Posse Roundup's Entry List Grows

A big entry list for all events is in prospect for the Eighth Annual Spring Roundup of the American Association of Sheriff's Poses and Riding Clubs, which opens here Friday.

Bill Donaldson, president of the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse, host organization for the event, said approximately 500 entries had already been logged for the various events.

The Roundup will begin at 8 a.

m. Friday, with registration. First competitive event on the program is a polo game set for 9 a. m. Friday, and activities will continue on a close schedule through Sunday afternoon, when the association will hold its annual meeting.

Most events will be conducted in the Rodeo arena west of town. However, polo games will be held off at the Sheriff's Posse arena, except for the final which will be moved to the Rodeo arena.

Ten polo teams are expected to compete during the Roundup.

One of the most colorful features is scheduled for Saturday morning, when two teams will compete in a Pony Express ride from Roby to Snyder. East and West teams will compete, with Anson as the dividing line for team membership. Those from points west of that line will ride for the West team, while those from east of the line will ride for the East team.

There will be 256 horses in the Pony Express ride, and it is estimated that the race will be completed in approximately one hour. Each rider will carry the pouch for his team a quarter of a mile and then hand it to the next rider.

The Scurry County Sheriff's Posse has set up headquarters for the Roundup in the 1900 block of Twenty-fifth Street. The telephone number at the Roundup headquarters is HI 3-5791.

Zorin Warns Russians To Back Castro

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin today laid before the United Nations a warning that the Soviet Union is prepared to support the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro with "all the necessary assistance."

The Soviet deputy foreign minister read to the General Assembly's Political Committee, the complete text of a declaration and a letter sent to President Kennedy by Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The warning of military aid was in the declaration.

Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson told the committee he hoped to read Kennedy's reply later in the day.

The exchange took place at the opening of another tense round of debate on Monday's invasion of Cuba by Anti-Castro forces. The Public gallery was only partly filled because of the strict screening of visitors.

The Khrushchev letter and its accompanying statement, were handed to Edward L. Freers, U.S. charge d'affaires, in Moscow. Zorin read the full text of both to the committee.

The Soviet Union is expected to demand a U.S. denunciation of the United States as an aggressor against Cuba. The demand, however, is expected to get a cold reception from most delegates other than Cuba and the Soviet bloc.

Blanchard was appointed city attorney of Snyder at a special meeting of the city council last night.

Blanchard will assume his duties immediately in the post, which has been vacant since the death of W. W. Park on April 7.

Blanchard previously served as judge of the corporation court here, and has practiced law here for several years.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt In Highway Crash

Two persons were killed and two others were injured when a 1960 Pontiac slammed into a culvert abutment early today about 4½ miles east of Snyder on U. S. Highway 180.

Dead were James McDonald, 1408 Northeast Ninth Street, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Betty Jamison, 26, 1225 North Gate, Oklahoma City.

Hospitalized for treatment of injuries were McDonald's wife, Mrs. Lovie Jane McDonald, and Mrs. Jamison's husband, Babe Ruth McDonald.

Bolger Funeral Home ambulances brought the injured to Cogdell Memorial Hospital, and the bodies of the two dead were at Bolger Funeral Home awaiting funeral arrangements.

Highway Patrolman Irv Daniels, who investigated the accident, said McDonald, the driver, apparently went to sleep at the wheel. The vehicle ran off the left side of the highway, traveled some 300 feet on the left shoulder of the road, finally striking the culvert. The car, which was damaged heavily, came to rest astraddle of the concrete culvert.

Babe Ruth Jamison suffered multiple fractures, while Mrs. McDonald was being treated for multiple fractures of a leg and an arm. Both were reported in fair condition at noon today.

Tax Bills Take Top Priority In House

By LEE JONES
AUSTIN (AP)—The House voted today to give highest priority to the rest of this regular session to debate on tax bills in an effort to avoid special sessions.

This whole thing is designed to prevent us having a special session," said Speaker James T. Van Dusen.

The vote was 98-42, with two-thirds needed, on a motion that would allow Van Dusen to lay a tax bill out for debate with just one day's notice.

Turnman indicated he might call a tax bill session either Friday or next Monday if the House Tax Committee should vote out a bill this afternoon.

Pending amendments to the Senate measure would make the measure effective in 1963 or in 1973 instead of next fall as originally written.

In other developments, Gov. Price Daniel vetoed a bill aimed at exempting farm trailers up to 12,000 pounds from state registration.

The purpose of the bill as originally introduced was so greatly expanded by subsequent amendments that public safety and state and county revenues would be severely decreased if the bill should become enacted into law, Daniel said.

Daniel noted that during its route through the Legislature the bill picked up amendments exempting the trailers from all brake requirements and reducing the present registration fee to $5 per vehicle on trailers up to 10,000 pounds transporting liquid fertilizers.

He said the bill affected more than 15,000 additional trucks and trailers and would cost the highway funds of the state and counties an estimated $2,700,000 a year in loss of revenue. He also said the bill would, for the first time, exempt heavier farm trailers from the requirement of adequate brakes.

"An increased weight to 12,000 pounds would seem to call for more adequate brakes and safety precautions, rather than complete abandonment of the requirements which now exist for lesser loads," the governor said.

Daniel also protested that the bill would exempt additional water well drilling machinery and construction machinery from registration, even if part of a conventional vehicle.

Welch also was quoted as saying there are more communist sympathizers in the federal government than ever before, including the diplomatic corps.

Saul Friedman, a chronic reporter, tape recorded the hour and a half interview with Welch Monday in Dallas.

Friedman asked how many communists or sympathizers are in the diplomatic corps.

"I think it's fairly heavy in the diplomatic corps," Welch replied. "I really do. It's fairly heavy percentage-wise."

"What about Kennedy himself?" Friedman asked. "What classification would you make?" Welch replied:

"Well, I was asked that in a place and I tried to stay out of that argument, but I was asked it in 1958, Santa Barbara, and I said that I did not think that Mr. Kennedy was as much a captive of the communists as the previous administration had been, but I still don't like the continuing appeasement and that's all I think I should say on that."

Say Rebels Move Inland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Soviet Premier Khrushchev, appealed to President Kennedy today to halt the invasion of Cuba by forces seeking to overthrow Khrushchev's old friend Fidel Castro. Khrushchev called the attack a menace to world peace and promised "all necessary assistance" to Castro.

More than 24 hours after the landings in Cuba, the rebels were reported moving inland in an area 90 miles east of Havana.

Prime Minister Castro took personal charge of the attempt to curb the invaders, and a Cuban broadcast said counter-revolutionaries had marked him for assassination. The broadcast announced the arrest of 27 persons, including Maj. Humberto Sorí Marín, Castro's former minister of agriculture.

A spokesman for the attacking forces claimed wholesale desertions by forces nominally loyal to Castro, including many of the militia men. Castro had reportedly recruited from all ranks of Cuban life. Those are now the people who may spell success or failure for the attempt to topple Castro.

Rebel leaders, in the United States asserted the invaders who landed in southwest Las Villas Province Monday had struck half way across the narrow island to Oriente.

The Communists charged the invasion was financed by the United States and supported by U.S. warships and planes from Florida and Central America. The United States has denied supplying the invaders but has expressed sympathy for the forces fighting to overthrow Castro.

A statement by the Soviet government said in a message to Kennedy that the Soviet Union wants to decrease world tension "but if others aggravate it, we shall reply in full measure."

A statement by the Soviet government went a step further and warned that the Cuban fighting is "capable of jeopardizing the peaceful life of the U.S.A. itself."

Khrushchev did not mention the rockets he once symbolically promised to bring to Castro's aid.

The Cuban radio immediately hailed the Khrushchev message, declaring in a nationwide broadcast.

"The Soviet Union will not abandon the Cuban people in its misfortune and will lend it all necessary support."

In Moscow, a mass demonstration was staged in front of the U.S. Embassy by several thousand persons, some of them suffering from the effects of the Cuban Revolution's "Friendship with the U.S.S.R." campaign.

They smashed the embassy's windows, splattered the yellow stucco building with green and purple ink and shouted pro-Castro slogans.

Soldiers and mounted police kept the crowd outside the high iron fence in front of the embassy. Most embassy personnel and their families watched from inside. No one was hurt.

With Cuba itself blacked out for all newsmen except those of the Communist bloc, news of the fighting was confined to sketchy claims by the Cuban radio and by anti-Castro spokesmen abroad.

Castro issued a terse communique at 12:55 a.m.

"The revolutionary (Castro) troops continue to fight heroically in southwest Las Villas Province where mercenaries disembarked with imperialist support," Castro said.

Observers in Miami considered it significant that the usually boastful Castro made no victory claims.

Both sides claimed the next few hours could be crucial in the fight for the Caribbean island republic. The key factor was believed to be the loyalty of Castro's 400,000 troops and militia members.

State Park Proposed At Lake Thomas

A delegation from the Snyder Junior Chamber of Commerce conferred yesterday with county commissioners on the possibility of acquiring a state park at Lake J. B. Thomas.

They expressed belief that all requirements could be met, provided a suitable site adjacent to the lake could be acquired for the purpose.

Russell Jones, county park superintendent, also sat in on the session. It was noted that in most cases state parks are designed near a body of water, and that Lake J. B. Thomas offers one of the few such locations in this area.

Jarvis in the delegation included Ray House, Doug McGinnis, Gene Thompson and Joe Seifert.

In other business, the commissioners court authorized its right-of-way agent to make firm offers of appraisal value for eight parcels of land needed for U. S. Highway 84 improvements north of town, okayed the purchase of a trailer machine for the county park department, and authorized the county judge to advertise for bids for paving two miles of roads in Precinct No. 2.

Probers Are Told When Bids Rugged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A General Electric Co. official testified today that representatives of the three domestic producers of large steam turbine generators rugged bids on the multimillion-dollar equipment at meetings between 1951 and 1959.

John Peters, 42, of Schenectady, N. Y., a market research specialist for General Electric, told Senate investigators that the other companies whose representatives participated in the meetings were the Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Allis-Chalmers.

"Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Committee, asked him if the purpose was to divide up the market for the generators."

"Occasionally that took place," Peters replied. He said that "if

Questions Answered By Tower

DALLAS (AP) — Republican senatorial candidate John Tower visited Southern Methodist University today and answered a wide variety of questions by students Monday.

They ranged from activities of the John Birch Society to Tower's opposition to Nelson Rockefeller as GOP presidential candidate in 1964.

Speaking of a Birch Society movement to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, Tower said it was "legally impractical" and he doesn't think there are "adequate grounds."

As for Rockefeller, Tower called him a "personal friend" but said that because of differences in ideologies he would oppose nomination of Rockefeller in 1964.

"To other questions, he replied 'I consider myself a moderate in civil rights.'"

"I probably would have voted against Dr. Robert Weaver to head the federal housing program but because of his race but because he is not qualified by experience."

House Damaged In Blaze Here

A closet and the attic of a house sustained damage in a fire Monday night, city firemen report.

Firemen were called out on a general alarm at 11:30 p. m. to the W. Green residence, 304 Thirtieth Place.

A closet was burned out and fire spread into the attic before it was extinguished, causing considerable smoke damage. Firemen said doors were being varnished in the house, and threatened that furniture might have ignited from water pilot light.

Poetic Taxpayer Makes His Point

BALTIMORE (AP) — The meter of the poem could have been improved, but the author got his point across.

The rhyme, mailed with a tax form to the Baltimore office of the Internal Revenue Service before the deadline Monday night, said:

"Income tax once again this year.
And brings anything but good cheer.
Each year it seems I pay you more—
Each year I get a little poorer."

Takes Dim View Of Better City Lights

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Better lighting for downtown San Jose may be a bright idea but Dr. Jack Whitford takes a dim view of it.

In a letter to the Downtown Merchants Association, Dr. Whitford—director of nearby Lick Observatory—explained that the proposal "would seriously hamper the effectiveness of the observatory's telescope."

The observatory, atop Mt. Hamilton, is about seven miles from the Northern California city.

Satellites May Aid Hurricane Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau has in operation a mobile satellite network to watch for incipient hurricanes and to track them closely once they become full-blown storms.

Long-range plans include use of satellites.

The bureau outlined its plans in a letter to Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., who had proposed that the bureau provide a floating ocean weather station in the Gulf of Mexico to furnish storm warnings.

The bureau told Colmer it is opposed to his proposal because it believes it can obtain better and more complete ocean weather data by other, more economical, methods.

Colmer said he agreed that the bureau's program is better than the approach he had in mind. He said he will not push his bill but will watch the development of the hurricane detection program now in the works.

The backbone of the bureau's system is a radar hurricane detection network now being completed, Colmer was advised. Also, the bureau, in cooperation with the Navy, is maintaining and expanding a program for installing unmanned automatic weather observing stations in the Gulf.

In the offing, the bureau said, is observation of hurricane clouds and other storms by weather satellites.

Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Gudeman told Colmer that the hurricane detection radars, each with a maximum range of 250 miles and staffed around the clock by experts, are in operation at Brownsville, Tex.; New Orleans; Apalachicola, Tampa and Key West, Fla.

By June 1, Gudeman said, similar stations will be in operation at Corpus Christi, Houston and Gray whales once roamed the North Atlantic. Today, their sole range is the Pacific along North American shores from the Bering Sea to Lower California and from Korea to Russia's Okhotsk Sea.

Agreement On Rebels Is Reported

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Belgian radio reported Monday night that Congolese army officers have reached an agreement placing the rebel troops of Antoine Gizenga under the authority of the central government in Leopoldville.

The Congolese radio in Leopoldville reported the agreement was reached at Akle, a small town in northern Oriental Province.

The agreement included a general cease-fire in the smoldering civil war between the central government forces commanded by Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu and the Lumumbist forces under Gen. Victor Lundula. The latter's forces recognized Mobutu as their supreme commander.

There was no indication whether Mobutu and Lundula personally took part in the Akle meeting.

The report said the cease-fire covered "the whole Congo territory" and Lundula's troops simultaneously "acknowledged Leo-polville's authority over the 'Oriental' province armed forces."

The agreement also stipulated that the Congolese army would not interfere in politics and that "remaining problems" would be solved at a later date.

A subsequent Belgian radio broadcast cast some doubts on the reported agreement and said informed circles in Brussels believed neither Mobutu nor Lundula had authority to conclude such an agreement. But any such agreement could exert powerful pressure on Antoine Gizenga, the political head of the Stanleyville regime, to reach an agreement with President Joseph Kasavubu.

Growing Sub Fleet Of Reds Is Menace

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON, AP—Red China's growing submarine fleet—it is believed to total more than 20 long-range, modern craft—has added a new dimension to the navy's man-size problem of defending this country's shipping lanes and coasts.

But the big menace is posed by an estimated 400 Soviet submarines, most of them advanced, far-ranging types and some capable of firing missiles, although apparently not as deep-striking as the U.S. Polaris with its 1,300-mile reach.

Rear Adm. Lloyd M. Mustin, the Navy's antisubmarine warfare chief, said in an interview that as things stand "we could win" any test of strength with the Communist bloc sub fleet—but not without losses.

There are others in the Navy and outside who contend there is ground for doubt about present U.S. capability in this field.

U.S. Navy officials are operating on the assumption the U.S.S.R. soon will have nuclear-powered subs—if it doesn't have them already.

So far, none have been spotted, but officials speculated the Soviets may be holding them from view while working out remaining bugs.

The advent of Soviet nuclear subs will multiply demands on U.S. anti-submarine forces, some say by as much as 5 or 10 times.

This is because atomic-powered submarines, craft can stay submerged indefinitely, thus defying surface and air detection. They can travel underwater at more than 20 knots, as compared with 5 or 6 knots of conventional subs.

If and when the Soviets muster 20 or more nuclear subs, the problem of coping with them may take on critical proportions, officials said.

However, "We know what to do about it," Mustin said, claiming the U.S. Navy has the techniques and weapons in quality.

The question in the admiral's view, is quantity.

At the present rate of acquiring ships, helicopters, nuclear depth charges and torpedoes, super-sonic sonar detecting gear and the like, "We won't cut the mustard," Mustin said.

"We've got to find some means to provide more money for anti-submarine warfare capability, or we're going to fall behind," he said.

Overall, the Communist bloc has about 400 submarines. The United States has more than 100 of these. 17 are nuclear-powered.

In addition, Britain and other nations friendly to the United States have about 100 subs. None are nuclear, although Britain is building its first.

How can U.S. officials speak with assurance of Communist sub numbers?

"We know every one of these subs by name and number," Mustin said, adding that the United States has pictures of many of them, taken by patrol planes.

"About 75 per cent of the Soviet subs have been built since 1960," Mustin said, the reason the number stays at around 400 is that as new boats join the Red fleet older ones are retired.

"We believe the Russians have been building nuclear and conventional subs at the rate of about 20 a year," Mustin said.

He estimated the Communist Chinese have been building Soviet-type boats at what he called a "modest but continuing rate of about five a year."

For the coming fiscal year President Kennedy's budget calls for funds to construct 12 subs—10 of them, missile-firing Polaris craft. All would be atomic.

Navy antisubmarine warfare specialists indicate they do not yet regard the Communist Chinese sub threat as serious.

They stress it takes more than the subs alone—that it takes a high degree of skill in the complicated "technique" of underwater warfare.

They stress it takes more than the subs alone—that it takes a high degree of skill in the complicated "technique" of underwater warfare.

About 100 Soviet submarines are based in Far Eastern waters and conceivably could team with the Red Chinese, if the need arose.

Mustin said that in Soviet submarine operations geography is against them.

He noted the Soviet Union's main access to the North Atlantic is from bases in the far north, on the Kola Peninsula near Finland.

Narrow outlets from the Baltic and the Black Sea could easily be stepped up and a Communist sub base in Albania would be highly vulnerable.

In the Pacific, chief Soviet sub bases are in southern Siberia and the lower Kamchatka Peninsula above Japan.

Granting conventional subs a maximum practical operational range of 5,000 miles, Mustin said this would permit effective use of Soviet undersea craft as far south as the bulge of Brazil in the Atlantic and the Panama Canal in the Pacific.

Mustin conceded these areas take in the principal water routes connecting the United States with the rest of the free world.

But he said the deploying of antisubmarine forces in the north-Pacific below the Aleutians could pretty well block off Soviet undersea marauders from that direction.

And he implied a similar barrier made up of carriers, destroyers, planes and helicopters could deal with any Soviet sub units coming down from the European north.

Adenauer's Visit Is Called Success

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN, AP—Top level foreign policy talks between Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer continued Monday night.

Chancellor Adenauer's trip was a decided success, Johnson told newsmen after his guest departed. "We had a free exchange of views on many questions."

An assistant secretary of state rode with the two men to the airport.

Together we reviewed the content of the talks that Adenauer has had with me and with President Kennedy," Johnson said. "The vice president returned to Washington Monday night."

Adenauer has a very high regard for President Kennedy, he said. "He appreciates the President's candor and thoroughness, and his knowledge of world conditions."

The chancellor particularly appreciated the President's thoughtful telephone call from the White House.

He said the President asked Johnson to tell Adenauer that Kennedy:

1. Regretted not being able to see Adenauer "so wonderfully received by Texas."

2. Wanted to assure Adenauer there would be a continued exchange of confidences with West Germany.

3. Sought "to again assure him that we recognize the Federal Republic of Germany as a full partner and a great power and it would be treated as such in any matters involving them."

Johnson said he and Mrs. Johnson will be going to Germany "before long and return the visit."

He said he and the President talked about the "general world situation" in Monday's telephone call but did not specifically discuss either the Cuban situation or Laos.

In introducing Adenauer at a joint session of the Texas Legislature, Johnson said that "the security of free Germany and free Berlin is our security."

Adenauer said he was grateful for this "clear unmistakable pledge, which will be welcomed in Germany with great joy."

GREETINGS—Konrad Adenauer, West German Chancellor, waves his Texas-style hat in greetings to crowds that gathered at the LBJ Ranch at Johnson City, Texas, to greet him. With Adenauer is Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Mrs. Johnson and at the right is the Chancellor's daughter, Mrs. Lieth-Werhahn. Adenauer and his party were guests of the Johnsons at their ranch in the Texas hill country. (AP Wirephoto)

Hodges Bids For Trust Of Business

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Business should ask more and get more from government agencies instead of fearing that the climate of Washington has turned unfriendly.

That's the view of Luther Hodges. He says one of his big tasks as secretary of commerce is to get businessmen to realize what his department can do for them and to make more use of these aids.

He concedes that the conservative element among businessmen is quite large one—may distrust the course the Kennedy administration is plotting because of its spending implications. He hopes this fear of a larger federal role, more inflation, perhaps higher taxes and more regulation can be overcome.

"It can be," Hodges holds. "If business will realize that while the Eisenhower policies centered on trying to balance the budget and curb inflation, the Kennedy policies are aimed at halting the slowdown in economic growth which resulted."

And Hodges says that the revision of the makeup of the Business Advisory Council and his expansion of its chores were both overdue and necessary.

Hodges also held in an interview here Saturday, that the current first stirrings of business recovery are due in part, if only a psychological one so far, to what the Kennedy administration has started to do. He says this has given a lift to public confidence now just beginning to show up in the business statistics.

He insists this will show up more and more, and the statistics—industrial output, personal income, housing starts, retail trade—continue to rise.

Hodges says his first task, already far advanced, is to shake up and rejuvenate his department.

And then he must sell it to businessmen as a productive source of aid and information. He says the department's 33 field offices are working to help businessmen "buddy" in expanding their domestic markets and in pushing their export trade.

The secretary is leaving shortly for Europe in an effort to increase

X15 Expected To Set A New Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X15 rocket plane is expected to set a winged-craft speed record of more than 3,100 miles an hour on its next flight.

Air Force Maj. Bob White, who last March 27 flew the X15 to a record aircraft speed of 2,960 m.p.h., will again be at the controls for the flight expected this week.

During the descent White will test new instruments designed to overcome "buffeting" experienced by pilot Joe Walker, returning from 160,000 feet March 30.

Castro Likely On Last Legs

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro's days seem numbered as the ruler of Cuba, regardless of the success or failure of invading rebel forces.

If the invasion achieves one of its major objectives—perhaps the most important of all—it will spark a wave of defections from Castro's forces. This could mean that Cuba might be spared a long fratricidal civil war.

Cuban sources in Miami admit their success may hang on this factor more than any other. For then, in this respect, the invasion has been a calculated gamble.

Should the number of defections from the ranks of Castro's supporters be far less than the rebels anticipate, the invasion could fail.

But this would not necessarily save Fidel himself. He is rapidly becoming a liability to the Communists who now dominate the island, and it is far from improbable that the Communists themselves would feel it expedient to devise some means of getting rid of him.

Castro's loud blundering, which in two years has helped bring the island's economy to confused wreckage, has gotten in the way of the Communists. If the Communists are noted for anything, it is for their knack of organizing the power of a country and nailing it down.

For the Communists, it is important that Cuba get economically organized so that it can present a better face to the rest of Latin America as a revolt against the Yankees supported by a solicitous Moscow.

But technicians from the Communist bloc who have been trying to whip the economy into some sort of sanity have been reported recently giving up the ghost, unable to cope with the whims and caprices of the "maximum leader."

A Cuba under Communist control might be much easier for Moscow to handle should Fidel disappear from the scene. The Communists are expert at removing those who have become unnecessary without themselves taking the blame.

Even if the invasion succeeds, the Russians may find themselves able to live with it. A counter-revolution in Cuba would give them an issue with which to belabor the United States for a long time to come. It could also provide sparks for harassing violence against other Latin American governments. The tone of Moscow's reactions to the invasion news hardly indicated an eagerness to risk World War III to save Fidel.

But the invasion would have a tough time succeeding without the defections upon which the rebels are banking so heavily. They expect these desertions from the ranks of career men in the army, navy and air force. Yet it will require more than that.

Much depends upon how solid is Fidel's hold upon the militia. That is made up of ordinary people, dragged into long hours of Marching, drilling and training on their own time. Many resented it, and many may be of a mind to defect. But the militia also has a large number of fanatical young men and women who enjoy playing with guns and shaking their fists at the Yankees.

Johnson To Back Blakley

AUSTIN (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson said Monday he is for William Blakley in the Senate runoff election May 27.

Johnson told a news conference: "I will cast my vote as a Texan for what I believe is for the best interest of the people of the state and for the country. That vote will be for Bill Blakley."

The vice president said Blakley has a good record in the Senate and as an interim senator has excellent committee assignments and seniority.

"I can't conceive of any good that could come from Texans turning their back on the Democratic administration and the Democratic Congress and voting against their own interests," Johnson said.

Curbs Set In Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—The Ceylon government has declared a state of emergency to combat a separatist movement of the island nation's Tamil minority.

Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike's government banned the Tamil federal party and imposed "control of publications," presumably some form of press censorship. Strong army contingents were dispatched to the Tamil stronghold of Jaffna, 200 miles north of the capital.

The two million Hindu Tamils in north and east Ceylon are seeking to preserve their language and culture from the influence of the 15 million Buddhist Sinhalese.

Tamil leaders last week started a Gandhi-style non-violent civil disobedience campaign to promote their separatist demands.

Finch, Carole Are Sentenced

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and his paramour, ex-model Carole Tregoff, 32, have been sentenced to life imprisonment for the fatal shooting of Finch's socialite wife.

Superior Court Judge David Coleman said Monday the case against the two was overwhelming. He called their defense "a shoddy and crudely woven fabric of deceit."

The once prosperous West Covina surgeon and his red-haired mistress were convicted in their third trial of murder and conspiracy in the July 18, 1959, slaying of Barbara Jean Finch, 36. The jury set their penalty.

The judge rejected their bids for new trials. Both said they would appeal.

Finch was ordered to China, Miss Tregoff to Corona Women's Prison—both in Southern California.

Five Questions At Heart Of Invasion

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five questions stand at the heart of the anti-Castro invasion of Cuba. What will Russia do? Why did the invaders pick April 17? What part, if any, did the United States play? Are the Cubans capable of or against Fidel Castro? If the invaders win, what kind of government will they set up?

In Moscow the government newspaper Pravda said the Communist world stands behind Castro, called the invaders "American hirelings." The official Soviet news agency Tass said Russia and its allies are ready to help Castro.

Although the Soviet Union and its satellites have given Castro arms, now in his moment of peril further help from them is a long way off unless they send in planes.

There is a limit on what they can do without risking war with the United States.

Twice now in seven years extreme left-wing governments set up in the Western Hemisphere under the American nose have been invaded: in Guatemala in 1954 the government was crushed.

The Communists have been trying to do to the United States what this country has done to them, that is, establish alliances close to American shores. The United States has made such alliances with some of Russia's closest neighbors.

If Castro fails it would not be surprising to see Russia, or its emissaries, create a crisis for the United States elsewhere. It has been stalling on a case-fire in Laos, for instance. It could turn Laos into a furnace.

Last Saturday three Cuban air bases were attacked from the air by bombers. Two of the planes later landed in Florida where one of the pilots said he and his companions had deserted the Cuban air force.

This raid apparently was an attempt to destroy whatever planes Castro had left. Two days later came the invasion. They seemed linked. That still doesn't explain why April 17 was the target date.

Perhaps the invaders decided now or never in fear that if they waited much longer Castro might be too well armed to be overcome.

There have been repeated reports for weeks that a number of Cubans have been trained as jet pilots in the satellites and that Castro has received from them the Iron Curtain a batch of jet planes which are still in crates, waiting to be assembled.

At the United Nations, Adlai Stevenson denied an offensive had been launched from this country against Cuba. Secretary of State Dean Rusk again stated the U. S. policy of non-intervention.

But Rusk avoided any flat commitment that this country is not giving back-door aid to the rebels. Nor did President Kennedy at his news conference last week say the United States would not help anti-Castro rebels.

He said neither Americans nor American armed forces would intervene in Cuba.

But the New York Times has said that Cuban exiles for nine months have trained in this country and Central America for invasion.

What isn't clear is how many Cubans share the anti-Castro feelings of the rebels. The invaders will have their hands full if most of the Cuban people are pro-Castro.

Cuba has had a long history of dictatorship, and revolts. The anti-Cuban exiles in this country range from right to liberal, to say the least. Last month they got together in a coalition called the Cuban Revolutionary Council.

This togetherness may last no longer than it takes to crush Castro. Then who wins, if they win, is anyone's guess.

Says Only Dictator Can Catch Russians

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — Economist Roger W. Babson says the United States must turn to dictatorship if it expects to catch the Soviet Union in the space race.

"With the world being in the position it is today, I don't see how we can risk going along as we are," he said in an interview. "Three years ago we were informed we were behind the Russians and we are not closing the gap."

Babson, 86, said the United States was able to beat the Soviets in development of the atom bomb only because "it was a dictatorship under President Roosevelt during the war."

Third Fire Hits Plant

BORGER (AP) — Fire hit a Phillips Petroleum Co. installation near here in the Texas Panhandle late Monday for a third time in recent months.

Flames raged several hours in the big Plains Butadiene Plant of Phillips Chemical Co., a subsidiary of the petroleum firm. It employs 300 workers. There were no injuries.

A ruptured chemical line was blamed. The blaze was contained in a hydrocarbon test-battery 50 feet long and 20 feet wide by emergency firemen. Valves were closed and the flames finally died out. Nearby fuel lines and tanks were drenched with water to keep them cool. The fire was not spectacular. It could not be seen outside the plant. No damage estimate was made.

The plant processes butadiene for Phillips' nearby synthetic rubber plant. The chemical plant is at Bonaville, 3 miles west of Borger.

Last Feb. 22 nine men died in a fire and explosion at a Phillips refinery northwest of Borger. The company had another fire March 13, but no one was hurt.

From 1945 until 1948, Juan Gomez was dictator of Venezuela. He frequently circulated rumors of his death and shot anyone who started celebrating.

Indictment Is Quashed

CLEBURNE (AP) — Dist. Judge Penn Jackson Monday quashed an indictment against Curtis Travis, former Potter County chief deputy sheriff, growing out of a legislative investigation last year.

Travis was charged with perjury before a county grand jury. The judge acted after Travis' lawyer, George McCarthy, argued that the indictment was based on what testimony Travis allegedly perjured himself and it failed to show food and drink allegedly given Travis were in return for not enforcing laws against gambling.

Grand jurors returned the indictment after a Texas House General Investigating Committee probe last year of vice in Potter and Randall Counties.

Travis was scheduled to be tried here April 24 on a charge of venue from Amarillo.

Trial of former Randall County Judge Roy Joe Stevens was postponed indefinitely on motion of both the state and defense last Saturday. Stevens also was indicted on a perjury charge as an outgrowth of the legislators' hearing.

Coffee Break Develops Own Characters

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK, AP. — The great social event in the modern business world is the coffee break. Now it's moved from the office to the home.

The employer's idea originally was that office output would be increased if the "white-collar" peasants were given a 15-minute period to gulp down a hot cup of coffee.

Since then the hired hands have joyously enlarged on that theory until today the coffee break has become practically a way of life. The caterer's refreshment cart in thousands of offices wheels in regularly at 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and all work stops as the employees gaily line up for their goodies. The 15-minute gulp is out of style. Any employee with the ingenuity to deserve promotion can easily stretch his coffee break to half an hour.

This means — as many a boss knows — that because of coffee breaks an employee paid for a 40-hour week now puts in only 35 hours, and time off in the rest rooms for indulgence.

Here are some "coffee break" characters you may have noted in your office:

The Broom Intruder — He steps quickly in at the head of the line, murmuring "terribly sorry. You know you must mind this once. Lot of work I just have to get back to."

The Crying Tightwad — "That cruller you gave me yesterday was so stale I had to throw most of it away," he moans. "How about a free one today?"

The Complative Muncher — He loads up with everything he can carry, eats for an hour — then falls asleep until lunch. He does the same thing at the afternoon coffee break, sleeps until quitting time.

The Walking Hangover — After buying a container of hot black coffee, he sneaks out to the men's room and fortifies it with gin. His gripe: "They serve everything else — why don't they serve martinis?"

The Rumormonger — "I know why the coffee's so weak and the food so lousy," he whispers, hand to mouth. "I hear the management gets a 50 per cent kickback on all sales."

The Junior Executive — He doesn't really want anything. He just stands in line to show he's democratic, hoping that he'll get ahead faster if he shows he's still just one of the boys.

The Boss-He comes out and stares morosely at all the coffee break artists, eating, laughing, gossiping. "Don't anybody around here ever do any work?" he mutters.

Then he stomps out to the nearest restaurant for a late breakfast, asking himself: "Who the devil ever invented the coffee break? It's ruining industry."

Soviet Space Flight Fails To Shatter Our Complacency

By Inez Robb
Who among us cannot remember when no American was content for his own, his native land to be second in anything, even hoop-ruling?

But with few exceptions, we are surely playing the Russian cosmic game cool. In the immediate reaction to this astounding feat, there was little note of urgency among us, the people. The immediate comments from the man in the street, in the press, radio and television, could be summed up with: "Yeah? Whadda you know? So they got a guy up there."

No average citizen expressed any alarm, dismay or bruised national pride that, once more, the Russians had beaten us to the draw and that in a most spectacular manner are bound to impress the rest of the world with its skill and know-how.

The President made no secret of his unhappiness that once more the Soviet was there first with the most. He said that no one was "more proud" than he of seeing the Russians once more out in front in the space race.

But how many Americans agreed with him?

And how many felt like the unidentified scientist at Cape Canaveral who was quoted as saying "I could cry?"

Well, I think a few tears are indicated and wouldn't harm any of us. And, while we're about it, how about stamping in our brain the Russian challenge: "Catch us if you can." Triumphant at orbiting the Christopher Columbus of the space age, at achieving what many international scientist regard as the greatest feat of our time.

Who can blame the Russians for that chesty challenge?

What American is going to deny the prediction of Erik Tandberg of the Norwegian Military Research Institute that "the next step to be expected from the Russians will naturally be the launching of a manned space ship to the moon," and concurred in by Kenneth Galt, vice-president of the British Interplanetary Society?

And who among us can challenge the sober Russian scientist, vice-president of the Soviet Academy of Science, when he adds, "It [the flight to the moon] will be done. The battle is half won."

Since World War II, nothing has shattered American complacency neither Sputnik nor Comenator. Nor the effect that Russian technology has had on new, undecided and uncommitted countries.

Just why this nation, which cracked the atom and went on to produce the hydrogen bomb, should be so far out in left field—should it be right?—in space matters is puzzling and alarming. Sure, we have had our triumph in space too. But if we are honest, we must face the fact that, from the beginning, the Russians have beat us to the punch. And in the cold war of worlds, that is nothing over which to be complacent in our preoccupation with comfort and business as usual.

Sometimes I wonder what it will take to make us Americans a bit less complacent, a bit more concerned for our nation and our selves.

Sputnik and the Comenator should have acted like an ice-cold shaft followed by a stupendous kick in the pants. But the only horror we really fear in this country, or so it seems, is the awful possibility of a raise in taxes. The very thought of a tax hike is enough to arouse all the fury and drive that should have been instantly released by Sputnik and Ga-ga.

Congress, in the First Hundred Days of the New Frontier, has, for better or for worse, sat on its hands and done practically nothing in the face of a dozen urgent problems. The only action it has taken with any enthusiasm is the Easter recess that permitted it to go home and mend local fences.

Now I wonder how we Americans and our Congress will react on the fateful day, and it is probably not too far off, when Red China announces that it has an atom bomb of its own? Will that terrifying news galvanize this nation into the magnificent, selfless action of which it is so capable? Or, in answer to this dreadful threat, will we merely burrow deeper into the electric blanket as we turn over and murmur, "Yeah."

How complacent can we get when every signal tower is flashing red?

Prosecutor Lost Kin In Massacre

By HANNS NEUBERG
JERUSALEM (AP)—He spoke about the Nazi massacre at Lvov. Quoted an eyewitness telling how the bodies were burned, their ashes scattered, how gold teeth were collected—16 pounds a day.

Nothing in the voice of Israel's attorney general betrayed that he was touching on a personal experience in his ringing indictment. But Gideon Hausner, lost of relatives in the Lvov holocaust.

Some women in the audience fainted when he recalled the dreadful past. Other listeners sat, stunned into silence, minutes after the court session ended. But Hausner's voice never failed him in the long hours during which he read his powerful statement opening Israel's case against Adolf Eichmann.

The audience never saw his sharp-lined face in full. The listeners caught his profile, his horn rimsed glasses. Occasionally they saw the strong hands of the man who once wanted to become a farmer and still is a passionate gardener. The hands, folded at his back or holding the manuscript, never trembled.

Rarely did he look at Eichmann, who stared at him through-out the length of the speech. Only occasionally did his finger flash out at the defendant. His posture was almost always the same, his right shoulder lowered to the court, his left raised toward the bullet-proof glass box where Eichmann sat.

His voice was usually high-pitched. He lowered it when he dwelt on the gruesome details. It was lowest when he talked about the extermination of Jewish children.

Hausner speaks seven languages, from English to Arabic. But Israelis say he is at his best in Hebrew.

He read 1,500 documents to prepare for his speech and volumes of eyewitness testimony.

Big Helicopter Crashes In Canada

COLD LAKE, Alta. (AP)—A big helicopter with 11 men aboard crashed Monday night in a desolate area 35 miles north of this Canadian air force base in north-eastern Alberta.

The pilot was rescued but the fate of the 10 others in the aircraft—three aircrew and seven civilian construction workers—was not known.

The pilot, Flight Lt. J. L. Jeffs of Winnipeg, was reported only slightly injured. Another helicopter was flown to the scene with medical aid.

Right Color, But Four Years Late

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—The color of the license plate, was correct but not the year.

Dwight Bjedsoe, offered no explanation when state police cited him for driving with 1957 license tags. The date had been concealed with reflectors, said the trooper who gave him a ticket for improper registration.

ANTI-CASTRO LEADERS—These two leaders of the anti-Castro movement, Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, left, and Antonio de Varona, were repatriated enroute to Cuba according to Cuban exile forces. (AP Wirephoto)

No Success For Muslims

LOS ANGELES AP — The Muslim movement among American Negroes is escapist. Defeatist and unlikely to meet with any great success, says Dr. Ralph Bunche.

The United Nations undersecretary for special political affairs told a news conference at UCLA Monday that he saw nothing very new in the black supremacy cult. He cited such previous Negro movements as the "Back to Africa" campaign of the 1930s and the later drive to establish a 49th state for Negroes.

"These are escapist movements," he said, "essentially defeatist. They operate on the assumption there is no solution to the problem of racial relations. In my way of thinking this reasoning is entirely erroneous."

Child Strangled

PHILADELPHIA AP — Richard As. 21 months, accidentally strangled himself Monday when he reached for a kitchen wall telephone, became entangled in its cord and fell from his high chair.

Republicans Watch New Jersey Ballot

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON AP — Republicans across the nation will study the results of today's New Jersey primary election for new evaluations of liberal and conservative strength within their party.

While a contest for nomination for governor is likely to be decided in most instances by the power of candidates organizations and the impact of local issues, most Republicans think the New Jersey battle has some national overtones.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., who has emerged as one of the liberal spokesmen for the liberal wing of the GOP, has staked much of his prestige in trying to get the nomination for James P. Mitchell, former secretary of labor.

Mitchell is opposed by two state senators, Walter H. Jones and Wayne Dumont. While neither appears to bear any prominent conservative label, Mitchell has been touted as a liberal.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower chipped in $100 toward Mitchell's campaign expenses. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was reported to have done some long-distance telephoning in Mitchell's behalf.

"If the former Cabinet member should win in the primary, Case and other party liberals are likely to herald this as a sign that Republicans in political New Jersey are predominantly liberal."

A victory by Mitchell in the general election would be regarded as strengthening the liberal wing of the party for the 1964 battle over the presidential nomination.

Mitchell's defeat would be almost certain to be seized upon by the GOP conservatives as supporting their contention that there is a surge on within the Republican party toward their political philosophy.

A conservative spokesman, Goldwater has not been directly involved in the New Jersey contest. But he has not always seen eye-to-eye with Mitchell and he has differed with Case over the party's course.

Case recently described Goldwater as a decent fellow "who could never be elected president." Goldwater says he isn't running for the job in any event. But none of his associates thinks he would be downcast by a liberal setback in New Jersey.

Liz Happy, But Weak After Getting Oscar

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-TV Writer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—"I feel weak but wonderful," Liz Taylor sighed happily after winning her first Oscar Monday night—a few months after recovering from a brush with death.

The beautiful star, who won the best actress award for her role as the girl-about-town in "Butterfield 8," nearly fainted twice during the 36-minute Academy Awards show.

But she told newsmen: "I'm going to the party, too. I wouldn't miss it."

Liz dominated four straight years for the movies' big award, stole the 33rd annual Oscar show from the other winners—Burt Lancaster, best actor; Shirley Jones, best supporting actress; and Peter Ustinov, best supporting actor.

"The Apartment" won five awards, including best picture and best direction by Billy Wilder.

All the winners posed backstage for photographers but Liz got work in the knees and had to cut her posing short. Accompanied by her husband Eddie Fisher and her doctor, she swayed shakily toward an open door. The fresh air revived her quickly and she was all smiles again.

Earlier, on her arrival, she had to rest 15 minutes before entering the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. The show, telecast over ABC-TV, was well under way before she was able to make it to her seat.

"That's the longest I've walked since my illness," she told a reporter, wily knees got all shaky like they were made of water.

Her beautiful green Dior gown covered a leg still bandaged from antibiotic shots given her two months ago during her nearly fatal battle with pneumonia.

When her name was called for the Oscar, she put her hands over her face in surprise, kissed her husband and then walked slowly, with his help, to the podium.

"I don't really know how to express my great gratitude," she said with emotion. "I guess I will just have to thank you with all my heart."

Lancaster, the hell-baring revivalist of "Elmer Gantry," told a cheering audience: "I want to thank all the members of the Academy who voted for me. And I am so happy that I also want to thank all the members who didn't vote for me."

For Lancaster, 47, the award climaxed a career that had taken him from the New York slums through circus acrobatics to movie stardom.

Miss Jones clutched her Oscar and thanked another Oscar—the late Oscar Hammerstein.

It was Hammerstein and Richard Rodgers who picked—the 27-year-old brewer's daughter from Smithton, Pa., to play the ingenue lead in "Oklahoma" and "Carousel."

But it was her switch to the hardboiled tart of "Elmer Gantry" that won her the Oscar.

"I guess it pays to be had on the screen," she said.

The bearded Ustinov, who won an Oscar for his portrayal of a gladiator acting as a slave in "Spartacus," flew in from Rome to attend the ceremonies.

"I'm glad I made the trip," he said. Then he added, "I attended English schools so long I was taught how to lose gracefully. I've been preparing myself all afternoon. Now that I've won I don't know what to say."

Special Oscars were given to Gary Cooper and Stan Laurel among others. Neither was well enough to attend the ceremonies.

James Stewart accepted Cooper's Oscar with an emotion-filled speech. Fighting back tears and swallowing hard, he said: "We're very proud of you, Coop."

all of us are tremendously proud. "Spartacus" was runner-up to "Apartment" with four Oscars. Besides two acting awards, "Elmer Gantry" also won an Oscar for its writer, Richard Brooks.

The Swedish producer Ingmar Bergman's "The Virgin Spring" was named best foreign language film. Another foreign entry, the Greek comedy, "Never on Sunday," upset four domestic competitors to win the best original song award with a song of the same name.
