Variety Is Spice Of Fashion

Miss Elinor Barr and Mrs. Sheldon T. Coleman

Some mighty smart blouses and frocks this season. Mrs. James T. Coleman has a sweet lavender and white striped blouse with a scalloped collar that falls like a jabot that spring styles are seasoned to the Queen's taste!

For there's more variety to any single type of costume than one can mention. A mere stroll down Park Avenue without even stopping along Madison or the late 50s or 60s at Pierrepont or Marquetry proves this.

In a single day I saw a dozen different versions of the tweed dress costume. Also fully as many ideas of what's what in footwear with tweed. No two hats are the same. Purse as an individual as the women who carry them.

Elinor Barry has a one-sided cape frock in beige tweed that is the last word in smartness. It is a diagonal lined tweed, in very soft fabric, and its beige background is flecked in darker tones. The skirt is pleated all around, the hem is belted and from one shoulder a circular cape swings. She wears brown antelope pumps tipped and saddled in calfskin.

A Rhapsody In Brown

Mrs. Sherburn M. Becker, Jr. has gowns in the skirt of her tan tweed suit and wears a brown scarf knotted in muffler style under her coat. Her purse and shoes are brown. Her hair and her three eyelet oxfords, with high heel.

Genevieve Clendinning's brown tweed suit is flecked with red and she sponsors the new style of wearing a bright lack-in blouse, one of red.

The polka dot still retains its chic with the exclusive, in spite of almost democratic popularity. But of course that little spice of variety enters again. I never before saw the kind of cute polka dotted fabric that Mrs. Sheldon T. Coleman's new blue suit is fashioned of. It has a very fine and faint off-white fleck in dot shape. There is a nice feminine touch to the way the coat collar ripples like a jabot. A double sash neckline did its bit, too.

Skirting The New Mode

Mrs. William C. Low came back from Europe with the Leithank wearing something new in skirts, and cut well below the knees with a long sports-line where last year's skirts ended. Her lack-in blouse was of modernistic hand-blended cashmere—a fabric that bids fair to rival silk for smartness when it comes to scarfs, bags, blouses and even coat linings.

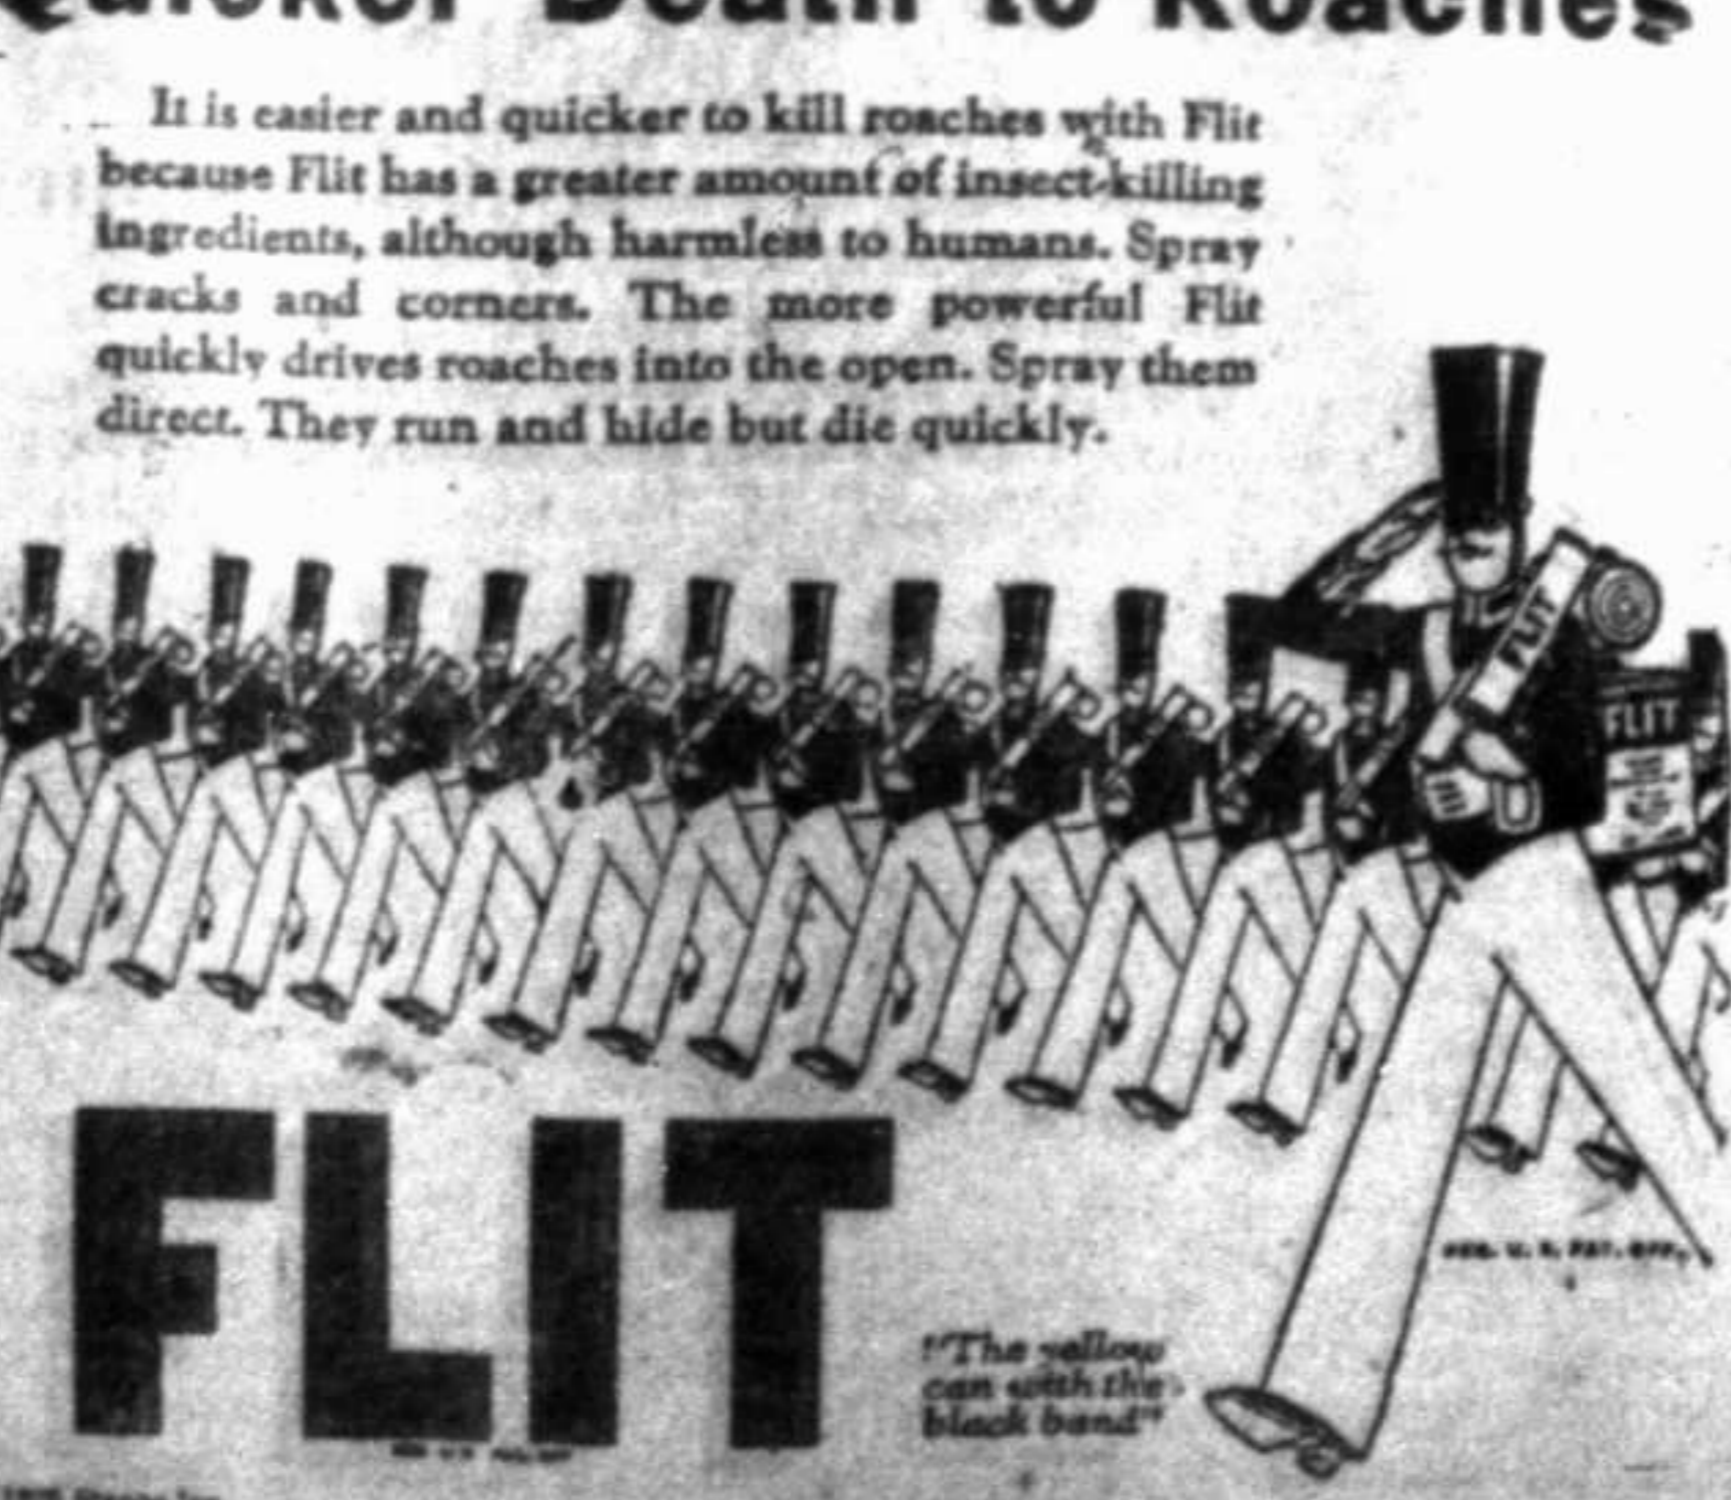

Princess lines do a lot for the right figure. I saw Mabel Burchard walking down Park Avenue in a light spring coat-out princess line and it was terribly becoming. Her pouch purse and classic, simple opera pumps were of snazakskin.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jackson of Talohka were visitors Tuesday in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Prestridge have returned to Foster after a business visit in this city.

Quicker Death to Roaches

It is easier and quicker to kill roaches with Flit because Flit has a greater amount of insect-killing ingredients, although harmless to humans. Spray cracks and corners. The more powerful Flit quickly drives roaches into the open. Spray them direct. They run and hide but die quickly.

Governor Moody Carries His Fight For Prison Reform, Comprehensive Plan Of Highways Before East Texas Meet

Chief Executive Pleas For Interest In Work; East And West Join In Efforts; Port Arthur Gets Meet

(By Associated Press) BRYAN, May 7.—Gov. Dan Moody of Texas today carried his fight for prison reform and a comprehensive state highway program before the closing session of the third annual East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Without endorsing any of the schemes now under consideration to accomplish those ends, the governor attacked present prison conditions and the present highway building machinery of the state. The prison system drew most of his fire, since it is for the most part in East Texas. He asserted the penitentiary system now loses in the neighborhood of $500,000 a year and should be rebuilt into self-supporting system designed to reform and not to manufacture criminals.

"Our present system gives the convicts on the farms employment about six months of the year during the cotton season," he said. "The rest of the time the state is feeding, clothing, housing the convict who is idle. We must give the convict something to do. There is no reason why the convicts should not make the clothing and produce many of the things that they and the state need. This scheme is objected to by many who say that in producing something which labor produces he would compete with labor, but under our present system he is producing cotton and competing with our farmers."

Points Out Faults. The governor dwelt at length on health and hospital inadequacies of the present system, pointing out that convicts are forced to live so closely together that the spread of disease is continually communicated from one to another. He said that the one big trouble with the isolated farm system was the inability to get proper medical treatment. He told of one convict whose scalp was burned off while he was saving comrades in a prison fire. Only the personal intervention of one of the commissioners got proper medical treatment for the prisoner as the prison had no facilities and private hospitals refused to take the case.

On the highway subject he pointed out that the present system depends too much on local enterprise and produces gaps in roads instead of good through highways. He urged a state-wide system financed by traffic alone.

Barry Miller Talks. Lieutenant-Governor Barry Miller spoke briefly before the governor took the stand. The governor's party arrived a few minutes after the convention had selected Port Arthur for the next convention city. The vote was by acclamation. No others were nominated.

Chamber of Commerce Men Move For New Plan. BRYAN, May 7.—A move for a new deal in the highway tangle was launched here today when presidents and managers of the East-West Texas Chambers of Commerce decided to invite the South Texas chamber of join them in appointing a committee to make a thorough investigation and recommendations. R. S. Sterling, highway commissioner, was present at the conference, which also was attended by John Middleton, president, and W. N. Blanton, general manager of the East Texas chamber; Homer Wade, manager, and Andy Bourland, president, of the West Texas chamber. Each of the chambers will be asked to appoint three to the committee with the presidents of the three organizations sitting in. As soon as the committees have been appointed they are to meet in Austin.

No particular program for the committee was agreed upon but it was believed the chief purpose would be to prepare sentiment for a constitutional amendment permitting a bond issue.

East Texas Ask For Aid In Resolutions At Bryan BRYAN, May 7.—Resolutions advocating a comprehensive highway program, adequate appropriations for Texas A. and M. and careful deliberation before the passage of a state income tax law were endorsed by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce before adjournment of its third annual convention here today.

The convention also endorsed W. F. Lea of Orange for the United States shipping board and asked for an increased tariff on copra and vegetable oils which compete with cotton and peanut oils.

The highway resolution declared the state is operating under an "ox cart" constitution in an automotive age and urged a constitutional amendment empowering the legislature adequately to finance a state highway system.

FRESHMAN ARE MISSED

With hundreds of freshmen gone the main corridors rang with echoes yesterday and upper classmen admitted that "it didn't seem right." Many of the advanced students have classes with the slimes and tests had been prepared by the teachers for those who were left behind. Some enterprising boys removed the green banner and an election flag floated from the tall pole. Beginning at midnight Monday and continuing until midnight last night the underclassmen began to pay back a few insults that they have had to endure throughout the year.

A test for any frying fat— FRIED CHICKEN!

And Snowdrift fries it at its savory best!

FRIED CHICKEN
1 Chicken • 1 Cup Snowdrift
¼ Cup Flour • 1 Tablespoon Salt • 1 Cup Milk or Cream • ½ Cup Water

A very young chicken should be cut in halves or quarters. Or a full grown but young chicken may be used, if desired, and this should be prepared and disjointed as for fricassee. Roll each piece in the flour and salt which have been sifted together. Heat the Snowdrift in a heavy iron frying pan or kettle. Add enough chicken to cover the bottom of the pan. The chicken should be turned only once, the frying being accomplished in about twenty minutes. When brown, drain off all but one-fourth cup fat and add the water. Simmer very slowly until tender. A very young broiler will take half an hour, and a full sized chicken from one to two hours. Replenish the water if necessary. Serve with a gravy made with the drippings in the frying pan, two tablespoons of flour in which the chicken was rolled and the milk or cream.

That easy! All the savory juices safely sealed within and the hot fat kept out, because Snowdrift heats hot enough to fry in perfectly long before it begins to smoke or burn.

And, remember, you can use it again and again, after straining... for Snowdrift doesn't absorb any of the frying odors, even that of fish.

THEVENOW BACK
Tommy Thevenow, the Philadelphia Nationals shortstop, who was seriously injured in an automobile smash-up during the spring training season, has returned to the team after a lengthy stay in the hospital and will try to take his place in the Philly lineup. Thevenow rose to fame while a member of the 1926 Cardinal machine that swept through under the leadership of Rogers Hornsby to the first world's championship brought to St. Louis in 38 years.

Normally a mediocre hitter, Thevenow proved one of the most dangerous in the pinches during the world series with the New York Yankees. His fielding and hitting was the sensation of the classic series. A broken leg early in 1928 hampered the St. Louis star throughout last season. His hitting was unusually weak and his fielding failed to come up to standard. As a result, Rabbit Maranville filled the shortstop position for Bill McKeechne most of the time and during the past winter season, Thevenow was sent to the Phillies.

Gaining back his old stride at bat and in the field during spring training, Thevenow seemed headed for a great season with the New York Yankees. His fielding and hitting was the sensation of the classic series. A broken leg early in 1928 hampered the St. Louis star throughout last season. His hitting was unusually weak and his fielding failed to come up to standard. As a result, Rabbit Maranville filled the shortstop position for Bill McKeechne most of the time and during the past winter season, Thevenow was sent to the Phillies.

Whether it could be called a wise thing to send Thevenow in at shortstop while Friberg is slugging the agate so consistently is a question. Undoubtedly, it will take some time for Tommy to regain his old confidence in the field and at the plate. From the standpoint of the baseball followers, Thevenow is a favorite. The readers of the sport columns and those who have seen him play are anxious to see him throw off the injury jinx and rise to the heights where he belongs.

Rice, Texas and Texas A. & M. are the favorites in the annual Southern Conference track and field meet to be held in Dallas Friday and Saturday of this week. The event will close the college track careers of two of the greatest athletes in the history of the conference, Claude Bracey, the Dixie flier from Rice, and Big Leo Baldwin, the premier weight man of the Longhorn squad. The success of this pair will have a great deal to do with the outcome of the encounter.

Bracey holds the conference records in the 100 and 230-yard dashes and is out to beat these marks this season. It is not likely that he will be beaten in either of these events and his chances for establishing records that will stand for years to come are exceptionally bright, considering his phenomenal performance in previous meets this season. Baldwin holds the conference records in both the discus and shot and is almost certain to win both of these events for the Steers. Brunsen, the other great runner with the Owl, is favored to take the 880 and mile, although Guffin of Texas, Crowell of S. M. U. and Jacoby of Rice are touted as serious contenders in these events.

The majority of the experts agree that the present champions will have a battle on their hands in out-pointing the Longhorns. Texas is expected to grab at least two places in the high jump with Perkins and Howie jumping over six feet consistently. All agree that the meet this year will be a horse race and a wild scramble for points.

Texas A. & M. is hoped to take the mile relay with a team composed of Badger, Tracey, Hodges and O'Neil.

U. S. Professional Golf Champ Batters Course Record By Three Strokes To Lead Big Field

By FRANK H. KING.
Associated Press Staff Writer
GULLANE, Scotland, May 7. (AP)—With Leo Diegel, professional golf champion of the United States, showing the way American golfers today made a highly successful entrance into the British Open championship. Diegel, with a record-breaking 70 over the Muirfield course, led the big qualifying field with a score of 144 for the 36 holes of pre-championship play and he was followed into the select circle of qualifying players by most of his fellow countrymen.

It no longer can be said that British weather at its worst can dismay golfers from a United States. Yesterday's howling east coast rainstorm and a gusty wind today played all the tricks that weather can play with a golf ball but all the series contenders from the United States got under the wire with 162 or better, necessary to qualify.

It's just as well the Ryder players didn't play for money. Then the Old World could bludge at the spectacle of golfers without shirts.

Rice Again Formidable This Season With Bracey And Brunson Heading List After New Records

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer
DALLAS, May 7. (AP)—Several existing records may go into discard when track stars from seven schools of the Southwest Conference clash here Friday and Saturday in the annual conference meet. It will be the first time the event has been held in Dallas.

By virtue of brilliant pre-meet showings, Texas University, Rice and the Aggies will ride favorites. Rice topped the crown last year and with Brunson and Bracey again in its lineup will be hard to head. Texas Christian, Baylor, Southern Methodist and Arkansas have shown little that would stamp them as contenders.

Heading the list of stars who will reach speed and brawn in the twoday festival is, of course, Claude Bracey, sensational Rice speed merchant. The meet will afford the Southern express his last opportunity to crack the present conference mark for the century, and there is reason to believe he will better the record of 98 set by Cockrell of Texas in 1927.

Bracey bettered the recognized world record of 96 both in the Texas relays and Southern Methodist relays, running the classic in 9.5 and 9.4 on succeeding days. In the recent Drake relays he did it in 9.8 on an exceptionally heavy track. Given a dry track and a still day, he possibly will set a record Saturday that will stand for many years.

The Rice flier also will be out to clip a fraction of a second from his own conference record of 21.6 for the 220-yard dash, set last year.

Brunson is sensation. Brunsen's leather-hunged teammate, also has his eyes on two records, the 880 and mile events. He set the present record for the half-mile, 1:57.5, last year and has beaten that mark several times in practice this season. He is co-holder with Hooper of S. M. U. of this conference record for the mile, 4:21.8. They say he probably will take a fall out of that mark also.

It was a great pitchers' battle between two left handers for seven innings with Dumovitch having the edge, but Willie having the lead due to the great fielding behind him.

I had had pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild.

SCRIPTURE—The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly.

THE UNWILLING HELPER HARRY SINCLAIR, whose name is symbolical with all millions, has—to use a brutal phrase—gone to the hoosegow.

It is a great mistake to think that exciting stories of adventure are found only in the list of fiction best sellers.

REAL ADVENTURE TALE It is a great mistake to think that exciting stories of adventure are found only in the list of fiction best sellers.

From Major General John A. Lejeune, then commandant of the corps, there came a story that reads like the most exciting fiction ever written.

Then there is the story of Major Rowell, aviator, whose engine stopped when he was flying directly over El Chipote, Sardino's mountain stronghold.

When the average graduate is 30 he has lost most of the traces of having gone to college, a college president says.

Those lamenting the disappearance of the old-time picturesque ring names may be comforted to know that Oliver Snowflake, of New York, recently won on a foul from Gummy Snyder, of Perth Amboy.

OHIO SENATOR WOULD KEEP WOLF FROM DOORS OF EX-PRESIDENT BY CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, finds no fault with the position occupied by Chief Justice William Howard Taft of the United States supreme court.

It's rather," explains the senator, "because an ex-president still has so much to give to the country than because the country is able to offer a great deal more to him than I favor retaining him in the public service.

"No other man can possibly acquire a training in national affairs equal to a president's." "The senate is a thorough school. It involves a study of many problems, and numerous and varied contacts, but not a tithe of the chief executive's.

"Following his retirement, obviously the counsel he is equipped to furnish, out of this wealth of experience, is priceless valuable." "It seems to me that it can be used to best advantage in the senate.

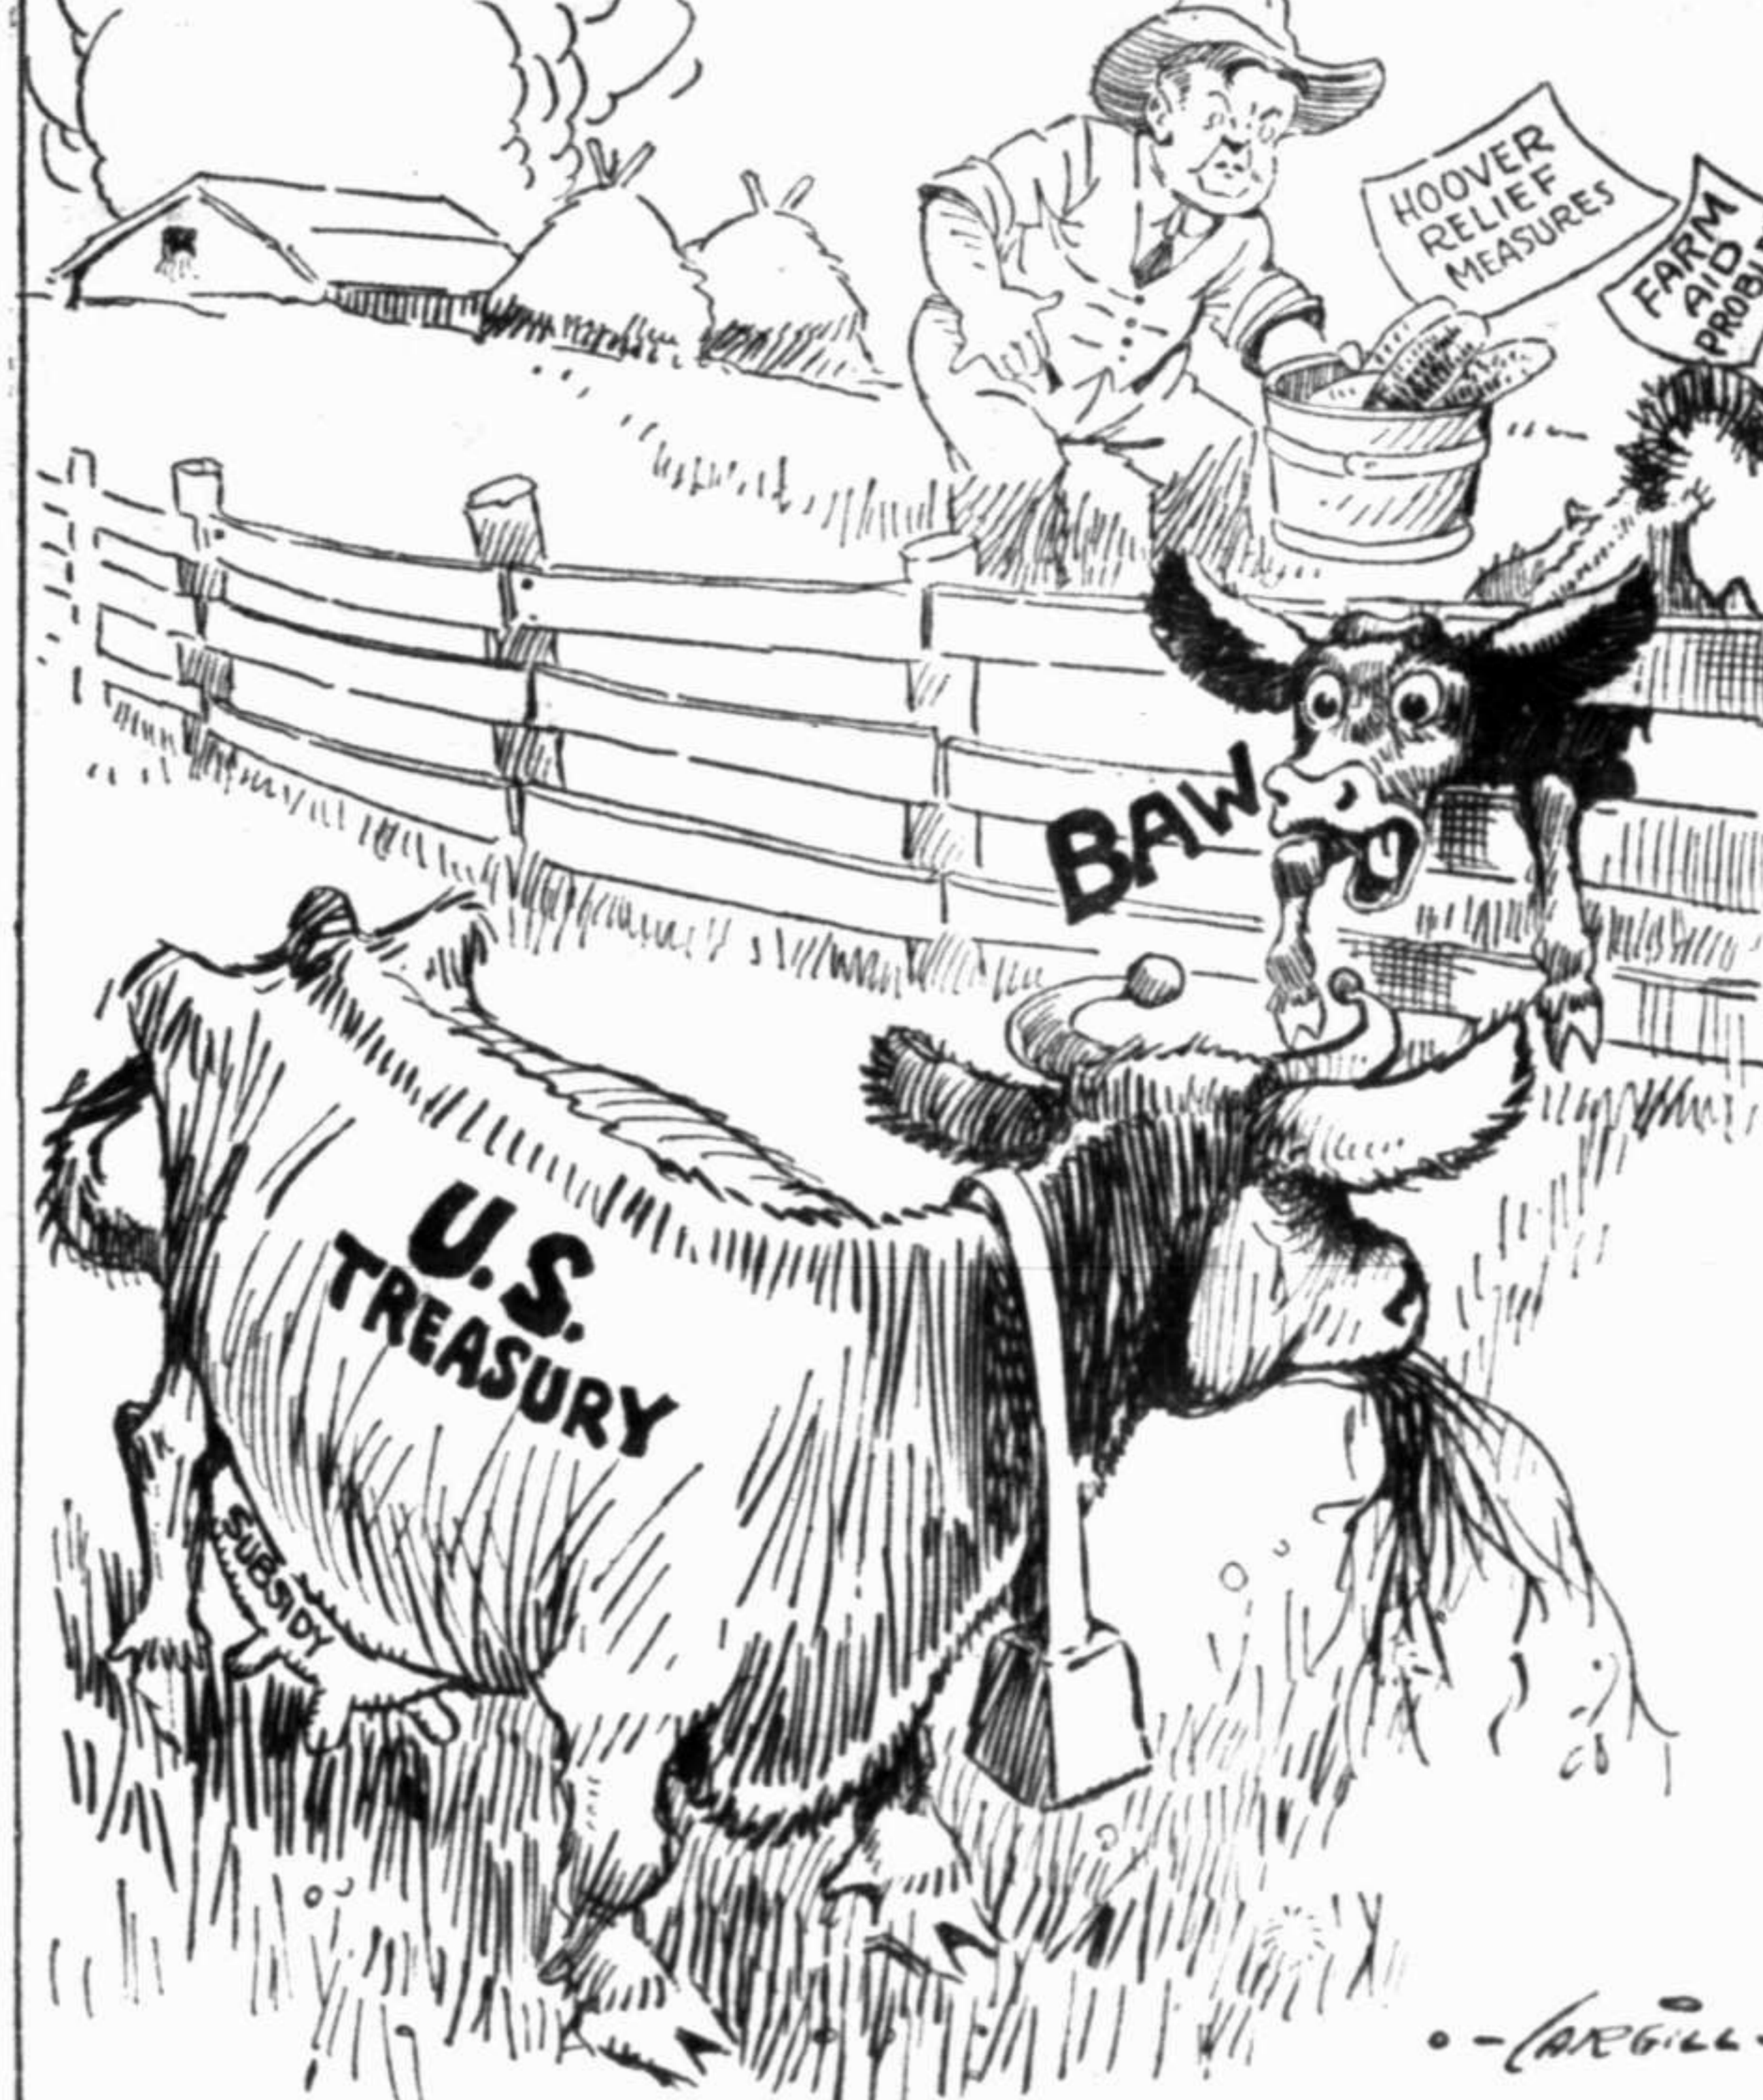

"I do not especially argue," said the Buckeye statesman, "for senate votes for ex-presidents. Perhaps a more satisfactory status for them would be something like that of our territorial delegates.

a few days off," she decided, wondering how a deleted pay envelope could be made to meet the present emergency.

"Won't mother love them!" she exclaimed gratefully. "And I'll enjoy them, too. I'll be home with her for a while. You'll tell them at the hotel, Harold?"

"Of course. I hope it isn't going to be serious, I mean..." "Mildred glanced at Connie. "The doctor said he doesn't think the arm will be crippled," she replied, but there was a note of gravity in her voice.

"You needn't worry," Connie explained. "He's brought up everything but canary tonics."

"The doctor will be here in a minute, Mom," she said encouragingly. "Doesn't the oil help at all?"

"Oh, I guess so, dear," Mrs. Lawrence managed to say between biting her lips to keep back her tears.

"I'd be in the way," Harold murmured. "Oh, no," Mrs. Lawrence put in, her hospitable spirit surmounting her suffering.

Tight Money Still Forces Market To Suffer Pressure

Dozens Of Important Issues Lose From 2 To 7 Points; Day's Sales Fall Short Of 3,500,000 Shares

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—The stock market still suffered from the relentless pressure of tight money today. Pool operators were able to send a sizeable assortment of issues a few points higher, but could not attract a following. Dozens of important stocks losing from 2 to 7 points. There was no general inclination to unload, however, and the day's transactions fell short of 3,500,000 shares.

The remarks of Governor Roy A. Young of the federal reserve board to the effect that the reserve banks cannot indefinitely keep their discount rates below open market rates were regarded rather gloomily in Wall Street, as fears of higher rates had waned during the past few weeks.

An indication of the extreme scarcity of funds appeared today when New York banks were bidding 10 per cent between themselves for surplus federal reserve funds, a full 1-2 of one per cent above the rediscount rate. Call money renewed at 14 per cent, a high level seldom reached by the renewal rate in late years, and held at that rate all day. Dealers in bankers' acceptances raised their rates 1-8 of one per cent for the longer maturities, following a similar increase recently for 30-day bills. Many theories were advanced for the persistent scarcity of funds. One was that J. P. Morgan & Co. had called a substantial sum to pay for stock purchased in United Gas Improvement by United Corporation. Another was that recent new financing had caused a considerable drain on the money market.

Hogs: choice butchers 9.50 to 9.75; choice light weights 9.00 to 9.25; choice heavies 9.00 to 9.50; packing sows 7.00 to 8.50.

MID-WESTERN LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, May 7. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Further price declines were enforced on hogs at most points around the 11-market circuit. Values were unevenly steady to 25c lower, with closing trade more active than the opening. The day's extreme top of 11.45 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 72,200, a decrease of 30,700 from a week ago and 15,000 less than the corresponding day last year.

Although cattle receipts were light to moderate, fed steers and yearling trade was slow with packers attempting to shade values. A slow eastern dressed beef trade was the depressing influence. Light weights of steers and yearlings were generally steady with a fair demand for the choice grades. Weighty steers were on a weak to 25c lower basis. The in-between grades showing the decline. Chicago scored 15.00 on choice 1,200 pound steers and realized 14.85 on long yearlings. Choice light weight steers at Kansas City and Omaha reached 14.50. Prices on stocker and feeder steers have strengthened this week due to the curtailed supply. Kansas City received 14.75 for a load of choice short yearling stockers and attained 13.50 for a nine-car string of good horned Texas stockers averaging around 625 pounds. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 35,300, as compared with 44,813 last Tuesday and 37,502 a year ago.

PORT WORTH GRAIN
PORT WORTH, May 7. (AP)—Wheat values nominally followed the contract markets to lower levels in today's trading on the cash grain market, but dealers held off awaiting further action of the market and there were no sales here. Corn and oats slow with no sales of barley.

Corn: Unchanged.

Cotton Is Fairly Active Tuesday On New York Market

NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active today and price movements were feverish. Values declined 17 to 22 points in the early trading prompted by lower Liverpool cables, a further decline in wheat, and continued high money. The lower level attracted active covering with some fears of a respite in Wall Street, as fears of higher rates had waned during the past few weeks.

The opening was steady at a decline of 19 to 16 points and early in the day was under considerable pressure from liquidation and selling through commission houses. The further break in the grain markets and the high money rates seemed to bring out more selling on western and Wall Street accounts and although the cotton advanced to 18.85, when the market developed signs of firmness more attention was given to some earlier private reports of weevil activity in the southern belt. Washington announced that only one boll weevil emergency report would be issued this spring, which will be as of June 1, and will be released on June 14.

New Highway Is Designated Here

Lubbock's advantageous position as the highway center of the South Plains will be further strengthened with the completion of highway No. 18, from Lubbock to Palestine, route of which has been designated by the state highway commission. This new route is by way of Port Worth, Stamford, Spur and Crosbyton, shortening the distance from here to Port Worth by about 30 miles, and the distance from here to Palestine is shortened by about 60 miles.

A woman pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was fined $23.40 in Lubbock County court before Judge Robert Bean Tuesday afternoon.

Five Young Men To Dare Atlantic In Home-Made Boat; To Leave On June 1

This 26-foot launch is the tiny vessel in which Joe Leppich (above) and four companions plan to leave June 1 for a voyage from Toledo, O., to Hamburg, Germany. The ocean dash, 1700 miles from Saint Johns, N. F., to the Irish coast, will be made in just a week, they say. They will start with 380 gallons of gasoline, 20 gallons of water, and a food supply sufficient to last four weeks.

By NEA Service
BRONSON, Mich., May 7.—Five young men here have just completed tests for the 26-foot gasoline launch in which they expect to leave Toledo, O., on June 1 for a voyage to Hamburg, Germany. They will begin their 1700-mile voyage across the Atlantic from St. Johns, N. F., with the Irish coast as their goal.

Following a pep demonstration in front of the Hotel Lubbock, skating, dancing, hiking and a picnic lunch, served by women of the First Baptist church at Crosbytown, composed the pleasure menu at the lake.

Missing Girls

the mother explained.
Alta Mae Gilbreath had not been having dates with boys, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gilbreath, 1945 Avenue H, explained. She had been associating with Juanita and Loreta, her co-partners in the disappearance. It was said. Parents could assign no reason for her running away from home.
Parents of Loreta, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Griner, 2003 Avenue J, have made no explanation of the affair. The mother, who, like Mrs. McGrady, has forbidden her daughter having many dates, has been worried to almost prostration.
Replying to a rumor that the girls had been seen Tuesday in Lubbock, J. T. Immon, judge of the city corporation court, discredited the report by emphasizing that officers had made a thorough search in this city.

Duke's Wife Testifies Of Relations With Cox; Case To Go To Jury Today

one going to his left and the other to his right. A flare from a burr pitt at a nearby gin lighted the scene, he said, and he saw J. A. Cox standing looking at him. He scrambled to his feet and fired in the dark at where he had seen Cox, then turned and aimed the shotgun at the other figure, when he heard his wife say don't shoot. With his wife he entered the house and remained there until taken to Lamesa by the sheriff.

Feared for His Life.
On cross examination by Charles Crenshaw, of Lubbock, special prosecutor, Duke said, "I fired because I thought my life was in danger. I thought that the two were after me. Henry Smith, a neighbor, had told me Alva and Elmer Cox had told him they were after the man who started the rumors, and that they had tried twice to get him to say I had threatened Alva's life." The minister said he hadn't let Cox know he suspected anything, that he hadn't told Cox not to come to the house, that on the night of the shooting he hadn't become convinced of the truth. That at the time of the shooting he didn't yet believe they were true and that his only motive in firing the shot was to protect himself, because he thought his life was in danger. Duke admitted that Cox had never made a threat against his life and said he didn't see Cox's hand or see him make any kind of motion just before Duke fired the fatal shot.

Saw Testifies.
Elmo Duke, the preacher's 17-year-old son, was the state's star witness Tuesday morning. He described scenes and related actions of himself and the defendant prior to and on the night of the killing.
Mrs. Duke, 37, and the mother of four children, when she went on the stand took off a large black straw hat to reveal thin, bobbed, light brown hair, surrounding a face from which rouge and powder had not completely effaced the marks of advancing age. The large, light blue eyes, were surrounded by broad eyebrows. She trembled violently, but managed to keep her voice steady as she told of her meetings with the younger Cox.
"He hugged me and kissed me and said 'here's where I leave you,' just a minute before he was shot. When the shot was fired I turned and saw Mr. Duke, with a gun leveled at me. I asked him not to shoot and he put the gun down and we went into the house," Mrs. Duke testified.

Tells Her Story.
Under the gentle questioning of her husband's attorney, J. E. Garland, of Lamesa, the woman told her story.
"He began by making love to me by being nice to me in a way to my affection. That was in 1926. The first time we went out near the church and remained there an hour or more. That was in October, 1926. My husband was out of town. We went to the second time to the little house near the store, where my son sleeps at night.
"Our trips were always near our home, except when we went east of McCarty, 21 miles east of Lamesa. There one night he suggested that we leave in the car and head for South America or some other place. He asked how much money I had with me. We had about $40 a piece and I told him I didn't think we would get very far on that. I had come to Lamesa to church that night in our car, and I met him near the square.
"We had bought a deal of merchandise, and my husband got an accident policy with it. Mr. Cox saw it, and said he would see that the accident happened if I wanted him to, and I asked him if he wanted us to go like Ruth Snyder and Judd Grey were thought all the time that Mr. Duke didn't know of our relationship, but on the night of January 24, he had a gun and when I asked him if he was going home and go to bed he said for me to go on to bed, that he was able to take care of himself.
"Soon after that he called me over to his home, and in the presence of his wife asked me if Mr. Duke had said anything about improper relations between us. He told me he had heard that Mr. Duke had said if a certain person said it was so he was going to kill him (Cox). He then said, there's nothing to the rumors, and I said sure not," Mrs. Duke said on direct examination.

Own Free-Will
On cross examination by Mr. Crenshaw she said she had no idea how many times she was out with Mr. Cox, asked if Mr. Cox forced her attentions upon her, she answered, "In a way it was of my own free will, I guess."
Still on cross examination Mrs. Duke testified as follows: "On the night of the homicide, Mr. Cox went into the little house through the window. I followed later, also going in through the window. Almost every time we were together the last year, he wanted me to elope with him. He kept wanting me to leave with him but I wouldn't. On the Sunday night before he was killed on Wednesday, he said, 'I'm going to have you, whatever it takes.' He was more emphatic than he had ever been. I was afraid not to do his will, because I felt like I was in his power. I never had my consent, not deep down in my heart. I didn't almost had to go on with him."
When Crenshaw asked Duke, just before he left the stand, if "not knowing whether Cox was dead or wounded, you sat in your house for more than an hour without trying to help him, sending anyone to help or calling a physician," Duke answered, "No, I didn't try to get a physician."

BAGGETT RETURNED
Local Officers Bring Back Man From Carlbad
Sheriff Wade Hardy, Chief of Police John Leonard and District Attorney Durwood Bradley returned to Lubbock Tuesday night from Carlbad, N. M., with Burley Baggett, who was arrested in the latter city Monday, in connection with the theft of an automobile, property of Gus Kallas, which was stolen in this city several weeks ago. Baggett was placed in the Lubbock County jail last night, and the car has been returned to its owner.

Baptists Deplore Financial Status

"Undue Proportion Of Receipts On Local Church Buildings Is Given As Cause Of Decreases

(By Associated Press)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 7.—A sub-committee of the Southern Baptist convention today concluded that decreases in contributions for missions and benevolences among the great majority of church members and the expenditure of an undue proportion of receipts on local building and expansion programs.
Alarmed at a drop of approximately $440,000 in receipts for church missions and benevolences during the year, the promotion committee selected the sub-committee to investigate the problem, making Dr. W. S. Ball of Spartanburg, S. C., chairman. The committee, one of several which began preliminary meeting today, found that four of every five dollars contributed is used by churches for local developments. About $7,500,000 was contributed for missions and benevolence during the year.

For Longer Skirts Laredo Girls Wear Old Time Dresses

LAREDO, May 7.—If girl students of the clothing class of Laredo high school had their way about styles, dresses that reach well below the knees would be in vogue.
This was shown recently when 60 students appeared in a dress review wearing clothing they thought proper for school girls. The dresses, reaching several inches below the knees, were made by the students from English prints, gingham, chambrays and tissue gingham.
Low heeled shoes also predominated.

The prominence of Hamilton and his family, the popularity of his daughter and Walton among the younger set, their romance while at the University, the critical condition of Walton's mother since her son's death as he was fulfilling her wishes by telling his father-in-law of the marriage, and the refusal of physicians to permit Walton's young widow to leave her bed in Austin and attend the funeral have aroused widespread interest here.

Fruit Crop Looking Good

It's Going To Be The Best South Plains Country Has Had In Years—What There Is Of It

South Plains orchards, scattered though they are promise a bumper yield of the fruits indigenous to this region during the current season, according to reports reaching the office of the county agent, Dave F. Eaton.
Practically all of the fruit raised in this region is from small home orchards and in fact, such orchards are about all that is advisable for this part of the country.
Cherries will be maturing soon and other fruits will ripen soon after a large quantity of berries are expected to be produced in the South Plains country this year.
Although scattered groves and orchards yield large amounts of fruits and berries, the greatest quantity comes from the sandy country of Bailey county, the town of Muleshoe being an important shipping center. Lea county, New Mexico, likewise produces a good quota of fruits and berries, the shallow water belt there being especially prolific in their production.

Where Lindy and Anne May Be Married

It's amid these quiet scenes on North Haven Island, Maine, that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Anne Morrow will be wed in June, according to reliable reports. Plans to hold the wedding on the isolated summer estate of Ambassador Dwight Morrow, Anne's father, are believed to have found favor with the famed flyer and his bride-to-be. The courtyard and southeastern "L" of the new Colonial cottage on the estate are pictured upper left. And it's in such a simple, white-walled Colonial room as that shown lower right that the actual ceremony may take place; note the attractive fireplace (there is one in the room) and the old-fashioned clock on the mantle.
