Coal Strike Plagues Untried Jap Cabinet

Warmakers Out In Cold, And Press Growls As Conservatives Take Over

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Tuesday, Oct. 9—A cabinet of aged but untested parliamentarians took charge of restless Japan's reconstruction today and was at once confronted with a spreading coal strike—an event rare in the empire.

Premier Kijuro Shidehara chose a cabinet that left the war-makers out in the cold for the first time in eight years and called it into session immediately to outline the monumental tasks ahead.

Navy Minister Changed

The newspaper Yomuiri Hochi reported today that Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai—not Adm. Soyemu Toyoda—would be installed as navy minister in Japan's new cabinet.

The startling report appeared less than a day after Premier Kijuro Shidehara had reported his 15-member cabinet completed with Toyoda's belated acceptance.

Japanese newsmen speculated that American headquarters had indicated appointment of Toyoda "would not be so good."

YONAI NAVY MINISTER

TOKYO, Tuesday, Oct. 9. (AP)—Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai, once an opponent of "Pearl Harbor Premier" Hideki Tojo, today was chosen Navy minister in Japan's new cabinet instead of Adm. Soyemu Toyoda.

The last minute appointment first was reported by Japanese newspapermen, then confirmed by government officials on the eve of the first meeting of Premier Kijuro Shidehara's cabinet.

Toyoda is chief of the Navy general staff and a former commander in chief of the combined fleets.

Domei Reports Change

Domei also reported the change, saying it was made at the last minute this morning with Yonai, who previously had declined because of illness, agreeing to accept the portfolio.

Yonai was a member of the supreme war council, was Navy minister five years ago and briefly was deputy prime minister under Premier Koiso in 1944.

Investiture of the cabinet was scheduled for 11 a. m. (8 p. m. Monday, central standard time) before the imperial palace. Then the new government was scheduled to hold its first meeting at the premier's official residence, where Shidehara had agreed to meet the Allied press at 3 p. m.

Yonai had been a Navy minister in four cabinets—but not in Hideki Tojo's "Pearl Harbor" government.

It is understood he once was strongly opposed to Tojo's clique.

Toyoda was not named on any

Yamashita Yells Out "Not Guilty"

MANILA, Oct. 8. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who tasted glory when he conquered Singapore and bitter humiliation when he lost the Philippines, pleaded innocent today to war crimes when arraigned before an American military commission which leaned over backwards to give him fair play.

The commission let him have his private interpreter, added two of his top aides—themselves facing war criminal charges—to his defense staff and set his formal trial for Oct. 29.

To Demand Death

The prosecution, heatedly protesting the appearance of the two Japanese generals "before this commission as lawyers," declared it would demand the death penalty for the "Tiger of Malaya."

The swaggering, shaved-headed Yamashita took quick advantage of the courteous court treatment to try to recover "face."

Permitted to appear booted and spurred, wearing his decorations, he registered polite inability to understand the brand of Japanese handed out by the court's American interpreters and obtained permission to call in the services of a Harvard-educated Japanese, M. Hamamoto, who has been his constant companion in new Bilibid prison.

Yells "Not Guilty"

Yamashita almost bellowed "not guilty" in Japanese to the charges that he failed to keep his men from committing wanton atrocities.

His court - appointed counsel, soft-spoken Col. Harry E. Clarke of Altoona, Pa., immediately moved to dismiss the charges on the ground they were vague and general and that Yamashita was not accused of any atrocities but only with failure to prevent his troops from such acts.

The prosecution countered with a bill of particulars on atrocities by Yamashita's armies, including torture, mutilation, massacre of more than 25,000 non-combattant men, women and children, and rape cases by the thousands. The sack of Manila was blamed on Yamashita's troops.

Nationwide Search For Slaying Suspect

HOUSTON, Oct. 8. (AP) — A nationwide pickup order has been issued for the 40-year-old man sought in the slaying of pretty Elnora Collins, whose nude and burned body was found near Beaumont last week, but the mystery of his whereabouts deepened today.

In Washington the man's estranged wife told reporters in the presence of Inspector Robert J. Barrett, chief of detectives, that she had not heard from her husband recently.

Yesterday she had told officers he had made two local telephone calls to her last week. Search in the Washington area was intensified as a result.

Her later denial of the telephone calls widened the search for the missing man.

An autopsy of the body of the victim established positively that Miss Collins had not been criminally attacked, Kern said it was said she may have been strangled or poisoned. A test is being made for poison.

Heavy Rains Help Scurry Ranch Land

SNYDER, Oct. 8 (Special) — Soaking rains have raised ranchers' water supplies in earthen tanks in this area 400 per cent, but halting of field work has left much bundle and combine feed to be harvested if the weather breaks.

Rainfall which began Sunday morning totaled 1.20 inches by 8 a. m. Monday, upped the October report to 2.12 inches and made 4.2½ inches since the rainy season began Sept. 28. Range land is said to have the best October soaking in eight years.

Mexican field laborers in the area, not having housing facilities, are camping at the Snyder migrant labor headquarters.

Marines Land In Force In North China

(By The Associated Press)

TIENTSIN, China, Oct. 8—United States Marines again have landed in North China—this time to help Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and act as a collection agency for weapons to be surrendered by the Japanese.

The Marines went ashore at three points Sunday, well-prepared for trouble with their own tanks and artillery, rocket detachments and a complete air wing.

A small Marine advance party has been here since Sept. 28 but Sunday's landings were in strength.

Veterans of the First Marine division, which fought jungle warfare from Guadalcanal to Okinawa, took possession of Taku and nearby Tangku port facilities while a force of 200 U. S. 7th fleet transports and warships stood off the Taku river bar. Then the division moved inland toward Tientsin.

A smaller landing team from the 6th division went ashore at Chinwangtao.

The Japanese have more than 250,000 troops in this area of North China, supported by puppet forces. The Chinese Communist Eighth Route Army has 35,000 troops camped in the country outside Peking and Tientsin. Despite cessation of hostilities, all these elements have remained intact, and tension has mounted.

COMMUNISTS AND NATIONALISTS AGREE

CHUNGKING, Oct. 8 (AP) — A communique announcing basic agreement between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists and leaving settlement of numerous thorny details to a new political council is expected to be issued Wednesday.

The date, Oct. 10, is China's national day, equivalent of the American Fourth of July, when Sun Yat-Sen's followers in 1911 set up their revolutionary government at Hankow.

The communique, which is understood reliably to be in preparation, would end the first phase of the prolonged negotiations for unification of China but would leave subsequent efforts toward a complete settlement in the hands of a joint committee of military experts from both factions and a political council representing all Chinese parties.

The Communist leader, Mao Tse-Tung, is expected to return to his Yenan headquarters about the time the communique is issued, in order to explain the deal to his governing committee, leaving Chou En-Lai and Wang Jo-Fei here to continue negotiations.

The expected communique is reported to pledge Nationalists and Communists to equal recognition of Chiang as leader of the nation and of his Kuomintang as the leading political party.

Liberalized GI Benefits Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP) — The Veterans administration asked Congress today for greater leeway in making federal payments to state educational institutions which enroll veterans as student under the "GI Bill of Rights."

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator, made the request to the Senate Finance committee after presenting this box score on what veterans have received under the GI bill:

22,007 enrolled in educational institutions.

16,102 taking vocational training.

81,266 (as of Sept. 22) drawing unemployment compensation which aggregated $1,953,439 weekly.

Loans For Purchases

26,701 loans made for purchase of homes, 815 for purchase of farms and 1,904 for purchase of businesses. The respective total amounts are $36,604,000, $585,000 and $1,824,000.

Bradley said 119,641 applications for enrollment in colleges and other educational institutions and 104,602 applications for vocational training have been filed.

H. V. Stirling, assistant administrator in charge of vocational rehabilitation and education, and E. E. Odom, Veterans administration solicitor, explained the difficulty with state institutions by citing the University of Oklahoma as an example.

They said Oklahoma makes no

Filing Of Formal Charges On Hitler Aides May Be Delayed

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Oct. 8—The Allies' plans to file formal indictments tomorrow against 24 members of Adolf Hitler's Nazi hierarchy, accusing them of crimes against humanity and world peace, were threatened with delay today.

A four-power war crimes tribunal scheduled [illegible] the 24—all in custody at Nuernberg except possibly Martin Bormann, Hitler deputy who may be dead—still was not complete tonight, so far as the American representatives on the court knew.

The French prosecutor, Francois de Menthon, active in pretrial investigations, was yet to be confirmed in his office, and the French delegation was incomplete. Information was lacking as to whether the Russian members had all reached Berlin.

Meanwhile, the British moved to complete the list of defendants as they put Rudolf Hess, erstwhile No. 2 Nazi and Bormann's predecessor as Hitler's deputy before his mysterious flight to Scotland in 1941, into an RAF plane to fly him to Nuernberg.

With the arrival at Tempelhof airdrome today of former Attorney General Francis Biddle, American judge for the court, the representation of the United States was completed. The entire British group, too, was here.

The United States prosecutor, Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, whose staff has worked up most of the evidence, will have the major role in prosecuting the Nazis under the 43-page, 20,000-word indictment.

HST Says A-Bomb Not To Be Shared

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

TIPTONVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8.—President Truman declared unequivocally tonight that the secrets of the atomic bomb will not be shared with additional nations. That secret, he told a wholly unheralded press conference, is the industrial know-how, since other nations have access to the scientific knowledge that led to its development.

Great Britain and Canada, he asserted, share the industrial know-how, and while he has not discussed his decision with them, the President said he was certain they will agree its secrets will not be shared.

Expected Only Gabfest

His comment, made at Linda cottage near Reelfoot lake where he moved in today for a two-day rest, came when reporters appeared expecting an off-the-record gabfest.

The President told reporters he considered the council of foreign ministers in London in no way a failure.

He added that there was no clash of American interests with Russia and that Russia has been as badly misrepresented in this country as we have been in Russia.

Our interests, he said, do not clash. He added that understanding sometimes was made more difficult by differences in language and translations.

Reconversion Plea

The President made it clear today that he intended for his speech at a Coruthersville Fair yesterday to be interpreted as an appeal to management and labor to reconcile any differences retarding the reconversion program.

The President said Great Britain spent $100,000,000 on the development of atomic energy before it turned its work over to the United States which spent $2,000,000,000 before the bomb was perfected.

None Has Asked For It

The President said flatly that none of our Allies have asked for the secret of the atomic bomb.

A reporter said it had been reported that one of the causes of a lack of ardor of Russia toward the United States grew out of the fact that we have the industrial know-how and they have not.

That isn't true, the President replied, and the difficulty is a matter of difference in language, principally because we don't have a common language and translations are not always exactly the same.

Plan To Outlaw Bomb

James F. Byrnes, the President asserted, will initiate a discussion with Great Britain and Canada looking to international agreements which the President wants with a view to outlawing the use of the atomic bomb.

Asked whom he would appoint to handle these negotiations, the President said that's what the country has a secretary of state for.

The President said he was not disturbed by management-labor strife which he considers a natural outgrowth of the letdown which normally follows any war. He said he found nothing to be alarmed about.

He is not worried about prospects for readjusting the situation.

Court Rules On Five Big Cases

By JOHN B. OWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The Supreme court acted today in nearly 300 appeals, involving:

1. Union regulation. The court declined to reconsider its decision knocking out Florida laws which require unions to register and their paid agents to be licensed.

2. Nevada six-week divorces. The court refused to go into new controversies over their legality.

3. OPA ceilings. A new attack failed to disturb a decision upholding OPA beef price ceilings for processing packers.

4. The Associated Press. The court turned down a petition for rehearing on its ruling that the AP must amend its by-laws on admission of new members.

Tax On Cromwell Heiress

5. Doris Duke Cromwell. The tribunal agreed to review a suit to collect $14,000,000 in taxes from the heiress to Duke tobacco millions. Lower court refused to let a New Jersey township collect the amount.

The court's decisions today cut the pattern for its new term just beginning. By simple orders, it disposed of nearly half the summer's accumulation of appeals, accepting some for review and rejecting others.

18 Area Cities May Get New Postoffices

A national building program, which was given the go ahead signal last week by Congress, may mean new postoffice buildings for 18 towns in the South Plains area at a cost totaling between $1,530,000 and $1,710,000.

The Federal Works agency and the Postoffice department are requesting authorization to construct postoffice buildings at Crosbyton, Denver City, Floydada, Levelland, Lockney, Matador, Muleshoe, O'Donnell, Post, Ralls, Seagraves, Seminole, Slaton, Snyder, Spur, Sudan and Tahoka.

The new postoffices are included in a $775,000,000 request $193,000,000 of which is sought immediately. Texas is slated for 240 individual public buildings, including courthouses, federal office buildings, immigration stations, and customs houses, in addition to postoffices.

Army Speeding Up Doctor Discharges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Army acknowledged today that it has nearly as many doctors now as on V-E day, but said it is speeding up discharges.

Thousands Back On Jobs, But Mine Strike Remains Serious

Pickets Fail To Halt Work

ODESSA, Oct. 8 (AP)—Texas oil refineries closed by a three-week CIO union strike were gradually resuming production today under Navy management while another labor dispute simmered in the oil fields of the vast Permian basin.

Picket lines were thrown up at entrances to oil leases in West Texas following a strike called Saturday by drilling department members of the Oil Workers International union (CIO).

Union recognition and bargaining rights are sought.

Picket Lines Ineffective

Drilling continued uninterrupted today despite the picket lines. Five-member drilling crews passed through the lines and went to work. Only one crew was reported away from their jobs—a crew in west Ector county.

Women were in the picket lines on approaches to drilling sites near Kermit, in Winkler county. Men picketed in Ector and Andrews counties. All carried placards.

A report from Monahans said there were no field strikes in Ward county.

Among Nation's Greatest

The Permian basin is one of the nation's great oil fields. It has about 14,000 wells, and approximately 350 more oil tests are being drilled.

At Houston, production in the four Navy-seized refineries was resumed today. Normal operations are predicted by week's end.

Lt. Comdr. F. A. Westphall, USN, district officer in charge of 22 plants in the Gulf coast area, said production is the first consideration.

Tank cars and trucks were being loaded from stored supplies and some barges were taking on fuel from docks.

Demanded Wage Hike

The Houston plants with 22 others in Texas were struck after the union demanded a 30 per cent wage ipcrease. The demands have not been settled.

Any wage negotiations conducted while the Navy is in charge of plants will be a three-way operation, Westphall said. "The Navy will take full cognizance of all problems while it is in possession of the plants."

President Truman ordered Navy seizure of the struck plants.

BACK-TO-WORK movements lopped thousands off the number away from work because of strikes yesterday and Secretary Schwellenbach reported "progress" in efforts to end the soft coal walkouts.

The number on production sidelines fell from last week's high of 550,000 to 421,000. The largest single dispute remaining was the six-state strike of 173,000 miners at more than 625 pits.

Developments In Strikes At Glance

(By The Associated Press)

About 421,000 remain off jobs because of strikes compared with 550,000 last week. Major developments by industries:

Coal—Number of idle miners climbs to 173,000 but Secretary Schwellenbach reports "progress" at government sponsored management-labor conferences.

Automobiles—Thousands resume work in Detroit as two important walkouts end; only 3,750 remain out; CIO United Automobile Workers follow up wage increase drive by asking NLRB strike vote at Ford as well as General Motors and Chrysler.

Motion pictures—Pickets and police battle again outside Warner lot in eight-month-old AFL jurisdictional dispute; 78 hurt.

Shipping—New York port tieup continues as AFL longshoremen fail to show up at piers despite votes to resume cargo work.

Lumber—AFL Lumber workers, with 61,700 already out, close two large lumber plants in Portland, Ore., manned by CIO members.

Meeting Today Asked

Secretary Schwellenbach, in reporting "progress" in his conference with John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, and bituminous coal operators, asked that they meet again today to continue efforts to end the protracted and growing coal strike.

The controversy, which the Solid Fuels administration said cost 3,637,424 tons of soft coal production last week alone, is over the operators' refusal to recognize a union of foremen and supervisory employes for collective bargaining.

The union is a branch of Lewis' United Mine Workers, but the veteran miners' leader declined to halt the spreading stoppages, saying they were begun locally by individual units and the UMWA was not responsible. Operators have refused to recognize the union because they said the foremen so organized were actually a part of mine management.

May Extend WLB

Failing to settle the CIO oil strike last week and struggling with the mine dispute, Schwellenbach discussed with other executives a proposal to extend the War Labor board, if the board agrees to accept the role proposed for it, beyond the tentative Dec. 1 liquidation date previously set by the board.

The proposal was the subject of conferences between Schwellenbach; George W. Taylor, War Labor board chairman, and John C. Collet, new director of the Office of Economic Stabilization.

President Truman's announced postwar policy is to permit any voluntary wage increases which do not affect prices. If higher prices are demanded by employers to offset wage increases, the case must be processed through the War Labor board, OPA and the Office of Economic Stabilization.

Schwellenbach turned to the WLB for aid in getting a test case through speedily to the economic stabilizer to set a guidepost for clearing wage-price problems.

Resumption of oil production by most of the 43,000 CIO strikers at plants seized by the Navy last week accounted for much of the day's back-to-work activity.

State To Lease Military Camps

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Surplus Property board today approved a plan to convert three military centers in Texas into state charitable institutions.

Under an arrangement agreed on at a conference participated in by Chairman Weaver Baker of the Texas State Control board, the state will lease Fort Ringgold at Rio Grande City and prisoner of war camps at Mexia and Brady.

Terms of the leases are yet to be drawn. They are expected to be for five or 10 years at a moderate rate and with an option held by the state to purchase. The state would spend between $20,000 and $25,000 to put each into condition.

Tubercular Hospital

Fort Ringgold would be converted into a tubercular hospital with about 500 beds. The annual operating budget would be approximately $175,000.

The camp at Mexia, which has accommodated about 5,000 prisoners, will be used for training approximately 500 handicapped children and 250 non-serious mental patients. The annual operating expense would approximate $175,000.

The Brady camp would be converted into a training school for delinquent negro girls under the age of 18. The yearly budget would be about $30,000.

Rear Adm. Sample Missing In Pacific

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—The Navy announced tonight that Rear Admiral William D. Sample was missing on a patrol flight in the Pacific.

The Navy said it had no further details.

Mrs. Sample was reported to have been making her home in Pensacola, Fla. The admiral also has a brother living in Chicago.

Admiral Sample was given command of carrier division 22 in June, 1944. Prior to that he was commanding officer of an Essex class aircraft carrier in the Pacific. While serving in this capacity he was awarded the Legion of Merit by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, USN carrier task force commander.

SLAV SHAKEUP REPORTED

CITY "QARANTINED"

BILLINGS, Mont., Oct. 8. (AP)—City authorities today extended bans on public gatherings, virtually quarantining 23,000 people to their homes, after infantile paralysis claimed its eighth victim in less than two months last night.

Scores Hurt In Movie Outbreak

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8. (AP)—After 78 persons had been injured in passing AFL picket lines into the Warner studio today, studio officials announced that all non-strikers inside the gates who did not wish to go home would be provided with meals and lodging.

Blayney Matthews, Warners' chief of police, said there were approximately 800 workers inside the gates at closing time.

Sixty-eight of the injured, the studio said late today, were cared for in a studio infirmary. One of these was a man who was trampled and suffered a crushed chest and other internal injuries. At least 10 others were taken in ambulances to the Burbank emergency hospital.

Sheriff's Inspector Jack Henry said seven strikers were arrested and that one of them, a woman picket, would be charged with carrying a blackjack.

The studio Saturday obtained an injunction limiting the number of pickets at all gates to 18, but more than 200 were on hand today.

Union Has Injunction

The union has an injunction against the studio, restraining Warners from using force in dispersing pickets.

This morning's clash occured when 150 peace officers charged a group of 200 pickets and cleared a path through which some 400 non-strikers entered the studio. All appeared to be operating personnel.

After the brawl, the disturbance was reduced to a war of sound trucks, the studios urging strikers to come back to work and the union trying to drown out the invitations.

Piccard Planning New Trip To Stratosphere

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP) — Dr. Jean Piccard, 61, physicist and aeronautical engineer at the University of Minnesota, says he is planning another balloon adventure into the stratosphere.

In an interview, Piccard said he hoped to ascend 20 miles on his next trip, using equipment made largely of plastics.

War's Momentum Still Keeps Yanks Busy On Philippines

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Oct. 8—In many ways war is like a powerful racing automobile—it takes a long time to get up to full speed and sometimes even longer to slow down and stop.

It's that way here in the Philippines. The war is over but more than sixty thousand Japanese prisoners of war still are in a Luzon camp 35 miles south of Manila.

That represents one-eighth of the total enemy forces in the Philippines campaign—and others are still coming in.

It is an ironic twist of the postwar period that, although steps are being taken to release many of the prisoners already held, those not yet captured must surrender and be imprisoned before they can be turned loose again legally. Otherwise they have not complied with the surrender terms and will remain fugitives.

During early September, 4,000 to 5,000 prisoners were being brought in daily, but the average now has dropped very low. On Oct. 1, for example, 39 prisoners were brought into the big barbed-wire compounds. Almost all the big garrisons have been accounted for, but some 10,000 "lost" Japanese troops still are scattered in northern Luzon.

In that wild mou[illegible] country, excellent for hideouts and ambushes, the Americans still are rooting out a few Japanese every day, but not as virogously as before. Now that the was is over, the boys don't want to get killed on such a mission, and the Japanese still there are so isolated that starvation is working for the Americans.

Except for some of the stubborn hideouts, the Japanese generally are strangling in on their own, realizing that their only hope of return to Japan lies in surrender.

Laval Sulks As Trial Continues

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 8—Pierre Laval, abiding firmly by his decision not to attend his trial for life, sat in a dungeon beneath the Palais De Justice today as the court proceeded without him through the fourth day of testimony, marked by delays and interruptions.

The former Vichy chief of state, charged with treason, was removed from his apartment near the courtroom and locked in the dungeon, court attendants said, after he had refused this morning to alter his decision to take no further part in the trial which he described as a "judicial crime."

Cabinet To Meet

The French cabinet arranged to meet tomorrow, it was reported, to discuss whether to take action as a result of Laval's refusal to take part in the trial.

Chief Defense Attorney Albert Naud said he had refused a request of Minister of Justice Pierre Teitgen that the defense resume its case. If the defense refuses to appear, the case possibly may go to the jury tomorrow.

Meanwhile, despite almost unanimous press attacks on the way the trial was being conducted, the court proceeded to call witnesses to substantiate the charges that Laval was guilty of intelligence with the enemy and of attacking the internal security of the state.

OVERSEAS PACKAGES

AS MUCH as we love the men overseas, it's rather disheartening to pack them Christmas boxes this month because we had so hoped they would be at home this year. Concerning the sending of overseas packages, we'd suggest if you don't know your man's overseas status, don't send him a Christmas gift. With the mustering out and redeployment, his cheer instead of reaching him, is apt to be added to a multitudinous pile of unclaimed packages.

If you actually know, however, that he is going to stay put and where overseas he is going to be, get going. Oct. 15 (next Monday) is the last day you can mail, without a letter or request, gifts to service personnel.

What to send? Photographs of home folks are still tops on the list, according to returned vets. Folders for snapshots or service wallet with a section allotted for his pinup girl, make slick gifts.

The service man has more time to write, play games, smoke a pipe and take snapshots of his peacetime travels, so you might supply him with the wherewithal. Stationery kits, cribbage boards, chess and dice sets, pipes and pouches and playing cards are available in most stores that sell such articles but you may have difficulty in finding cameras and film.

SURE to find their way to his heart through the well known route are dried fruit, canned fruit juices, canned luxury food and some of mom's home cooking. Take care that those edibles are packed in tin containers, because we have heard of scores of cases where the foods were thrown away because of deterioration and the ravages of insects.

If that service man of yours has everything he needs or can get it from a ship's store or at the P.X. for much less than you'd have to pay, why not send him something he cannot duplicate?

How about a clipping book of newspaper items telling of home town goings-on. This suggestion came from a serviceman who knows what it takes to bridge the gap between the Christmas at home and the one spent on foreign soil.

Cut from the sports pages news of the football team and the coach, who won high school or college honors, who had gotten married and had babies and who is back from the wars.

Make up a book of the funniest cartoons you can clip from newspapers and magazines and paste side by side in an ordinary notebook to make an impressive and morale-lifting collections. This will become so dog-eared from being passed around that nothing will be left of it, the boys say.

BUILD FIRESAFETY

AMERICA is observing National Fire Prevention week on the eve of the greatest housebuilding boom in history. Home-hungry families are urge to reduce the tragic loss of lives and property by building fire safety into their homes.

Every year fire claims the lives of more than 10,000 Americans and destroys millions of dollars worth of property annually. The loss in 1944 was $437,000,000.

More than half of the fires occur in homes. In addition to those killed, thousands are injured or disabled for life.

Persons planning new homes should remember that they are building for many years to come and that unless they take every precaution to build firesafety in their homes the latter may become fire traps, endangering not only the lives and property of the occupants, but neighbors as well.

MacArthur Turns Heat On Roots Of Japs' System In New Policy

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

American policy is striking at the roots of feudalism in Japan by demanding the abolition of Shintoism as a state religion and drastic modification of the Emperor system.

The two are almost synonymous and one could scarcely exist without the other. The eradication of one or both is regarded by Washington as an essential step toward making the true growth of Democracy in Japan possible.

Doesn't Cure Individual

In considering this problem, it should be understood at the start that suppression of state or national Shintoism is in no way an abridgement of the freedom of religion. The latter is a fundamental principle of the United Nations and is guaranteed even by the Japanese constitution.

John Carter Vincent, director of the Office of Far Eastern affairs in the State department, made the distinction in his radio address explaining American policy in this regard. It is not the intention to interfere with individual freedom of worship of Japanese adhering to Shintoism or any other religion.

State Shintoism is the application of a pure religion to the purposes of the ruling classes, and is directed mainly toward supporting the Emperor tradition and all that goes with it.

In his recent book "The Japanese Nation," John F. Embree, American authority on far Eastern affairs, expressed it as follows:

"The primary aims of state Shinto are to secure support for the state, create national solidarity, and give strength and stability to the nation in the face of political social change. Whereas the Tokugawa (the feudal era) stressed a feudal and social class status quo as a means of maintaining social stability, the Modern government stresses the Emperor's central position, and an orthodox history to gain the same ends."

Buddhists In Majority

Adherents of Shintoism in Japan as a private religion are in the minority. The Shinto sects have something over 17,000,000 adherents; the Buddhists about 42,000,000. There are only about 250,000 Christians.

Since the Japanese constitution guarantees freedom of religious worship, it was impossible to enforce the teaching of Shintoism as such in state-supported schools. To keep within the letter if not the spirit of the constitution, it was decreed that state Shintoism is not a religion.

With a view to political control and molding national thought in one groove, state Shintoism was taught in the schools, not as a religion, but as a subject, like history or politics. Japanese youth was instructed in the superiority of the Japanese over all other races, the divinity of the emperor and his destiny to rule the entire earth. Thus, few Japanese, even though not adherents of Shinto sects, have escaped its influence.

To Hit Imperial Rule

It is this deceitful and paradoxical system which the occupation authorities seek to upset. It is proposed that the state-supported priests shall go, that the people shall not be taxed to support national Shinto and its teaching shall be dropped from the schools.

At the same time, American authorities apparently intend to strike more directly at imperial rule. Vincent declared that "the institution of the Emperor—if the Japanese do not choose to get rid of it—will have to be radically modified."

The latter is a change which obviously cannot be made overnight, or perhaps in less than a generation. Yet some important preliminary steps have been taken, notably the removal of restrictions on criticizing or discussing the imperial institution.

Hirohito may have helped matters along by granting interviews to representatives of the United Press and the New York Times, and by calling in person on Japan's conqueror, Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Publication of newspaper pictures of the small-statured Emperor alongside the strapping American general must have had a profound psychological effect on many Japanese.

An early American enterprise was the shipping of ice from New England to the tropics. The ice was packed in white pine sawdust, and the Americans promoted its sale by showing the natives how to make iced cream and iced drinks.

No Possibility Seen For Nation To Keep Atomic Bomb Secret

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Dr. Irving Langmuir of the General Electric research laboratories testified today "there is no possibility of permanently keeping 'the secret' of the atomic bomb."

A lead of "only a few years" over other countries is the most that can be expected, Langmuir said at joint hearings of the Senate Commerce and Military committees on a proposal to grant broad federal aid to scientific research.

Soviets Turn To Science

Langmuir testified that now that the war is over, "the Russian government places A-1 priority on science."

Langmuir and Dr. Isaiah Bowman, president of John Hopkins university, both emphasized that America must not lag in the parade of scientific progress.

"The war is not over, only the military phase of it," Bowman told senators in support of proposals for federal aid to broaden scientific research.

Must Keep Up

There is still need for preparedness in a world not yet gentled to the ways of peace, he declared.

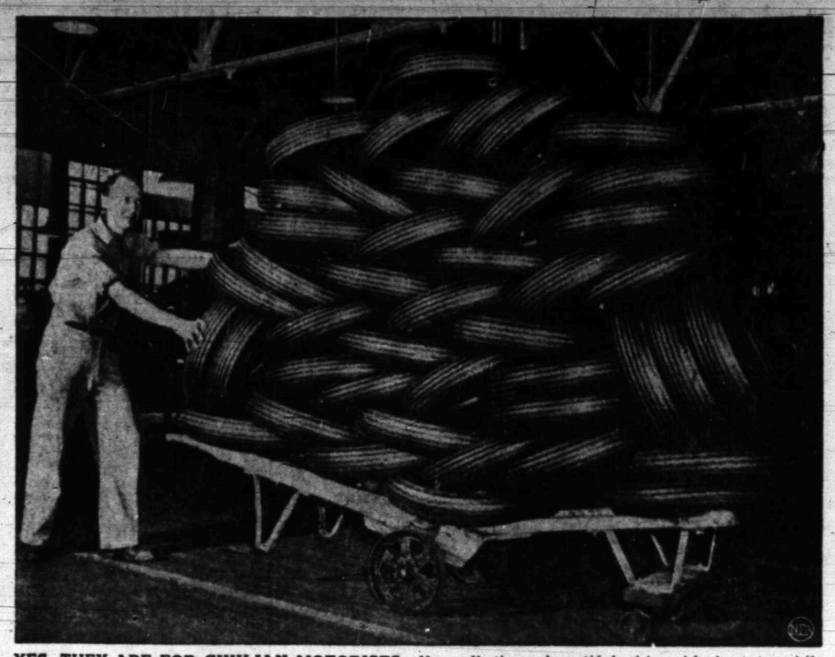

Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) opened the hearings with comment on such war-brought developments as the atomic bomb, which he said never could have been invited in peacetime.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill) proposed today that Congress hire scientific experts to keep it abreast of all atomic energy developments.

With the Senate bill in a dither about what to do with pending legislation, Lucas suggested that Congress set up a Senate-House committee with power to report out measures.

Patton Gives Up Army Command

BAD TOELZ, Germany, Oct. 8 (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., who led the Third army spearhead of the Allied drive across France and Germany, today was in command of a few troops doing research work—the 15th army.

The 59-year-old general swallowed hard when a band struck up "Auld Lang Syne" yesterday as he handed over the Third army flag to his successor, Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, Jr.

"All good things must come to an end," Patton told 400 troops standing sad-faced before him in a dramatic ceremony forced indoors because of rain.

"The best thing that has ever come to me is the honor and privilege of having commanded the Third army. . . . Please accept my heartfelt congratulations on your valor and devotion to duty, and my fervent gratitude for your unwavering loyalty."

Truscott, in accepting the command, told Patton:

"It is only in a sense that you take leave of this Army, for as long as any man who has served under you shall live, your place will remain secure in his heart."

Patton was transferred from command of the Third army after criticism of the military government in his occupational zone in Germany.

Byrnes Conference Brings Senate Group Approval Of His Actions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP) — Secretary of State Byrnes talked foreign policy with the Senate Foreign Relations committee for nearly three hours today and apparently left its members generally satisfied with the course he followed at the London foreign ministers conference.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) told reporters, "I am in complete sympathy with Mr. Byrnes' statement and am standing back of him." Similarly, Senator George (D-Ga.) said he did not see how Byrnes could have followed any other course at London.

Refers To Radio Report

Lucas referred to Byrnes' report to the nation on the radio last Friday night in which the secretary of state said the conference ended in a stalemate when it became obvious no agreement could be reached at that time unless the other delegations yielded "their views and convictions" to the Soviets.

The major difficulty at London was over Soviet objections to participation by France and China in settlement of Balkan problems.

United States policy toward Argentina was said to have gotten only minor attention today.

One member said he thought there was little disagreement in the committee or among other American nations with this country's hardened attitude toward Argentina.

Called Frank Report

Byrnes' discussion was termed a "very frank report" on the whole foreign situation.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said "pretty much all aspects" of the situation in "Europe, Japan and South America" were covered today.

"That is about all I can tell you," he added to reporters.

Byrnes had asked for the conference immediately upon returning last week from the foreign ministers meeting.

Some committee members had been represented as believing that Byrnes should have conferred with the group before going to London.

There also was said to be a feeling that the State department should have consulted the senators before it moved for cancellation of the inter-American conference which was scheduled for the latter part of this month.

Vote On Braden Soon

Possibly indicating that the committee feels reassured about the inter-American action, which was aimed at Argentina, Connally said a vote probably will be taken Wednesday on the nomination of Spruille Braden to be an assistant secretary of state.

Braden, former ambassador to Buenos Aires, is widely credited with responsibility for the recently toughened policy of the United States toward Argentina.

Action on his nomination was withheld when it first came before the committee last Wednesday.

Mothers Exhorted To Fight For Freedom

(By The United Press)

A tall, well-dressed woman stood over a fresh grave at Buenos Aires, Argentina. After identifying herself as the mother of one of two thousand students arrested at Buenos Aires university, she told the crowd: "If you men are cowards, then we mothers, will take it upon ourselves to free our children from dictatorship!"

The fresh grave was that of 19 year old Jose Salum Feijoo—an engineering student, killed Thursday night in a clash with police.

Other speakers urged the crowd to avenge him and the arrested students.

As the funeral procession came out of the dead student's home, mounted police charged with sabers to prevent friends of the victim from carrying the coffin on their shoulders. Women hissed. Among the score or more injured was United Press Correspondent Angel Barreda, who got a saber cut on the right thigh.

Club Will Hear French Leader

Members of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club at 7 o'clock tonight will hear Pierre Clemenceau, French leader of World War II, in a discussion of "France of the Future." The dinner address will be in Hilton hotel.

Tickets should be bought before noon.

A member of the French Supply council at Washington in 1943 and 1944, M. Clemenceau is the grandson of the French permier during the first World war—the "Tiger of France."

M. Clemenceau fought in the French army against the German invaders until the fall of France. In December of 1940 he escaped the Nazi occupation and made his way to Dakar, West Africa, and reentered business. There he frequently helped U. S. troops until they had gained a firm foothold in North Africa, and in return for his assistance the appointment in Washington.

M. Clemenceau has a broad view regarding the part France is to play in th postwar world. In prewar years as a French business man he had traveled throughout Europe and the United States. He made a trip to South America and visited every capital on that continent. He lived two years in India and Afghanistan.

Like his grandfather, M. Clemenceau chose an American wife. He speaks English, and through his personal and business excursions to this country has gained an understanding of the American people.

German On Trial In Death Of Americans

ROME, Oct. 8 (AP)—Gen. Anton Dostler, first German general to be tried for a war crime in Western Europe, pleaded innocent today before a five-man U. S. military commission, to charges of ordering the execution of 15 American prisoners of war.

The first witness, Capt. Albert Materazzi of Hershey, Pa., testified that he landed the 15—two officers and 13 enlisted men of the Office of Strategic Services—from a rubber craft northwest of La Specia, 400 miles behind enemy lines, on March 22, 1944.

Under cross-examination by defense counsel Col. Claudius O. Wolfe of San Antonio, Tex., Materazzi said the men wore U. S. Army apparel, without insignia and with field jackets turned inside out.

Nation's Cotton Crop Is Small

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (U.P.)—The Agriculture department today estimated the 1945 cotton crop at 9,779,000 bales, the smallest crop since 1934.

The estimate was based on crop conditions as of Oct. 1.

The indicated production amounted to a decrease of 247,000 bales, or 2.5 per cent, from the estimate of a month ago.

Is Below '44 Level

It compares with 12,230,000 bales produced last year and a 10-year average of 12,293,000 bales. The 1934 crop was 9,450,000 bales.

The crop reporting board estimated that the lint yield per acre will be 260.7 pounds, 32.8 pounds below the record established last year.

The department said torrential rains which accompanied the September tropical hurricane reduced prospective output in the Carolinas. In Louisiana, Mississippi and Central and Eastern Texas, more weevil damage showed up than had been anticipated and the crop prospect declined. In northwest Texas, hot dry winds damaged the late-planted cotton. In Oklahoma, dry hot weather followed by rains of flood proportions damaged the crop very seriously.

Crop Unusually Late

The crop is extremely late and the amount ginned is "near a record low," the department said. The Bureau of Census estimates that 2,176,023 bales from the 1945 crop had been ginned before Oct. 1. This compares with 3,988,150 bales last year and 5,749,745 bales in 1943.

No estimate of cotton seed production will be made until December. The board said, however, that the output is likely to be 4,030,000 tons.

Estimated cotton production by states, included:

Texas, 2,000,000 bales; Louisiana, 420,000; Oklahoma, 390,000; New Mexico, 121,000 and Arizona, 135,000.

Phone Workers Said Not Seeking Boosts

DALLAS, Oct. 8 (U.P.) — Denial that telephone workers seek higher wages but are only protesting against NLRB rulings is a Dallas telephone union head's statement before Henry Mayer, general counsel for the Workers' National union.

William Stuckey, Dallas, president of the Federation of Long Lines operators (independent), spoke in rebuttal to Mayer's statement that 200,000 telephone workers would soon take a strike vote to back up demands for wage increases against the American Telephone and Telegraph company, as well as to protest actions of the National Labor Relations board.

"Mayer is completely off base. We have no wage demands in our strike vote action. It is entirely to protest against NLRB rulings which seek to replace independent telephone unions with CIO outfits," Stuckey said.

Rudolf Hess Flies Back Home To Face War Criminal Trial

LONDON, Oct. 8. (U.P.) — Rudolf Hess, former deputy fuehrer of the Nazi party who flew to Britain on a fantastic mission in 1941, left by plane for Germany today to stand trial as a war criminal.

Hess, unkempt and thin, left Madeley air field near Abergavenny, Wales, for Frankfurt, at 8:50 a.m. He was escorted by an army guard, a medical officer, an attendant and an official of the United Nations War Crimes commission.

His departure was one of a swift series of events clearing the way for the mass trials of Axis war criminals at Nuernberg. Allied officials were conferring at Berlin on plans for the trials, and the first formal indictments were expected to be returned Tuesday or Wednesday.

Hess was driven to Madeley air field in a closed army car with drawn blinds. Unshaven, impassive and looking ill, he wore gray civilian clothes and a gray hat.

Only a few Royal Air force men saw the plane take off. A RAF pilot, radio operator and navigator completed the list aboard.

Strict secrecy was maintained at Maindeff court hospital, where Hess had been interned. Only those with special permits were allowed near the hospital.

Hess parachuted down on a Scottish moor on the night of May 10, 1941, shortly before the German army invaded Russia. He told a fantastic story of a mission to "save humanity." Later it developed that he tried to align Britain with Germany in a bloc against the "Bolshevik menace" to Europe.

War Chest Drive Is Far Short Of Goal

With reports from most of the solicitation teams still incomplete, contributions in the current War chest campaign totaled $15,157.41 Monday afternoon—far short of Lubbock county's quota of $50,505.

Not included in the statement of Hubert L. Allen, general chairman of the campaign, was an incomplete report of $755 from Slaton.

Workers Handicapped

Several rural districts in the county were yet to be heard from. They are Cooper, Idalou, Frenship, Posey and New Deal. Campaign workers in these districts have been handicapped by bad weather which put country roads in bad condition. Shallowater had reported $465.55 and Roosevelt $25. The latter community still had much canvassing to do, it was reported.

In Lubbock, several hundred dollars were believed in the hands of workers who have not yet made their reports. Solicitation teams here will be sent to Governor Coke Stevenson following the federal oath tomorrow. Stevenson has indicated he will name Rice's successor upon receiving the judge's resignation.

Ben H. Rice To Be Sworn In As Judge

WACO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Ben H. Rice, Jr., will be sworn in as U. S. District judge for the Western district of Texas tomorrow by his uncle and former law partner, George H. Carter of Marlin. The ceremonies will take place in Carter's office at Marlin at 2:30.

Following the ceremony, Judge Rice plans to go to San Antonio to take over the U. S. District court opened there last week by Judge Allen Hannay, who is filling in for the late Judge W. A. Keeling. Rice shares the Western district with Judge Charles A. Boynton of El Paso.

Judge Rice's resignation from the 10th court of Civil appeals were urged to complete their surveys and turn in results as soon as possible.

Efforts will be made to complete all phases of the campaign this week, drive officials said.

Emperor Knew Of Plan To Attack Pearl Harbor, Prince Reveals

By RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—Prince Narukhiko Higashi-Kuni said today that Emperor Hirohito knew in advance of the Japanese plan to attack Pearl Harbor, but had "understood" a formal declaration of war would be transmitted to the United States before the raid began.

Higashi-Kuni, retiring premier and cousin of Hirohito, revealed that the Emperor did not sign the imperial rescript formalizing the declaration of war until 11:30 a. m. Dec. 8, 1941—Tokyo time—eight hours after the first bombs fell on Pearl Harbor.

Wasn't Given Details

"Although his majesty had heard from the Naval chief of staff of the general outline of the operations, he had not been informed of the details of their execution," Higashi-Kuni said.

"Furthermore, it was his majesty's understanding that in executing operations, the government of the United States would be duly notified prior to armed action."

Higashi-Kuni's version of the Emperor's position in connection with the Pearl Harbor attack was included in a series of written replies to questions orginially submitted to the retiring premier at a press conference several weeks ago.

Hirohito's Position Debated

In sending the replies to Brig. Gen. Le Grande Diller, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's press relations officer, Higashi-Kuni expressed deep regret that he was unable to meet newsmen again last week as planned "owing to the extreme pressure of state duties."

The replies were received at a time when wide debate was going on both among newsmen and among Allied authorities at home over whether Hirohito should be permitted to retain his throne or should be tried as a war criminal for his part in Japanese aggression.

Admits Atrocity Offenses

Two of the three questions to which Higashi-Kuni replied related to Hirohito and Pearl Harbor. The first was whether the Emperor knew in advance of the Pearl Harbor attack and the second, when the Emperor had signed the imperial rescript.

In reply to the third question, Higashi-Kuni said the Japanese were investigating "with the utmost effort" reports of mistreatment of Allied war prisoners and civilian internees.

"Unfortunately," he admitted, "a considerable number of offenses were committed. Although due to the general confusion following the termination of the war and the interruption of communications, the desired data still are unobtainable, it is assumed that a considerable number of offenses have been duly punished."

However, he was able to cite only two actual cases of punishment. They were a Japanese captain who was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for locking up a British Army captain and reducing his food ration at a camp in Siam, and a Japanese lieutenant "and several others suspended from their duties for mistreating prisoners in the Siam-Burma border region.

GOODBY TO PILLS—I'M REGULAR NOW!

Ex-Constipation Sufferer Praises Famous Cereal

If you suffer from constipation, read this sincere, unsolicited letter:—

"I thought I should tell you what your ALL-BRAN has done for me. I am 74 years old, and worked hard all my life. About 8 years ago I began to get constipated. I took everything I could think of, from pills to pepsin. Then I finally saw an ad about ALL-BRAN. I have been using it about 14 months and it has worked wonders for me. I can't say too much for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN." J. V. Hogg, Blanchard, Oklahoma.

You may never have to take another laxative—if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet — and you eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. If not completely satisfied, send empty carton to Kellogg's of Battle Creek, and get double your money back! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a wholesome food made from the vital outer layers of wheat. Supplies gentle-acting bulk, which promotes normal laxation.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Eldon Rawlings Wins Honors In Impromptu Talk At Jaycee Lunch

Eldon Rawlings explained his views on "Compulsory Military Training" at the junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday in the Hilton hotel to win first place over other stuttering and embarrassed members called upon for impromptu speeches.

James Mangum and Tom Settles, program directors, had cards drawn to indicate speakers and then announced various subjects. Prize, awarded by applause from members, was a carton of cigarets.

Other subjects and speakers who gave three-minute talks were: "Legitimate Ways to Evade the Income Tax" by Glenn Woody; "How to Rid Your Dog of Fleas" by C. W. Carter; "Proper Way to Kiss a Blonde" by George N. Atkinson; "The Best Way to Spend an Evening After a Good Movie" by Bill Barnett; and "How I Would Sell a Chinaman, Who Knows No English, a Bale of Cotton" by Roy Faulkner.

Several other members refused to speak and paid 25-cent fines. Those who failed to talk the full three minutes forfeited ten cents.

Ralph Bumpass made a short talk during the business session emphasizing National Handicap week, which is this week. He called on members to concentrate on the valuable work that many handicapped veterans are doing at the present time and asked that these men be given the recognition their work deserves.

Glenn Woody, president, presided.

Maj. Thomas Taggart To Return Home Soon

Stating he is in excellent physical condition and expecting to return home soon, a letter was received Monday by Mrs. LoRee Kent Taggart of 2435 Twenty-second from her husband, Maj. Thomas R. Taggart, a prisoner of the Japanese since the fall of Bataan.

Maj. Taggart, who has been interned on the island of Honshu, was released Sept. 17. He said he was being detained in Manila to help complete records and reports.

One of the survivors of the March of Death Maj. Taggart was first imprisoned at Cabanatual on Luzon, P. I., and was moved to Honshu before the Americans liberated prisoners on Luzon. Normally weighing 185 pounds, Maj. Taggart's weight declined to 126 pounds while interned, but his letter said he now tipped the scales at 165

Maj. and Mrs. Taggart have a four-year-old daughter who was six weeks old when he left for overseas. His letter stated he had received 19 letters from Mrs. Taggart and pictures of the baby, sent many months ago since being at Manila.

After being released, Taggart received a promotion from captain to major.

Aid For Youngsters Is Proposed In City

Mrs. Nancy Green, Lubbock assistant juvenile counselor, told the Methodist Men's club at noon Monday in the Hilton hotel that establishment of a trade school for youngsters who have fallen out of school, a delinquent home and a strong application of parental education are needed.

Revealing that city and county juvenile officers handled a total of 1,398 cases last year and 524 cases in the first six months of 1945, Mrs. Green cited weakening home ties as the greatest cause of delinquency. She said most of the cases were from homes broken either by divorce or the war and that high wages of the past few years have also been a factor. During 1944 939 boys and 459 girls were "picked up" on complaints and 16 boys and six girls sent to reform school. This year 329 boys and 195 girls have become involved with the law and eight boys and three girls sent to reform school.

Mrs. Green said 979 youngsters have been habitually out of school in the past three years.

She also cited laxness in morals, the lowering of standards and the fact that the churches seem to have lost interest in the youngsters as contributing factors to present conditions.

At the close of her talk, Lt. Richard Chamberlain sang "Old Man River," accompanied at the piano by Carolyn Reynolds. Lt. Chamberlain is leaving soon for overseas assignment, it was announced by Dr. H. I. Robinson, who presided at the meeting.

Cooper Asked To Hold Association Position

A member of the Postwar Small Business Credit commission of the American Banker's association, Wade Cooper, vice president of the Lubbock National bank, has been requested by Frank C. Rathje of Chicago, president of the ABA, to serve another year.

Rathje, in requesting Cooper's continued service said, "Your interest and thorough understanding of the credit problems in general indicate that your continued assistance will be of much value in this important work." Cooper said here today that he would accept the reappointment.

This commission was set up more than a year ago for the purpose of harnessing the credit facilities of the 15,000 banks of the nation for the great job of meeting the nation's credit needs in the postwar period and to effect credit machinery which will see to it that every competent individual, firm or corporation who needs credit will get it.

Cooper recently returned from New York where he attended a joint meeting of the Postwar Small Business Credit commission, the Policy Commission of the ABA and the directing heads of the 41 credit pools.

Traffic Plan Is Being Studied

County commissioners at their semi-monthly business meeting, and three members of the directorate of the chamber of commerce gave informal study to a proposed road and street traffic dispersol plan that would affect both the city and Lubbock county.

It was agreed that S. C. McCarty, district manager of the Lubbock district of the State Highway department, would be invited to meet with the two groups next Monday morning at the courthouse for the dual purpose of explaining further the dispersal plan of the state highway commission and to hear possible recommendations of minor changes in the routine.

To Spend Millions

Under the proposal, the state and national governments would spend $2,500,000 inside Lubbock and Lubbock county in widening and construction of new roads the next three years. The state would maintain them. All the city and county would be required to do would be obtain right-of-way for the proposed routes.

The city commission and city planning commission earlier had evidenced its approval of the proposal. County commissioners unofficially bespoke their hope that the plan, or a plan only slightly modified, be carried to execution.

Chamber of Commerce directors present at the meeting were J. D. Hassell, jr., G. P. Kuykendall and Homer D. Grant.

County commissioners are P. B. Penney, Ben Mansker, Tom Holt and Vol Farris.

County Judge Walter Davies presided, and Louie F. Moore, county clerk, acted as secretary.

It is estimated that the U. S. Army used 94 pounds of waterproofed paper for every soldier who entered combat.

East Indies Making Strong Bid For Freedom From Dutch Rule

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8—Your sweet tooth, at least, has a stake in how the Dutch meet the ticklish situation which confronts them as they go back into their vast East Indies empire.

WHITE

Enough sugar (a million and a half tons) has been found piled up in Indonesian warehouses to relieve the sugar shortage in the United States. But peace also may be at stake.

One Dutchman warns of the possibility of "a horrible racial war" if things get out of hand, a development which would please a lot of Japanese who tried for four years to promote it.

Dutch Marines Landing

A thousand Dutch Marines landed yesterday at Batavia, capital of an island empire which takes up more room on the map than the United States, contains 70 million people, and which has been sabotaged by the surrendering Japanese militarists.

Around 9,000 more Marines are on the way, and the Dutch say they think these can reassert Dutch authority over Indonesia's main cities until still more troops can be sent later.

The Marines landing yesterday (who were preceded by a small British force a few weeks ago) met no violence but found a native independence movement going with slogans like these:

Entitled To Independence

"We don't ask for independence—we are entitled to it."

"We've had 350 years of Dutch colonization and three and a half years of Japanese imperialism—that's enough."

This movement existed before the war, but never achieved formidable proportions.

One native leader was a Javanese named Soekarno.

Little Hope For Freedom

Right after the first atomic bomb hit Japan, Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi summoned Soekarno to his southeast Asia headquarters and gave him the green light to go ahead with an independent Indonesian republic. Soekarno announced formation of this government on Aug. 17.

There was no shipping to take Dutch troops back to the Indies, so the British went in ahead, occupying Batavia, where Japanese still control public utilities.

Even Soekarno and his nationalists admit they have small prospect of achieving full independence now, so it's likely they are trying to accumulate bargaining power for the period of transition toward dominion status and greater Indonesian self-government which the Dutch government has promised.

Huffman Selected As Ohio Senator

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8 (AP)—State Commerce Director James W. Huffman of Columbus, named by Gov. Frank J. Lausche as Ohio's junior senator last night, says he will do his best in solving the "enormous tasks and difficulties."

A Democrat, Huffman takes the Senate seat vacated by Republican Harold H. Burton, elevated to the Supreme court.

The 51-year-old corporation lawyer opposed Lausche in the gubernatorial primaries last year.

Pfc. Russell Gill, Bataan Victim, Back In Texas Hospital

McKINNEY, Oct. 8.—Pfc. Russell A. Gill, Lubbock, 23-year-old repatriated prisoner of the Japanese has arrived at Ashburn General hospital after three and one-half years in Jap prison camps. Gill was taken prisoner April 9, 1942, on Bataan while fighting the Japs with the Philippine Infantry.

Pfc. Gill joined the Army Air force May 13, 1941, and was assigned to the 32d Air Base group at Mahch Field, California. He was later transferred to the 7th Materiel squadron, attached to the 19th Bomber group. Gill left the United States with his organization October 4, 1941, arrived at Manila October 23, 1941, where he was stationed at Clark Field. With a detail of men he left Clark Field and arrived at San Marcelinas where he stayed till Christmas 1941, thence to Bataan. They succeeded in holding the lines at Orion for three months, but finally had to surrender April 9, 1942.

Then began three and one-half long years of Jap imprisonment—at Cabanatuan, then hospitalization at Bilibid hospital, back to Cabanatuan. Believing he'd get a little better food in Japan. Gill volunteered to go there and was duly disappointed. The food, if anything, was worse. As a skilled laborer he finished out his imprisonment in a steel mill at Hirohata, Japan, existing on an absolute minimum of food. At one time Gill was sixty pounds under normal weight.

Pfc. Gill was welcomed home by his overjoyed mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gill, who reside at 2425 Twenty-Second, Lubbock.

A graduate of Stamford High school, Pfc. Gill plans to attend Texas A. & M.

Cubs Win In Twelfth, 8 To 7; Final Tussle Set Wednesday

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 8—Stan Hack drove a blazing liner into left field in the 12th inning of today's sixth World Series game, and when the ball bounced over Hank Greenberg's shoulder and rolled to the wall Billy Schuster scored all the way from first with the run that enabled the Chicago Cubs to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 7, and deadlock the classic at three victories apiece.

* * *

Greenberg, who only five innings before had powered a home-run with none on to tie the score at 7-7, was planted directly in front of the ball and would easily have held Schuster at third if he had made the stop. Two were out at the time, and a benumbed crowd of 41,708 had fully expected the two teams to battle on into the darkness when the blow-off came.

Trout, Borowy In Payoff

For nearly five innings Dizzy Trout, Detroit's fifth pitcher, had been turning back the Cubs' every threat, while Hank Borowy had stifled the Tigers from the ninth frame on. Greenberg's failure to halt the flight of Hack's hit came as a disappointing climax to a thrilling struggle, which had seen the Tigers stage another of their famous four run rallies in the eighth inning to send it into extra innings.

Immediately after the final play was made, the official scorers slapped an error on Greenberg's innocent head. They ruled that, although he had failed to touch the ball, he had played it incorrectly—that he was charging in on the pellet when he should have played it safe.

Scorers Reverse Decision

Tonight, however, after the controversy had raged for many hours, the official scorers met solemnly and decided they regretted their hasty decision. They ruled that, henceforth and forevermore, it should be recorded that Hack's winning single was a double, and that Greenberg was blameless. Hack, under this reversed decision, would have been credited with a triple if he had continued on to that base instead of having held up once he crossed second and saw Schuster scoring.

Regardless of whose fault it was, the sight of Schuster scampering home meant that the National league champions had fought off the "sudden death" that had threatened them and that the seventh and deciding game would be played down to the bitter finish on Wednesday.

Today's loss, after one of the weirdest, wildest games in Series history, brought shudders to Detroit fans, who twice before, in 1934 and 1940, had seen their league championships take a 3-2 lead in games and then go down to defeat before the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds, respectively.

Longest Tilt In History

It was the longest game in Series history, consuming three hours and 28 minutes against the previous record of 2:54. It was full of loose play, the Cubs committing three errors and the Tigers two, and there was put on exhibition some of the dizziest base-running anyone ever saw.

Trout Retains Club Golf Title

Dipping under par when the chips were down, Chick Trout retained the Lubbock County club golf championship over the week-end, downing Dr. W. A. Schaal 5 and 4 in the 36 hole finals Sunday to hang up the $50 war bond prize in the KFYO flight, along with the title honors.

Winners in all flights received $50 war bonds and runnerups the $25 bonds, with consolation winner and runnerup getting merchandise prizes.

Trout Gets Going

Trout, who has been one of the outstanding golfers in West Texas during the 1945 season, was at his peak in the final round Sunday, but faced a much stiffer test than the score indicated.

Trout toured the morning round of 18 holes in 69, two under par. Trout was still one under par through 32 holes, at which point the match ended.

Trout, who was runnerup in the 1945 Lubbock invitational golf tournament, held before the annual affair became a war casualty. Trout was beaten this year by Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, and Schaal was beaten by Obie Bristow of Big Spring.

P. H. Polk received a leather jacket from S. & Q. Clothiers as winner of the KFYO consolation, and Dr. J. H. Stiles won a pipe from Lubbock Drug as runnerup.

Eidson Is Winner

Henry Eidson was winner in the Hemphill-Wells flight, with Sgt. R. L Stuart as runnerup In the consolation, F. L. McRee won a duffelbag from Hub Clothiers, as winner, while Jimmie Samson was runnerup, and won a pair of sun glasses from Jarret-West Drug.

W. E. McAlister was the winner in the Avalanche-Journal flight, with Dr. R. L. McAllister the runnerup. In the consolation bracket, Wilkie Talbert won a sports jacket from Doggett's as the winner, and E. H. Armstrong won a barbecue kit from Powers Sporting Goods store.

Hiram Parks was the winner in the Reddy Kilowatt flight, with Ralph Garnett as runnerup. Sy Gooden won a hunting suit, given by Dr. M. F. Swart, as winner in the consolation flight, with Cliff Dean winning a felt hat, given by J. C. Penny Co., for the runnerup.

Westerners Make Bid Against Borger

Raiders Bear Down For Tilt With Tulsa

Lubbock's two top grid teams started getting ready for big tests this week-end, with the Texas Tech Red Raiders offering home fans the grid menu for the week with a clash at Tech stadium Saturday night with Coach Henry Frnka's bowl minded Tulsa Hurricans.

The Westerners move into league play this week, going to Borger to battle Coach Tricky Ward's Borger Bulldogs, a team of unknown quality. The Border club hasn't been doing a great deal this season in the way of winning ball games.

Bulldogs May Be Tough

But the Canines have been working under a shift of coaches, and with a comparatively green ball club, last year being the first season of football for any of the boys. Lubbock coaches are taking nothing for granted, and are ready to dig in their cleats this week to get ready for the first league battle.

RAIDERS LOSE MOYERS

R. W. Moyers, former All-District star with the Lubbock Westerners, and regular end on the Texas Tech Red Raiders left Monday for El Paso for induction into the Army. Moyers has been showing up well for the Red Raiders this season, being shifted to end, where he promptly won his starting berth.

Coach Dixie White was still out Monday afternoon, but was able to leave his bed Monday for the first time. He was out last Friday with a touch of the flu, and not with the club in its victory over Lamesa.

Lubbock To Bear Down

Philbrick took things light Monday afternoon, but promised plenty of rough work ahead for the Westerners in getting ready for the first game to count.

Fans of this area will need no introduction to Coach Henry Frnka, or his ever-colorful teams. Frnka, a former Westerner coach, and long time pal of Coach Dell Morgan, always sets his sights for the Red Raiders, and will be ready to shoot the works.

Coach Morgan expressed his displeasure with the showing the Red Raiders made last week against Texas, and promised plenty of rough work for the boys before taking the field with the bowl minded Tulsans.

Tulsa will come to town, undefeated and untied, and listing Wichita, West Texas State Teachers college and Drake in their lineup of victims. The Tulsa club took Drake into camp last week, 19 to 0.

Both Lubbock teams came out of their games last week without any serious injuries, and settled down to work Monday with hopes of both teams being in top shape for the big tests this week.

Several Westerners have been on the ailing list, prior to the Lamesa game, but it is hoped that the team will be at full strength at Borger for the first time this season.

"Dutchy" Smith Buys Business In Sherman

Russell T. (Dutch) Smith, who was assistant coach under Coach Pete Cawthon at Texas Tech during the turbulent thirties, has bought an interest in the Sherman Steam laundry and will be associated with his brother-in-law, Scott McKown in management of the business, according to word received in Lubbock.

Smith, widely known in football coaching circles, was recently released from duty as a lieutenant commander in the Navy. He has been stationed at the Jacksonville, Fla., operational training center.

"Dutchy" was graduated from Sherman High school and Austin College and 20 years ago was coaching the Sherman High football team and teaching in the High school there. Later he coached at Amarillo High and then took over the duties as assistant coach at Texas Tech and for a decade helped turn out some of the most outstanding teams in Red Raider history.

Smith was one of the first college athletic leaders to enter the naval aviation physical fitness program, leaving the coaching staff of Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge in 1941 to become civilian aide in the bureau of aeronautics, Navy department, Washington. In 1942 he was commissioned a lieutenant commander. At the time he was released from active duty he was a member of the staff at Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the former Miss Grace McKown and their eight-year-old son, Kent, are living temporarily with Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Sherman.

Hub Laundry Takes Bowling Loop Lead

Hub Laundry's bowling team took undisputed leadership in the City league race Monday night at Plamor alleys by taking two out of three games from Meads Bakery, while Armour's were winning two from the Jaycees. The losses dropped the Jaycees back to second place.

All matches were divided, with S. & Q. Clothiers winning two out of three from the Lions club, and West Texas Gas won by the same margin over Birdseye Food.

Leo Bell set the pace for West Texas Gas, stringing together 213, 210 and 230 for a blistering 653 series, but Mowery of Armour's nosed him out for single game honors with a 237 pin game.

Labor Conflict Cited

AFL And CIO Causing Strife

IN calling a four-hour token strike to protest certain favoritism, which the American Federation of Labor charges is being shown the CIO by the National Labor Relations Board, the telephone workers direct attention to a conflict that has been growing between the Administration and the AFL.

President Harry Truman forced the cards a little himself last week when he sought Senatorial approval of his nomination of Raymond S. McKeough as a maritime commissioner. McKeough, Chicago, Midwest director of the CIO Political Action committee, and as such on the payroll of the PAC, was vigorously opposed by the AFL.

Significantly the Senate commerce committee voted against McKeough's confirmation. This was one of the first defeats suffered by the President at the hands of the Senate in matters of this kind, and it threw the spotlight on the struggle for power that is being waged between the CIO and the AFL.

At the time of this Presidential rebuff, Josiah Bailey, (Dem., N. C.) chairman of the committee, explained that the vote against McKeough's nomination was due to the rivalry between the two national labor organizations.

None of the Senate committee had anything to say against McKeough's character or his other qualifications. President Truman, advised of AFL opposition, could have withdrawn his nomination. Other presidents have. But Truman stuck by his CIO political wheel-horse and took a whipping.

Explaining the reason for the telephone strike, local representatives said: "Our objective is to gain public support for our stand against obvious efforts of the CIO to destroy every independent union in the nation."

The protest grows out of a NLRB examiner's recommendation that an independent union at Kearney, N. J. of the Western Electric company be abolished.

"If the CIO is successful in eliminating the Kearny union, then it can destroy the National Federation of Telephone Workers," the local spokesman declared. They accuse the NLRB of showing favoritism in backing up the CIO in the Kearny fight.

All of this directs attention to the fact that higher wages and shorter hours are not the sole objectives in the present labor unrest sweeping the country. The AFL has repeatedly contended that it has greater political power nationally than has the much-vaunted PAC of the CIO. A show-down on this may be coming.

Those of us, who are neither members of the CIO or AFL, have a stake in this. We all want to see fair play.

Eyes Of World On France

AS the tumultuous trial of Pierre Laval on charges of treason gets under way in Paris, the attention of the world is again focused on France where national elections are scheduled to be held on October 21.

The hysterical excitement at the trial, the outbursts and recriminations are characteristic of French proceedings and not unexpected. Yet there are definite indications that France is a scene of smouldering conflict and that Laval has sympathetic partisans. These signs point to possible trouble as France wrestles with the problem of restoring constitutional government.

Now in the second year since the liberation of Paris, France is still ruled by a provisional government with absolute authority. However, progress has been made toward returning governmental powers to the people. Local elections were held last April, and with national elections set for October 21, it is possible that the nation will be ready to launch a Fourth Republic by next Bastille day, July 14, 1946.

While most of us think of the French people as definitely democratic, we are apt to overlook the fact that in the last century and a half France has thrice abandoned a Republic.

The First Republic, which replaced the old Bourbon absolutism of 1792, was overthrown by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1804. The Second Republic, which overthrew Louis-Philippe in 1848, was replaced in 1852 by the dictatorship of Napoleon III, nephew of the first Napoleon. The Third Republic to last until 1940, came in with the defeat of Prussia in 1871.

Now with the late chief of Vichy, Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, sentenced to life in prison for treason and the other arch-collaborationist Laval on trial, France can be expected to swing again toward Democracy, and far to the left. At the polls this month, the voters will elect a national assembly. They will also decide by referendum whether to revive the constitution of 1875 or to formulate a new constitution. The radical groups, which dominate the political picture, are demanding the latter.

In case they vote to revive the old constitution, the national assembly elected this month will be the Chamber of Deputies, and a Senate will be elected later to complete the old parliamentary set-up. What is anticipated, however, is that the voters will call for a new constitution. In that case the national assembly will have seven months in which to frame the document, which will then be submitted to the people for approval or rejection. During the interim period, Gen. Charles de Gaulle will, no doubt, continue to rule.

If I wan't born precisely in the traditional dressing room trunk, it was the next best thing, for I spent the first years of my life in theater and circus dressing rooms in many lands, playing between wardrobe trunks and slumbering in an atmosphere of greasepaint with the distant throb of the orchestra as my lullaby.

Grandmother often told me that I had been inconsiderate enough to arrive in the world feet first. But perhaps I should begin at the beginning. . . .

I was born on January 18, 1906, in Wheeling, West Virginia, during one of the wildest storms and coldest winters ever known i nthat region. Mother was visiting my grandmother, who was assembling her company for the southern tour of the Sells-Floto Circus, Wheeling being in those days a sort of taking-off point for acts going south for the winter circus dates.

My father was in Canada, and mother had intended joining him for the 'blessed event," but I was born three weeks prematurely, the result of an accident mother experienced while out driving with grandmama, in which she broke her wrist. The shock not only precipitated my birth but caused complications which nearly cost mother her life.

My mother, Sofia Oswaldo, was an exceedingly beautiful woman, with a dead-white skin and copper-colored hair that contrasted strangely with her vividly green eyes. She was very tiny, with exquisite little feet but ugly hands of which she was morbidly ashamed, especially when this defect was reproduced in me.

Grandmama used to say that mother was a seventh child of a seventh child and as a result had second sight. I don't know just how true this is, but mother insisted that she encountered ghosts almost everywhere we went, often announcing she had just seen "Tio Enrique," a favorite uncle, or some other defunct relative who sent his regards to everybody. This happened so frequently we eventually took it as a mater of course.

In addition to her beauty, mother had a magnificent soprano voice and was a finished musician. She played both piano and guitar perfectly and had a vast knowledge of music. She had made a considerable reputation for herself as a concert and grand opera singer, under the stage name of Maria de Lisle, both in Europe and in the Americas. She had a childish disregard for the practical things in life, living only for music, yet she was devoted to me, and looking back, I have a feeling of intense admiration for her and the things for which she stood.

In appearance she was totally different from my grandmother, who was also very tiny but with a dark, almost oriental beauty frequently seen in the Andalusian gypsies, lovely feet and hands, and jet-black hair so long she could almost stand on it. She smoked black Cuban cigars incessantly, loved to gamble, and, like all gypsies, preferred to "borrow" rather than buy anything she wanted.

Grandmother married very young, in the Spanish custom, and couldn't have been more than 16 when she was already a famous flamenco dancer known throughout Spain as "La Maravilla" (the Marvel). Her diminutive green satin slippers are still preserved in a glass case in the Posada de la Sangre, an ancient hangout of bullfighters in the gypsy quarter of Seville, where the autographed dancing slipper of many great dancers of Spain are reverently kept, together with the glowering black heads of famous bulls.

Grandmama's maiden name was Lolita Brazil de Delgado, and her husband, my grandfather, was Guillermo Oswaldo. He must have been very handsome, to judge from the little faded photograph grandmama always carried. His family had been owners for three or four generations of a fleet of small freighters that plied in and out of the Port of Cadiz with cargoes of fruit. Grandfather was also an "abogado," as lawyers are called in Spain, and he died rather young to have had such a large family, for grandmama managed to have 14 children—and keep her figure.

She was very slender as I first knew her, and as she got older, she semed to shrink till there was nothing left but her great black eyes. After grandfather's death she found herself obliged to return to the stage, for he had left very little money. As far as her own people were concerned she could look for no assistance whatsoever, having married out of the gypsy race, and thus, in their eyes, automatically forfeiting her right to make any call on them.

In Spain a woman in her early thirties is considered almost decrepit and far too old to dance professionally, so after months of struggling to make a "comeback," grandmama conceived the idea of turning to account her gift of snake-charming which she had learned from her infancy and for which she had an uncanny talent.

With this talent and her great beauty, granmama created her famous act, "A Night in India," which rapidly became a star attraction throughout Europe and the United States. She had her own orchestra of Indian musicians playing specially written music on native instruments, with marvelour drum effects, and wore vividly colored Indian costume. All this, together with her ability as a dancer produced a sensational artistic triumph.

Her power over snakes was fantastic: she bought them wild and trained them herself and could handle any poisonous reptile without getting bitten, often demonstrating this ability to directors of zoological societies and scientists. She said it was because snake-charming was done not by force but through the eyes and with the mind.

Snakes have to be washed daily, and this was one of my duties. I would put them in a bathtub of tepid wated, stir them around for a while, then take them out and dry them carefully, after which I rubbed them with warm olive oil. Snakes love to be oiled because it helps them to slide. Some big ones (like the boa I later kept for years in my apartment in Paris) lubricate themselves by spitting out something that looks like whipped cream. This has an awful effect on servants, especially if they happen to suspect where it came from.

The business of "milking" poisonous snakes was a more serious proceeding. Grandmama used to put a piece of absorbent cotton in a wine glass and cover it with antiseptic gauze; then she took the glass on her left hand and the snake in her right, and with a gentle pressure of her fingers forced its mouth open and pushed the fangs into the soft gauze. The infuriated reptile would eject his venom where it would drop harmlessly on to the cotton.

She took the greatest care of her snakes, holding them in deep respect, and I can still recall her when some momentous decision was to be made, consulting with them in the middle of the night, by the light of a small lamp. The greatest benefit I ever derived from them was their usefulness in getting unwanted guests out of the house in a hurry and in negotiating the customs when traveling.

POLICE RED FACED

HOUSTON, Oct. 8 (U.P.)—Red-faced police said today they'd leave no stone unturned to capture the burglars who broke into an office next door to police headquarters and made off with $184.

Leading anthropologists regard Eskimos as merely one kind of North American Indian, both in blood and language.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

ON the front page of the Danbury News-Times there appeared two stories right next to each other.

One was headed "Rationing To Be Continued" and the other "Earl Carroll Misses Party."

The rationing story began "The days of food shortages and rationing may not be as near an end as many had expected."

And then it went on to tell how Mr. Truman said that we have to feed the hungry in the liberated countries and how we may all have to go back to rationing this winter.

BRANDEIS

The other story told about a birthday party given to Earl Carroll in Hollywood to which invitations had been sent out by "60 of the most beautiful girls in the world."

"Nearly everbody said 'it looks as if the war is over' when they saw the food, the bars, the people, the lights, the decorations," the story went on to tell.

"The man in charge of the food said a thousand people had been invited, and he figured that only 750 would come to any party. So he had turkey and ham and stuff for only 750.

"One of the three headwaiters said he counted eight bartenders, a chef, five cooks, ten waiters, four busboys, three maids and five auto attendants.

Earl Carroll himself did not attend the party, according to the report, but a good time was had by all, nevertheless.

In the same paper, by the way, there was a picture of a lot of emaciated French people standing in line to get their daily ration of potatoes.

There was also an item about the people of Berlin digging graves to receive the thousands who are expected to starve and freeze to death this winter.

("Oh, by the way, I forgot to tell you that more than the thousand invited guests came to the Carroll party and while the last 250 arrivals didn't eat, they crowded the three bars.")

When you read about all those contradictory happenings you wonder what it's all about and how the human race can ever expect to find a cure for the ills of the world when men themselves are so unbalanced and the world's goods so unevenly distributed.

Breadlines for potatoes in one part of the world, turkey ham for 750 in another! Thirty-thousand dollar fur coats advertised in one page of your paper and pictures of misery and starvation on the next.

A whole fire department called out to save the life of a little kitten that got caught in a manhole, and human beings being tortured and slaughtered in cold blood.

EVERY once in a while I get a letter from a reader thanking me for what I am doing to help humanity. But when I read these stories I feel that even my loudest shouting is only an almost inaudible peep in the wilderness.

And yet I am an optimist. Neither the brutality of a Hitler or a Homma nor the voluptuousness of the Sybarites are standards by which humanity is to be measured.

Sybaris was destroyed. Hitler and Homma are disgraced.

But Christ lives on.

And with him faith, hope and charity.

Blunders Are Revealed

Patton Case Is Typical Incident

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A REAL breakdown of our administration of conquered people has occurred in Germany and the calling of General George S. Patton, jr., on General "Ike" Eisenhower's carpet did not reveal the whole story. Not half the details of our occupational failures has been told.

General Patton's use of former Nazis in administrative posts is the most spectacular, but only a typical, instance of our European blunders. "Blood and Guts" merely happens to be the most outspoken leader. Confidential reports suggest that military men are poorly equipped for this postwar assignment of supervision. Their god is order, discipline and efficiency; they detest slovenliness, weakness and indecisiveness. They found that Hitler's former henchmen possessed the qualities they admire, whereas the suppressed and hounded members of the opposition were like dazed men who saw the sunlight for the first time after emerging from caves in which they had lived for years.

TUCKER

Naturally, General Patton and his associates preferred to play along with the Hitlerites. It made easier their own command and, perhaps, brought nearer the day when they could ship for the States. Subordinate officers, eager to return to their families, likewise entrusted local administration to individuals with knowledge and experience in handling municipal problems, even though they had been members of Nazi organizations and governments.

The Patton incident, together with revelations that our occupying forces have mishandled Jewish people in Germany, may turn out to be a blessing. It has convinced Washington, including Mr. Acheson, that any earnest effort to re-educate the Germans and the Japanese in the ways of democracy and decency will have to be entrusted to educators, religious teachers, books, newspapers, magazines, movies and similar machinery. The revolution cannot be accomplished by the brass hats.

DISAPPOINTED: Although the newest member of the Supreme Court — ex-Senator Harold Hitz Burton of Ohio — is classified as a liberal, his appointment has disappointed the so-called radical faction on the high bench. They do not think that he will go along with their demonstrated program of rewriting the law instead of trying to interpret the intent and declaration of Congress.

Mr. Burton has shown a desire to study the facts and reach a decision on that basis. This trait, which he revealed as a member of the former Truman Committee, attracted the President, and is partially responsible for his elevation. He may turn out to be a middle-of-the-roader, but it is doubtful whether he will join the so-called radicals.

This group, which is headed by Justice Hugo Black, has been in the ascendency, and the loss of Owen J. Roberts strengthens its control. Three members have consistently opposed its philosophy —Chief Justice Harlan Stone, the resigned Mr. Roberts and Robert H. Jackson, now serving with the commission assigned to try war criminals. Sometimes Justices Frank Murphy, Stanley F. Reed and Felix Frankfurter sided with the Stone faction.

Should Mr. Burton line up with the strict constructionists, the court would be almost evenly divided. With the frequent accession of Messrs. Murphy, Reed and Frankfurter, it would have a majority more often than not. In such circumstances the court would function as jurists rather than ideologists, and more in accordance with its original role.

Mr. Jackson's absence during the prosecution of Goering, von Rundstedt et al may postpone a showdown test for most of the next session, when many important cases will be passed on. But he may be recalled to the bench as soon as he has discharged the heaviest part of his present assignment.

STRIPPED: Many Democratic Senators on Capitol Hill believe that their old friend, President Truman, "let them down," to use his own expression, when he publicly scolded them for wrecking his $25-a-week payment plan for the jobless. Their suspicion may be slightly unfair to the Chief Executive, for he supported this scheme when he was one of their colleagues. Nevertheless, the feeling exists.

The reaction to his criticism was immediate. It came in a 70-10 ballot for a full employment bill so stripped of any meaning that Majority Leader Allen W. Barkley, who voted for it, remarked: "This guarantees everyone out of work a job and the right to find one if he can. As I read it, the Government will help, but only if it is convenient for the Government to do so."

The only opponents were ultraconservative Republicans and Democrats who opposed even this minimum Federal guarantee. Democrats who like Truman, and want to stand by the Administration, shouted "Aye," although they knew the legislation did not meet fifty per cent of the President's demand.

HILLMAN: The explanation lies in their belief that he went to bat so strongly for these measures because of political pressure applied by Sidney Hillman's Congress of Industrial Organizations. It galled them to think that "our Harry" would bow to a man who had tried in recent elections to retire so many of them to private life.

Most unfortunate feature of all from the White House standpoint is that the laborites are not satisfied with his vocal support. Unless he can force or persuade the Congress to go all out for the CIO program — and he cannot, according to present-day sentiment — they will continue to plague him with pay raise demands, strikes and other moves that jeopardize his whole reconversion program. Needless to add, the Republicans are sitting on the side lines and enjoying the Democrats division and dilemma.

TEXAS

By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN.—Texas' cooperative hospital act which received little attention when it was being passed by the last state legislature may turn out to be the session's most far reaching measure.

Within less than a month after the act became effective on September 4, four cooperative hospitals had been chartered and many more were reported in progress of formation.

The cooperative hospitals it appeared might even become an alternative for so-called "socialized medicine."

The act, sponsored by Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, grew out of the difficulties of small communities in getting medical service. Established doctors had gone off to the war and new doctors did not want to come in. The cooperative hospitals were an inducement to get doctors in the communities.

Under terms of the act such cooperative hospitals are authorized to hold charters as charitable institutions only in cities or towns of less than 2500 population, according to the last census.

But a recent ruling from the Attorney General's Department held that the citizens of a larger place could join in organizating and supporting a charitable, cooperative hospital to be located outside the places with more than 2,500 people. A suburban hospital could thus draw on considerable city area for patients.

Charters already have been taken out under the act for hospitals at Leonard, Hale Center, Dimmit, Wolfe City and Crosbyton.

"Anybody who can read a recipe ought to be able to cook," says an editor, who is all wet. By studying music for a day one can learn how a piano is played, but not how to play a piano.

This country is direly in need of another profession — that of listening to others tell their troubles. Any neurotic would gladly pay $3 an hour for such service.

A considerable part of the time politicians keep us busy holding our nose with one hand and thumbing it with the other.

Political Sit-Down Threatened By Labor

Tobin Warns Southern Democrats

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Republicans are steaming up their activity in anticipation of next year's Congressional elections.

Some campaign openings are being offered for free.

One is suggested by Dan Tobin, president of the International Teamsters' union in the union's magazine. He warns that if the Southern wing of the Democratic party in Congress keeps on messing up President Truman's program labor may stay away from the polls next year.

STOKES

That happened, to a degree, in the 1942 Congressional elections due to a number of circumstances. These included migration of many workers normally Democratic to other states where they did not or could not qualify; a general apathy not unusual in Congressional elections, and the failure of labor to organize to get out the vote. This failure was recognized subsequently by creation of CIO's very effective Political Action committee, or PAC.

Talking Out of Side of His Mouth

Mr. Tobin, in threatening a political "sit-down" strike by labor, was talking partly of course, out of the political side of his mouth. He used the usual license of the politically minded head of a group which is seeking something from a President and Congress, and must be discounted to that extent, although conceivably there could be some intentional apathy among disgruntled workers.

Further than that, a continual blockade against the President's program that produced a stalemate in Congress would lend color to a charge of ineptitude against the administration. This is dangerous politically, for whatever cause, even if Republicans help contribute to that as they have been doing through their coalition with Southern Democrats. It is sometimes hard to spell out responsibility to the voters who look rather to the result.

BUT, TO attract any substantial support from labor, Republicans must offer it something. Mr. Tobin knows that. So do Republican leaders.

This brings up an interesting exhibit by a Republican congressman, Rep. George Bender of Cleveland. In "the National Republican," a paper he edits, he carried some interesting statistics showing how Democrats have run consistently ahead of Republicans in recent national elections in all of the country's largest industrial and metropolitan counties.

"It is obvious therefore," he observes, "that the Republican party must concentrate in larger metropolitan, centers throughout the country on a program that will convince labor, our colored voters, and our returning veterans that the Republican party offers better prospects for the future of the nation than the opposition."

It is just as obvious—and some Republicans concede it—that the Republican party in Congress, as a party, has not concentrated on such a program. There are of course notable individual exceptions in an increasingly vocal and active progressive group.

Pearl Harbor Minor Issue?

NOW COMES National Chairman Herbert Brownjr., in a speech at Philadelphia in which he devotes half to Pearl Harbor. That is going to be investigated by Congress, as it should be to clear up the record, if possible.

Even though Pearl Harbor might make some votes, there are also other issues in the troublous present as well as in the future that seem to deserve some attention and clarification by the party. By election time next year it is possible that Pearl Harbor will have been forgotten. It may have taken its place among other similar disastrous incidents, such as the firing on Fort Sumter and how much Abraham Lincoln's policy had to do with that—a favorite subject among Copperheads of that day—and the battle of Bladensburg where raw American recruits broke and ran and let through the British army that burned the Capitol and the White House.

The party leadership in Congress now is drafting a party program on the proper assumption that there is where the record is made. To be of much influence, such a program must take a stand on all current issues and embrace the viewpoint of all elements of the party.

Some party leaders are aware that this also, and the performance on it, may be taken into account by the voters.

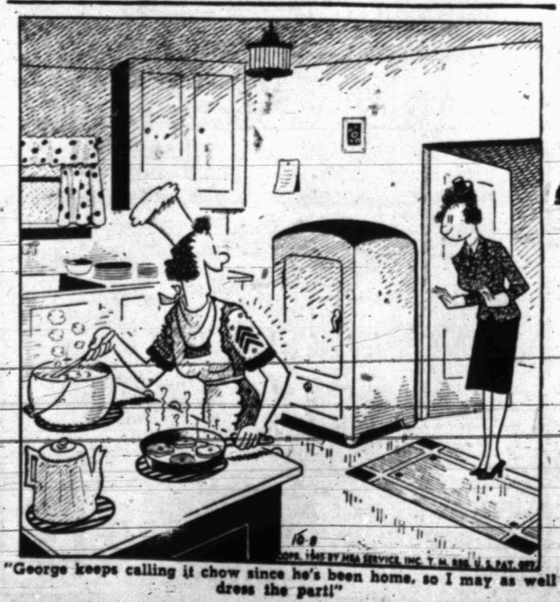

Women Pickets Of Mayor Back On Job

FORT WORTH, Oct. 8. (AP)—Back at work today were three women employes of Binyon-O'Keefe Fireproof Storage company, who had picketed the home of Mayor Roscoe Carnrike, president of the company.

A "mass line" will be at the mayor's home next Sunday, a union spokesman said. Each day during the lunch hour, a picket line will be set up at the city hall.

Strikers Going Back To Jobs

yesterday's back-to-work activity, the number on the production sidelines falling from near 80,000 to 3,750.

Returning workers were those of the Hudson Motor Car company, the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company and the first of more than 50,000 Ford Motor company production employes laid off because of strikes.

Strike Votes Asked

In Washington, the CIO United Automobile Workers asked the National Labor Relations board to conduct a strike vote among Ford employes. The union contended a dispute, principally over wages seniority, existed in 51 Ford plants.

The petition was similar to those filed earlier against General Motors and Chrysler Motors corporations in the UAW campaign for a 30 per cent wage rate increase.

For the second time in four days, strikers and police battled outside the Warner Brothers motion picture studio in Hollywood. Seventy-eight persons were injured and seven arrested.

The strike, longest dispute still in progress, started in March with a jurisdictional controversy between two AFL unions over which should serve as agent for 77 set decorators in collective bargaining.

A back-to-work movement failed to materialize in the strike of from 35,000 to 60,000 AFL longshoremen and dock workers which tied up shipping in the port of New York last week.

Many Ships Tied Up

A War Shipping administration official urged quick settlement because, he said, 113 American flag ships were tied up at piers and another 100 were being hampered from getting into loading and unloading docks.

In the Pacific northwest, where 61,700 AFL lumber workers are striking for higher pay, the union choked off more operations by closing two of the largest lumber companies in Portland, Ore, manned by CIO woodworkers.

The AFL workers are striking for an hourly minimum of $1.10. At the same time some 40,000 CIO lumber workers are holding strike plans in abeyance during negotiations for a 25 cents an hour boost.

Laval In Dungeon

mony included:

A declaration by Gen. Andre Doyen, military governor of Lyon and head of the French delegation to the armistice commission in July of 1941, that "Laval's policies were criminal and could only lead to the destruction of our country."

A statement by Georges Bourlliet, 29-year-old national secretary of the federation of French forced laborers in Germany, that "400,000 French workers were forced to work for the enemy because of Laval's policy."

Doyen accused Laval of handing over to Germany the rich French Bor copper mines in Yugoslavia, despite frequent requests of the French armistice commission.

Other Witnesses

The only other witness heard during the day was Charles de la Pommeraye, former secretary general of the French senate, who testified that just after the national assembly voted Marshal Henri Philippe Petain full powers to reform the French constitution, Laval had remarked, "that is how a republic is overthrown."

The witness admitted Laval had told later that he was joking. In previous testimony, Laval denied ever having made the remark.

39—Legal Notice

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To F. E. Eller, and the heirs, assigns, and legal representatives of F. E. Eller, if he be dead, Defendants. Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 99th District Court of Lubbock County at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 5th day of November, A. D. 1945, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 15th day of September, A. D. 1945, in this cause, numbered 12796 on the docket of said court and styled Ethel Jean Land, joined by her husband, C. LeRoy Land, Plaintiffs, vs. F. E. Eller, and the heirs, assigns, and legal representatives of F. E. Eller, if he is dead, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit: That this is a suit in trespass to try title for title and possession of Lots Nos. 17, 18, 19 and 20, and the North 3 feet of Lot No. 16, Block No. 8, of the Overton Addition to the Town of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas. Plaintiffs claim said property under the Ten, and Twenty-five Years Statutes of Limitation, having been in adverse possession thereof, using, cultivating and enjoying the same for more than ten and twenty-five years; and that under the Twenty-five Year Statute of Limitation plaintiffs have also been in possession of said property under deeds and instruments of record in Lubbock County, Texas, where the land is situated, and that by reason of such facts, the plaintiffs are entitled to recover title to said lots from defendants; wherefore, plaintiffs pray for citation as required by law; for judgment for title and possession of said property; for costs of suit; and such other relief as they may be entitled to; as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this 22nd day of September, A. D. 1945.

Attest:
ALYENE FURGESON, Clerk,
99th District Court,
Lubbock County, Texas.
(Seal) By STELLA ROBBINS, Deputy.

THE PROMISE OF THE ATOM—The miracle of harnessed atomic energy can be the most destructive or most productive power yet known. Its lethal potency is being demonstrated now in the atom bomb. Some time in the peaceful future—scientists say it will be many years—the force will be turned to more constructive uses. Some of them, as imagined by scientists, are sketched above. But they are dreams that aren't likely to be fulfilled for present generations to see.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—After establishing small early gains at new seasonal highs, cotton futures slumped sharply today on heavy commission house profit taking and increased hedge selling, which met indifferent support. The decline was attributed largely to technical reasons.

The Department of Agriculture forecast the 1945 cotton crop as of October 1 at 9,779,000 bales, a decrease of 247,000 bales compared with the September 1 forecast which was about in line with trade expectations.

During the final hour of trading value were down as much as $2 a bale but the market rallied near the finish on mill buying and covering.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 85 cents lower.

HST Asks Outlay For United Nations Relief

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (UP)—Congress was asked today by President Truman to appropriate an additional $550,000,000 for the 1946 operations of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

Congress also was told that still more funds would be sought "to enable UNRRA to meet it new responsibilities and to complete its programs."

In a letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn, Mr. Truman reminded the House that it had previously authorized an appropriation of $1,350,000,000 of which only $800,000,000 was actually made available to the agency.

"The $800,000,000 thus far made available by the Congress . . . is now almost exhausted," he said. "I, therefore urge that we at this time appropriate to UNRAA the remaining $550,000,000 of the amount previously authorized."

Mr. Truman said this UNRAA appropriation will "be a real contribution toward a stable and enduring peace."

"The people of the liberated countries who so gallantly resisted Axis oppression throughout the war now face a winter of acute need and privation," he said. "They look to UNRAA for assistance. Unless UNRAA is enabled to speed ample shipment of supplies to these war-stricken areas, widespread starvation and disease will result."

In an accompanying letter acting Director Paul H. Appleby of the budget bureau said the $550,000,000 will be used to carry out the existing programs of UNRAA and that another appropriation will have to be made to carry out any new program adopted by the UNRAA council.

New Jap Cabinet

war criminal list, but it was considered the Americans might object to his war record. He technically was scheduled for retirement Oct. 15 when the Navy general staff is dissolved upon completion of demobilization.

Press Starts To Growl

Hardly had he named his colleagues, including the governor of the powerful Bank of Japan as finance minister, than the press began to growl at his appointment of conservative old-timers.

With fuel of any kind already drastically short for the hard winter, 6,000 Koreans walked out of the coal mines near the city of Sapporo on Hokkaido.

The strike was spreading to adjacent mines. The cause of the walkout was not learned, but it occurred in a region where living conditions were reported deplorable.

The new justice ministry followed up Shidehara's order Saturday abolishing the dread secret police by liquidating the "thought section" in its criminal bureau, Domei agency reported.

5,000 Police Resigning

Domei estimated that possibly 5,000 police officers were resigning.

It was expected that MacArthur would permit the new government to get its bearings before cutting loose with any more orders.

A sharp directive might be enough, some Americans said, to push over Shidehara's admittedly stop-gap government, and frequent government changes are undesirable.

The demobilization of Japan's once-powerful home army was nearly complete. Allied headquarters said 2,000,000 soldiers had laid down their arms and the rest would step out of uniform within a matter of days.

Tojo Moved Sunday

Eighth Army authorities disclosed that the rapidly-recovering Tojo was moved Sunday in the utmost secrecy to the Amori prison camp which the Japanese used for American prisoners of war.

Tojo's war-time foreign minister, Shigenori Togo, still was too ill at his Tokyo home to be moved.

Premier Shidehara, 73, former ambassador to the United States, took on his first big domestic task admitting to the press he was new at the business and would rely heavily on political advisers.

The liberals got little comfort from his selections, which included five hold-overs from the previous cabinet. The newspaper Asahi declared, "we should never go back 15 years . . . we need fresh political sense."

British Parliament Faces Tough Slate

LONDON, Oct. 8. (AP)—Britain's new Labor Parliament will meet tomorrow to tackle three challenging problems—the pursuit of a vast reconstruction program at home, the welding of a stable peace abroad and the tightening of the empire's bonds.

Any one of these problems is so complicated and full of pitfalls that it might very well offer a supreme test to the untried Labor government.

Temporarily at least the issues of foreign policy overshadowed those of domestic rehabilitation. The new Parliament will get its initiation in foreign affairs probably tomorrow or Wednesday, when blunt Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin outlines the reasons behind the breakdown of the recent five-power foreign ministers' conference.

Furniture Retailers Air Problems Here

Problems of getting merchandise and the "squeeze" between costs and price ceilings were main topics discussed at an informal, dinner and round-table meeting held by regional members of the Texas Retail Furniture Dealers association at the Hilton hotel Monday night, Freelan W. Groce, director, reported.

Besides those of Lubbock, the 28 persons present included representatives from Ralls, Spur, Littlefied, Tahoka, Amherst and Brownfield.

Talks were led by three officials of the association, W. M. Woltman of Houston, president; Howard Laird of Fort Worth, vice-president; and H. E. Dill of Dallas, executive vice-president.

AAF Grid Team Seeks Crown

(By The Associated Press)

The Army Air Forces Training command of Fort Worth, unbeaten in three games, opens its bid for the National Air Forces football championship Saturday when the Skymasters play the Air Transport Command at Nashville, Tenn.

The Skymasters were unscored on until Sunday when they went to Miami, Fla., to play the Fort Pierce Amphibious training base. The Amphibs got a touchdown but AAF Training command got three and the score was 19-7.

Corpus Christi Dropped

Meanwhile, Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, which had been riding along with Training Command among the unbeaten ranks of Texas service teams, was being smashed 35-7 by Jacksonville Naval air station.

Training Command's joust with the Transport Command features football for the services elevens of this state this week but at home there's a hefty battle cooking down Austin way Saturday night where Bergstrom Field, a powerful unit, meets Corpus Christi.

In other games North Camp Hood, victorious twice this season against no defeats—the latest win being a 12-0 affair over John Tarleton college—meets Tarleton again, this time at Stephenville Friday night. Camp Hood plays again Saturday night, clashing with Ellington Field at Yoakum while Amarillo Army Air field, which opened the season with a 26-0 win over Lubbock Army Air field last week, meets West Texas State Teachers college at Amarillo Saturday night.

away the title with strange and peculiar performances on the paths in the late innings. Churck Hostetler fell flat on his face between third base and home in the seventh inning and was tagged out, helping break up a two-run Tiger rally.

Greenberg Almost Hero

In the eighth, when the Bengals scored four more, the fact that Eddie Mayo tried to stretch a very ordinary single into a double and was thrown out, deprived Detroit of what would have been the winning run, as Greenberg followed shortly after with his towering home run over the left field wall, his second four-baser of the series.

Had Hostetler, a veteran utility man who had begged Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers for a chance to appear in the Series, stayed on his feet, or had Mayo been less quick on the trigger, then Greenberg's clout would have made him the hero of the series. It was that close between hero and goat for the big man.

Hack Slams Out Hit

The official scorers based their original decision on Hank's culpability on the fact that he was charging in on Hack's hit when he should have been squatting down some yards farther back and playing it safe. Both Roy Cullenbine and Roger Craker, Hank's outfielder teammates, said the ball simply took a crazy hop over his shoulder, as though it had struck a pebble.

Whatever happened, Hack deserved credit for making it possible. With one out in the fateful frame, Frank Secory had batted for Len Merullo and cracked a single. Schuster was sent in to run for him. Trout then fanned Borowy for the second out, bringing up Hack. The third baseman in six previous times up in the game had made three hits and walked twice, so he scarcely was due to deliver again.

But the veteran probably was feeling extra-determined, for he had committed glaring errors both in the seventh and eighth innings that contributed importantly to the Tigers' six runs in those chapters. At any rate, he took a firm stance and belted one of Trout's best offerings cleanly out onto the grass for his 11th hit of the series, and there went the ball game.

Chandler And Owners Smoke "Peace Pipe"

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—Major league club owners and commissioner Happy Chandler smoked a peace pipe today over a rift that all parties concerned insisted was all fiction in the first place.

After published reports depicted owners as being dissatisfied with Chandler's administration and sounding out sentiment to buy up the commissioner's seven-year contract, the club bosses held an informal huddle this morning and hurriedly issued a statement that "there is no basis of fact to the story."

Pampa Ace Among State's Top Scorers

PAMPA, Oct. 8. (AP)—Randall Clay, Pampa High school's state champion discus thrower, also is setting a merry pace among Texas schoolboy scorers in football.

Clay already has 55 points in four games with eight touchdowns and seven conversions. Pampa's entire team has scored 80 points.

Last week Clay made both touchdowns and kicked both extra points in the 14-0 victory over Vernon.

Important AAF Base Nearing Completion Near U. S. Capital

WASHINGTON (UP)—Construction is nearing completion in nearby Virginia on what is potentially the most important air base in the United States.

Andrews Field at Camp Springs, Va.—eight miles from the District of Columbia—is the site for what will be the heart of the postwar defense and headquarters for Gen. H. H. Arnold's Continental Air forces. Since April 21 the project has been quietly growing into an estimated $15,000,000 permanent base consisting of 259 buildings.

The CAF, temporarily located at Bolling Field, will be moved to the new site this fall. Its purpose is to assume air defense of the continental U. S.

Arnold took over actual supervision of all operations and training of air forces in the U. S. on May 10. Maj. Gen. St. Clair Street, acting for Arnold, is now deputy commander of the CAF functioning at Bolling Field.

Bolling Field offices are a redeployment operation headquarters for all airmen. All air forces overseas probably will be absorbed into the continental command in addition to operations training command over the First, Second, Third and Fourth Air Forces and First Troop Carrier Command. Those held in occupational duty may be counted as exceptions.

The construction at Andrews Field includes a field of 4,400 acres with four 5,500-foot runways and 21 buildings to house 336 officers.

Lost Battalion Day Fete Planned Here

Members of the Allen Brothers post of the American Legion, meeting in regular business session at the Legion hall Monday night, authorized H. J. Kendrick, post commander, to appoint and instruct a committee to plan Lubbock's observance of "Lost Battalion Day," Oct. 29, proclaimed by Gov. Coke Stevenson.

It was suggested that members of the 131st regiment, first unit to leave Lubbock for combat service in World War II, living in Lubbock county be included by the committee as special guests.

J. M. Hall, county service officer, reported an increasing number of veterans and families of veterans seeking advice, aid and information regarding the G. I. Bill of Rights, pensions, hospitalization and other matters. He stated his office was endeavoring to meet every request.

C. A. Hubbard, George S. Berry, Hall and Kendrick, delegates to the state convention held at Fort Worth, told of issues passed on there.

unless a motion to petition a second time for rehearing is made and granted by the court.

The news-gathering cooperative lost a civil action filed by the government in 1942 under the anti-trust act. The Supreme court in a five-to-three decision last June upheld in full a two-to-one district court decision. It calls for amendment of AP rules to prevent members from considering the competitive effect of an application for membership.

Robert McLean, president of the Associated Press, issued the following statement from New York:

"The Associated Press has been advised by counsel that, with the denial of the petition for rehearing, all efforts in the courts in the government's anti-trust action have been exhausted.

"Prompt action will be taken to comply with the decision so that the court injunction may be lifted, since it is inconceivable that the world's greatest news service shall operate permanently under restraint which threatens government supervision of the channels of news.

Own Affairs Restricted

"Although limitations have been placed on its right to control its own affairs, the Associated Press will continue to supply all the news — unbiased and untrammeled — with the fidelity that has characterized its course since its foundation.

"Its staff throughout the world is dedicated to this purpose. Its operations are expanding as the tide of war recedes. It will continue to merit the charges leveled against it by the government that its service is of outstanding quality and that its form of organization is assurance that the news gathered and distributed by the Associated Press shall be as nearly impartial, objective and complete as human endeavor can take it."

Still awaiting a decision on whether the high court will hear it is appeal by the American Federation of Labor, opposing Florida's constitutional ban on closed union shops. This statute was upheld in federal district court.

Divorce Cases Shunted Aside

Five divorce appeals were shunted aside in today's orders. Three of them approached the Nevada issue from a different angle—the constitutional clause requiring states to give full credit to judicial proceedings of others.

Last May, the court upheld an attack on two Nevada six-week divorces on another ground —that the state lacked jurisdiction because parties to the decrees had not established bona fide residence there. This has left thousands wondering how sound their own decrees are outside Nevada.

Man Survives Bullet Wound In His Brain

McALLEN, Oct. 8 (AP)—A Galveston shipyard worker who amazingly survived a bullet wound in the brain was "holding his own" here today after a delicate brain operation yesterday.

At first given a 50-50 chance to recover, doctors today said he would recover in six to eight months.

The man, James Faulkner, was shot while he and two companions were en route from Reynosa to Monterrey, Mexico, on a week-end holiday. One of his companions, W. W. Storey of Galveston, said the shooting was accidental.

The bullet entered Faulkner's forehead and came out the back of his head after puncturing the upper structure of the brain, a doctor said. He was given treatment by a Reynosa, Mex., doctor before being moved to McAllen.

Liberalized GI Benefits Urged

tuition charge for residents of the state, but charges $50 a semester for non-residents. The university's budget for this scholastic year was set up on the assumption that the federal government would make a tuition payment for veterans, including those from Oklahoma.

"The joker in the whole thing," Odom added, "is that anything paid for the veteran will be deducted from his bonus—if one is ever paid."

The GI bill authorizes federal payments up to $500 a year for tuition but directs that any payments be deducted from any future bonus.

Odom asked that the administrator be authorized to pay "fair and reasonable compensation" for tuition for veterans with a provision that no costs beyond payments charged other students should be deducted from a veteran's future bonus.

Jobless Benefit

Senators Murray (D-Mont) and Wagner (D-NY) would supplement the present $20 weekly unemployment benefit to veterans by an allowance of $5 for one dependent, $10 for two, and $15 for three.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo) has one to increase the maximum government-guaranteed loan to a veteran from $2,000 to $5,000.

On the point of unemployment compensation, Bradley said there has been dissatisfaction because a veteran who loses his job due to illness cannot draw benefits since "he is not considered available for work."

GI PROBLEM AIRED BY COLLEGE OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—Texas state college officials arrived here today to discuss with national leaders a problem which has arisen in financing the education of veterans under the GI Bill of Rights.

The Texas group met with Texas members of Congress today and will discuss the matter tomorrow with Veterans administration officials.

The Texans complained that the government had backed down on an original plan to pay the state $100 a term for each veteran enrolled in a state college or university.

Back Down On Agreement

State Vetearns administration officials in Waco had agreed last December to the figure but now refuse to settle with the schools for that amount because of objections from national headquarters, Dean F. C. Bolton, executive vice president of Texas A. and M. college, said.

No alternative or compromise figure has been discussed, Dean Bolton said. Veterans officials emphasize the fact that non-veteran residents of Texas pay $25 a term enrollment fee. Bolton estimated the actual per capita administrative cost of students is about $102, the state paying the balance for resident students.

Reciprocal Agreement

Because Texas has a reciprocal arrangement with many states so that students from those other states do not pay an out-of-state fee, the veterans agency insists that no extra fee should be charged to veteran students, he added.

Beside Bolton, other college officials here are C. D. Simmons, comptroller of the University of Texas; W. M. Whyburn, president of Texas Tech, Lubbock; and Dr. Harmon Lowman, president of Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college.

Nazi Concentration Camp Chief Claimed Suffering For Himmler

By CHARLES WIGHTON
United Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, Oct. 8 -- Josef Kramer, commandant of the Belsen concentration camp, testified today in his own defense before the British Military court trying him on charges of conducting Nazi atrocities.

Kramer opened the story of his administration of the Belsen camp and his service in the notorious Oswiecim camp after his defense counsel, Maj. S. Winwood, told the court the prisoner should be called "not the beast of Belsen but the scrapegoat of Belsen."

Defense Takes Stand

"It is the very foundation of Kramer's case that he was a member of the Nazi party," Winwood said. "I hope the court will grasp the phrase that Kramer is a German."

He quoted the Nazi laws against the Jews and said: "It was no very great step from the Nuremburg anti-Jewish laws to the chimneys of Oswiecim."

Winwood noted that the Germans had no copyright on concentration camps, recalling that the British employed concentration camps in the Boer war and had placed Greeks in Egypt in similar institutions.

Wanted To Go To Front

Kramer, said Winwood, tried to go to the front as a fighting man but was assigned to concentration camp duty by the SS, of which he was a member.

The commandant, Winwood asserted, was a scapegoat for Himmler, "whose bones are rotting a few mile away from Lueneburg and for the whole National Socialist regime."

Kramer testified that he joined the Nazi party in 1931 and went into the SS a few months later because he was jobless. He spoke in a low, hoarse voice.

Didn't Want Job

Kramer gave his age as 38. He said he went into concentration camp duty in 1934 and was assigned to Oswiecim against his personal wishes.

He explained that in one affidavit he had denied knowing about the Oswiecim gas chamber because he was bound by his "word of honor" never to reveal their existence. When the war ended, he said, he no longer felt bound.

He denied that he helped to select the victims for the gas chambers. He admitted that the selections were made in the center of the camp where he was in command and that he "passed by" when the choices were being made.

Mitscher Says Naval Aviation Necessary To Postwar Security

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 8 (AP)—Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, deputy chief of Naval operations for air, said today that our carrier supremacy should be maintained in the postwar period and declared that "carrier based air (power) is the present day medium for enunciating the principles of Naval warfare."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the brigade of midshipmen at the U. S. Naval Academy, which is celebrating its centennial this week, the former commander of Task Force 58 of Pacific fame said:

"In seeking a basis upon which to establish the composition of the Navy of tomorrow . . . we must not for a moment lose sight of the fact that our carrier supremacy defeated Japan and that carrier supremacy should be maintained.

(James J. Strebig, Associated Press aviation editor, reported from Washington last night that it had been learned that the Navy has drawn plans for its post-war fleet allocating a secondary role to aircraft carriers, despite the role played by aviation in the winning of the war.

(Strebig said that battleship-minded top officials had forbidden discussion of these post-war plans by the so-called "air-admirals," and that proponents of a larger role for aviation were hopeful that Congress would insist on hearing from the men who directed the carriers against Japan, such as Admiral Mitscher.)

Two-Year Men May Be Eligible For Release

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (U.P.)—A War department spokesman predicted today that enlisted men who have served two or more years in the Army will be eligible for discharge, regardless of points, by late next March.

Brig. Gen. Robert W. Berry, assistant chief of staff for personnel, fixed the expected discharge date for two-year men during testimony before the House Military Affairs committee.

Pressed for a definition of this date, Berry agreed with a congressional "best estimate" of March 20.

This does not mean that all two-year service men will be let out on that date. That is when they are expected to become eligible for discharge. Two-year men then are expected to begin to flow out of the Army on a first-in, first-out basis.

Berry said that when the point score drops to the level which would make all two-year men eligible, the point system will be abandoned and two years of service will determine release eligibility.
