Report On Local Schools Reveals Interesting Facts

The 1944-45 annual report on the Lamesa Public Schools to the State Superintendent reveals an enrollment of 2,203 white pupils and 151 negroes, to make a grand total pupil enrollment of 2,354.

According to V. Z. Rogers, school superintendent, the teaching equipment in the elementary and high schools for white pupils, including musical instruments, projection machines, library books, maps, globes, charts, laboratory equipment, and many miscellaneous materials was reported valued, based on costs, at $25,594. Teaching materials in the negro schools are valued at $735.

The value of buildings, grounds, and school furniture for the white schools based on original costs, was $407,948, while the equipment of this type for the negro school cost $5,944. The value reported for all Lamesa Independent School District property was $440,219.

The faculty for the school was made up of 35 teachers and one principal for the elementary school, 16 teachers and a principal for the high school, a head teacher and two other teachers for the negro school, and the superintendent of schools to comprise a faculty of 57. Additional employees included a tax officer and bookkeeper with a clerical assistant, clerical workers in each of the two principal's offices, and 4 custodians or maintenance employees.

Twenty-six of the white teachers were in the local system for the first year; 14 were there for the second year; 5 teachers have been employed for 3 years, and one for 4 years. Agent Tells Of Ways To Relieve Protein Shortage

T. A. Barfield, county agent, reminds farmers and dairymen in Dawson County that they can help relieve the shortage of protein feeds this winter by producing a good quality of hay, bundle feeds, and other roughage.

He says, "The hay and bundle feed should be cut before it is ripe in order to obtain the highest amount of protein possible in the stem of the stalk of the fodder. Hay or bundle feed cut just before it heads contains a much higher amount of protein than that cut after heads ripen."

He continues, "A good quality of roughage or hay produced in this matter will contain 10 to 14 per cent protein which is enough to carry a cow through the winter in fair condition. By feeding more good hay or roughage, less grain will be required in the cows rations. Good hay runs about 50 per cent total digestible nutrients and silage averages about 18 per cent, which means that 1 1/2 pounds of good hay or 4 pounds of good silage would equal 1 pound of concentrate rations."

"An estimated roughage needs to figure 1 ton of hay and about 3 tons of silage for each cow. With-out silage figure 2 tons of hay per cow. Figure an additional 20 per cent for heifers and bulls. These are minimum estimates. Larger quantities would be in order."

Ship On Which J. Ireton Is Aboard Is Described

Editor's Note: The following article which was submitted to this office describes the ship which Jack B. Ireton, S-1-C is now aboard. Seaman Ireton is the son of Mrs. Elmer Ireton of this city, who spent 15 months overseas. After spending a 30 day furlough here with relatives and friends, he has again returned to duty in the Pacific zone. The troop transport hospital evacuation ship to which he is attached has undergone a complete conversion job at the Naval Yard in Alameda, California. The article describing the vessel is entitled:

"Navy Transport Is Mercy Ship" and is printed below:

And now comes the APH — an evacuation transport, something entirely new to the Navy in this war. Without the usual Red Cross insignia to designate her a ship of mercy, or any claim for special protection from sea or land forces, the APH was recently returned to the Eastbay after 27 months in battle zones of the Pacific. She was built at the Moore Drydock Company and prior to going on duty again was docked at the General Engineering Company yards in Alameda for overhaul and general repair.

In her 27 months as an experiment, she made the grade and the Navy removed the veil of secrecy in her operations and revealed her tremendous value to the Fleet. As explained in the Navy announcement:

"This ship has two jobs. She carries troops to battle like any attack transport of Fleet Admiral C. W. Nimitz' great Pacific Fleet. She gives them her best in encouragement and support. And she doesn't withdraw under fire.

"Leaving the fairly protected transport area during a Pacific battle operation, this transport and others like her, stand in closer to shore than any other transports—waiting for the inevitable string of small boats, amtracks, ducks, and other water craft which her crewmen know will start streaming toward her—the craft being filled with wounded and dying men from the beaches, dispatched sometimes under fire by the Beachmaster.

"She lifts the men aboard through the same hatches that she shortly before had used for disgorging her fighting troops. Her hospital corpsmen, her chaplain, her doctors are at the hatches. They cut the clothes from the suffering men. They hastily check the wounds and determine treatment. No shoving around of these wounded occurs."

There were 27 major operations and 45 amputations of all types aboard the transport in the first days of battle activities on Guam, the Navy reports.

Comdr. Anthony F. DePalma, of Newark, N. J., estimates blood flow to the transport from the Bay area alone cut the mortality rate of 65 burned men brought aboard on one occasion from a possible 90 per cent to 33 per cent.

A participant in the Leyte and Lingayen Gulf invasions, where Jap air attacks were heavy, the transport bagged her first Jap plane in the latter under fire from one of her 20 millimeter guns.

Capt. P. H. Jenkins of Annapolis, Md., the ship's commanding officer at the time, was awarded the Bronze Star for his skillful handling of the transport off Guam, and this was repeated off Leyte when a Jap submarine tried to torpedo her.

Some 160,000 miles, or equivalent to 6 1-2 times around the world, were traveled by the transport in her 27 months at sea. In the work of carrying troops to war and returning patients from war, the APH the first year voyaged between Guadalcanal, Tulagi, the Russells, Noumea, and Auckland, N. Z. She had close calls several times.

In her complete service, she carried units of the Third Army Division to Guam, units of the Army's Attu Division, units of the famed Seventh to Leyte, and brought the Army's 11th Airborne to Leyte in a later move. She loaded with the units of the Army's 77th for the Kerama Retto and LeShima invasions.

As a ship of mercy, one of her mightiest tasks was performed in the Guam invasion. In only eight days she handled 865 patients, all fresh casualties from the beachhead.

"She's some ship," says the Navy.

S-Sgt. W. S. Land Is Enroute Home From Overseas

WITH THE 28TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN ASSEMBLY AREA COMMAND — S-Sgt. William S. Land, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Land of 508 South Seventh Street, Lamesa, is enroute home from the European Theatre of Operations with the "Bloody Bucket" Division, which in eight months saw vicious combat action from Normandy's hedgerows to the heart of the Reich.

The 28th quit its occupational duties in Germany July 5th and moved to Camp Pittsburgh, one of Assembly Area Command's 17 re-deployment camps near Reims.

Entering action July 30, 1944, at St. Lo, the "Bloody Bucket" men battled across Normandy, paraded through Paris, proceeded east through Belgium and Luxembourg, and smashed into the Siegfried Line September 11th—the first troops to enter Germany in strength.

After its November fight in Hurtgen Forest, the 28th moved to the quiet Luxembourg sector. On December 18, it caught the full force of Von Rundstedt's Ardennes offensive. Quickly recuperating, the 28th moved south to help liberate Colmar in Alsace and drive to the Rhine. Within a month, it was again at the Rhine near Coblenz.

Sgt. Land owns the Combat Infantry Badge, E.T.O. Ribbon with 4 Battle Stars, Good Conduct Medal, and Purple Heart.

Wheat Goals For 1946 Announced

The following article was submitted to this office by C. E. Tatter, administrative officer at the local AAA office:

A Texas wheat goal of 5,200,000 acres seeded for harvest in 1946 has been announced by B. F. Vance, This provides for continued full production in line with the 1945 seeded acreage of 5,028,000 acres.

The goal represents Texas' share of estimated requirements during 1946-47 for food, industrial and other non-food uses, export, and reserves.

Although a record national wheat crop of 1,085 million bushels is indicated for this year, the carry-over July 1, 1946 is not expected to be excessive because of heavy requirements for wheat during the months ahead, particularly for relief feeding. Estimated requirements for wheat may be somewhat smaller by the time the 1946 wheat crop moves to market, but are expected to equal production at average yields from an acreage as large as this year's.

The Texas goal for rye to be harvested for grain in 1946 is recommended at 25,000 acres. This compares with an indicated harvest of 26,000 acres in 1945. Farmers are asked to plant as much acreage to rye to be harvested for grain as is consistent with needs for other crops.

Sgt. T. H. Roberts Is Commended For His Service

AAF 318TH FIGHTER GROUP, OKINAWA — Sgt. Thomas H. Roberts of Lamesa has won a commendation for "invaluable assistance" to the Army's veteran, hard-slugging 318th Fighter Group.

The commendation came from Commander of the Pacific's Seventh Air Force, who awarded a Meritorious Service Unit Plaque to the air engineering squadron of which Sergeant Roberts is a member.

Sgt. Roberts and fellow technicians, veterans of Pacific warfare, are providing advanced maintenance and repair work for 318th P-47 Thunderbolts which are helping to spearhead the AAF's offensive against the Jap homeland.

The plaque was awarded in recognition of services for the 318th Group during the Marianas campaign and the subsequent pounding of Truk and Iwo Jima.

During this time, battered and aging fighter planes of the 318th were kept flying for 47,000 hours as a result of what pilots called "miracles of maintenance and repair" by the engineering squadron.

Sgt. Roberts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts who live on Route B in this county.

THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU. Rom. 16:16

ACTS 2:38—INVULNERABLE

"REPENT YE, AND BE BAPTIZED EVERY ONE OF YOU IN THE NAME OF JESUS CHRIST UNTO THE REMISSION OF YOUR SINS; AND YE SHALL RECEIVE THE GIFT OF THE HOLY SPIRIT."

Here Is The Divine Order Of The Divine Steps

BELIEF — REPENTANCE — BAPTISM — REMISSION — HOLY SPIRIT

THE ABOVE CHALLENGES THE DENOMINATIONAL WORLD

In the above words, using the "Keys" of the kingdom, the apostle Peter opened God's kingdom to men. That kingdom remains open—but to such ONLY as enter through the DOOR.

The conditions stipulated by Peter and the promises named by him, apply to every man, "Whom the Lord our God shall call unto him." Vs. NO ONE CAN COME UNTO GOD UNTIL ALL THE CONDITIONS NAMED BY PETER HAVE BEEN COMPLIED WITH. GOD HAS SAID IT.

1. Peter was given the authority to first use the "Keys" of the kingdom. Matt. 16:19.
2. Peter, with those keys, unlocked the kingdom of heaven on the day of Pentecost. Acts 2.
3. Christ assured that in using the keys he would BIND and LOOSE by Conditions laid down.
4. Peter offered salvation, through Christ, upon the above conditions—no other.
5. The Holy Spirit moved Peter to speak all that he gave out on Pentecost.
6. When they heard what Peter said, Repented and were baptized they were added to church.
7. Since that day the conditions by which man can enter the kingdom have ever been the same.

Seaman Coker On Ship Which Has Seen Action

ABOARD THE USS BIRMINGHAM IN THE PACIFIC -- James Doyle Coker, seaman first class, USNR, whose wife, Hazel Estelle Coker, lives in Welch, serves aboard the USS Birmingham which can look back on 121,500 miles of fighting the Axis from the invasion of Sicily to the battle of Okinawa.

Operating with the famed 3rd and 5th Fleets and Task Forces 38 and 58, she bombarded Wake Island, participated in air strikes on Tarawa, took three hits at Bougainville, shelled Shetland Island and hurled her might into the assaults on Salpan, Tinian and Guam.

At Mindanao, she sank 3,000 tons of shipping and assisted in the destruction of another 3,000. At Bougainville, she blasted four Japanese planes out of the sky and scored hits on 11 others.

Following the battle for Leyte Gulf, the Birmingham was damaged for the second time. She had gone alongside the USS Princeton to battle fires resulting from a direct hit.

The ships lay in a trough of the rough waters separated by about 50 feet when a terrific blast from exploding bombs and torpedoes in the Princeton rained death on the decks of the Birmingham. After three months for repair, the Birmingham steamed out again to take part in the Iwo Jima operation and the battle for Okinawa.

Mamama Mars; Huge Flying Boat Retires

By JAMES J. STREBIG AP Aviation Editor

NAVAL AIR STATION, Patuxent, River, Md. — The Mars, buxom "old lady" of the Pacific, has quit carrying war cargoes between San Francisco and Pearl Harbor for a teaching job in southern Maryland. In its new assignment, the 70-ton flying boat is a training plane for crews to man the giants spawned from Mars blueprints and experience. These are the 29 cargo ships, designated JRM's by the Navy to be built at the Glenn L. Martin plant at Baltimore.

The first JRM is scheduled to fly in a month or so. As they become available, Mama Mars will have prepared the pilots, engineers, radiomen and navigators for checking flights in the new design.

The JRM will gross around 20,000 pounds more than the Mars, will have a single tail instead of twin rudders, and a re-designed interior to improve loading. It is expected to carry a heavier load than the Mars.

The Mars design was conceived in 1937, when the Navy sought a long-range flying boat bomber. With a change in bomber thinking the seaplane was converted to a transport.

The big plane, easily the most talked-about and pointed-at ship on the Alameda-Pearl Harbor Naval Air Transport Service (NATS) route, retires with an excellent record.

Just before being turned over to NATS in November, 1943, the Mars flight, immediately after being made a 32-hour-17-minute test stop from Patuxent to Natal, Brazil—4,250 miles. On one leg of the return flight it carried 35,000 pounds payload.

On one flight the Mars left the water with a gross load of 148,500 pounds, which the Navy says is the heaviest ever lifted by wings. On a trip between California and Hawaii it carried a payload of 27,181 pounds.

The Mars made 136 scheduled trips, flying a total of 345,680 miles. It carried 3,000,000 pounds of war cargo, a heavy percentage of which was whole blood destined for Pacific battle areas, and 2,500 passengers.

The plane made 62 trips this year without being beached for major overhaul or repairs. In March alone it made 20 Pacific crossings with a total of 419,332 pounds of cargo and 473 passengers. The average load on the 2,400-mile flight was 20,966 pounds of cargo and 23 passengers.

The Mars was not withdrawn from the Pacific because it was too tired to fly. It is likely to get a more severe beating in the frequent takeoffs and landings during crew

Safe Guard Your Vision Thru Dr. Harrington's Care

Consider seriously how vital your eyes are to you. Your work, your play, everything depends on seeing well. Imperfect eyesight cuts your efficiency, causes you to make errors and drains your energy.

Often a person is prone to take his eyes too much for granted and only when trouble develops does he consult an optometrist. This is unfortunate as you have only one pair of eyes which must last a lifetime, and every effort should be made to protect them.

Your eyes comprise one of your most delicate organisms, and you should take every precaution to safeguard your vision. Dr. J. M. Harrington, local optometrist, has his offices located at 516 South First Street. He has been located in this city since 1930, throughout which time he has been engaged in optometrical work. He has all the needed equipment, to help you with your vision problems and keeps up-to-date mountings and frames for you to select from.

He keeps up-to-date styles of mountings and frames to suit his patients, and has all the needed equipment to aid you and to give you eyes the attention they deserve. You can visit Dr. Harrington at his office from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., any day of the week. Your needs are taken care of promptly and efficiently there and every effort is made to please the patrons.

FLAGPOLE IN ITALY IS NEGRO TRIBUTE TO FDR

ROME (AP) — A 63-foot flagpole—one foot for each year of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's life—has been erected in an almond grove near Canosa, Italy, by members of a Negro aviation engineer battalion.

Major Giuseppe Correnti of Canosa publicly proclaimed that on every anniversary of President Roosevelt's death—April 12—the citizens will bank the flagpole's base with flowers.

The battalion built a four-foot wall around the base of the flagpole, each foot symbolizing a Presidential term. At the base they placed a marble plaque with the words: "This flagpole is dedicated in memory of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, 1882-1945."

New York Leads In Fashion Battle

PARIS — Ladies' day at the Auteuil races used to be fashion day, when a bevy of beautifully dressed models were sent out by couturiers to show off their summer collections. But if the showing at the first Auteuil Prix des Drags, heralded in advance as the first return to such goings-on since the war, was any indication, New York already has won the first round in the battle for world fashion leader.

The crowd looked pretty ordinary. For some reason or other, few designers climbed on the bandwagon, and there was just a sprinkling of well dressed women, obviously standing around waiting to be photographed.

Many tailored suits in various materials ranging from light silks to heavy wools were in evidence, and most featured long pockets and nipped-in waists. Emphasis on the waistline also was visible in afternoon dresses, some with modified bustles and front fullness. In general, however, almost anything goes from the standpoints of materials and lines.

Milliners, no matter what they say, are still going in for the creation of terrifically huge hats of the wildest colors. A number of mannequins appeared wearing simple tailored white silk frocks, set off with topheavy wide-brimmed hats, many in dark colored heavy velvet. The difficulty in finding crea-

Hard Work In The Garden Produces Good Results

Tomorrow's garden is made better by the work the gardener puts into it today, says J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. According to him, he suggests some things which may be done at once to assure larger production on growing plots.

Tomatoes, peas, okra, pole and bush limas, and peppers should be given a fertilizing, mulching and soil stirring right now. Then when cool fall days come along production should be good. There's a little time to plant these vegetables in east, central and southeast Texas.

Rosborough suggests that it is timely to protect tomatoes, especially those which have been staked and pruned, against damage from sun blister. Instead of allowing the fruit to remain on the vine to ripen, harvest it when a small area of pink shows on the blossom end. If placed in a cool, shady place the tomatoes will ripen in two to four days into a deep pink or red ready for the table or canning.

The fruit so handled seems to ripen better on the inside than if left on the vine to mature, he adds.

The time is right to plant collards and late watermelons. Collards may be put in wherever a row of spring or summer vegetables have been taken out. A 10-cent package of seed will plant 100 feet of row. The Georgia or Louisiana cabbage collard varieties are both good. Rosborough recommends planting the seed where they can be worked throughout the summer, and when the first frosty days come along in October or November.

ber the collards will be at their best as fall greens.

As the early planted watermelon crop will be out of the way in early August, Rosborough recommends a second planting now. The Black Diamond variety is heat resistant, and a full patch on deep soil will put watermelons on the back porch when fall approaches.

Looking farther into the future, Rosborough suggests plowing the fall garden plot now. This preliminary step he explains, would keep down weeds and prevent the soil drying out in late summer. Garden plots prepared now can be harvested from time to time and when planting time comes adding the fertilizer and sowing the seeds would be the only jobs left.

Taking Up Golf Helped E. Winn Regain Health

PLAINVIEW, Texas — Elmer Winn doesn't know whether golf saved his life—but he does know it certainly helped.

Anyway, 18 years ago doctors advised him he'd never be able to walk upstairs to his office again; he couldn't raise his left arm and was in the midst of a nervous breakdown. So he took up golf.

Today, at the age of 82, he competes in tournaments and is a tough one to beat.

They call him "Down the Middle Elmer" because that's where he plays. He drives 150 yards and is consistent on his short game.

Winn came to Plainview from Iowa in 1909 and entered the automobile and real estate business. It was in 1928 that he had the nervous breakdown; he says it came from trying to manage the building of 28 houses on 10,000 acres.

Then came golf. At first he played only a few holes a day but soon he had full use of his arm and was playing nine. Next he stepped out for 18 and then he occasionally would go 27. Today he plays three or four times a week, doesn't worry about the weather and is his own caddy.

He doesn't work much these days, just sort of supervises the business operated by his two sons. "I am satisfied with myself both financially and athletically," he says.

He beats his 13-year-old grandson regularly at golf. "The kid beat me once and was tickled to death," Winn declared, his blue eyes shining.

He plays in the Tri-State Senior tournament at Amarillo each year and always breaks 100. Often he shoots around 80.

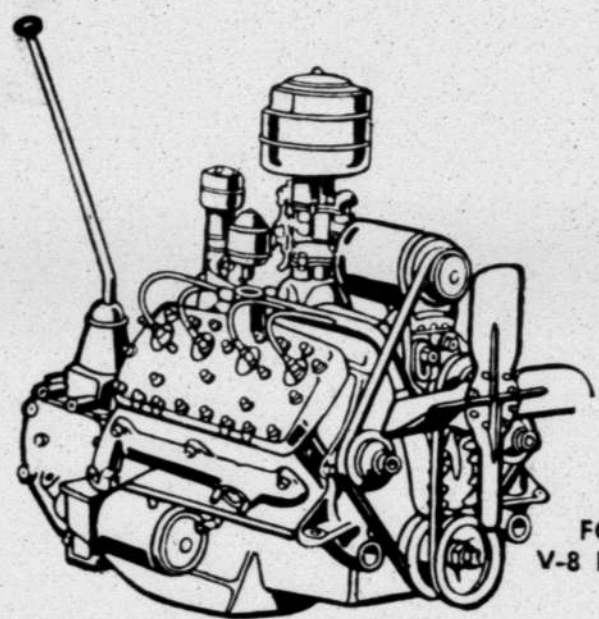

Make Every Egg Count

Eggs are perishable food and should be handled as such, says E. D. Parnell, poultry husbandman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, in a plea to "make every egg count this summer." The demand for eggs currently is abnormally high and maintenance of high quality is equivalent to conserving the largest number possible to supply consumer needs. Eggs lose quality and edibility very quickly unless they are properly handled.

For example, fertile eggs exposed for two days to July heat may develop blood rings and thus be lost as food, Parnell says. On the other hand, infertile eggs exposed to heat remain edible much longer. If electric refrigeration is not available to producers he recommends that they obtain plans of the Extension Service iceless refrigerator from the county agricultural agent.

Parnell suggests the following practices as efficient means of holding egg quality on Texas farms this summer:

- (1) Sell off the male birds and produce infertile eggs;
- (2) Gather eggs two to three times a day in wire baskets and cool them before placing them in cases;
- (3) Refrigerate eggs until delivered to market;
- (4) Provide one nest for each four to five hens and renew nest litter frequently;
- (5) Place broody hens in special broody coops as soon as they are discovered. Feed and water them well and in 10 days they should be laying again;
- (6)

One big reason for the Coke shortage

When the world is turned upside down by war—it's hard to put your finger on the reason for a lot of things. The Coca-Cola shortage, for instance.

The answer is that there's a world-wide sugar shortage caused by the disorder and confusion of war. And of course the less sugar we get, the less Coke we get. But there's one fact you can count on—the quality of Coca-Cola never changes. The Coca-Cola you get is the real thing—the quality is the same today as you have always known.

So next time your dealer says "Sorry, no Coke today"—don't forget he can't help it any more than you can. Just try to make the best of it—same as he does—and please remember to ask for Coke again tomorrow when you shop.

Jeep Vs. Taxi; Another Battle Of London

By ROBERT N. COOL
AP Newsfeatures
LONDON — One of the epic struggles of the war is still being waged upon the streets of London between U. S. Army jeeps and English taxicabs.

The jeep, as every patriot knows, is a rugged mountain-goat of a vehicle, usually seen traveling with three wheels off the ground. British taxicabs are square-built and high — but deceptively fast and maneuverable. Jeeplike, they defy certain physical laws.

With the arrival of the first American jeeps, taximen were warned that the Yanks were accustomed to drive on the right-hand side of the road. The motorized doughboys learned, on the other hand, that Britons stuck methodically to the left.

The first known encounter came on a 10-foot-wide London thoroughfare called "Gumchum Lane," where soon after Pearl Harbor the jeep "Bile Bean, Jr." confronted a London cab known as "Fleeing Neil."

It was a tense moment. The two steered straight toward each other, neither yielding. However, at the last possible instant, the cab driver saw a fare step to the curb up ahead and signal with his umbrella. Quick as a flash, the cabbie made a complete turn and escaped ambush.

It was, some believe, one of the U. S. Jeep's first victories. But good Londoners still insist that a 1923 model White-chapel taxi—with the wind behind it—can face down and over-awe a Yank-driven jeep any day.

They claim the jeeps are just callow descendants of their cabs.

Vera Vague—and How She Grew

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — I approached Vera Vague with some trepidation, realizing her well-known propensity for pursuing males. Imagine my surprise to find myself conversing with a soft-spoken, attractive woman.

Actually, I was talking with Barbara Jo Allen, and not once did her man-chasing counterpart, Miss Vague, break into the conversation.

"Then you are not like Vera?" I asked.

"I should hope not," she answered. "Vera is merely a characterization of mine. And not one of my favorites, either."

"Oh heavens, yes! How could I fall to like the dear girl? After all, she bought my ranch and all my fur coats. But still, I would like to do some different things as well."

Barbara Jo explained the origin of Vera. Eight years ago the actress, who had appeared on the stage and was then in radio, was attending a PTA meeting.

"There was one very fascinating woman who was giving a lecture on world literature," she related. "She was speaking ad lib and unfortunately couldn't remember any names. At one point she said, 'I wish I could think of the name of one very famous author—but anyway, he's dead now so it doesn't make any difference.'"

Barbara Jo did an impression of the PTA speaker at an NBC party, and the executives loved it. Possibly foreseeing the future, she prepared to leave for New York. But before she could leave town, she was offered a contract "to renunciate to turn down."

"I don't think I would have signed if I would have known what was going to happen," she said. "The character got a little out of hand. At first it was merely a flattery name. But now Vera's getting out of hand."

Barbara Jo realizes she can never get away from Vera, but she hopes to humanize the character sooner or later, perhaps with her own radio show. Meanwhile she continues to play non-Vera roles in the movies. Currently she is enacting the mother of a 16-year-old boy in "Snafu." This isn't difficult for her, since she actually is the mother of a 16-year-old.

But she still has to watch the roles she plays. A couple of years ago she played a heavy in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye." At the same time she appeared in a rollicking Vera Vague opus at Republic. She said she had letters from theater owners asking her not to do such a switch again. "It's too much of a shock to the public," they said.

X MARKS THE SPOT

• This is the spot in a certain home where a good electric refrigerator once stood. Like the old adage, "you never miss the water until the well runs dry," this electric refrigerator withstood misuse and abuse for many years. It got none of the care such a valuable appliance deserves.

Finally the inevitable happened. It quit, a victim of the usual malady—lack of care. A vacant spot is the only reminder of the many years of faithful (but unappreciated) service it rendered.

Fortunately, this unhappy result of carelessness hasn't occurred very often, but it does happen. The moral to this little story:

 2,000 hours of training and for which a definite need in the community can be shown. In certain cases where State regulations prescribe the type of training necessary for a particular job, training can not be offered.
 Other advantages which he points out are: Part time students do not displace regular workers, because as their hours of work are limited they can not compete with full time workers. No regular full time worker may be displaced. Part time students are employed in the same manner as any other employee and receive wages for their work. Students and employers are protected by the Workman's Compensation Act. Students come within the scope of the Social Security Act and receive its benefits. Students graduate from high school with enough fundamental training in an occupation to make them employable.
 He further states, "Should a part time student decide to go on to college, his occupational training may be an asset to him in earning his way. His training has helped him to acquire the proper attitude toward work, and will be to his credit in what ever professional pursuit his college work may lead him."
 He concludes, "Naturally each occupation will call for the possession of certain personal qualities necessary for success in that field."
 It is pointed out that the initial selection of students will be made by the coordinator, E. P. White, in cooperation with the employer and with full approval of the local advisory committee, student, and parents.
