Frederic Prompts Exodus

MIAMI (AP)—Hurricane Frederic, described as "extremely dangerous," roared toward the Gulf Coast today with winds of 130 mph and at least 170,000 persons were ordered evacuated in four states.

Forecasters warned it could become the most vicious hurricane to hit the area since Camille caused widespread death and destruction a decade ago.

Civil defense officials said about 100,000 persons were being evacuated along the Mississippi Gulf Coast where Camille left 250 dead and millions of dollars in damage in 1969.

In neighboring Alabama, another 70,000 were ordered to leave and urged to go to one of about 40 emergency shelters set up at schools and National Guard armories in Mobile and Baldwin County.

Grande Isle, La., residents began packing up today as divers hunted for a man believed trapped when an oil rig flipped over the Mississippi River Gulf Outlet as it was being towed away from the storm.

The missing man was among more than 2,500 offshore oil workers called back to land as Frederic strengthened Tuesday. Another 200 were to be brought in today, officials said.

Grand Isle Police Chief Ernest LaFont said the island community of 6,000 would be under official evacuation notice at 9 a.m. today.

COMING SATURDAY-An added attraction to the Scurry County Fair that kicks off Thursday will be a style show depicting the history of this area. About 60 local models will don the attire of their forefathers as Margaret Drum and Gary Terrell narrate a history of the period in which the clothes were popular. Glenn Polk will provide music. The show begins at 7 p.m. Saturday in the coliseum and no admission will be charged. Above is a sampling of what to expect. From left are, P.M. Aid Plan For Poor Revealed

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—President Carter announced today in energy-conscious New England an expanded proposes only and a fee of posal to provide $2.4- poor, aged, blind and disabled to meet rising energy costs.

The president received an attentive hearing at a health care forum sponsored by senior citizens groups. His audience applauded his pledge there would be ample stocks of home heating oil this winter, a source of particular concern to New Englanders, because production is exceeding last year's levels by 330,000 barrels a day.

Carter also made a passing and jesting reference to his own political problems. He said that as much as he admires retired Americans, "I'm not yet tempted to join your ranks anytime soon."

Under the Carter blueprint, federal energy aid for the poor and other disadvantaged Americans would total $1.6 billion this winter and $2.4 billion per year thereafter.

In a statement, the president said:

"This proposal will address a critical need - alleviating the impact of higher energy prices on those who are suffering most from higher energy prices. Our energy policy must be compassionate. Without a substantial program such as this one our most needy households, including many of the elderly on meager fixed incomes, will face almost impossible pressures on household budgets ..."

Players Want Coaches Back

By The Associated Press

High school football players in Pasco, Wash., say they want their coaches back after suffering a humiliating shutout and a judge has threatened to jail strikers in Anchorage, Alaska, as nearly 50,000 teachers carry picket signs today in 14 states.

The SDN Column

There's usually a lively time down at Austin when the state textbook committee holds hearings and makes its selections of books to be used in Texas Public Schools. Many people are interested in what the books contain and how they present their messages to the pupils. And it is no easy chore to select books that please most of the people. Sometimes there are no offerings by publishers that meet with enough approval to justify adoptions, but the committee must select books and the schools must have books to operate.

Reports on textbook adoptions the other day told about one familiar name falling by the wayside. Magruder's American Government didn't make the cut this year. Like an aged veteran football player, Magruder's had been weakened to a point that the committee couldn't offer it a new contract after 52 years in Texas classrooms.

Off-hand, you might think that people like Norma Gabler of Longview, who has made a career of watching and evaluating textbooks, would protest the sacking of an old friend such as Magruder's. But alas, the old standby apparently had modernized itself so much that conservative critics could no longer support it.

In our opinion, civics (or government) is one of the most important subjects in school. But nowadays, it is a mystery how any publisher can come up with a civics book that fully explains the workings of our government and its various agencies. The age of bureaucracy has proliferated the confusion, and when you consider the fact that millions of American citizens don't know a justice of the peace from a customs court judge, civics is bound to be important. We hope the committee made wise selections and we never at any time envied them their task.

At Coliseum Complex...

15th Scurry Fair To Open Here Thursday

The doors will swing open at noon Thursday for the 15th edition of the Scurry County Fair.

The exposition, which annually attracts good crowds for its three-day run, is located at the Scurry County Coliseum, with events inside the coliseum building, in the adjacent agriculture-livestock building and on the grounds.

Exhibits feature products of the county, including agriculture exhibits, commercial booths, baked goods, canned goods, a flower show and special programs.

Also on tap this year at the fair is a Scurry County Reunion, sponsored by the county historical commission.

There will be seminars and special entertainment in the coliseum at various times during the three-day event.

The closing feature will be a historical presentation titled "From Buffalo to Oil," which is being produced in connection with the county reunion.

Another new feature this year is a tractor-driving contest, which will be held Saturday morning on the coliseum grounds. There will be a junior division for youngsters between 15 and 19 years old, and a senior division which is expected to attract individuals actually engaged in farming.

The tractor-driving contest will be limited to 24 contestants, and registration will be conducted on a first-come, first-served basis beginning at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Enrollment In Schools Picking Up

Enrollment in Snyder Public Schools, which showed a significant decline the first week of school, narrowed the gap as the second week began.

Most of the enrollment lag has been at the secondary level, and the senior high school still has the biggest gap between 1978--79 figures and those for 1979-80 with a total of 977 compared to 1,050 a year ago. However, the high school enrollment was only 940 at the close of the spring term on June 1.

Overall enrollment at the beginning of the second week of school had reached 3,391, compared to 3,501 last year. Junior high totals had reached 503, compared to 528 last year.

For the elementary schools the latest totals, with this year and those for a year ago, in order, are: North 284 and 339; Central 343 and 328; East 320 and 312; West 372 and 362; Northeast 308 and 322; Stanfield 268 and 248; Humble-Smith Special School, 16 and 12.

Final Arguments In Dixon Trial

COLORADO CITY, (AP)-Lawyers for Clarence Dixon, the truck driver charged in the fatal crash ith a school bus, rested today without calling any witnesses.

The defense announced its intentions shortly after the prosecution finished its case today.

The judge set final arguments and his charge to the jury for later in the day.

Dixon is charged with three counts of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the crash last December that killed four and injured 20. If convicted, Dixon faces ten years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

The school bus carried basketball players from McCaulley in West Texas. The accident occurred near Roby.

If convicted, Dixon faces 10 years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Former McCaulley School Superintendent Edd Farmer, driver of the bus, said Tuesday he signed a settlement with Cardinal Survey Co. of Odessa, which owned the truck.

However, he hedged when asked about statements in the documents accompanying the settlement that alleged his injuries may have been blamed partly on the manufacturer of the bus.

He said he did not remember how fast he was going or whether he saw a flashing yellow signal above the intersection of U.S. 180 and FM 611.

Q--Under what conditions is a house condemned in the city limits, and when are utility services cut off?

A--Generally when a building becomes a hazard from the standpoint of health and safety to the community, it is condemned. City regulations cite "diplapidated, unsanitary, obsolete or dangerous to other persons and property" among criteria for condemnation. However, unless there are critical circumstances, they do not condemn houses if they are occupied. Utility services are denied and/or disconnected when their use on the property become dangerous, or a health menace. Unless an emergency situation exists, owners are given an opportunity to remove hazards which call for condemnation before final action is taken.

ART ACTIVITIES PLANNED-The Arts and Humanities committee of the chamber of commerce met last night to discuss and organize several of the fine art activities planned for October and November. October has been designated Art Month or Artober and more activities are scheduled throughout the fall. Groups wishing to get involved in this project should contact Donna Holt who along with Sharon Sutton chairs the committee. playing the field

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., is gambling that the country has learned a lesson from 1976 - that it is a mistake to elect a president who does not know how to get things done in Washington.

In contrast to candidate Jimmy Carter and former California governor Ronald Reagan - the leading 1980 GOP contender - Baker offers himself as the candidate experienced with the issues, politics and personalities that are a part of legislative dealmaking in Washington.

Baker's interesting approach could fall flat on its face. His problem is that he is not a "true believer" on many issues of great concern to the conservatives who have increasing control in Republican primaries.

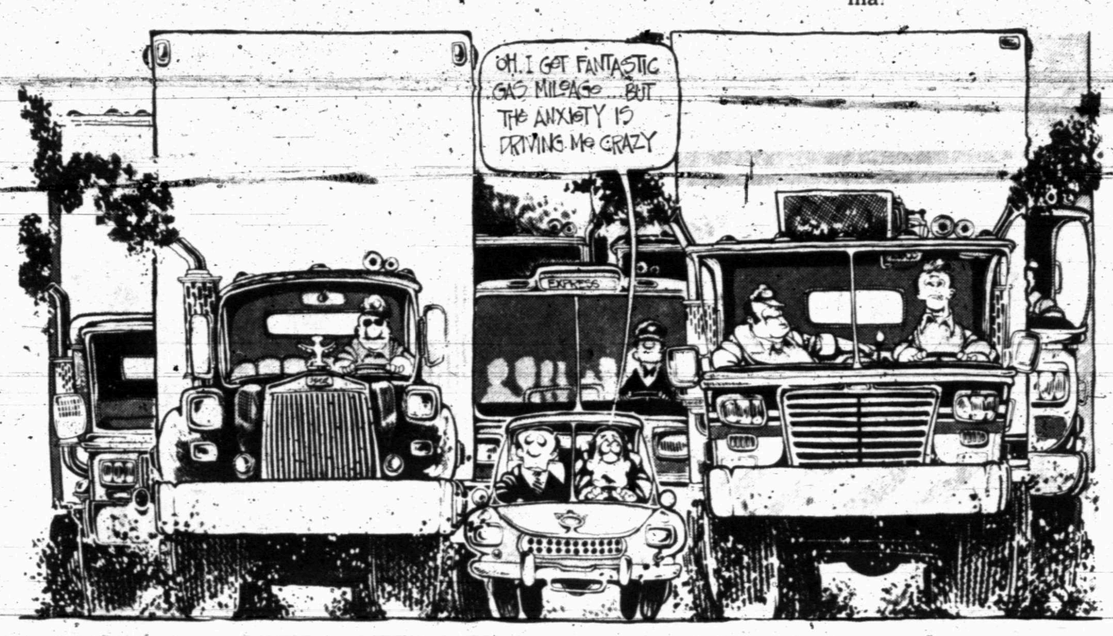
Not only did he vote for the Panama Canal treaties in 1978, but he rejects the tactics and tenets of "New Right" leaders who believe the public is tired of business as usual in the nation's capital.

Baker believes that Republicans have the best shot of winning in 1980 if they select a candidate who can attract Democratic and independent voters with a centrist platform.

As Senate minority leader since 1977, he has had some success uniting the diverse corps of Republicans behind a common position on taxes, energy and national defense.

He stresses that he has spent much of his career in Washington and is experienced in the art of compromise, and how the system works. He tries to remind his audience of his role in the 1973 Senate Watergate hearings by stressing that politics is an "honorable profession."

But all these pluses could also be minuses for Baker. The public may be disenchanted with politicians who try to be all things to all people.



one boom endures

The population boom may be slowing in the maternity wards, but not in the nation's prisons. For the first time in the country's history, more than 300,000 men and women are in the custody of state and federal corrections authorities.

Recently released Justice Department statistics show that at the end of last year, the prison population stood at 307,384, up 3 percent over the previous year. Increases have been recorded for four consecutive years.

Prisoners under federal jurisdiction totaled 29,803, down 7 percent from a year earlier. But the number of state-incarcerated inmates rose 4 percent to 277,581.

The West has the dubious honor of leading the nation with a 7 percent increase in prisoners. Gains were recorded in every state of the region except Oregon and New Mexico. In other areas of the country, the increases ranged from 3 to 5 percent.

The largest declines in prison population were registered in North Carolina and Alabama. The biggest increases came in Texas, California, Florida, Michigan and New York.

of police defense

The Department of Justice has filed a lawsuit against Philadelphia's police. In effect, the police are accused of being too brutal.

One newspaper citing one allegation of police brutality in Philadelphia went into great detail concerning the allegation - but neglected to mention that the police in question had been tried and exonerated.

Now Philadelphia officials are suing that paper and a public spitting match is doing neither side any good.

Philadelphia elected and re-elected Mayor Frank Rizzo because he had been a tough cop and because he supported toughness.

But if he were really brutal, there is something he could do.

There were 122 complaints against Philadelphia police last year alleging physical abuse by policemen.

To keep this in perspective, Philadelphia police made 28,804 arrests last year of suspected murderers, rapists, assaulters, burglars, car thieves and others.

Philadelphia police responded to one million radio dispatches and had two million other contacts with complaining civilians.

Yet in all this police activity there were only 122 accusations against police for physical abuse.

Eight officers were dismissed as a result, 15 were suspended, one was allowed to resign and two were reprimanded.

Since 1976 the Department of Justice has investigated 77 cases of alleged police brutality in Philadelphia.

Seventy-five of those cases were dismissed.

Of the other two, the city won one and the other is on appeal.

Meanwhile, the accusers have preoccupied the public forum with these negligible numbers of comparatively rare instances of over-response by police.

During those same years 101 Philadelphia policemen have been shot, 13 murdered, 222 policemen suffered injuries resulting in permanent disabilities. Who is brutalizing whom?

I cannot understand why resigning Atty. Gen Griffin Bell saw fit to bring this indictment against Philadelphia's police.

I can imagine only one conceivable explanation -- and that sounds so selfish that I am reluctant to attribute it to him.

But in the game of politics, I suppose any Southerner hoping someday to be appointed to the Supreme Court might figure he'd have a better chance of Senate ratification if he had some "civil rights" on his record.

I cannot conceive of any other reason that a lawman would turn against lawmen.

And if Frank Rizzo were really as vindictive as his critics say, he would announce today: "The federal government has accused all Philadelphia police; I am obligated immediately to relieve from duty all Philadelphia police."

Thus leaving Philadelphia at the mercy of the merciless.

You'd hear the screaming around the world.

A riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma.

Winston Churchill had the words for Soviet policy back then at the onset of World War II. It has become no less mysterious in the intervening 40 years.

Why, for example, those combat troops in Cuba?

The 1962 missile crisis immediately comes to mind, but no one sees a replay - yet. And that is precisely the point of the question.

Two or three thousand Russians - even representing, as the Pentagon says, the equivalent of a brigade with armored, artillery and infantry elements - do not pose a direct physical threat to the United States or any other of Cuba's neighbors with the possible exception of a Dominican Republic already flattened by Hurricane David.

There is some speculation, of the hopeful variety, that the troops may be nothing more than a Soviet gesture, a quid pro quo for the Cubans who have been Moscow's point men in Africa.

But if so, there is considerably less quid than quo involved. Best estimates put the Cuban expeditionary force at something like 40,000 men, compared to which the few thousand Russians are a very small gesture indeed. Furthermore, when the Cubans have some 140,000 men under arms still on their island who needs Russians to buck up the home front?

While the military purposes, if any, of the new troops may be a mystery, the political consequences are something else again - multiple and all too obvious.

If Moscow had set out to disrupt congressional consideration of SALT II and convert doubters into opponents of the arms-limitation agreement, they could not have devised a better low-risk strategy. The troops are not sufficient to trigger a blockade and an eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation as did the missile crisis. But they are enough to put SALT on the shelf as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee turns to the Cuban situation.

And there's more. Committee chairman Frank Church will be a key figure in the upcoming ratification floor debate. He also happens to be facing a tough re-election campaign back home in Idaho, where soft lines in foreign policy are not popular with the voters. The senator-candidate has let it be known he may be reconsidering his position on the treaty.

Then there is the delay in detecting the Soviet newcomers - for all the vast U.S. intelligence apparatus knows, or is letting on, they may have been in Cuba unnoticed for a year or more. It is not the sort of demonstration of intelligence effectiveness to reassure those doubting U.S. ability to police the SALT arms restrictions and verify Soviet compliance.

But none of this squares with readings up to now of Moscow's interest in securing ratification of the treaty with no or a bare minimum of congressional tinkering. Which brings us back to the mystery.

The troops may, of course, be a Soviet way of acting tough at little cost, possibly timed to coincide with the conference of nonaligned nations in Havana where host Fidel Castro has pressed for a pro-Soviet course.

But it should be obvious even in the innermost recesses of the Kremlin that such a show for any reason at such a sensitive point can only compel an American government to act tougher, particulary one in the loosely stuck together condition of the Carter administration, with an election looming.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance is holding the no-panic line, but even he says that the status quo won't do. In other words, the Soviet troops must go.

It is just possible that Moscow could be interested in putting the United States on the spot in its new relationship with China by forcing Washington into a show irresoluting, even briefly. Vice President Walter Mondale is, after all, fresh from talks in Peking visit where he assured his hosts of U.S. determination to stand up to Soviet pressure tactics. The Chinese, under the circumstances, can be counted upon to be the most interested among observers of developments.

But while the Soviets might enjoy Sino-American embarrassment, it would scarcely compensate for what they stand to lose. Why they should want to endanger for such minimal return such immediately vital interests as SALT, access to U.S. technology, expanded trade and assured supplies of U.S. grain is indeed a riddle.

One wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma.

Your Birthday

Sept. 13, 1979

It might be difficult to see at the moment, but this coming year will turn out to be a most fortunate one. You may not recognize it because Lady Luck is working incognito, but she IS there.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Go after what you want today in a subtle and gentle manner and your pails will be overflowing. The opposite will be true if you appear grasping or selfish. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's important to keep strong faith in what you're doing and with whom, because something quite substantial will come your way if you don't falter.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It behooves you to co-operate to the fullest today with those with whom you share an interest. Be supportive and don't make waves.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take yourself out of the picture when negotiating or drawing up a contract. If you don't appear self-serving, the other party will bend over backward to please you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is one of those days when two heads are better than one. Before proceeding full-steam ahead, check with a co-worker to get his or her thoughts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your benefits come today through persons with whom you feel close personal ties. Those you know little about could have more interest in themselves than in you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When it comes to things dealing with the home, you, rather than your mate, are the luckiest today. If there's a toss-up as to whose views to follow, use yours.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Stick to socializing with friends today. Shun co-workers. Saying the wrong thing to one who carries tales could harm your image with the boss.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're shopping for necessities today, you should have good luck finding the exact items at the right prices. Look for the bargains.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Information or knowledge you seek is easily obtainable today. If need be, pick the brains of people in the know. They'll be most helpful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) An inside tip may be given to you today that could prove quite beneficial, if you choose to take advantage of it. However, take care not to betray a confidence.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's not like you to fail to reciprocate the generosity of friends. Be careful that you're not all take and no give today.

Car pools are becoming a permanent feature of the business, entertainment and educational circles. In order for this system to work successfully, some do's and don't can make a smoother, more enjoyable mode of transportation as we strive to conserve energy as suggested by government officials.

Every car pool must have its own code and taboos. When it's your turn to drive, it might be well to remember:

Don't honk the horn for the passenger. Drivers who honk for riders in early morning hours infuriate neighbors, set dogs to barking, irk the family and so excite the departee that he forgets his wallet.

Always, but always, keep the car key handy. This is the secret for getting on the road promptly. Have a special place for the car key, so that its absence can be quickly established and all hands may join in hunting for it.

The driver should be a gracious host. When you drive, the riders are your guests. Carry plenty of insurance (and free samples of whatever you sell).

Keep passengers informed. Think ahead and notify riders if you plan to be at pickup points early, late or not at all.

Beginning your trip to work, to the club meeting or to school with a partially empty tank of gas will not lead to a harmonious trip, especially now in the days of gas limitations. Also, in the line of car-care, drivers who neglect old tires and allow them to become deflated should not expect passengers to assist with removal of said tire or with putting on the spare.

Passengers are entitled to all the seat room. Tennis rackets, golf clubs, spare shoes and attache cases should be placed in the trunk or left at home.

When the driver becomes the carpoolee, it is his time to consider ways to be the ideal passenger.

Passengers who are not ready and waiting should forfeit all rights to be picked up at all, to choose the best seat, to select the radio program and to control the inside temperature of the car.

Before inviting another person to ride in the car pool, check with the entire group.

Riders should permit the driver to be in complete control. Never is a backseat driver appreciated. Save all ideas of shorter routes and control of other traffic for when it's your turn to drive.

To cause one to be late getting home for dinner is even worse than getting to work late in the morning. If for some reason you must stay late, always advise your driver of this situation early as possible.

To preserve harmony in the car, one person only (possibly the driver) should be in charge of seating, radio tuning, and temperature control.

Following these unwritten laws, and a few of your own should make for more successful carpooling.

housing worries

NEW YORK (AP)-With the purchase, financing and operating costs of its product continuing to rise, the housing industry is growing more worried about its future than the sales charts might indicate.

Those charts still show houses selling at a pretty good clip, although down from the pace of last spring. But with prices, mortgage and heating costs rising to startling levels, the future is cloudy.

So the industry is counterattacking, with its main efforts falling into the categories of propaganda, legislation and service.

In the first of these remember, "propaganda" merely means the dissemenation of information and ideas favorable to a certain position is a recent statement by Joseph T. Benedict, a top financial executive.

American home buyers, said Benedict, president of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, pay less to borrow than do blue chip companies. That is, he said, mortgage rates are lower than prime rates.

The statement is correct. The prime lending rate is at least 12.5 percent. While some 12 percent home mortgage rates exist, the national average in August was 11.02 percent for new homes and 11.14 for used.

One reason for this is the existence of state and federal regulations that artificially restrain mortgage rates. Corporate lending rates are market rates, unrestrained by social legislation.

The National Association of Realtors is also doing its utmost. It's new executive vice president. Jack Carlson, recently said that now is the best time to buy because prices will continue to soar.

"By all means buy now," said Carlson. "It makes particularly good sense to invest in real estate during periods of inflation. It's a matter of watching your capital grow or erode."

Carlson, an economist in several presidential administrations and formerly chief economist of the National Chamber of Commerce, expects price increases of 8 percent to 14 percent in the next year.

The same message is being circulated by Robert Levenstein, president of Kaufman and Broad, Inc., which describes itself as the country's leading multinational housing producer.

He maintains that "Over the years a new home has provided a steady and greater appreciation than certificates of deposit, savings accounts, stocks, bonds or the majority of other forms of investment."

Meanwhile, the industry is attempting to deliver better service.

That problem of heating-cooling costs remains, however. Lenders and real estate agents have plenty of advice to offer, the most common and practical being insulate, insulate, insulate.

Sorority Meets At MAWC

Morals and Mores was the title of the program presented to Beta Sigma Phi members Tuesday evening. Ms. Jane Middlebrooks, guest speaker, defined a moral as a standard concerned with the judgement of the goodness or badness of human action and character while mores are the accepted traditional customs and usages of a particular social group that come to be regarded as essential to its survival and welfare.

"Morals are a very personal thing and morality cannot be legislated," said Ms. Middlebrooks. "However, our decisions must be made on moral values, not mores because customary behavior is not necessarily morally good," she concluded.

Following group discussion topics such as abortion, capital punishment and other ethic situations were discussed.

President Marie Boone announced that Lambda Kappa Chapter had received a three star rating for its previous year's work from Beta Sigma Phi.

Members were reminded of the Western Dance scheduled for Sept. 29, and announced that, tickets will be distributed at the next meeting. Hostesses for the evening were Dena Ellis and Carol Foust. The meeting was held at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Fair Features Meat, Landscaping Seminars

The Fair will have something special on Thursday. Fair seminar speakers will speak on home landscaping topics and meat cookery.

This year Dr. Everett Janne will begin the Fair seminars with a special program beginning at 2 p.m. on Thursday on center stage at the Scurry County Coliseum. Dr. Janne is the state landscape specialist with the Texas A&M University. Special attention will be given to winterizing the home landscape, planning a landscape and energy conservation in the home landscape. There will be only one presentation given by Dr. Janne at 2 p.m. on Thursday. Another speaker that will be hosted at the Scurry County Fair is Mrs. Kathrine Berry. Mrs. Berry is with Furr's Super Markets, Inc. as their home economist and meat consultant. The topic that she will be touching on during her demonstration is meat cookery. She will be demonstrating how to make more from our "meat dollar." Special handling of meat will also be discussed. Mrs. Berry's demonstration will take place at 3 p.m. on Thursday Sept. 13. Sandra Hart of the CowBell's association has helped by having Mrs. Berry here for these seminars. Mrs. Berry will also be in the CowBell's booth during most of the fair. The meat cookery will also be given at 11 a.m. Friday.

The fair seminars are free of charge and will offer information benefitial to everyone.

There are no classless societies, points out a family life education specialist, Dorthy Taylor, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Social class is determined by occupation, source of income, neighborhood and type of house lived in, the specialist explains.

West's opening bid of one heart was incorrect in 1930 and just as incorrect today but it is the sort of bid that lots of players make when not vulnerable against opponents who are vulnerable.

North's double is correct. But where the 1930 East just bid two hearts, we have a distinct difference today. The modern good player jumps right to four hearts.

Four hearts makes, but the modern South would surely bid four spades. At this stage in the proceedings, West might well go to five hearts. Doubled it would only be one down, but North might take the push to five spades. Down one also.

Anyway, in 1930 South bid three clubs. West tried three hearts. North four clubs, East four hearts, South four spades, all pass.

The bidding gave West the brilliant idea to lead a club. Maybe his partner would be void.

East wasn't, but South was sure that someone held a club singleton. So, South decided to avoid the spade finesse and play ace and one trump. This play saved his bacon. East, who held the club singleton also held just two spades and the ruff did not materialize.

Hair dryer protection

We've heard a lot in the last few months about certain hairdryers emitting potentially cancer-causing asbestos particles. If your hairdryer isn't one of the new models marked "asbestos free," you can check on it by calling the Consumer Product Safety Commission, 800-638-8326 toll free.

Choosing a foundation

The proper foundation should not only cover your skin, but enhance your complexion as well. A yellow-hued skin needs a foundation with a pink or peach tone, pink skin looks best with a strictly beige tone, and grayish skin calls for peach or rose.

To make corn-husk butterflies, soften corn husks with water, then cut, pleat, or stretch, says Pat Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Additional husks for the body plus painted designs complete the creations.

Keeping weight off

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 20-year-old woman and I successfully lost over 100 pounds in a little over a year. I carried most of the weight in my stomach area and was left with excessively stretched skin and stretch marks. I read in your column where you once advised a person to wait a year after her weight loss before she had surgery to take up the excess skin. I've waited a year and haven't noticed any remarkable improvement. I've exercised through the entire weight loss and for several years before, which has helped tremendously.

Unfortunately, I'm left with an apron on my upper and lower abdomen. I've seen a plastic surgeon about it and he felt it would never go back in place. I have mixed feelings about the operation and would appreciate your suggestions.

I understand the operation entails a "bikini cut" and about 150 stitches or staples. The doctor said he would have to remove some fat cells that were still there and make a new opening for my navel.

Will the surgery aid in keeping the weight off and will the stretch marks be removed through the surgery? I'm sure there are other people who have lost a lot of weight who are faced with this same problem. Thank God I'm thin at last.

DEAR READER — First, congratulations. That's a major achievement. The fact that you've been able to keep it off suggests that you have improved your life style so that you can avoid obesity in the future if you really want to.

I do advise people to wait a year after a weight loss before they undergo surgery. That is not because I think the skin is really going to shrink that much or regain its elasticity.

One of the biggest reasons is that I know that many people who lose weight regain it almost as fast. That's because they really didn't change their life style. It would be a mistake to lose all that weight and have surgery and then gain back all your fat. You can pretty well separate out the person who is going to stick to a life style to avoid obesity and the person who won't by seeing what happens to him for a year after he has completed his weight loss.

You've done the right thing in seeing a plastic surgeon to gain information. Different doctors have different approaches to the problem and, of course, it depends a lot on just how much of a problem really exists. You'll have to ask your surgeon about whether the stretch marks will be removed because it depends on where they are and what type of surgery he decides to do.

You'll need to follow a sensible diet plan to avoid regaining your weight. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet which you can use as a guide. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

And don't forget to keep up your exercise and proper diet program. You're absolutely right that exercise helps a lot in such situations.

ACU Alumni Honor Ezzell

ABILENE—Mike Ezzell of Snyder, a 1966 Abilene Christian University graduate and State Representative for the 63rd District, has been named the latest Alumni Citation Award recipient by the ACU Alumni Association.

He is one of six alumni to be honored during 1979 by the Alumni Association for their outstanding contributions to their professions and their communities.

He will be the guest at a reception hosted by the Snyder Alumni Chapter at a time to be decided later. Bob Watlington, local insurance agent, is president of the Snyder chapter of ACU Alumni.

A Church of Christ preacher both before and after his 1974 election to the State Legislature, Ezzell still serves as minister for the Dunn Church of Christ near Snyder in addition to his duties in Austin. He is also associated with Basin Weed Control and Richardson Realty, both Snyder firms.

The 35-year-old Ezzell was born in Port Lavaca and is a 1962 graduate of Calhoun High School. He came to West Texas to attend ACU, receiving the bachelor of science in education degree in 1966 and the master's degree in guidance and counseling in 1969.

It was at ACU where he met Betty Sorrells of Big Spring, whom he married Jan. 1, 1966. The Ezzels now have two children, Michael, 8, and Marla, 6.

Ezzell briefly taught school in Gonzales and Abilene before moving to Snyder in 1967 as a sixth grade teacher. From 1969 until his election to the legislature in 1974, he was an elementary school counselor in Snyder.

He is a member and past president and secretary-treasurer of the Snyder Rotary Club, a member of the Snyder Kiwanis and an honorary Jaycee, as well as a member of the Scurry County Association of Retarded Citizens.

He is a life member of the Texas State Teachers Association, serving as District 14 treasurer in 1974 and as a member of the Human Resources Committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures. In 1978 the Snyder Jaycees honored him with the Distinguished Service Award, and in 1979 he was named "Outstanding Representative" by the Texas Association of Retarded Citizens.

Pray-In Protests Airing Of TV Show

AMARILLO (AP)— About 300 protestors sang and prayed outside an Amarillo television station, but the station manager says he still has not decided whether to air two controversial programs.

Tuesday's pray-in was conceived when CBS announced it would air "Flesh and Blood," a two-part program concerning incest and the protest group called the epitomy of television's "moral decay."

The group, led by Judy and Jimmy Mamou, carried signs and Bibles to the station's grounds and prayed and sang for almost an hour. They presented KFDA station manager Harry Neuhardt with silk flowers, a Bible and brownies.

However, Neuhardt said Tuesday he still had not decided whether to air the programs scheduled to be shown Oct. 14 and 16.

Debra Lane, co-anchorwoman and reporter for the CBS-TV affiliate, said the protesters came from Amarillo and surrounding towns. She said one group of nuns carried a sign reading, "Repent, the kingdom is at hand."

"For some reason, this has really struck a nerve up here," she said.

Mrs. Mamou said CBS is exploiting the subject. "I was involved in incest, and it is not funny," she said. "If they were going to show the terrible trauma and how to survive incest, that would be different."

Neuhardt said he would "continue to consider what she had to say in the meeting with her in my office after the prayer meeting."

Neuhardt, who previewed the program, earlier called it a "fine piece of dramatic work" and said he found nothing offensive about it.

Ms. Lane said Neuhardt told the group that "an adult would have to watch the entire program to get the gist of what's going on. There is very little chance a child would pick up on it. If these people think that is wrong, they should not watch it. Not to air it simply because some people consider it objectionable would be unfair to the rights of other people."

Ms. Lane said Neuhardt planned to "wait till all the ballots are in — see what kind of reaction he gets in the mail."

The group also opposes airing of "30 Minutes", a children's program based on "60 Minutes" that deals with topics such as homosexuality, drugs and venereal disease.

"I was shocked," Mrs. Mamou said of the Saturday morning program.

"They're using prime time for children to show a program on homosexuals in Houston. What does my six-year-old need to know about homosexuals in Houston?"

But Neuhardt said the station "undoubtedly" would continue the series.

Judge To Decide When Carson's Contract Ends

By PETER J. BOYER
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)— After months of negotiation, NBC and its biggest star, Johnny Carson, have agreed to let a judge decide when Carson's contract as "The Tonight Show" host actually expires.

Ratings-troubled NBC was shaken last spring when Carson announced he wanted out of his duties as host of the late-night talk show at the end of the year.

NBC responded that Carson, who has been "The Tonight Show" star for 17 years, would be expected to honor his contract that runs through the spring of 1981. Lawyers took over from there.

On Tuesday, NBC issued a statement saying:

"NBC and Johnny Carson have entered into an agreement to obtain a determination of a legal question concerning the present contractual arrangement between Carson and NBC."

The statement did not explain what the legal question was, but an NBC memo written by an unidentified network spokesman explained the matter this way:

"Carson maintains that his contract expired in April of this year. He bases that on a 1972 contract which he claims expired in April under a California law which, in essence, precludes personal services contracts for more than seven years.

"NBC maintains that since then, there have been at least three new and independent agreements, the last of which was entered into in 1977."

The statement said, "NBC is confident that our contract with Carson, which runs through April 1981, will be upheld."

Carson's lawyer, Henry Bushkin, said Tuesday that Carson would continue his duties as host of "The Tonight Show" and that he has no present intention of leaving.

Carson could not be reached for comment.

The stipulated agreement will be worked out with retired Superior Court Judge Parks Still-well at an undisclosed future date, the network said.

Carson, who is paid a reported $3 million annually by NBC, said last spring that he'd had enough after 17 years as host.

In addition, there have been reports this summer that ratings-leader ABC is interested in luring Carson, and is willing to pay him $5 million a year for services, including movies and specials.

Partly to keep Carson happy and partly to boost its low prime-time ratings, NBC has announced that Carson's 17th anniversary show will take the form of a two-hour prime-time special next month. Earlier anniversary shows have been aired in Carson's regular late-night spot.

SAVE ENERGY.

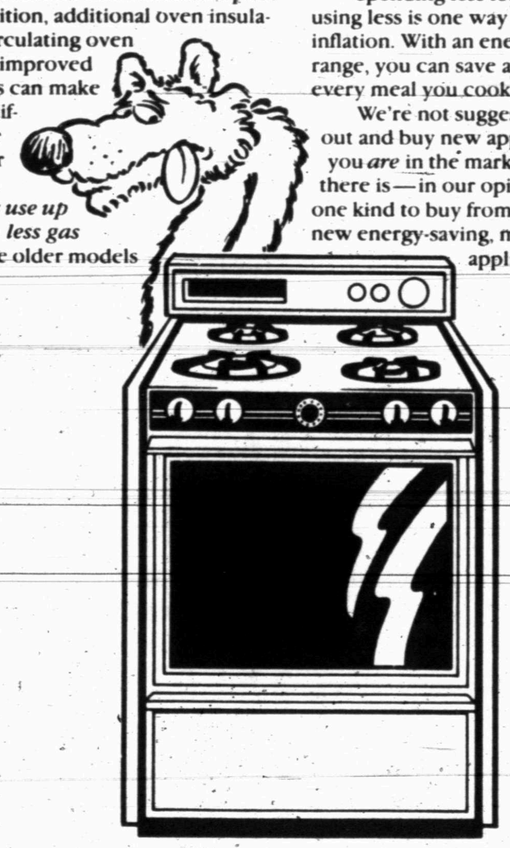
Lone Star wants you to know you can use less gas to cook the same number of meals.

The new energy-efficient gas ranges with such features as automatic pilotless ignition, additional oven insulation, circulating oven air and improved burners can make a nice difference on your gas bill.

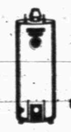
They use up to 30% less gas than the older models without these energy-saving features.

Spending less for energy by using less is one way you can fight inflation. With an energy-efficient gas range, you can save a little money on every meal you cook.

We're not suggesting you rush out and buy new appliances. But if you are in the market for new ones, there is—in our opinion—only one kind to buy from now on: the new energy-saving, money-saving appliances.



Give the Inflation Wolf a tough time with energy-efficient gas appliances.



Use up to 20% less gas to heat water.

Use up to 20% less gas to dry clothes.

Use up to 20% less gas to heat.

The Inflation Wolf is at your door, and it looks as if he's come to stay. You can make him feel less welcome, however, by reducing the bite he'll take from your paychecks. And the new energy-efficient gas appliances can help you hold the line on energy costs without cutting back on the conveniences energy provides.

Dear Abby

Links Sex To Links

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My wife, a grandmother, plays golf every day. Yesterday she said to me, "Honey, I think I know why I've been playing such rotten golf lately. I'm not getting enough loving." She explained that her putting and chipping were way off because she was tense and uptight instead of relaxed.

Well, I didn't want to let her down so I mustered some strength hoping to improve her golf game.

This afternoon she handed me her golf scorecard as she came off the course. It was seven strokes less than yesterday's!

"See, I told you!" she said. "I knew I was right!"

Abby, I still think one thing has nothing to do with the other. What do you think?

GOLFING GRANDPA IN S. CALIFORNIA

DEAR GRANDPA: There's only one way to find out. Continue mustering enough strength to follow through daily. If her score goes DOWN, I hope your strength holds UP!

DEAR ABBY: We speak for countless others who, after having spent a lifetime working to get a place of retirement, find that we have been "had" by friends and relatives who come out of the woodwork because we have a place on the lake.

My husband and I built our summer place with our own hands—clearing land, felling trees, digging wells and building our home. In the land of 10,000 lakes, ours seems to be the only lake with fish in it, and of course there's a free boat which is usually left dirty, plus dead fish here and there.

When we're not here, they take over as if the place were their own, bringing friends who pass the word about the fantastic fishing.

We had planned on leaving this lovely place to our children and grandchildren, but we are ready to sell—boat and all.

We hope they take time out from fishing to read this. Sign me . . .

MAD IN MINNESOTA

DEAR MAD: People who are imposed upon constantly should not blame others because they themselves lack the gumption to express their objections. Have you ever thought of putting new locks on your home and boat? If you are too timid to speak your minds, that should do it for you.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is for the two boys who thought it was useless to work, since their father made them put half of all their income in the bank.

I am an 18-year-old who has been working steadily for two years. Last summer I held two jobs. Now I'm ready to move out of my parents' house, buy a car and go to a one-year school.

The problem? I have only $8 in my wallet, and $20 in my bank account.

My parents never made me save, so I frittered away my money. Right now, I'm waiting for a loan so I can go to school. A car and apartment are totally out of the question.

I am the most dependent 18-year-old I know. Please learn from my mistakes and be thankful that your parents forced you to save. I wish my parents had been more like yours.

Meatpackers Close Due To Low Profits

DALLAS (AP)—Four meatpacking plants in the Dallas-Fort Worth area have closed in the past year, including two recent shut-downs, because of low profits.

P&H Packing Co. of Dallas and Hygrade Food Products Corp. of Fort Worth closed plants Friday. Neuhoff Brothers Packers Inc. of Dallas closed last December, and P&H shut down its Kaufman plant last November.

"There are a lot of reasons, but it boils down to a lack of profit," said James Pellman, who was superintendent of the Kaufman plant.

The great pro quarterback, Sammy Baugh, played safety on defense and in one game in 1943 he made four interceptions for the Washington Redskins against the Detroit Lions.

No. 5 America's energy problem is complex. This is the fifth in a series in which we will discuss each of the individual factors affecting the energy situation.

From wellhead to gas pump: No shortage of controls.

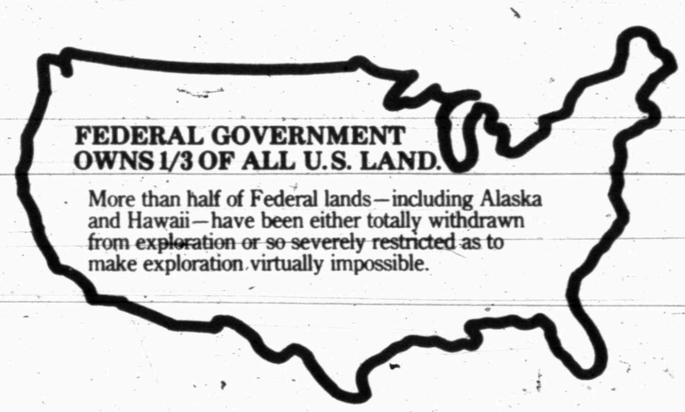
Some government controls are necessary; however, excessive controls in every phase of an oil company's activities limit efforts to develop more energy.

Controls on distribution.

Government product allocation programs are based on past consumption. Current increases or decreases in population in an area aren't adequately considered. Also, gasoline price controls actually encourage consumption.

Controls on exploration.

There are still billions of barrels of crude oil to be discovered in America. However, millions of acres have already been closed to exploration...and the U.S. Government is moving to withdraw even more land.



Controls on production.

Crude oil price controls have discouraged increased production from existing fields because costs cannot be recovered. "Phased price decontrol" will help but it's only a start.

Controls on refining.

Inflexible price controls and environmental regulations are discouraging the building or expansion of refineries simply because the enormous costs can't be recovered.

Fewer regulations—not more—are needed to help solve America's energy problem. Meanwhile, all of us must do an even better job of conserving energy.

Thank you for listening.

Against Liability For Oil Spill...

Interim Guarantee Granted SEDCO

GALVESTON (AP)—An order signed by a federal judge gives SEDCO Inc. an interim guarantee against liability for the massive oil spill caused when an offshore drilling rig it leased to Mexico blew out June 3.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Conor granted the interim guarantee Tuesday and set Oct. 23 as the deadline for the filing of all damage claims in federal court.

O'Conor's action came after attorneys for the Dallas-based company founded by Gov. Bill Clements, whose interest are being held in a blind trust, asked the judge to exonerate it of all liability or set its liability for damages caused by the oil well mishap in the Bay of Campeche to $200,000

The company's attorneys say that is the amount SEDCO would have earned in the lease to the Mexican drilling company.

No claims have been filed yet, but SEDCO attorney Eugene J. Silva said various parties have indicated intentions to do so and may ask O'Conor for a deadline postponement.

Clements, who is traveling in the Soviet Union, has said, "There is no foundation for any statement that SEDCO is responsible for the blowout or the equipment was defective."

Attorney General Mark White, who has advocated suing Mexico for damages from the oil spill that has been called the worst in history, said the legal action raised serious questions in his mind.

"This is exactly the type of precipitous legal action which they and the governor have asked us not to engage in," White said from his office in Austin.

"Until now, we have accepted in good faith their statements regarding the sinking of their drilling equipment," he said, "But the filing of this suit raises strong suspicions that their prior acts were merely an attempt to destroy evidence."

White also accused the company of withholding facts concerning the role played by SEDCO employees when the oil well blew out.

"I was distressed to learn last Saturday that there were seven SEDCO employees on the platform with some degree of operational control," he said, "after they indicated to me that the rig was merely a 'bare-boat' charter.

"I think that SEDCO has been less than candid with the attorney general and with the people of Texas," he said.

The governor's son and president of SEDCO, Gil Clements, said his company was not responsible for the mishap.

SEDCO's petition to O'Conor argued that any damages from the blowout or oil spill "were not caused or contributed to by any fault, negligence, unseaworthiness or want of care" on the part of the company, its drilling rig or its employees.

Move Ahead Of Astros...

Reds Win See-Sawer

CINCINNATI (AP)-The Cincinnati Reds lead the National League West by half a game today, but don't bet the rent that the Houston Astros aren't on top again by tomorrow.

The Reds took over first place with a 9-8 victory over Houston Tuesday night, the seventh time the division lead has changed hands in two weeks.

"I think we're going to win it, but from here on out our most important game is the next one," said Ray Knight, who may be the Reds' most valuable player in his first full year at third base. "Up to now, this was the most important game we played all year."

Houston Manager Bill Virdon noted that Cincinnati still must play the Astros three games in the Astrodome later this month.

"We need to win, but if we lost tomorrow night that's not the pennant," Virdon said.

The two teams pounded out 28 hits in a game that was supposed to be a pitching duel between the Reds' Tom Seaver and Houston's J.R. Richard. The duel lasted three innings before the craziness began.

Cincinnati scored four times in the fourth, and Astros scored twice in the fifth and sixth to tie, and by then both starters were gone.

"It was a crazy game. There's no explaining it," said Seaver. "That will happen sometimes."

Seaver left with six strikeouts to take over fourth place on the major league career strikeout list with 2,874, but Tom Hume, 10-8, was the eventual winner.

The loss was charged to Joe Sambito, 7-6, the fourth of five Astro pitchers.

The Reds went ahead by two in the bottom of the sixth, but Houston scored three runs in the seventh to take the lead. Cinncinnati finally won it in the seventh on back-to-back homers, a two-run shot by Dave Concepcion and George Foster's 27th of the year.

CRS Wants Action Now

HOUSTON (AP)-The U.S. Civil Rights Commission, reversing an earlier position, suggested colleges and universities be required to immediately equalize per capita expenditures for men and women in all sports programs.

The commission has no enforcement or legislative powers and it is now up to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to accept or reject the suggestion.

SPIKES IT--Snyder's Sherry Mayes slams the volleyball across the net to aid the Tigers to a quick victory over Denver City here last night. Snyder varsity won 15-9 and 15-7. The junior varsity won also. See related story, above-right. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Sample Ignites Texas Victory

ARLINGTON (AP)-Billy Sample "is going to be a star one of these days," says Texas Manager Pat Corrales, who first must decide whose place Sample is going to take in the lineup.

Sample, who made the Rangers' roster this season after three years in the minor leagues, drove in two runs with a single and a double to lead Texas to a 5-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners Tuesday night.

The night before, he was 3-for-4, with a double and two singles.

Sample got into the game both times only because of a death in the family of Al Oliver, the Rangers' solid leftfielder.

Mickey Rivers hit Branch's second pitch of the game into the right-field stands. Buddy Bell walked, went to third on Willie Montanez' single and scored on Richie Zisk's sacrifice fly.

The Rangers never trailed, with Doyle Alexander, 4-6, scattering seven hits before leaving in the seventh. Sparky Lyle finished up.

Johnson Out For Season

HOUSTON (AP)-Billy "White Shoes" Johnson, the star receiver-kick returner for the Houston Oilers, is out for the 1979 season after undergoing knee surgery in Columbus, Ga.

Johnson, who missed almost all of the 1978 season with a knee injury, suffered torn ligaments in his right knee during last Sunday's 38-7 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Oiler team physician Dr. Thomas Cain said Tuesday all the torn ligaments were repaired, but Johnson would not be able to return this season.

The Oilers also announced that quarterback Dan Pastorini, who suffered a bruised shoulder against the Steelers would probably play in Sunday's home opener against the Kansas City Chiefs in the Astrodome.

Tiger Teams Thrash Denver City Duo Here

Denver City proved little competition for Snyder varsity and junior varsity volleyball teams last night as the Tigers routed the opponent in quick fashion.

The local varsity will find the going tougher this weekend, however. The Tigers are scheduled to play in the Angelo State Tournament with Midland Lee as their first opponent, 11 a.m. Friday in Central Gym.

Depending upon the outcome of the Snyder-Lee match, the Tigers will play the winner or loser of an Abilene Cooper and El Paso Jefferson contest, either at 4 (winners) or at 2 (losers). Sixteen teams, including 3-3A rival Lamesa, are entered in the tourney of which Snyder is the defending champion.

Kim Harlin came up with 7 points, Shauna Pate and Suzanne Fisher had 6 each, Billie Owens served for 4, Lisa Cobb and Sherry Mayes got 3 each and Patsy Casas garnered 1 as the varsity blasted Denver City last night 15-9 and 15-7.

Snyder's junior varsity squad also racked the visitors, winning by scores of 15-0 and 15-4. Kerstin Selmon served for 13 points, while Robyn Harlin and Kelly Dryden added 5 apiece. Shana Koonsman notched 3 and Sherri Rich and Toni Elrod had 2 each.

The Tiger junior varsity is scheduled to be idle until Sept. 17, when it plays San Angelo Central here at 6 p.m. A varsity match will follow.

D-City Falls To Freshmen

Snyder ninth grade volleyball squad won its season opener here yesterday, thumping Denver City 15-12 and 15-7.

Playing for the Tigers were Becky Pylant, Susie Lee, Lisa Loyola, Becky Harrell, Belinda Loveall, Sabrina Robinson, Romona Murphy, Natalie Gist, Lisa Waller and Tina Herrley.

Next outing for the freshmen will be Sept. 22 in the Lamesa Tournament.

Tiger Fans Set 8:30 Meeting

Anyone interested in Snyder Tiger football is invited to view the Snyder-Midland Lee varsity game film and meet the coaches tonight at 8:30 in the field house, Coach Mike Jenkins has announced.

Women Grab Cager's Gold

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The United States women's basketball team defeated Cuba 73-60 to win the gold medal in the World University Games.

In track and field, American Willie Banks set a Games record of 56 feet, 6¼ inches on his last attempt and won the triple jump.

Ole Tex Says "You Ain't Seen Nothin' Yet"

District In Review: Week No. 1...

Outsiders Wreck (Most) 3-3A Teams

District 3-AAA football squads fared poorly against outside opposition last week. Only San Angelo Lake View, posting a 40-6 win over 30-AAAA's Del Rio, made the win column.

In other games, Snyder lost the game and its No. 9 ranking to another 5-AAAA team, Midland Lee, 13-0; Lamesa gave in to 2-AAA Pecos, 26-0; Brownfield was trimmed 14-13 by 1-AAA Levelland; and Sweetwater was routed 40-8 by 9AA Breckenridge, ranked No. 9.

This week, Lake View should find the going tougher against No. 4 ranked Kerrville Tivy (13-AAA) while Lamesa butts the barn door again at Andrews, Sweetwater hosts Colorado City, Brownfield trys Seminole and Snyder welcomes Monahans.

A capsule of last week's games and this week's opponents follows.

Monahans at Snyder

Both Monahans and Snyder will be looking for first victories of the 1979 season Friday as the Tigers entertain the Monahand Lobos at 8 p.m.

Monahans (2-AAA) fell to Seminole in a hard-fought contest last week, 13-6.

Seminole (5-AA) running back Ricky Greene caught a Mike Grass pass and went 35 yards for the first Indian TD. Monahans later tied the score on an Eddie Enriques 6-yard run. With less than three minutes to play in the game, Seminole's Jim Hall crashed over from two yards out to nail down the win.

Snyder meanwhile, lost five fumbles and sputtered offensively against Midland Lee. Lee quarterback Gary Butler scored from one yard out after the Rebels recovered a fumble on the 6. Fullback Mark Thompson later added another touchdown from two yards away.

Last year's score: Snyder 7, Monahans 0.

Kerrville at Lake View

State-ranked Kerrville Tivy blasted Lampasas 43-0 and Lake View easily handled Del Rio, 25-0 to set up this 8 p.m. meeting Friday.

John Shaw scored first for Kerrville's Antlers on a 25-yard run. Quarterback Troy Marburger tossed TD passes of 25 and 15 yards to Lloyd Wright and Steve Schwartz.

Lake View overwhelmed Del Rio with 352 yards total offense. Garry Gonzales rushed for 128 yards on 14 carries, and for two touchdowns, while Mike Doyle scored 1 TD while running for an equal 128 yards on 26 carries.

Last year's score: Tivy 27, Lake View 8.

Colorado City at Sweetwater

Like Snyder and Monahans, both Colorado City and Sweetwater go into Friday's battle looking for their first win of the season.

The Wolves fell to Slaton 26-13, while Sweetwater's Mustangs were mashed by Breckenridge 40-8.

Slaton's Lance Bounds worked Colorado City (6-AA) over for four touchdowns while picking up a hefty 239 yards on 23 carries.

Mike Runderburg spirited Breckenridge past Sweetwater, toting the ball 13 times for 133 yards. Quarterback Brent Parker completed 7 of 9 second-half passes as the Bucks chalked 137 yards through the air and 311 on the ground.

Sweetwater signal caller Vance Sims passed for 166 yards (9 of 21) and one touchdown.

Last year's score: Colorado City 15, Sweetwater 6.

Seminole at Brownfield

Brownfield looked to start the 1979 season with a victory last Friday, but fell one point short to Levelland, 14-13. Seminole defeated Monahans - this week's Snyder Tiger opponent - 13-5.

Levelland jumped out to a 14-0 lead over the Cubs as Keith Wade returned a punt 50 yards to the 1-yard line and Gary Dockery, fullback, took it in. Then the Lobos capitalized on a fumbled kickoff return, and quarterback Steve Caddell hit SE Barry Odell in the end zone for the second score.

Brownfield made a game of it as Brent Wilkes scored the first Cub touchdown on a 7-yard run, then later intercepted a Levelland pass from 10 yards out for the second TD. The extra-point attempt was bobbled however, and Levelland gladly took the win. Cub running back Charles Burse ran for 130 yards.

Last year's score: Brownfield 20, Seminole 10.

Lamesa at Andrews

Lopsided scores last week could indicate a similar outcome this time around as Lamesa travels to strong Andrews on Friday.

The Mustangs stomped 5-AAAA Big Spring 40-6 last week while Lamesa fell to Pecos (2-AAA) 26-0.

Lamesa garnered only two first downs and was stuck with -8 yards rushing in the second half as Pecos ran rampant. Danny Garcia scored on a 9-yard toss from Mark Dingler; running back Martin Arreguy scored on a 23-yard run; halfback Gary Rogers scored on a 5-yard run; and etc.

Andrews' 40-6 win over the Steers saw Keith Brooks hurl three TD passes; including one for 13 yards to Robbie Jones and another to Van Pearcy for 53 yards.

Last year's score: Andrews 22, Lamesa 6.

Posse Wins 12 Trophies

Twelve trophies were won this year by the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse from attending 14 parades.

The parade period ranges from March to the first of this month, posse club officers reported, and spans 1,938 round-trip miles spent in traveling to such cities as San Angelo, Lubbock, Haskell, Andrews, Rotan, Big Spring, Aspermont, Colorado City, Brownfield, Lamesa, Post, Ralls, Roby, and Abilene.

The trophies include seven first-place awards, three second-place awards, and two third-place awards.

Posse club president Earl Davis described the assembly as "an organization that originated under the sheriff." The Scurry County club dates back to 1957 when it was set up by then sheriff Earl Abercrombie.

Davis also pointed out that posse club members can, in special circumstances, be deputized by the sheriff. In the club's history, he added, that procedure has been invoked twice. Once was to search for a woman who had wandered away from a nursing home and the other occasion was to search for the body of a drowning victim at an area lake. Both instances date back to the 1960s.

Dorothy Taylor, secretary-treasurer for the posse, said. "The motto of the club is horsemanship, sportmanship, and citizenship."

The organization presently has a membership of 42 persons.
