Crisis In Cotton—Biggest Crop Year—Prices Go Down—But There's Solution.

By H. N. Fitzgerald

THERE is a crisis in the cotton growing states. This crisis was precipitated by the yield of upwards of 17,000,000 bales of cotton in a single year. This resulted from a vast increase in acreage planted to cotton in 1926. And a bumper crop, the largest ever picked in America with favorable weather conditions throughout the season, forced this so-called crisis when the growers became panicky and rushed the staple to the market as fast as it could be gathered.

AS a matter of fact, the greatest crop in history and the panic which resulted in the ranks of the growers, caused the decline in price which sent the staple to the place it occupies today in the markets of the world. It must be admitted at all times that an over production of cotton, frantically marketed, always produces the same results—cheap cotton for 60 or 90 days until the staple goes into the hands of the speculators who have the financial backing to carry out their program and it has often happened in other years that the price advanced to a fancy figure after two-thirds of the crop had passed out of the hands of the growers.

THERE is a reason for this. Two thirds of the cotton crop is produced by renters and the renters in the nine big producing states are carried by their merchants and their bankers. When the picking season begins, the merchants and the bankers must have their money. Self-preservation is the first law of nature, and the merchants and the bankers understand the law of self-preservation. All men understand the law who advance credit to the less fortunate, to the producers who must be carried from one season to the next.

MANY plans have been advanced to break the panic, to stabilize the price and to see to it that by warehousing the surplus, cotton will go to a figure above the cost of production. Texas' bankers say a million bales must be taken off the market, that the producer must be paid a certain sum for the cotton to be stored, conditional on a pledge of reduction of acreage of at least a fourth the coming year.

And the bankers of the nine leading cotton states have adopted the plan of the Texas bankers, and their plan is conditional on a sweeping reduction of acreage all around the coming year. As for the government, the president has been active, Secretary Jardine is active and pledges all the assistance possible to give through the credit banks conditional on the warehousing of the surplus and the pledged reduction on the part of borrowers in the acreage of 1927.

THERE are millions of cotton growers. It is said that a third of the crop is produced by large planters who are also cotton factors. That is, they buy and they sell to the millers of the world and in addition to this they are large growers of cotton on their own plantations or holdings in all the cotton states. It has been said that drastic reduction in acreage could be brought about if bankers pledged themselves not to advance money or carry tenants or small land owners if they planted beyond a limited acreage to be fixed by the foresaid bankers or their agents.

Now this could not be worked on the large planters who are also cotton factors. They are able to finance themselves without the aid of bankers. There are many farmers who are able to finance themselves. They could not be forced according to the experiences of the past to cut their acreage by any movement on the part of the mass of growers which fail to meet with their approval.

MANY plans have been evolved and advanced by individuals and associations through the public prints looking to the control of acreage in coming years in order to avoid over production of cotton which means that the surplus will fix the price as it has never fixed it in the history of the American cotton trade or industry.

A plan that appears to be the sanest and safest for future regulation of the acreage and the industry has been evolved by a Texan who has been a cotton planter since earliest manhood. His father was a planter, a large producer of cotton, and no doubt, his frandfather was one of the earliest pioneers in the cotton production field.

THIS man was born on a cotton plantation. He is the owner of cotton plantations, he has been a grower of cotton through his managers and tenants throughout his active career. He has made a study of cotton and cotton conditions in all countries, going back for centuries in his researches. Although a cotton planter, he became a lawyer and a lawmaker. He served many years as a member of the lower house of congress. He produced the bill and put it over which called for the collection of data and statistics every year showing the number of acres planted to cotton.

* * *

THIS was the beginning of the movement for gathering statistics relating to cotton production on the part of the federal government. He was responsible for the federal law providing for the classification or grading of cot-

Plan to Break Cotton Crisis Drawn

PART OF CROP MUST BE KEPT FROM MARKETS

4,000,000 Bales Should Be Retired This Season, Experts Say

LESS ACRES ALSO URGED

25 Per Cent Cut In Land Planted To Cotton Deemed Needed

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 14.(AP) The wheels of the machine, fashioned by merchants, bankers and planters of the south to remedy the situation incident to the low price of cotton began to move here today as the executive supervisory committee initiated plans for market stabilization this season and subsequent reduction of acreage planted.

Dr. Tait Butler, agronomist, chairman of the executive committee, named last midnight by the south-wide cotton conference met with B. W. Kilgore, Raleigh, N. C., and J. W. Fox, Scott, Miss., committeemen, in the move to launch the relief program.

Retire 4,000,000 Bales.

The program, evolved after long hours of deliberation by financiers and southern farm economists, calls for retirement of 4,000,000 bales from the current market and the reduction of 25 per cent in cotton acreage for the coming two years.

Dr. Butler today sent an invitation to Eugene Meyer, chairman of President Coolidge's federal cotton commission recently named to confer on the crop emergency.

The executive committee, vested with wide discretionary powers, spent several hours today in working out methods for effecting the major objectives sought. Pursuant to authority granted by the conference the executive group will be augmented to include representatives of every cotton state.

To Name Others.

Dr. Butler expects to announce the additional committeemen at an early date.

An early step in the program will be the employment of an executive secretary with offices in Memphis, Dr. Butler indicated.

Every element in the south economically will be brought into cooperation with the plans for the market stabilization plans the committee made known tonight. Bankers, merchants, cotton and cotton oil men, planters and all persons concerned in the cotton industry will be urged to join in the movement.

REPORTER ENLISTED TO PROPOSE LOVE FOR MOVIE ROMEO

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 14. (AP)—Newspapermen were assigned a John Alden role in the love making of a picture star today when John Gilbert, asked for confirmation of his reported engagement to Greta Garbo, suggested that his questioners get his answer from him from the Swedish film actress.

"Go ahead and ask her," Gilbert said. "If you do ask her I hope she says 'yes.' That's the answer I've been waiting for for weeks."

Miss Garbo, however, could not be reached for questioning. A day or two ago she told questioners she would have an answer in a week.

AIR MAIL CHIEF WILL VISIT CITY

C. B. Braun, Head of National Airways, Will Confer With Local Men

C. B. Braun, president of the National Airways corporation, operators of the United States air mail service between Texas and Chicago will be in Wichita Falls next Tuesday for the purpose of tying up this section with the national air mails service, it was learned here Thursday. Braun's coming to Wichita Falls became known with the placing of reservations for his visit here at Hotel Kemp.

Notice of Braun's coming has also been received by O. P. Maricle, United States postmaster here and Hubert Harrison, general manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Braun will, according to Postmaster Maricle, spend approximately a week here during which time he plans to confer with business men and civic organizations in the interest of airmail development. Braun plans to be here all next week, according to a communication to the Wichita Falls postoffice.

The National Airways corporation operates air mail planes out of Dallas and Fort Worth via Oklahoma City, Kansas City and St. Louis to Chicago where connections are made with the main trans-continental air mail planes plying between New York and San Francisco.

Whether Braun's visit has anything to do with a proposed southern air mail route, linking cities of Texas with the remainder of the south in a service which would later join an Atlantic seaboard airline, could not be ascertained.

MAYOR FAVORS AUDITORIUM AS VETS MEMORIAL

Legionnaires Propose Naming Municipal Structure For War Heroes

LEGION TO GET OFFICE

Shepherd Endorses Location Of Legion Headquarters In Building

A definite move which has the approval of Mayor R. E. Shepherd and the city council has been launched here with its objective the designation of the new municipal auditorium as "Wichita Falls Memorial Auditorium."

That the city should have some sort of a permanent memorial to its ex-soldiers is the belief of Pat Carrigan post, American legion, and in furtherance of this belief it is actively campaigning for the Memorial auditorium idea.

Mayor Favors It.

Mayor Shepherd last night went publicly on record as looking with favor on the proposition when he told a large number of legionnaires at a smoker at the Kemp that "It is a very appealing suggestion to me, one that I think is timely and worth-while; and you may count on my personal and official support of the matter."

The mayor went even further by asserting that office room could probably be provided in the auditorium building, this to be utilized as permanent headquarters of the Wichita Falls post. He pledged his assistance to this end, also.

Doughboy Statue.

Some time ago the legion here purchased a life-sized bronze statue of "The American Doughboy," which it intended erecting at some suitable spot in the city. The Junior college campus was considered, but with auditorium agitation growing more pronounced, it was decided to hold off on the matter pending developments. The statue is now in storage in Wichita Falls and will be set up in front of the auditorium when the new structure is completed.

Praise for Legion.

The mayor, in a brief address of welcome at the smoker, sketched briefly the main features of the auditorium. He had several architects' drawings of exterior and interior views which he exhibited. He also voiced a word of praise for the work the legion was doing in the city.

Yesterday's Lesson

Miss Normal Smallwood, better known as "Miss America" for 1926 and who is in town for a two-day vaudeville engagement at the Majestic, dropped into the Olympic offices for her mail and found the beauty school being conducted by Mme. Ida Chernoff going full force. She dropped in for a short time, listened approvingly for a short time to Mme. Chernoff's address and then, on the invitation of T. B. Noble Jr., manager of the Dent theatres here, went to the stage and was introduced to the more than 500 women at the school.

Pen Picture Of 'Miss America' Shows Her To Be Quite Unspoiled By Honors Laid At Her Feet By Beauty's Subjects

BY BLONDY CROSS

"Hey, lady, just a minute!"

"Sir-r-r-r!" or maybe it was "Sirra-ah!" (can't recall which, was so rattled), she lilted with a faint elevation of already arching eyebrows.

"A-uh, excuse me, young lady, but this is a life and death matter. Got to talk to you for a minute."

Ye gods, what was a man going to do! Here was an ordinary male sports writer who's looked at nothing but flying mares, strangle holds, left and right hooks, big burly ball players, a few racing fillies and a bunch of cauliflower ears all his life. And he was confronted by the ruler of another realm; there under orders facing little Miss America, reigning queen of feminine pulchritude, at least, those are the nouns and adjectives her press agent called her.

Footlight Interview

'Twas behind the scenes at the Majestic. She had just tripped back from her last bow before the footlights and Slim Madison, stage manager, was bearing down my way with a suspicious glint in his eyes.

Had to work fast. As she hesitated, "Sent over here by a great newspaper concern to catch your pedigree, lady. Can't we go somewhere and sit down a moment, especially before that big bully (alluding to Slim) gets here?" I spoke rapidly.

Just a hint of a smile played around her mouth and she turned to Mister Madison: "The gentleman is going to run an errand for me. Come." She turned and walked to her dressing room, me following and making monkey faces over my shoulder at Slim.

Mother Is a "Peach"

Her mother was there, a beauty herself, or it must have been all right.

My gosh! What was I to ask her? My mind chased back to those racing fillies. This young woman certainly was built for speed, so I asked her, "Did you ever do any foot-racing?"

"Why, no," she replied, "but I went up in a balloon at the Sesqui-Centennial fair not long ago—away up high. No, I wasn't a bit afraid, because there was a big hawser attached to it all the time." All this before I could get in another word.

Yep, pretty fast, all right, I thought to myself.

"Uh, did you ever do any boxing—I don't mean in public, but for exercise," was the next question.

She "Boxes" Boxes

"Why' no except near Christmas time I usually box up the presents that we intend to send away."

Huh. missed again. Smart girl, Miss Norma Smallwood alias Miss America.

"You never went in for any

FEDERAL HELP PROMISED FOR CLEAN-UP MOVE

Henry Zweifel, U. S. Attorney For West Texas Pays Visit To Borger

WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS

Names of Chief Rum Peddlers Reported In Hands Of Officials

AMARILLO, Oct. 14.(AP)—At least 20 places, rendezvous of narcotic peddlers and bootleggers at Borger will fall under the padlock injunction law, Henry Zweifel, U. S. district attorney announced here tonight, following a visit with government agents to the oil field.

The announcement was made as the first sweeping move of federal authorities to rid the oil boom town of vice and lawlessness.

Zweifel said tonight that action on the Borger case will await arrival of other officials and developments in the town.

Although Walter Knight, federal prohibition agent was in Stinnett Thursday, said to have been before the grand jury in session there, it is known he has information for filing federal liquor cases against practically all of the major bootleggers operating in the Borger field.

According to United States District Attorney Zweifel, state rangers will be assisted by federal locks on every place in Borger that has been selling liquor. While Zweifel contends the Borger vice situation is a matter mostly of state jurisdiction, he admitted operatives of the department of justice, prohibition agents and narcotic agents have been active in the new oil field town for a week or more.

"The federal government will assist the state in every way possible," Zweifel declared.

Roar Of Giant Gasser Changes To Clink Of Gold For East Texas Girl

HOUSTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—When the newest well of the Houston Gulf Gas company came in a few days ago at Refugio, with a capacity of 40,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day, Miss Nancy Jane Ryals saw one of her dreams come true; and Houstonians were assured of an increased supply of gas for the winter. Thursday a party of Houstonians and Miss Ryals of Refugio, saw the new well turned into the 196-mile pipe line to Houston. The roar of gas was music to Miss Ryals and to others who shared in her joy.

She had lived for years in a modest little home in the hills, once the heart of the cattle country, and hoped that some day an oil well or maybe a gold mine would be discovered on the Ryals homestead.

And the dream came true. Miss Ryals, after whom the well was named, will be rich in a short time from her royalties on gas sales to the Houston Gulf Gas company; and every Houstonian who uses natural gas will be contributing to her fortune.

Party On Board Yacht Ends Fatally For Two Pretty New Haven Women

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14. (AP)—An evening of pleasure aboard a yacht in New Haven harbor had a tragic ending for two women whose bodies were found today on the beach near the New Haven Yacht club.

After an all day investigation the women drowned were identified tonight as Mrs. Mildred Terrall, 18, of this city, and Mrs. Minerva Leonard Pedo, whose home address has not been learned. Mrs. Terrall's father, who viewed the body, said she had not been living with her husband for some time. Mrs. Pedo had been married twice.

Near the bodies was the overturned boat from the yacht Capsicum, on which they had been entertained. Further up the shore lay the oars, while on the beach in various places were a man's overcoat and hat, two women's hand bags and a cushion.

The owner of the coat and hat, identified as Barney P. Howie of Philadelphia, was missing tonight. According to Ommon Ormondson, captain of the yacht, Howie and he entertained the young women on the boat last night until nearly eleven o'clock, when Howie known locally as "Barney", and the women started ashore in the boat. AUDITORIUM'S PLANS DRAFTED

City Officials Confer With Architects Thursday On Details

Plans for the new city auditorium and office building worked out in detail yesterday at a joint meeting of the city council, building committee and the architects. Little or no changes were made from the original drawing, as ample design for all offices were allowed in the plan.

The auditorium proper will seat approximately 4,500 persons, as was figured in the original plan, and the basement will permit of plenty of room for a store room and other miscellaneous uses.

The office department provides for offices for the city clerk, city tax office, city engineer, welfare board, health department, city attorney, mayor, council room and all other departments of the city with the exceptions of the police and fire departments.

No definite plans have been arrived at for the fire and police departments, but the council promised Chief McClure a new hook and ladder truck just as soon as funds could be provided for it, and this item alone will mean need for extra sleeping quarters for ten men, besides a room for the truck.

It is possible that practically the entire present city hall will be turned over either to the fire or police department and another place provided for the other department.

ton, and the first bill enacted provided for nine grades, although it has been advanced to 11 grades in recent years. He introduced a bill for the regulation of cotton exchanges, but was called to the cabinet of Woodrow Wilson before the measure became a law.

This measure had passed the house but was on the calendar awaiting action when the senate adjourned. It was taken up by another congress and is known to fame and cotton growers as the Smith-Lever bill. He was a cabinet officer eight years. He was a cabinet officer when the great cotton slump came in 1914, the year of one of the bumper crops of history.

AS a grower of cotton, as a seller of cotton, as a lawmaker, responsible for the most important legislation dealing with cotton enacted by the American congresses, as a close student of after-the-war conditions as it relates to American cotton production and the price of cotton ever figuring on the cost of production of the fleecy staple. He does not believe that any of the plans evolved by others will get the results which must be obtained to place cotton production on a stable and permanent basis, which will insure the grower a price above the cost of production and break the shackles of financial dependence which a vast army of tenants carry with them in season and out, and handicap their lives and their economic fortunes.

HE would have the legislature of Texas enact a very short law.

Its first chapter would inhibit farmers from planting the same land in cotton for two consecutive years; the second would provide a penalty for the violation of the act of not less than $25 an acre and not more than $100 an acre, thus making violation punishable by fine but not by imprisonment. And the third chapter or section of this very condensed measure would provide that the law would become effective after the secretary of state of Texas had been notified by the secretaries of eight of the principal cotton producing states that similar laws had been enacted by the state legislature of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

THERE are other cotton growing states, but they are producers of negligible quantities of cotton in lean years or fat years. These are the states of Virginia, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. Indeed, the total annual production of these lesser states cuts a very small figure in the selling of cotton or the fixing of the price. Now this is the plan that this man of affairs, who has studied cotton all his life and has produced cotton all his life, submits to his fellow cotton growers and fellow citizens of the cotton producing states.

He believes that if the legislatures of the nine states would enact the law he has proposed within the next 60 days, the price of cotton, notwithstanding the 17,000,000 bale crop, would go to a high figure and might touch the 50-cent mark. He is not an extremist in anything. He is a conservative as conservatives are regarded in this section of the republic.

HE believes that law alone will lift the cotton growers of the south out of the Slough of Despond and keep them out of it by curtailing production as the steel manufacturers curtail it and as the rubber growers of the British empire and the coffee planters of Brazil regulate the sale of rubber and coffee, practically fix the price, prevent over production, keep a stabilized market and insure a fair share of prosperity year in and year out for those who grow the staple that covers the nakedness of the human family.

IN THE off year, producers could plant peas and other crops that will refertilize the land that is being rapidly worn out by constant planting to cotton, grow sufficient foodstuffs for the table and feedstuffs for livestock and poultry, prevent so-called crises or panics in future and make the land pay dividends every year.

PETER PIPER PEPS REPLACE PUZZLES

LONDON, Oct. 14.(AP)—Now that the cross-word puzzle, which swept across England from America leaving a trail of thumbed dictionaries in its wake, has spent its force, England has turned to Peter-Piperisms for solace.

Peter-Piperisms are alliterative sentences containing at least eight and not more than twelve words, each of which begins with the same letter.

"Since short skirts still seem stylish, silk stockings shouldn't sag," is the contribution of one alliterative expert.

Another hopes, "May many more manly miners migrate, marry methodical maids, make much money."

Other tongue-twisters are: "Mr. Manager, money might make Maud marry my miserable Max—Max's Mother."

"Stephen, shyly stroking Sylvia's shining shingle, seemingly surmises smiling Sylvia's single" and "Lilly likes licking limp licorice."

Informal Meet.

Last night's smoker was an informal meeting, well attended, at which a number of routine affairs concerning the post were discussed. Entertainment was provided by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Pitman with vocal and instrumental music; by Al K. Hall, vaudeville comedian appearing at a local theatre and who went through with some hot Charleston steps and spicy series of war-time yarns; and by an itinerent ex-soldier of the 197th Canadian artillery. The latter arrived in town Thursday and was brought up to the smoker where he wound himself into some amazing knots in a contortionist exhibition.

O. T. Ailes, district commander, and others made brief addresses.

heavy athletics, did you?" I asked next.

"No, just basketball, swimming and horseback riding. Is that heavy?" she intoned, or something or other.

"Well, how come you to be so easy to look at, anyhow?" I came back in my best ball room style.

The lady gave me a quizzical look and then glanced at her mother with what stacked up very much like a take-him-away-please expression. Then she smiled.

It's Just Natural.

"Oh, if I'm that way, easy to look at, as you so quaintly worded it, why it's just natural," and again she glanced at that handsome mother of hers.

I think I caught the drift, but still was game.

"Do you train, uh, I mean diet like wrestlers or football players or beauty specialists do? What do you eat?"

"Why, I eat almost anything I like," she replied.

"Well, what do you do?"

"Why, 'most anything I want to."

Stumped again. Miss America's beauty secrets will forever be dead to the world. That's a tough break for the rest of the girls.

Hesitated a moment and eyed her mother, then took a chance and dived. "Miss America, please answer me straight on this. Will You? I want the lowdown. Do you at the moment happen to be in love with anybody?"

She Loves World.

She didn't falter a second, "Yes, I'm in love with the world." Somebody's been coaching that girl.

"Are you in love with any individual, if that's not too personal?"

"No-o-o," she drawled, then looked at me closely, as if seeing me, good for the first time, and laughed right out. That girl's got a wonderful sense of humor.

"And I have no intentions of falling in love soon," she continued.

"Well," I ruminated to myself, "that lets me out."

So with a "thanks for all the information" I bowed myself out no doubt just as gracefully as Dutch Mantell did that time he jumped at Jack Gorman and fell through the ropes into a bucket of water at ringside.

Hadn't got outside the door good before I heard mama say, "Let's go to dinner now, Norma."

And like a chump I stood by and let them go alone.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which sooth and heal the infected membranes and stops the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent cought and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

Cleburne Police Puzzle Over Solution To Destruction Of Palatial Home

CLEBURNE, Oct. 14. (AP) The charred ruins of a handsome, three-story, 14 room unoccupied house on a 14-acre beauty spot two miles northwest of here today held the secret of how it caught fire.

The house, recently bought by C. D. Langley, of Dallas, was mysteriously razed about 1 o'clock this morning. Searchers for Frank Coker, Dallas carpenter, doing repairs at the house yesterday and at first believed to have been a victim of the fire, later located him in Dallas. He said he could not account for the fire. The structure collapsed before dawn, although walls were of stone and concrete. No explosions were heard.

A statement from Langley at Dallas today said the house was valued at about $15,000 and insured for $15,000. The entire place was valued at $35,000.

S. D. Capps of Cleburne until recently owned the house.

BEAKS "MADE TO BREAK" IN SEMINOLE FIELD

MAJOR AREA A RECORD MAKER

60,000 Barrels A Day Is Latest Mark From New Sector

Peak marks are made to be changed each day, at least that is so in the Seminole field.

Oklahoma's newest major oil area is now producing close to 60,000 barrels a day, thanks to the addition of one new Wilcox and several new Hunton lime producers there. And no one knows just w[hen] other deep [we]ll wells will pop in there.

The Tidal Osage Oil company of Tulsa, increased the number of Wilcox sand producers there to 12 early Thursday when its No. 1 Mahardy, in the northeast corner of the southwest of 24-9-6, found the deep pay at 4,147 1-2 feet, and in it to 4,169 feet, it was flowing steadily at the rate of 230 barrels an hour.

The Tidal Osage No. 2 Mahardy made 4,555 barrels from the Wilcox. It preceded the No. 1, in more than a week. It is in the southeast of the northeast of the southwest of section 24. The two are making around 10,000 barrels a day.

Newest Hunton lime well is the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 4 Grayson, in the southeast of the southwest of 24-9-6, that had the lime pay at 3,937 to 3,971 feet, and started off at 80 barrels per hour.

80 Barrels An Hour.

The Mid-Continent No. 1 Rentie, in the southeast corner of 14-9-6, a Wilcox sand well, has been deepened a third time, and each time for two feet, making present total depth at 4,209 feet, that increased its last day's output to 3,627 barrels.

The Garland pool wells—four in a row—Independent Oil and Gas company and R. F. Garland Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 Fixico, in 26-9-6, made 18,518 barrels, really a small field within themselves.

News Of The Field

FARMER No. 1 SPUDS.

Atlantic Oil Producing company, et al., are spudding in a test, located 815 feet from the west line and 150 feet from the south line of blocks 17 and 18, W. C. Winters survey and on the L. H. Farmer lands. It is north of the Tidal Oil company's discovery well on the same fee.

RED BANK, ELLIOT.

The Red Bank Oil company is drilling in a saturated lime at 4,147 feet on its No. 1 Elliot which is located 166 feet from the north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 974, T. E. & L. survey in Throckmorton county.

MARLAND-KENTUCKY.

The Marland and Kentucky Oil companies have completed as a 20-barrel pumper their No. 2 A. J. White, located 450 feet each way from the northeast corner of block 111 in the Harris subdivision of the Club ranch. The total depth is 1,167 1-2 feet. Location for No. 3 is 600 feet west of No. 2.

MAER-STANIFORTH, COOKE.

Maer and Staniforth have made location for a 2,500-foot test in the northeast corner of the B. B .B. & C. survey on the C. E. Marshall ranch, three and one-half miles east of Marysville in Cooke county.

MARLAND, FOX

The Marland Oil company is rigging up on No. 1 Fox, located in the southeast corner of block 105 of the Harris subdivision of the club ranch and about one-half mile northwest of the Marland-Kentucky No. 2 White, west of Archer city in Archer county.

WILBARGER EXTENSION

Murchison and Fain No. 1 Waggoner, located in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 51, H. & T. C. survey, block 4, in southwest Wilbarger county, is making approximately 125 barrels of oil daily from sand at 1,974 to 1,992 feet. This discovery opens a large territory, being about 2 miles from the Phillips Petroleum pool.

BURNS, TURBEVILLE

L. T. Burns No. 2 Turbeville in block 171, R. Carson survey, Archer county, is swabbing 25 barrels per hour from the sand topped at 1,507 feet and drilled to 1,526 feet. Location for No. 3 has been made 300 feet east of No. 2.

GULF, FOARD COUNTY

The Gulf Production company is setting casing on a sandy lime at 2,427 to 2,430 feet in its No. 1 A. T. Miller wildcat test, located 2,640 feet south and east of the northwest corner of section 22, block 8, T. & T. C. survey in Foard county.

MAKE SHALLOW TEST.

Charles Purcell, et al., are moving in a spudder rig to drill a 700-foot test one-half mile northwest of the O. H. Foster No. 1 Sanzenbacher wildcat. The purpose of this well is to test a sand showing considerable oil and some gas which was penetrated at 377 feet in the Foster well.

SHAPPEL BUYS PLAINS LEASES

$237,000 Paid For Productive Property In Archer County Field

One of the most valuable oil leases in Archer county is included in the property purchased by the Shappel Oil company from the Plains Production company in a deal which was closed Thursday, and which involved a consideration of $237,000, all of which was cash.

Twenty acres in block 171 of the Robert Corson survey and on the J. H. Turbeville land in Archer county was sold by the Plains. This tract has three producing wells with a daily output of approximately 1,400 barrels of oil. Two other tests are drilling, one of which will hit the pay level in the next few days. This lease is just east of the Texas company, Simms and other producing wells in block 172.

Also included in the transaction is a 43-acre lease in the J. Dorsey survey in the extreme southeast portion of the county and on the R. O. Prideaux land. On it are four wells producing about 30 barrels daily from the 700-foot sand.

Officials of the Shappel Oil company announced that development of the leases will be carried to completion as rapidly as possible.

PRODUCTION UP

Panhandle Output Increases 18,355 Barrels in Week.

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.(AP)—Average daily production of crude oil in Texas Panhandle oil fields for the week ended October 7, was 125,935 barrels, Deputy Supervisor J. T. Elliott, reported to Judge H. E. Bell, chief of the oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission Thursday.

This represents an increase in production of 18,355 barrels over the preceding week. The increase resulted from the bringing in of 21 new wells, a decided increase in the number of wells being brought in recently, Elliott's report shows.

There are 508 producing wells in the panhandle field. Capacity of steel storage in the field is 6,879,000 barrels, and the quantity of crude oil stored is 4,856,541 barrels, leaving an available storage of 1,983,459 barrels. There is under construction steel storage with the capacity of 5,910,000 barrels, only about 1,000,000 less under the storage completed.

Rain has retarded the movement of oil over railroads and the Santa Fe branch line to Isom is to be opened Friday, Elliott reported.

RUSSIA EXPORTS OIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.(AP)—Oil exports from the soviet union to August 31 for 11 months of the current fiscal year, broke all Russian records, totalling 1,310,108 metric tons, against 1,248,759 tons in the previous corresponding period, the Russian information bureau reports. The annual prewar exports were about 900,000 tons.

AIR PRESSURE RAISES CRUDE

Refuses $100,000 For Lease After Using Compressed Air On $300 Block

Additional testimonials as to the value of artificial methods of increasing the field of oil wells by the use of compressed air and gas were brought out at a recent meeting at Tulsa of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

An Ohio operator declared that after paying $300 for an oil property he increased its output by the use of compressed air to the extent that he turned down an offer of $100,000 for it. A lease at Brock, Okla., owned by the American Petroleum company had its production greatly increased it was stated.

It was agreed that residue gas from natural gasoline should be turned back into the ground to restore pressure on the oil sand.

MANGUM GETS OFFICE

Beauty School Brings Surprises In Fast Order

The lecture Thursday morning by Mme. Chernoff, nationally known beauty specialist, at The Record News Beauty School at the Olympic theatre was filled with surprises. Women were shown how to do facial, and told what to do to get rid of blackheads, whiteheads, remove blemishes from the skin, and were given many other beauty hints. Among the other salient points in being beautiful, Mme. Chernoff reminded the women of the cause back of all their efforts was to "hold or attract" a man. Not the least of the surprises, too, in yesterday's class, was the appearance of "Miss America," Miss Norma Smallwood of Tulsa, Okla., who with her mother, were guests at the lecture.

"You may not know it, but you have yourself to sell," Mme. Chernoff declared. "That is, not commercially speaking, but you have the assurance that you have done all you could to make your figure all that it should be, that your teeth are well kept, that your mouth is sweet, that your hair is bright, that your face is cared for."

To Cleanse the Face.

To cleanse the face, first use cleansing cream, then wash with Ivory soap and water; she told the kind of clay to use to remove the pimples, a preparation which acts on the blood and not on the skin; when the clay is used on the face, it too, should be removed with water; then before applying the powder, apply a tissue cream.

Powdering the face should not be done by rubbing the puff over the face but the powder should be dusted on with the puff, and then the rouge applied.

Mme. Chernoff told how to care for the scalp, and recommended the use of ivory soap flakes for the shampoo, because it does not contain any free alkali substance.

For those who have dry scalps, she told how to massage the scalp with olive oil before shampooing. For those whose scalp is too oily, the use of bayrum was recommended. Stooping over causing the blood to rush to the head is a good method to increase the blood circulation, Mme. Chernoff pointed out.

Last Day Friday.

Friday is Mme. Chernoff's last day in Wichita Falls, and she will bring a message of special interest to women. No men will be allowed in the auditorium during this lecture, and children over four years of age will not be permitted to hear the lecture. The school will open at 10:30 o'clock. Questions of interest to women will be answered, and those who have questions are invited to write them and leave them for Mme. Chernoff to answer.

And Now All She Needs Is—

Mme. Rosa Ponselle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Rosa Ponsella, delight of opera lovers, has fame, fortune and magnificent health. All she needs now—or so she confesses—is love.

She wants a husband. And, moreover, she has very definite notions of what sort of man her husband must be. She calls him, "Mr. Right Man," and speaks freely of his qualifications.

"Mr. Right Man will be more than welcome when he appears," Miss Ponselle said, "but that's very easy to say."

"What must he be like?" the singer was asked.

"He must be an American and a business man," she said. "There is something about the American business man that is very fetching. And he must be romantic and an ardent lover—of music and beauty."

"Have you ever met a romantic American business man?"

Miss Ponsella smiled wistfully.

"Perhaps if I had I'd have married him," she said. "Anyway, I've read about him in books."

"How would he look?"

"He must be a blond. I am dark and I love striking contrast. He must be attractive to me in appearance, tall, too, and of a military bearing, I think. Naturally, I'd like him to be husky."

"Haven't you seen such a lad yet?"

The singer nodded.

"But," she said quickly, "he has been either too old or too young or too poor——"

"Would you expect your husband to support you?"

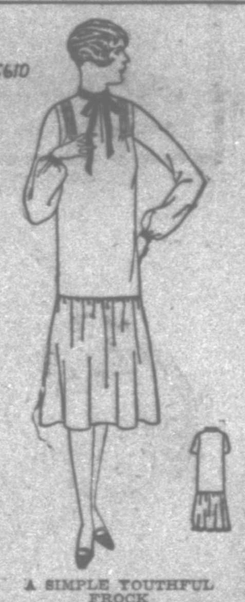

"Certainly," she cried. "I want an American husband, I said. I want a man who would assume all family responsibilities. I couldn't respect a man who would expect me to go fifty-fifty on the household expenses, even though my income runs into six figures annually.

"But I wouldn't want him to manage my affairs either, no matter how good a business man he might be. I have a manager for that. This Mr. Right Man must keep his hands off my career and not object to it. My sister's unhappiness arose over her husband's attitude toward her career.

Of course Miss Ponselle wants children. She wants all that goes to make a happy family. But her career must not be disturbed.

"Divorce?" she said. "I want no divorce to mar my life. That's why I'm being so particular about a husband. I want permanency in love. The love of an opera star is a romantic one. Perhaps that is why we often think ourselves in love. But I'm sure I'll know the real love when it comes along. I'm quite sure."

For Youth, Age

By MME. LISBETH

Soft gray is just as becoming to youth as to age. Although it is generally described as the apparel of sweet old ladies with silver locks or to the mother or grandmother of the bride at the wedding. Nowadays, however, mother and grandmother refuse absolutely to confine their dresses and wraps to quiet grays and blacks, contending they need the color more than their daughters or granddaughters, so, of course, it is fitting that the aforesaid daughters and granddaughters wear the quaker shades while mother parades in peacock hues.

The modish coat of soft gray fur pictured is the usual straightline type with the skins placed vertically in the bodice section and horizontally in the skirt. Gray fox fur makes the tuxedo collar and cuffs. Carmel Myers posed.

Experience is proving that the tubular coat is the favored model, even in the finest furs, a dealer recently declared. In ermine and broadtail, as well as in pony and other sports media, the simplest garments are the ones that sell best, while in mink what is most wanted is the tailored coat in let-out working, rather than any intricate or bizarre arrangement of skins.

Beauty and Health go hand in hand

MORE and more women are discovering the importance of an antiseptic cleanliness—a cleanliness that goes deeper than mere surface aids to beauty. This applies to the skin, the hair, the mouth and teeth, the breath, the hands.

Such women are finding that Zonite is just as important in matters of beauty as in matters of health. Because Zonite is a true germicide. It kills the germs of seborrhea (dandruff) just as surely as it kills the germs of typhoid or diphtheria.

Complexional eruptions yield to Zonite, which disinfects the centers and dries them up. In the manicure, Zonite not only disinfects cuts and hangnails but bleaches fingernail stains.

Zonite used daily as a dentifrice and mouth-wash, keeps teeth and gums in a healthy condition.

Zonite not only neutralizes body odors but destroys the germs that cause them. Zonite Ointment is particularly delightful for this purpose, as it is stainless, greaseless and gently aromatic—an antiseptic and deodorant in vanishing cream form.

Happiness Can't Be Stored Away In Vault of Future

Don't Put Off Being Happy Until You Are Rich or Until You Retire from Business or Your Children Are Grown—It Will Be Too Late—Happiness Comes Now or Never.

BY DOROTHY DIX

We all want to be happy. We expect to be happy at some indefinite future date, and we look for happiness to come to us in some strange, mysterious way.

We keep putting off enjoying ourselves. We deny ourselves the little pleasures we might have waiting for the miraculous day to come when all the circumstances shall be auspicius, as the fortune, tellers say. We wait until we shall be well and strong in body, our purses full, our spirits gay, our family affairs adjusted, before we take our pleasure.

And so we let the drab years slip by, and old age overtakes us while we are still waiting to be happy, and death comes, and we have lived our lives out without ever really knowing any happiness at all.

We are like a man I know who, every fall, buys a barrel of apples that he puts into his cellar. But he never eats the sound ones. He always eats the specked and wormy ones, and saves the good ones, and as new specks continually develop, he never eats anything but rotten apples.

"Man never is, but always to be blessed," says the poet, and the reason of this is that we have not intelligence to realize that the whole secret of happiness lies in making the most of now and here, and extracting all the pleasure possible out of every moment.

We see people who say they will be happy when they are rich, yet, to acquire the money that they expect to enjoy so much, they toil like galley slaves and scrimp and pinch and economize. They deny themselves the comfortable home they crave. They eat cheap food. They do without the books they would enjoy, the plays they would like to see, the music they would like to hear, the little trips they long to take. They live hard, unbeautiful, barren lives.

And when the time comes when they have made their fortune, and they start out to enjoy the pleasures of which they have dreamed so long, they find to their amazement that you cannot buy happiness over the counter. They have done without things so long that they have lost the sense of desire. Their hands have clutched every penny so tightly that they cannot open up.

They can buy feasts, but they have neither the appetite nor the digestion to eat them. They could go to the ends of the earth, but they have gotten so deeply into a rut that they have no interest in anything but Main street and are miserable out of their own chair by their own fireside.

Many men expect to be happy when they retire from business. They never take a vacation. They never play. They are geared up to high speed all the time. They work so hard that they never have time even to get acquainted with their children. They never take a day off to go fishing or camping with their boys. They live on such a strain that they are nervous and exhausted and cross and irritable. It is a dog's life, they will tell you, but before long they are going to retire and be perfectly happy loafing and inviting their souls, and getting on confidential terms with their children.

DOROTHY DIX.

Near French Fried Potatoes.

Prepare as for French fried, letting stand in cold water until crisp. Dry well, place in buttered drip pan. Set in oven; when hot, brush melted butter or bacon drippings well over them. Continue cooking until tender, stirring occasionally. Salt just before serving.

Pepper Salad.

SUGGESTIONS

Sweet sandwiches are made by putting chopped dried fruit between thin slices of bread. The fruits best suited for this are dates, raisins, candied ginger and washed figs. They may be used separately or blended together, using less ginger than other fruits.

When removing a stain always place a plotter under the stain before you attempt its removal.

Mrs. J. C. Berney Addresses Forum

"Earliest English Ideals" formed the basis for a forceful and interesting lecture given by Mrs. J. C. Berney, chairman of the literature department of the Woman's Forum at the first meeting of the season held Thursday afternoon at the Wichita club.

The speaker told of the life and habits of the early Anglo-Saxon race whose upright living and whose influence has permeated early English literature and on through the ages and is still felt in literature of today.

Describing this race of people as being most reverent, Mrs. Berney said that young America has received the heritage of her forefathers, the heritage of a glorious race. The Anglo-Saxon race she continued, are particularly reverent of women and of God.

The lecture was the first in the literature department course which will be featured this fall, dealing with the tracing of English literature from it's earliest stages.

Preceding Mrs. Berney's talk officers of the department were introduced, and Mrs. M. M. Walker, vice-chairman, gave a pleasing address of welcome, concluding by introducing Mrs. O. E. Nicholls who gave an artistic violin selection. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harwood Stacy.

The lecture was illustrated by Miss Juanita Kinsey reading what the earliest English epic, "Beowulf."

Fast Action In Mission Picture

Action, continuous and swift, is one of the outstanding features of "Hair Trigger Baxter," Bob Custer's newest F. B. O. production now showing at the Mission theatre. Throughout the entire picture there is never a "let down" minute; not a foot of film that lags or a bit of action that drags. It achieves an immediate note of action and keeps it up steadily to the last scene. The action includes plenty of fast riding, trick shooting and keen fighting, and the entire picture is pervaded with a feeling of suspense and conjecture. Romance, too, plays an important part in the story. Bob is again, in his inimitable fashion, a Romeo of the Rangers and protects a helpless girl who eventually becomes the object of his devotion. The girl's role is interpreted with great sweetness and delicacy by Eugenia Gilbert. Others in the cast are Lew Meehan, Murdock McQuarrie, Fanny Midgley, Jim Corey, Ernie Adams and Hugh Saxon. The story was written by James Ormont and the continuity by Paul Bryan. The picture was made under the capable direction of Jack Nelson.

"Take It From Me," Is Strand Feature

If it makes Arthur Todd laugh, it will make anybody else howl.

That's an axiom at Universal City. Arthur Todd is a genial enough cameraman, but he has been photographing comedies of one kind or another for years.

He has seen comedians near and far perform all sort of supposedly humorous antics. He has seen every bit of pantomime, every funny situation, every "gag" every performed before the motion camera.

So, if the scene can provoke Todd into a chuckle as he cranks the camera on it, the director is a happy man.

"Take It From Me," the latest Universay-Reginald Denny production, was photographed by Todd, and William Seiter, the director, proudly asserts that the picture wrung several smiles even from this hardened cynic, so he is thoroughly happy.

Todd has turned the camera on such laugh-provoking farces as "The Cohens and Kellys," "Poker Faces," "Rolling Home," "Her Big Night," "Skinner's Dress Suit," "What Happened to Jones" and scores of others.

An unusually large cast supports the star in "Take It From Me." Blanche Mehaffey plays the feminine lead, with Lee Moran, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Ethel Wales, Lucien Littlefield, Jean Tolley, Vera Lewis, Tom O'Brien, Betram Johns and others in the cast.

"Take It From Me" opens at the Strand theatre today.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER is 39 and one of the wisest men who has made fame and fortune on the diamond. Passing of mile posts have not stiffened his brawny arm or blurred his eagle eye or hardened his fertile brain. He is in the center of the grandstand now or rather in the center of the stage of popularity.

Grover Cleveland Alexander has been invited by the national directors of the democratic campaign to sit on the stage and help the national cause along. Now it would be a joke on the national managers if this famous ball player, who has been named in honor of one of the greatest of democratic presidents, should have fallen away from the faith of his fathers and is a republican in excellent standing.

If all Americans who love sports voted the democratic ticket at the coming November election, the republicans would be whipped to a frazzle, but unfortunately for the Donkey and his trainers there are millions of sport lovers who are rock-ribbed republicans and bow to the elephant as the political emblem of their faith.

Grover Cleveland lead the democrats to two great victories in the nation. And then the democrats of the south and the democrats of the west smashed their political idol because he would not agree to a double standard of finance, or in other words William Jennings Bryan's famous 16 to one, to place silver on a parity with gold, the southern and western democrats repudiated Cleveland and drove him into exile. They wrecked the democratic party for many years, until Woodrow Wilson became its Moses. Silver has never been restored; the crime of '73 has never been avenged and the gold standard is the standard of the world.

TOM LOVE'S PET MEASURE

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN crusaded the country for many years for the State Guarantee Fund plan. Thomas M. Campbell and Thomas B. Love backed the plan in Texas and it became a law. Banking Commissioner Charles O. Austin has made known that bills are in course of preparation to repeal all the guarantee fund provisions of the Texas state bank act.

A recent bank closing, according to the figures of Commissioner Austin, will cost the guarantee fund close to $225,000. Lawmakers of the 40th legislature will be asked to tackle the repeal proposition. They will be asked to make a clean sweep of the law and leave state banks on their own resources. Complete repeal would remove the new bond feature of the guarantee banking act.

It is said the number of guarantee fund banks has dwindled to 103, and the bond banks have grown to 703, making a total of 806 banks in the state system. William Jennings Bryan is dead. Thomas M. Campbell is dead. Their guarantee bank scheme in Texas is said to be dying. In other states the scheme passed on years ago.

This is a world of change. And when ever lawmakers move away from many of the old land marks, their experimental legislation plays havoc with the industries of the country, as well as the pockets of the people of the country.

WHY LEAVE IT UNPICKED?

MAYOR J. FRED SMITH of the town of University Park has a plan. He would leave at least one-fourth of the 1926 cotton crop unpicked, as a means of raising the price of cotton.

Why not pick all the cotton; why not store one-fourth of the crop? Store it and hold it for coming years.

Cotton is an imperishable product. It may be stored for 25 years without injury to the fiber. Then reduce the acreage a third in 1927. There will be good money in cotton some day to those who hold it this year.

SPEAKING OF AMERICAN COPPER

THERE are many copper millionaires in America and the copper industry is one that concerns the people of at least three Rocky mountain states. A Washington correspondent says that the federal trade commission will shortly reach a decision on the application made to it by American copper producers to form a copper export trade association.

If the cotton growers of the south had a powerful and well financed cotton export trade association, it might be possible that the financial condition of the growers would be greatly improved in the years to come. If the application is granted by the federal trade commission, a corporation will be formed by the leading copper producers of the country to handle export trade. Combinations in foreign trade were specifically permitted by the Webb-Pomerene act. It is estimated that upward of a hundred associations of that kind have been created since the act went into effect.

What the copper producers hope to accomplish, is to stabilize the foreign market in copper as the United States produces about 60 per cent of the annual output of the world. About 80 per cent of world production is refined in this country. Upward of half of the copper output is consumed in the United States. The other half is consumed abroad, mainly in Europe.

Incidentally the United States last year exported over a billion pounds of copper. Most of that export was in the form of refined copper of which approximately 968,000,000 pounds were exported. Arizona is one of the great copper producing states of America. Montana is another. Arizona has a copper king in the United States senate. He is a republican. His name? Ralph Cameron. He is a candidate for re-election. Carl Haden is the democratic nominee. Copper is backing Cameron. Haden claims to be the candidate of the plain people.

Montana sent W. A. Clarke to the senate. He was a famous copper magnate. It cost him a small fortune to be elected. He made the landing, but the senate did not appeal to him. He served a term and then retired, invested millions in art treasures, built himself a palace in the city of New York, spent most of the time in Paris and died leaving a vast fortune to his heirs. Copper has made many vast fortunes for the giants of the industry in the Rocky Mountain states.

THEY PICK COOLIDGE

ARTHUR BRISBANE has notified his fellow countrymen that the democrats haven't a man for national standard bearer who would be able to defeat Calvin Coolidge for re-election.

Robert Small, a most conservative political writer and prophet, has announced to the world that the president can have, or rather can get, a renomination by asking for it.

There were prophets in the land who predicted that Woodrow Wilson would never see the inside of the White House. This in 1912. There were prophets in the land who said that he would be kicked out of the White House. This in 1916.

Speaking of sports, thousands of keen gamblers placed their money on Hobo Dempsey. They lost. Speaking of sports again, thousands of keen observers placed their money on the Yankees. They lost.

There is no telling what may happen in 1928, politically speaking. There are more republicans in America than democrats, and the republicans are in the northern states and the border states. A vast majority live where their ballots do the most good for their party.

And yet, a democrat may break into the White House in 1928. It may be a remote possibility, but there is ever a possibility for the minority when the people register their verdict at the ballot box.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains

45 Years Ago Wilbarger Seceded From Clay County And Became Free State

Forty-Fifth Anniversary of County's Organization with Vernon As Capital In October, 1881, Is Celebrated Sunday By Residents of Wilbarger.

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Oct. 14.—Wilbarger county was 45 years old Sunday. Organized in 1881, Wilbarger county celebrated the forty-fifth anniversary of this date in its history on October 10, 1927. An interesting account of the county's history in connection with this anniversary is as follows:

Due notice having been given to the Clay county district which had jurisdiction over the county that a suitable number of signers had been secured on a petition asking that the county be organized, the officials of that district designated October 10 as the day to elect officers and perfect the organization.

Like all new counties the list of names on the petition were not bonafide voters, it is alleged, but the right was granted anyway, and the county took its place among the other counties of Texas.

Named For Brothers.

In 1858 the county had been named after two surveyors, Joshia and Mathis Wilbarger, pioneers of south Texas. Josiah lost his scalp while after Indians and lived for several years aftewards.

Vernon was the logical place for the county seat, on account of location, but on account of the population, Doans was slated for that honor. However, the people of Doans were magnanimous enough to give way to Vernon, but they had a proviso. T. Windson Robison, et al, who owned practically all the townsite, were required to give a block for the court house and one for the jail, four front and four rear lots of every even numbered block in the town of Vernon before Doans agreed to give Vernon the county seat. They granted it.

First Officers.

The following officers were elected: J. Doan, county judge; Uel Musick, sheriff; L. N. Perkins, clerk; J. H. Night, surveyor; W. A. McKinley, treasurer; J. K. Payne, hide and animal inspector; Alex Dawson, tax assessor and the four commissioners were J. J. Burdick, George Probasco, John Miller and T. P. Stamey; F. C. Beckett, county attorney and Edwards, justice of peace of precinct No. 1.

The first building which housed the court house books burned. It was located where the Bailey hotel now stands. A building on the Farmers State bank site, owned by T. Windsor Robinson, was used until the new court house east of the present one, was built.

A jail of hewn logs on the court house square surrounded by a stockade housed the early prisoners, a trap door at the top of which was reached by a stair on the outside was the only entrance.

Votes Dry In 1882.

In delving into the county records, an order to the effect that prohibition carried by seven votes in an election in December, 1882. The sale of intoxicating liquors and medical bitters producing intoxication was prohibited after January 1, 1883. The law, like the famous blue laws of New England must not have been invoked in latter days for soon after the town and county were running wide open, and saloons did a thriving business.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

THE WARDSTICK.

A yardstick is the biggest thing
Like that I have in mind,
A yardstick is the smallest thing
Around the house to find.
Dad sometimes knows just where to go
To find some tool of his,
But no one ever seems to know
Just where the yardstick is.

It's up in Mother's bedroom or
I'm in the hall somewhere,
It's likely in the pantry, or
It's underneath the stair.
But one remark I recollect,
And that remark was "Pa's:
It's always where you least expect,
And never where it was.

But other things that Pa has said
I'd just as soon forget,
Though other things that Pa has said
Ma mentions even yet—
About the time she ran around
And looked to beat the band
And, after all her looking, found
He had it in his hand.

When I grow up and have a house,
The same as Ma and Dad,
One thing I'll have in my own house
My parent's never had.
I may not have much money, no,
Nor rugs upon the floor,
But I will have a yardstick, though
Right back of every door.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

Today's planetary aspects are not favorably, neither are they adverse. They are negative, and indicate a condition of lassitude and indifference. In the evening, they reveal signs of improvement and stimulating vibrations will be very much in evidence. Only routine work or customary duties should occupy your attention, and, even in th eevecution of these, it will be necessary to assert determination. You must also establish poise, and force yourself to take interest in whatever you may have to do. The influences that prevail, after the day's work is done, are cheerful, and will promote congeniality, and awaken lively emotions.

Children born today will, during infancy, be practically immune to the ailments that are generally typical of babyhood. In their early childhood, along about the time when they are five or six years old, they will be subjected to a serious illness. Their constitutions will enable them to recover quickly, and they promise, thereafter, to develop along normal lines. In disposition, they will be rather lasy, and indifferent to what is known as material fortune. They will, however, possess good fundamentals, and have high ideals. Their temperaments will be artistic, rather than practical, and their greatest success will be in matters that are not commercial.

If today is your birthday, you are self-contained unimaginative, and rarely, if ever, enthusiastic. You are very matter-of-fact, and never allow your emotions to sway you, in the consideration of any proposition that is submitted to you. Caution and conservationism are your basic qualities, and as, combined with these, you possess good business ability, it is only fair to deduce that you have achieved a fair degree of success along meaterial lines of endeavor. You are fond of nature and good looks, but only enjoy the society of a few friends, and, practically, have the affection of only one or two. Your nature is reserved, and you prefer your own solitary companionship to that of others. You are loyal to your home and family, and strive, in your own way, to make things bright and attractive. It is, however, with your disposition, a very difficult task, as there is a lack of that something in your "make-up" which excludes sympathy and begets congelality.

What Do You Know About It?

DAILY SCIENCE SIX

1. What river is a boundary between France and Germany?
2. What great "International" river flows into the Black Sea?
3. What great river flows into the Caspian Sea?
4. What great river connects the Great Lakes with the Atlantic?
5. Why are so many Atlantic seaboard cities found on the Fall Line?
6. What state has several rivers that never reach any body of water?

Answers to these questions in tomorrow's paper.

CHINA'S SORROW.

The Great Hwanag River is known as China's sorrow, on account of its fidgety way of changing its course. Over its lower courses it flows through a delta that it has made, filling in an ancient bay of the ocean. This delta is fertile with the soils washed down from other parts of China correspondingly laid bare by the river, and hence is densely populated. Several centuries ago it changed its course to the southward, destroying millions of lives; then in 1851 it shifted back again to its old bed a hundred miles to the north, again rushing in on a countryside as densely populated as the suburbs of New York. There for a time it rests; nobody knows when it may get whimsical again.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. The advantages of water power over coal power are its cheapness, its permanency, and its cleanliness.
2. Niagara Falls is not used to capacity for water power; if it were all the water would be diverted to turn turbines and the falls could only run on Sundays.
3. Sweden makes more use of its water power than any other country.
4. Tides are used for water power in Holland, England, Nova Scotia, etc.
5. The disadvantages of tidal power are that it is intermittent, and that the ocean in storm is strong enough to destroy any sort of mill.
6. The only form of power that costs nothing and involves essentially no property rights is wind power; its disadvantages are obvious.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who is always looking for something "better." I pay little attention to my present employment. I am sure there is nothing in it. I look for something "better." Of course my job suffers. It is quite possible that if I applied myself I would advance to something better. I don't, however, and as a consequence I never get anything "better." That doesn't prevent me from looking. I am sure that I am the recipient of more hard luck than anyone else in the world. I have so much of it and never find anything "better."

TELL ME NOT IN MOURNFUL NUMBERS—

By Hugo L. Hoyer

Malcolm Talcum Tootlefife
Stabbed the maid with the carving knife;
His mother murmured, "Really, pet,
Maids are very hard to get."

A little lad whose character is proper
Would never kick his mother in the face,
Or take a nasty battle-axe and chop her,
Unless, of course, she fails to keep her place.

You must not pull, my little dears,
The hairs from sleeping grandma's ears;
Grave errors grow from little jokes,
As little acorns grow from oaks!

THE WORLD CHAMPION LAWYER

"Now, gentlemen of the jury—and I believe you are gentlemen, in spite of what the state's attorney whispered to me a moment ago—he seems to think you crooks and idiots, but I know better. Well gentlemen, it is true that the crime was cold, bloodless—terribly cold blooded. Think of my poor client with all that icy blood freezing in his veins—chilling his very brain! Was the poor fellow responsible for his acts with his brain numbed by cold blood? I ask you.

"It is true that he admitted that he was guilty. But that brute of a state's attorney didn't let him finish. He meant to say that he was guilty of being innocent.

More Truth Than Poetry?

A wedding was taking place in a little mining town out west.

A Chinese chef, standing before a cook-house was watching the wedding crowd going into a small frame church and evidently enjoying the procession.

Suddenly a tourist approached the Chinaman and said: "I suppose the girl in the white veil is the bride?"

The Chinaman looked at the tourist, thought for a few minutes, and then said, "Yop."

"Whose the boy in the white vest and sleeked hair?" asked the tourist further.

After squinting his almond eyes, he replied: "Him groom."

Town Talk - - - By H. F. J.

OUR OWN FUTURE.

There is promise in the impending visit of C. E. Braun of the National Airways.

Air mail for Wichita Falls is an uncertain proposition right now, but the date is not too far distant when this city, no doubt, can and will support commercially this latest mode of postal transportation.

Until an air line is established between Denver and the big cities of Texas, opportunities for daily aerial service are not so bright. But in time this Denver route will be a necessity. Geographically Wichita Falls is not so situated as to attract service from any other points until air mail and air transportation becomes much more general than it is at present.

Efforts have been made in the past to maintain a passenger air route between Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Dallas, but these ventures have rapidly faded and died. The cost, in the first place, was prohibitive; and train and bus service was such as to offer stiff competition.

Business men traveling from this city to Dallas and Fort Worth usually make their journeys with what comforts and security a Pullman car affords. They travel at night and lose no valuable business hours thereby. Thus there is no special need, except in case of emergency, to utilize the more rapid and more expensive plane.

However, the visit of Braun is indication that Wichita Falls is not a stranger so far as airway executives are conderned. It may mean something.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

More signs of the times:

Scholastic enrollments for the year increased 813 over totals for last year.

That is offered for the consideration of the skeptics who profess to see Wichita Falls' population claims as an inflated hot air balloon going up from the chamber of commerce or newspaper booster sector.

Youngsters of scholastic age to move into town of their own accord. Enlightened and precocious as flaming youth now is, it has not yet reached the point where it migrates from one community to a new one, settles down, puts in gas and water meters and then enrolls in school in due form.

Figures have already been published showing substantial gains in meter installations. And now the school authorities come along with their report.

"One hundred thousand in 1930," some one has said. Probably not quite, but Wichita Falls isn't a Rip Van Winkle in the fraternity of southwestern communities, at any rate.

ADD SIGNS OF THE TIMES:

Bank debits for the week ending October 13 totaled $7,968,433, or an increase of $1,095,733 over the same period last year.

Art Exhibit At Junior College Of Hubert Morley's Work Attracts

An art loan exhibit consisting of five oil paintings, two water colors, and nine etchings by Hubert Morley is being shown this week in the art hall on the third floor of the Junior college building.

The exhibit was brought here through the friendship of Miss Louise Lotspeich, art teacher in the Junior college, with the artist in Chicago, and through the work of Mrs. W. W. Silk, chairman of the committee on exhibits of the art department of the Woman's Forum, and also the chairman of the art committee of the school board.

Candle Service.

Girl Reserves of the Fannin school observed the Candle Lighting service in their meeting Thursday afternoon at the school. Mrs. H. L. Shattuck made a short talk, explaining the Girl Reserve honors to be won; Katherine Bell told the story of "A Pass-way to a Girl's Heart," and Willo Hulsey told the story of "With-a-Will Mary." Kathleen led a discussion on the subject of the importance of Girl Reserve work in school with a short talk.

In a brief business session, it was decided to have a booth at the Hallowe'en carnival to be held at the school this month.

Ticket Refunds.

Students who were disappointed Tuesday afternoon and turned away from the showing of "Columbus" without refund of ticket money will be paid the full amount if their claims are presented to their home room teachers. It is important, however, that each child make his claim through his own school. Adults who were refused Tuesday afternoon and did not return Tuesday night may receive their refunds at the Alamo school Friday, October 15, between 3 and 4:30 in the afternoon.

Officials of the Sam Houston, Alamo and Austin Parent-Teacher associations expressed their regret Thursday that the situation which made the showing in the afternoon impossible arose, and guaranteed satisfaction in the refund.

Teachers' Rating.

"Teachers' Rating" was the subject discussed by Dr. J. W. Cantwell at the meeting of all the teachers of the public school system of Wichita Falls Thursday night at the Junior college cafeteria. Teachers of A, B and C ranks were discussed in the speech.

A clever roll call, written by Miss Juanita Kinsey, was read by A. K. Presson, president of the association. The roll call was in the form of a story about the teachers and contained the name of each teacher, the teachers responding at the mention of their names.

Refreshments were served late in the evening to the 200 or more teachers present.

Musical Program.

Girl Reserves of Junior high enjoyed a musical program Thursday morning at the regular meeting of the club. A vocal solo by Mrs. Tully, a piano solo by Miss Marie Beaty and several Girl Reserve songs led by Miss Dorris Smith constituted the program. Plans for the Gypsy Patteran to be held Saturday afternoon were made in the business session.

Life of Jenny Lind.

A talk, "The Life of Jenny Lind" by Nathaline Lebenson and a vocal solo by Harriet Bradley, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Bradley, constituted the assembly program at the Junior college Thursday morning. Announcements were made and the student body was led in some pep songs by the assembly singing director, Alva Willgus.

'Big Sister' Day.

"Big and Little Sister Day" will be observed in the meeting of the Girl Reserves this morning, when each "Big Sister" will bring her "Little Sister" to the meet and will sit with her. This comes as the culmination of a month's participation in the movement, when the old members acted as big sisters to the new girls. The movement was described as very successful this year by officers.

800 Girl Reserves.

Girl Reserves of all the public schools in the city, numbering about 800, will take part in the Gypsy Patteran to be held Saturday afternoon. Students will meet at the corner of Eighth and Burnett, from which place they will hike to the place for the meeting. The ceremonial will be very impressively observed by all clubs, each having representatives to take part. A treasure hunt is the main feature of the Patteran.

MEDDLESOME MOLLY THE BAD LITTLE DOLLY
BY MARTHA HART

At last the could hear the no longer so she looked at her and said in a loud voice, "I wish for a pink to tie up my !" She really wanted like those of the but she didn't dare wish for them again--she had had such bad luck the last time.

After the had made her wish, she felt of her to see if the pink had come--but no, nothing happened. "Oh dear," sighed the wiping her eyes, "I have the worst luck in the !"

Coyotes' Final Home Contest On Cards Today

PACK NOT IN GOOD CONDISH FOR SKIRMISH

McCallum Sends Crippled Crew Into Fray With Grandfield

Coyotes versus Grandfield will be the program at Spudder park this afternoon at 3:45, unless Old Jupiter Pluvius intervenes again with further torrential argument. This game will be the last one to be played on home gridirons for the high school, until the second week in November, all league contests being out of town this year.

Grandfield is expected to furnish strong opposition; in fact, many sport followers are predicting that the Pack will have to fight its hardest in order to stave off another licking. According to reports from Grandfield, the Oklahoma town has more than enough letter-men back from last year's team to make a full eleven—letter-men from the team that handed the Coyotes a 20-0 licking last year! Hence the melee should prove no slouch, unless slowed up by the mud.

Still Handicapped.

Mac's outfit is still handicapped by many injuries and by some important ineligibilities. Much work has been done this week by team members to bring up any loose ends that might endanger their participation in the opening league game next week with the Electra Tigers. This year's Coyote squad seems to be not quite as much bothered with failures as some previous aggregations that have worn the Red and Black colors.

Today's game will find Holstein missing entirely and will probably be played without the services of several first stringers who are toting injuries. Pinney, another of the chief cogs in the Red and Black machine, will very likely see little service, according to Coach McCallum, on account of his shoulder injury that has kept him from full service since almost the first of the season.

New Shifts.

The opening line-up will again introduce a number of new faces into the list of starters and will find some shifts from former arrangements. The injury to Holstein has completely upset for the time being the new alignment planned for this week-end in which the big boy was to take center and Pinney was to be shifted to end. Hobbs, although not fully recovered from his smashed arch, will be called upon to start today in the pivot position. Lynch will be given another trial to see if his knee injury is coming around sufficiently to permit play. Fans will remember that this lad's performance in the opening game with Walters brought many predictions that Mac had here a real find in this speed merchant who seemed to be able to skirt ends at will before the opposing defense could reach him.

Bud Gives Lineup.

Coach Bud McCallum last night announced the probable starting line-up as follows: Quarterback, Rayner; halves, Perk, Ray and Lynch; fullback, Mills; center, Hobbs; guards, Pritchard and Harrell; tackles, Randolph and Turner; ends, Neal and Newman. Quite a number of others are counted on to see service.

The game will be played at Spudder park if no further rain falls. If additional moisture should make the ground too soft for play, the contest will be postponed to Saturday, according to the announcement last night by Coach McCallum.

STEPPING HIGH AND FAST

It may be rather early to hand out laurel wreaths for high scoring, but Bill Madden, Columbia gridiron captain, has slipped through enemy ranks for five touchdowns and nine points afterward for a total of 39 to grab the lead in the east. "Zev" Graham, so named because he pranced spectacularly about a Fordham field the same day the famous horse was running wild, has 38, including five touchdowns.

Chicago Hopes To Turn Tables On Penn This Year

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. —Having triumphed in its first intersectional game of the season—that with the University of Florida—and then Chicago U.'s eleven is now turning up for its biggest game of the season, from the standpoint of fandom in general. That is the contest with the University of Pennsylvania at Franklin Field, Phila., Saturday.

You'll recall that last season Penn won 7 to 0 in a game replete with thrills. The defeat was a blow to Stagg. This disappointment was made the keener by the wild running of "Red" Grange when the Illini met Pennsylvania.

Stagg used 33 men in an effort to defeat the easterners. Pennsylvania held to its first team in the main, a total of but 15 men breaking into the contest.

Stagg has a good team this year although some critics refuse to rate it as a Big Ten contender. He has five letter men back. Three of these are backfield men including Capt. Wally Marks. Two are linemen. Practically all his second string men, however, returned to school and numbered among those are men who received some real experience in games last season.

One of the second string linemen of last season, booked to step out this season and make his name in the football firmament is Lawrence Apitz. He subbed at end on the varsity late last season and showed enough to warrant receiving first consideration this year. He got it. His receiving in the aerial attack Chicago launched against Florida in their battle the other week was one of the bright features of the game. A pass from Capt. Marks to the youngster scored the first touchdown in the 13 to 6 victory.

Apitz is also drawing attention as a scholar, standing second highest in his class.

Penn and Chicago have clashed five times under the modern rules. Pennsylvania has won four of these games and managed to tie the fifth. Another reason why Stagg hopes to come out on top next Saturday.

YONKERS WINS TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.(AP) The Yonkers, N. Y., team today won the boys national baseball championship held under auspices of the American legion, defeating Pocatello, Idaho, 23 to 6, in the final game of the tournament.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

The Cinci Reds will present a much different crew to the public next season. You can hang your hat on that one. Jack Hendricks is going to have some new pitchers—retaining possibly only three of his present staff of regulars. There will be at least one new outfielder. And Clarke Pittenger, infielder purchased for a fortune from Louisville may not be the only new infielder on the team.

Hendricks is convinced that had he been able to land a high-class shortstop early in the season he would have won the flag. He tried his best. Garry Herrmann took the rubber band off the bankroll and offered the Baltimore team $75,000 for Joe Boley, only to find that Connie Mack had the inside track on that star. Then Garry tried in earnest—$50,000 worth of earnestness—to purchase Pittenger from the Louisville club. That club refused to part with the former Chicago Cub and Red Sox rookie until near the close of the season.

The failure of Tom Sheehan to come through in the box for Hendricks was a grave disappointment. While Hendrick's pitching staff looked strong on paper at all times the last few seasons he has been unable to get it into consistent winning form for any period of time. It is probable that he will use one of two members in trades over the winter.

* * * *

Another thing in baseball is sure at this time. That is that Walter alias "Dutch" Ruether, will once more be a baseball enigma in 1927. His perambulations in the regular season of 1926 and then his showing in the world's series make this bet an easy one.

To go back a bit farther. It will be recalled that Ruether, after a successful season with the Washington Senators in 1925, was not used in the world's series which the Senators let slip through their fingers, legs or brains. The reasons given for Harris' failure to send the left-hander into the seventh and final game have ranged from the Washington manager's dislike for the colors Dutch affected in his ties to the scampering of a black cat across the ball park just before Mr. Ruether's entrance. Between these was the intimation that Ruether had not been informed the night before that he would be called upon to pitch the next day and therefore did not get enough sleep.

Came the summer, as the movies say. The Senators, decided Ruether was done. When no other club was looking they put him in the show case and Miller Huggins picked him out, wrapped him up and took him home, to help the Yankees win the pennant. Whereupon the owners of six American League clubs were asked repeatedly how they happened to let Ruether get away. The Washington Senators, being out of it anyhow, had very little extra mail as a result.

When the world's series arrived comment was "rife" or right next door to it, regarding the possibility of Huggins using the cunning lefty against Cardinals. Huggins answered the question quickly—and Ruether settled the question as to what he could do before the fans began to discuss that angle.

Now Dutch has never been a great pitcher over a period of more than a season. He hasn't had a permanent home since he began his baseball career. He has caused every manager and club owner introduced to him a lot of woe after his departure through his happy faculty of breaking out for his new employers.

And there is no reason to believe that his status is any more fixed now than it was when the Senators let him go for $4,000.

So, what'll he be doing next year, about Sept. 28?

KANGAROOS TOUGH

Horned Frogs May Pick Tartar in Austin College Saturday

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14. (AP)—The Texas Christian university football team is preparing to meet Saturday a squad that has beaten them twice in three contests—the Austin college team of Sherman. The game will be here Saturday afternoon beginning at 3 o'clock.

The Frogs took their one and only heavy workout this afternoon.

Reports from Sherman indicate that the Kangaroos probably will match the Frogs in weight and may have a heavier starting lineup. Texas Christian university likely will be in a prime fighting mood Saturday, however, due to the unsatisfactory 7-7 tie with Baylor university Tuesday at Dallas.

On Thanksgiving, 1925, Texas Christian university defeated the Shermanites 21 to 0, but in the two previous games, 1922 and 1923, the Kangaroos were victors.

OLNEY PLAYS

Herm's Outfit Expects Hard Game With Jacksboro Eleven.

OLNEY, Texas, Oct. 14.—The Olney high school clubs are expecting a tough battle Friday when they meet the Jacksboro high eleven here.

A number of the Cubs attended the game last week between Jacksboro and Graham at the Young county fair, and reported that the Jack county battlers were not to be laughed at.

This will be the third interscholastic scheduled game for the Cubs, who are fighting for a top place in district 4 of the class B conference. Two weeks ago the Cubs defeated Weatherford on the day that Bellevue forfeited, thereby giving them the advantage of two interscholastic victories.

Strawn, one of the fastest clubs in the conference, is scheduled to play here next week, it has been announced by Coach O. P. Herm.

VANDY DUE TO SLAM VARSITY

Dope Gives Commodores Decided Edge Over Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Eight days of extensive preparation for the most important intersectional football game in the conference have passed at the Longhorn camps, and Doc Stewart is now putting the finishing touches on his charges for the game that Texas will play against Vanderbilt university Saturday at the Dallas fair park stadium.

Veteran Eleven.

Vanderbilt is a heavy favorite to take the intersectional tilt Saturday, as the team is composed almost entirely of veteran material or of material that has forced the regulars from the occasioned berths. Last year the crack Commodore team lost but two players that hurt, and these men were Gil Reese and Reaves, but there are plenty of men that can fill in at their positions creditably though possibly not so good as those two stars.

Last year Vandy had one of the best lines in the south, and this year practically the entire forward wall is back intact. McKibbon, giant tackle; Tiny Keene, a guard; Rivas, another aggressive driving tackle—all these men are in the black and gold wave that hopes to crush the Longhorns Saturday. Hendrix and Cargill are back to bolster the backfield in their rampages through holes that the Vandy enthusiasts think their line will open for them.

Longhorns Crippled.

With doubt still hanging as to whether Ox Higgins, Texas end; Clint Slover, another end, and Johnnie Estes, crack halfback, will be able to play in Saturday's game, the real strength of the Longhorn team is still an indefinite quantity. If Higgins and Slover can get going to defend the wing positions, the Texans will be materially strengthened, but at top speed will hardly be as strong as the Commodore crew. The loss of Ed Boular at the beginning of the season when he broke a bone in his ankle has hurt the Longhorn backfield seriously, and has wrecked havoc with Stewart's plan of an offense.

If Slover and Higgins are ready to go Saturday, they will be at the wing positions for the Longhorns. In case they are not in shape the Texas team will line up like this: Hughes and Olle, ends; Gooch and Moore (LC), tackles; Tigner and Wray, guards; McCullough, center; Saxon (captain) quarterback; Stallter and Ford, halfbacks, and Rufus King, fullback.

SAINTS PLAY OWLS

Meagher Takes 24 Men to Houston For Rice Game.

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (AP)—Coach Jack Meagher will take a squad of 24 men with him for Saturday's contest between St. Edwards and the Rice Owls at Houston. The men will leave Friday noon.

The starting line-up will probably be as follows: Rurrenberger, r. e.; Lennon, l. e.; Vogt, r. t.; Krause, l. t.; Mooney or Hertenberger, r. g.; Klein, l. g.; Stevens, c.; Erspamer, r. h.; Dyer; l. h.; O'Shaugnessey, f.; The other men who will be taken on the trip are: Ends, Reilly and Frisch; tackles, Gromer, Dolan and Grace; guard, Flanagan; center, Estrip; quarterbacks, Morton and Solomito; halfbacks, Quota and Nelson; fullback, Killday.

Meagher expects his proteges to give the Owls a tough battle and maybe scatter a few tail feathers around. It is practically certain that the Saints will put up a stronger battle than they did last week at Lubbock.

Burk Bulldogs Tackle Nocona

Third Conference Clash Has Appearance of Hard Encounter

The Burkburnett Bulldogs will meet the strong Nocona team on the Burkburnett high school athletic field Saturday for their third and probably hardest conference game. The Nocona team is rated as one of the best class B teams in the district. Though the Bulldogs have won the last encounter with Nocona, lack of experienced players will seriously handicap the Burkburnett team as well as injuries received in the game with Memphis last week.

While Burkburnett was taking a defeat at the hands of Memphis, Nocona won over Alvord by a score of 28 to 6.

The two conference games of the Bulldogs have resulted in a 71 to 0 victory over Henrietta, while Wichita Junior high forfeited its scheduled game but a hard fight is expected Saturday, if a clean slate is kept.

Many Important Intersectional Scraps

IF.

If Wichita Falls high school can trim Grandfield this afternoon, the odds all pointing against such an event, Coach Baggett at Vernon and Jim Reese at Electra will do well to look to their laurels. For in event Wichita Falls does beat Grandfield the Coyotes will display more power than either of the other two members of the North Texas "big three" has shown to date.

* * *

Grandfield, on paper, looms as a stronger eleven than any of the 'big three' at the moment. Coaches in this section, due to a late starting conference schedule, have shown a tendency to develop their teams slowly. Oklahoma elevens get away speedier. This afternoon will find a Grandfield machine almost in mid-season form pitted against a Wichita Falls team that is crippled and that has not neared its stride yet.

* * *

If the slowly functioning Coyote eleven, not yet at its best, can topple Grandfield consider what its possibilities are a week or two hence when it begins to swing into form.

AT IOWA PARK.

Pre - game comparisons give Electra a decided edge over Iowa Park this afternoon in the practice game carded on the Hawks' gridiron, yet it would not be surprising to see the Parkers hold the Tigers to a close score or even come out on top. The Electra fighting spirit that will be in evidence against Wichita Falls next week will not assert itself in this contest.

* * *

Incidently, earlier in the season Grandfield drubbed the Parkers by a 49 to 0 score. It is doubtful Wichita Falls could beat Brewster's youngsters that seriously, taking it for granted they could beat them at all.

* * *

Pete Powell, squat, chunky individual weighing in the vicinity of 155 pounds, in his first year out with the Coyotes seems sure to make a good man. Pete displays plenty of fight. He may not earn a regular berth but he stacks up as first choice in reserves if he retains his present gait.

* * *

Duke Tramel waged one of the best fights Wednesday night against Fred Whittington that the Fort Worth puncher has performed in many a month. Once the fistic idol, Tramel has been slipping from favor lately. If he repeats his aggressive battle of Wednesday a few more times it will not be long until he is a decided attraction again.

And Why?

Adolph Friedman, who assumed the promotorial togs albeit we have a suspicion that Don Wofford was inside of it all the time, last week and was given credit for Wednesday's banner fight program, has handed the job back to Don. When Wichita Falls fans will be led out of the wilderness of stall fights and hippodrome offerings still is problematical.

Somebody Always Kicks.

Jack Reynolds the Indiana Adonis who claims the world's welterweight mat championship, is steamed up because Matty Matsuda has retired with the real title intact. Reynolds has sent out a number of posters criticising Matsuda for allowing Mantell and Gorman to meet in an elimination bout for purpose of deciding which wrestler would get the last whack at the Jap before he quit.

* * *

Gorman beat Dutch and took a couple of whacks at Matty. Reynolds insists the Jap should give him a match and forget about the rest of the class, yet chances are you couldn't even begin to get Reynolds into the same ring with Gorman.

* * *

Gorman probably can beat Reynolds and Gorman WAS beating Matsuda the other night until he lost his head and strangled the Jap.

* * *

There are no small-mouth bass in Texas, say North Texas game association officials. Numerous Wichita Falls anglers believe they have caught this type of bass. Just to settle the argument, Fred Gates has brought several small-mouthers from Wisconsin. They're on display at London-Hill. If you think the large mouth bass you snared recently was a small mouth bass, check up with the big boys at the sports goods emporium.

HORNSBY MOVES ON

Card Manager Returns to St. Louis on Business.

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.(AP)—Rogers Hornsby, Austin's hero-manager of the champion St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, who arrived in Austin Tuesday for the funeral Wednesday of his mother, Mrs. M. D. Hornsby, left Austin to return to St. Louis Thursday. Urgent and unavoidable business matters called the manager back to his team.

Billie, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Hornsby, was reported to be in fine condition today after his accident in an automobile collision Wednesday and was able to make the trip in safety. It was necessary to take three stitches to close a wound which was inflicted on the back of the boy's head during the accident, but he hardly seemed to notice it, members of the family stated.

BIG CONTESTS SWING UNDER WAY SATURDAY

Notre Dame Battles Penn State, Yale Tackles Dartmouth

Football is with us.

All the little buds that the coaches have been nursing along including forward passers, ends, punters and the variegated variety, are in full bloom. Whether or not they're tough enough to stand the inclement weather and four 15 minute halves against any opposition is about to be decided.

And it ought to be a hectic season—very hectic, what with the usual denials concerning the efforts of some colleges to lure star players, the efort of the Big Three to remain above the visibility line and the hard things professional and college football adherents will say about each other.

Here are some of the important games — generally speaking—that will be played in the various weekends.

November 27.

Plenty of thrills in that list and it doesn't include all of the games in various sections of the country which have a big kick in said sections.

THINK THIS ONE OVER

Robby Would Swap Dazzy for Frisch and Jawn Wants Rousch.

The pot is boiling already for the boys gathered around the winter stove league. Rotund Wilbert Robinson, duke of the Flat Bush Robins, is preparing to toss the one and only Dazzy Vance at John McGraw in exchange for Frankie Frisch, the Fordham flash, who second bases for New York. The master mind's reaction to the offer, if it has been made, is not known for his days are said to be filled with efforts to get Eddie Rousch from the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for the selfsame Frankie.

Ludgate Has Habit Of Developing Winners, So Record Shows

COACH LUDGATE

Early season performances of the Maroon and Gold squad of Junior college have attracted quite a bit of attention to the new coach, Herbert T. Ludgate. The Indian mentor is not entirely unknown in this section or the country as he coached squads at the high school of Grandfield and Burkburnett before coming here this fall.

Ludgate is a graduate of Wheaton college, Wheaton, Ill., where he lettered in football for three years in '21,'22, and '23. Basketball also drew his attention and gave him two more letters in college sports on the squads of '23 and '24. In addition to athletic training received here, Ludgate has been a pupil of Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois in the latter's noted summer training schools in the grid sport.

After graduation from Wheaton, Ludgate commenced his coaching career in Grandfield, where he put out first-class teams in several sports the first year. Playing some strong opposition as well as smaller schools of southwest Oklahoma his teams won seven out of nine games in football and nine out of 13 contests in basketball the first year of his coaching experience.

Burkburnett next drew Ludgate's attention and he tutored that city's high school athletic teams last year. The strong football team brought by the oil town school last year will be remembered by local fans. In both football and basketball his teams gave a good account of themselves blattling the class A Electra Tigers to a standstill and giving Seymour a great battle for the class B championship. In track his team sent three men to the state, one of whom took a third place in the state finals, the best record yet made in state track by the Oilers.

Ludgate holds an instructorship in mathematics in the senior high school for his teaching duties and is athletic director for the Junior college in charge of all teams during the year.

Hawks Ready For Tiger Tilt

Porkers Expect To Wallop Bulky Electra Eleven Today

Iowa Park's Hawks are ready for the Electra invasion this afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced last night.

Coach Brewster's speedy little aggregation expects to give the bulkier Tigers a neat lacing and if failing to accomplish this they certainly hope to hold Jim Reese's lads to a close score.

The game is a final conditioning tilt for the Tigers in preparation for the league opener next week with McCallum's Wichita Falls outfit.

Reese is expected to stick almost solely to straight football for there will be Wichita Falls scouts present and he does not want to run the risk of tipping off the Coyotes in any way that may prove to Wichita Falls' advantage in the game next week.

Electra no doubt will use all its regulars but effort is going to be taken to prevent injuries and Reese may not play his best men more than a quarter or so.

Regardless, the contest is expected to be hard fought.

TRIBE CRACKS DOWN IN MUD

Ludgate Hard Pressed To Develop Real Offensive Power

Mud and rain did not daunt the spirit of the Junior College Indians, who yesterday seemed to enjoy their vigorous scrimmage, which turned out to be more a mud-bath than a football practice. After cessation of practice for two days to enable the team to cateh up with studies lost in the two trips undertaken the week before, activities were commenced again Wednesday.

Bank On Steve.

With two victories and one defeat behind them, the Redskins are going into preparations for the soon opening conference schedule with more vigor than ever. While the line is showing up well, as it has done for some time, even in the hard games with Cordell and Randolph, the backfield offense is the great problem. The backfield stacks up pretty well on the defensive, but Captain Stephenson is the lone player with any offensive power. The attacking power of the Tribe has been found to be much weaker than last year's, owing to lack of experience and too great lightness. All candidates for the team practically have been given a trial at the ball-carrying proposition, but no one with experience or any great ability has been discovered.

Depend On Defense.

It seems now that the Tribe will have to depend on defensive fight to keep opponents from scoring rather than on its own ability to count. The seriousness of the situation was strongly brought to light by the injury to Stephenson two weeks ago which forced him to spend part of his time on the sidelines in the Randolph game and which may keep him out further.

No games have been scheduled for this week-end in order that no chances will have to be taken with injuries before the crucial north Texas Aggie game next week.

HE TELLS IT TO MARINES

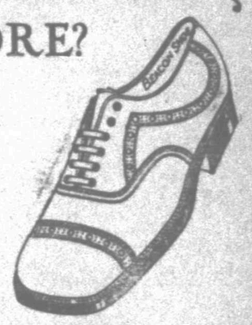

But Tunney's Manager Glad Sharkey Walloped Wills.

Is Jack Sharkey afraid of Gene Tunney? "Now get me that leatherneck," he demanded after conquering Wills. "A sailor can beat a marine every day in the week."

"Thanks for getting that fellow out of the way. You did everybody a wonderful favor," was the way Billy Gibson, Gene's manager greeted the ex-tar in the dressing room.

If Your FORD Could Talk It Would Ask for FLIVOLENE for FORDS

In a Ford Motor, the oil that lubricates the engine bearings must also keep the transmission bands live and positive-acting. The high speed and heat under which the Ford Motor operates and the splash system of lubrication used, require a light, high-grade, heat-resisting oil.

If an oil of poor grade, wrong consistency or of the wrong type is used, serious friction, power losses, excessive carbon accumulation and glazing of the transmission bands result. When the clutch, reverse and brake bands slip and chatter—look to the oil.

FLIVOLENE is specially designed for the proper lubrication of the Ford Motor and Transmission. If you will put nothing else into the crank case—keep the bands properly adjusted—and have the oil changed every 500 miles—you will get more and better service from your Ford, at the least cost in the long run.

FLIVOLENE is manufactured by the Humble Oil & Refining Company, refiners and marketers of the high-grade line of Humble Oils. It is for sale wherever you see the Humble Signs.

25 TRUE BILLS BY GRAND JURY

Most of Indictments Voted Thursday Based On Forgery Charges

The Wichita county grand jury adjourned yesterday afternoon to reconvene again this morning for a short period after which it will adjourn again until Wednesday of next week.

The grand jury brought in 25 indictments yesterday, most of which were for forgery and swindling. There were about 10 cases in these two classes, and about four liquor cases. Six cases of theft were included in the list of true bills, several of them having been committed in outlying sections of the county.

The 25 bills brought by the grand jury yesterday makes a total of 45 bills so far as they brought in 23 indictments last week.

The grand jury was charged at its opening session by Judge P. A. Martin to investigate and make a report on the alleged charges and counter charges made by various candidates and officials against each other during the recent campaign for the democratic nominations. So far little information has come from that body as to its workings, but yesterday two well known local politicians appeared before it. County Judge B. D. Sartin was on the calling list yesterday morning, as was Assistant County Attorney Bill Davenport. Whether that means a starting of this particular investigation or not, is problematical, but other officials of the county have also been called and have had their say.

Latest News of the Markets

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.(AP)—Cotton was fairly active today and the general trend of prices was upward although the spread of fluctuations was not very wide. The start was a shade easier, owing to cables proving lower than due, but after a slight recession of three to five points the market rallied mainly on the census bureau report shewing domestic consumption of lint cotton for September to have totaled 671,105 bales, the largest September consumption on record. The advance carried prices up 17 to 20 points near noon and after a reaction on realising of eight to 12 points prices rallied again on reports of more rain in the western belt which carried values to levels 18 to 21 points above the lows before the advance was checked by realizing which caused a small reaction. Prices rallied again in the late trading on reports of a good spot demand, reaching levels 21 to 25 points above the lows. The close was a little off from the best, showing net gains for the day of 12 to 19 points.

As Liverpool came in lower than due prices here opened three to five points down with December at 13.36, January at 13.27 and March at 13.52, the low points of the day.

Prices soon rallied on the consumption figures and before the upturn was checked, December traded up to 13.48, January to 13.37 and March to 13.69, or 17 to 20 points above the opening levels and 13 to 15 points above the previous close. Prices then reacted eight to 12 points but rallied again in the afternoon to 13.51 for December and 13.70 for March, or 18 to 21 points above the lows. After another slight reaction the market firmed up again making new highs at 13.55 for December, 13.60 for January and 13.73 for March, or 21 to 25 points up from the early lows. The close was four to six points off from the top.

Trading in thenew contract permitting Galveston and Houston delivery will start tomorrow with the August position. Exports for the day totaled 21,511 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.(AP)—The cotton market showed continued steadiness today and rallies were better maintained in the absence of any heavy selling by the south. January contracts sold up from 13.33 to 13.55 and closed at 13.52, a general market closing very steady at net advances of 12 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of one to six points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and overnight selling orders which were attributed to a continuation of the hedging movement which developed near the close of the previous day.

December eased off to 13.25 and March to 13.55, after the call, but offerings soon were absorbed, and the market turned upward later on covering, trade buying and a moderate demand supposed to be for investment account. Possibly the buying was encouraged by the report of the census bureau showing domestic mill consumption of 671,105 bales for September, against 443,082 last year.

There was also some buying during mid-afternoon on rumors of a better prospect fora settlement of the British coal strike, which would be expected to react favorably upon British mill activity, but there was no confirmation of the reports, and the factors chiefly discussed in connection with the advance was the smaller volume of southern selling here. The falling off in hedging was regarded by some traders as indicating that various measures proposed for relief of the situation were encouraging farmers to hold their cotton pending further development along such lines.

Private cables reported hedging to a comparatively small market at Liverpool. At that the cloth business was slow in developing. Except for further gains in the southwest, the weather was considered favorable and local traders were talking heavy ginning figures up to October 14, with a probable further increase in the next government crop indication.

Exports today 32,311, making 1,694,875 so far this season. Ports receipts 41,418; U. S. port stocks 1,567,689 bales.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.(AP)—With export sales of North American wheat estimated as high as 2,000,000 bushels, active buying of future deliveries carried wheat values today sharply higher. Late advices told of trade in Argentina. Wheat closed strong, 2 to 2⅜c net higher, corn unchanged to ⅜c up, oats at ⅛@⅜c to ⅝c advance, and provisions varying from same as yesterday's finish to a rise of 69c.

Corn trading was sluggish and lower most of the day, but rallied at the close with wheat. Oats were strengthened by reports that North American productions of oats and world yields as well, are notably less than last year.

Most deliveries of provisions scored a material advance in price, selling apparently having been overdone and hog cholera consequences not being fully allowed for.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.(AP)—Under the leadership of prominent railroad shares, the stock market pushed ahead to higher ground today, although it was unsettled at the close by a severe selling movement which reduced many of the early gains. This attack, directed chiefly against the motors, quickly undermined the position of other industrials, but closing quotations revealed a preponderance of advances for the day.

Reports that a further revision of the Nickel Plate merger terms would soon be agreed upon started lively bidding for the Van Sweringen rail issues whose impressive showing overshadowed substantial advances in some of the other carriers. Attention was focused on Chesapeake and Ohio, which rallied more than 10 points to 175¾ and closed at 172¾.

The late selling wave which swept over the market struck hardest against Mack Trucks, which tumbled from above 100 to 96, the lowest price since 1924. U. S. Steel, General Motors and other leaders which had made substantial progress earlier in the day also yielded to selling pressure, but maintained a portion of their gains.

Meanwhile, liquidation of minor specialities which had been going on without any effect on the rest of the market increased in volume, carrying nearly a score of issues to the lowest points of the year. Among these were Electric refrigeration, National Cloak and Suit, Manhattan Electrical supply and most of the fertilizer stocks, including American Agricultural, International Agricultural and Virginia-Carolina Chemical issues.

Earlier in the day the combinatin of short covering and renewed outside buying lifted a number of representative industrials, two to six points. These included U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, DuPont, Coca Cola, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, United Cigar Stores and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

Another sharp rally of three-fourths of a cent in Norwegian kroner devided interest in foreign exchange trading with a jump of more than 50 points in Spanish pesetas. Chinese silver currencis were weak.

Call money held at 5 per cent all day with sufficient offerings for all demands. Time money and commercial paper rates wereunchanged.

Vaudeville Bill Full Of Ginger

Norma Smallwood, Who's 1926 'Miss America' Heads Performance

Speed, variety and spice!

That's this week's interstate vaudeville offering at the Majestic, a bill that throws the customers into a riot of enthusiasm and keeps them boisterously popping palms from gong to gong.

From Al K. Hall, famous Broadway and vaudeville clown comedian, on down or up — take your choice, there's a punch to every minute.

Norma Is Feature.

And the feature of the card is dainty and demure little Miss America — America's queen of beauty, Miss Norma Smallwood of Tulsa, who ascended the throne of pulchritude at Atlantic City in this year's review.

Miss America promenades in negligee, sport outfit, street frock and evening gown. Al acts as master of ceremonies and adds a comedy touch. Mark and Mary Westcott, Houston youngsters, introduce several pretty song numbers in the act.

The bill opens with the Amaranth sisters, an acrobatic novelty and dance specialty act with bright stage settings. It is the prettiest opener seen here in several seasons.

Eddie Miller and Victor Vallenti, singing specialists, warblers deluxe, stage a musical comedy and light opera revue that is a decided hit and came very near to stopping the last show Thursday night.

Black-Tan Act.

The Arthur Alexander company with the Vantines and Austin produce an elaborate black and tan act, taking first as its setting the darkies of Dixie in '61 on an old plantation and then jumping to the modern Broadway. Alexander does a wonderful tan female impersonation. The Vantines and Austin lead in voice, comedy and dance.

Hall heads a talented troupe which runs the gamut of comedy singing, wise-cracking, dancing and general all-around clowning with Al himself handling most of the farcical situations. The act is a sensation.

WOUNDED IN EAR

French Count Comes Off Second In Fight With Britisher.

NICE, France, Oct. 14.(AP)—A dispute over foreign exchange provided the grounds for a sword duel today between Count Paul De Villers, a Frenchman, and a former British army surgeon, Dr. Scalisi Jarvis. The count was wounded in one ear. The seconds stopped the combat, but the duelists refused to shake hands and left the field unreconciled.

DR WELLS HERE.

Dr. L. N. D. Wells, pastor of the east Dallas Christian church will be the special guest of the membership of the First Christian church here Friday. Dr. Wells is one of the outstanding preachers of the south, a forceful speaker and pulpit orator.

He will speak at a special meeting of the church congregation Friday night at 7:30 p. m.

QUITS AMERICA TO ESCAPE FROM "BOTHERSOME AUTOS"

SALISBURY, 7ng. — Richard Lewis dislikes automobiles. So as he was walking on the road near here he shied a rock through the windshield of a car that sounded its horn for a worning to him. As a result the driver, Edward Petty, was injured and Lewis was arrested. When arraigned in court Lewis said automobiles were always bothering him. He said that he had left America to get away from the "bothersome things." The court decided to protect Lewis from annoyance. So he sent him to prison. There are no autos there.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14. (AP) San Antonio, Texas, was today selected as the 1928 meeting place of the American legion's national convention.

The selection of San Antonio was made unanimous on motion of Stanley M. "Larry" Doyle of Montana after the call of half the states had made it apparent that the Texas city had a big lead in the vote. The other cities in the contest were Miami and Denver.

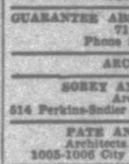

Dan Moody, democratic candidate for governor of Texas, spoke for San Antonio. He received an ovation as he stepped on the platform. He pledged a fund of $100,-000 for the entertainment of the delegates.

It Won't Be Long Now Duck Season Opens Next Saturday

Next Saturday, Oct. 16, you won't find me on the job. No sir! I've got to get out and help open up duck season. I am all set with a high powered used car. And that is just what you ought to do. Come down here and pick out one of our cars so you can go where the ducks are.

We've just naturally got a fine assortment, and there are no decoys in the bunch. A little dab of bright paint and some shiny fixings don't add anything to the actual condition of the car. We tell you the facts. And every car is priced according to the condition. That's why so many used car buyers come to McFall Brothers for their next used car.

PLAN NEW CLASS

Business Men Sponsor Free Mathematics Instruction

A free mathematics class to young business or working men of the city is to be organized next Tuesday night, October 19, at 7 o'clock at the club room of the Wichita Home Ice company, Ninth and Denver, according to A. L. Williams yesterday.

The school is being conducted under the auspices of the Continental Oil company, of Texas, the Panhandle, and the Texas Power and Light company with the following men sponsoring the class: Captain E. H. Eddleman, J. D. Bright; Roy Jones, H. A. Chambers; P. A. Rogers and A. E. Kelly.

Professor H. A. Glass, principal of Junior high school, has been engaged as the instructor of the class.

A unique feature of the study will be that any person interested in mathematics is invited to bring his text book, whether it is albegra, fractions, ordinary arithmetic, calculus or other division of mathematics, it was said.

DALLAS GAS RATE CONTEST WILL INVOLVE WICHITA FALLS

DISPARITY IN RATE CHARGED TO LONE STAR

Childress And Vernon Bids By Gas Company Are Mentioned

HEARING TO BE NOV. 16

Wichita Falls Expected To Send Representative To Dallas

Practically all of the north Texas towns which are being supplied gas by the Lone Star Gas company or any of its subsidiaries will be involved in the gas rate hearing which has been set for November 16 at Dallas and which will air the recent charges made by the city of Dallas against the gas company's rates, in the opinion of many oil and gas men here.

Briefly, the discussion involves the question of whether Dallas is being discriminated against by the Lone Star company through the difference of rates charged Dallas and rates charged in some of the north Texas cities.

Rate Disparity Charged

It is contended that the Lone Star in meeting the rates of the Upham gas interests, in order to procure franchises, has offered gas at a much cheaper rate than is charged the consumers of Dallas. This question has come up since the recent franchises issued by the cities of Vernon and Childress where the Upham had already procured a franchise and the Lone Star sought franchises at practically the same rates the Upham was giving. These rates were much lower than the rate charged at either Dallas or Wichita Falls.

Survey At Dallas

Railroad Commissioner Lon A. Smith has stated that he is sending a special engineer, R. D. Parker to Dallas to make a survey of the situation and to have a report ready when the railroad commission gets ready for its hearing on November 16. The City of Dallas will present its case through their attorney, James J. Collins.

No definite action has been taken by the city of Wichita Falls to take part in the hearing, but a representative of the city will probably be there.

Over 200 public school instructors met Thursday night at the Junior college cafeteria for the first fall meeting of the City Teachers association. It was mainly an introductory affair for the teachers, although a short program was given.

Roll call was held in a unique way with the names being called out in a clever "story." Vocal solos were given by Miss Woolsey, music instructor at the Alamo school, accompanied by Miss Goss. Burl Bryant, county school superintendent, and president of the University club, invited all the teachers to be present at a play to be given Friday night at the Alamo school and which is sponsored by the University club.

BOOZE CASES UP IN COURT

Allred Asserts He Intends to Prosecute to Limit; Week Set Aside

The war on bootlegging and liquor traffic in Wichita Falls and Wichita county is continuing unabated and District Attorney Ben P. Allred yesterday requested a special week in the 89th district court for the exclusive consideration of liquor cases on the docket.

Allred asked Judge P. A. Martin and Judge Ernest Thornton to set a week in which the liquor cases might be handled, and the judges decided to dispose of routine matters on the docket nevt week and set the following week, beginning Monday, October 25 for trying liquor and bootlegging cases.

"There are several old cases on the docket," Mr. Allred stated, "which should be disposed of. I am anxious to get these many cases disposed of and to continue the fight to clean the county of bootlegging and rum traffic."

"The city police department has been successful in its raids and has brought some definite evidence in most of the cases. It is to be congratulated on its fine work," Mr. Allred added, stating that he would have his cases ready for the opening of court Monday, October 25, and hoped to procure a number of convictions.

"I do not intend to let this excellent work done by the executives go for naught, but will prosecute diligently every liquor case on the docket with every effort to procure conviction in every case," Mr. Allred stated.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, Cod Liver Oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But is is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11 1-2 pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Smith and Renfro's Drug Store, and all druggists—but be sure and insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.—Adv.

MORGAN DEATH CHARGE FILED

J. H. Davis, Witness, Named As Accessory To Murder By Officials

Charges were filed yesterday by District Attorney Ben Allred against J. H. Davis, who gave testimony and made a statement in regard to the slugging and death of Grady Morgan, and charges will probably be filed against Joyce Davis, his brother, it was stated yesterday.

Davis made the statement that another man had struck Morgan with a tire pump after Morgan had cursed the party, which included the wives of Davis and the other man, and his story was practically corroborated by his wife and Joyce Davis.

Morgan was found unconscious lying by his truck on the Holliday drive road, Saturday and died three days later without regaining consciousness.

City police officers brought Davis in and he readily testified to the incident, naming the other man as the one who actually committed the crime.

The charges filed are for accessory to the murder of Grady Morgan, Mrs. Davis was released on a $750 witness bond.

Officers are continuing their trail of the man charged by Davis with the crime, but no new clues as to his whereabouts have been found.

EDWARDS AT ROTARY

District Governor Speaks At Local Meeting

"If we are going to make the Rotary club effective in Wichita Falls, it is up to you," declared Will Edwards of Denton, district-governor of Rotary, in his official address to the Wichita Falls Rotary club Thursday at noon at the Kemp hotel, and he impressed upon the club the responsibility of the individual members.

Mr. Edwards traced briefly the growth of Rotary since it was organized in 1905, and showed that it grew out of a small group of men who had a desire for unselfish service and for fellowship. "Rotary has belted the world and is organized in 35 civilized nations and six other nations are coming into Rotary this year," he said.

Six Objectives

He spoke on the six objectives of Rotary and discussed them; feature the ideal of service as a basis of all worthy enterprises; high ethical standards of business and professional men fostered by Rotary; adopt the Rotary ideal in the business and social life; develop acquaintance as an opportunity for service; recognize the worthiness of all useful occuptions; advance the understanding, peace and good will to mankind.

Announcement was made of a zone conference to be held here November 26 when the day will be devoted to Rotary with one or more internationally known Rotarians on the program.

The baby Rotarian, Dr. Ted Krohn, was introduced to the club; A. E. Myles, president, presided. A sing-song was led by R. E. Shepherd with J. S. Pitman at the piano and a concluding feature was a duet by Mr. Shepherd and Ivan Murchison.

Rupture Shield Expert Coming to WICHITA FALLS

on

From Monday, October 25 to Saturday, October 30

at

Kemp Hotel

From 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. Evenings by Appointment.

ONE WEEK ONLY

No Charge for Consultation

Mr. C. F. Redlich, the successful expert says:

The "Perfect Retention Shields," hold the rupture perfectly no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief, contract the opening on the average case in ten days and strengthen the weak tissues (the real cause of rupture) so that they frequently recover their previous natural retaining power needing no futher outside support.

Stomach trouble, backache and constipation often caused by rupture promptly disappear.

While providing safety and comfort to all old and aggravated cases, the results are most favorable when the rupture is just discovered and still small; it will save you no end of trouble, pain and expense in the future if you now take advantage of this opportunity. No leg straps or elastic bandages are used. Can be worn while bathing and are highly sanitary.

Letters from highly satisfied clients available.

WARNING: Advertised mail order contraptions are worthless and so are elastic belts with their chafing, filthy legstraps. They not only make your rupture worse, but cause stomach trouble and often backache by pressing on the lump instead of holding the intestines where they belong. There is therefore always danger of strangulation. No medicine will help a rupture and you cannot fit yourself.

Call on me and let me show you.

Ninety-five per cent of all children, according to statistics, get rid of their rupture if fitted with the right kind of sanitary appliance.
