President Begins Study of Budget Proposals

SIZE OF RELIEF SPENDING STILL UNDER QUESTION

Income and Outgo Is To Be Decreased Says Executive

BUREAU AT WORK

Estimated Deficit Decreased By Billion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—On Oct. 29, a presidential conference on the next year's budget emerged a prediction that regular departmental expenditures would continue at unchanged levels, but with "slight increases" possible.

The big question mark—the size of relief expenditures—remained unsolved.

President Roosevelt, with Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget, began during the day the anticipated quest for reductions in emergency spending which would fulfill the chief executive's forecast of a "sharply decreasing spread between income and outgo."

"The regular budget," Bell said in response to questions, "will probably be substantially the same as this year, although there may be some slight increases due to new duties imposed upon some units by new legislation."

From his forecast he excluded, he said, the debt service—payments of interest on the national debt and the retirement of maturing government securities, an item of $1,269,000,000 in this year's budget.

He made it plain that the nub of the problem was wrapped up in the emergency recovery situation and amounts which will have to be expended through the work relief program.

The budget bureau is hard at work on emergency estimates for next year, he said, and has been for several weeks, adding it had been handicapped by lack of personnel.

A final estimate, he added, until just before the budget is sent to congress in early January.

On September, President Roosevelt reduced his estimates of emergency expenditures in this fiscal year, ending next June 30 from $4,820,000,000 to $4,520,000,000 and the total of all expenditures from $8,520,000,000 to $7,752,000,000.

As a result the estimated deficit was decreased from $4,520,000,000 to $3,231,000,000 as compared with the actual deficit of $3,375,000,000 in the last fiscal year.

BATTERED BODY OF MAN FOUND

Police Seek Suspects In Death on Railroad Near Pyote

BARSTOW, Oct. 29. (AP)—The battered body of D. Theophilus Phillips, Memphis, Tenn., crushed by a Texas and Pacific passenger train, was found on the right-of-way 10 miles east of here yesterday by Sheriff Dyer of Pyote.

The sheriff asserted he believed Phillips either had been slain and placed on the tracks, or was killed accidentally.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Gaines of San Angelo, returning from a Mexico hunting trip, said they stopped on the roadside to rest and heard screams of a man crying for help. They sped to Pyote and informed the sheriff.

Big Springs and Barstow officers today were looking for suspects, believing that the man might have been slain. Gaines said that when the man was found it appeared that he was begging for help and for his life. A railroad engineer said that he saw the man but that he was staggering along the track, apparently slugged.

Indications of a struggle were found a half mile from where the man was found.

Midland Day Set For Nov. 11 at Arlington Downs

Monday, November 11 has been selected by the Special Observance Day Committee of the Chamber of Commerce at Fort Worth for Midland Day, at the Arlington Downs Fall Race Meet, Charles G. Cotten, secretary of the committee advised the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

TYLER ATTORNEY WILL RECOMMEND PRODUCTION TAX

15 Cents Per Barrel To Be Asked To Pay Pensions

ETEX PRODUCER SAYS INDUSTRY PAYS TOO LITTLE; WOULD LOWER GAS TAX

KILGORE, Oct. 29. (AP)—F. W. Fischer, prominent Tyler attorney and oil producer, said today that he and associates will urge the legislature to pass a gross production tax of 15 cents per barrel on oil to pay old-age pensions.

He said that he would also advocate a decrease in the state gasoline tax from four to two cents per gallon.

Fischer asserted that the oil industry is inadequately taxed and that unless some groups come forward to help the old people of the state are going hungry.

A slight show of gas at 2.785 feet with an increase at 2.795 feet added interest of Bates operators today to Walsh and Adams No. 1 Abernethy, wildcat drilling northwest of the town of Seminole, Gaines county.

The present levels are two and one-half cents on each dollar, through the drilling mud, and operators believe that they are not yet to the Yates and Total depths.

Test reported on the well was 2.818 feet, where mud was being thickened for further drilling.

In northern Crane county, Magnolia No. 2 Edwards established itself as the largest well of the area yesterday when it flowed naturally 330 barrels during the first hour of test and 320 barrels the second hour.

Pay was encountered from 3.535 to 3.538 feet which is the present depth of the hole. The well is now shut in waiting for storage.

Cree and Hoover, No. 1 Grove wildcat southeast of the town of Kermit, Winkler county, was reported this morning to have reached total depth of 3,200 feet and appears to be only a small well, although operators plan to shoot and clean out before gauging.

DUCE DECLARES ITALIANS MUST START ON DIET

Measure Follows Up League's Boycott On Foodstuffs

PEACE HOPE DIES

Mussolini Confident All Supplies Can Be Obtained

By Associated Press

Mussolini today put Italy on a six months diet to fight the sanctions. Effective November fifth, the sale of meats will be restricted to reduce the necessity of imports.

Mussolini is preparing a plan to reduce the governmental use of paper and other supplies which are partly imported.

The Italians today pushed 25 miles deeper into Ethiopia and were half-way on their march from Adigrat to Makale, the mountain pass gateway to the interior.

Small concentrations of Ethiopian tribesmen were scattered before the Italians.

New strength was given the league sanctions campaign when 24 nations, pledged to keep the "buy nothing" boycott effective on Italy.

League officials said that the lack of putting Italian penalties into effect would be given to various committees.

An Italian official said that the government is confident that many nations would scramble to supply Italy's needs after the sanctions program disrupts commercial contracts.

Hope for early settlement of the Italian-Ethiopian crisis by diplomatic negotiation seemed ended the United Press reported from London.

Three factors made it today to end any hope for early peace through diplomatic negotiations:

1. Indications that Italy is ready to resume its offensive in East Africa.

2. Premier Benito Mussolini's warning to his fascists that they must be prepared for "most desperate resistance" to League penalties.

3. British and French determination to apply penalties as soon as possible.

Italy's unofficial peace "feelers" have been found satisfactory.

Florida Ship Channel Gets Under Way

Though the projected $140,000,000 Florida ship canal has become a bone of bitter contention between north and south sections of the state laborers, aided by mule teams, as shown above, have already begun removing surface soil near Ocala, to permit great dredges to dig the canal which will divide Florida geographically. While northern Florida hails as a splendid improvement the 200-mile "ditch," which will shorten by several hundred miles the voyage of steamers from gulf ports to New York, many southern Florida municipalities, chambers of commerce, and civic organizations have appealed to President Roosevelt to stop the canal construction, on the ground that it would divert or pollute fresh water from underground streams vital to cities and farms in the lower part of the state.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29. (AP)—Administration hopes for a final decision before Christmas on the constitutionality of a AAA plywood tax. The tax was ordered by the Supreme Court in December, and the AAA has argued December 9.

Overriding a government request that the case be set for November 20, the justices complied with the wishes of Hoosac Mills attorneys.

"Too important to be crowded," while it would be entirely possible for the court to hand down its opinion by Christmas even after hearing arguments in December, attaches said that would be highly unlikely.

Usually it requires a few weeks after arguments for the justices to discuss an important case, and carefully prepare the opinion. Then the opinion must be printed. Since the court is expected to take at least a three weeks recess beginning December 23, some observers predicted an announcement was unlikely before January 13.

In a brief session today before recessing for two weeks, the court added another New Deal case to the docket. The latest involves the right of the government to condemn land for its slum clearance and low cost housing construction program.

Condensation Sought

The case originated in efforts of the public works administration to condemn land in Louisville. Lower courts had previously ruled that the government could not use the power of eminent domain for such a purpose.

The court also refused to reconsider a petition by Thomas J. Mooney, serving life in San Quentin prison, asking the court to review his conviction of complicity in the 1916 San Francisco preparation for a day parade bombing. Mooney's case is still pending in state courts.

Received records of proceedings in New Jersey tribunals which resulted in a death sentence for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted of kidnapping and murdering Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. This was routine action preparatory to asking the high court to pass on the conviction.

Government lawyers had expressed hope for early arguments on the Hoosac mills case so that a decision might be handed down before congress meets in January. In the event of an adverse ruling, it was explained privately that a before-Christmas ruling would give ample time for preparation of new legislation.

AAA Is First

The AAA argument probably will be heard slightly ahead of the case attacking the validity of the Bankhead cotton control act. This was brought by Lee Moore, a Clint, Tex., cotton planter, whose petition was dismissed by lower courts.

The other pending New Deal case involves the Tennessee Valley Authority act. Fourteen preferred stockholders of the Alabama Power company contended the legislation was unconstitutional in a suit involving the government's right to purchase transmission lines to carry power to the TVA.

PENSION LAW IS UNDER FIRE AS CONFEREES MEET

Sponsors Would Get Million By Tax On Pipelines

SENATE OPPOSED

Sales Tax Voted Out By Members Of Upper House

AUSTIN, Oct. 29. (AP)—The senate instructed conferees on old age pension legislation against inclusion of taxes in the national security act, while the house voted to include a one per cent tax on gross receipts of oil and gas pipe lines in an omnibus bill to pay old age relief.

Sponsors estimated the pipeline tax would yield about $1,000,000 annually. They originally proposed a two and one-half per cent levy.

The house made no progress on the lengthy omnibus tax bill. Amendments were adopted removing a tax on gross receipts of railroads contributing to employee's pensions under the national security act and reducing the levy on gross receipts from hotels from 2 to one per cent.

With the sales tax fight over, senators renewed debate on a bill to set salaries for officers removed from a fide basis.

The senate's instructions, approved 16 to 11, prohibited levy of a sales tax on a tax on gross receipts from sales merchandise, and any tax. An anti-sales tax bloc, led by Senators W. R. Poage of Waco and Ben G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls, insisted the movement to instruct conferees with the first part, while the latter was added, 18 to 8, on motion of Senator John W. Hornsby of Austin.

The fight hinged on an amendment by Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth to instruct against only a sales tax on necessities, leaving open a route for a selective or luxury sales tax.

Senators deadlocked 12-all with three pairs on motions to table it, and to adopt it. On the first, Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodruff broke the tie in favor of Rawlings but on the second in favor of the anti-sales bloc.

Opponents of the instruction predicted that pension payments would not be possible without a sales tax. While Poage asserted the only issue was determination "if you want a sales tax in the conference report."

Senator Robert W. Poage interpreted the house contingent as favorable to the levy and urged the instruction against possibly the same contingent likewise would favor it.

Speaker Coke Stevenson previously had appointed Representatives Harter Morrison of Terrell, Courtney Gray of Brownwood, Robert W. Caldwell of Hillsboro, Walter E. Jones of Ponder, and Traylor Russell of Mt. Pleasant, Wood appointed Roy Sanders of Belton, Allan Shivers of Fort Worth, E. M. Davis, of Brownwood, Ken M. Regan of Pecos and T. J. Holbrook of Galveston.

Holbrook predicted that although the senate previously had defeated a sales tax, legislators "are being driven to it and will take it sooner or later" to pay pension costs. Without some form of a sales tax, he said, "we cannot have pension payments."

O'Neal countered with a prediction "the house will not go home without passing some kind of tax" to pay pensions, while Senator Claude Westerfield of Dallas charged "every big lobbyist has called for a sales tax" to escape special levies.

Entertain With Halloween Party Monday Evening

Miss Juanita Cox Hostess at Shower Monday Complimenting Mrs. Tibbetts

Complimenting Mrs. Jake Tibbetts, the former Miss Audrey Ticknor, Miss Juanita Cox was hostess at a shower at the home of Mrs. Joe Pyron, 724 W. Storey, Monday afternoon.

A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in appointments with chrysanthemums as the party flower.

Mrs. DeLo Douglas presided at the handpainted bride's register.

Miss Francis George read an original poem dedicated to the bride.

Guests were each asked to write a wish for Mrs. Tibbetts, the wishes then being lowered into an ivy-covered "wishing well" which had been erected in the living room.

When the honoree removed the ivy from the top of the well and started to draw up the old-fashioned well-bucket, she discovered that the "wishing well" contained concrete symbols of her friends' wishes for her in the form of a variety of gifts.

At tea time a salad plate was served. Plate favors were miniature figures of angels.

Present were: The honoree and her mother, Mrs. E. W. Ticknor, Mrs. Fred Weimle, Mrs. J. C. Miles, Miss Theresa Klapproth, Miss Elizabeth Lomax, Miss Marion Cartwright, Miss Vera Heffner, Mrs. Susie G. Noble, Miss Elma Graves, Mrs. Sam Cummings, Mrs. Archie Estes, Mrs. Frank Mickiff, Mrs. Ed Watts, Miss Dorothy Dunagan, Miss Francis George, Miss Phyllis Haag, Miss Evelyn Haag, Miss Read Thomas, Mrs. Sallye Covington, Miss Wanda Ticknor, Mrs. W. A. Sherrod, Mrs. Ray Parker, Mrs. M. D. Cox, Mrs. Maedeele Roberts, Mrs. Hayden Wilmoth, Mrs. Bob Scruggs, Mrs. DeLo Douglas, Mrs. Pyron, and the hostess.

Other things that pep us up: Having people say nice things to us even when we don't deserve them; pretty weather; white cloud strata across a background of pale blue sky; poems that have a reckless, devil-may-care spirit to them, symbolic of the kind of person we'd like to be and can't; the thought of a trip, anywhere; a new bottle of perfume; casual conversation with an interesting new acquaintance; a new book.

If laughter is an indication of mirth, our vote goes to a group of Misses M. Elizabeth Wilson and Kathleen Ehland were hostesses at a Halloween party at the home of the former, 606 S. Main, Monday evening.

Halloween decorations were used and various "crazy" games, contests, and fortune telling occupied the evening.

Present were: Misses S. M. Francis, J. J. Russell, Addison Young, Raynee Carroll, Armstrong, Chas. Rorer, Misses Ernestine Bryan, Anna Lee King, Maria Spencer, Geraldine Walden, Joyce Holman, Marie Bell McKee, Janis Wilkes, and the hostesses.

girls for apparently having the best time. And we don't mean giggles, we mean laughter.

We haven't noticed a moon the last few nights in the traditional round orange style that is appropriate on Halloween posters (though, mind you, there may be one). But this sunshiny weather with blue sky and white clouds is quite appropriate to the season.

The Town Quack

for outstanding horses and Midland is getting more and more able to supply the demand. These government thoroughbred stallions have raised the standard of cowponies, polo ponies, roping horses and all other kinds. A few ranchmen still say they need "common ponies" for their cowhands to ride, but maybe they need better horsemen and some good ponies.

The Bulldogs may have been "nosed out" at Wink the other night, but we still have a clean record for the season on the home grid-iron. Let's stay behind the Bulldogs and help keep that record clean. The Bulldogs should not lose another game this season.

A popular young Midland girl got married last week and this morning I saw her coming to town after her breakfast. This younger generation of husbands must be slipping. I've heard of several young men who won't cook their wives any breakfast.

This newspaper is planning to cooperate with certain civic organizations in a traffic safety, or accident prevention campaign. However, at a glance it looks like we have waited until the accidents have stopped. A few months ago Midland was fast setting up a record for automobile fatalities and accidents, but of late the drivers have been more careful. During the Fair, for instance, there was a minimum of traffic disorder, with automobiles from everywhere using the same streets and highway. That speaks well both for traffic officers and for the public.

Homer "Shorty" Ingham learned something about this claiming of horses during the recent rodeo. He had a nice five-year-old sorrel horse which he had trained for a roping horse. A visiting roper walked up and asked what he would take for the pony.

"Two-fifty," said Homer.

"I reckon I'll take him," said the roper.

And now Homer is wondering how much more he could have got for the pony if he had put the price tag on him.

I hear there was a lot of horse trading at the rodeo, as well as at the races. There is always a demand

Sports writing should be done with a minimum of work here this week.

The rodeo and races are over and the Bulldogs do not have a game until Friday week, when they take on the cellar Stanton Buffaloes.

Perhaps by that time the coach will once more have his team in a winning mood again. If they do not beat Stanton the team might as well disband for the season as it is doubtful if even Professor Lackey would go out to watch them play anyone else.

For several seasons we have had a supreme burst of confidence just before each Stanton game with Midland and given a number of points, ranging from 14 to 30, that the Bulldogs would win. So far we have never collected a bet. No matter how good a team Midland has had each year, or how bad the Stanton team was, the games have always been close. More times than not the Bulldogs have lucked out on the Stanton teams.

The Stanton team, any year, would rather defeat the Midland team than win all other games on their schedule, and this year they have an added incentive. The Stanton coach, Bryan Henderson, is an ex-member of the Midland coaching staff and a victory over the Midland team by Stanton would make this season a success.

From past performances this season it is easily figured out that the Stanton team does not have a chance to defeat Midland but don't expect the Bulldogs to run rough shod over the east siders.

You can give odds—big ones—that the Midland team will go into the Stanton game so overconfident and swell-headed that their helmets will not fit and they may win by three touchdowns, but it will probably be by a score somewhat closer.

As a basis for that claim we refer you to the games that have been played between the clubs for the last three or four years. Each season Midland has had a team that, on paper, ranked from five to eight touchdowns better than the Midland county lads but, year in and year out, the Bulldogs have had to do their damndest to eke out a win.

All of which means that we will not offer any 30 points on the game as we did last season.

JUST FLUBBUBBING

After the DePaul game in Chicago in which his team could do no better than get a tie, Pete Cawthon, Texas Tech coach, explained that the mental attitude of his team was wrecked before the game by seeing a man leap out of a 12th story window and smash himself to death right in front of them. After their game against Loyola the other night the probable alibi is that they saw light scenes of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Amarillo fans this time last week were demanding 18 points when approached regarding a bet on the pending Amarillo-Pampa game. Since the defeat of Pampa by Lubbock, the Sundstorm has once more become a district favorite.

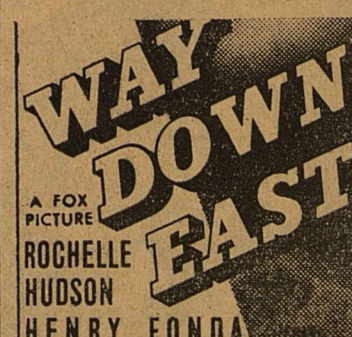

Here is a bet for it or not, R. W. (Bob) Hamilton, Midland lawyer, was D. D. Shifflett's coach in high school. And now Shifflett has 10 grey hairs in his head to one for Hamilton.

After the way Big Spring people supported the Midland Fair, the Midland people owe them something in return and a small opportunity is offered them Armistice Day.

On that day the Steers will tackle the San Angelo Bobcats in a battle that will undoubtedly settle the flag chase in that district.

With no game in Midland on that date it would be a swell idea if a large delegation of Midlanders go over and give the underdog Big Spring team their support. Regardless of who you are for, Big Spring or Angelo, that will be the nearest real football game to Midland this season and for anyone desiring to see at least one good game this season—start getting ready. Better buy your tickets soon, though, as the game will, without a doubt, be a sell-out.

NEWSPAPER MAN GIVES TIP-OFF ON '36 CAR STYLES

Betty Goodwin (National Broadcasting Company fashion reporter): "I suppose, Mr. Noe, you have all the advance news on the 1936 motor cars. What seems to be the new style trend? I've been hearing a lot of things about the new Dodge."

Floyd A. Noe (Automobile Manager, New York News): "There is no doubt in my mind that the 1936 Dodge is the finest looking and most stunningly styled car that Dodge has ever produced. I have been associated with the automobile business for ten years and have been intimately familiar during that time with each new Dodge. I suppose you realize yourself that to Dodge owners the very name of the car is synonymous with ruggedness and dependability, but I repeat that never have I seen such a beautiful Dodge as this new 1936 model."
