Nazis Silent On U. S. Ship; Front Quiet

City Of Flint Believed Still Held By Germans

BERLIN, Oct. 30 (AP)—The American freighter City of Flint apparently was the quarry today in a grim game of hide-and-seek somewhere in the North Atlantic, but German officials were silent.

Unofficial sources said the vessel still was in the hands of a German prize crew and attempting to dodge the British blockade on a run from Murmansk, Russia, to a German port.

The American crew which was taken with the City of Flint after its capture in the Atlantic was said probably to be still aboard as "passengers."

Western Front Quiet The inactivity of recent days continued on the western front, according to a brief high command communiqué which merely reported all quiet.

In informed quarters, meanwhile, hints were dropped of an intensified German submarine campaign against British sea commerce.

"Give England a taste of what a blockade means," was a phrase uttered in naval circles.

Enthusiasm over the successes so far in eight weeks of submarine warfare had led many Germans to the conclusion that Nazi undersea raiders had discovered the weakest spot in Britain's defense—and that this is the spot to hit hardest.

Neutral States Still Hoping For Peace In Europe

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Hope dies hard that some way peace may come in the European war without the conflict running a bloody course to a decisive finish.

Leading figures in many neutral states are continuing an effort to find an opening for inauguration of formal peace discussions.

Here in our own country influential people are working quietly but diligently to this end. It is a battle against time, if success doesn't come before the first great offensive has undammed fresh floods of bitterness, it may be too late.

Mediation undoubtedly would have been offered long ago had it not been for the fear that premature action might be worse than no action at all.

Herr Hitler has made it clear that he has been delaying any major operations on land and in air in the western theatre in hope that he might get peace.

The fact that the Nazi chieftain insists on his own terms doesn't alter the fact that he definitely doesn't want war.

The Allies, on their part, fought See PEACE HOPES, Page 8

Ditch Traps Byrd Snow Cruiser On Ohio Trial Run LIMA, O., Oct. 30 (AP)—A giant snow cruiser, built for an Antarctic expedition, but trapped in a small country ditch, was brought to an even keel today and workmen continued their slow job of jacking it to a level from which the monster could move forward onto an adjoining pasture.

The 75,000-pound machine, constructed in Chicago for Admiral Richard E. Byrd, tumbled from a bridge into Pine Run at nearby Gomer Saturday, landing on its side in mud and water after an eight-foot fall. The cruiser was being taken from Chicago to Boston.

Dry 'Norther' Sends Mercury To 29 Degrees

Continued Cold Is Forecast In Pampa Area Tonight

A dry norther late last night and early this morning gave Pampa its first taste of winter weather, skidding temperatures from 36 degrees at around midnight to 29 degrees at 5:30 o'clock this morning. As the wind decreased, temperatures started a slow advance, with the thermometer registering 37 degrees in mid-morning and a consistent rise recorded thereafter.

Effects of the season's first freeze were brilliantly shown in the sheen of ice that covered evergreen trees at Fairview cemetery. A spray had been left on all night at the cemetery and this morning the sexton found the evergreens in a pre-Christmas setting.

A continuation of the cold spell was forecast, the bulletin reading: See NORTHER, Page 8

Hunt For Ruth Judd Centers In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 30 (AP)—The hunt for Winnie Ruth Judd, elusive mad killer who escaped last Tuesday from the Arizona state hospital, concentrated in this vicinity again today when Sheriff Lon Jordan received a mysterious telephone call saying the trunk murderer had escaped from captors who were returning here to the asylum.

Jordan disclosed that someone called his office before daylight, that they had found Mrs. Judd and were nearing the hospital with her when she jumped from an automobile and disappeared into the dark.

The sheriff did not know the identity of the person calling but he attached enough importance to the report to send deputies to renew the search in the hospital vicinity.

One-Pound Baby Has Chance To Live If He Can Be Quieted

GALVESTON, Oct. 30 (AP)—If Tiny William Arthur Harrell, Galveston's one-pound baby boy, doesn't yell and kick to much in the next few days, doctors agreed today he might live.

But William Arthur, born prematurely Friday night, was yelling his head off and trying to kick the slats out of his incubator.

William Arthur needs weight to live, the doctors said, and his exercise will sap his energy if he is not quieted.

The boy, so small that the attending physician said he could hide him in his hand, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Harrell, formerly of Monroe, La.

The tot is the apple of his papa's eye. His father, 24, is a hotel cook. Doctors explained to the 23-year-old mother that oxygen is being given the baby through tubes inserted in his tiny nostrils. He is fed a few drops of a modified milk formula at regular intervals.

Jurors were being drawn in 31st district court today for the trial of B. H. Huntsman, who is charged with assault with intent to murder in alleged connection with a fight with Fred Keehn here on August 27.

Huntsman was indicted by a 31st district court grand jury on October 10, and has remained in the county jail since his arrest shortly after the altercation in which Keehn received 150 inches of knife wounds.

Willis and Via are attorneys for the defendant, with District Attorney Clifford Braly representing the state.

Court convened at 10 o'clock this morning with 18 jurors reporting. The court room was one-third filled as the case was called, opening the sixth week and last regular jury week of the current term.

Members of the grand jury are to reconvene on November 7. The jury adjourned at 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon without making any indictments, after having been recalled in a special session.

Trial of P. M. Meador, Gray county farmer charged with murder and with failure to stop and render aid in alleged connection with an accident near Pampa on September 2 in which W. D. (Bill) Kelley, 17, was fatally injured, has been set for November 6.

False Alarm Sends London To Shelters

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Air raid warnings, sounded in London at the height of the morning rush to work, sent thousands scrambling to shelters today, but the air ministry announced the signals were in error and began an investigation.

Some office workers grumbled about the false alarm and speculated on whether German strategy might be to provoke premature precautions with "finger" flights, then capitalize later on the sense of false security thus created.

351 Pounds of Harvester Line

Roland Phillips

"Just call me Streamlined!" These were the very words that Roland Phillips told the interviewer when called by his given name.

Streamlined is playing his first year with the Harvesters, and by the looks of players who have opposed him in the past few games, he is doing a good job of it. Last year he was a standout in the Guerrilla line. It is the opinion of many ex-Harvesters that Roland is one of the most consistent blockers on the squad. Roland, although having a good sense of humor, takes his football seriously.

Roland's favorite food is chicken fried steak. His favorite girls, although he doesn't think much of any of them, are brunettes, says "rol" girl must have brown eyes.

"Roland is a short, round boy about 140 lbs., well-just call him Streamlined."

Bob Clemmons

"Any color hair will do," says Bob Clemmons, left end on the Harvesters. "All I am interested in is can she bake a good angel food cake."

Bob, the boy who looks like 'Al' Abner, tips the scales at 156 pounds. He doesn't live up to the age old standard of an end as far as height is concerned, for B-B is 5 feet, 10 inches tall, but that doesn't matter 'cause Bob is a pass-snatcher deluxe. He is playing his second year for the Harvesters; last season he played left guard on the reserves and this year he is holding a first string position. Clemmons has played football for several years. First appearing in the ranks of the Junior High Reapers. After he entered high school Bob played one season with the Guerrillas before he started playing with the Harvesters.

When Bob was asked what his favorite likes were he said, "What do you mean?" Then he blushing replied, "Oh, I like my teachers. I like to wave at the pretty girls from the hotel windows when the Harvesters go on out-of-town trips, and I like girls in general with a capital G."

Bob says, "I don't have any dislikes, because it is more fun to like everything."

Then finally around to the old topic of eating. Bob has this to say, "Steaks big ones, angel food cake, and ice cream are just about tops with me."

By this time Bob had pretty well run down, so he stops, pants and stammers, "Well, gosh, ain't this enough of this junk? I gotta save my breath for the Amarillo-Pampa game, and I don't want to waste any because the Harvesters are out to cop all honors in district I this year, dope or no dope."

GREEN AND GOLD

"We Want Blondes!"

Harvesters Shout

"We want our football queen to be a blonde!" is the refrain of a large number of Harvesters!

Upon being asked why they wanted a blonde they, as a rule, did exactly the same thing: thought a moment, scratched their heads of course this was not necessary, and finally said, "Well, our school colors are green and gold, and since people especially girls, aren't in the habit of going around with green hair, we had to choose a blonde."

When this question, "What else must the girl possess?" was asked, the answer was almost spontaneous, "We don't want the beautiful, but dumb kind. She will at least have to know the score, and she's simply not to be a good fan. We don't want one who never attends the games, for after all she is supposed to be a football queen, and she should have a little interest in the team anyway. Besides these things, she has to be cute and a good sport."

After a set-up like this, the prospective candidates had better start putting on a little more make-up, get those artificial eye-lashes working overtime, and last but not least, they had better start going to the football games. And by the way, girls, you had better yell good and loud so the boys will know that you are there. (The yell leaders are paying your reporter for this.)

Most Coveted Position

Now seriously, the honor of being chosen football queen is one of the most coveted positions that any girl in P. H. S. can hope to win. For not only is she a guest of the team for one game, but she has a full page picture in the annual yearbook. The pep squad boasts of a perfect record all three of the previous years have been members of the squad, two of them were leaders.

Who will the band save that the queen? The band says that the queen will be some girl from the team. The P. H. S. boys are hoping that their queen may be chosen for this position, and to be chosen football queen is the secret, it's not a secret any more) desire of every girl in school.

Who will be the "y" girl? Only time and the decision of the football boys will tell.

Honor Roll Omissions

Students' names that were omitted from the honor roll list last week are Helen Dudley, a junior with 90 in four subjects; and John Gray, Edna Mae Cade, and Edna Stanley, all juniors with a 90 average in two subjects.

Dogpatch Revue Thursday Night

It's Abner will live again or is it the first time? Thursday night when a group of teachers, leading citizens, and some ambitious students will present an artistically arranged revue of Dogpatch (it is hard to say whether it will be more dog or more patch) characters in the high school auditorium.

The "Dogpatch Revue" as it is called, is to commemorate Sadie Hawkins day and is to be sponsored by The Pampa News and promises to be a hilarious bit of entertainment. The only hope that is expressed about Sadie Hawkins day, is that some "poor" Pampa gas won't be disappointed come Friday.

Sadie Hawkins day is more than just a brazen supplement to Leap Year, but it is a loving (and fitting) memorial to a dear little Bachelor gal who was born thirty years too soon to be called Bachelor gal and lachered for high onto fifty for it is sixty? years under the dreaded cocoon of "old maid." Her papie was all that secret razer, for it was he who had the brilliant brainstorm that started that happy coincidence for the men and that unhappy day for men, Sadie Hawkins Day.

Little Harvester Has Photographer

The Little Harvester now has the use of a photographer, perhaps not a professional one, but certainly an interested one. Bill Brady, a junior, is now taking pictures for the school paper.

Last year Billy took pictures of all school activities and this year he has taken pictures of the Lubbock-Pampa game and of assembly programs in the auditorium.

Billy has been taking pictures for a year and a-half. He has his own dark room in which he develops his own pictures.

He has an Eastman Kodak 16 with 4.5 lens f 32 lens; the camera has one second to two-hundredths of a second Compur shutter speed.

Deadline!

See the bride! Tomorrow afternoon is the deadline for seniors to have their pictures made at the cost of 50 cents.

After this date, the charge will be 75 cents. Only a short time extension will be given seniors who fail to have their pictures made by November 1.

Speaker

Tex DeWeese

DeWeese Cites Status of Paper in School Life

"How a newspaper can sway public opinion and influence for good" was the topic of the speech given by Tex DeWeese, managing editor of the Pampa News, when he spoke to the journalism class today at one o'clock.

Mr. DeWeese told the eight responsibilities of the newspaper: (1) to give the news, (2) to interpret the news through the editorial columns, (3) to promote community development, (4) to deal fairly with all elements in the community, (5) to provide an effective medium for the advertising of merchandise, (6) to provide a medium through which the community can express itself, (7) to truthfully represent the community to the outside world, and (8) to keep the light of publicity turned constantly on persons in public offices.

In 1914 there were 2,000 newspapers in the United States. Today there are about 1,867. Each week there are 42 million newspapers sold, and on Sundays 31 million. The average amount people spend on newspapers in the United States and Canada per year is 416 million dollars.

He said there were about 50 million letters written to newspaper editors each year asking their advice?

Mr. DeWeese also gave the reason for the decline of the number of newspapers in the United States.

In closing his talk he told the class how the Little Harvester can be an influence for good in the school.

After his talk he gave the class an opportunity to ask questions.

Mr. DeWeese has had 20 years experience in newspaper work. Prior to coming to Pampa, he was editor of the Santa Ana Register at Santa Ana, California.

He came to Pampa in June of 1936. He received his first newspaper experience in Ohio.

Council Selects November Junior Rotarian Nominees

Carl Brown, Ed Terrell, Aubrey Green, and Glenn Nichols were nominated for Junior Rotarian for the month of November in the student council meeting last Tuesday. They were voted on today, but results of the election were not complete when the paper went to press.

As the selling of concessions on the Platinium special was successful, it was voted that they would be sold on the train to Lubbock. Pop, candy and sandwiches were sold.

Those in charge of selling concessions were Anna Belle Land, Bobbie Karr, Imogene Sperry, Mary Lee Morris, Ray Boyles, and James Evans.

A committee was appointed to work out a plan for the sale of concessions and to decide on how much of the fare of those selling would be paid by the council.

Pampa Exes Acquire Success At College

Ex-students of Pampa High school are achieving success in their first year at college.

Mary Lynn Schofield and Patricia McCarty are attending the Texas State College for Women at Denton. After taking a diagnostic examination in English, which was given to rate students according to their ability, both were placed in the A class.

Wynndal La Casse and Jimmy Moxley, students in Draughton's Business college at Oklahoma City, were chosen as members of the student council. There were five boys and five girls chosen from the whole student body. Jimmy and Wynndal being two of the boys.

Martha Ann Martin is studying nursing at St. Joseph's hospital at Fort Worth and is expecting to receive her cap with just three years of training, the first recognized achievement of her work. Martha Ann worked at Dr. Goldstein's office for two years before she entered nurse's training at Fort Worth.

Debaters To Meet Tuesday Afternoon

All boys and girls interested in debate are urged to meet in room 201 tomorrow afternoon in the first debate meeting of this year, said O. F. Shumaker, debate coach.

Resolved: That Texas should adopt a system of complete medical service to all citizens at public cost is the question upon which schools in Texas will debate this year.

Three books have been ordered for the debate clubs this year—"Public Discussions and Debates," by A. Craig Blair, "Argumentation and Debate," by Walter Reeves; and "Modern Debating," by Andrew D. Fox, are the books ordered.

Senior Production To Be 'Our Town'

For the annual senior play, Kenneth Carman, dramatics instructor, has selected "Our Town" a three-act play by Thornton Wilder. The play will be presented some time in December.

Acco. Big to Mrs. Carman, who saw "Our Town" presented at Northwestern university and at Denver last summer, thirty-six characters, the largest cast ever selected for a play in Pampa High school, will portray a story of typical American home life.

This new type of modernistic play, using no scenery, will offer every type of dramatic technique that is known to be used with its combination of heavy drama, pantomime, light comedy, and a light touch of melo-drama.

"Our Town" was played on the New York stage from February 4, 1928, until December, going from there to Chicago. At Denver, with a well-known cast, Donald Woods, the play made a long run this summer.

Pampa High school is quite fortunate in being able to get this play, for it was written in 1938.

Sagebrush

This is the Sage back again, this week's column is to be dedicated to uncovering all the talents and "abilities" of various members of the student body and faculty.

The Sage nominates for the Hall of Shame Billy Richey for his mathematical wizardry. Billy's genius has puzzled the teachers ever since he first took algebra (in Jr. H.). They can't decide whether Billy is lazy or just fooling them.

The end is near, and time is fleeting. And we our pennies, though far and few. Should, like aged misers, be saying "To buy our annuals now."

Doris Archer, whose fiery red tresses and grandmother's snuggles (freckles to you), has become the trade mark of P. H. S.'s most winsome and lovable in suspense.

The Sage has turned into the Keeper of Lonely Hearts—Last week he received this letter:

Dear Sage:

I'm desperately in love with a beautiful brunette, but she says that she will never love a boy who does not have a mustache. How can I grow one? I can ease my breaking heart?

Helplessly,
Pete

Dear Helpless Pete:

It's true that Elsie Pearl does fall in love with mustaches. I saw her gazing with girl-like devotion at a picture of Buffalo Bill. Now really, Pete, I would like very much to help you, so follow these instructions carefully. Before you go to bed at night place a glass of water on a chair by the bed. Then rub some salt thoroughly on your upper lip where the mustache should grow. When they come out at night to get a drink from the glass of water, rub them and be a knot in them so they can't go back. (This is the method I used when I played Shylock in Hamlet.)

Yours helpfully,
The Sage

At Lubbock while the football boys were staying in the hotel, the clerk was quite surprised to see R. G. Candler parading around the lobby of the hotel barefooted and clad only in his pajamas.

"Here, you! What are you doing?"

R. G. jumped and said, "I'm sorry, but you see I'm a somnambulist."

The clerk blinked a time or two and said, "This is a respectable place and you can't walk around here that way no matter what your religion is."

While snoozing around, recently the Sage uncovered a most shocking scandal. Nell McCullough has discovered a NEW star. The resemblance is quite striking and now they go by the name of Nellie and Nellie.

Last week's caricature looked like B. G. Gordon, head of the mathematics department to Elouise Nollner. And she is right. The artist intended such.

Days are short, and time is fleeting. And our annual, though not yet through.

Shouldn't have like anything that's deposits made by all of you.

Lubbock Beats Pampans 6 to 0

Lubbock's mighty line rose in the path of the Harvesters backs to smother Pampa's ground attack and opened large holes in the Pampa line that the fast Lubbock backs scattered through during most of the game. The Westerners' only score in their 6 to 0 defeat of the Harvesters came on a 79-yard march through the Pampa line.

Most of the Harvesters gains came on passes thrown by Dunaway, fullback, to Green, Heiskell, Clemmons, and Matthews.

Although Lubbock outgained the Pampa team by a large margin, they were kept out of the scoring zone most of the time by Dunaway's sensational kicking. The Lubbock kickers preferred to kick short and out of bounds rather than risk having Heiskell make long returns of them as he has in earlier games.

Next week the Harvesters will play Hobbs, N. M. The Berger Bulldogs beat Hobbs 28 to 12.

Guerillas Defeat Raton Sophs 19-7

The Pampa Guerrillas defeated the Raton "B" team 19-7 Saturday afternoon at the opening of the second half, but after a few plays Daugherty broke through the line and ran 40 yards to score. The last Guerrilla touchdown came as a result of Loviere, Guerrilla tackle, blocking a Raton kick on Raton's 30-yard line. A few plays brought the ball to the five-yard line where Pendleton, fullback, smashed over for a touchdown. Edmondson kicked a extra point and the Guerrillas led 19-7.

The starting Guerrilla lineup: Pendleton, full; Daugherty and Mann, halves; Edmondson, quarter; Berne, center; Newcomb, fullback; Crammond, Loviere and Snyder, tackles; Allen and Sanford, ends.

High School Girls Hear Helpful Talk By AAUW Speaker

Mrs. Wilmer Postma, a member of the Be Sigma Phi sorority, was guest speaker in the first of a series of talks to the high school girls Monday in the high school auditorium Mrs. Fred Roberts, chairman, introduced Mrs. Postma.

In her talk Mrs. Postma said that all girls are interested in developing themselves into lovelier young women. They want to be charming, to be well versed in all subjects, and to be socially respected.

How To Be Charming.

"To be charming," she said, "one must have intelligence, wit, personality, good taste, and a good sense of humor. One has to know when to speak and when to act. These things as a rule do not come naturally; it takes years of training to accomplish."

"Some of you will go to college later; some of you will not. If you do go to college, more than likely you will have the chance to improve yourself through sororities and associations. This, of course, will be well versed in all subjects, and to be socially respected."

Local doctors and dentists will cooperate with the schools by helping conduct the examination at certain intervals.

Hobbs Underdog For Game Friday

Another out-of-state group of griffin warriors will face the Harvesters this week.

Hobbs, New Mexico, will be here Friday night to try to knock the under-pinnings from under the P. H. S.ers. The team is reported to be a tall, slender group of boys. Although there has been some talk of boys gathered for the game, the Harvesters are favored to win. Berger, whose season so far has been far from enviable, won over Hobbs by a top-sited score of 27-13.

All Students Will Be Examined Soon

Sometime in the near future, a thorough physical examination will be rendered to every boy and girl attending physical education in high schools, junior high, and high school. The examination will be administered by local doctors, dentists, and physical education instructors.

Some phases of this test have already begun in the ward schools, and major forms of securing information have begun in the junior high and high schools.

Billy has been taking pictures for a year and a-half. He has his own dark room in which he develops his own pictures.

He has an Eastman Kodak 16 with 4.5 lens f 32 lens; the camera has one second to two-hundredths of a second Compur shutter speed.

Marriage Of Miss Buckler And Ben Guill Solemnized Sunday At Church

In a candlelight ceremony Sunday at 4 o'clock in the First Methodist church Miss Marjorie Buckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, became the bride of Ben H. Guill of Amarillo. The service was read before a large group of relatives and friends.

The Rev. E. C. Seaman of Amarillo and the Rev. J. J. Snell, minister of St. Matthew's Episcopal church of Pampa, officiated at the impressive Episcopalian rite which was solemnized beneath an arch of pink chrysanthemums and huckleberry. Kentia palms before a background of Woodwardia ferns decorated the altar which was lighted with pink and white tapers in tall floor candlesticks. Urns of pink mums and an arrangement of the same flower on the organ completed the decorations. Small pink and white chrysanthemums marked the aisles.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Tom Rose played a brief recital of wedding music which included "Oh, Promise Me," "An Sweet Mystery of Life," "Andante in G," and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Charms" at the organ. As the bridegroom entered, Mrs. Rose played the bridal march, "Lohengrin" and during the service, "I Love You Truly," Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the recessional.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, untrimmed, with draped neckline and long bell-shaped sleeves. The fitted skirt extended into a long train. Her long hand-made Duchess lace veil over layers of illusion was attached to a halo of white pearls. She carried a showered bouquet of white gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. R. G. Allen, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Ann Buckler, another sister, Miss Mary Price, and Mrs. E. L. Turner of Borger, were dressed in gowns fashioned alike of crepe tan with short puffed sleeves, sweetheart necklines, and full skirts with bustle backs. They wore matching velvet hats with small bustles and carried tear-drop shaped bouquets of delicate pink mums.

Bobby Biery was ring bearer and Donald Thut and Hobart Fatheree were train bearers.

Pat Jones, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were R. G. Allen and Silas Faulkner of Pampa, and Henry Sears of Monahans.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the service. A ring-shaped cake decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums arranged on a reflector centered the table which was lighted with tall pink candles. Bouquets of matching flowers were used throughout the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Guill left for a wedding trip to San Antonio after which they will make their home in Amarillo at 1010 West Nineteenth street. Mrs. Guill selected a black wool ensemble trimmed in green with a striped jacket of green and black and black accessories for her traveling costume. She wore a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Guill is a popular member of a pioneer family and has been an active member of numerous clubs in the city. Mr. Guill, who is a former Pampa, is connected with the Royal Crown Bottling company of Amarillo.

The rehearsal dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Allen Saturday evening, and a large group of guests were entertained at bridge. The tables were centered with pink candles entwined with white garlands on square holders, and the house was decorated with chrysanthemums. Mrs. Guill has been honored at numerous social events since her engagement was announced September 16.

Hobbs Eagles Play Harvesters Friday Night

First String To Play Most Of The Game

A high-flying band of Eagles from the oil country of New Mexico will light at Harvester field here Friday night for the last night football game of the season. The visitors will be the Hobbs Eagles and they'll battle the Pampa Harvesters at 8 o'clock.

The Eagles boast a clean record in New Mexico football circles but they met a tartar when they invaded Borger two weeks ago and dropped one.

Coach "Catfish" Smith of the Borger Bulldogs told Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters that he would have to "lock out" for the Eagles. "We were mighty lucky to beat them," Coach Smith said. "We played our best game of the season while Hobbs appeared to have an off night. Yip, they're tough."

Although the game with Amarillo will be only one week off, Coach Mitchell will probably use his first string most of the game. "They've got to get some more experience," Coach Mitchell declared.

Inexperience has bobbed up in nearly every game played so far. If the Harvesters can snap out of it against Hobbs they will be ready to meet the Sandies here on Armistice Day.

With the exception of Grover Heiskell, Kenneth Mullings and L. C. Bailey, the Harvesters are in fair condition after their game in Lubbock Friday. Heiskell has a back injury and both ankles slightly sprained while Mullings has back injuries. Bailey was hit on the head and is carrying a black and cut eye. This week the Harvesters will work on offense. Several times against Lubbock an extra yard could have changed the ball game but there was no one to make the yard with James Carlisle on the sidelines with a broken foot. Blocking will also be stressed in this week's workouts. It was lack of blocking that set the Harvesters back for 40 yards in the Lubbock game.

Detroit Surprise In Pro Football Circles

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (AP)—Detroit's surprising Lions should know the worst about their national pro football title aspirations in another week of backbreaking games.

The Lions, who are matching the fine play of the Green Bay Packers stride for stride in the National League's western division, engage the title-holding New York Giants in Detroit next Sunday in a pivotal clash.

Detroit, New York and Green Bay all clicked yesterday with well-earned victories.

Gus Henderson's Lions clipped the Chicago Bears in a manner even more decisive than the 10-0 score indicates.

The Lions now have won five of six games. Green Bay matched Detroit's won-lost record by handing the Redskins their first defeat, 24-14. Washington's defeat left the Giants alone in first place in the eastern division. The New Yorkers defeated Brooklyn, 7 to 6, to remain the only undefeated team in the league. Cleveland and Pittsburgh battled to a 14-14 tie, breaking Pitt's six-game losing streak.

Tempe Beals Strong Texas Miners 27-7

EL PASO, Oct. 30 (AP)—The unbeaten Bulldogs of Arizona State at Tempe today apparently had the inside track for the border conference bid to the far southwest's New Year's gridiron classic, the Sun Bowl.

Tempe's powerhouse has rolled up 136 points in 7 for six opponents, crushing Texas Mines 27-7 Saturday night. Only a "pushover" engagement with Flagstaff, Ariz., Teachers Nov. 11 and a tough one with New Mexico university Nov. 18 stand between the Bulldogs and the conference championship.

Art Krenz and Jerry Brondfield The Story of Football Told by Guards Back Era

In 1892 Yale linemen abandoned sparring with opposition to get them off balance. Kept eyes on own center instead, and sprang to action instant ball was snapped. This was such big improvement that rules soon forbade players from making contact before ball was centered.

George Woodruff, Pennsylvania coach, strengthened offense by originating guards back maneuver. He withdrew forwards from line and placed them in close tandem formation behind spot of attack. Pile-driving interference ahead of carrier became popular.

It was Woodruff, also, who first brought out quarterback kick as sudden offensive move. Next: Football's Dark Ages.

Olympics May Be Held In Detroit

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—The 1940 Olympics became an international guessing game today because of an announcement from Olympic headquarters in Switzerland that they might be transferred from Helsinki, Finland, to Detroit.

Nobody could be sure, inasmuch as Finland is planning to hold the games and Detroit has not asked for them recently.

There perhaps has been no more startling "communique" since Europe's war began than the proclamation of the international Olympic committee in Lausanne yesterday that the 1940 games would be held in Detroit if Finland renounced its right to stage them.

The committee said all national Olympic committees had been polled as to whether they would send teams to Helsinki and that if their replies were negative Finland would renounce and clear the way for removal of the Olympics to the United States.

Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, reported, "There must be some mistake. The committee would not award the games to Detroit without consulting us and we've heard nothing about it."

In Detroit Mayor Richard Harding declared his city would "welcome the games with open arms." But his own chairman of a committee to obtain the Olympics in 1944, Frederic C. Matthal, expressed surprise at the action.

Harmon's 73 Points Lead Scoring Parade NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tom Harmon, Michigan's great back, who scored 21 points against Yale Saturday, boosted himself to the forefront of the nation's leading individual football scorers with a total of 73 points.

Harmon has contributed 10 touchdowns, 10 points after touchdowns and one field goal to the Michigan total. In second place is Don Lieberum, captain and quarterback of the Manchester (Ind.) college eleven, who has made 66 points via 11 touchdowns.

Other leaders include John Klumbrough, Texas A. and M. fullback with 42 points.

Harvester Football Squad Invited To Steak Fry Tonight

Members of the Pampa Harvester football squad and their parents will have supper together tonight in the cafeteria in the red school building. The "come and get it" call will go out at 7 o'clock sharp. Parents are urged to present a half hour ahead of that time, however. There'll be all the steak the boys can eat and there'll be all the trimmings too—potatoes, vegetables, plenty of gravy, hot rolls and dessert.

One thing these won't be, however, will be long speeches. It's strictly an eating party.

Sports Roundup

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Scopaprade Branch Riskey of the Cards is mentioned as the Republican candidate for governor of Missouri in 1940. Dick Metz is reported altar bound with a former Wampus Baby star. One of the N. Y. papers hints Ex-Gov. Chandler of Kentucky will succeed Ford C. Frick as president of the National League.

Who was he? All must have been chaos up at the Army-Navy-Princeton-Columbia quadrangular meet Saturday. Nobody could identify the guy who finished 20th in the cross country run. One reporter wired his paper: "He carried no number and none of the official scorers knew him. Also, his coach didn't know him. He wore a Princeton jersey and had a nice square head."

Today's guest star: Paul Zimmerman, Los Angeles Times: "Seems there has been an awful lot of Pop Warner and not enough of Dudley De Groot in connection with the fine team at San Jose State. De Groot is the head coach, and he was last year when San Jose went quietly about the business of becoming the nation's high scoring team."

Armstrong Defends His Title Tonight

DENVER, Oct. 30 (AP)—Henry Armstrong breathed deeply of mountain air today to acclimate himself for a high altitude defense of his world's welterweight title against Bobby Pacho of Cleveland in a scheduled 15-round bout here tonight.

The fight, Colorado's first title affair in 23 years, will be Armstrong's fifth in four weeks.

First political note to enter the repertoire of the famed "Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo" is a work called "Rouge et Noir," based on Shostakovich's first symphony, and symbolizing the characteristics, according to Director Leonide Massine, of an "aggressor nation."

Lubbock And Borger Meet On Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Staff Championships of two districts will be in the balance this week with the Texas schoolboy football campaign entering its final month. Dallas Woodrow Wilson meets Adamson in a game generally conceded to be the title affair although each team will have other conference struggles.

In the Rio Grande valley McAllen tangles with Brownsville in a tilt that should virtually decide the lower bracket crown of district 16.

In each instance the teams are tied for the lead without defeat in conference play. McAllen also is unbeaten and untied for the season, including non-conference games, and Brownsville is unbeaten but has been tied.

There is a crucial game in district 14 with Beaumont clashing with Livingston to determine the team that contests South Park (Beaumont) for the leadership. All three are undefeated in championship games.

McAllen is one of nine teams that boast perfect records, San Angelo and North Dallas having fallen from the list last week. San Angelo bowing to Sweetwater and North Dallas to Woodrow Wilson. Other undefeated, untied teams are Electra, Sweetwater, El Paso High, Gainesville, Breckenridge, Livingston, South Park and Austin. Sulphur Springs, Masonic Home (Fort Worth) Tyler and Brownsville are unbeaten but have been tied. Tyler leads the state scoring parade with 237 points in seven games.

Generally it is a slack week from the standpoint of games, there being but 39 on the schedule with many teams taking a breathing spell before plunging into the drive down the stretch.

There are 25 conference games as follows: District 1—Lubbock at Borger; district 2—Quannah at Graham, Electra at Olney; district 3—Abilene at Midland, San Angelo at Odessa; district 6—Denton at Sulphur Springs, Greenville at McKinney; district 7—Fort Worth Tech vs. Masonic Home, Riverside (Fort Worth) vs. Arlington Heights (Fort Worth); district 8—Dallas Tech vs. North Dallas, Adamson vs. Woodrow Wilson; district 10—Bryan at Waco, Corsicana at Waxahatchie; district 11—Gladewater at Athens; district 12—Lufkin at Mexia; district 13—Austin (Houston) vs. Milby (Houston), Reagan (Houston) vs. Lamar (Houston), Davis (Houston) at Conroe, San Jacinto (Houston) vs. Sam Houston (Houston); district 14—Orange at Port Arthur, Livingston at Beaumont, Galveston at Goose Creek; district 15—Breckenridge (San Antonio) vs. San Antonio Tech, Harlandia (San Antonio) at Kerrville; district 16—Brownsville at McAllen.

Saturday Games Have Bearing On Rose Bowl Bids

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30 (AP)—Without having consulted one single person of authority for the simple reason he wouldn't know any more about the matter than you, it seems safe to predict that two vital games bearing on the Rose Bowl situation will be played this week.

One comes at Portland when Oregon State meets the mighty Trojans of Southern California. With unbeaten-untied Oregon State and once-tied Southern Cal striving to knock the other from Illinois Bowl picture, the outcome should go a long way toward identifying the Pacific Coast conference host in Pasadena's post-season spectacle.

Vital game No. two will be staged at Baton Rouge, where a Tennessee marches on Louisiana State. L. S. U. doesn't figure except that its Tigers probably will furnish the Volunteers with more trouble than they'll roll into for a while.

The rest of the Rose Bowl eligibles should get by the week's schedule. These games include Texas A. and M. over Arkansas, Oklahoma over Iowa State, Cornell over Columbia, Michigan over Illinois and North Carolina over North Carolina State. Tennessee, the big Texas Aggies, Oklahoma and North Carolina may safely be considered among the ranks of active candidates for the Rose Bowl bid.

"Right Much" Of A Horse Race Saturday

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 (AP)—There's going to be right much of a horse race here Wednesday, with three thoroughbreds whose earnings total more than a half million dollars battling it out in the Pimlico special.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, president of the Maryland Jockey club, said that the purpose of the special was "to give the racing public a classic event comparable to the world series or national championship."

Accordingly, Vanderbilt arranged a $100,000 winner-take-all race over a mile and three-sixteenths with the entries nominated for the special in a national poll.

Seven possible starters were named, but only three remain ready to run: W. L. Bramm's Maryland-bred Chalcedon, the three-year-old champion; C. S. Howard's Kayak II, the Argentine-bred sensation of the west coast; and T. B. Martin's good Kentucky-bred router, Cravat.

11 Undefeated, Untied College Elevens Left

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—The "payoff" month of the college football season—November—starts this week with just the kind of games that can be expected in the more important half of the campaign.

The first half of the battle for national honors produced about the results that could be expected. Tech Friday, innumerable "upsets," dwindling in number as the teams began to show real strength and weakness. The end of October found not more than eleven unbeaten and untied survivors still in the race for the mythical national crown.

Starting part two, the "major" unbeaten and untied teams are: East—Cornell, Duquesne, Catholic; South—Tennessee, Kentucky; Midwest—Notre Dame, Michigan; Southwest—Texas A. & M.; Rocky Mountain—Colorado Mines; Pacific Coast—Oregon State, San Jose (Cal.) State.

Tied but still undefeated are Dartmouth and Georgetown in the East; Tulane, North Carolina and Richmond, in the South; Nebraska and Oklahoma, in the Midwest; Southern California and U. S. L. A., on the West Coast; and Utah (tied twice) in the Rocky Mountain Big Seven.

The situation, by sections, shapes up like this for the first week-end of November:

East: It's been a long time since any one team did so much to aid the prestige of eastern football as Cornell did last Saturday by whipping Ohio State, 23-14. That triumph installed the big Red team as East's No. 1 power, and next Saturday's game against Columbia, despite the Lions' decisive 26-7 win hurt Cornell's stock.

Duquesne, 13-0 winner over Texas Tech Friday, faces another stiff inter-sectional test against Marquette, and Catholic, 14-0 winner over Miami, meets Tulsa.

Dartmouth encounters its traditionally troublesome enemy but off the Green's easy 18-0 win over Harvard and Yale's 27-7 licking by Michigan, Dartmouth figures to remain undefeated. Georgetown, after beating George Washington, 7-0, meets Wake Forest, which tied South Carolina, 6-6, Friday.

The biggest games on the eastern schedule pit Army against Notre Dame and Harvard against Princeton. Notre Dame's unbeaten streak managed to stay off Carnegie Tech, 7-6, while the Cadets routed Urstun, 46-13.

Pennsylvania, knocked out of the picture by a 30-6 licking from North Carolina, meets Wake Forest, which of Clemson. Fordham, which whipped Pitt, 27-13, tackles Rice's hapless Owls. New York U., 14-13 winner over Stubbins Georgia, eases off against Lafayette. Boston college and Holy Cross play Auburn and Providence, respectively.

South: It's Tennessee, the nation's ranking team in last week's Associated Press poll, against Louisiana State, the Volunteers' unbeaten foe of Mercer, 17-0, Saturday, while L. S. U. turned back Vanderbilt, 12-6. Kentucky, co-leader with Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Tulane, faces Alabama, which turns back Mississippi State, 7-0. Mississippi, beaten for the first time by Tulane, 18-6, encounters Vanderbilt. Georgia Tech plays Duke, which gained a second-place tie in the Southern conference with a 6-0 decision over Wake Forest. Tulane has an open date.

North Carolina, with the Southern conference pack on its heels, plays North Carolina State. Richmond meets Chicago, and Miami plays Texas Tech in the South's best inter-sectional tilts.

Midwest: In spite of that thumping from Cornell, Ohio State leads the leading role in the Big Ten, facing Indiana. The Bucks are tied with Michigan for the conference lead. Indiana's Hoosiers, idle last week, are a real threat. Michigan should lead another from Illinois to 13-0 victim of Northwestern. Northwestern plays disappointing Minnesota, and Iowa, 19-13 winner over Wisconsin, plays Purdue, which took a 13-6 licking from Santa Clara.

Missouri, the big Nebraska, overwhelmed Kansas State, 25-9, and Oklahoma routed the Oklahoma Aggies 41-0. Missouri gained the tie with Nebraska for the lead by whipping Iowa State, 21-6. The two knockers collide next Saturday. Oklahoma plays Iowa State, and Kansas meets Kansas State.

Southwest: The unbeaten Texas Aggies breezed past Baylor's Bears, 20-0, and are tied for the lead with Texas University, which trimmed Rice, 26-12, with the aid of an 80-yard run by Jack Crain. The Aggies next meet Arkansas, beaten 7-0 by Villanova, at Philadelphia, while the Longhorns play Southern Methodist. Texas Christian and Baylor clash in another conference game.

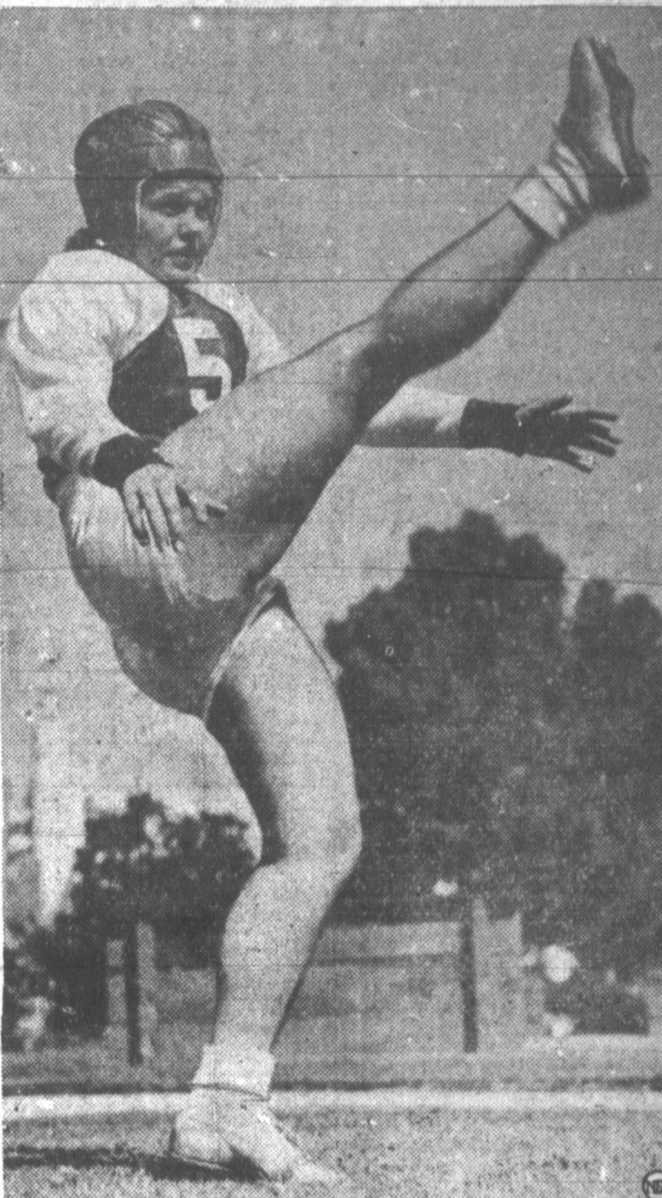

Pacific Coast: Oregon State plays Southern California at Portland, Ore. The Beavers, only undefeated and untied team in the loop, beat Washington State, 13-0, while Southern Cal. defeated California, 26-0.

The winning team will have to account for U. C. L. A., which beat Oregon, 16-6, to put the webfoots out of the picture. The Uclans play California Saturday. Washington, which conquered Stanford, 8-5, plays Montana, 13-0 winner over Idaho. Oregon meets Washington State, and Stanford faces Santa Clara.

Sunday "Independent" games pit Loyola of Los Angeles against San Francisco and St. Mary's against Dayton of Ohio.

Rocky Mountain: Denver held "unbeatable" Utah to a 7-7 tie. That left them tied for the lead. Coming back Colorado, which downed Wyoming 27-7, is the next opponent while Denver plays Brigham Young. Colorado Mines maintained its unbeaten status in the older Rocky Mountain conference with a 30-7 triumph over Colorado college.

Three Conference Games In Southwest Loop On Saturday

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT DALLAS, Oct. 30 (AP)—Deeply important business goes on in the Southwest conference next Saturday—a day filled with crossroads for three football teams.

Boldly bidding for a conference title, a Rose Bowl bid, and any other trinket that goes along with a "hot" season, the Texas Aggies nose their steamroller into Arkansas' Ozark retreat.

The University of Texas' fairy story team, no longer just ten men and Cowboy Jack Crain but a growing giant gunning for a title, pitches camp at Dallas for a skirmish with Southern Methodist, the third power of the league.

Two other games are billed, Texas Christian vs. Baylor at Waco and Rice Institute vs. Fordham at New York, but ears will be cupped for news from Fayetteville and Dallas.

Startlingly confident as they roll on undefeated, the Aggies, in marvelous physical condition, go out for the third straight week to wreck a jinx. Only once in eight years have the Farmers been able to beat Arkansas, and that was last year when they shoved across a touchdown with six seconds to play. Last Saturday, the Aggies were stymied by Baylor's first line for two periods, then threw their destructive machine into high gear and pummeled the Bruins, 20-0. Just plain, old-fashioned back alley power.

Arkansas, which lost a sad one, 0-7, to Villanova after outplaying the easterners all the way, must work on two things this week: a way to puncture a tremendous Aggie line that has permitted only 268 yards by ground in six games, and a defense to stop big John Kimbrough and Derrace Moser, two wild ball carriers.

Southern Methodist, a real football team in tying Oklahoma and losing by a single point to Notre Dame, 19-20, is crippled for its conference debut against Texas—crippled where it hurts. The vital tailback position has been weakened. First Ray Malloff, a fine junior, went out for the season then sophomore Preston Johnston, the Methodists' big nose, was injured. He is expected to be patched up for the Texas game.

Jack Crain did the expected thing when he ran back a punt 80 yards for a touchdown against Rice in Texas' stunning 26-12 triumph, but some more of Jack's playmates, notably Gully Davis, Pete Layden and Noble Doss, got in on the fun as Texas functioned like a big unit—not just a Crain team. The amazing Longhorn sophomores have grown into a fighting, driving unit. The Aggies and Texas have two conference wins and no losses. Saturday's game at Southern Methodist is important for the following weekend it must play the Aggies at College Station—a rough start in league play.

Baylor, with a win and a loss, isn't out of it by any means. In Texas Christian, it meets a team that won its first game Saturday, second stringers tumbling over Centenary, 21-0. But Centenary hasn't won a game this year. The Christians will try to have their backfield regulars bandaged up for the Fordham game at Waco. They will be needed. Baylor was a great worry to the Aggies Saturday.

Rice, with nothing left but a desperate effort at salvaging a few remnants from a wrecked season, will find everything in its arsenal against Fordham in New York. Ernie Lain passed well against Texas. He should be tired from throwing next Saturday night. It's one of the ways they figure to beat a Fordham team that isn't accustomed to too many passes.

John Adams, who died at 90, was the longest lived of the Presidents.

O'Daniel To Reach Decision Sunday On Special Session

AUSTIN, Oct. 30 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel plans to give a decision next Sunday on whether a special session of the legislature shall be called to provide additional revenue for Texas' social security program.

In his regular broadcast yesterday he said not enough members of the legislature had replied favorably to his poll launched several weeks ago to enable him to determine whether a session would accomplish anything.

In a letter the governor asked if members would vote for a bill levying temporarily in statutory form consumer-natural resource taxes similar to provisions of "S. J. R. 12," proposed constitutional amendment defeated in the last regular session.

That could be a more fair question," he queried. "It was not my tax plan. It was their own tax plan voted for by 21 senators and 94 House members. I want to know whether they will vote it as a statute, inasmuch as they cannot vote constitutional amendment at a special session.

In a radio address from Fort Worth yesterday, Rep. Jack Langston of Glen Rose declared the issue of "S. J. R. 12" still was very much alive, and analyzed the measure in an effort to show it would be very unfair to the masses of Texas citizens.

He also criticized the governor's poll as an attempt to have legislators abandon principles they might have on taxation and vote for a sales tax.

Half an hour later he was picked up in this condition by adults who had more qualms about the cool night air than did Marvin.

Women Best In Dealing With Unfortunates, Johnson Believes

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Oct. 30 (AP)—The governor's office on the second floor of the capitol once more are being re-arranged.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel plans to use the large public reception room, beautifully re-furnished during the administration of Governor James V. Allred, as an office where he can receive large delegations of visitors.

About the only change to be made in the furnishings, according to W. J. Lawson, the governor's secretary, is that a desk will be moved into the room. The antique chairs and settees will still be utilized.

For the bulk of his routine work, the governor will continue to use a small office at the rear of the suite. It has been too small for some delegations and for other purposes.

After it had been started in the small office, the hearing recently on extradition of Richard Gallochy of Georgia was transferred to the reception room.

Women Best In Dealing With Unfortunates, Johnson Believes

Women are peculiarly qualified to be investigators of qualifications of old age applicants, says Adiam Johnson, director of the state public welfare department.

Johnson takes sharp issue with Rep. Lon E. Alsop of Carthage, who remarked, in criticizing Johnson's administration of old age assistance, that women did not make good investigators. Alsop said he believed women knew little about finances and knowledge of finances was very important in pension investigations.

"Women have been very successful as investigators," Johnson said. "In choosing an investigator, I want to know whether the applicant for a job is honest, has practical sense, has executive ability and understands what we are trying to do. Many women easily meet these standards.

"In fact, I think women are peculiarly qualified for such work. For one thing, they are dealing with an unfortunate side of life and sympathy and understanding on the part of the investigator are needed. Everyone knows women have sympathy and understanding of such matters in very large degree. I do not mean that men do not.

"As to whether women know anything about finances, I hate to think where I would be if it were not for the good management of my wife."

Panhandle A Vast Area Yet All Its Towns Considered Neighbors

(By The Associated Press)

If you're en route from Houston, Dallas or Fort Worth to Denver and stop in Childress, "the gateway to the west," and inquire the distance to Pampa, your informant likely will inform you, "Oh, it's not far. About a hundred and thirty-five miles. Make it in a little while."

That's a good example of the average Texas Panhandle resident's reaction to mileage because he is accustomed to distance and vastness. The Panhandle is a big place. It embraces 38 generous-size counties. It is bordered on the west by New Mexico, on the north by the Oklahoma Panhandle. (Once the famous Norman's land, on the east by Oklahoma and on the south by Texas. Crossing the Panhandle diagonally from Texline on the northwest to Childress on the southeast you travel more than 300 miles, but the Panhandle is only 100 miles long. Texline and Childress consider themselves neighbors.

Panhandle folks refer to the rest of Texas as "downstate."

Amarillo, largest city in the Panhandle and fairly near the center of it, is near the capital of four states—Santa Fe, N. M., Denver, Oklahoma City and Topeka, Kan.—than its own capital in Austin.

The vastness of the territory seems to have affected its population to the point where ordinary things are of little interest. If an event can't be "the only one in the world" or happening for "the first time in the world" it may be the "biggest one in the world."

And they brag. The Panhandle is the only helium plant in the world. It is the source of the world's supply of the inert gas, which dirigible balloons had to come to the world to have. It has the biggest known natural gas reservoir in the world. It has more Hereford cattle than any region in the world. Amarillo has cheaper rates than any other city in the nation. The Panhandle produces more wheat than the rest of Texas. The Panhandle is the world's carbon black center. The biggest plants are at Borger, once the toughest oil boom town in the world and now the "city with the blackest smoke and the whitest men in the world."

Once two men hunting in Alaska were forced to head down to the night near a river. Next morning they had trouble pushing back their cover. Snow was piled high on it. One managed to get his head out so he could see the river. It was frozen over.

He skidded back under the cover, head and all, punched his companion and said, "Damn, don't you know it's cold in Amarillo this morning."

That story has been told around at the world and when a Panhandle resident goes "downstate" he usually hears one or more persons say, "Amarillo! That's where it gets so cold."

But to the Panhandle resident that is just another unusual. Amarillo, then, is the coldest spot in the world, and incidentally, has only a barber who lives between it and the North Pole.

Mother-in-Law Day originated in Amarillo, the brain child of Newspaper Publisher Gene Howe, who says Amarillo women have the most beautiful legs in the world, developed by pushing against winds stronger than any other place. The region has the worst dust storms and the longest, driest, droughts of any place in the world. Amarillo claims the best high school football team in the nation.

The Panhandle always has been a cow country and still is, although when oil and other industries have become major products. But cows made the country. Once the vast, treeless area had to depend upon cow chips for fuel and a great deal

Women Best In Dealing With Unfortunates, Johnson Believes

Women are peculiarly qualified to

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS BY JERRY BRONDFELD

YESTERDAY, Joan fled east to see her father, tells him of Keith and Dan. She isn't sure her father will be as good as she thinks he is. She has a special plan—the same plan Dan intends to work for after graduation.

CHAPTER XVII

LOOK of surprise spread over J. G. Johnson's face. "Well now, if that doesn't beat all for coincidence! So this boy Webber goes into the plant when he graduates, eh? Who promised him the job? What's he going to do? Is he bright?" She shook her head in despair. It was always difficult to answer when he machine-gunned questions at her.

"You've got me, Pops. Only once did he confide in me," said he had worked in a pottery in his home town and that his old boss had recommended him to the Acme superintendent, or something like that.

He chewed his cigar vigorously. "Himmm—and he doesn't like you, does he?"

She clutched his hand. "You're not going to—I mean, just because he doesn't like me, you're not...?"

"Lord, no, child. I couldn't be that mean. Just thinking what he'll do when he finds out who his new employer is. Pretty sensible boy, from what you say, though."

He took her hand again. "Come on, now, tell me more about you. The sorority... the girls... do they like you? ... you like them? What've you told 'em about yourself?"

She told him the whole story, from the time she first got off the train until she caught the plane for New York. "But I think they like me much more now. You know Pops, I'm glad you insisted on me going to a big co-ed school instead of some flouncy Miss Somebody-or-other's seminary. I'm learning to know people... and how to get along with them. It's something I missed when I was running around like mad a couple of years ago."

She pulled out the end of his necktie and toyed with it. "And all I've told the kids about you is that you're a big hardware dealer."

"Hardware—haw! Still, you're right at that, aren't you? We do have a hardware business somewhere along the line."

They went shopping and took in a couple of shows before she boarded the return plane. She got back Thursday night, rather late. She hadn't given the girls much of a chance before she left so now they plied her with questions from all sides. "What was the big idea?" Elaine wanted to know. "What was so important that you had to fly?"

"Carol was a little more diplomatic. 'I hope nothing was wrong at home,' she said. 'Nothing—nothing wrong at all. Everything's fine,' she told them after she had unpacked and sprawled into a chair. 'Just wanted to see Dad for awhile. He's all alone you know, and so busy most of the time. I wanted to get there as quickly as possible, so I flew. Simple enough, isn't it?'"

It was simple enough, Marianne agreed as they prepared for bed, but Keith had seemed rather peeved when he came over and discovered she had left without calling him.

"Oh, he'll get over it," Joan prophesied. "Anything happens of real importance?"

"So Keith isn't of real importance—unquote."

Joan heaved a pillow at her. "That isn't what I mean, squirt, and you know it. C'mon, give out with some choice gossip. Or even plain news if that's all you have at the moment."

"Terrible. I knew you'd bust that exam. I also knew that pin planting ceremony was due and I noticed on the sports pages that Dan would be out."

"So you're reading the sports pages lately, eh? What're you doing—clipping Keith's pictures for the family album?"

"HOWDY, stranger," Keith greeted in history next morning. "I see you finally decided to drop in on us again. When did you get in?"

"Late last night." "Thanks for calling." "Honest, Keith, I was going to but it was much too late."

"Considerate of you, anyway. I think of the hour!" She turned to Dan. "How's the hand? Sorry you'll be out of the game Saturday." She sounded sincere and she was.

He held it up for inspection. "If I had my way I'd be playing, but Slocum won't take a chance. But I guess they can get along without me for once, hey Keith?"

To a certain degree, he was right. Tech had too much for Duquesne. The line, led by Marty Gallagher and Joe Donehek, ripped gaping holes in the Duquesne forward wall and Keith and Johnny White rambled through at will.

But it was a Pitt scout, high up in the press box, who summed up the situation to an assistant. "Twenty to nothing is good enough but they didn't have that bang-bang power on those tandem formations and short-side bucks. They're positively murderous when that guy Webber is in there clearing them out. I know, because I've been scouting them all year."

The assistant nodded. "Yeah—and he's on the mend for us."

JOAN looked forward to seeing Keith that night. She was feeling more at ease now that she had told her father all about him. Especially since there had been no parental objections. Good old Pops... sure was a swell guy. But he was smart the way, he knew she'd arrive at her decision quicker that way.

She put on a two-piece wine-colored velvet with white pique. She read the admiration in his eyes when Keith looked at her. "Pretty slick tonight. And what do you feel like doing?"

"Oh—anything at all should be nice," she said as he helped her on with her coat. "Okay, then... it's a beautiful night out. Let's just go for a long, long ride. Later on we can come back into town for a bite of something or other."

"Sounds swell. Best thing you could have thought of."

They drove down the river road. He stopped the car at the dam, switched off the lights and turned on the radio. They broke in on Tommy Dorsey's theme song.

"... I'm getting... sentimental... over you..." He thought it very apropos. But he said: "Beautiful night, isn't it?"

"Umm—hmm—" "And I know something still more beautiful," he said softly. Then he tilted her chin in his hand and searched her face for the expression he sought. He leaned down and kissed her. She snuggled against his shoulder.

"Joan," he whispered. "I've just got to tell you this... I love you." He framed her face with his two hands. "I've never said that to a girl before, believe me. I haven't... and I mean it when I say it now. Joan, do you think you could tell me something like that...?"

Pampa Girl Scouts Join National Week Observance

Radio Series Heads List Of City Programs

Outline For Remainder Of Week Set Up By Committees

Troops 1 and 2 of the Pampa Girl Scouts attended Sunday school at the First Methodist church and troop 3 attended mass at Holy Souls Catholic church yesterday, as a part of the local observance of National Girl Scout week, which opened Sunday and will continue through Saturday.

First of a series of radio programs was presented Sunday by members of troop 1, of which Mrs. John Ketter is captain. The troop is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club. Two programs were given yesterday, one at 12:25 p. m., the other at 5:30.

Following the radio program presented at 12:30 today by members of troop 3, of which Mrs. E. B. Tracey is captain, the schedule of similar programs for the remainder of the week, as announced by the local Girl Scout officials:

Tuesday, troop 4, Mrs. W. L. Parker, captain; Wednesday, troop 5, Mrs. L. J. McCarty; Thursday, troop 8, Mrs. Hupp Clark, captain; Friday, troop 2, Mrs. Jack Goldstein, captain; Saturday, troop 7, Mrs. Lillian Stewart, captain.

National Girl Scout week is held annually in celebration of the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Scouting.

Scouting, organized in England, was brought to the United States in 1912. There are now some half million girls registered in the national office.

Gains Much Notice

Girl Scout Week will be highly publicized all over the country. On Wednesday from 1:30 to 3:45 o'clock Alma Kitchell, N. C. radio program, "Let's Talk It Over," will be entirely devoted to Scouting. She will interview Hazel Rawson Gades, "Good Looks" editor of the Woman's Home Companion. Also participating on the program will be a group-up Brownie, a Girl Scout and a Senior Girl Scout. The discussion will be on subjects of interest to all girls.

On Friday from 4 o'clock until 4:30, "The History of Girl Scouting in Music, Song and Drama" will be broadcast over Columbia hookup. Taking part on the program will be such celebrities as Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., member of the national board of directors for Scouting; Paul Whitman and his orchestra; Lanny Ross, famous tenor, and Edith Mener, Columbia script writer who will be master of ceremonies.

Troop Histories Given

In connection with the observance of the week, Girl Scout troops of Pampa have prepared brief historical outlines of their troops. First of these is the one dealing with the history of troop 4.

Sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson P. T. A., the troop was organized February 3, 1937, under the direction of Mrs. L. J. McCarty, who had as lieutenant Mrs. D. A. Caldwell and Mrs. Floyd Blanton.

The troop grew from a small membership until April 1939, when it became so large that it was necessary to divide it, with the organization of a new troop of junior high school age girls. This left the girls of Woodrow Wilson school in the old troop under the leadership of Mrs. W. L. Parker and her assistant, Gail Ross.

Study Folk Dancing

At present the troop is studying folk dancing under the direction of Miss Wise of Baker school. An act of community service was performed in assisting the Gray County Tuberculosis association in the folding of Christmas seals for the envelopes that are to be mailed in the county.

Main activity of the troop during the summer was work in connection with the tree flinder badge, which included planting a tree on the Little House lawn and several tree study hikes.

An over-night camping trip was made to Canadian.

Troop Numbers 21

Membership of the troop at present numbers 21, divided as follows: second-class, Mary Louise Burge, Ramona Dickey, Tessa Mae Willian, Carrie Lafferty, Orna Jean McCarty, Rubelle Nelson, Lois Shaddock, Larue Tibbets, Lucille Duvall, Tenderfoot: Bobbie Ruth Killian, Paula Jean Clifford, Evelyn Morton.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP)—Traders generally shouldered the stock market today after the market narrowly swung in virtually all departments. The list opened at the start and closed at frequent intervals. The turnover of around 500,000 shares was the smallest for a full day in about two weeks.

The encouraging part of the proceedings, from the standpoint of analysts, was that selling pressure seldom was in evidence. G. & E. led the market, with a few fractional losses predominated most of the time, feeble support came in at the last and enabled a few steels, motors, mail orders, rails, coppers and aluminum to reduce early declines or post.

The "strangest of strange" wars, as they referred to the European move in the financial sector, apparently provided scant speculative incentives either way.

Domestic business, in the meantime, continued favorably, although there was some question as to whether the recovery move might not be near its peak, with a possibility of tapering off in the next several months.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (AP)—Profit taking and declining sales helped to depress wheat prices today as the market backed down from its best level in more than a year. Early gains of about 1/2 cent that lifted December wheat to $7 for the first time since late in September were cancelled in late dealings. Prices dropped a cent from highs and closed fractionally lower than Saturday. Some sellers were credited to spreaders who bought wheat at Kansas City and Minneapolis. The easy tone of securities also unsettled the grain market.

PEACE HOPES

until the last dog was dead to avert a war.

One great difficulty in the way of peace negotiations is that both sides have taken up categorical positions from which it is hard to recede.

Hitler insists on retaining the fruits of his conquests, and the Anglo-French brotherhood has declared its determination to "crush Hitlerism."

Each side claims that the other is out to rule Europe for its own selfish ends.

It would be absurd to suggest that a problem of this magnitude is susceptible of easy settlement.

The feeling is growing in many quarters that we might prevent the holocaust if Germany and the Anglo-French allies either were wise enough or stupid enough to say "No."

Let's call a truce and pool all our arguments and problems to see if we can't iron out this business peacefully.

Of course, tremendous concessions would have to be made. Wrongs would have to be rectified.

Opponents of the idea of a truce to investigated peace possibilities argue that the issues at stake will have to be ironed out on the battle-field sooner or later, and now is the appointed hour. But that isn't necessarily true.

A cessation of hostilities to consider ways and means would give millions of youths a little reprieve from death. That's something.

And if the parley didn't succeed in securing reparations and guarantees for future security, why all parties would still be packing guns and could proceed to shoot it out.

School Near Dalhart Has Only Two Pupils

DALHART, Oct. 30 (AP)—There is no teacher-load problem or lack of individual attention for pupils, in the Andy James rural school, 30 miles northeast of Dalhart, or the Angell school near Seminole, Texas.

Miss Tessa Baker is the Andy James instructor and her only two pupils are Jo Ann Brown and Madge Helen Brown, cousins. Both are in the second grade.

O'Daniel Asks Texans To Support Red Cross Roll Call, Nov. 11-30

The American National Red Cross will have its annual Roll Call November 11-30, 1939. Calls upon the Red Cross for service both locally and nationally have been steadily increasing in recent years. It is a great humanitarian organization and must be kept ready to meet whatever demands may be made upon it at home or abroad, in keeping with its traditional policy of meeting needs without prejudice or favor.

The Red Cross needs the assistance of 75,000 additional volunteers in Texas who will service the organization by offering those among whom they live and among whom they work an opportunity to join the Red Cross and share in its work.

"I urge every Texas citizen who can devote several hours on a voluntary basis on November 11th, or on one or more days immediately thereafter, to offer his services to his local chapter of the Red Cross whose roll call chairman is endeavoring to develop an organization that will make possible the extension of the membership invitation to every man and woman in Texas."

(Signed) W. Lee O'Daniel, Governor of Texas
