The SDN Column

A reminder that we are sailing into the last quarter of 1969 is the arrival of a copy of the 1970 Old Farmer's Almanac, the 17th consecutive issue of this annual periodical.

The Almanac is published new by Robb Sagendorph at the Almanac Publishing Offices on the village square in Dublin, N. H.

Originally published strictly as a farmer's calendar, the Old Farmer's Almanac gradually expanded to include little moral and prudential observations.

And some of the early-day language may appear quite modern today, such as: "Either the body or the mind must be engaged in honest industry; for idleness is like grog — take nothing else and — 'you're gone man.' " That appeared in the issue of 1819.

In a list of "quotable historical notes" mailed out by Sagendorph, attention is called to the fact that the Almanac has carried only four portraits in its long history. They include those of Robert Thomas, Carroll Swan, Calvin Coolidge and Benjamin Franklin.

Of course one of the major features associated with almanacs is the art of weather forecasting. The coming winter, according to the newest issue of the Old Farmer's Almanac, will be "atrocious, fickle, unpredictable."

"You'll freeze one day — and bake the next," is the outlook.

Sagendorph sent a copy of his Almanac to Thomas Thornton Hart, the erudite sports editor of the Big Spring Herald.

A Houston newspaper recently took note of Hart's enthusiasm for the Houston Astros, the lone major league baseball team in Texas. Hart already had a headline set for use next year proclaiming the Astros winners of the world series. But somebody at Houston looked at the calendar, prompting this follow-up article in the Houston paper:

"Earlier this week there was a piece here about the headline that Tommy Hart, sports editor of the Big Spring Herald, has already had set into type and waiting on his paper's 'hold' bank for use next year.

"The date on it was "Wed., Oct. 15, 1970," and the big-type headline said, "Houston Astros Win World Series Title."

"But (for more reasons than one) Hart may never get to use that headline. Unlike Hart, Ken Ford of Alvin checked the 1970 calendar and found that Oct. 15, 1970, comes on Thursday, not Wednesday. So, the headline, with the date Hart used, is a never-never.

"That (sob) is the sort of thing that always seems to be happening to the Astros."

TORNADO HITS AT ANDREWS

Laurie's Threat Lessens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the mighty winds of hurricane Laurie veered away from the Texas coast today, a tornado accompanied by heavy downpours snapped utility poles at Andrews in West Texas.

An estimated four inches of rain drenched Andrews during the pre-dawn turbulence. Golf-ball size hail battered roofs and gusty winds scattered tree limbs.

Although Laurie continued to shift northeast toward the mouth of the Mississippi River, a hurricane watch remained in effect from Galveston to Apalachicola, Fla.

* * *

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Weather Bureau issued this 11 a.m. advisory on Hurricane Laurie:

Hurricane Laurie moving very slowly.

Gale warnings are in effect at the mouth of the Mississippi from Galveston to Apalachicola, Fla. All interests along the northern Gulf Coast should be prepared to take precautions.

Gales are now occurring just off southeast Louisiana near the mouth of the Mississippi River.

At 11 a.m. (CDT), the center of Hurricane Laurie was near Latitude 26.7N, Longitude 89.8W or about 230 miles south of New Orleans. Laurie was moving toward the east about 5 m.p.h. The movement will be [illegible] erratic [illegible] conditions becoming more favorable for eastward movement tonight and Wednesday.

Highest winds are estimated 110 m.p.h. near the center and hurricane force winds extend out 50 miles from the center and gales extend out 160 miles north and east of the center and 50 miles southwest of the center.

Small craft along the northern Gulf coast should remain in port.

The threat to the northern Gulf coast appears to be lessening. However the watch should not be relaxed until a more definite pattern of movement for Laurie is established.

* * *

Laurie's turbulence pushed clouds inland over Texas, triggering showers in the southeast portion. Rains washed Houston's Intercontinental Airport.

Most shower activity occurred along a cold front that extended from El Paso to San Angelo and Shreveport, La. Thundershowers dumped .11 inches on Midland and .04 on El Paso.

Other showers dotted areas in the vicinity of Lubbock and Amarillo.

The Weather Bureau warned that the hurricane watch along the Gulf coast should not be relaxed until the path of Laurie became more definite.

The hurricane pushed tides as much as two feet above normal along the Texas coast.

Andrews patrolman Herman Williams said rain fell in torrents as the twister disrupted telephone and utility service in several sections of the city.

Williams said he saw the tornado touch ground just northeast of Andrews. The accompanying water spilled into businesses and covered streets from curb to curb.

The Andrews tornado dipped down five miles north of town, hitting near the Wentworth Manufacturing Co. and downing eight power poles. It lifted and then hit again, turning over a trailer house but injuring no one.

Levelland Moving Out Of District

District 3-AAA of the University Interscholastic League will have eight members next year following the departure of Levelland to District 1-AAA.

Dinis Contradicts Autopsy Statement

By JAMES V. LAMB
Associated Press Writer

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis took the witness stand today to contradict earlier testimony by an associate medical examiner who said Dinis had told him he did not think an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne was necessary.

Dinis said he had first sought an autopsy on July 20, one day after the young woman's body was recovered from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's automobile in a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island.

By that time, Dinis said, Miss Kopechne's body already had been flown to Pennsylvania for burial in nearby Larksville.

Dinis testified before Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court in the second day of a hearing on Dinis' petition to have the body of the 28-year-old secretary exhumed for an autopsy.

He says an autopsy is vital to an inquest he has scheduled into her death.

Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner for Dukes County, Mass., testified Monday about a telephone conversation he had with Dinis "on Thursday, July 24 or thereabouts."

Mills quoted Dinis as saying:

"Mills, you're quite sure of your diagnosis of death by drowning?"

"My answer was, 'I certainly am,' " Mills said.

"Then Dinis said 'I don't think an autopsy is necessary, do you?' and I answered 'No I don't,' " Mills testified.

Dinis today denied he had discussed the advisability of an autopsy with Mills. He said he only discussed whether or not the physician was satisfied with his findings.

After testifying, Dinis asked the judge to take "judicial notice of two statements made by Sen. Kennedy"—one handwritten, made to the police after the accident, and the other a week later over nationwide television.

"You all know that the court doesn't take judicial notice of statements made by anyone, directly or indirectly concerned in a case in court," Brominsky said.

He denied the request for admission of the police statement but took under advisement the offer for admission of the television address.

Dr. Cyril H. Wecht, a Pittsburgh pathologist, concluded Denis' presentation by supporting testimony Monday by two other pathologists Wecht said an external examination is inconclusive to determine all possible injuries.

State Board Gives Okay

It's strictly up to us now.

That sums up the status of Scurry County's effort to obtain a public junior college following approval Monday by the State Coordinating Board of Colleges and Universities.

The coordinating board approval means that qualified voters of the county may vote on whether to create a county-wide junior college district and to make the necessary provisions for establishing and operating the college.

The coordinating board approved the application unanimously following a report from its own committee which held a hearing Oct. 8 in the Snyder High School Auditorium. Following the committee report, which he made, Harry Provence made a motion that the Scurry County application be approved. The motion drew a second by Walter Bassano, the other board member who attended the hearing in Snyder.

A single question was asked when one of the board members inquired whether the college here would be purely academic, purely vocational or a combination of both. He was told that plans are for any junior college in Scurry County to provide educational opportunities in both the academic and vocational areas. The vote then was unanimous in favor of the application.

Scurry County Commissioners this morning indicated that they would issue the call for the election at their meeting next Monday, Oct. 27. However, the commissioners did authorize this morning the First Southwest Co. of Dallas to furnish election materials for the junior college balloting.

The latest Scurry County Junior College application developed after the state legislature changed the criteria for establishing two-year public colleges, putting Scurry County well above the minimum requirements in all categories. Petitions were forwarded to the coordinating board in September and the public hearing followed on Oct. 8 to set the stage for the final action Monday.

Efforts will turn new toward getting out the vote for the election.

Voters must cast ballots on the proposal to create the college district, to name a board of trustees, establish a maximum tax rate and to provide resources for putting the college into operation. All of the issues must gain the approval of qualified voters before a college can begin functioning here.

Buford Browning, chairman of the local steering committee organized through the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, headed a Scurry County delegation of 21 persons who attended the coordinating board's session Monday.

Present from Scurry County were Snyder Mayor Bobby McCormick, Chamber of Commerce President Shelby Coker; Chamber Manager Mickey Nunley; City Manager George Patterson; State Rep. Renal B. Rosson; County Commissioner Thayne Mebane; Joe Sentell, Bill Jones, Frank Taylor, Doug McGlaun, R. C. Patton, Bentley Baize, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Feather, Wilson Bright, Lester Victor, Mel Gilbert and Johnny Starnes.

The application this year was Scurry County's fifth effort to obtain a junior college, but the first ever to attain approval at Austin.

Actually it is the county's sixth try at a college, dating back to 1923 when a bid was made for what is now Texas Tech University.

The first application for a junior college came in 1957, and it was rejected emphatically. Other efforts were made in 1963, 1965, 1966 and finally in 1969.

The closest a Scurry County junior college application came to success prior to this year was in 1965 when the State Board of Education rejected the request by a vote of 11-9.

Subsequently, the authority for taking action on all college matters was assigned to the State Coordinating Board for Colleges and Universities, the body which yesterday gave its unanimous approval to the Scurry County application.

Cosmonauts Cancel Cape Visit

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts canceled a visit the Statue of Liberty and the Empire State Building today deciding to leave for the Manned Space Flight Center in Houston, Tex.

Col. Frank Borman, the American astronaut accompanying the cosmonauts on their two-week visit here, said the Russian spacemen canceled the visits to make time for a banquet in Los Angeles Thursday night.

The Soviets surprised their American hosts Monday by announcing they could not make their scheduled stop at Cape Kennedy, Fla., where America launches its space flights.

They gave no explanation for that cancellation, but some Americans traveling with the party speculated that Moscow feared that if the two visited the Cape, then Washington might request that American astronauts be allowed to visit the Soviet secret take-off center at Baikonur in cenral Asia.

UF Drive Reports Due

The Scurry County United Fund Campaign has reached a total of $22,041.24 in cash and pledges this morning.

The campaign is seeking a total of $40,638 to support the operations of nine participating agencies.

A general report session has been scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday at the campaign headquarters at the city hall. All workers and campaign leaders have been urged to make reports of progress on their respective assignments at that time.

The last general report session, held a week ago, resulted in the biggest gain of the campaign so far and campaign leaders are hoping for another big boost tomorrow.

Somalia Seized By Military Coup

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — A military coup overthrew Somalia's elected government early today less than 24 hours after the funeral of assassinated President Abdirashid Ali Shermarke.

The self-styled Revolutionary Council said in a broadcast: "The revolution was staged to save Somalia from the corrupt malpractices of the ruling classes."

The council said it will "abolish all the bad things left behind. Somalia will be led by responsible people, and tribalism will be abolished."

The council announced that the country had been sealed off from the outside world and that airports and seaports were closed. Some 400 Americans live in this sun-baked coastal city and in other parts of Somalia.

Troops in full force took control before dawn amid an unusually heavy rain.

There was no official word on the whereabouts of Prime Minister Mohamed Ibrahim Egal, but his beachfront house was under military guard.

He was criticized this week by local newspapers which accused him of selling public lands at drastically reduced prices to political friends.

No shooting or violence was reported by persons walking about the city.

Shermarke was assassinated by a member of his police guard during a tour last week of drought areas in northern Somalia. The country had been calm following the assassination, apparently because Shermarke and the alleged killer were from the same clan.

Shermarke, who was elected in June 1967, was given a state funeral in Mogadishu Monday. The parliament had been expected to elect his successor within a month, and acting President Muktar Mohamed Hussein was among the leading candidates.

Hussein moved into the acting presidency from the presidency of the national assembly.

Your United Fund Depends On You

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our family is divided on something and we'd like your opinion. Our father and mother were married for 32 years. Eight months ago, Mother died after a lingering illness and Dad was so broken up over it we thought we were going to have to bury him, too.

After six months Dad's grief miraculously vanished when on a vacation to recuperate he met a woman slightly younger than Mother. You guessed it. They are planning to be married soon. Some feel that out of respect to Mother, Dad should wait a full year to remarry. Others say it's not necessary. What do YOU say, Abby?

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLS.

DEAR NO: Waiting to show "respect" for the deceased is a pretense. The time to show "respect" is while that person is living.

If your father made your mother happy, and gave her a good life, that is all the "respect" any woman wants. If he wasn't a good husband, waiting a year to remarry (or 20 years!) will not show "respect" to a deceased wife. It's too late. She is gone.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Out teen-age daughter's boyfriend recently went into the service. He wrote and asked her to send him a picture of her in a BIKINI, and one in a SHEER SHORTY NIGHTY. He said he wants to put it on a display board!

Our daughter doesn't have any pictures of herself that fit that description yet, but she wrote and told him she would have some taken right away and send them to him.

We disapprove, for frankly we think Christians should not be seen in lustful attire as he has requested. But it seems that she desired to fulfill his every wish rather than abide by our teaching.

Don't you think if this boy really respected her he would not have asked for such pictures? Also, don't you think that if she had proper respect for herself and her parents she would try to forget this boy?

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Since the boy did ask, and your daughter responded in the affirmative, I would say the matter is out of your hands. But you are correct in stating the boy lacks respect for his "girl" and she lacks respect for herself.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I notice that some of your readers object to people referring to "police officers" as "cops."

Why? There is nothing derogatory about it. I am told by a British friend that "COP" is short for "CONSTABLE ON PATROL."

In San Francisco where I grew up we had a beloved Irish cop who settled our baseball disputes and was our friend and Father Confessor. We all called him a "cop" and meant no disrespect. Of course this was a long time ago, as I am a veteran of World War I and II. Best regards,

Chrysler Reports Slump

DETROIT (AP) — An 87 per cent slump in profits for the third quarter of this year has been reported by Chrysler Corp. as the firm struggles to cut its operating costs.

Board Chairman Lynn Townsend and President Virgil E. Boyd told Chrysler stockholders in a letter Monday that profits plunged to $3.8 million, or seven cents per share, from the $29.7 million, or 63 cents a share, for the same period last year.

The profit nosedive was blamed on higher costs of materials, labor, selling and marketing autos, interest rates and costs of product improvements in the new 1970 models.

They said profits totaled $93.2 million, or $1.97 a share, in the first nine months of this year. This was a 47 per cent decline from the record $178.5 million, or $3.83 per share, in the January-September span of 1968.

Townsend and Boyd noted recently announced cutbacks in Chrysler's capital improvement program and orders to lay off a number of the firm's 40,000 white-collar workers.

Chrysler's U.S. passenger car market fell from 18.5 per cent to 17 per cent during the first nine months of 1969 with retail sales of 1,070,053 cars. Last year, retail sales totaled 1,160,328 for the same period.

Police Plan Strategy For Zodiac Killer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A meeting of seven police agencies from an area terrorized by the Zodiac killer has developed a general strategy aimed at identifying and capturing him.

But, says Police Capt. Martin Lee of San Francisco, "I can't say we're any closer to catching him."

Lee told newsmen after the three-hour closed session Monday that he could not reveal the strategy. But he said that "handwriting, ballistics and fingerprint experts linked the same man" to five slayings in the San Francisco Bay area since last Dec. 20.

In another development, Walt Ihle of the San Francisco Crime Laboratory said the best clue may be the gun used to kill four of the victims—a 9 mm pistol of which only 143 have been sold in the past three years in this area. The fifth victim was stabbed.

"It's a gun for killing," he said. "It has a terrible impact quality."

Permit applications for persons who bought such guns are being checked for comparison with handwriting on the Zodiac notes.

Police have said they believe they are dealing with a madman. He has boasted of the slayings in telephone calls to police and notes to newspapers starting, "This is Zodiac speaking." He has written cryptograms which he says give clues to his identity.

In a recent threat, he envisioned "picking off the kiddies as they come bouncing out" of a schoolbus. Up to 70 police units are accompanying school buses as a precaution.

Lee said he thinks the conference gave officers "a stronger and better picture' of the man they're hunting.

The 26 men at the meeting included representatives of the Napa and Solano County sheriffs offices and Vallejo, Napa and San Francisco police as well as the California Highway Patrol and the state Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

Leaders Begin Talks In Moscow Today

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet and Czechoslovak leaders today began talks in the Kremlin that Prague said would lead to a declaration of "basic political importance."

Czechoslovak Communist party first secretary Gustav Husak, Premier Oldrich Cernik and President Ludvik Svoboda arrived Monday for a nine-day visit. Today they settled down to formal talks with Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

A brief official announcement gave no indication of the subjects being discussed, but observers here believe one result will be a large loan to shore up the Czechosloavak economy.

Park Names 6 Ministers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park today named six new Cabinet Ministers, a new chief of the secret police and a chief presidential secretary but kept Premier Chung Il Kwon and other Cabinet members in office.

Chung and the Cabinet resigned Monday to give Park a free hand in reorganizing the government after the 2-to-1 adoption last week of a constitutional amendment permitting the president to run for a third term in 1971.

Park appointed former Gen. Kim Ke-won to head the powerful Central Intelligence Agency, the secret police. The president named Kim Chung-yum, who has been commerce and industry minister, to be his chief secretary.

Park named new ministers of finance, commerce and industry, transportation, communications, public health and social affairs, and cabinet administration.

Man Questioned About Missing Couple

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Mexican police questioned a 25-year-old American, Phillip Lee Sumarkoss, today about a missing Laredo, Tex., couple, Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Florez Aguilar.

Sumarkoss already had been charged with murder in the slaying of Bruno C. "Tony" Lanza, 79, a retired San Diego, Calif., sheriff's deputy.

A misunderstanding Monday led relatives of the missing Laredo couple to believe they had been found dead on a Mexican ranch.

But Guadalupe Loera, Aguilar's brother-in-law, telephoned from Mexico early today to say that the Aguilars had not been found at that time and he was continuing the search.

Police Chief Filiberto Estrada Silva said Monday that Sumarkoss, also known as John Hunter, was charged Monday with Lanza's slaying.

Sumarkoss and Elsa Nevew Bar[illegible], 19, were arrested Wed[illegible] at a Tijuana motel. [illegible]ified as one owned [illegible] was found there. [illegible] couple had not [illegible]aredo as expected [illegible]cation.

[illegible]ing Caught By Fisherman

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Instead of a marlin trophy on the wall, Lee Floyd caught a painting to fill the space.

Floyd and his wife were marlin fishing in their boat 45 miles west of Point Loma when he said they found the 2-by-4-foot painting floating in the water.

"I was sure it would fall apart when I brought it aboard but it was in real good shape, not even water soaked," Floyd said. "It shows boats on canals in Venice and the artist's signature is Bianco.

"My wife Frances and I are wondering where it could have come from," said Floyd, an electrical engineer who lives in Imperial Beach.

Japanese Protest War With Rallies

TOKYO (AP) — An estimated 500,000 Japanese leftists staged rowdy demonstrations against the Vietnam war throughout the country today. The most serious clashes occurred in Tokyo, where 480 persons were arrested and 20 policemen were injured.

Young leftists also made abortive attempts to set off explosions at two American bases near Tokyo. But most of the radical students used Molotov cocktails against the police.

More than 75,000 policemen had been mobilized, 25,000 of them in Tokyo. Shops and offices closed early, shop windows were boarded up or shuttered, and millions hurried to get home before the turnout for the International Antiwar Day a four-year-old observance which has never caught on outside Japan.

The big Shinjuku railway station just outside Tokyo was a main target of students who hurled fire bombs and rocks at the buildings and police. Trains in and out of the station were canceled.

The station was the scene of violent attacks during the demonstration a year ago, and the demonstrators caused an estimated $1 million damage.

Reports from Okinawa said an estimated 50,000 persons took part in rallies on the island and others of the Ryukyu chain. About 15,000 demonstrators gathered in Naha to demand the immediate return of Okinawa and the scrapping of the U.S.-Japan security treaty, newsmen said.

While the militant students were fighting the police, the three opposition parties held orderly rallies attended by many thousands.

At the U.S. Air Force's Tachikawa base 30 miles west of Tokyo, 24-year-old Shinji Kato drove past the guards in a rented car containing explosives. He was arrested at the west side of the runway, and in the car was a paper on which was written, "Will explode runway at cost of life."

[illegible] (AP) — Dallas bus fares were raised today from 25 to 30 cents for adults and from 10 to 12½ cents for students.

The city-owned Dallas Transit Co. said the increased fares will bring $931,818, short of the projected deficit of $1,170,430. However, DTS officials said city growth will fill the remaining deficit.

Pressure Put On Aerosol Can Firms

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — The special assistant to the President for consumer affairs put the pressure on aerosol manufacturers today to put more information on their cans —including instructions on what to do if the container is punctured.

Mrs. Virginia H. Knauer told the Second Annual Aerosol Marketing Conference that recently she heard from a consumer who was injured when she dropped and punctured a can of deodorant spray.

"She wrote that the can carried warnings about what one should never do," Mrs. Knauer said. "But there was nothing about what to do if one of the 'nevers' happened. And there was no list of ingredients that might have suggested an antidote."

Mrs. Knauer recalled that during the summer the National Commission on Product Safety heard stories of exploding bottles and cans causing serious eye injuries.

A French Journalist Explains

THE FRENCH: Portrait of a People. By Sanche de Gramont.

How did the Frencn get that way? Why did de Gaulle act the way he did? What can we expect of his successors?

Some answers are given in this 470-page work by a French journalist, who has worked in the United States and does not judge everything by French standards. The author may be guilty of some inaccuracies, or of jumping to conclusions, but he shows, as few others have done, what impells Frenchmen to act as they do.

To understand the French it is necessary to survey the historical scene. Thus, De Gramont writes:

"There are few parts of the world that France has not at some point owned: Canada, three-quarters of the United States, the Caribbean, Brazil, [illegible] Africa, the Middle East under the Crusades, Madagascar, Egypt under Napolean, [illegible] parts of Africa and other countries. By "lightness" of Southeast Asia."

All these were lost, but the Frenchmen still considers his nation a world leader, and thinks his language is the one the world depends on for communication. He is wrong on both scores.

His system of education is designed for the privileged. His government is overburdened with bureaucracy, and the tax system is hardly equitable.

His opinions are predigested, because the government both operates the broadcast media, and has shown many times that it is unhappy about criticism.

The older generation dreams of military glories, even while suffering from the losses of two World Wars. In the first, French manpower was decimated. In the second, France suffered from Nazi cruelty, and then had to watch helplessly while neighboring Germany became the leading power in Europe.

De Gramont finds France to be a mixed-up nation, but a nation which at least has a feeling of lightness, instead of the heaviness that prevails in some other countries. By "lightness" he mean such things as "a sauce without flour, a dress that is elegant because it is without superfluities; the ability of an employer to rebuke a subordinate without offending him, politeness without obsequiousness, irony disguised as flattery. . ."

These are things the tourist may never see. Perhaps you have to be a Frenchman to really know France.

US Businessmen Adjust To Changing Conditions Fast

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The speed with which American business can adjust to changing conditions, the power of its positive thinking, the ingenuity of its marketing men should never again be doubted. Almost anything is possible.

Within hours after the government announced that the artificial sweeteners called cyclamates would be withdrawn from the general market, the multi-million dollar diet drink industry raced to comply.

Amazing when you consider that cyclamates in diet drinks were felt to be what cocoa is in a chocolate bar: an essential ingredient without which there wouldn't be a product.

The availability of cyclamates was perhaps the main reason for the development of this relatively new industry.

In the 1960s the diet drink industry became one of the fastest growing in America. Diabetics and sufferers of high blood pressure felt they could drink them without fear. And calorie conscious drinkers found the absence of sugar much to their liking.

After the government announced its ban Saturday, because tests showed massive doses had caused cancer in rats, there was immediate speculation that some of the best known brand names in America might disappear.

How wrong! Within hours it was known that the impact would not be a death blow because new formulas already were prepared. And almost as quickly it was realized that to some in the industry here was a golden opportunity.

In marketing soap or cereal or soft drinks it is always useful to have something interesting on the label. "Ten cents off" is a common gimmick, but its a costly one too. "New" may be more effective and less costly.

The trouble with "new" is that people have become too used to it. "New" can mean very little indeed, perhaps just a new bottle or a label. It's very difficult to come up with something really new.

Now that they have something really new to work with—revolutionarily new, in fact—the advertising and marketing men are almost breathless, although as usual, not wordless.

Almost as fast as advertisements can be prepared, at least one major soft drink manufacturer announced a brand new package with a great big "NEW." And what was new about it? For one thing, it will have none of those suspect chemicals called cyclamates.

But there are, apparently more major advances. The new drink will be better tasting, of course. And, remarkably, it will contain an ingredient called "real sugar," the same kind that was removed from conventional soft drinks to create the diet drink industry.

The speed with which all this is taking place is an obvious contrast to the fight between the federal government and the cigarette indusry. The evidence against cyclamates, quantitatively, is a fraction of that against cigarettes.

The real story is that government is powerful in the area of food additives, the result of an amendment in 1958 to the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, giving it almost dictatorial rights.

This same power does not exist in regard to cigarettes. And, as the cigarette industry continues to claim, the evidence against cigarettes is not as conclusive as critics make it. And so that fight goes on.

Junior Editors Quiz on STILTS

QUESTION: Why were stilts invented?

* * *

ANSWER: The stilt principle, that of walking on very long legs or extensions of them, is well worked out in nature, in the bird which is called a stilt (1). This handsome, sandpiper-like creature is found in the Gulf states and southern California, using its extremely long legs to step through the shallows as it probes with its bill for small water insects and other kinds of food. The first use of stilts as wooden poles with footrests, on which humans could walk, seems to have been in the city of Namur, Belgium, during the times when the Meuse and Sambre rivers were flooding the city in rainy periods. Gradually, European people became expert at stilt walking. French farmers still use stilts to cross streams and marshes. As stilt walking became a sport, experts appeared who could run and dance. Stilts spread to America, used by clowns in circuses, by comedians on the stage, and to carry striking advertising signs. But it was the children who loved stilts best and still do. The adult experts often fasten their stilts to their legs so the hands can be free, but children hold the poles so they can jump down easily. A variation is simple stilts made from empty tin cans. Some fasten these to the feet; others have lines coming from them which the children hold tight as they walk.

Pearls Are Girls Best Friend Now

By JOY SHELLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Give a woman enough rope and she'll wear it— if it's made out of pearls.

Last year the gals joined a chain gang, clanking stylishly though heavily along in linked necklaces, bracelets, belts, suspenders and other metallic adornments.

This year the oyster is their world, and pearls are a girl's best friend.

But those oysters would cluck their bivalves in disbelief at what has been wrought in their name: everything from seed pearls up to near ping pong-ball size, and colors to mother mollusk would admit to having produced.

The modern miss has come a long way since her only choice in pearls was among one strand, two or three. Now she can decorate her whole body with them, from her luminous headband to the cuffs of her harem pants.

In between these points she can wear pearl garments ranging from bibs, bras and boleros to tunics and trousers. The lustrous spheres that once adorned only ears, neck, wrist and fingers have migrated to strange new locations, such as the chunky circlets for the upper arms and rings chummily joined to bracelets by chains.

As for that traditional necklace—my, how it's grown! It no longer merely encircles the neck—it has multiplied from one strong to dozens of varying lengths, it hangs down to the hemline, girdles the waist, loops and drapes to form body jewelry and ties itself into knots a Boy Scout would find hard to duplicate.

Once all this is accomplished, if there's any extra skin space around, the jewel-conscious girl will find something for that area too. Fortunately, she's got 10 fingers, at least eight of which can be outfitted with a ring. This tends to present a few problems, not the least of which are putting on gloves and shaking hands without a bit of discomfort to both the shaker and the shakee.

Although she has rings on her fingers, so far fashion has dictated that she have bells on her toes. There is, however, a toe-ring and leg bracelet, presumably for indoor wear only. This somewhat startling ornament is an ankle bracelet attached by chains over the instep to a jeweled ring on the big toe.

Garbage Increasing Property Values

ROLLING HILLS ESTATES, Calif. (AP) — Garbage is increasing property values in this increasingly less pastoral Los Angeles suburb.

Alarmed as development used up open space where children had played and ridden their ponies, citizens of this community of 75,000 houses sought ways to make the best use of the remaining land.

So they recently signed an agreement under which Disposal Gardens Co. will fill a horseshoe-shaped canyon with 100,000 cubic yards of household rubbish and industrial wastes.

The company will cover each day's accumulation with dirt and spray it with pesticides.

When the canyon becomes usable flatland, real estate experts say, nearby lots will rise $10,000 to $15,000 each in value.

AL Prexy Meets Pilots

CHICAGO (AP) — President Joe Cronin and a group of American League owners met with representatives of the Seattle Pilots Monday and put down any possibility of a franchise move.

Rumors that the Seattle franchise would be moved to Milwaukee or Dallas - Fort Worth were cut down by Cronin and visiting league owners.

The session was informal and requested by Seattle interests who apparently feared reprisal over the fact the Pilots drew only 680,000 in their initial year.

Although a scheduled joint meeting of the American and National leagues is on tap Tuesday, Cronin said the American League had no plans for a separate meeting which would involve any shift of the Seattle franchise.

"Why they asked for this meeting, I don't know," said Cronin in reference to the Seattle delegation request for a meeting with the league. "We are concerned about some things in Seattle but nothing that can't be worked out."

The league set an Oct. 30 deadline for Seattle on three items, Lenny Anderson, Seattle Post-Intelligencer baseball writer, said.

Tech Freshmen Rip Rebels

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Andy Lowe ran for two touchdowns and Ed Lee Renfro rushed for 96 yards to lead the Texas Tech freshmen to a 31-14 football victory over the University of Texas at Arlington Monday night.

Lowe's touchdowns were for one and five yards in the second quarter and gave Tech a 14-0 halftime bulge.

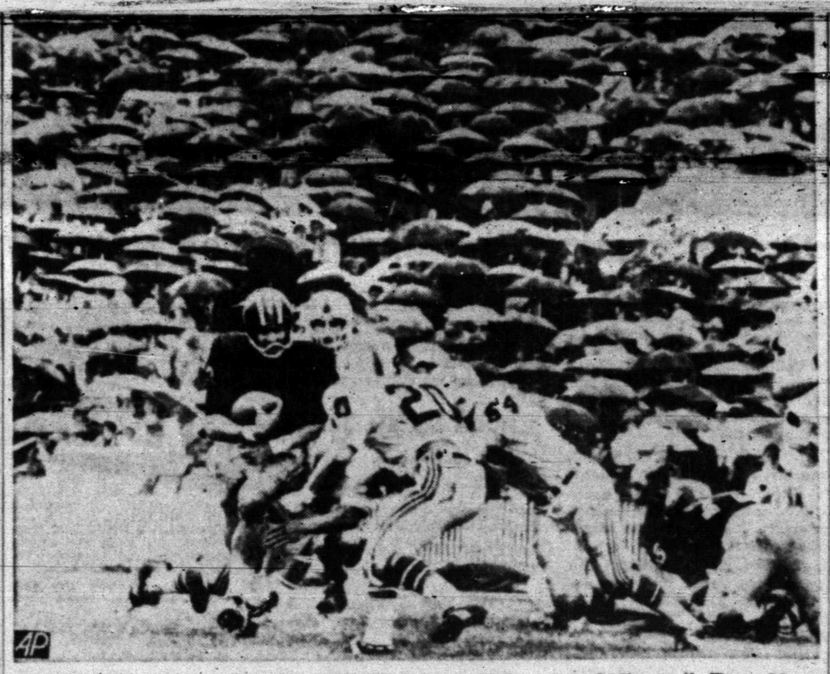

UT-Arlington scored on a one-yard pass from Tomy Wilson to Kent Hibbitt in the third quarter before Tech cut it out of reach on a six-yard TD run by Benny Akin and a 35-yard field goal by Dickie Ingram.

Each team traded scores in the fourth quarter. UT-Arlington quarterback Lanny Fleming ran over from the one and Andrew Gonda caught a 32 yard pass from Jack Frampton for Tech's final points.

Tech now is 1-1 and UT-Arlington is 0-2.

STOUT SOPH — Albert Hernandez, 210-pound sophomore, is one of the big reasons why Snyder's Tigers are tough on defense this season. He is an alternate starter with the "front four" on defense. Albert sustained an ankle injury at Brownfield last Friday but Begal coaches are hoping he will be ready for at least limited duty against Littlefield here Friday night.

FOOTBALL AND A SEA OF UMBRELLAS — University of Missouri's Terry McMillan (18) goes around right end for a gain of 6 yards on a quarterback keeper play during first period action against Oklahoma State. Tennessee Waltzes Past Hogs In Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tennessee waltz past Alabama has put the Volunteers in third place on the major college football hit parade.

Tennessee drubbed Alabama 41-14 last Saturday and jumped from seventh to third in The Associated Press poll released Monday.

Ohio State, 34-7 winner over Minnesota, remained in first place with 27 first-place votes and 666 points. Texas, idle last Saturday, was second with five first-place ballots and 612 points, while Arkansas, also idle, remained fourth with 417 points, 18 points less than Tennessee.

Southern California, third last week, dropped to seventh after a 14-14 tie with Notre Dame which fell from 11th to 12th.

The poll of sports writers and broadcasters saw Penn State, fifth last week, drop from fifth to eighth after edging Syracuse 15-14. However, the Nittany Lions did get one first-place vote.

Missouri advanced from sixth to fifth and UCLA jumped two places to sixth. Louisiana State and Florida stayed 9th and 10th respectively.

None of the Top Ten has been beaten. Oklahoma heads the second 10, followed by Notre Dame, Georgia, Auburn, Purdue, Wyoming, Mississippi, Kansas State, Stanford and Air Force. Kansas and Air Force are newcomers to the rankings.

Dropped from the list were Michigan, 13th last week, and Alabama, who was 20th.

The top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points for the first 15 picks on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-etc. basis:

1.	Ohio State (27)	666
2.	Texas (5)	612
3.	Tennessee (1)	435
4.	Arkansas	417
5.	Missouri	355
6.	UCLA	341
7.	Southern California	297
8.	Penn State (1)	294
9.	Louisiana State	226
10.	Florida	222
11.	Oklahoma	152
12.	Notre Dame	126
13.	Georgia	102
14.	Auburn	67
15.	Purdue	47
16.	Wyoming	46
17.	Mississippi	31
18.	Kansas State	29
19.	Stanford	23
20.	Air Force	4

In 1964 the St. Louis Cardinals went into the month of September 7½ games back of first place. Yet they roared to the National League pennant and a World Series victory over the New York Yankees.

Jasper Falls In AAA

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No major shakeup was foreseen today in the Dallas Morning News schoolboy football poll after most ranked teams survived a wild weekend of offense.

Austin Reagan, Houston Elmore, Lufkin Dunbar and White Oak - all top ranked in their divisions - won big [illegible] contests.

Reagan - seeking its third straight class AAAA title - won its 35th straight 31-7 over Austin Crockett. Dunbar, the AAA leader downed Corrigan 49-7 and White Oak, Class AA's No. 1 team, blanked Arp 13-0. Class AAA king pin Houston Elmore needed all of its points to defeat Houston Cypress Fairbanks 54-51.

All the top ten teams in Class AAAA escaped defeat and only No. 9 Jasper was defeated from the top ten list in Class AAA. In Class AA, No. 6 Reagan County lost to Kermit 33-27 and No. 9 rated Ballinger went down to Hamlin 27-7.

Nats Leader Is Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—The ragamuffin cast was virtually the same, but Washington's Senators produced an astonishing about-face last season thanks to the personal magnetism and knowledge of the game that made Ted Williams baseball's last .400 hitter.

The freshman manager, who readily admitted he was uneasy about bossing a club despite a million-dollar contract, took a collection of ball players that finished dead last the season before and guided them to their first winning season in 17 years.

And, for that bit of masterminding, Williams has been named The Associated Press' American League manager of the year in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Jets Down Oilers 26-17

NEW YORK (AP) — When Don Maynard shows American Football League pass defenders the No. 13 on the back of his New York Jets' jersey, they're usually out of luck.

Maynard, a slick speedster in his 12th pro season, gave Houston's Miller Farr and Ken Houston the back of his shirt Monday night as the Jets downed the Oilers 26-17 to grab first place in the AFL East.

Joe Namath fired touchdown strikes of 57 and 54 yards to Maynard and Jim Turner kicked four field goals as the Jets won their home opener before a roaring Shea Stadium crowd of 63,841—largest in AFL history.

Maynard streaked past Farr with 6½ minutes remaining in the second quarter and took Namath's floater in for a 10-7 New York lead.

Brodie's Elbow Pains Dick Nolan

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "How come," San Francisco 49er quarterback John Brodie once asked, "they say Joe Namath has a 'quick release,' but they say I 'unload?'"

Brodie can't unload anymore, and today the winless 49ers went shopping for another quarterback.

The 34-year-old passer, awaiting results of X-rays on his "dead right elbow," isn't "definitely counted out," 49er Coach Dick Nolan said Monday night.

"We have to get another quarterback somewhere along the line," Nolan said.

Asked if he knew of any that were available, Nolan replied, "Yes, for a big price."

The coach said third - year quarterback Steve Spurrier from Florida will be depended upon Sunday against Baltimore and that the 49ers would begin work today "to fit the offense around him."

Brodie, a 13 - year veteran from Stanford, was soundly booed Sunday by a small home crowd of 28,684 as the 49ers fell to Atlanta, 28-0. The 49ers are now 0-4-1 in National Football League play after an 0-6 exhibition season.

Brodie completed 19 of 31 passes for 159 yards, but said "most of the completions were on dinky passes."

"There's no strength in my arm, my elbow is dead," Brodie added. "I guess I've just thrown too many passes.

"I was throwing 'waffle' balls. Throwing a football is all touch. I had no feel, I had nothing, absolutely nothing on the ball. The team can't win with me throwing like that," said Brodie.

"It's not a steady pain, but comes and goes. We thought he'd shake it off," said team physician Dr. Lloyd Milburn, who explained the trouble was in the muscle on the inside of his right elbow.

"It's a chronic case of pitcher's elbow," the doctor said.

Brodie has been bothered in the past with his right shoulder and apparently the elbow problem developed from that, said Milburn.

Buckeyes: Good But Not The Greatest!

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: Is top-ranked Ohio State unbeatable? No, says Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, one of four to try—and fail— this season.

"But," he adds, "they're going to be a prohibitive favorite in every game. Woody Hayes is in an enviable position. If anyone gets fat-headed as a result of their success last year and this he can sit them down with no appreciable drop in talent.

Ohio State is more mature and is more experienced than a year ago. Not only is just about everybody back from last year, but they've got a lot of fine sophomores, whose primary purpose, I'm sure, is to keep last year's sophomores on their toes.

"They've got greater depth and experience than last year and they don't seem to have lost any incentive."

Best team ever, Duffy?

"I wouldn't say that. They're as versitile as any team I've ever seen on offense, but I don't think they're as good defensively as our Michigan State teams of 1965 and 1966 of the Notre Dame team of 1966."

In those days, Michigan State featured Bubba Smith, George Webster and Jess Phillips on defense while Notre Dame spotlighted Alan Page, Kevin Hardy and Jim Lynch.

This week's grist for the Ohio State mill is Illinois, winless in five games but the last team to beat the Buckeyes. That occurred 18 games ago in 1967 and the score was 17-13. Last week, the Illini barely fell 31-24.

"We won't have a problem of overconfidence," says Hayes. "We've had too many squeakers with Illinois lately."

Back to Daugherty, it's not often someone puts one over on him, but tiny Hillsdale College did just that— and got a record 62-yard field goal out of sophomore Chester Marcol as a result.

When Marcol graduated from Imlay City Mich., High School, his English wasn't the greatest since his family had come over from Poland only a few years earlier.

"We couldn't get him in here because he couldn't pass the English entrance exam and they wouldn't let me give him the test myself," quipped Daugherty.

So Marcol's high school coach, who just happened to be a Hillsdale grad, took him to his alma mater, where Coach Frank "Muddy" Waters started thinking.

"Since he wasn't an American citizen at the time, we let him take English as a foreign language and enrolled him as a foreign student," laughed Waters. "I'm sure Duffy could have done the same thing if he'd thought of it."

Marcol booted his 62-yarder—it cleared the crossbar with room to spare — in Saturday's 20-13 victory over Fairmont, W. Va., State.

Boosters Will Meet Tonight

Members of the Tiger Booster Club were reminded by Eugene Glasscock, club president, to attend the regular weekly meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the high school cafeteria.

Coach Wayne Tyrone will monitor films of last week's triumph at Brownfield and give a scouting report on Littlefield. Other coaches in the school system also will give reports on their teams.

Kermit Man Gets Five-Year Term

FORT WORTH (AP)—George Dickerson of Kermit was assessed a five-year prison term Monday in the 1967 shot-gun slaying of a Kermit supermarket owner.

The sentence was the maximum for murder without malice.

Dickerson, 37, was convicted Saturday of the slaying of C.M. Spruill, shot to death as he sat in his grocery. The jury denied Dickerson's appeal for a probated sentence.

The case was tried here on a change of venue.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q — I've got an opportunity to get a better job, but it will mean moving to another city. If my moving expenses aren't paid by my company, can I deduct them?

A — If you move to take a job with a new employer or are transferred by your present employer, moving expenses are deductible when certain conditions are met. These conditions are the 20-mile distance and 39-week employment requirements. The first requires that your new place of employment be at least 20 miles further away from your old home than your previous job was.

If your old job was eight miles from your old home, your new job would have to be at least 28 miles from that residence, to qualify.

The second requires that you work full time in the new area at least 39 weeks during the 12-month period following your move.

Q — If I itemize, can I deduct the cost of hunting and fishing licenses?

A — No, these are not deductible for Federal income tax purposes.

Q — What's the deadline for paying my maid's Social Security?

A — Taxes for the third quarter covering July, August, and September are due October 31 and should be paid by filing a Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees.

Q — I've been taking a tax deduction for the cost of clearing out the drainage ditches on my farm while my neighbor has been capitalizing his costs for doing the same thing. Who's right?

A — Soil and water conservation costs such as these may either be deducted within limits or capitalized depending on how you decide to handle them the first year. Once this decision is made, continue to handle these expenses that way or obtain the written permission of IRS to change.

Q — When a person dies, what happens if these had been income tax withheld on his salary during the year?

A — An income tax return must be filed for the deceased taxpayer if his gross income for the year was $600 or more ($1,200 if the taxpayer was 65 or over).

The withheld taxes you asked about will be applied against whatever tax liability may exist for the decedent. Any excess will be refunded. For more information send a post card to your District Director and ask for a free copy of Publication 559, Federal Tax Guide for Survivors, Executors and Administrators.

Hereford Assn. Elects Iowa Man

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gene Wiese of Manning, Iowa, was elected president of the American Hereford Association in the annual business meeting held during the American Royal Livestock Show.

Clarence Cross of Colquitt, Ga., was named vice president. Chosen directors were George Schlickau of Haven, Kan., and Alfred Meeks, Taylor, Neb.

Wiese, 40, is a partner with a brother and their father in a Hereford breeding firm. Their herd of about 300 head was established in 1912.

He was a member of an Iowa State University team that won the American Royal intercollegiate livestock judging contest 20 years ago.

Dr. W. T. Berry Jr., executive secretary of the association, told about 1,000 members at the meeting that the industry should go ahead with plans for expansion because the tax outlook was more favorable.

"We are convinced the final tax reform bill will be fair," Berry said. "It will not discourage the legitimate operator, even though it will discourage the short range 'inner and outer.'"

Berry explained the "inner and outer" included the man who gets into the cattle business purely as a tax gimmick.

Graham Invited To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Billy Graham will deliver brief remarks and a benediction Wednesday at a "National Day of Prayer" breakfast at the White House.

President Nixon has invited prayer groups from the House and Senate to attend the breakfast, and a senator will read the scriptures at the observance.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., leads the Senate group and Rep. Howard Pollock, R-Alaska, is leader of the House contingent.

Friends Chip In For Surgery

By MIKE DOAN

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Astrodella, a topless showgirl, isn't supposed to cry—it might slow her recovery from her eye operation.

But when dancers and musicians chipped in to help pay for her surgery, "I just bawled my head off," said the dark-haired dancer, whose real name is Janet Boyd.

Astrodella pops out of a "space capsule" nightly at Howard Hughes' Silver Slipper casino. Then she does an exotic dance and a strip act.

The 22-year-old dancer, a 6-footer with a 38-24-36 figure, makes about $425 per week.

But she ran short of money two months ago paying for a cancer operation for her mother, who died last month.

Then, during a routine visit to a doctor, Janet was told she would lose her sight unless she had surgery within a week.

Both eyes were affected by a hereditary condition, and the trouble was aggravated when she was shaken up in an auto accident last summer.

The operation has been performed, and the dancer expects to regain full vision.

But her health insurance had lapsed; she couldn't work while recuperating, and she faced a bill of about $5,000.

Fellow dancers and showgirls chipped in $160. The orchestra gave her $100.

Entertainers urged friends to send contributions. News columnists and radio and television people passed the word along.

So far there's $500 in the kitty.

Tank Car Fire Out

TROUP, Tex. (AP) — A chemical fire in a tank car that forced the evacuation of 25 persons and the closing of two schools and a church, burned itself out about noon Monday.

Nine cars of a Missouri Pacific train derailed Saturday, starting the fire. It was extinguished but started again Sunday morning when a build-up of pressure reignited ethylene oxide escaping from a pressure valve.

Chemists from Dow Chemical Co. investigated the fire and ordered the evacuation of 125 residents from a quarter - mile around the burning car until the fire burned itself out. They said the chemicals were 10 times as explosive as butane and propane.

The derailment occurred within a half mile of the main street, 200 yards from a bulk gasoline storage facility and 500 yards from butane and propane storage tanks.

TRAFFIC CONTROL CENTER FOR GAS FOR WEST TEXAS — Surrounded by a humming electronic computer wall-size lighted pipeline maps, television data screens, radios, and teletypes, experienced employees of El Paso Natural Gas Company coordinate the flow of natural gas through pipelines of the company's Southern Division serving west Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California. An expansion project completed earlier this year has enabled El Paso Natural to increase its firm deliveries to west Texas, Arizona and New Mexico by 53 million cubic feet of gas per day — in plenty of time for the heating season that begins next month. El Paso Natural supplies natural gas on a wholesale basis to distribution companies for resale.

New Foods May Solve World's Hunger Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) —New cereals packed with protein and fortification of other foods with vitamins and other nutrients are some encouraging possibilities for solving the world's hunger problem, says an Agriculture Department scientist.

"I do not expect a day when man gets his nourishment entirely from a pill," says Dr. George Irving Jr., head of the Agricultural Research Service.

"He shouldn't have to, I doubt that he'd want to, and he may never be able to. But I believe technology will find ways to ensure that people everywhere get enough to eat."

Irving told the Agricultural Research Institute that new foods-some of them substitutes for traditional fare—will play a major role in eliminating malnutrition and famine.

"World protein production, now estimated at about 80 millions tons per year, should be expanded by a fourth just to furnish adequate diets for this planet's present population," Irving said. "Since that population is expected to double within the next 30 years, protein supplies, too, must double."

Production of food calories also must increase, Irving said, but most emphasis has been on protein—the primary body building nutrient. Plants, animals and even insects are being studied as possible protein sources.

Efforts have not been fully exploited. Fish farming in some Southern states, for example, has emerged as a thriving enterprise, Irving said, but yields run only about three tons of fish per acre annually, compared with 200 tons in Japan were "acquaculture" is an established industry.

Fortification of food offers many possibilities. All the important cereal crops—corn, wheat and rice—are deficient in at least one essential amino acid or protein component.

Plant breeders are developing new varieties of these crops but, meanwhile, "We are looking to fortification with synthetic amino acids," Irving said.

An example of what can be done is taking place in India where bakers are fortifying bread with lysine—one of the amino acid building blocks of protein. Irving said that with the addition of only 0.2 per cent lysine each loaf contains one-third more usable protein than unfortified bread.

Another way to enlarge the protein supply in food, Irving said, is by taking fuller advantage of sources such as soybeans. Most of the world's crop is crushed to make meal for animal feed, which is not an efficient method of improving human diets.

"Since animals fed on soybean meal use up more protein than they return in the form of meat," Irving said, "it makes sense to try to get human food directly from the soybean, rather than running it through an animal."

Another nontraditional food source is fermentation, an old process used to make cheese, beer and other items, Irving said.

The petroleum industry abroad and in the United States is pioneering efforts to extract protein from oil and gas may be usable in human foods.

"I have heard that a catch-tag has already been coined for the substance," Irving said. "And all too soon, perhaps, local television announcers will be adjuring us to go down to the local supermarket and ask for it by name: petro-protein."

Allison Is A Booming Success As A Campaigner

Editor's Note: Jimmy Allison never seemed like the political type—more the diplomatic service sort of fellow. But here he is, a booming success as a campaigner—for others—and now a Texan high in the Republican party.

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — James N. Allison Jr. is firmly entrenched now in politics after turning from a career of quite a different nature—newspapering.

Allison is former executive vice president of the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

But he left that field and holds the highest staff position a Texan has achieved in the Republican party.

Allison is a cheerful young man who would have made it great in other fields, such as newspapering or the diplomatic service.

But it was politics for him, and he rose to a top spot by getting other people elected.

As deputy chairman for the Republican National Committee in Washington, Allison is in effect the administrative head of the party, second in command to Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, R-Md., the national GOP chairman.

It was a rapid rise in the uncertain world of politics for the 37-year-old Allison.

Allison left his Midland newspaper post to successfully manage the 1966 congressional campaign of Houston Republican George Bush. He was Bush's administrative assistant in Washington for a time, but then decided to hit the campaign trail again.

This time, Allison took on the job of campaign director for Rep. Ed Gurney of Florida who was seeking a Senate seat against former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins. In the 1968 general election, Gurney, a three-term Republican congressman, won a 56-44 per cent victory over the former Florida governor.

Buoyed by two successful campaigns in two tries, Allison teamed with Harry Treleaven, a former vice president of J. Walter Thompson Co., to form a campaign consultant firm. Allison opened a Houston office and Treleaven had headquarters in New York.

But just three months later, party officials began knocking at Allison's door. In March of this year, he was named transition adviser to the Republican National Committee, and it was rumored that Rep. Morton, President Nixon's choice for national GOP chairman, wanted Allison as his director of party affairs.

A month later, the announcement came that Allison would be moving to Washington as the deputy chairman.

Allison virtually grew up in the newspaper business. His father, James N. Allison Sr., is publisher of the Midland Reporter-Telegram and the Plainview Herald.

Young Allison learned all phases of newspapering from linotype operator to the business office.

In addition to working up to the post of executive vice president of The Reporter-Telegram, he also is president of the Permian Basin Publishing Co. which owns The Reporter in nearby Stanton.

Allison also made his mark as a civic leader in Midland. He was president of both the junior and senior chambers of commerce and headed a successful United Fund campaign in Midland. He was at one time the youngest director of the First National Bank of Midland.

After being named Midland's "Outstanding Young Man" of 1959, he was recognized as one of Texas' Five Outstanding Young Men the next year.

When Allison moved back to Houston, there was much speculation that he would run George Bush's campaign for the Senate in 1970. But when he was named to the National Republican Committee post there was further speculation that this meant Bush would not run.

No so, said Allison. "If anything, the appointment will tend to mean Bush will run. I will now be in a better position to help him."

In his administrative post with the Republican party, Allison says the major goal of the party is to capture a majority in the U.S. Senate in 1970.

"We have the best opportunity in a long time," he said in a recent interview here, pointing out that 34 senators are up for election next year, 25 of them Democrats.

The deputy chairman said further that another major goal of his group will be to build a forceful foundation for President Nixon's re-election in 1972.

"I predict," Allision said, "we soon will be talking about the Republican party in terms of 'the party of Nixon' rather than 'the party of Lincoln.'"

Worker Safety Is Object Of Probe

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been told pockets of 19th-Century-like working conditions in U. S. industry are endangering the safety of working men.

The testimony before congressional committees came on a clutch of bills intended to provide a comprehensive occupational health and safety program for the nation.

Witnesses painted a bleak picture of the situation in some industries:

—An estimated 600 to 1,100 out of a total of 6,000 uranium miners will suffer lung cancer because of exposure to radiation.

—A group of British scientists found 60 workers out of 500 employed by a southern mill suffered byssinosis—caused by breathing cotton dust — which leads to chronic bronchitis and enphysema. The British did the test because they found the disease among their own workers in England who were handling imported American cotton.

Other materials such as asbestos, talc, beryllium, laundry soap enzymes, sugar cane fiber and even moldy silage also were tabbed as among substances that can cause damage to workers if they are not handled with special care.

Other legislative targets are unsafe machines, gauges, pipes — the total job environment.

Estimates showed 14,000 workmen die annually because of job injuries; another two million are disabled for anywhere from a day to life. In the last four years more have died on the job than in Vietnam. And five times more man-days have been lost to accidents than in strikes.

Saftey codes laid down by major industries, the states and insurance companies are patchy, consisting more of recommendations than rules.

Federal legislation covers only selected groups, such as coal miners.

And the congressmen were told there are twice as many game wardens—1,6000— as there are safety inspectors at the state and federal level.

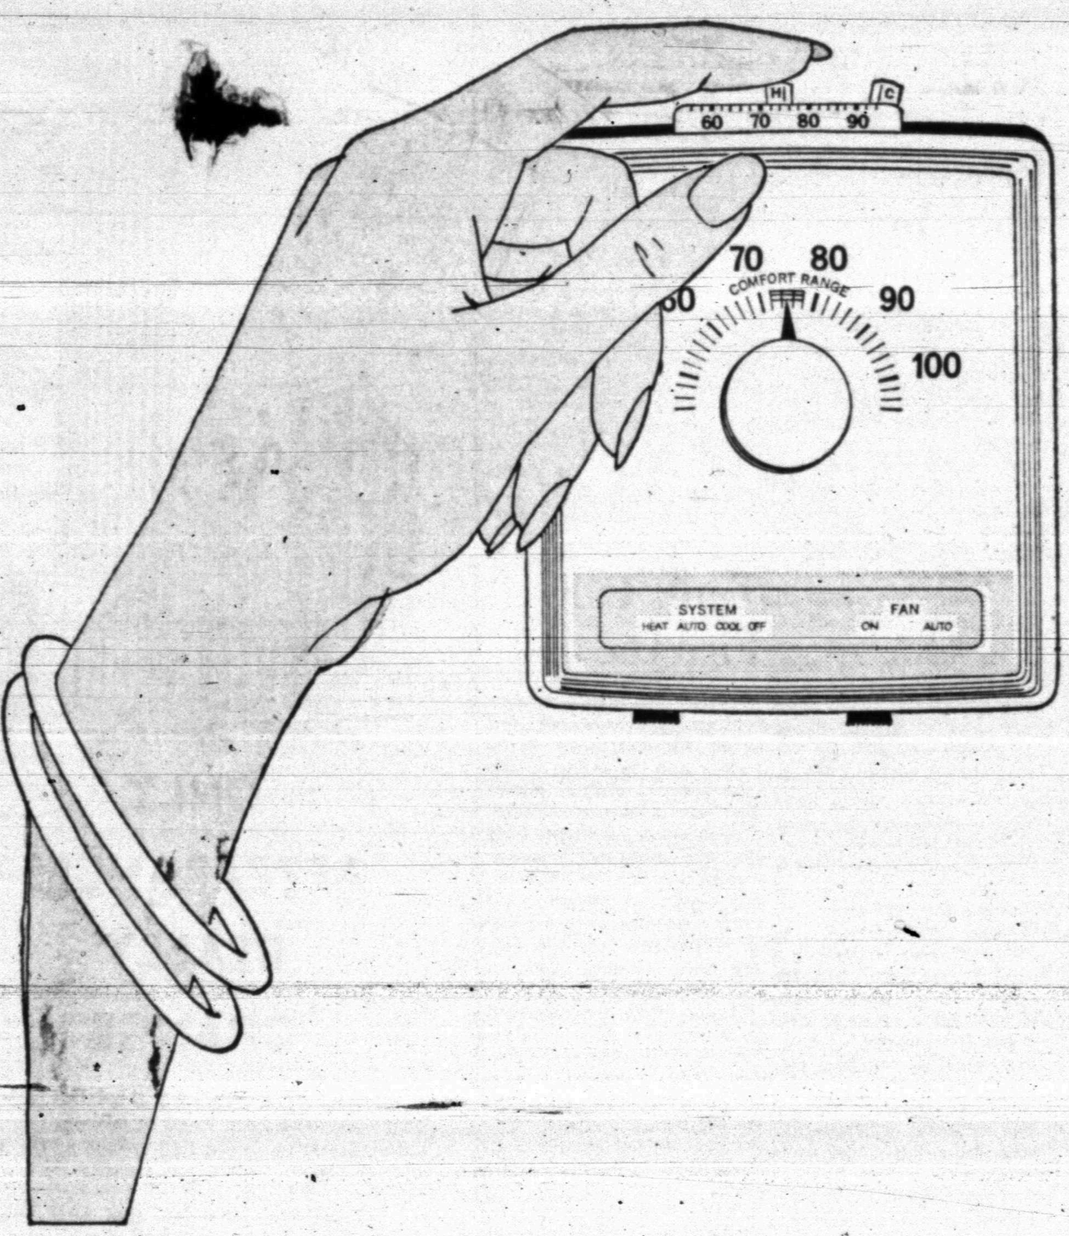

Of the half-dozen bills before Congress, the strongest are the administration proposal favored by business and the measure of Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., backed by labor.

Both measures would encourage a uniform code in the states, prod research into safety problems, and work toward a comprehensive set of statistics. In the latter area, it is thought, much of the danger still is undetected because smaller firms either do not keep figures or do not report them.
