Wheat Loan Rate, Penalty Rate Announced

Announcement of the wheat loan rate for Collingsworth, the grain sorghum loan rate, and the marketing quota penalty rate was made this week by the county ASC office, through Millard Brown, secretary.

The wheat loan rate for the county has been set at $2.01 per bushel, farm stored basis for No. 1 wheat. Wheat stored in an approved warehouse will carry a storage deduction from the applicable loan rate if the storage is not paid in advance, Brown said.

The loan rate on grain sorghum is $1.73 per hundred, for grade No. 2 or better.

The loan rate on oats was set at 68 cents per bushel.

The marketing quota penalty rate, as announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has been set at $1.12 per bushel on "exceeds wheat" of the 1957 crop.

Wheat farmers who do not comply with their allotment will be subject to the penalty provision, Brown pointed out.

TWO ASC EMPLOYEES RECEIVE CERTTIFICATES

Certificates in appreciation of 15 years work to Millard Brown, and 10 years to Mrs. Dick Richards were presented those two veteran employees of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office at a recent ceremony in their honor given by other employees. Actually, both have put in several years more than the certificates indicate, and next year they will be eligible to receive 20 year and 15 year certificates respectively. They and other ASC employees shown from left to right are Miss Sharon Bettis, Mrs. Billy Hughey, Brown, Mrs. Harold Elbert, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Guy Owens, Mrs. Hubert Mauldin, Tom Cunningham and Mrs. Chub White.

Wildlife Meeting Scheduled Here Thursday Night

Wildlife biologists and game wardens of the Game and Fish Commission will hold a public hearing in Wellington at 8:15 p. m. June 6, at the courthouse.

Purpose of this hearing is to discuss results of wildlife investigaotrs in the Panhandle, present status of game species, the hunting outlook for the coming season, and the proposed hunting and fishing regulations, H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the commission, said.

The motion picture, "Conservation at the Crossroads" will be shown.

Richard De Arment, biologist, Wheeler, and Game Warden Slim Davis, Shamrock, will attend.

County's Wheat Prospects Good If Rainfall Stops

"A wonderful chance for a wheat crop, but it's got to quit raining." This summed up Collingsworth county's small grain situation that with favorable weather from now on through harvest could turn into a $600,000 crop or better.

Both farmers and buyers say the big "if" is the weather. Wheat has got to ripen in the next 10 days to two weeks, rain or shine, they point out.

Cotton farmers, on the other hand, are getting up the seed they planted without trouble, and in the southeast part of the county a third to a half of the crop is planted and either already up or coming up.

Very little mould has been found in wheat here, a factor that is bringing much worry farther south and east. A little of the wheat is down, buyers and growers admit. If the grain doesn't start sprouting or shrivel, it is likely much of this can be salvaged by cutting and windrowing and picking it up with a combine.

June 1 estimates are that the county crop will make from 25 to 40 bushels per acre, with 30 bushels considered a good county average.

"We haven't lost much wheat to the weather, Ed Crowder, buyer at Dodson said. "And altogether, we've got pretty good prospects for a crop."

This year's crop is quite a bit later than last year's Jones Singley pointed out. "A year ago, we had already shipped a car," he continued.

This is also the tallest crop the county has had in years, with a considerable amount up to 48 inches, according to Earl Keller.

Millard Brown of the county ASC office estimates that between 9,000 and 10,000 acres will be harvested. This is most of the land that was seeded. The county's wheat acreage allotment is 25,786 acres, but 12,000 acres of this went in the Soil Bank.

Most cotton farmers are getting their crop up without difficulty, and if no washing rains come, it will be the first time in recent years that a crop will be made on just one planting.

While some farmers still are unable to get in their fields, they have the remainder of the month to plant cotton, and with a normal frost date, to make a crop.

The county's cotton allotment this year is 68,385, according to Brown.

Postponement of Katy RR Hearing Requested

Towns along the Katy Raidway on which abandonment of service is sought, have made application for postponement of the hearing before Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner H. J. Blond, set for Thursday, June 13, at Hollis.

A period of 90 days will be required for the towns to be ready for the hearing, and the ICC was requested to set October 1 as the hearing date, at the same hour and place.

Disaster Program Plans Under Way For Wellington

A disaster program for the Wellington area is being set up under the leadership of St. Joseph's Hospital, aimed at handling any disaster situation in which there might be a number of injured persons.

Sister Mary Rupert, administrator, said this week that the basic plan is being explained before small groups in a series of meetings now under way. When plans are completed, they will be explained fully for the public, she said.

The program was initiated by the Hospital Auxiliary working with Sister Mary Rupert. Since the National Guard is a medical unit, the company is included in the disaster program, utilizing both men and equipment.

Individuals, who will make up the personnel of the program, are being contacted.

The buildings to be used in the program are St. Joseph's Hospital, the National Guard Armory, and the community building.

A practice session is due to be called late this month. The date will not be announced in order to determine how rapidly a group can be brought together to set a program for care for injured.

Francisco Garza, thirty-five year old Mexican farm worker in the Samnorwood community, died in Shamrock Hospital Sunday night about 11 p. m. of burns received at 7 a. m. that day.

Sheriff John Rainey and Deputy Kenneth Hodge, who investigated, said apparently the man saturated his clothing with gasoline then set fire to himself. Markings where matches were struck were found on a small building, where footprints indicated he started running, they said.

The man's wife told them he had been suffering from severe headaches and had been sick.

Rainey said the man ran to a mud hole and jumped or fell in it. It was here his wife found him and finished putting out the fire. While she went to the Willie Knoll home for help, Francisco went to his house, pulled off what remained of his burned clothing, put on a pair of pants and started running across a field, officers said. Knoll caught the man and took him to Shamrock for medical treatment.

He came to the Samnorwood area several years ago and had worked for Knoll about three years.

Every Third Day It Has Rained

Wellington Rainfall Totals 17.58 Inches Through June 4

Rainfall in May totaled 6.99 inches for Wellington, and this, with 1.37 inches that have fallen during the first four days of June brings the year's total to 17.58.

These figures were compiled by Odis Killingsworth, local observer for the Weather Bureau.

While this total is less than that received in some parts of the county, it is more than other communities have received, and probably represents an average for Collingsworth.

Killingsworth's report also shows that almost one day out of every three had rain in some amount, for of the 155 days in 1957, through June 4, rain in measurable amount has fallen on 50 days.

The heaviest rain recorded here for any one day was 1.40 inches, on May 11.

Rain fell on 5 days in January for a total of .50 inch; February had rain on 8 days, with a total of 1.18 inches, while March got 2.01 inches of moisture on eight days. Rain fell on 10 days in April to give 5.53 inches.

But in May, there was rainfall on half the days, 15 out of the 31 days.

May 4—.33
May 9—.76
May 11—1.40
May 12—.01

May 16—.04
May 17—.15
May 18—.82

Rainfall Record Over County Sought by Leader

Have you kept a record of the rainfall this year?

Since the total in different parts of the county has varied, readers are invited to send their total rainfall figure for 1957 to date, along with the total for May, to the newspaper.

Last year's total rainfall also can be included.

A simple notation on a postcard will be sufficient, or you may come by The Wellington Leader when you are in town during the next few days.

Not only will these figures be of interest, they will be valuable in determining the rainfall pattern of the county during the wettest winter and spring in this generation.

the little flame that freezes...

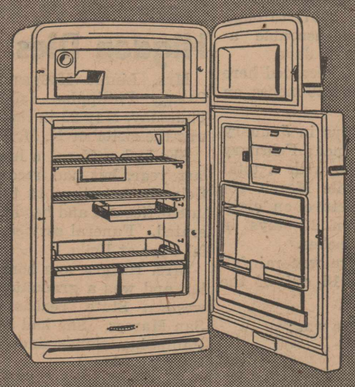

secret of today's most amazing refrigerator

Thirty years ago came the first "electric ice boxes"... costly, complicated, noisy, liable to break down, wear out and gluttons for current. Two Swedish chemists decided there must be a better way. And, in their Stockholm laboratory, discovered The Little Flame That Freezes. A tiny gas flame replaced all those moving parts ... makes all other refrigerators old-fashioned. No noise! Nothing to wear out! They had discovered the refrigerator that was 30 years ahead of its time! It still is!

Wedding Ceremony Friday Morning Unites Linda Singley and Ted Stansbury

Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Linda Gail Singley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Singley, and Ted Stansbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stansbury, Amarillo, on Friday, May 31, at eleven o'clock in the morning.

The Rev. Charles Knapp performed the double ring ceremony.

White gladioli and greenery in pedestal baskets were on either side of the white-covered prie dieu, and seven-branched candelabra held lighted cathedral tapers. A garland of fern and white gladioli flowerlets was along the communion rail, and at the back of the aisle an arch, beneath which members of the wedding party entered, was entwined with gladioli and fern. Pews were marked at the aisle by satin bows.

Mrs. Lyndon Crelia played the pre-nuptial organ selections and accompanied Frank Jones as he sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Mr. Singley gave his daughter in marriage. Her bridal gown of white chantilly lace and tulle was made with a moulded lace bodice, scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Panels of lace were set at intervals in the bouffant floor-length tulle skirt, which was edged with a wide band of the same lace.

Her mits also were white lace and a coronet of seed pearls held her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by carnations, into which were looped satin shower streamers. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Miss Cynthia Watkins was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Frankie Sue Campbell and Miss Bette Elliott. Their dresses, designed identically, were of aqua crystalene, with the honor attendant's being a darker shade. Made in sheath style, the dresses had back panels of gathered tulle and crushed girdles of the same material. Halos of braided aqua tulle held their circular nose veils. Miss Watkins carried a cascade bouquet of peach carnations, while those of the bridesmaids were of gladioli in the same shade.

Lighting the candles were Jennifer Singley and Beverly Singley, sisters of the bride. Their dresses of aqua crystaline had low necklines, crushed belts and full skirts. Their wristlets were of white carnations. Kathy Singley, youngest sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress, also of aqua crystaline, had a tiny collar, puffed sleeves and a full skirt with an over skirt. She carried a white net basket of rose petals. The three junior attndants wore bandeaux of aqua tulle ruffles and white flowers.

Reggie Smith, Lubbock, was best man, and Donald Sessions and Gus Drake were ushers.

Acolytes were cousins of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Singley wore a green lace sheath dress with a beige straw picture hat. Her other accessories were beige and her corsage was of talisman roses. Mrs. Stansbury chose a navy crepe dress with a wide lace collar, small white lace hat and other accessories of white. Her corsage was of glamelias.

The reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Singley, grandparents of the bride.

The serving table was laid with an aqua cloth with a gathered tulle skirt accented with satin bows in matching color. The bride's bouquet centered the table and appointments were of milk glass. Above the table, silver and white wedding bells, tied with satin ribbon, hung from the lighted chandelier.

Mrs. Andy Langford, Ft. Worth, served the white tiered wedding cake, while Mrs. Don Scott, Lubbock, and Miss Francis Drake, alternated at the punch service. Miss Kay Klinke, Amarillo, cousin of the groom, registered the guests. Other members of the house party were Mmes. Harold Watkins, Sandy Parsons Jr., J. W. Wells, and Gene Luker of Levelland.

As the couple left on their wedding trip to Ruidoso and other points in New Mexico, the bride was wearing a two-piece dress of blue linen with white accents and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Stansbury is a member of families long active in this area. Besides her paternal grandparents here, she is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goforth, now of Amarillo. She was graduated from high school here the week before her marriage. An honor graduate, she also was active in extra-curricular activities and was majorette of the Skyrocket Band and a past-president of Ko Shari.

The groom, who with his parents formerly lived here, was graduated from Wellington high school in 1956 and attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock, during last year. In high school he was a member of the Skyrocket football team and active in other school affairs. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Klinke, pioneer residents of the St. Francis area.

Upon returning from their wedding trip ,the couple will be at home at Amarillo this summer, and in September will go to Lubbock, where the groom will continue his studies at Tech.

Spring Brides: Note These New Aisle Fashions

A BRIDE wearing an apron during her marriage ceremony would indicate that she has no illusions about what comes after the happy celebration. But we doubt that the French designer had that in mind when she came up with the apron of delicate French Chantilly lace to complement this demure bridal gown on the left. With a scalloped edge, the apron floats atop a full tulle skirt with cathedral train. Two for the bride to wear and one for remembrance explains the three long bridal gloves on the right. Traditionally, wedding etiquette decrees that the bride cut or split the left-hand glove's ring finger so the groom may slip the band on her bared finger. Now the damaged one can be stored as a memento while the others may be retained for continuing wash and wear

Neighbors Honor Mr. and Mrs. Jones On Sixty-Fourth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jones were honored with a surprise celebration Thursday, May 23, when neighbors entertained on their 64th wedding anniversary. Hostesses were Mrs. Frank Hajek, Mrs. A. T. Smith, Mrs. W. C. Minter and Mrs. Lawrence Warrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones are the parents of Frank and Hezze Jones of Wellington, and reside at 1200 Dalhart Street, their home for 20 years. They are the parents of eight children, seven living. The other children are Andrey Jones, Portales, N. M.; Mrs. Jack Birchfield (Virgie), Pampa; Mrs. John Perry (Margie), San Bernardino, Calif.; Wilburn Jones, Amarillo; Mrs. Jack Buss (Agnes), Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were married in Thackerville, Indian Territory, by Rev. Roberson, a Baptist minister who lived in a double loghouse. His family of five witnessed the wedding, along with Mrs. Jones cousin, the latter's husband, and a friend, Charlie Good.

The couple had intended marrying in Denton, but since Mrs. Jones was not quite 16 years old, they were unable to obtain a marriage license until they reached Indian Territory.

They recall that their first night following their wedding was under a brush arbor, as they returned to Dallas. Their wedding dinner was water and baking-powder biscuits, meat, and coffee, cooked on an open campfire.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Jones lived 14 miles west of Dallas, between the Trinity River and Bear Creek.

The Jones have spent most of their married life in West Texas, coming in 1894. Their first home was a hill dugout on the T-Anchor headquarters near Canyon.

Through the years they also lived in Motley County, at Plainview, and Hereford. They came to the Wellington area about 23 years ago.

Beat Summer Heat With Delightful Limes

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

BIG, green, shiny Persian limes from Florida are now in the market. For refreshing drinks, they are perfect (usually one lime yields ¼ cup of juice). Used with melon, in fruit cups, jellied soup, they add a welcome "cool" taste for hot-weather meals.

With limeades, use watermelon balls as the garnish—the color combination is delightful.

Limeade

Limes, ice water or carbonated water, sugar, watermelon balls, mint.

For each limeade pour juice of one lime over ice in tall glass. Add water and desired amount of sugar. Garnish with watermelon balls and mint.

Lime Chiffon Pie
(Yield: one 9-inch pie)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 4 eggs, separated, ½ cup lime juice, 1 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon grated lime rind, ½ cup heavy cream, whipped, 1 9-inch baked pastry shell or vanilla wafer crust.

Soften gelatin in cold water. In top of double boiler, beat egg yolks, then mix in lime juice, ½ cup of sugar, and salt. Cook over hot water until mixture thickens slightly, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lime rind.

Beat egg whites until stiff peaks are formed; gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar. Fold in gelatin mixture, then whipped cream. Turn into baked pastry shell or vanilla wafer crust and chill until firm.

Florida limes lend a "cool" taste to refreshing, hot-weather drinks. Garnishing with watermelon balls adds attractive color.

News Letter

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS

ALASKA-HAWAII STATEHOOD

The perennial scrap about statehood for Alaska and Hawaii has been progressing in due order during the first three months of this session. As a Member of the Interior Committee which has jurisdiction in this measure, this is my third time to hear these arguments. Much of the testimony is repitition, but the fine people of both Alaska and Hawaii are leaving no stone unturned in their persevering efforts to obtain the passage of legislation granting statehood to both territories. Each year they come forward with new approaches and additional information. However, the opponents of statehood are equally as alert and overlook nothing in bringing forward new information and in answering the new and additional claims of the proponents.

The Committee had before it at its last session on Hawaiian statehood Dr. Fred Schwarz, who was born in Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, in 1913. He is a graduate of the University of Queensland where he subsequently lectured in mathematics and science and completed a medical course, graduating in medicine and surgery. He presently maintains a general practice in Sydney, Australia, but devotes most of his time to the war against international communism. As a Christian lay preacher, Dr. Schwarz is particularly and ably equipped to battle world communism. He has a standing challenge to debate any communist on any platform in any part of the world. He was brought to our Committee to tstify relative to the communist threat in the Hawaiian Islands. His testimony was most informative and most interesting. He was quick to point out that it was not his intention to convey the thought that the Hawaiian Islands were harboring a large number of communists, but that the communists who were in Hawaii had gained control of the economy of the Islands. I was especially interested in his views on this particular phase of the problem, because when these bills were before a prior session of Congress, I had argued that one of the greatest dangers with relation to the Hawaiian Islands was the fact that Harry Bridges, who heads the ILWU could, by the issuance of a directive of his own choosing, virtually throttle the entire ecoromy of the Hawaiian Islands.

Dr. Schwarz pointed out that the ratio of communists in New York or California, to the total population of those states, is probably much greater than the ratio in the Hawaiian Islands; but, that the difference in the danger lies in the fact that communists in New York and in California are ineffective because they do not have control of any organization. On the other hand, the smaller percentage of communists in Hawaii poses a greater threat because of their control of the ILWU, the organization in Hawaii to which a great many of the inhabitants belong. To substantiate this he pointed out that there are 30 Members in the lower House of the Hawaiian Legislature and at least 18 of those were openly and notoriously endorsed by the ILWU in their elections. Whether or not such endorsement influences the Members of the Legislature is, of course, a debatable question.

Dr. Schwarz emphasized that the Hawaiian Islands are the only place where testimonial dinners have been given by civic groups in honor of leaders of the ILWU, such as Jack Hall, who has been repeatedly accused of present day communistic leanings, as well as a general communistic background. He called the attention of the Committee to one particular dinner that was attended by the then Attorney General of Hawaii. This Attorney General was dismissed by the Governor of the Hawaiian Islands, allegedly for attending the dinner in honor of Jack Hall. Incidently, Jack Hall is second in command to the notorious Harry Bridges.

I wish I had the space in this newsletter to give you more detail of Dr. Schwarz's testimony, because it confirmed in my mind many fears that I have had in the past concerning the power of Harry Bridges and the ILWU to control indirectly the destinies of the Hawaiian Islands. It is my feeling that this strangle-hold on the economy of these islands must be shaken loose before further consideration can be given to the application for statehood.

ALASKA

I had a most interesting visit with Governor Gruening, the former Governor of Alaska. Governor Gruening is one of the most devoted, the most dedicated, the most patriotic and certainly one of the most patient men I have ever known. H has fought the battle for Alaskan statehood with great skill and with great earnestness. His call to my office concerned my opposition to the statehood bills. Although he did not convince me to change my position, his presentation was most appealing.

I hold him at the conclusion of our conference that one of my colleagues was heard to remark: "If the present trend of this government toward centralization and concentration of power in Washington is not halted, it will soon become necessary for all of the states to file applications to be granted statehood." I quite agree with that conclusion, because unless the present pace of the federal government in unsurping and encroaching upon the rights of the states is not arrested, there will be no need for state lines. The entire country, including all of the insular possessions, will be in a territorial status.

CROSSROADS ★ REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the stage hands union threatened to throw up a picket line around Billy Graham's revival meeting in New York if he didn't hire a couple of their members at $30 a day to handle his stage props: one water pitcher and one glass.

Seems that nither the law nor the Lord saw fit to rescue the Rev. Billy from his extortioners, so he paid off.

It's a pity, too, as now we may never find out whether a picket line would keep as many people away from church services as good fishing weather does.

I see where the Texas University wheels backed out of showing an opera performance they had fixed up with a Negro girl and a white boy doing the love scenes.

Seems they decided the time was not ripe for this type of entertainment, especially in a kind of backward state like Texas where folks still favor pure bred stock.

Some people are slow to catch on to new ideas, anyway, and it may take a long time to establish the modern principle that all comers are entitled to the same prizes, whether they are black or white, smart or stupid, male or female, Democrat or Republican.

You have maybe noticed that the steel companies say they have got to go up on their prices again on account of everything they have to buy has gone up.

My dreaming neighbor says he would like to be a member of this club, along with the steel companies, congressmen, etc., who get to raise their own pay whenever they don't feel like they are making enough money.

Says this would sure beat the system he is working under now where, when the price of some necessity goes up, all he can do about it is move lower down on the hog.

I see where Supreme Court Justice Douglas contends that the right of free speech entitles citizens to advocate the forcible overthrow of the governemnt.

Which probably don't mean that he thinks it is all right to shoot unsatisfactory government officials, but that it ought to be legal to talk about it.

So us Crossroaders have some pretty high official backing when we gather at the coffee bar to discuss ways and means of dealing with bureaucrats, Supreme Court Justicec, etc., which we can't reach with a ballot.

I note that funeral homes in some places are now giving green stamps to attract businss and before long I guess some over-eager undertaker will be running Dollar Day Specials and holding annual clearance sales.

My mortuary neighbor has been after me like a car salesman here lately, wishing to sell me my funeral now while he can give me a wholesale price, include many luxury accessories and give me a good trade in on my old insurance policy.

Haven't figured out yet whether he is just needing the business or maybe thinks my funeral would be a civic improvement.

Folks around here are pretty tender-hearted as a rule, unless a dollar is involved, and most of us feel sorry for the TV people who have to render these singing commercials.

We realize they are probably very nice people, just trying to make an honest living, so we try to be considerate of their feelings.

When a singing commercial comes on, we are careful to look the other way and pretend we don't see anything, same as we do when a dignified neighbor lady is crawling into her new low-slung auto.

HERMAN HARRIS, Manager

Wellington Lumber Company Invites Public to Visit

Wellington Lumber Company has announced that it is holding a get-acquainted period, inviting friends and the public in general to visit the yard, and especially to go through the recently completed office building.

This special invitation is being extended by Herman Harris, manager, and his two assistants, Harry Patterson and Rogers Melton.

The new office building is 40 by 80 feet of masonry construction with a front of red Colorado stone of random thickness, embodying the newer trends in single-story office construction.

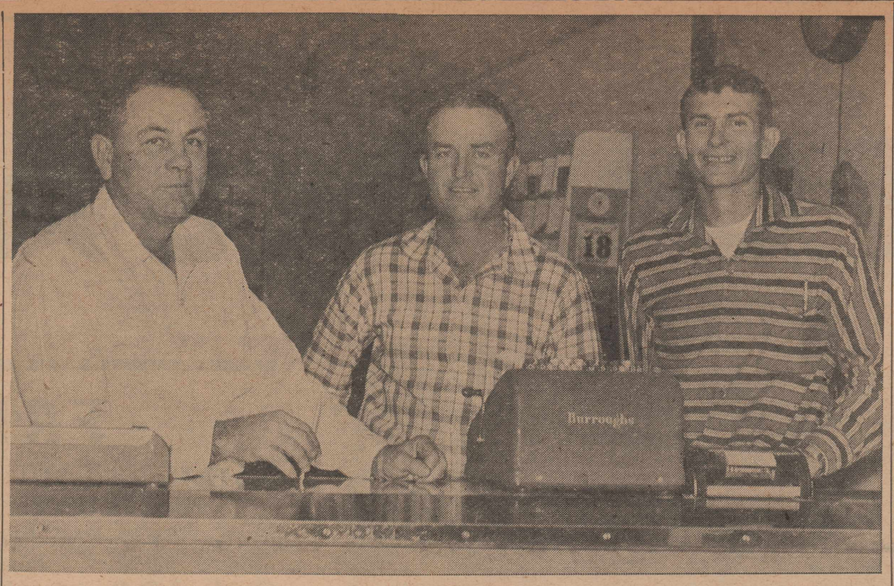

The natural masonry construction also is used for the interior finish, which has been decorated in a sun-tan shade. New fittings and furniture were installed.

Wellington Lumber Company came under the present ownership in February 1955, and is part of the Canadian Lumber Company, owned by Bill Bartlett.

The local yard is the continuation of that yard established here many years ago by J. C. Wooldridge Lumber Co. and later owned and operated by Dudley McMillin a number of years.

Owner of the Canadian Lumber Company is Bill Bartlett, a young man who was raised in a lumber yard, for he is the son of Charles Bartlett of the well-known Higgenbotham Bartlett Lumber Company.

Harris began work for the lumber company in 1946 and worked seven years under McMillin's ownership. With the sale to the present owners, Harris was named manager.

WELLINGTON LUMBER COMPANY PERSONNEL

These three men are responsible for the success of the Wellington Lumber Company in Wellington, and it is they who are inviting the public to visit their recently completed office building. At left is Herman Harris, manager. Harry Patterson is at center and Rogers Melton at right.

Missionary to Show Pictures

Rev. J. Royce Thomason, returned missionary to South America and the Carribean, will speak and show colored slides at the community building Saturday night, June 8, at 8 p. m., Miss Beulah Byars, has announced.

The public is invited.

Rev. Thomason has returned from his third missionary tour, going into the West Indies, Netherland antillas, and the unexplored jungles of Venezuela. Recently he has been doing medical missionary work among five semi-civilized tribes living 750 miles beyond civilization. One of these was first seen only eight years ago. Through the work of missionaries, an alphabet has been drawn up and translations of the Gospels soon will be given them.

Rev. Thomason also will have a collection of bows and arrows, poison arrows and darts, blow guns, firemakers, bark hammocks and other Indian articles.

Warricks Attend Studebaker Show

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Warrick returned recently from Studebaker's Spring Drive-Away Program in South Bend, Indiana, May 22 and 23.

Each dealer attending this program drives away one or more cars, and dealers are there from all parts of the United States.

While there the dealers were entertained with a car and motor show, a luncheon at the plant cafeteria, and a tour of the plant. During the tour dealers saw cars in the making from the foundry to the finished car.

Enroute home, Mr. and Mrs. Warrick visited several places of interest, stopping in Springfield, Illinois to visit the old home of Abraham Lincoln, Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri, and Will Roger's Memorial at Claremore, Oklahoma.

The Paris Metro (French subway) has some de luxe cars that cost extra fare. The cars are sprayed with perfume.

Aircraft Widely Used to Fight Insect Pests

College Station — Aerial operations against insects under State-USDA contracts reached a new high in 1956, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Aircraft sprayed and dusted insecticides on areas throughout the nation totalling more than 5 million acres. These figures do not include the large acreages treated each year for farmers and ranchmen by commercial firms.

In the 1956 Federal-State cooperative programs, four insects — grasshoppers, spruce budworms, Mediterranean fruit flies and gypsy months—were principal targets. In the grasshopper control program airplanes covered some 2 million acres of rangeland in 10 western and southwestern states. About 1. million acres of forest lands in Idaho and Montana were treated for spruce budworm control. After the Mediterranean fruit fly struck orchards and vegetable gardens in a 3/4 million acre area in Florida, much of the infected area was sprayed several times by planes. About a million forest acres in 8 northeastern states and Michigan were treated to control the gypsy moth.

Other Federal-State operations in 1956 included control programs on Mormon crickets, tussock moths and spittlebugs.

USDA and State technicians continue studies to develop improved aircraft and methods for insect control, including better insecticide formulations and more efficient spray equipment. They are also moving forward in research on aerial application of seeds, fertilizers, and weed killers and other farm chemicals.

The Department points out that despite the importance of aerial treatments, ground application of insecticides is often more feasible because of biological, geographical or other reasons, and is still the mainstay in the national fight against insect pests.

More Than 12,000 Texas Farmers In Soil Bank Plan

College Station — Texas Wheat farmers signed 12,116 agreements and placed 919,985 acres under the winter wheat Acreage Reserve program of the Soil Bank through October 5. The figures were released by the state office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation to A. B. Wooten, extension economist.

Wooten said if the farmers who have signed agreements comply with the requirements of the program, they will be eligible for a maximum of $14,067,075 in Acreage Reserve payments on the acreage pledged.

Aimed primarily at reducing price depressing surpluses of wheat, corn, cotton, rice, tobacco and peanuts, the Acreage Reserve program of the Soil Bank is available only to producers having acreage allotments of these crops or a Soil Bank corn base acreage, said Wooten. Program details for 1957 have been made available so far only for winter wheat seeded this fall for harvest next year.

The 1957 Acreage Reserve program goal for the nation for both winter and spring varieties of wheat is 15,000,000 acres. Nationally, through September 28, wheat farmers had signed 106,485 agreements placing 4,335,555 acres under the 1957 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program. The final date for signing agreements was October 5.

County Rents Pile Driver

Collingsworth county has rented its pile driver to Donley county for $100 per week, County Judge R. L. Templeton said Monday.

This is the only county in the area that has a pile driver, and the only county that did not suffer bridge damage during the current rains, he explained, and added that the driver probably will be in use much of the summer.

Andy Poteet, operator, is also operating the pile driver for Donley county.

Boss of Cardinals Sold on McDaniel

Manager Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals had some mighty nice things to say about Dodson and Arnett's pitcher, Lindy McDaniel, this week in an Associated Press interview published throughout the nation.

Hutchinson said his other players might do well to follow McDaniel's lead in being a gentleman as well as crack baseball player.

The non-smoking, non-drinking pitcher from Dodson attended Florida Christian College at Tampa, Fla., last winter. In January he married a girl he met there. The year before he attended Abilene, Texas Christian.

McDaniel is a divinity student.

"I've never talked to him about it because I don't have to," said Hutchinson. All you've got to do is be around the kid a while and he makes it clear, the way he lives. The scout who signed him told me about it, too.

"The scout heard Lindy was thinking about the ministry, and he told the kid, 'in baseball you're going to be around a lot of fellows, and some of them may not think the way you do, and you're going to hear a lot of language you won't like.'"

"The kid told him he knew that, but he wanted to play in the majors, and if he did well that would help him in church work—he'd be able to reach more people if he made a name for himself in baseball."

Hutchinson described McDaniel as "a pitcher, the way a pitcher should be".

"He keeps the ball low, makes them hit it his way. He's not afraid of losing just because somebody hits the ball. He's a battler, but he battles you in his own way, which is a little different from the way it is with most baseball players. Alvan Dark battles that way, too, on this ball club.

"If they lost, they feel bad but they don't cuss and moan about it. More than likely McDaniel or Dark don't say a work, but next time they battle harder, and some of the loud-mouth boys ought to be able to say as much."

Cardinal officials are jubilant over the showing of McDaniel, whose brief career as a pro began in September, 1955, when he was given a $50,000 bonus to sign with the club.

Last week he pitched his first shutout in the majors, a 5-0, four-hit job against Philadelphia. It was his second victory against one defeat this year.
