 In Oklahoma Is Approved

A work order has been signed for paving construction to begin on Oklahoma state highway 3 which will give an all-paved highway from Guyton to eastern Okla. The Park-Ward company of Oklahoma City has the contract to pave from a point approximately 17 miles from Elmwood west to the junction of U. S. highway 83 at Bryan's Corner.

The contract was for $325,044 and the contractor has 100 working days from February 22 in which to finish the task.

The road will get a 14-inch base, eight inches of which will be asphalt stabilized and 24 ft. paving with 6-ft. primed shoulders.

New roadbed for the job was completed last November at a cost of $106,759.

Winter weather has held up the paving which, when completed, will give a paved road from the Colorado state line to the east to Antlers in southeast Pushmataha county.

It will mark the completion of 40 miles of paving the highway has received in Beaver county since 1950 at a combined competitive bid price of $924,349.

Three years ago when the state highway commission started out to modernize the road in Beaver county the 40 odd miles from the Harper county line on the east to the Texas county line on the west was the longest continuous dirt road in the state highway system.

Before the Beaver county job was undertaken, the commission rebuilt the road from Guyton to the Beaver county line, a distance of more than 35 miles.

Pidgeon Is Cast As Lawyer In 'Unknown Man'

Walter Pidgeon is cast as a lawyer who gets a boy acquitted of a murder charge and later finds himself again defending the accused youth of a second murder. The novelty of the situation lies in the fact that the lawyer believes that he himself is the perpetrator of the second crime.

When Bradley Masen undertakes to defend young Rudi Wallehek of the charge of murdering Johnny Hulderman, he does so because he believes the accused boy to be both innocent and penniless. It is only after he has saved Rudi from the electric chair that Masen discovers him to be a dyed-in-the-wool racketeer, doubtlessly guilty of the crime for which he has been acquitted. Determined to rectify the injustice which he himself unwittingly has served, Masen tracks down a notorious, city-wide extortion racket to the last person anyone would suspect, Andrew Layford, wealthy and socially accepted head of the city's Crime Commission. It is when Layford is found stabbed to death shortly after Rudi has called upon him that the suspenseful question arises. Who killed Andrew Layford — Rudi or Bradley Masen? The dramatic treatment with which this question is resolved, with no little irony for all three persons concerned and with justice moving surely to the end, makes for one of the most suspenseful stories to be brought to the screen in some time.

TWO TICKETS TO BROADWAY—Tony Martin coaches Janet Leigh, far left, in a scene from "Two Tickets to Broadway," the Technicolor musical which comes to the Ellis Theatre on Tuesday-Thursday. Also in the cast are Gloria DeHaven, Eddie Bracken, Ann Miller and Barbara Lawrence.

'Two Tickets to Broadway' Is Star-Studded Musical Comedy

With an all-star cast headed by Tony Martin, Janet Leigh, Gloria DeHaven, Eddie Bracken, Ann Miller and Barbara Lawrence, "Two Tickets to Broadway" comes to the Ellis Theatre on Tuesday, Thursday.

The troubles of four showgirls and a young singer with their glib but tricky booking agent comprise the basis of the gay plot. Disgusted with his empty promises, the five are about ready to give up the battle for Broadway fame when the agent persuades them he has sold their act to Bob Crosby and his band, and sets them into frantic rehearsals. What happens when the quintet learn they have been tricked again makes for the hilarious climax of the offering.

A flock of hit tunes by some of the nation's top composers, along with startling new dance numbers enliven the gay story. Besides Bob Crosby, featured are the comedy team of Smith and Dale, the Charlivels, Taylor Holmes and Buddy Baer, supported by a host of dancing and singing lovelies.

Jeff Chandler Is Arab Shiek In Latest Picture

Jeff Chandler, who has played an Indian chief, a gangster, a South Sea Islander in recent pictures, is seen as an Arab shiek in "Flame of Araby," which comes to the Ellis Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

"Flame of Araby" deals with the efforts of the outlaw Barbarossa brothers, played to the hilt by movie giants Lon Chaney and Buddy Baer, to take over the kingdom of Princess Tanya, played by Maureen O'Hara, following the mysterious death of her father.

Jeff Chandler, in the role of Tamerlane, and Princess Tanya both seek a wild black stallion. Chandler desires the prize animal to add to his herd while the Princess pursues the fleet-footed prize as a mount to ride in the Grand Tayifa Race.

Figuring she can capture the stallion before the important race, Princess Tanya promises herself to the person who wins the event. Chandler learns of Tanya's offer and after capturing the stallion rides it to victory in the great race.

SO THERE!—In San Angelo water is scarce during the worst drouth since 1917. An emergency ordinance prohibits non-essential watering of lawns and shrubs from city mains. Therefore many by look disapprovingly at B. E. Tumlinson, recklessly spraying the precious liquid over his lawn several weeks of explaining his legal source to police and ordinary citizens. County School Election to be Held April 5

Date for the county school election, when three members of the county school board will be elected, has been set for Saturday, April 5, county judge Howard Slaughter has announced.

Voters in precincts 1 and 3 will select a member of the board and the voters of all precincts will select a member-at-large.

The terms of J. H. Kershaw, precinct 1; H. B. Urban, precinct 3; and L. R. Conner, member-at-large, expire this year. Holdover members are Virgil Olmstead, precinct 2, and J. H. Callihan, precinct 4.

The election will be held in all county voting precincts on April 5, Slaughter said. Candidates may file with the county judge.

the U. S. Navy. He will report to Perryton in two or three weeks, after the Anson organization has had time to replace him.

REA Substation Into Operation Next Tuesday

The 69,000 volt transmission line of the North Plains Electric Cooperative will be energized to the Perryton substation next Tuesday, manager Earl Waide has reported, thus bringing the source of REA power much closer to residents of the Perryton area.

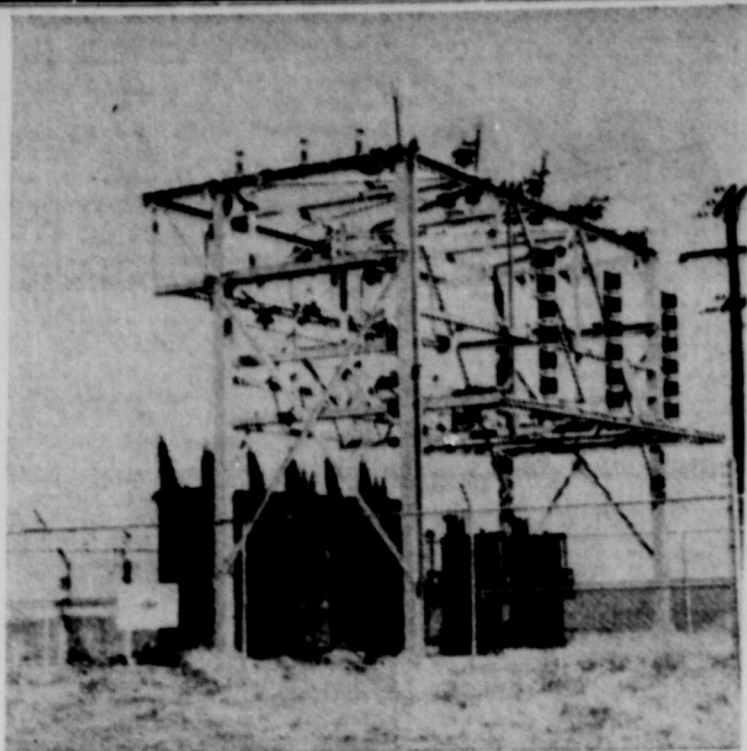

Completion of the substation, and the use of the transmission lines completes a project started over a year ago. With the local substation, the distribution lines can be shortened so that better service can be given subscribers, Waide said.

Power for this area is now received from the Spearman substation, which is a long way from subscribers north and east of Perryton, Waide pointed out. The new substation will give better voltage as well as allowing better service, Waide said.

When the Lipscomb substation is energized, it will result in the same improvement of voltage and service for members of the REA cooperative in the Fallett area, Waide said.

When driver safety tests were offered in New York recently, 12,000 persons took the tests.

REA SUBSTATION—This Perryton substation of the North Plains Electric Cooperative will be energized on Tuesday, February 26, thus bringing much more electrical power to residents of this area. The substation will give adequate power to subscribers and shorten the distribution lines so that better service can be given. This substation is located five miles south of Perryton.

At present, the city wells and the numerous stock wells take out about as much water as returns to the ground each year, Boardman declared.

Boardman said that water is always pumped out faster than it is recharged, which is in effect mining a natural resource. While some want this rate of pumping strictly controlled, Boardman told the audience that all other natural resources such as oil, gas, coal, etc., are mined, so why not water?

Bob Thurmond, irrigation specialist of the Extension Service, told about the factors determining the location of an irrigation well. He said a farmer should first pick the land he wants to irrigate, then drill a test well to see where the water is and what kind of water bearing sands exist.

Then the well should be completed, and he emphasized that a good well is built, not merely drilled. A properly built well will last for many years while a poor one will give out in a comparatively short time, he said.

He told how to prepare the land for irrigation, and how to run the furrows to get the maximum benefit of the water. He said it is a simple matter to tell when to water—simply dig down into the soil and see how deep the moisture goes.

Fred Dines, wheat specialist, spoke on the relation of irrigation to the presence of insects and diseases in small grain. He also answered numerous questions regarding greenbugs, rust and cutworms.

D. W. Borden, Peerless Pump Co. of Amarillo, explained what could be expected from a pump and emphasized that the correct size of pump should be installed taking into consideration the amount of land to be irrigated and the future plans for irrigation.

J. H. Vendrick, General Electric Co. in Amarillo, demonstrated various electrical starters, switches, and motors, and gave comparative costs of operation of butane, gasoline, diesel and electric motors.

Knox Parr, district Extension agent, conducted a question and answer program at the end of the meeting. In this session, it was brought out that most of the wells drilled here and in Hansford county paid for themselves the first year of operation, in spite of the high cost of putting in a well.

These wells cost from $15,000 to $20,000 each in some cases, but because of the dry fall and winter, and the high price of grain sorghums, the increased yields on the irrigated fields just about paid for the original investment.

It was also brought out that tests show the highest cash yield for income on irrigated land has come from permanent pasture. More livestock can be run on pasture, with higher gains and more profit than any other type of irrigation practice, according to the Extension Service tests.

Thomas Entomologist Hired Fudy Fight On Greenbugs

NEW — An Oklahoma entomologist, Dr. Donald Ashdown, has been employed to lead a research project against the greenbug, an enemy of the wheat grower.

Hinn, general manager of Harvest Queen Mill and Co. of Plainview and one of a greenbug-control fund, announced that Dr. Ashdown has taken over the project at the farm near Amarillo.

The project, to attack the greenbug as a men-ber of the Texas Tech wheat, is a cooperative effort between Texas Tech and A & M College Experiment Station, and the Division of Forage Insects In-vestigation of the Department of Entomology of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

The 34-year-old Ashdown is a native of Utah. He received his B.S. degree from Utah State Agricultural College in 1942 and his Ph.D. from Cornell University in 1948.

During the past four years, in which he was in charge of research in the fruits and vegetables branch of the Oklahoma Experiment Station, he worked closely with Dr. R. G. Dahms, noted Oklahoma entomologist, who is in charge of greenbug investigation for the Federal Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

At Pantech, Dr. Ashdown will be dealing with a treacherous little insect that can wipe out entire fields of young wheat in a few days. Due to the limited climatic conditions in which the greenbug is destructive, widespread damage due to the insect may be noticed only twice in a decade.

Some research has been carried out on the control of the greenbug, but thus far it has proven either too expensive or limited in its effect. Dr. Ashdown's definite path of investigation is unknown at present.

MEET THE YOUNGSTERS—Sherry, 2½, and Tex, 15 months, are children of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Smith, 1213 S. Eton. Their maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Clark of Perryton and their paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, Perryton. Their paternal great-grandfather is George Van Arsdale of Liberal.

but in addition to insecticides he has expressed special interest in systemic insecticides, a seed treatment which might immunize the plant against the bug.

In carrying out the study of infestation and its control, considerable thought and study will be given to the influence of fertilizers on both production and resistance of the wheat plant to greenbug infestation.

More than 5,000 acres of wheat land will be available as needed for greenbug research on the Pantech Farms. The farms have been operated by the Texas Tech Division of Agriculture for research since 1949. Three other major projects are in progress on the farms at present.

Old Time Mail Carrier of Ochiltree County Discovered On Chicago Visit

When Gus Birdwell of Farnsworth was in Chicago recently, attending the Moody Bible Institute, he came across a man who carried the mail in Ochiltree county 54 years ago.

Still hale and hearty, the mail carrier, Lawrence Schuhmacher, has a thriving business in Chicago, and has been away from this area for a half-century, yet still has vivid memories of the old days.

It was in a Sunday School class that the two men met. Birdwell was called upon to introduce himself, and after the class Schuhmacher came around and told Birdwell that he used to live here.

Schuhmacher worked for Arly Cartwright in the 1890's, and lived nine miles east of Lipscomb. Cartwright had the mail contract between Ochiltree and Lipscomb, and he farmed out the mail carrying to young Eubanks boys, a Mr. Orr and Schuhmacher, who received $13 a month and board for the chore. He carried the mail two times a week between the two early day Plains towns, and it took him two days per trip. He rested a day between trips.

Over this route he remembers that he had to go through 32 gates and "let-downs" and it seemed that most of his time was spent on the ground instead of riding his mail buggy.

Once he was caught in a snowstorm along Wolf Creek and became lost. His horse took him to the light of a dugout and the people came out and rescued him. He doesn't remember now the name of the family.

It's been a long time since he worked on Wolf Creek, but he still remembers a Mr. Edwards at Lipscomb, the Frass family, Leonard Light, Cap Kelley, Smith Ellis, Sourdough Charley, the Eubanks boys, a Mr. Orr and Jack McSpadden at Lipscomb, a Mr. McPherson of Ochiltree.

Schuhmacher has had a successful business career in Chicago. He is the inventor and owner of the patent rights for the Fabrix matmaking process which converts old automobile tires into rubber mats for home, office, and industrial use.

He started in 1932 working on his idea of making flat-lying, heavy-duty, long-life mats out of junk tires. By 1934 he was ready to go into production on his perfected matmaking process.

Now he sells Fabrix equipment to thousands of independent operators all over the nation and has set up thousands of businesses for men who want to make and sell these floor mats.

Did you ever allow the silver dollar to preach you a sermon? Beyond the glorious flag of our country is a spiritual homeland, to which we all belong. The red and the white and the blue are colors of living glory, reminding us of the history which has brought us where we stand today. They are the colors of life. They speak of courage and sacrifice and devotion. And just as clearly, the silver dollar calls us to live for something more than money. What a strange place to print a text for a sermon; on a silver dollar or on a greenback. Our forefathers were aware of the dangers which would threaten their children...so they sought to give us warning...In God We Trust.

Back of our money is a nation, without which the silver or the paper would have precious little value. On every dollar bill we see the face of George Washington, a man who sacrificed everything he had, that America might come into being in the form of The United States. E pluribus unum must forever shame us out of selfishness and self-seeking. "Out of many one" must forever emerge. Each of us must live for the rest, or the sacrifices of Valley Forge and the Delaware have gone for naught. Our money is forever saying to us, "look away from us; think of the nation; consider your fellow Americans; worship the living God. So shall the United States be a worthy member of the family of nations, of the family of God."

A Fascinating Story

The Saturday Evening Post is running serially what it calls "One of the Great Books of Our Time." It is Whittaker Chambers' story of the amazing Alger Hiss trial, and the welter of dark events that led up to it. It is also a Book-of-the-Month club selection, and so is assured of an extraordinarily wide audience.

Most of the first installment of the Chambers series takes the form of a long letter to his children. In this, his main purpose is to try to tell what makes a communist of a man, and particularly a man of Hiss' education, intelligence, achievement, and advantages. He wrote, "Much more than Alger Hiss or Whittaker Chambers was on trial in the trials of Alger Hiss. Two faiths were on trial. . . . On a scale personal enough to be felt by all, but big enough to be symbolic, the two irreconcilable faiths of our time—Communism and Freedom—came to grips in the persons of two resolute men."

Mr. Chambers was himself an active communist for many years. He edited communist publications and worked for the underground. Today he hates communism, seeing in it "the focus of the concentrated evil of our time." He says: "How did it happen that this movement . . . became the immense force that now contests the mastery of mankind? The answer must be: Communism makes some profound appeal to the human mind. You will not find out what it is by calling communism names. That will not help much to explain why communism, whose horrors on a scale unparalleled in history are now public knowledge, still recruits its thousands and holds its millions—among them some of the best minds alive."

Then, a little later on, Mr. Chambers writes, "Communists are bound together by no secret oath. The tie that binds them across the frontiers of nations, across barriers of language and differences of class and education, in defiance of religion, morality, truth, law, honor, the weaknesses of the body and the irresolutions of the mind, even unto death, is a simple conviction: It is necessary now to change the world."

That, to Mr. Chambers' mind, is the key to it all: "It is necessary now to change the world." He elaborates by writing, "The communist vision is the vision of Man without God. It is the vision of man's mind displacing God as the creative intelligence of the world." And this, he says in effect, excuses and justifies, for the true communist, all the barbarisms and cruelties and terrors that are cold and deliberate weapons of communism in action.

So Mr. Chambers explains Alger Hiss—and by inference, the other communists of high abilities and intelligence. To those people, communism has the force and passion of a burning religion. At hand they see all the tools needed to totally remake the world according to their frightening vision. They are dedicated men and women, and no sacrifice is too great to make for the cause, even though that sacrifice be disgrace, imprisonment, death, Deception, lies, treason—such sins and crimes as these the real communist regards as simply practical necessities. He sees nothing wrong with them. To quote Mr. Chambers just once more, "Communism is what happens when, in the name of Mind, men free themselves from God."

Fred Osborne flew to Wichita, Kansas Saturday night to be at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. J. E. Osborne, who is seriously ill. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Apple had been in old Mexico on a vacation trip and were in Corpus Christi when the wire reached them.

From the SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

We read in a downstate newspaper the other day some ideas about farmers which gave us a laugh. A columnist had this to say: "The farmer differs from the town guy in very few ways. Like the town guy, when he gets a little money ahead he has a pet desire to spend it for certain items."

"Few town people are satisfied unless they have a big new automobile to ride down the road in. Farmers, with a little money in the bank, start looking at a big new and shiny tractor, combine, plow or something else that will ease the labor on the farm and increase the income."

This brings to mind the old time caricature of the hayseed farmer, the one with the straw hat, the straw between his teeth, who says "by cracky," and "city slicker" every once in a while. This picture is as out of date as the cracker barrel in the general store.

For the farmers we know around here are just as much in the market, or more so, for those "big new automobiles," and while they of course buy new tractors and new combines, they also buy just as many refrigerators, fine homes, dress in good style and have just as much, or more, money to spend than the "town guy." In fact, we personally can't see much difference between the farmer and the city dweller—and there really isn't much difference because a large percentage of our farmers live right here in town.

Another columnist, this time in a big magazine, writes "A man's faith gets a severe test when he finds himself in church with nothing smaller in his pocket than a five-dollar bill when the collection plate is passed." While this may be deplorable, it nevertheless is true. People who think little of spending $50 on a week end football trip can really flinch if they drop more than a buck into the collection plate on Sunday morning.

The Furr Food and Ideal Food stores are really having a price battle in Pampa, Borger, Amarillo and Dumas. In looking over the prices advertised by these two food store giants, we can't help but wish someone would start a "little price" war here. Of course, if we were in the grocery business, we would wish no such thing, just as the service stations, dry goods stores, appliance stores, etc., wouldn't like a price war in their own line, but might relish one in another line.

Anyway, we checked some ads the other day and saw where bread was 10 cents, large Tide 13 cents, 3 lbs. Crisco 59 cents and a 300 can of peaches was 10 cents in Pampa on Feb. 12. Cause of the battle, of course, is over the practice of giving stamps with purchases. Furr Food gives them, and Ideal says they sell cheaper without giving stamps, and the battle is on.

Jack Todd of the Perryton Hatchery informs us that the little fire he had last week was in the brooder house, not his hatchery. We didn't know there was a whole lot of difference, but he says that there is a lot of difference between having a fire in the hatchery and one in the brooder house. Says that people might get the wrong idea if they thought there was that much heat in the hatchery. Not being a chicken or hatchery expert, we still don't know the big difference. Maybe you do.

ed these days by an appeal for blood for the Korean conflict, but these appeals don't mean much to us here in the hinterlands, because there is no way to give it. They say the armed forces need 300,000 pints of blood a month, while the American people are giving only 30,000 pints. Some radio announcements make out like we are downright unpatriotic.

The best we can find out is that Fort Worth is the nearest place to give a pint of blood for this cause, unless there should be one of the Bloodmobile units 'nove into Perryton, which is unlikely since they are not supposed to go over 150 miles away from Fort Worth. So we can't be blamed here for not giving blood. We would wager that a Bloodmobile unit could collect a full load in this area, however, ever.

At Daytona Beach, Florida, they have demonstrated a new gadget for automobiles that is said to save innumerable lives on the highway. "The thing" is a metal tube about four feet long and three inches in diameter which is hooked to the chassis just back of the rear wheels. It absolutely prevents skidding or rear-end weaving on wet or icy roads. Invented by a California doctor, the bar first came to light at the Indianapolis Speedway last spring, when Duke Nalon set new lap and trial records by roaring into the turns like a madman, yet his car didn't even act like it wanted to skid.

It is a gyroscopic gimmick, which contains springs and a ball-bearing arrangement, and is a lifetime gadget which practically never wears out. Because it is made of scarce defense materials, it won't go on the market for a while, they say.

Also along the automotive line, tests at Daytona Beach have shown that the average man's car has a jacked up speedometer. At 60 miles per hour the average speedometer is five miles fast and at 90 to 100 miles per hour it is anywhere from 10 to 20 miles fast. They say very few strictly stock cars, meaning those right out of the show window, can even do 100 miles per hour.

However, if you are caught by state highway patrolmen Jack Shields and Bob Loving, this probably won't be much of an excuse for speeding. They clock a speeding automobile by the speedometer in their police special Ford, which has a calibrated speedometer and is supposed to be absolutely correct.

Wolf Creek Philosopher Can Eliminate Tax Collecting

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher won't get anywhere with his proposal this week, but it may have its attractive side.)

I was out here yesterday sweating over my income tax records, it's a good thing they don't hold elections at this time of the year, wouldn't anybody get elected, when a friend came by and suggested we go fishin and I let my pencil drop from where it was in mid-air and went with him.

While we were fishin he got to talkin about how high his income tax was and what a lot of trouble makin out a government report is and I told him about a suggestion I heard recently and one thing led to another and we worked out a system of eliminatin all this annual figurin and self-demoralizin which I am surprised somebody in Washington hasn't thought of before now.

As I understand it, under the present system there is considerable complaint over withholdin in taxes, social security taxes, in come taxes, payroll taxes, etc., not only the fact it takes money to pay em but because it's such a nuisance to keep books on the whole shebang. Time a man keeps all the forms and records necessary to satisfy the government he ain't got enough time left for any original thinkin in his business or ain't in the mood.

Now under this new system I'm workin on all the bookkeepin and form-fillin-out would be eliminated. All tax frauds would end. Instead of a business man withholdin part of an employee's pay, makin out a form for the government and one for the employee and one for himself, then sendin the withhold money to the government and the government and the employee balancin their books at the end of the year, with generally considerable argument and dissatisfaction and glowerin over which one owes the other one, there wouldn't be any records at all. He'd just withhold everything.

Under this system, whenever anybody makes any money, worker, owner or what not, it's turned over to the government right then, all of it. No deductions, no withholdin, nothin kept back.

Everything a man bought would be charged, and all grocery bills, drygoods bills, drug bills, etc., would be turned over to the government for settlement. Anythin left over the government would hold for you.

old age, if it couldn't think of any new dams to build.

This would virtually eliminate the need for any cash except maybe pocket change for tippin and carfare in the cities and something to put in the cold drink machines, nobody would have to keep any records, no more overdrawn bank accounts, very few banks. It would be impossible to cheat on your income tax and impossible to make an error, since there wouldn't be any income tax reports, would eliminate fraud among tax collectors and the temptation to fraud by simply eliminatin the tax collectors, and would free everybody's mind for deep thinkin or world problems.

If you think this program has any merit, what's Congress hung on?

Yours faithfully,

a John Deere Day message

February 22, 1952

Dear Friends:

John Deere Day will soon be here again; in fact, next Wednesday, February 27. This is the day we look forward to having all our farmer friends here to be our guests and spend the day with us. There just isn't time to call on each of you personally. We have endeavored to mail invitations to each of you, but if you did not receive one, or have not been invited by any of our personnel, please consider this your personal invitation to attend. The picture show will start at 1 p. m. at the Ellis Theatre.

The feature picture, "Galahad Jones," starring Marjorie Lord, Richard Crane, Elizabeth Patterson, and Jonathan Hale, is a top notch production — one which we are sure you will enjoy. We will also have several interesting and educational features on modern equipment and farming practices.

Don't forget the time — Wednesday, February 27. Come early! Bring the whole family and spend the day with us.

Sincerely,

ALL the Gang at Perryton Implement Co.

"GALAHAD JONES"

WITH RICHARD CRANE, MARJORIE LORD, ELIZABETH PATTERSON, AND JONATHAN HALE

A full length feature picture, "Galahad Jones," will highlight the parade of entertainment to be staged for farmers and their families who attend the annual John Deere Day show as guests of Perryton Implement Co. on Wednesday, February 27 at the Ellis Theatre.

"Galahad Jones" centers around a farmer's son, recently graduated from law school, who thwarts the efforts of a big-time crook to profit from his political connections. It is a present-day problem picture with a moral and plenty of laughs for good entertainment.

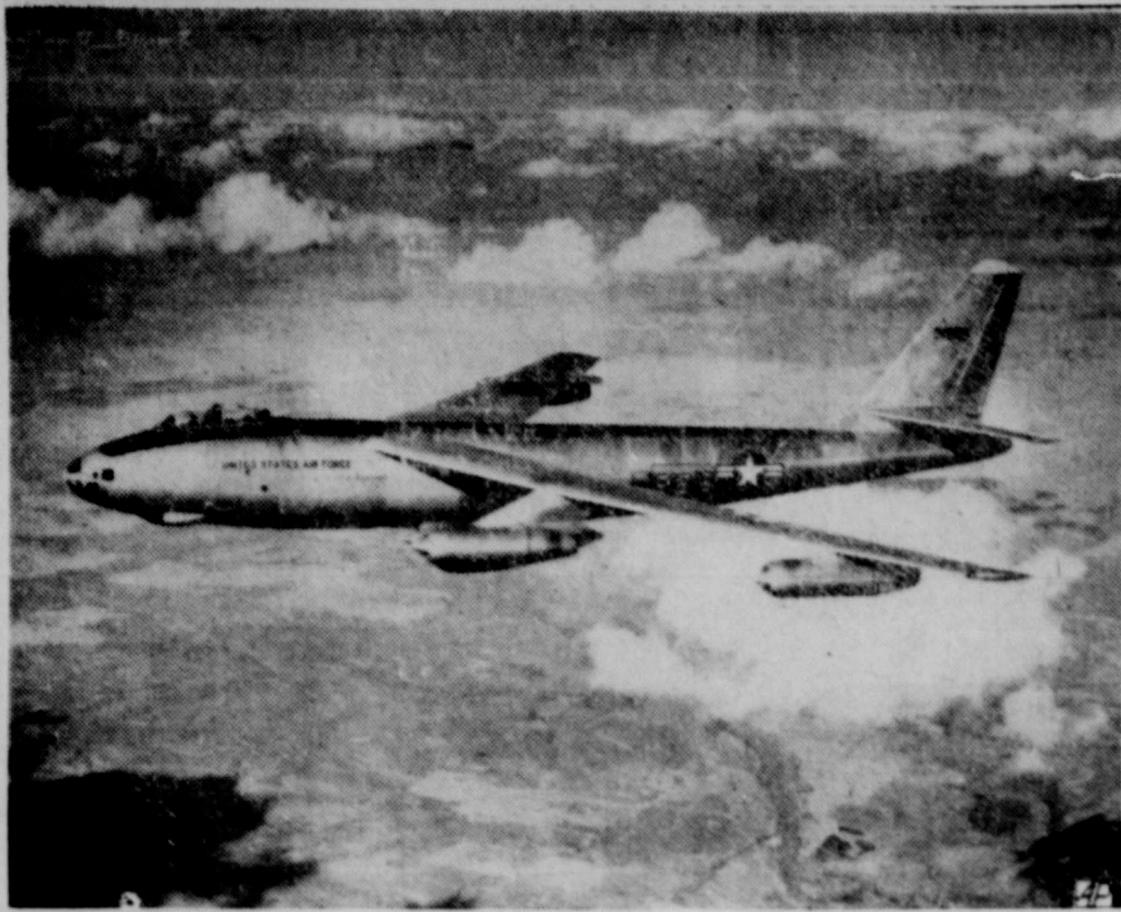

Richard Crane, playing the part of "Galahad Jones" is ably supported by Marjorie Lord, Elizabeth Patterson, Jonathan Hale, Ed Brophy, and four other Hollywood personalities.

Five other new pictures are included in the fast moving program. One of the films, "The Big Payoff," features Tom Gordon, head of the memorable Gordon clan, who has been so popular in previous John Deere Day pictures. Another picture, "Oddities in Farming," is patterned after last year's popular film of the same name. "What's New for '52" will acquaint those in attendance with new John Deere implements and is sure to prove of interest to every farmer and his family. "The March of Harvest Time" and "Voice of Experience"—the two movies that complete the program, deal with subjects close to the heart of every farmer.

Admission will be by ticket and farmers who have not yet received theirs may obtain them by calling in person at the Perryton Implement Co. Farmers are urged to get their tickets early. The show starts at 1 p. m.

Unintentional 'Blackout'

SINGAPORE (AP)—Intentional blackouts, a daily measure introduced to conserve Singapore's limited electric power, are so much of an expected thing that it's difficult to recognize a genuine, unintentional power failure.

At 1 p. m. the other day in a Singapore residential section, the fans stopped and ice in home refrigerators began to thaw. By 7 p. m. there was still no power. Someone, suspicious that this "blackout" had lasted longer than usual, decided to call the power station. This was the first word that the city's electricians had received of the accidental failure.

TUCKERED OUT—After a busy day of romping together, 7-year-old Stanton Evans, son of Houston Chronicle photographer and Mrs. Larry Evans, drifts deep into dreamland while his constant companion, Chita, stays on guard with one flagging ear and a drowsy eye. The tiny chihuahua is Stanton's favorite playmate, yet finds time and energy to frolic with the other two Evans boys, Jerry 12, and Larry, Jr., 13. (7)

German Marriage Mart

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Salesgirls who are 24 have the best chance to get married in Germany, which has a surplus of 2,800,000 women. Young housemaids run a close second in nuptial prospects, a survey by the West German Statistical Bureau indicates. But the bureau estimates that 1,000,000 German girls never will get married.

Next to 24-year-olds, those who are 22 and 18 are most likely to find husbands. For the group between 26 and 39, it's liable to be a lonely existence.

Over 40, demand again picks up. A well-groomed widow with an apartment of her own is sure-fire to receive proposals.

Strange Methods Solve Killings

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Strange and occult methods are still used in the Sudan. The official Sudan Monthly Record relates how "an influential leopard-skin chief" found the killer of two tribesmen.

A number of suspects were gathered and a black goat slaughtered while the suspects drank milk from one of the dead men's cows. No one refused the milk or confessed drinking it—as should have happened.

But that night one of the suspects felt deathly ill and called for the leopard-skin chief. He removed the "spell," the man recovered and confessed. The Record says guilt was later established legally.

TAXES: Taxes are still the number one worry of the low income groups. The present personal exemptions and exemptions for dependents are not much help with prices rising on all of the necessities of life. It is the low income group that suffers most and the higher the price of necessities go, the harder the struggle for existence. I have searched the tax laws continuously for an effective means of affording some relief to those hardest hit. My conclusion was that the quickest and most effective relief for the low income groups would be an increase in the personal and dependent exemptions. By making this change there would be no discrimination against those in the higher income groups. In other words, the same rule would apply to all taxpayers. But the greatest relief from such increase would go to those who are in greatest need. On February 11, 1952, I introduced a bill in Congress to increase the personal exemptions on individuals from $600 to $1,000, and the exemptions for dependents from $600 to $750. If this bill is adopted, it will mean that a man with two children earning $3,500 a year would not have to pay income taxes. Many people have said that it is not fair for those people to be relieved of paying taxes. This is not a very good argument because the greatest amount of federal taxes that all of us pay are hidden taxes on commodities that we buy, and local and state taxes still have to be paid as they are assessed. Under 1948 figures, it would amount to a tax reduction of about 25% of your entire tax bill if you are in this low income group. Passing this bill is not going to be an easy task, but I intend to do my best to get some relief so that these low income people can feed and clothe themselves and children. Another bill that I am preparing at the present time is a bill that would permit as an allowable deduction all medical and hospital fees incident to the birth of a child. Under the present tax laws and the low exemptions, a young couple is actually penalized for having children.

SOME OBJECTIONS TO WHAT THE VOICE OF AMERICA IS DOING: I have discussed the Voice of America with many people in this country and from abroad. Many of them praise it highly. However, many have some well founded objections that I think should be cured. They tell me that too much time is devoted to telling the people about the many luxuries that we have in this country; that the people in those Iron Curtain and Russian satellite countries actually cannot conceive of any people enjoying the luxuries that we consider as necessities; that they are therefore very suspicious of these stories and doubt the truth of them. These same people tell

AT IRRIGATION MEETING—Bob Thurmond, irrigation specialist of the Extension Service, explains how to build a good irrigation well. me that the broadcasts would be much more effective if they would talk to the people along lines that they could understand. That is, tell them more about roast beef, mashed potatoes, turnip greens and cornbread, and less about ice cream and cake. In talking to citizens who have come over from those countries, I gather the same story. What the people in those countries want is talk about plain common everyday food and not talk about automobiles, electric ice boxes and television sets.

ONE WAY TO GET RICH: Ex-communist Whitaker Chambers is now publishing his book "I Was a Witness." This book is being carried in the Saturday Evening Post in serial story form. The estimates here are that Chambers will get $75,000 from the Post for these publication rights. It is also forecast that his book will be on the best-seller list and should net him several times the $75,000. He is doing this under a system of government that he worked for many years to destroy and, by his own admissions, committed treasonable acts against. Quite a reward for a confessed traitor. It is too bad he didn't get religion earlier. Some of the information that he had, and undoubtedly will publish, might have saved this country from the mistakes at Potsdam and Yalta.

THE BUFFALO LAKE MATTER: I am getting together a lot of facts on these Soil Conservation projects that are going to be mighty interesting. This situation may develop into a full fledged investigation, which I am sure the people of the Panhandle would welcome. One interesting point is that Buffalo Lake has cost the government about $350,000 since 1939. According to the records I have been able to get hold of to date, the government's cut out of the $71,000 gross at Buffalo last year was approximately $8,000. Another record I have shows an expenditure last year by the Government of $5,806 up to October 1st. The concessionaire's contract calls for the project to be kept in good repair and fully maintained. If the government spent $5,806 by October 1st last year, the chances are that they spent by the end of the year all of what they collected, and more, on the project. This means that the government is furnishing a project that represents an investment of approximately $350,000, and the only person making any money out of it is the concessionaire. That doesn't look like good business to me from the taxpayers and the fishermen's standpoint.

Buick even keeps the Sun in its Place

Of course, this new glass—which reduces glare and incoming sun-heat—is a Buick feature in '52

Wheel Covers standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Buicks.

With all the new things we've had to talk about in 1952 Buicks, we're just getting around to this one.

It's called "Easy-Eye Glass"—a new kind of glass with a cool, soft, blue-green tint, which filters the sun's rays entering your car—cuts down their glare and heat.

You'll appreciate the "glare control" at any time—and when you hit your first stretch of hot-weather driving you'll find that this glass does a great job of keeping the heat out of your lap.

We know—because thousands of happy Buick owners already have this new comfort feature. The rest of the automobile industry is just beginning to discover what Buick discovered a year ago. It's a great idea, which costs you very little extra if you order it when you're buying a new car.

But this still leaves the other folks with a lot of catching up to do.

You'll look a long way before you'll find anything that approaches a Buick's million dollar ride.

You'll look a long way before you'll find anything so completely satisfying as Dynaflo Drive.

You'll find it hard to match the style and beauty and harmonious good taste of a 1952 Buick's interior trim and fabrics.

And when it comes to what you get for what you pay—we'll gladly match price tags with the field.

Have you had a good look at the '52 Buick? That's something you ought to do soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Optional at extra cost—available on most models. (Not presently available in Massachusetts.) *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Buicks.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX EASLEY
(AP) Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next to the ever-constant threat of World War Three, the first worry of Texas members of Congress—and most other Congressmen—is the enormous national debt.

The present ceiling on the public debt is 275 billion dollars. Although that's down 25 billion from the all-time high reached in World War Two, it's six times as great as the 45 billion dollar ceiling in effect at the beginning of 1941.

Those Texans available for comment were unanimous in expressing hope that the ceiling won't be raised.

The one qualification which everyone states in expressing a determination to block a further boost in the national debt ceiling this year is action that may be necessary in the event of an all-out war.

Discussing the matter of raising the legal ceiling on the national debt, the lawmakers hasten to point out that it isn't a question on which you can say "yes" or "no" without taking into consideration the justification of any and all appropriations.

"Actually," commented Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi, "There's no such thing, practically speaking, as a ceiling on the national debt. The Congress fixes a limit beyond which the Treasury can not go in issuing bonds. If Congress decides to appropriate beyond that limitation, it raises the ceiling."

The question of a debt ceiling has to be considered along with revenues. Without exception the Texas members questioned are against any new taxes this year. They note that the President's budget bureau requests amount to 85 billion dollars, while anticipated revenues for this year amount to about 71 billion. Fourteen billion dollar deficit financing should still leave the debt just within the 275 billion limitation.

"I think we can well live within the 70-odd billion dollar income," Lyle continued.

EARTHEN DAM STIRS PROTESTS—Farmers of the arid vegetable growing area south of Brownsville, Tex., have protested against this earthen dam constructed across the Rio Grande by Mexican workers. The Laborers built the dam to divert water from the river to Matamoros, suffering badly from lack of water. Farm officials say 100,000 acres of crops are endangered by the long severe drought which hit the Valley and northern Mexico especially hard. (AP Photo)

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas, a member of the House-Senate Joint Committee on the Economic Report and one of the authorities in Congress on monetary matters, also describes the national debt limitation "meaningless, to all intents and purposes."

"Congress puts the lid on," he explains, "and it can take it off."

The right approach is not to appropriate the money. If it does, it must be responsible for its actions and see that the Treasury can act accordingly. Otherwise, it would be in the role of a man writing bad checks."

Elaborating on his own views and calling for a balanced budget, Patman said: "I'm for achieving that end but trimming the budget estimates. The military as well as the civilian agencies can get by on much less, without sacrificing national security."

Numerous members agreed with Patman and Lyle, that the Armed Services would have to share in any cuts if there was to be anything like a balanced budget. They point out that about 60 billion dollars of the budget's estimated 85 billion—for the year starting next July 1—is for the armed forces. Nearly 87 per cent of the total is for cost of past wars or arming against future wars. The cost of non-defense programs of government has decreased about 9 per cent since fiscal year 1950.

Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock and Colorado City, head of the House Armed Services appropriations subcommittee, was cautious in predicting what final action his group will take in regard to trimming the budget's request for the military.

"We lopped about 1½ billion off last year's requests," he says. "I can assure you we'll carefully check every item, and I hope we can effect even a greater savings this year."

Rep. Ken Regan of Midland makes no bones how he feels, but he isn't on the Appropriations Committee and can only hope to translate words into action when the money measures go to the floor—often under rules which won't permit any changes; you have to take it or leave it.

"The military is wading in money right now," Regan declared.

"We have plenty of instances of waste and extravagance on their part. I think the over-all budget could be cut 50 per cent and still be adequate."

Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine, agreeing with the others that there should be no new taxes and that cuts can well be made in the request for both the military and civilian agencies, gave his own views regarding the fixing of a national debt ceiling.

"It's a psychological barrier against rampant spending," he said.

"Of course, Congress can raise it at will, but that action in itself throws the spotlight on the issue and therefore makes some of these people think twice before they vote for additional appropriations."

The first limitation on the public debt was fixed at 45 billion dollars by the Act of Feb. 4, 1935; it was raised to 65 billion Feb. 19, 1951; 125 billion, March 28, 1942; 210 billion, April 11, 1943; 260 billion, June 9, 1944; 300 billion, April 3, 1945; it was lowered to 275 billion June 26, 1946.

Writing Patman regarding the ceiling limitation, research experts in the Congressional Library said that reasons most often given for its imposition are:

1. To maintain the credit of the government; 2. To prevent inflation; 3. To prevent any undue shift of the burdens of government from the present generation to a future generation; 4. To keep a reasonable ratio between income and outgo.

"The legal implications that would apply if this limit were exceeded are not definitely clear," they added. "It is possible that bonds issued without authority would be void under the ordinary rules of law, but on the other hand the government may be stopped from raising the issue of wrongful issuance."

Rep. J. Frank Wilson of Dallas had this to say:

"I'm against appropriating in amounts to take the debt up to the ceiling. I'm in favor of cutting the budget, and I think we can do it in both military and civilian departments."

Rep. Teague: "I'm hoping we can cut the debt limitation still further, certainly not increase it."

Rep. Frank Bard of Wichita Falls:

"I'd like to see us keep spending down. I'm certainly against increasing the debt ceiling under any circumstances other than an outright war.

"I think we should take another look at this foreign economic aid. No matter how laudable and Christian it is to help the rest of the world, we can't keep it up forever at this rate."

Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa: "This deficit financing can lead to bankruptcy, socialism and loss of individual freedom. That's probably Russia's strategy, so let's don't fall for it."

"I agree that there's plenty of room for cutting the budget. The military is a good place to start; it's criminal the way they've been throwing money away."

Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson: "The only way I'd agree to raising the debt ceiling would be if we became involved in an all-out war. I'm against new taxes and I think we can cut down the budget estimates plenty."

Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater:

"I hope we can bring about economies and savings so it won't be necessary to even think about raising the debt limitation."

Peps W. R. Poage of Waco and Clark Fisher of San Angelo both agreed that they also are opposed to any new taxes and feel much can be cut from the president's budget requests.

Rep. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr. of McAllen:

"I would look with considerable disfavor on raising the debt limitation. The only justification would be for urgent increases in national defense, which I hope we won't have to have."

Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston:

"Unless the emergency conditions become substantially worse we should hold the debt ceiling where it is. I expect we can make some material savings in the budget requests for national defense without in any way impairing our security."
