Peace Authority Is Urged At Paris Conference

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers called on an international conference on Vietnam today to set up simple machinery to make certain peace there does not fall into jeopardy. Canada expressed its displeasure at the present system and threatened to pull out of the peacekeeping commission in South Vietnam.

Rogers suggested to the opening session of the conference that it should establish a simple link with the peacekeepers in the field and that if six or more of the parties meeting here find that peace is in danger then the conference "had the right and responsibility to reconvene."

Canada officially informed the conference that it will quit the four-nation peace supervisory commission in Vietnam by April 30 unless an international authority is established to deal with cease-fire violations.

This stand put forth by Foreign Secretary Mitchell Sharp was supported in principle at least by Rogers during the 2½-hour session.

U.S. officials said the method for setting up an authority to deal with peace violations is open to negotiation.

"However," Rogers said, "a simple mechanism for reconvening must exist."

It seems obvious, the secretary continued, that the parties have a responsibility in the event of violations which threaten the peace, independence or right of self-determination of the Vietnamese people.

This is both a joint and individual responsibility, he said, which means all participants should consult with each other on a regular basis concerning the agreement. Rogers said there should be some link between the conference members and the four parties manning the International Commission of Control and Supervision — Poland, Hungary, Indonesia and Canada.

Such a relationship would permit the conference to keep track of important developments, Rogers added.

Sharp proposed that U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, who is attending the conference, be empowered to receive reports of cease-fire violations and reconvene the conference if he thought this necessary.

He stressed that the individual members of the International Commission of Control and Supervision—Indonesia, Poland and Hungary are the others—should be allowed to report violations, and not just the commission as a whole, where unanimity would be required.

Sharp added that Canada may pull out of the commission if it is unable to function effectively.

"My government is well aware of the problems that a vacancy in the commission could create, and would, in practice, do whatever it could to avoid that situation arising," Sharp told the other 11 foreign ministers and Waldheim.

Probe On MIA Pledged

NEW YORK AP–Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger says North Vietnam has promised "a full investigation" into the fates of some 1,300 Americans who are still unaccounted for in Vietnam.

"Now, I must say that I cannot really believe that the North Vietnamese would hide prisoners on us," Kissinger said in an interview broadcast Sunday night by the National Broadcasting Co.

Kissinger said that while he was in Hanoi, he presented a U.S. analysis of the missing in action, "particularly where we had some evidence that a flier had parachuted...or where we had collateral evidence that a person might had been taken prisoner.

Kissinger, President Nixon's chief adviser on national security, told NBC correspondent Barbara Walters, "North Vietnam will never relinquish its desire to take over South Vietnam." But that is not the issue, he added.

"The issue is will they want to unify Vietnam by force or are they willing to rely on an evolutionary process," Kissinger said. He said he thought the North Vietnamese were considering a "peaceful revolution...for the first time in their history and in their lives."

He said the United States was not opposed to unification through peaceful, political means. "If the performance on one part or the other is so clearly superior to that of the other that it tends to achieve moral superiority over the other, that is not an American concern," he said.

The wide ranging interview also touched on Kissinger's working relationship with the President. First, he said reports of a strain in their relationship during the last stages of the peace negotiations were unfounded. Then he provided a glimpse of how he and Nixon work together.

"The President, before I go out on a diplomatic mission, doesn't write down specific points that I am supposed to achieve...What the President does is to write down for himself, on a yellow sheet, four or five or six major issues, and the pros and cons of each issue.

"Then he will call me in, go over them and over them and if I have any ideas I will present them to him. But he talks much more in general terms of where we want to go, so that I clearly understand what he has in mind."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 1973. There are 308 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1561, an earthquake in Portugal killed tens of thousands of people and flattened much of Lisbon and other cities.

On this date:

In 1521, the Spanish governor of Puerto Rico, Ponce de Leon, sailed from San Juan on his second expedition to Florida.

In 1623, the Dutch massacred a group of English colonists in what is now Indonesia.

In 1802, one of the great figures in French literature, Victor Hugo, was born.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte escaped from the island of Elba, his first place of exile.

In 1918, in World War I, German planes bombed Venice, Italy.

In 1952, it was announced that Britain had produced its own atomic bomb.

Ten years ago: U.N. Under-secretary Ralph Bunche was assigned the task of trying to end fighting in the Middle Eastern country of Yemen.

Five years ago: North Vietnamese troops mauled a U.S. patrol outside the Khe Sanh base in South Vietnam.

One year ago: At least 116 persons were killed in a flood when a dam made of coal slag burst in West Virginia's Buffalo Creek Hollow after three days of heavy rain.

US WAITS WORD FROM HANOI

Prisoners' List Delayed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A North Vietnamese spokesman said today that no American prisoners of war will be released on Tuesday, but U.S. officials were hopeful of last-minute word from Hanoi announcing about 140 more POWs would be handed over.

"There will definitely not be any POW releases Tuesday, "the chief North Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon, Bui Tin, told newsmen. He added that the list of the next prisoners to be turned over also would not be delivered today. He said word was expected soon from Hanoi, but he did not know when it would come.

In Washington, Maj. Gen. Daniel James, a top Pentagon spokesman, said the United States was hopeful the Communists "will still meet or beat the deadline for getting the prisoners out."

James refused to speculate on what action would be taken if the men are not released on time.

The withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, meanwhile, continued with only 11,724 remaining, or about half the number in the country when the peace agreement was signed Jan. 27. All are to be withdrawn within 60 days of the signing. The protocols for implementing the peace agreement say only that all prisoners are to be returned within 60 days "at a rate no slower that the rate of withdrawal" of U.S. forces from South Vietnam.

Tin said the senior members of the Joint Military Commission would take up the POW issue at their next regular meeting Wednesday, indicating he expected no transfer of POWs before Thursday.

But a U.S. official told newsmen there was still a "distinct possibility" of about 140 Americans being released on Tuesday, "the last day of the second increment."

"That's what happened the first time," he said. "We're ready to go into action within short notice as soon as we get the specifics of when and where."

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong handed over 143 American prisoners on Feb. 12, 15 days after the signing of the cease-fire agreement in Paris, and the United States expected the release of another group of the same size on Tuesday, 15 days after the first transfer. Twenty more U.S. POWs were handed over in Hanoi on Feb. 18, but this wasmbilled as a gesture of appreciation for the visit of U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

President Retains 5.5% Standard On Pay Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration announced today it will retain its basic 5.5 per cent guideline for pay increases, but indicated there will be leeway in the future for some wage boosts exceeding that level.

The administration agreed to use more flexible standards, judged by a panel of top business and labor leaders, to determine permissible pay boosts in specific cases.

The advisory committee suggested that "responsible wage behavior" be used as a guide for wage increases while omitting reference to the 5.5 per cent guideline.

The administration announcement was said to have been very carefully worded; indeed, it was discussed in bureaucratic language that made it seem almost contradictory.

Despite the appearance of new flexibility, John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council, said the 5.5 per cent ceiling guideline would be maintained, and contended the new standard is no more flexible than during the days of wage and price controls.

Dunlop emphasized that even under mandatory controls, the 5.5 per cent standard was not always strictly enforced.

The White House issued a statement by the Labor-Management Advisory Committee urging cooperation with the goals of the economic stabilization program this year so that the rate of inflation will decline to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of the year.

The advisory committee's recommendation says:

"Considering the economy as a whole, responsible wage behavior requires continuing stabilization in the average rate of wage and benefit increase (total compensation per man hour) in 1973 compared to 1972 so as to be consistent with the goal set by the President of getting the rate of inflation down to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of the year.'

The statement did not specifically refer to the 5.5 per cent guideline. But Dunlop said it will be maintained under the regulations.

Whether it will be retained in the application of those regulations remained to be seen. The announcement was less than clear on this point.

In addition, the administration announced the establishment of a new committee to control wages in the food industry. It will be patterned after a similar committee in the construction industry with its members drawn from labor, management and the public.

The advisory committee, which includes AFL-CIO President George Meany and top leaders from the nation's top companies, said it would use its "good offices to create a climate favorable to the settlement of collective bargaining negotiation in major cases in 1973 ..."

Plane Crash Victim's Rites Here

Funeral service was set for 2 p.m. today at the Bell-Seale Chapel for William Cargile, 41, of Roswell, N.M., who was found dead Saturday in the wreckage of a crashed plane in Culberson County.

Mr. Cargile was an air traffic controller with the Federal Aviation Agency in Roswell. Also found dead in the wreckage was Patrick O'Connor, another FFA air traffic controller of Roswell.

Odell Farr, minister of Alameda Church of Christ in Roswell, where Mr. Cargile was a member, was to officiate at the funeral service here. Burial was to be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A retired U.S. Air Force Sergeant, Mr. Cargile was a native of Snyder.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Linda Cargile of Cleveland, Ohio, and Susan Cargile of the home in Roswell; a step-daughter, Cheryl Randolph of Abilene; a sister, Mrs. Charlene Odstrcil of Hermleigh, and a brother, Charlie Cargile of Snyder.

A search for the plane in which Mr. Cargile and Mr. O'Connor were killed had been underway since last Tuesday. The wreckage was found about 10 miles southeast of Guadalupe Pass in the Delaware Mountains.

Funeral service for Mr. O'Connor was to be held today at Roswell.

New Word Game In Debut Today

A new word game makes its debut in today's issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Called "The Mixer," the puzzle uses antonyms which are then "mixed" to provide the "mixer" word.

It appears today on page 6 and will be a daily feature in The Snyder Daily News.

Meir: Plane Will Not Affect Talks

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Premier Golda Meir said as she left for the United States today that she thought the downing of a Libyan airliner last week by Israeli fighters would have no effect on her talks with President Nixon.

The 74-year-old premier looked drawn and admitted to newsmen she was "very tired." But she dodged other questions, saying: "I will tell you everything when I get back."

Foreign Minister Abba Eban told newsmen that Mrs. Meir would give top priority in Washington to the possibility of "proximity" peace talks with the Arabs. Under this formula, the Israelis and Arabs would meet separately and alternately with a neutral negotiator who would act as a go-between. The procedure was tried by Gunnar Jarring, the U.N. mediator for the Middle East, but was not successful.

On Sunday, the Israeli government reported that the French captain of the Libyan jetliner was not licensed to fly that type of plane. The government said it had found Capt. Jacques Bourges' flying permit and that it did not list the trijet Boeing 727, the plane downed last Wednesday on the Israeli side of the Suez Canal. Bourges was licensed only as a copilot for the French Caravelle jetliner and several propeller planes, the Israelis said.

Air France, the French government airline, disputed the Israeli statement. It said Bourges had completed the training course for 727 pilots on Nov. 6, 1971, and this had been entered on his license five days later.

Texas Abortion Appeal Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today rejected Texas' appeal for a rehearing to have the antiabortion statute struck down by the high court last month.

At the same time, the high court instructed the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to take another look at the conviction of a Houston physician who was sentenced to two years in prison in 1968 for an abortion performed on an unmarried mother of three children.

It was a Texas case, and one from Georgia which shaped the Supreme Court's decision last month on abortion.

The high court ruled Jan. 22 that states may not materially interfere with a decision between a woman and her physician to terminate pregnancy within the first six months. During the final three months, the court said, the states may limit abortions to those required to preserve the health of the mother.

In asking for a rehearing earlier this month, Texas accused the Supreme Court of imposing its own "social beliefs" in order to strike down the state's abortion law.

The appeal that the court dealt with today as brought by Dr. C. W. Thompson. He claimed the Texas law which permitted medical abortions only "for the purpose of saving the life of the mother," violates a federal constitutional right of privacy.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the law last Nov. 2 although it had been declared invalid by a three-judge federal court. The state court ruled that Texas has a compelling interest in preserving fetal life.

In appealing, Thompson claimed the conflict of rulings between federal and state courts in Texas has created an intolerable situation with physicians and expectant parents unaware of their legal rights and duties.

In other actions today, the court:

—Granted the government a hearing on money spent by the CIA.

—Upheld a three-judge district court ruling that declared most of Texas, vagrancy laws unconstitutional.

—Set aside a ruling in California that uninsured motorists involved in accidents were entitled to a hearing before their drivers' licenses could be suspended.

Six Die In Jet Crash

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Six persons were killed today when an executive jet hit the top of an apartment building and crashed into nearby woods shortly after the pilot radioed the plane had struck some birds "and I don't think I can make it."

The plane, en route to Miami, was registered to Machinery Buyers Corp., of Atlanta, but originally had been owned by Triton Development Co., Houston Tex. Its flight plan said five persons were aboard, but firemen found six bodies in the wreckage.

There were no reports of injuries in the apartment building.

Two Hurt In Mishap Here

Randall Bruce Chandler, 16, 210 Thirty-sixth Place, and Robert Varela Morales, 22, Box 742, Snyder, both received minor injuries in a three-vehicle mishap in the 4000 block of College Avenue at 4:25 p.m. Sunday.

Neither required hospitalization. Investigating officers said Chandler was driving a 1972 Model Honda motorcycle and Morales was operating a 1962 Model Harley-Davidson motorcycle. Both were traveling south on College Avenue when one of the motorcyclists hit the side of a 1972 Model Ford Station Wagon driven by George Scott Sullivan, 3601 Hill, and the other one crashed into the rear of the station wagon. Damage was minor.

Damage also was minor in one other mishap Sunday and another one that occurred this morning.

The Sunday mishap occurred at the intersection of College Avenue and Twenty-fourth Street at 2:05 p.m. Involved were a 1966 Model Buick driven by Mary Moore Brown, 3773 Dalton, and a 1971 Model Oldsmobile operated by Neil Rothenberg of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The mishap this morning occurred in the 400 block of the Old Lubbock Highway at 7:08 a.m. Involved were a 1968 Model Cougar driven by Kathy Jo Franklin, 2008 Thirtieth Street, and a 1968 Model Ford operated by Oscar Todd Coy, 3501 Houston.

Love Field Serves More

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Love Field served more airline passengers in 1972 than during any other year in its long history.

In a yearend release of total enplanements, City Aviation Director Howard Megredy announced that 5,816,250 passengers enplaned at the airport last year.

A total of 5,200,232 passengers used the field in 1971.

Megredy said second-highest use year for Love Field was 1970, when it served 5,225,000.

Vote Due On Stop-Gap Funds

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is facing a Wednesday deadline for extending stopgap funding for foreign aid and the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Spending authority expires at midnight Wednesday. A vote was scheduled today.

The House has voted a continuing resolution to extend both appropriations until June 30, the end of the current fiscal year.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved the four-month extension for Labor-HEW, but only two months for foreign aid.

President Nixon vetoed the annual Labor-HEW appropriation bill twice last year, saying it was too big.

The foreign aid appropriation for the current fiscal year was abandoned in Congress last year because of a House-Senate deadlock on a new authorization for military aid programs.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee scheduled a voting session today on a new military aid authorization.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright asked for only a one-month extension of foreign aid funding pending action on the new authorization bill.

In raising it two months, Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the Appropriations Committee concluded that one month was not enough time to get both an authorization and an appropriation through both branches of Congress.

Foreign aid bills have been encumbered for years with end-the-war and other extraneous amendments and bogged down last year over an amendment to require that all executive agreements for U.S. military bases on foreign soil be submitted for Senate ratification as treaties.

The continuing resolution would extend appropriations for Labor-HEW at an annual rate of $29.9 billion, $1.8 billion more than Nixon's budget, and for foreign aid at a $3.6-billion annual rate, $1.5 billion less than budget requests.

State Animal Is Debated

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — In the legislative debate over a Minnesota state animal, the howl of the timber wolf and those speaking for the white-tailed deer and gopher may have been shouted down by the cry of public indignation.

"There may not be any state animal this session," says Sen. Ed Schrom, Albany, chairman of the Senate game and fish subcommittee that has held two public hearings on the issue.

"We've got more important things to do," Schrom says, noting that members of legislature have been getting "a lot of heat about wasting so much time on such an issue."

The House voted for the white-tailed deer as a state animal earlier this month, although supporters of the wolf exhibited a lot of strength in public hearings. Strom gave advocates of both animals time at hearings of his Senate subcommittee, before the decision to postpone the issue indefinitely.

"If we have time and there are no more pressing matters, we may take it up again at the end of the session," he added.

Chou Says Young Should Get Posts

TOYKO (AP) — Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai reportedly has said that Peking's top leaders have aged and should pass their posts to younger persons.

Japanese correspondents based in Peking said today that Chou made the statement at a cocktail party he held for a group of young Japanese.

Chou did not mention Chairman Mao Tse-tung, who will be 80 on Dec. 26, but was quoted by the correspondents as saying: "I, myself, am 75 years old and have already held the premiership for 24 years. We old people should give our posts to the younger people."

Tighten Rules On TV Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television industry leaders Thursday announced strong and sweeping rules regulating the TV advertising of non-prescription medications, starting next Sept. 1.

The rules adopted by a unanimous vote of the nine-member Television Code Review Board of the National Association of Broadcasters prohibit:

—On-camera taking of pills or capsules.

—Advertising in or adjacent to programs designed primarily for children.

—The use of children in presentations on behalf of non-prescription medications intended for adults.

—Personal testimonials or endorsement of products by "authority figures or celebrities."

—Approaches commonly associated with the "drug culture" or which imply a casual attitude toward the use of drugs and medications.

—References to non-prescription medications as "non-habit forming" or "non-addictive."

All 398 TV stations that subscribe to the NAB code are bound by the rules.

Dear Abby

His friend wants spirits-ual send-off

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Is there a law against what you can put in a person's casket when you bury him?

I have a good friend who made me promise that if he died before I did, I would get a fifth of the best bourbon money can buy, take a real big swig, replace the cap, and put the bottle beside him in the casket.

I told him I would gladly do this, but I need to know if there is a law against it in Michigan.

DETROIT NEWS READER

DEAR READER: Any undertaker can tell you. And so can a Michigan lawyer. [I wonder what your friend has in mind? Spirits for the spirits, maybe?]

DEAR ABBY: Please do the country a big service by saying something about women who invite their friends to their homes and then try to sell them everything from jewelry to kitchenware to clothing. I attended four such parties in the last two weeks, all of which I tried to decline, but my friends would not take no for an answer. They all said, "You don't have to BUY anything. Just come!" Once there, I am bombarded with the worst kind of high-pressured salesmanship, and I always end up buying something so as not to look cheap.

I hate to say I will come and then not show up. Will you please tell women how some of their friends feel about being taken advantage of in this manner?

ALL PARTIED OUT

DEAR PARTIED: Your problem is your inability to say NO. Some women appreciate being introduced to new products this way, and they enjoy the parties, too. If you don't, simply decline.

DEAR ABBY: Two girls I consider my closest friends have steady boy friends. [I don't have anyone special right now.]

Both of these girls have told me that they have had dreams about me in which I am the central character. They also say their boy friends are in these dreams, but they won't tell me how the dreams come out. I have asked them whether I am the hero or the villain, and they both reply, "It depends on how you look at it."

Do you think they consider me a friend or an enemy?

DREAMED ABOUT

DEAR DREAMED: That depends on how the dreams came out. You can be certain of one thing. They consider you a threat!

DEAR ABBY: I am so tired of hearing husbands and wives complain that their marriages fell apart because one or the other got fat. How ridiculous can some people get?

Louie and I have been married 13 years. I went from 110 to 186, and Louie went from 165 to 230, and it didn't harm our love life one bit. In fact, it's better than ever. One thing it did was to get rid of all the jealousy. Our marriage will last forever. Who'd want either one of us? ANGIE Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Cutback Hinders Plans

BOSTON (AP) — American and Russian heart specialists say a cutback in federal health funds for research and training has hindered plans for the two nations to swap heart specialists in a study program.

The statement was made Saturday by Dr. Bernard Lown, associate professor of cardiology at the Harvard School of Public Health, and by Prof. Igor Shkhvatsabai, director of the Miasnikov Institute of Cardiology at the Moscow Academy of Medical Sciences.

Shkhvatsabai is leading a five-man delegation visiting the United States to study means of preventing and treating heart attacks.

Lown said he and the Russian delegation discussed plans to have each nation send a cardiologist to the other nation for a period of study.

"The sudden heart attack is a serious problem in the United States," Lown told a news conference.

"We have similar problems," Shkhvatsabai said.

Lown said he hoped the swap arrangement could be carried off in spite of the federal funds cutback because "some of our best advances have come from the training and research performed here by trainees from various countries."

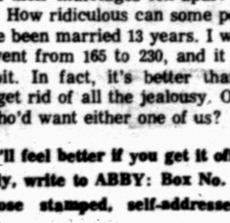

Firemen Are Called Twice

City Firemen answered two calls Saturday.

A 1963 Model Chevrolet owned by Richard Ybarra, 405 Thirtieth Street, was destroyed in a fire at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Firemen extinguished a grass fire at Travis Junior High School at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Hermann Sons Plan Campaign

SAN ANTONIO--A membership campaign to honor the founders of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas has been announced for March 1-31 by Henry Riemer, Grand President of the fraternal organization.

The fraternal benefit society was established by the German pioneers of Texas on a statewide basis on March 27, 1890, after a single lodge had existed in San Antonio since 1861.

On that March day in 1890, with the Alamo, cradle of Texas liberty as a background, a grand lodge was formed by the initial San Antonio lodge and seven other newly created lodges in Austin, Taylor, Temple, Waco, La Grange, Brenham and Houston.

These eight lodges had 242 members. Within a year, the number of Hermann Soehne lodges grew to 100, located in 100 cities and rural communities. Today there are more than 72,000 Hermann Sons members in 161 lodges.

Special campaign awards will go to adult and junior members who successfully recommend new members during the month.

Junior members between the ages of 9 and 13 will have a special bonanza because, in addition to the recommender awards, they will earn merits toward a week of summer camping in the Hermann Sons Youth Camp in the Hill Country at Comfort, if they successfully recommend either adults or children. Through the recommender's route, junior members can have a week of camping, all meals included, for as little as $5.

The organization, which provides life insurance protection, many fraternal benefits and many social activities, is named after the Hermann the Defender, who in 9 A.D., when his people were being oppressed by a Roman emperor, led these people in a battle that crushed three Roman legions. Hermann is also known to historians by his Roman name, Arminius.

The Sons of Hermann lodge in Scurry County is Hermleigh Lodge No. 256.

Princess Anne Visits Phillips

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne flew back from a two-week tour of Ethiopia and the Sudan and left directly from the London airport for the country home of the cavalry officer with whom she has been linked romantically.

The princess was expected to go to Windsor Castle on her arrival Sunday.

Instead, the 22-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II drove her new sports car from Heathrow airport to Great Somerford in Wiltshire, 90 miles to the west, to visit Mark Phillips, 24.

After spending the day at the Phillips home, Anne and the lieutenant in the Queen's Dragoon Guards drove off toward London.

Market Prices Tumble

By DEBORAH M. RANKIN
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices tumbled again today as Wall Street continued to worry over the effect rising interest rates would have on business expansion.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.78 to 950.11.

Declines held nearly a 3-to-1 lead over advances in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks had declined .60 to 60.22 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, declines swamped advances in moderate trading, and the price-change index was off .13 to 24.94.

Brokers said the Federal Reserve's approval of boosts in the bank discount rate and prime rate over the weekend gave Wall Street a severe shock, setting off fears that a possible credit crunch would nip the present business boom.

The Dow already had sunk to its lowest closing point since last fall on Friday, when it fell 11.89 to 959.89 because of continuing investor uncertainty over the economy and the dollar abroad. The interest-rate news dealt investors a fresh blow.

Mattel, Inc., up ½ to 6, headed the active issues on the Big Board.

Cronkite Speaks Out

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Television newscaster Walter Cronkite says the Nixon administration is trying to raise its credibility "by dragging down that of the press."

The administration is manipulating public opinion in a way that "to stand up and defend freedom of speech and press is to appear anti-Nixon," he said, adding that the Supreme Court had stripped the press of "the privilege to protect its sources, and without such protection, a free press cannot survive."

The longtime anchorman for CBS' evening news made the charges in a speech Sunday night before the 105th annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators here.

House plants have a way of telling you what is bothering them. They grow in homes and apartments where unfavorable environmental conditions often produce symptoms that may be mistaken for diseases.

When the plant tells you what is wrong with the environment, act quickly to diagnose the cause.

Philodendrons tolerate adverse growing conditions much better than most other house plants, "yet they frequently contract troubles often mistaken for diseases caused by infectious organisms," says Prof. R. Kenneth Horst of the New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

Lower leaves turn yellow, new leaves become undersized and growing tips turn brown and die when philodendrons grow under insufficient light. "These plants do not require direct sunlight, but they need a great deal of indirect light," Horst explained.

Low humidity in a room is another trouble. Philodendrons, being tropical, thrive under high humidity. When apartments are heated in fall and winter, the problem increases. Syringing or misting leaves with water helps correct the situation.

Overwatering, improper soil drainage, too much or too little food, and root restriction are other causes of poor growth.

Root rot or stem rot caused by fungi or bacteria is the most common infectious disease of house plants. Use a clean growing medium, provide ample drainage and don't overwater — and you will prevent disease.

When a plant shows symptoms of disease, keep it apart from healthy plants. Remove and destroy dead leaves and stems from diseased plants. Check your plants often for possible disease. Another preventive measure recommended by Horst is to repot plants periodically, using clean, premixed soils readily available in garden shops. Once a potted plant's soil has become infested with a root rot fungus or bacterium it is difficult to sterilize. Commercially, soil is sterilized with steam or chemicals.

A method of pasteurizing soil is to place it in a flat container and drench it with boiling water. Allow it to cool before planting.

Spring catalogs are arriving with new items that will bring spring closer:

From Burgess (Galesburg, Mich.), three new raspberries — Forever Amber, a yellow member of the black raspberry family; Mammoth Red Thornless, large and sweet; Black Night, an everbearer that produces from June to freezing weather. And there is an ornamental raspberry with red-haired canes and shiny orange prickles and an orange-red pod suggestive of bittersweet.

Strawberries: Burgess Hybrid No. 41, springbearing, and Hybrid No. 46, everbearing, both large, and Spring Giant, dark and firm.

Burgess also offers dwarf citrus fruit trees (2 feet tall), with "usable edible fruits," including orange, lime and lemons. There is a dwarf pink pussy willow also, and Peaches and Cream Corn, three strains, two color, with early, medium and main crop maturing times.

Goldsmith Seeds (Gilroy, Calif.) is showing strong with an F1 Hybrid Geranium, Sprinter, the 1973 Fleuroselect and All-Britain winner, an early, dwarf with bright scarlet flowers.

Another choice item from Goldsmith is Snowflake, 1973 Fleuroselect Award-winning dwarf single chanthus, superb for mass beds.

Yati Wan Speaks At Club Meeting

The Art Guild Study Club met Tuesday at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Mrs. R.V. Williamson was in charge of the program for the evening which concerned the American Field Service. The topic was "Ambassador from Another Environment." The main objective of the American Field Service is to promote a better understanding among the people of all nations. The Art Guild recognizes its responsibility to support this program.

Guest speaker for the evening was Yati Wan, exchange student from Malaysia, who presented a talk on customs and traditions of her people. She explained that some customs and traditions are still the same as they were years ago.

Mrs. Daniel Martin, hostess, served 14 members and two guests.

Author Sets First Novel In Beautiful Iowa Prairie

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Katherine Morgan Ryan set her first novel on the Iowa prairie for two reasons: she wanted to use the beauty of the land as a background for heroics and she thought the people were not very different from other Americans.

"The land is so beautiful and the smell of the rich, black soil so overpowering — it's like a carbon filter cleansing you of the smog and noise and bustle of the cities," she said. "At night, the prairie is the loveliest section of the country. You can see scudding clouds, stars, the midnight blue sky and the land merges into that sky so that there's almost no horizon.

"My small town is not unlike a lot of small towns. It is an ideal setting for a novel that wants to go into depth," he added.

She tossed her streaked blonde hair, fingered the knotted gold choker necklace she wore, and added that she had tried to omit any mention of her famous writer husband in publicity about her book.

"But then the publisher sent out a release saying I was the wife of Cornelius Ryan of World War II histories fame, so everybody knew."

"He works with bare bones copy in history, of course, so he said he'd like to add some of those lyrical, descriptive passages to his work. He can't do it, of course. But it is frustrating, editing his work, to take out all those adjectives and adverbs," Mrs. Ryan said.

She admires military men and says they have many traits similar to the Midwesterners she knows so well. "Most are dedicated. They serve their country with blinders on, never questioning their duty. The Iowans I know are levelheaded, slow to anger. There's too little written about the Midwest. Most people subscribe to the cartoonists' theory of what it's like."

The idea for a novel about Iowa had been with Mrs. Ryan for some time before she began "The Betty Tree."

"I did 300 pages of a similar thing the first year I was in New York out of journalism school, but it had no design. It was just dreadful. Oddly enough, the idea has been in the back of my mind ever since," she said.

So this year, she worked every day from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., when she went in to cook dinner for her husband and two children, 19 and 16.

"I work through because I'm never really aware of the passage of time. At the end of the day I sometimes feel I haven't done anything good, or that well, or that important. But it's just the way I work," she said.

Often when the Ryans are at work on a history, they break for dinner and go back for night work.

"I think people who free lance have to discipline themselves more," said the former magazine editor. "You say to yourself, 'Why not go to just this one luncheon?' At the office it would be automatic to say no just because you're working.

"When you're free lancing you must say to yourself, 'I am working, I have a job.' You're more severe with yourself simply because you're on your own."

Mrs. Ryan said it is helpful that the office in their Connecticut home is built separate from the house.

"One must get up, get dressed and go to work. You can't just wander around the house. You must physically get down there. It's a great way to get moving.

"We have a marvelous setup for two people who work at the same profession. We need all the space in our large room. Connie needs pacing space — he paces when he thinks. I usually sit with my head in my hands and wonder how I ever got into writing. We never run into each other," Mrs. Ryan said.

A native of Oskaloosa, Iowa, who studied at the University of Missouri school of journalism, Mrs. Ryan said everything in her novel depended on the first sentence.

Honor Accorded Snyder Teacher

A Snyder High School teacher received statewide recognition from his colleagues Saturday. Dr. Tommy Gilbreath, local coordinator of Industrial Arts Education in Snyder, was honored at the close of a three-day state Industrial Arts convention at Texas A&M University in College Station as the outstanding Industrial Arts teacher from the West Central Texas Industrial Arts Association. This region encompasses 14 counties surrounding Abilene.

The Texas Industrial Arts Association, a professional organization or 1,800 public school and college Industrial Education teachers and supervisors, each year honors one teacher from each of Texas' regional associations for outstanding work in Industrial Arts Education.

Dr. Gilbreath, who is a member of the Curriculum Committee of the Texas Industrial Arts Curriculum Study, has been on the faculty of Snyder High School since 1971. He previously taught at Texas A&M University and taught drafting in the El Paso public schools for four years. Dr. Gilbreath, a native of Alpine, has a B.S. degree from Sul Ross State University where he was a member of Alpha Chi and also a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. He has a D. Ed. degree in Industrial Education from Texas A&M University. He is a member of the Texas and American Industrial Arts Association, the National Education Association, the Texas State Teachers Association, the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, and Iota Lambda Sigma, an honorary Industrial Education fraternity.

The Gilbreaths reside at 4122 Jacksboro. His wife, Barbara, teaches English at Snyder High School. They have two children, Dee Ann and Karen.

Four other industrial arts teachers and three students from Snyder attended the conference at Texas A&M. These included Tommy Wright, Joe Harding, Ed Raborn and Kenny Miller, teachers, and the students Bill Wade and Pat Blackwell, delegates to the Texas Industrial Arts Students Association, and Wanda Raborn, parliamentarian of the state student association. Mrs. Juanita Raborn was sponsor for the students.

Bank Run By Television Units

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A New Orleans bank with a goal of being totally automated already handles all teller-customer transactions at two of its branches by closed-circuit television.

Although other banks use television, mostly for operating drive-in windows, International City Bank says it is the first in the nation to have total-television installations and expects eventually to put all its tellers in front of cameras or replace them with automatic machines.

The tellerless machines — linked to the bank's computer — would enable a customer to handle the most common banking transactions without any contact with a human. The customer would insert his coded card into the machine, punch in four identification numbers and make his deposit, withdrawal or whatever.

"These units can be placed in hotel lobbies, shopping centers and, to be absurd, even street corners," said bank president Eads Poitevent in a recent speech. "Anywhere there are people."

Ray Samuel said the commitment to machines is not gimmickry, but sound banking philosophy.

As in other banks, International City's two-way, closed-circuit television system is coupled with pneumatic tubes for moving money and documents between teller and customer. What sets the New Orleans bank apart is the use of the system to replace the traditional walk-up windows in its lobbies.

In a typical installation, a customer with routine business walks to a panel with a 12-inch television screen, a speaker, a button to summon the teller and a hatch to the pneumatic tube. A telephone is provided in case the customer wants a private conversation with the teller, who is in a sealed, vault-like room and may be handling two or three "windows."

Time Reports Wiretap

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine says the FBI tapped the telephones of several reporters and White House aides over a two-year period ending last June.

The tapping was done under the authorization of John N. Mitchell, who was then U.S. attorney general, the magazine reported.

Time said Sunday in its current issue:

The White House asked for the taps because it was concerned by a series of news leaks, but the operation uncovered no leaks.

The practice was stopped when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that wiretapping required a court order even in domestic security cases.

Mitchell and his successor, Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst both denied the report which came from four unnamed sources in the government.

The taps affected the telephones of "six or seven" unnamed reporters and an undisclosed number of White House aides. The surveillance began with a tap on one reporter's telephone about three years ago, expanded later, and was continued last spring for 1½ months by acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III after J. Edgar Hoover died.

Mushrooms Recall Is Expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Canning Corp. has expanded the recall of its canned mushrooms because a botulism toxin was found in one lot.

The Food and Drug Administration Sunday said the recall now includes all large institutional-size cans—which are not ordinarily sold for home use—produced by the company at its East Palestine, Ohio, plant since Sept. 4, 1972.

Botulism is a food poisoning. The toxin involved is relatively low in potency and identified easily by a strong smell, the FDA said. The products involved in the recall have not been implicated in any known injury to consumers, the agency said.

Two previous recalls were announced after a Type B botulism toxin was found in two lots. The products involved in the expanded recall can be identified by the character code: upside down T, H2SA.

The recall extension involves 42 lots of No. 10 size cans. United started recalling 20 lots on Feb. 17. A lot or code represents a day's pack and usually contains 1,500 to 2,000 cans, the FDA said.

The FDA said United found swollen cans in its plant Feb. 15. The company had changed its equipment recently, the spokesman said, but the precise cause of the undercooking that would cause contamination has not been determined.

Black field crickets are found in nearly every country of the world.

A&M Upsets Tech 76-75

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High-scoring Arkansas, led by hotshot guard Martin Terry, has a chance to throw some excitement into the Southwest Conference basketball race Tuesday night.

The Razorbacks, with a four-game victory streak and an 8-4 SWC record, have the only hope in the league to catch first-place Texas Tech, which is 10-2 with two games left.

One of those two comes Tuesday night against Arkansas at Fayetteville, and if the Razorbacks can pull off a victory, look out!

Next Saturday, Arkansas would still have to beat Rice at Houston and Tech would have to fall at home to Baylor before the race would end in a tie, but stranger things have happened. Rice has lost eight straight games and Baylor is one of the two league teams that has beaten the Red Raiders so far.

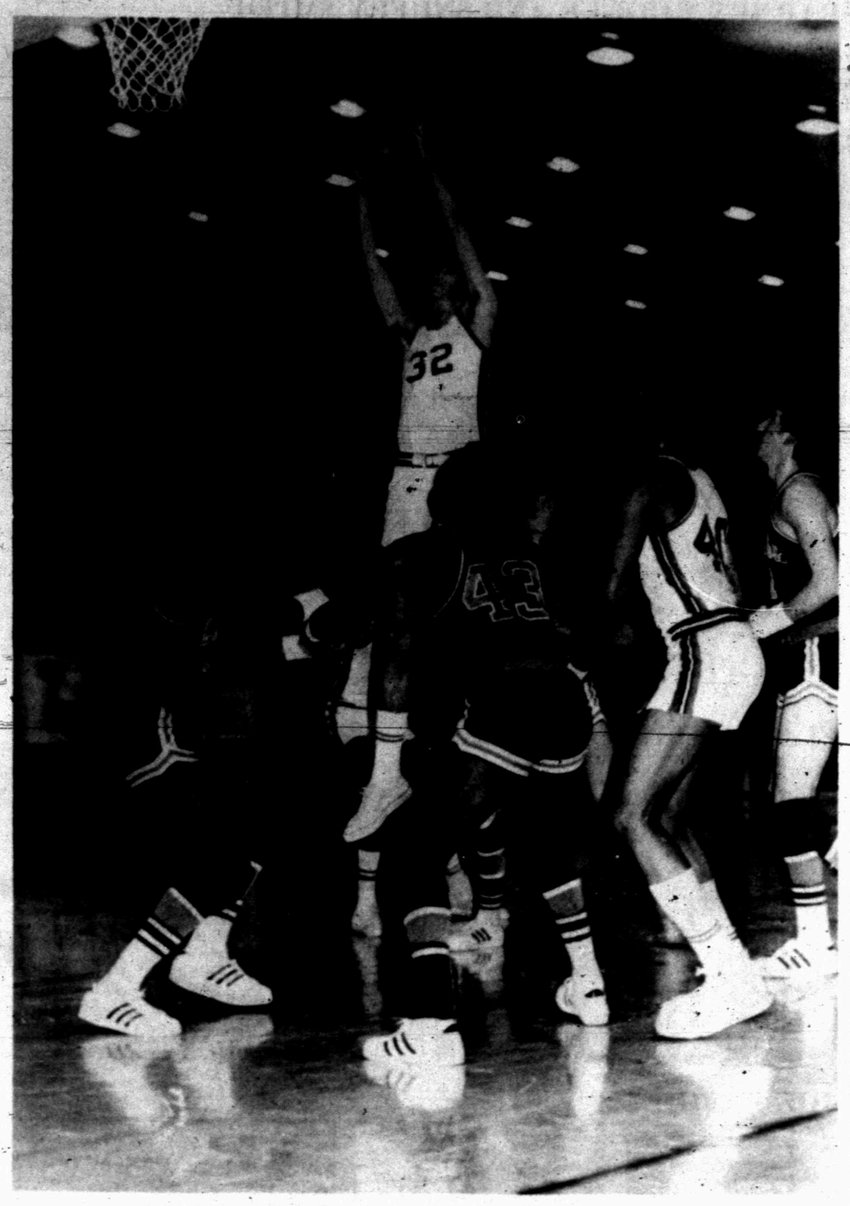

Last week, Tech looked like a shoo-in for the title, but last Saturday Texas A&M pulled a 76-75 upset over the Raiders in Lubbock, where over 9,000 fans were hoping they could pop their champagne bottles. The game was won on a goal-tending call in favor of the Aggies' Mario Brown with just seconds left in the game.

Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf said afterwards he believes Tech will still win it all, but was happy to put some excitement back into a ho-hum title chase.

"They (Tech) killed our season down at our place before. They'll win it—we only delayed it. But this probably will get them stirred up in Arkansas," Metcalf said.

Jeff Overhouse was the real hero for the Aggies, scoring 23 points and controlling the boards for 20 rebounds.

Terry, meanwhile, set an Arkansas scoring record with 47 points in a 103-96 victory over SMU.

GRABS REBOUND--Levalland High School's Grant Dukes (32) goes high to grab a rebound during the Class AAA, Region I basketball playoff game with Lamesa here Saturday night. Circling the rebounder are Lamesa's Kent McCurley (41), Harry McCurley (43), and Gregg Cannady (31) and Levalland's Donnie Wright (40). Lamesa upset the Lobos 41-35 to win a berth in the state tournament.

Westerners End Regular Season Against Odessa

The Western Texas College Westerners will host Odessa Junior College's Wranglers in the final regular game of the season at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The Westeners can claim sole possession of third place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference race with a victory tonight. Odessa, on the other hand, can tie the Westerners for third place if they win. WTC is 17-10 for the season and 8-7 in conference play. The Westerners have already received an invitation to participate in the Region V Tournament in Brownwood next Wednesday. They meet McLennon County at 4 p.m. in the first round.

Five Westerner sophomores will be closing out their careers in the contest tonight. The five include Walter Hanibal of Fort Worth Kirkpatrick, Steve Sparks of Krum, James Houston of Charlotte, N.C., Jimmy Hill of Amarillo Tascosa and Joell Dyess of South Garland.

Two of them - Hanibal and Sparks--will be starting tonight. Other starters for WTC will be Ronnie Allen of Fort Worth North Side at post, Harold Ward of Passaic, N.J. at forward, and either Danny Brumley or Fred Allen at guard. McDaniel and Fred Allen are both from Little Rock, Ark. Hanibal will be at forward and Sparks will be at guard.

Hanibal set a scoring record for WTC during the New Mexico Military game last week. He became the first Westerner to score 500 points. He consistently shoots in double figures and pulls down about 20 rebounds per game.

"I'm tempted to start all five of our sophomores," said Coach Sid Simpson.

In the first meeting with the Wranglers, the Westerners won 104-90. Simpson used some unorthodox strategy in that first contest, starting the guards. However, Harold Ward has improved so much as forward lately that the WTC coach wants him in the game. That means the Westerners probably will not use the three-guard strategy tonight.

The Wranglers have some great shooters and leapers, and they employ a 2-2-1 zone press on defense.

Probable starters will be 6-6 James Burkhalter, a sophomore from Baton Rouge, La., and four of the following six players: Ernest Jenkins and Daryl Cox, freshmen from Albuquerque, N.M.; Randy Anderson and LaSalle Taylor, sophomores from El Paso; Greg Taylor, freshman from Alamogordo, N.M.; and, Claude Giddings, freshman from Carlsbad, N.M.

Other Westerners who are ready to get into the thick of the affray are James Batteau, forward from Hondo; Luis Blanco, guard from Ft. Stockton; Eric Grant, guard from Hondo; and Kent Horsley, post man from Snyder.

Golden Tornadoes Upset Lobos 41-35 In Region

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes upset Levelland's Lobos 41-35 in the finals of the Region I, Class AAA basketball tournament in the Scurry County Coliseum Saturday night.

Lamesa scored first and stayed out front until Levelland went ahead, 6-4, with 3:50 remaining in the first quarter. The Lobos led 12-6 after one quarter and 18-14 at halftime, led by All-State prospect Grant Dukes, who netted 8 points in the first half.

Kent McCurley, Lamesa's All-State candidate, kept the Tornadoes in the game in the first half by scoring 10 points. He and Dukes had quite a battle under the boards with McCurley getting the best of the Lobo star.

Lamesa tied it up, 14-14, with 4:53 remaining in the first half on an inside host by Kent McCurley. But the Lobos went back ahead and stayed out front until 1:12 remained in the third quarter. At that point, Harry McCurley--Kent's older brother--netted a basket to put the Tornadoes ahead 23-21.

The Tornadoes intercepted several passes to Grant Dukes in the second half.

Lamesa was still ahead when Harry McCurley fouled out with 5:15 remaining. At the same time, Levelland tied up the game, 31-31, on two free throws by Dukes. The Lobos managed to hold onto the lead until 3:35 remained when Kent McCurley put in a two-pointer to give the Tornadoes a 35-33 lead. Lamesa never trailed after that. Gregg Cannady, who was scoreless for the first three quarters of play, pitched in six points for the Tors in the fourth quarter. Lamesa stalled in the last two minutes and got some easy baskets when the Lobos left the basket unguarded as they went after the ball.

Kent McCurley was high point man in the game with 17 points, and Dukes was runnerup with 16 points. They were the only ones in double figures. However, Harry McCurley netted 8 points for the Tors and Vernon Krueger roped 9 for the Lobos, getting 7 at the line.

Lamesa out rebounded the Lobos and also made fewer turnovers.

Levelland, with a 29-1 record, closes out its season while the Tornadoes, 27-3 , head for the state tournament at Austin.

It was a particularly disappointing loss for the Lobos, not only because of their fine record, but also because they had beaten Lamesa twice earlier in the season.

Denver City, Seminole Win V'Ball Tournament

Denver City won the 9th grade division and Seminole won the 8th grade division of the Snyder Junior High volleyball tournament here Saturday.

Runnerup in the 9th grade division was Seminole. Lamar won third place and Big Spring Goliad won the consolation trophy. In the 8th grade division, Denver City was runnerup, Lamesa placed third, and Plains won consolation.

Lamar 9th grade defeated Lamesa 6-15, 15-6, 15-11 in the first round, then lost to Seminole 13-15, 10-15 in the second round. In the battle for third place, Lamar beat Plains 15-3, 15-8. Karen Weber and Pam Head were selected on the all-tournament team.

Travis 9th grade lost to Denver City 8-15, 10-15 in the first round, then was defeated by Big Spring Gold 15-1, 16-14 in the second round. Debra Davis was named to the all-tournament team.

Lamar 8th beat Big Spring Runnels in the first round 15-12, 15-8, then lost to Seminole in the second round, 8-15, 13-15. Lamesa beat Lamar for third place 15-7, 15-6.

Susan Walker and Rhonda Nunley were named to the all-tournament team.

Travis 8th grade lost to Lamesa in the first round 7-15, 6-15, then beat Big Spring Goliad in the second round, 10-15, 15-13, 15-3. Plains beat Travis for the consolation trophy, 15-6, 15-9.

Della Braziel made the all-tournament team.

Others who made the all-tournament team in the 9th grade division are Cortez and Nicky Meith of Seminole, Henson, Thetford and Amy Cox of Denver City, Nancy Reffner of Lamesa, Hale of Plains, Grant of Big Spring Gold and Chris Davis of Big Spring Black. Others on the 8th grade all-tournament team are Garrett and Thomas of Denver City, Moffett and Cooper of Lamesa, Ayres of Plains and Boyd of Goliad. Two girls from Seminole also made the team but their names were not available.

Tiger Baseball Team Depends On Sophomores

The Snyder High School baseball team was hit hard this year by graduation losses, but the Tigers will field a young, hustling team that could improve with every game. This year, the Tigers will be competing in the tough 4-AAAA District.

"We lost a catcher, first baseman, second baseman, shortstop, centerfielder and right fielder," declared Coach Speedy Moffett, who is in his 20th year at the Tiger helm.

Coach Moffett is the wininges coach in Texas schoolboy history with a 406-218 won-loss record.

"Pitching will be our strong point," said Speedy, "but a lack of hitting will be our biggest problem.

Moffett is hoping some of the younger lads can come through this season. If the sophomores develop, the Tigers could be contenders for the district crown.

Only five regulars return from last year's team and three of them are pitchers: Tim Holder, Marvin McClanahan and Robert Braziel. Holder and McClanahan are seniors; Braziel is a junior. Holder fires from the left side of the mound while the other two are right handers. The other two regulars are junior third baseman Ralph Lewis and senior outfielder Charlie Anderson. Holder and Anderson both were named to the All-District team last year.

Other lettermen returning are senior catcher Eddie Bane, senior catcher Jeff Lambert, senior first baseman Scotty Sullivan, junior outfielder V.T. Roberson, and junior right fielder Nicky Neves.

Robert Alderete, a sophomore with a good arm, will try out at shortstop. He and another sophomore--Jim Crow--will be vying for this position.

"Alderete is a good hitter," said Moffett, "and Crow is going to be a good one. He also has a good arm and a lot of savy."

Several other lads are showing good promise. Doak Witherspoon, a junior transfer student, could break into the lineup in left field. He is the son of Coach Don Witherspoon.

Charlie Cain, a senior catcher, is a good hitter. He also plays the outfield. Clay Bishop, another sophomore with a good arm, could hold down second or third base. Another senior, Jerry Bob Lee, will be trying out for the infield.

Eight other sophomores have been working out: Barry Blalock, 1b, Billy Murray, Russell Mize, Richard Tovar, Henry Hernandez, Norman Autry, Ernie Simons and Charles McCartney. Hernandez is a right handed twirler, and McCartney is a left handed hurler. Autrey will be in the outfield and Simons is a catcher.

Other men on the squad are Robbie Sterling, 2b; Bryan Littlepage, infielder, and Bernie Weems, outfielder.

"We had three new men to come out Wednesday," said Moffett. They are Sid Perry, Dennis Young and Danny Brumley. Perry and Young are pitchers, and Brumley is an outfielder.

If the younger men jell, the Tigers could be in business.

Snyder Thinlies Score 20 Points

PLAINVIEW--The Snyder High School track team only entered three men in the varsity division of the track meet here Saturday and they scored 20 points. Hereford won the meet with 100 points, and Lubbock Coronado was a close runnerup with 99 points.

Mickey Gonzales placed second in the shot with a 48-4 effort, and Willie Smith was third in the same event with a distance of 46-4. John Miller placed third in the pole vault by clearing 11-6.

Snyder scored 28 points in the junior varsity division. Regis Harper cleared 11-0 in the pole vault to win a blue ribbon. Loyd Baccus was runnerup in the same event by clearing 10-6. Ronny Payne won the high jump, clearing 5-4.

Coach Bill Hartsfield said the track was extremely wet and he didn't want to take any chances on any of his boys getting injured. That is why there were no Tigers entered in the track events.

The Tigers will host the annual Canyon Reef Tournament Saturday.

The 1973 ABC bowling tournament begins March 3 in Syracuse, N.Y. Indianapolis gets the 1974 tournament. Dayton has it in 1975.

Emerson Wins Trap Shoot

Canyon Gun Club held their monthly trap shoot, yesterday afternoon, with president of the club, Bill Emerson, walking away easily with first place.

Emerson took his trophy by netting 24 clay birds out of a possible 25. Dub Everett placed 2nd with 22 birds and Roger Blackard downed 21 birds for a 3rd place finish.

Another trap shoot is scheduled for March 25 and is open to the public. A special event is set for March 4, when the Canyon Gun Club will sponsor a muzzle-loading pistol match. Two 10-shot matches at 25 and 50 yards will be held at 2 p.m. The public is invited to participate and watch. Entrants in the March 4 match without pistol should contact Dick Stallcup at 'Ye Olde Gun Shop. Stallcup will provide pistols to entrants. However, entrants who have them may use their own pistols.

Efficiency Seekers' Goal Now Job Enrichment

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The search for efficiency has brought American industry through many phases since the era of time and motion studies during the late 1930s and 1940s to the latest product, job enrichment.

Experimentation with human engineering, or the designing of products to better suit and serve humans, became popular late in the 1940s. Machine controls were placed at eye level, lathes were made safer, lighting was improved.

Following in the efficiency continuum came automation, the advent of electronic controls and other devices aimed at improving productivity by reducing the human component of routine activities.

And now in the 1970s there is a reaction to some of the techniques of the past. Workers are rebelling against piece work, lack of personal responsibility, repetition and inability to use skills. What was once accepted for the sake of efficiency, is now producing inefficiency.

Absenteeism, tardiness, lack of ambition, employe turnover and poor product quality are some of the manifestations. And so the latest goal of efficiency seekers is job enrichment.

Dr. John Drake, an adviser to many blue chip corporations on job enrichment, believes that the rebellion against the emptiness of the work day is an understandable consequence of two developments.

First, said Drake, who heads Drake-Beam & Associates, as a nation becomes more industrial its workers earn more. They satisfy immediate needs and have discretionary income. But they want more than money. They may seek meaning in their work.

Second, cultural pressures also develop. The individual views himself differently. He sees himself as a person of dignity. "I am good," he says in effect, an attitude which logically leads to "I should be treated as such."

The technique of efficiency in this decade, he said, will be to make work more meaningful, and thus encourage the worker toward higher production and better quality.

To be successful, Drake believes, any enrichment program must have these characteristics: it is a complete piece of work; it must provide the worker with decision-making control; it must offer feedback on performance.

Many routine jobs already have been enriched. In a television factory, groups of workers who once did simple, repititious jobs on an assembly line now take full responsibility for the assembly and quality of entire units.

Job enrichment, said Drake, is now in its second generation, with its sights set on restructing entire units and redistributing the pieces of work so that each worker has a piece of work to call his own.

New Smoking Signs Warn

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Smokers who try to light up in University of Wisconsin Madison classrooms soon will be admonished by signs warning that they are contributing to pollution.

UW Safety Director Earl V. Rupp said the signs are part of a new campaign to embarass students into heeding fire department rules on smoking in classrooms. Rupp said the old "no smoking" signs have failed.

The new signs read: "Smoking is pollution. We'd like to breathe! Do you have to smoke?"

Boyle Jumps To Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

A fat lady is less likely than a skinny lady to divorce her husband. It takes less energy for her to forgive a husband than to dress up and take him to court.

If you want to see how long your college education stuck with you, pick up a high school algebra book sometime and see how little of it you can now understand.

Sets World Trip

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria will leave late next month on an around-the-world trip that will include stops in China, the Soviet Union, Canada, Great Britain, Belgium and France.

Echeverria told a joint session of Congress that the trip will last about a month, but he did not say exactly when he would leave or what dates he would be in what countries.

Junior Editors' Quiz on BUFFALO BILL

QUESTION: Who was Buffalo Bill Cody?

* * *

ANSWER: Buffalo Bill, whose real name was William Frederick Cody, was a colorful figure of the Old West. He earned the popular title of Buffalo Bill through his unusual skill with a rifle in buffalo hunting. It is said that he killed large herds of buffalo to supply meat for workers, building a railroad through Kansas.

Cody, was born in Iowa in 1846. In 1854, his family moved to Kansas. After his father's death in 1857, he became a messenger for a freighting firm and rode a mule. After attending school for a year, he joined the wagon trains going west. In this venture, he tended livestock and drove a team of horses. In 1860, he rode a mail route for the Pony Express. During the Civil War, he served as a scout for the Union Army.

After his experiences as a rugged frontiersman, he went into show business. He appeared with Wild Bill Hickok in plays depicting the West. He performed in a "Wild West Circus" in which he displayed his shooting skill. He toured the United States, Europe and Japan. He died in 1917.

AFTER TWO-YEAR STUDY

Panel Finds No Answer To Rising Medical Costs

By ROD DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — One of the things the legislature might want to "reform" is the way Texans get sick twice—once when they go to the hospital and again when they get the bill.

The problem was apparent to the 1971 Legislature, so the Senate created an interim committee to study rising medical costs, costs which have rocketed the daily price of a hospital room from $12 in 1940 to nearly $100 today.

But although the two-year study bemoans the seemingly inexorable upward march in health care expenditures, it offers a few solutions or recommendations.

In fact, the only resolution it drafted calls for repeal of the state's anti-substitution bill. The repeal would allow pharmacists to substitute a generically-equivalent drug for a brand name.

A consumer group, the Texas Public Interest Research Group, supports the repeal—but only if it is accompanied by a bill to force listing of competitive drug prices.

One of the most potentially important—and controversial—parts of the study calls for an examination of the Texas ban on health maintenance organizations (HMOs).

HMO's, outlawed in 22 states, are consumer cooperatives which provide health care to members. HMO's typically operate as either a grouping of physicians in a common facility serving patients or individually practicing physicians reimbursed by a central organization.

"The committee sees certain merit in the concept of the health maintenance organization," the study says, and offers cautious, Aam-conscious advice:

"The committee recommends that the legislature continue to study the HMO concept and the related statutes as a means of improving the delivery of health care in the future."

Such a small, limited statement could lead to a pitched battle between doctors, lawmakers, and patients if the legislature decides to pursue the recommendation and remove the ban on HMO's.

So far no such legislation has been introduced.

The study also tried to pinpoint the causes of high medical costs and came up with three major reasons: "increased salaries, high capital expenditures, and the 'cost reimbursement' method of payment under Medicare and Medicaid."

Salary increases constitute two-thirds of the cost increase, the report said, but it wasn't complaining.

"This major factor in the rising cost of hospital care is one which no public or private body can justly touch," it said.

But many capital outlays for unnecessary equipment or space are not needed, the report said. Adding a nonessential bed costs both the price of the bed and the expense of maintaining it—both of which are passed on to the patient.

"In the end it is the patient, the insurance company, or the taxpayer in support of the indigent who must bear the expense of this community pride," the report declared.

It said the Medicare-Medicaid programs also contributed to rising prices because of the way they reimburse hospitals for additional expenses.

"There is, therefore, no incentive for hospitals to control costs—they will be reimbursed regardless of how high costs run," the study said, and accused the program of causing "in an indirect way a trend toward hospital inefficiency."

Over-all, the Texas health situation is that of the nation, the report said: "one of diffusion, duplication, and confusion."

Tests On Rescue Net Success

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The nation's first urban skycraper rescue net will be in service here soon.

Designed by Billy Pugh of Corpus Christi, Tex., the 38-pound net is designed to be stored on the roofs of tall buildings which are unreachable by ladder from the ground.

It holds a maximum of 10 persons and can be attached to a hovering in less than five minutes, Pugh said.

After tests Sunday, firemen were enthusiastic.

"This is the best I've seen in last-resort rescue techniques," said William J. McCrossen, who will become fire superintendent this week. "It did a beautiful job."

One preoccupation here has been preventing another tragedy like the Reault Center fire Nov. 29, in which four women leaped to death and several other persons were killed.

Eight men were also trapped on the roof of the blazing 16-story building. They were rescued by two daring helicopter pilots who first set their own passengers down in city parks, returned to the building, landed precariously on the roof and loaded in as many passengers as fit inside.

Financier Louis J. Roussel believes the new net will streamline operations.

Roussel has purchased a net for his own downtown high-rise building and said it will be kept ready for any future downtown disasters in his building or others.

Fog Hits Texas Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fog dropped visibility near zero and hampered travel sharply this morning over much of the Panhandle-Plains sector and areas farther south in West Texas.

Rain or drizzle was mixed with the fog in some areas behind a new and rather weak cool front which lay along a line linking Sherman, San Angelo and Midland early in the day. It was due to keep pushing toward the southeast.

Special advisories from the National Weather Service warned motorists that travel would be hazardous well into the day because of the restricted visibility.

There also were patches of fog here and there across South Central and Southeast Texas. Skies were clear only in far West Texas, a few areas in East Texas and in the upper Panhandle.

Although the mercury sagged to 30 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle, 32 at Marfa in the West Texas mountains, and readings stayed above freezing and it was generally mild elsewhere. The warmest spots in early morning were Brownsville and McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande, where it was 65 and rain was falling.

Scattered showers or thunderstorms were expected to accompany the slow movement of the cool front toward the southeast, with the moisture tapering off by tonight except in parts of East Texas.

New methods of finishing and sealing wood against moisture and swelling now enable you to change the shiny hospital look of the bathroom by paneling in the soft, rich hues of a variety of wood species.

Equal Rights Appeal Made

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With approval of 10 more states needed, President Nixon and the chairmen of the two major political parties have called for ratification of the equal rights amendment to elevate the status of women.

Nixon's appeal was made last week in an economic message to Congress. Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss and his Republican counterpart, George Bush, have been writing state legislators to urge approval.

Backers of the constitutional amendment had hoped it might win ratification before Aug. 26, the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage. But in the past month the amendment has run into opposition from some conservatives, and there are predictions it might take another year or more to push it through.

Twenty-eight of the necessary 38 states have ratified the amendment, which would bar the abridgement of civil rights on the basis of sex.

Opponents contend ratification of the amendment would play havoc with the nation's laws, destroy the family system and require that women register for the military draft.

Bush intervened unsuccessfully when the amendment was up for a vote in the North Dakota House of Representatives last Thursday. The House killed the proposal for the year. The GOP chairman also sent telegrams to Republican officials in Maine, whose legislature votes on the amendment Tuesday.

Anne Armstrong, former co-chairman of the Republican National Committee and now a counselor to Nixon, has written letters and occasionally spoken on behalf of the amendment since it cleared Congress nearly a year ago.

Strauss last week wrote Democratic governors and legislators in each of the 32 states that have not ratified the amendment, saying "it would be a dangerous move to step away from our commitment to the women of America at this point in our party's and our nation's history."

Crash Swells Violent Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An auto-truck crash in the lower Rio Grande Valley which claimed four lives helped to swell the violent death toll in Texas during the weekend.

The grim count rose to 14 fatalities between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, including 10 killed in auto accidents.

Truck driver Tommie H. Scott, 63, of Refugio and three Iowa residents were killed Sunday as Scott's vehicle and a car collided 25 miles north of Edinburg on U.S. 281. Authorities identified the other victim as Mildred Joachim, 50, driver of the automobile; her husband Orville, 54, of Waverly, Iowa, and his mother, Bertha Joachim, 78, of Alto Vista, Iowa.

These were among the other dead:

Mrs. Perrice F. Webster, 46, of Nash was found shot to death in her home when a Bowie County sheriff's deputy investigated after a call from her neighbors. A 52-year-old man was being questioned.

Daniel Salas, 26, of Laredo was fatally stabbed Saturday night. Two companions were jailed early Sunday in connection with the death.

Lala Hall, 46, of San Antonio died early Sunday of injuries suffered in a one-car accident. San Antonio police said Mrs. Hall's car went out of control late Saturday and hit a utility pole.

Three members of a Mesquite family—Deborah, 9, Diedra, 7, and Darron West, 5, were all killed in the crash of two pickup trucks on Interstate 20 near Waskom, Tex., Friday night. Their parents were injured critically.

A collision 12 miles west of Lufkin Friday night claimed the life of Gerald M. Loftin, 25, Friday night. The accident occurred on Texas 24.

An argument resulted in the death Saturday of Willie James Elliot, 45, in Mesquite. Police held a woman, 44.

Another argument ended in the fatal shooting Friday night of Alfred Ita, 53, in Houston. His wife Louise, 30, was charged with murder.

Nine-year-old Mark Wright was struck and killed by an automobile in Dallas as he ran an errand for his father Saturday afternoon. Police said he ran across the street to a store and on the return trip darted in front of a sedan driven by Lilly Mae Ranson, 22.

Career Aids For Women

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I am 37, married, with family responsibilities, and have nearly 2 years of college. I would like to look into work outside my home, preferably on a part-time basis. I am not sure what I want to do, or where to begin. I realize you can't analyze my problem in your newspaper column, but I hope you can, at least, give me some practical suggestions. – R.T., Pittsburgh

The new Catalyst publications program is made to order for you and college-educated women everywhere who want productive work outside the home as well as in it. By the term "college-educated," Catalyst does not mean you have to be a 4-year college graduate, but that you have – or, are willing to acquire – adequate post-high school education qualifying you for a good career.

CATALYST, in case the name is new to you, is the national nonprofit organization to expand employment opportunities for college-educated women. Funded by foundations, business and industry, Catalyst was founded a decade ago by 5 college presidents to deal with the wasted womanpower that results when women are forced to work in jobs below their level of training and ability.

The organization's new publications, available about March 1, are written from the woman-with-family-responsibilities' point of view, and are unique in that they include feminine considerations and problem-solving tips not generally found in career literature. The publications are sequenced in 3 parts: self-guidance series ($1.25 per booklet); education opportunities series (70 cents per booklet), and career opportunities series (95 cents per booklet) In total, there are 40 booklets.

ONE BOOKLET, in the self-guidance series, "Your Job Campaign," includes a broad overview of 7 major work areas – government, business and industry, nonprofit institutions, education, non-establishment enterprises (such as community action groups, consumer protection agencies, ecological groups), volunteer work and self-employment. Here's what Catalyst says about the first 2 areas:

"Government is the biggest single employer in the country. Federal, state, county, regional and municipal departments and agencies offer jobs in almost every field and at almost every level. Considerations: Opportunities to enter either at a beginning or semi-professional level; many entry-level jobs carry responsibility; an expanding area [particularly at local and state levels]; good fringe benefits, including generous vacations, pensions and sick-leave allowances; equality for women; pay scales almost as good as private industry [and sometimes better]; periodic salary increases; rigid seniority rules; bureaucratic system; subject to political pressures."

CONSIDERATIONS noted in business and industry are: "Highest salaries; greatest fringe benefits, including stock options and pension plans; high pressure and competitive; less security than government; fewer opportunities for women than in the social service areas; most jobs on traditional full-time pattern; entry-level jobs usually secretarial, but can be a good steppingstone to a more responsible position."

FOR MORE INFORMATION: Catalyst has published these new booklets as only one aspect of its mission — Catalyst needs massive data on women who want both careers and family. To get a publications form to order booklets, you first must request a free Catalyst questionnaire, which Catalyst hopes you will fill out and return. When you write for the questionnaire, you will also receive the publications form, and you can take it from there. To request the free questionnaire, write: Catalyst, 6 East 82nd St., New York, N.Y. 10028.

Huges Seeks New Hideway

ST. HELIER, Jersey, Channel Islands (AP) — Howard Hughes, the American billionaire recluse, was reported today to be looking for a hideaway home on the British island tax haven of Jersey.

"The word in the property market is that Mr. Hughes is house-hunting here, but as usual he is covering his tracks well," said one Jersey real estate dealer.

Hughes has been holed up in seclusion on the ninth floor of the Inn on the Park Hotel in London since fleeing to Britain from Nicaragua in the wake of last December's earthquake there.

A Hughes aide is believed to have visited St. Helier recently amid speculation that Hughes will buy one of two medieval manor houses on the market.

Both are set in spacious grounds and well hidden from public view. The cost would approach $2.4 million.

Jersey, which owes allegiance to the British crown but is completely self-governing, charges income tax at a top rate of only 20 per cent. In consequence, it carefully checks potential immigrants, who must be acceptable on social or economic grounds.

Food Poisoning

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Most of the 83 persons taken ill with an apparent food poisoning Sunday night after a church luncheon were released from six city hospitals early today.

Two: graf 2, updating number affected

Two children were admitted and a few others were kept under observation, but none was considered seriously ill.

Victims suffered from violent nausea, stomach cramps and headaches, a spokesman at one hospital said.

A city health official said today that those affected were part of a crowd of 200 that ate a buffet luncheon at the dedication of the Bethel African Methodist Church of God in the Germantown section of Philadelphia.

Lawrence Devlin, deputy health commissioner, said the cause of the illnesses won't be known until later today but "it appears to be food poisoning."

He said tests were being conducted on food served at the church: turkey, ham and macaroni and cheese prepared "by the ladies of the church in the church kitchen."

A single map now may carry close to 30,000 items of information and as many as 75 symbols and pieces of type within one square inch, according to map designers at Rand McNally.

EFFICIENT STAFF--Employes at Carter's Western Wear Store, 1801 Twenty-fifth Street on the north side of the downtown square, are prompt to attend to their customers' needs. They are friendly and courteous. From left, are H.B. Carter, owner; Steven Carter, Nona Carter, Doris Hale, Coza Chamberlain and Emogene Sterling. Carter's carries national lines in both men's and women's wear, and they have a big stock of work shoes and work boots.

Carter's Western Wear Carries Many Nationally-Known Brands

When H.B. Carter started out in the clothing business it was a shoestring operation. He only had $50 to start his business, but now he operates one of the most successful businesses in town--Carter's Western Wear at 1801 Twenty-fifth Street on the north side of the downtown square.

Carter learned the clothing business the hard way--back in the depression. He started out in Gainesville and has had over 36 years experience, including 10 years as manager of a store in Lubbock and five years as manager of a store in Plainview.

Carter's Western Wear specializes in Western wear, but the firm also has dress clothes, work clothes, and the largest selection of work shoes and work boots in town.

In their line of men's wear, Carter'sfeatures some nationally known brands, such as Lee's, Carmans, PJ, Miller's and Washington. In hats, he carries Bradford, Stetson and American lines. In boots, he has Justin, Sanders, Texas, Acme and Hyer. Ladies wear lines include Panhandle Slim, Carman, Miller, Tregos, Lee's, Washington and several other line.

Carter's son, Steven, helps him operate the business. His wife, Nona, is a registered nurse at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. All of Carter's employes are friendly, courteous and efficient. The employes include Emogene Sterling, Coza Chamberlain, Doris Hale and Nena Camp.

Store hours are from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays. On Thursdays, the store is open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., and, on Saturdays, the store will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

"I learned a long time ago that you've got to be open and that you've got to have something to sell," Carter said.

He invited anyone interested in his business to come by and get acquainted.

"Visitors are welcome at any time," he said, adding, "We'll be glad to show you around."

When Carter started out in business in Snyder seven years ago, he operated The Only Store in Town at 1803 Twenty-fourth Street. He's been operating Carter's Western Wear at 1801 Twenty-fifth Street, for the past two years.

Expansion Project Is Underway At Six Flags Amusement Park

ARLINGTON--Details of the largest expansion program in several years at Six Flags Over Texas have been revealed by the theme park's general manager.

Robert E. Freeman said the one and a half million dollar project will add approximately five acres to the Park's entertainment area.

To be known as Good Time Square, the new section will include two major rides, a large games area, a miniature circus and a number of other attractions.

Being built in the area adjacent to Six Flags Boomtown section, Good Time Square will reflect the architectural style of a Texas town at the turn of the century.

The largest of the new rides is The Infernal Electrical Bumping Machines. Freeman said, "In designing this ride we have taken the traditionally popular 'bumper cars' and used them on a much larger scale than most people are accustomed to seeing." He said the ride will use 50 cars, or "about double the number usually found on such rides."

The second major ride will be called Crazy Legs. It carries 72 people at a time in seats which spin at the tips of six, long arching arms. The arms rise and fall as the entire ride turns in a huge circle.

The games area, to be known as Doc Snooker's Magnificent Main Street Exposition, features 16 games in a semi-enclosed, air conditioned area.

Freeman commented, "We spent several years working on the concept and design for the games area. What we have done is recreate the fun and excitement of the kind of games which have been the most popular attractions at major fairs for many years."

He added, "The whole project reflects the wholesome style of entertainment that has become a Six Flags trademark. We've dusted off an old idea and made it into a really 'fun' addition to the Park."

Another highlight of the new section is Dragon Bros. Circus, a miniature circus built by the late P.K. Schmitter of Irving. Schmitter, a technical illustrator who passed away in July, 1972, spent more than 10,000 hours building the circus as a hobby.

When the entire layout is in place it will fill a large building in Good Time Square. It includes some 4,000 tiny figures of people and approximately 2,000 miniature animals.
