Stone Sought For Building

Interested Parties Here And In Washington Wage Fight In Effort To Have Federal Building Of Stone

Efforts to secure stone construction for the new Federal building, instead of red brick as now specified, are under way here and in Washington by interested persons, including the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Senator Tom Connally and Congressman Marvin Jones are aiding in the project while Republican leaders in Texas have been asked to lend a hand.

Construction contract on the building was approximately $75,000 less than the amount set aside for erection of the building and substitution of brick for stone will cost only about $36,000 more than the present contract price. The government set aside a total of $335,000 for the Federal building, about 10 per cent of which is to be expended for furniture and fixtures.

Proponents of the stone point out that it will blend better with the jail and courthouse and will be generally more pleasing to the eye.

CLASSIFICATION of homes for judging in the annual yard and garden contest, appointment of committees, amounts of prizes and other details regarding the competition in which every home will be entered were announced yesterday by Durwood Bradley, chairman of the contest committee, following a meeting of the steering group at the chamber of commerce office.

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—Dudley B. Mayer, veteran Dallas polo player, was injured fatally when his horse fell with him during a game between the Dallas Blues and the El Ranchito team of Fort Worth here today.

Mayer was injured when his horse "Baby," formerly a race horse, turned a somersault. The horse was said to have had "blistered" forelegs, causing it to be weak on its legs.

Mayer was dead when the ambulance that picked him up reached a hospital. The upper part of his body had been badly crushed.

Old Tack Has Folks Kickin' Over His Rain

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, May 29.—Last Monday night the Tactless Texan, Amarillo News-Globe columnist, and self-styled weather prophet, was over at Panhandle. He made a speech.

"I understand you need rain to save the wheat," he said. "I'll see that you get it."

At that time it was clear and the weatherman said no rain was in sight.

This afternoon I. S. Mullins, president of the Panhandle Chamber of Commerce, called the News-Globe office.

"Is Tack there?" he demanded. "The people here want him to stop this rain. We've had over two inches this afternoon already, and it's still coming down."

Tuesday night Panhandle got a tenth of an inch of rain and Thursday night it rained an inch.

Lockhart Says Call Not Near

Local Representative States Sterling Not Likely To Issue Special Session Call Before June 15

Declaring that, in his opinion, Governor Ross Sterling would probably call the proposed special session of the state legislature for next fall, G. E. Lockhart, member from this district, last night expressed the belief that the call when, and if issued, would not be before June 15.

At the same time Mr. Lockhart, who is engaged in the trial of an important law suit here, added that he would not attend the special session if it was called to meet before the law suit is finished.

OBER GURGL, Austrian Tyrol, May 29.—A slim bespectacled scientist wearing gray suspenders, a white tennis shirt and mixed tweed trousers stood bareheaded under the Tyrolean sun here this afternoon telling a dusty audience of newspapermen what he had found out about the stratosphere on his balloon flight of Wednesday to an altitude of almost ten miles.

Although Auguste Piccard is professor of physics at the University of Brussells, there was little of the professorial in his manner. Questions were met with impatient snorts or with boyish enthusiasm, depending on whether they appealed to him as intelligent.

Sky Deep Blue

"What color was the daytime sky as it appeared to you 50,000 feet up?" was one of the questions.

"It was a deep dark blue," he replied, "but no stars whatever were to be seen."

Another proof that women are seizing all of the gainful occupations formerly open to men was brought to the attention of police last night.

Residents in the vicinity of a suburban grocery, at 405 Avenue R, called police shortly after 9 o'clock and reported that a woman was attempting to break into the store.

When officers reached the grocery the woman had fled.

Knocked In Head

Courtroom Thrown Into Uproar With Action Of Desperado; To Be Taken To Sing Sing Death House Soon

(By The Associated Press)

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 29.—With a sneer 19-year old Francis Crowley today heard a jury convict him of murder in the first degree for the slaying of a Long Island policeman—a verdict which carries the death penalty.

Then as he was about to be led from the courtroom, the 103-pound desperado, handcuffed by one wrist to a deputy sheriff, made a sudden lunge which police interpreted as an attempt to obtain the officer's pistol. The courtroom was thrown into turmoil.

Youth Is Felled

A policeman's fist felled Crowley, officers and court attendants rushed forward and women screamed.

Crowley, on his feet again in a moment soon was the center of a whirling crowd of police. Screaming with rage he battled the officers, was knocked to the floor again, and finally, battered and bruised, was pinned down with several officers upon him.

Had Sought Kiss

Dragged to his feet and surrounded by policemen he was hustled to a side room where he said he merely had made a quick move to kiss his foster-mother, Mrs. Anna Crowley to bid her goodbye.

A mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair will be imposed Monday morning by Judge Lewis J. Smith, who heard the case. Crowley immediately will be taken by

Young Cerf On Witness Stand

Banker's Son Tells Details Of Kidnaping And Subsequent Payment Of $15,000 By His Father For Release

(By Associated Press)

CORSICANA, May 29.—Robert Cerf, kidnaped last December and released in Dallas on payment of a $15,000 ransom, today told the story of the kidnaping at the trial of Currie Caldwell for assault in disguise, one of numerous charges filed against five men for the abduction. A. P. Mays, defense attorney, gave him a close cross examination; but young Cerf made no material change in his testimony.

Cerf said he lived at the home of his father, I. N. Cerf a bank president, and was 25 years old. He said he knew Caldwell, Jimmie Nash, and Oliver Clapp but did not know Hassell. He said he had known Caldwell all his life.

Saw Green Coupe

He testified that he went to town about 8:30 p. m. on December 9, last year. Leaving a confectionery about 11, he started home on foot. He described the route in detail. He saw a green coupe come down the street and was hailed by the driver. Thinking the man was some friend he crossed the street and climbed into the car.

He said the driver kept his face averted. He did not know the man.

Annual Scout Field Day Program To Be Staged At Tech Athletic Field

AWARDS for accomplishments in scouting were conferred upon 45 Lubbock Boy Scouts last night at the monthly court of honor, held in the criminal district court room at the county courthouse. More than 200 scouts and their friends attended.

Following the completion of the court of honor session, D. T. Jennings, scout executive of the South Plains area, outlined plans for the annual scout field day meet, to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Texas Technological college athletic field.

The meet, he said, will be featured by contests in signaling, first aid, knot tying, fire making and other scout activities. The public is invited to attend, he said.

Troop No. 8 maintained its attendance record last night by again winning the attendance banner, making the fifth consecutive time the flag has been won by this troop.

In the absence of George W. Dupree, Dr. J. M. Lewis last night acted as chairman of the court. Other members of the

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE story that thieves recently stole a tombstone from the grave of Lieutenant C. E. F. Lloyds, a World war hero, in Henley, England, cemetery reminds me of a story I heard the other day about people stealing flowers from the cemetery here.

It happened several weeks ago, as a matter of fact, during tulip season but I understand that the thievery isn't limited to one season of the year at all. It seems that plants and blossoms are often picked from the graves after they are placed there.

The woman who was telling me about it said that tulips were stolen last year and again this spring from the grave of her little girl out there and that some geraniums which she had planted were pulled up by the roots. The same thing happened on neighboring lots there, she related.

Why anyone steals flowers from a cemetery is a thing I can't comprehend. No matter how much I loved the beauty of a blossom it seems to me that I would have too much respect for the one who places plants about the graves of a loved one to purloin them. Anyone who goes to a graveyard to steal must have a soul that is dead.

One of this class must be of the type who steals from churches or from beggars.

NEW HEMLINES

EVENING gowns have ceased to brush the floor in even lines, we are told by stylists. The newest dance frocks have adopted hemlines which follow the demand for individuality. All of them have lifted an inch or two. Many are raised several inches in front, while others have slit or transparent hems.

THIS MODERN WOMAN

NO LONGER is it the hand that rocks the cradle that rules the world. You and I don't intend to rock cradles, Nellie Lee Holt, director of religious education at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., told a group of university women on the Nebraska University campus the other day. "Nowadays the hand that strains the spinach juice and oranges has tremendous power," she added.

This reminded me, too, of the statement made recently by Helen Hayes, attractive actress who is in private life the wife of Charles MacArthur. Parenthood ought to be a separate profession, attempted only after thorough and compulsory training, she asserts, saying that she would not think of caring for her 14-months-old daughter without specialized study and that she keeps her under the care of a competent nurse.

All young mothers today cannot afford to hire a competent nurse and one who has specialized in the care of children to care for their babies. But any mother can make a study of child care, as lots of them do.

Miss Holt was right in saying that it is the hand that strains the spinach juice and not the hand that rocks the cradle ruling today.

Today's young mother doesn't rock the cradle. She has learned the convenience of training her child to go to sleep at regular periods without this extra trouble and she has learned the benefit that this is to the child as well as the mother. People have learned that the physical act of bearing a child does not endow a woman with the wisdom necessary to rear the child in the best way. Mother instinct is not dead but it alone will not suffice in giving care to children.

MORE WEIGHTY PROBLEMS

Along about this time of year when it seems that morning comes before midnight and I never catch up on sleep; when half the afternoon is spent fighting a desire to sit still and dream of long roads and pine trees, and the other half is spent indulging in the dreams, I usually find time to wonder how people ever manage to accumulate enough money to retire. Or at least to have a resort home to which they can go for the summer months.

All I want is some get-rich scheme or to fall heir to enough money to provide the necessities of life so I can quit work. And probably when the boss sees this he will fix me all up by granting a permanent vacation. However, I would be around hunting a job again the first time anything interesting happened. Newspaper work is like that.

BLEND ALONE WILL NOT INSURE PERFECT FLAVOR IN COFFEE

If the Blended Coffees Are Not Roasted Evenly, Flavor Varies

In the origination and perfection of Controlled Roasting, Hills Bros. accomplished something that no other coffee roaster has yet achieved. By this patented process, the degree of roast is positively controlled. The result is that Hills Bros. Coffee is absolutely uniform.

The reason for the success of Controlled Roasting is that this process roasts a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk. By a continuous process these small amounts of coffee flow through the roasters in a steady stream, roasting a little at a time. Automatic control of both the flow and the heat absolutely prevents variation in the roast.

Bold as the claim may seem, no other coffee has the flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee. Wherever Hills Bros. Coffee is introduced it quickly becomes the preferred brand.

Hills Bros. Coffee never "goes stale," because it is packed in vacuum. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

California And Stanford With Prelims In I.A.A.A.A.

FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA May 29. (AP)—Qualifying tests in 11 of the 15 events making up the Inter-Collegiate A. A. A. A. championships marked by two record-shattering performances, satisfied a handful of onlookers that the champion Southern California team and Stanford will have the battle for team honors tomorrow, all to themselves.

Led by the rangy and sensational Ben Eastman, who qualified easily in the 440 and 880-yard runs, Stanford overcame two heart-breaking setbacks to capture 16 qualifying places and lead the pack.

Southern California, paced by flying Frank Wykoff, who set a new 100-yard dash record of 9.6 seconds in his semi-final heat, collected 13 qualifying places with its powerful and well-balanced squad. The Trojans placed in 10 of the 11 preliminary events.

Hubbers To Play Loboes Here Sunday

Old Rivals Meet At Merrill Park; Ladies Free

Old rivals meet Sunday afternoon at Merrill Park when the Lubbock Hubbers clash with the Lamesa Loboes in the fourth baseball game of the season. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

The Hubbers, playing under independent, amateur colors and managed by Joe Chism, "Dirty" Waller and Paul Carter will attempt to even the count in games with Gus Ragland's Lamesans, the latter having divided the opening series here three weeks ago and winning a return game at Lamesa.

Won Three, Lost Two

Waller's Hubbers have won three and lost two games since the season started, both losses being to Lamesa, and counting victories over Lamesa, Amarillo's Aviators and the Amherst team.

Waller, who manages the Hubbers on the field, has not announced his starting lineup but it is likely that it will consist of Del Morgan at first, Clarence Hodges or Breedlove at second, Red Gaither at third, France at shortstop, and "Evo" Marshall, Ed Hambright and Waller or Brothers in the outfield. Galey will catch, in all probability, while the mound may be occupied by Pressley, who allowed the Loboes only five hits in the first game of the season, or Baze, a newcomer who defeated the Amherst team Wednesday.

Ladies Free

Ladies will be admitted free of charge to the game it was announced by Paul Carter, business manager of the club.

It is likely that the game tomorrow will be the final home game for the Hubbers this season, the management states. In the event that the Panhandle Professional Baseball league is entered by a Lubbock club, the Hubbers will disband after playing return games with Amherst and Lamesa next week.

A.B.C. Banquet Well Attended

Special Attraction Arranged Friday Evening As Climax To A Ten Weeks' Membership Drive By Club

Climaxing a ten weeks' membership drive contest in which the losing side was to entertain the winners, the membership of the American Business club of Lubbock gathered around the festive board Friday evening at the Hilton hotel and partook of a specially arranged dinner. The meal was provided by the losing side in the contest.

In accordance with advance notices, the affair last evening was a speechless, stag dinner. There were no speeches, and even the announcements were cut short to permit time for the special musical numbers arranged by Truman C. Meinecke and Mark Taylor and for a set of hand-shaking or "get acquainted" games.

Culver Hill entertained with a baritone horn solo, accompanied by Miss Sue Brown, student at Texas Tech.

Fifty members of the club, or the total enrollment, were reserved places at the dinner, which replaced the regular Friday noon luncheon yesterday. The winning team, captained by Bert Pinson, applauded the program and dinner as provided by the losing team, captained by Ben Powell, in a rising vote of thanks.

Texas Loop To See Three New Men In Lineup

McClanahan Of Pirates Added To Cat Roster; Dallas Gets Cowboy Jones Of St. Paul; Wilkins To Spudders

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, May 29.—The Dallas Steers, Fort Worth Cats and Wichita Falls Spudders stepped out today and returned with two outfielders and one pitcher in efforts to bolster their pennant hopes.

The Fort Worth Cats, league leaders, announced the purchase of Pete McClanahan from the Pittsburgh Pirates. McClanahan, playing in the Shreveport outfield last year hit .341 in 114 games. McClanahan drove in 77 runs and hit 17 home runs. The new Fort Worth outfielder will probably replace Parker Perry or the veteran Eddie Moore.

Trying to plug a weak hitting outfield, Dallas today secured "Cowboy" Jones, husky outfielder from St. Paul of the American Association.

Dallas officials saw Jones play here during a series of spring exhibition games between St. Paul and the Steers. Jones played only five ball games with St. Paul this season, batting .500.

The "Cowboy" played with Fort Wayne in the Central League last year where he participated in 139 games and batted .406 for third place. He hit 36 home runs and drove in 132 runs. However, he miscued on 13 outfield balls and was 17th in fielding with a .953 average.

Jones is a southpaw hitter and a right hand thrower. Manager Hap Morse is expected to place his new outfielder in right field, replacing Sam Langford and Francis Joe Kelly who have alternated at this position.

The Spudders today announced the purchase of Edson Wilkins, right handed pitcher.

Wilkins was acquired from the Milwaukee Brewers, American Association. The Brewers picked him up from the Waterloo club of the Mississippi Valley league where he won fifteen games and lost eleven with the fifth place Waterloo aggregation. He pitched in 35 games, struck out 155 batters and finished with a mound average of .577.

Four new players have been added to Texas League clubs within two days. The Galveston Buccaneers, Thursday, announced the purchase of Si Rosenthal from Atlanta, Southern League. Rosenthal returns to the Texas League after hitting .350 and .339 for Dallas in 1929 and 1930 respectively.

Thousands Gather To See Running Of American Auto Racing Classic Today

High Spirit About Speedway As Big Race Begins

INDIANAPOLIS, May 2. (AP) — America's automobile classic — the 500-mile race to be run tomorrow—brought thousands of speed fans to Indianapolis tonight.

The festive spirit which has made the event one of the most colorful in sportdom prevailed as the visitors milled about in hotels or lined up their cars at the gates of the speedway.

Starting at 10 o'clock in the morning, the rough riding race will be a challenge to the skill and courage of the contestants. The elements have not been kind to the 2 1-2 mile brick course, and pilots have found new hazards lurking on the hairpin curves.

Prizes totaling $100,000 will be distributed with $20,000 going to the winner.

Arnold Holds Interest

Attention will be revited on Billy Arnold, Chicago, who nearly broke the record in winning last year and who will be behind the same eight cylinder front drive.

Louie Meyer, American driving champion in 1928 and 1929, and William (Shorty) Cantlon, who finished second last May, have special 16-cylinder racers that are considered most likely to give Arnold trouble in the dash for the individual lap prize money.

Arnold, Meyer, and Cantlon are conceded to have the fastest cars in the race, with Wild Bill Cummings and Duray right behind them.

Shields And Wood Down Argentines In Final Cup Go

BY JOHN F. CHESTER

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP) — Beating down a brilliant exhibition of Argentine tennis by sheer power, Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, jr., today completed their conquest of the South American Davis Cup invaders by winning the doubles 6-4, 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

The two young New Yorkers were forced to extend themselves to the limit to defeat Adriano Zappa and Lucilo Del Castillo, doubles champions of Argentine. The diminutive Zappa in particular stole the limelight, bounding about the court to make seemingly impossible returns and convert them into placements.

With the match score now standing 3-0 in favor of the United States, the two singles matches tomorrow, concluding the final American tie, will be played merely as a matter of formality.

Immediately after the last ball was hit today Berton S. Prentice, non-playing United States captain, announced Shields and Wood would sail for England June 6 to join George Lott and John Van Ryn, the European contingent of the American Davis Cup team.

Texas Utilities Team In 4-0 Victory Over Rainbow

The Texas Utilities team won its fourth consecutive game yesterday by defeating the Rainbows, 4 to 0, in one of the fastest City League contests yet seen. C. Galey, pitching for the Utilities team, allowed two hits in the five-inning contest while Felty of the Rainbows gave up six bingles.

Gaither, playing at third base for the Utilities team, hammered out a two-bagger to set the hitting pace.

Lott Lets Temper Lose French Sets In Quarterfinals

AUTEUIL, France, May 29. (AP)—The last of the American contenders for the French hard courts singles championships passed out of the picture today with the surprising defeat of George Lott in the quarter-final round. Lott lost to G. P. Hughes, an Irishman who lost to big Bill Tilden in four sets in this same tournament last year. Hughes took advantage of Lott's irritability and apparent over-confidence to win in five hard sets, 3-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Lott's temper exploded over a line decision in the third set and the Chicago veteran immediately tossed the set away 6-2. Another outburst punctuated the fourth game of the fourth set and thereafter the atmosphere never cleared for the American.

Final Report Of Committee Sought Today

Lubbock Business Men Believe Professional Baseball Club Will Be Installed Here At Beginning Of Next Week

Whether Lubbock will be the seat of a professional baseball club, a member of the Panhandle Professional Baseball League, will be learned this morning when a committee of local business men meet and turn in a final report after offering stock for sale in the Lubbock club yesterday. Questioned last night, the committee requested a little more time before making a definite answer.

Should sufficient funds be realized to insure starting the season, it is likely that a team will be brought here early next week and that work toward installing lights for night play at Merrill Park will get under way at the same time. It is planned to play only night baseball in the new league which includes Amarillo, Pampa and Clovis, N. M.

According to the schedule, Lubbock will open away from home, meeting the Clovis, N. M., team on Wednesday and Thursday, June 10 and 11, returning here for a local opening series the next two days. It will be necessary to rush the work of installing a lighting system and training the club, which will be made up of fourteen professional men including a non-playing manager. Harry Wanderling, who has been in Lubbock for more than a week engaged in building a foundation for the club here, will act as manager of the club, it was announced. He will remain here during the rest of the season.

Named By Gardner

Wanderling was appointed by J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Panhandle League and of the Texas League, to control the Lubbock team from a managerial standpoint. He will import a number of first class players and use several local men who have had professional experience. Ed Hambright and Raymond Marshall who tried out with Wichita Falls and Houston, respectively, this spring and stayed until the beginning of the regular season, in all probability will play in the Panhandle League, possibly with Lubbock.

Wanderling's introduction of the plans to be followed by the Panhandle League officials met with fine enthusiasm on the part of a number of Lubbock business men who set about to buy and sell stock in the local club to provide funds necessary for the first payment on the lighting system and other inevitable incidentals at the beginning of a season.

Beats Americans

PERCY ALLIS

ABROATH, Scotland, May 29. (AP) —American professionals took three out of the first four places in the pitch and putt tournament concluded today, but the top prize went to Percy Alliss, British pro at a Berlin golf club, who turned in an aggregate of 226 for 72 holes.

Horton Smith, the tall Missourian tied with Joe Kirkwood, trick shot star, for second place with 228 each and Johnny Farrell took fourth place with 229. Gene Sarazen finished well down the list with 234 for 12th place. Willie Hunter was in a tie for 15th with 235 and Tony Manero 24th with 238.

Tyler Bids For Wichita Falls Baseball Franchise

TYLER, May 29. (AP)—Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League, today was invited to move the Wichita Falls club to Tyler, in the event that the club owners decide to give up the Wichita Falls franchise. The invitation was extended by the directors of the Tyler chamber of commerce, who asked that night game equipment be installed if the move were made.

Tyler would be an excellent place to move the club, it was pointed out, inasmuch as many former Wichita Falls business men now live here.

Half of all traffic fatalities occur at the intersection of streets and highways, a survey shows.

CORPUS TEAM MOVES

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 29.—(AP)—The Seahawks won Thursday as the final game in Corpus Christi was played. The score was 5-3.

The team will play the San Benito series Saturday and then goes on the road for 9 games. After the road trip it will go to its new home at Brownsville.

Al Albers held the visitors to six widely scattered hits.

Two-Hour Arguments Heard Over Evidence In Libel Trial

Judge Clark Mullican Rules That Eivdence May Be Read To Jury; Court Is Dismissed Until Monday

Arguments between opposing counsel in the suit of Fred Spikes against J. Evetts Haley and trustees of the Capitol Reservation Lands, asking for $200,000 damages for alleged libel by publication of "The XIT Ranch In Texas," over the admissability of certain evidence in the case, featured Friday afternoon's session The arguments lasted over two hours.

The question involved whether the deposition of a man who had been convicted of a felony could be used in a civil law suit. After submission of supporting court decisions to sustain the defense contention that the statement could be admitted as evidence, Judge Clark Mullican ruled that the deposition could be read to the jury.

Court Dismissed

Judge Mullican then advised the jurors to return at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Four oral witnesses and three depositions were heard Friday at the morning session. Depositions were by Eugene Logan, Dalhart; J. H. Nix and Joe H. Shellenberger. Oral witnesses included: John Whitmore and Herman Gearhart, Tucumcari, N. M.; B. P. Abbott, Bovina and C. B. Beebe, Littlefield.

Was Former Official

Logan's deposition and the accompanying cross-examination consumed more than an hour to read. Logan made the statement at the time he was mayor of Dalhart and in addition to that official position he said he had been a state ranger of Texas, a deputy U. S. marshal, inspector for the cattle raisers, inspector for the New Mexico Sanitary Cattle board and also deputy sheriff.

"I worked in and out of New Mexico for 13 years, first in Clayton and later around the Mesa Redonda," he testified. "I was at Old Liberty for two or three years and around 1900 went to the Canadian river where the town of Logan now is."

Witness said he "knew John Spikes personally" and "Dick and Fred Spikes but not personally." He also knew Henry Hawkins, John and Dobie Williams, Jesse and William Smith, W. T. Crabtree, Alex Aston, D. R. Carmack, W. J. McAdams and possibly George Cook and "had heard of George Massagee" but was not positive.

Logan said he had heard the reputation of the Spikes boys and that was bad. He had heard of cattle thieves up there and knew of depredations. "The Spikes boys hung out four miles from where Henry Hawkins did" he testified.

Cattle stealing in New Mexico territory was "worse" than it was in Texas, he stated. Hawkins had the reputation of being a "cattle rustler and outlaw."

Complaints Filed

Complaints were filed against "some of the Spikes boys" but "I cannot recall the various names." He recalled having testified in court about two of the alleged "gang" on two different occasions and these were sent up for "vagrancy." He did not mention their names.

Logan assisted once in the arrest of John and Dobie Williams and Will Smith.

He testified that once he was at the Spikes headquarters", "that he had seen smoke on the Mesa Redonda near the house and went to investigate, finding some hides, partially burned. These were described

Saw Motherless Calves

Logan said he once saw 25 motherless calves in a bunch, being herded by one John Williams. They were unbranded and appeared to be unweaned.

In cross-examination witness said he found that outlaws seldom told their true names. He said he did not know of Henry Hawkins and the Spikes boys being together. Witness detailed the finding of the calves being herded by John Williams and said they "were never claimed by the Spikes boys as far as I know."

Logan said he was never at John Spikes' house until after his death. He said that Mrs. Spikes "asked that I do not come into the house" in denying that he had been ordered to stay out of the house.

Counsel Clash

"John Spikes was the only one of the boys I was well acquainted with." A cowboy named Nance and several others whose names were he cannot recall were with him when he found the hides, he stated. Counsel clashed several times on offering certain portions of the testimony.

Gearhart and Abbott testified they lived in New Mexico at the time the Spikes boys were there and had a chance to know of their reputation. The same was true of John Whitmore, who admitted on cross examination that the "reputation" was "mostly after they were killed."

E. L. Klett and George Dupree read the deposition of J. H. Nix, 72, now of Hereford, who lived in Gaudalupe county, New Mexico in 1901-02 and who ran a horse ranch.

He was "acquainted with all the Spikes boys who were living there at that time" he testified, mentioning knowing Ernest and Dick whom he met in "horse work on the Circle S ranch," and with Sam, John and Fred with whom he "became acquainted by meeting them in the country. "Their general reputation was "bad" and they had the "name of robbing different stores in the country and a saloon at Tucumcari." Nix stated. He lived 12 to 15 miles southeast of Mesa Redonda.

In Sympathy With Them

On cross-examination, read by Frank Brown and Tom Garrard, Nix said he was "never employed on a ranch." He had talked about the Spikes boys with Louis Nance, Vin Cissel, Bud Lee and Sam Gohlson, among others. He "knew some who killed John and Dick Spikes," he admitted and was in sympathy, "to a certain extent with them."

Joe Scholiemberger, a merchant of Logan, N. M., worked as a cowboy on HOW ranch as foreman in 1901 and 1902. He knew the boys "by reputation" he said, testifying to their reputation as "cattle thieves and gun men."

Once he saw some motherless calves, a dozen or so, unbranded but which were claimed by "cows bearing the HOW brand."

On cross examination, also read by Brown and Garrard, witness located the HOW range and said the Mesa Redonda community was that territory within 15 miles of the Mesa. He said he did not know where the Spikes boys lived and "did not know them personally."

Recalls "Hawkins Cave"

C. B. Beebe now resides near Littlefield and in 1901 in partnership with John Speer took 200 head of cattle into New Mexico. The next year they took 300 head into the territory. Some died, some were sold and some stolen he admitted. His ranch was six or eight miles west and north of the Mesa Redonda. He recalled a cave on the Mesa known as "Hawkins cave," and once said he saw some Winchester shells and buckles there. He was getting cedar posts off the Mesa on one occasion and found a cow hide, rolled up, that on being unrolled was found to have the HOW brand. It was found in a canyon two or three miles from the Spikes headquarters. Finding similarly of a number of pairs of new shoes, in pastboard boxes in another canyon, was detailed.

It is believed by the Kulin of Australia, that the spirits of the dead ascend to heaven by the rays of the sun.

CORRECTION

Due to a typographical error in Friday's report of the Spikes-Haley case in the Daily Journal, a sentence read "Witness detailed the finding of calves being herded by John Williams and said they were claimed by the Spikes boys 'as far as I know'."

It should have read "Witness detailed the finding of calves being herded by John Williams and said they were never claimed by the Spikes boys 'as far as I know'." The word never was omitted through error.

In Memory Of Our Heroes

BY CUSTOM and appointment, this day is set apart in memory of the brave dead and in acknowledgment of their enduring service to the living. In this tribute our thoughts and hearts have equal share. The perspective of time gives us to know that the wars of the past have won us the peace of the present and that the strife of causes and convictions now scarce remembered bears fruit today in the greatness of a nation. At the same time our hearts recall the sacrifice of those who died in war for a victory they would not see.

It is not the nature of heroes to look ahead to the gratitude of posterity. Nor do those who have played their gallant part in history now need our praise or tribute. It is ourselves who need the day of observance, with its brief recall of how hardly has been won our present peace and prosperity. It is for our own sake that we confess again that in a great cause men will fight and die. It is in acknowledgment of our country's right to our strength and devotion that we salute those who have served her without stint or measure.

In countless communities throughout the land Memorial Day will draw our citizens together to lift again the flag of national faith. In countless homes will be recalled bitter loss, mercifully mellowed by time and by the belief that brave men do not die in vain. Briefly our memories awake the past, from which we turn again to the hopeful future, pledging the strength of the present to the service of the land of our fathers.

In Texas, apart from our national heroes who died that their loved ones might be saved, we have also the hosts of dead who gave their all that Texas might be freed from the domination of a foreign foe. To those who bled at The Alamo, at San Jacinto and Goliad we also owe a pledge of honor. To those whose lives were surrendered while carving civilization across our hills and plains we, of today, should offer reverence and blessing.

In memory of our American and Texas heroes today may we be truly thankful. All glory to their ashes!

THE TIME PARKING RULE

Removal of the "time parking limit" ordinance from business streets east of Texas avenue and around the courthouse square appears to The Morning Avalanche as being a fair action on the part of the City commission. The parking law should never have applied to the courthouse square, upon which is located no business houses, and the declaration of merchants whose stores front upon the other streets, that they do not want the parking law is enough to secure its removal.

After all, the time limit parking law is not aimed to please the motorist. It is aimed to please the business man. If the merchants of any particular section decide that the ordinance is a deterrent to business, rather than an aid, that is enough to secure its removal.

There are other sections of the retail district, beside that section covered by the removal order, that might well come under the new ruling. Time parking is a problem which may well be governed by "horse sense" rather than by blanket order.

Practical Health Problems

ADOPTION OF CHILDREN

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

With modern scientific methods of controlling birth and with the disinclination of the average woman to have children early in married life, the problem of securing good children for adoption is being brought more and more frequently to the attention of physicians and institutions.

Most of the children who are available for adoption are either illegitimate, those abandoned by their parents, or those taken away from disorderly or vicious parents by legal authorities.

With such possible sources, it is not surprising that few are of the highest type either physically or mentally. The demand for children for adoption far exceeds the supply. Girls are more often requested than boys. It is important to make certain first of all that there is no chronic blood disease or systemic venereal disorder.

In several investigations, illegitimate children have been found to be brighter and of better parentage than legitimate children available for adoption. The logic of this fact is easily understood.

Sometimes parents want a child to replace an infant that has been lost, in which case they endeavor to duplicate the physical and superficial characteristcis without giving sufficient attention to the mentality and the heredity.

Professor Paul Popenoe mentions an instance in which a woman suddenly decided to adopt a baby because she thought it would look sweet in a coat which she could make from some left-over pieces of white fur.

A physician who has had much experience in the field says that the parents usually come asking for golden-haired, blue-eyed girls with sweet dispositions. It is merely necessary to take the prospective parents through the nursery in order to cause them to take the first child that may happen to hold its arms out to them.

It is important to remember from the point of view of heredity that the child is not only the direct descendant of its parents but the sum of all of the ancestry of both for hundreds of years back. Moreover, nature has extraordinary ways in that it suddenly projects a black sheep into a thoroughly good family, and raises great statesmen, multimillionaires and intellectual giants out of mud heaps. Beyond this, however, is the fact that at least 70 per cent of weight can be placed on the immediate parents in the selecting of an infant with a view to getting a clean history from the point of view of mentality and 30 per cent on the influence of the more remote ancestors.

Popenoe suggests that it is desirable to pick out a child with as good an ancestry as possible, to pick out the child young, and to take the child only on trial. Because of the difficulties involved in the situation, most institutions having children available for adoption now have definite procedures which they compel prospective parents to follow in order to be assured that satisfactory results will be secured.

Tariff Policy Costs

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Cordell Hull made a speech more than five years ago in the house of representatives (Tennessee elected him to the senate last fall; the upper congressional chamber's ablest recruit in many a long day) describing the smash-up toward which he gave warning that international business was heading as a result of virtually world-wide commercial policies following the war.

Cordell Hull

"A feeling of industrial fear or narrow selfishness or both seemed to seize most nations, our own included," he said in the course of this address, "and it was under our powerful leadership that they proceeded hastily to construct extreme high tariff walls, accompanied by the usual ironclad trade restrictions and reprisals."

From the ensuing jumble of "obstructions, discriminations, retaliations, monopolistic combinations, prohibitions, embargoes, governmental licensing systems, bounties, bonuses, subsidies, drawbacks, rebates, interferences" and an indefinite number of other "unfair and war-breeding practices," observes the senator, the present depression not only was to have been expected; it was inevitable. He gives trade credit for struggling as long as it could, but at last it is well-night suffocated, he says. Resuscitating it will be hard, painful work, adds the Tennesseean.

AMERICAN producers would not be placed in the position of having overdone themselves, continues Senator Hull, were it not for the fact that their country's tariff policy has cost them many foreign markets which by good rights ought to be absorbing their comparatively small surplus in excess of domestic requirements.

"Post-war over-production, attributed to intensification of our industries' efficiency, has been much harped on," he recognized, "but the truth is," he went on, "that the increase, averaged among all industries, has not exceeded what our population increase justified.

"There has, of course, been a tremendous increase in certain specified lines—but not so large an average.

"The same distinction applies to average and detailed percentages in considering the volume of our exportable surplus. The average is about 10 per cent of our total production, but in some lines the exportable proportion is much greater than that—60 per cent in the case of raw cotton, for example."

"WHAT MAKES the ruin of our overseas trade so serious a matter," pointed out the senator, "is its disastrous effect upon industries which do have heavy surplusages over and above domestic requirements.

"The loss of 10 per cent of all our industries' trade, while it would be exceedingly unfortunate, would not be so vital in comparison with the remaining 90 per cent—if the 90 per cent really remained.

"However, take the case of the cotton producer—he does not suffer by 10 per cent merely. He suffers to the extent of 60 per cent when he loses his entire export outlet—which reduces his purchasing power by that much; an effect felt, in turn, by other industries."

"THE WHEAT producer, like the cotton grower," proceeded the Tennessee lawmaker, "is hit in excess of the 10 per cent average; he needs foreign buyers for 25 per cent of his crop.

"The tobacco producer's surplus is 45 per cent; the copper producer's, 35; the plate glass producer's, 60.

"The automobile industry's surplus is 16 and a fraction per cent.

"It is easy to see how a 16 per cent cut in the export demand for autos must react upon many other industries—upon steel, for instance; and oil; and upon road building and all the industries dependent upon it."

"THE TEXTILE industry's straits," said the senator, as an illustration, "demonstrates the consequences of excluding our customers' products from our markets, in exchange for products they desire from us.

"India, China and Japan, formerly our textile manufacturers' best export patrons, have been driven to establish their own mills"—leaving the American textile industry the "sickest", with the possible exception of soft coal, in the country.

"Worse than that," added the Tennesseean, "two billions of our own money have gone abroad to build factories in foreign lands, in order to operate inside THEIR tariff walls."

RECENTLY the world hase been developing a school of economists who contend that hard times primarily are due to a shortage in the commercial nations' basic money—who want to dilute the gold supply, which they declare is inadequate, with silver.

What I originally intended to ask Senator Hull was:

To what extent does he consider such a money famine as the silverites complain of a cause of the depression?

"Oh," he said, indifferently, "it may have a little to do with it."

FORESIGHT THAT PAYS

All the wit and wisdom of the world have so far failed to provide a formula by which we may anticipate every break of the game. The unexpected will lie in wait for us no matter how shrewdly we watch our step and a trifling acrident can work wicked mischief with the best-laid plans of men. For every change and chance which we anticipate there are many that can catch us off guard.

So there is small comfort to be found in worrying over what may happen and small safety in the piling up of precautions. The breaks of the game are a part of the game, and busy men who lead busy lives will meet their share of them. Every man intent on going ahead is setting foot every moment in unfamiliar country and has neither the wisdom nor the time to provide for all its surprises.

The best foresight is to build up a philosophy that is not easily shaken by the unexpected. It can be compounded out of courage, humility and confidence that there is some providence and purpose behind the scenes of life. It is a philosophy which urges a man to do his best in confidence that all things ultimately work out for the best. It places work above worry and counsels a man that those things which are beyond his own control are in better hands and wiser dispensation than his own. It is the only foresight that is wide enough and deep enough to cover all chances and hazards.

Hoover, it is now reported, is content to have Fess remain as chairman during the 1932 campaign. And Fess probably cannot think fast enough to get out from under.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE FAMOUS ETRICKE TOMB OF ST. GILES.—Anthony Etricke, a native of Holt Lodge, was Recorder of Poole and the Committing Magistrate in the case of the Duke of Monmouth. His curious vow was the result of an insult offered him by the people of Wimborne. In compliance, a niche was cut in the wall of the minster of Wimborne, where his coffin was placed in such a manner that the body was half under and half over the ground, and neither within the church nor without, but suspended parallel with the wall. The story is contained in the "History of Wimborne Minster" by G. F. Score, the Parish Clerk.

REAL DAUGHTERS OF '76

Here are the two most picturesque of the six old ladies who link modern America with the days of the Revolutionary War: Mrs. Mary Pool Newsom, left, and her sister, Miss Sarah Pool.

Six Aged Women, Whose Fathers Served With Washington, Will Observe Memorial Day

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
(Copywright, 1931, NEA Service)

WASHINGTON, May 29. — Six feeble old ladies, smiling through eyes dimmed by age and memories, link modern America with the war for independence. They are daughters of Revolutionary army soldiers, who fought for the flag in the stirring days of 1776.

Memorial Day means much to them.

Their fathers were at Bunker Hill, at Valley Forge, at King's Mountain. One was a drummer boy, beating a stirring rat-tat-tat for General Washington's weary-legged and ragged men who struggled on—to victory. Another carried water to dying soldiers. Others bore the hardships of the march and of the camps.

And these six women, sole survivors of what was once an impressive group, bear on their thin shoulders the heritage of being daughters of brave patriots who helped in changing America from a promise to reality. It is their destiny to live more than 150 years later.

Strangely, yet appropriately, they represent the north and the south and the mid-west—all of the country that was settled when Washington became our first president and American democracy became a fact.

OTHERS may be living, but the headquarters of the Daughters of the American Revolution here knows only these "Real Daughters" of the D. A. R.:

Mrs. Mary Pool Newsom and Miss Sarah Pool, sisters, of R. F. D. 2, Gibson, Ga.

Mrs. Caroline Phoebe Randall of Charleston, N. H.

Mrs. Maria Storts Allen of New Lexington, O.

Mrs. Angeline Loring Avery of Willimatic, Conn.

Mrs. Annie Knight Gregory of Selinsgrove, Pa.

The "Real Daughters" receive D. A. R. pensions and a committee is especially designated to watch over them. The last D. A. R. congress listened with emotion to a report that three had died during the previous year.

THE last "Real Daughters" to be discovered were the two sisters. Mrs. Newsom and Miss Pool. Officials of the Nancy Hart D. A. R. chapter at Milledgeville, Ga., heard about them and visited their little

MRS. CAROLINE RANDALL of Charleston, N. H., still does much of the housework in her home Hashem, as a mere youth, carried she is now 81. Her father, Stephen and is interested in politics, though water to the soldiers at Bunker Hill. Later he joined General Washing- ton's army and fought through the remainder of the war.

He was 82 when he married Mrs. Randall's mother and 100 when he died. He was 99 when she was born and had grandchildren older than the five children of his second wife. Mrs. Randall can still remember the war stories the old soldier told her mother. She often speaks of him as she recalls the past, while sitting sewing without glasses.

MRS. MARIA STORTS ALLEN, now 38, is perhaps the most remarkable of all the six. She went up for an airplane ride near her home at New Lexington, O., a short time ago and enjoyed it so much she declared she wanted to go up and stay for two or three hours. She is a daughter of John Storts of Somerset county, Pa., a gallant soldier who endured the hardships of General Washington's ragged patriots at Valley Forge and served under Captain Fickle. He died in 1852.

The father of Mrs. Angeline Lor- ing Avery, fifth of the famous six, enlisted in the Revolutionary army when oinly 14 years old and served under Colonel Bost. For much of the time he was an aide, but he saw some of the fiercest fighting in the Revolution. Although her father, Solomon Loring, was born at Hing- ham, Mass., she was born at Leban- on, Conn., and now lives in Willi- matic.

To Mrs. Annie Knight Gregory belongs the honor of being the only "Real Daughter" to attend the re- cent D. A. R. congress in Washing- ton. She is the daughter of Rich- ard Knight who served as a drum- mer boy and a private with Penn- sylvania troops throughout the war. She was born at Liverpool, Pa., but moved to her present home at Selinsgrove late in life.

SHOULDERS AND LIMBS ACHED

Poisons Absorbed In Cases of Constipation Sometimes Cause of Pains.

When aches and pains are due to poisons being absorbed into the system because of faulty elimination, the use of Thedford's Black-Draught often proves of valuable assistance.

Mrs. Lillie James, of Columbia, Ky., describes a disagreeable con- dition which she suffered several years ago.

"I had an aching in my shoul- ders and limbs," she says. "Some- times I would have a queer ache in my head. I began to take Thed- ford's Black-Draught for this trou- ble, and found it helped me very much. I felt so much better after I had taken a course of it.

"Black-Draught is very good to take for constipation and bilious- ness. I also think it is good for indigestion and gas on the stom- ach. Sometimes I make a tea of it and take it in that way. I have given it, in a tea, to my children (as a laxative) for bad colds, and find it very helpful.

"I can recommend Black- Draught as a good medicine; for af- ter several years of using it I have always found it reliable." NB-111

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 29. (AP)—Cotton prices closed 9-11 points net up today after fluctuating rather broadly.

The market showed good gains early in response to unfavorable crop news and improvement in stocks, but lack of support and reaction in stocks caused reaction here which was helped by liquidation in advance of the Decoration Day holiday in New York tomorrow.

A private authority issued a report making the decrease in acreage 7.8 per cent, the crop condition 70.6 and the indicated crop 12,900,000 bales.

October closed at 9.01 or 9 points net higher for the day and December closed at 9.22 up 10 points net.

Stock Market Closes Month With A Wave Of General Selling On Friday

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—The stock market closed out the month with a wave of general selling today. The unloading began in the rails, overflowed into the food shares and finally reached the general list, although with the exception of the two groups mentioned losses were not particularly severe.

A prebuilday rally seemed in the making during the early dealings, but a break in New York Central upset the rails and by afternoon the entire market was skidding. Weakness characterized the final transactions. Sales of 2,100,000 shares approximated the average turnover of the past fortnight.

There was no immediate development on which to hang the weakness of the carrier stocks. The market feels that any rise in freight rates is still some distance away; meanwhile traffic and earnings are at a low ebb nd unfavorable dividend actions are piling up. The payment on Erie second preferred was omitted today.

Services Set For Lynn Boy

Orville James Will Be Buried Today At Tahoka Following His Death Here; Details Of Death Still Lacking

Funeral services for Orville James of New Lynn community, who died at Lubbock sanitarium at 7:05 a. m. yesterday, 24 hours after he was found unconscious suffering from a fractured skull, will be held this afternoon at the Baptist church at New Lynn, about seven miles southeast of Wilson.

Burial will be at Tahoka under the direction of Bynum-Morgan Funeral home of Lubbock.

The boy was found unconscious at about daybreak Thursday in a lot near his home. James and Oscar Edwards, 19, who lived nearby, had gone to a party horseback Wednesday night. James rode the horse, belonging to Edwards, to his home after dropping his companion at the Edwards home. It is presumed the horse threw the James boy as he entered the lot on the James farm.

Exposure from midnight until daybreak caused pneumonia to set in and hasten the boy's death, attending physicians said. He did not regain consciousness after the accident.

Besides his parents the boy is survived by a brother, Elton James, 12, and three sisters, Geneva James, 10, Mildred James 9, and Opal Ruth James 3.

Lockhart Says

lieve that he has made up his mind.

"Personally, I do not believe that Governor Sterling will call a special session before June 15 and maybe not then. If he calls a meeting of the legislature to meet after this case is over, I will go; if the date is before the case is completed, I will not go until it is."

Sees Little Chance

Mr. Lockhart holds to the view that while there is a "chance" that the special session of the legislature will enact the congressional redistricting measure, "there is not much probability" that it will be done.

"The trouble is in some proposed redistricting over in East Texas," he said. "They cannot get together over there and about everybody seems to want to run for congress."

In speaking of redistricting of the state for the purpose of reapportioning membership in the house of representatives of the Texas legislature, Mr. Lockhart explained the position a majority of the members of his house took on the measure.

"Members of the lower house believe that the people of the state should vote on a constitutional amendment that provided that counties with less than 500,000 population are limited to five representatives," he said. "For each 100,000 gain over that amount, another representative would be added.

Gore States That Issue May Be Settled In Women's Laps

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29. (AP)—"The eighteenth amendment," said Senator Elect Thomas P. Gore, Democrat, today "can not be repealed and can not be enforced.

The situation he said, "is such as to raise an issue, and it may be an issue not settled in the laps of the Gods but in the laps of the women."

Death Penalty

Scene In Keeping

The closing scene of the young gunman's trial was in keeping with the spectacular manner in which he has appeared in the public eye since the death of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch, of the Nassau county police, whom he shot down on a lonely Long Island road May 6.

That night, Crowley, first hunted in connection with the slaying of a New York policeman and of Virginia Brannen, a dance hall hostess, was sitting in a parked automobile with 16 year old Helen Walsh.

Hirsch with Patrolman Joseph Yodice apparently had nothing more in mind than the breaking up of "petting parties" when he stopped at the car and asked to see the driver's license. Statements of what followed were contradictory in the testimony of the state and defense, but Crowley admitted he shot and killed Hirsch.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, May 29. (AP) — Cattle trade around the market circuit showed a fair degree of stability, with some strength reported at several centers on fed steers and yearlings. Dressed beef markets, however, are in a glutted condition and curtailed live receipts are imperative if any further improvement is to be expected the forthcoming week. Current quotations on killing steers and yearlings and cows are generally 50-75 lower than last week's close with only highly finished steers and yearlings exceeding the 7.00 mark. Aggregate receipts for the week to date approximated 158,400 as compared with 152,240 the same 5 days last week.

The afternoon session will be opened with an accordion solo by Miss Glidwell Mullins of Lubbock. She will be accompanied by Miss Lulu Denham.

A 20-minute question box will be conducted by A. R. Saddrath of Tahoka.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker at the afternoon meeting. He will discuss the postal service from the outsider's viewpoint.

Talks will be made by Ross E. Gibson, rural carrier of Lamesa; City Carrier Griffin of Slaton; Miss Ruth Courtney, clerk, of Littlefield and Postmaster Carpenter of Brownfield.

Election of officers for the ensuing year and the selection of a meeting place for 1932 will close the convention.

Yard Contest

$3,000 to $10,000, and owned by their tenants. Awards the same as offered to group one.

Group three—All homes exceeding $10,000 in value. No cash awards, but five certificates of merit and three honorable mentions will be given to winners.

Group four—All rental residence, regardless of value. Awards the same as offered groups one and two.

Group five—All homes, whether owned or rented, occupied by Mexicans. First award, $10; second, $5; five certificates of merit and three honorable mentions.

Group six — All homes occupied by negroes, owned or rented. Awards the same offered to group five.

Asked To Call

Although all homes in the city have been declared in the contest, Mr. Bradley requested all tenants occupying rented houses desired in the contest, to communicate with either Mrs. V. D. Shell or Mrs. Frank Winn, members of the registration committee, whose telephone numbers are 183 and 882-J, respectively.

The committee decided that homes winning cash awards in last year's contest would not be eligible for money prizes this year, but may compete for certificates of merit and honorable mentions, according to Mr. Bradley.

To Make Rules

A committee of three persons, B. Sherrod, chairman, N. L. Peters and Mrs. Clark Mullican, was appointed to decide upon a set of rules and the date of judging the yards. Another committee, composed of Mrs. M. C. Overton, chairman, Don L. Jones and J. B. Maxey, was named to select the judges.

Complete rules for the competition will be announced as soon as the rules committee completes its work, Mr. Bradley said.

The chairman of the committee urged every resident of Lubbock, whether owner or tenant, to take an active interest in the campaign.

"The purpose of the drive is to make our city more beautiful," he said. "Our slogan, 'You Win if You Lose,' conveys the meaning of the contest regardless of the prizes and certificates. In order to make creditable showing in the contest, it is necessary that preparations be made now for planting gardens, flowers and otherwise beautifying the homes."

Placards calling attention to the contest, and bearing the committee's slogan are to be distributed today, Mr. Bradley said.

There are 15,000,000 deaf persons in the United States, according to government estimates.

Man Is Wounded But Not Located

Failure to locate a person suffering from gunshot wounds, officers yesterday were led to believe that the man shot on a farm near Wolfarth early yesterday morning was not seriously injured.

The shooting occured when a farmer heard some one near his chicken yard and went outside his home to investigate, members of the sheriff's department said. Stationed behind a tree, the farmer fired at a man who appeared on the scene. The wounded man fled.

Officers believe the man escaped in an automobile. Blood tracks led to a nearby road where they disappeared.

A search yesterday failed to reveal any trace of the man.

He said the driver made some remark about the weather and drove on.

Man Held Gun

The other men, standing on a corner a little way farther, ran over to the car as it passed, one climbing on each running board. He said the man next to him held a pistol in his face, placed a hand over his mouth, and told the driver to "step on it."

Both men on the running boards had their faces disguised, he said. They drove past the Cerf home and he asked the men to let him out of the car. They ordered him to keep quiet and told him he would not be hurt. He offered them $10 he had in his pockets but they refused the money. He was "scared," he said. They drove out of town toward Emhouse. He was later blindfolded.

He was told his captors had a sub-machine gun in the car. He said the drive finally ended and he was carried up two flights of stairs into an apartment, still blindfolded. His clothes were removed and he was placed in bed but was too agitated to sleep.

The tape was taken off his eyes the next morning. He said his jailer borrowed two dollars from him and offered him a drink of whiskey, which he refused.

He then told of his release. He was carried blindfolded from the apartment and placed in a car. When he looked at one of his captors, he said, the man cursed him.

"However, until I have had time to study the notes of my flight I can not say how much more powerful," he added.

Professor Piccard said he had not discerned any difference in the wind velocities and directions in the stratosphere from those in lower altitudes.

"They vary in the stratosphere as well as lower down," he explained. Asked specifically if he had found confirmation of the theory that the prevailing wind in the stratosphere blew in the direction contrary to the rotation of the earth," he snorted "that's all bosh."

Another question amused him. It was about insects: "How high up did you observe insects? What was the maximum altitude of their flight?"

"What should they be doing up there with us?" he laughed. "However, I could tell you a good story about a flea."

"Oh professor," exclaimed someone, "did you find a flea in the aluminum gondola?"

"Oh, no," the scientist replied. "I was just thinking of a funny story about fleas."

International Sunday School Lesson

General Topic: JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

Scripture Lesson: Luke 22:39-34

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR MAY 31, 1931:

39. And he came out, and went, as his custom was, unto the mount of Olives; and the disciples also followed him.

40. And when he was at the place, he said unto them, Pray that we enter not into temptation.

41. And he was parted from them about a stone's cast, and he kneeled down and prayed,

42. Saying, Father, if thou be willing remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done.

43. And there appeared unto him an angel from heaven, strengthening him.

44. And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat became as it were great drops of blood falling down upon the ground.

45. And when he rose up from his prayer, he came unto the disciples, and found them sleeping for sorrow,

46. And said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise and pray, that ye enter not into temptation.

47. While he yet spake, behold, a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them; and he drew near unto Jesus to kiss him.

48. But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?

49. And when they that were about him saw what would follow, they said, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50. And a certain one of them smote the servant of the high priest and struck off his right ear.

51. But Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye them thus far. nd he touched his ear, and healed him.

52. And Jesus said unto the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and elders, that were come against him, Are ye come out, as against a robber, with swords and staves?

53. When I was daily with you in the temple, ye stretched not forth your hands against me; but this is your hour, and the power of darkness.

54. And they seized him, and led him away, and brought him into the high priest's house. But Peter followed afar off.

Golden Text:—Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me; nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done.—Luke 22:42.

Time:—From midnight to 6 a. m. of Friday, April 7, A. D. 30. Place:—The Garden of Gethsemane, on the western slope of the Mount of Olives, and the joint palace of Annas and Caiaphas in Jerusalem.

INTRODUCTION.

Jesus and his disciples parted company in Gethsemane in a very real sense. Jesus traveled the way of courageous, sacrificial duty, suffered and won. The disciples, with seemingly good human excuses, gave way to weariness, dropped slept, and failed. Aggressive wide-awake goodness is never defeated by evil, but such goodness must be alert and active day and night."—Owen C. Brown.

"Nor was it merely with the tragedy of tomorrow that Jesus was laboring, for the sorrow of all the ages is being forced through the channels of his soul."—Findlay, in "The Abingdon Commentary."

"GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE"

"There is a traditional garden of Gethsemane, encircled with a wall and containing gnarled old olive-trees and sweet-accented flowers. This can be traced back to the time of Constantine."—Prof. Walter F. Adeney. "In the present day eight enormous stumps of old olive-trees from nine to ten feet high with vigorous young shoots sprouting out from them mark the spot. We know that Vespasian and Titus cut down all the trees in the neighborhood of Jersualem, but it is of course possible that these old stumps might have been left; at any rate, from their enormous girth and extreme age, they might very well go back to the time of Christ."—Alfred T. Schafield, M. R. C. S. E. "It is here, in this quaint and carefully tended garden, this precious place which has been saved alike from the oblivious trampling of the crowd and from the needless imprisonment of four walls and a roof, it is here in the open air, in the calm glow of the afternoon, under the shadow of Mt. Zion, that we find for the first time that which we have come so far to seek,—the soul of the Holy Land, the inward sense of the real presence of Jesus."—Henry van Dyke.

JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

"Jesus must have looked with dread upon the cross that he saw looming before him: for he partook of our nature, with its physical and mental sensitiveness (Heb 2:17). It is being false to the fact of his incarnation to suppose that, since he was divine, he could think of gashing wounds and brutal suffering with any less terror than we do. He was in an agony of amazement and fear, as he himself declared (ver. 44; Matt. 26:38), and wanted even the dim, shadowy outlines of his avowed friends to be not far off."

"But there was a greater Friend on the slopes of Mount Olivet that night, in whose presence Jesus was to fight through the agonizing struggle and complete his consecration for the climax of his victory over sin and death. For him there was one place, and only one, for supreme comfort, for authoritative counsel and for final decision on all issues. That was the place of prayer. Even though he was almighty, he was constantly, humbly seeking the companionship and counsel of the Father. What a matchless example for us who are infinitely less strong and wise!"

A MINISTERING ANGEL V. 43

"And there appeared unto him an angel from heaven, strengthening him." Thus angels aided Christ's recovery from the fearful tension of the temptation in the wilderness at the opening of his ministry (Matt. 4:11), a temptation which was continued (compare Luke 4:13) in this Gethsemane experience and throughout all the hours of our Saviour's trials and crucifixion. In sending the angel God answered Christ's prayer; the cup was not removed from him, but he was given strength to endure his sufferings. Thus also our heavenly Father often answers our prayers for relief from pain and escape from trials.

THE SLEEPING DISCIPLES VS. 45, 46

The regretful, "Why sleep ye?" (Ver. 46), and, "Could ye not watch with me one hour?" (Matt. 26:40) are not expressive of impatience or rebuke. He doubtless pitied them, for it had been a long day and they were tired. But he was meeting and overcoming temptation with watchfulness and prayer, and it was too bad that they weren't. There would be for Peter a reminder of his over-confident declaration of devotion (22:33). And Peter needed the reminder for a warning.

"The Gethsemane scene stands for the everlasting shaming of the church and the individual Christian when they are unvigilant; when they sleep while the Master's cause is in dire straits, or needs their wide-awake attention. We should always end the story with our Lord's "Arise, let us be going!" (given by Matthew and Mark) which in the original has a tone of confident determination that we miss in translation. "New tides of strength from the strong underlying life of God rose within him."

THE PRAYER OF JESUS, V. 44

"And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly; and his sweat became as it were great drops of blood falling down upon the ground." Was there ever such loneliness as his? Or grief? He himself said, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even unto death." The burden of the world's sin was upon him.

In such anguish he sought the face of God. Leaving the disciples, he went alone to pray. (Matthew and Mark say that he took Peter, James and John with him, but Matthew points out he left them also and "went forward a little and fell on his face and prayed." Luke leaves out the details to center his attention, and ours, upon Jesus praying.) Jesus was constantly praying. Many hours were spent in prayer while other men slept. His recorded prayers are few, but full of instruction to those who seek to know the spirit and nature of true prayer. They were not formal in that they followed a certain routine or technique of prayer. They were natural, expressing the desires of his heart, now only thanksgiving and again only petition. In this prayer in Gethsemane we are stirred not only by the vision of our Lord's sorrow, knowing that it was for us; but also by the nature of the prayer itself.

"NOT MY WILL, BUT THINE," V. 42

Notice the address, "Father." That was his thought of God and himself. Prayer was from Son to Father, and in that thought is a world of meaning, involving confidence, reverence, and submissiveness. The last words of the prayer express what is implied in every other word of it—that the chief desire of Jesus was that the Father's will, not his, should be done. In that spirit there was but one will—the Father's. So emphatically does he stamp every word with dependence upon, confidence in, and loyalty to the Father's will, that the anguish that sent him to prayer really becomes secondary to his solicitude for the divine plan. No wonder that he lifted his eyes to behold a heavenly visitant bringing physical and spiritual strength. And what an answer to prayer! It was as if God had said, "Go on, my Son, the invisible armies attend you."

THE JUDAS KISS, V. 48

"But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss?" The kiss (see Matt. 26:48) was the traitor's prearranged sign, pointing out Jesus to his captors. "These words were enough, for they simply revealed the man to himself, by stating his hideous act in all its simplicity; and the method of his treachery was so unparalleled in its heinousness, so needless and spontaneously wicked, that more words would have been superfluous. With feelings that the very devils might have pitied, the wretch slunk back to the door of the inclosure, toward which the rest of the crowd were now beginning to press."—F. W. Farrar.

"Judas, dost thou betray me with a kiss?
Canst thou find hell about my lips, and miss
Of life just at the gates of life and bliss?"—George Herbert.

GETHSEMANE

"Even though I walk in the darkest valley,
I fear no harm; for thou art with me."—Ps. 23:4, Smith.

"It is the way of life, of God;
It is the way of right, of tears;
It is the way which seems to be
Life's only way—Gethsemane."—Wakeley.

Wage Figures Are Discussed

Labor Representatives Seek To Have Studies Based On Production Costs Of 1929 And Not Since Then

WASHINGTON, May 29. —(AP)— Some representatives of labor are trying to get the tariff commission to base its studies of domestic and foreign production costs on 1929 wage figures instead of those for what they call the "abnormal and chaotic" period since then.

The suggestion, advanced by M. J. Flynn, executive secretary of the American Protective Wage Earners association, at a hearing this week on boots and shoes, was answered by Chairman Fletcher of the commission with the statement that it is "up to us."

The reason for the proposal, Flynn explained subsequently, is this:

"Before the stock market debacle, we consider, conditions were more nearly normal both in Europe and in the United States than they have been since the war. Europe early in 1929 knew how much it owed and how much it had to spend. We were operating on stabilised wages known and well recognised. We not intend to accept 1930 and conditions, although we must ate them temporarily.

"Conditions in the latter have been chaotic as well normal. We do not want to fronted with wage figures time in official government ments, such as tariff findings."

Flynn, whose organization filiated with the American ation of Labor, said he intend press his request in every sta investigation the commission during the depression.

Killer Suspect Has Good Alibi

GALVESTON, May 29. (AP)—Sheriff R. E. Kirk said today that Tommy Reis, youthful convicted robber now under a 35-year sentence and also charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Joe Meyer, jail guard, could not have killed Alfred Cicchesi, San Antonio grocer. Kirk said records showed Reis was in jail here from January 22 to February 23, 1930, on a liquor charge, and could not have been in San Antonio the night of Feb. 14, 1930, when Cicchesi was killed.

Kirk issued this statement today after two witnesses had arrived from San Antonio to view Reis, believing his photograph resembled a man seen in the Cicchesi store shortly before the killing.

McNamee To Report Auto Classic

Indianapolis Speedway—McNamee at the "mike." Billy Arnold and mechanic.

GRAHAM McNAMEE, radio's ace reporter of sporting events, has again been chosen as the nation's eye-witness for the 500-mile auto race classic at Indianapolis on May 30. The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company will sponsor the last and most exciting hour of the race. Perched high in the glass-enclosed pergola near the finish line, McNamee will describe the shouting thousands in the stands, the milling hordes afoot inside the track, and the gruelling tussle of 40 of the world's most famous racers in their grim race with death. McNamee says the Indianapolis races surpass all sporting events for excitement. He will take the air at 2:15 p. m. Central Standard time and will tell his story over a network of 55 stations in the United States and Canada, including WEAF and the NBC red chain. Four former winners are entered. A win is worth about $50,000. It is said that all former records will be broken. (Broadcasting Time: 3:15 Eastern, 2:15 Central, 1:15 Mountain, 12:15 Coast. Daylight Saving one hour earlier.)
