TWINKLES

NRA pledge for today: I pledge myself to remember that the only difference between a slacker in this crisis and a slacker in war time is that the slacker in the world war may have ben a little more scared.

Percy, the office mouse, is missing. The presence of two cats in the office lately provides strong circumstantial evidence.

Out at our house, "nature in the raw" is being exhibited by the family cat. Frequently this cat is seen on the lawn playing with a half-grown rat—reminds one of some of those Wall Street slickers playing with the gullible public.

There's this difference: The public may be skinned, but will live; our cat never lets a rat live after she is tired of playing with it.

Business competition in this country often approaches that catrat stage, although sometimes even big business cuts the throat of other big business. But the depression excelled all other agencies for brutality.

Some people, always jumping on big business for making exorbitant charges, may be a little shocked to learn that big business can go bankrupt. . . . The sad part of it is that the public has been encouraged to throw hundreds of millions into concerns which needed better management, without which the extra capital was lost along with the original capital.

ANOTHER WEEK PASSES

Observance of constitution week was without material accomplishment despite efforts to make it otherwise. They value constitutions most who have to fight for them.

Often the week is used much as the flag is too often used—to brag of our past military prowess and to breathe defiance of other nations. The constiution is not directly related to such uses. It is intended to define the rights of individuals and of the individual states. Misuse of the constitution has made it necessary, in recent months, to stray radically further from its original intent. Wisely did many jurists construe it, but unwisely has a complex civilization endeavored to protect its meaning to the average individual. Changes in the constitution have been even greater than the amendments.

Continuing we quote Dale Miller of the Texas Weekly:

"Even the history of the amendments, however, does not tell the unfortunate story of the manner in which the constitution was changed subtly through the years. No authority by the states was sought for the political encroachments that have transformed the great document almost into a travesty of the spirit in which it was born. Fundamentally designed to protect the rights of the sovereign states, the constitution fell prey through the years to the exigencies of complex industrialized civilization and to political gyrations for power. Most obvious of these trends toward centralization of government has been the growth of the Washington bu-

PICKET AND A STEEL WORKER BADLY INJURED

SUPERINTENDENT'S CAR HITS STRIKER AND KILLS HIM

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Oct. 4. (AP)—Two men were critically wounded and several others were clubbed today in a clash between 300 pickets and 100 steel workers outside the Spang-Chalfant company's plant.

The crowd fell back after several shots were fired from the plant entrance and deputy sheriffs laid down a tear gas attack.

The two most seriously hurt are Al Curry, 30, a steel worker, and Luke Starchenko, 37, a picket. Starchenko was shot in the abdomen and Curry suffered a fractured skull. Physicians said both may die.

As disorder spread into the Beaver valley, more than two-thirds of the 75,000 soft coal miners in Western Pennsylvania remained out despite orders from their leaders to go back to work today.

SULLIVAN, Ind., Oct. 4. (AP)—Frank Stalder, 30, was killed today by an automobile driven through a crowd of pickets assembled at the Starburn mine several miles north of this city.

County authorities were informed the automobile that struck him was driven by Crede Fitzpatrick, superintendent of the Starburn mine. The authorities said, however, they were unable to subtantiate the charge.

Aged L'Fors Man Dies of Injuries Inflicted by Car

John Jefferson Friddle, 80, resident of LeFors for the past four years, died in a Pampa hospital at 5:40 this morning of injuries received a few days ago when an automobile ran over him.

He was assisting G. W. Ross of LeFors in getting an automobile out of a muddy ditch when the accident occurred. The car was in gear, and when it started it struck the aged man, crushing one shoulder.

The body will be shipped Thursday to Faunsdale, Ala., for burial. It is in charge of the Stephenson mortuary.

Mr. Friddle is survived by four sons and a daughter, H. G. and Meed Friddle of Pampa, J. R. Friddle of Uniontown, Ala., Claude S. Friddle of Jacksonville, Fla., and Mrs. H. E. Hunnicutt of Dayton, Ala.

He also leaves a brother, Dan Friddle, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Wilson, both of Jackson, Ala.

Corner Stone Of Postoffice To Be Laid on Thursday

Laying of the corner stone for the new Pampa postoffice building has been set for Thursday morning of next week dependent, however, upon the ability of Congressman Marvin Jones to be here at that time to take part in the ceremonies.

A telegram from Washington this morning said the date proposed, October 12, would be satisfactory to the postoffice department. Previously, Mr. Jones had indicated his willingness to be here on that date. He was sent a telegram this morning by the Board of City Development asking confirmation of his coming.

Tentative plans call for the ceremonies to begin about 10:30 a. m., with the high school band participating. Congressman Jones will speak. At noon, the congressman will be the guest of a civic club, possibly members of all clubs meeting together for the occasion.

Mrs. O. E. Keplinger of Kingsmill shopped in the city this morning.

Stribling On Death Machine

CHUMBLEY WINS DARKNESS DERBY FROM LOS ANGELES TO NEW YORK IN ELAPSED TIME OF 24 HOURS

Texas Flier Comes In 2nd in 30 Hours, 40 Minutes

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—Crossing the continent in two night flights with an elapsed time of 24 hours and 26 minutes, M. J. Chumbley, New York, landed here today ahead of what was left of the starting field in the transcontinental night air race. He carried off first honors and $1,500 prize money.

Merle Nelson of Los Angeles flew the two legs—Los Angeles-Wichita and Wichita-New York—in 30 hours 16 minutes for second place, with Frank Bowman, Jr., of El Paso, third with an elapsed time of 30:41.

These three were the only ones of a starting field of seven to finish. L. E. Root of Compton, Calif., was forced down at Kansas City last night with motor trouble—a difficulty that also put out Al Russell of Hollywood at Dillonvale, Ohio. E. G. Rush and Robert Buck, the other two starters, both went out on the first lap.

The "darkness derby" was run as a preliminary event to the national air pageant here Saturday and Sunday.

LATE NEWS

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 4 (AP)—Reports that an unidentified airplane had been forced down in rough seas while en route from West End, Bahamas, to Fort Pierce, Fla., were contained in wireless communications received here, officials of the Tropical Radio company and coast guard base said today.

AUSTIN, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Texas house advanced another step toward completing legislative action on one of three main purposes for which the legislature was convened when it passed a bill to appropriate $1,500 for a refrigeration unit at the governor's mansion and improve the mansion grounds.

AUSTIN, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Texas senate today came out of an executive session of one and one half hours' duration without reporting any business transacted. The supposition was the senators were considering confirmation of the appointment by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson of Lawrence Westbrook, as director of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission.

SALE OF OPERATORS' PROPERTY BRINGS $143,531 YESTERDAY

Gray county properties of the Operators Royalty and Producing company sold for $143,531 in a sheriff's sale held here yesterday to satisfy a judment in favor of the First National Bank & Trust company of Tulsa.

The purchaser was W. L. Kendall, employe of a Tulsa bank.

Similar sales of Operators properties in other counties, involving little property of value, included the following amounts: Carson $50, Sherman and Moore $50, Henderson 50, Hays $50, Williamson $105, Kinney $50, Hartley $50; total $405.

The principal assets of the company are in this county, where the daily allowable is 334 barrels. A purchase agreement with the Guernsey Oil company gives that firm the income from half the oil produced until about $300,000 is paid. Market value of the properties sold was estimated at as high as $225,000 during a hearing on an injunction asked to prevent the sale. The injunction was denied. The company, the referee in bankruptcy, and the Cypress Tank company, the latter a second lien holder, had resisted the execution of the judgment. Other lien holders offered no opposition.

The Tulsa bank holds a first mortgage of slightly more than the income from sale of the properties.

RAGS SOAKED IN GASOLINE FOUND IN CAR

WITNESS SAW A MAN SET FIRE TO THE CANYON BRUSH

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4 (AP)—With thirty-six bodies recovered and county officials reporting that the fire-swept 1,000 acre tract in Mineral Wells canyon holds from 20 to 25 additional victims of yesterday's brush fire, police today took in custody a man and booked him for suspicion of arson.

The suspect, Robert D. Barr, 29, an unemployed motion picture projectionist, was traced through the license number of of an automobile which was reported to police to have been parked near the scene of the fir. Witnesses, whose names police did not reveal, were reported to have told police they saw a man leave the automobile, enter the canyon and set fire to the brush.

When arrested, Barr had several kerosene soaked rags in his possession, police said. He made no statement to them.

The arson angle into the investigation of the blaze was injected after police had been working on the theory that a cigaret tossed into the brush b yone of the victims had caused the fire.

Besides the 36 recovered, R. C. Huston, assistant superintendent of county charities, said 20 or 25 more bodies lay in a deep ravine but could not be removed before daylight.

Approximately 100 men were in hospitals, many of them injured seriously in the mad scramble up the sides of the box-like canyon that became a raging inferno when a strong wind fanned a brush fire they were

Pampa Is a Key City in Move To Apply Oil Code

DALLAS, Oct. 4 (AP)—Application of the new national petroleum code to prevent violation of its marketing agreements began taking definite form in the Texas oil territory today as F. M. Lege, Jr., of Dallas, newly appointed chairman for Texas, went about establishing an administrative unit.

Lege, named Texas chairman by P. M. Miskell of Tulsa, administrator for the west-south-central district, divided the state into 37 districts, began appointing members on the state marketing code committee and called a meeting of the committee for tomorrow.

O. H. Carlisle of Houston was named vice chairman of the committee.

Key activities of the zones in the state, in their numerical order, are: Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, El Paso, Beaumont, Austin, Galveston, Waco, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Laredo, Corpus Christi, San Angelo, Abilene, Lubbock, Tyler, Texarkana, Paris, Corsicana, Big Spring, Brownwood, Harlingen, Del Rio, Palestine, Pampa, Gainesville, Breckenridge, Victoria, Lufkin, Childress, Uvalde, Longview, Huntsville, Mount Pleasant, Alpine, and Pecos.

Lateral Roads Will Be Built In Gray County

FORT WORTH, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Texas advisory board of the public works administration today had listed counties in which lateral road work to cost $8,900,000 was contemplated, should the P. W. A headquarters in Washington grant the state highway department $2,670,000.

'WORST STORM' DUE TO STRIKE HAVANA TODAY

Florida May Be In Path of Storm, Says Warning

HAVANA, Oct. 4 (AP)—Saying that "if the winds concentrate, we will probably have the worst storm in many years," the National observatory advised precautionary preparations this forenoon against what it described as the second half of the disturbance which raged last night and early today.

Warning was given Florida that the high winds might strike with hurricane intensity there also.

Belen observatory reported that the center of the disturbance was moving northwestward, overspreading a large area including Camaguey province.

There were no injuries reported as a result of the first half of the storm when officials made a hurried check in the hill which the observatory forecast would be followed by more severe conditions.

Rain fell in torrents and hundreds of billboards and trees were down in all parts of Havana, although Belen observatory announced that the center of the disturbance was passing east of the capital.

HAVANA, Oct. 4 (AP)—Although several members of the A. B. C. Cuban secret political party, were arrested and others went into hid-

Three Civic Clubs To Dine Together

Members of the Rotary club voted today to meet with the Lions and Kiwanis clubs next Thursday, when it is planned to hear Congressman Marvin Jones who is expected to be here for the laying of the corner stone of the new postoffice building. Jack Cunningham, W. J. Smith and Farris Oden will have charge of arrangements for the Rotary club.

Dr. W. Purviance talked today on "Sports and Recreation" giving the advantages of sports for the growing boy and the necessity for recreation and exercise for adults. S. G. Surrat was in charge of the program.

Giants—Ott walked. Davis singled sharply to center and Ott stopped at second. Jackson bunted to Bluege and was thrown out at first. Ott advanced to third and Davis to second. Mancuso grounded to Bluege, who made the putout at first after holding players to their bases. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

THIRD INNING

Senators—Crowder grounded out, Jackson to Terry. Myer rapped a hopper to Ryan and was out on snappy play. Goslin lashed a home run into the upper deck of right field stands. Manush hoisted to Moore. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Giants — Schumacher fanned, swinging. Moore grounded out, Crowder to Kuhel. Critz walked. Terry lifted a high fly to Schulte. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

FOURTH INNING

Senators—Cronin raised a high fly to Ott in short right field. Jackson threw out Schulte on the latter's low grounder. Kuhel topped a sinker and was thrown out, Critz to Terry. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Giants—Ott hoisted a high fly to Kuhel. Davis raised a high foul to Kuhel. Jackson's hot grounder was speared by Joe Cronin with his glove hand. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING

Senators—Bluege drove a long fly to Moore. Sewell grounded to Ryan for an easy pitout. Crowder hit to center field for a single. Myer grounded to Critz and Crowder was forced at second, Critz to Ryan. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

SIXTH INNING

Senators—Goslin popped a single to center field. Manush walked. Cronin lifted a high foul to Mancuso behind the plate. The runners advanced on a wild pitch. Schulte grounded to Jackson and Goslin was trapped and run down between third and home. Manush reached third on the play. Schulte was on first. Kuhel walked, filling the bases. Bluege fanned, swinging. No runs, one hit, no errors, three left.

Giants—Moore singled to left. Critz bunted to Kuhel, whose fast throw to Cronin forced Moore at second. Terry doubled along the left field foul line. Critz stopping at third Ott was purposely walked. O'Doul went to bat for Davis. O'Doul singled to center, scoring Critz and Terry. Ott stopped at second. Jackson poled a long hit to center, scoring Ott and sending O'Doul to third. Jackson was held at first. Mancuso pulled a squeeze play and O'Doul scored on the bunt down the third base line which went for a single as the Senators were caught napping. Ryan fanned, called. Jackson scored on Schumacher's single past third base. Mancuso stopped at second. Moore cracked the first pitch over second base for his second hit of the inning, scoring Mancuso and knocking Crowder out of the box. Schumacher stopped at second. Thomas went into the box for the Senators. Critz grounded to Cronin, who juggled the ball. It was a single and the bases were filled. Terry grounded to Myer and Critz was forced at second, Myer to Cronin. Six runs, eight hits, no errors, three left.

SEVENTH INNING

R. H. Corum Of McLean Dies At Church Meeting

McLEAN, Oct. 4.—R. H. Corum, for many years a resident of McLean and the Back community, died suddenly Monday evening at 10:30 o'clock while attending a meeting of the officers of the Church of Christ, of which he was an elder.

He is survived by his wife, who has been an invalid for years; his daughters, Mrs. Louise Calloway, stenographer for the McLean Gas company, and Maudelle of McLean; his father, B. F. Corum of Ballinger; two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Thomas of Ballinger and Mrs. Francis Stallworth of McCamey; two brothers, Jim Corum of Winters and H. K. Corum of Ballinger. His only son, Frank, died last February in a gas explosion east of McLean when three men lost their lives.

Mr. Corum was 54 years of age. For the last six years he has been janitor of the grade school, where he endeared himself to all the teachers and pupils.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ at 3:30 p. m. today under the direction of W. B. Andrews, local pastor, and Flagail Yeakley, formerly of this church, who is now at Wheeler. Interment will be in the Hillcrest cemetery with Mortician Thomas in charge.

Besides the above named relatives who are all here for the services, the following friends are here: Eld. and Mrs. Flagail Yeakley, Rubye Lee Williamson, and Weldon Sanifer of Wheeler, and Mrs. A. J. Tillery of Canyon. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Jim Corum of Winters, is also here.

Band To Play Next Thursday At Skellytown

Valuable experience in band work will result from a trip to Skellytown Thursday afternoon by the Pampa high school band.

It will leave here at 5:30 o'clock from the high school and will play on the streets at Skellytown half an hour later. Then it will return.

Business men are urged to furnish their cars for transporting the band and to make the trip themselves if at all possible. The band is planning a number of such trips before cold weather. It has several invitations.

It is making good progress under the direction of Prof. Roy Wallrabenstein, director.

The trip will be sponsored by the good will committees of the Board of City Development and Junior chamber of commerce.

COUNCIL WILL HEAR PROGRAM BY BAKER PTA

BUSINESS WILL DEAL CHIEFLY WITH THE THRIFT ROOM

BAKER Parent-Teacher association will have charge of the program to be presented at the city Parent-Teacher council tomorrow afternoon, when representatives from various units meet at high school cafeteria at 3 o'clock

Plans for the thrift room recently started by the council to furnish school clothing for needy children during the winter will be the main business of the afternoon, Mrs. Claud Lard, council president, announces.

Each school has conducted a drive for the thrift room supply, and committees of women have been working daily to classify and arrange it. Definite plans for distribution of clothing are to be completed this week.

Mrs. Roy Holt, president of Baker association, will direct the council program. Numbers have been announced as follows:

Piano solo, Ernestine Holmes.
Reading, Mary Jane Griffin.
Violin solo, Clarence Simmons.
Reading, Louene Cox.
Talk, Principal J. A. Meek.

Wife Slain At Childress Home By Young Woman

CHILDRESS, Oct. 4. (AP)—A 30-year-old woman was held in the county jail today for the shooting of Mrs. Homer Weaver, 28, at the Weaver home here last night.

The woman went to the house after the couple had retired, and when Weaver answered her summons, she asked him to call his wife. When she appeared, she was shot three times.

The woman's home was in Wichita Falls.

attempting to extinguish.

Throughout the night thousands of relatives of the more than 3,700 workers on the roads of the park crowded about the county morgue and a hastily improvised mortuary. A cordon of police was required to hold them in check as they watched through tear-dimmed eyes the long string of stretchers carried through the doors.

Frank Merrill, superintendent of Griffith park, blamed the catastrophe to "lack of experience in brush fire fighting" on the part of those who died and the men who sent them into the canyon of death.

Fire chief Ralph Scott corroborated Merrill's views by the statement "it was suicide to send those men into a walled-in canyon whose entrance was blocked by raging flames and whose only other means of exit was a winding cow-path up the wall of the ravine."

Blindly following orders of their foremen, more than a thousand workmen streamed into the box-like Mineral Wells canyon.

Deep in the canyon, a small area was burning. There was little or no wind, the flames and smoke from the burning scrub oak growth in the canyon's floor, shooting straight upward.

Suddenly a wind whipped down into a furnace of death sweeping into the canyon, fanning the blaze outward from its center. In a few seconds the approximately 1,500 men who had entered the canyon were scrambling up its steep sides.

The cowpath became a line of fighting, sweltering, cursing, praying humanity. The strong clambered over the weak. With death crackling at their heels, the workmen struggled upward.

The men died in twos, suffocated by the walls of smoke that rolled over them or struck down by flames which leaped as much as 100 feet at a time.

STRIBLING HONORED

MACON, Ga., Oct. 4. (AP)—The fight faithful paid tribute today at the bier of William Lawrence (Young) Stribling, heavyweight boxer who died yesterday from injuries suffered in a traffic accident Sunday. The body was placed in the municipal auditorium to lie in state from 10 a. m., until 6 p. m. An inquest will be held Friday in an effort to fix blame for the accident.

reaucracy. Although there were relatively few government employes as recently as the turn of the century, subsequent years have seen their numbers double and triple many times over until the federal payroll amounted a year ago to the stupendous sum of $1,315,000,000. There became some bureau in Washington to regulate or advise nearly every human pursuit, the federal government in 1932 being comprised not only of twelve major departments but of 175 independent boards, bureaus, and commissions. This trend would not have been so discouraging had it not been paralleled by a proportionate increase in taxes. A year ago Congressman Richard M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi declared that "in the past twelve years the per capita cost of administering the federal government has increased from $11 to $38."

The advent of the democratic party into Washington last March greatly heartened orthodox constitutionalists, and the economy bill authorizing the president to defate the bureaucratic system raised their hopes still further. But the pressure of hard times compelled the new deal to become a virtual revolution, and necessitated the inauguration of dictatorial measures which will frankly endanger the fundamental principles of the constitution if persisted beyond the emergency for which they were created. Amazing experiments, which have led the federal government into multifarious enterprises heretofore remote from their control, have been justified in the name of crisis, but their correction when the crisis has passed is becoming so keen a problem as to impel constitutional authorities like John Henry Kirby of Houston to declare in an address, "My appeal to you is that you aid in restoring the republic; that you confine the government of the United States to its constitutional powers; that you maintain the states in the vigorous exercise of all their reserved right as the best means of promoting your security and happiness'."

ing, a government spokesman announced today that no drive to round up the society's members had been ordered.

"The leaders are hiding," said Dr. Antonio Guiteras, secretary of war, "for reasons unknown to us. We have not ordered a roundup."

Among the A. B. C. leaders in hiding today, while a 70-mile-an-hour gale enforced a moratorium on disorders, shootings, commerce and political troubles, were Martinez Saenz and Carlos Saladrigas, the latter a former secretary of justice.

A. B. C. headquarters confined its announcement merely to the fact that the government had arrested "several" of its members.

Soldiers were deployed about the United States embassy following rumors of a plot to bomb it. The home of former President Mario G. Menocal was searched by soldiers while machine guns were trained on the house. An officer said rifles and ammunition were found.

A check of the dead in Monday's street fighting and battle at the National hotel put the total at 54. Of the officers who resisted the attack of soldiers on the hotel, 17 were killed, more than 20 wounded, and 368 were imprisoned in Principe and Cabana fortresses.

Dr. Knapp Known As Good Speaker

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, who will make a public address at the city hall Saturday evening, is known as a forceful and thoughtful speaker.

His subject will be of a patriotic nature, in keeping with the trends of the times.

He will speak at 8 o'clock, with the high school band to play a 15-minute concert preceding the address. Dr. Knapp is being brought here by the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Luther Henley of McLean was admitted to Worley hospital for treatment yesterday.

Few Arrests Are Made By Police

City police officers have not made an arrest since last Thursday night, excepting for traffic violations or peddling without a license. Chief of Police John V. Andrews is worried, figuring that this must be the calm before a storm.

The officers are watching traffic closely, backing up the warning issued by Chief Andrews last week. Running stop signs, reckless driving through school zones, and driving with defective lights are the charges being filed in city courts. Those who have received tickets and not reported to the police judge should do so at once to save being arrested and the fine doubled.

The chief is still issuing warnings against riding bicycles on the sidewalk in the business section and roller skating in the streets. This is dangerous and must be stopped, he says.

STAGE IS SET FOR COOKING SCHOOL; ALL WOMEN ARE INVITED

ANNUAL FREE EVENT WILL OPEN AT 2:30 TOMORROW IN CITY HALL AUDITORIUM

NEW IDEAS, ANSWERS TO QUESTION TO BE GIVEN

THE TIME: 2:30 p. m., Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

THE PLACE: City auditorium.

THE EVENT: The Pampa Daily NEWS' big FREE COOKING SCHOOL, 1933 household arts exposition for Pampa and all Gray county.

There will be gifts, of all varieties and descriptions. Groceries, flour, baking powder, salt, canned goods, —all will be given away.

New recipes, ways to make the old dishes look different, better—little tricks to brighten and lighten the home-maker's task — all will be given.

And if there is any question about pies and cakes bothering local housewives, they are invited to bring them all to the cooking school.

Miss Yates In Charge.

Miss Beulah Mackey Yates, famed throughout the south for her knowledge of cookery and her insight into the everyday problems of the housewife, will be in charge of the programs.

She arrived in Pampa today and immediately inspected the auditorium where the big event will be held.

She pronounced it perfect for the occasion, and declared she is looking forward to her appearance here as "one of the best cooking schools ever.

"We're just going to show you a sort of 1933 fashion revue in foods," says Miss Yates, "for fashion in food do change, you know."

Programs Changed.

Each day's program will be entirely different and no housewife should miss a minute of the entertaining demonstrations. For some forty distinct and separate dishes are to be made by the culinary artist at her three lectures, and you won't want to miss a one. Each day's work will be correlated with the program to come—yet each day will be a complete demonstration.

ALASKA AGAIN IS SUBJECT OF CLUB'S STUDY

Civic Culture Club Meets With Mrs. Cole

An Alaskan travelogue was continued for Civic Culture club members at their meeting yesterday, under the leadership of Mrs. Katie Vincent. An earlier program gave a preliminary survey of this, the first United States possession to be studied in a series.

Roll call was answered with the names of Alaskan capes and points. Mrs. Vincent had "Religions of Alaska" as her topic.

Mrs. E. A. Shackleton discussed the inhabitants and education in the northern peninsula. Mrs. A. L. Patrick described railways and highways which have been built there.

A business session was in charge of Mrs. Shackleton, the vice president. Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips, pumpkin pie and coffee were served afterward by the hostess, Mrs. Irving Cole.

Present were Mesdames W. O. Workman, Jackson, Luther Pierson, H. H. Isbell, Joe Berry, Tom Alford, Shackleton, Patrick, Vincent.

Class Is Hostess To Church Women

Women of the Dorcas class and the Women's Missionary union of Central Baptist church were entertained by the class yesterday in a party at the home of Mrs. G. C. Stark.

Four members, Mmes. G. L. Moore, Matt Lunsford, T. N. Gilliam, and W. W. Hughes, were named honorees and were each presented with a shower of dainty gifts

A pink and white color note in room decorations was also stressed in the refreshment course of sandwiches, cookies, and punch.

Guests were the honorees and Mmes. D. Scaief, C. B. Clements, Tom Carver, G. D. Holmes, Keith Caldwell, W. O. Cooley, Owen Johnson, Paul Link, H C Chandler, Tommy Chandler, J. G. Teeters, D L. Lunsford, Cecil Lunsford, Clyde Lockhart, B. W. Cooper, Ben Seibold, Louis Tarpley.

ARNO ART CLUB STARTS STUDY OF FRENCH ART

FIRST PROGRAM OF THE SEASON IS GIVEN

BEGINNING a series of programs on French art, the Arno Art club yesterday studied the life and paintings of Chardin, when the first regular meeting of the season was conducted at the city club rooms.

Mrs. O. H. Booth sketched the life of the artist. Mrs. T. W. Sweatman discussed one of his pictures, "The Blessing," while Mrs. John V. Andrews spoke of another, "Returning from Paris."

Club business featuring plans for the new year, was transacted in a session in charge of Mrs. T. F. Morton, president.

Members present were Mesdames Morton, Ramon Wilson, G. C. Malone, T. B. Solomon, Andrews, Booth, Sweatman, Foster, Jameson, Hook, and M. A. Graham.

The club recently opened its season with a tea and a display of the paintings of Harold Bugbee with the Clarendon artist as a guest.

Members Reminded Of Little Theater Dues for the Year

Little Theater members are reminded by Mrs. R. S. Lawrence, membership chairman, that dues for the current year must be paid within a few days.

It is the desire of the president, I. A. Freeman, that all members place themselves in good standing by Oct. 11. Mrs. Lawrence may be reached by telephonging 396-W.

An executive board meeting of the Little Theater will be held Thursday at 7:00 at the club rooms. All members are urged to be present.

Why— Chesterfields are Milder

TOBACCO to grow, to ripen and become mellow, has to take in or absorb something . . . not Vitamin D, of course, but something that it gets from the right amount of Sunshine

It's the Southern sunshine you read about, combined with the right sort of climate and moisture, that makes the Carolinas, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, and Virginia the best tobacco country in the world.

You can stand down there in that Southern sunshine and almost see it grow.

This ripe, mellow tobacco is skillfully cured by the farmer. Then, for 30 months, it's aged—just like fine wine.

It takes the right quantity of each kind of these tobaccos, blended and cross-blended —then seasoned with Turkish, to make a milder cigarette. Sunshine helps. Just try it!

Dr. Montgomery Of M'Lean Dies In Pampa Today

M'LEAN, Oct. 4.—Death came early today to Dr. W. C. Montgomery, 67, pioneer Gray county physician who had been in active, almost uninterrupted practice here since 1908.

Found critically ill at his farm near here early last night, he was rushed to Worley hospital at Pampa near midnight, and succumbed there about 2:25 a. m. The body was returned here.

The funeral will be held Thursday at the Methodist church with the pastor, the Rev. J. H. Crowe, and the Rev. W. A. Erwin, Presbyterian minister, in charge. The Masonic lodge will assist.

Dr. Montgomery is survived by his wife, the former Mrs. Hazel Chesebro of Sayre, Okla., whom he married last year; a daughter, Mrs. L. V. Lonsdale of Los Angeles; five grandchildren; two brothers, Baylor L. of Gatesville and James R. of Los Angeles.

He was a former city and county health officer. He also was a royal arch Mason and past worshipful master of the local lodge. The doctor was a member of the Gray county, Panhandle, Texas, and American medical associations.

His daughter, Mrs. Lonsdale, and her husband were visiting him at the time of his death. The coroner had not returned his verdict at noon.

Many oldtimers remember how Dr. Montgomery once drove a horse and buggy. He was known as a hard driver and would make calls in all kinds of weather.

Impersonators for Hollywood Premiere Asked by Theater

Do you like a movie star or can you impersonate any one of the great number of movie stars?

If so, the La Nora theater invites you to place your application as a "star impersonator" right away.

To those selected it will be the "chance of a lifetime" as the star impersonators are to appear at Pampa's version of a Hollywood Premiere to be held at the La Nora theater Thursday, October 12.

The star impersonators are to be introduced upon arrival from a platform to be erected in front of the theater over the microphone by a master of ceremonies—later to appear on the stage. The stage will resemble a Hollywood studio stage lot, there they are to impersnoate the stars which they represent.

Three grand prizes will be awarded to the best of the star impersonators.

The impersonators wanted can be any of the many movie stars. The application blanks, located on the back page of this issue, should be filled out and addressed to Hollywood Premiere Editor and mailed or handed in at the La Nora theater box office.

Reunion of Past C. E. Members at Canadian Planned

CANADIAN, Oct. 4.—Neal Cross, who was operated on for appendicitis yesterday at the local hospital, is doing fine. Mr. Cross had been bothered with this trouble for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. John LaRue are the parents of a ten pound baby girl born to them yesterday morning.

Miss Mary Morgan spent yesterday with her parents near Wheeler.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cook of Bay Side are visiting their son, Fred Cook, and family.

Mrs. V. A. Brady and Mrs. H. R. Miller were shopping in Pampa Tuesday.

Miss Mildred Brown of Notla, is visiting her sister, Miss Edna Brown, who is attending high school here this term.

The Christian Endeavors of the First Christian church are planning a reunion for all past members and will entertain them at a basket dinner at the W. C. T. U. building next Sunday. All past members are urged to be present.

Martin Swire has been sick the past few days.

R. Wm. Brown of Briscoe, returned from Kansas City Tuesday afternoon.

Trucker Escapes Injury

Chas. M. Naylor, while driving one of the L. E. Whitham gravel trucks, barely escaped fatal injuries here Monday afternoon. In order to avoid a collision with a car which darted across Kingman street ahead of him, Mr. Naylor made a sharp turn, throwing the two "cans" filled with gravel onto the street. If he had hit the car the gravel in the front can would have been poured out on him.

The Whitham construction company has asked the public to watch for these trucks and a flagman has been used at the intersection of Second and Main to prevent danger since the trucks have been in operation.

Dawson Curry is home on a ten day leave of absence from the reforestation camp at Dublin. Dawson likes the work very much and says that out of the 158 men in company 866, over 150 of them have re-enlisted for the next six months.

Miss Margaret Shindell, of Durham, Oklahoma, spent Sunday with Mrs. Carrie Page.

Mrs. W. H. Perry and Mrs. Door and daughter were in Pampa last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carver, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Poindexter and Mrs. T. D. Moss are visiting the Chicago fair this week.

HURRICANE HEADED NORTH

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 4 (AP)—The United States weather bureau issued a bulletin today saying the tropical disturbance moving northward from the Caribbean is headed toward Key West and that the winds here possibly would reach hurricane force. The bulletin advised residents to "take precaution."

--NEWS SCHOOL

When asked what her primary aim in cooking schools is, Miss Yates replied, "That's easy. It's the little things about the kitchen that count most.

"Most women are already good cooks. I don't even try to go thru a full course in cookery, from beginning to end. That would be almost impossible.

"But I can help answer some of the problems that confront the ordinary housewife in her kitchen; how to get variety in her menus; what makes meringue fall; and how to use that little dash of spice or flavor that adds so much to a dish.

"Women want to know how to make cooking more efficient; that's all. I try to show them."

Merchants Cooperate.

How well she has succeeded is shown by the increasing popularity of her organization of cooking schools, which covers the entire south. Miss Yates annually lectures to over 50,000 women in some 35 cities.

The NEWS is fortunate in securing the services of Miss Yates here.

Local merchants are cooperating with The NEWS in making the cooking school an outstanding success. Every modern household appliance and time-saver and the best food articles will have a part in the school, through the courtesy of local merchants.

Many displays will be shown.

Gifts will be given at the conclusion of each day's program.

Programs and recipe booklets will be furnished, ample seating facilities are ready, and everything is set. There is no charge or obligation whatever—nothing to be sold—the Pampa Daily NEWS extends every housewife a cordial invitation to attend the cooking school.

Remember the time, 2:30 Thursday, for the opening, but come early. And, bring paper and pencil to make sure of getting all the recipes down.

BEULAH MACKEY YATES "Happy Kitchen Expert"

The Cooking School will be Under the Personal Supervision of BEULAH MACKEY YATES, Noted "Happy Kitchen" Expert.

The event for which we have been preparing for weeks is almost here—your Cooking School. We have taken a long time to plan a superlative three-afternoon program of cookery. New ideas, new food fashions, new time-savers, entertaining short-cuts — all will be combined in something we know you'll like—a real, practical "Happy Kitchen." And we know your kitchen will be a great deal happier, too, after you see it.

Every item on the Happy Kitchen cooking school program will be prepared and cooked before your very eyes, from start to finish. Each one of the three two-hour sessions is a complete unit in itself — yet the three afternoons are a combination which you shouldn't miss. Every single minute of the Happy Kitchen hours will brighten and lighten your household tasks for months. Each individual dish is built around the theme of less work — more fun. There are secrets old and new, keys to the most intriguing meals you've ever cooked ortasted. And most important—the key to the way your kitchen can be turned into a real Happy Kitchen!

There is no charge — no obligation whatsoever at the Cooking School. Your presence is the only thing that's required to get you the biggest batch of kitchen time-savers you ever imagined. Come early and bring paper and pencil, or you'll miss lots of marvelous suggestions. The Happy Kitchen comes to town but once a year—it's here now!

HEMPHILL FAIR BEGINS FRIDAY AT CANADIAN

RURAL PEOPLE TO BE BUSINESS MEN'S GUESTS

CANADIAN, Oct. 4.—The annual Hemphill county fair will be held here tomorrow and Friday, Oct. 5 and 6. Judging from the interest already shown, a larger crowd than ever is expected to attend the fair this year.

Along with the fair, the rural folk will be the guests of the Canadian business men, who are to entertain them at a banquet to be held tomorrow night. Arrangements for the event have been made by J. P. Strader, John Caylor, an R. P. Alexander. Each business man will personally invite some of his rural friends.

A feature of this year's fair will be the boy's 4-H club calf exhibit. County Agent Parker D. Hanna, who is in charge of all agricultural exhibits, announces that the calves of every boy in the county who joined this club will be shown at the Hemphill county fair. C. W. Callaway and F. W. Ccymn have arranged booths for the merchants of Canadian.

Mrs. Gladys Weaver, home demonstration agent, announces that her club women, both home demonstration and 4-H clubs, will have large displays at the fair. The club women from the various communities will serve dinner each noon at the city hall.

R. T. Alexander, president of the Canadian chamber of commerce, also heads the Hemphill County fair organization this year.

Fun galore will be had Friday afternoon at the donkey baseball game when the Wheeler Shriners compete with the Canadian volunteer firement. The game will start immediately following the parade, which is called for 3 o'clock. The proceeds of the game will go to the Hemphill County fair association.

Students Attend Party at LeFors

L'FORS, Oct. 4.—The party given students of LeFors and Mobeetie high schools after the football game Friday was well attended. Faculty members of the high school here were hosts.

Games were played after several pep talks by faculty members and students. A group of LeFors musicians entertained, then delicious refreshments were served.

PARTICULAR BURGLAR

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 4. (AP)—When Mrs. Anna Palir confronted a burglar who had broken into her home, the first thing he said was:

"Do rich people live here?"

She replied she was far from rich, so the burglar told her to keep quiet and silently departed.

Next morning, F. H. Cooke, a neighbor, found he had been robbed of $200. He thinks it was Mrs. Palir's burglar.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Teas were in Amarillo the first part of this week.

Mrs. H. Russell of Miami was a Pampa shopper yesterday.

BOYS WORKING HARD FOR BIG SPRING GAME

HARVESTERS WILL BE FIGHTING FOR FIRST WIN

The Harvesters put on a spurt yesterday afternoon during a hard practice and outdid themselves in tackling, blocking, running interference, and generally showing improvement. Several of the substitutes came to the front and "scared the regulars to death" with their performance.

Blocking, blocking, and more blocking was in order. Coach Odus Mitchell also had a number of old tires out and be made his backfield sidestep and lift their knees until they were dizzy. A pass offense was also worked on for some time and to add to the misery, the practice was topped off with a crimmage.

Another big scrimmage was set for this afternoon with the public to be admitted. The boys are working behind closed gates most of the time.

The Harvesters will leave here Friday morning for Big Spring where they will play Saturday afternoon. It will be their first game away from home this season and the boys will also be fighting for their first win. They tied McLean in the opening game and lost to Oklahoma City by one point in their second encounter.

Big Spring has a strong team this year and is doped to go far in the state race. Cordill, Big Spring quarterback, has been the sensation of his team this year. Saturday night he ran a kick-off 90 yards for a touchdown against Austin High of El Paso. A few minutes later he ran 30 yards and kicked the extra point to tie Austin High, 13 to 13.

Big Spring has two "flowers" on their team but they are anything but lilies according to advance dope. S. Flowers is center and B. Flowers right end. Baird, big fullback, is another great threat.

Methodists Will Honor Teachers, New Members

Teachers in the Methodist church will be honored with new members at an all-church night entertainment this evening. The event will be held in the church parlors, beginning at 7:30.

Members received in the recent revival and in other services this fall will be welcomed by older members of the congregation.

A program of music, informal talk, and refreshments has been planned. Every member of the church is invited.

UPHOLD ACT REQUIRING REPORTS ON OIL SHIPPED INTERSTATE

Oklahoman Loses Car, Shoes, $10 But Sees Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—William Johnson and Claude Phillips drove into town from Oklahoma Monday in their battered old car singing "who's afraid of the big, bad city" but before they got into the Polo Grounds to see the world series they had misplaced their vehicle and Johnson had lost his shoes and $10.

It happened this way: They parked their car in midtown Manhattan, got separated in the crowd and then couldn't find each other or the car.

Johnson, knowing the bleacher line at the Polo Grounds was the one sure place to find his pal, went there. Sitting in line he fell alseep.

ICKES PLEASED WITH OPINION IN TEXAS SUIT

WRIT TO ENJOIN U. S. GOVERNMENT IS REFUSED

TYLER, Oct. 4 (AP)—Oil proration enforcement officials, following the lead of Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, hailed today as a victory for the national recovery act and the national petroleum code a federal court decision here upholding the right of federal officials to require reports on the origin of oil shipped interstate.

Federal Judge Randolph Bryant upheld the act yesterday in denying an application of the Panama Refining company and others for an injunction against department of interior agents and other officials to prevent them from requiring reports on oil received, refined, and shipped.

Secretary Ickes was quoted in reports from Washington as saying, "the refusal of the court to grant a temporary injunction against the government is another sweeping upholding of the national recovery act. The decision is naturally a great satisfaction to me, as it involves not only the orders against 'hot oil' shipments but the entire petroleum code."

Defendants in the suit were J. Howard Marshall, assistant United States attorney general; A. D. Ryan, chief investigator for the department of the interior; and S. D. Bennett, U. S. attorney at Beaumont.

Marshall sought to show that congress felt it necessary to check shipments of refined oil as one outlet of illegally produced oil which was demoralizing the market over the entire country.

Comfort Eases Home Work Task

By MARY G. M'CORMICK
Supervisor of Health Teaching, New York State Department of Education

Home study is one of the relics of a hardsher and less enlightened age in education. In many up-to-date school systems home study has long ago been abolished, but in others the child is still condemned to pass his evenings laboring over school work that should have been locked behind him in the classroom or study hall.

In such cases parents should see that the home work is done under the best possible physical and mental conditions, so that it will result in the least harm to the child's health.

Among the items to be considered in providing proper conditions for home study are proper lighting, proper seating, ventilation of the room, and quiet. The home work should be illuminated by a good bright light, preferably white, shining from the rear and slightly above the head of the child. If the material sets up a glare, he should wear an eye shade. The child should be seated in a comfortable chair with a straight back so that he will not be tempted to slouch down or sit in a position which is bad for his health. He should be encouraged to sit up straight.

If the home work consists of reading a book, the book should be held in the hand, rather than placed upon a table, and the printed page should be 12 to 14 inches from the eyes.

If a table is used, the table and chair should be so adjusted in height that the child will not need to bend over his work or to hunch his shoulders. His feet should touch the floor. If the chairs available in the home are too tall for this, a thick book may be placed at his feet for a foot-rest.

This is the eigth of a series of article on the health of school children prepared for this paper. In her next article, Miss McCormick will talk about the psychological atmosphere during home work.

Outrageous Fortune

—By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

Synopsis: Nesta Riddell has told "Jimmy Riddell" that he is her husband, that he has stolen the Van Berg emeralds and shot their owner. He has had a blow on the head, and can't remember his past. Caroline Leigh, searching for her missing cousin Jim Randal, fears "Jimmy Riddell" may be he; she has picked up Nesta's trail through a bill for a coal scuttle, and plans to find her in Ledlington and question her. Caroline is talking with Patsy Arbuthnot, with whom she lives.

Chapter 13

AT LEDLINGTON

"I think you might talk about something," said Patsy in an aggrived voice.

Caroline was quite ready to talk about anything except Jim.

"What shall we talk about?"

"You might have brought an evening paper." Pansy was still aggrieved.

"I wasn't near one. What did you want it for?"

"I wanted to know whether there was anything more about the emeralds and Mr. Van Berg."

"Why should there be?"

Caroline wasn't really ilstening. She was thinking that she could get to Ledlington by eleven. She was thinking that fourteen hours was a very long time to wait.

"Well," Patsy went on, "he'll either be better or else worse. Won't it be dreadful if he dies? Jim having known him seems to bring it home so. You know, of course it must be wonderful to have the finest emeralds in the world—and I simply adore emeralds—don't you?—but just think of the anxiety. Even if they get them back. I shouldn't think that Mrs. Van Berg would ever want to wear them again—anyhow not if he dies. I should think she'd always feel as if there was blood on them."

Caroline winced, not visibly, but deep inside herself. She couldn't talk about a woman who was waiting to know whether her husband was going to die. Jim had written about the Van Bergs from New York—they had been awfully good to him—Mrs. Van Berg was pretty and kind. The emeralds were like a fairy tale.

Now it was spoilt. She couldn't bear to think about kind, pretty Susie Van Berg with everything fallen to bits around her. A shot in the night had broken the fairy tale. She wished that aPtsy Ann would stop picking over the pieces.

Caroline left her car in the Market square at Ledlington next day. The she walked round the corner into Market Street and penetrated into Mr. Smithies' ironmongery. The day was damp and rather muggy, and the shop was full of mingled smells of paraffin, turpentine, varnish, tin-ware, and creosote.

Caroline asked for coalscuttles, and having been led into the corner which they shared with patent wringers, lawn-mowers and wheelbarrows, she produced Mrs. Riddell's bill and smiled trustingly upon a freckled young man whose red hair rose a sheer three inches from a rather pallid brow.

"I do wonder if you can help me," said Caroline, her voice very soft and deep. "It would be so very kind if you would."

The young man blushed. He was a susceptible young man.

"Was it anything in the way of a purdonium?"

Spoken, the word was completely aweinspiring. Caroline found herself echoing it in a rapt mental recitative: "Cadmium — chromium—euphonium — harmonium —purdonium . . . ." She withdrew herself from this fascinating exercise with a start.

"Oh yes—if you'd be so awfully kind. No, I don't want one for myself."

"We've got some very nice ones, miss."

Caroline looked politely at a black purdonium with a wreath of pink roses. She looked, and looked away, controlling an inward shudder.

"I think Mrs. Riddell bought one here. And this is the bill—she dropped it, and I dont know the address, so I thought perhaps you would be very kind and let me have it."

The young man asked nothing better than to be very kind to Caroline. He made a number of most helpful suggestions, such as, why bbther about the bibll, as it was a cash payment and no chance of its being sent in again; and "Let us have it, miss, and we'll see it's posted to Mrs. Riddell, and no need for you to trouble."

Caroline handed all these suggestions back with gentle tact. She thought the red-haired young man was rather a lamb. She succeeded in making it quite clear that she wanted Mrs. Riddell's address.

When it came to the point, the young man had to go and ask Miss Smithies, a pale angular young woman in pincenez, and after some wrinkling of the brow Miss Smithies recollected that Mrs. Riddell was staying with young Mrs. Williams out at Ledlington End.

Yes, that was it, because the purdonium had beben got for a wedding present and Mrs. Williams came and helped choose it—"and—let me see b—what's the name of the house? Not The Nest, nor Cosy Corner, but something after that style."

Miss Smithies was afraid she'd have to look it up, and having looked it up, gave the address as in care of Mrs. T. Williams, Happicot, Sandringham Drive—"and you go right out to Ledlington End and straight past the War Memorial, and Sandringham Drive's, the first turning on the left after you pass the Kosy Korner tea-house—and you needn't mention it, I'm sure; it's no trouble."

Caroline drove past the Kosy Korner tea-house, which displayed rustic seats and orange and chocolate striped umbrellas. Then she turned into Sandringham Drive. It was a bright, clean little road full of bright, clean little houses, all new and shiny like the toys off a Christmas tree.

Happicot was the seventeeth house on the left, and it was not as up to date as the other sixteen. They had for the most part casement curtains in shades of orange, scarlet, rose-pink, or delphinium-blue; but the parlor windows of Happicot were hung with blue plush and Nottigham lace. The garden was raw earth, with a scarlet geranium surrounded by a circle of lobelia set out in the middle of it.

Caroline lifted the latch of the rustic gate, walked up a bright yellow gravel path, and knocked upon the front door. It was Nesta Riddell who opened it. She looked at Caroline with a mixture of surprise and suspicion. "Flag-day, or something of that sort," she said to herself, and prepared to shut the door.

"Mrs. Riddell?" said Caroline.

Nesta nodded. If she wasn't collecting for something, what on earth could she want? Suspicion deepened.

Caroline and Nesta Riddell meet, and clash, tomorrow.

PREVENTION OF FIRES CLAIMS INTEREST NOW

Speakers Are Named To Tell Citizens Of Menace

Churches, schools and civic clubs will cooperate with the Pampa fire department and the Junior chamber of commerce in the observance of fire prevention week, beginning Sunday.

Questionnaires being prepared in the B. C. D. office and at the high school will be given to school children to take home and fill out. Fire prevention will also be stressed in posters, essays, playlets, and chapel talks. Local pastors will call attention to the week through pulpit announcements.

Announcements will be in charge of the following: Churches Sunday, J. O. Gillham; Woodrow Wilson school, Monday, Bob Fuller; Baker school, Tuesday, Jim Collins; Junior chamber, Tuesday, Sherman White; high school, Wednesday, John F. Sturgeon; Junior high school, Wednesday, John Osborne; Rotary club, Wednesnay, Gilmore N. Nunn; Horace Mann school, Thursday, J. W. Pyland; Lions club, Thursday, Frank Hill; Sam Houston school, Friday, Dr. C. H. Schulkey; Kiwanis club, Friday, Olin E. Hinkle.

The questionnaire will be given to the pupils next Monday. When filed out by the parents, they are to be returned to the teachers, who will in turn give them to the fire department. The department will give its assistance to anyone interested in removing fire hazzards.

The questions asked will concern rubbish, attics, basements, stoves connections and shielding, matches, pipes, keeping of gasoline, gas connections, oil mops, electric irons, fire extinguishers, and turning in of fire alarms. The schools have frequent fire drills, which which credit is given in fixing of insurance credits. Windshield stickers will be available. There will be no parade this year.

PRINCETON PROSPECTS ARE HUGE BUT GREEN SOPHOMORES

Nassau Backfield Is Okay; Line Has Need of Two Guards and Tackles.

By EWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 4. (AP)—Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, veteran of one Prinecton campaign, gazed thoughtfully on the biggest, best looking squad of football players old Nassau has seen gathered on the home side of the stadium field in many a year.

It's the group that has enraptured the university and the experts and brought back visions of the days when the Tigers were the mighty men of the east.

"They look good all right," he said. Then he shook his head. "But they're still sophomores."

"It will take at least a year" he said, "to harden them under fire. Some of them seem certain to develop, some will fall just shy of varsity grade, a tough standard these days. I'm afraid they've been extravagant in judging this squad. The standard has been set too high, for this year at least."

On paper the records of his sophomores are brilliant. As a freshman team they were unbeaten and unscored upon last fall when the varsity was failing to defeat a single major opponent.

One of them, Sumner Rulon-Miller, son of an old Princeton hero, seems certain to take the place at fullback of Jack James, now graduated. Another is Chick Kaufman, third, Hugh McMillan. All these are fine runners, kickers and passers.

Crisler is well off for backfield material, with the veteran Jack Kadlic at quarter, Jack Bales at left half and Steve McPartland at right half. George Willis, Garret Le Van, Homer Spoffard and Pepper Constable are more fir sophomore backs. A back injury that failed to heal cost the use of Millard Braudt, a capable veteran.

The line has a huge hole in the middle, caused by the graduation of the guard, Josh Billings, and Harrison Garrett, lacks tackle reserves and is strong on the ends where Hall Fairman, basketball captain, heads a good-sized squad. Kalbaugh, a veteran at center, is first choice to replace Dan Hinman, who broke a bone in his foot a few days ago, while Fisher and Chamberlin, veterans, and Jack Bliss, sopohomore, lead the guards. Capt. Art Lane and Art Ceppi are the ranking tackles.

MANCUSO IS RATED BETTER THAN SEWELL

GIANT BACKSTOP HAS EDGE IN 'DOPE SHEET'

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—Few championship major league clubs have ever gone into the world series without first class backstopping. The deeds of Criger, Kling, Carrigan, Gowdy, Cocharne and Dickey ring down through the sagas of baseball battle.

The man in the mask can make or break a ball club. Enthusiastic adherents of either participant in the 1933 world series will tell you that Gus Mancuso of the Giants and Luke Sewell of the Senators and the Alabama Sewells "made" their teams what they are today.

Mancuso and Sewell do not rank among the great catchers of all time. They lack the mechanical precision of a Schalk and they do not hit with the lustiness of a Cochrane but they are both smart, dependable and durable. The trades that brought them into the pennant winning picture this year, Mancuso from the Cardinals and Sewell from Cleveland, turned out to be just what the doctor ordered for the benefit of the New York and Washington pitching staffs.

Sewell is the more experienced receiver, with a dozen years of major league experience behind him, where as Mancuso, in his fifth big league season, is just finishing his first full campaign as a No. 1 backstop for any club. Gus was understudy to the great Jimmy Wilson at St. Louis. He is 27, five years younger than Sewell, but has had the advantage of playing a part of two previous world series.

There seems little to choose, on the whole, but Mancuso's somewhat more robust batting average, plus his exceptional talent for getting the most out of his pitchers, give him an edge over Sewell in the "dope sheet."

Washington's reserve backstops include Cliff Bolton, with a penchant for pinch-hitting that has lifted his part-time batting average to .394, and the well-known Princeton linguist, Moe Berg. Mancuso's understudy is young Paul Richards, an earnest but inexperienced workman. Barring accidents, Sewell and Mancuso will do all the catching there is to be done in the big series.

"Pilgrimage" Said To Be Picture Of Much Merit

"Pilgrimage" is one of the finest films of all time. It starts today at the La Nora theater. The production stands high in the annals of screen achievement. Directed by John Ford from the story by I. A. R. Wylie, it combines all the best elements of drama, romance and cinematic achievement.

The cast selected bby the Fox Film studio to portray the leading roles is a splendid one. It includes Henrietta Crosman, Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Marian Nixon, Maurice Murphy, Lucille La Verne, Charley Grapewin, Louise Carter, Betty Blythe and others. Each of them gives a sterling performance entirely in keeping with the unusual tenor of the story.

The settings built for this production are said to be among the most elaborate of the screen. But elaborate or simple, they give a frame and a lift to "Pilgrimage" that is nothing short of a delight.

Ex-Harvesters Will Face Each Other Saturday

FORT WORTH, Oct. 4. (AP)—Two regulars on last year's Harvester team will face each other Saturday night when the Pollywogs, Texas Christian university's freshman football team, play Texas Military college's Bulldogs at Terrell.

Clovis Green, 1932 Harvester center, a candidate for a tackle position with the T. C. U. freshmen, and Hoot Fullingim, ex-Harvester tackle and now Bulldog tackle, will both start the game. Last Friday night the Bulldogs defeated Abilene Christian college 13 to 6 and Hoot played most of the game.

Green's showing in early season practice sessions guarantees that he will be used a great deal in the game against T.M.C., according to Freshman Coaches Butch Meyer and Otha Tiner. They also predict that he will make the varsity a valuable man during the coming three years.

The freshman squad at T. C. U. this year is one of the smallest in several seasons, numbering but 29 men. But among these 29 are some of the best high school stars in the state.

The Terrell Bulldogs are one of the strongest junior college teams in the state and are expected to give the Pollywogs some stiff competition.

The gross income to rice growers in this country declined from $45,000,000 a year in the 1924-28 period to $15,000,000 last year.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Establishment of a United States central bank, owned and operated directly by the federal government is talked of among highest administration officials.

It is a step foreseen as a future possibility, rather than an immediate one. The discussion has gone so far, however, that the sentiment of industrial leaders is being canvassed quietly.

From the day that Mr. Roosevelt excoriated the "money changers" in his inaugural address, there has been much bad feeling between the administration and a large section of the banking world.

Some officials have indicated pretty plainly their conviction tnat the Amshican banking system has ceased to function as intended. They cite the shortage of credit, at a time when credit is badly needed for business expansion, and when the banks have huge, reserves in their vaults.

The bankers retort that the government itself has made lending very difficult, and in general has put the banking community into an impossible position.

Whoever may be right about this the significant fact is that the controversy does exist. Under the circumstances, those who know the president are not surprised that he is listening to advisers who think the government should go more directly into the banking business itself.

Reluctant Bankers

The trend of the present discussions is this:

The banks are showing no signs of taking even a large proportion of the RFC fund of a billion dollars which the government has offered to lend them at 3 per cent if they will relend it at 5 per cent to NRA members.

It is foreseen that in time the RFC will have on its hands a larger number of insolvent "mortgage associations." It also will have millions of dollars' worth of preferred stock in banks. In addition the government will have all sorts of other obligations acquired by the various loan boards.

What could be more logical, say the proponents of a central bank, than consolidation of these interests into one government banking house?

The Roosevelt advisers are studying what happened to the first and second United States banks which were organized and abandoned in the early days of the republic. They insist the third United States bank, if one materializes, can escape the mistakes of its predecessors.

As To Guarantees

Incidental in the present consideration of these matters in Washington is a plan to amend the deposit guarantee program which will become effective January 1 over the protest of many bankers.

The new proposal is that instead of making the banks pay for the insurance fund backing deposits, the depositors themselves pay a small fee. Any depositor could decline to pay the fee and stay outside of the guarantee arrangement if he wanted to.

Legislature along one or more of the lines indicated may be expected at the next session of congress.

M'LEAN F. F. A. BOYS EXCEED JUDGING FEATS OF LAST YEAR

M'LEAN, Oct. 4 (AP)—After a check on McLean F. F. A. student winnings, it was found that the boys received 34 ribbons in poultry, and crop exhibits, had the most outstanding F. F. A. booth ever shown at the fair, ranked highest in jurging contests by placing first in poultry, and took second in dairying. Although the amount of cash premiums is not yet known it is estimated that McLean's share will by far exceed last year's awards.

The outstanding feature of McLean winnings was taking home the large poultry trophy as permanent property as a result of winning it the third time in five years of stiff competition. McLean accomplished something that never before occurred in this contest by having had first, second, and third high scorers in the entire contest and also the same in examination on the American Standard of Perfection in Poultry.

Secure Fine Hog

The McLean F. F. A. department saw the need of having access to better breeding hogs and purchased a high bred Hampshire male which was selected out of the herd of Tierra Blanca farm on exhibition at the fair last week. Anybody in McLean community may share in the use of this animal if they desire.

There are many registered pigs in the community and it is hoped that through the efforts of these young farmers McLean will soon have some of the finest livestock in the Panhandle.

Building permits issued in Miami and Miami, Beach, Fla., the first 8 months of 1933 totalled $2,383,929.

Arizona Army Captain's Wife Falls To Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—A woman identified as Mrs. Charlotte Weller, whose husband, Captain R. M. Weller, was said to be critically ill in a veterans' hospital in Tucson, Ariz., was killed today in a fall from the 19th floor of a Fifth avenue hotel.

On a table police found a note, badly scrawled and incoherently written, signed "Charlotte C. Weller."

MRS. WORLEY IS 76

Mrs. Phoebe A. Worley, Gray county pioneer, is celebrating her 76th birthday today, spending the day quietly at her ranch home southeast of the city. No special observance of the day had been planned, relatives here said this morning.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For a half century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store. (Adv.)

QUIBBLINGS OF OPERATORS IRK HUGH JOHNSON

DEMANDS END OF MOB CONDITIONS IN COAL AREA

By The Associated Press.

MASS return to work of miners in the western Pennsylvania coal fields has been delayed by the refusal of insurgent miners to report.

Pleas of union leaders and government officials for a concerted return were answered yesterday with boos by a crowd of from 10,000 to 15,000 miners mostly from the H. C. Frick Coke company mines. Insurgent leaders contend the Frick company has not recognized the union.

More than 20,000 other miners returned to the soft coal pits. Gov. Pinchot predicted the situation would "work itself out." Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chief, expressed impatience with some operators for "quibbling" and called for an end of "mob conditions" in the Pittsburgh bitmuinous area.

At Steubenville, O., 1,000 strikers picketing the Weirton steel mills started a disturbance which was finally quelled by tear gas bombs. At Athens, O., 400 miners went on strike against working conditions. At Bellaire 600 others returned to work.

A "vigilante committee" of grape growers and others drove half a hundred striking grape pickers out of Lodi, Calif, breaking up a picket brigade.

Striking textile workers in Paterson, N. J., marched on a dyeing plant and smashed virtually every door and window in the place. The mob also beat up a foreman.

NRA officials in New York announced the end of two strikes there with the return to work of 5,000 bakery drivers and 2,500 corset makers.

Strikers at the Ford Motor company plant at Edgewater, N. J., voted plans to picket other Ford plants. Strike leaders said they planned to send 500 men to Dearborn to picket the main plant and another group to an assembly plant at Buffalo.

HOW ELUSIVE SCOUTS KEPT OUT OF WAY OF INDIANS IS TOLD BY VETERAN CAMPAIGNER

(Editor's note: This is the last of a series of articles on Indian fighting in this section in 1874.)

BY LEMUEL T. WILSON.

THE next day, Lieut. Baldwin went on to Ft. Leavenworth, leaving instructions with the commanding officer at Camp Supply that Wing and 2 were to remain there until his return. When Lieut. Baldwin returned to Camp Supply late in September with an escort, we went with them to join Gen. Miles at the head of Washita, where he established his winter quarters. Sometimes two of us were sent out to carry dispatches or as spies to investigate and report to him.

In October, I think it was, Gen. Miles with a part of his command went north to the Canadian river, fcllowed along the Canadian to Adobe Walls, crossed the Canadian southwest from Adobe Walls out on the staked plains, there we made camp. On one occasion Gen. Miles sent for me and asked me if I would carry a dispatch to Maj. Baird at the head of the Washita. I said, "I'll try." He wanted the dispatch delivered as quickly as possible. He told me to eat my dinner and report to him for orders. I reported at 12 o'clock. He gave me my orders and wished me good luck.

I started at 12 noon and at 8 p. m. of the same day delivered the dispatch, after riding 65 miles alone with Indians almost constantly in sight. When Maj. Baird read the dispatch he said, "When did you leave Gen. Miles?" I said, "At noon." He said, "Yesterday?" I said, "No, today." He could hardly believe it. The next day I piloted two companies of soldiers of the 6th cavalry back to Gen. Miles. Early in November, I would have been with the party who recaptured the two youngest German girls, but a few days later Lieut. Baldwin was sent on that trip, Gen. Miles wanted to send a dispatch to Camp Supply. He first sent for Scouts Robison and Shultz. He asked Robison if they could carry a dispatch to Camp Supply. Robison asked, "How many soldiers will you send along?" Miles said, "How many do you want?" He said, "Six or eight." Miles asked him what for. He said, "We will need an escort for protection." Miles told him to go to his quarters.

Later, he sent an orderly for Jim Dunlap and myself to report to him. He said, "Wilson, do you think you and Dunlap could carry a dispatch to Camp Supply for me? How many soldiers do you want?"

"Not a one," I told him.

"Why?"

"Well, the larger the party the larger, plainer trail it would make, and the more men, the more danger and harder to hide if necessary."

"That's what I thought. You and Dunlap get your equipment ready and report to me as soon as possible."

At 4 p. m. we reported. He asked me what route I would take. I said we would go north until we struck the Canadian, cross over, and follow the dividing ridge between the Canadian and the Beaver, as I thought we would be less apt to encounter Indians. About dark we were following down a small stream that empties into the Canadian near the mouth of the Big Blue. Many of the streams in that country were filled with quicksand. We crossed and recrossed this little stream, I can't recall it's name. At one place my horse mired down in the quicksand. My gun, which was carried in a sling on the saddle was filled with sand.

When we got on the bank I told Dunlap I would have to stop and clean the sand out of my gun. While doing it, Jim heard a noise and said, "What is that?" We listened and learned it was Indians. They could not see us as we were in the brush down on the creek bed. But we could sky-light them up on the ridge. We held the noses of our horses to keep them from making a noise, and watched for three-quarters of an hour while about 400 Indians passed by not over a hundred yards from us. We waited till the stragglers had all passed, then we took their back trail. We would travel at night and hide and rest by day. We afterwards learned that this was Gray Beard's band, that Lieut. Baldwin had the fight with when he recaptured the two youngest German girls. He also captured from them two fresh scalps of white men. The hair exactly corresponded with that of Dunlap and me and as we had juust gone the way they had come, of course they thought it was us, and we were reported killed.

We were gone nearly a month and when we returned to Miles' command he was still camped on the Washita in his winter headquarters. When we reported to him at his tent, he was surprised to see us and said, "Wilson, we thought you and Dunlap were dead. I am very glad to see you and to know you are alive." We learned afterwards that those two scalps were from two soldiers of the 8th cavalry, Maj. Price in command. This was in November, 1874.

From this time till the spring of 1875, Gen. Miles kept the Indians continually on the move, and of course also kept the scouts on the go, carrying dispatches to or from his various commands. I was with Gen. Miles in the spring of 1875 when he established hearquarters at Cantonment on the Sweet Water. We scouted all over the country along Red river and finally landed at Fort Sill. There we rested a few days then started back towards Cantonment through Wichita mountains, following a general course between the Washita and South Canadian rivers. He divided his command, sending one division one way and one the other. I was sent with Lieut. Kingsbury of the 6th cavalry. We met Gen. Miles again when we arrived at Cantonment.

When Miles was relieved he turned the command over to Col. Biddle. There were 13 scouts, 12 went with Gen. Miles, six, I among them, were transferred to the command of Col. Biddle and remained at Cantonment. I was sent with Col. Forsythe when he was sent, with surveyors to locate a site for a permanent post. They located it at the head of the Sweetwater, and built the post known as Fort Elliott.

When Col. Biddle was relieved, I was transferred to Gen. H. C. Bankhead of the 4th cavalry and continued in service until October, 1876, when by order of the department, the scout force was cut down, I was discharged.

KIZER WON'T HAVE A PLAYER AROUND UNLESS HE CAN BLOCK

Purdue Coach Has Winning Record, and the Greatest Backfield This Year.

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 4. (AP)—Noble Kizer held the sack all right but he filled it with football dynamite.

Everyone figured Jimmie Phelan a smart fellow when he left Purdue for the University of Washington after producing an undefeated championship team, leaving Kizer with a handful of veterans and a suicide schedule, but they didn't know the "mule" of Notre Dame's immortal "four horsemen" brigade.

Then only 29 years old, Kizer took over the coaching job and has been kicking at the Big Ten football throne with remarkable success ever since. He missed the championship in 1930 by the margin of two missed kicks, tied for the title in 1931 and placed second last year, hanging up a winning average of .880 over three years. Not once has his team been shutout.

This fall he is back with one of the greatest backfields of years—some say it will rate with Notre Dame's "four horsemen"—and his team, possibly weak along the line because of inexperienced players, stacks up with Michigan as an outstanding favorite.

There are no frills behind Kizer's success at Purdue where the "golden age" rolls on. He sticks to fundamentals and won't have a player around unless he is a superior blocker. "When you see a great back, you'll always see some great blockers," is the he puts it.

Coach Kizer frankly admits his team is good but is afraid of the replacements in his line.

"It all depends on our line and just how much the other teams have improved," he cut in as some of the experts told him his team looked like the class of the Big Ten along with Michigan.

HARVARD COACH HAS BECOME A 'HARD MAN' AFTER DEFEATS

Tells Boys What's Wrong With Them — Shakeups Have Been Frequent.

BY BILL KING,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4 (AP)—Taking a page from the football book of the late P. D. Houghton, his illustrious teacher, Eddie Casey is making drastic changes and telling blunt truths as he prepares his hand-picked Harvard squad for its rapidly approaching gridiron wars.

For the past two years the genial and soft-spoken Casey has ruled with a gentle hand. Two straight defeats by Yale, however, have changed him into a dominating and driving coach, welcome news to those hardy souls of the Houghton era who have never forgiven his successors for turning their backs on the master's Spartan teachings.

Casey had 16 lettermen hanging over from last year mediocre team, plus many semi-experienced substitutes and a dozen or so likely looking sophomcre prospects. There was not an outstanding player of the Jack Crickard type in the squad but it did have a balance that was sadly missing in 1932.

As was expected, Casey first tried to build his varsity from his most seasoned material. He put an "H" man in every position, only to have most of them wilt on him in the very first scrimmage.

Previously Casey had been unusually patient about the early failures of his veterans and would wait until they had rounded into form. Therefore they were not prepared for the sudden and drastic shakeup that dumped some of them as far down as the third team and elevate six sophomores into varsity berths.

Since then two of the lagging veterans, Harry Wells and Tom Nazro, regular quarterback and end last season have spurted enough to regain their positions but it is safe to say that the Harvard team that opens against Bates next week will contain many new faces, including the grim visages of four or five fighting sophomores.

Regardless of how Casey disposes of the generous amount of material under his command, the Harvard team will not average much more than 180 pounds. This drop in weight, however, should not prove serious for he has discarded his relatively simple formations for an intricate and more varied attack that puts a premium on split-second timing rather than on bulk and force.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if you cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (Adv. 3B)

Von Hindenburg Celebrates His 86th Birthday

BERLIN, Oct. 4. (AP)—Germany's grand old man, President Paul von Hindenburg, celebrated one of the happiest birthdays of his life Tuesday in the solitude of his East Prussian estate.

The wish of the 86-year-old chief of state that all public demonstrations in his honor be avoided was respectfully observed by the entire nation.

The gay Sunday regalia of his grandchildren, who curtsied, spoke birthday poems, and presented presents they made themselves lent a festive air to Neudeck manor.

The standing army especially observed the anniversary by parading before divisional commanders.

For three reasons, according to intimate friends, this birthday was happier than any for a long time.

First, he regards his demand for German unity, which has been the keyword of all his addresses since 1925, as finally fulfilled.

He sees universal military training practically restored—Germany is again a marching nation.

Finally, he who by tradition and inheritance is tied to the East Prussian soil and venerates the ground on which his forebears trod, now finds himself through the country's muificence not only in possession of two large estates once owned by von Hindenburgs, but these estates have been declared free and unencumbered for the future.

Von Hindenburg is said to be in excellent health and spirits.

THE NEW Ford V-8

You Can't IMAGINE How the New Ford Drives--You've got to Feel it--at the Wheel

Get the feel of the Ford V-8 by actually driving it over as many different kinds of road as you can find. Feel the startling pick-up that lets you whiz through traffic. Feel the smooth, eager power on the open road as you fairly ZOOM up to 50-60-70-80! You'll say it's mighty sweet-running.

Feel it hug the road, at any speed. You feel safe at higher speeds than you ever drove comfortably in other cars. You know from the start that there's "something under you." It's the "solid feel" of the double drop X-braced double channel frame—plus the long spring base of the cross chassis cantilever springs.

The Houdaille double-acting, self-adjusting Ride Control automatically "smooths out the road" and helps to banish body roll and side sway. Get the feel of safety and road mastery that comes from the oversize Ford brakes!

One ride, at the wheel, will give you the feel of the New Ford and many other important features we haven't even mentioned. Take this ride NOW. Win some of this $1,000 cash prize money. The first prize is $500. Why not go after it? Read the simple rules. Drive the New Ford, get your official entry blank, then describe "The Feel of the Ford."

MEDICAL JOURNAL SAYS GRID HAZARDS STILL TOO PLENTIFUL

Says Public Opinion Will Force Rule Changes To Eliminate Injuries.

By BILL PARKER
Associated Pres Sports Writer

SAFETY ON THE GRIDIRON

The journal of the Amercan Medical association in an article in its latest issue on the safety of the gridiron, said:

"In its criticisms of the health hazards of football, the journal has frequently protested against the many promoters of this sport. During the football season of 1932, changes in the rules, somewhat reluctantly adopted in the face of a few tragic fatalities that received nationwide notice, were put into operation. They did not solve the problem of eliminating the hazards of the game in the degree hoped for. The secretary of the football rules committee reported during the midwinter convention of the national collegiate athletic association that the number of serious and fatal injuries reported by the press during 1932 were disconcerting, as it was confidently expected that the changes in the rules expected in February, 1932, would bring about a much lower average. Although there was a material decrease from 1931, the casualty list reported constituted a problem of serious importance.

"In a game involving so much physical contact as the present rules permit, even an unprejudiced observer is forced to admit that injuries to the players are to be expected. It is perhaps unfortunate that the real leadership in the sport rests in the hands of persons who seem to be far more concerned with problems of "strategy" and the urge to win than with the opportunities for eliminating the rigors of the game.

"Is it going to require a few more spectacular deaths of 'fighting youth' to raise a national protest against the apparent laxity of indifference of those in command?

"It has been estimated that about three quarters of a million young Americans play football each year with a mortality rate of less than .03 per cent. What the morbidity among the players is cannot readily be conjectured. To some devotees of the game the arraignment of football on the basis of such figures seems to be unwarranted, but at least one member of the collegiate administrative group has sensed the situation. In an appeal for advanced leadership on the part of the national association, he referred to the football injuries, stating that every effort should be made by officials to avoid the appearance of being forced by public opinion to make changes in the rules."

For the information of those who do not know, the journal is the "Bible" of the medical profession and speaks with authority.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

The design made by a young Dublin artist, R. J. King, is being used on the new stamp issue of the Irisn free state in commemoration of Holy Year.

In two denominations, two-penny for inland postage and three-penny for foreign, the stamps will replace the present issue. The designs are identical except for the value, the two-penny being pearl green and the three-penny blue.

King's design was successful in an open contest, in which he won a prize of $250.

Eucharist Stamp

An unusual combination of signs and symbols interpretative of the event it commemorates is embodied in the new Brazilian 200-reis stamp issued in connection with the first national Eucharistic congress held in that country.

Data compiled by Prescott H. Thorp, stamp expert, show that the stamp, red in color, carries quite a bit of information. At each of the four corners is a Greek cross with a date. The figures on the upper pair of crosses refer to the landing in Brazil or Pedro Alvares Cabral in 1500, while on the lower pair the dates relate to the period during which the Eucharistic congress was held in Brazil.

In the center is a lozenge surrounded with two lines of inscription, the outer reading, translated, "first national Eucharistic congress," while the inner says, "venerable adoration of the blessed sacrament." In the lozenge is an ostensorium, a vessel used to display the host to the multitude during holy communion, resting on a fish, with the Greek letters Alphega and Omega at either end as indicative of the beginning and the end. The fish is an ancient device symbolical of Jesus Christ and comes from the Greek word "Ichthus."

What's Happening?

From information available in New York stamp centers, five Latin-American countries—Paraguay, Salvador, Uruguay, Brazil and Guatemala—have issued "flag of the race" stamps in celebration of Columbus' discovery of America.

Collectors are evidencing considerable interest in reports from Washington that a complete change in all designs of current U. S. Stamps is being considered. The present basic issue has been in use since 1922.

Herb Pennock, veteran Yankee pitcher, gave seven intentional bases on balls in 10 innings of relief pitching in one game against the White Sox.

A NEW NURSERY RHYME!

WITH THE— HARVESTERS

By HARRY E. HOARE

The Harvesters are pointing to a win away from home to open the win column and they declare that after a win on foreign ground, they will be hard to stop. The team goes to Big Spring Friday to play there Saturday afternoon. Next week the Harvesters go to Shawnee, Okla., for a game Oct. 13. The News will receive reports on both games after each quarter. If the games start at 3 o'clock, the result of the first quarter should be known here between 3:30 and 3:45 o'clock. Olin E. Hinkle, managing editor of The NEWS, will be on the sidelines at Big Spring, while "your truly" will accompany the Harvesters to Shawnee.

Well, the backfield job that Coach Mitchell and I have tackled is going to be a big one. The boys need more grooming that I anticipated. We gotta have more power and we gotta have more deception. We also gotta have a powerful passing attack because we got the goods this year. We are having a time getting "Gomez" Marbaugh down to earth. He cannot seem to be able to throw short passes and that is going to be necessary in the passing attack. "Gomez" grabs the pigskin just like he does a baseball and away it goes, unusually far over the pass receiver's head. But just don't worry, we're going to be clicking in a few weeks.

Ivan Fuqua, famous quartermiler, is expected to add speed to the Indiana university backfield this fall. He was a star on the gridiron in high school at Brazil, Indiana.
