No Parking Meters For Holidays

For at least 60 days beginning Nov. 26, there will be no parking meters in Big Spring, city commissioners decided at Tuesday night's session.

The decision came aftter a committee of three (Cuin Grigsby, Walter Wheat and Leland Pierce) of the local chamber of commerce retail committee asked for at least a trial period of no meters downtown. They wanted 90 days, but got 60.

"I went around town with a petition," Wheat told commissioners, "and got 40 signatures and no turn-downs."

REVENUE

"During December, January and February of last year," Larry Crow, city manager, said, "the meters gathered about $9,800 in revenue. If we cut out meters, the city will be stuck with the cost of patrolling, ticketing, without the corresponding revenue to help pay for it."

"There is a growing animosity toward meters on the part of many of our customers," Grigsby said. "Besides, we don't want to have meters while many other towns around us do not."

"It is unfortunate that a city lets itself become dependent on meter revenue," commissioner John Stanley said. "Revenue wasn't the original intent of installing meters — it was to keep traffic moving."

DID NOT WORK

"We tried sacking the meters on Saturdays last year, and it didn't work," George Zachariah, mayor, said. "The city's water sales have been off this year because of the rains, and our revenue is down. (Talking to Grigsby) Would you, Cuin, object to having your taxes raised next year?"

Grigsby: "No."

"Some cities have tried it and then put the meters back in," Crow put in. "A study showed that of cities under 50,000 which had pulled their meters, about 40 per cent replaced them eventually. There are a lot of intangibles in a thing like this."

"If it's going to work, the store managers will have to keep their employes from taking up parking space," W. L. Thompson, commissioner, said.

"Taking out the meters and establishing a tire - chalking system of regulation would require a temporary repeal of at least one clause in the city ordinances," John Burgess, city attorney, said.

AUTHORIZED

After more discussion, mostly on details that will have to be worked out by city officials, the commission authorized Burgess to temporarily suspend the meter ordinance, which will be okayed at the next commission meeting and go into effect Nov. 26.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said today plans are to use a tire-marking system, allow free parking for two hours, and to remove all parking meter heads, leaving the posts up. The meter heads will probably be removed the day before the free parking goes into effect, he said. Another thing city officials will have to consider will be who will do the tire marking. Presently there are two "meter maids" who issue parking tickets.

Also partially settled at the 7 p.m. meeting was the city's parking ticket policy, which allows certain county officials and jurors to be exempt from paying parking tickets when on official business.

AVERAGE 100

"On the average day," Jay Banks, police chief, said, "we issue 100 tickets for parking. Our policy is to ticket all violators, even when we know they are exempt, so we won't seem to be discriminating. About 20 of these will go into our dead file, many of them the exempts. This adds up to 5,000 per year, and requires about 800 man-hours of work, clutters up our files, and doesn't look good, especially when the auditor comes around."

Commissioners voted to change the policy. Cards listing the officials' names will be issued to county officials. The cards will be placed on the windshield sun-visors so ticketers will know the car is exempt, and so citizens will not think the police are discriminating against them. A system will also be worked out, commissioners decided, so that dated cards of a similar kind may be issued to jurors. Burgess and Banks were authorized to put the policy change into writing.

Ike's Illness Is 'Coronary Insufficiency'

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors reported today he has had a mild attack of angina pectoris, or coronary insufficiency. They said he might be well again in two weeks.

While the heart condition that put the five-star general back in the hospital at age 75 was related to a severe heart attack in 1955, the doctors said that this time it was not a heart attack in the same sense.

Their patient was removed from an oxygen tent this morning and told he could sit up during the day.

There has been no more chest pain or discomfort since the original attack that struck around midnight Monday.

Another way of putting what has happened to the former president, the team of physicians agreed, is hardening of the arteries which shut off some of the blood from the heart.

Marcos Lead In Philippines Seen Clouded

MANILA (AP) — The early election lead of Sen. Ferdinand Marcos over incumbent President Diosdado Macapagal was clouded today by charges of irregularities and delays in vote counting.

Marcos, a war hero, in various unofficial tallies, was maintaining a lead of from 126,000 votes to 245,000 after 24 hours of counting.

But at that time only from 25 to 30 per cent of the vote had been unofficially reported and the official Election Commission figures were insignificant.

MAY PROTEST

Sen. Jose P. Diokno, the legal troubleshooter of Marcos' Nacionalista party, told newsmen he would file a formal protest with the Election Commission if returns were not speeded up.

Election Commission officials admitted that 24 hours after the polls closed 11 of the 56 provinces in the Philippines had not been heard from at all. These included Macapagal's home province of Papanga where his strength is such that he could practically dictate his majority.

COUNTER CHARGES

Liberal party officials countered Marcos' charges with similar accusations that the Nacionalista candidate was holding back votes in his home area of northern Luzon.

Impartial observers said the holding back of votes in more or less controlled provinces could be critical in an election as close and bitter as the one just completed. It would enable either candidate to weigh in, at a significant moment, with enough votes to swing the final results.

CLAIM VICTORY

Both sides were confidently predicting victory as the counting inched on. Perhaps significantly, however, the Macapagal camp scaled down its original victory claim of a 400,000-vote majority to a more modest 250,000. A Nacionalista spokesman, on the other hand, said Marcos would win by 300,000 to 400,000.

More than eight million votes were cast in Tuesday's election but the official figure has not been announced by the Election Commission.

"CLOSE, DIRTY"

It was generally conceded before the voting that this would be the closest national campaign in Philippine history. It was also the dirtiest. With both candidates generally in agreement to maintain the Philippine's pro-Western and liberal economic policies, the campaign revolved around personal issues.

The unofficial returns of the Philippine News Service, after 24 hours of counting, gave Marcos 1,281,190, Macapagal 1,036,393. These included scattered returns from all provinces but were heavily weighted by city votes.

Yap Of Desert Coyotes May Reach Royal Ears

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — If Princess Margaret and her husband Lord Snowdon listen closely for the next couple of nights, they may go to sleep to the distant yapping of desert coyotes.

Of course, the coyotes could be drowned out by the barking of dogs in a commercial grooming and boarding kennel less than a block away.

SOCIAL EXTREME

Their visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Douglas, beginning today, could provide one of the biggest social extremes since the Franklin Delano Roosevelts fed hot dogs to the princess' parents in 1937. King George VI and Queen Elizabeth were delighted.

Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon will spend five days at the Douglas home after a visit to Los Angeles. Douglas, now a bank executive, is a former ambassador to Great Britain.

His daughter, Sharman, and Princess Margaret became close friends during Douglas' tenure in London. That's how this visit came about.

OLD FORT

Tonight, the English visitors will sleep only a few hundred yards from the ruins of old Ft. Lowell, established to protect Tucson from marauding Apaches.

They will be able to look north across a wide expanse of irrigated valley to the 9,200-foot Santa Catalina Mountains.

But on the nearest intersection a copper company laboratory is nearing completion. A steak house and night spot is being reopened and a new gas station sign lights the area.

Pacifist Said Sinking Fast

NEW YORK (AP) — Life ebbed today from a young pacifist who made a human torch of himself in front of the United Nations building to protest the war in Viet Nam.

"He's still alive, but he's sinking fast," said a spokesman at Bellevue Hospital.

Roger LaPorte, 22, ignited his gasoline-soaked body and clothing in the predawn hours Tuesday. The flames burned 95 per cent of his body.

95 PER CENT

"I know of no one who had 95 per cent total body burns surviving," said Dr. Jay Grosfeld, a member of the medical team treating him.

LaPorte, the second American to set fire to himself as a protest against the Viet Nam war, said he did it because "I'm anti-war, all wars. I did this as a religious action."

Later, as he received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church, he told a priest he regretted violating the church tenet against suicide.

Last Tuesday, Norman Morrison, 31, Baltimore, a Quaker, burned himself to death outside the Pentagon to protest the Viet Nam war.

PACIFIST GROUP

LaPorte was a volunteer with the Catholic Worker movement, a pacifist group that has no official connection with the Catholic Church.

"He was trying to say to the American people that we must turn away from violence in Viet Nam," said a statement by the Catholic Worker newspaper. It strongly urged "people committed to peace to employ other means in expressing their commitment..."

LaPorte, originally from Tupper Lake, N.Y., was a 1961 honor graduate of Holy Ghost Academy. He attended a seminary in Barre, Vt., and later studied at Columbia University.

United Fund Moves Higher

The United Fund campaign made almost a $3,000 increase overnight, climbing to $83,784 from $81,081 reported Tuesday. This is still some $16,000 shy of the $99,964 goal.

Volunteers were urged today to make their contacts and turn in the results. Time is running out on the effort that lends help to 14 welfare agencies.

N. Y. Power Blackout Stirs All-Out Probe

President Orders FPC Investigation

NEW YORK (AP) — Lights flashed on in paralyzed New York early today, signaling the end of a massive and frightening power blackout that crippled the teeming Northeast.

After 10 hours of worried waiting the lights came back on at 3:35 a.m. (EST) in the heart of Manhattan — one of the last areas still gripped by the nation's worst power failure.

Coming on with alarming suddenness during Tuesday's evening rush hour, the blackout at its peak enveloped 80,000 square miles, affecting up to 30 million persons in eight states, scrambled transportation and communications and stranded hundreds of thousands in stalled subway cars and elevators.

(Related stories on Page 8-B)

Through the night the Texas White House reported progress of experts trying to pinpoint the trouble that drained electric power from New York, Boston and hundreds of smaller cities, towns and hamlets.

SABOTAGE UNLIKELY

Reports were contradictory, although President Johnson was advised the experts were "pretty well agreed" no sabotage was involved and the Pentagon said military communications and the Washington-Moscow hot line were not hampered.

As the night wore on, power began seeping back into most of the blackout area that at one time stretched over New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Vermont, Rhode Island and even struck Toronto and Ottawa in Canada.

Johnson, however, ordered the Federal Power Commission to launch a sweeping investigation and gave it all the facilities of the federal government — including the FBI.

The blackout came with a flickering of lights at about 5:30 p.m. (EST), the peak of the rush hour in teeming cities.

ELEVATORS STOP

Subway cars speeding an estimated 850,000 persons through New York's subway ground frighteningly to a halt. Elevators stopped between floors bringing cries of dismay. Operating rooms darkened. News tickers fell silent. Airliners scrambled to other ports. Convicts in a Massachusetts prison rioted.

Immediately off-duty police were called back to work. National Guardsmen were put on alert in case of looting. Emergency power was plugged in at hospitals.

One man told of being in an elevator in a Manhattan office building: "The lights sputtered out. The three of us pressed the alarm button. We waited and heard nothing. A few minutes later the doors opened. I can tell you we were glad to get out."

Despite the darkness and the tangle of communications and transportation, the mood generally seemed to be one of calm with a grin- and-bear-it philosophy.

However, some 200 inmates at the Massachusetts State Prison took advantage of the excitement to throw a furniture-breaking riot until guards and state troopers herded them into one cell block.

Full Normalcy Hours Away In Metropolis

NEW YORK (AP) — Full power was restored to much of New York early today after a terror-fraught night of stygian blackout, caused by a massive electrical failure that paralyzed the city. However, complete normalcy in streets, subways and skyscrapers remained hours away.

The restoration of service to the city's millions ended an emergency unprecedented in scope outside a war or disaster zone.

Scores of minor injuries were attributed to the blackout — although no deaths were reported. With its end, however, hospitals braced for a possible influx of misery and tragedy, undetected in the darkness.

Uncounted thousands were stranded overnight away from home. Many enjoyed the relative comfort of hotels. Others made do for sleep on the cold floors of rail terminals. Food and blankets were sent into stalled subways where at least 2,000 elected to remain the night rather than attempt emergency escape through the inky tunnels.

Police officials reported only scattered instances of looting — 41 arrests were made.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner declared: "All New York should be proud of the way everyone has cooperated and helped. I'm proud of the people in this city."

Federal Assistance Pledge Keynotes Johnson's Orders

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — At first word of the great Northeast power disaster, President Johnson began to ask questions and issue orders.

Johnson was driving north of his ranch home near here when he got the first inkling of trouble — on a news broadcast over his car radio. Hustling to the ranch house, he phoned the White House in Washington.

SERVES AS LINK

The first person he talked to — special assistant Joseph A. Califano Jr. — had no word of the mystery blackout. But Califano found out in a hurry and remained on duty long into the morning hours — acting as a link between Johnson and the disaster.

Within minutes, White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers assembled newsmen at the press center in Austin, 65 miles east of here, and began what probably was a record-breaking news briefing for any presidential press aide. It went through the long evening hours, and into the morning today.

Alternately clenching a cigar between his teeth and using it as a stabbing pointer as he gestured, Moyers said first that Johnson had got the word on his car radio and had hustled to the ranch headquarters to place calls to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Director Buford Ellington of the Office of Emergency Planning, and Califano.

OFFER ASSISTANCE

All, he said, were instructed to offer the utmost federal assistance to all officials of the areas concerned.

Later, Moyers said Ellington had told the President he had word from utility people that power would be restored throughout the Northeast in 2 to 2½ hours. That advice proved to be ill-founded.

The press secretary said he could say nothing about possible sabotage, nor could he pinpoint the cause of the trouble.

JFK Memorial Vandals' Target

LONDON (AP)—The Runnymede memorial to President John F. Kennedy, dedicated last May by Queen Elizabeth II and Mrs. Kennedy, has become a target of vandals.

M. J. Rogers, area agent for the National Trust, confirmed that hooligans have scratched names and initials on the stone and daubed it with mud and paint.

The seven - ton rectangular stone rests in an acre given to the United States. Nearby, King John seven centuries ago was forced to grant the Magna Carta, one of the foundations of Western liberties.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

...Here's How It Happened...

TORONTO (AP) — The electricity that browns your toast, cooks your dinner or sends you home on subways or streetcars went the wrong way Tuesday night. The result affected 30 million people in Canada and the United States.

Officials of the publicly-owned Ontario Hydroelectrical Power Commission, at a candle-lit interview during three successive blackouts in Toronto, told this version of how it happened:

GOES WRONG

Tuesday evening power was moving into Ontario through Niagara Falls from Upstate New York when something happened in a high-voltage line south of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Then, Ontario hydro officials said, "a surge of electricity" sent power flowing into the system at Cornwall, Ont.—in the opposite direction to the normal flow at that hour. Unchecked, this could have caused enormous damage to distribution equipment.

Technicians at the Richview control center in suburban Toronto spotted the reversal and pulled switches that isolated southern and eastern Ontario from the interlocking grid.

That's when the power was cut off from various centers in Ontario.

IS SOPHISTICATED

The interconnected system is the epitome of sophisticated technology. It operates almost automatically. Because its parts were so united, they dropped all together. Like a tree felled by an ax.

Some Offices To Be Closed

County, state and federal offices in the city and county will be closed Thursday in observance of Veterans Day.

The city hall, however, will be operating. Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., will also be open.

The Howard County courthouse offices, with exception of the sheriff's office, will present closed doors to the public.

The post office will be closed down, with all windows shut and no deliveries on the routes. A skeleton crew will handle the mail for lock boxes and deal with incoming and outgoing letters and parcels.

The day is not a holiday for the banks, however. They will be open as usual, as will city merchants.

All state offices will be closed as will all federal agencies.

Webb AFB will observe the day as a holiday.

Youth Will Be Emphasized In Veterans' Day Program

"We are emphasizing youth in our Veterans' Day program this year," Donald D. Van Meter, director of the Big Spring Veterans' Administration Hospital, said today concerning the plans for the hospital's celebration of Veterans' Day Thursday morning.

"We want everyone to know what fine upstanding young people we have in our midst."

The program will begin at 10 a.m. at the hospital entrance, with musical selections by the Big Spring High School band. Handicapped members of Boy Scout Troop 81 will present the colors, after which Bill Davis, high school drum major, will lead in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Ceremonies will then move into the hospital lobby, where John Wommac, Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, will deliver the invocation and Van Meter will extend a welcome.

James Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Brown of Gail Route, winner of the American Legion High School Oratorical Contest, will speak on "The Constitution—Ours to Defend," his winning speech.

Benediction by Don Anderson, theology student at Howard County Junior College, will close ceremonies. C. E. McDonnell, chief of medical administrative service, will be emcee.

Gold Star Mothers and all regularly scheduled adult volunteers will be honored at a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter following the ceremonies.

VFW auxiliary will escort wheelchair patients to the ceremonies and also furnish favors and table decorations for hospitalized patients.

"We would like all who can possibly do so to join us in expressing our gratitude to all veterans who have served in peace and war, and to renew our pledge to work for and preserve peace and freedom—to reaffirm our allegiance to our flag, our nation and our Constitution," Van Meter said today.

Optimists Honor Eight Students

The Optimists' Youth Appreciation Week is sponsored annually by 2,300 U.S. and Canadian Optimists' clubs. Members of the Appreciation Week committee include Bill Reynolds, chairman, Jess Looney, Bob Grant and Lou Wolfson.

The ceremonies were held at Coker's Cafe.

Cubs Select New Project

Cub Scout Den 2 met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Owen Owens and Eugene Knott opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance. Home projects were discussed, and the boys selected making a scrapbook.

Games were played and then refreshments were served by Mrs. David Rhoton and son Bobbie.

Several Hurt, None Seriously, In Crashes

Seven traffic accidents Tuesday and early today sent several persons to local hospitals, officers said today. None were seriously injured, according to hospital attendants.

Mrs. Elmer Bolte, 1004 Howell, a passenger in a car driven by Eathel Allred Holbrook, 1800 Scurry, was reported in good condition today after the Holbrook car was involved in a three-car pileup at 12:04 p.m. yesterday. The other two cars involved in the accident at Seventeenth and Gregg were driven by Mark N. Owens, Eunice, N.M., and Sandra Ciocchi Perrin, 108 W. 11th, officers said. Mrs. Bolte is in Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Eugenia Ann Arrick, 529 Hillside Drive, was slightly injured on her knee when the car she drove was in a wreck near the Mobil station on US 80 west at 5:03 p.m. Mary Ann Williams, 100 Elm, a passenger in the Arrick car, was reported in satisfactory condition in Howard County Hospital Foundation today by attendants. Eugenia Arrick was not taken to a hospital, but was treated by her doctor father, who said the injury was not serious.

Judy Bingham, 118 Mobile, who was in the other car involved in the accident, was treated and released from Howard County Hospital Foundation.

Another accident at 4:15 p.m. injured Isabel Gonzalez Mata, 503 NW 10th, officers said. She was reported in good condition at Cowper Clinic and Hospital, where she is a nurse. The accident, at Northwest Tenth and North Lancaster, involved the Mata car and one driven by Ramon Lopez, Coahoma, officers said.

The other injury accident involved the cars of Thomas Alton Lee Jr., 4107 US 80 west, and Clifton C. Hendricks, 1103 Penn, about 10 feet west of Anne Street on US 80 at 8:21 p.m. officers said. Hendricks was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation, where he was treated and released.

Remaining three accidents involved the cars of Fred Daniel Painter, 504 Circle Drive, and Billy Ray Grimmett, Snyder, at the intersection of Third and Nolan, at 10:36 a.m.; the stopped car of Guy Richard Payne, Roscoe, and the car of Pauline Bryant Horn, Apartment 1, Building 31, Ellis Homes, in the 100 block of East Third, at 4:53 p.m., officers said; and at 12:06 a.m. today, the car of Luther V. Thompson, Sterling City Route, which struck a "Keep Right" sign in the 3200 block of US 80 west.

At least 11 speeding tickets were issued early today by the concealed radar unit, according to officer John Scott. Other motorists were warned to slow down, he said.

Here's Piece Written By Candlelight

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—This column, written in a chilly living room in front of a hearth fire and by the light of a single flickering candle, is essentially a love note to old-fashioned radio and the transistor receiving set.

Within moments after the lights of most of the Northeast dimmed and flickered out in a gigantic power failure Tuesday night, local and network radio stations started mobilizing. Soon afterward, we knew it was not just a local failure, but before fear or panic could take over, calm radio voices already were reassuring us and offering help.

WAS MECHANICAL

We were told it was a mechanical breakdown, not sabotage or even worse.

We were given instructions for emergencies. We were told of precautions, the mobilizing of police and the National Guard. We were given telephone numbers to call if we needed the police or an ambulance.

Obviously, it wasn't easy for them to be on the air. Some of the broadcasts came from station transmitters across the Hudson River where there was still power.

At any rate, radio performed for us a vital service. And no home should be without a working battery radio as well as a good supply of candles and matches.

KNOCKED OUT

Television transmission, of course, was knocked out in the affected area. CBS postponed its planned "National Citizenship Test" special to Nov. 23, replacing it with a special program on the electricity failure, which could not be seen by millions of victims.

• • •

Before the blackout descended, ABC television announced that two of its programs which had shown marked weakness in their Nielsen ratings would be canceled in January and replaced by two more spy series.

Canceled are "O. K. Crackerby," a new comedy series on Thursday nights, and Saturday night's "King Family," which has not done well since it was shrunk to a half-hour program.

SHUFFLE SHOWS

The network, at the same time, will reshuffle some of its programs, putting the comedy "Gidget" in the Thursday "Crackerby" period and moving the vintage "Donna Reed Show" into the "King Family" spot.

Then a spy drama, "Blue Light," starring Robert Goulet in a nonsinging part, will go into the Wednesday half hour vacated by "Gidget."

A comedy spy series, "The Double Life of Henry Phyfe," starring Red Buttons, will be a Thursday evening entry. All the shifting around will take place during the second week of January.

Kimble Named Veep Of TCMA

EL PASO (AP) — The new president of the Texas Circulation Managers Association is Robert Gilmore, assistant circulation manager of the Dallas News.

Circulation managers named to other offices Tuesday at the group's 51st annual convention are Jack Kimble of the Big Spring Herald and Charles Harrell of the Sherman Democrat, vice presidents; Warren Flowers of the Gainesville Register, secretary; Harold Zschach of the San Antonio express and News, chairman of the board, and Bob Stephens, of the Brownwood Bulletin, director.

• • •

Jack Kimble, who is second in line in progression toward presidency of the Texas Circulation Managers Association, has been circulation manager of The Herald for approximately 15 years. He has been active in the state association virtually all those years. In addition, he has been active in the Elks order here and in the Optimist Club.

Historical Meet Set In January

Howard County Historical Society will meet in the last week in January and definitely set up a program of work for the year ahead, it was voted at a brief session of the group Tuesday afternoon.

Several specific assignments have been made. A study on the possibility of a museum is one of the major items to be aired at the January meeting.

Ed Fisher, chairman of the group, presided. Attending the meeting which was held in the Howard County Courtroom: Cloe S. Mundt, Mary Bailey, Wesley Deats, Anna Marie Hill, Olive Ruth Cowden, Beth Stasey, A. D. Blount, Della K. Agnell, Roger D. Brown, James Brooks, Modesta Simpson and Ed Fisher.

Cattle Decline Trend Staying

WASHINGTON (AP)—A further reduction in the size of the national cattle herd is expected next year, following a 1965 decline of over one million head that ended seven successive years of buildup.

The government's livestock and meat outlook also is for moderately lower supplies of hogs for slaughter than in 1965 and a possible showing or halting of the five-year decrease in the number of sheep and lambs.

PRICE RAISE

The forecast includes a prediction for higher cattle, hog and lamb prices next year that should more than compensate for expected slight declines in sales and cause a further rise in cash receipts for livestock marketings.

Cattle and calf slaughter in 1965 will total over 40.5 million head, the Agriculture Department reported. This four per cent rise from 1964, following an 11 per cent increase in that year, is the major cause of the herd decline.

The government predicts many producers will begin rebuilding or adding to their breeding herds during 1966, but expects a further decline in over-all numbers at next year-end unless there is a substantial drop in slaughtering.

STEER INCREASE

Despite some decline in slaughtering, the prospect is for a modest rise in beef production because steers will account for a larger proportion of slaughter, more cattle will move through feedlots and marketing weights are likely to average heavier than in 1965.

The 1966 decline in hog supplies—and resulting higher prices—is expected to occur in the first half of the year. By next year-end, supplies are likely to exceed their earlier levels and prices to be on a downward trend.

Sheep producers held back a large number of ewe lambs this year and are expected to continue building up their breeding flocks in 1966, with the result that slaughter should decline further and prices rise above 1965 levels.

IN BLACKOUT

Convicts Rampage

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — About 300 inmates of Walpole State Prison ripped out plumbing, smashed windows, and battered down doors in a four-hour rampage during the electric power blackout in the Northeast.

A barrage of tear gas termed "so thick you couldn't see anything" finally enabled prison guards wearing gas masks to herd the men back to their cells in the maximum security section.

NOBODY HURT

John A. Vagin, state commissioner of corrections, described the incident as a "major disturbance." It could not be called a riot, he said, "because, miraculously, no one was hurt."

Gavin and Warden Palmer Scafati said it would be some time before they could estimate the amount of damage to the prison, built in 1956 at a cost of $10 million. It houses 576 men.

While the uprising was still being quelled, O. Richard Wells, assistant deputy superintendent, said the inmates were "tearing the place to pieces." James Canavan, public relations officer, said: "Let's not be conservative, this is a full-scale riot."

The prison's entire force of 110 guards was augmented by 25 off- duty guards rushed in from nearby Norfolk State Prison and by 120 state police troopers from barracks in six nearby communities on the outskirts of Boston.

The troopers, armed with shotguns, surrounded the prison walls.

DON MASKS

After officials felt the inmates were safely contained in a locked area, many of the troopers donned gas masks and entered the prison building to support the guards herding men to cells.

Scafati said he appealed to inmates to stop the disturbance shortly after the prison's electric generator system restored light to the blacked-out prison complex.

"But by then they were in no mood to stop and hurled epithets you couldn't print," he said in a news conference later. Not until this point was any tear gas used, he said.

Banks, Burgess Head For School

John Burgess, city attorney, and Jay Banks, police chief, were scheduled to leave Big Spring this afternoon for Austin to attend a three-day school on the state's new code of criminal procedure, Burgess said this morning.

They will return to Big Spring Saturday after the seminar, which will be conducted at the law school of The University of Texas in Austin.

"The session will be conducted, according to my information, by lawyers, judges and professors," Burgess said. "Indications are the school will be one of the best so far on explaning the new code."

Wool Marketing Made More Exact

WASHINGTON (AP)— Taking a lot of the guesswork out of wool marketing is what the government says it has achieved through a revision of grade standards and development of machines that can measure fibers down to minutest fractions of an inch.

Wool growers often have taken their clips to market without knowing what they had for sale or its value, the Agriculture Department said.

FINENESS FACTOR

A major factor affecting the value of wool as it comes from the sheep's back is the fineness of individual fibers. The revised standards are based on average fiber diameters in terms of microns—1-25,400ths of an inch.

Four standard grades have been added to the traditional 12, originally reflecting the length of yarn which could be spun from a pound of clean, combed wool.

To achieve speed and minute accuracy in measurements, the government's wool laboratory in Denver, Colo., developed a microprojector that magnifies the fibre 500 times. This job formerly was done by hand measuring tools.

INSTRUMENT USE

The work can be done even faster by using instruments which measure resistance to the flow of air through a carefully weighed sample of wool. And the government says researchers are working on even more advanced machines and techniques.

Length of fiber also is an important factor in determining wool value. A staple puller—a metal rod with a hook on the end—has been perfected by the Denver laboratory. It is inserted into a bag of wool and drawn out with staple samples attached.

The government says that once all segments of the wool industry have this information and use it, it should be relatively easy to determine a price that is fair to all.

Roundtable Set For Cub Leaders

The Cub Scout Roundtable will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Co. building, according to Dal Herring, chairman.

These sessions are designed to help Cub leaders develop each month's recommended theme. The Cubbing theme for November is Happy, Game and Fair.

The group will discuss good will projects for the individual packs which will coincide with the Thanksgiving season. Also, tricks and games will be demonstrated to aid den mothers in planning den level meetings.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

One of the nicest things about living in a small community is getting to be good neighbors with those who live about you. There are 22 women who have gathered together for the past seven years in various places here and in Ackerly to visit and talk of the good days when they were neighbors in Ackerly.

This past Friday the group held their annual session at the Downtown Tea Room for lunch and visiting and, as MRS. ROY PHILLIPS said, they had a good time showing their grandbabies' pictures and catching up on what was news with the various families. Mrs. Phillips' sister, MRS. ROY CORNELISON, assisted with the arrangements for the local get-together.

A special guest was MISS JOYCE MERRICK who is the daughter of the ROBERT MERRICKS who live in Ackerly, and the granddaughter of MRS. T. J. BROWN who now lives in Big Spring.

• • •

It took a little trip to relieve MRS. HAROLD TALBOT'S bout with hay fever but she declares a one-day stay at her home town near Corpus Christi did the deed and at least for a while she has been relieved of the pestiferous malady.

• • •

LT. and MRS. GRAHAM GALLOWAY, who are now stationed at Perrin Air Force Base, Sherman, are the happy parents of a son, ANDREW GRAHAM, who was born last Saturday. Lt. Galloway was stationed at Webb before his graduation.

• • •

MRS. L. A. PICKLE was expected back today from Lubbock where she has spent several days with the H. R. PICKLES.

• • •

Something one sees very seldom here: Couples out bicycling. But Saturday when the sun was shining so brightly there were the junior HAYES STRIPLINGS peddling or pushing, depending on whether they were going up or down a hill . . . The last glimpse I got of her was when she bravely took off up Scenic Drive dressed in a pretty yellow cycling suit. I presumed Hayes had gone on up the mountain.

• • •

Word from former residents, the FLOYD PARSONSES, tells of their preparations for a Thanksgiving trip to La Paz, Bolivia, where they will visit their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. BILL PARSONS, who are with the Peace Corps.

A Devotional For The Day

The peace of God, which is beyond our utmost understanding, will keep guard over your hearts and your thoughts in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 4:7, NEB)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, we thank Thee and praise Thee for Thy wonderful gifts, one of the greatest being peace. Help us through Christ to accept this peace and live with central serenity, whatever our outward circumstances. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Political Morality

The Johnson administration and the Democrats in Congress would be unwise to shrug off a recent Gallup poll indicating that nearly half the people think political favoritism and corruption are increasing in Washington. Only about one in eight believes such is now decreasing, while two-fifths see no change or have no opinion.

There is no hard evidence of such an increase, and comparative degrees of political favoritism and corruption defy statistical measurement. It is noteworthy, too, that the same poll found the great majority of Americans convinced that there is little difference between the two major parties in political morality.

However, a presidential administration with an overwhelming popular mandate that also enjoys a lopsided majority in Congress is particularly vulnerable to such suspicion. That is because the people sense it has the power to override ethical considerations with less political risk, and fear it may be tempted to do so, and because they realize the opposition is so weak that it may not be able to expose and check any abuses of such power.

What is politically significant is not whether political favoritism and corruption actually are increasing, but whether many voters think it is. And unless the administration and congressional Democrats lean over backward to counter such suspicions, Republican candidates may be able to make effective use of the "corruption issue" in the 1966 and 1968 elections.

The moral seems to be that the stronger the party in power is, the more careful it has to be on this issue.

Farm Problem Study

The twin problems of farm price supports and commodity surpluses have plagued this nation's agricultural policy relentlessly and apparently insolubly since the end of World War II. Now it appears that at long last a turning point toward balance may be at hand.

U. S. Agriculture Department reports indicate that, although nonedible farm products such as cotton and tobacco are still in serious oversupply, food surpluses generally have dropped down to near what is needed for normal reserves. As a result the time may be approaching when a thorough review and major revisions will have to be made both in farm and foreign-aid policies.

Once seemingly inexhaustible, even uncontrollable, food surpluses have now been brought down to manageable, even desirable, porportions by a variety of forces. These have included lower price supports more effective acreage control, higher demand from a rapidly growing population, rising exports, the "Food for Peace" disposal of surpluses abroad, and surplus food distribution to the needy in this country.

All this does not mean that the United States faces any prospect of shifting from a food surplus to a food shortage situation, even for food aid to hungry nations and our own needy families. The acreage, skills and other resources are available for massive production increases if needed. But hopefully it may mean that relief is in sight on farm policies burdensome to the taxpayer and restrictive on the agricultural industry.

A study commission report is due in 18 months, which probably means that the 90th Congress convening in 1967 will be called upon to make the most fundamental reappraisal of farm policies and programs since New Deal days. It's time.

Federal Interference In Pricing

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration has taken a fateful step that may change America's economic course in the near future. For the White House has endeavored to interfere with the law of supply and demand by proclaiming that it will dump on the market within the next year 200,000 tons of aluminum in an unprecedented effort to break down an already announced price increase of half a cent a pound.

No such pressure was exerted a few months ago when the labor unions forced an increase in wage scales amounting to $20 a week or more for employes and other benefits, the high cost of which is still difficult for the industry to calculate.

JUST LAST WEEK the aluminum companies increased their prices to cover their wage costs. The new prices are still below what they were in 1961. The federal government today has no legal right to fix either wages or prices. Such laws are usually passed only in wartime. The existence of a stockpile of 1,400,000 tons of surplus aluminum held by the government for many years now has been used as a club over the aluminum industry. Of this amount, 500,000 tons can be sold without specific authorization by Congress. So the question is one of motive — whether the objective is to get rid of 200,000 tons of aluminum in the next year or just to break down the price and put the companies in a hole.

WHEN A PRICE increase was announced by some aluminum companies last week, the administration let it be known that it was thinking of selling some of the metal it held. But it was denied that this had any connection with the price changes. Then a few days later it was officially admitted that there was a relationship. Executives of several aluminum companies were called to Washington to discuss projects for the disposal of some of the accumulated aluminum. They offered plan after plan to buy 200,000 tons as a part of an agreement to cover purchases of 500,000 tons in the next 14 years. They thought at first that this proposal would be accepted but their offers were abruptly rejected.

THE NEGOTIATIONS were carried on with the Secretary of Defense but, as the story goes, he had to make a telephone call to President Johnson in Texas after each meeting. The net result was an announcement at a press conference in Washington on Saturday that the price increases were above the so-called "guideposts"

The chairman of the President's economic advisory board finally said that the price rise had violated the "guideposts" laid down by the administration, whereby price changes would not be regarded as justified unless they came within certain limits of productivity.

THE ALUMINUM companies, on the other hand, claim that the "guideposts" were measured by the administration on smelting alone and that this is only a small part of the business. The whole maneuver has caused dismay. Now many businessmen are puzzled and frustrated. They wonder if the White House is going to try to run the economic system by arbitrary interference in price-making without using any corresponding pressures to hold down wage demands of the unions in major industries.

IT IS PRECISELY this kind of one-sided application of governmental power that can throw the whole economic system out of gear. Indeed, fears have been developing recently in financial circles that the administration may be artificially holding down interest rates today by its influence with certain members of the Federal Reserve Board. Meanwhile, bank loans are rising to unprecedented figures, though the bankers themselves are pleading constantly for higher interest rates as they are afraid of the excesses in borrowing.

The natural laws of supply and demand can be interfered with only for a short time before there is a loss of confidence within the business community. This sort of thing can bring on recessions.

BUSINESSMEN feel that if price control is really necessary, then wage control also should be applied. They contend that the right way to handle the problem is to let Congress pass a law on the whole subject for major industries rather than let the President make the "laws" to suit the whims of his politicial or economic advisors.

Would you please give me a list of Bible references concerning the coming of Christ? E.D.

There are more than 300 references in the New Testament to the second coming of Christ. It was a subject close to the heart of the Savior, and He spoke of it many times. A few of His references are as follows:

"The Son of Man shall come in the glory of his Father, with his angels." Matt. 16:27.

"As the lightning comes out of the east and is seen even to the west, so shall the coming of the Son of Man be." Matt. 24:27.

"They shall see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory." Luke 21:27.

"Whosoever shall be ashamed of me . . . of him shall the Son of Man be ashamed when he comes in the glory of his Father with his angels." Mark 8:38.

"I will come again and receive you unto myself." John 14:2.

Power Blackout Points Up Gruesome Question

WASHINGTON (AP)— Maybe the electric power blackout in the Northeast Tuesday night was a good thing for the nation as a whole. It may compel new thinking on distributing electricity in case more critical times come.

But it was gruesome for a while, wondering what had happened. There probably wasn't a person who didn't wonder: Was it just an accident? Or was it sabotage by enemies, screwballs, or misguided citizens?

Yet, it wasn't as gruesome as wondering what would happen, under present arrangements for distributing electric power, if the real thing, a nuclear attack, had struck the whole United States.

JOSEPH C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, said the facts that have come in so far "aren't really adequate for an appraisal of causes, much less cures.

"It's apparent that we'll need a great deal of study and industry thinking — and perhaps some fairly important technological renovations."

He left unclear what he meant but it now seems incredible, thanks to what happened Tuesday night, that a nation which some day could suffer a nuclear attack would have a power system, or systems, so centralized that one disruption could throw a whole group of states into darkness.

SWIDLER SAID "we can't tolerate a systemwide interruption under the highly developed power conditions we have today." So perhaps the result will be a much more decentralized power system.

Because there was no fear of worse to come — like a nuclear attack — there was no panic. But there would be panic if such an attack came and, with the central power plants destroyed, the whole nation was left in darkness.

In that situation, remembering the fantastic traffic jams in New York City alone Tuesday night in the darkness, even the movement of troops might be impossible and communications from the government to the people, telling them what to do and what to expect.

IN CASE of attack, and even with a broad power failure, the United States would probably be able to retaliate with its own nuclear weapons from American bases which, the Pentagon says, have auxiliary power of their own.

The Defense Department said military communications in the blacked out area Tuesday night were not interrupted and that all defense communications centers have their own auxiliary power.

But if an attack came, and the rest of the nation was blacked out as the Northeast was Tuesday night, it seems pretty plain the civilian population, if not the defense structure, would be in chaos.

Thus it is to the interest of the nation to act now to prevent a repetition of Tuesday night.

Try Living With Beatle Type

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — If nothing ever happens in your life, try living with a Beatle type. The world takes on a different look if you have a guitar plucker in your house.

And if you have one guitarist, I assure you that you soon will be mixed up with other guitarists, a drummer, perhaps a saxophonist, an organist or pianist. These form a modern-age "combo," and the way the Dallas Galaxies grew is a typical episode in a national phenomenon.

A COMBO is any small group of musicians which plays the sort of musicto which you can Watusi or Frug or whatever bone crackers they do these days.

The Galaxies are all high schoolers and for high school youngsters they are getting rich.

The members are Steve Connor, a letter-man football player until his doctor stopped him; Frank Scheffler, a basketballer; Monty Oakley, who spends his spare time helping the handicapped; and my own joy, Garry Ford, who has sung in the church choir and is in the school chorus.

IF ADULTS believe they can impose their music on teenagers, listen to what happened the other night.

Some people gave a teenager party with an orchestra which plays "The Blue Danube" and "Tea for Two" beautifully. But the party took on the aura of a funeral.

The host desperately dialed the Galaxies for emergency help. The combo loaded a quarter ton of drums, guitars and amplifiers into their cars and walked into the party amid rolling applause.

Then everyone had a blast.

IT ALL began in our household when our youngster asked for a guitar.

His mother, Virginia, a singer and pianist, sniffed at the whole idea but bought him a folk guitar, surrendering precious trading stamps for it.

Before long, he graduated to an electric guitar complete with amplifier.

The Galaxies didn't jell until this summer. Musicians flowed in and out. Some didn't have the musicianship. Some had conflicting interests, such as girls.

Now the Galaxies do well. They played five engagements one recent weekend, although that is unusual, with pay of $10 to $20 for each youth for each engagement.

Like all persons of the age who think Lawrence Welk is a real swinger, I had visions of combo parties ending in wild chaos.

But the parents have had no moral issues to decide, which speaks loud and clear for the overwhelming majority of the younger generation.

Some day they may even grow up to like "Tea for Two" — too.

To Your Good Health

Diabetics Must Stick To Their Diets

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: With all due respect to your honorable profession, I am utterly confused. I am supposed to have a mild case of diabetes. Right now I am taking one Orinase tablet a day and my family doctor tells me I might well get along on that for the rest of my life.

My doctor at the factory says it is inevitable that in later years I will have to take insulin. I am 43 now.

My family doctor also says that a cookie or two a day can't hurt me. My factory doctor disagrees, emphatically. Sir, what is your opinion?—A.V.

With all due respect to my honorable profession, there is no way in the world to make everybody agree, but what I am going to tell you now will be approved by ninety-some per cent of all doctors. Or so I hope. And any such percentage in politics would be the landslide of the century.

Here's my advice to you and to anyone else with diabetes:

If you have a mild case, nobody can predict with any accuracy whether you may, later in life, need insulin instead of pills. It will depend on how well you stick to your diet, how long you live, how rapidly your case tends to develop. Lots of people, by being careful, have diabetes and manage to get along on pills.

However, and this is a big "however," many people think they can eat their cake and have it, too. They think they can get along forever on pills, but they DON'T stick to their diet. These are the people who get into trouble and DO have to switch to insulin.

Now here's my guess. Your family doctor is trying to keep you happy, so he says it is possible to get along with pills. That's what you want to hear. And that's probably correct. If! IF you watch your diet!

The factory doctor refuses to mince words with you, and says, "If you won't cut out the sweet stuff, you're going to wind up needing insulin."

"I've watched plenty of people try to kid their doctors by saying, "Just one little cookie won't hurt me, will it?" Then they go home and eat half a pie. And pretty soon they need insulin.

Stick to your diet and forget about the cookies.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have pernicious anemia and must take B12 shots. I am giving myself the shots at home now but am not sure I always get the needle into the muscle.

Also will you explain the use of radioisotope for treatment of pernicious anemia?—P.C.H.

I doubt that you need any special advice on getting the shots into the muscle. Your doctor naturally specified a needle of suitable length.

Just insert it straight through the skin and you can't help hitting muscle tissue.

The isotope is for diagnosis, not treatment.

Around The Rim

Irrepressible Spirit

From 1954 until he took his retirement at the end of 1963, Robert C. Walker was our old standby at Webb when it came to digging out information.

He worked under several information officers during that time, and it was no disrespect to them to say that he was the fountainhead of knowledge. He grew up with the Air Force and its predecessor, the Army Air Corps and Army Air Force. Consequently, he knew most of the AF generals on a first name basis.

BOB WALKER was an unforgettable character. He always dressed jauntily, and a black homburg was his trademark. Sometime he wore spats and a vest with edging, or a black top coat with a strip of fur across the collar. These togs were a perfect setting for his white hair and white mustasche. To go with this, he had a booming voice and a way of carrying on a conversation as though he was making an imperishable pronouncement. We always figured around the office that he looked more like a United States senator than a senator.

THERE WASN'T an ordinary bone or a lazy one in his body. He was colorful, but he was as friendly as a pup and as comfortable to be with as an old shoe. People were instinctively at home with him. One might have taken one look and surmised that here was a pompous soul, but in reality Bob Walker was one of the troops. No one could accuse him of not holding up his end of the load. Although he was 60 years of age when he came here, frequently, he held up a lot of other ends of the load.

OCCASIONALLY, you could tell he got browned just a little bit with some of our judgments, or the way we hacked on his copy. But he never got sore, and he never failed to be accommodating. Moreover, he had been around the military long enough to know when somebody was taking false refuge in regulations and knew how to smoke them out nicely but positively.

HIS CAREER was little short of fabulous. Fibbing about his age, he enlisted in 1914 and got to serve with Black Jack Pershing on the Mexican expeditionary foray. In 1915 he was in the Philippines, and when the U.S. got into World War I, his outfit was shuttled to France where he was wounded and later served in the Army of Occupation at Coblenz and subsequently at Vladivostok. Enroute home from the Orient, his ship was all but wrecked by a typhoon, and Japanese fishermen took him to Nagasaki, where he waited three months for transportation home. Years later he could write a personal story about the town where the second atomic bomb was dropped.

BACK HOME in 1922, he transferred to the air arm of the Army, then emerging from the Signal Corps, being assigned to the 7th Air Park at Carlstrom, Ala., before he went as part of a cadre to activate Brooks Field. As sergeant major, he actually did the work of an executive officer. Hap Arnold, Slim Lindbergh, Jimmy Doolittle, Ira Eaker, Hoyt Vandenburt, Touhey Spaatz, and many others were at Brooks as officers or students.

BOB WALKER got out of the Air Corps in 1929, but not really. He then put out base telephone directories and got the idea for a Military News Service, then base newspapers, which he issued as a string. When this brought on a heart attack, he took out a year or so, but couldn't stay out. That's how he came to Webb. Now that he has taken his eternal rest, all of us are grateful that we got to be under his spell. Irrepressible spirits like that are very, very rare.

McCarthyism Revived

WASHINGTON — It is difficult—difficult but vitally important—to remember just how modest were the beginnings of the disgraceful episode which Americans came to know as McCarthyism.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy was amiable, not overly bright, a hard drinker, and a man driven by a compulsion to be wanted. He stumbled on the anti-Communist racket in a Lincoln Day speech to the Women's Republican Club of Wheeling, W. Va., on Feb. 9, 1950, when he said he held in his hand a list containing the names of 205 Communists, known to Secretary of State Dean Acheson "who nevertheless are still working and shaping the policy of the State Department."

THE CHARGE was phony, but for four years it echoed and reverberated throughout Washington, destroying reputations, hurting the cause of genuine anti-Communism, threatening the bedrock confidence of the people in their government.

In spite of the fact that Joe McCarthy ultimately destroyed himself with his wild irresponsibility, the anti-Communist racket still commends itself to the late Senator's spiritual kin. The Central Intelligence Agency (which should know better, since it was one of McCarthyism's early targets) recently dabbled in the art form by circulating a memorandum which sought to imply that criticism of the elephantine espionage apparatus was all part of a Communist plot.

SEN. THOMAS DODD (D., Conn.), the Senate's quickest shoot-from-the-hip artist since McCarthy, recently took a flyer in the same seedy business. Dodd ordered, caused to be circulated, and exploited a report by the staff of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee alleging that demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam have "clearly passed into the hands of Communist and extremist elements." Among other institutions, the report named the University of Colorado, and it smeared a respected professor there as an organizer of anti-Viet Nam teach-ins.

THE TRUTH, shades of Joe McCarthy, turned out to be quite different. The professor, Howard Higman, is staunchly pro-administration in his attitudes toward Viet Nam and is completely innocent of any connection with the teach-ins. There were a number of other inaccuracies in the subcommittee report, surely enough to create serious doubt that the report was worth anything at all.

IT IS POSSIBLE (but unproven) that some domestic Communists object to American policy in Viet Nam. But it is also possible (indeed, more than likely) that the Sinophobe branch of the Communist party welcomes the American war in Southeast Asia. The war poses a threat, after all, to Communist China, and since Communist China poses a threat to the empty eastern provinces of Soviet Russia, it is quite clear that President Johnson has allied the nation with Russia against Red China.

THE FOREGOING is a classical McCarthyite syllogism, of course, bearing no relationship to truth or objective reality. But it is a piece with the mischief of the cynics who ply the security racket, who wave the bloody shirt of atheistic, communistic subversion, and who do not respect the truth.

The nature of Communism is complex and varied. The war in Viet Nam is tangled and difficult to understand. The motivation of the proud and powerful American nation is obscure and hard to read. None of the elements lend themselves to the simplistic views espoused by Sen. Dodd, any more than they did to the noisy, destructive foolishness of Joe McCarthy.

GOP Still Looking For A Leader

WASHINGTON — Back in the days before yesterday, you could win horse races just the way the Republicans won their municipal victories in New York City and Philadelphia—by the use of ringers.

If you had Black Beauty entered to run at the half-mile track in Charles Town, you could ship a much faster black horse down from Pimlico, switch them in their stalls on a dark night, and let the imposter run for the purse.

THAT'S ABOUT how Congressman John V. Lindsay (R), a disguised Democrat with Liberal party endorsement became Mayor-elect of New York and how Arlen Specter, a former Democrat with Americans for Democratic Action backing won as a Republican in the Philadelphia contest for district attorney.

It's hard to see how these are victors worth celebrating even if GOP Chairman Ray Bliss says they are.

AS TO Congressman Lindsay, it ought to be acknowledged that even a ringer has to go the distance and prove his speed. I would like it better if conservatives, however deep their disappointment, would now congratulate the winner and hope that the voters chose wisely in picking him over a colorless Democratic opponent. Conservatism, with its deference to the amenities and traditions, should never neglect good sportsmanship and a sense of the public weal. Lindsay proved a good campaigner. He may well be able to do his city some good even if he did his party none.

THE SUCCESS of Lindsay's administration is going to depend on his finding trained manpower in depth to work at the complexities of urban government. New York is a tremendous repository of brains and money. The missing factor in city affairs has been the kind of intelligent management that we find in the business community. I see no reason why Lindsay, a winner by coalition, should not collect advisors and assistants from among Democrats, Republicans, Liberals and Conservatives.

THE NATIONAL GOP, however, is still in the market for a leader who can make the two-party system meaningful. Barry Goldwater never quite came through to the people, and Bill Buckley came through as a needler, a funnybone tickler, a magnetic personality, but not as a serious candidate. Richard Nixon continued to make friends for himself inside the party, but he didn't find a winning issue in New Jersey or Virginia where the local Republicans relied upon his judgment as well as on his ability to draw crowds.

IT MAY BE that the next Republican leader will turn up in the Southern States where many conservative Democrats have switched parties for reasons of political principle. But 1965 has almost gone by without the rise of a major figure who can rally the Republicans for the necessary duty of supplying opposition to the rampant Democrats.

John Lindsay's victory was personal. It said nothing whatever that contradicts the Democratic dogma. Lindsay only proved that in politics you can't tell Black Beauty by the party label, and that you can sometimes win with a ringer.

City Agrees To Price For Lakeview Access Road

Big Spring bought right-of-way on just over one acre of Denton Estate land in north Big Spring for $900 at Tuesday night's regular city commission meeting, for a new access route to Lakeview School, hub of controversy since the local school board closed Kate Morrison School.

Mrs. Dollie Decker, representing the Denton Estate, appeared before the commission and said the $750 the city, through Ernest Lillard, director of public works, had first offered was not enough.

DIAGONAL

"Why didn't you go through Fifth or through Seventh," she asked commissioners. The planned route will be a diagonal from Northwest Sixth up to Channing, the street in front of Lakeview School.

"We feel the angled street will be better for long-range planning and development of the land," Larry Crow, city manager, replied. "Sixth goes through to the Snyder Highway and Seventh does not." City planner Marvin Springer advised the angled street was the best answer to the problem.

"Would you take that little bit of money (the $750 offer) for that land?" Mrs. Decker asked. I think the angled street would ruin the sale of the property" (the angled right-of-way goes through more Denton Estate property). "Besides," she added, "I don't think the colored people would buy property with angled and curbed streets."

IMPROVE LAND

"I thought we had explained to you that the street will improve the value of the land," Mayor George Zachariah said.

"Ive seen some towns that do not have one straight street in their developments, and everybody seemed to like it," John Stanley, commissioner, said.

"The street will give improved access to your property," Zachariah said. "You have no prospects for development now, do you?"

Mrs. Decker said $750 was not much money, but that "between $800 and $1,000 would be adequate."

"Would you take $900 for the property?" Stanley asked.

"Yes," Mrs. Decker replied.

NO ASSESSMENT

Commissioners immediately moved to buy the land for $900, with the provision that there be no paving assessment on the land for five years. The city plans to "stablize" the street when it is opened.

John Burgess, city attorney, said today the deed acquiring the property will be drawn up and signed today. City officials indicated work on the opening of the street will commence shortly.

Commissioners also heard a report from members of the Big Spring Insurance Association, which handles city fire insurance, or a report drawn up by a Continental Insurance Co. evaluation engineer concerning present coverage of city buildings.

The report indicated the city's present, just - expired, three-year policy does not cover enough on the properties insured (example: city hall and auditorium are presently insured for $100,000. The engineer recommended $453,000, including 80 per cent co-insurance and 20 per cent discount.)

HIGHER COSTS

Over the past three years, the city's premiums have been about $4,373 total. With recommended changes in the presently-covered property, they would be about $14,336. Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, indicated under a five-year policy with insurance of properties and contents not now covered, the premiums would total nearly $26,000.

Commissioners authorized Anderson and Crow to study the recommendations and try to cut out coverage of property the city would not replace if it were burned or destroyed, then report to the commission on their findings and recommendations.

Two requests for permits to sell wine and beer for on-premises consumption were approved on first reading.

Mrs. Mattie Taylor asked for a permit for the "Jumbo Cafe," 2000 Gregg; and Blankenship and Bevis Enterprises, Inc., asked for a permit for the "Pizza Hut," in Highland Park Shopping Center.

No one appeared in opposition to the requests, and Jay Banks, police chief, had no objections.

TURNED DOWN

The "Pizza Hut," represented by Harvey Hoosier, requested final approval on first reading, but was turned down.

"Our policy for permits is three readings and we try not to deviate from it," Mayor Zachariah said. "However, we will probably have a called meeting between now and the next regular meeting, and if so, both yours and Mrs. Taylor's will probably get second reading approval, so that after the next regular meeting the permits will have final approval."

Governor's Wife Lets Him Decide

AUSTIN (AP) — Mrs. John Connally was with her husband in Amarillo Sept. 18 when he announced he would seek a third term as governor. She didn't want him to run again.

"But now that he is going to, I will run with him. I will help him," she says.

Connally said the decision was a tough one, made with some reluctance. He, as well as his wife, Nellie, has expressed the desire to leave public life and live on their Picosa Ranch near Floresville.

Mrs. Connally did not impose her preference on the governor.

"Women cannot live with men when the women make decisions for them," she said. "They have to make the decisions themselves."

Although she is ready to live for another term at the stately Executive Mansion in Austin—"You never feel like this is your house, no matter how long you live here."—she yearns for the country.

"Things take a different look to me. The sky and trees, peace and quiet, seem much more important now.

"Living to make memories instead of having the days pass. I appreciate things more now," she mused.

Mrs. Connally is city bred. But her heart has been won over by the ranch.

"A cow was a foreign creature to me, while John grew up on a ranch. And now I'm the one agitating to get us to the country."

Since their 1939 marriage, she has spent much of her time travelling, as Connally has been:

—In the Navy during World War II;

—A top aide to the late oilman Sid Richardson in Fort Worth;

—In Washington as President Kennedy's Secretary of the Navy;

—And on the grinding political circuit during two campaigns for governor.

The blue-eyed Mrs. Connally is a charming Texas First Lady, with a casual grace that puts people at ease whether at a barbecue or a formal mansion reception.

She still has the figure, the bouncy smile and the attractive personality that characterized her at the University of Texas.

"I never get used to the fact that we're any different from anyone else, even though John is governor," she said.

Mrs. Connally says, however, that she still flinches each time she hears a sudden loud noise. This is a consequence of Nov. 22, 1963, when she and the governor were riding in the same car with President and Mrs. Kennedy in Dallas and an assassin's bullets killed the president and seriously wounded Connally.

"After it had been a year, we sort of put it in the back of our heads and stored it with the things that you never forget but that you don't want to belabor," she said.

The Connallys and their three children have lived in the governor's mansion since January 1963.

"We've learned to live here," she said. "It was very difficult at first — you know how you are about someone else's things.

"You never feel like this is your house, no matter how long you live here. You're always telling the children to watch the walls and furniture and carpets."

The Connally children keep busy, too. John Jr., 19, managed the Picosa Ranch last summer, helped by his 13-year-old brother, Mark. Blonde and dimpled Sharon, 15, alternated between the ranch and Austin.

"The whole family contributes when a man is in public service," Mrs. Connally said. "We're all proud of John and what he does.

"I feel like we loaned him for a while, but we do want him back."

U. S. Casualty List Up In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American casualties in the first week of November were the highest so far in the Viet Nam war — 70 killed and 237 wounded, a U.S. spokesman reported today.

Most of the Americans were killed in actions around the Special Forces camp at Plei Me, in the central highlands. The week before there were 42 American dead.

The figures released today did not include the major battle Monday in the D Zone north of Saigon between U.S. paratroopers and Communist troops.

TOTAL 933

The casualties brought the total number of Americans killed in action in Viet Nam to 933, according to unofficial tabulation. A total of 4,801 have been wounded and 92 are missing.

Twenty Americans are known to be detained by the Viet Cong.

Vietnamese killed during the first week of November totaled 144, twice as many as the Americans killed. Two months ago one American was dying to every four Vietnamese.

Viet Cong dead were estimated at 536, giving Allied forces a 2.5-to-1 kill ratio in their favor.

Two Americans were captured during the week.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes hammered targets in North and South Viet Nam as ground action lessened.

Air Force B52s pounded D Zone for the second successive day, striking a suspected Viet Cong target about 35 miles northeast of Siagon.

Guilty Pleas Made Tuesday

Rafael Garza, charged with carrying arms, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Tuesday afternoon. He was fined $100 and costs.

David Hodnett, accused of writing a worthless check, was fined $50, costs and sentenced to one day in the county jail. He also pleaded guilty.

Bond in the case of James Emmitt Smith, charged with carrying arms, had bond set in the sum of $1,500.

YMCA Camp Given Award

The Big Spring YMCA Summer Day Camp has been awarded a certificate of accreditation in recognition of excellence in camping. The recognition is made to "Y" camps which meet the requirements of the National Standards Plan of the National YMCA Camp Standards.

The "Y" Day Camp was held June 14-25 in City Park near the site of the big spring. Director of the 1965 camp was Taylor Smith, HCJC student. Curtis Mullins, general secretary of the Big Spring YMCA, was supervisor of the camp personnel.

The YMCA Day Camp offers youngsters an opportunity to camp during the daytime hours and be at home at night. Camp program emphasis was placed on hiking, nature lore, archery, camp crafts, singing, story telling, stunts, and special activities including visits to local places of interest.

Elks Fill Two Posts

Two new appointments were announced at the regular meeting of the Elks lodge last night, and plans for a Christmas party were made.

Named new chaplain for the lodge was Wally Slate, and Curtis Arnold was appointed to the post of Inner Guard by Exalted Ruler Dudley Jenkins.

Glen Gale announced that a Christmas dinner and party would be held Dec. 21 at 5 p.m. for Elks and their families. A transfer was granted to Joe Clark who now lives in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He was a charter member of the local lodge and had served two terms as exalted ruler.

It was reported that seats are still available on the bus chartered for the San Angelo football game Nov. 19. Tickets may be purchased at the lodge for $2.75.

Graveside Rites For J. D. Sitchler

Secret Service Revamping Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—A massive reorganization of the Secret Service is planned and chief James J. Rowley's title will be changed to director, a Treasury official said today.

Rufus Youngblood, who has been head of the White House detail, is being promoted to one of four new posts of assistant director, and Lam Johns, now his top assistant, replaces him on the White House detail.

TWO AIDES

In addition, Rowley will have two staff assistants who will carry the title of assistant to the director.

Under the change, Rowley will have a title equal in rank to that of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The Treasury official said Rowley preferred the title of director and that this designation is normally used for heads of intelligence services.

Within the next few months the number of Secret Service personnel is scheduled to grow to about 950, almost twice the number two years ago.

Youngblood will be in charge of all details of the protection provided for President Johnson, the vice president, former presidents and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

GIVEN RECOGNITION

The promotion of Youngblood was in recognition of his outstanding work while head of the White House detail, the official said.

Youngblood was riding with Johnson, then vice president, in November 1963 when President Kennedy was assassinated. Youngblood was credited with acting quickly in pushing Johnson to the floor of the car and protecting him with his body.

Weather Forecast

Showers are forecast tonight for the Pacific northwest and part of Texas. Rain is expected along the southeast Atlantic states. Snow flurries are expected in the midwest extending as far west as Montana and Wyoming. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Marine Corps Cancels December's Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps today canceled its December draft call as it was announced that volunteer enlistments in the armed forces have risen almost 60 per cent.

The corps said it would not need 5,024 draftees it had asked for December because its enlistments had shot upward.

In the three-month period after President Johnson announced the Viet Nam buildup and more than doubled draft calls, Marine recruiting rose 113 per cent.

The Navy, which previously canceled its draft call for 4,000 men in November, registered a 69 per cent increase in volunteers in August, September and October.

The Air Force, which has been able to do without the draft all along, reported a 66 per cent increase in volunteers. The Army volunteers increased only 28 per cent in the three-month period.

The Marines are taking 4,050 men from Selective Service this month, the first time they have used the draft since late in the Korean War 13 years ago.

Today's action canceling the December Marine draft quota will reduce next month's call to 40,200 — all for service in the Army.

The Pentagon said that its requests for draftees in this last half of 1965 totaled 173,150.

Blackout Hits At Athletics

By The Associated Press

A professional basketball game, harness racing programs at two tracks and a boxing show were among the sports events postponed or canceled Tuesday night because of the massive power failure in the Northeast.

The National Basketball Association game between New York and St. Louis in New York's Madison Square Garden, harness cards at Roosevelt Raceway and suburban Westbury, N.Y., and Suffolk Downs in Boston were called off as well as the boxing program at Sunnyside Gardens in New York.

Those were the major casualties on a light sports schedule in New York and New England areas affected by the blackout.

The thoroughbred racing program at Aqueduct had been completed before the lights went out in New York, but the last race at Narragansett Park in Pawtucket, R.I., was canceled.

A crowd of 21,577 watched the nine-race card at Aqueduct which had a program starting at 12 noon.

The harness racing slate at Westbury about 35 miles from New York City, was canceled at 7:30 p.m. with a crowd of about 2,000 on hand. Most of the fans had arrived by charter bus from New York where the blackout hit at 5:27 p.m.

High school teams from Adelphi Academy and Dwight School were preparing to take the court at Madison Square Garden for the preliminary game to the Knick-Hawks NBA contest when the lights failed. The Garden was almost deserted 1½ hours later when the NBA postponement was announced. No new date was immediately set.

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A UH1D helicopter being ferried from the Bell Helicopter Co. plant at Hurst exploded and crashed Tuesday between Stephenville and Mineral Wells. The pilot was killed.

Army Maj. Robert Anderson of Ft. Bliss, Tex., died in the flaming wreckage. He was taking the craft to the Sharpe General Depot at Lathrop, Calif. The UH1D has seen widespread use in South Viet Nam.

Witnesses heard an explosion before the craft plunged to the ground 30 miles south of Ft. Wolters, a helicopter pilot training base near Mineral Wells.

Anderson's widow lives at El Paso. His family home is at East Braintree, Mass.

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian Cabinet has agreed to make Port Said a free port. It is the northern terminal of the Suez Canal, on the mediterranean.

DEAR ABBY

Politico's Viewpoint

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have had a bit of an argument. He holds a public office, and when we give a wedding gift, he insists on having his name and official title engraved on the gift. In fact, he is so adamant about this that he will give only gifts of silver for the sole purpose of engraving his name on them. I contend it would be all right to engrave the recipients' names and, perhaps, the date of the wedding on the gift, but for him to stick HIS name and title on the gift is in very poor taste. Am I right?

OFFICIAL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If the recipients wish to boast that they have received a gift from a person of importance, they can casually remark to guests, "That platter over there is from Lyndon and Lady Bird, or Hubert and Muriel." One who needs to be immortalized by a "monument" doesn't deserve one.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Last evening, around suppertime, when I was in the kitchen helping Mother, the telephone rang. My father answered it and I heard him say, "Yes," then he hung up, bang, just like that! I asked him who it was for, and he said it was a boy asking if Carol was there. (I am Carol.) I was furious and asked my father why he didn't call me to the phone, and he said, "All the boy asked was, 'Is Carol there?' I answered his question. I said 'yes.' If he wanted to speak to you, he should have said, 'May I please speak to Carol?'"

Now, Abby, do you think this was very nice of my father? And what should I do about it? I don't know which boy it was and I feel terrible. CAROL

DEAR CAROL: I think your Pop was being peevish and petty. If it's habitual with him, clue your friends on how to ask for you. But I think it will pass. (Perhaps your father had bet against the Dodgers, honey.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Everyone should be allowed one good gripe, and here's mine: It's the stupid waitress who will approach one man at the table when there are several couples in the party, and say, "You want all this on one check, don't you?" Then she slaps down one check already made out with everything on it.

I'll bet my socks that a lot of people don't go out in couples any more because some dumb waitress always sticks them with the bill for the entire party. Thank you.

STUCK OFTEN

DEAR STUCK: Waitresses are not mind readers. They do not know whether it's a Dutch treat, or you're someone's Dutch Uncle. It's up to you to clue her in when you order. If she makes up one check and it was not your intention to be the host, TELL her you want separate checks! And if you haven't the nerve, you deserve to be stuck.

Opening lead: King of ♠ An alert defense capitalized on declarer's carelessness at the opening gun to defeat South's three no trump contract.

West opened the king of spades and South, observing that a spade continuation by his opponent would automatically present him with an extra trick in that suit, permitted the king to hold — following suit with the seven of spades. When East played the deuce, however, West was not taken in by declarer's actions.

West realized from East's discouraging signal that South was apt to hold both missing spade honors and, in an attempt to get his partner in to lead thru the declarer's holding, West decided to shift to the ten of hearts. The deuce was played from dummy; however, East alertly overtook with the jack and South played the ace, in a belated effort to preserve his spade holding from attack.

A club was led to dummy's ace in order to put the queen of diamonds thru. The finesse lost to West's king and a heart continuation, thru North's queen, enabled East to cash four tricks in that suit, and South suffered a 200 point setback on the deal.

Declarer could not have gained by permitting East to hold the lead with the jack of hearts when West shifted to that suit. A spade return by East drives out South's ace and, when West gets in with the king of diamonds, he can cash the setting tricks in spades.

South can assure his contract by winning the opening spade lead and then crossing over to dummy in clubs in order to take the diamond finesse for, even if West gets in with the king of diamonds, he cannot continue spades without giving declarer another trick. As soon as the diamonds are established, South has nine tricks—four clubs, three diamonds, one heart, and one spade. Declarer should therefore have devoted his efforts to keeping East—the danger hand—out of the lead.

Yuletide Card Sellers Gird

NEW YORK (AP) — The lamb is lying down with the lion on Christmas cards this year.

There is everything from the usual medieval Madonnas to OP art Christmas stars, with a sprinkling of partridges in pear trees. But peace is the favorite theme shown by greeting card manufacturers.

In the next two months, the manufacturers, museums, photographic supply houses and charity groups expect to sell a record number of cards.

THREE BILLION

The Greeting Card Association, made up of manufacturers, predicts sales of over three billion cards in the United States.

Shoppers will find selection more difficult than ever, with more than 50,000 designs available.

The 1965 cards are three-dimensional, encrusted with gold foil. They are orange, pink, beige, purple, and sometimes even the traditional red or green.

There are special cards "From Our Parakeet to Yours."

There are cards for the milkman, mailman, doctor, priest, boss, nun, baby sitter and those in mourning. There is Santa on water skis and Santa driving a golf cart instead of a sleigh.

"We figure the average customer is a housewife, about 35, with two children, living in the suburbs," said Steve Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Cards Association.

"She orders about 200 personalized cards for 15 to 35 cents apiece, and then spends another $10-$12 on special cards for mother and the mailman. Then on impulse, she buys two or three boxes at the last minute."

"NEUTRAL POLICY"

The association takes what Shannon calls "a discreetly neutral policy" to its chief sales rivals: museums and charity organizations, such as UNICEF, which publishes its own cards to raise funs for the United Nations Children's Fund.

"Who's going to fight a glass of milk for a child in Zanzibar?" he asked, referring to UNICEF, which expects to sell 40 million cards this year.

Last year UNICEF's Christmas card net proceeds were $2.3 million.

Museums sales have been inching up, too, but the museums are close-mouthed about the figures. Many of the museums sell their cards throughout the country.

Sales of photographic cards have skyrocketed since they were introduced in the 1920s. Sales were 110 million in 1962, 125 million in 1963 and 150 million last year.

U.S. Plans To Sell Materials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration has announced it wants to sell about 33,552 pounds of chromium metal and about 20,000 tons of chemical grade chromite. Bids will be received on both materials until Dec. 6.

Veterans Day Program Scheduled For C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City's veterans organizations will offer the Veterans Day observance, scheduled Nov. 11, with both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion planning brief flag raising ceremonies and breakfasts for members and others. Both Commanders Warren Goode, VFW, and Tom Jay Goss II, American Legion, are urging display of the flag in honor of those fighting men who have served in the past and those now in Viet Nam.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will serve breakfast to members and others and has issued an invitation to all Mitchell County veterans to participate. Breakfast will begin at 6 a.m. at the Post Home on College Avenue, and will be served by the auxiliary. The flag raising ceremony will be held at sunrise.

The American Legion is holding a 7:15 a.m. breakfast in the Terrace Room of the Baker Hotel, for members, wives and guests.

The Chamber of Commerce reports that the majority of Colorado City businessmen will be open on Veterans Day.

High school principal Joe Burchard reports no special program planned in the high school, and that "it's school as usual" for Colorado High students. City Manager Ford Merritt said the City Hall will be open for business all day.

County Judge Elmer Martin said the courthouse will close for the holiday, and the City National Bank, the post office and U.S. government offices report that they will be closed.

Administration Drives Derail Klan Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two administration drives in the courts and in the Congress aimed at checking civil rights violence have collided after a mixup in signals — derailing the House hearings on the Ku Klux Klan.

Trying to build up to a climax before recessing until next year, the House Committee on Un-American Activities planned to flash the spotlight on the 1964 nightrider murder of Negro educator Lemuel Penn.

In so doing, the committee thought it had the green light from the Justice Department to question Klansmen who chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., said were "involved in the killing" of Penn.

It had subpoenaed Klansmen from the Athens, Ga., area, including J. Howard Sims and Cecil Myers, who had been accused of the slaying but freed by a Georgia state court.

Sims and Myers were waiting in the hearing room to testify Tuesday when the green light suddenly turned to red.

Amid surprise and consternation, a meeting was hurriedly called by Willis to change plans after a weekend letter from Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach asking the committee not to delve into the Penn case at this time.

What had happened was that the Justice Department was asking the Supreme Court Tuesday to revive federal felony indictments in the Penn case and in the slaying of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., in 1964.

Katzenbach was afraid the congressional hearings could prejudice further court hearings, and the committee agreed to go along with his request.

U.S. Program Credited In Oil Stability

CHICAGO (AP) — Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said today the mandatory oil import control program has provided the market stability necessary for a healthy domestic petroleum industry.

Udall gave no hint, however, to when 1966 imports quotas will be released. The quotas have been under study by Udall and his advisers since March, when several major changes were suggested by domestic producer and trade groups.

"The oil import control program may not be the most popular venture the federal government ever embarked upon but it has preserved the largest part of the United States petroleum market for domestic producers," Udall said.

He spoke at the concluding session of the 45th meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

Car, Truck Crash Fatal

PLEASANTON, Tex. (AP)—Johnny Ted Christensen, 24, of Riviera, Tex., was killed as his car and a truck collided early today in South Texas.

The crash occurred 7 miles south of Pleasanton on U.S. 281. State patrolmen said Christensen's vehicle was on the wrong side of the road.

The truck caught fire but its driver, Carlos Garcia, 50, of San Antonio, escaped with minor injuries.

C-City Airstrip Paving Complete

COLORADO CITY (SC) — City Manager Ford Merritt told the Colorado City council Monday night that paving the city-county airstrip is complete and the cost of materials was $4,206.

The paving project was a joint city-county effort with both agencies supplying men and machines. The city, which has an airport fund, had agreed to pay cash costs. Merritt said Tuesday that additional expenses would raise the total cost of the strip to a little more than $5,000. This did not include labor costs and operational costs of machinery, Merritt said.

Merritt added that the 3,000 foot paved strip is 60 feet wide. The airstrip site is located on leased land about two miles east of Colorado City. The leased strip is only 500 feet wide, which precludes the possibility of building crosswind runways, the airport's major deficiency.

In other council business Monday night, the council:

Approved a resolution, submitted by the Chamber of Commerce, asking rerouting State Highway 208 from the residential section of town to a thinly populated area on the east edge of the city. The resolution cited safety reasons. Highway 208 runs alongside the Junior High School and the Wallace School, one block away from the high school, two blocks from a grade school, and three blocks from the primary school.

Approved a new rating system for Colorado Street lighting, based on a flat rate instead of a metered rate per street light.

Heard a report from Dick Wistrand, representing the Gulf Insurance Company, which carries the city's liability insurance, that the company was excluding the payment of sewer damage from its coverage.

Oilman Group Names Panel

CHICAGO (AP) — A 34-member executive committee was selected Tuesday by a nationwide group of oilmen which plans to ask Congress to clarify the authority of the Federal Power Commission to regulate the wellhead prices of natural gas.

G. A. Cash of Amarillo, Tex., the chairman, said target dates and operational procedures will be developed later by a steering committee.

Plans for the new drive for a gas decontrol bill were announced last month. The follow-up session here was held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

The executive committee consists of major and independent oil operators and representatives of most major trade associations of the producing segment of the industry.

Baseball Is Faced With Grave Crisis

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Major League baseball faced the choice today of remaining in Milwaukee or risking an antitrust suit in Wisconsin courts, a prospect that a baseball lawyer said "could lead to the ruination of the game as we know it."

The dilemma, which left Wisconsin and Milwaukee County in position to bargain to keep the Braves from shifting to Atlanta next season, developed Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

Judge Robert E. Tehan ruled that Wisconsin courts should decide the antitrust suit filed by Wisconsin's attorney general.

The Tehan ruling, which cannot be appealed, means the antitrust suit will reach the federal courts only after being heard in Wisconsin.

The state is now free to seek an injunction in its own courts against the Braves' shift to Atlanta, planned for 1966.

Willard S. Stafford, special counsel for Wisconsin in the case, said he would start work on the injunction as soon as possible.

Should an injunction be granted, it could keep the Braves in Milwaukee until the case clears the Wisconsin courts. That could be well after the start of the 1966 season.

The implications raised by the ruling go deeper than just the Braves' case.

HE DISSENTS

Earl Jinkinson, Braves' attorney, acknowledged as much when he told Judge Tehan prior to his ruling that if Wisconsin could control the activities of baseball "it would lead to the ruination of the game as we know it.

"If Wisconsin can do this, then all the other states too can claim they are being prevented from having teams. We might wind up with 60 teams."

Baseball fought to have the case heard in the federal courts. Jinkinson argued that the case should be heard together with a federal antitrust suit filed against the league by Milwaukee County.

The suit maintains that the National League is so organized as to create a monopoly in the employment of players of major league quality, as well as in the scheduling and the broadcast of games.

The suit also strikes at the authority of the commissioner of baseball and the sacrosanct reserve clause, which enables a baseball club to have complete control of its players as a property right.

Baseball's peculiar structure has never come under full-scale judicial review. At stake in the current court fight are millions of dollars — both in the sport's lucrative income and in what Milwaukee might lose economically if it becomes the first city in modern history of baseball to be left without a major league team.

ELATED PRIVATELY

Wisconsin and Milwaukee County officials were guarded in their public comments on the ruling, but privately they were elated.

No Braves' official was available for comment.

While the Braves have already moved their offices to Atlanta and begun selling season tickets there for 1966, the move cannot take effect legally until Dec. 31. An injunction issued in local courts last year forbids the ball club to leave Milwaukee until its contract with the county expires at the end of the year.

State attorneys will be battling in Wisconsin courts to win the new injunction by Dec. 31 to stymie the move.

One official said there was no guarantee that Wisconsin would drop its suit should baseball relent and either keep the Braves in Milwaukee or grant an expansion franchise.

The official pointed out that the state has charged baseball with a violation of law and it might not be possible to drop the charge in return for a franchise.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Of all the head coaches who have had tenures here in other years, only Roy Baird is still in the profession.

Baird, dean of the local staff, is an assistant in football and head coach in baseball. He served as co-coach here in 1956, along with Harold Bentley, who now is assistant principal of the local high school.

Emmett McKenzie, Don Robbins' immediate predecessor, is superintendent of schools at Nederland.

Al Milch, who handed the reins over to McKenzie, is in the home-building business here. Carl Coleman, who coached here longer than any other individual, operates a service station and oil company here.

Obie Bristow, who gave Big Spring a district championship in the '30's, is an oil man here. John Dibrell, head coach during the last years of World War II and through 1946, operates a local sporting goods concern.

Herschel (Mule) Stockton (1948) and George Brown (1936) have moved on but are still in the school teaching profession. Stockton lives in San Angelo, Brown in Lubbock.

Pat Murphy, who had two coaching tenures here, is currently business manager of the local schools. Bill Stevens lives in Wichita Falls, where he is employed at Sheppard AFB.

It is my understanding that E. H. Poteet, coach here in 1918-1919, is in retirement around Kingsville and Joe Ward, who gave the Steers their nickname back in 1924, is an employe of the YMCA at Waco or San Antonio.

I do not know of the whereabouts of John Timothy Reid, coach here in 1920; or other past coaches, G. C. Cox (1921); John Lasseter (1922); B. Z. Hughes (1923); Jelly Jack Bryant (1925); Frank Boyle (1926); or George Harris (1927).

West Texans support the Texas Tech athletic teams in sensational style but the Lubbock high school football teams are notoriously poor draws at home.

The Lubbock buffs haven't even shown much interest in Lubbock Monterey, which is headed toward the District 3-AAA championship.

Scribe Bill Hart of the Lubbock paper says the largest crowd to see Monterey at home this season has been 6,000, which showed up for the game with Amarillo High. Lubbock's biggest turnout has been 5,500.

Odessa High has been faring very poorly at the gate in 2-AAAA while Midland Lee and Abilene Cooper haven't drawn well at home or on the road.

Pro football has grown so big that the NFL now wants to set up its own network to carry its games.

Each club already earns better than $1 million a year from TV alone but the club magnates want still more. The NFL is offended because NBC and ABC will not be able to enter too strongly in the bidding for the next contract offered by the pro league.

NBC, of course, is tied up in a five-year contract with the AFL while ABC is making a huge investment in the NCAA program starting next year. That leaves CBS in a position to dictate terms to the NFL, although the other networks may make token bids for the 1966-67 games, just to make CBS pay through the nose.

Sports Network, Inc., who does a lot of golf shows in season, is in the wings ready to serve as a foil for the NFL but SNI owns no stations.

The pros may be getting too greedy.

Donny Anderson Likely To Break School Mark

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech's Donny Anderson could, with a field goal against Baylor here Saturday afternoon, break the school scoring record set by Bobby Cavazos in 1953.

Anderson has tallied 78 points this year, and the mark is 80, set by Cavazos in 1953. Anderson, with three touchdowns last week, did manage to tie the Tech mark for touchdowns in a season, 13 by Jim Turner in 1951 and by Cavazos in '53.

Trying a field goal is about the only thing Anderson hasn't done in Tech's scarlet and black. He's either set Southwest Conference records or moved up among the all-time leaders in kickoff returns, rushing, and pass receiving.

Also, Anderson is punting at a 38.6-yard clip, and his coaches point out that he is sacrificing yardage there to cut down on runbacks. So far, he has kicked 37 times this season, and safetymen have returned a total of only 43 yards.

Punt returning is another of Anderson's skills, but he hasn't had much of a chance to display this ability this season. He took over for the injured Guy Griffis in the season's fourth game, and most of the punting has been away from him. Among his three runbacks was one for 37 yards setting up Tech's final minute touchdown against Oklahoma State.

Another Cavazos' mark endangered in the Baylor contest is Tech's career rushing mark of 2,137 yards. Anderson could smash that with a net of 15, since he currently has amassed 2,123 yards through 28 games.

Quote Of The Day:

Blair Cherry, the former University of Texas head football coach: "Donny Anderson is the greatest all-around back I've ever seen in the Southwest Conference. I think he can be an outstanding professional player at one of several positions his first year."

Porkers Favored In Scribe's Eyes

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — College football picks were made in the midst of New York's blackout Tuesday night but this is no indication that they are either better or worse than any previous ones.

Last week, with the selections made in broad daylight, the percentage was .761.

Here are this week's picks, more in the dark than usual:

Michigan State over Indiana: That Michigan State defense is the stingiest thing since Ebenezer Scrooge.

Arkansas over Southern Methodist: The Porkers confident they can raise the current winning streak among major colleges to 21. But the Mustangs have the personnel to extend Arkansas.

Nebraska over Oklahoma State: The two teams are in the same league but not in the same class.

Notre Dame over North Carolina: If Notre Dame needs a running quarterback, it uses Bill Zloch; when it needs a throwing quarterback, it uses Tom Schoen. What North Carolina needs most is help.

Alabama over South Carolina: How did Alabama ever lose that opening game?

Southern California over Pittsburgh: Three rivals defeated the Panthers by a total of 183-74; all seven of the Trojans' foes could collect only 66 points.

UCLA over Stanford: Coach Tommy Prothro and quarterback Gary Beban have breathed new life into the Uclans.

Tennessee over Mississippi: The death of the three young Tennessee coaches in that traffice accident has given the Vols a purpose.

Missouri over Oklahoma: About the only fault you can find with Missouri is that Gary Lane, the Tiger tosser, isn't accurate with his passes. In this case, it won't bother too much.

Kentucky over Houston: Last weekend, Houston spilled Mississippi. That was warning enough for the Wildcats.

Dartmouth over Cornell: Few backfields can boast of as much acrobatic ability as the Indian foursome that includes Mickey Beard and Gene Ryzewicz.

Purdue over Minnesota: Each has an outstanding quarterback but Purdue's Bob Griese gets the nod.

The Westbrook teams will host Old Glory Thursday night.

Forsan Wins By 59-51 Tab

COAHOMA—Forsan grabbed an early lead and led all the way in posting a 59-51 victory over Coahoma in a girls' basketball game here Tuesday night.

Karen Gross of Coahoma was the top scorer on the contest, however, with 34 points, 18 of which she hit from the free throw line.

Regina Williams and Linda Richters played fine ball for Coahoma in the backcourts.

Forsan also won the B game, 33-27. Claudia Davis counted 11 points for Forsan and Laura Madison 12 for Coahoma in that one.

The Coahoma girls return to competition a week from Thursday night, at which time they visit Garden City.

Roman Brother Gets Nod In International

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—A prominent English bookmaker took a long hard look today at the field for Thursday's $150,000 Washington, D.C., International at Laurel and figured American handicappers knew what they were doing when they established little Roman Brother the favorite to take the 1½-mile grass course horse race.

Jack Golding, president of the Bookmakers Protective Association of Southern England, emphasized he was not going into business in this country where, unlike England, bookmaking is illegal. He is here for the first time as a member of a touring party.

But with the promise that nobody would ask him to take a wager, he called on his 46 years of experience gained in making book at leading English tracks to form the following line on the eight horses from five nations:

Roman Brother (U.S.) 2-1; Hill Rise (U.S.) 4-1; Diatome (France) 5-1; Super Sam (England) 7-1; Carvin (France) 10-1, Berenjenal (Argentina) 10-1, George Royal (Canada) 14-1 and Hail To All (U.S.) 14-1.

The quotations varied little from the ones made by the track handicapper. He has made Roman Brother, owned by Lou Wolfson's Harbor View Farm, the 7-5 favorite with Hill Rise, from George Pope's El Peco Ranch, second choice at 4-1. He also quoted Diatome at 5-1 but differed slightly on the others with Super Sam 6-1, George Royal 8-1, Hail To All and Berenjenal 10-1 and Carvin 15-1.

Post time Thursday will be about 3:45 p.m. EST with no nationwide television scheduled.

Roman Brother earned his lofty position by reason of three major victories, by margins ranging from five to 10 lengths, in his last three starts. On the debit side of the ledger for the 4-year-old gelding is a very bad showing in his lone start on the grass—a mile race at Saratoga.

The son of Third Brother-Roman Zephyr is not only the leading candidate for Horse-of-the-Year honors in this country, but can enter the select group of horses who have won more than $1 million, his bank account now stands at $920,203. A victory in the International would be worth $90,000.

Points For Odessa

Berry King, a halfback who plays both offense and defense for the Big Spring Steers, will be in action here Friday night when the locals entertain the Odessa Bronchos at 8 o'clock. The Longhorns play their final game of the 1965 season against the Red Hosses, at which time they will be seeking their sixth win of the year. (A Good-Valdes photo).

Ex-Tech Star Living Up To His Press Clippings

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Parks, the San Francisco 49ers split end, is living up to all the bright hopes of the scouts who drafted him No. 1 in the National Football League two years ago.

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound whiz from Texas Tech has taken over the NFL lead in pass receptions with 41 for 763 yards and six touchdowns. Parks grabbed six of George Mira's passes for 120 yards last week against Dallas, moving ahead of Tommy McDonald of Los Angeles who has 39 for 524 yards.

Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns continues to roll up the yardage, gaining 131 in 20 carries against Philadelphia, and now tops the heap by almost 400 yards. Jim has gained 908 yards on 178 carries in eight ball games. The second man is Tim Brown of Philadelphia with 528 yards.

The passing leadership, based on standings in four categories, has John Brodie of San Francisco and John Unitas of Baltimore rated even. Brodie missed last week due to a shoulder dislocation and Unitas suffered a strained back in a winning effort against Chicago. Unitas has completed 61.8 per cent of his passes and has the top average gain, 9.72 yards, and the most touchdown passes, 18.

Fred Cox, Minnesota's consistent place kicker, leads the scorers with 69 points on 13 field goals and 30 conversions.

BASEBALL DROPPED

COLORADO CITY (SC)—The Colorado City school board has voted to eliminate baseball from the school's athletic program.

Colorado City was the only school in District 5-AA to field a baseball team last spring but filled out the schedule against Class AAAA and AAA teams. The Wolves emerged as Regional champions.

Mutt, Jeff Duo Get Job Done

By The Associated Press

Philadelphia's 76ers believe when you want the job done ask a tall basketball player to do it — better, yet, ask a tall one and a shorter sidekick.

Wilt Chamberlain, who is 7-foot-2, and Hal Greer, a foot shorter, linked scoring efforts and led the 76ers to a 118-110 victory Tuesday over the Los Angeles Lakers in the National Basketball Association. Chamberlain dunked 39 and Greer 32.

The loss dropped the Lakers a game and a half behind San Francisco in the Western Division.

San Francisco's Nate Thurmond, who took over at center when the Stilt was traded to Philadelphia last year, grabbed 42 rebounds off the backboards to help the Warriors retain their first-place position. The Warriors downed the Detroit Pistons 107-102.

New York had to call off a scheduled game with St. Louis because of the electrical blackout in the East. Boston's Celtics won their fourth straight game, this one 130-116 over the Baltimore Bullets in Providence, R.I.

Wolski Named Back Of Week On AP Ballot

By The Associated Press

No wonder Notre Dame's Bill Wolski is favoring a sore leg in Irish football practice this week. He probably hurt it tripping over the Pitt goal line last Saturday.

Wolski was named Back of the Week today by The Associated Press for his five-touchdown burst in Notre Dame's 69-13 burial of the Panthers. The hard - driving senior halfback equaled a 42 - year - old school point record in little more than two quarters as the Irish bolstered their No. 4 spot in the national ratings.

He scored successive Notre Dame touchdowns on smashes of 7, 4, 6, 2 and 1 yards before resting a pulled leg tendon early in the third period while Irish second-stringers completed the rout. The five tallies tied Red Maher's Notre Dame mark set in 1923 against Kalamazoo.

Before Saturday, Wolski's best single-game performance was a three-touchdown effort against Stanford last season, during which he led the Irish in rushing, 657 yards and scoring, 11 touchdowns.

Two other outstanding running backs — Michigan State's Clinton Jones and Kentucky's Rodger Bird — fell one touchdown short of matching Wolski. Jones rambled 19, 6, 4 and 3 yards for scores as the No. 1-ranked Spartans whipped Iowa 35-0. Bird blasted Vanderbilt with 132 rushing yards, including 32, 2, 2 and 1-yard touchdown jaunts in the 10th-ranked Wildcats' 34-0 victory.

Insurance Now Is Required

All Big Spring school students participating in competitive athletics, in the future, must be covered by insurance, following a discussion of injuries and action by the school board Tuesday night. Coverage of football players in the high school has been a policy in the past, with a $5 fee being paid by the student or a waiver signed by parents and filed with the athletic director. The school district pays a total of $2,415 additional.

Dr. Carl Marcum, board member, said cases of injury had been noted where students had received medical attention and had been hospitalized with no insurance to cover hospital expenses. He said nearly all doctors will forego charges for their services, but that medications, X-rays and hospital services become a burden.

School policy in the past, regarding high school football players, has been that a try-out premium of $7.50 per player had been paid by the school; a first - scheduled - game premium of $17.50 paid by the school, and a $5 premium paid by the student unless a wavier was filed.

Junior high players have been covered by payment of $5 by individual players, or a waiver filed.

No insurance is carried on players in other forms of athletics.

All students taking part in competitive athletics in the future must be covered in the "no pay, no play" policy adopted.

Notre Dame Takes Lead In Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame have established themselves as a team that gets the most done with the least effort.

Latest statistics of he National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show today that the Irish are the highest-scoring major college football team in the country—250 points for a 35.7 average—yet don't rank among the first 10 in total offense.

The Irish jumped from sixth to first in the scoring column by crushing Pittsburgh last Saturday 69-13. It was the highest number of points for a Notre Dame team in 33 years and the second highest by any team in the last six years.

Utah State beat New Mexico State 76-0 last year.

Unbeaten Nebraska is second to Notre Dame in scoring with a 34.9 yard average and leads in rushing offense with 287 yards per game. Tulsa, with its stellar passing combination of Bill Anderson and Howard Twilley is out front in both total offense and passing offense.

The Golden Hurricane has averaged 425 yards a game, both passing and running, and 344.8 yards in passing alone.

Nebraska is second in total offense with 416.5 yards, followed by the Ivy League's undefeated Princeton, 375.7, and Texas Western, 372.2.

Southern California, with the country's leading individual rusher in Mike Garrett, is second to Nebraska in rushing offense. The Trojans have averaged 249 yards a game. Cornell, Princeton's foe this week, is third with 246.9.

Stringer Is Leader By 6

San Angelo's Frankie Stringer leads Tim Thurman of Abilene High by six points in the race for over-all scoring honors in District 2-AAAA football.

Stringer has 60 points, all as the result of touchdowns. Thurman has counted nine touchdowns, good for 54 points.

Two boys, Larry Gatlin of Odessa and Tony Conley of Permian, are deadlocked for third place in the race, each with 48 points.

Odessa Team Has Big Primary, Small Backs

"If we play good ball, we can win."

Coaching aide Roy Baird so remarked to members of the Big Spring Quarterback Club Tuesday night, referring to the Friday night game between Big Spring and Odessa High.

Baird was the principal scout of the Bronchos and has accumulated a prolific file on the Red Hosses.

Baird said the Odessans have a large line built around Winston Beam, a 220-pound senior who plays guard on defense; and Dean Wilkerson, 220-pound left tackle; and a relatively small backfield.

Larry Gatlin, who switches from quarterback to halfback on occasions, is the most talented back the Bronchos have, according to the Longhorn coach. When he moved to halfback, Eddie Harris enters the lineup and usually throws to Gatlin.

Mark Clapham, 200-pound fullback, has been lost to the Red Hosses due to illness. He has been replaced by John Zugg, a 165-pound junior.

Ray Goddard, 140-pound senior halfback, combines with Gatlin to give the Odessans a lot of speed in the secondary.

Baird described split end Ronnie Peoples, who is only a sophomore, as a pass receiver who "no body has covered yet."

Beam was described as an exceedingly rugged individual ("the biggest man you'll see on a high school football field") who injured three members of the San Angelo team last week and who knocked out two Midland players on one play earlier in the year.

Coach Don Robbins said the local gridders had had several fine workouts this week and appeared to be mentally "up" for this game.

Action films of the Big Spring - Permian game were screened, along with a segment of a B game.

Robbins said he felt the Steers could have defeated Permian were it not for a letdown here and there. The Longhorns moved the ball well against the Panthers, he remarked, but were guilty of a few errors that really hurt the local cause.

The smallest turnout of the season attended the session.

No, It Isn't

This isn't President Johnson posing with one of his aides. The man who bears striking resemblance to the Chief Executive is Henry Smith, 58-year-old part-time farmer and Dallas garbage truck driver, shown with Joe Blundell, right, a fellow-employe. Smith took the job as garbage man because the farm didn't pay, but recently gas and sulphur deposits were found on the land. Now Smith's income is better than $25,000 a year, but he says he's going to keep on working. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Trustees Receive Audit Of Books

George Thorburn, certified public accountant, presented the annual audit of Big Spring Independent School District funds to the board Tuesday night. He was re-employed as auditor for the coming year.

The report substantiated the receipts and disbursements shown in the revised budget submitted to the Texas Education Agency at the close of the 1964-65 school year, but did not reflect some $90,000 of funds received from state and federal agencies for 1964-65 after the close of the school year.

Thorburn's audit showed a cash balance on hand, for local maintenance Sept. 1, 1964, of $145,409.75, as compared to a balance of $226,577.15 Aug. 31, 1965; $10,332.21 in the transportation fund at the beginning of the year and $12,240.08 at the year's end; $49,717.61 Sept. 1, 1964 in the interest and sinking fund; and $162,025.42 at the close of the year.

Total liabilities at the beginning of the year, less indebtedness, showed $413,585.25 in all funds; total funded indebtedness of $10,289,507.93, and total reserves and unappropriated surplus of $11,412,987.72, and all liabilities totaled $22,116,080.90.

Assets showed (Aug. 31, 1965): Total cash on hand for all funds, $7,285; total cash in bank $1,451,762.80; taxes receivable, $205,428.58; investments, certificates of deposit, $2,920,000; total fixed assets such as land, buildings and equipment, $6,951,440.38; amounts to be provided for in bond principal and interest, $10,680,164.14, for total assets of $22,116,080.90.

Total assets for the operating fund, including cash on hand, cash in bank and taxes receivable, were $427,641.16.

Unencumbered fund balances Aug. 31, 1965 for local maintenance showed a total of $226,577.15. To this would be added the amount received after the close of the year of over $90,000 which will be shown in the following year's audit.

The questionnaire submitted by the Texas Education Agency, to be answered by the auditor, showed proper yes and no answers with no discrepancies. All payroll records and teacher personnel files of the district were examined to show that the district is complying with the salary schedule established by the Minimum Foundation Program of Texas.

Military Base Power Stays On In Ordeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department claims its own web of military communications with all military bases in the Northeastern United States kept going throughout the critical hours of power failure Tuesday night when paralysis gripped civilian systems.

Emergency generating systems at big strategic Air, Army and Navy installations in the affected area were cut into operation almost instantly as energy from commercial circuits cut off.

A Pentagon spokesman said there was no indication of communication failure anywhere in the intricate and duplicating voice, radio and Teletype circuits that link the bases to the National Military Command Center in the Joint Chiefs of Staff area of the Pentagon.

IS MAINTAINED

What he described as "normal communications with all vital military areas" was maintained.

Pentagon officials presented a picture of confidence in the emergency system which was put to sudden and unplanned test.

By midevening, the offices of top officials were vacant, with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff apparently headed for home.

But, despite the Pentagon's air of confidence, it was obvious questions about the impact of this or possible future similar occurrences gnawed at the high levels of government.

WITH McNAMARA

President Johnson, in ordering a broadscale investigation of the power disaster, directed that the investigators consult with McNamara, among others in the government.

The blackout is certain to be discussed Thursday when McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others are scheduled to confer with Johnson at the LBJ Ranch in Texas.

Although the initial reaction of the White House was to rule out possibility of sabotage, this obviously would be a subject for attention of investigators. The military has its own system of investigators and technicians skilled in power and communications systems.

NO INTERRUPTION

There was no interruption on the "hot line" connecting Washington and Moscow — the Teletype link over which President Johnson and Soviet leaders would communicate in dire emergency. This cable circuit is routed from Washington through London, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Helsinki. An alternate radio circuit is routed from Washington through Tangier to Moscow.

The Pentagon has four command centers, each with its own worldwide communications system.

Direct "hot lines" connect the command centers with the homes of top civilian and military officials. Even when they are away from their homes or offices and traveling by automobile or aircraft mobile telephonic connections are maintained.

Trustees Have Routine Meet

Most business transacted by the Big Spring school board Tuesday night was routine. One teacher was employed to fill a position caused by overloaded grades, and various reports heard.

Mrs. Sharon Rossmiller, who received her bachelor of arts degree from DePauw University, was employed as a first grade teacher at Cedar Crest School, effective Oct. 21.

Supt. Sam Anderson reported 419 school personnel pledged $4,122.50 to the United Fund. The senior high school led in the number of pledges and amount with 72 pledging $712.75; Goliad Junior High second with 46 pledging $523; Washington Place Elementary school third with 27 pledging $386.50, and Bauer Elementary school fourth with 22 pledging $280.

Last year 406 individuals pledged $3,899.30.

The statistical report on enrollment, re-entries, losses and average daily attendance, for the first six weeks of the school year, showed 96.86 per cent attendance reported to the Texas Education Agency. The average teacher load for elementary schools was 26.9 students; 21.2 for secondary schools, and 24.1 for all schools.

Agriculture Agency Ups Quotas On Sugar Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, in carrying out quota increases provided by the 1965 Sugar Act, has increased the quotas for domestic and Philippine production by 611,783 tons.

The action Tuesday increasing the estimated amount of sugar that can be marketed in the continental United States left unchanged the allotments announced Sept. 22 for foreign countries other than the Philippines.

The estimated sugar requirements for the continental United States now total 9,911,783 tons. In September, the estimate had been increased from 9.1 million to 9.3 million tons.

The areas affected by the quota increases in short tons, raw value, are:

Domestic beet area, 375,000 tons; mainland cane area, 205,000 tons; Hawaii, 8,783 tons, and the Phillipines, 23,000 tons.

At the same time Tuesday, the Agriculture Department announced informal hearings on acreage allotments for cane and sugar beet production. The cane sugar hearing will be held Nov. 16 and the beet sugar hearing Nov. 18, both in Washington.

Polygraph Gives DeLeon Clean Bill

Benjamin DeLeon, who gambled his chances of liberty on whether he could pass a lie detector test with flying colors, seems to have won.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, said that DeLeon, who was in Lubbock Tuesday for a polygraph check at the Department of Public Safety offices, convinced the polygraph operator that he was innocent of the burglary charge pending against him.

"The polygraph operator will file a written report on his conclusions," said Burns. "If the report bears out the preliminary conclusion, I will ask that the indictment against DeLeon be dismissed."

Burns said that DeLeon was accused of burglarizing Zora's Cafe last winter. Soon after his arrest, the district attorney said, DeLeon made a statement concerning the burglary. Later he retracted the statement.

Tried several weeks ago in 118th District Court, a jury disagreed on his guilt or innocence. A mistrial was entered in the case. Burns said that the jury was deadlocked seven for conviction and five for acquittal.

A few days ago, when DeLeon's case again came up for trial, the defense and state reached an agreement that if DeLeon would submit to a polygraph test, the case would be determined by whatever findings were shown.

If DeLeon had been ruled guilty by the lie detector machine, he would plead guilty; if the polygraph said he was not guilty, the state would dismiss the case.

Travis Long, special investigator for the district attorney's office, sat in on the polygraph examination in Lubbock.

Burns said he should have the written report of the polygraph operator in a few days.

J. W. Carpenter Dies After A Long Illness

J. W. Carpenter, 67, native of Big Spring and member of a pioneer family, died at 5:15 a.m. today after a long illness.

Arrangements were pending at the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mr. Carpenter submitted to surgery for removal of a brain tumor about six months ago and showed brief improvement. He died at the family home at 2300 Runnels.

He was born in Big Spring and attended school here. While he had worked for several firms, he had been associated with McGibbon Oil Company for many years prior to his illness. Mr. Carpenter was a member of the First Baptist Church.

His father was the late J. W. (Will) Carpenter, who came to West Texas in 1884 and to Big Spring in 1889 to become a cowboy for the historic Slaughter Long S ranch. Five years later he was married to Winnie Barnett, who was the eldest daughter of Dr. J. W. Barnett, the elder one of the first physicians to set foot in Big Spring. Joe Carpenter was one of their eldest children and was cast in the same mould as his forebearers — quiet, hard-working, and openly friendly.

On Feb. 16, 1930, he was married in Breckenridge to Miss Lois Sears, who survives him, as do a son, Eugene S. Carpenter, Cincinnati, Ohio; and two daughters, Mrs. Ray Fortson, Big Spring, and Mrs. Harold Caldwell, Lawton, Okla.

Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. Dalton Mitchell; three brothers, Henry C. Carpenter, Big Spring, Boyd Carpenter, Dallas, Sidney Carpenter, Grand Prairie.

Three Taken To State Prison

Three prisoners, under penitentiary sentences, were removed from the Howard County jail today.

Taken to Huntsville to begin serving time were:

Bobby Beardsley, four years for theft, who last week lost his appeal in the appellate court; Earl Morgan, three years, on revocation of probation for a worthless check conviction; Arthur Lee Lemon, picked up here on a Fort Worth warrant as a parole violator.

Bill Whitton, deputy sheriff, took the prisoners to the state penitentiary.

Trailer Returned

Sheriff A. N. Standard returned early today from Albuquerque, N.M., where he had gone to recover a stock trailer stolen here last January. He was accompanied by George Homan, owner of the trailer. They located the vehicle, valued at $600, and took it in charge. Standard said that investigation into the theft is still under way. There is a possibility of arrests later.

Wakefield Begins Work Monday

Bob G. Wakefield, Howard County's new juvenile officer, is to begin his duties here Nov. 15, Lee Porter, county judge, said today. He said that Wakefield is establishing his home here and will be ready to begin work Monday.

The county juvenile board will meet this afternoon, Porter said. He did not know if Wakefield will attend.

Wakefield has been employed by the board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Bob Darland. The board set Wakefield's salary at $600 a month, plus car allowance.

Darland is to become a Youth Corps camp counselor.

Wakefield is coming here from Corpus Christi.

CHILLING POSSIBILITIES

Blackout Poses Grim Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Struck with a kind of crisis it's never known before, the federal government groped today for answers to a mounting array of questions.

Foremost: How did it happen, this terrifying blackout that gripped the busiest corner of the United States for most of a night?

And then, immediately: What can be done so that it may never happen again, this sudden stripping away of electric power—the lifeblood of 20th century America?

And overshadowing all of the immediate questions, the chilling military one: Could one man or group of men, secret agents of an enemy power, secretly throw the switches and cut the lines and smash the machinery to paralyze the nation, setting it up for a devastating thermonuclear attack?

ALL-OUT PROBE

The administration's reaction was swift and emphatic: President Johnson ordered an all-out investigation of the power failure and picked chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission to direct it.

But the national security implications of the disaster became clear when the President ordered the Federal Bureau of Investigation to take part in the probe. FBI agents were ordered to walk with power crews along the lines between Niagara Falls and Syracuse, N.Y., to seek the source of the blackout.

And while White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers refused to speculate about possible sabotage, and Johnson was advised by experts that dirty work was unlikely, the question remained: Could it happen? And what can be done to prevent it?

At the Pentagon, the national defense command center and headquarters for all U.S. military communications, the immediate questions raised and answered were not of sabotage and future precautions but of the existing status of those communications.

"A rapid check of major military installations, including the Strategic Air Command and the North American Air Defense Command, confirms that communications are intact," the Defense Department said within an hour of the blackout.

NO CRISIS AURA

No air of crisis was apparent at the Pentagon, where lights went out at the usual time in the offices of key officials. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara did not return to his office during the Northeast blackout.

Swidler, warning that too few facts were in to make any firm judgments, said the crisis calls for a great deal of "careful study and industry thinking and perhaps some fairly important technological renovations."

He did not suggest the renovations. But ironically, an intricate, government-urged linking of Northeastern power systems intended to assure electricity in an emergency may have been a key contributor to the blackout.

The theory was that a failure in one area would be automatically remedied by a power flow from another area.

But a spokesman for the Potomac Electric Power Co. here said all that saved Washington — and Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland — was the closing off of an interconnection between those states and the area that was blacked out. There was no consideration given, he said, to attempting to supply the enormous needs of the Northeast from its neighboring states.

Communications Hit Hard, But AP News Flows

NEW YORK (AP) — In one shuddering instant, the hub of the nation's communications industry lost power, faltered, but caught itself and began talking again.

Throughout the Northeast of the nation — where more than one out of 10 Americans live — television tubes loaded with children's programs and late afternoon movies went black. Some radio stations fell silent.

Newspapers quickly searched out alternative presses to put out abbreviated editions.

NEWS FLOWS

The Associated Press made emergency shifts in its vast network of wires, and kept the news, even of the blackout itself, flowing without interruption.

Advertising losses from all media ran into the millions.

Train Wreck Threat Made

DALLAS (AP) — An anonymous threat to wreck a Santa Fe passenger train was disclosed today.

Tom Murphy of the railroad's public relations staff said agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were trying to trace a letter promising sabotage unless $60,000 was handed over Tuesday.

FBI spokesmen declined comment.

Power Failure Rundown Given

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's a rundown on the power failure which gripped the Northeast for more than 10 hours:

THE EXTENT — At its peak Tuesday night, the power failure and companion blackout encompassed 80,000 square miles and 30 million persons in New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Vermont, Rhode Island and Toronto and Ottawa in Canada. It hit about 5:30 p.m. (EST) and New York City, one of the last areas to have power restored, was without lights until 3:35 a.m. today.

THE CAUSE — Unknown as yet, although some experts attributed it to a breakdown at a remote-control substation near Syracuse, N.Y. Suggestions of sabotage generally were discounted. President Johnson ordered Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler to launch an immediate investigation.

TRANSPORTATION — Striking in the heart of the evening rush hour, the blackout snarled traffic in the car-clogged streets, brought New York's subway system to a halt and stopped elevators between floors. An estimated 850,000 persons were stranded on the subways.

COMMUNICATIONS — Civilian communication systems — The Associated Press, the radio-television networks — were silenced, but their direction was transferred to other centers, primarily Washington. The Pentagon reported that its bases switched instantly to emergency power and neither they nor the Washington-Moscow hot line were hampered.

CRIME — Though the incidence of crime increases after dark, there were no reports of a major upsurge in the big cities. But at the Massachusetts State Prison, some 300 inmates kicked off a furniture-breaking riot which ended when guards and state troopers herded them into one cell block.

Extradition Is Granted

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally has ordered the extradition of rodeo performer Jack Favor, who is wanted in Louisiana on murder charges in the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. W. W Richey.

Favor and two other men are charged with the April 17, 1964, killings in Bossier Parish, not far from Shreveport.

The governor granted extradition Tuesday on the recommendation of Secretary of State Crawford Martin, who took testimony at a Nov. 2 hearing.

Checotah, Okla., Rancher Willard Combs said Favor visited his home the afternoon of the slaying.
